Pete Minden, commander of Texas Wing Group I Civil Air Patrol at Amarillo, discusses the progress of the newly-formed Pampa Squadron of CAP with the local group's commander, Ralph Prock. The squadron, now boasting a membership of 30 which includes 25 pilots, met last night to conduct a regular business session and heard Minden explain the senior member training program.

Cost of Living At Low Level

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An unexpected 1 per cent drop in retail food prices kept the November advance in the cost of living down to the lowest level in six months.

Over-all, according to the Labor Department, the consumer price index rose one-tenth of 1 per cent to 114.6, compared to 100 for the 1957-59 base period.

This means that it cost $11.46 in November to buy the same goods and services which cost $10 about eight years ago.

A 10 per cent decline in the grocery store price of bacon and other pork prices helped hold the food prices down.

U.S. Okays Hanoi Visit of Author

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Louis Lomax, with the blessing of the U.S. State Department, will leave Saturday for Hanoi to interview North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh.

The Negro author and television personality flew to Washington, D.C., Thursday night for a briefing "by the very highest State Department officials." These would include Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Lomax said.

Lomax said he had received a telegram from Hanoi approving a two week visit. He said he was instructed first to go to Cambodia, where he would be contacted and flown to North Vietnam.

The 44-year-old author of "The Negro Revolt" was to return here late today and then fly on Saturday to the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh via Tokyo and Thailand. In Cambodia he will attempt to arrange to take a cameraman, soundman, and the producer of his local television show (KTTV) along with him.

"The North Vietnamese Journalistic Association has arranged the trip and obtained permission for me to interview Ho Chi Minh and Pham Bang Dong, North Vietnam's premier," Lomax said.

Now Germans Have Kennedy Death Book

NEW YORK (UPI)—Look Magazine said Thursday it would take steps to head off the publication by a mass-circulation West German magazine of the unexpurgated version of the controversial book "The Death of a President."

Look has already agreed to certain deletions, demanded by Mrs. John F. Kennedy, in its own impending serialization of the book. Cowles Communications, publisher of Look, sold German rights to the magazine "Stern" before an agreement to revise the text was reached with Mrs. Kennedy.

The material Mrs. Kennedy found objectionable deals mostly with the former First Lady's emotional reactions in the terrible period following the assassination of President Kennedy as well as matters involving her children.

Carr Wants Lie Test For Ruby

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Jack Ruby should get a lie detector test as soon as possible to let him prove his contention he was involved in no conspiracy when he killed Lee Harvey Oswald, Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr said Thursday.

Carr asked Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety to arrange such a test.

Carr said he favored a lie detector test if "Ruby's present mental and physical condition is such as to insure a reliable result."

Ruby, 35, slayer of the assassin of President Kennedy, is suffering from widespread cancer. His relatives say he is anxious to show the world he was not part of any conspiracy.

Ruby rallied a bit Thursday and doctors said fluids in his chest were accumulating more slowly. He lost ground Wednesday.

Garrison had no immediate comment on the suggestion of a lie detector test.

Vessels Denied New Trial

Appeal Filed After Hectic Court Session

A motion for a new trial was denied Thomas R. Vessels, convicted rapist, yesterday afternoon after four hours of argument and testimony in 31st District Court here.

Defense attorneys Warren Burnett of Odessa and Michael Ramsey of Houston, who entered the case a week ago, gave notice an appeal would be made to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin.

Early in the proceedings, which got underway shortly after 2 p.m., Judge Lewis M. Goodrich walked out of court to prevent Vessels' lawyers from offering testimony in a motion for a new trial. He later relented and heard the testimony but rejected the motion.

The 29-year-old convicted Vessels is under penalty of death in the electric chair for the rape of a Pampa housewife last April 28.

Judge Goodrich also refused to permit the district clerk to issue subpoenas to call witnesses for the hearing.

"I have explained to you before that I'm not going to allow any testimony and that's what you are leading up to. You can tell all that to the Criminal Court of Appeals," Judge Goodrich told Burnett.

District attorney Bill Waters interjected that Judge Goodrich should at least hear what evidence Burnett was trying to present.

"I'm not trying to disagree with the court, but I think it is important that the appellate court be able to read into the record what evidence was offered," Waters said.

In the affidavit, the juror stated he and the other 11 jurors had discussed Texas parole laws relating to their leniency and had also discussed the fact that Vessels did not take the stand in his own behalf. These discussions, the affidavit stated, were held before the jurors (See VESSELS, Page 3)

India to Receive 900,000 Tons of Grain From U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States will ship 900,000 tons of food grains to drought-stricken India, ending a month-long freeze on such aid shipments.

The announcement came Thursday shortly before the Russians said in New Delhi they had pledged 200,000 tons of wheat as an outright gift.

The American shipments are an interim step to meet Indian food shortages aggravated by a drought. A U.S. review of long range aid plans is continuing.

According to the Agriculture Department, the shipment will reach India in February and March and include 450,000 tons of wheat, worth $29.8 million; 450,000 tons of grain sorghum, valued at $23.5 million.

Combined with earlier U.S. aid authorizations, purchases by India and grants by Australia and Canada, the U.S. shipments will keep grain arrivals in India at about the current level of 1 million tons a month.

Meantime, the Indian government moved to tighten already stringent rationing of grain cakes—the staple food in food short areas.

Six cities with a population of a million or more—New Delhi, Bombay, Calcutta, Madras, Kanpur and Ahmedabad—add certain other areas are under rationing.

Indian officials had asked the United States in August for an interim allocation of 2 million tons of grain, pending completion of the U. S. review of long range aid plans.

Snow Hits Eight States

By United Press International

A travel-crippling snowstorm spread from Arkansas to Kentucky and Tennessee today as the first of the nation's holiday travelers hit the road.

The U.S. Weather Bureau posted hazardous driving or heavy snow warnings for parts of eight states from Oklahoma and Kansas to Tennessee and Kentucky as the storm system sliced the country's mid-section in two.

Harrison, Ark., was smothered by nine inches of snow in less than six hours Thursday night. The snow fell on top of roads glazed by freezing rain which began falling during the afternoon.

During the same time span, five inches of snow fell at West Plains, Mo., while Joplin and Springfield, Mo., each measured four inches.

Two inches fell at Hill City and Concordia, Kan., Thursday night and an inch quilted an area as far south as Enid and Tulsa, Okla. The earlier freezing rain coated roads with ice in parts of Oklahoma and Texas.

The Lone Star State was a study in contrasts. Snow slickened highways in the panhandle Thursday while south and eastern parts of Texas enjoyed 70 and 80 degree weather. Corpus Christi recorded a high of 84, breaking the previous record of 79 established for the date in 1954.

South of the snow and ice belt, showers and thundershowers added driving hazards to the lower Mississippi Valley, more than an inch of rain fell at El Dorado, Ark., and Alexandria, La., during the six hours ending at 1 a.m. EST today.

North of the snow, cold settled. Subzero temperatures were recorded in North Dakota, northern Minnesota and adjacent areas. Lows were expected in some areas to plunge to as much as 25 degrees below zero.

Snow flurries accompanied the cold as it invaded an area from the Great Lakes to the northern Appalachians.

The South enjoyed unseasonable warmth, but winter was due to displace the balmy for the bitter as the snowstorm moved eastward.

Skies were mostly clear over Florida, the northern plains and the interior of the West.

LBJ Busy On Routine Work

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—President Johnson was on a "routine" pre-Christmas work schedule at his ranch today.

The Texas White House listed a group of White House aides working with Johnson on unspecified "various staff matters."

Press Secretary George Christian did not rule out the prospect of other officials visiting Johnson in coming days, while he continues ironing out the legislative and budgetary proposals he will submit to Congress in January.

Buying Days Are Waning

Pampa shoppers have only hours now, instead of days, to prepare a Merry Christmas for their families.

Downtown and Coronado Center merchants have indicated that they will close at their regular Saturday closing hours, ranging from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. They will remain closed all day Monday in order that employees may have an extended holiday with family and friends.

City Hall, courthouse, state offices, post office and banks will also be closed Monday, Dec. 26.

News to Publish Paper Saturday

The Pampa Daily News will publish its annual Christmas edition Saturday.

There will be no paper on Sunday, Christmas day.

Publication time Saturday has been set for early afternoon to permit employees to enjoy Christmas Eve and Christmas Day with their families.

Pampan Plays Santa to Indian Tots

Because of the kindness of one Pampa lady, 125 little Indian girls in Canton, Okla., will have a doll for Christmas.

Mrs. Jack Boyd, 504 S. Henry, has spent the past six weeks dressing dolls. On some she has performed "minor surgery" such as mending arms and legs and resuffling heads. On others, she became a cosmetologist and hairdresser.

It is a project she started about three years ago following a visit to the Baptist Indian Mission in Canton. "There is so much need there," she said, "I just had to do something."

So she started her own private project of mending, dressing and giving dolls to young girls at the Indian mission.

"There are about 3,000 Indians in the vicinity of the mission in Canton. There are Arapahoes, Cheyennes and Kiowas," she said.

Throughout the year, friends who know of Mrs. Boyd's Christmas project, give her dolls, which are about to be discarded.

"You can tell which dolls have really been loved. These are usually well-worn with love and (See PAMPAN, Page 3)

Dear Abby... Laundry Should Be Done at Home

DEAR ABBY: My husband's brother and his wife have made it a habit to "call on us" every Sunday. They arrive with their four children, "loaded down" with one quart of milk and a quarter of a pound of bacon (for eight of us). My sister-in-law then says she hopes I won't mind if she does a small laundry. Then she proceeds to use my washer, bleach, soap powder, hot water, dryer, and steam iron for a whole week's laundry. Naturally I can't just sit and watch her, so I pitch in and help. Now Abby, they live only 35 miles away, so do you think they really come to see us, or to get their laundry done? I don't particularly care to spend my Sundays that way. So how do I tactfully put a stop to it?

FED UP
DEAR FED: I doubt if your sister-in-law would respond to tact. But if you want to put a stop to it, tell her that you don't do your laundry on Sunday and if she does, she should do hers at home.

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that through the ages most men have treated their mistresses far better than they have treated their wives? What is behind this warped reasoning? If it were not for the strong maternal instinct, I am sure more women would rather be a man's mistress than his wife.

PHILOSOPHER
DEAR PHILOSOPHER: A mistress does not have to boil the bottles or battle the bills. All she has to do is look pretty and wait for her telephone to ring.

Naturally, since she gets the frosting on the cake, she is always good-humored, loving, and sweet-tempered. So the man who gets this kind of treatment responds in kind to the woman who provides it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old boy who needs your help. I have been going steady with a girl for nearly a year and I want to break up with her but I can't find a good reason.

She is a very nice girl, and I know she likes me a lot, but Abby, to be truthful, I want to go with another girl. How can I break up with Girl Number One so I can go with Girl Number

Two? Thank you.
DEAR RANDY: You have a good reason. But be kind. Tell Girl Number One that you think it would be better for both of you if you started dating others. Then get one of your friends to ask her out to start the ball rolling.

DEAR ABBY: A man who was related to a relative of mine (through marriage) died the other day. This person was no relative of mine, mind you, and while he was living I had no use for him. I didn't send flowers or come around to pay my last respects, so now my relatives are not speaking to me. Was I wrong?

NOT SPEAKING
DEAR NOT SPEAKING: To "pay last respects" to someone for whom you had no respect in the first place, to my way of thinking, is hypocrisy. Don't let it bother you.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69709, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069.

