Woman Guilty On Rape Charge

DALLAS (UPI) — A 24-year-old Dallas woman was convicted of rape Wednesday in the criminal assault case of a 14-year-old girl. The jury Thursday was considering her sentence.

A one-woman, 11-man jury found Mrs. Laura Lucille Johnson guilty after the victim testified at the trial.

The girl said Mrs. Johnson held down her arms while Mrs.
Johnson's husband, Donald Ray
Johnson, raped her. The girl said the incident occurred Dec.
23 in Mesquite, Tex.

A statement was presented to the court in which Mrs. Johnson said she agreed to help because her husband said it would save their marriage. Mrs. Johnson did not testify at the trial.

Donald Johnson has not yet been tried.

No Survivors Located In Boat Sinking

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (UPI)—Skindivers failed today in efforts to find survivors in the partially submerged hull of the huge ferry boat Wahine, which capsized during New Zealand's worst storm in memory.

Police said the final death toll probably would be about 51. They had recovered 46 bodies. They said 727 persons were aboard the ferry when it struck a reef in nearby Worsner Bay. It later heeled over in raging typhoon winds of 125 mile-an-hour Wednesday.

The revised police figures listed 676 survivors. The boat carried 605 passengers and a crew of 122. With the 46 known dead, this left five persons unaccounted for. The dead included 24 women, 20 men and two children. All of the 21 dead identified were New Zealanders.

Divers rushed to the hulk of the 9,110-ton boat today when a boatman reported hearing tapping noises from its exposed superstructure. However, they found no sign of life.

The 490-foot Wahine struck the reef while on a regular run Wednesday across Cook Strait from Lyttleton on New Zealand's South Island to Wellington on the North Island.

A flotilla of small boats braved the raging waters to help bring off the survivors.

JEWELRY WINDOW LOOTED
DALLAS (UPI) — A gang of between 10 and 20 youths threw bricks through the window of a Dallas jewelry store Tuesday and took watches, rings and jewelry valued up to $75,000 from display cases.

An 18-year-old youth was arrested several blocks from Dale's Jewelry and four diamond rings were recovered. The youth's hand was severely gashed.

Compensation To Veterans Protected By Legislation

The bill which President Johnson signed into law on March 29 will protect nearly a quarter of a million veterans, widows, and parents against any reduction in Veterans Administration pension or dependency and indemnity compensation due to the recent Social Security increase.

Jack Coker, manager of Waco VA Regional Office, said today. The measure will also result in added VA payments, beginning Jan. 1, 1969, to more than 1.1 million on VA pension rolls, Coker emphasized.

VA now pays out approximat-ly $2.3 billion annually to these two groups of beneficiaries and to some 600,000 pensioners under a prior protected law.

Coker explained that pensions are paid to veterans whose total and permanent disabilities are not related to military service and to widows who, like eligible veterans, meet low income limitations.

He noted that in two messages to Congress on America's servicemen and veterans, the President recommended legislation to "protect the veteran against disproportionate losses that could result from increases in other income, such as Social Security."

Veterans, widows, and parents are assured by the new law signed on March 28, of no reductions in VA benefits through 1969, because of increased Social Security payments which went into effect this month, Coker said.

According to the Waco VA Regional Office Manager, added VA benefits beginning next January for more than 1.1 million pensioners will result from restructuring of the entire VA pension and dependency and indemnity compensation (DIC) program, as provided in the new law.

Effective Jan. 1, 1969, Coker explained, income limitations, which govern financial eligibility for VA pensions and dependency benefits, will be raised $200 for all beneficiaries. This increase is particularly important to "old law" pensioners since it will mean that the recent Social Security income hike will cause no loss in VA payments.

Also starting next year, Coker said, income levels, which determine the amount of current law VA pension and DIC benefits; will be computed in $100 increments, with maximum payments going to those with the lowest income. VA benefits will be reduced only a fraction of each $100 increase in income up to the new ceilings. Currently, there are only three to five income levels used in determining the amount of benefits a recipient may be paid. There are no graduated benefits for income between these levels.

Coker emphasized that under the restructured VA pension and dependency indemnity compensation program, there will be from 13 to 28 income levels used to compute a recipient's pension or dependency benefit.

