Maine Students Back In Picketed School

MATINICUS ISLAND, Maine (UPI)—It was back to school for the island's 13 school children.
 The new teacher, former Marine Lt. Henry Blagden of Bremen was slated to begin his duties in the classroom but a one-man picket line was ready to meet him.
 The picket was Tagdh Hanna, 32, who closed down the school last week when he went on strike against "deplorable conditions." He was subsequently fired and Blagden was hired.
 However, Hanna maintained he was still the teacher and would picket for his cause.

DEMANDS
 "Never have such demands been made on our land and water resources as are being made today. As our population increases, so also do the demands. To meet this challenge, we have had to broaden our concept of soil and water conservation. But the fundamentals do not change. They haven't changed in the more than 30 years that farmers of the United States have been using modern conservation farming methods extensively. Only the approach to the problems varies as we move ahead to get the conservation job done as fast as possible." —D.A. Williams, SCS Administrator.

Conservationists Charge Wilderness Dwindles Daily

By LINDA CHAMBERS
 The once-endless wilderness of Texas is dwindling, conservationists said today. It has shrunk to parts of a handful of areas and they are vanishing to civilization at the rate of 50 acres a day.
 Three areas—the Big Thicket, Big Bend National Park, and Padre Island—are preserved in original natural environment but civilization is picking away at their edges. Big Bend and Padre are fixed national parks, but as one conservationist said, "The race is on to save what is left of the Big Thicket."
 Dempsey Henley, mayor of Liberty and president of the Big Thicket Association, said the Thicket area has been his home all his life. Parts of the Thicket are still bona fide wilderness, but roads and pipelines now crisscross parts of the wilderness and small communities flirt with the fringes.
 What used to be a million acres of wilderness is now 300,000 acres and dwindling at 50 acres a day, Henley said.
 "Our lack of concern for preservation and conservation is allowing it to vanish before our eyes," Henley said.
 In 1840, an adventurer called the Big Thicket "the hell roaring" place and wondered how "man or beast could ever traverse" the area.
 The Thicket has Texas' most varied collection of flora and fauna. The ivory-billed woodpecker, once believed to be extinct, has been seen in the dense forest, along with deer, bears, foxes and other creatures. The more than 300 species of animals and thousands of flowers include wild azaleas, orchids, the world's largest holly trees and the tallest cypress.
 Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., also is sponsoring legislation in Congress to have 100,000 acres of the Big Thicket designated as a national park.
 Terrain Little Changed
 Big Bend National Park, in southwest Texas, is bounded on three sides by a southward swing of the Rio Grande. Its mountainous terrain has been little changed by the inroads of civilization. Some of the nearest towns are an hours drive away.
 Edward C. Fritz, of Dallas, who takes an active interest in conservation, said the biggest change in the park has been in the Rio Grande, a wild river, flowing through Big Bend now drained by power and irrigation needs of civilization.
 Padre Island, also a national park, is preserved off the southern coast of Texas, from the Gulf seashore inward in an almost original wilderness state.

RECREATION
 "Recreation facilities on privately owned land will be needed more and more in the coming years to supplement public facilities. Our population is growing and so is our leisure time. The demand for outdoor recreation is expected to double in the next 10 years, and triple by the year 2000."
 —D.A. Williams, SCS Administrator.

Drive one of these dressed-up Chevrolets instead of a stripped-down something else.

'68 CHEVROLET prices start lower than any other full-size models. Look at it. Chevrolet's 4-door sedan is roomier than any other American car except one high-priced luxury sedan, according to Automotive News. Drive it. You can tell by its smooth and silent ride that Chevrolet quality runs even deeper than that elegant Body by Fisher. The standard V8's bigger this year; the standard Six is the most powerful in Chevy's field. Buy it! Get a Chevrolet instead of a medium-priced name and you can have, for instance, power steering, power brakes and a radio besides. Pay more? What for!

'68 CHEVELLE prices start lower than any other mid-size models. Obviously nothing's newer in mid-size cars than the quick-size Chevies. There's fresh styling, the long-hood, short-deck look. There are two nimble-footed wheelbases now: sportier for coupes and convertibles, roomier for sedans and wagons—both on a wider, steadier tread. You get big-car power, big-car ride in a quick-size package, starting at prices so low you can add comforts like air conditioning without straining your budget. No wonder Chevies outsell everything in its field year after year!

