

Court Returns GE Workers By Injunction

WASHINGTON (UPI)—More than 6,000 striking workers returned to work today at General Electric's jet engine plant at Evendale, Ohio, under a government Taft-Hartley injunction.

Workers began returning to the plant on the midnight shift to resume building engines for the Phantom jet fighters widely used in Viet Nam.

Initiated at President Johnson's request, the injunction—providing for an 80-day cooling off period—was granted Tuesday by U.S. District Court Judge Carl Weinman at Dayton.

Work Started On Right of Way For Alcock Widening

Preliminary plans for the $236,000 paving and widening of Alcock St. on SH 152 from Faulkner to Price Rd. were under way today.

City Manager Jim White said today representatives of the State Highway Department in Amarillo began contacting property owners on the street yesterday in preliminary right of way arrangements.

The property owners were notified that appraisers will begin their work on the street probably the first of next week.

The Alcock street improvement was one of five projects approved by Pampa voters last March 8 in a $2,900,000 bond election. The city's share of the project cost will be $236,000.

Some 50 or 60 property owners on the nearly one-mile stretch of Alcock St. to be improved will be affected by the right of way negotiations.

Actual work on the paving and widening job is expected to begin next summer and be completed by the fall of 1967, the Alcock street, according to the plans, will be widened to 80 feet, 16 feet wider than the U.S. 70 route on Hobart St.

Superintendent Asks Jr. College Support

Dr. John D. Damron, school superintendent, today issued a request to Pampa citizens to make their wishes known by letter to him with regard to retaining Pampa as a junior college district.

The announcement followed a ruling by the Coordinating Board for Higher Education in Austin in which junior colleges, which have been dormant for three years, would be abolished unless just cause can be shown why they should not be.

Damron, president of the newly organized Pampa Vocational Technical Community Junior College, invited citizens, who wish to protest the ruling, to make their written opinions known to him.

The letters, along with petitions showing cause why the Pampa Junior College District should not be abolished, will be presented by school and chamber of commerce officials at a hearing before the state board in January.

The Pampa college district was approved by voters Nov. 6, 1944, but did not set up operation until last month.

Damron said the recent action of the coordinating board was not wholly unexpected. "However, we welcome the opportunity to present the current operation as well as future plans of Pampa Vocational Technical Community Junior College to the State Coordinating Board for Colleges and Higher Education."

"While we realize that the Coordinating Board has the authority to set the standards of junior colleges within the state, it is our opinion and also the opinion of the Pampa college legal staff that the state board also has the authority to abolish junior college districts which are now dormant," Damron commented.

He added, "With over 200 students enrolled at the present time, and the enrollment increasing daily, we personally believe the Coordinating Board will, after a presentation of plans for operating a vocational and educational institute, approve continuation of the college."

"Tentative approval has already been received by the Texas Education Agency for the operation and financing of a vocational technical institute as a department of the college," Damron stated.

Plans for operation of the college will continue with first classes meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday, according to Damron.

"State financing for the current year's vocation and technical classes will be received after the presentation to the coordinating board next January," Damron said.

In addition to the Pampa district, Brazosport and Collin County district are cited for abolishment.

President Receives Warm Welcome at New Zealand

Talks Proceed With NZ Foreign Minister

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (UPI)—President Johnson won a warm welcome to this "down under" ally today that was marred only by wet weather and occasional anti-Viet Nam picketing.

As the President's six-nation Asian tour got underway he was greeted by word of a cabinet crisis in South Viet Nam where a group of ministers quit the government.

Communist China Labels Johnson As a 'Warmonger'

TOKYO (UPI)—Communist China today denounced President Johnson as a "warmonger" and charged that his Far Eastern tour was designed to step up the war in Viet Nam.

The official New China News Agency (NCNA), in a broadcast heard here, said, "U.S. warmonger Lyndon Johnson arrived in Honolulu on a tour of the Far East in which he will wave the banner of peace while actually trying to expand the war of aggression in Viet Nam."

Johnson arrived in Wellington, New Zealand from Honolulu early today on the first stop of his six-nation Asian-Pacific tour—and Manila summit meeting with American allies in the Viet Nam War.

Monsoon Rains Halt U.S. Ground, Air Action in Viet

SAIGON (UPI)—Torrential monsoon rains brought American air and ground action to a virtual halt today along the tense demilitarized zone (DMZ) but heavy fighting flared in the Central Highlands and the Mekong Delta where three U.S. helicopters were shot down.

U.S. Air Force Navy and Marine pilots were able to launch only 44 missions Tuesday against the North—one of the lightest days in months—although the North Vietnamese 324B Army Division was reported ready to strike once the rains started.

Leathernecks, acting to keep the 324B out of the south, pulled out their ponchos in another phase of Operation Prairie that had held off the feared offensive by putting more than 1,000 Communists out of action.

South Vietnamese troops killed 142 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regulars Tuesday in the Central Highlands fighting, but result of the delta battle between two large forces still was not in. It was there the guerrillas shot down three U.S. helicopters—two troop carriers and a gunship. Casualties were said to be "light."

Cabinet Clash Shakes S. Viet

SAIGON (UPI)—Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky and seven dissident cabinet ministers agreed tonight to hold their government-wobbling crisis in abeyance until after next week's Manila conference.

A high Vietnamese government source said two of the seven tore up their letters of resignations and the other five agreed to stay on the job at least until Ky returns from the conference with President Johnson and Asian and Pacific free world leaders.

The agreement came following day long talks between Ky and the dissidents, whose dissatisfaction stems from a feeling that the government is dominated by the military and northerners.

Ky and many of his key assistants are originally from the north and regional jealousies played a big part in the dispute.

Agreement of the ministers to stay on, at least temporarily, steadied the government Ky will represent at Manila.

A high government official told UPI that Labor Minister Nguyen Huu Hung and Trung Van Thuan, secretary of state for transportation and logistics, have withdrawn their letters of resignation.

Word of the agreement here confirmed reports in Washington that Ky had succeeded in at least patching over the crisis and the revolt of government ministers were losing its momentum.

Nobel Peace Prize Will Not Be Given

SAIGON (UPI)—Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky announced today it will not award the Nobel Peace Prize this year.

The committee gave no reason for its decision. An official announcement issued following a session in the Nobel Foundation Building simply said the committee had decided to defer the 1966 peace prize until next year.

The decision was taken by the five-member committee named by the Norwegian Parliament which is solely responsible for selecting the winner of the $58,000 award, one of the most prestigious in the world.

It marked the third occasion since World War II that the Nobel Committee had made such a decision.

It happened first in 1952 when the prize was reserved for awarding the following year. Then it was given to Albert Schweitzer, the great humanitarian.

Gen. George C. Marshall was awarded the prize for 1953 at the same time.

Top Communists To View Launch

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union, thwarted by Romania in its latest effort to secure a unified Communist condemnation of maverick Red China, today flew leaders of nine Communist countries to central Asia for a satellite launching.

Top-level Communist talks on Viet Nam were interrupted to allow the political and defense chiefs of Cuba, Mongolia and the seven Warsaw Pact countries to visit the security-cloaked Soviet cosmodrome and witness a demonstration Thursday of Moscow's space might.

The leaders will be the first foreigners to see the Russian space center, located near Baikonur, about 120 miles east of the northern tip of the Aral Sea, since French President Charles de Gaulle watched a multiple rocket launching there last July.

The cosmodrome trip marked the third day of a surprise Communist summit called by Moscow to decide what to do about Red China's refusal to cooperate in joint Communist efforts to aid North Viet Nam.

Supreme Court Blocks Merger Of Railroads

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. Supreme Court will review the protection given six competing railroads in the pending merger of the New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroads into a $6-billion corporate behemoth.

The review, agreed to Tuesday, will delay the merger—the largest in U.S. corporate history—for at least three months. Hearings are to open Jan. 9. The merger had been set for Nov. 1.

