Minutes, Poll Fail To Reveal Ouster Charges

By WANDA MAE HUFF
Daily News Staff Writer
Release of the long-awaited minutes of the Jan. 16 closed meeting of the Pampa School Board and a poll of board members revealed that no specific charges were filed against school superintendent John Damron before he was fired late that night and given two hours to get out of his office.

Ever since that night an air of mystery has hovered over the reason for his immediate dismissal. The minutes, finally made available at yesterday's regular board meeting, show only that the board accepted the resignation Dr. Damron submitted on Jan. 11, after the board had refused to consider his contract renewal, and which was withdrawn the night of Jan. 16 before the board took an official vote on it. The minutes show the board then added the further wording, after legal counsel had been called in, stating that "the resignation is accepted immediately and alternatively and that good cause exists for the termination of the employment of Dr. John D. Damron immediately."

That phraseology was not used in the original motion by Dr. R. M. Hampton, seconded by John Spearman. That motion dealt only with acceptance of the resignation that had been withdrawn before the board vote was taken.

After board members conferred with Atty. Bill Waters, school board counsel, the motion was amended and the words, "good cause exists for termination of employment" were added to the original resignation acceptance motion.

Nowhere in the minutes of the meeting released yesterday is there mention of any specific cause for termination of Dr. Damron's services.

The immediate firing came after Dr. Damron withdrew his resignation at the Jan. 16 meeting and notified board members that if they were acting on his letter of resignation after he had withdrawn it he would demand full salary payment until July, 1970, and would appeal the case to Dr. J. W. Edgar, state commissioner of education.

It was then Dr. Damron was asked to leave the room, Atty. Waters was called in, and Dr. Hampton re-worded his original motion on the resignation acceptance and added the words "good cause exists for termination of services." Dr. Hampton's motion was seconded by board member Spearman. The vote was unanimous.

Nowhere in the minutes released yesterday are there any direct quotes from any member at the meeting. The minutes simply relate, "Discussion followed."

Nowhere in the minutes is there any reference to any charge against Dr. Damron.

With this in mind, The News conducted a poll of board members, asking each one if the board ever, at anytime, discussed charges of improper conduct or misappropriation of funds against Dr. Damron.

All five board members were contacted. Four of the five board members stated that misappropriation of funds or misconduct charges were not involved in the Damron ouster.

New board member Jimmy Thompson refused to make any comment, other than to say, "the minutes speak for themselves. It's best to let the board president do the talking for the board."

Board President Grady said: "As far as I am concerned, I don't want to answer. As far as I am concerned as an individual the answer is 'no'."

As to the wording in the motion that "good cause exists for termination of employment," Grady said that would not be discussed as far as he was concerned.

Board secretary John Gikas, who kept the minutes of the Jan. 16 meeting, said: "There (See MINUTES, Page 3)

Pampa school trustees, faced with a delegation from Carver community Thursday, left unchanged the status of Carver Elementary School. The board also appointed an equalization board and set a called trustee meeting in its session Thursday.

In the February board meeting the Carver delegation had given trustees a list of nine questions which had to do with the closing of Carver School for a year and asked for answers in yesterday's meeting.

The board answered the nine questions, but the committee's spokesman, Mrs. B. R. Skinner, asked permission to appear on the matter again in the April board meeting.

After getting permission to appear in April, she said she wanted "another try at the new school board, for I still don't think you know how strongly we feel about the Carver school question."

H. Creel Grady, board president, and Bill Watson were the only candidates in April 6 trustee election who attended Thursday's board meeting.

Jimmy Thompson, also a candidate, and a recently appointed trustee, did not attend. Thompson was appointed Jan. 11 to fill a vacancy created by Gene Steel's resignation.

Trustees appointed W.B. Jackson, Bill Tarpley, and Lee Fraser, with James Calvin Hill as alternate, to the board of equalization for Pampa school district.

They set 8 p.m., March 27, as date for an executive session for election of teachers.

In other business, the board voted to pay McHenry Lane, curriculum coordinator and acting school superintendent, a supplemental salary of $500 a month effective Jan. 17, the date he assumed superintendent's duties. Trustees voted the salary will continue until the board secures a superintendent.

The board also approved Pampa's textbook committee selections for 1968-69, approved bus route descriptions, changes in personnel and summer school and driver education.

Personnel changes approved were resignations of Mrs. Voun- (See CARVER, on Page 3)

Largest Campaign Of War Launched By US

By JACK WALSH
SIAGON (UPI)—Elements of three U.S. divisions under personal command of Gen. William C. Westmoreland have begun the largest campaign of the war to seek and destroy Communist forces in and around Saigon, it was announced today.

A spokesman said the 30,000-man force was determined to wrest the offensive from the Communists in "Operation Certain Victory," and had killed 233 Communists, including 18 found in a shallow grave today, and had captured two huge caches of arms.

The big drive by U.S. and South Vietnamese troops began last Monday but was not announced until today for security reasons.

It involves 50 battalions of U.S. troops sweeping through five provinces and was mounted to clear the capital area of Communists so the Allies could go on the offensive elsewhere in Vietnam.

Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, felt it so important he took over personal supervision. Informed, military sources said he took to the field because he felt the Communists were planning another major assault against Saigon and he wanted to "beat them to the punch." Military sources recently have reported up to two Communist divisions in the Saigon area.

In other action, U.S. pilots flew 85 missions through overcast skies against North Vietnam Thursday for the second day in a row of heavy bombing, spokesmen said. Navy jets blasted a railroad-vehicle bridge between Hanoi and Haiphong and another within Haiphong's city limits.

Air Force bombers hit the Dong Hoi Airfield and other targets in the Southern Panhandle. They also struck in the Hanoi area, bombing a major power plant and missile site near the capital.

Other V-C Casualties
In South Vietnam, 19 miles south-southwest of the Marine bastion at Da Nang on the northern coast, U.S. Marine artillery and Air Force gunships killed at least 60 Communists Thursday.

Military spokesmen also said Communist forces launched a series of mortar and rocket attacks on allied targets just below the North Vietnamese border, blowing up a U.S. assault boat but doing little other damage.

