

New Chamber Directors To Be Elected

Ballots for the election of seven new directors to three-year terms on the board of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce will be counted in the chamber office tomorrow. Members of the chamber, who have not already turned in their ballots, should do so before 10 a.m. Thursday.

The following chamber directors whose terms expire this year are Billy B. Davis, Gene Inel, Norman Henry, W. G. McComas, Wiley Reynolds, W. A. Morgan, Bill Power, Ken Shearer, Ken Womack, E. L. Green Jr., and Jake Webb.

According to the bylaws of the chamber, a person who has served on the board as a three-year director is not eligible for re-election to the board until he has been off the board for at least one year. One-year appointive terms, however, are eligible to re-election to a three-year term, according to Norman C. Henry, president of the organization.

New officers and directors will meet at Pampa Country Club Tuesday night, Oct. 11, and will be officially presented to the membership at the chamber's annual banquet Tuesday night, Oct. 25, at which time Fred Pool, executive vice president of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce at Longview, will be speaker of the evening.

The banquet will be held in Robert E. Lee Junior High School Cafeteria. Tickets will go on sale Oct. 1.

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

CHINA'S TEEN-AGERS SEE RED: The young adults of China, organized by their Communist government to go on the rampage in recent weeks, repeat Red-history. During the Russian revolution the Soviets prodded sons and daughters to spy on parents, report anything "anti." Millions went to comber kind of rebellion than marijuana. Now, it's 1966. Professional barroom circles inform YOUTH BEAT that long hair is definitely still "in" . . . it'll be trimmed more this year, especially in the front . . . and much more contoured or "razor-styled" to fit the wearer's facial contour. Sources add that fathers are beginning to copy what is called the "continental look" or "Prince Charlie cut," a la Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

HAIR STYLES FOR GIRLS: The fashion world forecasts it will continue long . . . mostly straight . . . usually flying free . . . sometimes controlled — by bows, bandeaus, barrettes, grips and even tiaras. A few girls are wearing the new "bold urchin" look . . . very short, cropped close to the head and fluffy . . . about the way Mia Farrow looked when she got married, with hair as short as her husband Frank Sinatra's.

Changes Listed In SWB Personnel

Three personnel changes were announced today by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company here. James E. McCann, 2213 Dogwood, plant foreman for the company in Pampa has been named installation foreman at Odessa.

McCann will be succeeded by L. D. Langford who is presently serving as wire chief for the company at Colorado City. J. W. Shaw, Midland, a cable splicer, has been named acting construction foreman for Pampa.

McCann has lived in Pampa since 1958. He began his career as a telephone installer at Abilene in 1947 and served there in various capacities until 1956 when he was named chief deskman at Midland. He was serving in that position when transferred here two years later.

Langford is a 14-year veteran with the company and started as a telephone installer at Borger. He served there from 1952 until last year when he was named wire chief at Colorado City.

Shaw has been with the company since 1956 when he started as a cable splicer's helper and has served at Midland as a lineman and cable splicer.

Price Renews Water Plan Suggestion

DALHART — Congressional candidate Bob Price, today renewed an earlier suggestion that an interstate Water Compact Commission be formed to plan for future use of the nation's water supply.

"Local governments acting through the compact approach can be more effective than they could separately and more effective than the Federal Government alone," Price stated.

The 18th District candidate was principal speaker at the District Water Board meeting here today.

"Under present legislative trends it is conceivable that all water use could come under absolute control of the Federal Government," Price said. "I believe these problems can best be worked out on a regional basis."

"There should be a 'water-management - at-home - first' philosophy which should include the goal of retaining runoff at the headwaters of small tributaries to prevent its disappearance into ocean graveyards."

Price also called for more research into methods of slowing down evaporation of surface waters as well as methods of recharging diminishing water tables.

"Some sections of our district are already feeling the effects of a dwindling water supply. As a congressman it would be my goal to aid in retaining the water resources we have as well as finding new supplies," he continued.

Price added:

"Water management should be directed primarily by regional knowledge and local control in a scientifically efficient and economically sound manner."

