It's all right with us if you "take a walk" on these plains, but in the month of February be sure to take a top-coat no matter how calm is the day. The same goes for March and April.

The Plainsman in the Lubbock Journal says that the average man is sure of four things: He knows more about the business of running a newspaper, a baseball team, a restaurant, and a horse race than do the persons who have spent years actively engaged in these projects.

Brevitorials

WHAT CHANCE has peace to prevail? What of Hitler? What of the new English king? What are Mussolini's aims? Some of these questions provoked expert prognostications recently when a group of brilliant newspaper foreign correspondents assembled in New York. Among them was Walter Duranty, New York Times Moscow correspondent and author of a new book, "I Write as I Please." Others present were equally well known.

It was agreed that some way had to be found to let Mussolini end his Ethiopian jaunt with dignity. He is too dangerous a man to offend because he lives too near Britain's road to India. It is a job for the new British king and his advisers.

'NO DECISION' IN MONTERREY STRIKE BATTLE

PHANTOM ENEMY WAS FOUGHT, SAYS GOVERNOR

MONTERREY, Mexico, Feb. 7. (AP)—The commercial life of Monterrey returned to normal today after a two-day suspension of all business activities in protest against alleged communistic agitation.

The encounter of capitalism and communism was considered generally to have resulted in "no decision."

Gov. Rafael Morales Sanchez of Nuevo Leon declared that in his opinion the "Employers Circle" had been fighting a phantom enemy in staging its protest against communism, and made clear at the same time that he himself was not a communist nor in favor of communism.

Governor Sanchez announced he would not accede to the demands of employees that he remove Teofilo Martinez Perez from the presidency of the board of conciliation and arbitration, "inasmuch as he is not a communist and has broken no law."

Members of the Employers Circle, which includes prominent industrial and business leaders of the state, had accused Martinez Perez of being a communist and demanded his ouster on the grounds that he had declared legal a strike in a local glass factory against the will of a majority of the employees.

Despite the governor's refusal to meet their petition, business leaders expressed satisfaction with the results of the "fight against dictatorship" and declared the fight would be continued.

Both General Sanchez and Martinez Perez declared the demonstrations organized by businessmen were "unnecessary and exaggerated."

The governor contended the attitude of business was unjustified "since not one workers organization nor even a small group of workers" had declared in favor of communism.

(Note: This is a questionnaire in response to a letter and questionnaire sent by Lieutenant Governor Walter Woodul, dated 1-25-36, from the State Centennial publicity department.)

Cameron Herald, Cameron, Texas, January 29, 1936

Texas Department of Publicity Charles Roster, Director Dallas, Texas Dear Mr. Roster

We have just received through the mails information relative to what is termed the "Walter Woodul Historical Essay Contest" for school children and students of Texas which is being sponsored and promoted by the State Department of Publicity of the Texas Centennial.

We understand from your instructions sent out over the state that Mr. Woodul is to pay the contest prizes, but we do not understand the promotional end of this project which is being sponsored and promoted by the State Department of Publicity of the Texas Centennial.

1. For what purposes was the contest created and will it be for the promotion of the Texas Centennial celebration or individuals?

2. As the publicity department of the state will pay the expenses in promoting this contest, what does the cost include?

3. Will the county units under the direction of the Centennial advisory board assume any financial responsibility in the promotion of the contest, and if so, what will be the approximate cost and where will the money come from? If not, what will be the state make to the county units to cover the cost and from what fund will this be drawn?

4. Will the campaign have as its background patriotism or politics, and why is the campaign sponsored under the title of an individual rather than the Centennial?

5. Will there be any funds for the county units to spend publicizing and advertising this contest in newspapers and if not, what will be the state's plans to secure the necessary publicity needed in creating interest in the contest?

6. Will the publicity cost in conducting the promotion of this contest be sponsored from headquarters or divided into county appropriations and spent under the direction of the local Centennial advisory board?

7. Will the state publicity committee pay the local cost of employing a typewriter to handle the details of the contest in each county and if so, how much will be allowed?

8. In passing on the winners in the contest, what will be the basis of selection of prize money for this contest being placed on deposit with the publicity committee for distribution?

9. Will the state publicity committee sponsor other head prizes in connection with the Centennial at the state's expense as it is now doing to promote Mr. Woodul's publicity campaign?

10. We understand to properly conduct the Woodul publicity campaign to its finality, which is May day, it will cost the state several thousands of dollars from the states advertising fund and we would like to know if an ample amount of the fund has been allotted to assure success?

11. To make this contest official, we would like to know if the Centennial control commission, appointed largely by Governor Woodul and Governor Alford, passed upon the Woodul publicity campaign, and has been ratified by the state board of control, who is responsible for paying out the taxpayers money?

Your very truly, J. B. White

BEST ACTRESS AND ACTOR TO BE SELECTED

FILMDOM'S FINEST OF 1935 WILL BE CHOSEN

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 7. (AP)—A record list of nominations—10 performers and 12 producers—launched the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences today into its task of selecting filmdom's "finest" of 1935.

Usually only three actresses and three actors get on the final ballot. This year there are six women and four men.

Four previous winners—Clark Gable, Charles Laughton, Claudette Colbert, and Katharine Hepburn—were nominated last night for 1935 awards. With them were Franchot Tone, Victor McLaglen, Elizabeth Bergner, Bette Davis, Merle Oberon, and Miriam Hopkins.

From the list the academy will choose the year's outstanding actor and actress. The awards—along with those for the "best" director, picture, cartoon, music, and technical phases of film making, will be announced March 5.

"Mutiny on the Bounty," one of the dozen pictures from which the academy will select the "best picture of 1935," is the picture of choice of the academy.

Gable learned with Claudette Colbert in "It Happened One Night" to monopolize the awards for 1934. "Private Worlds" gave Miss Colbert her place on the current list.

Laughton won in 1933 with his title role performance in "The Private Life of Henry VIII." Miss Hepburn won recognition that year in "Morning Glory." It was her portrayal of "Alice Adams" that made her a candidate this time, along with the picture by the same name.

"The Informer," in the best picture competition, was responsible for McLaglen's nomination. It was directed by John Ford, became a candidate for the award in that class.

Two other directors listed along with their pictures were: Frank Lloyd of "Mutiny on the Bounty," Henry Hathaway and his "Lives of a Bengal Lancer."

Youth Freed in Speegle Slaying

FLOYDADA, Feb. 7. (AP)—Melvin Ensey, 24-year-old honor graduate of Spur high school, this morning was acquitted of murder in connection with the fatal beating of J. B. (Uncle Ben) Speegle at Matador, November 22.

A jury in 110th district court received the case about 5 p. m. Thursday and reported its verdict to Judge A. Foley at 9:25 o'clock this morning.

Trial of Everett McArthur, also indicted for murder in the case, will be passed for the term, District Court Clerk George B. Marshall said.

Speegle, 69-year-old tourist camp operator, was slain at his cabin, Dr. A. C. Trawker Jr., a prosecution witness, said the elderly man had been choked and beaten.

Ensey, McArthur, and other Spur young men had been to Matador to attend a Matador-Spur football game. Afterwards, because Ensey was intoxicated, a cabin at Speegle's camp was rented and Ensey put to bed, witnesses said.

No eye-witnesses were offered by the prosecution, whose case was based on circumstantial evidence. The defense sought to show that two or more other persons could have been responsible for Speegle's death.

bill today by seven republicans of the house agriculture committee.

They filed a minority report on the subsidy-soil conservation measure pending in both house and senate. Almost simultaneously President Roosevelt again estimated the tax need for the new program at $300,000,000, but said the farm still was in the study stage.

Party lines had split in the senate over the farm measure, with its constitutionality challenged and defended.

A small attendance caused by the heaviest snow in years prompted the senate to recess until Monday after hearing a brief speech by Senator Pope (D., Ia.) in favor of the farm bill.

Germany wants to expand; Japan already is doing so. The Japanese are seeking more land, more markets, and do not want war with Russia. At least, not until Russia is already embroiled in a war with Germany. The only Russo-Japanese war regarded as likely would be caused by some incident, provoked by an irresponsible military commander, which could not be smoothed over by diplomacy.

LEAGUE FUDS OIL EMBARGO WOULD WORK

GENEVA, Feb. 7. (AP)—The League of Nations committee of oil experts, gauging the possibilities of enforcing an oil embargo against Italy, apparently agree today that such a sanction could be effective over Italian use of oil substitutes.

League officials said the committee of governmental authorities in session since Monday, seemingly has reached a conclusion that the warring fascist nation could not obtain sufficient substitutes to combat an oil sanction successfully.

The experts found that only about 15 per cent of Italy's oil requirements could be substituted, officials said. This substitution would refer especially to gasoline.

The extent of Italian replacement of the other forms of petroleum products, league officials explained, could be but slight.

This question of Italian use of replacements to overcome an oil sanction, in the event that such a measure was undertaken, arose early in the committee's deliberations.

French experts contended employment of such substitutes as alcohol and synthetic benzine might render an embargo ineffective.

The British maintained from the start that Italy did not have at present sufficient substitutes to form an influential counter-agent, but joined the French, nevertheless, in urging the investigation of such possibilities.

Normally, league officials estimated, Italy consumes about 1,500,000 tons of oil a year, but they said this figure has mounted now to 2,500,000 tons.

Other figures being studied by the committee of experts, the officials said, showed that an oil sanction against Italy would prove decisive within a half-year—if it were applied by all oil-producing nations of the world.

INCOME TAX DATA

Of the millions of income-tax returns that are filed annually, the vast majority are from salaried persons and wage earners. Income tax is derived from personal services.

In general, compensation for personal services should be reported for taxation purposes in the year it is received or unqualifiedly made subject to demand. Compensation credited to an account or deposited in a bank, without any substantial limitation or restriction and which may be drawn upon by him at any time, is subject to tax for the year during which so credited or set apart, although not then actually received.

The services were rendered during the year 1934, or even prior thereto, but the compensation was not received, or made unqualifiedly subject to demand, by the taxpayer until the year 1935, the entire amount is reported for that year.

When the taxpayer is reporting on the cash receipts and disbursements basis, which is the basis used by most persons in reporting net income.

The names of all employees to whom payment of $2,000 or over in compensation was made must be reported. The information return should be made on form 1099, accompanied by the number of returns filed. These returns should be filed on or before February 15, 1936.

Many of the various types of compensation, unless specifically exempt by statute, or exempt by fundamental law, should be included in the taxpayer's return of gross income, such as salaries, wages, fees, commissions, bonuses, tips, honoraria, and the like.

Other items subject to tax, including the salary of the president of the United States and judges of courts of the United States taking office after the date of the enactment of the Revenue Act of 1932, which was June 6, 1932. The salaries of the chief justice of the United States, and the salaries of Members of the House of Representatives and the Members of the United States Senate are also subject to income tax.

U. S. Court Orders Factory to Open; Legal Action Due

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 7. (AP)—Mayor Thomas E. Latimer indicated today he may take further legal action in connection with a federal court injunction requiring Gov. Floyd B. Olson, the national guard and the mayor to permit operation of the Strutwear Knitting company's plant.

Such action, he indicated, would be either through a motion to amend the court's ruling or an appeal to a high federal court.

The court held the mayor had the right to request troops to preserve order in labor trouble and the governor had the right to employ them, but declared it was "absurd" that "the method for preserving order was the closing of the plant."

Guardmen were called to the Strutwear company Dec. 27 after pickets clashed with workers preparing the plant for reopening. It had been closed since last August because of labor troubles after union men claimed the company discriminated against union workers.

A tight spot situation aided the steadiness of near months.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 7. (AP)—Cotton held steady, but the market was extremely dull during the morning.

March worked up a few points from its opening level and sold at 11.08 before noon, while May gained a point to 10.78, and Oct. eased 2 points to 10.22.

A tight spot situation aided the steadiness of near months.

PLANS FOR VALENTINE DAY WEDDING ANNOUNCED AT DINNER

MISS FINLEY IS TO MARRY MR. FERGUSON

MMES. ROSE, TURNER GIVE ANNOUNCEMENT DINNER

Engagement of Miss Frances Finley, daughter of Mrs. B. E. Finley, to Markon Lee Ferguson, of San Antonio, and their plans for a Valentine day wedding, were announced last evening when Mrs. Tom Rose and her daughter, Mrs. E. L. Turner of McLean, entertained with a dinner at the Rose home.