In "certain victory," 1st Infantry Division troops reported killing 28 Communists in a four-hour fight north of Saigon Thursday. The fight cost three Americans killed and 28 wounded.

American spokesmen said one of the guerrilla arms caches uncovered in the sweep lay within striking distance of Tan (See CAMPAIGN, Page 3)

American Dollars Not Freely Traded

By ALLAN PRIAULX
PARIS (UPI)—The price of gold skyrocketed through much of the world today although most major gold markets were closed. The U.S. Dollar plunged the legal limit in Paris and hotels in Paris, London and Frankfurt refused to exchange freely American dollars.

In Paris, the only major European gold market open, the price of gold soared to $44.36 an ounce — a fantastic $8.46 jump over Thursday's closing price of $35.90. The 23 per cent rise was matched on Zurich's black market. In Beirut, banking center for the Mideast, gold rose 7 per cent.

The scene on the Paris gold market was one of pandemonium with brokers fighting each other to buy in belief a weekend economic crisis meeting in Washington would decree monetary restraints that would make it impossible for the dollar to be freely traded for other currencies.

Financial experts called the situation the greatest threat to the international monetary system — mainly the British pound sterling and the dollar — since World War II. The weekend meeting in Washington was the key to the situation; failure to act could mean devaluation of the dollar and another devaluation of the pound.

Britain closed its gold market, stock exchanges and foreign bank dealings at request of the United States to help prevent devaluation of the dollar. Canada followed suit by suspending gold trading for the first time in history. So did the big European trade centers, except Paris.

The French government stands to make it big should the dollar fall. So does the Soviet union which has been buying billions of dollars of the precious metal in belief the price will rise above the $35 an ounce set by the United States and the international gold pool.

President Charles de Gaulle of France has long opposed use of the pound and the dollar as the main basis of world trade and would like to see gold become the principal unit. He pulled out of the gold pool and kept the gold market open today. In the backlash the French stock market zoomed sharply upward.

French brokers scrambled and sometimes battled their way with fists to make purchases in the market located in the stock market basement. Police were finally called to restore order as mobs of would-be buyers tried to storm into the small market.

The price of a 2.2 pound (one kilogram) gold ingot soared from Thursday's closing price of $1,140 to $1,400, making a paper profit of $260 for speculators. The U.S. Embassy which calculates a "Paris parity" for the price of gold said the rate was $44.36 an ounce.

Today's trading volume in Paris was $43.8 million compared with Thursday's $62.6 million. Financial experts said the volume dipped because other major European gold markets were closed, cutting off some supplies, and because speculators were so astounded at the price rise they began to sell.

The gold market also was closed in Zurich, but a banker said the black market sprang into operation as soon as the closing announcement was made. Prices soared from Thursday's $1,156 a kilogram to $1,402 — about the same as Paris.

In Beirut, banking capital of the Middle East, gold bullion prices rose to $1,250 per kilogram, a rise of about 7 per cent.

Financial experts said the (See MONEY, Page 3)

Britain Gives US Ultimatum

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
LONDON (UPI)—Britain has given the United States a three-day weekend breathing spell to halt the worldwide gold stampede. But British officials regard this as perhaps a last chance.

Officials and financial experts here and in other European money centers consider the current gold stampede and attack on the dollar probably the gravest financial crisis since the Wall Street crash in 1929 and the Great Depression of the 1930s.

Responsible British officials are insisting Washington take immediate drastic action before markets reopen Monday to convince speculators the United States is not merely willing but also able to stop the gold rush and get the U.S. foreign payments balance back on an even keel.

It is the chronic U.S. foreign payments deficit over the past decade—currently $3.5 billion—that causes the deepest concern here.

Wall Street Calm Over Gold Rush

NEW YORK (UPI)—Wall Street's initial reaction to the emergency measures enacted to stem the wave of gold speculation was a surprisingly calm one. Prices declined along a broad front in active trading but declines were nowhere near as steep as many had anticipated.

Brokers said Thursday's selling had anticipated the hike in the discount rate by the Federal Reserve Board. Many investors had expected even steeper measures.

Most declines were fractional and some of the high priced glamor stocks started with gains.

Shortly after the opening bell, the United Press International stock market indicator was up 0.51 per cent with 431 issues traded. There were 272 declines, 89 advances. The Dow industrial average was off 1.5 points.

Most traders apparently have decided to see what the weekend meeting of central bankers in Washington will be doing.

The electronics, hard hit in the previous session, showed strength in many cases. Brokers jumped 2 1/2 to 170 1/2. Fairchild Camera rose 3/4 to 54 1/4. Collins Radio was unchanged. National Cash Register opened up slightly. Magnavox slipped a fraction.

Conglomerates and glamor stocks rose. Itel Corp. jumped 1 1/2 to 85 1/2. Monogram Industries rose a point to 4 1/2. Steels eased slightly.

Gold mining stocks were mixed at the opening. Dome Mines lost 3/4 to 69. American South African opened unchanged at 75.

Assembly Impeaches Panama's President

PANAMA CITY (UPI)—The Panamanian National Assembly Thursday night impeached President Marcos A. Robles for violating the Constitution and named a commission to prosecute him in a trial before the assembly.

The charge against Robles is that he publicly campaigned for a presidential candidate in violation of a constitutional ban against such activity by a president in office.

When Robles' opponents in the assembly finally brought the issue to a vote the assemblymen backing the president stormed out and refused to cast ballots.

Auto Fire Causes Light Damage Here

A car fire yesterday at the corner of Cuyler and Tyng streets caused only light damage under the hood of a 1968 Buick.

Pampa fire officials said the small blaze was apparently caused by a flooded carburetor.

McCarthy May Not Step Aside

The other new senator was the junior member from New York. A close look at Robert F. Kennedy Thursday showed the touch of gray in his brown hair. He is 42 and finding life difficult.

Winter sunshine made the white marble on the Capitol blaze and caused Kennedy to squint.

"I don't know what I'm going to do," he said. "I don't know." Instead of looking boyish, Kennedy looked his age. Did he know McCarthy wants to be president? "Yes, he does." Would McCarthy step aside? "I don't think he will." Later, he stood next to his brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., in the rear of the Senate Chamber. Arms folded, shoulders hunched, Robert listened. The brothers heard what key Democratic members said. They heard from close friends of their late brother, the President.

