ANTOFAGASTA, Chile (UPI)—A severe earthquake ripped along a 60-mile coastal fringe of the Atacama Desert of Northern Chile today, inflicting heavy damage on the tiny nitrate port of Taltal. There were fears of disastrous tidal waves.

First reports reaching here told of only one death in Taltal, that of Hector Marin, 9, who was crushed by a falling wall. Another 65 persons were hospitalized, 12 in critical condition. It was feared the death toll would mount.

National police here said half the houses in the port of Taltal—a town of 3,000 residents—were knocked down. Most of the houses are of adobe.

A strong tremor at the same time also shook the city of Mendoza in Argentina but no damage or injuries were reported. Mendoza, a city of 750,000 population, is 600 miles west of Buenos Aires on the Chilean border.

Taltal was a booming nitrate port until the German development of synthetics ruined that industry during World War I. Today it is the railroad for two small nitrate mines inland in the desert.

Authorities said the epicenter of the quake was not yet known but there was a possibility it was beneath the sea off Taltal. Tidal waves were feared here and there were seawave warnings in Honolulu.

The early morning earthquake was also felt in Copiapo, 60 miles south of Taltal. No damages or casualties were reported there.

The Anaconda Copper Company reported no damage at the giant open pit complex at Chuquibambuta, and only a burst water main, slides on railways and a temporarily knocked out power plant at Forterillos smelter, 40 miles inland from Taltal.

The earthquake sent a great cloud of red dust rising from the rose-colored Atacama Desert, but the desert is sparsely populated. (See EARTHQUAKE, Page 3)

Motorized Sniper Prowls Streets Of Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—(UPI)—A motorized sniper prowled darkened streets in the southwest section of the city early today, wounding three persons with a small caliber weapon.

One man was treated for a bullet wound in the face and another for a gunshot wound in the stomach. A woman was wounded in the right shoulder. All were admitted to Gardena Memorial Hospital for surgery.

Police said the first victim, Mrs. Lorene Dameron, 40, of Compton, was driving south on the Freeway shortly after midnight when shots were fired from a passing vehicle.

Mrs. Dameron and her companion Mrs. Faye Inman, who was not wounded, told police the sniper was driving "an old dark sedan" and fired six or eight shots. Hospital attendants said Mrs. Dameron, a telephone company employe, was in fair condition.

Los Angeles Times delivery man George Morgeson, 27, was shot about 2:10 a.m. while driving on the southbound Harbor Freeway approximately two miles due east of the San Diego Freeway section where the first shooting occurred.

Morgeson said four shots were fired at him by an assailant he described as being about 22 years old and driving a 1954 "Dodge or Plymouth." Morgeson was in fair condition at the Gardena Hospital.

A few minutes later, the phantom sniper had driven a mile west to attack a third victim, Leroy E. Gregory, 44, of Tulare, Calif.

Gregory was walking on Western Avenue when a man drove by in a car and fired a shot that struck him in the stomach. He was described as in fair condition by hospital attendants.

Police said from descriptions given by the three victims they believed all were shot by a lone man.

No Reprimand Is Planned For Cardinal

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI plans no reprimand of Francis Cardinal Spellman for declaring the United States must fight for total victory in Vietnam, a high Vatican source indicated today.

The source reiterated an earlier statement that the 77-year-old archbishop of New York was reflecting "his own position as chief military vicar of the U.S. armed forces" and not the view of Pope Paul or the Roman Catholic Church.

But he added that "the Pope and his Secretary of State, Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, have great esteem for Cardinal Spellman and are old friends of his from the time they worked together at the Vatican secretariat of state."

The source said "if they ever had any objection to make to his remarks, they would do so very privately and not publicly. But this does not seem to be the case."

He also stressed that his comments were designed only to "set things straight" and were in no way to be construed as a Vatican rebuff of the New York Cardinal.

"The Pope feels a negotiated peace rather than military victory by either side is the way to end the war and he has made this clear in countless appeals to the belligerents," the source said.

Paratroopers Assault Red Mekong Delta Stronghold

S. Vietnamese Force Of 10,000 Advancing

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese paratroopers, in the biggest airborne assault of the war, today pushed toward the heart of a foreboding Mekong Delta jungle that has been a Communist stronghold for 20 years.

A force of over 10,000 men preceded by U.S. Air Force jets dropping napalm advanced on the U Minh forest, and informed sources said there was a "good possibility" American paratroopers would soon join the assault.

It would be the first major drive by U.S. forces in the swampy delta south of Saigon.

Two thunderous waves of 33 American and Vietnamese planes carried the 1,200 South Vietnamese paratroopers Tuesday into the drop zone at the edge of the forest. Vietnamese infantrymen and helicopter-borne Rangers boosted the attack force to multi-regimental size.

Military spokesmen, who for security reasons withheld reports of the assault until today, said at least 89 Viet Cong were killed at the outset of the attack while government troops sustained "light" casualties.

The sources who said American paratroopers might join the attack disclosed that U.S. airborne forces have already begun jump practice "for something big... sometime soon. The delta is a good possibility."

The terrain of U Minh forest is comparable to Georgia's Okefenokee Swamp, and Communists have held the region since 1946 when the Viet Minh established sanctuary.

U.S. B52 bombers went on two raids today—the seventh and eighth since the end of the Christmas truce when Communist buildups took place. The planes bombed a Communist camp in Phu Yen Province and later struck a Viet Cong fortification 15 miles west-northwest of Hue.

In North Vietnam, Navy jets damaged two supply barges and bombed a major railroad complex two miles north of Vinh. U.S. officials said, however, there were "very few targets" in North Vietnam.

U.S. spokesmen also reported that in a series of fights near Da Nang and Quang Ngai, Marines killed 27 Viet Cong. Fourteen of the Communists were in a force retreating from an attack on a Vietnamese unit.

First Planeload of Cuban Refugees To Arrive Today

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A chartered plane, carrying about 80 U.S. citizens detained in Cuba, arrives in New Orleans today to inaugurate a new airlift hoped to eventually bring nearly 3,700 Cuban-American and their dependents to the United States.

C.W. Johnson, district director of the U.S. Immigration Service said the flight was scheduled to arrive between 7 and 8:20 p.m. CST from Merida, Mexico.

The evacuation of the refugees, all American citizens of Cuban origin, was arranged by the Mexican government. The plane being flown from Havana to Merida, Yucatan Province, is to the United States via Capital Airways, a charter airline.

Sources said Tuesday that Mexicans have arranged for two more refugee flights—both scheduled Thursday—to transport about 200 persons to the United States. It was also hoped that additional flights could be made to provide transportation to the remainder.

The new airlift is an entirely separate operation from the Cuba-Miami evacuation of Cuban citizens who have relatives in the United States. The Cuba-Miami flights have brought nearly 50,000 persons to this country since Dec. 1, 1965.

It was understood there were 953 U.S. citizens of Cuban origin registered with the Swiss Embassy in Havana. (See REFUGEES, Page 3)

Flaming Collision Of Train-Truck Fatal to Twelve

EVERETT, Mass. (UPI)—Twelve persons were killed and at least 20 others were injured early today when a passenger train collided with a stalled oil truck, burst into flames and exploded like a bomb at an unguarded railroad crossing.

The explosion spewed 7,000 gallons of heating oil over the Boston and Maine (B&M) Buddiner and through shattered train windows, dousing the passengers with flaming fuel.

A passenger said the train's door jammed, causing "complete panic." Passengers scrambled through windows to escape.

Police said the huge tank truck had stopped at the four sets of railroad tracks at second street in the junkyard district in this suburban city just north of Boston. When it started to drive slowly across the tracks, its brake froze.