'68 CHEVY II NOVA prices start lower than any other economy car so generously sized. Nova is the not-too-small car. It's big enough for a family on vacation, yet it slips into parking spaces others pass by. With its new wide stance and computer-tuned chassis, Nova rides as silent and steady as cars costing a whole lot more to buy (and run). Its all-new Body by Fisher looks just as handsome inside as out. As for performance, Nova comes with the biggest standard V8 in its field. Here's one economy car that doesn't look or act the part.

New—Impala V8 sale. Save on specially equipped Sport Coupe, 4-Door Sedan or Station Wagons!

Fine Arts Group To Present Play

Pampa Fine Arts Association will present Jean Racine's "Phaera", a tragedy directed by Joseph Gistarak, at 8 p.m. March 16 in Pampa High School auditorium.

Cast includes Shirley Cox, Robert Blackburn, John McAllen, Nancy Donohue, Audrey Ward, Ralph Nilson, Paula Shaw and David Metcalf.

Tickets, at $2.50 for students; $3, balcony, and $4 lower floor, are available at the Chamber of Commerce, Coronado Inn, Las Pampas Galleries and Cree Oil Co.

The play is an American Theater Productions Inc. production.

TEXAS STATE PAVILION at HemisFair—in a main display area the size of four football fields, the 365-foot long, 64-foot high Institute of Texan Cultures will use the most exciting exhibit techniques available to tell the story of the past, present and future of the diverse peoples of Texas. An outstanding feature of the $10 million pavilion at the 1968 World's Fair in San Antonio is a soaring projection dome, where a shifting tableau of images will be flashed all around the overhead walls.

EXTRAVAGANT

"We are the world's most extravagant users of land. Nationally land is going out of agricultural uses at the rate of a million acres or more a year with little thought of the consequences. It seems to me that a basic question that must be faced in America is whether there is to be a more orderly adjustment in land uses as related to the total needs and suitability for such needs." D. A. Williams, SCS Administrator.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Since the mid-19th century, under czar and commissar, the Russians have sought to suppress or dilute the nationalism of 12 million people living in what are called Soviet satellites in Eastern Europe.

The term is no longer wholly applicable.

Romania, once described by Czar Nicholas II of Russia as "neither a state nor a nation, but a profession," began in 1963 to provide evidence of her determination to become a nation of professionals rather than peasant suppliers of raw materials.

At the consultative conference of Communist parties in Budapest she also provided dramatic evidence that she is an independent nation.

The Romanian delegation stalked out of the meeting, charging that it had violated guarantees that it would be entirely consultative in character and that no national party's policies would be attacked.

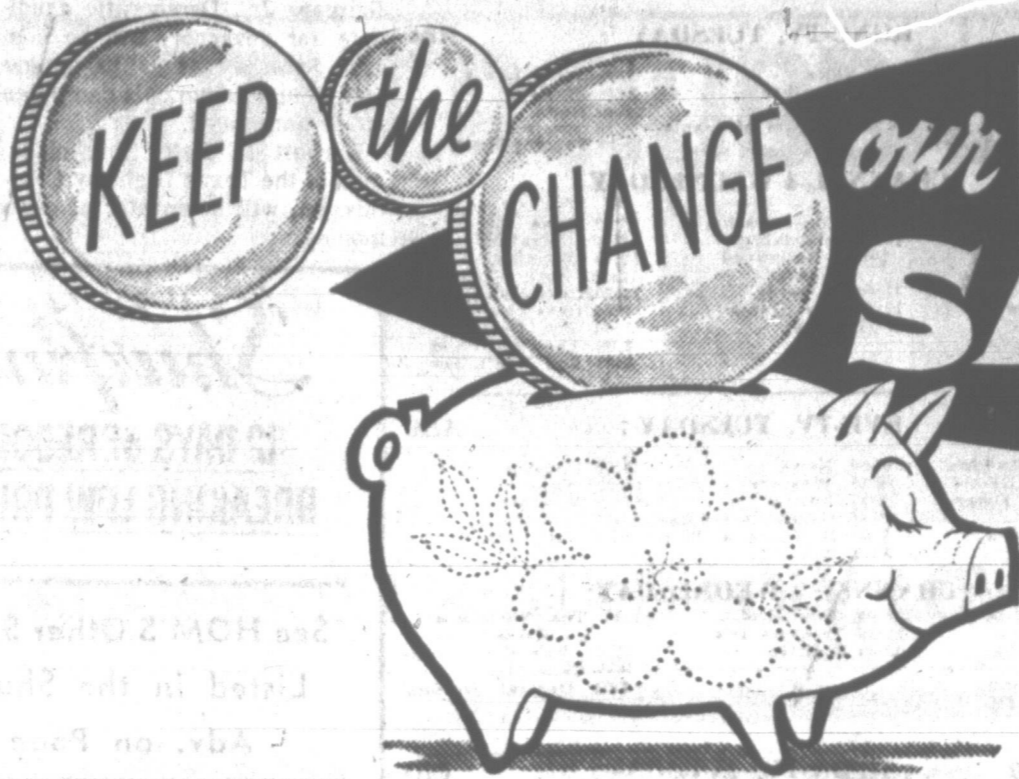

The Romanians accused the Soviet Union of attempting to steam-roller the conference into agreeing to a world conference of Communist parties in Moscow toward the end of the year.