The court acted in response to protests from the six rail lines, eight communities and a political candidate that the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) had not properly safeguarded their interests.

The main plaintiffs in the case have attacked the ICC's provisions for protection of their ability to compete, saying the provisions are inadequate. They do not seek to stop the merger permanently.

The two biggest rail lines protesting recently completed mergers to form the Chesapeake & Ohio-Baltimore & Ohio, and the Norfolk & Western-Nickel Plate.

The protest came to the Supreme Court on an appeal from a New York federal court order of Oct. 4 refusing to halt the merger. That litigation already had delayed the consolidation.

The ICC approved the merger last spring to become effective Oct. 1. When several smaller railroads and affected communities went to court, the Oct 1 merger was blocked. But the lines were ready to consummate the merger on Nov. 1 after the New York ruling.

The Supreme Court decided a closer look was needed of the handling of the case. A key question raised by the plaintiffs was whether the ICC acted properly in agreeing to allow such a giant merger to take place without all the conditions being precisely fixed.

The ICC agreed to hear objections by affected railroads and others to certain merger conditions, such as indemnities to be paid them, but refused to stay the marriage itself.

The commission has set hearings beginning Oct. 31 on requests for greater protection.

WAIST-DEEP in water, an American Marine holds his pistol at the ready as he wades along a creek near the demilitarized zone in Viet Nam. The Leathernecks were hunting down a North Vietnamese unit that broke off from an engagement.

Low of 32 Cools Pampa

Pampa's Tuesday night low of 32 was just another indication for residents that winter is well on its way into the Top O' Texas area. The high Tuesday was 56.

The Texas Panhandle and High Plains shivered in freezing weather today under skies swept clean of clouds by a high-pressure area.

The lows overnight dropped to 26 at Dalhart, 30 at Amarillo, and 32 at Lubbock, Brownsville was the mildest at 61.

Gusty winds went with the cold-front's movement through Texas. The front moved into the Gulf of Mexico today. Wind warnings were out for some lakes, so that small craft would not attempt outings on choppy water.

DENVER IS a lonesome old town as far as supermarket checker Ann Parris is concerned. Ann, and a lot of other checkers, were left with little to do when 100,000 Denver housewives boycotted five food chains Oct. 17. As might be expected, the women are protesting the high price of groceries.

Highlights and Sidelights From Capitol

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN, Tex. — Gov. John Connally soon will be making his decisions on state spending and tax recommendations. His budget staff is rushing to completion a tentative budget and revenue bill for presentation to the governor by the end of the month. Word is that the revenue measure, contrary to early speculation, does NOT call for any upward revision in the state's basic two per cent general sales tax rate. It may include a gasoline tax increase, college tuition boost and adding alcoholic beverages to the sales tax. Money requests from departments and agencies, totaling $1,200,000,000 are being trimmed considerably. Best estimates indicate the tentative budget presented for Connally's review will require less than $200,000,000 in new money. Governor's proposals definitely will contain some form of financial relief for cities, but not the 50-50 split in new state revenues they are asking. Connally's spending programs may be restrained by these factors: —Possibility of a substantial federal tax raise next year and the change of future sharing of surplus U.S. income with state governments on an unrestricted grant basis. —A public school study by the governor's committee almost certainly will call for adjustments in the cost load of the educational system, and final recommendations will not be known for two years. —A metropolitan areas study conceivably could result in proposals for sweeping alterations in local government finance procedures.

WATER AMENDMENT—Governor Connally has launched a campaign for adoption of Constitutional Amendment No. 11. Amendment would do three things: double the Texas Water Development Fund (from $200,000,000 to $400,000,000); give a constitutional guarantee to safeguarding water in river basins of origin; and permit use of the Fund for construction by the Texas Water Development Board of water treatment and transportation facilities. About 15 leaders of state and local water governing agencies and other interested citizens attended the meeting and elected former Gov. Price Daniel of Liberty chairman of a steering committee to seek voter approval of the Proposition. On another front, the Water Development Board announced that it will ask for an emergency appropriation of $625,000 from the Legislature to complete the water planning work to bring the Texas Water Plan to completion in about six months. ATTORNEY GENERAL SPEAKS — Atty. Gen. Waggoner car-withdraw his opinion that cable tv services are public utilities. But he reiterated his ruling that such firms have the right to place cables along state highways within the highway right-of-way. In another opinion, Carr said the Secretary of State cannot approve a statement of intent to dissolve a corporation listing less than three directors, since to be a corporation it must have at least three directors. COURTS SPEAK — State Supreme Court ordered Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler to file the sulphur claims of Duval Corporation and Piper Petroleum Company in Pecos County. Sadler had refused, claiming old laws relied on by the firms are no longer applicable, and the companies are trying to get $2,000 an acre mineral rights for 50 cents. In other action during the week, high court: —Affirmed $304,800 in penalties, against four East Texas oilmen (Gregg County) for slantwell drilling in Wood County. —Sustained lower court findings that state sales tax may be collected on equipment leased to load and unload ships in foreign trade. Upheld $73,980 damage judgment for Montgomery County family who successfully maintained San Jacinto River was diverted from their property by an artificial channel and dam constructed by Tennessee Gas Transmission Company. ANIMAL INFESTATIONS — Texas is pulling out of its serious screwworm epidemic. But now a big outbreak in Encephalomyelitis (sleeping sickness) among horses seems to be taking hold. Some 40 cases were reported to the State Health Department covering a two-week period, but a spokesman said it likely will get worse before it gets better.

Price Outlines Finance System

GRUVER—A three point program to aid in financing school systems on the local level was outlined today by congressional candidate Bob Price.

"By granting a Federal income tax credit for property taxes paid to school districts, local school systems could enlarge their revenues by raising the tax rates without any additional burden on taxpayers," the 18th District candidate said this noon at a meeting of the Gruver Lions Club.

Price also suggested that tax credits for tuition payments to private colleges "would allow more parents to send their children to such schools thereby cutting the demands on public school facilities."

"I also propose that income tax laws be changed to allow more people to contribute to educational institutions and receive tax credits," Price added.

Nolo Contendere Pleas Are Heard

HIGH SCHOOL DRAMA — Steve Bossay, Jerry Woodward, Mike Sublett, Daniel Bond, Smisson Goodlet and Beau Bond, performing in William Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream," act out "The Great Tragedy of Pyramus and Thisby." The final presentation of the play will be given Saturday night at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

High School's Play Uses Modern Twist

By KEN LEACH
 News Staff
 Amusement Editor

William Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" opened last night at the Pampa High School Auditorium and was skillfully performed by the drama department thespians.

"The Dream", which will be presented again Saturday night, was a perfect example of what hard work and many hours of practice can accomplish.

A modern twist was added with an interpretive dance and music at the beginning of the play and the abstract scenery was used to introduce the characters and plot.

While all the players turned in good performances, several were outstanding. The character of Puck, played by Jan Pitts, was laced throughout the play. Miss Pitts added the impish zest which conveyed Puck into near reality for the audience.

In their attempt to entertain the other players with the "The Great Tragedy of Pyramus and Thisby," a play within the play, characters Peter Quince (Steve Bossay), Nick Bottom (Jerry Woodward), Tom Stout (Mike Sublett), Robin Starveling (Daniel Bond), Francis Flute (Smisson Goodlet) and Sung (Beau Bond) brought laughter to the audience.

Not only did these boys do some acting, but they, along with the rest of the cast, were easily heard and understood.

Director, Virginia Myers, and assistant David Heath, both Pampa High School drama teachers, are to be congratulated for attempting a Shakespeare production, but applauded for making a successful production of it.

Miller Calls For Voter Turnout

DALHART — Dee Miller, candidate for U. S. Representative from the 18th Congressional District, speaking at a rally of Hartley and Dallam County Democrats here Tuesday night, called for a unified effort to get voters to the polls on Nov. 8.