GOOD YEAR
FIRST CHOICE FOR QUALITY AND SAFETY

OGDEN & SON 501 W. Foster MO 4844

National Window

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International
There he was! The President of the United States with his hand caught in the cookie jar! Embarrassing? Shocking? Not a bit. Citizens are accustomed to seeing their statesmen of all parties fingering the cookies. Cynicism is the most acutely destructive disease afflicting the American system. It is destructive because it is much too well warranted by the fact of political life in the United States.

The cookie jar device that entrapped LBJ was a deceitful little gimmick. It was designed to juggle treasury books to mislead the voters as to the size of the 1967 federal deficit. This gimmick was set up by the participation sales act of 1966 enacted last summer.

Alert editorial writers gently — too gently — exposed the gimmick when LBJ proposed it. "Financial gimmickry" whispered a New York Times' editorial writer.

Sponsored by President Johnson to make his budget "look good" — soft-shoed a Scripps-Howard editorialist.

Plan To Sell

LBJ's plan was to sell to private investors $4.2 billion of participation certificates this fiscal year. Of this total $3.2 billion would be participation certificates in a pooled batch of treasury-insured home mortgages, college housing loans, small business loans and similar obligations held by the government in exchange for money advanced. The other $1 billion would flow from export-import bank sales.

To find a market for these participation certificates, the treasury — meaning the taxpayers — would be compelled to pay a higher interest rate than the rate prevailing on the obligations before they were offered for sale. This participation certificate pickpocketry was enacted only last summer when high interest rates already had become a factor in serious economic disarrangement. The administration's sponsorship of this high interest project therefore becomes a matter of astonishment if not of absolute despair.

"If the full $4.2 billion worth is sold," reported the slow-tongued Scripps-Howard editorialist, "government agencies will be able to use that $4.2 billion without getting new appropriations from Congress." (That is, the administration would be able to spend the $4.2 billion thus acquired without reflecting the expenditure in the 1967 budget).

"This play," Scripps-Howard noted, "will improve the appearance of the federal budget although not its actual condition. Washington's biggest sleight-of-hand stunt so far is called the participation sales act of 1966. Republicans in Congress say a better name would be the high interest act of 1966 or operation bucket shop. Their point is well taken."

If Misunderstood

Well taken perhaps, but feebly taken. If this financial gimmickry was undertaken to mislead the public as to the 1967 budget deficit, it cannot adequately be described in editorial euphemisms. Deceitful and dishonest would be more appropriate.

LBJ's hand was spotlighted in the cookie jar last week when the high interest crisis compelled the administration to order the participation sales act of 1966 thrown overboard. The administration thus acknowledged its policy error but not its ethical fault.

This was an administration effort to make its conduct of public business look better than the facts warranted. The voters should, but will not, demand an accounting from politicians who would so mislead them. The voters have become accustomed to a low level of ethical conduct in their public men.

In 1847, the U.S. Army occupied Mexico City.

Foreign News Commentary

By LOUIS CASSELS
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — It's silly to say a man can't live on $35,000 a year," said Atty. Gen. Nicholas DeB. Katzenbach.

But, he added, "it's not as easy as you might think. With the expenses that go with this job, I'm not able to put anything aside."

Cabinet officers agree with Katzenbach. A UPI survey showed that they find it possible to live within their official salaries of $35,000 a year—but only if they keep a careful eye on the family budget.

The survey was prompted by a recent remark of Secretary of State Dean Rusk. He told an interviewer from Look magazine:

"I'm living off my salary. I don't have an thing else. The savings that I had are long since absorbed on the job. That makes a difference to the kids. You can't do some things. Like many other fathers, I'll have two youngsters in college this fall. When the balance gets zero-zero, I'll have to quit. It's as simple as that."

Not Resigning
 Rusk later told UPI that he did not care to elaborate on his finances. He made clear, however, that he has no intention of resigning in the near future.

