DALLAS (UPI) — Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said today Dallas authorities are satisfied embezzler Ben Jack Cage is still in Brazil — and he said Brazilian authorities seem to be willing to help get him back to Dallas. Cage had been reported missing from Rio de Janeiro, to which he had fled in 1957 after getting a 10-year prison term. Wade said today the citizenship of the ICT Corp. insurance firm, acquired citizenship of Brazil. But Wade said today the citizenship is false. "The Brazilian authorities, if they want to can remove his citizenship on the basis that he got it because of this child — which was not his," Wade said. "The district attorney said, 'As far as we know, he is still in Brazil. Actually, I don't know where he is, myself, exactly. But I do expect him to be brought back to Dallas. It looks like we are getting some cooperation from Brazil.'"

Wade said Brazilian authorities could either put Cage in jail or take away his citizenship and thus make him eligible for extradition. "Or they can put him on a plane for the United States," Wade said.

A Dallas newspaper said today Mrs. Cage, who was visiting her mother in the Kerrville area, said she had not heard from her husband for several weeks.

The Dallas Morning News also quoted "Dallas sources" that Cage is hiding in Brazil under an assumed name. He fled from Rio de Janeiro before Brazilian officials said that although he could not be extradited to Dallas County to serve a 10-year sentence he might have to serve it in Brazil.

"I don't know about this at all," the News quoted Mrs. Dorcas Cage as saying in a telephone call. (See EMBEZZLER, Page 3)

Sniper Whitman Given Catholic Burial Service

LAKE WORTH, Fla. (UPI) — A priest celebrating a Mass of Requiem for Charles J. Whitman said today the Roman Catholic Church was giving the sniper-killer a Christian burial because "God in his mercy does not hold him responsible" for his last actions.

The statement was distributed to family and friends toward the end of the mass. The Rev. Thomas Anglim is pastor of Sacred Heart Church, where Whitman once served as an altar boy.

The mass was a joint service for Whitman and his mother, one of the crazed sniper's 15 victims.

"As pastor of the family and with approbation of diocesan officials I wish to say a few words of explanation as to why the Catholic Church is giving a Christian burial to Charles J. Whitman," Rev. Anglim's statement said.

"As you may know, Catholic moral theology teaches that no serious crime may be imputed to an individual unless he has committed with sufficient knowledge and full consent of the will.

"Apparently these were lacking in the final tragic actions of this young man."

About 400 persons attended the hushed services, which lasted about 30 minutes.

Plainclothes guards, employees of the funeral home that handled the burial arrangements, were stationed near the doors of the church.

"In case anything happens you can push these doors open real quick," one of the funeral directors told them.

Rev. Anglim said in his statement about young Whitman: "We trust that God in his mercy does not hold him responsible for these last actions. We trust, too, that our nation, with its tradition of fairness and justice will not judge his actions with harshness.

"For almost 25 years he lived a good honest and sincere Christian life, striving to help others and to better himself. He was loved and respected by all who knew him.

"While we offer the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass for the repose of his soul and that of his mother we include in a special way all who met their deaths through his actions this week. We also remember in a special way the relatives and friends of these persons, trusting that God will give to them the grace they need in this moment of anguish."

Whitman's father, Charles A. Whitman Jr., 47, sat in a family pew with two other sons. He remained composed throughout the ceremony, but as he left the church he burst into tears.

His son, John, 17, put his arm around his father to comfort him.

Mother and son were to be buried side-by-side at Hillcrest Memorial Cemetery in nearby West Palm Beach. The graves will be marked by a simple, flat bronze plaque.

Whitman said in a note he killed his mother to spare her from the sorrow he realized his murderous spree would cause.

The caskets remained closed during the ceremonies. They were opened briefly for a private viewing Thursday for Whitman.

2020 Water Plan To Be Discussed

Texas' 2020 Water Plan will top discussions at a meeting of the Panhandle City Managers' Association in Pampa next Friday.

City Manager Jim White will host the city managers from 20 area towns. Mayors and chamber of commerce managers from the Panhandle communities will be invited guests.

"The mayors and chamber managers are being invited," White said, "because of the special interest in the water plan."

J. W. Buchanan of Dumas, manager of the North Plains Water Conservation District, and a representative of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, will lead the discussion.

The city manager said Jack Springer, executive vice president of the WTCC at Abilene, has been invited to speak but had not yet given a definite answer on attending the meeting.

"If Springer is unable to come," White said, "another representative of the West Texas chamber will be here to explain the chamber's position on the proposed water plan."

The meeting was called in advance of a regional public hearing on the water plan Aug. 24 in Amarillo.

The 2020 Plan will be explained and the position of West Texas will be outlined at the meeting.

There has been considerable opposition from West Texas because of a general belief the area had not been adequately considered in the study for water conservation over the next 50-year period.

Pampa and other Panhandle communities are formulating plans to be represented on a unified basis at the Aug. 24 hearing in Amarillo.

The meeting next Friday will start with a noon luncheon in the Starlight Room of Coronado Inn and continue with an afternoon business session.

Kennedy-Style Candidate Beaten By Johnson Backed Buford Ellington

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Former Gov. Buford Ellington, who left the Johnson administration to campaign against a Kennedy-style liberal, today was virtually assured of another four-year term as governor.

The 59-year-old Ellington defeated John Jay Hooker Jr., a 35-year-old Nashville attorney in Thursday's Democratic primary election. The Republicans did not stage a gubernatorial primary and it is regarded as unlikely that they will draft a candidate for the general election.

Gov. Frank Clement, regarded as a "boy wonder" the first time he became governor, in 1952, avenged the only political defeat of his career in a Democratic primary for the U.S. Senate. He edged incumbent Sen. Ross Bass, who beat Clement two years ago to fill the unexpired term of the late Sen. Estes Kefauver.

Clement will have a tough GOP opponent in the general election. Howard Baker Jr., son-in-law of Senate Minority Leader Everett Dirksen of Illinois, defeated Nashville attorney Ken Roberts for the Republican nomination. Baker gave Bass a hard fight for the post in 1964, polling 48 per cent of the vote.

Hooker, who was an assistant to Sen. Robert F. Kennedy when he was attorney general, conceded defeat shortly before 1 a.m. EDT.

He said the loss wasn't a "bitter thing" but "defeat doesn't taste like ice cream."

Senate Passes Bill To Return Air Employes

National Vitals Not In Danger

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz told Congress today the 29-day-old airline strike still poses no threat to the national vitals.

Without taking a stand on Senate-passed legislation to end the strike, he warned House members that as long as any such bill is under consideration, there will be no meaningful talks toward ending the walk-out.

Wirtz was the first witness as the House Commerce Committee took up a bill passed late Thursday by the Senate to send 35,400 striking union machinists of five major airlines back to their jobs for up to 180 days.

The Senate action, on a vote of 54 to 3, was denounced by strikers' chief who hinted that the mechanics might pull a slow-down if ordered back to work.

"No final action is expected in the House until about the middle of next week on the bill aimed at splitting between Congress and President Johnson the politically sensitive responsibility for the first strike-ending legislation in nearly half a century."