For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1.00 to Abby, Box 69709, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069.

Set Jet Hair in a Jiffy

There's a new electric hair roller heater with 18 rollers and plastic-tipped hair clips that gives you a jet set in 15 minutes. All you need do is plug in this beauty appliance, wait five minutes for the rollers to heat on the metal rods (heat cuts off automatically at right temperature) . . . pop the rollers in your hair. By the time the last one is in, you're ready to take out the first roller. You can have a perfect hair set every day.

Beneficial Beauty Mask
If your skin resembles an oil gusher, it will benefit greatly from a once-a-week beauty mask. Work up a good lather with castile baby soap and allow it to dry on the face. Baby soap is gentle enough for a drying action without irritating the skin, and the hexachlorophene in it fights the bacteria that cause the blemishes that plague most young people. Be sure to rinse off the mask, and finish with cold water or witch hazel.

Keep Holiday Parties Pretty, Simple

By AILEEN SNOODY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — A New Jersey homemaker, after cooking, serving and cleaning up after a Thanksgiving dinner for 12, said with a smile, "It's not as much work as it used to be."

In step with her admission is the decrease in headaches at Christmas because of overwork. Few families make their gifts, prepare meals and nibbles or create their decorations 100 per cent. If one wanted to pay the price, a complete holiday could be catered, from food, gifts and decorations down to the last itchy bit of angel's hair.

Despite the convenience money can buy, families still are softies for doing a few things themselves.

Entertaining of family, friends and business associates is one. For the woman who plans a buffet comes this advice from table stylist Cindy Haskins of International Silver.

Cindy says to toss out the conservative white tablecloth attitude and use a colored tablecloth and napkins to show silver and holiday tinsel to advantage. Topping this should be a simple table arrangement of china and silver set logically so that guests don't run into each other from opposite ends of the table when helping themselves to the food and punch.

One major centerpiece, perhaps a simple celery or relish bouquet set in ice, or Christmas ornaments, is sufficient.

For an evening buffet Cindy believes heartily in candles. These, she says, do not need to be on the buffet table but can be placed nearby on a mantel or other tables for greater effect.

An Illinois florist recently came up with a household formula for doubling the indoor life of cut greens.

Harold C. Cook of Dixon mixes 1/4-cup Green Gards micronized iron, 1 gallon hot water, 2 cups Karo crystal clear syrup and 4 teaspoons Clorox or other chlorinated household bleach. Pour this in a tree holder of at least gallon size. The liquid also works for cut evergreen boughs set in vases or small containers.

For the tree, Cook says to saw about one inch level from the trunk bottom. Smash the trunk with a hammer to crush the fibers. Stand tree in holder in container. Pour in solution.

Each day, add warm tap water to keep the holder filled.

DRESS UP HOLIDAY TABLE with a background scene taped to the wall. Ropes of tinsel make hillsides, trees and sleigh are cardboard cutouts. Buffet table features big punch bowl, chafing dish and series of small bowls for decorations, fruit, candies and nuts. Another do-it-yourself Christmas project uses razor blade packets (inset) wrapped to hang as tree ornaments or serve as stocking stuffers.

The Mature Parent Teach Child To Read From Book You Like

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: We were most interested in what you said about our schools' failure to teach children to read. Please recommend a home tutoring course in phonic reading for our fourth grade son. Although he attends an up-to-date suburban school, he cannot read any word that he hasn't memorized. As a result he hates reading.

ANSWER: Do you know the sounds of the alphabet's consonants? Is so, you don't need anybody's home tutoring course in phonic reading. You can teach your child to read.

Because your letter is one of a sharing of delight.

My love for this book was conveyed to her by the way I read it to her so that she got caught in love of it, too. So, you see, I didn't fall into the trap of "I must consider this child's 'age' interest to arouse my daughter's interest to arouse my daughter's."

It did this because it's my view that children know the difference between true writing and the kind that talks down to them and that our boredom with books we read to them gets over to them so that they become uncomfortable and cannot listen.

So do not use any child's book that bores you. If you do, you become just another shy grown-up out to betray the child once more into the boredom of reading.

If your son has had "Pinocchio" read to him, try Jack London's "White Fang," Felix Salten's "Bambi," or Walter Edmonds' "The Matchlock Gun." Read the book first yourself. Find one that gives you joy.

It will be your own joy in the book that frees your child from the damage done his reading interest by schools.

Should Women Give Up Shopping Frills?

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Housewives can lower food prices if they really want to do so. Clarence G. Adams, president of the National Assn. of Food Chains, says that prices can be cut from six to nine per cent providing . . .

That women are willing to give up such frills as trading stamps, giveaway games, carry-out service, piped in music, check-cashing privileges, late closing hours, and the thousands of items from which they are now able to choose.

The question is: Do we housewives really want to have food prices cut badly enough to give up the little luxuries we have become accustomed to when we trade at a modern supermarket?

Some of us — though by no means all — would gladly forego the trading stamps and the games of chance that have become a part of grocery shopping. But to many, trading stamps still mean a way of seeming to get "something for nothing" and gambling gimmicks add a little excitement to the chore of marketing.

Some of us — but by no means all — would go back to cashing checks at the bank, instead of the nearest supermarket. But it is mighty handy to have our favorite neighborhood supermarket also our friendly neighborhood check-casher.

Some of us — perhaps a large majority — could do without the carpeted aisles and the piped-in music and the help-yourself-to-a-cup-of-coffee table with which supermarkets try to make us feel as at home and at ease as customers once felt in a country store. Still, we do get in a lot of visiting with our neighbors in such pleasant surroundings as these.

Working wives and one-car families really need those late closing hours and they are often a convenience for others, as well.

And since most of us have our pet brands and favorite sizes of every item we buy, we would probably start complaining if any of our favorites disappeared from today's well-stocked shelves.

Space Agency Reveals '67 Missions, Crews

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—The U.S. space agency rounded out its crew lists Thursday for space missions expected in 1967, naming a dozen astronauts for the second and third manned Apollo flights.

Half the astronauts were prime crewmen, the men who normally will fly the missions. The other six were backup crew members who will step in if something happens to the prime crews.

The space agency said veteran astronaut James A. McDivitt will be prime crew commander for Apollo 2, the first manned test in space of the lunar landing craft.

The St. Vincent's Adult Choristers of St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church will sing the Midnight Mass Christmas Eve with the Rev. William Brennan, C.M., pastor as celebrant, assisted by Rev. Charles Welter, C.M., associate pastor.

The choir will be under the direction of Tracy D. Cary, choirmaster-organist, with Miss Dietta Hills, a student at Incarnate Word College, San Antonio, as flutist.

Beginning at 11:15 p.m. Saturday with the organ preludes, "The Shepherd's Vision" (Mary Rosa) and "O Immanuel, Our King and Lawgiver" (Dupre), a service of carols and anthems will be sung prior to the mass, including "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" (J. S. Bach), "Go Tell It On The Mountain" (old Southern carol), "The Snow Lay on the Ground" (ancient Irish carol arr. by Leo Sowerby), "The First Noel" and "O Little Town of Bethlehem" an arrangement composed especially for the choir by Cary in 1963.

"Away In A Manger" will feature Mrs. Wanda Hickey, soprano, as soloist. Closing the carol service will be "Let All Mortal Flesh Keep Silence" from the Liturgy of St. James of Jerusalem.

At midnight during the singing of the traditional "Adeste Fideles" a cordon of acolytes will act as honor guard during the processional to the manger where the blessing of the crib (Rusty) Schweickart will be lunar module pilot. They are the first to bear these titles, which were chosen after the first Apollo crew had been named earlier this year but will be used in all flights after Apollo 1.

Commanding Apollo 3—the first test of the mighty Saturn 5 moon rocket with a crew of astronauts aboard—will be Frank Borman. Michael Collins was named command module pilot and William Anders was picked as lunar module pilot.

No launching dates were given for the second and third manned flights although space officials said both are planned for 1967.

The schedule, they said, "depends on the success of other Apollo missions." These would include the already-delayed flight of Apollo 1, the spacecraft's first manned test in earth orbit, and some unmanned flights. Apollo 1 is currently scheduled for late February at the soonest, a delay of some two months from its original launching target. Virgil I. (Gus) Grissom commands the crew, with Ed White and Roger Chaffee the other crewmen.

Clayton O. Crane, construction engineer for the Canadian River Dam project has been presented the Department of the Interior Safety Council Award of Merit.

Presentation of the award to Crane was made by Leon W. Hill, regional director of the Bureau of Reclamation, in his office in Amarillo. The award, consisting of a certificate signed by members of the Departmental Safety Council and letters of commendation from the director of personnel, Department of the Interior, and commissioner of reclamation, was given to Crane in recognition of his personal interest in formulating a concerted safety effort among project employees which resulted in an exemplary safety record for both Bureau and contract operations.

On the Canadian River Project, Crane supervised work in constructing a major dam with related facilities and a 122-mile municipal water supply system. The project is scheduled to begin regular deliveries of water to the 11 member cities of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority upon completion of the aqueduct system.

Vessels

had reached a verdict in the original trial.

Goodrich told Burnett "I told you yesterday that I am not going to allow any testimony on the affidavit."

In presenting proof of evidence for a new motion, Burnett called District Clerk Helen Sprinkle, who testified that she had been instructed not to issue any applications for subpoenas.

"I would like to know," Waters asked, "if any of these witnesses are not available to him."

Burnett said neither he nor Ramsey had asked witnesses to come to the courtroom voluntarily.

Subsequent testimony was offered by James M. Bowers, court-appointed attorney for Vessels, who referred to a psychiatric examination of Vessels preceding the trial. Bowers said the examination revealed Vessels had a type of psychosis, but that he could distinguish right from wrong. Bowers said at the time of the trial he did not believe Vessels to be criminally insane.

Sheriff Rufe Jordan testified he had been instructed by the court to take a copy of the Criminal Code procedure away from Vessels. Burnett said this was done at a time the defendant was without counsel, while confined in jail.

Burnett was overruled in request to have George Taft, a chemist for the Texas Department of Public Safety, subpoenaed for testimony as well as several other witnesses.

"I am not going to issue any processes," the judge said. "This case has cost the state and the county a lot of money. You can do a little of this footwork yourself."

At one point, Burnett told the court that Ramsey was being paid a fee of $150 dollars a day from Burnett's own pocket for his assistance in the case. "I am not receiving one penny for this," he said.

In other exchanges, Burnett charged Vessels' civil rights had been violated with regard to being represented by counsel and being informed of the due process of the law under the sixth and 14th amendments.

City Hall Puzzled Over 'Case Of Disappearing Yule Present'

There was mystery at City Hall today surrounding the "Case of the Disappearing Christmas Present."

Clerks and secretaries of the City Tax Department office staff had chipped in and bought a present for Police Chief Jim Conner.

It was placed under the Christmas tree in the police department.

But, according to the girls in the tax office, the chief says he did not receive a present from them.

It must have been stolen, the chief guessed—according to the tax office employees.

The girls were amazed that a burglar could make a getaway with a Christmas package right smack dab in the police station.

Chief Conner just grinned at their amazement, they said.

One suspects it was a knowing grin that gave rise to the question: did the chief open the package and decline to acknowledge it?

The City Hall Cat was called in on the case and advanced a theory that the contents of the package might have had something to do with it.

Reporter's note: Anyone wishing to know the nature of the chief's Christmas present will have to contact Virginia Romines, Grace Gibson, Louise Dwight or Mary McBride in the city tax office.

medical care and other consumer needs.