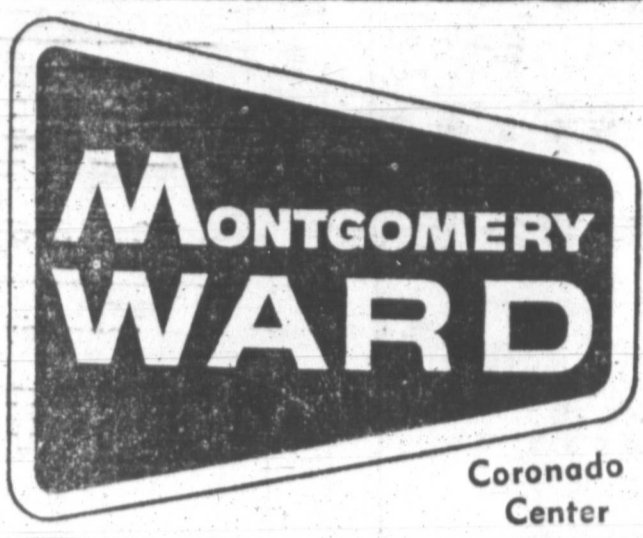

The survey disclosed that four Cabinet members have enough private wealth that they don't have to worry about living on their government paychecks. They are Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler, Commerce Secretary John T. Connor and John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare.

The other seven Cabinet officers are in the same boat with Rusk. They have to make do on what the government pays them. But not all of them find it a hardship.

Robert C. Weaver, secretary of housing and urban development, told UPI candidly that his Cabinet salary is the largest he's ever earned, and "I'm glad to have it." Weaver has spent his entire career as a college professor and public servant.

Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman, aide said, is "not making any money in the job, but he's not having any particular difficulty making ends meet." Similar reports came from Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz and Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall.

Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien said he has not had to dip into his "modest" savings because "we tailor our living expenses to fit our income."

Bowling Breaks By Gil

GIL BURGUND

Would you believe a triplicate even before the league has had a chance to get the sanction sent in? Well, Johnnie Norris, a Junior leaguer, with a 65 average had a 66 triplicate on her second time ever bowling in league.

She gets an early mention as do all the girls from Mobeetie who are always the first to arrive on their night of bowling.

Also as a start, Minnie Cable rolled a 91 game on her first night in league. She says a 15 pound fingertip ball is a little hard to master and believe it or not, she is a mite discouraged after another 99 game. Leonard Cable made her feel real good by coming out with seven strikes in a row to wind up with a 237 game and of course Stanley had to rub it in a little too, by successfully defending his Junior King of the Hill title against Lee Waters.

Vera Williams bettered Irwins Series by better than 100 pins and Sylvia Armstrong beat Ray so badly the last game he threatened to make her walk home. To White Deer, this Celanese Mixed League looks like it is headed for a lot of fun this winter.

Lorrene Tice slipped three pins a game for a 123-127-124 series, and Carol Eggleston came up with a 478 series on a 110 average. Jack Hendricks with a 103 average had a 207 for his first 200.

Mary Ray wound up with six out of nine splits. Everett and Don Gray were trying to outdo each other and each wound up with a total of 99 games.

Fred Payne was out after that triplicate too in one series—at 146-148-146 his teammate Bud Thornton missed having 100 pins over his average by nine pins and Chet Davis did have nine pins over the century mark by rolling a 237 game. It seems 200 games were easy that night.

Even Kay Fancher had one.

Looking at the scores of the Classic League last week, I can understand why Lonnie Harmon called a meeting by saying

"All the Classic league bowlers will meet in the nursery."

Junior doings find us starting with eight teams of Ban-tams, eight of Juniors and eight of Junior Classics. There are hundreds more kids who should be bowling.

The Juniors elected the following officers, Warren Wilson, President; Linda Chase, Vice President; Linda Sadler, Secretary and Treasurer and Mike Ross, Sergeant at Arms. The Junior Classics elected Kerry Parsley President, Stan Cable Vice President and Lee Waters Secretary and Kerry Parsley had quite a battle for the King of the Hill challenger. Lee with a 516 and Kerry with a 515.

Nancy Jones had the hard luck of the week. She was just in the door and taking off her boots to start bowling with Juniors when someone closed the door on her fingers and needless to say, she didn't get to bowl.