Wirtz testified, much as he did over a week ago at Senate hearings, that neither defense interests nor the national health, safety or welfare have been imperilled by the strike. He noted that in the past Congress has acted against strikes only when some or all these interests were jeopardized.

Summing up effects of the walkout, he conceded that "very serious inconvenience" has been imposed on the traveling public and "great economic injury" on specific segments of the economy heavily dependent on air travel.

While consideration was given to Pampa, O'Keefe stated, Amarillo was chosen as the meeting site because of its accessibility by air transportation. Although there probably will be a score or more of names considered when the 30 county chairmen meet, there still were only four avowed candidates in the race today.

These included State Sen. Andy Rogers of Childress, State Rep. Ralph Wayne of Plainview, Attorney Tom Upchurch of Amarillo and 4th district attorney Dee Miller of Amarillo.

Miller's name came into active bidding for the post yesterday afternoon when he announced he had accepted the urging of friends and would seek the committee's favor.

Miller has been district attorney in the 47th district since 1963. He was born in Berger and is 32 years old.

About half of the chairmen who will meet to decide on the replacement for Walter Rogers of Pampa, have been invited to a caucus Sunday afternoon in the Swisher County courthouse at Tulsa.

Rogers announced his withdrawal from the race last Monday.

So far, none of the county chairmen have made any open commitments as to whom they will support.

THESE TWO hostesses, grounded by the air line machinists' strike, are scraping the bottom of their piggy bank in Los Angeles. Joe Ann Deet, left, and Judie Bontrager have pooled their resources to meet living expenses during the strike. The girls were furloughed without pay.

Another Wave of U.S. Jets Strike Cong

First Bombing Anniversary Celebrated

SAIGON (UPI) — The United States marked the second anniversary of the first bombing raid on Communist North Viet Nam today by sending the usual daily wave of jets north to do it again.

"We went north today just like we do every day," a spokesman said. There were no details.

The spokesman disclosed that American jets Thursday carried out an 83-mission raid against oil depots, supply points, highways, river and road traffic and anti-aircraft guns from Dong Hoi near the South Vietnamese border to Haiphong, 75 miles south of Red China.

U.S. planes also scattered more than 3 million propaganda leaflets over the Haiphong area. The leaflets told North Vietnamese the Hanoi regime does not dare admit sending troops into South Viet Nam since that would be a denial against the United States. The leaflets showed pictures of North Vietnamese soldiers killed in the South.

In Moscow today the Soviet Union delivered a protest note to the U.S. Embassy accusing Washington of obstructing the movement of Soviet ships in the port of Haiphong and of actually shooting at and hitting a Soviet vessel. It demanded an immediate end to such practices.

U.S. Air Force B52 bombers meanwhile today staged their fourth raid since Saturday on North Vietnamese positions in the demilitarized zone (DMZ) between North and South Viet Nam.

The eight-jet B52s from Guam also hit twice 30 miles southwest of Pleiku in the Central Highlands in support of U.S. and South Vietnamese forces battling North Vietnamese regulars in Operation Paul Revere.

Saigon officials said 786 Communists have been killed in the sweep by troops of the 25th Infantry Division and 1st Air Cavalry Division, many in this week's heavy fighting in the region 215 miles north of Saigon. Local commanders estimated the death toll at more than 900.

Raids over North Viet Nam Thursday marked two years since U.S. planes struck north of the 17th parallel for the first time in retaliation for Communist torpedo boat attacks on (See JETS, Page 3)

WOUNDED and exhausted, three soldiers from a patrol of the 25th Infantry Division move to evacuation helicopters near Plei Me, South Viet Nam. The patrol, taking part in Operation Paul Revere, was surrounded by North Vietnamese troops until a relief column from the First Cavalry fought its way to the unit's aid.

PHS Rodeo Band To Participate In WD Celebration

Pampa High School Rodeo Band will participate in White Deer's Rodeo and Pioneer Day parade at 5 p.m. Saturday.

Rodeo band members are asked to meet at Pampa High School at 3 p.m. for brief rehearsal before leaving for White Deer, according to Harris Brinson, director.

The parade will be one of the highlights of White Deer's gala celebration of its 60-year history.

Three events are scheduled: Pioneer Day Celebration, the Annual Stamped and Historical Marker Dedication.

Old settlers will register Saturday morning at a covered wagon in the business district. Recognition will be given the eldest pioneer, the one who has traveled the farthest and the one who has lived in the area the longest.

Starting at 10 a.m., six historical markers will be unveiled by Panhandle legislators, religious and business leaders.

Markers will recognize the N. Bar N Ranch House building in 1888; the J. C. Jackson Store, the first supply store for early settlers founded in 1908; the "last cattle drive to Montana; the First Presbyterian Church, oldest church in White Deer, and only church for protestants until 1921; the Polish settlers of Carson County, and the City of White Deer.

A free noon basket lunch will be served in the high school cafeteria following dedications. A drama at 2 p.m. in First Methodist Church, will depict the city's heritage.

Bands, floats and riding clubs will take part in the Stamped parade at 5 p.m.

The new arena in the southeast section of town will be the scene for rodeo performances at 8 p.m. today and Saturday.

Admission to the rodeo, sponsored by White Deer Riding Club and the Lions Club, is $1.25 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Dances, starting at 9 p.m. today and Saturday, will be sponsored by American Legion in the Legion building on Main Street.

Berry's World To Join Pampa News Full-Color Comics

Suave, sophisticated, "adult" humor is the hallmark of Jim Berry's attractive new full-color "Berry's World," which appears regularly in this newspaper starting Sunday.

His fabulously new approach to Sunday newspaper entertainment is as different from the mundane comic strip as his bright daily panel is to the usual editorial cartoon.

Millions of readers have enjoyed entering Berry's "World" and seeing things as Berry sees them. They appreciate his attitude—he does not talk down to them; he treats his readers as the intelligent adults they are.

Where his daily cartoons have dealt with political personages and problems, his weekend strip mostly develops social situations. The one-third page format will appear regularly in The Daily News Sunday color comic section.

Hoodlums Steal Rifles, Shotguns

CHICAGO (UPI) — Hoodlums broke windows in a suburban department store today and stole 24 rifles and shotguns from displays after a rampage of violence during which a policeman was shot by a sniper.

The gang disturbances broke out in Harvey, an industrialized community about 10 miles south of the Chicago city limits, and about 15 miles from where Dr. Martin Luther King is scheduled to lead marchers into an all-white neighborhood this afternoon.

Harvey off-ice Chief William McClarin said policeman Fred Hess was hit by a sniper bullet at about midnight after helping break up a gang of about 30 Negroes who had been hurling rocks at cars, smashing store windows and stealing clothing and television sets.

Television in Review

By ROBERT MUSEL
 United Press International
 NEW YORK (UPI)—It all seems so plausible and inevitable in the pages of science fiction, the confrontation between earth men and intelligent beings from other stars.

But never the twin shall meet, according to a documentary "We Are Not Alone" now being completed by Stephen Fleischman who has a string of distinguished public interest programs to his credit at ABC-TV.

After research on both sides of the Iron Curtain Fleischman has found firm agreement among top scientists that there is probably intelligent life, and almost certainly biological life, on some of the billions of stars in our galaxy.

