Brevitorials

Gradually, politics is coming closer to the Panhandle. Governor James V. Allred has been heard, although he made only a scant mention of his campaign. Pierce Brooks, Dallas candidate for governor, will speak in Pampa at 2 p. m. June 12. He is one of the few active campaigners. To date he has traveled more than 7,000 miles, making 205 addresses since March. He claims to have met more voters personally than any other candidate met in the same length of time in a Texas campaign.

Brooks, like other rivals of Allred, is hammering on the old age assistance question, claiming that the governor is not speeding payments enough. Allred's answer will be given soon. Of most interest to Pampa and the old field generally are the extravagant claims being made by gubernatorial candidates concerning proposed oil taxes. One plank would close all carbon black plants. Another would slash the Texas oil market at the profit of other states, adding greatly to unemployment. Texas cannot levy taxes without considering the market effect and the ultimate result. The industry already is one of the most heavily taxed we have, and it supports, directly and indirectly, nearly half the people of Texas.

More evidence that we are passing through a period of transition is seen in the number of new organizations which are taking form. The Liberty League's publicity has slowed; that of Black Legion—and white, too—has gained the front pages. American Nationalists is the name of an organization seeking a "united Christian front in America." It purports to be attempting to merge Catholic and Protestant influence against "red anti-Christian leftist forces." There is much merit in part of the platform enunciated, but there was no need for a new organization. Narrow nationalism is the root of most wars.

Western trains will toot more than ordinarily during the week beginning June 13. They'll be talking, telling the country that Railroad week is here again. Railroads are going modern rapidly. Instead of fighting bus lines, they are buying and operating them. The Texas state Commerce Commission is trying to integrate the whole setup. It is possible to travel across the nation by bus on one ticket.

Truck operators and those who sell or service trucks are organizing to raise the load limit in Texas. Truckers claim that, through the various taxes they pay, they spend more than the other carriers in organizing a legislative program. Organized, they will have a formidable influence. Railway brotherhoods are hard-pressed. They seek more wages, more work opportunities, at a time when trucks are offering stern competition to railroads, especially on short hauls.

In line with an idea we have long endorsed is the summer study program at West Texas Teachers college. The plan is to get information and opinions on government from men in public life. Office-holders, judges, attorneys, and business men will be called into the class room to speak and be questioned. It is an excellent approach to the problems of the day.

DISSOLVE INJUNCTION

AUSTIN, June 4. (P)—The state court of civil appeals here today dissolved an injunction prohibiting the erection of a statue of "Buffalo Bill" Cody on the Texas Centennial grounds at Dallas.

People You Know

The Midway at the Fairgrounds was seething with carnival-starved people. Almost every booth was a "money game." The "steam shovel" that reached for coins, the wheel that stopped on the white, red or black, the wheel that stopped on dice, the iron rings you threw at colts.

The 14-year old boy looked up at you, said intensely, his eyes shining, "I don't see how you can keep from winning on that one if you play it long enough. . . look at that man. See how he is winning," pointing to the big fat man who won every time.

"Here's four bits—try it!"

In a little while: "It just wouldn't stop on the red—anyway, I'd rather ride the swing, but I would have won a dollar if it hadn't slipped off!"

MRS. SHELTON NAMED QUEEN OF CENTENNIAL

OLDEST MAN RESIDENT IS GEORGE BLACK OF GROOM

Queen of the Panhandle Centennial, chosen to represent those frontier women who lived the history that Pampa and its hundreds of guests are commemorating, and to receive in their name the special honors which are being extended this year to the wives and widows of pioneers, is a woman who was in the vanguard of the frontier blazers, with and of those daring and adventurous men and women who braved the dangers and the hardships of the wilderness for the promises which the new country seemed to hold of wealth, and freedom, and adventure for those who were hardy enough to conquer and endure.

She is Mrs. Emily J. Wood, widow of Isaac Buchanan Wood, who came from Colorado to the Texas Panhandle with her husband in 1875 to hunt buffalo on the plains and establish one of the earliest homes on the new frontier. In the 1880's, one of the few white women in the region, and she endured not only the privations and the hardships which the pioneer was to know for many years to come, but she worked side by side with her husband in that hazardous and hard work for which they had purposely come to the country—hunting and skinning the buffalo and shipping the hides. Her first home in Texas was on Gageby creek, where she and her husband built a two-room log cabin. There her eldest son, Jo, was born. Later, she lived on Hackberry creek, near the present site of Mobeetie, where her second son George was born in 1880. A little later, she lived at Mobeetie. "Before there was a Mobeetie, when there was just the new fort there, with lots of soldiers. The community was called Sweetwater, she recalls, and Fort Elliott.

Greetings From Tingley Brought By His Adjutant

New Mexican Speaks Over Radio KPND To Texans

Greetings from the State of New Mexico to Texas and the Panhandle Centennial celebration throngs were brought here today by Adjutant General Russell C. Charlton of Santa Fe, official representative of Governor Clyde Tingley, who was unable to attend as he planned. General Charlton was presented at 10:30 o'clock this morning in a speech over KPND, with Gilmore N. Nunn introducing the visitor. Also in the official party, which will go from here to the Texas Centennial as representatives of the State of New Mexico, are Col. Clyde E. Ely, commanding the 11th Cavalry of the New Mexico National Guard at Silver City, and Lieut. Edward Purdy of Roswell, commanding Battery A, 158th Field Artillery, of the National Guard. Illness of Mrs. Tingley kept Gov. Tingley.

Thrilled by Program General Charlton said, in part: "It is my pleasure to bring you greetings from the governor of New Mexico, and from the State. I know that had Governor Tingley been present he would have been thrilled and as pleased by the program as I have been. I assure you that the people of New Mexico rejoice with our great neighbor on the occasion of her 100th birthday. I congratulate

FRENCH CABINET RESIGNS; HELM GIVEN TO BLUM

Evacuation of About 200 Factories Demanded

BY EDWARD KENNEDY. (Copyright, 1936, By The Associated Press.) PARIS, June 4.—Premier Albert Sarraut and his coalition cabinet resigned today to permit socialists to assume the government of strike-ridden France. As Sarraut and his ministers made their "funeral march" across the street to the Elysee palace to tender their resignations to President Lebrun, a strike movement embracing about 400,000 workers stifled industry with near paralysis. The strike movement was met suddenly by a refusal on the part of leaders of metal industries to conduct their strikes until the latter evacuate more than 200 factories.

Even as Leon Blum, socialist leader, prepared to assume the premiership, reports in the chamber lobbies had it he might order communists to call off their dogs as soon as he became head of the government. Only two formalities intervened between the resignation of the Sarraut cabinet and the naming of Blum as premier.

President Lebrun had to consult former Premier Edouard Herriot, who was elected today as president of the new chamber of deputies, and Jules Jeanneney, president of the Senate. Herriot's new post corresponds to that of speaker of the house in the United States. The rightist opposition to the new peoples front government folded their arms in imitation of the leftist strikers when called upon to vote. They refused to take part in the election.

The action of the metal industry employees, in direct defiance of that of employers at the central markets in Paris who yielded to the demands of strikers for pay increases. Threats of a food shortage in the capital apparently were averted, but the metal industries' development brought up a new, serious phase of the internal situation just previous to the assumption of the premiership by Leon Blum, socialist leader.

The metal industries' employers declared to Albert Sarraut, retiring premier, that the strikes are "revolutionary and threaten to paralyze all French industry within a short time.

"A Texas Flavor" "Many thousands of Texans have migrated to the State of New Mexico, giving a distinct Texas flavor to the eastern portion of our commonwealth. These people are appreciated—they are good citizens.

Many Riders Thrown -Bulldogging Is Sensation

Even the most particular rodeo fan who helped nearly fill Fairground park yesterday afternoon had to admit that never had tougher stock been seen at a rodeo attraction. The horses were mean and tough, the calves fast and tricky, the steers wild and wiry. Col. H. Otto Studer and Lon L. Blansett, who headed the Centennial committee in charge of the rodeo, searched far and wide for the toughest hands in the park, and there were more than 100 of them, had to bow before the animals. The climax will be tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, when the best will be pitted against the best.

There were so many entries in the calf roping that two days, yesterday and today, will be required to go the rounds. As a result, the two-day purses will be split. After the regular schedule of calf roping has been completed tomorrow, closing day, the 10 men with the best time will rope for the title. Jimmie Nesbitt of Fort Worth and his pet cowboy, nationally famous clown artists, gave the crowd the biggest "kicks" of the day. Why Nesbitt hadn't been killed was a wonder to all.

The Ramsey troupe of trick riders and ropers from Tulsa, Okla., and Miss Opal Wood of Ringwood, Okla., gave marvelous exhibitions of riding and roping. Raymond Ramsey gave a thrilling exhibition of Roman riding on his famous White Clouds, two beautiful white horses. While standing with one foot on each horse's back, Ramsey jumped the two horses over a four-foot hurdle. Miss Elinor Ramsey gave probably the outstanding exhibition of the day when she crawled under the belly of her horse with it running at a gallop.

C. A. Studer of Canadian is acting as secretary for the rodeo. Judges are E. Pardee, La Junta, Colo., Eddie Smith, Wellington, and Glen Hopkins, Canadian. Timekeepers are Earl Maddux, Red Brewer, and Reamer Dunn.

Promptly at 2:30 o'clock the grand march began with music by the band. Following the march, the crowd of 16,250 spectators, a good time considering the speed of the calves. Shorty Creed of Rye, Colo., nationally famous bulldogger, gave the crowd a thrill when he dropped a

ROOSEVELT TO ATTEND BYRNS STATE FUNERAL

To Accompany Train Back Home to Tennessee

WASHINGTON, June 4. (P)—President Roosevelt, the White House announced today, will attend the state funeral for Speaker Byrns at the capital tomorrow and will accompany the funeral train and attend the burial services in Tennessee. Stephen T. Early, a presidential secretary, said the President's trip to Texas, scheduled to start Monday night, would be made. But the departure probably will be moved forward to allow attendance at the Byrns funeral.