The dinner table, laid in red and white with Valentine motif, was centered by a miniature bride and groom. Each place card had one word of the announcement written on it, and the engagement was revealed when these were read in order. Mrs. Turner then proposed a toast to the bride-to-be. A lovely collage was presented to Miss Finley. After dinner, the group spent an informal hour, hearing plans for the wedding. It is to be solemnized at high noon next Friday at the First Presbyterian church.

Miss Finley, member of a prominent pioneer family here, is a graduate of Pampa schools and has attended Oklahoma University and the University of Texas. Mr. Ferguson is a petroleum engineer who at present is in the University of Texas completing his training. He was employed with the railroad commission here last summer on an engineering project. Guests for the dinner were Miss Finley, Mrs. B. E. Finley, Mrs. Tom Herrod, Mrs. Walter Blery, Mrs. John Corrigan, Mrs. Esther Starks, Miss Lona Willis, Miss Fern Huggins and Miss Louise Walstead. Mrs. William Finley assisted the hostesses in the entertainment.

NOT FDR
NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (AP)—The man in the whiskey advertisement (Seagram-Distillers Corp.) who reminded some readers of President Roosevelt, causing the advertiser to send a letter of apology to the president, was a changed man today. The same advertisement appeared in newspapers today, but with the model in a different pose, sans Panama hat and glasses. Without these, he bore no resemblance to Mr. Roosevelt.

FESS MAY TAKE WALK IF BORAH IS NOMINATED

Norris Claims Farley Should Abandon Dual Role

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. (AP)—Crumblings in the ranks and another threat to "take a walk" came today as party chieftains sharpened their wits and their words in the campaign for and against the new deal.

Senator Norris (R-Nebr.), eager supporter of President Roosevelt nevertheless hit again at James A. Farley's dual role as postmaster general and democratic national chairman.

"A man managing a campaign ought not to be postmaster general," he said on the senate floor yesterday.

At far-apart points the administration was attacked by Colonel Frank Knox, publisher, often listed as a republican presidential contender; Senator Dickinson (R-Iowa) who also has been mentioned frequently as a possible nominee; and Joseph S. Shouse, president of the American Liberty league, at whose dinner table Alfred E. Smith uttered the threat to "take a walk" if he democratic convention endorsed the new deal.

Fess, announcing his opposition to Borah, declared the latter's nomination would "give new meaning to Smith's taking a walk."

He said his former colleague would go down to defeat in Ohio, but that he might get some delegates from the Cleveland, Akron, Youngstown area.

Fess said he himself would work for an unstructured delegation to the national convention (Borah is planning to campaign for pledged delegates).

"If you are going to vote for a new dealer," said Fess in an interview, "why not vote for President Roosevelt? Is the liability for the new deal to be placed anywhere, let it be placed on the democrats, not on the republicans."

He declared he personally admired Borah but was forced into conflict with him "because of his policies."

"Where the inflation ideas of Borah will be objectionable to labor is to be seen. Ohio was not for free silver in 1896 and would not be for a silver debase today."

Robbery Seen as Slaying Motive At Albuquerque

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Feb. 7.—The death that Carl Taylor found to write of weird rituals in strange places were the drab guise of robbery when it overtook him in New Mexico mountains, prosecutors charged today.

District Attorney Thomas J. Mabry said a 16-year-old houseboy, Modesto Trujillo, had confessed killing the young writer of travelogues. He was motivated only by robbery intent, the prosecutor said.

Taylor was found shot to death in his lonely mountain cabin Wednesday night. On a desk before him lay a completed manuscript that told of the practices of the "Penitentes—Brothers of the Blood of Christ," a secretive religious sect.

An official theory that "penitente vengeance" may have brought death to the writer was dismissed when Trujillo allegedly confessed the crime. Mabry said the houseboy insisted he was not of the strange brotherhood.

"Robbery was the only motive," said Mabry. "We have definitely discarded all other theories. The case is in the hands of the court." Trujillo has been charged with murder.

Child Welfare Chief Addresses Two Women's Councils

EXPLAINS AID TO CHILDREN BY DIVISION

RECREATION PROGRAM OF THIS CITY IS PRAISED

Planning for Social Betterment for the Child, was the theme of a talk to the Council of Women's clubs yesterday morning by Mrs. Violet Greenhill, chief of the Child Welfare division. She was here yesterday consulting members of the county child welfare board and other welfare groups.

State institutions, public and private, are caring for many of the state's underprivileged and sub-normal children, she said in explaining the work of her division, but the whole idea of the state organization is to give each child a chance to grow up in normal surroundings and be self-supporting.

She discussed the need of further laws to protect children, and spoke of the child labor law which she said contained no provision for proof of age.

Only 72 counties in the state have child welfare boards, Mrs. Greenhill said, and the state division is working now toward formation of such a board in each county. The state has been allotted $73,000 for child welfare work this year, she said. Plans are in progress for a more ambitious and useful program than has heretofore been carried out.

Pampa's program of community recreation, which the club council sponsored and is again backing, was complimented by the speaker.

Two offices vacated by resignations were filled by the council yesterday. Mrs. C. G. Wilson was elected secretary to replace Mrs. Harry McEwen, and Mrs. Horace McBee parliamentarian in the place of Mrs. A. N. Dilley.

Kene Irvine speaking for Business and Professional Women's club, gave a resume of the safety campaign being conducted this month and asked each club to devote 15 minutes of a program during February to a safety topic.

March has been designated as "petunia month" by the Garden club, and each resident is asked to plant some of the county flowers as a part of the Centennial beautification plan, it was announced by Mrs. Glen Pool.

Civic Culture club announced a Valentine game tournament next Wednesday as a benefit for the club's civic project fund, and invited council members to play either contract or auction in the city club rooms that evening.

Ben Gull, who was in charge of the city recreation program last summer, spoke outlining plans to consider for the coming vacation months.

The council voted to act as hostesses for a tea complimenting delegates to the district Parent-Teacher convention here in April.

Mrs. Tinnin Is Shower Hostess

Blink ice cream and blue cake were served to Mrs. Chester Williams, G. E. Tinnin, B. B. Higginbotham, Joe Mullins Sr., J. W. Higginbotham, and the honoree.

Two-Piece "Tuck-In" or Overblouse

Today's pattern will give you many ideas to make some new spring tops.

For it you may choose a gay print crepe silk for the blouse and plain crepe for the skirt in your favorite color scheme. For instance, navy blue skirt with coral-red and navy print blouse is very smart as pictured.

Then again, all in one scheme as plain crepe or in a dark ground print crepe this model is most effective.

By way of another suggestion—use the pattern as a separate blouse or as a separate skirt.

Style No. 1662 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 years, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust. Size 16 requires 2 yards of 39-inch material for blouse with 2 1/2 yards of 39-inch material for skirt.

Our New Spring Fashion Book will enable you to have smart clothes for less money. It's just full of new ideas.

Price of BOOK 10 cents. Price of PATTERN 15 cents (coin is preferred). Wrap coin carefully.

New Cold Wave And Snow Come To Northwest

CHICAGO, Feb. 7. (AP)—Winter renewed its onslaught today, bringing a new cold wave with heavy snow to the Pacific Northwest, threats of a new flood menace in the south and a continuation of sub-zero temperatures in the corn belt states.

The most dangerous flood conditions were reported in southwest Alabama but rivers in Georgia, Mississippi, Tennessee, and the Carolinas also neared overflow stages. Threats of ice storms added to flood fears at many points, as hundreds were driven from their homes in near freezing temperatures. Rain and snow added to acute suffering.

Ten deaths were counted in the southern states this week. Rivermen rescued from a marooned boat and 10 children from a horse boat near Steubenville, Ohio, after an ice jam on the Ohio river broke, sending thousands of tons of ice toward the craft.

Coal shortages continued acute at many places and schools remained closed. Many railroads in the northwestern states continued snowbound. One way traffic was resumed on some main highways but few secondary roads were reopened.

Michigan had hit by blizzard conditions yesterday, reported storms abating but many rural sections remained isolated. Temperatures generally were below zero.

In Washington and Idaho many schools were dismissed, trains delayed, and routes blocked by drifts 10 yards high in places. A gale swept Vancouver, B. C., destroying thousands of dollars worth of property.

MARK TWAIN FOOTNOTE

LAVA HOT SPRINGS, Idaho. (AP)—The city council not only talks about the weather. It does things. When icy streets and snow drifts menace traffic here councilmen order the street department to tap a main leading from a natural hot water spring and melt the barriers.

White House Is Their Goal

Now definitely a First Lady of the Land possibility, Mrs. Theo Cobb Landon, smiling with happiness, is shown left at the Kansas day celebration in Topeka at which the candidacy of her husband, Gov. Alf M. Landon, for the G. O. P. presidential nomination was launched. Demanding "recovery before reform" and assailing the new deal for "extravagance and fuzzy thinking," the governor is shown, right, as he spoke at the state's anniversary observance.

CLAIM EINSTEIN IS FORCED TO REVISE MATTER THEORY

Retail Trade Is Kept at a High Level Last Week

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (AP)—Scientific circles heard today that Professor Albert Einstein has been forced to revise his theory of matter because of valid defects found in his field equation by a fellow physicist.

The enunciation of the theory of relativity is at work at Princeton university on a new theory of matter, it was disclosed. His aim is to remove the defects found in the field equation which is an expression of the unifying principle expected to tie together in comparable form all physical phenomena.

He has told colleagues that he finds the early results of his investigation satisfactory.

The criticism which started Einstein on his search for the new equation was advanced by Dr. Ludwig Silberstein of the University of Toronto and is published in the current issue of the Physical Review.

Einstein saw a copy of the criticism before it was offered for publication, conceded it was valid and began the new task.

Silberstein's criticism was that the Einstein equation to explain the gravitational powers of matter, provides a kind of matter that does not have gravitational powers.

In the same issue of the magazine Professor Leigh Page of Yale submitted a new theory of relativity broadening Einstein's most famous contribution to science.

Professor Page said the new theory, at present, is an extension of the special theory the German scientist promulgated in 1905, rather than a modification of his general theory of 1915.

"The new theory, Page said, "leads to the possibility of types of motion not allowed by the older theories and offers the hope of acquiring a better understanding of the motions occurring in the atom."

Professor Page described the new theory as an approach to relativity suggested by Professor E. A. Milne of Oxford university in a recent book, "Relativity, Gravitation, and World Structure."

Fuel in the form of coal, natural gas and wood is plentiful in Oklahoma, with many communities having a supply of all three.

THE DOCTORS ARE RIGHT

Women should take only liquid laxatives

Many believe any laxative they might take only makes constipation worse. And that isn't true. Do what doctors do to relieve this condition. Doctors use liquid laxatives.

Many believe any laxative they might take only makes constipation worse. And that isn't true. Do what doctors do to relieve this condition. Doctors use liquid laxatives.

Reduced dosage is the secret of aiding Nature in restoring regularity. You must use a little less laxative each time, and that's why your laxative should be in liquid form. A liquid dose can be regulated to the drop.

The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara—both natural laxatives that form no habit even with children. Syrup Pepsin is the nicest tasting, nicest acting laxative you ever tried.

TALK TO P-TA FOLLOWED BY BUSINESS HOUR

Organization for entertaining eighth district Parent-Teacher associations here April 22-24 was further perfected by the city Parent-Teacher council yesterday, after members and several visitors had heard a short talk by Mrs. Violet Greenhill, director of the state child welfare division.

Mrs. Greenhill spoke of the state's service to underprivileged children, but stressed the need of an active county welfare board in each county. She made suggestions for strengthening the work of the Gray county board, which has been in existence about a year, and answered questions about duties of the board.

The business meeting was devoted to district conference plans, which have been outlined and are being successfully carried out. Mrs. J. M. Turner, city council president, is general chairman and Mrs. N. F. MacGidus vice-chairman.

Committee heads were named yesterday, each to appoint the number of assistants she needs. The following were appointed:

Finance, Mrs. R. W. Lane; courtesy, Mrs. A. L. Burge; badges, Mrs. L. H. Anderson; registration, Mrs. Earl Eaton; credentials, Mrs. Claude Lard; publicity, Mrs. Roy Holt; decoration, Mrs. R. B. Fisher; pages, Mrs. W. B. Murphy; printing, Mrs. L. C. McCarty.

Transportation, Mrs. F. M. Culbertson; house, Mrs. W. C. Hutchinson; luncheon, Mrs. E. A. Shackleton; tea, Mrs. Raymond Harrah; banquet, Mrs. J. M. Dodson; board luncheon, Mrs. L. L. McCole, Miss Elizabeth Kennedy, Mrs. Lard; program, Mrs. J. W. Garman; rooms, Mrs. C. F. Buckler; exhibits, Mrs. F. M. Showalter.