The Romanians already had blasted any hopes the Russians might have had of winning formal condemnation of Red China and have been joined by Czechoslovakia in protesting exclusion of Yugoslavia from the meeting.

The Hungarian spokesman appeared to deliver the crowning blow to Moscow's attempt to reestablish itself as the ideological capital of world Communism.

International Communist unity is crumbling and cannot be restored, the Hungarians said.

The beginning of its dissolution may be traced to Josef Stalin's expulsion of Yugoslavia from the Cominform in 1948 and subsequent proof that Yugoslavia could live without Russian help.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A joint venture of American and Czechoslovakian television resulted in a charming little east-west love story Sunday afternoon on NBC-TV.

The delicate, bittersweet tale, "Passport to Prague," was part of the "NBC Experiment in Television" series, and concerned a married American woman who falls in love while visiting the Czechoslovakian city alone.

Once again, "NBC Experiment in Television" proved itself vastly superior to most of the network prime time shows, and made the viewer regret that it was buried in video's Sunday afternoon ghetto of minuscule audiences. What a pity: so much effort, and such a little payoff. As a cynic puts it, this is television's conscience-stricken programming.

East and West Meet
The real experiment of "Passport to Prague," of course, was not the story itself—which has been done in many forms before—but the cooperation between American and Iron Curtain television on a fictional tale.

Although the relatively plush life enjoyed by the Czech leading man made one wonder about the accuracy of the "realism," there were also frank, critical appraisals of the general quality of day-to-day living that had the ring of truth.

This added dimension given to the entertainment-documentary form provided an excellent backdrop for dealing with some preconceptions the people of East and West have of each other.

But fortunately, "Passport to Prague," despite its occasionally journalism-oriented words, focused mainly on the human story. And in so doing, it seemed to capture more of the genuine flavor of Prague than a sophisticated travelogue might. One sensed attitudes rather than postcard views.

Visits Prague
In the story, the American woman (Hildy Brooks), an interior decorator from San Francisco, decides to go to Prague on a glassbuying mission while her doctor-husband is in Africa.

In Prague, she stays with an old college roommate, the wife of the French attache. But at a glass factory, she meets a talented designer who works there, and after several amusing mishaps, they are drawn to each other even though neither speaks the other's language.

The designer (Fero Velecky), however, has a charming young daughter (Magda Krizkova) who speaks English, and acts as interpreter, with a maturity of understanding that belies her age. In the end, the woman, desperately in love, decides to end the fling before it leads to danger, and returns to her husband. The attractive cast was entirely believable.

The story was written by Many Starr and Victor Vicas, and Vicas was also the producer and director. The sensitive camera work was by Vladimir Novotny.

Romania To Challenge Red Policies, Treaty

BUDAPEST (UPI)—Maverick Romania will challenge Soviet policies within the Warsaw Pact, including Moscow's co-sponsorship of the proposed treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons, diplomatic sources said.

Reports reaching the world Communist conference in Budapest said Romania would issue her challenge at a meeting of her Warsaw Pact partners beginning Wednesday in Sofia, Bulgaria.

The leaders of the Communist world's answer to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) will be at the meeting. Members of the Warsaw Pact are the Soviet Union and Eastern European countries.

Romania declared her opposition to the nonproliferation treaty drafted by the Soviet Union and the United States at the Geneva disarmament conference.

The Romanian delegation walked out of the Budapest conference last Thursday following attacks on absent Communist China and on her own Communist party, which lately has been straying from the Moscow line. Red China, Cuba, Albania and Yugoslavia did not attend the Budapest conference.

One thing was certain to come from the Budapest conference. There will be a world Communist summit meeting with all 88 parties invited, including — but without the slightest chance of response — Communist China, Albania, revisionist Yugoslavia, Fidel Castro's Cuba and Romania. Communist leaders, having conceded here openly the international movement is crumbling beyond repair, appeared agreed to keep their vital ideological problems of the split-out-of-the-projected summit meeting so as to attract the widest possible gathering.