November was the month when housewife boycotts of grocery chain stores would have been apparent. But Ross said he doubted the boycotts "had much of an impact on the over-all index for food."

The only indication of a boycott's success was in Denver, Colo., he said, where retail food prices dropped somewhat faster—but not necessarily lower—than the national average.

The average factory production worker's gross pay increased slightly to an all-time high of $2.76 an hour. But the same worker's buying power remained steady from October at $92.82 a week because of the increase in living costs.

The 12-month rise in the cost of living from November, 1965, was 2.6 per cent. The increase since Jan. 1 was 3.2 per cent.

Time for 'Sacred Cows' To Go

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. It is difficult for an American to understand the emotional fervor aroused by a proposition to kill a cow. Yet this is the cause of riots in India. There, in a country where so many millions of people confront daily hunger and possible starvation, the sacred cow is a centuries-old tie with history. To rid India of its hundreds of thousands of cattle is unbelievable to a Hindu. Therefore, the proposal of the government to kill cattle aroused riots, sent so-called "holy men" on emotional tirades which ended in burning of buildings, and the stopping of the already limited transportation.

Texas Baptists Nearing Record In Contributing

DALLAS — Texas Baptists are nearing a record in giving—an average of $1 million per month during 1966—through their cooperative program, a unified budget plan.

T. A. Patterson of Dallas, executive secretary of the 1.7 million-member Baptist General Convention of Texas, disclosed Monday that undesignated funds from the state convention's 4,000 churches and some 400 missions are mounting toward an unprecedented $12 million for the year, exceeding the budget set in 1965.

"There is a strong possibility we will reach or come close to the figure this year," he said. Receipts through the convention treasurer's office of $11 million during November—highest for any single month in history—brought the total for 11 months to $10,893,000. It was reported, Texas Baptists have given another $4.4 million during the January to November period to special or "designated" offerings.

The Cooperative Program, which Dr. Patterson termed "our main line of support for the total program," supports a large number of Texas institutions including some 28 ministries—nine colleges and universities, nine hospitals, four child care homes, three homes for the aging, two academies and a Bible institute.

More than one-third of the Cooperative Program gifts from the Texas churches go for world-wide causes of the Southern Baptist Convention.

tion. It's difficult for a Westerner to understand. Yet, on New Year's Day we ought to consider our own "sacred cows." Once upon a time our forefathers had a limited number of necessities. What we need today is necessary has grown until we confront realities as emotionally as do our Indian brothers.

We know the problem of traffic; we understand the need of using safety belts, and we know the danger of unreasoning speed. We know these things as surely as Indians know the need of food. But speed and our schedules are our sacred cows. We insist that nothing shall interrupt our own plans.

cause we have our sacred cows. We know the dangers to health of air pollution or cigarettes. Reports come to us from government agencies and doctor solemnly tell us of the daily impairment to our hearts or lungs. We cannot say that we are ignorant of this knowledge. Yet sales of cigarettes soar and the government is required to initiate stringent laws to clean up the air of our cities. All be-

We know the results of prejudice and bigotry, for in our own generation we have witnessed some of the horrible costs of that kind of intolerance. We have not yet been able to properly assess a Dabcau or an Auschwitz or really take into our emotions the meaning of an Anne Frank. Yet before we are able to adequately write the stories of these miseries we tolerate the continuance of bigotries and prejudices in our own households. All of us have our sacred cows.

New Year's Day is a kind of clean page in the typewriter, a new start in life and a time if the familiar resolutions. Most of them have been trite and meaningless. Before I smile indulgently at my Indian brethren, or inveigh against their superstition in permitting people to starve and cattle to roam, I will look at my own sacred cows.

It's not time to patch up the old place or just rearrange our prejudices. It's a time for a "New Year." And before you riot before the prospect, consider your "sacred cows."

Walther Leagues Are Going Christmas Caroling Tonight

Members of the Junior and Senior Walther Leagues, the young people's organizations at Zion Lutheran, will go Christmas caroling tonight at 6 p.m. They will be accompanied by any adult members, who also wish to go caroling. Following the caroling, refreshments will be served at the home of one of the members.

The annual Children's Christmas Eve Service will be presented Saturday beginning at 7 p.m. The Service, "Signs and Symbols of Christmas," will include a unique presentation of the meaning of the Christmas tree. Two trees will be used, the Tree of Sin and the Tree of Redemption. Included in the service will be individual and group recitations and the singing of Christmas carols. Christmas sacks will be presented to all children following the service. The pastor of Zion Lutheran, the Rev. M. G. Herring will deliver a sermonette, "The Two Trees."

The regular Sunday morning schedule will be followed at Zion Lutheran on Christmas Day. The worship service will be the climax of the celebration of the birth of the Savior of the world. Rev. Herring will deliver the Christmas message, "Conquerors of Distance, Darkness and Disease." The public is cordially invited to attend the Christmas Eve and Christmas Day services at Zion Lutheran.

Presbyterians To Celebrate Holy Birthday

Members and friends of the First Presbyterian Church will celebrate the birth of Christ at two special worship services this weekend. On Christmas Eve, at 11:00 p.m. there will be a Candlelight Service of cards and candles. The evening meditation will be taken from the wonderful Benediction of Zachariah in Luke's Gospel and Mrs. George Budd will sing "Holy Night" as the special solo.

On Sunday morning, Christmas Day, there will be one Family Worship Service at 10 a.m. and no Sunday Church School. Rev. Hauck will use portions of Zachariah's prophecy and the Gospel according to Matthew as the textual basis for his sermon— "Christmas at the Center." Ruling Elder W. A. Morgan will assist the Pastor with the Worship and Miss Pam Ludeman, accompanied by Miss Harriet Henderson at the organ, will sing "The Birthday of a King" as the Morning solo.

Pious Imagination Not Factual

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International
Many people take it to be "gospel truth" that Jesus Christ was born in a crude wooden stable on Dec. 25, 1 A.D., that he shortly thereafter received gifts from three Oriental kings named Kaspar, Melchior and Balthasar.

Actually, not one of these familiar details of the First Christmas comes from the New Testament. All are the products of pious imagination, and probably are contrary to historical fact.

Take the matter of that wooden stable. It has been depicted so often, in paintings and pageants, that it comes as a surprise to many to learn that the Bible says only that Mary, "laid him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the inn."

Since a manger is a feed-trough, the clear implication of the passage is that Jesus was born in a place where livestock were usually kept. But in first Century Bethlehem, cattle were not sheltered in the kind of wooden barn envisioned by generations of Western artists. They were kept in caves, hollowed out of the soft limestone cliffs.

It is interesting in this connection to note that the tradition of the wooden stable is entirely unknown to Christians in the lands of the Eastern Mediterranean, including Palestine itself. They have always taken for granted that Jesus was born in a grotto.

The assumption that Jesus was born in the year 1 A.D. is the basic premise of the Julian calendar, now generally used throughout the world. This calendar purports to date all events from the birth of Christ. It divided history into two eras B.C. (before Christ) and A.D. (Anno Domini, which is Latin for "the year of our Lord.")

Unfortunately, the Roman monk Dionysius Exiguus, who made the calculations for the Julian calendar in the 6th Century A.D., was not very good at arithmetic. He misplaced the year 1 by at least six years. St. Matthew's Gospel clearly states that Jesus was born "in the days of Herod the king," and indicates that Herod was still alive, and slaughtering innocent babies, two years later. It is well established in historical records that Herod died in 4 B.C., so that Jesus must have been born about 6 B.C.

St. Luke connects the birth with a decree from Augustus Caesar requiring all residents of the Roman Empire to enroll for taxation. Historians have figured the time of this census as somewhere between 9 B.C. and 6 B.C.

As for the date of Dec. 25, that was chosen by the church during the 4th Century, A.D. as a fitting occasion to celebrate the "Christ Mass"—the liturgy commemorating the savior's birthday. The choice seems to have been dictated not by any particular historical evidence or tradition concerning the actual date of Jesus' birth, but rather by a desire to Christianize a Roman revel which marked the winter solstice.

The Biblical evidence plainly indicates that Jesus was born during the late summer or fall. That is the time of year when Palestinian shepherds take their flocks into the field to graze at night. During this period, incidentally, the caves normally used for sheltering livestock are empty, and available for rent to travelers who find a "no vacancy" sign at the inn.

As for those "three kings of Orient," the noted Dutch Catholic scholar, Dr. H.W. Van Der Vaart Smith, points out in his book, "Born in Bethlehem," (Helicon Press, Baltimore), that St. Matthew's Gospel simply refers to "wise men from the East." It does not say there were three of them; that is a deduction later generations have made from the fact that the Gospel lists three kinds of gifts which they brought.

Religious Bravery Acclaimed As Spur To Relaxed Living

Fear has taken such a hold on Americans that they hesitate to speak about their convictions, a writer points out in a leading denominational magazine.

At the same time, he cites the widespread irresponsibility and the trend "to live as if life must be laid out and guaranteed before we will accept it."

Life "is a gift to be used," declares the Rev. James William Morgan in the January issue of "Together" magazine. The apostle Paul, he says, "discovered a certain divine recklessness toward life" which filled him with a trust that "permitted him to be utterly free."

The result, he adds, was a relaxed attitude, plus confidence and bold daring. No one can relax, says the Rev. Mr. Morgan, if his goal is fame, position or reputation, because these may be snatched away at any moment.

He recommends that everyone seek the confidence which stems from such "a trust in God that a person tastes his freedom, experiences a real carelessness, even a recklessness, toward the whole of life and whatever can happen to him or his loved ones."

St. Paul, he reminds readers, "was ready for anything," and all sorts of hard luck and adversity did not bother him. Lots of persons feel that they cannot afford to relax today, Mr. Morgan observes. Such persons are too concerned with acquiring wealth or position. The gifts of "careless rapture" and adventurous daring can never come to a man who trusts in his health or his investments or his reputation," says Mr. Morgan, pastor of the University Methodist Church in Austin. The trouble is that such persons trust in God "only in rare moments of great distress."

"There are no fatal decisions in God's world," he asserts. Nor can people make perfect decisions as responsibly as we can and in the deep confidence that, good or bad, God can use our decisions as a part of his life for us.

"The times in which we live," the Rev. Mr. Morgan notes, "demand a new kind of Christian—bold, daring experimental." He regrets that many persons are afraid to speak up "lest they be called radical, dangerous"—a silent generation. As a result, such people compromise life itself.

God's grace—"the assurance that God has already given us"—permits people to be free even while they are responsible to and for their families, says Mr. Morgan in the article "A Certain Lost Recklessness". Therefore, he recommends that church people make use of enjoyment of deep security and living a full life, relaxed, yet vibrant.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

J. W. DOKE, MINISTER
FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

So many people become so wrapped up in the details and decorations at Christmas time that they overlook the Blessing and the true meaning. I sometimes wonder how many people actually go through the motions of celebrating without even being aware of the real meaning of Christmas in their hearts.

I pity the person who is so busy that he does not have enough time to write out the word Christmas. To me X stands for nothing or the unknown, and when someone writes Xmas they are using a poor substitute for Christ, the Savior of the world.