"But the trouble is," said the award-winning producer, "they all seem to think that the most logical place to look for intelligent life is on stars some 1000 light years from us—meaning it takes light 1000 years to get there traveling at 187,000 miles a second."

"Space ships of course, can't travel that fast and would take many times longer. No living thing could possibly survive the trip. Even radio messages would journey a thousand years. You can't have dialogue with thousand year gaps."

ker, 326 N. Faulkner, on the birth of a boy at 11:25 a.m., weighing 7 lbs. 12 ozs.

between questions and answers." Fleischman said there was one possible step we might be able to take if we ever make contact with a space civilization.

"We could send them television pictures of what we do and how we live. And they could send us similar pictorial information. The signals would have to travel so far the events they showed would be a thousand or more years old by the time they arrived, but that's better than nothing."

Fleischman's hour long program, scheduled for broadcast Oct. 21 with a repeat Nov. 6, is in effect, an interim report on the scientific search for extraterrestrial life. Part film, part animation, part interviews with famous scientists. It dismisses flying saucers as of small importance to the subject at least until a saucer lands and its occupants explain themselves.

"Scientists are skeptical about UFO's (unidentified flying objects)," the producer said. "Fleischman is showing all the tools and techniques used in the search for space life from the laboratory to the radio telescope at Arecibo in Puerto Rico listening to the sounds of space with its vast 'ear' 1000 feet across."

"We are in the process of negotiating now with the Russians who have proposed an international commission to listen in to distant stars." Fleischman said "one problem is that there are 10,000 stars in the area scientists think it most likely there is life and we would have to listen to them all individually."

"It's a 20-year project even with a automated equipment doing the job. There is also talk of a radio telescope around the equator which would scan the heavens as the earth rotates."

Fleischman stressed that the title of the documentary "We Are Not Alone" is a statement. "There is no question mark after it," he said.

OPEN ROUTE
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Air Force has opened its 24-hour flight service across a polar route, cutting in half the time it takes to get wounded U.S. servicemen home from Viet Nam.

The first C141 jet transport landed Wednesday at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., to open the three-a-week flight service to the East Coast for those to be treated in hospitals east of the Mississippi.

The lapsed time for Wednesday's flight—24 hours and 55 minutes from Saigon to Andrews—was less than half the two days now required on Pacific routes used previously.

 The Foreign News Outlook:
 De Gaulle-Ho-Mao

Diplomatic sources in the Hong Kong listening post say Chinese Communist authorities may invite President Charles de Gaulle of France to visit Peking when he comes to Southeast Asia later this year. There already have been rumors in Paris De Gaulle might see President Ho Chi Minh of North Viet Nam when he visits Cambodia. But French diplomatic sources say a Ho visit is unlikely because it could compromise any chances De Gaulle might have to act in a peace-making capacity in Viet Nam later.

The area was reclaimed from the Kazakhstan steppes in an attempt to make it the new Soviet breadbasket but weather and administrative problems have kept it from fulfilling its early promise. Draft Quota Soars Up

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The October draft quota of 46,200 men is already the highest monthly quota since the Korean War, but might go even higher, judging by what has happened all this summer as demands of the Viet Nam war increased.

In announcing the October quota Thursday, the Defense Department also raised the previously set September draft by 6,000—increasing the call from 31,300 to 37,300. This was done, officials said, because of lagging enlistments.

But it was the fifth quota in a row the Pentagon revised upward a few weeks after the original total was set.

If the trend continues, the number of October inductees might ultimately exceed 50,000.

Pampan's Parents See 92nd Birthday

When "they lived happily ever after" medals are minted, Mrs. W. L. Harman, 1221 Hamilton, has a mom and dad, who would be the first to qualify to receive one.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cain R. Robinson, who live in Maysville, Okla. have been married for 76 years and just recently celebrated Robinson's 92nd birthday. Mrs. Robinson is also 92.

In addition to being the oldest couple in Maysville, they also claim the distinction of having been married longer than anyone in Garvin County.

The Robinsons, who passed the three year mark of being together last March 19, are in good health for their age, according to their daughter.

They are both still alert and talkative. Mrs. Robinson usually sits in a wheelchair, but is able to walk with a little assistance. Robinson is able to move about the nursing home and its grounds with ease. The pair came to Maysville 43 years ago from Kentucky and settled on a farm. Robinson was employed at a cotton gin for 17 years.

They entered the McCaskill Nursing Home in Maysville last February.

In addition to their daughter in Pampa, they have nine other children; 99 grandchildren and 63 great-grandchildren.

LBJ Undecided On Steel Action

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Denounced by the White House as "irresponsible" the nation's steelmakers today waited to see what President Johnson would do about their $3 per ton price hike.

Twice in the past five years the federal government has succeeded in getting the steel industry to roll back or scale down price increases.

Eleven steel companies, nine of them major producers of sheet steel, have announced the $3 price increase in the past three days. Several pointed out the hike would add "only" $3 to the price of an automobile.

The White House said Johnson viewed the increases as inflationary and a violation of the public interest. His chief economic adviser, Gardner Ackley, labeled steel companies "irresponsible."

"They were unwilling even to hear the government state the public interest in this matter," Ackley said. He had sent telegrams to all major steel firms Wednesday—one day after Inland Steel Co. first announced the hike—asking that "no action be taken until this can be discussed with the government."

U.S. Steel confirmed receipt of the telegram Wednesday, announced a price hike Thursday and was quickly joined by other producers.

Of the major producers, only Wheeling Steel, which is plagued with financial and production problems, has not fallen into line on the new prices.

A $2 per ton increase in the price of secondary steel sheets, products not up to standards, was considered of little importance since "seconds" constituted only two per cent of the more than 29 million tons of sheet steel shipped last year.

Suicide Ruled In Mans Death

The death of a Pampa man, found around midnight Thursday in his apartment, 685 W. Browning, was apparently the result of a self-inflicted bullet wound, according to Justice of Peace Nat Lunsford.

After investigation, Lunsford ruled that circumstances indicate that Marion W. Chisum, 49, died as a result of a bullet, from a 22-caliber pistol, which entered his right temple forward and above his right ear.

The body was found halfway between the kitchen and living room by city patrolmen S. B. Patterson, W. M. Robinson and Archie Chisum, brother of the deceased, who had to force entry into the apartment.

The brother had notified city police after receiving a telephone call from the deceased's wife, Wilma, in Oklahoma City, who told him her husband had just called her from Pampa. She said she had heard him fire one shot. During the conversation, he told her "the next one would be for real."

Mrs. Chisum heard another shot and then silence. It was then she contacted her brother-in-law here.

When officers and Chisum arrived at the apartment, they found the victim with the pistol lying against his right leg. The telephone had fallen between his legs and the recording alert was signaling "receiver off the hook."

Beatle Records Off City Stations

The voice of music-lovers has been heard and noted... recordings by the Beatles will be heard no more over local radio stations.

The Beatle Ban in Pampa will be imposed by KPDM and KHIIH following a statement by one of the Beatles, John Lennon, who reportedly said the Beatles are "more popular than Jesus."

Warren Hasse, owner of KPDM, said, "We don't have to ban them. We have never played them."

A. C. Higgins, KHIIH station employe, said he had received a flood of telephone calls, mostly from Pampa teenagers, requesting a blackout of Beatle recordings.