And more than one told Robert that he had made a mistake—perhaps the most damaging of his career. They were repeating what had become a common crack in the Capitol corridors: "McCarthy has the courage, Kennedy has the gall." One Senate Democrat spelled it out this way:

Attorney Meet Postponed Here

The meeting of the Gray County Bar Association scheduled for 11 a.m. tomorrow in the Starlight Room of Coronado Inn has been postponed, according to Harold L. Comer, association vice president.

Comer said E. L. Hamilton, of Austin, assistant executive director of the State Bar of Texas, is confined in Austin with the flu and will be unable to keep the Pampa date as principal speaker.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My sister and I are both widows (in our sixties) and live in separate houses in a small town. We are very congenial, go everywhere together, enjoy each other's company, and you might say we are inseparable.

My married daughter lives in another town close by. She says I am in a rut (she is right)—that my sister and I see too much of each other and need to go our separate ways for a while. So my daughter has invited me to take a vacation with her just to get away from the same old routine—and she surely doesn't want to include my sister.

I told my daughter that I couldn't just up and go on a trip without inviting my sister because she would be so hurt and I couldn't blame her. I know how I would feel if she did that to me.

So I am on the spot. What should I do? Should I go with my daughter and hurt my sister, or stay home and hurt my daughter?

ON THE SPOT

DEAR ON: Your daughter may be well-intentioned, but she is putting you on the spot. Perhaps a vacation away from your sister would get you out of a "rut"—but what a price! As long as you and your sister enjoy each other's company and are congenial, perhaps that "rut" is not such a bad one. Pass up the trip with your daughter. If you were to go, your conscience would prevent you from enjoying it.

DEAR ABBY: I recently telephoned a friend of mine and asked her if she was going to be home that evening because I wanted to visit her, and she said, "Yes, I'll be home, watching my favorite television program, so if you want to come over and watch it with me, you are welcome. Otherwise, let's make it some other time."

What do you think of such a friend?

INSULTED

DEAR INSULTED: I'd prefer her forthright brand of frankness to the person who tells me "I'm welcome," foregoes her own eye on the TV.

DEAR ABBY: Can you help us get the message across to our 16-year-old daughter that it is in extremely poor taste for young people to put on a show of affection in public? I refer to the disgusting manner in which a girl will hang on a boy, and let him put his hands all over her. Our daughter walks down the street with her arm around her boyfriend's waist and vice versa. And when they drive together in an automobile, she practically sits on his lap. Our daughter says she sees nothing wrong with it. Maybe you can tell her. We can't.

OLD FASHIONED

DEAR OLD FASHIONED: Hello, "young lovers" (wherever you are) and for the "older" ones, too: All the world may love a lover, but he doesn't have to act out his role in public. A boy who respects a girl will keep his hands off her in public, and a girl who respects herself, will make sure he does.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

You, Your Child and School

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

Local school systems are facing a form of bankruptcy. The cost of education through out the United States is rapidly rising. This is not only due to the demands for higher salaries and improved working conditions but is also the result of rising prices for supplies and equipment.

The increased cost is also a result of the demand of our society for quality education. All of these cost dollars. Where are they coming from?

A major source of dollars for local school systems is the property tax. Real estate holders are reaching the point of saturation and are obviously on the verge of revolt.

It is unfortunate that the property tax has been chosen as a major source of school revenues. In effect this means that districts which have low price homes will normally have to pay higher taxes to support good education.

These are generally the people who can least afford the cost.

What happens? The evidence is that the well known quality school districts in the nation are usually the ones with above average wealth. This is obviously a social problem.

The need is for more extensive support from taxes which have a broader base. This means more financial aid on the state or federal level. There are definite indications that a complete reevaluation of the tax structure is needed, especially for education.

The sound financing of education is an area where all levels of the community can work together. Perhaps there are ways out of the dilemma. The solution may be different in the various states and school districts.

Everyone in the community must put forth the needed effort to solve the major problem facing education. If the problems of finances are not solved there will be chaos and a loss of quality.

Simple Facial

For clear skin, your face cloth should be absolutely clean even to the extent of using a fresh one every day. Aside from washing, use it for a very simple facial treatment. Simply dip the cloth in water as hot as you can stand it and then apply it to your face, holding it in place for at least two minutes. Do this several times, then towel dry.

 was no discussion of misconduct or misappropriation of funds. This was not the reason for his dismissal. There was no talk by any board member of either of these aspects, and any report that there was, is not true. That was never an issue and it was never even mentioned as a possibility. Some rumors were started after the superintendent was dismissed but it was soon found they were not true.
 Only one member of the board offered an answer to the real reason for Dr. Damron's sudden dismissal. Dr. Hampton answered "no" to the questions about misconduct or misappropriation of funds, and then added this comment:
 "If you are looking for the real reason, I concur with Dr. Damron that he and the board had a difference of educational philosophy. I think he sensed this strongly when he resigned."
 John Spearman, board member, confirmed the statements by Grady, Gikas and Hampton when he answered "no" to both questions and said:
 "When a man quits, that's his prerogative."
 Board member Thompson, who was a new member on the board for the first time the night of Jan. 16, was not in a position to be familiar with the background of the case, although he voted along with the others to oust the superintendent.
 There has been a report in the past few weeks that the "good cause exists" wording in the ouster motion possibly could be interpreted as "insubordination" on the part of the superintendent due to disagreement on certain aspects of school policy.
 But, the long-awaited minutes of the Jan. 16 meeting actually tell little more than the superintendent's resignation was accepted and there was existing cause for his dismissal. The minutes showed no charges filed against Dr. Damron.
 The case subsequently was settled on Feb. 8 with the board paying Dr. Damron's salary of approximately $9,500 from Jan. 17, 1968 through June 30, 1968.

 As Paris stocks rose to new highs, the dollar dropped to the legal limit of 4,900 francs from Thursday's 4,920. The Bank of France stepped into the market to support the dollar parity under standing obligations to buy up all dollars offered at the floor rate.