The driver tried repeatedly to move the truck. But when barricades dropped in front and behind his truck, signaling that a train was coming, the driver leaped from the truck, ripped off his jacket and frantically ran up the tracks in a futile attempt to halt the train.

The train slammed into the truck where the cab joins the trailer.

Patrolman George Stewart, in a cruiser on Second Street with Patrolman Ralph Devmito, said, "we saw a ball of fire 100 feet high and 50 feet across. I thought a bomb went off. As we jumped out of the cruiser we saw the front of the Buddiner in flames."

"We saw one man hanging from the window. We pulled him out and attempted to break other windows with nightsticks. We couldn't break them. The next thing I knew, firemen were running up the tracks, breaking windows with axes. The whole car was full of fire and smoke," Stewart said.

Police said the train locked onto the flaming tank section of the truck and pushed it 50 yards up the track. Wreckage was strewn along the tracks.

The heat was so intense it cracked windows of cars parked nearby. (See COLLISION, Page 3)

Indonesian Cabinet Crisis May Force Sukarno to Resign

JAKARTA (UPI)—President Sukarno and military strongman Gen. Suharto faced a cabinet reshuffle showdown today that could force Sukarno's resignation and bring political chaos back to Indonesia.

Three Indonesian newspapers reported Sukarno threatened to resign unless the Suharto-dominated cabinet was realigned in his favor. They said he was also firmly against explaining his role—if any—in last year's abortive Communist coup.

The papers said the threat came Tuesday during a confrontation between Sukarno and the chiefs of the four military services who now rule the nation. The papers reported Suharto told Sukarno his resignation would be accepted if an impasse occurred.

Sukarno was slated to summon the cabinet into session today and demand it be juggled to restore at least some of his onetime power. Although Suharto's military regime and the Indonesian Congress stripped the moon-faced Sukarno of all major power and his title of president for life, he is still revered by many Indonesians as the father of their country's independence.

Meanwhile, the armed forces planned a massive "show of force" rally outside Sukarno's freedom palace—ostensibly to remind Sukarno where the power lies. The rally's announced purpose is to back up last week's joint military statement demanding adherence by all Indonesians—including

Vessels' Hearing For New Trial Is Set Thursday

BULLETIN
Judge Goodrich today granted a new hearing on Thomas R. Vessels' motion for a new trial. The hearing was set for 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Judge Lewis M. Goodrich had not decided at noon today whether there would be a second hearing tomorrow or later this week on a new trial motion for convicted rapist Thomas R. Vessels.

One report today said the judge had denied sending telegrams to Vessels' attorneys saying there would be a new hearing. He was reported as saying there would be no such hearing.

When Judge Goodrich arrived in Pampa from his home in Shamrock shortly before noon today he told the Pampa News he was not going to make a statement at that time.

Asked if a new hearing had both received telegrams Tuesday scheduled or not, Goodrich stated he would have no statement until he had conferred with District Attorney Bill Waters.

Goodrich and Waters were scheduled for a meeting during the lunch hour today.

Prior to the noonday conference it was understood the district attorney and Vessels' counsel, Warren Burnett of Odessa, both were assuming there would be a new hearing on the motion for a new trial tomorrow.

Attorney Warren Burnett of Odessa said he and attorney Mike Ramsey of Houston had day stating they would be allowed to subpoena witnesses for a new hearing Thursday.

Court reporter Bobby Baker said he understood from the judge that a new hearing would be held and defense witnesses would be heard.

"I just thought there was another hearing Thursday... but if the judge says no, I guess not," Baker said.

Goodrich overruled a new trial motion and accepted a notice of appeal at a stormy, four-hour-long hearing last Thursday.

Four Pampans Will Begin New Year as United States Citizens

MRS. KENNETH HONAKER
... formerly of Karlsruhe, W. Germany

By DORIS E. WILSON
News Staff Writer

Four Pampans will begin the new year with a new status... one that each worked hard to accomplish. They are now American citizens.

Mrs. Kenneth (Gerda) Honaker, 1208 Darby; Mrs. Marlin (Anelise) Mills, 406 Red Deer and Mr. and Mrs. August Brantwein, 207 N. Ward, are all former German citizens, who earlier this year, attended two-hour citizenship classes every Monday night for 11 weeks. The classes were sponsored by the Lions Club and were held in the First National Bank Building.

Last month, they were informed that each had passed the examination held in March and were asked to go to Amarillo for swearing-in ceremonies.

Now, each has a framed certificate and an American flag. But in talking with them, you learn that each has much more.

To one who was born an American, you find there is so much that is taken for granted and so much about the United States government, as well as state and local government that you think you know until you are asked.

In talking with the new citizens, you find there is excitement, enthusiasm, a feeling of importance, and a deep sense of responsibility toward their new homeland.

In the Lions-sponsored citizenship classes, the former German citizens discussed and were quizzed on every phase of American government; executive, legislative and judicial.

They learned the first 10 amendments of the Bill of Rights and memorized portions of the Constitution of the United States.

They learned what qualifications a candidate for the presidency of the United States must have. How many representatives in the House of Representatives and how many senators in the senate, age and qualifications for the jobs.

Each passed the examination with flying colors... the red, white and blue kind!

Mrs. Mills and Mrs. Honaker, each of whom have small children, did some of their homework together over the telephone. Mr. and Mrs. Brantwein studied together.

How does it feel to become an American citizen? Mrs. Honaker summed up the emotion with the statement "It makes you feel important. I felt like an outsider in my own family, since my husband and children were all American citizens. Of course, I still love my own country. But I am proud to be an American citizen.

Mrs. Honaker met her husband, while he was stationed near her hometown of Karlsruhe, West Germany. She came to the United States in 1960.

When she came here she could not speak English, but her husband and his family have been helpful in teaching her. "Then, too," she said, "television helped."

Mrs. Mills met her husband, while he was stationed with the army in Germany. "I met him three days after he arrived. And we went together all the time after that," she said. They have five sons; Hans, who is studying for his citizenship papers; Clinton, Brian, and twin-sons, Wendell and Wayland.

"I worked very hard for my citizenship. I like to live in the United States and want to be a part of it," Mrs. Mills said.

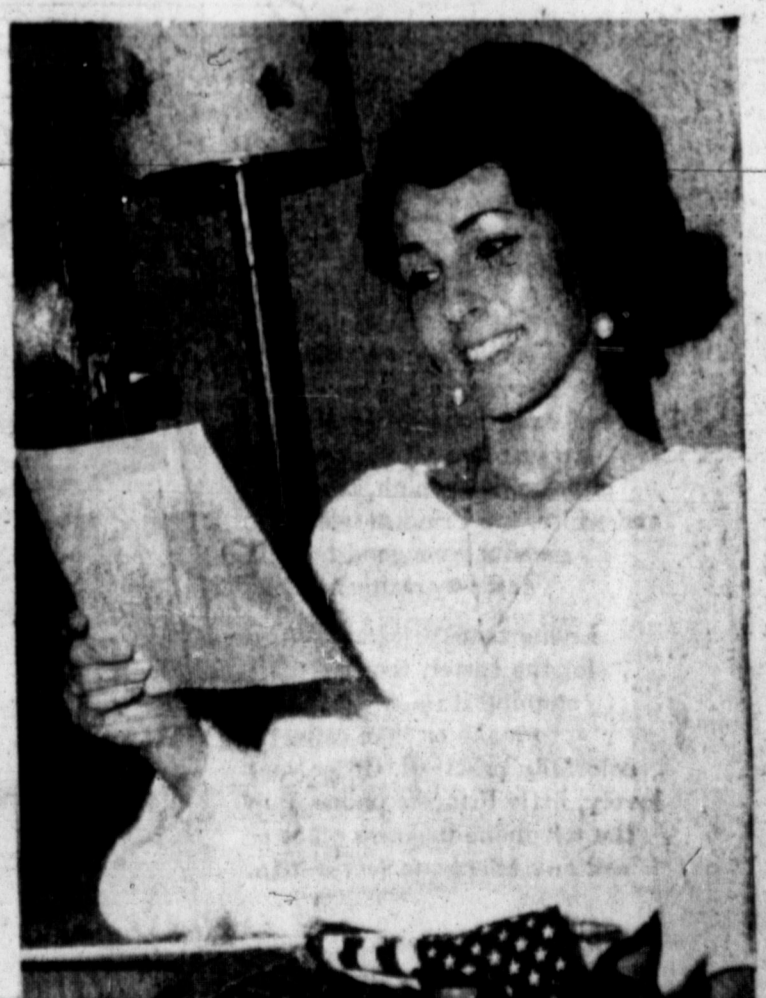

Learning to write English posed the most difficulties for the new American citizens. For their examinations, they were required to write, "The American flag is red, white and blue."

