Polemical Author Listed as Critical

MIDDLETOWN, Conn. (UPI) — William Manchester, author of "The Death of a President," was rushed by ambulance to Middlesex Memorial Hospital in critical condition early today.

One source said the writer was suffering from "high fever, possibly pneumonia," but the hospital refused to confirm this, saying only that Manchester was "undergoing observation."

"He is in critical condition," said Frank Conkin, a spokesman for the hospital. He was admitted shortly before 1 a.m.

In early 1965, Manchester suffered a breakdown attributed to overwork and was hospitalized for a month. At the time he had been working at a hectic pace, often 16 hours a day, on "The Death of a President."

Almost an unknown just a few weeks ago, Manchester soared to national prominence recently when Mrs. John F. Kennedy filed suit against him charging the author with breach of contract and betraying her confidence.

The former First Lady's lawyers last week reached an out-of-court settlement with Look Magazine, which purchased the first serial rights to the book for $665,000. Look agreed to delete about 1,600 words recounting several "personal" recollections of Mrs. Kennedy. Negotiations with the book's publisher, Harper & Row, were continuing today. The work was scheduled to be published in book form in early April.

U.S. Women 'Shocked' At Bomb Damage

TOKYO (UPI) — Four American women have arrived in Hanoi at the invitation of the Communists and have expressed "shock" at the damage in the North Vietnamese capital from American air strikes, Radio Hanoi said today.

A Communist broadcast monitored here said the Americans arrived in Hanoi Dec. 22 "at the invitation of the Vietnam Womens Union."

All members of anti-administration peace groups in the U.S. the women were identified as Mrs. Patricia Griffiths of Ithaca, N.Y.; formerly of Corpus Christi, Tex.; Mrs. Grace Newman of the Bronx, N.Y.; Miss Barbara Deming of Wellfleet, Mass.; and Mrs. Diane Bevel, from Chicago.

The broadcast said the women had visited areas inside and outside the city struck by recent American air raids. (The U.S. has denied ever bombing inside the Hanoi city limits.)

"The delegation has seen populous residential quarters, pagodas, schools and hospitals destroyed by American aircraft. It has also visited many victims of U.S. bombings, most of them children."

Toll Still Mounting In Worst Air Crash Of War in Vietnam

DA NANG, South Vietnam (UPI) — The official death toll in the Vietnam war's worst air disaster rose to 111 today as grim American Marines recovered more bodies from the charred Vietnamese village of Binh Thai.

The dead included 107 Vietnamese villagers and the four American crewmen of the Flying Tiger CL44 cargo plane that mysteriously went off course and smashed through the tiny hamlet on Christmas Eve.

U.S. officials said another 18 persons were wounded and 20 others still were missing.

Heavy Fog
The four-engine plane, carrying GI clothing from Japan, was attempting a radar-controlled night approach landing at the giant Da Nang airbase nearby in heavy fog.

The search for bodies continued today.

"There are people with no arms, no hands, no legs," said Marine Lance Cpl. Alfred E. Johnson of Pittsburgh.

Johnson was a member of a Marine combined action team that has lived for several months on the edge of Binh Thai hamlet, a cluster of hatched huts housing 1,500 Vietnamese some 3,000 yards from the busy jet runways at Da Nang.

Behind Johnson lay a blackened propeller, a twisted bedstead, huge piles of rubble and the cockpit section of the cargo liner—split open like a dead fish and flipped on its back.

Johnson and two of his buddies were among the first to reach the hamlet Christmas Eve during the fiery minutes after the CL44 undershot the runway and cut a 300-yard swath through 66 of Binh Thai's thatched-roof huts.

Johnson said he was sitting with a number of other Marines in their tiny compound about 100 yards from the village when the plane hit.

Christmas Eve
"It was Christmas Eve," he said, "and we were all talking. We heard a scraping, and all of a sudden there was a big light and flames."

"It lit up the whole side of the area. Me, Corporal Hellis and the doc went up there. We saw the flames. There was a helicopter. Then we started dragging out the dead ones," Johnson said.

The "doc" was hospitalman 3-C William Millar of Walathea, Wash. His eyebrows were singed and he wore dark glasses today because his eyes were still inflamed from the smoke.

"There were a bunch of flames up there," Millar said, pointing to where the main wreckage lay at the end of a long furrow.

"Back here, the Vietnamese were running around, grabbing us by the arm and asking us to take out their people."

"Two babies were up there still alive. That's why we went up there."

"It was morbid," said Lance Cpl. Leonard K. Hellis of Memphis, Tenn. "You couldn't walk without hitting a body."

"Many of them were babies—one, two or three years old."

Post Offices Survive Record Volume of Christmas Letters

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Christmas really came today for the U.S. Post Office. The handling of a record nine billion holiday cards, letters and packages is now completed.

Hardly a hitch was recorded in the delivery of the holiday mail which Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien boasted was service, topping anything in the past, despite a 9 per cent increase in the volume of items handled.

There were no major breakdowns anywhere, he said in a nationwide television appearance (Issues and Answers—ABC), and a bottleneck in Chicago was bypassed to avoid difficulties that arose earlier this year.

"We had a little bit of weather here and there that caused some difficulties, but nothing serious," O'Brien said. His good cheer was tempered, however, with a report that the department would run a $600 million deficit this year.

Consider Rate Increase
O'Brien declined to say whether he would seek a postal rate increase or what classes of mail might be affected. He repeated his earlier statement that an increase was under "serious consideration."

O'Brien did tell one questioner that an increase in the five-cent rate for first class mail was possible.

O'Brien said the delivery of mail was a "smooth operation" in Chicago this Christmas, where mail piled up so deep in October that it threatened a complete breakdown.

The postmaster general said one reason for the ease with which the mail flowed was that some of it was diverted around the bottleneck caused by the "inadequate facility" in Chicago.

Check Key Cities
A check by UPI of key post offices across the nation bore out O'Brien's claims. Apparently little Christmas mail was left undelivered when mailmen trudged wearily homeward for their own holiday.

In Chicago, Clairborne Bolton, the acting director of operations, said all mail sent to Chicago was delivered or relayed on time. Whatever may have arrived late, he said, could not be calculated until Tuesday.

"This is the cleanest we've ever been," he said. In San Francisco, Postmaster Lim P. Lee said a record amount of mail was handled with no backlog left. With the

Officials Report 122 Red Truce Violations

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. Strategic bombers dropped tons of high explosives on three Communist fortifications today in raids designed to quickly erase benefits derived by the enemy in the 48-hour Christmas truce.

The Guam based B52s were aloft before the truce had ended and exactly one hour after it did they attacked two Communist targets in the Mekong Delta below Saigon. It was the first major blow in resumption of a war which never really stopped.

Christmas Rush Will Shift Into Reverse Tuesday
Spokesmen said the raids were on Viet Cong base camps and supply areas 28 and 29 miles southeast of the capital, an area infested by guerrillas. An hour after the attacks, the B52s struck the same targets with a force that shook buildings in Saigon.

Their third target was far to the north in the demilitarized zone between the Vietnamese. Spokesmen said bombs were dropped on suspected elements of two North Vietnamese army divisions which apparently used the six-mile buffer zone to regroup during the truce.

Air raids also resumed over North Vietnam, spokesmen said. But the only details of the strikes reported was that "normal" bombing raids took place.

Ground action was limited in the south immediately following the resumption of combat. But in one major battle, Australian soldiers reported 27 Viet Cong killed near the coast.

The truce itself brought only a lull in the fighting. Allied spokesmen today reported at least 122 cease-fire violations by Viet Cong. Spokesmen did not use the word "violation," however, but referred to each case as a Communist provoked "incident."

The most dramatic of the incidents took place Christmas Day within two miles of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division camp at Di An where comedian Bob Hope and his troupe were concluding a performance. A Communist force of about 30 men attacked a security patrol and inflicted "heavy" casualties on the Americans, spokesmen said. The U.S. unit had about 7 to 18 men. Hope had lunched with the men only a short time before they went to the base perimeter for guard duty.