"If the 18th Congressional District is to have a voice that will be heard in Washington, then it must send a Democrat to speak in its behalf," Miller said.

"A Democrat meeting with the 22 other Democratic Congressmen from Texas will be able to formulate and when necessary, oppose legislation."

Miller continued, "A Republican from the 18th Congressional District will be a voice outside the door, unheard and ineffectual."

"My only promise to the voters of the district," Miller said, "is that when I go to Washington, I will represent all the people of the district — not a minority group with special axes to grind."

Custodians Entrusted With Pupils' Welfare

By DORIS E. WILSON
News Staff Writer

With the construction of multi-million dollar school buildings, new technical skills are required for their care and maintenance.

And there is also a new image being created for the men that take care of these new and expensive school plants.

Vallon L. Voight, consultant for the School Plant Division, Texas Education Agency in Austin, is in Pampa this week conducting workshops to improve the knowledge and skill of custodians and to help reduce operation and maintenance costs through this knowledge.

Voight pointed out the cost of building maintenance is about 90 per cent for labor and 10 per cent for materials. "If the maintenance personnel are properly trained in economical methods, there can be a definite saving in maintenance costs," he said.

"It depends," he continued, "to a very large degree upon knowledge, training and supervision."

Voight is conducting the workshops here Monday through Thursday at the invitation of John Damron, superintendent of schools.

Voight said there are modern trends in custodial maintenance.

"The work of a school janitor of a generation ago was very simple. It generally consisted of bringing in a few hods of coal, building fires in space heaters, sweeping wood floors with a corn broom and dusting furni-

With these modern trends, the title janitor is fading and in its place a more apt one is taking its place. Today, this "White Knight" of the classroom is being called "custodian".

"There is no particular yardstick to determine the average daily workload of a public school custodian. Some studies have indicated that custodians should be able to take care of 12,000 square feet of floor daily; other studies have based their findings upon the average daily attendance, stating that custodian should be able to take care of daily attendance of 250 children.

"Lots depends upon the cooperation the custodian receives from teachers and pupils," Voight said. "They can help make his work a lot easier by just a little thought and consideration."

A wise maintenance expert once said, "Outside of the principal, no one has more influence on the physical well-being of the children in school than the custodian."

Another expert said, "Good custodians do not just happen. To be a custodian of a school plant is to have a position of great responsibility. Custodian work is skilled work, worthy of the best efforts of healthy men."

Voight has been conducting classroom sessions Monday through Thursday from 8 a.m. to 11 a.m. for custodians and from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. for school principals, in order that they may properly supervise the work of custodians.

Forty-one custodians and 12 school administrators are attending the sessions.

Graduation exercises will be held Friday at 10:45 a.m. Friday in Sam Houston cafeteria.

ECONOMY in time, effort and money has been stressed during custodial and maintenance workshops this week in Sam Houston School. Marcus Phillips, left, Sam Houston custodian for the past nine years, receives a few pointers from Vallon L. Voight of Austin, workshop instructor.

Dear Abby....

This Daddy Has A Lot To Learn

DEAR ABBY: Whenever my husband finds out one of our kids went to a dentist he hits the ceiling. He says I'm throwing out money, all dentists are crooks and nature will take care of everything. He says when he was young, folks went to a dentist only when a tooth ached, to have it pulled.

With good strong teeth, but our kids have soft teeth (like me). I am 43 and have plates, and now realize if I had taken better care of my teeth when I was young I'd have them today. My husband makes good money but he hates to give a dentist a dollar.

I can't go on feeling guilty every time I send the kids to a dentist. And I'm tired of hiding the dentist bills. What do you do with a man like that?

ASHTABULA, O.
DEAR ASHTABULA: Quit sneaking around, covering, hiding the bills and feeling guilty. You're within your rights to provide your children with regular dental check ups to insure total good health. And if he hits the ceiling, learn to tune him out. It's hard to believe a person could be so ignorant in this enlightened era.

DEAR ABBY: What advice would you give a 12-year-old boy who has ambitions to be smart.

HAS AMBITIONS
DEAR HAS: I would say read! Read, read, read. In books there is a world of information just waiting to be discovered. The person who does not read has no advantage over the person who cannot read.

DEAR ABBY: Please answer this question which has puzzled me for a long time. When a person has taken his own life, should the whole incident be ignored as though nothing had happened out of kindness and

Childish Designs Are Out for Tots

CHILD'S ROOM takes on sophisticated air with papier mache animals from Mexico, adult-type wallpaper and drapery fabric print, polka-dot paper chair by Peter-Murdoch. Floor carpeted in a carved cloud motif in acrylic fiber is base for updating furnishings when this little girl has a few more birthdays.

By AILEEN SNOOPY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — Many designers of items for children's rooms are all for leading the tots down the creative path while they're still in training pants. The initial step, they say, is in providing a proper, non-static environment.

Certainly the decor of a small child's room has changed considerably. There are more shifts to come on the decorating scene though. Pink and blue and yellow still may be among color choices when some parents want to freshen their offspring's pad. These shades, however, no longer dominate or appear in the traditional, cut-and-dried storybook designs. Peter Rabbit and his friends often are around. So are Winnie the Pooh and all his delightful ilk. But the overall setting of a room now is spruced up with more contemporary fabric and wallpaper designs. The accessories, interior designers note, may take on an international flavor with papier mache animals from Mexico and prints of folkloric figures from other countries.

More and more color takes over the child's room scene. Keeping the traditional color triumvirate company are bright greens, reds, gold and even touches of black. The mad mod colors are being moderated slightly for the wee ones.

With all the cheeriness of the prints being used in a child's room, mother still welcomes practicality in fabric and furniture finishes. Fluffy area rugs that are extremely washable remain a favorite and these, too, is in providing a proper, non-static environment.

A 'Go' Coat for Any Climate

By HELEN HENNESSY
Women's Editor

Newspaper EnterPrise Ass'n. NEW YORK (NEA)—Rain-wear over the years took the giant step from the yellow slicker to the all-weather coat. Now it goes a step further.

The International Coat is one that rain or shine, here or abroad, will look right for lunch, cocktails or the theater. A group of these coats, called Silk Puffs, weigh only a pound and a half and can be rolled up for packing and emerge without a wrinkle. They are in silk broadcloth, stitched and tucked, with a downy interlining that provides warmth without bulk.

Colors are pink grape, indigo, black walnut, bronze, green, iris blue, beige and sable.

Along with the Silk Puffs there are Italian silk poplins in tattersall checks, worsted gabardines, twill whipcords, wool jerseys, corduroys and animal prints in silk or velveteen.

For evening there is lures, in gold and silver stripes, gold leaf brocades and tapestries. Silhouettes take it from military-flared trench coats to tent shapes and long romantic mantles.

This year you will even want to go out in the rain.

THE INTERNATIONAL COAT that can travel to any climate and be worn at any time is the latest in water-repellent fashions. Made in the United States by Lawrence of London, these coats are packable and crease-resistant. Gray and white check design (left) is in imported French crepe. Jewel-colored striped coat (right) is in upholstery velvet and lined with rayon.

'Art of Creek Cookery' Program Topic

Mrs. Homer Johnson presented a program on the "Art of Creek Cookery" at the first meeting of the club year of the Twentieth Century Forum Club held recently in the home of Mr. Frank Stofia.

In presenting the program Mrs. Johnson stated, "An increase in the number of American tourists to Greece in the 1960's has given rise to greater interest in Greek delicacies, many of which date to antiquity. To ancient Greece, we owe the white sauce, the basic brown sauce, the art of filleting fish, using oysters, cabbage and onions, and the creation of the first pastry."