They knew they would be required to write something in English, but had no idea what it would be.

Come to think of it, what average American citizen could write in German after just a few weeks study. "The West Germany flag is black, red and yellow?"

WRITER'S NOTE: Late in November, Tim Duke, a young Pampa student, wrote a letter to the News, questioning the small coverage the four Pampans received when they got their citizenship papers. While in another portion of the paper, a larger ad reminded shoppers of the number of days left before Christmas. He asked, "Is this the Freedom Newspaper's way of showing importance?"

At the time of your inquiry, due to the pressure of other news items and stories, the citizenship story could not be developed in the manner wished. Another thing Freedom Newspapers believe in wholeheartedly, is young people expressing themselves and seeking answers to questions that perplex them.

It's The Law In Texas

A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas. Written by Will Bernard.

Williams decided he did not need that air conditioning system for his office after all. But the manufacturer insisted: "You have already confirmed the order."

"It is true that I marked an 'OK' on the order form," conceded Williams. "But that is not legally binding. 'OK' is just an abbreviation, not formal enough for a written contract."

Nevertheless, in a court test, the judge held Williams bound by his agreement. The judge said that if "OK" is not elegant English, its meaning is clear—and clarity is what counts.

By and large, the law takes a tolerant view of abbreviations. For the purpose of language, whether formal or informal, is communication. If the abbreviated form succeeds in that purpose, then the law is usually satisfied.

Thus, a receipt by a bank president was held valid, even though he designated himself as "pres.," a promissory note signed "W.

G. S." was held valid, because it was clear whom the initials stood for; and "3-7-75" was held a sufficient substitute for March 7, 1965, in establishing the date of a transaction.

What about nicknames? They, too, are generally acceptable if there is no doubt of identity.

For instance, a bequest to "my dear Joe" was upheld when there was only a single Joe whom the deceased could possibly have meant. "Jack" has been held an acceptable substitute for John, and "Geor." for George.

But a short form that leaves room for doubt can be costly. "Emma" was held too different to pass for Emily, and so was "May" for Mary.

In one case, a man who sold a truck used a three-letter abbreviation on the bill of sale to identify the model. But he failed to add the model year. The buyer later sued him, successfully, on the ground that he had not been properly informed as to what model he was getting.

Writing down the year in the first place, instead of just the abbreviation, would have taken the seller about three seconds. The litigation took three years.

National Window

By LYLE WILSON

United Press International
As the unseemly dispute between the Kennedys and the book publishers moved in bold type across the front pages of U.S. newspapers, the common man and his wife got a peek at the awesome power of money.

Joe E. Lewis, the distinguished salon comic, said what needed to be said about money one night when he told his audience at El Morocco:

"Money may not be every-thing. But, friends, it is way ahead of whatever is in second place."

How true! Consider the weight of the Kennedy money. Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy objected to passages in a book about to be published which she herself had commissioned. The objectionable passages represented her own statements freely made to the author during 10 hours of taped interviews. Ten hours! Mrs. Kennedy stepped out of her role as America's beloved fairy queen to make a hard-nosed, knuckly fisted demand that the author and his publishers mend the book text, or else.

A great deal of money, of potential profit to book and magazine publishers was involved in this dispute. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was represented as having said that the publishers miscalculated when they believed the Kennedys would not assume the risks involved in causing a great financial loss to others.

What was involved was upward of $3 million which Look magazine expected to lose if publication of its January issue with an installment of the Kennedy book were prevented. So it was the plan of the magazine and book publishers to demand that the Kennedys sign an indemnity bond of $5 million. The purpose was to assure that the publishers, book and magazine, would be indemnified if a lower court sustained the Kennedys' suppression but was reversed on appeal by a higher court.

How many persons, or families, or that matter, have this kind of money? So much that they could contemplate the possible loss of many millions of dollars in the event they ultimately lost their case in the Supreme Court. The Rockefeller have it. Lyndon B. Johnson could maybe flush $5 million down the drain and still remain comfortably solvent. It has been calculated that the Johnson TV-real estate fortune is in the neighborhood of $14 million. This was achieved on a congressman's not-so-large salary but, also, with the benevolent consideration of the Federal Communication Commission which reacts to members of Congress as do nephews to rich uncles. And there are other rich men and rich families.

But the common man and his wife, you or members of your family, could never challenge a free press so boldly as to make a demand for editorial change. Whatever might be damaging to the common man in a proposed publication would appear. The common man and his wife then could sue for libel damages which would provide, at most, after-the-fact reparation.

Joe Lewis was not far wrong when he spotted money as being far ahead of whatever might be in second place. Money increasingly is coming to mean power in the United States, political power. Money can win elections and it need not be by buying votes, either.

Missouri is the name of an Indian tribe and translates roughly as "people of the long canoes."

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—According to a nationwide survey of investor attitudes by the 700 registered representatives of Harris, Upham & Co. Inc., most of the public is cautious or bullish for both the short and long-term of the market and bearish opinions have declined considerably from a September survey.

The survey also showed that 71 per cent of those questioned believed there would be an approximate 5 per cent across-the-board tax increase but that the market has already discounted the increase.

Robert T. Allen of Shearson, Hammill & Co. says all indications are that the tradition of a strong year-end rally will remain intact and possibly continue into early January. After these factors are played out, however, the analyst expects several more months—and possibly a year—of unfavorable business news might have an adverse affect on the list.

Thomson & McKinnon says the market should advance on precedent into the coming year but for how long remains to be seen. The company says as 1967 wears on, news from Washington, particularly the State of the Union address, the budget message and the economic report will figure in shaping the market trend and setting the mood of sentiment.

A boy in business for himself doesn't worry about summer jobs

Or fall jobs, or winter jobs, for that matter. Because the boy with a newspaper route—a junior independent merchant—has a year 'round income. The few hours he puts in each week not only provide monetary returns but the even more significant dividends of learning how free enterprise operates.

The business of learning the value of money, of keeping books, collecting, buying at wholesale and selling at retail is important. But not even money can buy the other skills acquired from route experience—learning to deal pleasantly with people, for instance, or the value of punctuality.

Your newspaperboy is learning all the time. His route experience helps him acquire the intangible skills so necessary for success both socially and professionally. He makes money at it, too.

Only about one boy in ten gets the opportunity to have a newspaper route. If you think your son or some other youngster might profit by newspaperboy route experience, why not suggest that he come in and talk to us.

TC Club Enjoys Christmas Party

Twentieth Century Culture Club held its annual Christmas party in the home of Mrs. J. Donaldson with Mrs. L. J. Zachary as co-hostess. Before the business meeting, the hostesses served delicious refreshments in the Christmas motif to the 19 members present.

After a short business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. J. L. Chase, members were entertained by an amusing and informative talk, "Christmas in the White House" by Mrs. G. L. Craddock. The devotional, "One Solitary Life," was presented by Mrs. E. E. Sheldahl.