Last year, in a 36-hour Christmas truce, a total of 84 cease-fire clashes were reported. The longer pause in the fighting and the increase of combat forces by both sides apparently were factors in the increase. In 1965, U.S. forces (See BOMBING, Page 3) assurance of a man who might have counted them personally, Lee said 213,994,018 pieces of mail passed through the city post office.

Christmas Sleds May See Action

Sleds had a 10 per cent probability of being used today and an 80 per cent probability tomorrow, according to the Amarillo weather bureau.

Snow flurries were predicted this afternoon with a heavy snowfall tonight and tomorrow. It will be cloudy and continued cold through Tuesday. High today was near 30 with a low registering in the mid-teens tonight.

Christmas day in Pampa was a mild 57 degrees dipping to a 14 low last night.

Light variable winds will toss the snow flakes around today and tonight before turning to a northerly brisk 20 to 30 m.p.h. tomorrow.

Yule Death Rate Still Counts Low

By United Press International

The nation's Christmas weekend traffic toll inched toward 500 today. Safety experts hoped the comparatively low rate of highway deaths would continue.

The National Safety Council said today bad weather in the north-astern part of the nation appeared to have held down the number of highway deaths.

The council predicted before the start of the 78-hour period which ends at midnight tonight that 650 to 750 persons would die in the wreckage of smashed automobiles.

United Press International counted 479 persons killed in holiday traffic at noon CST. Deaths in fire and from other accidental causes pushed the total count to 604.

The breakdown:
Traffic 479
Fires 71
Miscellaneous 54
Total 604

California led the nation with 45 traffic deaths. Texas and Ohio were next with 31 each, followed by Michigan and Louisiana with 24 while New York, Florida and Illinois each counted 23.

For the first 60 hours of the weekend, an average of seven persons an hour were killed on the roads, a rate about 20 per cent behind last year's pace which resulted in a record 720 deaths.

"Even if it tapers off to just 10 per cent behind last year," a National Safety Council spokesman said, "it would finish at lower than our minimum prediction."

While guardedly optimistic about the number of traffic deaths for the weekend, the council spokesman feared that many persons were waiting until today to travel homeward.

"We had many traffic deaths Friday (the start of the period) and relatively few Saturday and Sunday. It would be hard to say what may happen today."

But, barring some drastic increase in the rate of traffic deaths, the 1966 Christmas toll should be less than last year's," he said.

State Traffic Deaths Near Grim Prediction

The joy of Christmas Day was marred Sunday as Texas' holiday death toll climbed slowly toward the Department of Public Safety's grim prediction of 47.

A United Press International count for the period starting at 6 p.m. Friday showed at least 44 persons died violently in Texas, including 31 in traffic, four in fires, eight in homicides, one in miscellaneous.

Helen Garcia, 40, of (1704 Ave. 1) Galveston and John Wilson Dorman, 26, of (56 Bluebonnet Courts) Lake Jackson, were killed late Sunday in the smashup of their two autos on Texas Highway 6 near Hitchcock. Officers said it appeared one auto drifted across the center line.

The worst wreck of the holiday period occurred early Saturday on a slight rise on U.S. 75 near Crandall. Five persons were killed when an automobile full of holiday travelers smashed into a pickup truck carrying two teenagers.

Killed were Tommy Webb, 16, of Seagoville; and Ada Baltrip, 73; Charles Lewis Davis, 27; James Howard Perry, 15; and Mary Joe Perry, 12, all of the Leggett community near Houston. (See TRAFFIC, Page 3)

Spirit of Christmas Lingers Over World

By United Press International

Although only a few hours away, the spirit of Christmas past crept over the world today. In the United States, today legally is a holiday—an extension of Christmas Day since Christ's birthday anniversary fell on a Sunday. The one-day buffer between the magic of Christmas and the work-a-day world was used by many to retrace steps taken to be with family and loved ones.

The more than 350,000 American servicemen in Vietnam went back on patrol after a 48-hour truce that was ruptured scores of times by minor incidents.

"So many sorrows, so many evils do not intimidate our prayers but rather tender them warmer and more confident," Pope Paul VI said at the Vatican Christmas Day.

Prayers For Peace
He directed his prayers to oppressed Roman Catholics behind the Iron Curtain and for peace in Vietnam.

"Our good wishes . . . turn to where so many of our children still are oppressed in their legitimate religious freedom."

Johnson Spends Quiet Day With Family at Ranch

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — President Johnson spent an unusually quiet Christmas Day with his family at the ranch.

Apparently in no mood for his exuberant holiday public appearances of past years, the President ventured out only to attend midnight Mass at St. Francis Xavier Roman Catholic Church in Stonewall, Tex.

Accompanying him were his daughters, Luci and Lynda. Luci's husband, Patrick J. Nugent, and Lynda's beau, actor George Hamilton, a holiday guest at the LBJ Ranch.

During the day the First Family also exchanged Christmas gifts. Mrs. Johnson said she received "lots of books." The other gifts were kept secret.

All in all, there was peace on the Pedernales River over the holiday, except perhaps for the 130 demonstrators about two miles down the road protesting the war in Vietnam. The President did not see them.

Relatives and friends joined the Johnsons in an early afternoon Christmas dinner, including the family's favorite roast turkey, both domestic and wild, cornbread dressing with giblet gravy, cranberry salad, sweet potatoes with marshmallow topping and a southern dessert, ambrosia with fruit-cake.

Lynda and her actor boyfriend planned to spend Christmas week at Acapulco, Mexico, probably as houseguests at the palatial seaside home of actress Merle Oberon and her tycoon husband Bruno Pagliai.

Death Rate Lower

The National Safety Council said early today that highway traffic deaths in the nation were running 20 per cent less than a year ago but expressed only a guarded optimism for a relatively safe weekend of travel for the 78-hour period.

At Arlington, Va., the men who make up the honor guard at the tomb of the unknown soldier laid a wreath on the shrine.

"This is the one day — Christmas — when there's hardly anybody ever here. We perform this ceremony for kings, heads of state and premiers . . . once a year we like to pay our own respects," said an honor guard spokesman.

The floods of pilgrims to the holy lands began receding. No incidents were reported as persons crossed the troubled frontier between Israel and Jordan and in Jerusalem something new was added to the celebration of Christ's birthday, children singing Christmas carols.

Censure Rather Than Prosecution Likely for Adam Clayton Powell

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Censure, rather than prosecution and a possible jail term, is the likely outcome of a congressional investigation into the affairs of Adam Clayton Powell, informants said today.

The investigation has produced some damaging evidence, they said, but nothing so far that could produce the prosecution thought likely by Rep. William Dickenson, R-Ala.

Dickenson is a member of the House administration subcommittee looking into Powell's administration of the House Education and Labor Committee.

Those familiar with both evidence against Powell and similar cases claimed some subcommittee members were unhappy with Dickenson's statement. For one thing, they said, he could have at least waited until the subcommittee inquiry was over to make it.

The subcommittee is expected to end its inquiry Tuesday when it hopes to question Powell's estranged wife, Yvette, about what she does for the $20,578 annual salary she receives as a member of Powell's staff.

They are also curious how she can live in Puerto Rico while the law says employees of congressional staffs should live in the District of Columbia.

Kin of Dead Sergeant Is Finally Found

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A Sacramento farm laborer, who said he was the uncle of Army Sgt. Richard Campos, planned to claim the soldier's body from the Army today.

Sgt. Campos, 26, was killed Dec. 6 by Viet Cong gunfire in Vietnam. His body arrived at Oakland Army Depot Dec. 12 and military officials began searching for his next of kin.

The newly discovered relative, Johnny Campos, did not learn of the younger Campos' death until Saturday. He said he had not seen Sgt. Campos for nearly 20 years.

The uncle said he planned to ask for a military funeral and burial. A spokesman for a Mexican-American citizens group indicated Campos would seek burial of his nephew in Arlington National Cemetery.

The discovery of Sgt. Campos' uncle came after the Army uncovered the story of a lonely teen-ager who enlisted in the military after growing up in orphanages, foster homes and juvenile centers.