"We plan to abide by their wishes," Higgins said. "One of the station managers facetiously remarked, 'Now if we could just get one of the Beatles to make a remark about long hair... maybe the barbers could go to work.'"

Brazil ruled that Cage and his wife are the parents of a Brazilian child and not subject to extradition. The boy, Bart, is with his mother.

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade of Dallas County and his assistant, Bill Alexander, said they had sent proof to Brazil that the child was adopted.

About 85,000 workers are directly or indirectly idled, he said, and the airlines themselves are losing, at latest estimate, $8.2 million a day. This raises a question about overall effects on the economy, he said.

But over-all economic effects so far have been minor, Wirtz said. "The national defense, health and safety are not affected," he asserted.

"In terms of over-all economic threat, I do not find any threat going to the vitals of the economy," Wirtz told the committee.

Senate passage put the bill before what House Democratic Leader Carl Albert, D-Okla., called a "very much divided" House membership.

Many House members apparently had clung to the hope the imminence of congressional action might prod union and management into a settlement. Wirtz dealt a sharp blow to any such hopes.

William J. Curtin, airlines spokesman, endorsed the Senate action. P.L. (Roy) Siemiller, IAM president, denounced it, warning that some strikes may quit their jobs or refuse to work overtime if the strike ended by legislation.

"This is the first time formal recognition has been accorded these hard working and dedicated men and women," Shepperd said.

Community Missions Stressed At Southern Baptist Meeting

GLORIETA, N. M. — Sixteen Southern Baptist missionaries from four states and six foreign countries met with more than 1,350 Weman's Missionary Union members July 28-Aug. 5 at Gloriaeta Baptist Assembly here.

"We have mission opportunities where we live," said Alma Hunt, WMU executive secretary and conference director. "Sometimes we are blind to the mission needs in our own communities."

During separate morning conference sessions, missionaries met with conferees in an effort to alert WMU members to Southern Baptist home and foreign missions efforts.

Featuring speaker for morning convocations was Dr. James D. Belote, missionary to Hong Kong. "I know that God has not written off his work in China," Dr. Belote said.

"By a tragic twist of history China has now become an enemy of our country. God grant that you and I may remember what the Lord said — to love our enemies."

REV. ELMER STAHLY

Nazarenes To Welcome New Pastor Sunday

Rev. Elmer Stahly, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, will be preaching his first sermon in Pampa at the 11 o'clock hour Sunday, Aug. 7.

Rev. and Mrs. Stahly moved to Pampa to assume pastoral duties on Tuesday of this week. They were formerly at Grassland church in Tahoka.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Stahly are graduates of Bethany Nazarene College, Bethany, Okla. They have pastored churches in Oklahoma and Texas during their entire ministry.

They have one married son, who lives in Oklahoma City. Rev. Stahly is following Rev. C. N. Snow, who has been called to a pastorate in Oregon.

Mike Stewart, assistant minister will conduct services for First Christian Church Sunday. He will speak on the topic "What Are We Doing Here?"

The Rev. J. W. Duke will assist with the services. Stewart, who was graduated in 1966 from Texas Christian University, has been acting assistant minister in the local church this summer and will return to TCU this fall for work on a masters degree.

During August Misses Suzy Benton and Joe Ann Craig will be guest soloists. This Sunday they will present "O Divine Redeemer" (Gounod).

Sunday School is at 9:45 a.m.; Morning Worship at 10:50 a.m.; Snack Supper at 5:30 p.m. and Youth Groups at 6 p.m.

Southwestern Bell general manager N. K. Hovestock said the employe, C. O. Peters Jr., should decide whether he wishes to remain a company employe or join the United Fund staff.

"We do not want to strike, but I will go to the company now and ask that they arbitrate this dispute. This vote tonight merely gives me power to speak in a more authoritative voice for the union," said Gunn.

He said if the company did not agree to arbitration, three choices were open to the union. "We can charge unfair labor practices, seek a court injunction, or, as a last resort, take a strike vote," Gunn said.

"Working for the fund is not working for another company," said Paul Gray, South Texas area director for the CWA. "It is a community enterprise."

"We are only asking that Peters be guaranteed reemployment by Southwestern Bell at the end of the year," he said.

Christians Put Moral Restraint On Warfare

By LOUIS CASSELS United Press International When a nation is fighting a war, its people may come to feel that use of any tactic that is militarily effective is justified.

War is so horrible under any circumstances that it seems difficult to draw a line between moral and immoral ways of waging it.

Yet the Christian church has always insisted that there are moral restraints on what may be done in warfare. Indeed, the whole Christian concept of a "just war" depends on the methods used as well as the cause for which the war is fought.

American Christians of all denominations are indebted to a wise Catholic cardinal for reminding them of this at a time when impatient demands are being heard for an "anything goes" strategy in Viet Nam.

In a pastoral letter that deserves to be read far beyond the boundaries of his own archdiocese, Lawrence Cardinal Shehan of Baltimore warns that it is not enough for Americans to debate the reasons why their country is at war in Viet Nam.

Questions of Degree Even if they conclude that the war is necessary and honorable, he says, there remains the question of "the degree and kind of violence our nation should inflict on its enemies."

"All is not permissible in even a presumably lawful war of self-defense," says the Baltimore cardinal. He notes that the recent Vatican Council, while upholding a nation's moral right to take up arms against an aggressor, "gave its unequivocal and unhesitating condemnation to any act of war aimed at the indiscriminate destruction of entire cities or of extensive areas along with their population." Cardinal Shehan is greatly disturbed by the growing chorus of "harsh voices" which he hears in America, "attempting to pressure our leaders into decisions which the Christian conscience could not endorse," such as bombing raids on North Viet Nam's population centers.

Check Moral Grounds "If we are to resist such lethal appeals to our understandable impatience," he counsels, "we must constantly recall that only on moral grounds can our cause in Viet Nam be just. If our means become immoral, our cause will have been betrayed."

Cardinal Shehan isn't the only American concerned about the methods employed in Viet Nam. The Protestant magazine Christian Century recently published an article by two medical scientists deploring the U.S. military policy of destroying rice crops in Viet Cong areas by spraying them with herbicides.

The authors were Dr. Jean Mayer, professor of nutrition at Harvard, and Dr. Victor W. Sidel, associate in preventive medicine at Harvard Medical School.

"By every tenet of our traditional American ethic, the program of food destruction is wrong," they said. "It is wrong because it is likely to hurt a great many innocent people, principally children, while accomplishing nothing toward decreasing the military capabilities of the Viet Cong."

Washington (UPI) — Lynda Bird Johnson has no marriage plans for the moment but if she decides to wait while no one at the White House will mind a bit.

Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, the First Lady's harried press secretary says it's "Lynda's decision" on the kind of wedding she would like some day. "Every bride should have a right to make her own decision on that score."

Mrs. Carpenter told United Press International in an interview that nobody at the White House "was ready" for a quick repeat of the Luci Baines Johnson-style of wedding. But she said "everyone is ready when and if."

Mrs. Carpenter said that her job "has been protection of the First Family's desire for privacy" in the forthcoming marriage of the President's daughter to Patrick J. Nugent of Waukegan, Ill.