Plans of the President between the burial services and the first speaking stop on his western trip at Little Rock, Ark., set for 7 p. m. (CST) June 10, will be held in abeyance pending the decision of the late speaker's family as to the time and place of burial. The President issued a statement, soon after being informed by Mrs. Roosevelt of the speaker's sudden death, saying he personally mourned the passing of "a steadfast friend of many years." The statement follows: "Speaker Byrns belonged to that school of statesmen which is the hope and justification of our democracy."

By a happy coincidence he represented for more than a quarter of a century the Hermitage district of Tennessee, a district of sentimental significance because it holds the sacred dust of Andrew Jackson; and there was about Speaker Byrns a simplicity and rugged honesty which we have come to associate with the name of Jackson. Fearless, incorruptible, unselfish, with a high sense of justice, wise in counsel, broad of vision, calm in adversity and modest in victory, he served his state and the nation with fidelity, honor and great usefulness.

Personally mourn the passing of a steadfast friend of many years."

Governor Will Meet Roosevelt At Texarkana

AUSTIN, June 4. (P)—Governor Allred said today he would meet President Roosevelt at Texarkana when the latter comes to Texas June 11 for the Texas Centennial and would continue with the presidential party until it leaves the state. The governor will be accompanied by Mrs. Allred, Adjutant General Carl Nesbitt, Paul Wakefield of Austin and Colonels W. C. Repass, and H. R. Safford of Houston. He said he would be unable to accept an invitation to meet the president at Little Rock June 10 for the opening of an historical celebration in Arkansas.

The governor announced further that he would request all state departments to close Saturday in order that employees might attend the Centennial Exposition in Dallas. He planned to fly to Port Arthur for a commencement address tonight and to Dallas tomorrow night for participation in Centennial opening ceremonies. See NO. 5, Page 8

INDIAN BATTLE TO BE SHOWN IN FIREWORKS

CENTENNIAL PAGEANT TO BE PRODUCED TONIGHT

Climaxed by the most spectacular fireworks display ever seen in the Panhandle, the Centennial pageant, El Dorado, will be produced at fairgrounds park tonight, beginning promptly at 8:30 o'clock. The performance will be repeated at the park tomorrow night. The fireworks will show a scene unforgettable in American history: an Indian battle. Far in the background will be an Indian village of six tepees, illuminated by bright colored lights, and far in the mountains will be seen the Indian war camps.

The roar of artificial artillery and the set up of artificial arrows and guns, with the smoke of the muskets and the action of many prepared devices, will provide a realistic effect. The set of Indians, Indian chief, covered wagon, federal soldiers, and many other personages will appear in the gigantic battle, also an explosion of liquid fire, flares, rockets, strings of fire, smoke pots, and cannon detonations. A pyrotechnical expert from Illinois will be in charge. Before the battle is concluded a string of 40 9-inch shells are fired, which release and represent 500 individual detonations and colored lights, providing a realistic effect with all the brilliancy of a natural battle. The fireworks display will be the last scene in a colorful pageant, presented under the direction of Ben Gull. Every bit of scenery for the mammoth cavalcade of the Panhandle had been erected last night. Properties include a curtain 300 feet long showing two beautiful mesas, Boot Hill cemetery at Old Tascosa, the main street of Tascosa, a typical dance hall and saloon of the Panhandle in the '70s, many horses, wagons, scores of guns and 5,000 rounds of ammunition all of which will be fired.

One scene will depict the stand of Billy Dixon and his buffalo-hunting comrades at Adobe Walls against several hundred Indians. This scene alone will last 15 minutes, and the din of battle caused by the constant firing of ammunition will be continuous. Other scenes will show an Indian village and buffalo hunters. The cast will include 75 Indians, cowboys, Indian squaws, dancers, rangers, buffalo hunters. In brief, the story of the Panhandle before civilization came will be told, dramatically and vividly. Admission will be 40 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

An excellent rodeo performance thrilled hundreds at the new fairground park yesterday. It was continuing today and will be seen again tomorrow. Scores of rodeo stars from many states are here. About 5,000 oil men attended the

Being grown up isn't going to keep them from having fun to gether as they always have, they hastened to assure. "We'll not vote alike necessarily, but according to individual taste. The four of us are predicting that Roberta and I will vote alike and Mary and Leota will stick together as usual." (Roberta and Mona are identical twins.) And as for marriage— "At 21 the boy friend situation is about the same," Roberta answered. "But thoughts of marriage are still pretty far away." With that Mona smiled knowingly at sister Roberta and put in, "but you never can tell."

But They're Vague On Subject of Marriage

HOLLIS, Okla., June 4. (P)—The Keys quadruplets are 21 years old today, the first quadruplets on record to reach majority. And coming of age, the four girls—Mona, Roberta, Mary and Leota—talked of being grown up, or voting and of all the fun they've had in 21 years—and of marriage, rather vaguely. Being grown up isn't going to keep them from having fun to gether as they always have, they hastened to assure. "We've probably had more fun and thrills and are happier than any other bunch of 21-year old girls in the world," said Mary. ### Centennial Fete Workers Toiling Without Any Rest

DALLAS, June 4. (P)—Fifteen thousand workers, 2,000 more than usual, toiled without rest today to assure completion of the $25,000,000 Texas Centennial exposition before the gates open Saturday morning. Three shifts have been placed on every unfinished project and in many instances man power of each unit is being doubled and tripled to hurry completion of all projects, George Anderson, superintendent, said. More than 700 additional laborers of all types were hurried into the grounds to fill breaches in landscaping and decoration work—the biggest task to be completed. Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper, official representative of President Roosevelt, will arrive here Saturday morning for the opening day ceremonies.

Apparently in good health in mid-afternoon yesterday when the House adjourned early out of respect for Rep. A. Platt Andrew (R., Mass.) who died at his home in Massachusetts Tuesday, Byrns returned to his hotel. At 5:30 p. m. he suffered a heart attack. At 11 p. m., said Dr. George Calver, congressional physician, the speaker suffered a cerebral hemorrhage, and died an hour and a quarter later, without regaining consciousness. Dr. M. M. ## HEART ATTACK IS FATAL TO DEMO LEADER

TENNESSEAN'S DEATH DUE TO CEREBRAL HEMORRHAGE

WASHINGTON, June 4. (P)—A capital grief stricken by the sudden death of Joseph Wellington Byrns, speaker of the house of representatives, will pay its last respects to him in a state funeral at noon tomorrow. In the House chamber where sorrowing members gathered briefly today to elect William Brockman Bankhead of Alabama to succeed Byrns in the chair, President Roosevelt and members of both branches of Congress will attend the services.

WASHINGTON, June 4. (P)—A state funeral in the House chamber tomorrow for Speaker Joseph Wellington Byrns, cut down at the height of his career by a sudden heart attack and cerebral hemorrhage, was planned today by grief-stricken congressional leaders. All thought of pushing the adjournment drive which Byrns had put so tirelessly in recent weeks was left aside.

The chamber which the 66-year-old speaker had guided through history-making times met briefly and elected William B. Bankhead of Alabama to take his place. A lawyer with 20 years' experience in the House, Bankhead himself recovered only a few months ago from an illness possibly aggravated by the strain of his position as majority leader. The Senate called a halt in its debate of the tax program, one of the vital measures Byrns had sought to steer through the House, on the opening of the national party conventions. Leaders said it would adjourn out of respect to him until the hour of the funeral tomorrow, when it would assemble to go to the House chamber.

After the election, Bankhead walked down the aisle. There was a scattering of applause, quickly hushed by "no, no's," from the chamber. The oath of office was administered by Rep. Sabath (D., Ill.), dean of the House. Members throughout the chamber were visibly affected as the chaplain, James Shera Montgomery, read Tenneyson's "Crossing the Bar." The chamber was crowded and the galleries well-filled. Chairman McCreynolds (Tenn.) of the foreign affairs committee, a close friend of the speaker, ordered the official resolution on his death. McCreynolds lauded the late speaker as "true and loyal to his friends."

The House then adopted McCreynolds' resolution formally expressing profound sympathy and providing for the appointment of a committee of four to make arrangements for a state funeral in the House chamber and for a committee of 60 House members to attend the funeral in Nashville. WASHINGTON, June 4. (P)—Cut down at the height of his career by a swift and lethal illness, Speaker Joseph Wellington Byrns of the House of Representatives lay dead today in a room in a hurried hotel while leaders of all parties expressed shock and grief. A totally unexpected heart attack, followed by a cerebral hemorrhage, brought death at 12:15 a. m. E. S. T. today to the Tennessee farm boy who rose to the speaker's chair during a period in which much history was made. He would have been 67 years old next July 20.

The passing of this tall and rangy pillar of his party in the turbulent hours of hard fighting between the new deal and its foes plunged the legislative situation into further uncertainty. Almost until the hour he was stricken, Byrns had labored at a tremendous pace to pass the program through Congress swiftly so the session could end on Saturday if possible. Hard Work Blamed Friends believed the hard work he insisted on doing may have hastened the fatal attack. Many observers believed that, with the speaker gone, the session now may last well into next week or perhaps longer.

Soon after Byrns died in his room at the Mayflower hotel, with sorrowing relatives at his side, the word flashed around the capital. Leaders decided not to notify President Roosevelt until later in the morning, but others soon were informed. Political foes, no less than close associates, were manifestly shocked. Apparently in good health in mid-afternoon yesterday when the House adjourned early out of respect for Rep. A. Platt Andrew (R., Mass.) who died at his home in Massachusetts Tuesday, Byrns returned to his hotel. At 5:30 p. m. he suffered a heart attack. ## CATTLE RUSTLING CONTINUES

From the eastern Panhandle hills to the flats of distant West Texas, motorized cattle rustling is proving vexatious to ranchmen. Little less worrisome than oldtime rustling is this modern method of thieving. Cattlemen and officers are organizing to combat what, with high speed trucks and good roads, is increasingly menacing. Losses are surprisingly heavy at a time when stockmen are feeling the cost keenly.

Interception of stolen cattle is about the only way to halt these thefts. Fire-branding, making it impossible to erase the brands, is coming back after having been abandoned by many ranchmen. Multiplicity of brands makes quick, efficient identification of animals difficult.