Any veteran, widow or parent having any question or needing help in connection with the new pension law recently signed by the President are invited to call or come by the Waco VA Regional Office for information or assistance, Manager Coker said.

Writer Re-Enacts Death Of Christ

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

The young rabbi, who had a normal human dread of death, may have shuddered inwardly when Pilate announced the sentence.

He knew that imperial Rome was not gentle with condemned men. But being a merciful man, he could scarcely have imagined all of the horrors that human cruelty would inflict upon him in the next few hours.

His execution was entrusted to Roman legionnaires who had spent many years on occupation duty in Palestine. They feared and hated the proud people whom they kept in subjugation, and relished the opportunity to vent their anti-Semitism on one who had been found guilty of claiming to be "king of the Jews."

They bound him by the wrists to a post in the courtyard of the barracks and took turns lashing his bare back with a whip.

Prisoners often died from a scourging. But the soldiers wanted to have a little fun with this one. So they quit flogging him while he was still conscious enough to serve as the butt of their horseplay.

Hall "King"

One barracks wit took off his scarlet legionnaire's cloak and put it over the prisoner's shoulders, in imitation of a king's royal purple robe. Another plaited a crown of sharp briars to thrust down on his head. A third put a reed in his hand to resemble a scepter. Then they hailed him: "Long live the king of the Jews."

One by one they approached his blood-spattered "throne," kneeling before him in mock homage, then rising to spit in his face.

About 8 a.m., they led him out to crucify him.

Adv. for Thurs. pm's April 11 1st ad 606 xxx crucify him.

When they arrived at the execution site—a hill outside Jerusalem called Golgotha, or Calvary—the soldiers stripped the prisoner of all his clothing. It was part of the humiliation of execution that the condemned man should hang there naked.

His clothing became the property of the execution squad. They divided some of his garments among them, but when they came to his robe—a seamless tunic which could not be divided without ruining the fabric—they cast dice for it. The Gospels do not record who won.

Now came the worst part—the actual act of nailing him to the cross.

Nailed To Cross

They set him astride a wooden peg which jutted out from the upright pole of the cross and made him stretch out his arms along the crossbeam. A nail was driven through the palm of each hand to hold him. Then his feet were nailed, one over the other, to the upright pole.

The Roman author Cicero, who witnessed many crucifixions, records that victims often became raving madmen long before they were mercifully released by death. It was sometimes necessary, Cicero adds, to cut out their tongues to put a stop to their terrible screams and curses.

But the young rabbi who was crucified on a Friday morning in early spring of the year A.D. 30 was a most extraordinary person.

As he hung on to the cross in indescribable pain, he looked up to Heaven and prayed for the men who put him there.

"Father, forgive them," he said. "They don't know what they're doing."

By LOUIS CASSELS

Shortly after sundown Friday, in millions of Jewish homes, a child will ask: "Why is this night different from all other nights?"

The question has been asked, by the youngest boy present in each Jewish home, annually for more than 3,000 years.

It marks the beginning of Judaism's oldest religious festival, the Passover.

The head of the family always responds to the question by telling the Biblical story of the mighty acts by which God delivered the children of Israel from slavery in Egypt about 1220 B.C.

The annual recounting of this story is an act of remembrance performed in obedience to a divine commandment which is preserved in the Book of Exodus (Chapter 13, Verse 14): "And when in time to come your son asks you, 'What does this mean?' You say to him, 'By strength of hand the Lord brought us out of Egypt, from the house of bondage.'"

The name Passover is derived from the final punishment inflicted upon Egypt when its ruler, the Pharaoh, stubbornly refused God's demand that he "let my people go."

Angel "Passed Over"

The Book of Exodus tells how the Angel of Death visited Egyptian homes, destroying every first-born son. But the deadly visitor "passed over" the homes of the Israelites.

In the Bible, the annual celebration is called "the Feast of Unleavened Bread."

Unleavened bread, called matzah in Hebrew, is eaten throughout the Passover festival, which is observed for seven days by reform Jews and for eight days by conservative and orthodox Jews.

The origin of this custom can be found in Exodus 12:39, which records that the Israelites fled Egypt in such haste that they had no time to let yeast rise in the dough of their bread, so "they baked unleavened cakes" to sustain them on their long trek through the wilderness of Sinai.