She said Johnson has "loved Luci bouncing in and out" of his office and will miss her. "He loves to kid her. He's a great kiddier. She's the first chick to leave the coop."

Rift Brings Resignation

JOPLIN, Mo. (UPI) — A political rift between Gov. Warren E. Hearnes and Jim Thomas, deputy director of the Department of Revenue office at Joplin, resulted in Thomas' resignation Thursday.

"Due to the political situation in Jasper County the governor has requested for, and I have submitted, my resignation as deputy collector effective Aug. 15," Thomas said.

His announcement came only hours after Hearnes asked Delton L. Houtchens, State Democratic Committee chairman, to investigate Thomas' political activities.

Hernes said he had never said he intends to order the firing of Thomas but would say that it could not happen. Thomas was aligned with the Democrats United Club in Southwest Missouri which filed about 30 candidates for county committee posts. However, the faction lost to the "old line Democrats," most of whom opposed Hearnes in 1964.

Prior to Tuesday's primary, Thomas' group allegedly mailed postcards saying, "Let's support Governor Hearnes for a better Joplin," and urging the election of faction candidates. "That thing that was sent out (the postcard)," Hearnes said, "we had no knowledge of until it was mailed. It did embarrass this office."

SENDS BEST WISHES WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson has extended his wishes for "every success" to Dr. Lorenzo Guetero, the new president of Nicaragua.

In a message of condolence Thursday on the death of President Rene Schick, Johnson said the late president had "so ably contributed to the progress of his country."

Johnson said he looked forward to a continuation of "the close cooperation" between the United States and Nicaragua under the new government.

Lynda Bird Has No Plans For Marriage at Present

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lynda Bird Johnson has no marriage plans for the moment but if she decides to wait while no one at the White House will mind a bit.

Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, the First Lady's harried press secretary says it's "Lynda's decision" on the kind of wedding she would like some day. "Every bride should have a right to make her own decision on that score."

Mrs. Carpenter told United Press International in an interview that nobody at the White House "was ready" for a quick repeat of the Luci Baines Johnson-style of wedding. But she said "everyone is ready when and if."

Mrs. Carpenter said that her job "has been protection of the First Family's desire for privacy" in the forthcoming marriage of the President's daughter to Patrick J. Nugent of Waukegan, Ill.

She said Johnson has "loved Luci bouncing in and out" of his office and will miss her. "He loves to kid her. He's a great kiddier. She's the first chick to leave the coop."

She said that Mrs. Johnson has been spending "a great many hours" with Luci to fill in some of her homemaking gaps. The First Lady took her daughter down to the kitchen to