Mrs. C. J. Hunkapillar outlined in brief the convention program as it was tentatively planned by the district board at a recent meeting.

It was announced that about 400 delegates are expected during the meeting, but that rooms must be provided for only about 200. Mrs. Buckler and her committee will start work at once to secure rooms for the visitors.

Various organizations in the city are cooperating in arrangements for the meeting. Mrs. Turner said with an expression of appreciation for their help.

Delegates were named to the county council meeting to be conducted at Webb school next month with election of officers as the chief business. They are Mrs. McCole, Eaton, Lard, Burge, and McCarty.

Son of Former King of Spain Critically Ill

HAVANA, Feb. 7 (AP)—The Count of Covadonga, 26-year-old, former heir to the Spanish throne who renounced his royal rights so he could marry a Cuban commoner, was critically ill today, a sufferer from the hemophilia common to male members of his family.

The count was reported near death last night at his apartment in the Vedado section of Havana and the papal nuncio, Jorge Caruana, administered extreme unction, but a spokesman announced today that a blood transfusion was proceeding successfully. A physician not associated directly with the case said the count was suffering from an abscess of the leg, the result of a slight blow he received some time ago. The count's hemophilia, a disease in which the blood lacks the clotting quality which normally stops the flow of blood, is of the type in which the patient bleeds under the skin from any kind of blow, the physician explained. A piling up of the blood causes abscesses. Two efforts to complete a blood transfusion were made yesterday and another one last night before the attempt which was described as proceeding successfully. The blood donor was Luis Menocal, a Cuban medical student.

U. S. and Canada Clinch Berths in 2nd Hockey Round GARMISCH—PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany, Feb. 7 (AP)—The United States and Canada clinched berths in the next round of Olympic hockey competition today, as the skiers and luge men opened their petition with downhill racing and the bob-sledders ran into an indefinite postponement because of the poor condition of the run. Displaying much better form than in their defeat of Germany, 1-0, yesterday, the American hockey representatives turned back Switzerland, 3-0, with a dazzling second period offensive that netted all three goals inside one minute of play. Canada, the defending champion, meantime, crushed Latvia, 11-0, for its second victory in as many days. Both the United States and Canada thus qualified for the second series of round robin which will lead to the crowning of an Olympic champion. Each has one more game in the first round robin series yet to play, the American hockey team Italy and Canada with Austria, but these can not affect the safe passage of the two prime favorites into the next round. Under the system here the top two ranking teams in each of the four groups into which the 15 challengers are divided, qualify for the second round. An 11-year-old London boy was awarded $6,000 damages recently for injuries received when the clapper of a church bell he was ringing fell on his head.

Pair Convicted Of Fence-Cutting

HASKELL, Feb. 7 (AP)—Frontier day ran; troubles were recalled today when two men were convicted of cutting fences and stealing cow hides. Old timers said it was the first time in plains history that convictions had been obtained for fence cutting, although they remembered gun fights resulting from this offense.

W. L. Webb and Charlie Grey, both from Paducah, were given two-year prison sentences. They were arrested a week ago in Plainview while trying to dispose of 2,300 pounds of hides. Both pleaded guilty.

Boxing Tourney

ROSSELL, N. M., Feb. 7 (AP)—New Mexico Military Institute will sponsor an annual invitation boxing and wrestling tournament here Feb. 28 and 29. Invitations have been extended Texas Tech, West Texas State Teachers college, New Mexico Aggies, Eastern New Mexico Junior college, New Mexico Normal, New Mexico School of Mines and New Mexico State Teachers college.

Fire loss in 1935 for Beaumont, Tex., was placed at $1.45 per capita one of the lowest averages in the country.

Applicants for Pensions Must List Property

AUSTIN, Feb. 7—Because $7,500 worth of property for a married and $5,000 for a single person are listed as legal qualifications under the Old Age Assistance commission, necessarily should be able to give adequate description of all real property owned, as well as personal property if the latter is valued at $1,000 or more...

Applicants will be able to get blanks in their own locality February 14. These forms may be filed as soon as filled out by applicants.

Secretary of Rome Conclave Dies of Stroke

ROME, Feb. 7 (AP)—Luigi, Cardinal Sincero, secretary of the Rome conclave, died today. The 66-year-old Cardinal, secretary of the congregation of the Oriental church, suffered a paralytic stroke last month at his home. He had been appointed by Pope Pius XII, 1934, to succeed the late Cardinal Gasparri as president of the commission for codification of Oriental Canon Law. He was created a Cardinal in 1933. A former Canon and professor in the Seminary at Verelli, in Piedmont, the then-monsignor Sincero was called to Rome some years ago as auditor of the holy sacred tribunal of the Rota, the court which, among other duties, is entitled to grant annulment of marriages between Catholics.

After the death of Pope Benedict 14 years ago, he became secretary of the conclave, a position second only to that of membership in the sacred college of Cardinals. When Pope Pius was elected, the secretary of the conclave assisted him in donning the pontifical robes and kneeling before his holiness, handed him the white cap of the pontiff. Pope Pius, who elevated the conclave secretary to the cardinalate, sent his blessing when Cardinal Sincero became seriously ill.

SENATE COMMITTEE SPLIT OVER PERMANENT NEUTRALITY STATUTE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—A three-way split in the senate foreign relations committee that threatens to block enactment of permanent neutrality legislation at this session was disclosed today by interviews with members. Ten of the 23 committee members favored the administration's bill; eight advocated extension of the present temporary law, three urged the Nye mandatory measure, and two were undecided.

The present law clamps a mandatory embargo on munitions shipments to belligerents and says Americans travel on belligerent ships at their own risk. The administration proposal would go further, permitting the president to limit many American exports, except food and medicine, to "normal" levels. It would prohibit loans to belligerents. The Nye measure would compel the president to report to congress normal if he deemed it in the interest of neutrality; it would permit him to set up a "cash and carry" system under which belligerents themselves would have to carry away their purchases from America. American ships would not be permitted to do it. Among the 10 senators lining up with the administration bill, there were a number of reservations and proposals for changes which pointed to added difficulty in reaching an agreement. With the present law expiring in three weeks, many committee members said it would be impossible to place a permanent law on the books within that time. They said the temporary act would have to be extended. Some senators felt that once the present law was extended, pressure for enactment of a permanent law at this session would relax. Chairman Pittman (D-Nev) has consistently asserted, however, that the drive for permanent legislation would go on as well as the present style.

For extending the present temporary law: Wagner (D-N.Y.), Lewis (D-III), Thomas (D-Utah), Murray (D-Mont), Borah (R-Ida), Johnson (R-Cali), Shipstead (FL-Minn) and Chavez (D-N.M.). For a mandatory law along the lines of the Nye proposal: Capper (R-Kan), La Follette (Prog-Wis), and White (R-Me). Undecided: Buckley (D-Ohio), Vandenberg (R-Mich). Commonly voiced opposition to the Pittman proposal for withdrawing protection to American commerce.

Armed Convicts Walk to Freedom

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 7 (AP)—Four armed convicts walked to freedom from the main entrance of Frankfort state reformatory early today after overpowering two guards and looting the prison arsenal.

The gang, three of them life-termers, held up a taxicab at the gate and made their getaway before the break was discovered by prison officials. Using knives to intimidate two attendants at the hospital ward, the four handcuffed Luther Bunn, night captain of guards, to an X-ray machine. With their leader disguised in Dunn's coat and cap, they were admitted to the outer gate by Robert Wells, a guard who was slugged into unconsciousness. James Morris, 27, Anthonia, Ky., life-term bank robber who led an escape of five convicts last May, was one of the four who escaped, and was believed to be the leader. The others were Dexter Anderson, 23, and Henry Coomer, 22, both life-term murderers; and Clarence Crawford, 26, whose sentences for forgery and for an escape last August totaled 13 years.

HARVESTERS WHAM PLAINVIEW 33-23; WILL TACKLE WESTERNERS TONIGHT

ANOTHER WIN WOULD CLING LEAGUE TITLE

HARVESTERS EXPECTING FURIOUS BATTLE AT AMARILLO

The Harvesters basketballers expect to have a harder time tonight whamming Lubbock's knob than they did last night when they routed Plainview's record 33 to 23 on the Bulldog court.

The Pampa cagers snatched the lead in the first stanza and hummed a song of victory throughout the entire melee. The score at the first quarter was 4 to 1; 13 to 7 at the half; 24 to 18 at the third quarter.

The Pampans were cheered by the arrival of Bill Anderson, E. G. Gordon, high school teachers, Aaron Meek, Baker school principal, and Ruel Morgan who drove down to take Junior Strickland his basketball shoes, and to see the game. Junior lay in borrowed shoes at Turkey—shoes that were a size too small. He left the game on personnel in the third quarter. Last night, he made up for his negligence in leaving the shoes and copped highest scoring honors with a total of 15 points, five field goals and three free shots. Stokes, Green, and Moose Hartman, forwards, tied for second place with seven points each. Jones made two points and Ayer, four.

Carroll and Chisum led the scoring for Plainview with six points each.

The Harvesters will win the Panhandle basketball league championship in a row tonight if they hurdle the Westerners whom they defeated in Pampa 31 points on a night when the Pampans played their best game of the season. Last night's victory was the Harvesters' 29th of the season. Their only defeat was a 23 to 20 loss to Turkey's Turks, beaten 24 to 22 by the Harvesters at Turkey Wednesday night.

On Saturday night, the Pampans will go to Amarillo to clash again with the blood-lusting Sandies who recent scores against Borger and Friona indicate have improved more than any team in the Panhandle. A nip and tuck battle is expected, and it is almost certain that the Harvesters will have to put out everything they have to lay the Sandstorm low. The Sandies were barely nosed out by four points by the Friona Chiefs, rated as the best team in the Panhandle, recently. Last Saturday night, the Amarillians shipped the Borger Bulldogs 30 to 26 in a surprise game.

Grid Practice For 'Outsiders' Is Frowned on

PORT WORTH, Feb. 7 (AP)—Southwest conference authorities have indicated they would frown on the practice of using students not enrolled in school in spring football practice.

E. W. McDiarmid of Texas Christian, president of the conference, said reports that one school had used "outsiders" led him to write all member institutions that such a practice was against the spirit of the conference rules.

He did not name the school but said it had been reported junior college transfers and high school graduates not enrolled in the institution had been invited to take part in spring training. He said there was no objection to newly enrolled students participating in training.

'Daffy' Dean Wants Bigger Contract; Is Now On Farm

Thinks Well of Self
But More of Big Brother, Diz

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

CARLAND, Texas, Feb. 7 (AP)—Paul (Not So Daffy) Dean, vice-president of the dazzling Dean outfit, leaned on a plow down on his farm here today and allowed his pitching arm never felt better—and was worth more.

Diz's younger brother definitely announced that his efforts this season were going to cost the St. Louis Cardinals considerable more dollars.

"I haven't got my contract yet," said Daffy, "but it's gonna have to be bigger than it was last year. They tell me I'm too young to be making so much money. Well, I'm old enough to win a danged lot of ball games for 'em."

"Last year they told me that a young player never came to the big leagues and made more in two years than I did. You know what I told 'em? I told 'em they never had any Paul Deans up there before."

Modestly, Paul gave "Diz" most of the credit for the success of the Dean and Dean combine.

"I haven't heard from Diz lately but I know he'll be asking for a big raise in salary. Gosh, Diz is worth $40,000 to the Cards, or any other ball club. If they ever lost him they'd just have to shut the ball park gates."

"Say, did you hear that fellow on the radio the other night rank some of the country's big men? Well, he had President Roosevelt first, of course, and Diz in fourth place. They was swell—only fourth is a little low for Diz."

Between pig squeals and cow moos, Paul suggested that a sort of a union for the protection of unprotected ball players is what the national league needs.

"The way it is now," Farmer Dean explained, "club owners have the best of the players. If some of the big boys in baseball would get together and form a union and hire a smart college professor to help them on salary terms and other little troubles, we'd get along fine."

"If Judge Landis would approve something like that ball players would be getting somewhere."

The National league race this season? The St. Louis Cards are practically hoisting the pennant now, says Paul, with Chicago, New York, and Pittsburgh looking on from first division posts.

"Frankie Frisch is the smartest man in baseball," gouth Farmer Dean. "He'll bring us in all right. I saw where Diz says he is good for 26 games this year. Well, I tell you, Diz could win 30 if he wanted to."

"I won't say exactly how many I'm gonna win but I'll be trying for all of 'em. It should be better than the 19 games I won last year."