Issuance of triplicated livestock movement permits may be adopted in some western counties. Those moving stock would carry a sheriff's permit, and the sheriff in the county of destination would be sent a duplicate.

So, in this week of Centennial programs, when the frontier conditions are being recalled, this modern cattle rustling reminds us that all is not yet tranquil and safe on the range.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—The question of what's likely to happen to the sharecropper and the tenant farmer under the new farm program has been given plenty of thought and consideration. The conclusions are not very definite, because there are factors operating for and against that class of farmer.

Generally speaking, the outlook for many sharecroppers is just some more hard luck. But authorities still disagree as to whether there was any considerable displacement or change in the status of non-landowning farmers under the old AAA program, although they concede that many such farmers were deprived of any share in benefit payments.

As is frequently the case, the government has no facilities for computing the amount of human damage.

More cotton will be raised in the south under the soil conservation program than under the AAA and the compulsory Bankhead cotton act. That presumably will mean more employment in the cotton fields than recent production levels have required.

AAA regulations also call for allotting of 25 per cent of soil conservation payments to sharecroppers, instead of 15 per cent, as under the old schedules.

The share specified for the tenant who furnishes his own animals and tools is 37 1/2 per cent. But many croppers will be cheated of their money, as many were in the crop reduction program. (It was estimated by officials that they received an average of 11 or 12 per cent of benefit payments, instead of 15 per cent.)

Boosting of the cropper's share to 25 per cent is also likely to cause some planters to eliminate sharecropping agreements and transform the croppers into day laborers.

The volume of benefit payments will be smaller in most crops under the new program, and that again presumably will provide an inducement to landlords to turn sharecroppers into laborers.

Soil building crops, such as clover and soy beans, usually will require nowhere near as much care as cotton once again creating the probability that planters will prefer to have them handled at necessary intervals by hired help.

The economic position of agricultural laborers and the reasons so many of them seek relief rolls when not working appears to be explained by the fact that those engaged in the current cotton-croppers' strike in three Arkansas counties are demanding a pay increase from a present 7 1/2 cents to 15 cents an hour.

This strike, although believed to be foredoomed to failure, has worried several government departments in Washington and was even brought up at a cabinet meeting.

Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, inclined to shiver at the thought that her department might have to negotiate any strike settlement which would set a wage as low as 15 cents an hour, nevertheless suggested at the cabinet meeting that she would like to send a representative into the strike area.

Vice President Garner objected, on the ground of political considerations. "Federal intervention" would displease the planters, he said.

Q. From what tribes were the African negroes drawn in securing slaves for the American colonies? E. Q.

A. The Negro in Our History by Carter G. Woodson says: "The source of these negroes will be of much interest. They came in the main from Guinea and the Gold Coast. Very few came from the West Coast of Africa. The slave trading nations did not control that part of the continent. Among these slaves were a few of the most intelligent of the Africans, the Senegalese, with an infusion of Arabic blood. They were especially valuable for their work as mechanics and artisans. Then there were the Madagascars, who were considered gentle in demeanor but prone to theft. The Coromantees brought from the Gold Coast were hearty and stalwart in mind and body. For that reason they were frequently the source of slave insurrections. It was said, however, that the Coromantees were not revengeful when well treated. Slaves brought over some Whydahs, Nagies, and Paw Paws. They were much distinguished by the planters because they were justly industrious, cheerful, and submissive. There came also the Gaboons. They were physically weak and consequently unsuited for purposes of exploitation. The colonists imported, too, some Gambia negroes, prized for their meekness. The Eboes brought from Calabar were not desired, because they were inclined to commit suicide rather than bear the yoke of slavery. The Congoes, Angolas, and the Eboes gave their masters much trouble by running away. Among the negroes thus imported, too, there were a few Moors and some brown people from Madagascar."

Do You Know A Termite?

The termite is not a true ant—although it looks like one. This destructive insect lives in and on wood which is its dwelling place and its food.

It is dangerous in that it never breaks through a surface, but devours wood until there is nothing left but a shell, which may cause a collapse at any time.

You must know the termite—it may be around you right now.

There is an official booklet which gives all the facts about these strange insects, shows pictures of them, with illustrations of the fearful havoc they work on various objects.

A copy of this interesting little publication can be had by anyone who sends five cents with his name and address.

The nickel is necessary to cover the cost of handling and postage.

400,000 STILL ON STRIKE IN CITY OF PARIS

SOCIALISTS MOVE TO ASSUME CHARGE OF GOVERNMENT

BY EDWARD KENNEDY.
(Copyright, 1936, By The Associated Press)
PARIS, June 4.—Employers at the Paris central markets yielded to the demands of workers today, apparently averting a threatened food shortage just as the socialist, Leon Blum, moved to assume the government of France.

Even as the workers gained their demands, housewives in various sections of Paris reported laying in heavier supplies of food for fear the source would be cut off.

Striking ice and refrigerator plant workers, whose walkout had imperiled Paris meat and milk stores, settled their dispute with operators, further allaying fears of a metropolitan famine.

However, the strikes spread to other branches of industry, affecting newspapers, and there were estimates that 400,000 workers still were in a status of "folded arms."

Afternoon newspapers were kept off the streets by pickets. Only about 10 morning papers, or less than half the total number, appeared on news stands.

Laborers building air raid shelters at police headquarters quit and tried to stay in the shelters, but police routed them summarily.

A statement by the Bank of France showed heavy withdrawals of gold for the tenth consecutive week.

During the week ending May 29, gold valued at 438,000,000 francs ($29,054,293) was withdrawn from the bank's vaults, leaving the reserve at $7,021,000,000 francs ($3,782,431,000).

The withdrawals lowered the percentage of gold coverage on bank notes to 61.01 per cent from 62.37 per cent in the previous week.

The bank's increasingly heavy support of the national treasury was shown in the fact that discounts rose to a value of 19,288,000,000 francs ($1,279,450,000) as compared to the May 24, 1935, discount report of 4,794,000,000 francs ($318,005,000).

A flight of capital into British pounds was reported by bankers. Sterling hit one of the highest quotations in many months.

At noon, the pound was quoted at 76.50 francs, as compared to 75.80 a week ago. Bankers said the intervention of the British equalization fund had been curtailed to conserve funds, since the burden of large franc sales had threatened to overburden it.

(The franc also slumped at London, carrying the American dollar down with it.)

As the soft-spoken Blum made ready to diagnose the nation's labor and financial ills, the right wing of the chamber of deputies united on a policy of outright obstruction to his leftist government.

This policy was decided upon after the dominant people's front had refused the rightists pro rata representation among chamber officials. The rightists declared they would oppose every government bill.

Dancer Shoots Beautiful Blond And Then Himself

PHOENIX, Ariz., June 4. (AP)—Irving La Zarr, said to be a former member of Sally Rand's troupe, shot and killed Donna Park of Los Angeles, beautiful blond dancer here today and then killed himself with the same gun.

Nat McKee, justice of the peace, said it was murder-suicide and an inquest was unlikely.

There was no hint of why La Zarr, known as a close friend of the girl, had taken his sudden desperate action.

Both fell from steamer chairs in which they had been sitting and conversing.

The girl had resided at the dwelling three weeks, coming here from the Los Angeles home of her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth L. Park.

La Zarr, shown by letters in his possession to have been a long-standing acquaintance of the girl, arrived in Phoenix last night.

Persons at the rooming house said there was no evidence of quarreling as the two talked.

JONES PUSHES BILL

WASHINGTON, June 3 (AP)—Legislation bringing grain, cotton and other commodity futures exchanges under more rigid government regulation with a particular view to curbing speculative trading was sent to the White House today by the house. Without objection, Chairman Jones (D. Tex.) of the agriculture committee, obtained agreement to concur in senate amendment and send the commodities exchange bill to expected presidential approval.

ONLY MONUMENT IN SOUTH TO UNION TROOPS IS IN TEXAS

COMFORT, June 2. (AP)—Tucked away in the village of Comfort, deep in southwest Texas, is the only monument erected to the memory of Union soldiers south of the Mason-Dixon line.

Beneath the granite shaft imbedded on a hillside rest the bodies of a band of early German settlers—massacred because of an amazing sincerity to their oath of allegiance to the United States.

Valor and scorn fills the story of the deaths. The German band, loyal to the government, was shot down by Confederate guns as they tried to make their way into Mexico to escape conscription into the forces of the Grey.

On July 4, 1862, the loyalists from Gillespie, Kerr, Kendall, Edwards and Kimble counties, met and formed the "Union Loyal League."

Three companies were organized in a battalion under the leadership of Major Fritz Tegener. An advisory board was formed and battalion officers met with it and outlined a plan of action.

Some slipped away, journeyed to New Orleans and joined Union forces. Others remained and July 30, 1862, the Loyal League were notified the counties of Gillespie, Kerr, Kendall, Kimble and Edwards were considered to be in open rebellion to the Confederacy.

They were placed under martial law. Soon after the league decided to disband to show Confederate leaders no armed conflict was intended.

Ma. Tegener passed word that all who wished to try to flee to Mexico with him were to meet on the banks of Turtle creek Aug. 1.

Sixty five German settlers, stubbornly true to their oath, met him there and started by horseback for the Rio Grande.

The flint rock trail wearied their mounts and on the night of Aug. 9 they halted for a two-day rest along the banks of the Nueces river. Guards were thrown about the camp and worn members of the group fell asleep.

Shortly before dawn a shot rang out and the loyalists found their guard, Leopold Bauer, shot to death. As they hurried about the camp more shots were fired. Loyalists fought back and down found 19 of them killed; nine captured (and later executed), and the remainder in flight.

Six of the escapes were later killed as they reached their goal—the Rio Grande. Eleven joined the United States army as members of the first regiment of the Texas cavalry volunteers and the remainder escaped to their homes and California.

Three years later, after war drums had ceased, a group of Germans went to the massacre scene, gathered up the bones of their comrades, returned here and buried them with ceremonies in the present resting spot.

Many years later relatives and friends erected the monument—consecrated to a band courageous in their beliefs.

Inscribed on the shafts are the names of the dead and the words: "Treu der union (true to the union)."