Just a few random observations. Pat Jenkins with a 122-122-124. Mellonee Jennings 112-116-116. Johnnie Olson picked the 6-7 Ray Tennyson the 6-7-10 Jeri Parsons 3-8-10 and many others.

Lula Belle Wrights little boy can't walk yet but you should see him operating the adding machine.

Achsa Duncan's little toddler has it made — he has two cute baby sitters all to himself while Mama bowls.

It's great to see so many of the ex P.E. students out with their husbands bowling in mixed leagues. Jeanie Dykes, Pat Rodgers and Jennie Dorman just to mention a few.

Can't find any more news so lets GO GO Bowling.

FOOTBALL KICKOFF
NEW YORK (UPI) — Penn faces Cornell Friday, Oct. 7, to kick off the 33rd annual championship race of the Eastern Intercollegiate 150-pound football league.

Frogs Work Hard for OS

By United Press International
TCU coach Abe Martin thought his Horned Frogs needed a little hard head-knocking Tuesday and worked them "real tough, long and hard."

Most Southwest Conference teams kept top-line players out of contact work to avoid injuries.

Martin's Frogs were defeated by Nebraska last Saturday and face Ohio State this week. By the end of the scrimmage Martin was happier.

"The offense looked real good at times," he said. Sophomore halfback Norman Bulaich of LaMarque and sophomore left guard Gene Mayes of Garland came in for special mention.

At College Station, Texas A and M coach Gene Stallings was counting injuries from Saturday's fight with Georgia Tech. Lloyd Curington, senior halfback from Houston, will not play for several weeks because of bruised thigh, Stallings said.

Larry Leel, formerly an end was switched to Curington's backfield spot.

Stallings announced quarterback Harry Ledbetter's move to roverback in an attempt to build up the defensive backfield.

"I might switch him back to quarterback, but I'm going to try him at roverback because we need help there—and we can't play three quarterbacks," Stallings said.

SMU and Baylor both welcomed returnees from the hospital corps.

Halfbacks Jim Hagle and Larry Jernigan stepped into their first team positions. Both played last week against Illinois, but did not start and were slowed by injuries.

Hagle and Jernigan joined quarterback Mac White and fallback D. J. Moore in running against Navy defenses.

Coach Hayden Fry also directed some Navy offensive formations against his defense.

Baylor's coach John Bridges said Bucky Bovenzi, one of the Bears' top receivers, probably will be in the lineup Saturday against Colorado. Bovenzi has been out with a knee injury since the first fall scrimmage.

Bridges held out little hope, however, that tackle Dwight Hood, tackle Benny Brett, or guard Earl Maxfield will see action. All suffered injuries earlier in the year.

Arkansas coach Frank Broyles knows his Razorbacks will face one of the nation's passingest teams in the University of Tulsa Saturday. But after running his defense through a pass workout he seemed pleased.

"End Tommy Trantham, linebacker Joe Black and Steve Hoehn all intercepted passes in the workout," Broyles said.

"This was probably the best practice of the fall—we improved, and that's what practice is for," he said.

At Lubbock the Texas Tech Red Raiders came in for criticism from coach J.T. King as he ran them through "short-yardage drills."

"The club did not look as sharp as we had hoped," King said.

King drilled his team on plays to be used when short yardage is needed for scores or first downs.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A million without a dome and $61 million with a dome.

Council Tuesday rejected Mayor James H. Tate's proposal to place an additional $16 million loan proposal for a new sports stadium on the November election ballot.

A $25 million loan proposal was approved by the electorate in the Primary election last May. Taxpayers were stunned last Thursday when city officials estimated that the total cost of the new sports facility would cost at least $40

BASEBALL RESULTS

Koufax Wins 25th; Giants Lose

By United Press International
Koufax the great now ranks with Alexander as a conqueror.

The fabulous southpaw of the Los Angeles Dodgers became the first National League pitcher since Grover Cleveland Alexander to win 25 or more games in three different seasons Tuesday night when he stopped the Philadelphia Phillies on 11-1 victory.