Moscow virtually is certain to be the site, probably around the end of the year. A committee on which each delegation here will be represented — will be created to set up the summit.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Wright Investors' Service says it took three months for the 1957 bear market, which most closely resembles the current decline, to go from top to bottom and another six months before a "bona fide" bull market advance began. The investment firm says the same amount of time—starting from last September's high to sometime this spring—may be required before this market has a turnaround.

E.F. Hutton & Co. says the market's action in recent sessions, a series of short up and down moves, indicates that neither the bulls nor the bears have been able to assume control. The company says it still is not clear whether the erratic movements indicate that a base is being formed for a meaningful rally or whether the list is seeing a consolidation of the down trend which started in early January.

Winslow, Cohn & Stetson says the current consensus that the market will continue to decline or do nothing pending a favorable turn in Vietnam is reminiscent of the "incorrect analysis" in world war two and the Korean War that assumed market trends would follow the news instead of the other way around. The analyst says historical comparisons are dangerous but it is well established that speculators who do not learn from past mistakes are usually made to repeat them.

Supreme Court To Rule on 'Monkey Case'

By CHARLOTTE MOULTON
WASHINGTON (UPI)—
Forty-three years after the famed Scopes "monkey trial" in Dayton, Tenn., the Supreme Court agreed today to rule whether states may bar the teaching of evolution in public schools.
The court accepted for arguments and a decision a constitutional challenge of an Arkansas law forbidding the teaching of the Darwin theory. The Supreme Court never ruled on the constitutionality of the now-repealed Tennessee law which resulted in John T. Scopes being found guilty of violating state law in the memorable Dayton, Tenn., Trial in 1925.
Instead, the Tennessee State Supreme Court voided Scopes' conviction on a technicality after he had been found guilty and fined $100 for teaching evolution to his high school biology class.
The Arkansas law was tested in Little Rock in 1966 and was upheld by the Arkansas Supreme Court on June 5, 1967. A ruling that such laws are unconstitutional would wipe out a similar statute in Mississippi, the only other state with such a teaching ban.
Other Actions
In other actions, the supreme court:
—Agreed to decide an Iowa whether public schools may limit students from wearing political symbols such as antiwar black armbands: Five Des Moines children were suspended from classes in 1965 for wearing the armbands. Lower courts upheld the right of school authorities to take the action.
—Refused to block the effect of a congressional redistricting plan for Indiana drawn up by a special three-judge federal court. But the court agreed to examine a 1967 Missouri redistricting law which revamped the state's 10 congressional districts for the third time.
—Agreed to give early consideration to decisions in Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia which nullified one-year residency requirements for welfare recipients.
—Accepted for arguments and subsequent decision a complaint by a white supremacist group—the National States Rights Party—that a Maryland ban on its rallies is an unconstitutional denial of the right to free speech.
—Granted a hearing to five men, including two French citizens, who were convicted in 1966 after seizure of 200 pounds of the heroin, valued at $100 million in New York. The appeal was based on the issue of government eavesdropping in connection with their arrest and conviction.
—Upheld antitrust charges against the St. Louis Globe-Democrat by a carrier whose route in Kirkwood, Mo., was taken away after a dispute over prices he charged for the newspaper. The 7-2 ruling sent the case back to a U.S. circuit court of appeals which had upheld a trial court judgment in favor of the Globe-Democrat.
Fall Hearings
Hearings on the evolution case probably will not be scheduled by the court until next fall or winter and thus no decision is expected until next year.

Nixon Puts Nix On Racial Riots

DELEVAN, Wis. (UPI)—
Richard Nixon said Sunday the United States' revolutionary heritage is no justification for another summer of racial rioting.
America was "born in revolution but our forefathers set up a mechanism for revolutionary change," said the former vice president. He said he was "sympathetic with their (Negroes') problems. We will go forward with their programs. But there will be no toleration of violence."
"There can be no protests that can justify use of violence or lawlessness."
Nixon's remarks to a group of weekly newspaper editors came in response to a question about his position on the report by the President's Commission on Civil Disorders. He declined to discuss specifics of the report, saying he would make his views known Thursday in a national television address.
Nixon, who directed much of the fire during his two-day Wisconsin trip at President Johnson, touched on Vietnam Sunday. He said he had no easy solutions for the war.
"Believe me, if we had some simple solution, some push button solution, I'd be talking about it in this campaign," he said. "I'd be going down to Washington and telling Mr. Johnson."
Nixon said the United States must "search for a solution that will end the war and then win the peace."
Nixon also was asked how he stood in Wisconsin before the withdrawal of Michigan Gov. George Romney from the presidential race last week.
He said a poll taken six months before Romney withdrew showed himself leading "a good two to one." He said that was the latest information he had.

