

OSBORNE SELLS 38 HEAD OF DOMINO CATTLE FOR $18,320 AT RANCH AUCTION NEAR HERE

BY STAFF WRITER

The cattle business reflected its better position Friday afternoon when buyers from seven states attended a sale of pure-bred Herefords at the J. P. Osborne farm northeast of Pampa and sent prices soaring to the highest paid for young stock in several years.

Bidding was spirited under the handling of Fred Reppert and Earl Gartin, who have been selling Herefords for more than 25 years.

An interested spectator, and a Hereford breeder of much prominence in the nation, was ex-Governor Sam R. McKelvie of Nebraska. He was accompanied by Mrs. McKelvie. They are now residents of Lincoln. Other well known figures taking part in the sale were R. J. Kinzer, secretary of the American Hereford Association, F. W. Farley of the Hereford Journal, Kansas City, and O. R. Peterson of the Drovers Telegram.

Mr. Osborne raises the famous Prince Domino strain. An interested spectator at the sale was Otto Fulscher of Holyoke, Colo., from whom Mr. Osborne purchased his famous Prince Domino bull for $10,000.

The 38 head of top stock brought $18,320 for an average of about $478. Females brought an average of more than $500 and the young bulls averaged in excess of $440.

A 12-year old cow, Belle Domino 107th, daughter of the original Prince Domino, sold to W. T. Smoot of Reydon, Okla., for the astonishing price of $1,500. G. P. Mitchan of Dallas paid $800 for a 9-month-old bull for the record price in that division. Duchess Domino, 9 months, was sold for $600 to Mrs. P. A. Worley to lead in that division.

More than 300 persons attended the sale. A barbecue dinner was served at noon to many guests.

Well known breeders attending the sale included: W. W. Nelson, Sr., and W. W. Nelson Jr., Los Angeles, Calif.; E. L. Mansel, Cambridge, Neb.; R. D. Mousel Jr., Cambridge; M. K. Thornton, College Station; N. E. Skinner, Broken Bow, Neb.; E. G. Ross, Goodlet; W. H. Latham, Dalhart; Finch Brothers, Dalhart; E. L. Martin, Sayre, Okla.; C. A. Dean, Cheyenne, Okla.; Charles Sanders, Big Lake; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Jett and daughter, Elida, N. M.; A. V. Cart, West

Plains, Mo.; W. T. Smoot, Reydon, Okla.; J. P. Spurlin, Reydon, Okla.; Belle Domino 107th, a 12-year-old daughter of Prince Domino, sold to W. T. Smoot, of Reydon, Okla., for $1,500. She was one of the five cows in the sale. Another cow, 10-year-old Gwendoline 68th, was sold to G. P. Mitchan, Dallas, for $740.

G. P. Mitchan paid $300 for Domino Prince 43rd, nine-month-old son of Jr. Prince Domino, the highest figure paid for a bull Friday.

Four female calves brought $500 or more.

These were Gwendoline 55th, calved May 21, 1935, purchased by W. W. Nelson Jr., Los Angeles, for $500; Duchess Domino, calved July 4, 1935, bought by Mrs. P. A. Worley, Pampa, for $600; Mischief Maker 17th, calved May 18, 1935, bought by G. P. Mitchan for $535; and Miss Galle 15th, calved April 16, 1935, taken by Max Stanton, of Diamond, Mo., for $550.

Six bull calves sold for more than $500 average.

In this group were Jr. Prince Domino 170th, calved March 21, 1935, bought by W. H. Latham, Dalhart, for $550; Domino Prince 42nd, May 28, 1935, W. H. Latham, $550; Domino Prince 43rd, June 3, 1935, G. P. Mitchan, $600; Domino Prince 40th, April 28, 1935, Finch Brothers, Dalhart, $525; Jr. Prince Domino 168th, May 29, 1935, Finch Brothers, $575; Jr. Prince Domino 5th, May 18, 1935, E. L. Martin, Sayre, Okla.

Bob McCoy, Pampa, paid $550 for a yearling bull.

The highest price paid for a young cow was $670, the figure bid by A. V. Cart, West Plains, Mo., to get Belle Flanchard K., calved April 27, 1934. Mr. Cart also paid $665 for a February two-year-old cow.

Complete list of purchasers and the prices they paid:

COURT RECORD

INJUNCTION DENIED
An injunction to prevent enforcement of local option in the south Gray county precinct was denied in 31st district court yesterday.

The injunction was asked on the ground that the precinct at McLean had never been legally defined as to its boundaries. This allegation was held insufficient by the court, in that the precinct has been of common knowledge for more than 30 years.