The triumph was a clutch one for the Dodgers as they maintained their one and a half game lead over the Pittsburgh Pirates, who blanked the San Francisco Giants 6-0.

Koufax' fine performance lowered his earned run average to 1.76 and moved him a step closer toward a record fifth straight ERA title. He also fanned six batters in the game and now needs only 11 strikeouts to reach the 300 mark for the third time, a feat no one has ever accomplished.

Pretty Good Stuff

"I feel I pitched better this month than at any time in the year," Sandy said. "I thought I had pretty good stuff. After we got all these runs in the sixth inning, I went entirely to my fast ball. I have no special feeling about it being my 25th win, just winning the ball game for the club in the pennant race is enough."

Koufax, who won 25 games in 1963 and 26 last season, contributed a run-scoring single in the big sixth inning when the Dodgers sent 11 men to the plate against Chris Short and reliever Bob Buhl. Ron Fairly's pinch double drove in three runs to spark the rally.

Wes Parker drove in four runs in the game and Willie Davis blasted his 10th homer as the Dodgers pounded out 15

Vernon Law scattered eight hits and the Pirates turned in four double plays to set a new National League season record as they defeated the Giants for the third straight day. Law, boosting his record to 12-8, struck out three, allowed one walk and hit a batter in dropping the Giants five games off the pace in the pennant fight.

The Pirates' twin-killings brought their season total to 202 and bettered the NL season mark set by the Dodgers in 1958. Donn Clendenon and Jesse Gonder each hit a homer to spark the Pirates' attack.

In other NL action, Atlanta defeated St. Louis 3-1. New York shut out Houston 3-0 and Cincinnati topped Chicago 6-3 in 13 innings.

Centerfielder Mack Jones supported the five-hit pitching of Tony Cloninger with a home run and a sensational catch as the Braves coasted to their 17th victory in their last 19 games.

Jones' 19th homer led off the bottom of the second inning and got Cloninger a lead he never relinquished. In the sixth inning, with Lou Brock on second and nobody out, Jones made a long running diving catch to rob Curt Flood of an apparent extra base hit.

Cloninger struck out five and walked none in posting his 14th victory of the season. Ray Washburn took the loss.

Jack Fisher hurled a four-hitter and the Mets turned in three timely double plays to defeat the Astros for the 10th time this season and win their first season series ever.

Fisher became the Mets' third 10-game winner by hurrying his first shutout of the season. Bud Harrelson led the Mets' attack with two hits as Mike Cuellar suffered his 10th loss in 21 decisions.

Leo Cardenas' double scored Yada Pinson from second base and started a three-run rally in the 13th inning as the Reds snapped a six-game losing streak.

Gordie Coleman's two-run pinch single climaxed the rally against loser Bob Hendley. Ted Davidson was the winner in relief. Cincinnati stole five bases in the game and Don Pavletich cracked his 11th homer.

Irish Favored By Five Over Purdue

NEW YORK (UPI) — Terry Hauraty and Coley O'Brien have yet to play their first minute of college football.

But they're touted highly enough to make the University of Notre Dame a five-point favorite Saturday over Purdue in their nationally televised clash before the usual sellout mob at South Bend, Ind.

This will be an important game for the Irish and Hauraty and O'Brien, their two young but promising quarterbacks who are expected to add the passing threat to the Notre Dame attack that was sorely missing last year.

Meanwhile, there's no question about Purdue's passing threat. The boilermakers have All-America Bob Griese, who completed 19 of 22 passes last year to lead Purdue to an exciting 25-21 victory over Notre Dame in one of the classic games of the 1965 season.

The nation's No. 1 team, Michigan State, which has a Nov. 19 date with Notre Dame, is expected to have little trouble rolling up its second straight victory. With Jimmy Raye showing he can fill Steve Juday's shoes, the Spartans are 18 point favorites to whip Penn State.

UCLA, the No. 2 team with Gary Beban at quarterback is also favored to down Syracuse for its second victory. Surprisingly, though, the Bruins are only a touchdown choice.