Historians and relatives have handed down facts of the strange rebellion and it is a favorite tale of this hill country.

SESSIONS POSTPONED

PARIS, June 4. (AP)—Great Britain and France agreed today to support postponement of sessions of the League of Nations council and assembly until the end of June, diplomatic sources reported. The delay would allow representatives of the two nations to attempt to formulate proposals for settlement of Italy's annexation of Ethiopia, these sources asserted.

didn't get the nomination by the third, would he get it at all?

These were the questions that started off nearly every one of the politician-to-politician conversations—and there were hundreds of them.

Was John Hamilton, Landon leader, conservative when he predicted that his chief would get more than 300 on the first vote? Was David A. Reed, former United States senator from Pennsylvania, the same when he said a majority of his state's delegates favored Landon? or were both overestimating?

While talk along this line went on, the national committee again went to work on contests for seats at the convention when it opens next Tuesday.

The committee's decisions on contests affect only the temporary roll if contestants choose to carry their fights to the convention. The convention itself is the final judge of its membership.

The Louisiana fight between slates of 12 delegates each was scheduled for first consideration today. Each delegation claims to have been regularly and legally selected.

Late yesterday the committee decided to seat the Florida delegation headed by John F. Harris of Palm Beach. J. Leonard Lewis, Jacksonville negro and head of a contesting delegation, said he would carry his fight to the convention. The committee also decided to seat William V. Pacell of Chicago as the only delegate from the eighth Illinois district.

The state population department at Rio de Janeiro released figures showing that of 274,749 rural properties in Sao Paulo state, 33,590 are owned by Italians, 14,810 by Spaniards and 13,945 by Japanese.

ESKRIDGE IS ON TRIAL FOR 1935 SLAYING

EYE-WITNESS DESCRIBES ORANGE KILLING FROM STAND

HOUSTON, June 4 (AP)—The Rev. Edgar Eskridge, Baptist minister, went to trial for his life today for the shotgun slaying May 29, 1935, of Police Chief Ed O'Reilly of Orange, Texas.

The question of again arraigning the defendant called for a slight delay in the taking of testimony. The defense objected to the arraignment on the grounds that Eskridge was arraigned and entered a plea of innocence after he was granted a change of venue at Orange last June.

District Attorney Hollis Kinard of Orange demanded another arraignment, saying he thought the jury should hear the plea.

Kinard, a member of Eskridge's church at Orange, called as his first witnesses persons he said saw the shooting and witnessed events leading up to it.

O'Reilly, also a member of Eskridge's church, was shot to death on the streets of Orange two days after he had asked the pastor, who had launched a campaign against what he called a vice element in Orange, to quit carrying two pistols.

Eskridge was arrested a short time later at Deridder, La. He told officers at the time he was en route to Lake Charles, La., to surrender.

After the opening day of the trial the minister had shown little interest in proceedings. Three days were required in obtaining a jury and the defendant paid little attention as attorneys questioned veniremen concerning their religious belief and their attitude toward the death penalty.

The state qualified jurors on the death penalty. A plea of temporary insanity was announced as the basis of the defense case.

'Nude' Pictures Of Aimee Land Cripple in Jail

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 4. (AP)—Valentine Phillip Moore, a member of the San Diego police force, was arrested today in jail today as investigators checked deeper into his story of mailing extortion notes to Evangelist Aimee Semple McPherson at Los Angeles.

The 42-year-old toothless cripple voluntarily told County Investigator Harry Beach he sent five notes to Sister Aimee demanding $10,000 on a threat of "making public" photographs he said he had of the evangelist in the nude.

In Los Angeles Mrs. McPherson, flanked by a pair of husky bodyguards, declared: "Unquestionably, the man must be a crank. Certainly no pictures of me exist that I wouldn't be perfectly willing to have published."

McAuliffe, who said he was an ex-convict and until a few days ago a member of Sister Aimee's four square gospel flock, told varying versions of the series of notes.

Zioncheck May Be Released by End of This Week

WASHINGTON, June 4. (AP)—Dr. Edgar A. Bocock, superintendent of Gallinger Municipal hospital, indicated today that Rep. Marion Zioncheck of Washington may be released from the institution by the end of the week.

Reporting that the congressman is reacting satisfactorily to rest and sleep in the institution—where he was committed for mental observation—Dr. Bocock intimated that an examination by psychiatrists today may conclude the case.

Zioncheck talked briefly with newsmen yesterday, expressing confidence that he would win renomination and re-election this fall.

Dispatches from Seattle indicated that the ranks of his rivals were multiplying. Latest tabulations showed four republicans and five democrats might enter the race for his seat.

The last to bob up as a possible contender was former Mayor Charles L. Smith of Seattle.

Chapter 24 "COME AT ONCE—"

Hope went on: "I wanted to win him, to make him happy. But I couldn't. He was kind to me. He did things for me, gave me things. But it meant nothing. I was like a doll that he dressed up... for her to see. He thought she might relent. He hoped for this. And if she had..."

"But he was married to you," Dirk reminded her.

"I know. Certain words were spoken over us, if you mean that. But how long would they have held if she had come to him?"

Dirk repressed a smile. The diagnosis was so entirely feminine.

"Anyhow," she said, "I could have told Rupert that Elmer would never come. I think maybe he came to know this. But he went on getting pleasure out of showing her he didn't care, out of thinking he hurt her... with me. I was a sort of weapon. Maybe he found she hadn't even hurt her, for she went serenely on and got married. And that day... the day of her wedding... he came in my room for the first time, and kissed me. He was drinking, and angry, and I pushed him away."

Dirk said, "I don't blame you for that. I think any woman would have done the same."

"But he left," she said. "He rode out of town. He felt that no one cared... And aren't there ways and ways of winning a man? ... Shouldn't a wife take any way she can?"

The discussion had become painful to Dirk. He replied, "I thought you had won him. I thought it when I saw your ring."

She smiled down ruefully at the chased platinum band.

"I'm glad you noticed it," she said. "Rupert never has. I bought it myself."

Dirk went out on the kitchen-porch to get more wood. The snow had drifted onto the porch, and the wood had almost to be dug out. When he came back into the room Hope had slipped sideways in the chair, her face pressed against the rough hickory arm. She was asleep.

He lifted her, limp as a child, and carried her over to the bunk, spreading an army blanket over her, and her raccoon coat. Then he mended the fire and lay down on the bunk opposite.

Dirk fell asleep and was awakened by a knock on the door. Hope, too, sat upright. It was Sandy, standing in the dawn, beside his sleigh.

"We've found him," reported Sandy. "Down at Old Forge, at Steve Clapp's house. He's in bed, sick."

Sandy told them more as he drove them toward Old Forge. It had happened the night of the big snow. Rupert had got lost while driving up. In the obscurities of the storm he had turned off the road and had stalled. Then he had got out, searching for help, afoot.

"I guess he saw Steve Clapp's light. Anyhow, they found him next morning where he'd stumbled at the gate. The dogs found him. He's still unconscious. Doctor says he's got pneumonia. Clapp heard there was somebody lost, around 'Big Moose,' and he phoned over."

Clapp's house was a cottage of four rooms. They had given Rupert the best bed, and Mrs. Clapp was taking care of him. Dirk telephoned to New York for two nurses, and for Rupert's physician. He said to Hope,

"I want you to go home. We've found him now, and we'll take him to Lowrie soon as we can."

Dirk saw her to the train, a grave, silent figure bundled in a raccoon coat, a brown antelope bereft pulled over her hair.

He felt strangely at ease regarding Hope—Hope and her childish secrets. When she had gone he telephoned Martin to meet her train, telephoned also to Sanford Joris.

During the next few days Rupert remained in a coma, his physician and nurses came on from New York. The Clapp home was requisitioned as a hospital, and the Clapps went to stay with neighbors.

On Monday Dirk received a telegram. He was in close touch with Sanford and the office, but this was from neither of those sources.

It was signed David Logan, and it said, "Come at once."

David Logan was one of the watchers at the gate.

The morning train had already gone, so Dirk left Big Moose in his car. Rupert was better that morning, had emerged into consciousness, and the attendants were hopeful. Dirk reached home shortly before dusk. Logan and his companion had not come on. Martin, meeting him in the porte cochere, hailed him as a miracle.

"Did they wire you?" asked Martin.

"They did. Do you know what it is?"

"No, sir. She's not. She can't leave her room."

"Have you called a doctor?" asked Dirk.

She's not as ill as that, sir. But Mary says she looks... She won't let anybody in but Mary. Mister Dirk, you may blame me for all this. But you told me to watch.

You told me to guard her. I can't help it if she saw me... if she knows it was me."

They were facing each other in Martin's little room on the third floor. Dirk, a thousand apprehensions moving through his mind, could not help observing that Martin himself looked ill.

"You'll probably fire me," Martin said now. "Specially as Logan says... But I don't mind being fired if I'm no more use to you. It was like this. With you gone, and Mister Rupert gone, and me, and the rest of the help away up here, I got to thinking.

"I thought if anybody was after her it would be a cinch to come then, while you and Mister Rupert were gone. Up here on this floor nobody can hear a thing.

"Logan and the other feller... I went out and spoke to them about it, told them you were away. I wanted one of them to keep the watch inside the house. But they wouldn't do it. Said it was their business to watch the gates; they hadn't received any other instructions. So it seemed my business... feeling like I did... to stay close to Mrs. Joris, though I hadn't received any such instructions either."

"It was your business. We'll take that for granted. What happened?"

"Well, I made up my mind to go downstairs and stay in Mister Rupert's room... just be there in case anybody tried anything. I never knew where Mister Rupert kept his gun... his revolver. Nora told me."

Dirk was silent. So far as he knew, Rupert had no revolver, but he did not wish to check Martin's rather halting narrative.

"All right," he said.

"I went in Mister Rupert's room, and looked in the desk-drawer where Nora said he kept the gun. The gun wasn't in the desk, and I began to look in the other drawers. And then, all at once, I heard a man's voice. It was low now. It had been loud for a minute. Loud and kind of mad."

"It was in Mrs. Joris' room. I didn't think a thing but that she was in danger. But the door was locked."