'Phaedra', Scheduled Here Tomorrow Night

"Phaedra," the ancient tale of a woman in love with and scorned by her stepson, will be presented at the Pampa High School Auditorium at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Tickets will be purchased from the Chamber of Commerce, the Coronado Inn, Las Pampas Galleries, Homer Johnson, John McCausland, and George Cree. Prices are $4 for lower floor, $3 for balcony, and $2.50 for students.

The production is being sponsored by the Pampa Fine Arts Association. Based on the Jean Racine version of the Greek Hippolytus legend by Euripedes, the American Theater Production's presentation will be from the new translation by American poet Robert Lowell.

Called "Perhaps the most civilized great tragedy ever written" by renowned drama critic Eric Bentley, it is the story of the anguish suffered when a young wife falls in love with her stepson.

In the Racine version, the ancient tale has been enhanced by a subsidiary love affair by the pure-hearted stepson: Phaedra suffering her love in silence for the most part, even to the point of death; and the classical tragic ending: Phaedra expiring from poison, the stepson being crushed to death behind a team of wild horses, and the husband and father's scene of recognition and triumph.

In the cast are Shirley Cox as Phaedra, Robert Blackburn as Theseus, John MacAllan as Hippolytus, Nancy Donohue as Erica, Audrey Ward as Oenone, Ralph Nilson as Tharamenes, Paula Shaw as Ismene and David Metcalf as the aid to Phaedra.

 was no discussion of misconduct or misappropriation of funds. This was not the reason for his dismissal. There was no talk by any board member of either of these aspects, and any report that there was, is not true. That was never an issue and it was never even mentioned as a possibility. Some rumors were started after the superintendent was dismissed but it was soon found they were not true.
 Only one member of the board offered an answer to the real reason for Dr. Damron's sudden dismissal. Dr. Hampton answered "no" to the questions about misconduct or misappropriation of funds, and then added this comment:
 "If you are looking for the real reason, I concur with Dr. Damron that he and the board had a difference of educational philosophy. I think he sensed this strongly when he resigned."
 John Spearman, board member, confirmed the statements by Grady, Gikas and Hampton when he answered "no" to both questions and said:
 "When a man quits, that's his prerogative."
 Board member Thompson, who was a new member on the board for the first time the night of Jan. 16, was not in a position to be familiar with the background of the case, although he voted along with the others to oust the superintendent.
 There has been a report in the past few weeks that the "good cause exists" wording in the ouster motion possibly could be interpreted as "insubordination" on the part of the superintendent due to disagreement on certain aspects of school policy.
 But, the long-awaited minutes of the Jan. 16 meeting actually tell little more than the superintendent's resignation was accepted and there was existing cause for his dismissal. The minutes showed no charges filed against Dr. Damron.
 The case subsequently was settled on Feb. 8 with the board paying Dr. Damron's salary of approximately $9,500 from Jan. 17, 1968 through June 30, 1968.

Eye Bank Explained To Lions

Members of the Pampa Noon Lions Club heard an illustrated lecture at their luncheon yesterday in Methodist Church explaining how the High Plains Eye bank operates.

The speaker was Mrs. Betty Bullock of Amarillo, secretary of the eye bank, sponsored by clubs in the 2-T-1 district of Lions International.

Mrs. Bullock revealed that the High Plains Eye Bank has approximately 270 eye donors in Pampa and the Pampa Lions Club has contributed $1,000 to the bank.

Accompanying Mrs. Bullock to yesterday's meeting was Mrs. Joyce Raymond of Conway, whose return from total blindness was made possible by the eye bank several years ago.

Mrs. Bullock explained that the High Plains Eye Bank is in constant radio contact with 56 other banks across the nation where information is given on eye donors and where eyes are available when needed. The Eye Bank Network, she explained, provides service 24 hours around the clock.

Mrs. Bullock's appeal for additional eye donors met with quite a bit of response from club members at yesterday's luncheon.

"The High Plains Eye Bank needs more and more donors," Mrs. Bullock said. "There are more requests for aid than we can fill."

The program was arranged by John Hansard, program chairman for March, and the speaker was introduced by Joe Tooley, club member and a director of the High Plains Eye Bank and Eye Bank Association of America.

World of Religion

By DAVID POLING
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A month ago, Daniel Poling died in Philadelphia. To practically the last moment of his life, he was actively enjoying the events and people around him. A few days earlier, he had spoken to the Four Chaplains Dinner in Philadelphia. His doctor had warned him that he was a walking case of pneumonia, that he needed rest and a more quiet pace. Not Uncle Dan. He had things to do and he went to the hospital with a briefcase full and a busy telephone at his bedside.

It does not surprise his family in the least that he died away from home. I often thought he would go down in an airplane—he flew more than two million miles—averaging 60,000 miles these last several years. His concerns were worldwide, his friends on every continent. So it was right that he should leave this world away from home. And Philadelphia had always been the City of Brotherly Love for him.

People still find it hard to believe that he was 83. In the last six months alone his schedule was tailored to a man of 50, not 83. In July he had major surgery. August was get-well-month and then 14 days to the Far East with his 20th, or was it 30th, visit with Generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai-shek. In December he buried his sister in Oregon, in January married off a granddaughter in Pennsylvania and in between took a 10-day cruise in the Caribbean (with secretary, so he could work on his 26th book). And all along the way were board meetings, preaching dates, university appearances and time for a special lunch with a grandson and an evening with a daughter. It was just a great life! Full, turbulent and outward bound.

Daniel A. Poling was known through so many vivid associations. Head of the Christian Endeavor, in America and around the globe. Editor of the Christian Herald for almost 40 years. Pastor, preacher, author, part-time politician (he ran for governor of Ohio and mayor of Philadelphia.) Army chaplain in two wars. Newspaper columnist, war correspondent. A sponsor of an amazing number of Christian organizations that reached and assisted thousands of children, families and servicemen. The world was indeed his parish.

He knew every president since McKinley. He was close to Herbert Hoover, served Roosevelt and Truman on presidential commissions and felt that Lyndon Johnson was doing a pretty good job under impossible choices and would probably have voted all the way for Richard Nixon.

His range of interests were as wide as America and Dan Poling defied labels, cliques, or party definitions. When everyone was down on Bishop Pike, he remembered the brilliant pastorate that the California bishop had at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine.