The Army began a records search in Japan and Korea after friends of the dead man said he had told them he married an Oriental girl while on a tour of duty in Korea.

With the discovery of Sgt. Campos' uncle, a next of kin had been found for all 6,000 U.S. servicemen killed in the Vietnam war.

The North Vietnamese also complained of violations during the latest truce. A Hanoi Radio broadcast said the Communists have complained to the International Control Commission (ICC) that "many flights" of U.S. planes intruded into North Vietnamese airspace during the cease-fire.

There was no mention of bombings, but the broadcast said one of the American planes was shot down. U.S. sources had said during the truce that reconnaissance missions would not be curtailed. Spokesmen also reported a cease-fire flight of psychological warfare planes into North Vietnam.

State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey would say only that he knew that there had been discussions in Taipei with the Nationalist government on the "Manchester manuscript."

Red China Marks Mao's Birthday

HONG KONG (UPI) — Communist China marked the 73rd birthday of Mao Tse-tung today with a militant new call on rank and file Communists to support him and indications Mao's forces had won an important victory over President Liu Shao-chi in the purge of anti-Mao elements.

The Japanese news agency Kyodo reported from Peking that the Communist Chinese president, considered a leading opponent of Mao, had publicly confessed his faults and pledged allegiance to Mao and Defense Minister Lin Biao, heir apparent to the Communist party chairman.

A poster detailing Liu's 3,000 word confession appeared today on Peking walls. The beginning of the poster described the confession as "routine" however, and indicated the struggle for power between Mao and Liu was not finished.

Further Evidence
Further evidence of the continuing power struggle and purge of the Chinese euphemistically call "cultural revolution" came today in an editorial in the Peking Peoples Daily, organ of the Chinese Communist party.

The editorial urged workers in factories and shops to destroy corrupt Communist party cells and reorganize them under the party's new "cultural revolution" groupings.

The editorial made clear the

Oil Company, Schools, Reach Tax Agreement

WHITE DEER — An out of court settlement was reached in the injunction suit filed by the W.A.C.H. Oil Co. against the White Deer Independent School District.

The oil company asked the injunction to stop collection of taxes claiming the local school district and Carson County used a fraudulent method of assessing taxes; therefore, making the oil company taxes excessive.

At a combined meeting of the school board, the commissioners court, the firm of Pritchard and Abbot, the valuation engineers, it was determined the original tax valuation of the oil company was in error.

After a review of more recent valuations on the property in questions, all parties concerned agreed to a settlement out of court using the later valuation figures for the 1966 taxing purposes.

purge and power struggle among the top party leadership in China was also raging at the party's roots.

At the very top was Liu, who had been publicly labelled a leader of an anti-Mao reactionary force and was believed by many professional observers here and in Tokyo to be the main target of the current purge.

Burglar Nets $1200 Cash

Over $1200 in cash and groceries were reported taken in a burglary between 9 p.m. Christmas day and 5:55 a.m. today. A Pampa police report stated that Charles A. Wedgworth, owner of the Stop and Shop Grocery, 940 E. Frederic, reported the burglary.

Wedgworth said that a burglar entered the store by cutting the screen on the front door and breaking out the door glass. Approximately $700 in $20 bills and $250 in $10 bills was taken along with $300 in cigarettes and $33 in hams. Other grocery items were also taken.

Resident Is Electrocuted

Joe James, 23, a temporary employe at the Pampa Foundry, was electrocuted Saturday while hunting rabbits near Hollis, Okla.

He and his hunting companion, Charles Ray Campbell, 14, a brother-in-law, chased a rabbit into an irrigation pipe. When they picked up the pipe to get the rabbit out, the pipe struck a power line.

Funeral arrangements for both are pending with Tim's Funeral Home in Hollis. James had resided in Pampa only a week.

Two Items Top Council Agenda

Ordinances authorizing the re-opening of Thut St. to through traffic and awarding a $718,000 paving contract for the improvement of approximately 140 blocks of city streets will be the main items on the agenda at next Tuesday's meeting of the Pampa City Commission.

The paving contract authorization was recommended at an executive session of the city commission last week.

The Thut street re-opening was recommended to the commission by City Manager Jim White at the last regular meeting of the council.

National Window

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International
The question of who is hurting in the who-bugged-what controversy between J. Edgar Hoover and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy will become visible in the showdown decision as to whether a congressional committee shall investigate the matter.

An old timer who was a Washington hand when Senator Bob still was a very young man has risked a prediction that the young Kennedy will be first to holler, enough! How young is the young Kennedy is best shown by a simple arithmetic. He was all of seven years old when FDR was elected President. Hoover had been around Washington a long time by then, learning the rules, the arts of political karate and the vital need, to use a somewhat vulgar phrase, of keeping his nose clean. So it is that the old timer risked another prediction that this young-man-in-a-hurry is for a humiliating journey to the woodshed.

Look for the congressional friends of Lyndon B. Johnson and of J. Edgar Hoover to press in the new Congress for an investigation of whether bugging by the FBI was accomplished with the knowledge of the then Attorney General. The AG was Robert F. Kennedy.

President Johnson probably will not expose himself publicly as a vitally interested party to the Hoover-Kennedy dispute. By long habit, LBJ has become accustomed to operating in the dark. This is where he probably will be when congressional Hoover-Kennedy investigation.

Johnson will be doubly motivated. First, he is a long-time personal and political friend of J. Edgar Hoover. They used to be neighbors in northwest Washington. The second motivation is Johnson's dislike of Kennedy, Kennedy's dislike of Johnson and the development of a situation in which the Democratic party is not big enough to hold both of them comfortably. In the nicely machined phrase of Scotty Reston in The New York Times, Bob Kennedy is headman of the Kennedy - government-in-exile.

Johnson's attitude toward a government-in-exile is about the same as Napoleon Bonaparte's feeling for the deposed Bourbons. If Bob Kennedy must be fed head first into a congressional investigation and emerges to be carried away in pound lots of ground meat, nobody could be less sorry about that than Lyndon B. Johnson.

How tough a tough guy is Robert Kennedy is about to be determined. Hoover's friends are supremely confident that the FBI has written evidence to support Hoover's position that, in using electronic devices, the director was not guilty of subterfuge or insubordination. In this dispute about who is telling the truth, Kennedy is defending not only his honor but his political future.

Robert Kennedy is not without friends in Congress and Hoover is not without enemies. But on the strength of the form sheet, Kennedy is out of his class in this controversy. This David had best consider his options.

THE TWAIN seem to be getting closer together these days, what with the East taking up in a big way such fads of the West as the latest in fashions and dances. In this case, it's popular Chinese movie actress Tan Mei-li in fancy pants doing some fancy non-Oriental stepping at a Taipei night club party.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
On the floor of the Bosphorus close to the entrance to the Black Sea, a huge steel net stretches from shore to shore ready to trap any unfriendly submarine. Closer to the surface, a minefield also blocks the way.
They are a part of Turkey's defense system, and therefore also NATO's, against the Soviet Union.
Even in peacetime, passage through the narrow waterway dividing European and Asian Turkey is possible only with the help of an escorting Turkish tug.
Back in 1945, the Soviets demanded bases in the Turkish straits and cession of two of Turkey's northeastern provinces. But the tough Turks, with 200 years of experience in resisting expansionist Russia, refused and with the backing of the United States, won out.
This week, Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin arrived in Istanbul, marking the first time that a Soviet premier ever had visited Turkey.
His theme—an expansion of the "constructive relationship" created in the recent years between Turkey and the Soviet Union.
Since 1964 relations between the traditional enemies have improved in almost direct proportion to a cooling of Turkish affections for the United States.

Boos and jeers greeted Kosygin along his arrival route. Some demonstrators tossed Hungarian flags into the path of his automobile as a reminder of the Soviet Union's brutal suppression of the Hungarian revolt.
But the demonstrators easily were controlled, and their violence in no way equalled November's anti-American demonstration against the U.S. Agency for Economic Development (AID) in Ankara, nor of the window-smashing mob of 5,000 that stoned the U.S. consulate in Adana a day later.
There have been other evidences of a steady deterioration of U.S.-Turkish relations despite the fact the Turks have received and continue to receive billions in U.S. aid.
Feeling let down by her NATO allies in her quarrel with Greece over Cyprus, the Turks evidenced their displeasure early with withdrawal of her token force from United Nations forces still serving in South Korea.