'Fund Night' Is Slated at Baker

Final plans were made for B. M. Baker Elementary School "Fund Night" at the recent meeting of the P-TA Executive Board.

The "Fund Night," slated to be held from 6 to 8 p.m. Friday evening, will feature two presentations of "Mary Poppins", at 7 and 8 p.m., by fifth and sixth grade classes.

Pie, cake, hamburgers, coffee and soft drinks will be sold in the cafeteria.

Successful removal of spots and stains requires a specialist's knowledge of fabrics, dyes, and finishes in relation to the spotting reagent used and the methods and techniques required to effect removal.

Halliburton Ladies Club Elects Officers

Officers for the year were elected by Halliburton Ladies Club when the group met recently in the home of Mrs. E. D. Fischer, 2117 Coffee.

Chosen to lead the group were Mrs. Bob Burrows, president; Mrs. E. D. Fischer, vice president; Mrs. Gordon Pursley, treasurer, and Mrs. Don Long, secretary.

During the business session, presided over by Mrs. Billy G. Rape, out-going president, plans for the annual rummage sale were discussed and members were asked to help prepare a Thanksgiving basket for a deserving family.

Next meeting of the group is slated for Nov. 3 in the home of Mrs. Boyd Stewart, 505 Powell.

Members attending included Mmes. Billy G. Rape, E. D. Fischer, Boyd Stewart, Bob Burrows, I. Hutchenson, James Brisco, Gordon Pursley, Harold E. Wingard, J. L. Miser and Don Long.

Mrs. Joe Crofts was welcomed as a visitor.

Gardening News

By THELMA BRAY

A package stamped perishable and addressed to this columnist was received this week at the Pampa News office from Griggsville, Ill., the Purple Martin capital. Not expecting a bird society to send anything else but birds, we were "all aflutter" until the package was opened revealing a bag of apples. A letter which came with the package explained that these were the Purple Martin Brand of apples and are grown in Griggsville with a minimum of chemical pesticides. The apples were delicious.

The Pampa Garden Club will hold its annual flower show Saturday. It will be in the form of a placement show staged in the homes of two members, Mrs. Holly Gray, 1236 Williston, and Mrs. Robert Mack, 1711 Charles. All flower arrangements to be viewed.

The Horticulture Division of the show will be displayed in the garage of the Mack home. Due to the freeze several days ago which affected some members' dahlias, the horticulture entries will not be as numerous as anticipated but Pampa Garden Club members always provide a large showing of plants which they grow.

Besides the tour of the two beautiful homes another feature of the showing will be a tour of the Milo Carlson's garden at 2211 Charles. It has a distinction all its own through the use of unusual rocks in the overall landscape design. The big winds of Friday blew the Carlson's large willow tree over thus destroying one of the interesting areas in their garden. But anyone interested in clever ideas for landscaping with rocks should make this tour.

The show will be from 2 to 6 p.m. Saturday and tickets for $1 may be obtained from any garden club member or at the doors during show hours. Refreshments will also be provided for those who attend the show.

Beautiful spots of chrysanthemums can be seen all around Pampa now. At the home on 725 N. Sumner a combination of colors of the cushion mums greets one as he approaches the front steps of the home. At 1012 N. Duncan the gardener here has used the showy cushion mums all across the front area making a pleasant sight to see.

On the north side of the garage of the home at 1824 Dogwood is a beautiful creation using plants of some kind espaliered on the wall of the garage with rose-colored mums planted the length of the area to complete the design.

Be sure to mark your calendar on Saturday at 2 p.m. to see the Pampa Garden Club's Festival of Flowers. The money from the ticket sales will be used for club projects.

Having her very own Princess phone means more responsibility and more privacy, too (not to mention the convenience). And while you're about it, why not try two? One for her, one for you.

Area Oilmen Honored By Phillips Petroleum Company

Four hundred eighty-two employees from 29 states and five foreign countries are being honored by Phillips Petroleum Co. this year in recognition of their 25-year service anniversaries with the company and its subsidiaries.

Approximately half of the service awardees were guests at a dinner recently in the Adams building auditorium at Bartlesville, Okla. The evening event climaxed a program including tours of the company's headquarters facilities, informal departmental gatherings, group pictures, reception, social hour and special dinner entertainment.

Sears Distributes Christmas Catalog

Sears, Roebuck and Co. has completed distribution of its 1966 Christmas catalog in this area. It will go to more than 12 million families throughout the nation—the largest circulation in the company's 80-year history.

The 640-page book, nearly two-thirds in full color, contains more than 22,000 gift items. Toys occupy a 77-page section.

The new catalog is printed in 11 regional editions. Four weeks will be required to reach all parts of the nation.

The Mississippi River empties into the Gulf of Mexico 724 billion cubic feet of water every year, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

PAMPA DEFENDERS — The Pampa defense appeared to be back in good form Saturday, thanks to good line play. The Harvesters have been getting the best from Billy Scribner (60) and Larry Keyser (64) all season. Scribner missed last week's game but will be back in action against Amarillo Friday.

PEP RALLY THURSDAY

Sandies Lead North

By RON CROSS
Sports Editor

When Pampa meets Amarillo at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Dick Bivins Stadium the Harvesters will be meeting a team leading the north zone in just about everything.

For instance the Sandies are the best offensive and defensive team after one game, they have the three top-rushers; the third best passer, the second best total offense leader the second best punter and the top scorer, all through one district game.

It's needless to say, of course, the Sandies won their first game.

Pampa has the third best offensive team, stand next to last in defense (surprise), have the best punting combo, lead in fumbles lost, have the top punter in the league.

The Sandies gained 200 yards rushing, added 58 in the air for a 258 total. On defense the Sandies limited Berger to only 27 yards on the ground, 82 through the air for a 109 total.

Bobby Robbins leads all rushers with 16 carries for 92 yards, an average of 5.6 per carry while his teammate Harold Holzar carried nine times for 54 total yards and a 6.0 average and Jerry Cobb carried 12 times for 48 yards, an average of 4.0 per carry.

By the same token Ted Heskell carried 16 times for 82 yards, an average of 5.1 per carry. L. D. Rowden carried eight times for 47 yards and a 5.9 average.

In total offense Robbins is second to Monterey's Jim Stiles with his 92 yards.

Rowden leads the league in punting with his 45 yard boot against the Plainsmen and Robbins leads in scoring with two touchdowns.

Pampa will have no easy time against the Sandies and have lost, most likely, their starting halfback, Rowden, who has a broken finger.

Through six games L. D. is the third best rusher with 270 yards on 57 carries, an average of 4.7 per carry.

If Rowden is actually out of the Sandie game then Dickie Henley or Sherman Mitchell will be his replacement.

Henley has carried the ball just three times and has picked up 12 yards while Mitchell, the speedster has lugged the pigskin 19 times for 99 yards for a 5.2 average.

Pampa worked again today on their defense against Amarillo's offense and hope the defensive crew can be as sharp as it was Saturday against Monterey when they held the Plainsmen inside the five-yard line 16 different downs.

But coach Eural Ramsey says that Amarillo will be much tougher than Monterey, both offensively and defensively.

"They are really tough, they have improved every game we have seen them," Ramsey said. A giant pep rally will be held Thursday, beginning at 6:30 p.m. at the high school parking lot. From the parking lot students and fans will snake dance to the old baseball diamond where the Sandies will be burned in a bon fire.

Houston To See Neely

HOUSTON (UPI)—Don Kosterman, general manager of the American Football League's Houston Oilers, said Tuesday he planned to talk to Ralph Neely in the next few days to see if Neely would like to play for the Oilers.

Neely has been the subject of a lengthy court battle between the Oilers and the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League. A district court judge has ruled that Neely is the property of the Oilers, and the U. S. Supreme Court refused to review the decision.