USC, the third-ranked team, is a 16-point favorite over Wisconsin after its opening televised victory over Texas.

Harvesters Face Tough Road Game Against Demons

By RON CROSS
Sports Editor

To try and comeback after a loss such as that suffered by Pampa last week is hard enough. But to have to try and do it playing a team like Dumas is even tougher.

But this the Harvesters must do Friday night when they meet the unbeaten No. 1 ranked class AAA team in the state in Dumas.

To make matters worse the Harvesters are crippled with halfback L. D. Rowden and fullback Ted Heiskell both question mark starters and center Glen Lewis almost assuredly out with a hip pointer.

Rowden missed last week's game and it showed, with the Pampa running game bogging down time and again.

Dumas? Well, they are the same old Demons. Tough as always, unbeaten in two games and also unscored on.

Too, the Demons haven't done much in the way of scoring, downing Palo Duro, 14-0 and Phillips, 8-0.

This has caused some concern to Bill Spann, starting his fifth year as head coach of the Demons.

"Our defense has been pretty good but we haven't had much of a scoring punch," Spann said.

The Dumas coach allowed as how, "We have everybody healthy for Pampa so maybe we can do a little better."

Much to Spann's dismay the folk over at Dumas are figuring the Harvesters to be a breather for Dumas and expect to whallop Pampa good.

"We certainly aren't expecting any easy game," Spann said, adding, "actually Pampa will probably be one of our toughest games this year. They have a real punishing offense. Those big old backs of theirs can run over you."

The Demons have some pretty punishing backs themselves and actually have five or six that will play quite a bit.

Spann has Glenn Bonner, a 170-pound junior, who started part-time last year, at quarterback and Tim Galloway, 150-pound senior, who played quarterback last year, at halfback along with Steve Burke, a 160-pound junior, another starter in 1965.

The fullbacking chores are divided between Cody Freeman, 160-pound senior, who was a starter last year and 190-pound senior Doug Cothren.

Another back who will undoubtedly see a lot of action Friday is Mike Stagle, 170-pound junior.

It is easy to see the Demons have big, strong backfield men and they are all fast.

Sherwood Voss, 170-pound sophomore will probably take over the center spot unless Ramsey decides to move 1965 center Doc Cornutt from his tackle slot and use Larry Keyser or Terry Troxel at tackle.

Dumas has three veterans in the line and they have weight and quickness.

Ends are Wayne Harkrider, a 180-pound senior and starter last year and Bob McVicker, 185-pound senior. Ron McInturf, 185-pound junior also plays the end slot.

Tackles are Bill Furgerson, the biggest Demon at 215 and another senior, Scott Scarborough, 180-pound senior. Center is Billy Frye, 180-pound senior who started in 1965.

Spann has Mark Holt, 170-pound junior and Marshal Rigdon, 170-pound returning starter at guards.

On defense Scarborough will come out and be replaced by James Duvin, 170-pound senior.

You can look for Dumas to run the slot I and a few single wing plays, probably a reverse or two that looked so good against Pampa last week.

If the Pampa injuries aren't cleared up by Friday you can expect to see Sherman Mitchell, 165-pound senior or 150-pound senior Dickie Henley running for Rowden and David Schaub, 158-pound junior at Heiskell's spot.

Floyd Wins In Fourth Round

WEMBLEY, England (UPI) — Floyd Patterson, back in the big time following his fourth-round knockout of Britain's Henry Cooper, looked today toward the heavyweight crown and Cassius Clay.

The 31-year-old former world champion, scaling 193 pounds, dropped the 191 1/2-pound Cooper twice before knocking him out at 2:20 of the fourth round with a left-right combination to head and body.

Patterson said after the fight, "I will keep fighting until I get another fight with Clay. I'll be glad to fight Germany's Karl Mildenberger, or whoever the promoters nominate, so long as it leads to another championship fight."

Patterson, who has already fought 12 times for the sport's greatest prize, is expected to meet the German in either Frankfurt or Stockholm early in the new year.