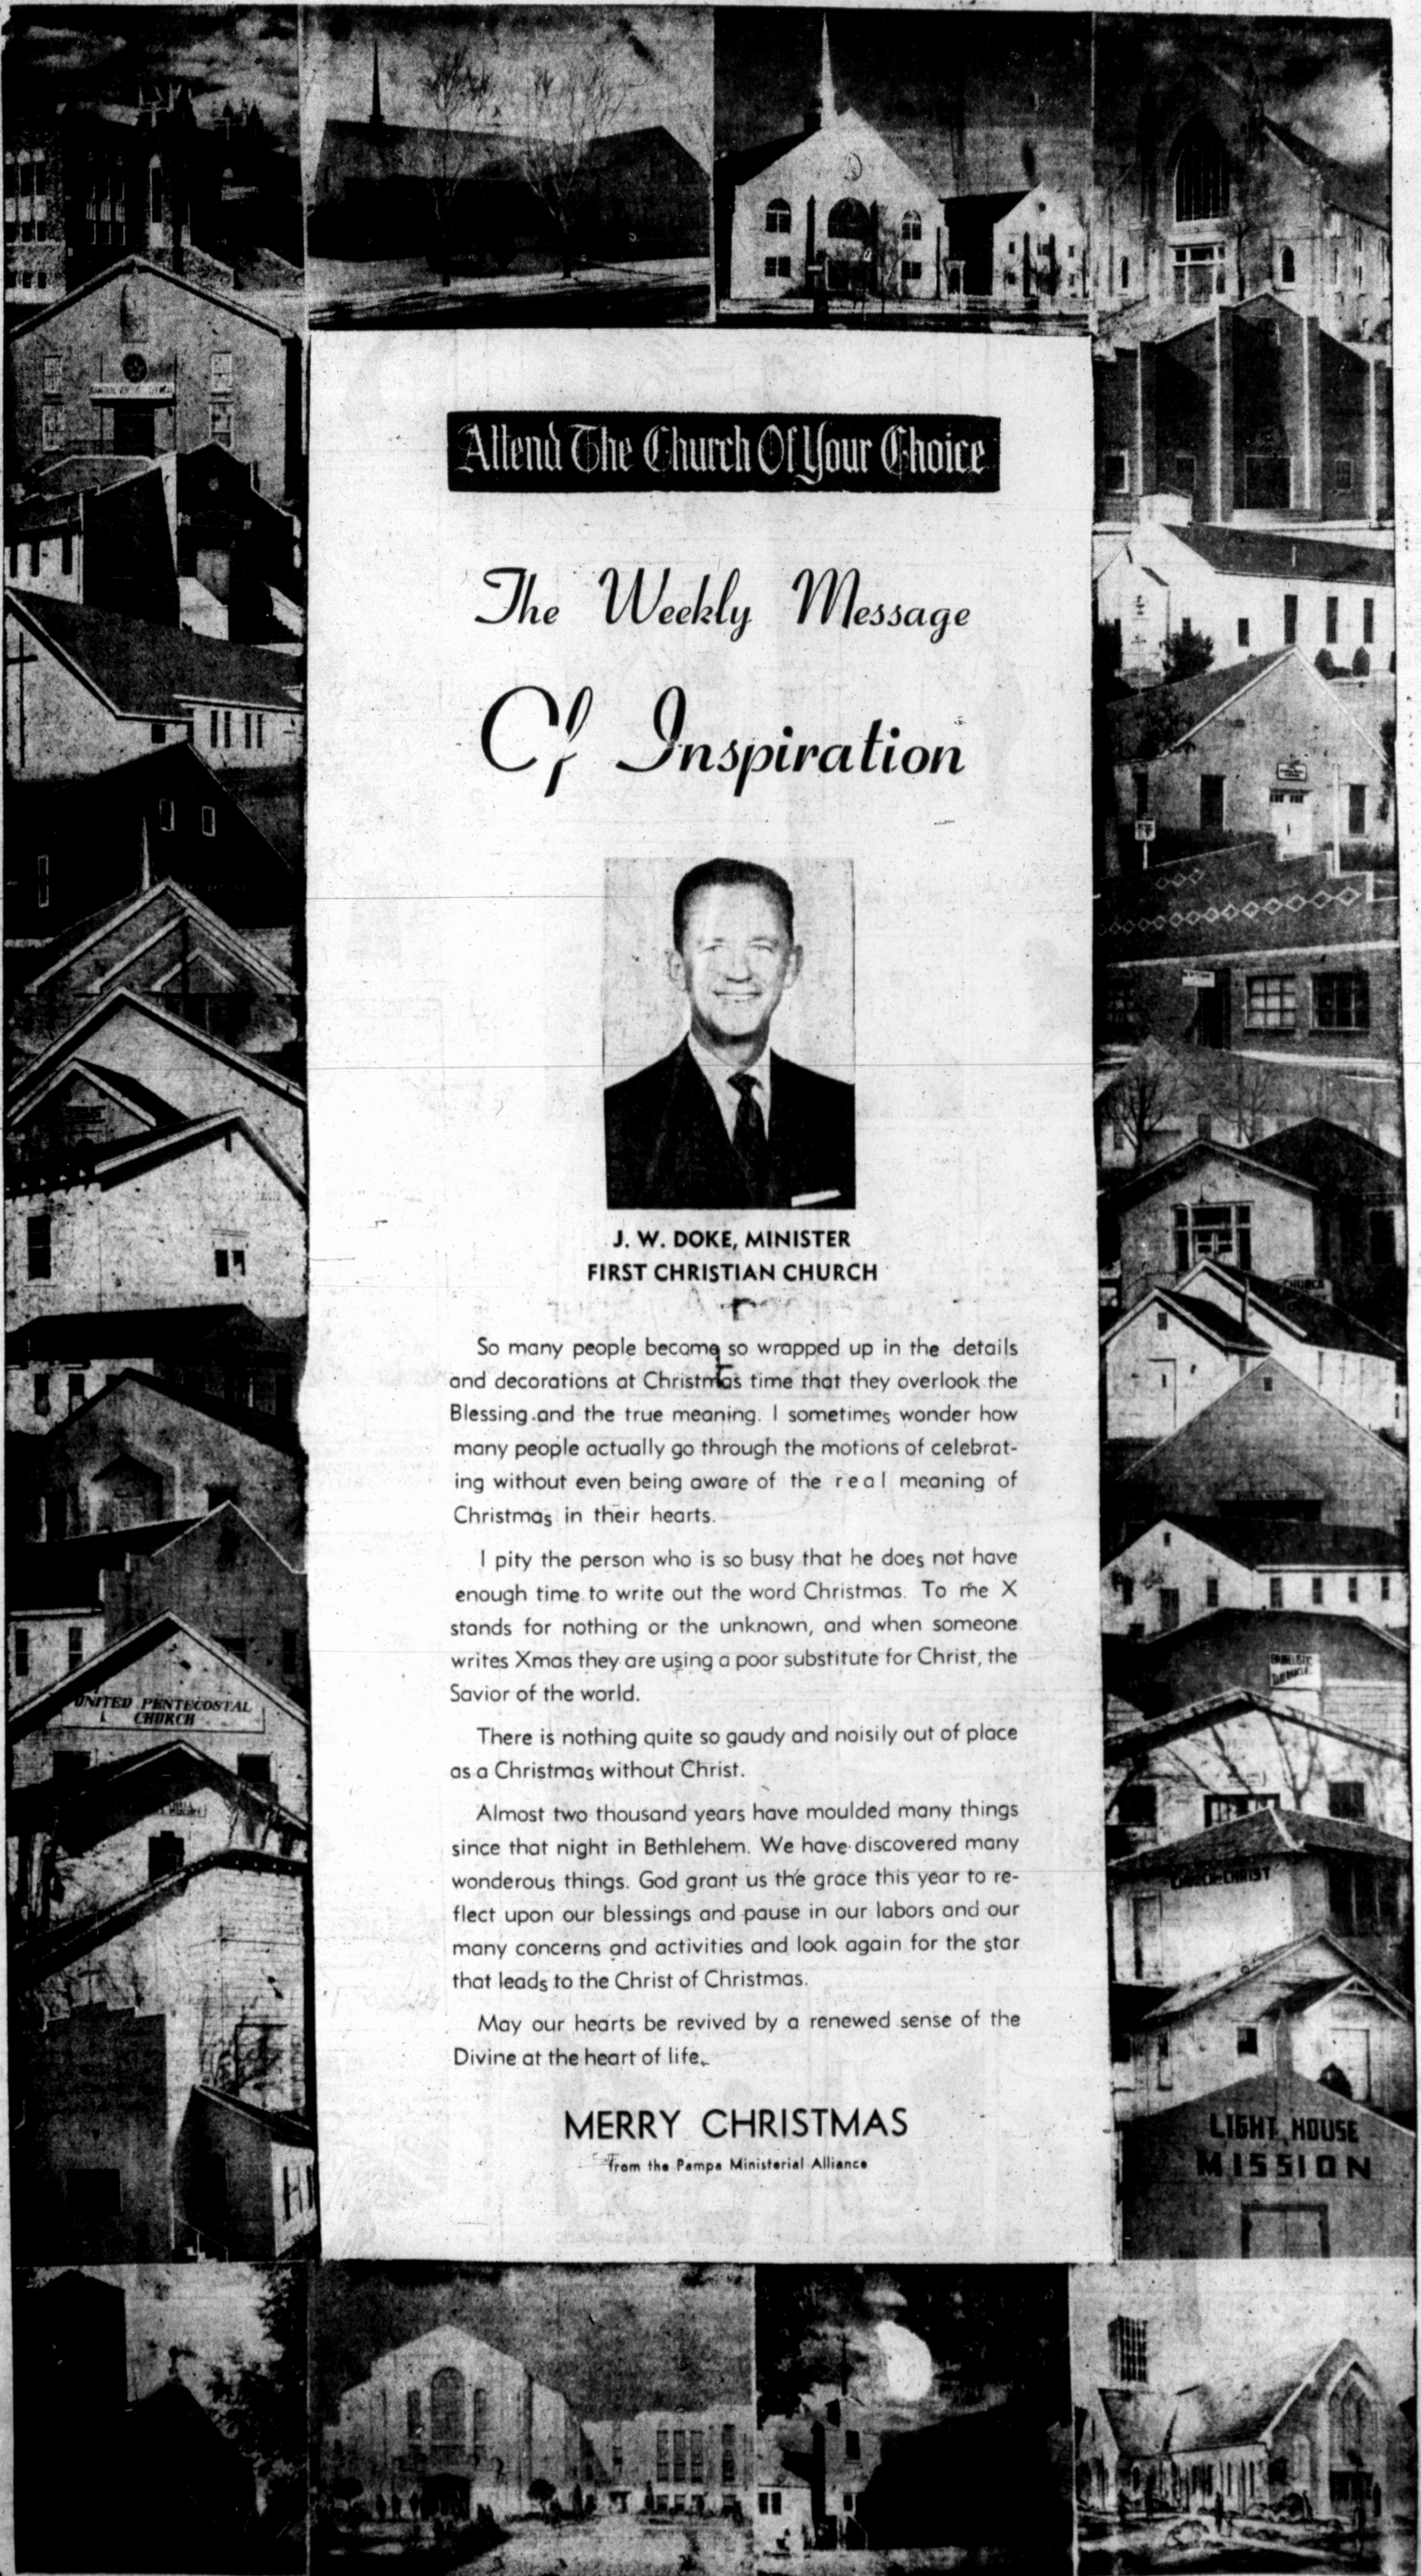

There is nothing quite so gaudy and noisily out of place as a Christmas without Christ.