"You tried the door?" asked Dirk, for Martin had stopped.

"Yes, sir, I tried it with all my might, pushing against it. I could feel it was a flimsy thing, not like the other doors. Everything was still while I tried it, and I worried worse than ever. I ran out into the hall, and tried that door. It was locked, too, and felt like the wall itself, and I was just turning around to go back and smash in the other door, when the one I was trying opened, and Mrs. Joris stood there."

"She had on a kimono, and the light was on in her room. If there'd been a light before it was very dim, or I'd have seen it under the door. She said, 'What is it, Martin?' I told her I'd heard some body in her room. She said, 'But there is no one here.'"

Nora pours out her story, tomorrow.

OFFICERS FOR YEAR ARE ELECTED BY CHRISTIAN COUNCIL

THREE GROUPS NAME LEADERS IN THIS WEEK

ANOTHER POSTPONES ITS MEETING FOR CENTENNIAL

Group leaders for the coming year were named this week by three groups of First Christian Women's council. Group one postponed its meeting yesterday because of the Centennial celebration, and group four met on Monday instead of Wednesday.

Mrs. R. E. Abbott was elected leader of group two, which met with Mrs. R. G. Christopher in her home. Mrs. Dick Rhodes was in charge of the business session after a prayer by Mrs. H. J. Lippold.

The program included a talk on missions by Mrs. John Hodges, and a vocal solo by Mrs. Robert Chafin. Members present, in addition to those named, were Meses, A. D. Aldkins, Roy McMillen, Paul Hill, Louella Howell, Billy Taylor, and H. H. Isbell.

Mrs. Scott Ralfsnnyder is the new leader of group three. Mrs. Weldon Wilson was hostess yesterday. The opening prayer was by Mrs. C. L. Thomas, and the Bible lesson by Mrs. Tom Eckerd. Others present were Meses, J. R. Moore, N. A. Purdy, H. C. Hill, C. R. Followell, and DeLea Vicars.

The Monday meeting of group four was at the home of Mrs. Paul Graham, starting with a morning program and a covered dish lunch. Mrs. W. E. Noblitt was re-elected group leader. Mrs. H. C. Jones was named as her assistant, Mrs. Bruce Cobb secretary, Mrs. H. Slick program leader, and Mrs. C. F. Baston song leader.

United Chinese War on Japanese Is Parley Aim

SHANGHAI, June 4 (AP)—Emissaries of the Chinese Canton government sped northward today, official sources declared, to discuss with Nanking government officials proposals for a united Chinese war against Japanese aggression.

Sources close to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, overlord of the Nanking administration, said the commander was awaiting elaboration of Canton proposals against Tokyo. Chiang Kai-Shek himself declined to comment on the situation.

The proposal for a union of the two Chinese governments, reported by Japanese sources yesterday from Canton, revived the nation's attention.

Contradictory statements from various sources continued to perplex Chinese and foreigners, peculiarly asserting 250,000 southward troops had marched into Hunan province.

(Some Japanese sources asserted the military movement was not designed against Japan but was the beginning of a Chinese civil war involving the Canton and Nanking armies.)

96-Year Old War Vet Is Father of A Girl This Time

NEW BERN, N. C., June 4 (AP)—George Isaac Hughes, the 96-year-old Confederate veteran who amazed the medical world when he became a father 17 months ago, was smiling again today—this time it's a girl.

By the light of a crude, old-fashioned kerosene lamp in a small room of their little home near here, a second child was born last night to his 28-year old wife, Libby Hill Hughes, whom Hughes married two and a half years ago.

"It looks like we might raise a pretty big family after all," Hughes commented. "You know I've been saying all along I'd live to be 110 years old—that's how long my grandmother, Katie Tillman, lived, and I don't look so old yet, do I?" Hughes is vigorous for his age.

His faculties are clear and he does odd jobs, chopping wood and keeping a garden.

"The girl was a girl," he said. "I thought it would be all the time. I wanted a girl because the first one was a boy. Libby wanted a girl too."

The Hughes first-born, a lusty lad of 17 months now, is walking about and is fast learning the intricacies of speech. He was named Franklin Roosevelt Hughes.

INJURIES FATAL
SAN ANGELO, June 4 (AP)—Bruce M. Galyon, 38, a world war veteran and cafe operator in Ozona, died in a local hospital last night of injuries received Monday night when he was struck by a truck as he was assisting a woman motorist in repairing a tire 12 miles east of Ozona. Funeral services will be held in Ozona Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. M. K. Carney underwent a major operation at Pampa-Jarratt hospital yesterday. Her condition this morning was favorable.

Cool and Smart Frocks Designed For Hot Summer

BY ADELAIDE KERR.

NEW YORK, June 4 (AP)—Hot weather costumes have hit a new high on the thermometer of chic. For those blistering days in town when the sun scorches city streets American designers have created the smartest outfits the fashion world has seen. They are clean cut and formal enough to be smart, sheer enough to be cool, and lightened with smart white touches which keep them looking crisp all times.

Steel gray and ice white is the newest combination, but navy blue and sea foam white, forest green or wood brown and daisy white, or black and chalk white also are big favorites. A two-piece suit or a frock topped by a jacket or cape make the smartest effects accented by accessories which harmonize.

Navy blue and black organza net, dotted swiss, chiffon and sheer silk all are used to make simple frocks with fairly high necklines and short or long sleeves finished with snow white collars and cuffs of organza or pique. With them go matching short jackets (trim and fitted or loose and swaggy) or waistlength capes.

Prints with new smart patterns which are a decided variation from the old flower design are much in vogue. White or cerise colored coin dots, crowns, seashells, stars and animals stamp many of the new prints. Monotone silhouette prints—white on copper, wine or navy—and two toned checks also are seen. Some are accented by a third color as a white crepe printed in black.

Suits of cotton pique, rayon suiting or "non-crushable" linen are other big favorites. Often they are worn without blouses.

Accessories put the finishing touches to the outfits. Nettie Rosenstein turns out smart town togs for hot days by adding flower toques, boutonnières and suede gloves all of the same shade—a white carnation toque and gloves with a putty crepe flecked with white and red carnation accessories will blue.

Other designers like big hats—wide brimmed flat crowned white or black straws and gloves to match with the ensembles. Slip-cover handbags, whose detachable washable cotton covers come in colors to harmonize with the costume, are another accessory which has found great favor.

Survivors are three daughters, Miss Laura Ellis and Miss Hazel Ellis, Tulsa, Okla.; Mrs. Irene Ellis, Cremona, Pampa; five sons, Paul Leavenworth, Kas., and Ralph Edward, Jack, Rodger and Tommie, all of Pampa; three sisters, Mrs. Grace Hampton, Mrs. Jessie Slaton and Mrs. Guy Slaton, all of Tulsa, Okla.; two brothers, Rube Ellis, Skiatook, Okla., and Bryan Ellis, Apache, Okla.

The body was sent to Tulsa, Okla., this afternoon by G. C. Malone Funeral home.

OIL WELL TAMED
CORPUS CHRISTI, June 4 (AP)—The wild Killiam No. 1 oil well was tamed oil well today, its 4-day rampage brought to an end last night by an expert crew of trouble-shooters. H. L. Patton and his crew partly capped the gusher but were turning it loose at 10-minute intervals. Patton said he feared a complete shut-down might cause the well to break loose again.

Art School Opens In Palo Duro Park

CANYON, June 4.—The Palo Duro school of art, a new undertaking of the West Texas State Teachers college, began this week with a larger enrollment than had been expected. Miss Isabel Robinson, head of the art department and director of the school, said that she had already enrolled as many people as she had hoped to have during the entire six weeks, and that many others had indicated that they would enroll later.

Fourteen different cities, one of them in North Carolina, are already represented by the enrollees. Mrs. Darrell Jackson of Amarillo is the critic lecturer this week. Courses are offered for beginners and for advanced art students. The school is being conducted at the lodge in Palo Duro state park, and most of the students will live in the park.

MARCEL INVENTOR DIES
BERNEY, France, June 4 (AP)—Marcel Grateau, inventor of the marcel wave, was buried here today. He died at his chateau Sunday. Grateau, who was 84, invented the popular method of waving women's hair in 1887 after he had once been discharged from a large hair-dressing shop for being clumsy and awkward.

Mrs. J. E. Haden, Star route 3, underwent a major operation this morning at Pampa-Jarratt hospital.

Irene Brewer underwent a major operation at Pampa-Jarratt hospital yesterday. Her condition this morning was favorable.

Mike and struts her radio personality like a real veteran.

STAMFORD, June 4.—The cowboys' square dance at the cowboy bunkhouse each night and the old fiddlers' contest of the closing day will be two of the entertainment features of the Texas Cowboy reunion here July 2, 3 and 4 which will carry out the general purpose of keeping alive traditions and pastimes of the early-day cattle country.

Oldtime cowboys as well as active cowhands of the present day and large numbers of visitors enjoy the square dances at the reunion each year. The committee in charge is composed of oldtime cowboys, with Judge C. E. Coombes of Stamford, former cowhand and now prominent West Texas attorney and past president of the West Texas chamber of commerce as chairman.

The fiddling contest will be held in the City Auditorium, downtown, beginning at 8:30 a. m. on July 4, last day of the reunion. No entry fee is charged and cash prizes totalling $32.50 are awarded the winners. First prize is $15.00, second $10.00, third $5.00, fourth $2.50.

To be eligible for the contest, fiddlers must be not less than 50 years of age and professionals are barred. Each contestant is allowed to select the two tunes he plays, but only "break-down" tunes are permitted. Fiddlers may play alone or choose their own seconds, but only one accompanist is allowed for each player. Jim Stiel is chairman of the committee in charge of the contest.

Tom Michael, 62, of Sweetwater won first prize in the contest last year; C. A. Ward, 60, of Weimert was second; Aut Dial, 64, Stamford, third and J. K. Hughes, 78, Anson, fourth.

Tobacco Juice Marksmanship Dare Accepted

DALLAS, June 4. (AP)—If it's a tobacco juice marksmanship contest the governor of Louisiana wants with Texas, the challenge is accepted.