Paul's 80-acre farm has hogs, sheep, cows, mules, and a "danged good dirt." He divides his time between it and the golf course. He's anxious for next Monday to roll around. He makes his tournament debut in the Tenison park open at Dallas.

And his attractive wife, as his "unofficial manager," is responsible for his success.

DAVIS CUP DONOR SEES NET EVENT AS GOOD WILL FACTOR

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Feb. 7 (AP)—The man who gave the Davis cup to tennis competition declares the 35-year-old trophy "has a remarkable record of accomplishments in international good will."

Dwight F. Davis, 56-year-old former secretary of war, so expressed himself as he sat back before a log fire in his brown brick plantation house near here, relaxing after a day of hunting quail over his 3,000 acres.

"Three ambassadors told me the Davis cup had done more for international good feeling than they had ever been able to do," he said. "Well I guess that is a little exaggerated, but it has been very remarkable."

Started British-U. S. Rivalry

Just out of Harvard and a member of the national doubles championship team, Davis donated the cup in 1900. His plan was to have it known as the "international lawn tennis championship trophy," with the donor's identity kept in mind, but a newspaperman found out where it came from and tagged the cup with the name that stuck.

Davis' original aim was to promote competition between the United States and England.

"Frankly, I like to tell myself that it had all the world in mind when I offered the trophy, but just between us, I didn't at all," he said. "I had no idea it would become so important."

"The competitions," he went on, "have taught people the world over that sportsmanship—whatever you find them—are pretty good fellows."

SKELLY QUINT BEATS GIBSON PIPER'S 48-37

HIGGINS TOURNAMENT IS ALSO WON BY OILERS

The Skelly Oilers won a 43 to 37 battle with the Gibson Pipers of Borger Wednesday night in the Borger high school gymnasium. It was the fifth consecutive win in a series of the Skelly-hungry Oilers. The score was tied at 20-20 at the half.

Hawkins led the Oilers scoring parade with 16 points, one more than Knowles shot for the Borgerites. Hayes, Oiler center, and Swafford, Pifer forward, each looped 11 points. The referee handed out 29 penalties. Skellytown drawing 15 and Borger one less.

The Oilers won the Higgins Invitation tournament last week, defeating the Perryton OCC team, Arnett, and Darrouzett. Smith was high point man in the opening game, looping 18 points. McCollum led the scoring in the other games making 29 points against Arnett and 17 points against Darrouzett.

Mobestie fell before the Oilers, 25 to 19, in Mobestie Tuesday night.

The Oilers are looking for games on Wednesday and Thursday nights of next week.

FIRST DOWN -AND THEN SOME

BY HARRY GRAYSON

When Dr. James A. Naismith had the janitor fasten a chain basket to the balcony at either end of the Springfield, Mass., college gym during the winter of 1891-2, onlookers were amused.

When Dr. Naismith lined up 10 men and tossed a soccer ball into the air, they felt sorry for him.

"Peach ball," some labeled it, and most of them agreed that the game would be a failure. The janitor, who had to use a ladder to remove the ball each time a basket was scored, was sure that "basketball" was a farce.

But today only golf, tennis, and billiards are comparable with basketball as international games. And basketball far exceeds all of them combined in number of participants and spectators.

Although on the Olympic games program for the first time this year, basketball is played skillfully in 26 countries. It is estimated that 5,000,000 games are played annually, with 25,000,000 players competing, and five times that number looking on.

Basketball easily should account for $50,000 or more of the $350,000 American Olympic games fund.

It is fitting that every organization and institution in the United States that has a representative basketball team has designated one of its contests scheduled between Feb. 7 and 15, as a Naismith game. They are to contribute a penny for each admission.

Every official and coach is to chip in a dollar toward a fund that will send Dr. and Mrs. Naismith to the Olympics, establish a small annuity, and start a memorial either at Springfield or Lawrence, where the hoop sport is a member of the physical education department of Kansas University. Dr. Naismith will retire this year.

The original rules of the game were written before any practical game experiment had taken place and were posted in the Springfield college gymnasium. When the time for the trial contest came, students were reluctant to try the game. It was only after Dr. Naismith requested it as a favor to him that play started.

From the time the first ball was thrown up to the present day, participants have required no urging.

COACH WILL DEFEND USE OF LIQUOR FOR FOOTBALL TEAM

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 7 (AP)—University of Wisconsin regents turned to Dr. Clarence W. Spears today for his defense against testimony that he ordered liquor for football players and used injured men on the field.

At the second hearing into the tangled athletic situation at the university by five men regents' committee, Trainer William J. Fallon said yesterday that Head Coach Spears instructed him to mix liquor and coffee for a stimulant during the 1932 Minnesota game.

Fallon said a brandy and coffee mixture was ordered by Spears before last season's Northwestern game to supplant the usual orange juice and sugar.

Two staff members at Wisconsin general hospital told the regents the liquor was purchased through them and recorded at the institution on the bench.

Spears was described by Basketball Coach Harold Foster as offering "masked for advice" about basketball. Foster said he was not intimate with Spears and had nothing against him.

Patty Berg to Meet Mrs. Hill In Semi-Finals

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Feb. 7 (AP)—Stokey little Patty Berg, golf's latest sensation, today found stalwart Mrs. Opal Hill disputing her right to a finals berth in the Miami Billmore women's tournament.

Matched in the other semi-finals after yesterday's double eliminations were Mrs. Maureen Orestis Crews, Miami ace, and Miss Marion Miley, sterling young campaigner from Lexington, Ky.

Always a strong contender, Mrs. Hill's record of five strokes under women's par for the 36 holes she has played in eliminating her opponents indicated she was at the top of her game.

The 17-year-old Minneapolis school girl was expected to need all her brilliance and courage to justify her favorite's ranking with a victory over the Kansas City veteran.

Yesterday Mrs. Hill defeated Mrs. Joe Byrdell, finalist last year, 10 and 8 in the quarter-finals, finishing the match at the 10th green three under standard figures.

Floppy Patty's double-blowing having over troubles, twice blowing two-hole leads before downing up.

STICK POWER CONCENTRATED IN LEFT FIELD

BEST HITTERS OF BOTH LEAGUES PATROL FIELD AREA

BY ALAN GOULD,
Associated Press Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7 (AP)—A big chunk of the batting power being sought by major league ball clubs for the coming pennant push should be generated by the broad-shouldered boys of the left field patrol. Outside of first base, no other position seems to carry so much clotting ability.

Among the National league's guardians of left field there are such leadoff hitters as Joe Moore of the New York Giants and Forrest Jensen of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and such cleaner-uppers as Joe Medwick of the St. Louis Cardinals, Babe Herman of the Cincinnati Reds and George Watkins of the Phillies.

All except Watkins were in the 300 class most of last season. Medwick at 353 was the runner-up to Shortstop Arky Vaughan of the Pirates for league batting honors.

Over in the American league ranks there's an equally potent crew, led by Cleveland's Joe Vossik, who had the batting crown apparently all wrapped up last September, until Buddy Myer of the Senators came along and snatched it away by a one-point margin.

Vossik tops a left-field list including the durable Goose Goslin, who supplied the winning world series blow for the Tigers. Helme Marich also has been in the job vacated by Roy Johnson in the Red Sox outfield; Julius Solters, a sensation with the St. Louis Browns; Ray Radcliff of the Chicago White Sox; and Bob Johnson, one of the few regulars left on the roster of the Athletics.

The New York Yankees probably will install Roy Johnson, obtained by way of Washington, in left field. This will depend, however, upon what Joe Di Maggio, the rambunctious rookie, shows in training camp. Marich is expected to fill the job vacated by Roy Johnson in the Red Sox outfield; Julius Solters, a sensation with the St. Louis Browns; Ray Radcliff of the Chicago White Sox; and Bob Johnson, one of the few regulars left on the roster of the Athletics.

OWLS DEFEAT BAYLOR BEARS IN 32-23 TILT

ARKANSAS IS LEADING IN SOUTHWEST CONFERENCE

(By The Associated Press)

The Rice Owls, winners over the Baylor Bears last night at Houston by a score of 32 to 23, remained a strong contender in the Southwest conference basketball race today as four other teams return to competition tonight after a mid-term holiday.

The Southern Methodist Mustangs will meet the Arkansas Razorbacks at Fayetteville and Baylor will play A. & M. at College Station. The Ponies will remain in Arkansas, for another game tomorrow night and the Texas Christian Horned Frogs will go to Austin for a contest with the Texas Longhorns.

Playing a flashy game all the way through, the Owls had little trouble in disposing of the Bears. "Spot" Owen, guard, led the Rice offensive, accounting for 15 points to lead scoring.

The Bears made one sustained bid in the second half, when Wray dropped in a follow shot and Wilfong shot a field goal from near the center of the court. The Rice defense tightened, however, and had the situation well in hand the rest of the game.

The Standings:

Arkansas	W	L	Pct
Arkansas	3	1	.750
Texas	3	1	.750
Rice	5	2	.714
S. M. U.	2	2	.500
Baylor	4	3	.556

CANN GIVES 'VIOLET TINGE' TO OLYMPIC CAGE PROSPECTS

By CHARLES GRUMICH
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, (AP)—The city-bred all-around athlete who has hailed in 1920 as the "greatest basketball player in the world" is steering the Violets of New York University toward a shot at Olympic and world supremacy on the maple courts.

Howard (Jake) Cann, pilot of the perennially powerful basketball Violets, is chary, as usual, about predictions, but partisans of N. Y. U. figure their courtsters will be among the favorites in the collegiate elimination events leading up to the Olympic trout tournament here in April.

Nineteen consecutive triumphs stood behind the Cann-coached Violets when they laid off competition until February 5, taking their mid-season examination-time "breathery."

Headliners at Madison Square Garden's regular basketball program played before capacity audiences, the Violets this season have bowled over such rivals as the University of California, Dartmouth, Furud, Princeton, Fordham, Kentucky, Columbia and North Carolina.

Impressive Record

In Cann's regime as head coach, dating back to the 1923 season, N. Y. U. has won 139 games and lost 97.

The Violets went through the 1933-34 campaign undefeated, winning 16 straight games, and they were beaten but once last season on a 20-game schedule. Their only conqueror in 1935 was Yale, which broke their long string of victories with a 33-29 triumph in overtime.

Cann, a quiet, taciturn though popular faculty member, teaches the man-to-man defense and a combination fast-breaking and delayed fast-breaking offense. His Violets are adept with every kind of shot and plenty of difficulty holding the visitors in check with the first quarter ending 9 to 8 in favor of the Borger team.

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "The natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned" (I Cor. 2:14).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The suppositional antipode of divine infinite Spirit is the so-called human soul or spirit, in other words the five senses—the flesh that warreth against Spirit. These so-called material senses must yield to the infinite Spirit, named God" (page 200).

"I suffered a great deal with pain in my side and a weakness in my back," writes Mrs. Walter Page, of Evansville, Ind. "This made me so nervous I couldn't rest. Each month I would suffer all over and would have to go to bed. One of my neighbors told me how Cardui helped her, so I took it and it helped me. After taking eight bottles, I was much better. I surely can recommend Cardui for weakness and pain."
Of course, if Cardui does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

RULES FOR SANE, CORRECT DRIVING

The need for a nationalized traffic control system continues, but likely will not soon be adopted. Meanwhile, valuable work is being done by many agencies. The Magnolia Petroleum company, for example, is posting safety rules throughout its properties. We quote: "If you find it necessary to be constantly blowing your horn and jamming on your brakes, you are a poor and discourteous driver. Causes of vehicle accidents: 1. Ignorance of how to drive a vehicle. 2. Discourtesy, inconsistency, and indifference to the rights of others. 3. Daredevil chance-taking due to lack of judgment. 4. Defective equipment. 5. Physical or mental disability of driver."

Then the following highlights on correct driving are given:

1. Drive according to the rules of the road and sometimes give the other fellow the right-of-way, even though it is not legally his.

2. Safe speed depends upon the traffic, road, weather, pedestrians, livestock, clear vision ahead, and other conditions. Under certain conditions, 15 miles an hour is too fast.

3. On the highway, traveling at a rate of 30 miles per hour, maintain an interval of at least two car lengths between your vehicle and the vehicle ahead.

4. Sound your horn before passing another vehicle traveling in the same direction.

5. Make sure you have ample time to pass without obstructing the way of vehicles approaching from the opposite direction. Do not cut in too short after passing.

6. Never attempt to pass another vehicle traveling in the same direction on the top of a hill, on a curve, winding road, or at any other place where the view is obstructed.