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

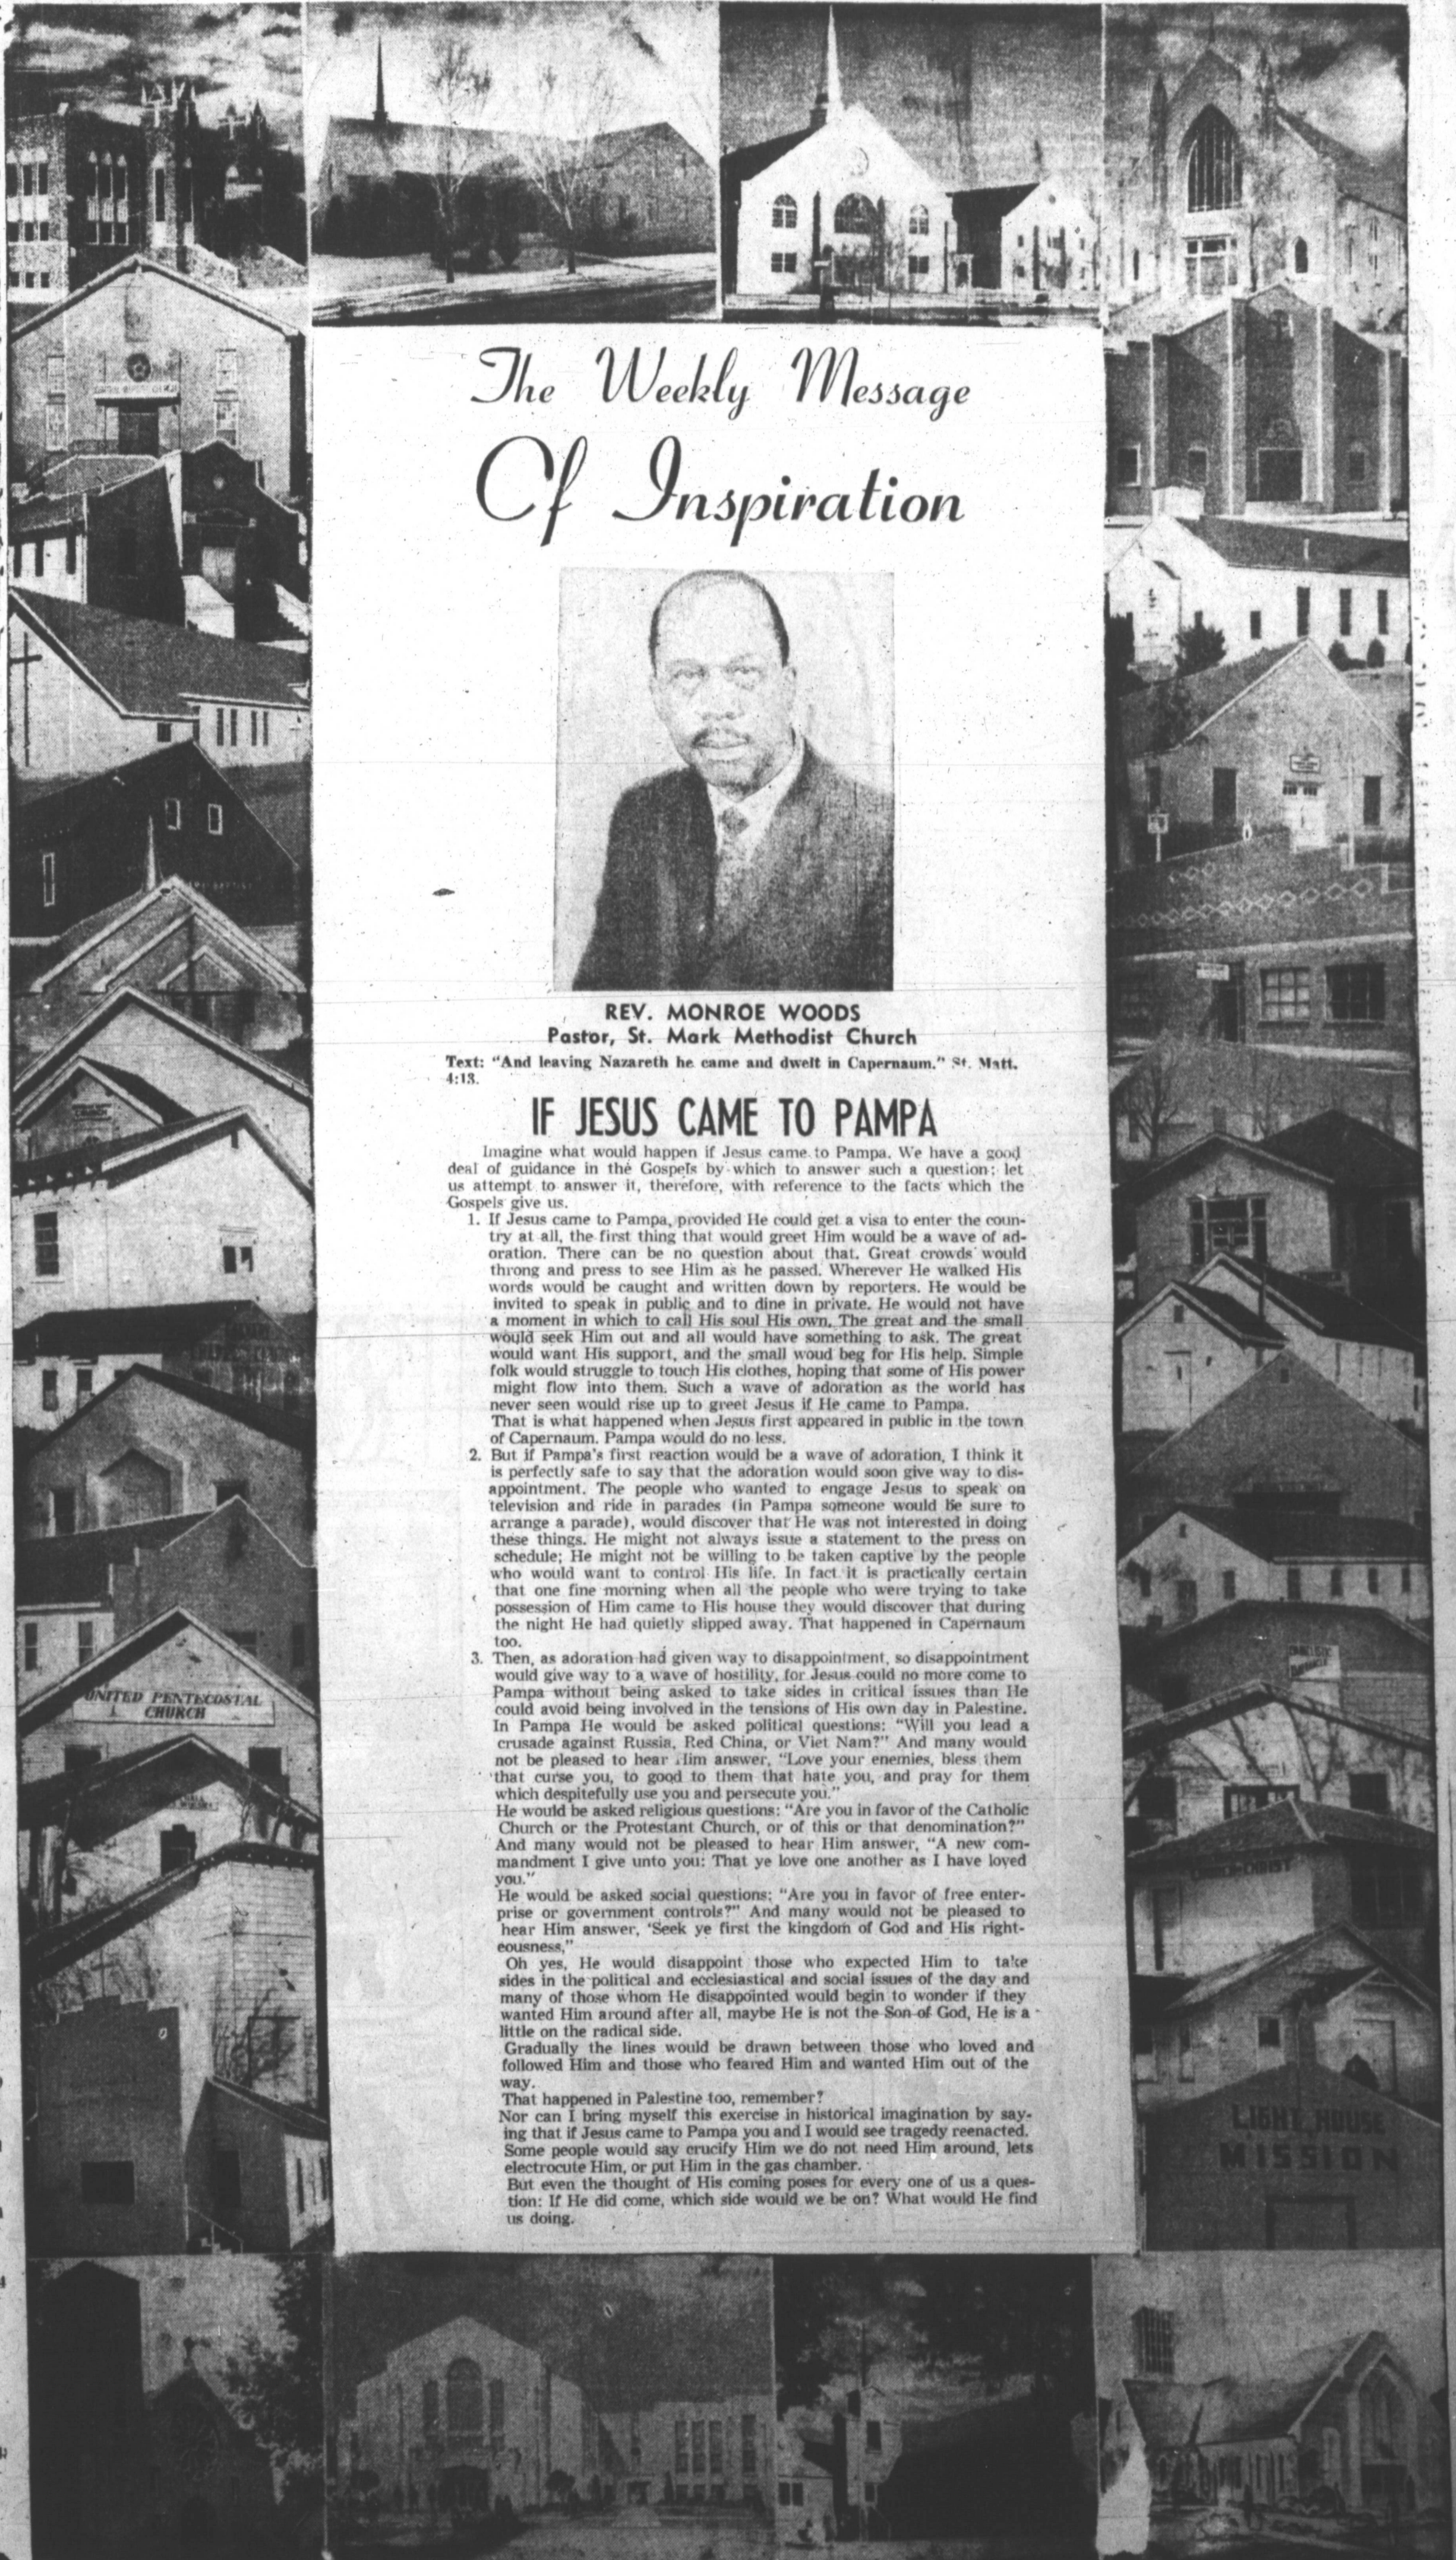

REV. MONROE WOODS
Pastor, St. Mark Methodist Church

Text: "And leaving Nazareth he came and dwelt in Capernaum." St. Matt. 4:13.