B & B Offers Fast And Free Service

The Christmas rush is over. The crowds and problems of finding a parking place downtown has slackened. Just around the corner is the new year. As a custom in this country and every other country in the world, people will be making new resolutions to push ahead with more vigor and effort than ever before.
The homeowner and the parent is hoping to do the things left undone from the summer, care for his children a little better and in general become a better parent and a better and more prosperous member of his community.
These aspirations come to all of us at one time or another. And during these past few months, the entire personnel and staff of B & B Pharmacy, Ballard at Browning, have set their goals to serve their customers with more first class service and more efficient, courteous manners that Pampans have learned to expect.
Their prescription department has another year of experience and expert prescription service behind them. This past year has given them more and better knowledge of the latest in the new drugs and medicines thrust upon the market to care for the ills of mankind. Just when one cannot satisfactorily

Miami Chamber To Sponsor Jr. Livestock Show

MIAMI — Directors of the Miami Chamber of Commerce have voted to sponsor the annual Roberts County Junior Livestock Show next year just prior to the Top o' Texas Livestock Show in Pampa.
It was also voted to authorize Ellis Locke to purchase Roberts County calf at the Pampa show's junior livestock sale.
A financial report and reports from committee chairmen were heard and Roberts County residents were asked to submit proposed projects for the coming year.

Watershed Benefits Are Discussed By McLean Officials

McLEAN — Problems and benefits of the McLellan Creek Watershed were explained here at a meeting of watershed officials with members of the McLean City Council.
The program was presented by Phillip Glazier, watershed leader; Bill Bruce, construction engineer, and Joe Camp, civil engineer.
The McLellan Creek Watershed has its origin in Carson and Donley Counties and runs through the southern part of Gray County.
Purpose of the flood control program, it was explained, is to control silt flow into McLellan Creek as well as to control flood waters at the time of heavy rainfall.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bradbury K. Thurlow of Winslow, Cohn & Stetson believes the Dow Jones industrial average will close but the year in new, recovery-high territory. He feels the mid-month delaying action has increased both caution and technical strength, making it more likely that a final breakthrough in the DJIA will be followed by a longer and stronger rally than expected.
The analyst says it seems that January may be a rather strong month for the market, particularly for those issues that have been heavily sold for tax purposes.
Newton D. Zinder of E.F. Hutton & Co. says the market's reluctance to decline despite some weakness in the Dow Jones industrial average and the support given that key indicator as it approached December lows, greatly improves prospects of the almost traditional "last week of the year rally."

Bache & Co. feels a year-end rally could be instrumental in bringing back to the market gained by tax loss selling beyond the traditional strong final week, the company feels market activity will probably be colored by anticipation of the President's state-of-the-union and budget messages.

Jahns-Stephens Vows Exchanged

Mrs. Larry Dale Stephens
... nee Miss Carol Jahns

Miss Carol Jahns became the bride of Larry Dale Stephens in a double-ring ceremony performed by Dr. Thomas Streck in Matthews Memorial Methodist Church, Fort Worth, at 7:30 o'clock the evening of Dec. 17.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. John C. Jahns of Fort Worth. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Stephens of 1222 N. Russell.

Vows were repeated before an altar appointed with a large floral arrangement and decorated with holly tied with red velvet ribbon flanked by crystal candelabra.

Bridal attendants were Miss Kitty Evans of Fort Worth, maid of honor; Mrs. Larry Balaich, Miss Tuana Taylor and Miss Janie Rank, all of Fort Worth, bridesmaids, and Miss Susie Jacquet of Austin, flower girl.

Rev. Vanderpool Presents TC Cotillion Program

Twentieth Century Cotillion Club met for its Christmas program on Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Ralph McKinney, 2348 Duncan.

Rev. Harry Vanderpool of the First Methodist Church was guest speaker. After an introduction by Mrs. Don Morrison, club president, Rev. Vanderpool explained the meaning of Christmas to him.

Rev. Vanderpool said Christmas was a time of hope. As the day of the birth of the Christ Child, he stated, and the hope (See VANDERPOOL, Page 8)

Miss Brown Is Bride of Jimmy Parker

Dear Abby... A Fine Romance With No Marriage

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with a handsome, intelligent, successful young man for 3 years. He is 31 and I am 27. He says he loves me and I know I love him—of that I am sure. My problem is, I want to get married and he doesn't. He says he doesn't know of one good marriage! Isn't that the most ridiculous thing you've ever heard? We have everything in common and would make an ideal couple, but he says he doesn't want to spoil a perfect romance (ours) by getting married.

He says I am free to date others, but I have no desire to. How can I get him to marry me? I'll try anything.

WANTS TO GET MARRIED

DEAR WANTS: Your "handsome, intelligent, successful" young man is trying to tell you that he can't think of one good reason to marry you. And unless you can come up with one that makes sense to him, you had better be content with a "perfect romance" because, as I see it, that is all he is going to offer you.

DEAR ABBY: I had a premature baby who lived only a few days. We had named him after his father. Well, two years later, I gave birth to another son. He was full term and very healthy. We wanted this child to carry his father's name, so we also named him after his father. My mother-in-law has given me no peace since. First she said it was "bad luck" to name this baby after the one who had died.

I tried to explain that we named our second son after his father, not the child who died. Then she said it was "against the law" to give two children in the family the same name. Abby, will you please tell her there is no such law and to knock it off?

UPSET

DEAR UPSET: Since you've already gone ahead and named the child, your mother-in-law would be wise to keep quiet. But I wouldn't tell her there is no such law until after I'd consulted (a) a lawyer, (b) a clergyman of my faith. (There may be a religious law prohibiting it.)

DEAR ABBY: After 17 years of marriage, my husband finally asked me for a divorce because he was "in love" with another woman. She wasn't the first one he ran around with, but I was trying to raise two children, so I forgave him, pretended not to know what was going on and kept it from the children. It broke my heart to give him a divorce because deep down I guess I really loved him.

The children realize now how much I suffered when they were small because of the way their father treated me, but when he and his new wife invite them for dinners, weekends, and outing they go and enjoy themselves. This is like turning a knife in my heart. What kind of loyalty do you call that?

HEARTBROKEN

DEAR HEARTBROKEN: I kind of like your father. And if he's really their father was the highest bidder.

DEAR ABBY: I don't have any problems, but I would like to see you. (See ABBY, Page 9)

Mrs. Jimmy Parker
...nee Miss Shirley Brown

In a double-ring ceremony solemnized at 7:30 o'clock the evening of Dec. 17, Miss Shirley Brown became the bride of Jimmy Parker. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Brown of Borger. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Parker of 618 Lowry are the parents of the bridegroom. Rev. Staley officiated the ceremony in the Church of the Nazarene before an altar appointed with baskets of gladioli and carnations. A kneeling bench centered the altar. Mrs. Lois Fagan, organist, presented a program of nuptial

"Whither Thou Goest" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal wedding gown of white bridal satin with appliques of alencon lace. The A-line gown featured an empire bodice with decollete neckline outlined with re-embroidered alencon lace, complemented by a white satin chapel train. Her veil of lace edged illusion was secured by a pearl laced crown. She carried a white wedding Bible topped by a cascading arrangement of pink carnations.

Miss Kathy Ball, attired in a pink floor-length gown with empire style and matching bow-coif with brief veil, attended as maid of honor. She carried a bouquet of white carnations. Best man to the bridegroom was Gene Roe. Serving as ushers and candlelighters were Dean Ruff and Tommy Johnson. Following the pledging of vows a reception was held in Citizens Bank Hospitality Room. The bride's table, covered with a white lace cloth over pink, was centered with a crystal bowl holding an arrangement of pink and white carnations. Mrs. Nancy Parker served the three-tiered wedding cake which was topped by a miniature bride and groom. Mrs. Paula Housden presided at the punch bowl and Miss Pat Stuckey attended the guest register.