An election contest was decided in favor of local option earlier in the week on the ground that such a contest cannot be based on disputed boundaries.

Summary of Term.

The following is a summary of business transacted in 31st Judicial district court during the January term which convened January 6, 1936, and adjourned on the 14th day of March. It was compiled by Frank Hill.

Civil Business—22 civil cases dismissed, 21 civil orders entered, one cause removed to federal court, 9 compensation judgments entered, one case concerning the removal of disabilities, 10 civil judgments entered, 4 divorce cases dismissed on motion of plaintiffs, 43 divorces granted, one case concerning a neglected child, one case of dependent children which involved 5 children, 5 cases tried before a jury, one hung jury, and 4 injunctions.

Criminal Business—One special venire of 115 men drawn, 10 indictments returned (9 felonies and 1 misdemeanor), 6 pleas of guilty, 3 pleas of guilty before juries, 9 criminal cases tried before juries, 13 convictions in criminal cases, 2 verdicts returned by jury of "not guilty," and 13 cases tried with defendants charged with driving an automobile upon the public highway while intoxicated, which resulted in 12 convictions and one verdict of "not guilty."

The court empaneled 209 jurors during the term.

SO, BOSSY DIDNT

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—J. H. Peters lost both rounds in his brief bout with a milk cow. The cow kicked when Peters tried to milk her and he countered with a right to her jaw.

Results: A barked skin—and a broken hand.

Exports from Uruguay to the United States during January broke all previous records.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT, BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

$765* at the factory is the lowest list price ever put on a Buick.

But this $765* buys the most efficient type of straight-eight engine in the world—the Buick valve-in-head straight-eight.

This $765* buys the safety of tiptoe hydraulic brakes combined with the overhead protection of the solid steel "Turret Top."

This $765* buys Kneec-Action, plus weight-balanced springing, plus freedom from backlash and vibration through torque-tube drive.

This $765* buys acceleration from 10 to 60 in 20.7 seconds, thrifty gas mileage, and a lightness of handling that's the answer to a woman driver's prayer.

And this $765* buys a car engineered in Buick's own matchless manner, which means not only smoothness and steadiness and road-hugging evenness at every speed—but the sort of tough-fibred stamina that makes cobwebs grow in the repair shops!

A car like this at a price like this is news worth knowing any day in the week—but for the real surprise let us show you how it figures out in weekly payments.

The new GMAC 6% Time Payment Plan cuts the cost of buying a car on time. Why not use these savings to get the kind of car you've always wanted?

SEVENTEEN YEARS AGO WAS BORN AMERICAN LEGION IN CAUCUS OF AEF LEADERS

March 17, seventeen years ago, a caucus of representatives from American forces overseas was held in Paris. The World War and the men of the American Expeditionary Forces were thinking of the future as they waited for peace to come home. The caucus was called to create some kind of organization through which the men could continue patriotic work to the country in time of peace.

That caucus the American Legion was born. This year on March 17, the seventeenth birthday of the Legion will be observed by American posts and American Legion units throughout the country. Birthdays will give birth to the Legion, celebrating the conclusion of seventeen years of service without honorable discharge or persons who have been called into service, failed or attempted to evade full performance of such service.

A plan for a national organization with departments was also outlined, similar to the one under which the Legion now operates.

"Legion of the Great War" was the name offered as first choice by the committee on name, with "Comrades of the Great War," "Army of the Great War," and "Society of the Great War," were received with greater favor.

Debate over naming the organization held the delegates in session long past the lunch hour. Finally Maurice K. Gordon of Kentucky moved adoption of "The American Legion," and the motion was carried with the understanding that the action was only tentative and could be revoked.

The committee on convention failed to agree on a plan for a meeting in the United States, and a new committee was appointed, headed by Milton J. Foreman of Chicago. Its recommendation for a general congress of veterans in the United States on November 11, 1919, was adopted.

An executive committee to carry on the work of organization among the overseas forces and cooperate with the forces in the United States in forming a permanent organization in its lands, the caucus adjourned and the delegates returned to their posts of duty. The American Legion had been born.

zens to the state; to preserve the history and incidents of our participation in the war; and to cement the ties of comradeship formed in service, do propose to found and establish an association for the furtherance of the foregoing purposes.