IF JESUS CAME TO PAMPA

Imagine what would happen if Jesus came to Pampa. We have a good deal of guidance in the Gospels by which to answer such a question: let us attempt to answer it, therefore, with reference to the facts which the Gospels give us.

1. If Jesus came to Pampa, provided He could get a visa to enter the country at all, the first thing that would greet Him would be a wave of adoration. There can be no question about that. Great crowds would throng and press to see Him as he passed. Wherever He walked His words would be caught and written down by reporters. He would be invited to speak in public and to dine in private. He would not have a moment in which to call His soul His own. The great and the small would seek Him out and all would have something to ask. The great would want His support, and the small would beg for His help. Simple folk would struggle to touch His clothes, hoping that some of His power might flow into them. Such a wave of adoration as the world has never seen would rise up to greet Jesus if He came to Pampa. That is what happened when Jesus first appeared in public in the town of Capernaum. Pampa would do no less.
2. But if Pampa's first reaction would be a wave of adoration, I think it is perfectly safe to say that the adoration would soon give way to disappointment. The people who wanted to engage Jesus to speak on television and ride in parades (in Pampa someone would be sure to arrange a parade), would discover that He was not interested in doing these things. He might not always issue a statement to the press on schedule; He might not be willing to be taken captive by the people who would want to control His life. In fact it is practically certain that one fine morning when all the people who were trying to take possession of Him came to His house they would discover that during the night He had quietly slipped away. That happened in Capernaum too.
3. Then, as adoration had given way to disappointment, so disappointment would give way to a wave of hostility, for Jesus could no more come to Pampa without being asked to take sides in critical issues than He could avoid being involved in the tensions of His own day in Palestine. In Pampa He would be asked political questions: "Will you lead a crusade against Russia, Red China, or Viet Nam?" And many would not be pleased to hear Him answer, "Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, to good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you and persecute you." He would be asked religious questions: "Are you in favor of the Catholic Church or the Protestant Church, or of this or that denomination?" And many would not be pleased to hear Him answer, "A new commandment I give unto you: That ye love one another as I have loved you." He would be asked social questions: "Are you in favor of free enterprise or government controls?" And many would not be pleased to hear Him answer, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness." Oh yes, He would disappoint those who expected Him to take sides in the political and ecclesiastical and social issues of the day and many of those whom He disappointed would begin to wonder if they wanted Him around after all, maybe He is not the Son of God, He is a little on the radical side. Gradually the lines would be drawn between those who loved and followed Him and those who feared Him and wanted Him out of the way. That happened in Palestine too, remember? Nor can I bring myself this exercise in historical imagination by saying that if Jesus came to Pampa you and I would see tragedy reenacted. Some people would say crucify Him we do not need Him around, lets electrocute Him, or put Him in the gas chamber. But even the thought of His coming poses for every one of us a question: If He did come, which side would we be on? What would He find us doing.

Play Made Up in Huddle Keeps North Victorious

HOUSTON (UPI)—A desperation 73-yard pass play, made up in the huddle with the clock ticking towards the two-minute-to-play mark, kept the North dominant in the 32nd annual Texas Coaching School all star football game Thursday night.

The play, from quarterback James Norwood of Texarkana Negro speedster James Haywood of Clifton and a 28-yard field goal 52 seconds earlier by the South's Dickie Phillips of Galena Park North Shore provided all the scoring in the 7-3 ball game. But the 44 dull minutes that preceded the compacted scoring activity were quickly forgotten by the crowd of 21,000 which saw the North win its fifth straight game, its 19th against 10 losses and three ties. The South has won only one since 1957.

Norwood, a 5-11, 180-pounder, won the outstanding back honors and commented later "I got it for one lousy play." But the writers who voted for him also gave him credit for a fine defensive game in the North secondary, which allowed the South.

Haywood, a 5-7, 160-pounder, said after the game that "we made that pass play up in the middle," but his coach, Don Orr, admitted that wasn't 100 per cent factual.

Despite the general dullness of the game, which was further marred by a record 207 yards in penalties, including an evenly-divided 10 of the 15-yard variety, the contest did have some other individual stars.

For the North, Glen Halsell of Odessa Permian was the top lineman, but Richard Stevens of Dublin also turned in a top game.

GB Packers Favored By 14 Points Over Stars

CHICAGO (UPI)—The National Football League champion Green Bay Packers appeared against the College All-Stars for the sixth time tonight, and the rough and ready collegians are a solid threat to upset the favored pros.

The Packers, with three wins and two defeats against five previous All-Star teams, were a two-touchdown favorite. But against them will be a squad as big physically, as fast overall, with standout running backs and well prepared.

This squad was more prepared mentally when it started than any other I can recall," Johnny Sauer, head coach of the All-Stars for the first time, said.

The blocking from backs could be the key whether Steve Sloan of Alabama, Bill Anderson of Tulsa and Gary Lane of Missouri can pass well. They got excellent protection from both linemen and backs during scrimmages, and Sauer hoped they could get the same against the Packers.

Five Pro Coaches Make Debuts in '66

There are five coaches who will be making their debuts this weekend as the pro football exhibition season begins for 18 teams, but the coach who has the toughest job is one who led his team to two consecutive Eastern Conference titles in the National Football League.

Blanton Collier of the Cleveland Browns is the coach in question, and he will be anxious to find how well his offense works without Jimmy Brown, the greatest rusher in the history of the game.

Collier has said several times the past few weeks. The Rams are one of the teams that boast a new coach. George Allen, who served many years as an assistant to George Halas, will direct the Rams for the first time and there will be several new faces in the lineup.

Clay admitted today he was just like any other human being—mortal. He also admitted to sleepless nights leading up to his meeting with Briton Brian London Saturday in defense of his title at Earl's Court Arena.

Former Stillwater Golfer Has Shot Lead at Cleveland

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Larson Harris, elated after firing his lowest score since turning pro, can't afford even a quick look backwards today at the 45 strokes he bunched within five strokes of the first-round 65 he shot Thursday to lead the $100,000 Cleveland Open golf championship.

Harris, a 24-year-old Stillwater, Okla., pro who joined the tour in 1964, collected seven birdies and one bogey Thursday to shave six strokes off par on the 6,777-yard Lakewood Country Club course.

Jack Nicklaus, the reigning Masters and British Open champion, fired a disappointing 74 and faced the distinct possibility of needing a "super" sub-par round today to survive the cut.

The field will be cut to the low 70 players and ties after the second 18 holes today. The 72-hole tournament ends Sunday.

Pirates Don't Let Dissension of Teams Bother Them in Games With Dodgers

The Pirates lost the first game of the four-game series Monday but then came back to win three straight games from the Dodgers, climaxed by Thursday night's 9-1 drubbing of the defending world champions.

Sammy Ellis scattered eight hits as Cincinnati beat St. Louis for their ninth victory in their last 10 games. Dave Simpson homered in the first inning and Pete Rose doubled in a second-inning run and scored himself on Tommy Helms' single to give Ellis all the runs he needed.