PRE-NUPTIAL EVENTS Pre-nuptial courtesies extended the bride included a miscellaneous shower given in Amarillo by Mrs. Joanna Clark and Mrs. Betty Roberts and a bridal shower given in the home of Miss Kathy Ball with Miss Susan Root and Miss Pat Stuckey serving as co-hostesses.

After a long run of the unbelted look, fashion's pulling in its belt for spring in some designer collections. Among those showing hinging the waist are Pauline Trigere and Norman Norell, both of New York.

To protect zippers and garments, close zippers before washing.

Rev. Vanderpool continued explaining the meaning of a newly coined word, serendipity, which means unexpected good fortune. He stated one must be able not only to seek serendipity but also to recognize it as well.

In appreciation of the program Rev. Vanderpool was presented a gift of candies and cookies by the club.

Member's Home Scene of HD Club Yule Party

The festively decorated home of Mrs. Max Louvier was the scene of Worthwhile Home Demonstration Club's annual Christmas party recently.

Mrs. Ray Robertson entertained those present by giving a Christmas reading.

Miss Jimmie Lou Waincott, Gray County home demonstration agent, installed officers for the coming year.

Gifts were exchanged from a decorated tree.

Enjoying the event were Mmes. Ray Robertson, O. G. Smith, N. B. Cude, J. C. Payne; Roy Tinsley, W. G. Kinzer, J. L. Carlton, Boyd Brown, Max Louvier and Miss Jimmie Lou Waincott.

Atkinson, Kenneth Royse and the hostess.

SWC Teams 'Fair' Against Outside Basketball Teams

By United Press International
Southwest Conference basketball teams, which have won just a shade over half as many games as they have lost so far this season, may not fare much better this week as they play in holiday tournaments.

Texas (5-2), Baylor and Southern Methodist (both 4-3) are the only clubs which have more than broken even by accounting for 13 of the 19 victories in 56 games against 37 losses. Texas and Texas A&M 1-5 and Texas Tech and Rice 1-7.

Texas, which made it to the finals of the Sun Bowl Classic last week before bowing 101-87 to Iowa State, takes part in the

All-College Tournament at Oklahoma City and draws Montana State as its first foe Wednesday night. The Longhorns beat Arizona State 91-81.

Baylor, which beat Austin College 90-69 but bowed to Oklahoma City 103-89, plays Seattle Thursday night in the first round of the Seattle Legion Tournament.

SMU, 101-82 conqueror of Arlington State, plays Drake in the opener of the Sun Bowl Classic at El Paso Thursday night and might get another crack at NCAA champ Texas Western if the Ponies win that one. Texas Western beat SMU 71-62 in Dallas earlier.

TCU, which lost close 84-78 and 89-88 decisions to Ohio State and Cincinnati last week—the latter in overtime, plays Alabama and Auburn Tuesday and Wednesday in the Senior Bowl Classic at Mobile.

Lobo Tournament Thursday. Texas Tech, which dropped 67-57 and 76-62 decisions to Wyoming and Denver last week, appear only once this week—at home against Utah Tuesday.

Rice, which broke into the win column with a 97-85 victory over Lamar Tech, meets Furman in the first round of the Poinsettia Tournament at Greenville, S.C. Thursday.

Weekend SPORTS

By United Press International
Saturday
EL PASO, Tex. (UPI)—Jim Kilek scored two touchdowns to lead Wyoming to a 28-20 victory over Florida State in the 32nd annual Sun Bowl.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—The Blue scored all its points in the final quarter on Frank Stavroff touchdown passes to beat the Gray 14-9 in the 29th edition of their All-Star football game.

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—The University of Cincinnati named Homer Rice as its new head football coach.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bart Starr of the Green Bay Packers was selected as the 1966 player of the year in the National Football League by United Press International.

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI)—Boyd Converse was named head football coach of Wichita State University.

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (UPI)—Sikkim won the $16,125 City of Coral Gables Handicap by 2½ lengths over Quinta at Tropical Park.

Purdue is Choice In Rose Bowl Jan. 2

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Jack Mollenkopf proved himself a good prophet in evaluating Purdue's football club last September.

What he needed most, he said, was protection for Bob Griese, his passing star; offensive blocking and a more diversified rushing game.

Jack the ripper and his coaching staff saw all three materialize in the Boilermakers' best season since 1943—an 8-2 record with losses only to the nation's two top teams, Notre Dame and Michigan State.

And since Michigan State can't make two consecutive trips to the Rose Bowl, the unanimous nod went to Purdue to represent the Big Ten in the Jan. 2 classic at Pasadena, Calif.

No Second Best
But Purdue is out to prove against Southern California—their first meeting ever—that it isn't "second best" in the Big Ten, despite a 41-20 clobbering from Michigan State last October.

With Griese running the Riveters on offense and Mollenkopf coming up with another of his famed lines, this could be the best team Purdue ever fielded.

Griese, runnerup to Steve Spurrier of Florida for the Heisman Trophy and a first-team All-America last year, has carved himself quite a niche in Purdue's record book. He set eight career records, seven season marks and a half a dozen single-game standards.

In addition, he led the Big Ten in passing, total offense and scoring.

As a team, Purdue set nine offensive records and tied another.

Praises Team
"This has been the greatest, the most gratifying year since I joined the Purdue staff in 1947," said Mollenkopf, who plugged major holes all through the season.

Although Griese is a passing threat every time he has the ball, Purdue used aerial plays only about 40 per cent of the time during the season. In fact, the Boilermakers stressed their ground game during the latter part of the campaign when they whipped Wisconsin and Minnesota in succeeding road games to nail down the Rose Bowl assignment.

Purdue's ground game is built around Perry Williams, a sophomore fullback, and halfbacks Bob Baltzell and Bob Hurst.

Mollenkopf is just as proud of his defensive team which "grew up and improved greatly." They include Chuck Kyle, Clanton King, Bob Holmes and Frank Burke.

THREE WINNERS
NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Bob Gallimore scored a riding triple at Fair Grounds Saturday guiding home Watch My Smoke ($3.60) in the second, Duke Dillido ($14.20) in the third and Rexamoney ($4.20) in the fifth.

TOURNAMENTS COMING UP

UCLA in LA Classic

By United Press International
Believe it or not, New York City and Hawaii do have something in common—for this week at least.

Both places are hosts to two of the 70 college basketball holiday tournaments scheduled this week. New York, blanketed by eight inches of snow, pays host to the ECAC Holiday Festival Tournament in Madison Square Garden, and the Rainbow Classic gets under way in Honolulu. Both tournaments begin today.

The two tournaments which appear to provide the sternest competition are the Quaker City in Philadelphia and the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans.

St. John's (N.Y.), unbeaten in five games, is the pre-tourney favorite to win the Holiday Festival. The Redmen face high-scoring Northwestern in the first game of an afternoon doubleheader today. St. John's, a two-time winner of the festival, hopes that its stingy defense can stop the Wildcats, who have averaged 112.5 points a game.

Rhode Island and St. Bonaventure meet in the second half of the afternoon doubleheader, and Brigham Young, winner of last year's National Invitation Tournament, faces St. Joseph's and Providence plays Duquesne in a night doubleheader.

California, Hawaii, Harvard, Notre Dame, Montana and Portland meet in the Rainbow Classic. California is rated the favorite, but could get knocked off by one of the other teams, with Harvard holding the best chance of doing so.

Top-rated UCLA, along with 13th ranked Illinois, is in the Los Angeles Classic, which starts Tuesday. Lew Alcindor paces the potent Bruin offense, while Illinois has shown some depth despite the loss of his players.

The Los Angeles Classic field also includes Wisconsin, Southern California, Arizona, Georgia Tech, Arkansas and Michigan.

Third-ranked Louisville and No. 5 Michigan State are expected to fight it out for the Quaker City championship, while the Sugar Bowl boasts three of the nation's top teams in a four-team field. The Quaker City Tournament runs Tuesday through Friday and the Sugar Bowl Friday and Saturday.