That means that Neely, who has played the last two years with the Cowboys, will have to play with Houston or nowhere at all. The court order has not been signed, but Kosterman said as soon as the ink is dry on the court order, he would get hold of Neely.

Neely has said publicly that if the court ruled in favor of Houston, he would quit football. He has said he would play only for Dallas.

Neely signed a contract with the Oilers while playing with the University of Oklahoma. But the Oilers made the contract public the day before the Gator Bowl game and Neely could not play in the game.

Bribe Attempt Makes Heroes

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—Three Louisiana State University football players, targets of an alleged bribe attempt, were hailed as campus heroes today for their exploits both on and off the gridiron.

While on the field they played their best for LSU, according to authorities. Off it, they worked as undercover men for the Federal Bureau of Investigation in a year-long probe of gamblers' attempts to fix football games.

FBI agents arrested a barber Tuesday for attempting to bribe LSU tailback Jim Dousay, strongback Billy Masters and gullback Gawan Dibetta.

Samuel J. Graziano, 26, waived a preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner A. Leon Hebert and was released on a $5,000 bond.

"God help me," was Graziano's only comment as agents led him away from the arraignment.

Doyle Joseph of Cocoa Beach, Fla., an LSU sophomore majoring in international trade, said of the Tigers' play this season: "I didn't notice anything odd in the games. They looked like fair play. I'm sure no LSU player would be guilty of going along with gamblers."

Fred Kroenke of Baton Rouge, a sophomore in pre-law, said "I am glad to hear they did what they did. I'm proud of them."

Dousay, Masters and Dibetta have been the top offensive players for LSU since skillful quarterback Nelson Stokley was injured for the season last month.

Bribe offers included the South Carolina game Sept. 17, Rice Sept. 24, University of Miami Oct. 1, Texas A&M Oct. 8 and Kentucky Oct. 13.

Graziano was also charged with attempting to offer a bribe for Saturday's game against the University of Florida here.

LSU defeated South Carolina, Miami and Kentucky, but lost to Rice and tied by Texas A&M.

Irish Big Favorite Over Oklahoma

NEW YORK (UPI)—Notre Dame may be the No. 1 team in the country and a 13-point pick over Oklahoma Saturday, but the Sooners are looking for an upset victory to avenge an Irish win way back in 1957.

The Irish, in the top slot among college football's elite for the first time this season, have a perfect 4-0 mark, and so do the Sooners. Notre Dame has downed opponents handily, scoring 128 points while allowing 21 for its four foes.

Bradley Injured Again

By United Press International

Bill Bradley, the super sophomore from the University of Texas who has proved to be somewhat brittle this year, came up with another injury Tuesday. This time it was a shoulder sprain.

Bradley, who injured a leg earlier in the campaign that kept him out of the lineup and on crutches for a few weeks, will be doubtful for this week's contest with Rice right up until game time.

The Texas quarterback fell on his shoulder during a signal drill Tuesday. The Longhorns spent 90 minutes touching up all points of their game.

Old Bulls Down

By United Press International

The San Francisco Warriors didn't see anything new about the Chicago Bulls Tuesday night. What they saw was the same old Guy Rodgers.

The Bulls, the National Basketball Association's brand new team, won their second straight game of the season by downing San Francisco 119-116. Rodgers, who played for the Warriors since his graduation from Temple in 1958 until he was acquired by Chicago earlier this month, scored 22 points and set up another 40 with 20 assists.

Elsewhere, Detroit nipped Cincinnati 114-112 and New York upended Los Angeles 122-119.

Ray Scott's three-point play in the final 23 seconds provided the Pistons with its first victory of the campaign. The Royals went ahead 110-108 in the final quarter until Scott tied the score, rookie Dave Bing put the Pistons ahead with a free throw and Scott turned in his three-point play. Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati took scoring honors with 28 points.

Bowling Breaks By Gil

GIL BURGUND

This time it took our boys to show off on the traveling league. Larry Dunn rolled a nice 639 for high series while Johnny Hazle took the honors for the high game with a 255. Their greatest pleasure is being in first place.

Doubles Title

Two of our I.O.O.F. teams went to the district tournament at Oklahoma and returned with nine of the eighteen trophies and I'd say that is worth a pat on the back. One team placed second while the other came in seventh. R. K. Parsley and Johnny Carson copped the doubles title and Johnny rolled the high scratch game of the event. If these boys keep this up someone will have to appoint them as an advertising committee for Pampa. We seem to have a friendly rivalry in the Snuggs family. If son John comes up with a 212, father John seems to roll a 235 or better. This has happened several times already this season.

Herschell Hutchinson just barely got his first 200 in league the other night by rolling a 201. I know you won't believe this but Gene James had a 98 a game. Then again Jerry Pritchard had nine straight opens and struck out in the tenth, don't ask him about his series. Just to lighten this column up a bit I want to mention a Louisville Kentucky team that tips the scales just 50 pounds under a ton. The littlest guy weighs 300 while the biggest boy weighs in at 473. Believe me, this bowling team carries a lot of weight.

Would you believe we even get fan mail from Hot Springs, Arkansas? Jennie Deaton sent a clipping showing her with a nice 526 series and of course her team leading the league. Some of their team names are really something, Winsome Witches, Scooter Poopets and Dish Dodgers. Also from Amarillo comes a nice letter from Nelda Ferguson who bowled with the exceptional children class here and bowled a big 210 game in Amarillo.

Now for just a few quickies and then for something entirely different.

Linda Grimsley almost went into hysterics at picking the 6-7-10. Ron Havens also picked it while Tiny Harmon picked the 6-7 and Jo Ann Cansler the 4-10. Fannie Bowles picked the 3-10 and the 5-10 in the same game. Pat Johnson was trying to get her mind off her bowling by pulling the cutest toy dog around but by her series I don't think it helped a bit.

Now for something different. Vera Williams gets credit for all the following and this just shows what could be done with every league in the house.

One More Pin

The Celanese Mixed League has just finished five weeks of bowling and except for the fact that some are bowling rather poorly, there is lots of enthusiasm.

This was quite a week. Jack Edwards, Sylvia Armstrong and James White each bowled two games alike but Richard Hill took the spotlight when he bowled a 146 triplicate Charlene Milton had a 133, 135, 137 series. Not bad on a 116 average.

Carroll and Virginia Pettit had an interesting match between themselves. Carroll beat Virginia the first game by 1 pin, 170 over 169. The next game they tied with 172 each. Then Carroll lucked out and beat the third game by 20 pins, 186 over 166. There's no need to mention the fact that Carroll has a 20 pin average over Virginia.

Team No. 9 just can't seem to manage one more pin. They had a 2299 series the past two weeks.

Ernie Pulse picked up a pretty split, the 9-7. Then he went wild and bowled 166 pins over his last week. You only raised your average 28 pins, Ernie.

The second week of bowling Jim Cantrell had a 220 and a 202. Lou Donghi, determined not to be outdone, bowled a 216 and a 234, having a 607 series.

Joyce Epperson and Claire Edwards each had a 198 game. Claire had quite an exciting night, a 490 series with a 114 average.

Marie Parks is a new bowler this year and she is making some of the older bowlers look a little sad. In five weeks time, she has raised her average 56 pins. She was pretty excited about her 442 series.

Oriole Trades The Difference?

By MURRAY OLDERMAN

BALTIMORE, Md. (NEA) —

By winning the 1966 American League championship and the World Series, the Baltimore Orioles have effected a shattering rapport between the media and sports. I mean, could you believe a former sports writer and a reformed sportscaster putting together the nucleus of the team which performed so fantastically in beating the Los Angeles Dodgers four straight?

"Jim Russo ought to get the Corvette," said Harry I. Dalton, referring to the trinket of a team that went to Frank Robinson, the Oriole leftfielder, for being the outstanding player of the Series, a traditional salute by Sport Magazine.