When people in Oregon were saying that Mark Hatfield was an incurable dove, hawk Poling said that Hatfield was probably the most outstanding statesman Oregon had produced in this century and deserved a seat in the Senate.

When the Justice Department put Jimmy Hoffa in handcuffs, he agreed with William Loeb of New Hampshire that the dramatic had been overplayed for the sake of some public careers.

He was blessed with lifelong friends: J. C. Penney, nearing 90; Kenneth Latourette of Yale and Oregon; Walter Judd from early China days; Sen. Frank Carlson from Kansas and the late Cardinal Spellman. To him it did not seem strange that Spellman should become one of his close associates in later years; they were both working out of New York; they were interested in the same social and political philosophy and they each pursued the Kingdom of God as it was revealed to him. And when that happens, you're always outward bound.

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, this quotation will also be read: "Truth, Life, and Love are substance, as the Scriptures use this word in Hebrew: 'The substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.'"

Jehovah Witnesses Resume Meetings After Convention

Meetings for the Pampa congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses were resumed this week with the regular schedule of Bible study activity being conducted at Kingdom Hall, 944 S. Dwight.

Local members returned home from a three-day convention in Dalhart over the weekend where 805 heard the principal speaker answer the question "Why Does God Permit Wickedness?"

"The history of the human family is not a particularly pleasant one, according to A. A. Catanzaro, traveling representative of New York who addressed the delegates as they assembled in Rita Blanca Coliseum.

"It is filled with the record of man's inhumanity to man," he declared.

"Over and over again individual or collective acts of wickedness have plunged large segments of human-kind into brutality and bloodshed. As man's inventiveness has progressed, so has his capacity to cause grief."

Catanzaro indicated that God will not tolerate wickedness much longer. He pointed to the Bible's promise that very soon all the wicked will be destroyed and perfect peace and happiness will be enjoyed by all who live in a restored paradise according to Psalm 37:11,29.

The local presiding minister, Charles Regal, in commenting about the convention said that traveling ministers such as Catanzaro are giving similar Bible discourses all over the world in 197 lands where Jehovah's Witnesses are active.

Is there any way of proving the existence of God?

No, says Presbyterian theologian John R. Bodo.

The various rational arguments for the existence of God, put forward by St. Thomas Aquinas, St. Anselm and other medieval scholastics, actually "prove nothing," says Dr. Bodo, who is chaplain at MacAlester College, St. Paul, Minn.

On the other hand, the arguments used by those who proclaim the death of God "do not prove anything, either."

Dr. Bodo contends in an article in Presbyterian Life Magazine that when it comes to "provable knowledge" of God, everyone is perforce an agnostic. The only choice is whether to be a believing agnostic or an unbelieving agnostic.

The Weekly Message

Of Inspiration

MONROE WOODS, PASTOR
ST. MARK'S METHODIST CHURCH

TEXT: And he came to Nazareth, where he had been brought up, and as his custom was, he went into the synagogue on the Sabbath day, and stood up to read. (St. Luke 4:16)

SUBJECT: WHY GO TO CHURCH? (Visible)

Here are questions that priests and rabbis and ministers are sometimes asked: Do you have to go to services—to church—to the temple or synagogue—to be good? Aren't there a lot of hypocrites who go to church or synagogue faithfully?