Passover begins with a ritual meal called the Seder. It is traditionally celebrated by each family in its own home. The table is spread with the finest linens and best silver. At sundown, the mother lights candles on the table, and the whole family gathers around.

Child Asks Question

It is then that the child asks the well-rehearsed question: "Why is this night different from all other nights?"

The Haggadah, or order of service for the Seder, also provides three other questions for the youngest child to ask, as the meal proceeds. Each question gives the head of the family an opening to explain the significance of the special foods on the Seder table.

In addition to matzah, these foods include bitter herbs, which recall the bitterness of slavery; and charoset, a mixture of apples, nuts, raisins and cinnamon which symbolizes the mortar from which the Israelites made bricks for pharaoh's palaces and monuments.

Four cups of wine are drunk during the feast, and even the youngest children get a thimbleful to participate in the celebration.

The Seder traditionally is eaten in a reclining position, as was customary at feasts in the ancient Middle East.

Sometime during the meal, the head of the family hides a piece of matzah. The child who finds it gets a prize.

First Presbyterian Sets Easter Service

Easter worship is planned for the 8:30 and 11 a.m. at the First Presbyterian Church. The Pastor, Rev. Martin Hager, will use as his sermon topic, "For You Have Died," using as the textual basis for the sermon, Colossians 3:1-4.

Ruling Elder N. Dudley Steele will serve as the pulpit assistant this Sunday morning at both worship hours. The Cantor, Mrs. J. Stanley Hill, will present the Anthem, "Open the Gates of the Temple," by Knapp, at the 11 a.m. service. Mrs. Fidelia Yoder will present the offertory "I Know that My Redeemer Liveth" from Handel's "Messiah," as well as postlude and prelude selections.

There will be no Youth Fellowships this Sunday.

WHEN DUST SHALL SING!

"Marvel not at this for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear His voice, And shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation," St. John 5:28-29.

The hope of every Christian is the resurrection of the dead. Jesus has said "because I live, you shall live also" St. John 14:19. Again we hear him proclaim that He has the keys to hell and death. Revelations 1:18.

From the beginning mankind was created from the dust. Genesis 2:7 Because of man's sin to the dust he must return. Genesis 3:19 Therefore, he goes through this life with the fear and the dread of death ever facing him. In fact, the question of the suffering Job was "if a man shall die shall he live again?" Job 14:14. But yet again in the midst of his suffering and reaching through the dark veil of death with renewed faith in his redeemer, we hear him cry out, "I know that my redeemer liveth, and that he shall stand at the latter day upon the earth; and though after my skin worms destroy this body, yet in my flesh shall I see God." Job 19:25-26.

The Apostle Paul proclaims "If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men most miserable." 1 Corinthians 15:19 Then again we hear him with these assuring words "not to sorrow for those who sleep as others who have no hope.

For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with Him." 1 Thessalonians 4:13-14.

Yes, they that die in the Lord will be caught up with the living saints to meet the Lord in the air at His coming and dust shall sing again.

Harvesters Play Against Dons Today

The Palo Duro Dons were scheduled to seek an important victory over the Pampa Harvesters today starting at 4 p.m. at Optimist Park, with Amarillo High coming for a 1 p.m. date, here tomorrow with PHS.

Coach Bobby Stephens of Pampa has had little luck in the past five outings with district foes. Five times they have been beaten in the past two weeks after beginning the season with a bang with two victories over top-rated Monterey on the road and over Lubbock High down there.

Caprock faces possibly its toughest test in this season's District 3-AAAA baseball race today when the Longhorns tangle with league-leading Amarillo at the Sandie diamond. A win by Caprock would put the Longhorns in first place, depending on the Tascosa Berger game. If both the Longhorns and Rebels win the two teams would share the lead.

The Dons lost a couple of one-run decisions last week and would like a victory today to get back into the winning way.

Lubbock and Monterey meet in Lubbock in a do-or-die contest for each club. Each has dropped three games in league play and cannot afford another setback at this time.

Coronado will be at Plainview, and Estacado will enjoy an open date. All of the games involving city teams have been reset to a 1 p.m. starting time.