Now Dalton and Russo aren't household words in the sense that Robinson (both Frank and Brooks) and all those young Oriole pitchers — Dave McNally, Jim Palmer, Wally Bunker — are, even in Baltimore. They're simply responsible for the players being there.

Dalton, who used to write sports, is vice president and director of player personnel for the Orioles, a job something akin to general manager. Russo, an erstwhile broadcaster of sports in Michigan and California, is special assistant to Dalton.

Next thing you know, Howard Cosell and Jimmy Cannon will be making pennant winners out of the Mets. How can Herman Franks now say to a writer, "What kind of question is that?"

Dalton and Russo have done their jobs so well, fielding a team on which five of the regulars and four of the starting pitchers are 25 or under, that there's already talk of breaking up Baltimore (World Series celebrants started on the job) before they win 10 straight championships.

"You can't anticipate dynasties," said Dalton in the first flush of victory. "You can only recognize them in retrospect."

In retrospect, even the Orioles don't believe the Orioles after holding another league championship team (the Dodgers, of course) scoreless in 33 straight innings.

"We have a chance to stay in contention for many years," admitted Dalton. "I'd say that over the winter we will look for experienced pitching." The statement was in answer to a question by a Baltimore writer in the midst of the victory celebration.

"Although," smiled Harry, "I don't think the question is apropos at this time." See, he even talks like a guy who writes his own stuff.

Dalton quickly pin-pointed Russo as the man who set the Orioles up for the Series triumph. Russo bird-dogged the Dodgers for three weeks in September and prepared a complete log on the Los Angelesans, their traits and their weaknesses.

He did more than that. "I'm responsible for seven of the ball-players on the Orioles," said Jim frankly. "I signed Palmer, McNally and Eddie Watt among the pitchers. I signed Dave Johnson and was greatly responsible for Boog Powell in the infield. I got Sam Bowens in the outfield and drafted Paul Blair from the Mets."

All except Watt and Bowens were vital in the Series. There was one other — Frank Robinson. "I watched him in the National League," said Russo, "and I feel real good about being responsible to a great degree in his deal." (At a time like winning a World Series, it's no sense being humble.)

Russo's report on the Dodgers, gathered with scouts Harry Craft and Al Kubski, is a unique document — unique in the sense that it was written by a man who didn't play baseball himself and yet smelled out the small nuances of Dodger weakness that guided young catcher Andy Etchebarren in calling the four beautifully pitched games.

"Too many clubs hold the Dodgers in awe," said Russo. He showed me the final paragraphs of his report:

"Let's not panic against this club... they try to make a few runs hold up... left-handers should be more successful against the Dodgers because of Fairly and Willie Davis... and making the switch-hitting infield hit for the right side."

Russo added a final note that was both exhortation and prediction:

"... And if our pitching can keep Will and Willie Davis off the bases, WE CAN BEAT THIS CLUB!!!!"

Jim had five exclamation points. Only four, one for each game, were necessary.

Wildcats Host White Deer In 1-A Conference Opener

Canadian opens conference play in district 1-A Friday night and the Wildcats couldn't have picked a tougher team to open against.

Coach Dwaine Curries crew hosts the No. 2 rated class A club in the state, unbeaten White Deer.

Both clubs possess a wealth of offensive talent but White Deer isn't used to being scored upon and this may make things tough for Canadian.

Through five games, all of which they've won, the Bucks' defensive unit has yet to yield a touchdown. Only one score has been pushed across against the Bucks this season and that was by an intercepted pass, scored on the offensive unit.

No matter how crippled White Deer has been coach Sherrill Bottoms has managed to get 100 per cent out of everybody and his offensive chargers are averaging 40.3 points per contest.

Last week the Bucks whacked Sunray, 52-0 and did it without their top halfbacks, Gary Smith, who sat in the press box and Randy Elliott, who played only the first half before reinjuring a knee.

Gary will be out another week while Elliott will see action against Canadian.

The Bucks' No. 1 scorer is fullback-halfback Johnny Marlar with seven touchdowns, Smith with four and John Paul Guinn, the quarterback with five.

Canadian has three good backs in quarterback Johnny Walker, far below his 1965 output with only four touchdowns this year and Kenneth Steidle, who leads the Canadian scoring with seven touchdowns runs and Harold Sanders who has tallied six times for the Wildcats.

Canadian has a most prolific kicker in Terry Robinett, who has scored once, kicked a field goal and has booted home 11 of 13 conversions.

The Wildcats will be trying to shake off two straight losses, at the hands of Wheeler and Clarendon and stand 4-2 for the season.

Three other area teams see league action with Wheeler (5-1) playing host to Claude and McLean (5-1) playing at Clarendon. Both these games are 2-A conference affairs.

Groom, in class 5-B, hosts Follett in the opening league encounter for both teams. The Tigers broke a three game losing streak last week and now stand, 2-3-1.

Lefors, 2-4 is idle and Miami plays its last game of the season in an eight-man contest at Tyrone, Okla.

TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

No Longer Can Diseases Hide

Artificial hearts, organ transplants and the latest wonder drug to treat disease are what usually capture the headlines in the medical news these days.

But at the same time, another revolution, albeit a quieter one, is taking place in the area of diagnosis — the treatment of disease.

One of the most amazing new techniques is biomedical telemetry. A patient can't swallow a physician, but he can now do the next best thing — swallow a radio transmitter, thanks to miniaturized components.

Developed by Dr. R. Stuart Mackay of the University of California, the largest "radio pill" is the size of a large drug capsule and contains a complete FM radio set. There are even smaller units.

Included in the pill are a battery, an antenna, the transmitter circuit and one or more of a variety of sensing transducers capable of monitoring body processes. Average cost of the sending-receiving assembly is less than $20.

According to doctor-engineer Mackay, the pioneer in biomedical-telemetry, radio-pills can be used to measure such things as drug activity, heart and brain functions, intestinal temperature, stomach acidity and internal pressure and bleeding.

Even as they are getting a real inside view of the body's workings, doctors are learning more about it from the outside. Rodale's Health Bulletin reports that they are starting to read palms for signs of disease.

This has nothing to do with the ancient practice of palmistry. It's called palmar dermatophlypsia and has developed to the point where specific medical problems can be recognized from hand and footprints.

For example, mentally retarded infants whose mothers were exposed to German measles during pregnancy can often be spotted at birth from the alteration in their fingerprints somehow caused by the virus.

And since fingerprints don't change once they are formed, dermatophlypsia can be used to distinguish between congenital (inborn and acquired heart disease).

The eyes, too, reveal more than poets realize. At a recent International Congress of Human Genetics in Chicago, ophthalmologist Dr. Harold F. Falls of the University of Michigan listed 80 diseases and congenital disorders which he said an alert physician can detect by observing changes in the eyes.

Here's looking at you.

Goofs Impose Hidden Costs

The experts cherish an array of charts and graphs and tables they use to explain the economy — wage and price trends, corporate investments, interest levels — government spending and so on.

All of these factors contribute to the ups and downs — mostly ups — of prices, and none of them can be ignored. But one factor is never included in the statistics, though a little thought suggests it must play a not insignificant role.

It is well-known that retailers, especially supermarkets, add a certain percentage to their prices to allow for pilferage and shoplifting — the human factor of dishonesty.

But how much does business and industry in general tack on to absorb the costs of the very human factor of inefficiency, or sometimes, outright incompetence? In other words, doing twice what really should only be done once?

As an outstanding example, take the construction game. Rare is the couple who purchased a new house who have not sworn they would never go such a frustrating program. From misplaced confidence to mismatched paint, it is anything done the first time.

builder, of course, pays all this duplicated work. Of feathers there a man who bought a new car and never had to return it to the dealer again and again to have defects corrected? It may involve a whole new transmission or it may merely require retouching the finish or resetting a window — but multiply even minor remedial work by millions of cars a year.