A mere novice with a quid, Gov. Richard W. Leche of Louisiana let fly at several statehouse cuspidors, hit one, and mused: "I'm going to challenge the Texans to a tobacco juice spitting contest."

Governor James V. Allred of Texas snapped up the challenge. No chver himself—"they say it takes time to achieve accuracy and poise"—he appointed a stalwart to toe the line for Texas, a man reputedly able, when pressed, to squelch a hopping mad at 15 cents.

The nominee is Leonard Pack, chief of the Texas Centennial police and a former ranger. Pack had not accepted his informal appointment today, but the governor felt sure "Leonard won't let us down."

Governor Allred indicated his selection was based on the lead target report. The contest will be held when Governor Leche attends the Centennial.

FUNERAL TOMORROW WASHINGTON, June 4. (AP)—A special house committee announced today that the state funeral for Speaker Joseph W. Byrns would be held in the house chamber tomorrow at noon.

OIL NEWS AND NOTES

FORESEES OIL PROSPERITY.

AUSTIN, June 4. (AP)—Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Texas Railroad commission, said today that increasing demand and the demonstrated ability of states to cooperate in controlling production promised a continuing era of prosperity for the oil industry.

He reiterated a previous statement there was nothing alarming about production from the Rodessa field on the border between Texas and Louisiana, that federal court action prohibiting transportation of certain oil from that field was reassuring and that conservation generally was stronger than it ever has been.

During the past week the Rodessa situation was a subject of much talk among oil men. The commission yesterday reduced the allowable production of seven wells on the Texas side from 350 to 275 barrels daily to conform with a reduction in Louisiana.

Asserting that various factors at present made for firmness, rather than softness, in the market, Thompson said consumer demand was already up 12 per cent more than last year, and was increasing "right along."

He said the oil was not merely seasonal, but is due to general business recovery," he said. "More automobiles, heavy trucks and airplanes are moving with every indication of continuing increase in this traffic. Because of the drawing power of the Centennial celebration, this is especially true of Texas."

"Moreover, the states recently demonstrated they can control production, for when necessity presented they cut it back. During the last week, production for the nation dropped more than 50,000 barrels daily, every important area showing decreases."

"With demand increasing and production under control, the basis for a strong market is statistically fine."

"I'm going to challenge the Texans to a tobacco juice spitting contest," Governor James V. Allred of Texas snapped up the challenge. No chver himself—"they say it takes time to achieve accuracy and poise"—he appointed a stalwart to toe the line for Texas, a man reputedly able, when pressed, to squelch a hopping mad at 15 cents.

The nominee is Leonard Pack, chief of the Texas Centennial police and a former ranger. Pack had not accepted his informal appointment today, but the governor felt sure "Leonard won't let us down."

Governor Allred indicated his selection was based on the lead target report. The contest will be held when Governor Leche attends the Centennial.

PARKER ARREST PUTS HOFFMAN BACK 'ON SPOT'

Charge of Kidnaping Filed Against Detective

MT. HOLLY, N. J., June 4. (AP)—The arrest of Ellis Parker, Sr., chief of Burlington county detectives, on a charge of kidnaping and assaulting Paul H. Wendell threw into the lap of Gov. Harold G. Hoffman today new responsibility in the bizarre sequel to the Lindbergh baby murder.

Whether Hoffman would grant extradition of his friend and trusted investigator to New York to face trial on Wendell's charge that he was tortured into falsely confessing the kidnaping of little Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., was at question.

The widely known sleuth stood blinking in amazement as the warrant was read to him. Granted an immediate hearing in the Elks club house, he provided $500 bail and went home to bed.

Parker said he would fight extradition "to the end."

Hoffman, apprised of Parker's arrest while at a lodge initiation in Hackensack, declined to comment "at this time."

Parker, Sr., was the sixth man whose indictment was obtained by District Attorney William F. X. George of Kings county (Brooklyn). Parker, Jr., is a fugitive and the others named in both bills, all Brooklyn men, are under bond.

RESTRAINS CRUDE MOVEMENT

TYLER, June 4. (AP)—Richard H. Hill, special assistant to the United States attorney general, explained Tuesday Judge Randolph Bryant issued here last Thursday a permanent injunction restraining further movement in interstate commerce of 68,371 barrels of Rodessa crude impounded in the East Texas Refining company's tank No. 17 at Longview.

Hill said Judge Bryant had issued at Sherman May 21 a temporary injunction restraining similar movement of this oil and also 3,063 barrels at the tank farms of the Tide Water Oil company in Sour Lake and Nettleton.

In making the injunction against the East Texas Refining company permanent, Hill said, Judge Bryant released the Tidewater oil and dismissed the Tide Water company from the suit, leaving the East Texas Refining company and the East Texas Pipe Line company the only defendants.

The Texas company and the Texas Empire Pipe Line company were named in the suit when Hill filed his original petition in Sherman, but Judge Bryant dismissed these two firms as defendants in the May 21 hearing.

Hill said Judge Bryant held the enjoined oil had been produced illegally in the Rodessa field under a special order issued by Dr. J. A. Shaw, director of the minerals division of the Louisiana conservation department which was invalid. Hill quoted Judge Bryant as stating:

"The ministry of communications of Brazil has divided the country into seven zones and limited the number of radio stations permissible for each zone so that Rio de Janeiro can have but seven stations, Sao Paulo five, Porto Alegre, Recife, Mello Horizonte and Sao Salvador, two each. Other state capitals may have one apiece.

ing since the oil was produced illegally it could not be moved in interstate trade.

Hill said the oil was produced by the Pelican Oil and Gasoline company on its Sexton lease.

ROAD RUNNERS MARK DOWN SECOND STRAIGHT VICTORY OVER HUBER 8-5

ALL RUNS ARE MADE IN 7TH BY VISITORS

4 OF 9 HITS ALLOWED IN INNING; ERROR IS COSTLY

Big Gene Ledford gave the Pampa Road Runners their second consecutive victory over the Huber Blackfaces of Borger here last night when he limited the visitors to 9 hits, scattered excepting in the seventh inning when Huber scored all their runs. The final score was 8 to 5.

Huber scored all runs after two men were out in the seventh. With two away, Polvogt took a fast ball on his leg and was forced from the game. Ledford lost control of the situation for a few minutes and four base hits and an error by McLarry cost the Road Runners five runs. The Birds already had their eight run lead and Ledford came back strong, allowing only one hit in each of the last innings. The big fellow had allowed only three hits up to the seventh.

Although the Road Runners got only nine hits they made them count for eight runs. Good base running and a couple of walks helped the Birds in their scoring spree. McLarry led the Road Runner attack with a pair of timely doubles. McNabb who has recovered his hitting eye, lashed out double, his third in two days, and a single. Seitz had a pair of singles. Spencer, with a single and double, and Ross with a brace of singles were the Borger hitters. Polvogt and Warren hit doubles.

Chody started on the mound for Huber and got by the first two innings with only six men facing him. He got in trouble in the third when Cox opened with a single and McLarry followed with a double to score him. The next three were easy outs.

The Birds added two more in the fourth. Seitz opened with a single but was forced at second by Hale. Bailey drew a walk and Lisle was safe on Eash's error. Cox fanned but McLarry again came through with a screaming double to score both runners.

Five runs crossed the plate in the sixth. Bailey opened the inning with his second walk. Lisle singled and Cox was safe on Huffmann's error. Bailey scoring. McLarry sacrificed. Ledford beat out an infield single when first base was left uncovered and Lisle beat Huffmann's throw home. McNabb crashed out a double and Chody went to the showers with Nash taking up the hurling assignment. Nash got Summers to pop up to Polvogt but Seitz followed with a single to score two more runs. Hale fanned for the last out.

The Huber runs came in the seventh after Warren had fanned and Wilson fled out to Bailey who made a sensational one-handed catch against the fence. After Polvogt was hit, Nash and Simpson followed with singles. McLarry then let Nash's hit get through him and Spencer and Rose followed with singles. Huffmann made the last out after the five runs had been scored.

Only six batters faced Nash in the last two innings as his fast ball kept sipping across the corners. McNabb and Bailey pulled the six batters. Ledford pitched airtight ball excepting in the seventh after he hit Polvogt. It was believed that a small bone in the Borger catcher's leg was broken.

McNabb and Bailey pulled the catchers for the fans. Bailey took a one-handed stab at Wilson's line drive near the left field fence and caught the ball as he fell. He held it for the out. McNabb had to race close to the foul line and gain the fence to handle Huffmann's long drive into right field. The hit was labeled two bases but the fleet McNabb came up with the ball to retire the side.

The Road Runners will leave Friday morning for Enid, Okla., and will play two games against the Eason Oilers in Enid and one game with the Shell Dubs of Arkansas City. Enid will return the games on June 14 and 15.

Di Maggio And Stu Martin Star As Yanks, Cards Win

Joe Smashes Triple With The Bases Loaded

BY SID FEDER.
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Although it's still too early to predict that their managers will love them in September as they did in May and June, the slugging prowess of Yankee Joe Di Maggio and Cardinal Stu Martin appeared to have those two youngsters ticketed as the class of the 1936 rookie crop.

The manner in which they have been whaling the ball, regardless of who or what the pitching opposition, makes them the talk of both leagues at the end of the first two months of the current pennant chase.

Their extra belting has them batting in or around the coveted 400, and has been doing a lot toward keeping the New York Yankees and the Gas House Gang from St. Louis at the top of their respective league heaps.

Both have been breaking up ball games with their stickwork more as the rule than the exception. Only yesterday, Di Maggio, who came up from the coast last spring as the most highly publicized rookie in the history of the business, clubbed out a triple with the bases loaded, and a single, also with men on the bags, to break the hearts of the aspiring Chicago White Sox and give the Yankees an easy 11-1 win.

At the same time, Martin, a product of Asheville, N. C., was hammering out a single and triple to pace the St. Louis larrupers to a 7-3 victory over Brooklyn.

Despite these triumphs, however, the two leading clubs were unable to increase their respective league leads, for the second place outfits also were winning their games—the Boston Red Sox downing the Cleveland Indians 6-2 with a five-run spurge in the seventh, and Hal Schumacher limiting the Chicago Cubs to three hits while his New York Giants makes were making all their runs off Curt Davis in the first inning for a 3-0 win.