7. Never attempt to pass another vehicle at an intersection.

8. Drive to the right of the center line of the road and on roads sufficiently wide for more than one lane of traffic each way; drive in the right-hand lane.

9. The left-hand side of the road belongs to the other fellow. You are at fault if your vehicle collides with another on that side of the road even though you are passing another vehicle.

10. You are trespassing on the other fellow's rights when you pull over to the left of the road on a left curve.

11. Indicate your turns by arm signals and watch other vehicles to see that your signals are understood. (To indicate a right turn, raise the left arm; left arm extended straight out means left turn; lowered left arm indicates that the driver is going to stop.)

12. Drive slowly when approaching bridges or culverts. When in doubt, stop and wait for the approaching vehicle to cross first.

13. Never dash up to the left of a line of vehicles waiting for the "Go" signal or the traffic to clear, and cut in ahead of the line.

14. Never attempt to turn around on the highway unless sufficient clear vision assures you that turning can be done before another vehicle can approach from any direction.

15. Slow down when approaching underpasses, and keep to the right when driving through.

16. Approach intersections at a rate of speed which will make it possible for you to stop should another vehicle, a pedestrian, or a stop-sign appear before you.

17. If it becomes necessary for you to jam on your brakes to comply with traffic lights, you are traveling too fast at the intersection, and at fault if the fellow behind hits you.

18. Indiscriminately cutting in and out of traffic lanes will eventually get you into trouble.

19. Be on the alert for pedestrians crossing in the middle of the block.

20. Drive slowly in the vicinity of schools and in neighborhoods where children may be at play. Always stop before passing a school bus stopped on highway or street, and if it is taking on or discharging passengers, do not proceed until the bus is moving.

21. Make sure of what the other fellow is going to do before pulling out into an intersection after a stop.

22. To make a left turn, get into the traffic lane nearest the center line of the street or highway before approaching the intersection and to make a right turn, likewise into the lane nearest the curb.

23. To go through an intersection wide enough for three lanes of traffic in one direction, get into the middle lane before approaching the intersection.

24. Govern your speed at night by the clear vision ahead, provided by your lights. Have your vehicle under sufficient control to be able to stop within clear vision.

25. Never indulge in horse-play while driving. REMEMBER: That two correctly driven vehicles cannot collide!

CAPITOL CHATTER

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, Feb. 7. (AP)—A scramble is forecast in the coming primary elections for the democratic nomination for congress from the 18th district, comprising a group of good counties in the northern portion of the state.

Several aspirants have signified intention to file for the office, reports reaching Austin state. W. D. McFarlane of Graham represents the district. The prospective candidates include two members of the state senate, Grady Woodruff of Decatur and Ben G. Oneal of Wichita Falls.

Woodruff and Oneal are strategically located if they can hold their local strength and make a good showing in other counties. Oneal's home town carries a heavy portion of the vote while five of six counties in Woodruff's senatorial district, including a heavy vote in Denton county, are in the congressional area.

Should Woodruff or Oneal win it would open the way for other tries to fill a senatorial vacancy. Mentioned as a possible candidate for the Senate in event Woodruff should win is Rep. Herman Jones, serving his first term in the house from Wise county.

Withdrawal of Rep. Martin Dies from the race for the democratic nomination for United States senator has left only one announced challenger to Morris Sheppard. His opponent will be Congressman Joe Eagle of Houston who said he was "in the race to stay."

Dies had been seriously considering the race for several months but withdrew, stating he did not have enough funds to make the campaign.

Dies will face opposition for re-nomination. Clyde E. Smith, assistant secretary of state, having resigned to make the race. Smith campaigned for the nomination for attorney general in the 1934 primary and almost nosed into the runoff.

FIRE ESCAPE

MISOULA, Mont. (AP)—A young man slid down in his seat at a movie theater here. Then startled neighbors heard him yell, saw him jerk at his belt, toss his trousers into the aisle and spring bare-legged for an exit. Matches in his hip pocket had ignited a celluloid comb.

NEW TAX BILL MAY BE HELD TO LOW SUM

NO TAXES TO FINANCE BONUS FORECAST BY LEADERS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. (AP)—Major moves designed to avert any wrathful reaction from the taxpaying and consuming public were in the making today as the government proceeded with its farm and financing plans.

1. Senator Wagner (D-N Y.), with the support of other prominent democrats, led a movement to alter the newest substitute for AAA in an effort to allay any apprehension that "scarcity" economics would be practiced.

2. Democratic leaders were open in forecasting that the administration would not ask any taxes this year to finance the bonus. Thus the tax bill expected to be transmitted to capitol hill next week would be largely limited to the $400,000,000 or $5,000,000,000 estimated necessary to finance the new farm program.

The sentiment in congress for making the tax bill as small as possible in a campaign year became virtually an insistent demand. The powerful house steering committee went on record in secret session, as opposed to new taxes now to pay the soldiers' bonus of more than $2,000,000,000.

Chairman Sabath (D-Ill.), who disclosed the vote, said:

"We understand the president has evolved a scheme by which we could find the money somewhere else."

The Wagner suggestion gained support as expected vote next Monday or Tuesday.

(The bill would provide a system of subsidies to farmers who would cooperate in "conserving soil" by withdrawing acreage from commercial crop production. The government would grant the subsidies either directly to the farmer, or indirectly through states which desired to cooperate in the plan. In apportioning the money, officials would take into consideration acreage and value of major crops produced by farmers in a period of the past.)

Senator Wagner wants to make sure that a normal production period be chosen as the basis for subsidies—not a period when crops were short. He seeks to "allay any apprehension that this is a program of scarcity."

Creager Denies Being Injured

TOPEKA, Kas., Feb. 7. (AP)—Reports that R. H. Creager, republican national committee man from Texas, had been slightly injured in an automobile accident here Jan. 24 developed an unforeseen aftermath today.

Creager, upon learning of the published reports, denied at Brownsville, Tex., that he had been in an accident and said he was not within 300 miles of Topeka on Jan. 24. Then an investigation here disclosed that a man representing himself to be Creager had telephoned the governor's office, seeking an appointment with Governor Alf M. Landon. He told of a purported automobile mishap en route to Cleveland, O. Willard Mayberry, the executive secretary said.

Landon was out of the office and the man said he would see the governor on his return to Topeka. In the meantime, he said his chauffeur would have the car repaired. The governor's office was asked to help get a check cashed, "if necessary."

The playing of fine music at meals was called "almost an insult" by Sir Hugh Allen at a dinner of the Incorporated Society of Musicians London.

A Vice President's Flag at Last!

Well may John Nance Garner regard this flag with interest and pride as his teeth clench down on his cigar. It's his flag, the first time in 150 years that a vice president of the United States has had a flag of his own. The banner is white, with blue stars, while the presidential flag is blue with white stars.

'This Is the Way We Wash the Clothes,' Sing Dionne Quins

"Early Monday morning . . ." the Dionne quintuplets were surprised by the camera, which caught them getting their first taste of domestic duty. That's Annette standing up so proudly at left, while Yvonne tries out a miniature flatiron on the ironing-board. Cecile explores the possibilities of a tiny tin laundry tub, while Emilie intently studies a washboard. Marie prefers just to sit on the floor and try the taste of a clothespin. It's all in fun, but what fun!

Umpire Gets A-Head—and Hat

When a Texan gets ahead in the world, the state crowns his achievements in a large way—with a 10-gallon hat. Lee Ballanfant, Texas League umpire, is the latest to receive the big chapeau. It was tendered in recognition of his promotion to the National League. Rangerette Carrölya Durham makes the presentation on behalf of the Texas Centennial Exposition at Dallas.

Exhibit-Getter

Upon Paul M. Massmann, formerly with the Chicago Century of Progress and the San Diego Exposition, falls the task of lining up and handling the exhibits and concessions at the Texas Centennial Exposition which opens June 6. Success of his efforts is shown by the fact that more than 80 per cent of the exhibit space on the big Dallas lot already is under contract.

'Hell 'n' Maria's' Niece to Wed

Engagement of Miss Helen Dawes, niece of former Vice President Charles G. "Hell 'n' Maria" Dawes and daughter of Rufus C. Dawes, to Louis F. Watermuller, stirred great interest in Chicago society circles. Watermuller is the son of the Rev. G. A. Watermuller of Lawrence, Kan.

Milestones of American Genius

Memorial to the cotton gin inventor.

ELI WHITNEY

THE mechanical and engineering genius which has made America the world's foremost industrial nation is symbolized by the figure of one of our first and most significant inventors, Eli Whitney. Not only his technical talents, but the elements of ambition and pertinacity in his character, place him in the roster of great Americans whose memory is a perpetual source of inspiration.

Eli Whitney was 24 years old before he succeeded in entering Yale for the education which he craved as a basis for his inventive urge. Poverty and the opposition of his parents had prevented him before that. He had been born at Westboro, Mass., on December 8, 1765, and his mechanical ingenuity was evident from childhood. His perseverance against immense odds enabled him to turn that ingenuity to account. By saving for years out of small earnings from odd jobs he accumulated the wherewithal for a belated education.

Chance led him to Savannah after completing the college course. There he observed the tedious manual method of cleaning raw cotton. He heard of the decision of many of the foremost planters to abandon cotton growing as unprofitable. The problem fired his imagination.

Within a year Eli Whitney produced the first model of his cotton gin, which accomplished in an hour what it had taken many days to do by hand. Overnight almost the cotton industry became a leading source of American wealth and power, and King Cotton sat enthroned on Eli Whitney's cotton gin.

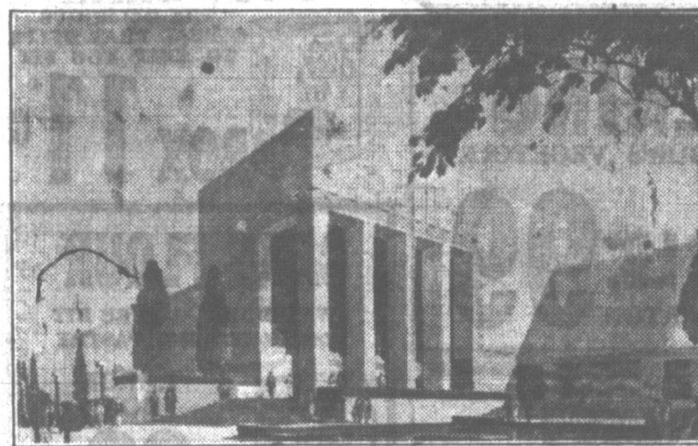

Two years before the epoch-making invention, American cotton exports were a scant 20,000 pounds. Twenty-five years later they had mounted to 270,000,000—and this growth was due primarily to the Yankee grit and American daring of the self-made inventor.

The cotton gin brought its inventor but little personal financial return. It was not until some years later, when his improvements in firearms made him more affluent, that he was able to taste the comfortable existence that his genius merited.

Eli Whitney died on January 8, 1825, at New Haven, Conn. The North, which was his home, and the South, which he had so vastly enriched, joined in mourning the nation's loss. The dignified sarcophagus memorial which marks his last resting place in a New Haven cemetery—shown in the sketch above—expresses aptly the nobility of his character and the solid worth of a pioneer industrial inventor.

$230,000 for Foods' Display

The architect's sketch above is of the $230,000 Hall of Foods and Beverages at the Texas Centennial Exposition in Dallas. Already work is well under way on this building, with its apparent completion due six weeks before the opening date of the Exposition, June 6.

Heads Exhibit

Father J. J. O'Donohoe, of Sherman, Texas, is in charge of the Catholic Exhibit which will be a religious feature of the Texas Centennial Exposition in Dallas. He holds a clump of Crucifixion Thorns, found only in a limited area of the arid Southwest and in the Holy Land.