Almost two thousand years have moulded many things since that night in Bethlehem. We have discovered many wonderful things. God grant us the grace this year to reflect upon our blessings and pause in our labors and our many concerns and activities and look again for the star that leads to the Christ of Christmas.

May our hearts be revived by a renewed sense of the Divine at the heart of life.

Pampa Blitz Bombs Horns, 90-75

By RON CROSS Sports Editor
AMARILLO — Pampa played its kind of game Thursday night and remained in contention for the first half title of the district 3-4A basketball race.

Tascosa kept first place with a 5-0 mark and Palo Duro pulled the upset of the week by downing Monterey, 47-44, to bump the Plainsmen into a tie for third. Both teams threw defense to the winds Thursday and Pampa was glad of it. The Harvesters, in running their season mark to 12-1, hit 54.7 percent from the field, their best of the season but really won it from the charity stripe, downing 32 of 40 free tosses. Caprock hit 48 per cent but connected on only 13 of 23 from the charity stripe. Pampa's 'Big Four' Steve Williams, Rick Foster, George Bailey and Bo Lang found the Caprock basket to their liking and poured in, 23, 25, 21, and 25 points respectively. The game was closer than the score might indicate with Pampa finally pulling away in the final period. The lead changed hands 17 times and the Horns exchanged basket for basket with the ever-improving Harvesters. Junior Bailey kept Pampa in contention in the first period, getting 13 of his 21 points. The Horns led by five at one point but Pampa trimmed it to one when the period ended and trailed only 21-20. Pampa tied the count at 25-25 midway through the second period and took a quick 27-25 lead on two free throws by Williams. After the Horns tied it 27-all, Foster and Bailey bucketed and the Harvesters never trailed until the third period, going in at halftime with a 44-41 margin. But the Horns refused to give up and came back for a 50-49 lead with 6:03 left in the third period. From here the lead switched back and fourth until Foster put Pampa in front 59-58 with just over four minutes to play. Then Pampa hit seven straight shots and led 64-59 when the period ended. The Horns could never recoup and trailed 72-61 with 4:51 showing on the clock and Pampa took their first 10-point margin at 75-65 with 3:45 left to play. Fouls were plentiful this night with Bailey fouling out for the first time this season, midway through the final period and the Horns had two players go out near the end of the quarter. The Horns big 6'7 center Jack Tracy paced his team in scoring with 24 points followed by 5'8 James Duckworth, who added 20. The Harvesters will not see action again until Tuesday when they host Perryton in a non-league encounter and then journey to Hobbs, N.M. Wednesday or a three-day tournament. Pampa's Shockers remained unbeaten in league play and won their 12th game in 13 outings by ripping Caprock 65-57. Jim Hollis paced the scoring with 24 points and Mike Sublett added 14.

Passing Eyed In Blue-Gray

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Two of the best passers in the nation will lead all-star teams from North and South into action Saturday in the 28th renewal of the Blue-Gray charity game. Virgil Carter of Brigham Young, with 173 completions for 1,886 yards, and Terry Southall of Baylor, with 141 for 2,182 yards, will be the starting offensive quarterbacks in the nationally televised game which only 25,000 can see at first hand.

The kickoff in small Cramp-ton Bowl is set for 1 p.m. CST. The North head coach is Glenn Dobbs of Tulsa, a firm believer in throwing footballs, and the South has Southall's own coach, John Bridgers of Baylor.

The game could equal for excitement last year's contest won 23-19 by the South on a last second touchdown pass by Randy Johnson, now quarterback of the Atlanta Falcons.

Fifty players from 30 colleges will participate, with all the proceeds going to the local Lions Club's sight conservation program and other youth work. There is one big bonus for the players. A number of pro scouts will be in the press box.

The North leads in the series 16-11 and is favored to take No. 17. Yankee recruiters were able to choose many top players in the North while the South was handicapped when such teams as Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi and Florida were invited to other bowl games.

Carter, the nation's leader in total offense this season, will be backed at quarterback by Frank Stavroff of Indiana. The two will pitch to ends Jim Greth of Arizona and Eddie Barney of Iowa State.

Bridgers, in addition to having his own passer, Southall, can call on his own receivers, split end Tommy Smith and flanker Paul Becton, Southall's two favorite targets.

Indians May Be Winner in Sun

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI) — In the movies the cowboys usually win out over the Indians, but the script of the Sun Bowl clash Saturday may not follow those lines.

The Florida State Seminoles are a slight favorite over the Wyoming Cowboys in the match. Just like their forbears, Florida State is expected to go the airways.

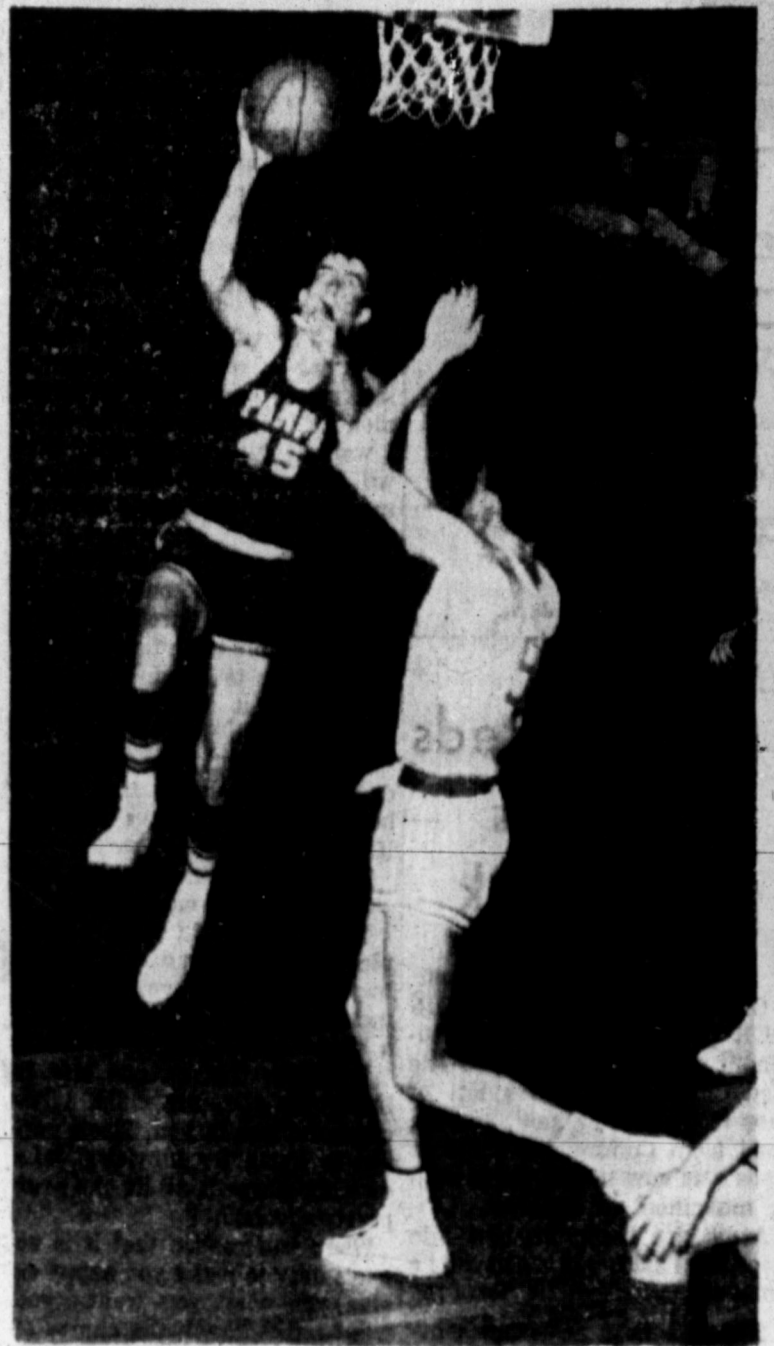

Behind the passing combination of sophomore quarterback Gary Pajala and sophomore flanker Ron Sellers, the Seminoles connected on 187 of 350 passes for 3,467 yards this season.

Florida State's Billy Peterson said Thursday he feared that he will not be able to rely too strongly on his rushing game, despite the good success he has had with it, because of Wyoming's roused ground defense.