Mildenberger's manager was with him at the ringside to see the demolition of Cooper before 9,000 Britons who were amazed at the ferocity of Patterson's punching.

Patterson called his knockout of Cooper "my best performance since 1958 when I stopped Ray Harris."

The former champion looked a bit rusty when the fight opened, but his combination punching always had Cooper in trouble.

Connally Calls For New Constitution

AUSTIN (UPI) — Gov. John Connally said today that a state constitutional convention should be called soon to complete rewrite an outmoded Texas constitution.

He emphasized the need to strengthen both the executive and legislative branches of the state government.

The governor, in a keynote speech to the state Democratic convention, said one of the most pressing needs is for an annual session of the legislature to allow lawmakers "to keep a close check on the expenditure of public funds."

Celanese Winner Of Achievement Award

NEW YORK — Celanese Corporation is the 1966 winner of the Kirkpatrick Award for Management Achievement, sponsored by Chemical Week magazine.

The award recognizes the fact that despite the vital contributions of the technologists, it is management that translates technical knowledge into products, plants and profits.

Presentation of the award will be made at a dinner in the Pierre Hotel on Nov. 30. Harold Blanche, chairman of Celanese, will accept the award.

In honoring Celanese, Chemical Week notes that its history is the story of the Great Corporate comeback.

Twelve years ago, Celanese was in trouble. The market for its main products — acetate fibers — had nosedived. Its sales had plunged from $232 million in 1950 to $147.6 million in 1954, its profits from $40.3 million in 1950 to $6.6 million in 1954.

Today, Celanese stands transformed — a robust, diversified giant whose sales will top one billion dollars this year. In the five years 1961-1965, they spurred 159 per cent — from $333.2 million to $862.3 million — while profits leaped 210 per cent to $64.9 million.

Fibers are still Celanese's single biggest business, but it is a very different business from what it was even five years ago. Where it once was completely dependent on cellulose-based fibers and the women's apparel industry, Celanese now has a broad-spectrum line. It has strengthened its traditional acetate-fiber business by upgrading its product, carving out a place in the cigarette-filter market and developing industrial applications.

And by joint ventures with Imperial Chemical Industries, it has moved into the more profitable, faster-growing polyester and nylon fields. Altogether, Celanese now supplies its broadened markets with 16 different fiber types.

Celanese is now the biggest U.S. producer of formaldehyde derivatives, acetic acid, acetic anhydride and acetaldehyde, and among the top-ranking producers of methanol and formaldehyde.

Despite this 12-year success story, says Chemical Week, Celanese is still spending heavily to grow. Total research and development expenditures doubled between 1961 and 1965 and will total more than $19 million this year, not counting spending on product application or process development.

Clearly, Celanese aims to grow, and it won't wait for the fruits of its research program to ripen, says the magazine. For the three years through 1968, Celanese has earmarked $700 million for capital expenditures, of which it hopes to generate $500 million from operations.

In citing the company, Chemical Week declared, through its diversification of profits, strong management team, and its policies and performance, Celanese meets superlatively the criterion of the award: "In recognition of the conspicuous success achieved by its management in formulating and executing policies conducive to the welfare of its owners, its employees and the nation."

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Robert H. Stovall of E. F. Hutton & Co. believes that institutional selling, which had been arrested during recent advances, once again may affect the market. He feels that the recent rally may not be as strong as it appears and that profit-taking could increase as many stocks approach an overbought near-term position.

Spear and Staff Inc. says that to judge from recent sessions, a new bull market just may be beginning. He feels the shifting of attention from "performance" or glamor issues to the stronger valued blue chips lends strength to this theory.

Abraham & Co. suggests selling stocks on balance during rallies from what appears to be a short-term overbought condition but also advises purchasing equities with a good earnings potential during periodic declines.

Make Mine Vanilla
FULTON, N.Y. (UPI) — Most Americans still take vanilla. Industry records indicate about 50 per cent of all ice cream sold in the United States is vanilla, according to a manufacturer of paper and plastic packaging (Sealright Co., Inc.).

Chocolate is second with 13 per cent and strawberry third at 7 per cent.