The Sports Patrol

By STEVE SNIDER
NEW YORK (UPI)—Sports of all sorts:

These are hard times for the New York Yankees but they lead in one category anyway . . . the Yanks have probably the best batting practice pitcher in baseball in 39-year-old Whitey Ford.

Ford, long-time ace lefty until his retirement last year, still can zip the ball right where he wants it or where the batters want it for when Whitey is in a pixie-ish mood, where the batters don't want it.

U.S. Lawn Tennis Association says official bids to stage open tournaments this year must be filed with New York headquarters by midnight April 17 . . . Good intentions don't count . . . Applications must include details on prize money, seating capacities and hard facts.

Several sponsors, including Forest Hills have shown an interest but it'll take a solid presentation for any club to win a sanction from the USLTA's special committee.

"We have to move quickly because of scheduling problems," says Bob Malaga of the USLTA. "There's a possibility the deadline could be extended if no applications are acceptable right now but there's also a chance we might not get our first open until 1969."

Committee Calls for Boycott

NEW YORK (UPI)—The American Committee on Africa issued a statement Thursday signed by more than 60 athletes in the United States calling for a boycott of the 1968 Olympic Games unless South Africa is prevented from participating.

Included among the signatories were Negro and white athletes and amateur and professionals.

The statement was issued at a news conference attended by five of the athletes: Jim Bourton, a white baseball player for the New York Yankees, Ruben Amaro, a Mexican player for the Yankees; Heyward Dotson, a Negro basketball player for Columbia University; Steve Mokone, a South African Negro soccer player who is a student at the University of Rochester, and Kwaku Phene-Frempong, a Ghanaian who is on Yale University's track team.

In the statement, the committee's executive director, George M. Houser, called on the Executive Committee of the International Olympic Committee to convene the entire IOC to debate whether South Africa should be permitted to take part in the games this summer in Mexico City because of discriminatory practice in selection of its teams.

Casper Tops In Masters

By JOHN G. GRIFFIN
UPI Executive Sports Editor
AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI)—They overlooked Billy Casper when they talked about favorites for the Masters golf championship, but it was kind of tough to overlook him today when the field of 72 swung into the second round of the Augusta National course.

Billy, the cool Californian, was right out there in front after a first-round, 4-under-par 68.

What's more, to catch him they're going to have to cope with his "inner peace." That's something the 36-year-old Casper, whose calm exterior always belied his churning insides, says he's acquired lately and it "permits me to do everything a little better."

It certainly showed in the opening round as he rattled out six birdies over the tough par-72 layout and refused to get the willies over two bogeys.

One Stroke Lead

As a result Casper, already the top money winner so far this year on the PGA tour with total earnings (official and unofficial) of over $69,000, carried a one-stroke lead into the second round over five players—co-favorite Jack Nicklaus, Argentina's Roberto de Vilenczo, England's Tony Jacklin, Australia's Bruce Devlin, and Georgia's Tommy Aaron, golf's most successful loser (earnings of $200,000 and never won a tournament).

Two strokes off the pace at 70 were three dark-horses—Bob Goalby, Kermit Zarley and Jerry Pittman. PGA champion Don January was in a seven-way tie at 71, three strokes back, and co-favorite Arnold Palmer and defending champion Gay Brewer were among seven more at par 72.

Looming ahead of the field is a cutoff at the end of today's round. Only the low 44 plus ties, plus any others who may be within 10 strokes of the leader, will go into the nationally televised final two rounds Saturday and Sunday.

Casper was overlooked coming into this tournament despite mighty impressive credentials—those money earnings, plus the fact he has won two tournaments so far this year, plus the fact he is hot, as witness his triumph in the Greenboro, N.C., open last Monday.

Tourney Delayed

As a matter of fact, the Greenboro victory was one of the reasons for overlooking him. That tournament was delayed by the national day of mourning Sunday for Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., and Casper had to play 36 holes on Monday.

But the Peacock Gap, Calif., veteran insisted after the opening round, "I felt good yesterday and I feel even better today."

If his hands were shaking from weariness, it didn't show when he:

Rammed home a 30-foot putt on the third hole for his second straight birdie, or sank a whopper on the 17th that "must have been 50 feet, because I walked about 20 feet after I hit it before it dropped." All told, Casper took only 29 putts, which doesn't sound like a man who has the tired staggers.

Player honors for the third time in a row.