Gary Bell, benefitting from a sore shoulder and a sprained foot, has become the ace of the Cleveland pitching staff.

With a double to trigger a five-run eighth inning and carry the Angels into a third-place tie with Cleveland, Elston Howard's two-run homer in the eighth had given the Yankees a 7-6 lead before California's uprising. Jose Cardenal knocked in three runs for the Angels.

Castro Leaves No Doubt About Who's Cuba Boss

HAVANA (UPI)—Fidel Castro's recent "glory day" speech in Havana has laid to rest any lingering doubts among Cuba watchers about who's in charge on the Communist island.

On the heels of the rambling, two-hour, 39-minute harangue, observers are now convinced Fidel is still as firmly in the driver's seat as he has been since he and his bearded guerrillas came down from the mountains Jan. 1, 1959.

There had been mounting speculation the Soviet Union was working to downgrade Castro in Cuba and replace him with a Communist more willing to adhere to the Kremlin's current policy of peaceful coexistence. Other reports said Castro has been seriously ill and that his power had waned.

The speculation, fed by Castro's unexplained absence from public events in Cuba earlier this summer, was partially scotched when he showed up at a reception in June, welcoming Cuban athletes back from the Caribbean games in Puerto Rico.

Then he attended a French Embassy reception in Havana and Western diplomats who saw him said later he looked rested and appeared mentally fit.

Finally came the glory day speech before thousands in Havana's revolutionary square. The occasion was the 13th anniversary of Castro's attack on the Moncada army barracks—an unsuccessful assault which nevertheless proved the first step toward the fall of dictator Fulgencio Batista and Castro's rise to power.

Observers viewed the address as undiluted headline Castro and pointed to at least three separate indications he has maintained his independence of Soviet control over his policy.

First, he reasserted Cuba's willingness to send troops and "whole combat units with their equipment" to fight in Vietnam if North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh asked for them.

The unmistakable implication was that it was he, Castro, who would decide if the troops would go, and that if they did it would be as full partners with those from other "socialist" nations.

Next, he attacked what he called the "pseudo revolutionaries" in Latin America who do not feel an armed struggle such as the one Castro himself led is the best way to win power.

He called these arm-chair Communists "the best allies of imperialism in Latin America."

Finally, Castro chided the Soviet Union itself, although not by name when he said Cuba would feel "hurt and aggrieved" if any "socialist" country were to give aid to Chile.

The Soviets have been stepping up their technical aid to Chile, cultural exchanges between the two nations have increased and there have been indications a trade agreement would be reached between them.

The challenge to these educational goals contained in the 1964 Civil Rights Act consists of a single paragraph which seems to withhold legislative sanction from what the Johnson administration and the civil rights leaders are trying to achieve. If legislative sanction is not withheld, it is an incontestable fact that the Congress specified that it was not authorizing or requiring correction of racial imbalance. The 1964 act precisely defined the desegregation required in public education. The definition was vigorous in its limiting language, as follows:

"Desegregation" means the assignment of students to public schools without regard to their race, color, religion or national origin but 'desegregation' shall not mean the assignment of students to public schools in order to overcome racial imbalance."

Also to be remembered is the fact that when the Supreme Court ordered desegregation, it did not stipulate that it also was ordering integration of the public schools or any correction of de facto racial imbalance.

Thus it is that the court has ordered desegregation without requiring also integration of the school systems. All Negro schools come into being in the central city areas by reason of housing patterns. The neighborhood school system, which is traditional in the United States, draws its pupils in each instance from the residents in the school district surrounding a given elementary school. When housing patterns create Negro school districts, the neighborhood school is likely to have all-Negro classes. School officials would be forbidden to create Negro school districts but if the districts are there the neighborhood school breaks no law if its pupils are all Negro or all anything. This situation is called de facto segregation;

The Civil Rights Act of 1964 stands as a challenge to the new look in race relations. The new look is an "action now" movement to open affluent suburbs to the Negro families who now are concentrated in rat-infested city slums.

The new look is developing faster than you think. The Hartford, Conn., metropolitan area is giving it a voluntary trial.

The objective of the new look is to obtain for children in the crumbling slum areas of Negro ghettos an entry into the predominantly white schools of the affluent suburbs. The end result sought is to correct racial imbalance, so-called, regardless of cause. City Negroes would use Supreme Court decisions to open the doors of predominantly white schools to the Negro children of predominantly black inner city schools. The federal government supports this objective. It has some support from federal judges and is likely to have more. The open housing section of the pending 1966 civil rights bill was directed toward opening suburban facilities, notably schools, to Negro slum children.

The challenge to these educational goals contained in the 1964 Civil Rights Act consists of a single paragraph which seems to withhold legislative sanction from what the Johnson administration and the civil rights leaders are trying to achieve. If legislative sanction is not withheld, it is an incontestable fact that the Congress specified that it was not authorizing or requiring correction of racial imbalance. Arkansas Demo Governor Hopeful Blasts Opponent

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—Democratic gubernatorial candidate Frank Holt said Thursday if his opponent, Jim Johnson, is elected Arkansas may bid goodbye to industry as well as participation in federal programs.

"It is not only the United States government which is going to be run out of Arkansas if my opponent wins," Holt said. "It is my firm conviction that no important industry will come to our state if we accept his radical extremism."

Holt said Johnson's record on the Arkansas Supreme Court demands inspection because "he is practically campaigning in his judicial robes." Holt criticized Johnson's self-assigned nickname of Justice Jim. Holt was a member of the court during Johnson's term.

Holt also fulminated against amendment in 1960 to close the schools rather than integrate them and for campaigning for Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater in 1964.

He said much of Arkansas' recent progress is because of a partnership between the state and the national government as well as with local communities.

In 1964, Turkish planes attacked Cyprus for the first time after sharp fighting between Greek and Turkish Cypriots on Aug. 5.

BRING THE WHOLE FAMILY

It May Take Freight Car To Transport Luci's Gifts

WASHINGTON (UPI)—It may take a freight car to transport all of Luci Johnson's wedding gifts to Austin, Tex., where she and her fiance Patrick J. Nugent will live.

At least two rooms in the White House have been set aside to display the gifts, which range from a table centerpiece of fine lace from King Baudouin and Queen Fabiola of Belgium to a vacuum cleaner from the Johnson family cook, Zephyr Wright.

What could be the biggest gift of all, that of President and Mrs. Johnson, still is a mystery.

For years, the President had said Luci would receive the family-owned, 831-acre "Lewis Ranch," a few miles from Johnson City, Tex., when she is wed.

Now the White House says the ranch will not be a wedding present. This does not necessarily mean Luci and Pat will not eventually acquire the property.

Family friends invited to the Saturday wedding have been trying to complete Luci's china, silver and glassware patterns. Wellwishers among the public have sent everything from kitchenware to good-luck garters.

The Johnsons were reluctant to accept gifts from foreign heads of state because the wedding ostensibly is considered a family affair, but refusal of presents would be an insult.

RCA: Not entirely. People aren't going to take over the world overnight, but as improvements are made they will undoubtedly be in big demand.

Remington Rand: Are you suggesting that people may eventually replace computers entirely?