Later, when the constitution of the American Legion was drafted, its preamble embodied much of the ideals. From first the principle of service to country was foremost in the minds of the men of the Legion. Membership in the new organization was fixed as "open to all officers and enlisted personnel in the military and naval services of the United States of America at any time during the period from April 6, 1917, to November 11, 1918, inclusive, excepting, however, persons leaving the service without honorable discharge or persons who have been called into service, failed or attempted to evade full performance of such service."

CRUISE TO NOWHERE

By Deck Morgan

Chapter XII

Jane did not go directly to the bar. She went to her room to repair imaginary ravages to her face and hair, and Tino waited for her outside in the passageway. She glanced in the mirror, and stood back in wonder. Her face had a radiance it had never owned before.

And how well that one evening gown had served her on this cruise! She was glad that tomorrow they'd be on shore, and she could wear informal clothes. One didn't like to appear in the same dress, night after night, and this cruise had been one gay affair after another.

For a moment her thoughts drifted back to the chill fall winds in the city, back to her jobless state. But she banished these now, as easily as she powdered a shiny spot off her nose.

The Bahamas were right out there under that gorgeous moon! She had a romantic figure in mind. Tino didn't seem impatient when she came out to join him. Together they made their way into the Venetian Room.

Last night she had made a spectacular entry into this room, alone after her quarrel with Dirk Strom. But tonight she felt keenly this moment of personal triumph. The heady wine of Tino's flattery and his flowery words had gone to her head!

They stopped at the bar, and Jane sat on a high stool where her reddish head glistened under the lights. At her side Tino made a distinguished appearance. The hostility the passengers had exhibited when Tino refused to sing at the ship's gala had vanished. The looks which people bestowed on the pair were again those of admiration. Their heads dominated the room.

To Jane it seemed that everyone had merely come on from the ballroom to the bar. Looking about the room she saw Dirk seated with Nora Lane and the detective at a corner table. They seemed quiet, subdued.

Dirk bowed to her slightly, and she nodded in return. It was the first friendly exchange they had passed since their quarrel last night.

Dirk had turned to Nora Lane again. He was afraid the actress had been aware of his distraction over the newcomers in the bar.

But Miss Lane was busily engaged in talk with Snowshoes. Dirk realized, a little ruefully, that the detective had monopolized most of her interest this evening. While she talked to Snowshoes, she had lost some of her tensed feeling about the ugly incident on deck that afternoon.

She was so receptive to every whit of the human comedy about her. She had suffered and lived tragedy. Snowshoes asked her about the Kokinor diamond and she smiled. At the same time she let a hand slip to her throat where the Kokinor usually nestled, and she seemed almost surprised not to discover it there. Dirk saw her flush.

"I was so distracted I forgot to wear it tonight," she said.

"I'd feel better," Snowshoes said, "if you'd hand it over to the ship's purser for the rest of this cruise."

Her returning smile was one of sincere gratitude. "It's nice to have you both think about my welfare. I

"But not any more. People are jittery about gold and silver money today—unsettled conditions. Nothing seems safe to some people but a store of precious jewels."

"Persons in the public eye are more subject to attack than others," the actress advised. "They are publicized. Everybody knows their personal habits, where they lived and where they travel. I must admit I was rather unerved by that photographer on deck this afternoon."

"You had a right to be!" Snowshoes put in. "Since the snatch racket fell under G-men blows, blackmailing has got its nose under the wire. Every yegg that thinks he has something on another person tries to put on the squeeze."

"I've been subject to extortion threats for a long time. My name is in the papers too much. This person—Mannie Jackson, as you call him—may have meant no harm, but I suppose I've become a little jittery on the subject. My nerves—"

Snowshoes said laughingly, "You need a bodyguard, Miss Lane!"

Nora Lane looked at him and without hesitation said, "You're hired!"

Snowshoes laughed out loud. "No, no!" he said. "I'm on my first vacation in 20 years. I was only joking."

She seemed terribly in earnest, and Dirk decided to take her side. At the thought of protection she seemed to be happier.

"I'd like to see you undertake that job, Snowshoes," Dirk said. "Really, I'm a little afraid about Miss Lane's safety myself. Maybe I've got the jitters, too, but—"

"Oh, please, do!" she added. "I'm sure you wouldn't leave me with this feeling now. I do believe I am in danger. Every instinct in me warns—"

Snowshoes was weakening. He was old-fashioned enough to be moved by the thought of a lady in distress. "I'm not getting any rest, anyway," he said. "Gamblers. Tough-looking customers all around."

Dirk laughed heartily.

"I am a woman of experience," Nora Lane went on. "I've had a bodyguard before, and I am prepared to discuss the business end of it. I would be grateful to you if you'd undertake the job, and I'd like to quote your fee—three hundred dollars for the duration of this cruise."