Meantime, the Boston Bees, with Bob Reis doing an effective job of relief pitching as well as singling home the winning run in the 11th inning, nosed out the Pirates 4-3; the Washington Senators found the going easy for a 7-4 conquest of the hapless St. Louis Browns, and the supposedly-weak Philadelphia Athletics surprised the world champion Detroit Tigers 11-7, despite homers by Goose Goslin and Ervin Fox. The Phillies and Cincinnati were not scheduled.

BETTY JAMESON IS STILL IN SOUTHERN GOLF TOURNEY PLAY

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., June 4. (AP)—Eight sharpshooters, representing a far-flung geographical setup, teed off today in the quarter-final matches of the 25th annual Southern Women's golf tournament at the Oklahoma City Country club.

The two Carolinas, Florida, Texas, Louisiana, Tennessee, and Oklahoma still had title ambitions following the second round yesterday, but gone from the picture was one of the brightest stars, medalist Mrs. Dan Qandier of Dallas, who went into eclipse on the 22nd green in her match with Mrs. Mark McGarry of St. Petersburg.

Still very much in the running, however, were other pre-tournament favorites.

Judged on the theory of survival of the fittest, today's matches promise a spicy program. In the upper bracket Mrs. McGarry meets Miss Jane Cochran of Greenville, S. C., and Miss Edna Seenger meets Miss Kathryn Hemphill of Columbia, S. C. In the lower bracket Miss Betty Jameson of Galveston, Tex., meets Miss Dean Van Landingham of Charlotte, N. C., and Mrs. Leon Solomon of Memphis meets Oklahoma City's lone survivor, Miss Jenny Groat.

Only the youthful Miss Jameson escaped jittery moments yesterday. She won six places times she was "too tired to play another hole," and defeated Mrs. James Phillips of Bartlesville. Mrs. Solomon, with a display of steady golf, eliminated Mrs. L. G. Sutter of Tulsa, 4 and 3. C. and Miss Edna Seenger over Mrs. E. Julian Davis of Oklahoma City, 5 and 4.

PLAINVIEW POLO TEAM AGAIN DOWNS ROUGH RIDERS IN TILT

Plainviews Blue polo team was able to score in only three chukkers yesterday afternoon in a torrid game with the Pampa Rough Riders but the visitors were successful in piling up eight goals while holding the Pampans scoreless.

Tough luck dogged the local quartet. Three times during the struggle balls hit the goal posts and bounced back the wrong way. Several times the Pampa mallet wielders had the ball headed goalward only to see it drop in a hole or hide behind a hump of grass.

The Rough Riders used H. Otto Studer, Bill Harwell, Joe Bowers, and M. C. Overton, Hub Burrows, and Jack Cooper. The Blues carried through the game with Crenshaw, Sherbit, Stephenson, and Phillips.

Play opened fast and furious with Phillips, Stephenson, and Sherbit registering for Plainview.

No score was registered in the second chukker. Pampa pressed hard and threatened several times. Phillips broke away for a single Plainview score in the third chukker. Sherbit and Stephenson registered in the fourth.

Pampa again showed the way in the fifth chukker but again they were unable to get the ball between the uprights. Twice the ball hit the posts, once bounding back into play and the other time going out of bounds.

Stephenson and Crenshaw scored for Plainview to end the game.

WALKER TEAM MAY PLAY ON TEXAS COURSE

HARRY TODD IS TEXAS HOPE AT U. S. OPEN

BY FELIX R. MCKNIGHT.
Associated Press Sports Writer.

DALLAS, June 4 (AP)—Odds on that British Walker Cup-Texas Cup golf match for Dallas in September came tumbling down today. Serious consideration is being given the Texas jaunt by John Bull mashie warrior.

Henry Gullen, secretary of the Royal and Ancient Golf association, cabled from London that no definite decision would be made until full personnel of the British team had been named. Centennial officials, sponsors of the exhibition, took Harry Todd's Dallas professional as a snub. The Britons could have snapped a definite "no" to the invitation upon receipt of the cabled message six weeks ago, they point out.

If the match is landed, posies may be sent to George Aubach, Dallas Country club professional. It's his idea.

Out on the Baltusrol golf course in New Jersey today for the start of the National Open is chunky, red-faced Nabbolt, Dallas professional. His days as one of the nation's foremost campaigners are over. He'll not pull a club from his bag during the tourney—but he probably is the most nervous man on the grounds.

He has a protégé on hand and Harry Todd, Texas amateur champion, will not hit a shot that Larry won't see. Nabbolt, "coach" of Texas' most promising links hope, took the youngster under his wing several years ago, helped develop his potential, finished swing last week he struck out with Todd for his first big test. It's Larry's hunch that Todd will surprise the big timers in the medal event and cause so much commotion this summer he may receive a belated invitation to the United States Walker Cup team.

Two other young Dallas amateurs, Jack Munger and Jimmy McGonagill, and Ben Hogan, Fort Worth professional, are stabbing at the open title.

Few fans know that Acting President Roy J. Koehler of Galveston's Bucs recommended the reinstatement of Jack Mealey to President Alvin Gardner of the Texas league after Mealey was suspended for alleged participation in a Houston Cup scandal. Koehler's action came soon after he politely "requested" Mealey to resign as manager of the Bucs. Mealey now is looking for connections. He's still a good, fiery catcher and should land a berth with a Texas league club without delay.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 4. (AP)—This corner is just a bit leary of golfers who were hot on the winter circuit, or it would unhesitatingly pick Henry Picard to win the National Open. The Hershey pro rats right around the top in our golf book. Believe it or not, but the Dodgers were jolly well field to get away from Ebbets field for two weeks. Reason: The poor condition of the diamond. Seems they never think to give the orchard a manicure. Incidentally, Casey Stengel presents his merry lads will come home from the west in fifth place. They're now tied with the Phils in the cellar.

At Joe Louis' camp: The Bombers' two managers divide their duties this way: Julian Black engineers the financial deals and attends to the business. John Boxborough, the Detroit lawyer, has complete charge of Joe during his training and when he is in the ring. Neither would think of making an important decision without the other's OK. But each has the last word in his particular field. They get alone fine—and so does Joe. Joe's wife has quit camp and returned to New York to remain until after the fight. The Bomber, who formerly had a dread of deep water, has become an ardent fisherman. His handlers kidded him into it.

IN THE TEXAS LEAGUE
(By The Associated Press)

Today's games:
Tulsa at Dallas (night).
Oklahoma City at Fort Worth (night).
Houston at Beaumont (day).
San Antonio at Galveston, doubleheader (night).

Houston's Buffaloes clung a little less securely today to their second-place berth in Texas league standings, the third-place Beaumont Shippers setting them down, 7 to 6, in a close battle at Beaumont yesterday.

Ironically, a Houston boy was credited with the victory over the Buffs. Frankie Croucher, second baseman, slammed out four singles which drove in three runs. In the eighth he smacked out a safety that scored from third with the winning run. Herschel Martin tried valiantly to keep Houston in the running, his two homers accounting for three runs.

The league-leading Dallas Steers, playing in their own corral, were strengthening their position with a 5 to 4 win over the Tulsa Oilers. The Steers' practice of hanging up victories by one-run margins probably has set some kind of a record.

The struggling San Antonio Missions, three runs from the cellar, defeated Galveston, 4 to 3. Larry Bettencourt belted a homer with one man on base in the eighth. Bettencourt previously had doubled to bring in two Mission runs.

The Fort Worth Cats, under a new leader, snapped their 11-game losing streak with a 7-to-4 victory over the Oklahoma City Indians, league champions.

BYE BLACKBIRDS
NEW YORK (AP)—Broadway (which is no church music itself) found the swing rhythms of three sidewalk musicians a bit too noisy, what with their singing, dancing and playing on the banjo, washboard and frying pans at all hours.

So the "Broadway Blackbirds" were caged today. Charge: Disorderly conduct. Complainers: Light-sleeping guests of Broadway hotels.

FUGITIVE SHOT DOWN
BRAGGS, Okla., June 4 (AP)—An escaped Oklahoma penitentiary convict identified tentatively as Estel Perkins, Carter county lifer, was shot down today 18 miles south of Tahlequah, an armed posse trailed three companions into heavily wooded country after an exchange of shots.

Johnny Revolta, the professional champion, at 15 to 1; Byron Nelson, the sandy-haired Texan, knocked down from 30 to 1 to 18 to 1, and Bobby Cruickshank and Jimmy Thomson, the siege-gun, at 20 to 1 each, were other prime favorites. Walter Hagen, who first won the title 22 years ago, was held at 30 to 1.

HOPE OF ADJOURNMENT PASSES AWAY

TAX BILL ACTION DELAYED UNTIL AFTER CONVENTION

WASHINGTON, June 4. (AP)—Congressional leaders today abandoned all hope of adjourning Congress before the republican national convention in view of the death of Speaker Byrns.

The senate, which had expected to pass the tax bill today in an effort to wind up the session Monday night, recessed immediately when it met at 10 a. m. (EST) out of respect to the speaker who died suddenly during the night.

Leaders said they would still try to pass the bill tomorrow or Saturday in order to get the controversial measure into conference, but that there was virtually no prospect for final action on it before the republican convention beginning Tuesday.

They said that with the tax bill in conference, the necessary votes would be taken during the convention, and that an effort would be made to complete action on the conference report and adjourn congress finally during the week between the republican and democratic conventions.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Arkansas democratic leader, discounted forecasts that if Congress returned after the republican convention, the session would last indefinitely to consider other legislative pressing for action.

He said that any recess would be taken during the convention, and that an effort would be made to complete action on the conference report and adjourn congress finally during the week between the republican and democratic conventions.

barbecue at Road Runner park between 4 and 6 p. m. yesterday. The meal was made possible by oil field supply firms, whose executives and employees gave time to the project.

Today a junk car race before the rodeo, a horse show at Road Runner park at 4:30 p. m. the main event, a dance at the fairgrounds, and dances were on the program for oldtimers' day. Tomorrow will be the final day of the celebration, featuring a barbecue for oldtimers at noon at the gym, rodeo, horse show, fireworks and Centennial ball, and oldtimers' square dance.