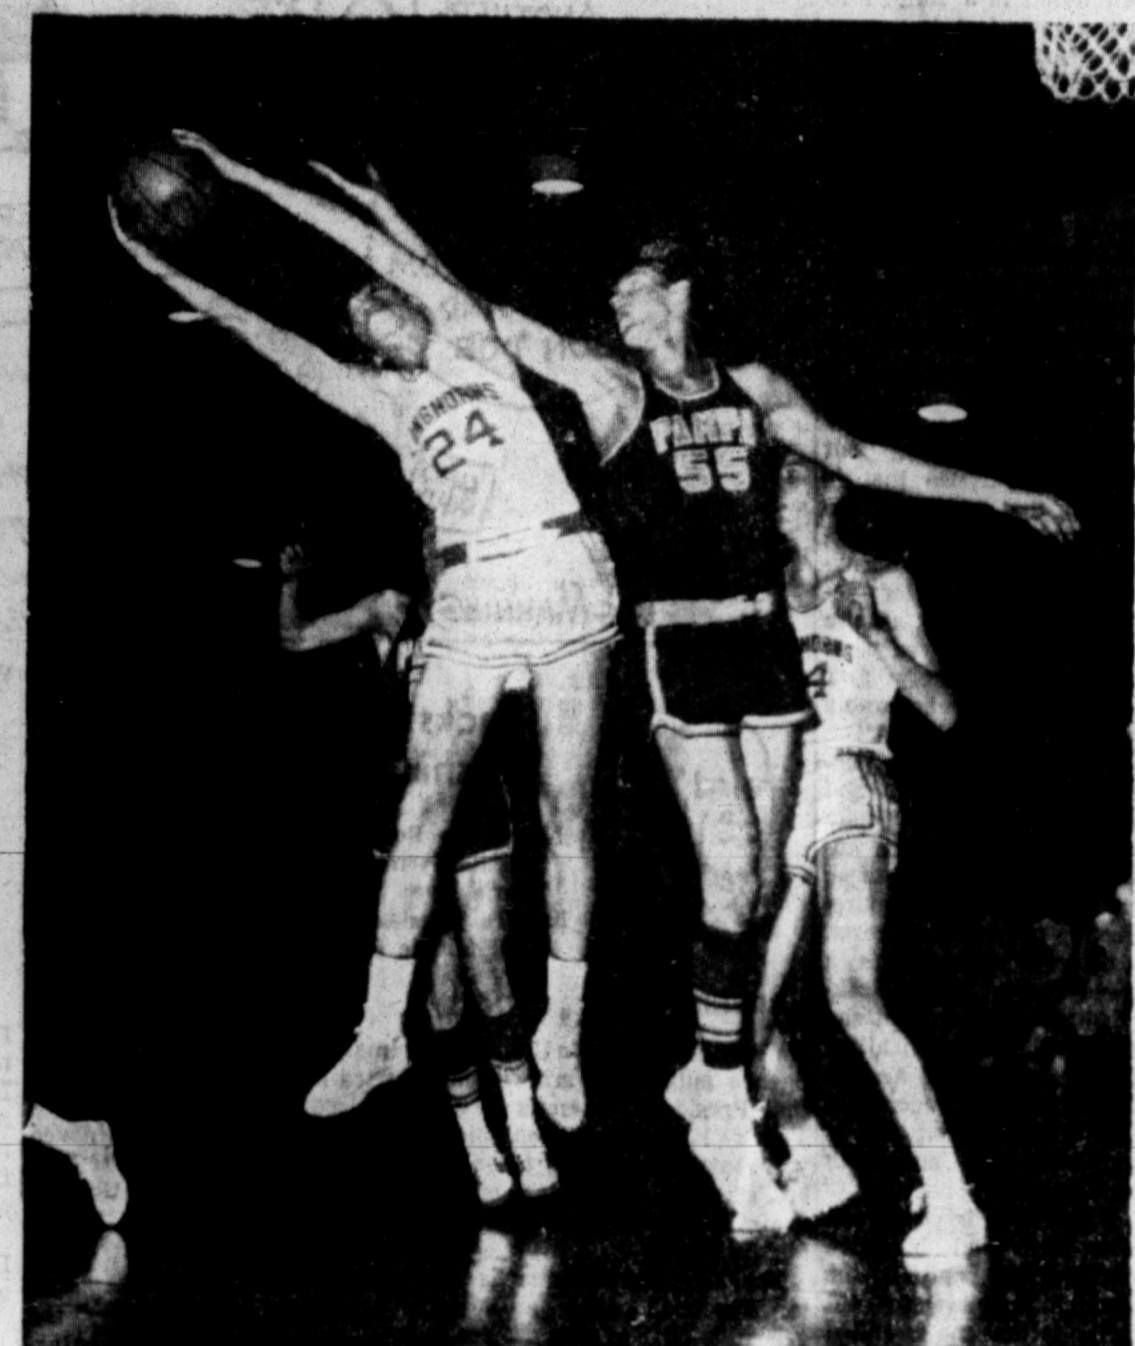

While rolling toward a 9-1 year in the Western Athletic Conference title, Wyoming allowed only 285 yards on the ground, tops in the nation. "If we beat Wyoming, we've got to be able to pass long," Peterson said Thursday.

Both teams went through polishing up practices Thursday afternoon and the coaches said they were pleased.

SEILING DEMOTED
NEW YORK (UPI) — Rod Seiling, defenseman of the New York Rangers of the National Hockey League, was assigned by the club Thursday to the Baltimore Clippers of the American Hockey League. In 12 games for the Rangers this season, Seiling, 22, had scored one goal and made one assist.

CARLOS ADDS TWO — Johnny Carlos (45) drives in for a layup Thursday night against Caprock. Carlos made the shot and was fouled by Joe Jones (50) and connected on the free throw. The Harvesters ran their district record to 4-1 with a 90-75 victory.

Namath to Undergo Surgery

By MILTON RICHMAN
NEW YORK (UPI) — This is a Christmas story about a boy and his mother. The boy is Joe Namath, the New York Jets $400,000 quarterback with a reputation for being one of the biggest swingers in sports. Girls like Joe and he likes them. He has one special favorite, who means much more to him than all the rest of the girls put together, however. And she is his mother. Namath's feeling toward his mother, Rose, became all the more apparent when the Jets, due to circumstances beyond their control, were forced to announce prematurely Wednesday that their star quarterback will undergo surgery on his right knee next week. "I asked them not to say anything until Christmas so my mother wouldn't worry," snapped Namath when told the Jets already had made the announcement. "You're damn right I'm mad."

Th next thing Namath had to do was tell his mother and he did in their home at Beaver Falls, Pa., where he grew up and now is spending the holiday with his family. "She's upset now," said Joe when reached by telephone. "I wish they would have waited until at least after Christmas." Reams and reams have been written about his mother, who hardly anything ever has been written about his mother, who was instrumental in nurturing her son's love for all phases of athletics. "She encouraged his sports career and attended most of the games he played," said one Beaver Falls resident, who knows Joe and his mother more than 20 years. "Joe says he never wanted to work in a mill, but he always comes back to see his mother in Beaver Falls." His mother also has visited him here in New York since he joined the Jets and more often than not, two hours after the ball game was over at Shea Stadium, the girl he put his arm around and took home was her. Exhibition Blamed There is a feeling among the Jets that Namath's latest knee trouble all goes back to a pre-season game with the Houston Oilers in Birmingham last Aug. 13. Matt Snell fumbled for the Jets and Ernie Ladd recovered for the Oilers. Ladd moved in behind his blocker, Dan Floyd, who headed straight for Namath, the only Jet defender in front of him. Trying to play the block off, Namath wrenched his right knee so severely he had to leave the game. It was only the first quarter and he never got back into the game, which was being televised. "Can this game be seen in Beaver Falls?" Namath anxiously asked Frank Ramos, the club's director of publicity. "No," said Ramos. "It's only shown in the New York area." "I can't want my mother to worry," explained Namath. "She's liable to think I'm badly hurt." Only the other day, a press agent who knew of Joe's way with the ladies, phoned him at his local apartment. The press agent wished to send some perfume by wire to a number of Namath's girl friends—in Joe's name of course. Namath was in Beaver Falls, though, and one of his friends answered the phone. The press agent told the friend what he had in mind and asked him the names of some of Namath's favorite girls. "He has only one," said the friend. "His mother." Joe doesn't know it yet, but the perfume is on the way to her now.

OOPS, WRONG GOAL

Alcindor Paces UCLA, 84-74

By United Press International
Mike Rolf had two for the road and Lev Alcindor provided the chaser. Rolf, a 6-6 senior forward for seventh-ranked Cincinnati, suffered one of life's most embarrassing moments Thursday night when he tipped in two points for the visiting Texas Christian team during a close overtime session. He more than redeemed himself, however, by leading the undefeated Bearcats to an 89-88 victory. Alcindor, reacting smartly to the pressure of his first tight varsity contest, scored 22 of his 34 points in the second half to pace top-ranked UCLA to an 84-74 triumph over ambitious Colorado State. No other teams ranked in the top 10 by United Press International saw action. Rolf ballied the Bearcats out of trouble with a 16-point, 13-rebound performance as Cincinnati registered its fifth last-gasp win of the season in seven games. It was the Bearcats' third overtime victory and two others have been decided by one of two points. UCLA, idled for two weeks by exams after whipping Southern Cal and scoring two lopsided victories over Duke, had considerable difficulty subduing the Rams. Alcindor, the 7-foot-goliath, was held to 2 points in the first half and the Bruins emerged with a 41-34 lead. Colorado State, sparked by 8.2 sophomore Lloyd Kerr, closed the gap to a single point at 65-64 with 6:22 left to play as the Rams battled Alcindor and the Bruins evenly off the boards. But big Lev, the nation's leading scorer with a 37 average, personally took charge of the game at that point, scoring eight of the Bruins next 11 points as UCLA forged ahead 76-66. Kerr scored 18 points, the same number as Alcindor's soph sidekick Lucius Allen. Sonny Bustion contributed 17 to the Colorado cause.

Defending national champion Kentucky, reeling from three defeats in its first five games, turned in its finest performance of the season in routing previously undefeated Oregon State 96-66 and reached the final round of the Kentucky Invitation Tournament. The Wildcats opponent in Friday night's final will be towering Kansas State, an 83-59 victor over Penn State. Michigan remained unbeaten at home by topping Ohio University 86-80 as Jim Pitts and Bob Sullivan combined for 44 points. The Wolverines, 4-3 over-all, outbounced the Bobcats 49-43. In other games on a sparse national schedule, Rutgers ripped Pitt 87-68. Loyola (La.) remained undefeated by edging Washington, 88-87. Southern Methodist mauled Arlington State 101-82. St. Joseph's (Pa.) nummled Jacksonville 81-63 and North Texas State crushed Northeast Missouri 80-54.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The big question that faces the University of Southern California is whether the Trojans can make a fresh start Jan. 2 in the Rose Bowl against Purdue University or just continue from where they left off in the regular season. Coach John McKay is confident his team will turn away from thoughts of the disastrous finish of the regular season and star anew in the new year. Southern California won the Rose Bowl bid from the Pacific Eight despite losing its final conference game to crosstown UCLA. And then followed the debacle against Notre Dame, with the Irish winning 51-0, the worst defeat in Trojan football history. Until those final two games with UCLA and Notre Dame, the Trojans were impressive, even though they had been upset, 10-7, by Miami of Florida. With the loss through graduation of Heisman Trophy winner Mike Garrett, the Trojans were without a superstar. McKay, however, had an experienced squad on the whole and Southern California began showing its mettle from the opening game. Led by senior quarterback Troy Winslow, the Trojans showed a national television audience their might by edging the University of Texas 10-6 in a thriller. A powerful defense was the bulwark of the team and offensively USC had excellent receivers in end Ron Drake, flanker Rod Sherman and hard-running back Don McCall. Collect Five Wins After an easy 38-3 win over Wisconsin, the Trojans blanked Oregon State 21-0 and then in a hard contest edged a fired up Washington team, 17-14, in a key win. USC rolled to its third conference triumph over Stanford, 21-7, before defeating a strong Clemson team, 30-0. But then the Trojans traveled to Miami and the powerful Hurricanes capitalized on their defense and a few breaks for the upset victory in which Winslow suffered his first of several injuries. Southern California, as it eventually turned out, won the Pacific Eight championship the following week, beating California 35-9. McKay gave the Trojans the Rose Bowl bid despite the loss to UCLA. Southern California was the defensive leader of the coast statistically, finishing first in total defense and rushing defense but dropping to fourth in passing defense, chiefly as a result of the Notre Dame clobbering.

Packers, Dallas Head UPI Star List for Pros

NEW YORK (UPI) — Defensive specialists dominated the individual balloting today and the Green Bay Packers staged the most players in the 1966 United Press International National Football League all-star team released Thursday.

The Packers, Western Conference champions and seeking their fourth league crown in six years, placed five men on the defensive team and three on the offensive unit as they easily outdistanced the other teams in the balloting conducted by three sportswriters and broadcasters from each of the 15 NFL cities. The Dallas Cowboys, Eastern Conference Champions, named three players to the squad, the Baltimore Colts, Los Angeles Rams and Detroit Lions placed two each and the Philadelphia Eagles, Minnesota Twins, St. Louis Cardinals, Cleveland Browns and Chicago Bears each tabbed one. Herb Adderley of Green Bay and Larry Wilson of St. Louis, both wizards on defense, topped all vote getters in the balloting. The offensive squad is highlighted by Chicago's sensational Gale Sayers, who led the league with 1,231 yards rushing. Adderley Chosen Halfback Adderley, a six-year veteran from Michigan State, drew 41 votes and earned a spot as halfback on the defensive team. He was a mainstay in the Packers defense which allowed the league low of 142 points during the season. Wilson, who received 40 votes, topped the NFL in interceptions with 10 and was named to a safety position.