Snowshoes waved a hand as if he hadn't expected to be paid for anything, but Miss Lane was insistent. "On no other terms," she said firmly.

"If I take the job," Snowshoes said tentatively, "the first thing we'll do is to go straight to Suite AA and get the Kokinor diamond. We'll take it to the purser to be locked up in the ship's safe for the remainder of this cruise."

He admonished her gently, smiling. "You ought never to leave a jewel like that locked up in a room, hotel, private or blackroom. I can take care of any blackmail or extortion threats. All right, let's go."

Nora Lane stood up. Already the harassed look on her face seemed to have faded away. She was no

Three Charged With Extortion At San Angelo

SAN ANGELO, March 14.—(AP)—Two men, J. F. (Jack) Williams, 66, and R. L. White, 34, both ex-convicts, and Mrs. Katherine Thomas Williams, 27, recently acquitted on a liquor charge in county court here, were charged late today with attempt to extort $1,000 from John D. Jones, manager and co-owner of a chain of local theatres. Charges were filed with Jesse T. Couch, U. S. commissioner here by J. C. Merz, department of justice agent.

The two men were arrested in the Ballinger highway by Sam Haynes, chief of police, and two other officers who had followed Jones out as he delivered the $1,000 in ten dollar bills, that he had placed in a longer tense. She felt safe in his hands.

She looked at Dirk and said, "I hope you'll forgive me for wanting to retire. I've enjoyed the evening so much, and don't let me spoil your fun. I know you'll want to stay in the bar. Goodnight," she said, and gave him her hand.

As Nora Lane and the detective went out of the bar, Dirk crossed the room toward Jane. He approached her smiling, wondering what kind of reception he'd get at her hands tonight.

can at a roadside as instructed by a telephone call this morning.

The first letter in a series, was received Saturday, March 7, by Jones. It advised that he had been selected as the victim and that instructions would follow on how to deliver the money. His life and those of his family were threatened.

Couch set bonds at $10,000 each. The trio pleaded not guilty. They are being held here tonight and will be transferred to the Abilene and Fort Worth jails tomorrow.

In England, rubber boots for dogs are being manufactured and sold.

Big things have happened
since you or your friends bought refrigerators

Visible COLD
The controls of the 1936 Kelvinator keep food compartment temperatures ideal, regardless of how hot it is in the kitchen. And you can see what the temperature is, because a Built-In Thermometer tells you that food is being kept sure, safely, dependably cold.

Visible ECONOMY
Today, for the first time in the history of the industry, Kelvinator provides you with a Certificate of Low Cost of Operation. The 1936 Kelvinator uses one-half or one-third as much current as many refrigerators now in use. This saving alone may justify replacing your old refrigerator.

Visible PROTECTION
You may know today, beyond a shadow of doubt, that the refrigerator you buy will give you long years of service. Because the 1936 Kelvinator is backed by a 5-year Protection Plan, written and signed by the oldest company in the electric refrigeration industry.

IN EVERY CITY and town in America—in clubs and homes and on the streets—people are talking about Kelvinator—the new refrigerator.

Those who have put off buying any electric refrigerator—who have waited for new developments—have found in the 1936 Kelvinator the answer to every question a conservative buyer could ask.

Owners of automatic refrigerators are replacing them with new Kelvinators, not because the old ones are worn out, but because new developments, new discoveries, new inventions now offered for the first time have, by comparison, made former refrigerators obsolete, wasteful and old-fashioned.

The 1936 Kelvinator gives you Visible Cold. It maintains low temperatures in the food compartment to a new and amazing point of accuracy. And, for the first time, a Built-In Thermometer tells you in unmistakable figures how cold it is. You know food is being properly preserved, health properly protected.

It gives you Visible Economy. Many refrigerators now must be considered wasteful of electric current, for Kelvinator uses a half or even a third as much current as many now in use. And there can be no doubt about economy, for every Kelvinator is sold with a Certificate of Low Cost of Operation.

And it gives you Visible Protection. Every Kelvinator is backed by a 5-year Protection Plan signed by the oldest company in the business.

The 1936 Kelvinator gives a new meaning to the word "convenience." There are flexible rubber grids in every ice tray, automatic defrosting switch, sliding shelves, interior light—everything to lessen the burden of housekeeping.

If you are one of the 7 million owners of automatic refrigerators, or if you have not yet bought, see the 1936 Kelvinator, get all the facts about this new refrigerator, learn how easily you can own one by our liberal Deferred Payment Plan.