The manufacturers, of course, pay for it all under their warranty guarantees. Of course.

How many letters are typed twice in the nation's offices every day that should have been typed but once? How many of the trucks we see on the streets are making deliveries for the second time because they delivered the wrong item, or a defective item, the first time?

And to be fair about it, how many of the shoppers thronging the stores are returning things for exchange, and thereby adding to the stores' paperwork, because they decided they really didn't want what they bought the first time.

This inefficiency — incompetence factor, this business of doing everything twice, must amount to a fantastic sum when plotted against the whole gamut of goods and services the nation puts out. But at least it's comforting to think that it does not cost the consumer anything extra.

It's all included in the original price.

Churchillian Mastery

Who had, or has, the greatest speaking voice of the past 25 years?

This was the question asked in a poll conducted by British Industries Corp., marketers of Industries Corp., marketers of record player equipment, among visitors to a high fidelity show in New York.

The winner was Winston Churchill, closely followed by Franklin D. Roosevelt and John F. Kennedy.

Not surprisingly, actors received a substantial number of votes, including Richard Burton, Orson Welles and Sir Laurence Olivier. Also among the favorites was Congress' organized orator, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen.

Executives on the Wing

Business is zooming in more ways than one. The airplane is now an indispensable item in the inventory of many U.S. firms. Executive aircraft rack up nearly half of the miles flown by all planes in the country, and they are getting bigger and going faster.

The world's fastest and longest range corporate jet yet made its first flight recently. Grumman's Gulfstream II is capable of speeds-up to 585 miles an hour and a range that permits a nonstop flight from New York to Los Angeles against a 90-knot headwind.

It cruises at 5,000 feet, an altitude it reaches 15 minutes after takeoff, and can seat 30 passengers — more than the original DC-3 that made airline history.

Price per copy is about $2 million, but even with that tag 55 companies have already made down payments on the plane, which is expected to go into production next year.

In 1955, voters in the Saar rejected a proposed statute to "Europeanize" the tiny country and draw it more closely to France.

Straight Talk

By TOM ANDERSON

ON YOUR BACK
THROUGHOUT history practically all governments have been crooked. And ours is no exception. The socialists who have run our government continuously since 1933 have deliberately and continuously inflated it — except for those few periods when the economy got over-heated, as it is now. Then these know-it-all master planners cool it down by stealing more taxes from us, by causing the banks to charge abnormally high rates for money, and by other devious, crooked and totalitarian measures. Political opportunists and schemers have produced a social and economic sickness caused by prolonged over-spending, over-taxing, over-borrowing, over-stealing of government, and over-kill of profit incentive.

The Great Society is taking us to totalitarianism and economic collapse. Caesar-Bird's answer to inflation is to turn off the lights in the White House powder room; to tell businessmen not to expand; to tell investors not to lend; and to tell businesses not to raise prices. If this doesn't work — and it won't — Inflated-Bird threatens price controls and increased taxes. I'm not sure that Johnson doesn't want price controls. Price control is power. Power-Bird has always been powerful.

Johnson enforces his price guidelines on business while looking the other way when union racketeers escalate their gouge. (The union racketeers control more votes than businessmen do.)

Doctor Johnson's "cures" are the germs of more disease. High prices don't cause inflation. Inflation causes high prices.

Preventing inflation by forcing ceilings on prices and wages is like preventing an explosion by forcing a top onto a boiling kettle. The way to prevent the explosion is to take the heat off the bottom. What is the cause of inflation? Mainly our welfare state government which has mushroomed beyond the control and comprehension of the people.

Soon The Planners may sharply increase your taxes to drain "excess purchasing power" away from you. They have already made it extremely difficult and expensive to borrow long-term money.

"But aren't our leaders doing the best they can?" After all they have to pay taxes, too! exclaim the naive. Not so you — or they can tell it, they don't. Nor the rich ones like Johnson. A large part of his fabulous wealth, which he somehow acquired while on the public payroll, is in tax-free foundations and tax-free government bonds.

The super rich are little bothered by taxes, or even inflation. Take the Kennedys for example, if you can. The family is reportedly worth something like $400 million. Suppose just half of that was in Federal and municipal tax-free bonds averaging 4 percent interest return. That would amount to $8 million tax-free income per year. The Palm Beach and Hyannisport Villas can scrape along minding well on that, while the Kennedys' hearts bleed for the disadvantaged.

L'I old you — the average Joe — is carrying this outrageous government on his back without even knowing it. He thinks it's carrying him. This is like a drunk driver turning to his seatmate and asking: "Why don't you turn at the next block?"

Not the farmer, not the housewife, not business, but only the Federal Government can manufacture inflation and then successfully blame it on somebody else.

The creed of the Great Society is the same as P. T. Barnum's: "There's a sucker born every minute." People are not only willing, but eager to be fooled. That's how politicians survive. They're thankful there are so many fools — otherwise how could they get re-elected?

Broadway show business is pricing itself out of existence. Tickets for many of the hit shows now cost more than $10 for the best seats. Producers say the hike is necessary to recover the cost of production within a reasonable period. Record Security Precautions for President's Trip: Most Costly, New Hazards Pinpointed

ROBERT ALLEN PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The security preparations for President Johnson's Asian trip are the most extensive and expensive ever undertaken for an American official traveling abroad.

Hundreds of Secret Service men, Federal Bureau of Investigation agents, State Department authorities, and Army-Navy-Air Force intelligence officers have spent more than four weeks working with security authorities of the countries the President will visit.

In addition to this army of security agents, the President's own hand-picked political advance men are on the scene checking security measures and testing White House publicity plans for this pre-election peace mission.

The crew of Johnson advance men, or the JAM boys as they are referred to at the White House, include:

Cliff Carter, the President's long-time political trouble-shooter. Charles Lipscomb, vigorous young labor representative who handles political trips for the President; former Assistant Secretary of Commerce Eugene Foley, and Assistant Postmaster General Tyler Abell, whose wife serves as Mrs. Johnson's social secretary.

Along with the security agency chiefs and regular White House staff, these JAM boys have a blank check to spend whatever is necessary from an assortment of multi-million dollar government contingency funds.

Their assignment, coming directly from the President, is to assure his protection and see that his mission is a political, as well as a diplomatic success.

PREVENTIVE MEASURES — Under this far-reaching presidential mandate, these political and security aides are taking every measure physically possible to prevent anything from happening to the President.

The security officials, checking out routes and facilities to be used by the President, are even on the alert for new weapons, such as radioactive material, poison gas, bacteria, and deadly laser beam-type gun that might be used by a potential assassin.

This warning is contained in the private instructions furnished by Keith O. Lych, head of the State Department's division of protective security.

The 50-pages of instructions, covering almost every known situation, drew heavily on details of past assassination attempts.

The American Way

By HARRY BROWNE
The easiest way to throw away precious parts of your life is by attempting to control that which cannot be controlled.

You, as a human being, are no omnipotent. Regardless of what the "positive thinkers" might say, you cannot control the world just by thinking you can. There are definite limits to your domain.

In every phase of your life there are two elements involved — you and the rest of the world. What is vitally important is to recognize the boundary lines between these two elements.

When you are about to make a decision of some kind, it is important to separate clearly in your own mind the two elements — you and the rest of the world. Your decision should be based upon what you intend to do in the area you control — yourself. But if you base your decision on the assumption that you are going to change the rest of the world, you are setting yourself up for a fall.

For you only control yourself. You will have an effect on the people around you. But your plans can never be based on the things you believe you can make other people do. For those people will decide for themselves what they will do with their lives, just as you decide about yours.

As you look around you, you can see many ways in which the world can be improved — so as to make life better for yourself and others. But "out there" you are dealing with sovereign human beings who are trying, in their own ways, to make the most of their lives.