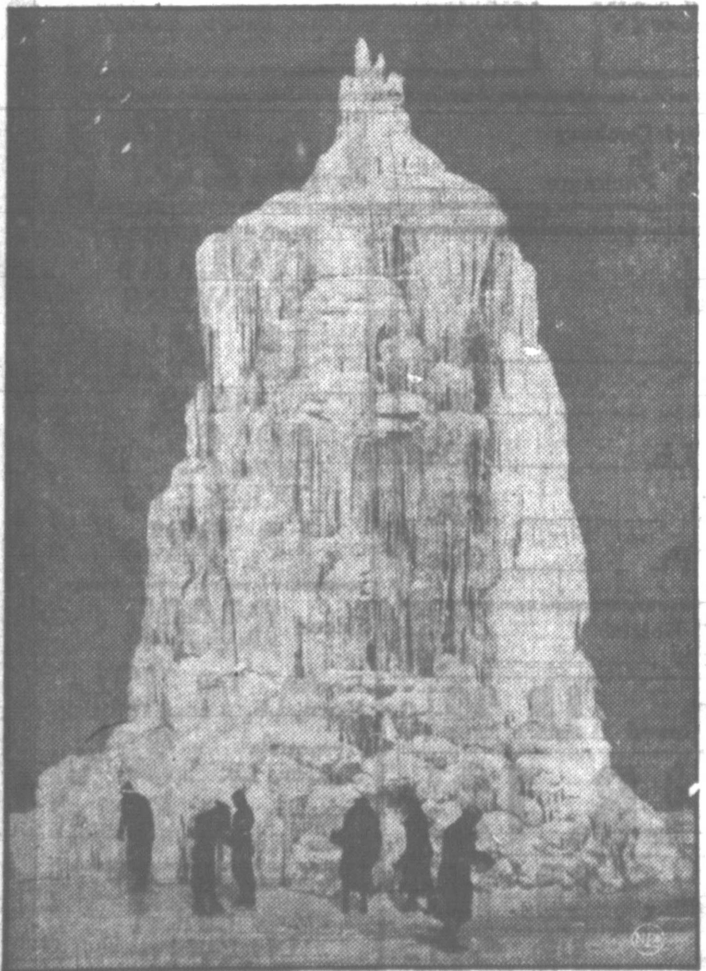

Really painless dentistry may at last be possible through use of the new tooth desensitizer developed by Dr. Leroy L. Hartman (above), of Columbia University, who has given to the dental profession the formula for the new compound, which should cost less than one cent per application. Tests in clinics and private practice have shown the compound to provide a great advance in dental surgery.

Temple in Tree's Crushing Embrace

Like the fabled Old Man of the Sea, whose embrace never could be broken, the huge roots of a tropical tree have entwined an abandoned temple in Sumatra, crushing the sturdy stone walls in its relentless grip. Tribal legend recites how the builders of the temple were captured by enemies. The swampy jungle engulfed the ruins of the abandoned village.

King Zero Is a Master Modeler

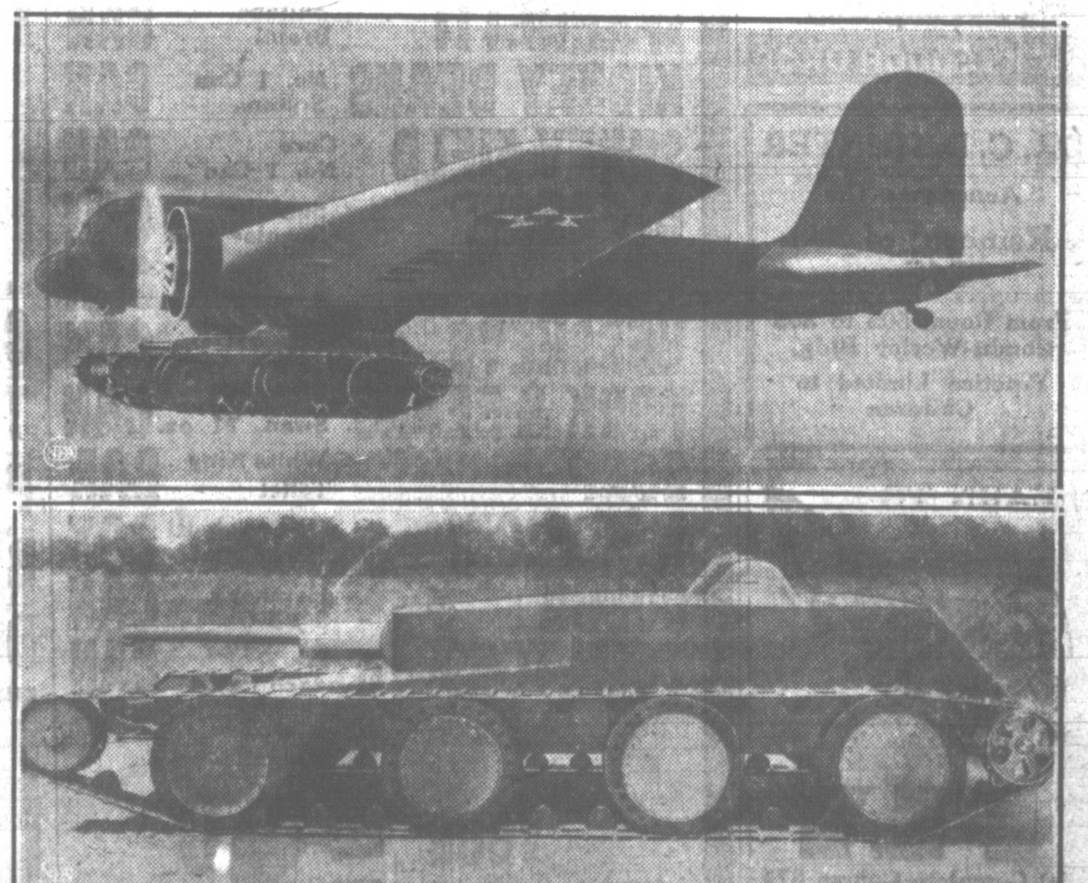

When shivering Detroiters see this gleaming tower of ice, like a fantastic dream in architecture they know that winter has arrived in full force. Flow of the fountain, in Belle Isle park, is started every year with the advent of cold weather, resulting in a spectacle of natural beauty that attracts thousands. Tons were added to the bulk of ice mass by the sub-zero wave which swept across the nation, taking more than 100 lives.

All Aboard! Quinmobile Is Ready to Take Off!

Being a quintuplet is itself a strange adventure, but it has brought other strange things to the Dionne babies. Here's the "Petite Dionne 5," latest model "Quinmobile," contrived by a San Francisco admirer of the babies and sent to their nursery. Annette grasps the wheel quite fearlessly, while Marie, Yvonne, Cecile, and Emilie hold fast for the ride. Don't worry, it goes nowhere except around the nursery floor. But even that's great fun, as you can see.

'Flying Tank' Visioned as New War Monster

A terrifying war machine that appears like the embodiment of a fantastic dream is the "flying tank" shown in the upper photographic composite with the plane that would carry it. In plans being developed by Walter J. Christie of New York, inventor of the convertible speed tank shown in the lower photo. The tank is shown suspended under the plane's fuselage. In landing, the wheels of the plane are lowered. The tank, its inventor asserts, is capable of traveling 65 miles an hour with caterpillars attached and 80 miles an hour without them. Its adoption is being considered by the U. S. government.

International Sunday School Lesson

By DR. J. E. NUNN

General topic: Jesus insists on Righteousness, Luke 8.
Scripture lesson: Luke 20:9-14.

Time: All the events of this chapter occurred in the early summer of A. D. 28.

Place: The plucking of the corn occurred near Capernaum. The healing of the man with the withered hand occurred in Galilee. The choice of the Twelve and the Sermon on the Mount both occurred near Capernaum.

6:30. And he spake also a parable unto them. Can the blind guide the blind? shall they not both fall into a pit?

40. The disciple is not above his teacher: but every one as he is perfected shall be as his teacher.

41. And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye?

42. Or how canst thou say to thy brother, Brother, let me cast out the mote that is in thine eye, when thou thyself beholdest not the beam that is in thine own eye? Thou hypocrite, cast out first the beam out of thine own eye, and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote that is in thy brother's eye.

43. For there is no good tree that bringeth forth corrupt fruit; nor again a corrupt tree that bringeth forth good fruit.

44. For each tree is known by its own fruit. For of thorns men do not gather figs, nor of a bramble bush gather they grapes.

45. The good man out of the good treasure of his heart bringeth forth that which is good; and the evil man out of the evil treasure bringeth forth that which is evil: for out of the abundance of the heart his mouth speaketh.

46. And why call ye me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?

47. Every one that cometh unto me, and heareth my words, and doeth them, I will show you to whom he is like:

48. He is like a man building a house, who digged and went deep, and laid a foundation upon the rock; and when a flood arose, the stream brake against that house, and could not shake it: because it had been well builded.

49. But he that heareth, and doeth not, is like a man that built a house upon the earth without a foundation; against which the stream brake, and straightway it fell in; and the ruin of that house was great.

In quite another connection in Matthew 15:14 may easily have been uttered several times, and is a commonplace in literature." Alfred Plummer.

The Tree and Its Fruit, V. 44
"For each tree is known by its own fruit." Thus we are not truly known by our ancestry, by the school at which we are educated, by the clothes that we wear, by the money we have in the bank, but we are known to others by the ripened products of our lives.

The Two Foundations, Luke 6:46-49
"And why call ye me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?" The work upon which we build is none other than the Lord Jesus Christ (1 Cor. 10:4). "And when a flood arose, the stream brake against the house." The Lord did not tell men that if they built upon the truth, they would escape the storms or tempests of life. He did not say that to build upon the rock would be synonymous with a life undisturbed by temptation and struggle.

The Earthly Foundation V. 49
"He that heareth, and doeth not, is like a man that built a house upon the earth without a foundation; against which the stream brake, and straightway it fell in; and the ruin of that house was great."

Introduction
One Sabbath day, the disciples, being hungry, plucked some of corn growing in a field through which they were walking, and rubbing them in their hands, satisfied their hunger by eating them. The Pharisees quickly threw at him the question, "Why do ye that which is not lawful to do on the Sabbath day?"

Jesus Heals on the Sabbath Day Luke 6:6-11
The Lord Jesus first commanded the man with the withered right hand to stand in the midst of these critics, and then, turning to the Pharisees and scribes, he asked a searching question: "Is it lawful on the Sabbath day, to do good or to do harm? to save a life, or to destroy it?"

Choosing the Twelve Disciples Luke 6:12-16
It is very significant that Jesus officially called the twelve apostles after a night spent alone in prayer, and immediately before his great Sermon on the Mount. This is the only place in the New Testament in which our Lord is said to have continued all night in prayer. The word translated "disciple" means, primarily, "learner," "pupil," "one who follows another's teaching," and, in the Gospels, "those among the Jews who favored the Lord Jesus, who joined his party, and became his adherents."

The Mote and the Beam, Vs. 41, 42
"Thou hypocrite, cast out first the beam out of thine own eye, and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote that is in thy brother's eye." The hypocrisy to which the Lord Jesus here refers, consists in the pretensions of one to being exceedingly particular about a speck of wood in the eye of another, when his own life is infinitely more seriously spotted or interpenetrated with evil, of which he either is not conscious, or, being conscious of it, is attempting to hide.

Can the Blind Guide the Blind?
The connection with what precedes perhaps is that, before judging others, we must judge ourselves; otherwise we shall be blind leaders of the blind. This saying, occurring

The STRANGE CASE of JULIA CRAIG

by Ned Jones

Copyright NEA 1936

Chapter V

For several days following Royal Nesbitt's visit, Julia was buoyed by the thought of his unmistakable enthusiasm for her singing. And Amy assured her continuously that Nesbitt's influence was wide—and that she never made a promise lightly.

But a week went by, then another, and she heard nothing more from Nesbitt. He did not visit Amy, and Julia's roommate had to admit that he hadn't telephoned the shop since the night he had said, "You can go places, Julia. I'm going to see that you do."

"I'm afraid he was just being nice to me, because he likes you," Julia told Amy.

"Don't you believe it. You'll hear something from him when you least expect it. I wouldn't be surprised if he calls up any day now and says he has a tryout arranged for you."

Julia laughed, but not too happily. "I'm sure you're the most incurable optimist in the world, Amy!"

When another week went by and she did not hear from Nesbitt she was sure she never would. He had, she told herself, tried to be polite—and now he was avoiding Amy as well as herself. "He must think me a fool," she thought. "And . . . perhaps I am."

But nevertheless she held stoutly her ground. The brush with Henry Lamb had served only to bring out a certain stubborn strength in her. Too, she wanted lightheartedly to show Peter Kemp that such an effortless trick as he had played on her was not nearly enough to discourage her in the ambition to become a singer in a night club.

The bitterness was in feeling defeat before she could even begin. She thought of applying at some of the entertainment agencies, but she pictured in her mind an ogre of an agent, dark and cynical, who would demand to know if she'd had experience. And laugh when she said she hadn't.

One night after work she did muster the courage to try one of the radio stations. The man who hired "the talent" was courteous enough, but he showed Julia a waiting list which looked like a page from the city directory. He told her, too, that as an unknown and untried singer she might have to suffer a period of anonymity even with an advertisement of a well-known food company, stating that at 3 o'clock they were sponsoring an air program featuring a famous orchestra. Woodford had been out of the building all morning, and remembering the advertisement, Julia slipped to the radio and turned the dial.