White Deer Coach Wins Top Honor

SKELLYTOWN (Sp1)—Miss Lometa Odom, head coach of the 'B' team girls basketball in White Deer High School, has recently received notice that her name will be added to the women's basketball Hall of Fame at the Helms Foundation in Los Angeles, Cal., right next to that of the famous Babe Didrikson.

Miss Odom received her Helms Hall of Fame Women's Basketball certificate award on April 5, at the National Women's AAU Basketball Championship which was held in Gallup, New Mex.

The Helms Foundation, from which Pampa's Randy Matson received an honor, has recently added a large trophy on which names of women basketball Hall of Famers is engraved. Only women who were selected All-American for five years are eligible for acceptance, however, two exceptions have been made. They are the very famous Babe Didrikson and Miss Odom of White Deer.

Miss Odom was selected on the All-American team for four years, 1953-1956, while playing with the Hutchinson Flying Queens at Wayland Baptist College in Plainview. She was captain of the All-American team in 1956.

She came to White Deer in 1962, and coaches girls' basketball, volleyball, physical education and freshmen health. She is originally from Denton and a graduate of Wayland.

Babe Didrikson was a nationally known woman athlete, born in Port Arthur. She was on the All-American team in 1930 and 1931, and took part in practically every sport open to women. She was famous in golf, including acceptance in Texas Sports Hall of Fame. She died in 1956.

Casper Joins Colonial Field

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI)—Billy Casper, golf's second biggest money winner of all time and five other top pros have accepted their invitations to the Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament the tournament officials said Thursday.

Foist Motheral, Tournament committee chairman, said other acceptances came from Bobby Nichols, Charles Coody, Kermit Zarley, Dudley Wysong and Randy Glover.

Mexico Seeks To Reverse IOC Decision on South Africa

LONDON (UPI)—Mexico is expected to initiate a strong movement to reverse the International Olympic Committee's (IOC) postal ballot permitting South Africa to take part in this year's Olympic Games when an emergency meeting of the IOC convenes in Lausanne, Switzerland April 20-21.

Jose de Clark, Mexico's IOC delegate is expected to show that:

- The original IOC ballot was not authorized.
- The ballot needed a two-thirds majority which it did not get instead of a simple majority which was given. (IOC rules, however, state that a simple majority is sufficient).
- South Africa forfeited its position in the Olympic movement and Mexico therefore would be in breach of existing rules by extending an invitation.
- South Africa's Olympic committee cannot be recognized under the rules thereby eliminating anyone in that country from receiving or accepting an invitation to compete.

Mexico has yet to extend an invitation to South Africa after being instructed by the IOC to do so following the postal ballot last February.

Following the announcement of the results of the ballot, allowing South Africa to compete most African nations and some others sympathetic to their cause announced that they will not compete in Mexico City. Russia has also threatened twice to withdraw from the games if South Africa is allowed to compete.

Wilt The Stilt Is No. 1 Again

NEW YORK (UPI)—Wilt Chamberlain is proving scoring isn't everything.

The 7-foot-1 Philadelphia center was a unanimous National Basketball Association All-Star selection despite averaging "only" 23.8 points per game this season, lowest of his nine-year pro career.

Chamberlain, selected to the first team for the seventh time in nine years, joined Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati, Dave Bing of Detroit, Jerry Lucas of Cincinnati and Elgin Baylor of Los Angeles, on the All-Star unit announced Thursday by Commissioner Walter Kennedy.

Bing, the rookie of the year last season, led the league in scoring with 2,142 points and a 27.1 average while leading the Pistons to fourth place in the Eastern Division and a playoff berth.

Robertson's selection gives him a perfect mark, eight times named in eight years as a pro. Teammate Lucas returns for the third time after a year's absence.

Baylor, chosen for the ninth time in his 10 years in the NBA, recovered from a knee injury to lead an injury-riddled Los Angeles team to second place in the West.

The second team selected by sportswriters and sportscasters consisted of John Havlicek of Boston, Willis Reed of New York, Bill Russell of Boston, Hal Greer of Philadelphia and Jerry West of Los Angeles.