Among the presidential Christmas messages Mrs. Craddock discussed were those of Presidents Andrew Jackson and Abraham Lincoln who thought the essence of Christmas was emphasis on family life. Neither encouraged lavish spending, Mrs. Craddock pointed out that Gro-

Dinner Meeting Enjoyed by Rose Society Members

Pampa Rose Society enjoyed a dinner meeting at Jim's Steak House at a regular monthly meeting recently with Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Darsey and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Carruth as hosts. Tables were decorated in a festive setting with red hurricane lamps and an arrangement of miniature roses at the head table.

Mrs. Darsey, president, presided, introducing special guests, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Stephens. The invocation was given by D. A. Caldwell.

Dr. Weldon Adir presented Mrs. Darsey a rose gift certificate, on behalf of the club with commendation of her past two years work as president of the club. Mrs. Darsey expressed her appreciation and stated that she had received considerable cooperation from the members. The 1967 membership dues were collected by the treasurer.

Mrs. Dan Glaxner installed the new officers using the rose bush to symbolize the club with each officer representing an important part of the plant and the remaining members completing the whole. As all parts of the rose bush are needed, so is each member needed for an efficient club.

Mrs. Stephens gave the program, "Little Christmas," by Agnes Sleigh Turnbull, after which Mrs. Darsey presented her with a rose gift certificate in appreciation of the club.

It was announced that the next meeting would be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Caldwell. Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Stephens were guests of the club and all 24 members were present.

Dear Abby...
Grandparents' Wish Is Only to Please

DEAR ABBY: I don't want to sound ungrateful, but why do grandparents always buy clothing for their grandchildren two and three sizes too big for them? Often these items are needed for use immediately, but they must hang in a closet or be put away in a drawer until the child "grows into them."

Many a lovely gift has been stored away and forgotten, and by the time the child can wear it, it's out of style. Mention this in your column, Abby. But please don't use my name.

MRS. X.

DEAR MRS. X: The reason grandparents buy clothing for children to "grow into" is obvious. It's a hold over from leaner years. However, gift-giving grandparents want only to please, so a word to the wise should bring the right size.

DEAR ABBY: While walking down the street yesterday, I saw a mailman emptying one of those sidewalk mailboxes. A woman was standing, there screaming that she had just mailed a letter in that box and she wanted it back. The mailman said he was sorry but it was against the rules and he couldn't give it to her.

She yelled even louder that she could prove it was her letter and she wanted it back. Then he tried to tell her what she would have to do to get it, but she refused to listen — she stormed off in a huff. Now I would like to know how a person can get his own letter back after mailing it if the mailman won't give it to him.

INNOCENT BYSTANDER
DEAR INNOCENT: Make a duplicate of the envelope of the letter you want back. If it was going out-of-town, go to the main postoffice. If it was a local letter, go to the post office in the zone in which you mailed the letter and ask the postmaster for the appropriate form to fill out to receive your letter.

If your letter hasn't left the postoffice, and you can identify yourself adequately, they'll give you your letter. If the letter has left town, they will telephone or wire the out-of-town postoffice (at your expense) and if it hasn't been delivered, they'll send the letter back to you.

But when it comes, you will have to go to the postoffice and pick it up personally. This may sound like a lot of red tape, but it's not too much trouble for one who has mailed a letter in haste and wants it back.

DEAR ABBY: I telephoned an unmarried man-about-town and invited him to my home for a dinner party last Friday. He said he would be delighted to come, and before I had a chance to say another word, he said, "Do you mind if I bring Lulu?" (She is one of his many lady friends.) Well, I couldn't very well have told him not to bring her.

It spoiled my plan because the whole idea was to have him meet an unmarried girl friend of mine. My husband said "I should have set him straight then and there. Would that have been proper? How should this have been handled?"

SLOW THINKER
DEAR SLOW: You should have invited him this way. "If you are free for dinner on Friday, I would like you to be the dinner partner of a friend of mine." That way you wouldn't have to say — "but don't bring Lulu."

It's No Snap, This Deflabber

TO KEEP KNEE AND INNER THIGH MUSCLES FIRM and slim, (upper left) press the ends of the spring-operated V-Bar together between your knees. By opening and closing the V-Bar with the palm of your hand while the arm is extended (lower left), you can slim and firm the upper arm, avoiding the accumulation of flab. (Right) Press the padded ends of the hinged exercise bar together to firm and strengthen pectoral and shoulder muscles.

By PATRICIA KING

Beauty Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — Practically every woman worth her weight has an innate and utter dislike for exercise. It's the kind of thing she will do now and then, mostly then.

Isometrics (the contraction of a muscle against an immovable object or another muscle) seems the ideal type of exercise for certain soft areas, such as flabby upper arms, the relaxed tummy, the wobbly thighs. And it's simple to do.

Anne Marie Bennstrom, a health and beauty expert, turned her creative talents to the invention of the V-Bar—another simple method of exercising.

"It was born out of necessity," she said, "for women over 20 who have problems in those areas. They should begin firming and slimming while they're young."

The V-Bar is a small V-shaped exercise device. Hinged at the bottom of the V, the two bars have padded circles at the top and the object is to press these two circles together with the hands, knees, feet, etc., depending on which of the eight prescribed exercises (as detailed in the instruction booklet) is being performed.

This fighting (it gives you a strong argument at first), exercise gadget can be a diabolical destroyer of inches if used 10 minutes at a time, ideally, three times a day.

It's a force-resisting device that makes exercising more interesting, more bearable and certainly portable.

You don't need a swimming pool or home gym to trim, expand or firm the flab. Even when talking on the telephone, or watching television, you can accomplish the following:

- Firm and shape thighs, legs, ankles (bedridden patients use this device to improve circulation in their legs).
- Diminish and tauten the abdomen.
- Make the underarm area less wobbly.
- Perk up the bosom and strengthen the back muscles.

It's not easy going, especially the first few times, but it can be rewarding.

Cub Scouts Of Pack Three Have Seasonal Party

Pack 111 met recently in Lamar School Auditorium. Roy Ford, cubmaster, presided. Six dens were present. The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Den 3.

Den 2 won the ribbon for the best attendance. Andy Lee led the pack in four Christmas songs, "White Christmas," "Silent Night," "Rudolph, the Red-nosed Reindeer," and "Here Comes Santa Claus."

At the singing of the last song, Santa came in the door saying, "Ho Ho Ho Merry Christmas." Denners from each den were Santa's helpers and passed out candy filled stockings. The den mothers then served cookies, koolaid and coffee.

The Christmas tree was decorated with things the cubs had made in den meetings. The decorated tree was taken by the boys on a truck to Twilight Acres Rest Home. The committeemen for Pack 111 are: Roy E. Ford, George Hendrick, Gene Pitmon, Gene Winegeart, Garland Eggleston, Lyndon Shepherd, LeRoy Jackson, Jo Don Biggers, Eugene Dungan, and Finnis Gee. The Den Mothers and their assistances are: Den 1, Mrs. Tom B. Dunn, Mrs. Walter Tyler; Den 2, Mrs. Lacy Lee and Mrs. Dennis Stafford; Den 3, Mrs. James E. Davis and Mrs. Jess Edwards; Den 4, Mrs. Frank Holman and Mrs. Gene Pitmon; Den 5, Mrs. Gene Winegeart and Mrs. Roy E. Ford; Den 6, Mrs. Charles Terrell.

Plan Changes Now For Spring Garden

Whether you live North or South, East or West, winter is an ideal time to plan major changes in your garden. One project you can plan now is correcting faults in the grading, and the only difference is that you will tackle the actual digging earlier in warmer climates, say the Green Thumb Too Company's experts.