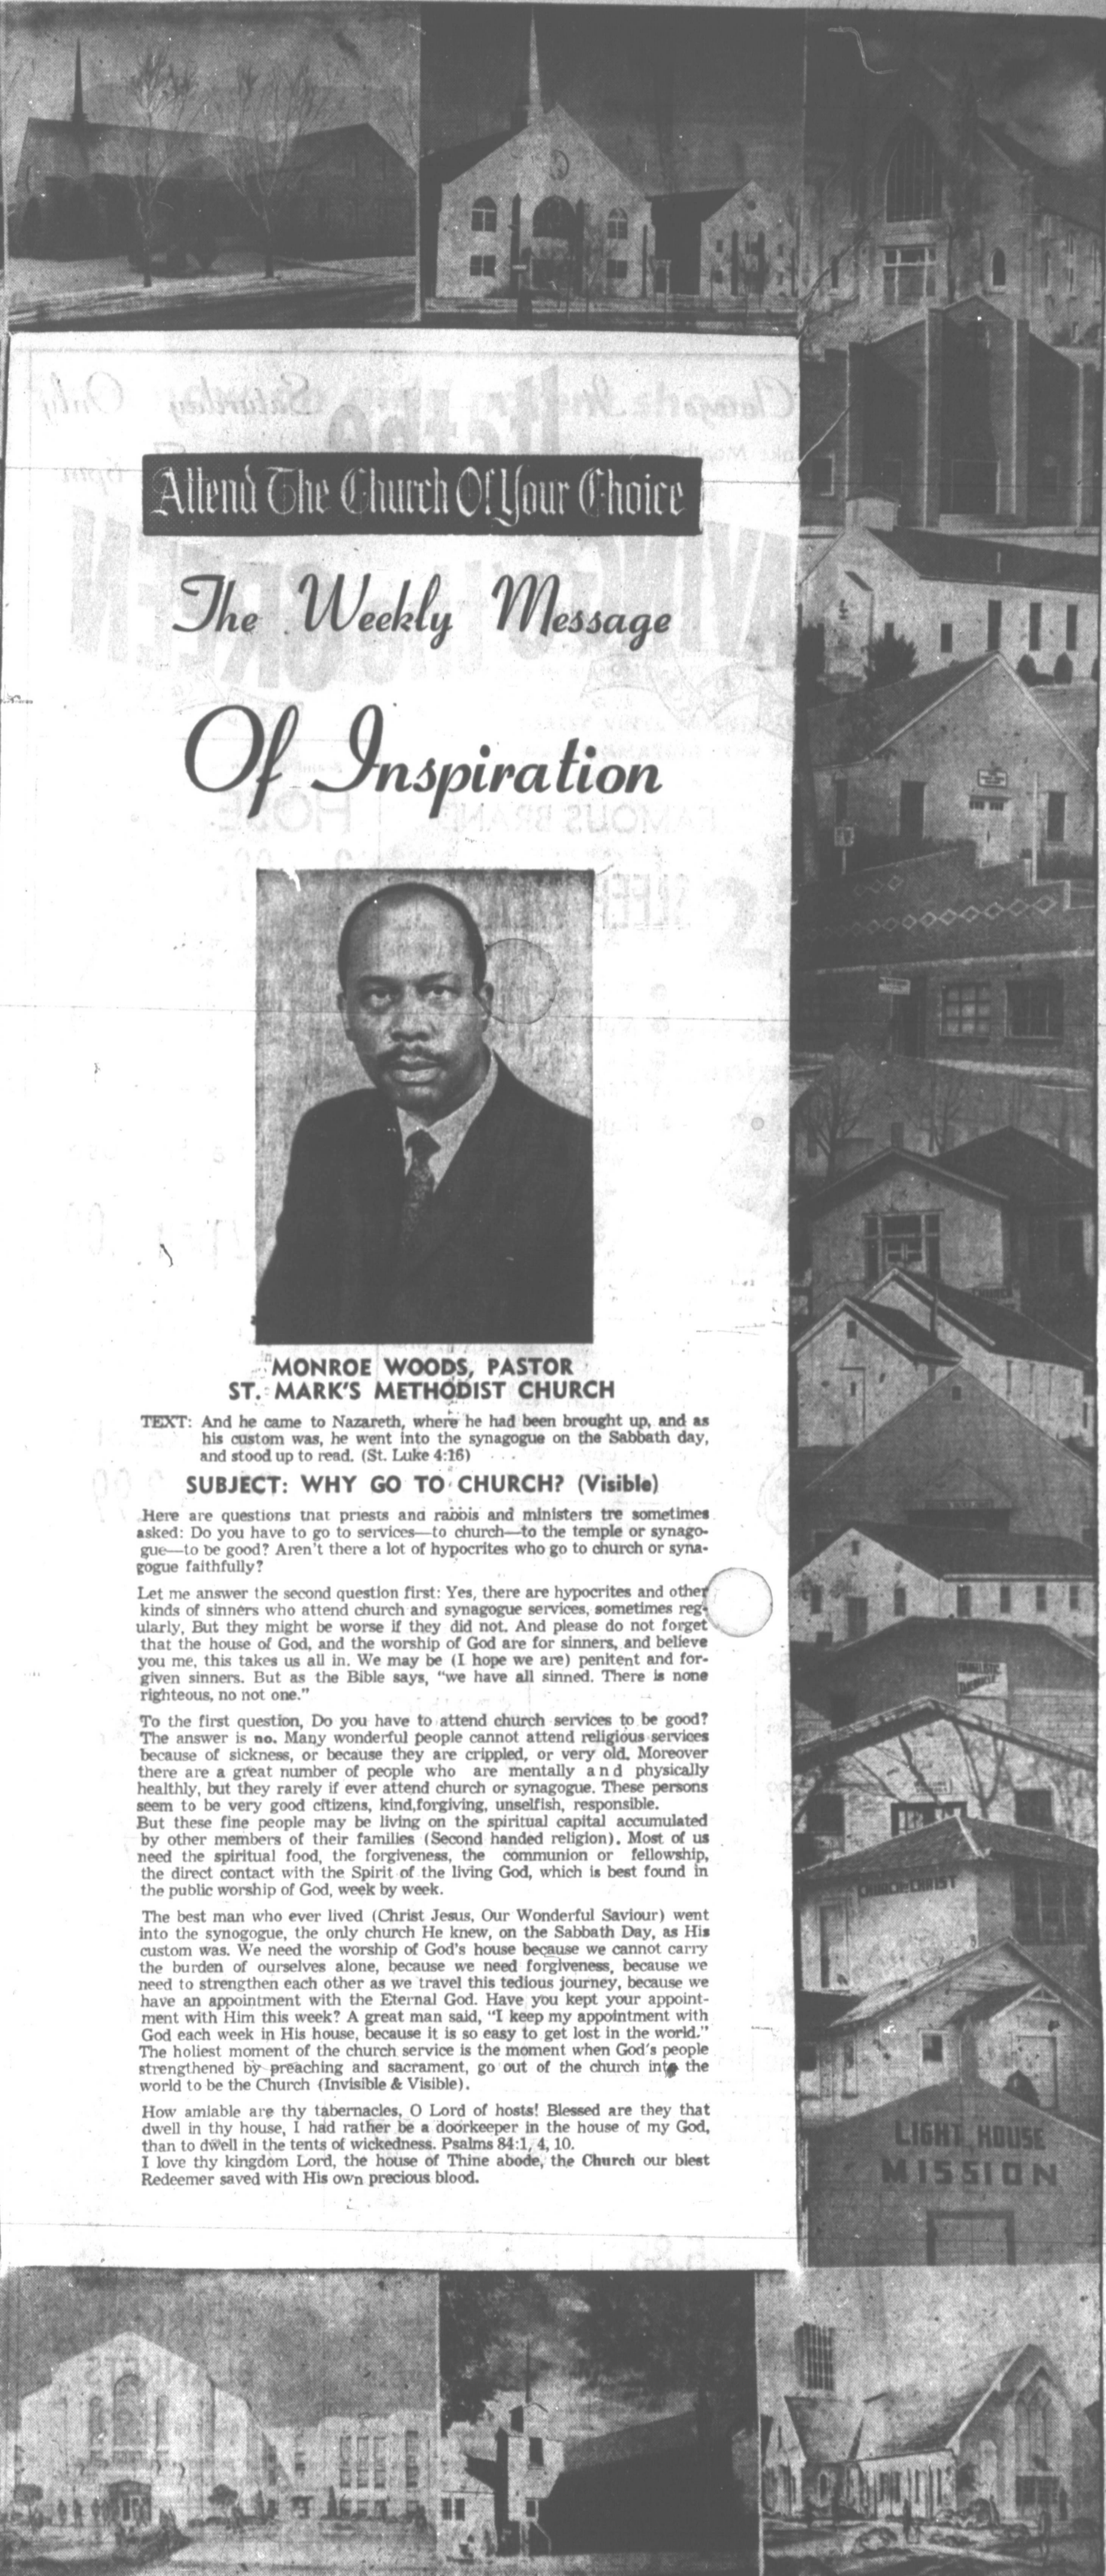

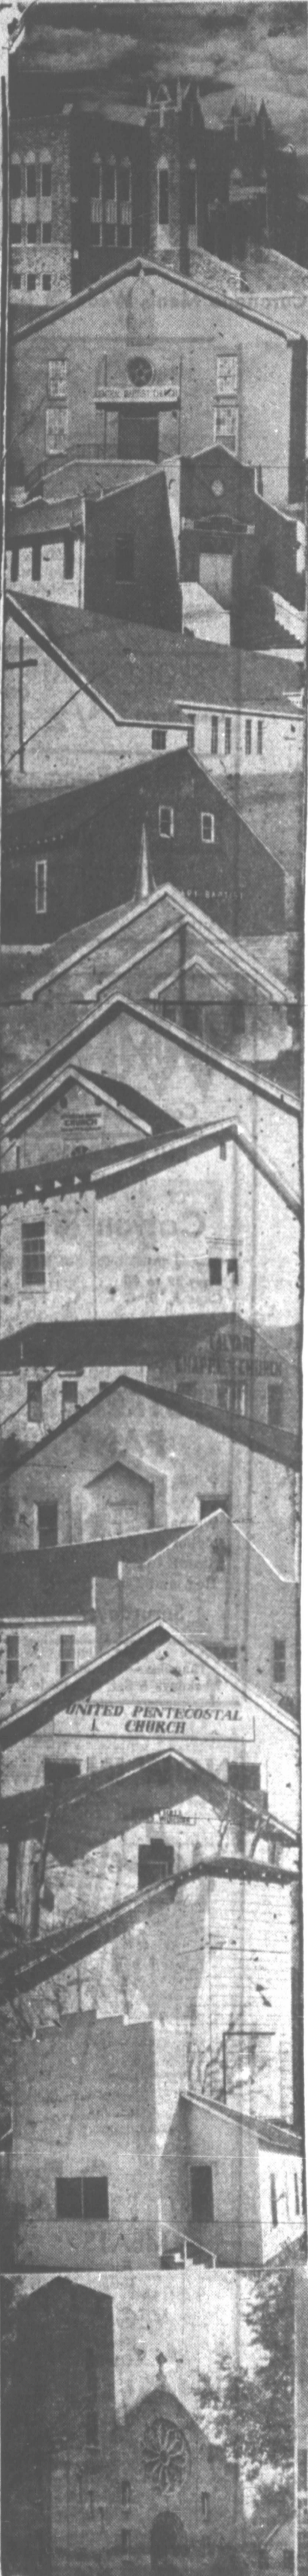

Let me answer the second question first: Yes, there are hypocrites and other kinds of sinners who attend church and synagogue services, sometimes regularly. But they might be worse if they did not. And please do not forget that the house of God, and the worship of God are for sinners, and believe you me, this takes us all in. We may be (I hope we are) penitent and forgiven sinners. But as the Bible says, "we have all sinned. There is none righteous, no not one."

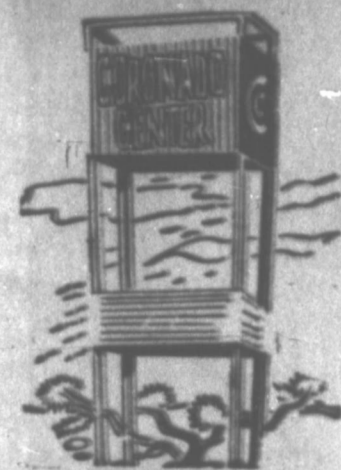

To the first question, Do you have to attend church services to be good? The answer is no. Many wonderful people cannot attend religious services because of sickness, or because they are crippled, or very old. Moreover there are a great number of people who are mentally and physically healthy, but they rarely if ever attend church or synagogue. These persons seem to be very good citizens, kind, forgiving, unselfish, responsible.

But these fine people may be living on the spiritual capital accumulated by other members of their families (Second handed religion). Most of us need the spiritual food, the forgiveness, the communion or fellowship, the direct contact with the Spirit of the living God, which is best found in the public worship of God, week by week.

The best man who ever lived (Christ Jesus, Our Wonderful Saviour) went into the synagogue, the only church He knew, on the Sabbath Day, as His custom was. We need the worship of God's house because we cannot carry the burden of ourselves alone, because we need forgiveness, because we need to strengthen each other as we travel this tedious journey, because we have an appointment with the Eternal God. Have you kept your appointment with Him this week? A great man said, "I keep my appointment with God each week in His house, because it is so easy to get lost in the world." The holiest moment of the church service is the moment when God's people strengthened by preaching and sacrament, go out of the church into the world to be the Church (Invisible & Visible).