"Sustained Courage." Today's program brought the historical theme of the celebration, "Sustained Courage," forward emphatically. Floats presented in the parade were specially attractive, and fittingly carried honored pioneers.

Ranger Captain J. W. McCormick was the guest of honor at the Boy Scout barbecue held at the Adobe Walls council camp at the fairgrounds approximately 175 out-of-town boys and nearly 100 local boys were encamped. Captain McCormick led the grand entry of the Scouts at the Cavalcade Tuesday night.

Memorial to dead pioneers of the plains and tribute to the living, the old-timers parade today was one of the most colorful ever presented in Pampa. It was headed by the cowboy band from Guymon, Okla., which played a concert on Cuyler street while the parade formed. A Guymon delegation headed by Senator Wallace Hughes marched behind the band.

A decorated horse and an old prospector followed the band, with one of the groups of cowboys and girls which were sandwiched between the floats throughout the line of march. Bearing the word, "courage" and a picture of the setting sun, a crew wagon followed with a banner reading, "We have sustained courage too," driven by Boy Scouts.

On a green and gold float was a pioneer family, the woman in calico and sunbonnet, holding a baby and a shotgun. A costumed girl rode in a buggy, and boys and girls on ponies followed. Two of the youngsters in pioneer costume rode in a tiny cart drawn by a Shetland.

PISTOL TAKEN FROM ESKRIDGE BY DEAD CHIEF

Plea of Innocence Entered by Ex-Minister

HOUSTON, June 4. (AP)—Testimony that Police Chief Ed O'Reilly of Orange took a pistol from the Rev. Edgar Eskridge the day before the officer was shot to death was heard today at the opening of the crusading Baptist minister's trial for murder.

A. Minchew, Orange radio repair man, said he saw O'Reilly and Eskridge sitting in the minister's automobile in front of his (Minchew's) shop and that the police chief took a pistol from the minister's car.

W. L. Blanchard, mayor of Orange at the time of the slaying, May 29, 1935, was the witness. The state asked him one question—whether he knew O'Reilly and the defendant.

In cross-examination, Collins attempted to bring out that there had been bad blood between O'Reilly and the preacher. This brought sharp state objections.

"Do you not know," asked Collins, "that the defendant had opened warfare against peace officers in Orange and Orange county, including O'Reilly, for failure to enforce the law?"

He said they seemed to be in earnest conversation and that within a few minutes O'Reilly reached over to Eskridge's right hand side and took a pistol and placed it on the right hand side of the car. Minchew said that the officer then reached in the preacher's inside coat pocket and took something.

Asked whether it was a gun, the witness said he didn't know after the officer took the pistol from the preacher the two drove off and turned at the first street intersection. He said he didn't see them again that day.

Under cross-examination, Minchew said that the men did not appear to have been in a "very good humor." He said he could not hear what they said but could see their lips moving.

In answer to questions by Collins, the witness said: "I knew there were several laws in town, and I didn't know what Eskridge was a ranger."

"Then," said Collins, "you didn't know whether they were going on a raid or to a camp meeting, did you?"

Slat Jacobs of Merriman, Neb., received gashes on his cheek and forehead from the horn of his big steer. He was given first aid treatment by nurses on the grounds and was able to participate in the steer riding.

Bronc riding and steer riding events were keenly contested. Many riders were thrown and a few had to "pull leather." Vic Swartz of Evers took first in the bronc riding and Shorty Hill of Farmington, N. M., placed first in the steer riding.

Popularity of the Pampa rodeo is shown in the outcome of the bronc and steer riding contests, in which six steers were represented in six prize checks, no two men placing coming from the same state. Nearly every state west of the Mississippi and Canada is represented on the list. The boys from Oklahoma stole the large share of the purses yesterday by taking all three places in the calf roping, and one place in the steer riding. Texas, Idaho, Wyoming, Kansas, New Mexico and Nebraska each placed a man in the money.

New faces and new stock will appear in the closing day. Calf roping—Jim Snively, Pawhuska, Okla., 16.2 seconds; Jess Goodspeed, Okema, Okla., 17.1-5 seconds; Buck Goodspeed, Okema, Oklahoma, 19 seconds.

UNMASKING OF BLACK LEGION IS UNDER WAY

GRAND JURY CONVENES AFTER CONFESSION IS HEARD

DETROIT, June 4. (AP)—Unmasking of the Black Legion, whose confessed executioner told an amazing story in open court of a victim's "one way ride," proceeded today in the secrecy of a grand jury chamber.

Dayton Dean, who blandly ignored the protests of his own attorney and glared at his 12 fellow defendants as he told yesterday of pumping eight pistol shots into the kneeling form of Charles A. Foote because "you do what you're told to do in the Black Legion," was segregated from the other defendants for his own protection.

The murder examination was in adjournment until Monday, but Circuit Judge James E. Chenot prepared to open a grand jury investigation of the hooded organization. Assistant Attorney General Chester P. O'Hara, who will direct the inquiry, said several police officers, including Inspector John I. Navarre, would lay a foundation today for an investigation of reports attributing a dozen deaths to the Black Legion. It was Inspector Navarre whose early investigation of the slaying of Foote, 32-year-old WPA worker, exposed the night riders.

In nearby Pontiac, Mich., where 900 persons at a mass meeting last night adopted a resolution demanding "relentless prosecution" of Black Legionnaires accused of violence, three circuit judges were to act today on a petition by the state attorney general for a grand jury.

In Washington, Attorney General Homer S. Cummings disclosed that he learned of the Black Legion "about a year ago," but that he had no evidence of federal law violations by members of the order "either then or now."

Mrs. Wood went to the buffalo range with her husband and lived in camp through each hunting season. "I've skinned many a buffalo, and I've seen the ground black with hides and the animals shot by the hunters as far as the eye would reach," she said. Not only did Mrs. Wood take a man's share in the skinning of the buffalo, but she helped stake the hides and she prepared all her husband's ammunition, making 50 rounds each morning and 50 more in the afternoon.

The life was bitterly hard at times. Mrs. Wood recalls, and the threat of Indian attack in that day was almost constantly present. Like most of the pioneer men and women, however, Mrs. Wood recalls the compensations of adventure and freedom which the life offered.

Fifty years after those great hunting days, Mrs. Wood is regretting the enormous waste of meat that took place and the wholesale killing of the buffalo which resulted too soon in their extinction. She says she deplored it then. "I said the country would suffer for such wild-waste, and it has," she said in recounting the old times.

The Queen of the Centennial is 81 years old. She has lived at Lordsburg, N. M., now for many years, but has visited in Canadian, Missouri, and other points in the Panhandle frequently within the last few years. Friends began crowding about her at the round-up headquarters as soon as it was learned she had arrived, and a lively exchange of reminiscences was going on between her and her former neighbors.

George Black of Groom, who came to the Panhandle in 1873, was the oldest resident among men registering at the pioneer roundup. He occupied a place of honor in the old-timers parade today, riding on the "pioneer family" float.

Registration of pioneers neared the 800 mark today, as out-of-town visitors arrived in large numbers. The largest attendance is expected tomorrow, when the barbecue will be served at noon to all who have resided in this country more than 25 years.

Today there was fiddling and dancing at the high school gymnasium. The old fiddlers contest started at 2 o'clock; a dozen entries had been made by noon. The costume square dance will be tomorrow evening.

The Texas Sweetheart float was next, decorated in red and white. Miss Irene Meyer, a young girl on this float, Sam Houston school's blue and gold band furnished mid-parade music. Miss De Ann Heiskell, Miss Pampa of 1936, rode on a white and purple float that preceded the Centennial queen's float. Twelve pioneer women of the Panhandle attended. Mrs. Fannie Shelton, chosen Centennial queen because of her long residence in this section.

Uniformed Girl Scouts marched next, then came a float carrying three couples from Guymon who were married in 1884. The Centennial queen's float was followed by a float carrying a young man and a young woman from another float.

Memorial floats honoring the late T. D. Hobart and Col. Charles Goodnight was decorated with white shafts, one commemorating Mr. Hobart with a map of Texas, the other surmounted with the head of a short-horn steer emblematic of Col. Goodnight's contribution to the Panhandle cattle business.

The next group of riders included Pampa old-timers. Costumes of the last century were worn by Mrs. De-Ann Vicars, Mrs. C. L. Thomas, Mrs. E. B. Thomas, and Mrs. H. H. Heiskell, who rode side-saddle. Automobiles of the models first used in Texas—a 1903 Ford and a "merry Oldsmobile" of the early 1900's—ran under their own power in contrast to modern models. A living replica of the famous Pioneer Woman statue, a young woman with push-back bonnet and blown skirts, leading a young boy and holding a shotgun, occupied the next float.

After the Pampa high school band came a large delegation of rodeo riders, and the parade was closed with the miniature Super-Chief of the Santa Fe Railroad company in the lead. Mrs. Fannie Shelton, "Chief," driven by M. A. Benson and J. S. Sheffield of Topeka, Kan., employees of the railroad.

He was given first aid treatment by nurses on the grounds and was able to participate in the steer riding.

Bronc riding and steer riding events were keenly contested. Many riders were thrown and a few had to "pull leather." Vic Swartz of Evers took first in the bronc riding and Shorty Hill of Farmington, N. M., placed first in the steer riding.

Popularity of the Pampa rodeo is shown in the outcome of the bronc and steer riding contests, in which six steers were represented in six prize checks, no two men placing coming from the same state. Nearly every state west of the Mississippi and Canada is represented on the list. The boys from Oklahoma stole the large share of the purses yesterday by taking all three places in the calf roping, and one place in the steer riding. Texas, Idaho, Wyoming, Kansas, New Mexico and Nebraska each placed a man in the money.

New faces and new stock will appear in the closing day. Calf roping—Jim Snively, Pawhuska, Okla., 16.2 seconds; Jess Goodspeed, Okema, Okla., 17.1-5 seconds; Buck Goodspeed, Okema, Oklahoma, 19 seconds.