For example water may collect in spots on your lawn or in places in your garden during the winter months and kill out the grass and plants. Now is a good time to find out exactly where these places are, and to mark their outline with string. As soon as the condition of the soil permits digging (when it no longer stays together in a crue-ler-like mass when you squeeze some in your hand) fill in the hollow with good soil and sow lawn seed over it.

Instead of a stuffed tomato salad, serve cooked chilled artichokes filled with your favorite salad mixture — ham, egg, seafood or chicken. Before stuffing, remove the choke from the center of each artichoke with a metal spoon.

Randel: Den 5, Jimmy Winegeart, Ronald Moon, Tony O'Rourke, Gary Jackson, Randy Ford, Bill Farnell, George Wayne Hendrick, and Mike Shepperd; and Den 6, Greg Terrell, Dennis Wallin, Timmy Thomas, George Sturgill, and Michael Archuleta.

Santa Claus was played by Elvis Duck.

Wilt and Berry Dominate NBA Statistics

NEW YORK (UPI)—San Francisco's Rick Barry keeps scoring at will and Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain keeps doing a little of everything as the two stars continue their duel for individual honors in the National Basketball Association.

According to NBA statistics released today, Barry is running away with scoring honors. His 80 points last week gave him 1280 for the season through Sunday games for an average of 38.7 per game.

The Warriors' sophomore forward, producing points at a faster clip than any NBA performer has in the past five years, has led the NBA in scoring all season long and is moving closer to becoming the second man in league history to tally 3,000 points in one campaign.

Holding down the No. 2 spot was Chamberlain, the only player who has reached the 3,000 point plateau in a year. The 76ers center was averaging 24.1 on 843 points in 35 games, two more contests than the leader had played in.

Chamberlain also is facing stiff opposition for the runnerup spot from Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson, who had played seven fewer games than Philadelphia's star but had scored only 34 fewer points.

However, Chamberlain continued to hold a wide lead in field goal accuracy with a .690 percentage, was the league's top rebounder and was third in assists behind Guy Rodgers of the Chicago Bulls and Robertson.

Barry sank 18 of 19 free throws last week and increased his league-leading mark to .893.

Rangers Lose On Home Ice To Chicago

By United Press International—There were a pair of strange happenings in the National Hockey League Tuesday night as the New York Rangers didn't win at home and the Detroit Red Wings didn't lose on the road.

The first place Rangers, off to their finest start in over two decades, finally slowed down and were overtaken in the third period by the Chicago Black Hawks 3-2 as Bobby Hull slammed in the winning goal in the final four minutes.

Meanwhile, the last place Red Wings, off to one of their worst starts ever, gained a 4-4 deadlock with the Boston Bruins on Gordie Howe's goal in the final five minutes. They had lost their first 14 games on the road this season.

The Chicago victory enabled the second place Black Hawks to move within two points of the Rangers, who had two players sidelined with injuries and four others playing with injuries.

Hull, bothered by a bad back this season, slapped in a shot past Ranger goalie Ed Giacomin following a faceoff at 16:14 of the final period.

"In the last three or four games, Bobby's been playing like he used to," Chicago coach Billy Reay said after the game.

Hull admitted "my back still bothers me somewhat," but when Phil Esposito got him the puck on the faceoff, he showed he can still pull the trigger.

Stan Mikita, the league's leading scorer, got Chicago's first two goals to twice bring the Black Hawks from behind after goals by Rod Gilbert and Bernie Geoffrion had put the Rangers ahead.

Detroit remained one point behind fifth place Boston, which has won only one of its last 15 games, by gaining the tie. Howe, former Bruin captain, and Alex Delvecchio got Detroit's four goals while former Wing Pit Martin scored twice for Boston and Eddie Westfall and Ron Stewart added single goals.

Rookie Bruin defenseman Bobby Orr, playing a full game at center for the first time, collected two assists.

Back And Return
It wasn't long before the Cardinals realized they had a tremendously versatile performer, and so he was installed as a first-string running back and return specialist.

It was at punt returns that Roland showed his real forte. He returned one for 86 yards against the Eagles to spark a victory earlier in the season and set up several scores in other games with his fancy footwork on punt returns. He finished the season as the league leader in that department with an average of 11.1 yards per return.

He was equally as valuable in other departments, too. He set a club record for most carries (192) and managed to pile up 695 yards on the ground which was the 11th highest in the league.

While little was known about his passing ability, Roland proved he was as good as he had to be in that particular phase of the game. He became very adept at the option play by the end of the season and managed a 40-yard touchdown pass to Bobby Joe Conrad in a thrilling 24-19 victory over the New York Giants.

Roland was also used sparingly as a pass receiver, mostly on short yardage plays, but even at this he excelled. He grabbed four tosses in an upset loss to Pittsburgh and corralled three for 36 yards in a late-season loss to Dallas.

Roland ended the season with six touchdowns and also ranked among the league leaders in kickoff returns.

Karl Sweetan, who took over as quarterback of the Detroit Lions in mid-season, finished

REBOUND BOUND—Rick Foster (40) is about to override the attempt of Ranger Jim Gobin (31) to prevent two more points in the Harvesters' score. George Bailey (32) made the shot for Pampa, but Perryton's Soe Brillhart deflected the ball from its target. Pampa's Bo Lang (54) is heading in to assist, but was not needed for the score.

BASKETBALL WISE

Southwest Conference Slips Down in Prestige

By United Press International—The Southwest Conference's basketball prestige slipped another notch Tuesday night as four SWC teams lost to non-conference opponents.

Arkansas lost to Southern California 70-67 in the last few minutes of play in one of the nation's biggest holiday tournaments, the Los Angeles Classic.

Texas Christian, playing in the first annual Mobile Basketball Classic, lost to Alabama, 81-71.

Utah beat Texas Tech 93-79 in Lubbock and West Texas State won its first game of the season with a 89-71 victory over Texas A&M in Canyon, Tex.

USC, favored by 16 points before the game, had to overcome a four-point halftime deficit to beat Arkansas.

USC's Bob Hewitt keyed the comeback by scoring 19 points in the second half, including a field goal with 50 seconds remaining that put the Trojans ahead 68-65.

Arkansas' Tommy Rowland was the game's top scorer with 26, one more than Hewitt. Guard Wally Freeman added 15 for Arkansas.

Alabama also had to come from behind to beat TCU. Mike Nordholz led the comeback with 21 points—shy of his seven-game average of 26 points.

Alabama had a 68-56 advantage when TCU shifted into a 1-3-1 defense. The Frogs pulled within four points with less than three minutes remaining only to run into foul trouble and fall off the pace.

Wayne Kreis of TCU led all scorers with 25 points.

Mervin Jackson with 25 points and DeWitt Menyard with 23 led Utah to its seventh victory in nine games.

The lead changed hands six times in the first half and was tied on seven occasions. The halftime score was 37-37.

But Tech, who lost its eighth straight game, could not penetrate Utah's zone defense in the second half. Jimmy Fullerton led the Red Raiders with 14 points.

Foul shooting decided the AIM game as West Texas hit 33 of 43 free throws compared to 17 of 23 for the Aggies.

West Texas, led by Mickey Fitts with 26 points and Mike Mitchell with 22, jumped to a 44-27 halftime lead. Jerry Cooper added 17 for the Buffaloes.

Top man for both clubs in scoring and rebounds was A&M's 6-9 sophomore Ronnie Peret. He collected 30 points and 15 rebounds.

Rookie of the Year NFL Picks Roland

NEW YORK (UPI)—Johnny Roland of the St. Louis Cardinals, a collegiate defensive specialist who became a versatile offensive star in his first year as a pro, today was named Rookie of the Year in the National Football League by United Press International.