How amiable are thy tabernacles, O Lord of hosts! Blessed are they that dwell in thy house, I had rather be a doorkeeper in the house of my God, than to dwell in the tents of wickedness. Psalms 84:1, 4, 10.
I love thy kingdom Lord, the house of Thine abode, the Church our blest Redeemer saved with His own precious blood.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Saigon, Detroit, Newark, Watts

There are well over two million people in Saigon. Yet it took only a few thousand enemy soldiers to disrupt the life of that city, terrorize its inhabitants, kill hundreds, destroy property worth millions.

It is clear that the appearance of the invaders did not set off the popular uprising expected. But even if one-half of one percent of the residents of the city had supported the Communist forces — ten thousand residents — let us say—that number was sufficient to cache major stores of arms and ammunition, to provide shelter and food, to guide the invaders to choice targets within the city.

After the riots in Detroit, Newark and Watts and other American cities last summer it was estimated that something like one-half of one percent of the residents took an active part in the riots. But that number was sufficient to do great property damage, and to destroy the morale of city residents. Confidence in government failed.

The lesson of Saigon is the same as the lesson of Detroit, Newark and Watts. The outpouring of money, into Vietnam, or into American cities, through programs designed to “relieve poverty” or to further “pacification”, will not make a difference. That path has been followed consistently both in Vietnam and the United States, without providing any relief. Still, we hear voices urging even more handouts in our country. It's suggested that the flow of dollars would equal the costs of the Vietnam war.