Sayers, the first halfback to lead the NFL in rushing since Steve Van Buren in 1949, captured one of the running back slots with 39 votes. Bart Starr, Green Bay, won the quarterback spot with 36 votes. Starr topped all NFL passers this season by completing 62.2 per cent of his passes (156 of 25) and having only three aeriels intercepted. Leroy Kelly, the Cleveland Browns' hard-running fullback, gained 21 votes and a first-team berth. Kelly, who scored 15 touchdowns during the season, also picked up 1,141 yards in 209 carries for the Browns to finish second in rushing. Studstill in Backfield Rounding out the first team's backfield is flanker Pat Studstill of Detroit, who drew 26 votes. Studstill was second in the league among pass receivers, hauling 67 passes for 1,266 yards, including a 99-yard bomb. Speedy Bob Hayes of Dallas received 35 votes and won the balloting race for the split end spot. Hayes' speed, always a threat to opponent defenses, accounted for his 65 receptions this year. He gained 1,232 yards on pass catches and scored 13 touchdowns. John Mackey of Baltimore, with 37 votes, won the tight end nod with Jerry Kramer of Green Bay and John Gordy of Detroit nailing down the offensive guard spots. Kramer drew 17 votes and Gordy 12. Bob Brown, 280-pounder with the Philadelphia Eagles, and Forrest Gregg, Kramer's blocking mate for the Packers, were near run-away choices for offensive tackles. Brown received 32 votes, and Gregg 25, nearly twice as many as their nearest rivals. Tinglehoff at Cnter Minnesota's Mick Tinglehoff got 25 votes for centering honors. Only Gregg, Tinglehoff and Sayers are repeaters from the 1965 UPI all-NFL offensive squad. But, on defense, the story was reversed—seven players repeated, most of them by wide vote margins.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities. We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

LBJ's Batting Average

President Johnson this year received 55.8 per cent of his specific requests for legislation from the same Congress that had granted him a record-breaking 68.9 per cent in 1965. Congressional Quarterly compiled the presidential boxscore by recording Johnson's specific requests for legislation as they appeared in 55 messages, letters, speeches, and other documents. A tally was then made of House and Senate approval, disapproval and inaction on each request.

Although Johnson's 1966 score was lower than his 1965 record, it was still among the highest percentages since CQ began its studies in 1954. In that year, President Eisenhower scored 64.7 per cent. His record was unsurpassed until 1965.

Instigating the change in President Johnson's requests between 1965 and 1966 were a number of factors and issues coming to the surface this year which combined to counteract those forces working favorably for the President: huge Democratic majorities in both chambers and his own legislative initiative.

One of the new factors—the upcoming November elections—appeared to influence freshman Democrats in the House, many of whom were elected from normally conservative districts in the 1964 Johnson landslide, to be more cautious in their support for new and expanded domestic programs.

Similarly, the expanding war in Vietnam and an inflationary trend in the domestic economy produced a reluctance on the part of many members to proceed too rapidly with Great Society programs calling for large expenditures by the Government.

While in a few cases the President himself asked that domestic spending be curbed, the tightening of the reins on Great Society programs was more often seen in the qualified response of Congress to Mr. Johnson's requests. The administration, in turn was then forced to settle for partial victories in the final legislative outcome. Examples of requests in which Mr. Johnson had to accept compromises included a far-reaching "demonstration cities" bill. Another qualified victory was a strong water pollution bill which allowed more money than the President sought for sewage treatment

A Law Unto Himself

There's a move afoot to prevent the seating of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell in Congress unless he decides to obey the law just as any other person is required to do.

And the leader is not just another of those nasty "rightwing extremists" but a "liberal" of the first rank, Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin of San Diego.

Mr. Van Deerlin is not opposing the seating of Mr. Powell because Powell has not been a regular resident of his Harlem district in New York, or because he has had his wife on the tax payers' payroll while she lives on a Caribbean island, or that he has cavorted around the world at taxpayer expense. The opposition is based on the quite sound ground that Rep. Powell is holding himself above and beyond the law.

Powell, is the object of a court order for his arrest if he shows up in New York, because he has refused to pay a $164,000 judgment he owes a Harlem woman. In 1963 he was found guilty of defaming the woman by telling a TV audience she was a go-between for gamblers and the corrupt police. He has been

The Psychology of More

Asked why his shop always had more customers than his competitor, a British candy store proprietor replied: "Nothing to it. In the other place they always put too many sweets in the scales and then anti-pollution enforcement powers.

A revised Food for Peace program—changing the scope and emphasis of foreign food aid—failed to carry the long-range authorizations coordinating numerous federal transportation agencies and functions, once again a partial defeat for Mr. Johnson.

Some of the President's more controversial victories came on requests to expand or provide initial funding for Great Society programs authorized in earlier years.

As requested, Congress enlarged the "war on poverty," but wrote in new restrictions on the program's handling. Over major opposition, the President won initial funding for the rent supplements and Teacher Crops programs even though he had to settle for much lower amounts than originally proposed.

For the first time since taking office President Johnson failed to muster enough support for a major civil rights program—the 1966 package designed to bar discrimination in the sale or rental of housing, to provide new federal and state jury reforms and to increase protection for civil rights workers.

Once again the rejection was attributed to changed circumstances, including the collapse of the pro-civil rights coalition and mid-summer racial rioting.

As in the first session the President failed to gain home rule for the District of Columbia, repeal of section 14-B of the Taft-Hartley Act permitting states to ban the union shop, revision of the federal-state unemployment compensation system and reform of the electoral college.

Presidential requests first made in 1966 but not enacted by Congress included extending the terms of House Members from two to four years, reforming campaign spending procedures, establishing a National Water Commission to review water resource problems and authorizing new training programs for students in international health.

Despite the congressional slowdown this year, the November elections showed that Congress still went too far too fast for many of the voters. And many of the freshmen congressmen who became conservatives too late are now lame ducks. It's highly unlikely that President Johnson's Great Society plans will bar anywhere near 58 per cent in the next two years. And that's good.

Clearing House

Articles for this column are preferred to be 300 words or less in length. However, longer articles may be printed. All letters must be signed.

Editor: Once again Louis Cassels, UPI's religion reporter, has exhibited his adroitness at emphasizing the un-Christian on the pages of the nation's newspapers. In the 12-16-66 Pampa Daily News he repeats the charge of Mrs. M. M. Shideler, writing in Christian Century magazine, that we of today's society have forbidden euthanasia, the so-called "mercy killings," because we are behaving irresponsibly. We are too cowardly to take responsibility for the decision and we hide behind what she calls "the convenient slogan" that human life is sacred.

The article depicts an eclectic Mrs. Shideler, who believes our reasons for not killing her sick mother were not good reasons, and that our reasons for killing criminals are not good reasons, either. Mrs. Shideler, and Cassels, also, for lending credibility to her insulting accusations, both would do well to relearn that our conscientious and constantly improving society has drawn the line not between what is practical and what is moral, but between what is evil and what is good. ### BRANDING CHILDREN

A newly-published novel has called attention to an inherent weakness in the government school system — the assumption by the government's employees that they are superior to the parents whose children are in school. While some may claim that this would only happen with the wrong educators, it is more obviously the logical result of a system in which children are coerced into attending school and parents and non-parents are coerced into paying for it.

"If educators cannot carry out their duties in a milieu in which they may feel free from harassment, free from lawsuits, free from vindictiveness on the part of angry parents who may not like some of the things they do in the interest of furthering the education of children, then they might as well desert the halls of education and leave the matter to those who know little or nothing about it."

So says the attorney for the school board in the novel, "The Character Assassins." The presumption is, of course, that the "educators" are carrying out some worthy purpose that is greater than that which parents might be persuaded to voluntarily support. To which an anonymous character in the story replied, "Bunk! If I stuck a knife in your ribs, and told you what I was doing was entirely for your own good, how honorable do you think that would be?"

The story focuses on the practice of including teacher and psychological counselor opinions about students in their cumulative files. Many of these opinions are the result of purely subjective physiological tests. In this work, the heroine is a 15-year-old student who is asked to sign a confession that she had sexual relations with a boy who had already signed a similar confession. Her record is noted to indicate that she is obsessed with sex and with guilt over her act.

Half of the book is concerned with the libel trail launched against the school board by the girl's family. It is brought out very succinctly that the so-called "confidential" nature of the file is impossible to maintain. As a result, the opinions lodged about the students can be very potent forms of character assassination.

While the specific charges raised in a fictional work can always be considered exaggerated, or even imagined, there can be no question that this book is merely demonstrating what can happen in a compulsory government school system. Although the author has made no attempt to show that this sort of thing would happen in free market schools, the examples he has created speak for themselves.

This is author Ezra Joseph's first novel and, in some areas, his style is shy of the right amount of polish. But he has created a convincing story with a pointed message that would make an excellent movie. And his style is certainly fast-paced enough to make you want to read the book in one sitting. Nasser To Boost Soviet Missile System New Year's Eve: Seen As Key To Russian Control Of Middle East

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — U.S. intelligence authorities are warning that President Nasser's New Year's Eve celebration plans will mark the opening of another stage in Russia's sinister arms buildup in the explosive Middle East.

The Egyptian dictator is set to announce that a Soviet ground-to-air missile system is being put into operation.

This is the third weapons system of this kind Russia has established outside of its own boundaries. The other two are in Cuba and North Vietnam.

The Egyptian missile network consists of more than 30 SAM bases. Its complex radar-controlled equipment and launchers will be operated by some 2,000 Egyptians and 500 Soviet technicians.

A study just completed by the Defense Intelligence Agency states this SAM system will be followed by shipments of new type Russian rockets, including intermediate range ballistic missiles.

The IRBMs, similar to those sent to Cuba in 1962, are now on the docks of two Soviet Black Sea ports for shipment to Egypt early next year. These missiles have ranges from 900 to 1,200 miles.

Other ground-to-ground missiles, which can be fired from mobile vehicles, are in nearby storage areas awaiting shipment. Their ranges are from 100 to 600 miles.

Intelligence officials are of the view that the Kremlin plans to use the Egyptian SAM "missile umbrella" as a deterrent to keep Israel or the U.S. from taking counter-measures during the ground-to-ground missile buildup.

In the past six years, Egypt has received more than $2.5 billion in Russian military hardware, ranging from submarines and destroyers to jet bombers and fighters, among them MIG 24s.

Until now, however, Moscow has refrained from introducing IRBMs into the Mediterranean area or any other region outside of Cuba.

POLICY SHIFT—Intelligence authorities consider the forthcoming IRBM shipments to Egypt as a major change in Soviet strategy in the Middle East comparable to the 1962 decision to send missiles to Cuba.

As these analysts see it, the principal objective of the missile buildup is to secure Egypt as an operational base — "To extend the Soviet area of domination southward to the Indian Ocean, gaining the warm weather ports Russia has coveted, along with control of a major source of the world's oil."

"To neutralize U. S. military force in the region. The growing concentration of Soviet submarines in the Mediterranean is considered by the Joint Chiefs of Staff to be an indication that Russia wants to be ready to challenge the (U.S.) Sixth Fleet."

aims to expand its influence in Africa by the same methods being used in the Middle East. This objective can be achieved more easily, they stress, if Russia has bases near the Mediterranean entrance to the Suez Canal and on the shores of the Indian Ocean.

"The long range danger," the D.I.A. study says, "is that Russia will establish itself in the horn of Africa and win control of the Aden straits and Suez Canal and place the oil interests of the West in the Arabian Gulf in jeopardy."

"In Sumalia, on the horn of Africa, Soviet equipment that has been moved in includes 15 MIG17 jets and 35 T34 tanks. On the Mediterranean, Soviet arms are the backbone of the armies of Egypt, Iraq and Syria."

CORRECTING MISTAKES—Another Defense Intelligence Agency study points out that the increase in arms and naval activities in the Mediterranean began after Moscow's backdown in the Cuban missile crisis.

"In the Cuban missile crisis," says the D.I.A. report, "the Russians failed in their objective because they did not control the skies or seas. They learned a lesson from this. They realized that in order to make their influence permanent, their base of operations and connecting air and sea routes must be secured by overwhelming military power."