Boston College (No. 10), Tennessee (No. 15) and Bradley (No. 1) are all entered in the Sugar Bowl.

Fourth-ranked Texas Western heads the field in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex. (Dec. 29-30), while No. 6 New Mexico tops the list for the Lobo Invitational at Albuquerque, N.M. (Dec. 29-30).

Houston, eighth-ranked, is entered in the Arkansas State Tournament at Jonesboro, Ark. (Dec. 28-29) and No. 9 Kansas is playing in the Big Eight Tournament at Kansas City (Dec. 27-30).

No. 2 North Carolina plays Furman Tuesday night and Ohio State on Friday, while seventh-ranked Cincinnati hosts the touring Prague team Monday, St. Joseph's of Indiana Wednesday and Iowa Friday night.

Harvesters Host Perryton Tuesday

Pampa swings back into basketball action Tuesday when the Harvesters host Perryton in an 8 p.m. non-conference affair at Harvester Fieldhouse.

The Pampa Shockers, 12-1, host the Perryton B, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Pampa will leave town Wednesday morning to journey to Hobbs, N.M. where they play in the three-day Hobbs invitational.

The Harvesters, 12-1 and tied for second in district 3-A downed Perryton 76-57 earlier in the season.

Opens 1:45

DEAN ANN-MARTIN MARGRET KARL MALDEN

MATT HELM LIVES IT UP IN MURDERERS ROW

NEW YORK (UPI)—The rhythmic thump, thump, thump echoed throughout the empty arena and sounded strangely out of place, particularly on Christmas Day.

The young man responsible for all that noise was Jim Walker, and he was producing it by dribbling a basketball on Madison Square Garden's slick hardwood floor during a practice session with his Providence teammates for the Holiday Basketball Festival.

Walker, the most valuable player of last year's tournament, is an exciting type performer and there are those who feel that UCLA super-star Lew Alcindor is the only one who overshadows him in the entire nation.

"In my opinion," says St. John's Coach Lou Carnesecca, "Walker is a better all-around player than Bill Bradley. What impresses me so much about him is that he'd rather pass than shoot."

The 22-year-old Walker, who has all the professional scouts drooling even though he's only six foot three, worked on his passing much more than he did on his shooting during a two-hour pre-tournament session at the Garden Sunday.

Regular Work Day
It didn't seem to disturb either him or any of his Providence teammates that here they were working on a day when most everyone else was relaxing at home enjoying the spirit of the Yuletide.

"They're good boys, every one of them," declared Providence Coach Joe Mullaney. "We had a lot of trouble with the snow and ice driving down from Rhode Island but no one complained."

Although Mullaney's Friars won the tournament last year, St. John's, which is undefeated in five games so far, is the favorite to win this one. That doesn't sit so well with Carnesecca.

"I'd much rather be the favorite coming out of the tournament than going into it," he cracked.

For those who just can't get enough college basketball, and there are some people like that around, those who are able may bring their lunch and dinner to the Garden today for four tournament games, or approximately all that the law will allow.

High-scoring Northwestern goes against St. John's in the opener with Ernie Calverley's Rhode Island Rams facing St. Bonaventure in the second half of that double-header.

Then Brigham Young launches the evening twin-bill against St. Joseph's while Duquesne tackles Walker and company in the evening finale.

Even though it was so close to tournament time Sunday, it seemed a bit strange to have all that basketball activity going on inside the empty Garden on Christmas Day no less.

Traditionally, that day is probably the quietest one of the year in sports, and there usually isn't much going on on Christmas Eve either.

Change in Schedules
Occasionally, however, hockey and basketball players have to work at that time. During one particular Christmas Eve 17 year ago, it got so quiet for one baseball team that he purposely called another, made a deal and announced it right then and there.

The man who initiated that deal was the late Branch Rickey, then with the Dodgers. The club he did business with was the Braves and the player he sold them was outfielder Lui Olmo.

It was thought odd at the time that two clubs should make a deal on Christmas Eve.

Times change, though.

Walker and the rest of his Providence cohorts saw nothing at all odd about practicing offensive and defensive patterns on Christmas Day.

TIMERS MISSING
CONISTON LAKE, England (UPI)—Britain's Donald Campbell, after seven weeks of waiting for the right weather for an assault on his own world water speed record, finally achieved perfect conditions Sunday but had no timekeepers available to record his attempts.

Campbell's timekeepers left earlier in the week to spend Christmas in Switzerland and are not scheduled to return until Tuesday. Campbell settled for a trial run at about 200 miles per hour.

Thank-You Note

Dear Mr. Santa Claus,
Sir:
Here's a switch-a- letter to you AFTER Christmas!

But it seems only fair that when so many write to ask, some should write to thank you. You did a great job again, Santa. The papers say you put out more than ever before—billions and billions of dollars worth.

You'd think you'd be getting nothing but rave reviews. But now that the Christmas spirit has worn off a bit, you may be hearing some Monday morning quarterbacking on your performance.

Some are saying you're just a big fat front for crass commercialism—that Christmas is nothing but a souped-up sales campaign.

Others are complaining that to commemorate the birth of the Prince of Peace you bring toys of war—guns, bombs, bullets and bazookas. And, in truth, it does seem weird.

Still others are interested in the circumstance that in "The Night Before Christmas" you are credited with an 8-deer-power sleigh, whereas only two years earlier an artist had depicted you as driving only one dinky little deer.

The inference seems to be that you either had an overthusiastic press in "The Night Before Christmas" or you latched on to an awful lot of deer awful fast.

So there!
So what?

Suppose Christmas does help business. Suppose some of the toys are, unfortunately, a little on the sick side. Suppose, Santa, you are now living it up with 16 reindeer, or that you are down to your last one. Or that you travel by dogsled.

The big thing, Santa, is that the Christmas season you symbolize enriches the lives of millions of people by causing them to forget themselves in thinking of others—that you help bring to a troubled world the therapy of good cheer and good will... that you soften hostility with kindness—and that you put hope in the hearts and a light in the eyes of young and old, if only for a little while.

For all this, Santa, we are grateful to you, and we want you to know it.

Don't let the static you may be hearing bother you too much. The reaction of your fans, of all ages, is ho, ho, ho and hum, hum—a big ho-hum yawn. Be seeing you next Christmas, Santa, old boy. Meanwhile, take care of yourself, do you hear? We never needed you more.

—Just A Kid at Heart

Who Controls the Market Place?

Who dictates prices? You do! You, the person reading this, the Great American Consumer, Mr. and Mrs. Buying Public, with your likes and dislikes, your foibles, your preferences, your day-to-day economic decisions, choices and actions, have the power to bring the mightiest corporation to its knees.

What's more, you not only dictate prices, you also dictate quality, quantity, fashion, model, style, color, size; you name it, you are the boss. In short, YOU control what will and what will not be produced. The company or corporation losing sight of this truth is doomed.

This, no doubt, will come as a surprise to many after several decades of high-powered propaganda for the need of government regulation and control of the market place which, has been, is, and always will be, controlled by YOU. It is precisely this fact, the fact you DO control the market place, that the bureaucracy, the ivory tower Socialist professors, the would-be controllers, most resent. They yearn to move the control from your hands... to THEIRS.

John Cunniff, Associated Press Staff Writer, in his article (Page 16-D, Gazette Telegraph, Dec. 15) commenting on the current indecision in the automotive industry made it crystal clear where the real control of the industry rests and that the heads of the great automotive corporations are well aware of it.

"The automotive industry," observed Cunniff, "is perhaps the most powerful industry in the world, but recent statements by its leaders—to say nothing of production cutbacks—reveal a growing caution beneath an overlay of optimism. This caution reveals a respect for economic signals, one of the most important of which is the uncertain mind of the consumer."

In other words, the automotive greats—General Motors, Ford, Chrysler, American Motors—are scratching their cooperative heads, trying to anticipate what YOU, in the months and years ahead will want in the way of automobiles. "Big as it is," Cunniff went on to emphasize, "the automotive industry knows it is not total master of its market."