It was an orchestra that had won its reputation deservedly, and Julia listened entranced. Her gaze was out the window, but she saw neither the milling throngs in the street below, nor the dingy rooftop of the building next door. It was an orchestra whose insinuating rhythm made her want to dance and sing at once.

Presently they launched into one of her favorite modern tunes. Julia began to sing it in a whisper—but before the chorus was finished she was singing it clearly, oblivious to the world.

The music stopped suddenly on a low, plaintive note. Then, while she still stood there, an all-too-familiar voice said, "Very good, Miss Craig." It was George Woodford.

Julia turned, blushing furiously. "I—I'm sorry, Mr. Woodford." "Sorry?" he exclaimed, tossing his hat and overcoat on one of the big leather chairs. "Why should anyone be sorry for singing? You shouldn't apologize for that. Especially when you sing so beautifully."

He stood regarding her curiously, a little as if he were seeing her for the first time. Embarrassed under his steady gaze, Julia said, "I'd better get to work." She smiled ruefully, and switched off the radio.

"Just a moment, Miss Craig. That was really very nice. I took the liberty of listening all the way through it. Have you ever done anything like that — professionally. I mean?"

"I do forgive you," Julia told him. "I'd quite forgotten the matter."

"No . . ." she faltered. "I—I've thought I might like it."

Woodford's eyebrows raised in astonishment. "You have?" He laughed pleasantly. "I'd never dreamed it. You always seemed so—so blameworthy and full of the law business. Matter of fact, Miss Craig, you've made me ashamed of myself sometimes. Here you are—haven't a very remarkable voice, and you seem to worry more about the firm than I do. I certainly never dreamed you had ambitions to go on the stage."

"Oh, it's not that exactly, Mr. Woodford. I mean—I haven't been thinking about the stage. I know I haven't a very remarkable voice. It's just sort of adaptable to these Tin Pan Alley songs."

"Then you want to be a night club singer, eh?"

"That's about it, Mr. Woodford." "Have you tried any of them?"

"Just one. There wasn't anything."

"Hm . . ." Woodford sat down at his desk, seemed to be studying the pattern of the polished walnut. Then he looked up at Julia again. "One thing certain, I wouldn't be fair if I didn't try to help you. You wouldn't mind singing for a private party, would you?"

"Why—no."

Woodford hesitated a moment. Then: "You see, I'm giving a little party on my boat over the weekend. Would you like to come along and sing for them? Of course I'll pay you—and there'll be a fellow along who ought to be able to get you something if he likes your voice. You've heard of Smith Garland?"

ABOUT NEW YORK

BY GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Curling through the deep south with a road company of the comedy hit, Three Men on a Horse, Bradford Hattan relays this anecdote of the enterprising salesman who knew what he wanted and wasn't afraid to ask for it.

The actors had arrived in a small Alabama town and were in rehearsal when the young man called. He desired, he said, an interview with the company manager.

"Yes?" inquired the sought-after one.

"Are you manager of the Three Men on a Horse company?"

"That's right."

"Well," said the fellow, "I'm from the Hay, Grain & Feed store and we'd like to take care of the horse while you're in town."

"Which reminds of me another fellow I think ought to be included. Joyous over securing several fine attractions for his winter season, the manager of a small town opera house was particularly anticipating an engagement of the production, Faust, then having a robust financial tour."

Dropping into town two weeks in advance, the press-agent reported to the local impresario. "I'm the advance man," he pointed out, "and I think we ought to plan our ballyhoo campaign."

"Nothing doing," snapped the impresario who preferred to deal only with big shots. "I won't talk with anybody but Faust!"

These fables seem to be getting more fantastic than ever but—honest, I'm not thinking them up.

There was the fellow ahead of one of Charles B. Dillingham's early productions in days when every town had an opera house. As a result, the advertising matter was printed in advance and carried the name Opera House. So, when the advance man got to town he merely distributed his handbills and posted his three-sheets. Unfortunately, he arrived in a town one day that had a theater with a very fancy name but no opera house.

Disturbed, he went into conference with the theater manager and together they called in the one local printer. "You'll have to reprint all these bills," they told him, "and do it in a hurry."

But the printer tossed them into a still deeper quandary by confessing that his press was out of commis-

ion. He assured them it would be impossible to fix it in time to print the bills. Stunned by this cruel swipe, the press agent was beginning to go berserk when the manager bobbed up with a happy thought.

"They didn't quite understand, but that night the natives were greatly mystified to see a painter daubing out the theater's name and rechristening it The Opera House!"

Finally, this record of a stupendous musical spectacle and the grief thereof to a small-time impresario. Thoughts of a fortune were drifting through this Oklahoma theater manager's imagination when he picked up some of the advance advertising matter and saw that the cast had 100 girls. Startled, he wired all over the country trying to get hold of the advance man.

"Cancel booking," he telegraphed, "can't handle cast of 100 girls. Stage barely large to support a dozen."

"That's okay," the answer flashed back. "94 of the girls are painted on the scenery."

ONE KIND OF RECOVERY
MCCLELLANVILLE, S. C. (AP)—It wasn't the sort of operation for which heavy oyster tongs originally were designed, but—

The Rev. A. M. Gregg, clergyman and scoutmaster, dropped his spectacles from a boat into a channel six feet deep.

Using the ponderous tongs made to uproot clusters of oysters, he recovered the glasses, without damaging them.

Fascist Party Due to Become Military Group

(By The Associated Press) Further development of the fascist party as a military organization was predicted today by high fascist sources in Rome.

The prediction was important, for it was predicated on the theory that further militarization of the party would be necessary to take care of the internal situation in Italy should a European war develop.

As for actual military activities, there was little reported except in the case of a British officer on frontier duty along the border between the British colony of Kenya and Ethiopia. The British discovered that an Italian column, advancing along the border, had placed a marker six feet over the line on British soil.

His majesty's officer protested—with a snarl. The marker was placed back where it belonged. Another neutral officer who appeared on the battlefield was Maj. Norman Pisk, United States army, who visited Makale as an observer. He will go next to Tembien and Aksum to watch the fighting.

"Eleven billion dollars a year for FOOD?"

That's how much American women spend. If you are buying food for the so-called "average" family of four your share is at least $11 a week.

The job of getting the most out of that eleven dollars requires thoughtful planning, if not ingenuity. You've got to keep a supply of staples on hand—flour, sugar, shortening, baking powder, essential condiments and spices. A variety of breakfast cereals is required. Milk, butter, eggs and cheese figure in meals constantly. Tea, coffee, cocoa and canned fruit juices are consumed daily. Fresh, as well as canned fruits and vegetables, can't be overlooked. Meats and fish—either fresh, smoked or canned—demand that you buy upon a place in your market basket. And last, but not least, is bread three times a day.

So what's the best rule to follow in buying this wide assortment of food? How can you avoid monotony in meals? How can you discover new menus and recipes? How can you have enough money left over each week from your food allowance for a few tasty luxuries that make meals more appetizing? How can you save time and money in buying?

Well, you can tramp through the markets daily—looking, pricing and comparing. But there's an easier way—a more accurate way—a more up-to-the-minute way—

CAPITOL JIGSAW

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, Feb. 7 (AP)—Some members of the capitol press were drinking coffee and Edward Clark, Gov. Allred's secretary, was engaged similarly.

The temperature was around the freezing point, a mist was falling and walks rapidly were being coated with ice. "A blue Monday," said one man.

The telephone rang and a lone newsmen in the press room announced the governor would have a statement on the special session in four minutes. Clark, grinning, confirmed the statement.

Followed a rush to the capitol and swift handling of Allred's declaration there would be no session immediately.

"Who said blue Monday?" someone remarked later. "Not blue at all. A very fine day."

Allred carefully guarded his decision until the last moment, even from his confidential office staff. Only Miss Alma Mullins, one of Allred's secretary-stenographers, was entrusted with the secret and she because someone had to type the statement.

"Gentlemen," the governor said, handing out copies of his statement, "no one knows about this except myself and Alma."

"Alma, did you tell anyone?" "No, Governor," Miss Mullins replied.

It was a white lie and Peter knew it, but he said, "Then let's be friends again."

"We are friends," Julia answered. "Now about this Parrington contract . . ."

It was no use. Peter pulled himself together and resumed the discussion of the contract. He did not try again to break through her reserve, but each time she says Julia was reminded that she hadn't yet been able to make good on her plans for the future.

Once she thought of quitting Woodford and Brooks, but quickly realized how foolish this would be. Even ordinary office jobs were still somewhat difficult to obtain. It would be no laughing matter to leave a job she knew she was equipped to do—and go searching for one that might never, for her, exist.

But the truth remained that Julia Craig was a songbird by nature. She wanted to sing, had to sing. Many people who are not great singers have such an urge. And not every singer the world knows as great has it. But Julia did. Perhaps that was the secret of the spell she could cast when she sang. Certainly it was the thing which had provoked Amy Sanders to say, "You can make these modern songs sound wonderful, even when the tune's not so good and the words are just silly."

Set into the walnut paneling of George Woodford's office was a radio. Woodford's claim was that he had a radio installed in his office in order that clients might be entertained should he have to leave them for a moment. But the truth of the matter was that it was used primarily for the entertainment of George Woodford. He was a wealthy lawyer now, one of the wealthiest men in the city, and he had long since ceased to drive himself. The younger men in the firm did the actual work, and only occasionally did Woodford himself appear in court; and he met only the more important clients who visited the offices.

Sometimes when Woodford was gone, and a tedious stretch of work

Woman Locked in Room 22 Years

MCKENZIE, W. Va., Feb. 6. (AP)—An emaciated, 33-year-old woman who police say was locked in her darkened room 22 years, sat ravenously in a state hospital today but refused to talk to any one.

The only thing she has said since State Trooper O. R. Kincaid found her yesterday was "Indeed, the food is good."

State Trooper O. R. Kincaid took the woman, Dama Coleman, from the home of Mrs. Minnie Coleman, 62, her mother, after battering down the door of their mountain shack. Caribbee had been covering the windows of the daughter's room, and the blinds were tacked to the casing.

Trooper Kincaid said neighbors told him the daughter came to live with her mother at the age of 11 and never had been seen since. Before 11, she had lived with an uncle.

The mother faces a lunacy hearing tomorrow. She is in jail.

Dr. R. D. Hatfield said he believes the daughter is normally mentally but has had physical condition, mostly from malnutrition. She doesn't weigh over 80 pounds.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

BY ROBBINS COONS.

HOLLYWOOD—Pictures get made each day.

It is a day of "re-takes on 'A Message to Garcia.'" This scene is a close-up of a prone Barbara Stanwyck, resting in the "Cuban" jungle, her slim form covered by a blanket.

John Boles, who leaves this night for New York and will be seen watching the rehearsals. Miss Stanwyck, tears in her eyes, calls Wallace Beery to her side, tells him to leave her and "go with him" because the message must be delivered and she doesn't matter.

Beery is nowhere about, but his place is taken by a stand-in wearing his tattered costume. Only his back shows in the scene, so Beery is not needed. Because it is a close-up, only a small portion of "jungle" has been created, and around it Director George Marshall has his camera lights and crew concentrated as in a football huddle.

A Let-Down Feeding.

Boles, chatting, comments on the difficulty of re-takes. Actors generally have a let-down feeling when a picture is done, yet they must re-take emotions as though they had not done the same scene before.

His observation would seem to be correct. Miss Stanwyck, a sincere "natural" actress, ordinarily cries her own tears, but now the make-up man is assisting with a drop of glycerine.

They rehearse several times, and are preparing to shoot when hammering outside the stage reverberates within. Assistants scurry off to restore quiet. Boles, thinking no doubt of train time, sighs inaudibly.

Austrian Carnival, 1890.

Orlando Moore is simply believing the scene is a screen in the far corner of the "Prince Charming" set. Neither he nor Hero Franchot Tone is needed in the scene Josef von Sternberg is directing.

The set is an Austrian carnival, period 1890, celebrating the emperor's birthday. There is a scenic railway (the car is a glittering dragon), a shooting gallery and a carousel with high bicycles instead of wooden horses. Booths are laden with bread and salami instead of hot dogs and pop.

There are scores of silver statues of Tone (as the emperor) on sale also.

Before a life-sized imperial effigy Ann Howard, talented child actress, is making a little birthday greeting speech after pushing through the milling crowd of celebrants. For some reason she cannot remember all her lines today and the scene But he is very patient with her.