And while you are pre-occupying yourself with the rest of the world, there is a great area — ripe for improvement — in which you could affect great changes that would make life more enjoyable for you.

Where is that area? Within yourself, of course. And in that domain, you are king. You have the power there to cause great improvements.

I'm not saying that the whole world will be better off for the improvements you make in yourself. I'm saying that you'll be better off for the changes you make.

There isn't a single problem in that world out there that doesn't have a corresponding action within yourself that would help to alleviate it.

Are there thieves and robbers in the world? You won't cure the problem by trying to change the world. But you can make a vast difference by learning how to protect your own property.

Are there people who are offensive, rude, fraudulent? You'd have an impossible task trying to reform them. But you can effectively deal with the problem by learning how to avoid such relationships — by learning how to spot the "good" people in advance and avoid the bad.

That may not seem like a solution to you — simply because it won't do away with the bad people, and because it seems like it requires a lot of work on your part. But it would be even greater work to try to change the world. And the bad people will be with us always. What we can change is our ability to neutralize their badness.

Next time you feel compelled to strike out at the world, stop for a moment. Realize that your striking will not change the world one iota. But recognize how you put yourself in this position. And ask yourself what change could be made in you that would leave you out of the reach of those who would harm you.

Hunt for Truth

BY R. L. MUNT

ALPACA AND THE CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY
The Alpaca Constitution prepared in 1960 has come in for a vast amount of criticism, especially the provision for graduated suffrage. This is as it should be. The Constitution was prepared to prompt discussion, of which criticism is generally a part.

Now that provisions in ALPACA are under consideration by the Constituent Assembly, Tu Do Street, Saigon, the critics of graduated suffrage will be concerned with accuracy.

Critics have constantly stated that the increased voting power assigned to the wealthiest voters, ignoring the fact that the bonus of votes is not granted on the amount of wealth, but on the amount of taxes paid. Sometimes the highest taxpayer may be bankrupt within a year.

The schedule for taxation provides for: 1) an annual property tax; 2) import tax; 3) export tax; 4) severance tax; 5) gift tax; 6) inheritance tax; 7) production or manufacturing tax; 8) income tax; 9) sales tax; 10) franchise tax.

There is a provision that as soon as sufficient tax to defray the expense of government is paid in the order named, no tax will be applied to other items listed. Criticizing graduated suffrage about bonuses for taxpayers who will never be granted the bonus serves no purpose.

Other bonus votes are assigned citizens waiving payments due them from the government, and for having ranked among the highest 25 per cent of their class in grade, high school and college within the past eight years.

Critics nearly always complain that one class of voters are given a voting power of one, and other classes far more. This is not true. The minimum voting power is 2 and the maximum is 5 per cent.

About six weeks ago I learned that Mark Twain advanced the idea of graduated suffrage in 1875 and again in 1876. He no doubt felt, as some statesmen now feel, that the allowance of one person may result in keeping the Treasury voted dry.

takes over that position, the danger of assassination often transfers to him."

WHITE HOUSE INSIDE — President Johnson's working habits are a matter of growing concern among his aides and they hope to change them during his Asian trip. While in the White House, the President's routine usually goes like this: Rises about 5:30 a.m., works until breakfast at 7; goes back to bed and gets up at about 9:30; goes to his office around 10 a.m., generally staying there until about 3 p.m.; after lunch he naps until about 5:30 p.m.; works until 9 or 10 p.m., has dinner, then reads, confers, makes phone calls until 2:30 a.m., and goes to bed. . . .

President Johnson is saying privately that he plans to appoint Clark Clifford, former White House aide during the Truman administration, to a high government post as soon as his doctor has given the green light. Clifford is still recovering from a severe case of hepatitis contracted on a trip to Viet Nam.

"In 1878, for example, an attempt was made to assassinate William I of Germany while he was riding in a parade. He was wounded by a shot from a nearby building, window, and while trying to decide whether to proceed or not, he was further wounded by a second shot."

In an ominous concluding note, the security instructions warn: "Usually the victim of a political assassination is chosen because of his position or political affiliation. If someone else

Today is Wednesday, Oct. 19, the 292nd day of 1966 with 73 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter.

The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter.

The evening star is Saturn. The Roman poet Virgil was born on this day in 70 B.C.

On this day in history: In 1781, British Gen. Lord Cornwallis surrendered his troops at Yorktown, Va.

In 1936, three newspapers reporters ended their around-the-world airplane race when H. R. Ekins landed at Lakehurst, N.J. The time: 18 days, 11 hours, 14 minutes and 33 seconds.

In 1954, Great Britain and Egypt signed a new Suez pact providing for withdrawal of British troops from the canal during the next 20 months.

A thought for the day — German writer Thomas Kempis said: "Be not angry that you cannot make others as you wish them to be, since you cannot make yourself as you wish."

The following conversation took place in physical examination of freshmen:

The handsome husband and his attractive young wife were airing their marital troubles in court.

Mrs. Smith (sobbed) — We were very happy for a couple of years, your Honor, and then the baby came.

Judge Little (sympathized) — Mmmmm, boy or girl?

Mrs. Smith (snapped) — Girl! Of course. She moved in next door.

Troubled Belle Chasse High School Is Without Entire Faculty

BELLE CHASSE, La. (UPI)—Belle Chasse high, once the largest school in oil-rich but troubled Plaquemines Parish, was without a faculty today, but some students seemed determined to keep it opened. The faculty resigned in mass Monday after less than two months of operating against a combination of circumstances which made schooling virtually impossible in this climate. Court-ordered desegregation led to a white boycott which has been more than 90 per cent effective at Belle Chasse. A hastily-built private school is due to go into operation here Saturday. Financing the new school was apparently easy in this parish where militant segregationist Leander Perez is the dominant monetary figure as well as unquestioned political boss.

Last year Belle Chasse high had an enrollment of 1,800. Average attendance this year has been 120. When the faculty failed to show up Monday, 15 of these students carried signs reading: "We Want Our Schools" and "We Want an Education."

One desegregated school in Plaquemines has already been closed. This was Woodlawn, where the white boycott was total and a private school opened almost immediately.

President Johnson's campaign year peace offensive got off to a shockingly bad start. That is better than a shockingly bad ending. Much better!

The President still has a chance to blunt Republican campaign issues sufficiently to improve Democratic congressional election prospects. LBJ's best effort was a global peace offensive to offset his unpopular Southeast Asian war.

Chairman Leonid I. Brezhnev of the Soviet Communist Party shot down that global effort in a weekend statement. Brezhnev abruptly rejected Johnson's invitation to visit the United States in company of Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin. The rejection was almost a rebuke.

Brezhnev said Johnson suffered from a strange and persistent delusion that U.S. relations with Eastern Europe could be improved, despite the Viet Nam war.

That statement tripled the propaganda possibilities of Johnson's journey to the Manila conference Oct. 23-27. Small matter that this campaign-year peace offensive consists so far merely of words and movement. It encourages the voters to hope for improvement in Southeast Asia.

Until Brezhnev's blast, there was reason to hope for some improvement in the global cold war. The voters understand now that any global cold war improvement depends wholly on the situation in Southeast Asia. That is a measure of the significance of LBJ's Manila conference with representatives of other nations more or less associated in the Viet Nam war.

The Manila peace ploy must be counted a Democratic campaign plus unless and until it is a proven failure. Eleven days will elapse between Johnson's departure from Manila homebound, and the congressional election on Nov. 8. If hope sometimes springs eternal, it should not be impossible to maintain for 11 days a hope for better things in Southeast Asia.

Republicans uneasily denounce the Manila conference as a cynical campaign maneuver, but they cannot yet make that stick nor can they condemn Johnson without hedging a little. Barry Goldwater put it this way in a speech:

"We think it (the Manila conference) is political. But I hope the President is successful. We all want peace and we don't care how we get it."