The 21-year-old halfback from Missouri was a runaway choice in the balloting conducted by three sportswriters from each NFL city as he pulled down 22 votes to far outdistance line-backer Tommy Nobis of the Atlanta Falcons, who was named on 12 ballots.

Roland, a 6-foot-2, 207-pounder, was an All-America defensive back his senior year at Missouri and saw very little action on offense. He was used mainly on key yardage situations and managed to score six touchdowns, but it was on defense that he really excelled.

The Cardinals, however, were loaded with defensive backs when Roland reported to camp but they were impressed with his running and decided to try him at running back and as a punt and kickoff return specialist.

While little was known about his passing ability, Roland proved he was as good as he had to be in that particular phase of the game. He became very adept at the option play by the end of the season and managed a 40-yard touchdown pass to Bobby Joe Conrad in a thrilling 24-19 victory over the New York Giants.

Roland was also used sparingly as a pass receiver, mostly on short yardage plays, but even at this he excelled. He grabbed four tosses in an upset loss to Pittsburgh and corralled three for 36 yards in a late-season loss to Dallas.

Roland ended the season with six touchdowns and also ranked among the league leaders in kickoff returns.

Karl Sweetan, who took over as quarterback of the Detroit Lions in mid-season, finished third in the balloting with four votes while end Milt Morin of the Cleveland Browns and defensive end Willie Townes of the Dallas Cowboys each received two votes.

Gale Sayers of the Chicago Bears, who finished the season as the league's leading rusher, was the winner of the rookie award last season.

Hobbs Meet Next As Pampa Slays Perryton, 75-44

By RON CROSS Sports Editor

Pampa practiced on Perryton Tuesday night then headed south of the border for the true test of just how strong they are.

The Harvesters left early this morning for Hobbs, N.M., to compete in the Hobbs Invitational basketball tournament, which got underway Tuesday night.

Pampa tackles Lovington, N.

M. at 8:15 p.m. tonight and a win would pit them against the Houston Spring Branch-Odessa winner at 8:15 p.m. Thursday. The tournament ends Friday night.

Hobbs and Plainview played Tuesday night as did Lawton, Okla. and Midland. Hobbs was the tournament favorite with a 38-game winning streak going with Spring Branch the co-favorite, rated one of the top class AAAA teams in the state.

Perryton lost only their fifth game in 12 outings and were the losers to Pampa for the second time this season, bowing, 75-44 in this one.

The Tuesday night rematch wasn't as close as the first game, won by Pampa, 76-57 with Rangers finding the net hard to hit in the second quarter.

Pampa jumped in front 2-0 then after a 2-2 tie, outscored the Rangers 8-0 for a 10-2 lead midway through the period.

But Perryton caught fire and moved to within three, 10-7, only to see Pampa go back out in front with a 13-7.

The Rangers closed the gap to 13-11 at the close of the quarter and never got that close again.

Pampa rattled through 16 straight points, good for a 29-11 lead before the Rangers could score with only three minutes left in the half.

By halftime the Harvesters had run up a 37-20 margin.

Pampa held 20 point margins throughout the third period and when the quarter closed had a 53-23 lead.

Everybody played in the fourth period with coach Terry Culley clearing the bench as the Harvesters sailed to a 13-1 record.

After the Hobbs tournament, Pampa hosts first-place Tascosa in a Tuesday night district game. The Harvesters are tied for second place in the district standings with Amarillo, both with 4-1 records while the Rebels are 5-0.

George Bailey and Bo Lang paced the Pampa scoring with 21 points each while senior Steve Williams added 11 and no fouls and Rick Foster chipped in nine.

Pampa hit 26 of 54 from the floor, for 48 per cent and hit on 23 of 30 charity tosses.

Royals and Hawks Demonstrate How to Win

By United Press International—There are many ways to win a basketball game, and the Cincinnati Royals and St. Louis Hawks demonstrated the long and short of it Tuesday night.

Cincinnati went on a 17-1 scoring tear early in the second quarter and had little trouble thereafter in downing the Detroit Pistons 131-123.

It was a lot more difficult for the Hawks, who didn't clinch their 113-111 victory over the Baltimore Bullets until the final second of the game when Len Wilken tipped in a rebound.

Oscar Robertson was the most productive scorer for the Royals, canning 33 points. Jerry Lucas chipped in with 24 while Dave Bing led Detroit with 28.

The St. Louis-Baltimore contest was tied five times in the last quarter. Bill Bridges had 30 points for the Hawks and Lou Hudson added 29, including five successive free throws prior to Wilken's winning basket.

Poverty Warriors Ride 1st Class

The growing concern of the people of the United States over the manner in which federal (ours) money is being spent by the Executive Department of the government, with the consent of Congress which passed the bills and granted the appropriations, is not lessened by a study of some of the activities which are being handled under the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The 1967 budget presented by President Johnson calls for 6,444 permanent federal employees to handle the programs under control of Sargent Shriver. The salaries alone of these employees total $53,489,000. Twenty-five of these top bureaucrats are paid salaries in excess of the base pay received by General William C. Westmoreland, who is Commander in Chief of the U.S. Forces in Vietnam.

Some examples of how the money is being spent in the fight on poverty is indicated by the fact that, according to Congressman William H. Ayers in a statement issued recently, the administrative costs in the Job Corps are now so high that the annual cost per enrollee runs above $9,000. This would be enough to send two boys to Harvard or some comparable school and the budgeted cost of these poverty-stricken Job Corps boys is $7,880 per enrollee for next year.

The Job Corps training center for women was opened last June at Charleston, West Virginia. About 300 white and Negro girls are enrolled and housed in a hotel. The allocation for training each girl is $12,168.

The total enrollment of the Job Corps operating under the Office of Economic Opportunity is 21,832 at 97 different centers. The budgeted cost of operating same is $292,619,400 which is about $11,400 per student for the year. When the program was originally started it was estimated that the cost per student would be $4,800 per year. The requested budget for the ensuing year is $335,000,000. Thus far the Youth Corps up to March 1 of this year has graduated 1,061 students. Of these 55 found jobs, 119 entered the armed services and 87 are in college. The basic cost per graduate thus far is $270,908.

The poverty program is costing the taxpayers of America $25,000,000 a week and since it started more than two billion dollars has been spent. It is estimated to cost at least $5 billion in the next five years.

These are just a few examples. Statistics which have been published at Washington reveal wholesale waste, haphazard control, inefficiency, and relatively speaking, poor results. Congress authorized these projects but it did not, we hope, intend for them to constitute such a tremendous burden on the financial resources of the United States nor to operate in the inefficient manner in which it seems they have been operating. It looks as though the time has come for Congress to institute an investigation of these largely spending agencies and perhaps, on the basis of results for the money involved, to abolish them altogether.

Thoughts while shaving: Hollywood producer Jack Warner couldn't find a castle in England that would serve as the site of King Arthur's court for his forthcoming epic, "Camelot." But he found just what he wanted in Spain. And that's where he filmed many of the scenes for the Lerner-Lowe musical hit that you'll be seeing next year. . . . Those Supreme Court rulings have really hampered police departments everywhere. In San Francisco the cops now carry printed cards which they are required to read to suspects before beginning interrogation. The cards advise the suspects of their Constitutional rights to remain silent and to have a lawyer present during questioning. Imagine being required to read that sort of card to a thug who had just held up a bank or supermarket! . . . You can rent anything these days, even an industry. At any rate a West Coast defense manufacturer needed a metal fabricating plant to help out on a contract. So, he leased a firm that does that kind of work. . . . The Newark (N.J.) STAR-LEDGER reported in a story: "She has rescued 22 drowning men, one of whom gave her a plaque in appreciation." Maybe she wishes now she hadn't rescued him.