"Patient?" he explains later. "I am always patient with actors because I understand them and know how difficult their work is."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. (AP)—Engineers of the interstate commerce commission estimated today the government, by spending $47,169,000, could acquire equipment to build a fleet of 17 warships annually at a price lower than in private yards, and manufacture a large portion of its own powder and machine guns as well.

W. W. Amador, senior civil engineer, and Charles H. Spencer, chief valuation engineer, appeared before the senate munitions committee to report on a study of proposals that the government build all its warships, and manufacture its own munitions. Some navy vessels are built now in its own yards, some by private companies.

The two engineers led off with an estimate that government shipyards could build a cruiser for $14,085,204, which was described as 25 per cent less than a similar ship costs in the New York Shipbuilding company yards. Spencer called the New York company "a cheap operator."

The cost of fitting out navy yards to handle all government construction was estimated at $25,604,860; the remainder of the $47,169,000 total would go for munitions plants and airplane factories.

The Gaumont-British picture corporation reports 1935 was the most profitable year in its history, the success of British films in the American market being a notable feature.

Dusting the Covers Of Texas History

For The Texas Centennial Celebration of 1936

AUSTIN, Feb. 6.—One of the most famous of all early Texas patriotic poems, R. M. Potter's "Hymn of the Alamo," was quoted by Arthur Ikin in his "A Guide to Emigrants" as a tribute to the bravery of the men who gave their lives that Texas might start free as a nation among nations. Ikin, consul from England to the Republic of Texas, wrote his little book in an effort to induce English colonists to settle the new country. A rare copy of this volume, published in 1841, is now in the Texas collection of the University of Texas library.

After Cos, Santa Anna's emissary, had been banished from Texas, talking with him the last remaining Mexican soldiers, Gen. Santa Anna himself, flushed with his bloody victories over the patriots of other states, resolved to proceed there, not simply to re-establish his authority, or chastise the refractory, but with the avowed purpose of destroying the American settlements," Ikin wrote.

He crossed the Rio Grande on the 16th day of February, 1836, at the head of 8,000 regular troops, whom he formed into three divisions, each accompanied by a considerable train of artillery," the English consul continued. "The English consul opposed to this army consisted of a garrison of 130 men in the Alamo at Bexar; of about 500 in or near the town of Goliad; and of 300, (note: a number soon after increased to 1,200, but subsequently much diminished by desertion) who kept the field, under Gen. Houston. Their provisional government had appealed, on the one side, to their Mexican fellow citizens, to join in defense of the institutions they had all alike sworn to maintain, and on the other, to their former brethren of the United States to aid them in their unequal struggle against tyranny. The latter alone responded, by sending a few volunteers and some supplies.

Meanwhile the overwhelming armies of the Mexicans advanced, and the fate of two frontier garrisons was sealed. It was deplorable, yet not unavailing. The gallant little band of 130, in the Alamo, invested by 4,000 men, under Santa Anna in person, resolved to give their compatriots an example by holding out a forest of Texian resistance, and decided not to surrender! Attacked in due form, they for thirteen days maintained a heroic defense, and, at length, the fort stormed, they continued fighting until every man of their party had fallen—of the last survivors being killed in the act of applying a match to the powder magazine. (Note: Here fell the celebrated David Crockett.) The destruction of these 130 cost Santa Anna 1,000 men; independently of which, it was the recollection of the Alamo which chiefly nerve the arms of the conquerors in the after-struggle.

"Little as poetic effusion accords with the general tenor of this brief account, the following lines, written by a Texian soldier, I am tempted to include, as a faithful mirror of the motives and sentiments which actuated these brave men, whose deed, equal to any of ancient times; I would fain justify from the imputation of mere rashness.

HYMN OF THE ALAMO

"Rise, when the walls—our clarion's blast

Now sounds its final reveille;

This dawning morn must be the last

Our fated band shall ever see.

To life, but not to hope, farewell;

Yon trumpet clang, and cannon peal,

And storm, and shout, and clash of steel,

Is ours—but not our country's knell.

Welcome the Spartan's death—

'Tis no despairing strife—

We fall, we die; but our expiring breath

Is Freedom's breath of life.

"Here on this new Thermoplae

Our monument shall tower on high.

And 'Alamo' hereafter be

In bloodier fields the battle cry.

Thus Travis from the rampart cried;

And when his warriors saw the foe,

Like angry billows move below,

Each dauntless heart replied,

"Welcome the Spartan's death—

'Tis no despairing strife—

We fall, we die; but our expiring breath

Is Freedom's breath of life."

"They come—like autumn's leaves they fall;

Yet, hordes on hordes, they onward rush;

With gory tramp they scale the wall.

Til numbers the defenders crush.

The last was fell'd the fight to gain,

Well may the ruffians quake to tell

How Travis and his hundred fell.

Amid a thousand foemen slain,

They died the Spartan's death,

But not in hopeless strife;

Like brothers dead—and their expiring breath,

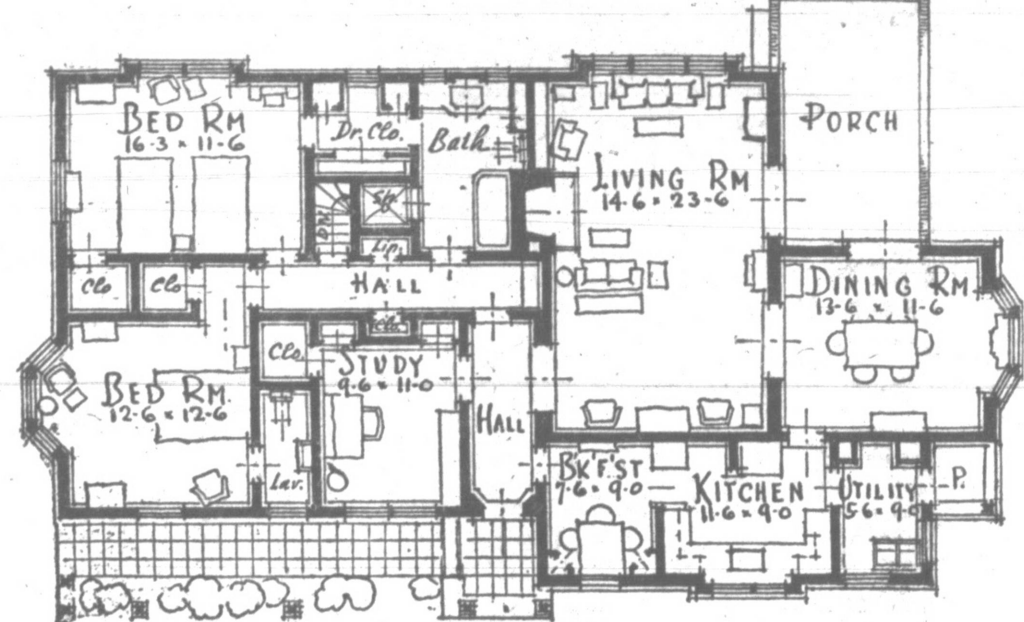

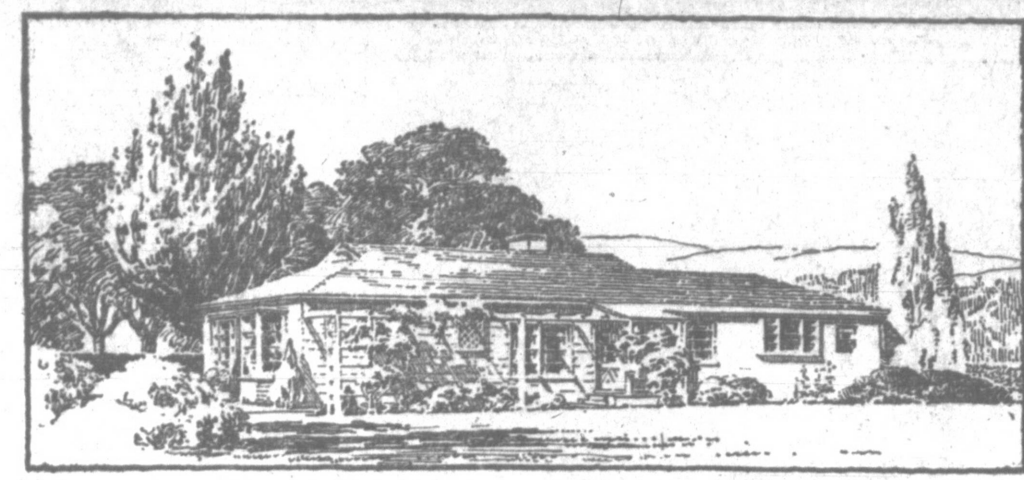

Was Freedom's breath of life."

"The fate of the Goliad garrison under Fannin was yet more tragical. Evacuating the town, they were overtaken on the open prairie, and surrounded by the Mexican division of 2,000, commanded by Urrea. For a whole day they defended themselves with desperate courage, and with a loss to the enemy of 600 men, until, artillery coming up, and being without water, they agreed to lay down their arms.

"For several days they were kept as prisoners of war; after which, at the command of Santa Anna, they were, to the number of 400, massacred in cold blood!

"This last and worst atrocity was enacted March 27, 1836. Had there been no other provocation given, it would have been more than sufficient to have decided the question, whether Mexico should longer rule, on any terms, in Texas. That question had been, indeed, decided, so far as words could determine, as soon as Santa Anna's project of extermination was made known."

Modern Home for Southern Climate

Above is shown a home embodying a type of construction suitable for a temperate climate. Such a home can be erected well within the limits of the Federal Housing Administration's "Single-Mortgage System." In this plan the sleeping quarters are completely separated from the living quarters. When the door from the entrance hall to the bedroom hall is closed, the sleeping quarters are shut off as though they were on a separate floor. The study is convenient to the living room and yet far enough away so that it may be a quiet place to read or work, no matter what is going on in the rest of the house. In all the rooms the furniture space is well worked out. There are possibilities of excellent grouping without cluttering up the floor space or interfering with traffic.

STUDIES OF THE YAQUI INDIANS, Texas Technological College Press. Sixty cents postpaid. Tech Bookstore, Lubbock.

Strange mixture of the primitive and the advanced among a tribe of Indians who grind corn by hand, carry machetes, laugh and dance at funerals, and encourage illiteracy, at the same time they farm with American-machinery, profess Catholicism, wear straw hats, and elect a governor once a year is described in a bulletin published recently at Texas Technological college, "Studies of the Yaqui Indians of Sonora, Mexico."

The book contains findings made when an expedition led by Dr. W. C. Holden, Texas Tech anthropologist, penetrated the lower Yaqui river region and visited four Indian villages in March, 1934.

Relations between Yaquis and Mexicans are still being worked out. The men of the river villages are officially a part of the Mexican army and receive pay, they do not drill or take orders from the Mexican army, Dr. Holden says, explaining that "in each village there are two garrisons, one Mexican, one Yaqui. They are paid by the same government but spend their days watching each other." A later chapter in the report states that the Yaquis are reluctant to send their sons to the Mexican schools, fearing Mexican influence.

The American expedition was treated with friendliness. Suspicion was allayed at the start by an operation performed upon a Yaqui by Dr. C. J. Wagner, Lubbock, Texas, physician and member of the expedition. On the tenth day Juan Serrano came to "try out" the surgeon by having a bullet removed from his spine. In an engagement with a Mexican force nine years before, a bullet had plowed a groove across his back as he crouched behind a rock. "It makes pain in the light of the moon," he said. With Juan as a squared-log bench and two members of the expedition way-for pulchritude and whereby the church permits no divorces though polygamy is not unknown, the meager household equipment of the Yaquis, and their crude bamboo homes with dirt floors and no windows are discussed at length in the nine chapters written by various members of the expedition. A description of the home life of the Yaquis stresses their love of children and the extremely high infant mortality rate. Yaqui parents would not trade their children's playthings or articles of clothing for any amount of money or for any trinket. A pair of shoes, guaraches, were given Dr. Wagner as a fee by the grateful Juan Serrano only because the baby's "feet too big," as Juan explained.

One of the most startling revelations of the book and one of the most significant to anthropologists is made by Carl Coleman Seltzer, physical anthropologist at Harvard university, in his study of the Yaqui physical characteristics. He says the Yaquis exhibit a number of Negroid features, especially as to the lips, and continues, "What is now most important is to discover where and particularly when this element entered the group. Is it a somewhat recent admixture in the Post-Columbian period with Negroes or Negroids as the case may be, or is it something of more ancient and fundamental composition?"

A Yaqui belief in ghosts is explained by the fact that Yaqui men "imbibe more or less mescal from time to time." Dr. Holden in the first chapter tells a ghost story