Pythians to Enter Speaker in Meet

Pampa Lodge No. 480 Knights of Pythias will enter a speaker in the 23rd annual Knights of Pythias Public Speaking Contest. The local contest, according to Flyyd Sackett, chairman of the Pampa Lodge Youth committee, will be held at 7:30 p.m. April 23 in the Pythian Hall, 317 N. Nelson. Sackett stated that this year's discussion topic for contestants is "Lifetime Objectives."
Miss Donna Humphries, Pampa High School speech instructor, will work with and assist interested Pampa students in the contest. Sackett said the contest is open to all high school students, ninth through the twelfth grades. It has been approved by the National Association of Secondary School Principals and has been officially placed in the approved list of national contest and activities for the 1967-68 programs.
Chairman Sackett has invited high school entries from White Deer, Panhandle, Groom, Clarendon, McLean, Lefors, Miami, Canadian and Perryton for the local contest.

The following scholarships: first $3,500, second, $2,500.00, and four $1,000 scholarships, a total of $10,000, will be awarded to winners in the national contest at Philadelphia next August. All scholarships will be held in escrow until winning students have completed their high school studies.
Miss Ann Monroe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Monroe, 1806 Chestnut, was first place winner and Gary Patton, Panhandle, second, in the local contest last year.

Knits No Longer For Men Only

By JUDY LOVE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Get ready for a riddle. What do blazer jackets and knitting have in common? The fact is that both were once "for men only."

A few centuries back, when guilds were formed in Europe's knitting industry, membership was limited to the stronger sex. In rural areas men even tended their knitting while they tended their sheep and cattle. Gradually, women joined the men in plying their needles and, in time, a woman's ability to knit was considered a valuable part of her marriage dowry.

Blazers, too, were first part of a man's world. The heyday of the snappy-sport coats was during the last decade of the 19th century. Men wore them either striped or piped, along with white-trousers and they were dandy, indeed. Remember those barber shop quartets?

Now, we ladies have placed our claim on both the blazer and on knitting, and here's your chance to prove it. Set your needles clicking on a topper in classic blazer styling. It's simple enough in stockinette stitch. The smart turnback collar is an easy reverse stockinette.

To complete your outfit, there's a "little nothing" dress that's really something for spring. The dress is a sleeveless shift with a stand-up neckline. You can knit a skinnny self-belt, too, for extra dash when you wear the dress alone.

Here are some fashion tips to put you and your handknit blazer costume into the big league: Wear very little jewelry. Avoid heels—wear only your sportiest shoes. Add a beret for a final smashing touch! Your below the blazer sheath length? Skim the kneecaps.

This winning classic combination blazer and sheath can be knitted quickly. Here's special good news: Instruction sizes range from 10 to 20. This classic simplicity is very becoming to larger sizes, need I add.

The yarn has a built-in luster look that's lively in 27 different solid and tweedy colors. I like red and white for this outfit, but you can make your own custom choice.

The husky yarn knits into the look of a bulky without the weight. Best of all, it knits in no time. For instance, on size 10 1/2 needles, the gauge is three stitches and four rows to the inch—which means you will wear your costume all the sooner.

Knitting directions for both the blazer and shift are yours for 50 cents from Stitchin' Time, in care of the Pampa Daily News, P. O. Box 503, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y., 10019. Be sure to ask for leaflet S109 and include your name, address and zip code.

KNIT KNACKS
You'll never have to wind a ball of yarn again—can you?

TENNIS ANYONE? The blazer look scores high fashion points this spring. Knit your own winning combination sheath and dashing blazer in a luster look, quick-knitting yard.

Scouting Scoops

By Mrs. G. J. Boyd

The warm spring-like weather last week brought thoughts of camping to leaders of Girl Scout troops. It's not too soon to be thinking of camping. Troopwise, day camp or established camp require early planning to make the experience more significant to the girls.

Leaders will find resource material concerning camping, nature and conservation in the Girl Scout handbook for their troop levels. Nature hikes for Brownies prove exciting. Getting ready for an outdoor good time can be as much fun as the hike itself.

Girls learn how to make a sit-upon, what to take along in a nosebag lunch or how to make a winter bouquet from articles gathered during the hike. "Discover the World Outdoors" is a chapter for Brownies to read in their handbooks.

Junior troops find information in their handbook concerning travel, camping, finding the way, knots and lashing, knives, fires, cooking and eating and games. All pertain to camping knowledge and are interesting.