As it applies to American auto makers, so it applies, also, to those abroad who, incidentally, the American makers, in addition to keeping an eye on each other, must also watch.

"In Germany," noted Cunniff, "the Volkswagen people told their shareholders earlier this month that things were looking well. A little more than a week later it announced from Wolfsburg that all plants would close for 17 days."

What happened? Simply that YOU, the consumer, potential Volkswagen buyers, here and elsewhere, were emitting economic signals that the Volkswagen people didn't quite comprehend. Result, caution with respect to production schedules. "Let's find out what they REALLY want. Go slow!"

General Motors, with a gross income equal to the receipts of the entire United Kingdom or France, greater than West Germany, and nearly equal to the combined incomes of Japan and Canada, would provide the example of a "monopolistic giant" which the advocates of government control are always harping about... If such a monopoly were, in fact, possible. Yet, as Cunniff went on to point out, General Motors or the entire... automotive industry cannot dictate. The consumer refused to buy the Edsel, for example, and Ford lost hundreds of millions of dollars.

YOU, the comparing, snooping, acting, individual consumer—without benefit of government regulation and control, or even group boycott—are the market place's regal rulers... its Kings and Queens.

And so could you, if you but would, bring an arrogant government to heel.

Economy Key to Tax Reforms

In a recent address, W. P. Gullander, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, urged that federal spending be tightly controlled, and said this would lay the groundwork for later income tax rate reduction.

"At present," he said, "the military situation, the inflationary trend and the shortage of credit all call for a tightening of federal fiscal policy. The ... most effective and most constructive way of achieving this is through a curtailment of federal nondefense spending rather than through a substantial tax increase... if current fiscal needs are met, by controlling nondefense spending, we will have laid the groundwork for a systematic program of periodic tax reductions after the Vietnam fiscal emergency has passed."

A Scottish minister, asked if he thought it wrong to take a walk in the country on Sunday, said:

Reagan Is Peace Hope For G.O.P.

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Ronald Reagan, newly elected governor of California, is obviously key to Republican leaders' persistent efforts to pull most of their party under the big umbrella of unity.

These days the chief spokesmen for party moderates seldom run through the GOP galaxy of stars without including Reagan's name—though now and then they make it sound almost like an afterthought.

At the recent Colorado Springs meeting of Republican governors, the moderates were so conscientious about mentioning Reagan that they seemed on the verge of proposing a "take-Ronald-Reagan-to-dinner" week.

Most of the time Reagan appears eager to return the favor. He made himself one of the boys in Colorado. He praised his new colleagues and evidently worked well with them. He tried to take some of the sting out of an earlier comment that Michigan's Gov. George Romney should repent for his non-support of Barry Goldwater in 1964.

Yet party analysts wonder how genuinely effective the Republicans' new amity kick can be. One student of GOP affairs insists there is no way to sweep under the rug the bitter ideological differences which reached their peak in 1964.

He gets confirmation of his argument from some recent utterances of party conservatives, as well as from the factional battles still raging in some states.

When GOP southern state chairmen gathered not long ago in New Orleans, more than one was heard to say:

"We showed the eastern establishment before, and we'll show them again."

Similar jobs at eastern Republicans by either southerners or westerners have been heard fairly frequently. They suggest that the old liberal-conservative divisions endure vigorously behind the thin veil of "geographic differences."

Within at least a few important states, the ripping and tearing continues to be severe. In Washington state, the recent re-election of Ken Rogstad, chairman in Kings County (Seattle) is said virtually to insure that one-third of Washington's 1968 national convention delegation will be conservative. Notwithstanding the moderate leadership of Gov. Daniel Evans.

Reports have it that factional chaos reigns in Connecticut since the conservatives' ouster some months ago of moderate Searle Pinney.

Ugly new turns are privately reported in the unending fight between moderates and the conservative Mrs. Phyllis Schlafly, author of the 1964 conservative treatise, "A Choice, Not an Echo," and a leading candidate for 1967 election as head of the GOP women's national federation.

Since the spring vote is on a one-club-one-vote basis, the conservatives are said to be splitting large clubs into smaller ones to maximize support for Mrs. Schlafly.

Since Ronald Reagan is, of course, the conservatives' present hero, it all comes down to him. If he plays the unity game hard and convincingly with his moderate counterparts, if California's big problems compel him to follow largely a moderate course as governor, then more than any other may blunt the bitterness still sharply visible within GOP ranks.

Aggrieved One—She's been throwing things at me ever since we were married.

Magistrate—Then why have you not complained before?

Aggrieved One—This is the first time she's hit me.

Judge Brown—What were you doing about that chicken coop at midnight, Young man?

Young man—Just circled it around, Judge; just circled it around.

Judge Brown—Clerk, make a notation: Withdrawn from circulation for 60 days.

Triple Plan To Exploit Vietnam War And Peace Sentiments Organized By U. S. Reds

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—The top leaders of the Communist Party of the U.S. are launching a three-pronged program to exploit the Vietnam war for the purpose of "making the party a stronger voice and arm of world Communism."

With this aim, they are undertaking to:

—Instigate and collaborate with pacifist, student, church and other elements to stage "mass demonstrations" against the conflict.

—Create a "cause celebre" of the so-called "Fl. Hood Three" — the three Army privates court-martialed on charges of refusing to obey orders to go to Vietnam. In this scheme, the Communists will "seek to develop a mass crusade against the Army for convicting the three men, and the United States for being involved in Vietnam."

—Join with pacifists and others to promote a third party "peace candidate" in the 1968 presidential race.

These potentially far-reaching policies were formally agreed on at an unpublicized meeting of the party's new National Committee in New York City. The 80-member committee was elected in June at the U.S. party's 18th national convention. It was the first session of the committee.

Its next meeting will take place in June 1967 at a location still to be determined.

Gus Hall, general secretary and boss of the party, presided at this meeting. He had recently returned from a three-month trip to Russia and other Communist countries.

At great length, Hall harangued the committee on "U.S. imperialist aggression" in Vietnam, and held this was the cause of all the country's economic, political, racial and other problems and difficulties. He sternly enjoined all Communists to actively participate in "all protests against the administration's policy in Vietnam, and to combine the peace campaign with activities in behalf of civil rights."

PUTTING THE BITE ON THEM—"Black power," the explosive slogan of Negro activists, was endorsed with "some reservations" by another lengthy speller.

tions throughout the country, with an eight-week time limit to submit reports on what they would do. Each district also was directed to put this responsibility in the hands of one official.

Characteristic of Communist practice, the National Committee set up a national board of 20 members which will really exercise control of the party under Hall.

This smaller inner group will meet every two months to act on policy and finances.

RED FLASHES—In the recent "march on Washington" staged by the W.E.B. DuBois Clubs a few months ago, a number of prominent Communists played leading roles. Among them were Michael Zagarell, the party's national youth director, Bettina Aptheker, member of the party's National Committee, Hugh Fowler, executive secretary of the DuBois Clubs and a delegate to the party's 18th national convention, and Franklin Alexander, national chairman of the DuBois Clubs and also a delegate to the convention. Expected attendance at this demonstration fell far short. Instead of 1,500, at most 275 were present.

The April 1966 issue of "Rights," a publication of the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee (ECLC), reported that at the annual meeting of the national Council of the ECLC in New York City on April 23, 1966, Stokely Carmichael, head of SNCC and leader of the "black power" movement, was elected a member of the National Council of that organization. The House Committee on Un-American Activities in its "Guide to Subversive Organizations and Publications" has designated the ECLC as a Communist-front group.

STILL BAFFLED—Vice President Hubert Humphrey is still trying to find out what happened in the recent election and why.

William Connell, his administrative assistant, and Max Kampelman, 46-year-old lawyer and banker and long-time close supporter of Humphrey, held a seminar in the office of another Washington lawyer on the reasons for the Democrats' heavy election losses and measures to offset them.

The Vice President did not personally take part in these backstage discussions. But those who attended were told the talks were being held with his blessing.

Among those who put in a brief appearance was H. W. Brawley, South Carolina, who quit as deputy postmaster general in 1962 after a clash with Postmaster General Edward Day. Brawley took a job with the Democratic National Committee, but left after the 1964 election. He is now the Washington representative of several corporations.