Chamberlain, who last year turned from a high scoring center to one of the assists leader in the NBA, led the league in rebounding, field goal accuracy and assists while earning league Most Valuable

Area Students Receive Awards

Two Top O' Texas area High School seniors will soon receive slide rule awards from the Texas Chemical Council for excellence in science, chemistry, and math, representing two of 132 Texas high schools.

The area students are Patrick T. Homer of 2207 Chestnut Dr. of Pampa in physics and Glenda Villiness of Skellytown in education.

The award winners were selected by their schools as the outstanding graduates in the science-chemistry-math field. Nominations were made by high school principals and science department heads on the basis of scholarship, imagination, and scientific aptitude. Only one student per school could be nominated.

Texas Chemical Council President H. H. Imray of Longview said this was the fourteenth consecutive year the Council has made slide rule awards to outstanding high school students.

President Imray also said it was the intent of the Council to encourage as many as possible of the state's outstanding high school students to pursue some type of scientific career or to continue studies in the science field.

In addition to receiving the slide rules, the award winners will be invited by the Texas Chemical Council to participate in an essay contest, with the winning writer to be suitably recognized and his school to be presented a $500 cash grant by the Council. The Council is an association of 53 chemical companies which have manufacturing facilities in Texas with offices at 325 Perry-Brooks Building, Austin, Texas.

Slide rules will be presented to the award winning students by representatives of the Texas Chemical Council in the special ceremonies at the respective schools. A complete list of winners is attached.

Teenage Girls' Approach To Their Future Occupations Is 'Enthusiastic'

By PATRICK MCCORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI)—Prize essays from teen-age girls might inspire teachers, social workers, doctors, researchers and businessmen who have lost some of the stars in their eyes.

Between the lines, the essayists say to such types: rub the dust out of your orbs and let the enthusiasm of your youth shine through.

Prize-winners in the ninth annual Girls Clubs of America Reader's Digest Foundation career key awards, gave the following reasons for heading toward careers in the various fields.

Reasons Given

—Social worker. Barbara Roberson, of Birmingham, Ala., is drawn to this career. She wants to help underprivileged children. "When I speak of underprivileged, I do not mean only those with a lack of money, but also those with a lack of understanding and care," she said. "Every child needs to be understood and know that someone cares about his outcome."

—Teaching. Jane Jo Ann Cheesman, of Terre Haute, Ind., says: "Teaching is helping a child to understand, wonder and ask. And teaching doesn't end when the last bell rings but continues on to activities and talks with the children."

—Medicine. Colette Croze, of Wilmington, Del., is drawn to this career out of a duty to herself and to others. "Medicine lives in men and is therefore constantly changing," she said. "I believe in the worth of each person as a human being."

—Research. Mary Ann Varanka, of Meriden, Conn., has an interest in biology and a drive to improve the welfare and well being of fellow humans. "A career in medical research," she said. "Would help me comfort the suffering peoples."

—Business. Suzanne E. Driscoll, of Scottsdale, Ariz., expects to find a place in business. "In this country," she said, "people are free to choose the type of career which they can enjoy and which interests them, not what interests the government alone. In this way, a person can enjoy his work while at the same time the government is enjoying 'the results of his work.'" (Did she mean taxes?)

Of the winners, an equal number selected careers in teaching or social work. There was a drop this year in the number expressing interest in science careers.

Generally, teaching has been the most popular career choice in previous contests. Social work moving to the same popularity level as teaching may reflect the nation's flexed muscle in the war on poverty.

Added Thought

But then, it might just be a simple something else—namely a natural career for women. Sandra Diane Dupuis, of Manchester, N.H., another winner heading toward this field, put it this way:

"As adulthood approaches, a woman's heart becomes the center of her being. If not, her existence will rankle with hypocrisy."

LESLIE WATKINS

Pampa Student Is 'Frogette Beauty'

Leslie Watkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Watkins, 2554 Aspen, is one of nine Texas Christian University coeds recently chosen as a "Frogette Beauty" at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth.

The young women will be featured in the 1967-68 HORNED FROG, the campus yearbook. Selected for their poise, personality and appearance, the finalists were honored at a tea given in late March. Each class is represented by two beauties — and one of the coeds was named "Miss Horned Frog Beauty."

Miss Watkins is a sophomore home economics major and a graduate of Pampa High School. A member of Zeta Tau Alpha social sorority, she also sings in the A Capella choir.