Country Editor speaking: "Cigarette smoking makes any woman's voice harsh. If you do not believe it, just drop some ashes on the floor after she's mopped it."

And if dad is a do-it-yourselfer, he knows nothing can beat it as a mobile tool chest.

Almost everyone, in fact, hails the grocery cart for its versatility except supermarket owners and officials of the Super Market Institute, who ruefully face the fact that the carts cost $30 or $35 each and that more than $25 million worth of them are pilfered every year.

Some stores are trying to solve the problem by providing boys who cart purchases to the customer's car. Other proprietors may be wondering if it might not be simpler to sell carts and let the customers swipe the groceries.

But, of course, no self-respecting customer would think of doing that. It would be stealing.

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

France may not like the U.S. these days, but the DeGaulists like those Yankee dollars. In fiscal 1966 France drew more than a half-billion dollars worth of gold from the U.S. Treasury, more than the combined withdrawals of the other 25 nations that tapped Uncle Sam's till. While that was going on you read about our armed forces being ordered out of France, but there wasn't a peep about the $400 million France owes us for loans granted after World War II. And no one was bold enough to mention the $6 billion debt, plus interest, still unpaid from World War I. There have been no payments on that one since 1932. Wouldn't it be "lovely" if you could run your business or household budget that way?

Today's smile: A woman seeking a divorce told the judge: "I have nine children and I've just found out my husband does not love me." The judge said: "Well, don't be upset. Just think of the trouble you'd be in today if he had."

Once more the Arthritis Foundation warns that it is unfortunately true medical science has not solved the mystery of the cause of arthritis and rheumatism. But you can be sure quacks and so-called experts haven't found the answer, either. Modern medicine can do much to control the disease. The Foundation reports no specific diet will cure arthritis, so beware of trick health and nature foods. They possess no mystical qualities. All the foods any arthritis patient needs can be found in any local food market.

Minor Communist government officials in the privates reportedly have carved out small fiefs for themselves. They take rackets, they dip in the government till and build themselves beautiful offices and homes. They co-operate, for a fee, in illegal manufacture and trade. They shake down businessmen and farmers. They use their influence to force women to do their will. They embezzle government funds. They take money for giving some people larger shares when scarce foods and other goods are distributed. They participate in hoarding.

Under this measure - officially known as the Comprehensive Health Planning and Public Health Service Amendments Act - HEW Secretary John Gardner was empowered to reorganize the handling of all health aid funds to states. Surgeon General William Stewart, directed by Gardner to put this revamping into effect, described the aim to a meeting of federal and state health officials as follows:

"The intent is to develop revolutionary new approaches to federal-state health relationship. The old system of government arrangements, inadequate state government, disjointed relations between federal, state and local levels, and uncoordinated federal programs and unmanageable city government, is dying and must be replaced."

THE DETAILS - To put these far-reaching changes into operation state governors are being informed they must designate or their legislatures create "a single agency with the responsibility for administering or supervising the state's health planning functions."

Also, that a State Health Planning Council must be set up to advise the new state health planning agency, and that "a majority of its members must represent consumers of health services."

This requirement is patterned after the advisory councils of the anti-poverty program of which a majority are representatives of the poor.

The heated controversy surrounding these OEO advisory groups is one of the reasons Congress slashed funds for various trouble-wracked anti-poverty programs, particularly community action projects.

Regional offices of the Public Health Service are to be expanded to establish direct contact with the new state agencies, and to help plan the allocation of federal grants.

The enlarged Public Health Service regional offices will be directly under Surgeon General Stewart.

At his meeting with federal-state officials, he stressed that "we have decided to change our way of doing business in a rather radical manner. The changes being made are primarily for the purpose of pooling project grant funds and to broaden the possibilities of using these grants for innovation, demonstration or a specific target."

In justification of these far-reaching plans, Stewart cited the language of the new law as follows:

"Congress finds that comprehensive planning for health services, health manpower and health facilities is essential at every level of government. Federal assistance must be directed to the marshalling of all health resources."

MORE TO COME - The state-federal officials also were told that President Johnson will send a special message to the new Congress "as an integral part of an administration program to establish health care as a human right."

This "human rights" approach for pushing expanded health programs was formulated by HEW Secretary John Gardner. He proposed it as a strategy to counter congressional moves to cut federal expenditures for health programs.

As outlined by Surgeon General Stewart to the state and federal health officials, the administration's overall policy is "to provide good health for every citizen to the limits of our country's capacity."

"These are our marching orders - yours as well as mine - delivered not just by administration leaders but by the people," continued Stewart. "Underlying this challenge is the assumption that health is a human right. Once this proposition is accepted, it will become self-evident that every person should have ready access to high-quality personal health services."

Mao Purges Foes, Seeks Successors

By RAY CROMLEY

Washington Correspondent

HONG KONG (NEA) - For some time spotty reports have been arriving here from the mainland indicating a widespread breakdown of official and Communist party discipline in the Red China countryside.

It is not anti-Maoism. It isn't just a reaction to the Red Guards. It began before the Red Guards moved into operation. There were reports of graft, moral corruption, slovenly management and "local empires."

Chief among the programs affected by these backstage administrative revisions are: All those receiving health care funds from the Department of Health, Education & Welfare, and the Office of Economic Opportunity (the anti-poverty agency).

Funds for the construction of hospitals, medical and nursing schools.

National Institutes of Health research grants, and funds for medical personnel training programs administered by a number of federal agencies.

This extensive backstage administrative shake-up, thus will directly affect every state in the union, is being made under a little-known law passed in the final days of the recent Congress.

Administration Using New Act to Sweepingly Reverse Federal-State Handling of Billions in Health Aid

The heated controversy surrounding these OEO advisory groups is one of the reasons Congress slashed funds for various trouble-wracked anti-poverty programs, particularly community action projects.

Regional offices of the Public Health Service are to be expanded to establish direct contact with the new state agencies, and to help plan the allocation of federal grants.

The enlarged Public Health Service regional offices will be directly under Surgeon General Stewart.

At his meeting with federal-state officials, he stressed that "we have decided to change our way of doing business in a rather radical manner. The changes being made are primarily for the purpose of pooling project grant funds and to broaden the possibilities of using these grants for innovation, demonstration or a specific target."

In justification of these far-reaching plans, Stewart cited the language of the new law as follows:

"Congress finds that comprehensive planning for health services, health manpower and health facilities is essential at every level of government. Federal assistance must be directed to the marshalling of all health resources."

MORE TO COME - The state-federal officials also were told that President Johnson will send a special message to the new Congress "as an integral part of an administration program to establish health care as a human right."

This "human rights" approach for pushing expanded health programs was formulated by HEW Secretary John Gardner. He proposed it as a strategy to counter congressional moves to cut federal expenditures for health programs.

As outlined by Surgeon General Stewart to the state and federal health officials, the administration's overall policy is "to provide good health for every citizen to the limits of our country's capacity."

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Late Menstrual Period Common in Young Women
Q-I am 18 years old. What causes, other than pregnancy, would make me miss a period?
A-It is not unusual for some menstrual periods in young women to be eight to 10 days late. This would be a delayed, rather than a missed period. On the other hand, if five or six consecutive periods are missed, you should see your doctor as this may indicate a disease of the pituitary, adrenal, ovary or thyroid. Many of these diseases can be corrected if proper treatment is started early in its course. Other less frequent causes include obesity, anemia, diabetes and tuberculosis.

Q I have unbearable pain with my menstruation. How common is this? Would an operation help? Are menstrual cramps similar to those of childbirth?

A-Some degree of discomfort with menstrual periods (dysmenorrhea) is very common but it is caused by some anatomic abnormality, such as a tipped uterus, in only about 2 per cent of cases. The results of operation to fasten the uterus in a normal position have been so poor that they have been abandoned by most surgeons. Another operation - cutting certain pain nerves - has usually given relief, however. For the other 98 per cent, pain-relieving drugs, exercises and a hot water bottle are usually effective.