Like others who showed up at this curious seminar, Brawley expressed himself baffled as to

Animal Diseases May Be Transmitted to Man
Zoonoses, diseases of animals that may be transmitted to man, are becoming recognized in greater numbers every year. Reports from France now indicate that multiple sclerosis may be one of these and that it may be caused by a rickettsial—a class of microscopic organism between bacteria and viruses in size. Other rickettsiae cause several forms of typhus. The organisms suspected of causing multiple sclerosis, Coxiella burnetii, are often found in lambs with swayback.

Although the organisms have not been found in persons with multiple sclerosis, rickettsial antibodies have been found in the blood of such persons, especially those who are shepherds, butchers, milkmaids and veterinarians. Of a seven-man team of scientists who made a study of swaybacked lambs, four developed multiple sclerosis. It is believed that a reservoir of the Coxiellae may be present in cows and goats, as well as in sheep.

The cause of multiple sclerosis has long been sought without success. Let us hope that it has now been found because the discovery of the cause of any disease is an important step toward finding a cure.

Q—Why did my doctor give me two flu shots this year? For the past 12 years I've had only one shot each fall.

A—Although one injection of influenza vaccine gives some immunity, most doctors recommend two injections two to four weeks apart in any year for better protection.

Q—How can I get the hydroxyprogesterone caproate you recommended for persons with an enlarged prostate?

A—This drug is sold as Delalutin, but only on a doctor's prescription.

Q—Does a "hairy tongue" mean one that is heavily coated?

A—Black hairy tongue is a condition that is caused by a fungus infection. A thickly coated tongue may be referred to as furred but not hairy. This is caused by not eating enough coarse food, such as toast or raw fruit and vegetables. These foods remove the dead cells of the tongue's outer layer.

Q—I have seen ads for electric needles for home use to remove unwanted hair on the face. Can this be done safely by an inexperienced person?

A—No. For home use a razor or tweezers would be safer.

Match Yule Gifts to Recipient's NEW YORK (NEA)—For the past few weeks, as regular readers may recall, we have been reporting here on a wide selection of unusual gifts—more than enough to fill the most demanding list of Christmas present needs.

And having done so, we would have let the Yuletide come in with no further comment.

However, a number of letters have arrived informing us of a gross oversight—namely that we made no suggestions of what to give to the man who has everything.

Well, that was no oversight at all. The plain fact is, we do not believe there is anybody who has everything. And even if there were, it is our conviction that high status should not prevent a person's receiving a gift—whether or not he has one of it already.

To our way of thinking, the rich and powerful certainly deserve to get something. And so, with that Christmas thought in mind, we submitted the following sample list of people and gifts:

Richard M. Nixon—A score card for the New Republican team and a baseball glove suitable for use in left field.

Hubert H. Humphrey—An act of Congress forbidding grand opera in the United States unless performed by the Met.

Lyndon B. Johnson—A son-in-law who has been to Vietnam.

Gen. Charles de Gaulle—A Berlitz course in swimming and Chinese.

George Hamilton—A chance to make a movie in Saigon.

John Gunther—A commission to write the authorized version of "Inside LBJ."

Kurt Kiesinger—A street map of Danzig.

Lurleen Wallace—A valid hall pass for the State House, and some sort of scroll or plaque saying she is the governor.

Truman Capote—A trial membership in the Public Relations Society of America and 540 friendship rings.

Johnny Carson—A copy of Happiness is a Broken TV Set.

Rod Serling—A new idea.

Andy Warhol—An idea. Any idea.

Shirley Temple—A great big box of animal crackers (without the birds and bees).

Baby Jane Holzer—A belated invitation to Truman Capote's party.

Natalie Wood—A free course in vocational retraining.

Harold Wilson—A common shopping cart to take to the Common Market.

Adam Clayton Powell—Political asylum in Florida, diplomatic immunity in New York, and a small portable statue of himself.

Frank Sinatra—A handsome edition of "Little Women."

Sorry, we're two days late, but most of these will be just as good for next Christmas.

NO "HUMANITARIANS" IN VIETNAM

As all great generals have known and many have shared, from William Tecumseh Sherman to Douglas MacArthur, war is a brutal and bloody business. A few of its worst evils may be mitigated if both sides agree to do so. If either contender rejects all standards of human decency, they cease to have any meaning in that particular conflict.

That is why the vital moral issue in any war is simply this: who started it? The aggressor is obviously responsible for the conflict he starts, and it is the responsibility of the aggressor to bring the war to an end. If he will not do so, the defenders have no recourse but to go on fighting as well as they can until they are victorious.

In Vietnam there is no question in the mind of any reasonable man as to who the aggressor is. The absurd pretense that only a "civil war" with the Viet Cong existed before American intervention has now been dropped even by the communist propagandists, who freely admit that the regular army of North Vietnam is involved.

It is also known and unquestioned fact that from the beginning the Vietnam aggressors have used terrorism regularly as a weapon. In fighting American soldiers, for instance, they almost never take prisoners. Less than 100 American prisoners have been taken in the entire war.

When you are engaged in a life-and-death struggle with this kind of enemy, talk of "humanitarian" warfare is totally out of touch with reality. You dare not lose; you must survive. Victory is the only goal.

SWIM LESSON SCHEDULE
The new swim lesson schedule for 1967 has been finalized and is as follows: Jan. 9-25 4:00 Beginners and 5:00 Advanced Beginners; Jan. 30-Feb. 15 4:00 Beginners and 5:00 Intermediates; Feb. 20-March 8 4:00 Beginners and 5:00 swimmers then from March 13-29 4:00 Beginners and 5:00 Advanced Beginners.

Enrollment is free to Center members and $3 for non-members. Enrollment may be made at anytime at the front office and memberships may be purchased. All classes meet on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Fridays for 10 meetings. Mrs. Jackie Mariar, Center Water Safety Instructor, will conduct the classes.

CENTER MEMBERSHIPS
AVAILABLE — The Center is always open to membership 365 days a year. All memberships run for the full length of purchase whether six months or a year. The Center has no fiscal year as far as memberships are concerned.

Family memberships for the whole household no matter how many is only $20 a year or $12 for six months. Individual memberships are $8 per year or $5 for six months to persons 8 years of age or older. Children under eight can still participate but must purchase membership through the family plan.

All memberships to the Center entitle you to use all the facilities plus free swim lessons scheduled. The Center has a large gym providing basketball, volleyball, badminton, shuffleboard, tumbling, trampolining and other gymnastics; A recreation hall where ping pong, pool tables, jute box and other games are played along with an indoor heated swimming pool and dressing room facilities.

TOP O' TEXAS INDEPENDENT BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT — The 3rd Annual Top O' Texas Basketball Tournament will be held Feb. 20-24 in the Center gym. Some of the most outstanding teams in the Panhandle area are expected to enter. Richard Drug is defending champion with Borger as last year's runnerup. Trophies will be awarded the first, second and third place finishers. Entry fee for each team is still $15. Entry deadline will be Feb. 6, 1967. Entries may be sent to Pampa Youth and Community Center, Box 1164, Pampa, Texas.

In 1932, the largest indoor theater at the time was opened in New York City, Radio City Music Hall.

A. S. BONNER, JR.
... chief geologist

Bonner To Join Cabot in Pampa

Joseph E. Reid, manager of Oil and Gas Exploration and Production for Cabot Corporation's Western Region, has announced the promotion of A. A. (Sid) Bonner, Jr. to the position of chief geologist effective Jan. 1. He will move to Pampa from Lafayette, La., where he has been district geologist since joining Cabot and opening the office there in May, 1959.

Prior to joining Cabot, Bonner was employed by Mobil Oil Co. He holds a B.S. degree in geology from Louisiana State University and an M.S. degree in geology from Stanford University.

In the new position Bonner will be responsible for direction of all geological and geophysical personnel and related exploration function: in Cabot's Oil and Gas Division.

The Bonners have two sons, seven and five years old, and a three-year-old daughter.