There also are significant indications that Russia contemplates establishing a ground-to-air missile system in Algeria.

In recent weeks two shipments of crates similar to those used for SAM2 missiles were unloaded from a vessel that brought five MIG17 jet interceptors to Algeria.

With more than 1,000 Soviet technicians in that country, intelligence is closely watching new construction at a base in the Aures Mountains to determine whether this may be turned into a site for Red IRBMs. Nearly all Russian personnel are quartered in this area. No outsiders are permitted within 50 miles of the base.

MORE MOVES — Russia is moving to try to take over control of the copper mines and air fields in Zambia. Two Soviet delegations, first to visit that country since it gained independence two years ago, are in the country discussing this possibility with Zambia officials. Since members of the delegation are seeking residences for more than a year, British intelligence is warning that a secret deal may already have been negotiated.

Zambia has received technical assistance from Yugoslavia, and been promised aid from Red China for the air fields being operated by the British.

The longer we live the more keenly we feel that whatever was good enough for our fathers is not good enough for us.

Chinese Reds Build Laos Supply Link

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

ON THE THAI-LAOS BORDER (NEA) — The Lao lieutenant colonel was worried. The Red Chinese had put a lot of men to the job, he said, and the road from Communist China to Laos was now usable for a major movement of supplies.

Arms are being brought into Laos, he said, in sizable amounts. Some of these arms are moving into Thailand. Some are being transported down to Vietnam.

Peking this now has an alternate road through Laos, both to Thailand and Vietnam. It supplements and bypasses the rail routes from southeast China to Hanoi and Haiphong. These routes are now under regular bombardment.

One factor that can't be discounted in this war is the road building capability of the Red Chinese. They have tens of thousands of road construction and repair men in North Vietnam. They have many in Laos. These men keep the arms moving slowly despite bombings. They build alternate routes when air strikes cut one route too frequently.

Curiously, the arms coming in to Laos and thence to Thailand are not all being shipped to Communist agents.

The Communists apparently are selling them to any anti-government groups they can contact in Thailand, whether Red or not.

The object, apparently, is to push any kind of subversion with the thought that chaos will help weaken the local government and strengthen the Communist underground.

A Thai army guerrilla officer here told me of one of his escapees recently in fighting with Red arms traffic. He'd tricked a Communist gun runner.

The lieutenant had covertly gone into Laos, made contact with the Communists, arranged to buy a truckload of weapons for his "insurgent" group. He made a down payment and set up a contact point for delivery of the weapons just inside the Thai border.

The Communists arrived on time with the weapons. But the Thai lieutenant had set up a trap. He killed some of the Communists, took others prisoner, captured the arms and recovered most of the money he had paid down.

But more arms are getting through than are being captured. The Thai-Laos border is too long for the man-short Thai border police to cover.

HUNT FOR TRUTH

By H. I. HUNT
SECRETARY OF STATE DEAN RUSK

In 1950 Dean Rusk, an employee of the State Department identified as active in the Institute of Pacific Relations, was promoted to the position of Assistant Secretary of State for Far Eastern Affairs. He served in this post through the crucial months of the Korean War, and was influential in shaping a policy which General Douglas MacArthur called a "catastrophic blow to the hopes of the free world."

On November 6, 1950, General MacArthur was prepared to launch a bombing mission to knock out strategic Yalu River bridges connecting Korea with Manchuria. Whether he was to be allowed to carry out this mission was to be a White House decision.

In his memoirs President Truman tells of a conference with the Secretary of State and the Defense Secretary. Truman wrote: "Assistant Secretary of State Dean Rusk pointed out that we had a commitment with the British not to take action which might involve attacks on the Manchurian side of the river without consultation."

At the urging of Dean Rusk, the bombing mission was cancelled just 80 minutes before the planes were to take off. After entering a vigorous protest, General MacArthur was allowed to bomb the bridges, with the stipulation that he was not to enter the air space to the west and north of them or to hit any other strategic points on the other side of the Yalu from which the communist armies were operating.

This was the "privileged sanctuary" policy established. And now, with the U.S. fighting communists in another divided nation, Vietnam, Dean Rusk is Secretary of State.

The American Way

By HARRY BROWNE
To my 5-year-old daughter:

It's Christmas and I have the typical problem of trying to know what to give to you. I know there are many things you might enjoy — games, books, clothes.

But I'm very selfish. I want to give you something that will last more than a few weeks or months in your mind. In fact, I want to give you a gift that will perhaps lead you to think of me on every Christmas to come in your life.

I have finally realized that if there were only one thing I could give you, I would want it to be a simple truth that took me many years to learn. If you can understand it now, it may enrich your life in hundreds of ways. And it may prevent hundreds of problems that have hurt people who have never learned it.

The truth is simply this: No one owes you anything. Now, how could such a simple statement have any great importance? And yet, the deep meaning behind it can bring you a thousand blessings.

It means that no one else is living for you, my child. Because no one is you. Each person is living for himself; his own happiness is all he can ever personally feel.

When you realize that it is no one's duty to make you happy or give you what you want, you will be freed from the chains of expecting what can never be.

It means that no one has to love you. If your mother loves you, it's because there is something special about you that gives her happiness. Find out what the something special is and try to make it stronger in you, so that she'll love you even more.

She doesn't have to fix meals; she wants to. Aren't you proud to know that? If you want her to continue to do so, make sure you're the kind of person that will always inspire her to want to do things for you. And remember that this is an exchange between you — each of you is giving happiness to the other. Neither of you owes anything to the other.

No one has to like you. If your friends want to be with you, it is not because it is their duty to be with you. Find out what makes others happy so they'll want to be near you.

No one has to respect you. Some people will even try to be unkind to you. But once you realize that people do not have to be good to you, and may not be good to you, you'll learn to avoid those who would harm you. For you do not owe them anything either.

No one owes you anything. You owe it to yourself to be the best person possible. Because if you are, others will want to be with you, want to provide you with the things you want in exchange for what you are giving to them.

Some people will choose not to associate with you for reasons that have nothing to do with you. When you know that this is true in a given case, look elsewhere for the relationships you want. Don't make someone else's problem your problem.

Once you learn that you must earn the love and respect of others, you will never expect the impossible and so you will never be disappointed. Others do not have to share their property with you nor their feelings nor their thoughts.

If they do, it is because you have earned these things. And you have every reason to be proud of your mother's love, your friends' respect, the property you have earned. But don't ever take them for granted. If you do, you'll lose them. They are not yours by right; you must always earn them.

It is not easy to sum up in a few words what has taken me years to learn. But maybe if you reread this gift each Christmas, the meaning will become a little clearer each year. I hope so, for I want more than anything else for you to understand this simple truth that can set you free.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT
Both Syphilis, Gonorrhea Curable in Early Stages

Gonorrhea, although usually less dangerous than syphilis, is far more widespread (more than one million new cases in the United States per year) and it may interfere with the recognition of syphilis. It, too, may have serious consequences (gonorrheal arthritis, pelvic inflammatory disease in women with its resulting sterility, heart disease and hepatitis).

The first sign of this disease in men, occurring five or six days after exposure, is a severe burning on urination and a discharge of pus from the urinary outlet especially noticeable on arising in the morning. In women the disease may exist without producing any symptoms at all. The legal requirement that a drop of silver nitrate or penicillin solution be placed in the eyes of every newborn baby to prevent gonorrheal eye infection has practically eliminated this disease as a cause of blindness.

Although both syphilis and gonorrhea can be cured in their early stages with penicillin, a variety of reasons keep the victim away from the doctor. The disease may have caused only mild symptoms, the victim may believe (as is erroneously stated by some teen-agers) that the disease is no worse than a slight cold, the victim may be ashamed to go to his family doctor with a suspected venereal disease or he may be ignorant of the essential facts about these diseases.

Veneral disease can be wiped out only if every person who suspects he or she has had intimate personal contact with an infected person seeks an examination by a reputable doctor immediately.

Q—I contracted syphilis during World War II and was given 10 shots of penicillin. The blood test then was negative. How can I tell whether I am still cured? What would the symptoms be after 25 years?

A—The symptoms of latent or hidden syphilis five to 25 years after the initial exposure are too variable to list. They depend on the part of the body under attack but, in any case, the best test for syphilis in this stage is the routine serologic (blood) test.

Q—if a person pick'd up syphilis five years ago and didn't know it, would he still have it?

A—if the disease has not been treated or was inadequately treated it would still be present in the body but might not manifest itself for several more years.

found guilty for the violation of this ordinance shall be fined an amount not exceeding $200.00.
Section III.
It appearing that the City of Pampa is now in need of an ordinance moving parking from a portion of Hobart Street and it further appearing that the public safety and well-being requires such an ordinance, an emergency is hereby declared and the prescribing two separate readings of an ordinance are hereby suspended, and this ordinance shall become effective ten (10) days after the date of its second reading on two readings this 15th day of December 1966.

ber offices, Hughes Building. Among those dropping in to exchange yule greetings were members of the Pampa Industrial Foundation election committee, from the left, Charlie Thut, Jerald Sims, Roy M. Sparkman and Richard Hankins.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Newton D. Zinder of E.F. Hutton & Co. says that except for a few individual issues, the market probably will not receive the impact of the high-short interest until the Dow-Jones industrial average can move above the $20-$30 resistance zone where it has failed in the last three rally attempts. The analyst says only then will the bears concede that the major trend of the market is not with them.

Moody's investors service says while technically the market looks strong, adverse fundamental news has brought some easiness into the list. This factor, with growing indications of an economic slowdown and cautionary forecasts for 1967, will limit over-all market gains for some time.

FEET SOLID TOO

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The strong arm of the law Thursday gave tourist Donald Nasser of Westmount, Quebec, a ticket for failing to curb his car's wheels on a hill.

The arm belonged to officer Robert Mueller who moments before had placed his 200-pound frame in front of Nasser's rolling car and stopped it.

Compensation To Go Up For Servicemen's Dependents

January 1 will bring an increase in monthly compensation payments to parents and children of servicemen and veterans who die of service-connected causes, according to Jack Coker, manager of the Veterans Administration regional office in Waco.

Legislation calling for increases in dependency and indemnity compensation rates was signed into law by President Johnson on Nov. 3.

Monthly payments for children will be increased from $77 to $80 for one child; from $110 to $115 for two children; from $143 to $149 for three children, and from $28 to $29 for each child in excess of three.

Changes in income deductions for parents were made in the new law to bring it into line with the pension and income rules for veterans' widows.

Pairsh Completes Infantry Training

Army Private Preston R. Parsh Pairsh 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Welby R. Pairsh, Rt. 3, Box 35, Pampa, completed eight weeks of advanced infantry training Dec. 16 at Ft. Ord, Calif.

He received specialized instruction in small unit tactics and in firing such weapons as the M-14 rifle, the M-60 machine gun and the 3.5-inch rocket launcher.

His wife, Dianne, lives at 925 S. Wells.

In 1928, a permanent coast-to-coast radio network was established (by NBC).

AUTHORITATIVE SOURCE

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —

Attorney George Davis, representing lawyer Melvin Bell's fourth wife in her quest to end their marriage, has cited an "unimpeachable" source in his suit — Bell's recent book on Japanese law.

Mrs. Bell, the former Patricia Montandon, has claimed

In 1947, the Northeast was blanketed by a snowfall of almost 26 inches, the heaviest experienced in New York City since the blizzard of 1899.

Belli refused to register their marriage in Japan properly. Davis cited Bell's words in an effort to prove the point.