Although many drugs are recommended, aspirin has been shown to work as well as most of the newer drugs for this purpose. In some victims, for whom pain relievers are of no avail, the newer drugs that suppress the function of the ovaries are helpful.

The best exercise is to stand with your arms raised sideways to the shoulder level and twist your body to the extreme left and right. Keeping your knees straight, bend down and touch your right foot with your left hand and then reverse the procedure. Work up gradually to 10 or more of each type of exercise three times a day.

In some girls, learning to look on menstruation as a normal physiologic process instead of a curse, and reassurance that there is nothing physically wrong with the victim, is all that is needed for relief.

Menstrual cramps, like the pains of childbirth, are due to contractions of the uterus.

Q-My daughter is almost 15 and has not started to menstruate. What could cause this?

A-Some girls do not menstruate until they are 17. In most cases this is a variation that is within the normal range. If your daughter does not start to menstruate by the time she is 17, she should be examined for glandular deficiency.

Hunt for Truth

FREE CHINA

As foreign aid continues to drain American gold and burden the American taxpayer, apparently without any prospect of coming to an end, the example of the one nation which has taken itself off the foreign aid dole becomes all the more significant by contrast.

Foreign aid was originally "sold" to the American people as war relief and support for our weaker allies in the struggle against Communism. They were supposed to use it to build up their economic and military strength until they became self-supporting. Actually almost none of the recipients used our aid in this way, and few of the aid bureaucrats connected with Washington agencies encouraged them to do so.

The best case for foreign aid was always made by those nations directly involved in a one-sided conflict with a communist giant, which their economies could not adequately support. South Korea, Free China and South Vietnam all met these criteria. Wars in Korea and Vietnam did lasting damage to the economy. But the Free Chinese on Formosa, alone among all the nations of the world, used our aid to build up their economy until they no longer needed outside help. Today they proudly rely on trade instead.

This achievement of Free China, on a crowded island which must support a large military force, should be an example to the whole world and all our aid recipients. We hear too little about it, perhaps because Free China is still unpopular in the State Department. All who value Free China, and oppose foreign aid, should emphasize the Formosan accomplishment.

Young Doctor - Why do you always ask your patients what they have for dinner?

Old Doctor - It's a most important question, for according to their menus I make out my bills.

000 or more have an infant mortality rate well above the national average."

BAYONET PRACTICE In Communist China has the look of a ceremonial Oriental fencing drill, judging from the photo released by Peking. Right technique, the Reds say, involves studying Chairman Mao Tse-tung's dialectical-materialist thinking on the subject—make use of your own merits to attack weak points of your enemy; grasp the enemy's weaknesses and attack his vital points; strike to seize the initiative and catch the enemy off-guard by means of feigning attack.

ODD JOBS for the gentle sex are held down by Jane Ann Betts, left, and Dr. Karen Group, right. Jane is a frameman with the New York Telephone Co., the first woman on the job since World War I. She checks out customer complaints about telephone service, determining if the trouble is in the company's equipment, and making repairs. Dr. Group of St. Louis, Mo., is one of only 14 women among some 4,000 federal meat inspectors stationed in packing plants throughout the country to ensure consumers get clean, wholesome meat. Six years of university work in veterinary medicine prepared her for the job.

UNIQUE POWER PLANT high on a Wyoming mountain, this nuclear installation is getting its first refueling in almost four years. Located at Sundance, Wyo., it is the Air Force's only nuclear plant and provides power for radar equipment in the Air Defense Command's electronic warning and air defense services for the northern hemisphere. It has generated more than 16 million kilowatt-hours of electrical power from an initial fuel load of some 57 pounds of uranium 235 since it went into operation in October, 1962. Refueled, it will continue operating until 1971.

 Close by the forbidding peaks of the Himalayas, along the unmarked borders with Tibet and Nepal, lies Uttar Pradesh, the home state of India's premier, Mrs. Indira Gandhi. Next to it is the state of Bihar. Total population of the two is close to 10 million.

Under normal conditions, with ample rainfall, irrigation and double cropping, both are important producers of rice, wheat, barley and other grains. Uttar Pradesh is India's chief producer of sugar. Bihar is rich in minerals.

But both have been stricken by drought and among children there already are the shrunken limbs and the distended bellies which mark starvation.

Thousands May Die
 By the end of 1967, it is feared that thousands will die. Last spring millions went hungry in the nearby states of Orissa and Madhya Pradesh.

In this season when Christians exchange gifts and presumably turn their thoughts toward peace and good will, neither a war nor starvation make pleasant subjects.

The season made it fitting, then, that just before Christmas the United States should announce it was shipping to India 900,000 tons of wheat and sorghum in emergency aid.

Unfortunately for those already on the verge of starvation, it may arrive too late.

It normally takes four weeks to get the grain to U.S. ports and four more to reach India. It has been a bad year for India, perhaps the worst in its 20 years of independence.

Despite the shipment of nine million tons of grain from the United States' own dwindling stores, food riots were commonplace throughout 1966.

For Mrs. Gandhi, too, it has been a rough year.

When she bowed to pressures from abroad that she devalue the rupee and open the doors to foreign investment in fertilizer plants, far left wing Socialists in her Congress party accused her of selling out to the United States.

So far, the devaluation has not helped India's economic position and the cost of living has increased steadily.

The nation's fourth five-year plan should have gone into effect in April, 1966, but has not done so even yet, partly because some Western nations have not come through with promised aid.

In February, 1967, India holds national elections.

It is agreed that the ruling Congress party which has governed India since the beginning, will return to office. But only because there is nothing else to take its place.

The southernmost community on the continental United States is Flamingo, Fla., in Everglades National Park.

SAN FRANCISCO'S Carol Doda, who introduced the topless trend on the West Coast a couple of years ago, has indicated she plans to go to New York "to show 'em what the topless is all about." New York police jailed two topless waitresses recently, so Mrs. Doda may want to reconsider her planned "topless good will tour."

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)
 "What in the ever-lovin' blue-eyed world do you think you are doing?" she asked.

It was a bit past midnight and her voice was tinged with exasperation.

"I'm practicing," I said.

"Practicing what, for Pete's sake?"

"Falling asleep," I said.

"Why have you got your legs all knotted up in the sheet and your head hanging off the side of the bed?"

I could tell she was going to insist on a full explanation. So I switched on the bedlight and read her this press release that I received from the Spring Air Mattress Co.

"There is just as much skill involved in falling asleep as there is controlling your golf swing or playing a guitar," the press release said.

How To Sleep
 I'll be honest with you. I've been falling asleep, off and on, for more than 40 years. And it never once occurred to me that it required any skill.

Learning that falling asleep is on a par with golf and guitar playing really built my ego. For that is something I am really good at. I have a natural talent for it.

After seeing this press release, I don't feel so bad about being unable to control my golf swing or master the guitar. To each his own, as the saying goes.

It is true that my falling called them the "Ten Commandments." It's effective but ungainly. That's because I had never worked at it the way golfers and guitarists do.

Sleep Cramp
 I figured that with a little practice to polish my great natural ability I would soon be in "championship form."

Fortunately, the press release listed some of the fine points. It brag about. It's effective but mandments of Good Sleepmanship."

On the night of which my wife complained I was working on No. 8. It said, "If you have trouble falling asleep, take the position you usually find yourself in when you wake up in the morning."

When I awake, I usually find my legs all knotted up in the sheet and my head hanging off the side of the bed.

But falling asleep in that position isn't easy, even for someone as talented as I.

In fact, my wife says that if I continue practicing I will have to get more equipment—namely, twin beds.