Those are the voices of people who have learned nothing from past mistakes. They are the voices which urge us to put all our effort into the “pacification” program in Vietnam, rather than into the military effort. They would inactivate our police and restrain them when riots start—but put the public treasury at the disposition of the riot leaders.

In Saigon, as in any American city, a fraction of one percent of the population can prove a great danger. But money will not buy them off. Nor is it certain that good intentions and good will are enough to soften their designs. In the last analysis, the city, the society, and the nation, must defend themselves. These are police and military functions. The officials we have elected must use them.

Don't Give Up the Ship

That sophisticated kind of diplomacy practiced by our State Department is pretty baffling to most of us. Maybe it is because we were raised on such slogans as: “Give me liberty or give me death!” and “Don't give up the ship!”

Let's take the latter. Apparently, as far as our State Department is concerned, Captain James Lawrence's ringing declaration is as dead as the Monroe Doctrine. At any rate we don't recall hearing anyone use it when the North Koreans brazenly captured the Pueblo some weeks ago.

The nearest to a ringing statement was a remark by Senator Mansfield to the effect that it maybe we ought to apologize to the North Koreans, even if we knew we were in the right. Such pragmatism might not have been understood by Captain Lawrence, but then things have changed since his time, the main change being that Mansfields and Fulbrights emerge as leaders, instead of Lawrences.

The most eloquent expression of the new diplomacy came from a “high” U.S. official, who insisted on anonymity, of course, and who reported that long negotiations with the North Koreans were in prospect, but that the United States was confident of persuading Soviet Russia to help in getting back the Pueblo and her crew.

“They may not be doing anything positively to help out,” said this official, “but they could have urged North Korea to be much harsher than they are acting now.”

If you have not waded this page of the paper into a ball in your clenched fist already, consider the same official's closing remark: “Don't get the idea that we're sure of having these boys home by Christmas.”

It would seem that the only chance these 82 boys have is that about 82,000,000 voters here at home indicate that they should be home before election day.

The business of going to the Soviets to ask them to intercede with the North Koreans is nothing more than asking the Kremlin to quote a price on ransoming them. Moscow's price will be high, and surely it quadrupled upon reading that resounding apologia quoted above.

Do you suppose we could trade 82 of our New Diplomats for the 82 men in uniform?

No Solution to Riots

Now that rains have been written, and thousands of words have poured out over the air waves about the report of the President's Commission on Civil Rights, the big pressure is on Congress to vote some more money.

Majorities of major cities and various others are threatening that unless there is more tax money forthcoming there will be more of the same civil strife in the cities. The threat is there that if Congress fails to come across in a big way, it will be the fault of Congress.

There are several things wrong with the idea that more civil rights legislation and more tax spending will create peace in the land. One of the first objections is that there is no money available, and the only way Congress can get any more money is to take it from the people, either with a direct tax or by floating some more of that irredeemable paper currency — inflation, the most cruel tax of all.

The people of the United States already are up in arms over ever-increasing tax bills, federal, state and local. They are disturbed over the fact that the federal government's inflationary program has eroded away a major part of the dollars they have left after taxes. They are not willing for the trend to continue.

In addition, an increasing number of people are beginning to see that government spending programs for poverty wars do not solve poverty and do not end the unrest among the people who are living at the poverty level. In fact, there is evidence that it just creates more unrest.

For years, government at all levels has been engaged in various and sundry programs which have been promised to produce a version of heaven on earth. But the results have not been forthcoming.

When the results fell short of expectations, the people decided that they have been cheated. Some of them started tearing the cities apart in their resentment, and they were stirred up by those who would destroy all that is good (and there is much) in America. Even the President's commission had this to say:

“Militant organizations, local and national, and individual agitators, who repeatedly forecast and called for violence, were active in the spring and summer of 1967. We believe that they sought to encourage violence, and they helped to create an atmosphere that contributed to the outbreak of disorder.”

But the political commission would “solve” the problem by having the tax payers put up an extra $32 billion a year, in a collection of government programs for schools, employment, housing and just about everything else the committee members could think of. One suggestion is another increase in the minimum wage law, which has

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

If Mother Nature has her way you won't have to go to the Mammoth Cave in Kentucky or even New Mexico's Carlsbad Caverns to see king-size stalactites for they will be a part of your sight-seeing during your next visit to the Lincoln Memorial in Washington. Just a few feet below the spot where thousands of visitors view the gigantic statue of Lincoln the icicle-like deposits of calcium carbonate, normally found in caves, are growing from the foundation ceiling and short stubby stalagmites rise a few inches from the foundation floor. To date Uncle Sam's detectives have been unable to give a definite reason for this natural phenomena, but they attribute it to the effect of atmospheric conditions on the marble flooring itself, the mortar used in its construction, or even the concrete forming the massive underground foundation in other words, they just don't know, but they have determined, however, that the stalactites grow about one inch a year, which is proof enough that the whole operation is government supervised.

Today's smile: A newlywed said to his bride: “It's quite evident that your mother has a low opinion of me.” “Whatever makes you think that?” asked his bride. “Those towels she gave us,” he said, “are marked ‘Hers’ and ‘His.’”

Thoughts while shaving? This year's political conventions will mark the 67th time the two major political parties have held their conclaves since 1832. At the previous 66 conventions 39 presidential nominations were made by acclamation, or on the first ballot, and of that number 20 were elected (12 Republicans and eight Democrats). There were 19 losers also nominated on the first ballot, including nine Democrats, seven Republicans and three Whigs. . . The quietest place on earth is an ultrasonically soundproof room at the Bell Telephone Laboratories in Murray Hill, N. J. Even a single heartbeat can break the silence there. This unusual room is used primarily by engineers for fundamental acoustical research to improve your telephone service. . . The next thing to publicize the campaign against cigarette smoking will be the U. S. Mail trucks. Very soon you'll see them bearing signs telling you that “100,000 doctors have quit smoking cigarettes. (Maybe they know something you don't know.)” A Southern Congressman says that estimate is based on a poll of 2,500 of the nation's 300,000 physicians. . . Joe Louis held the heavyweight boxing championship longer than any man in history. He was the No. 1 kingpin of the prize ring from June 22, 1937, when he kayoed Champ Jim Braddock in eight rounds, until March 1, 1949, when he abandoned the title. During that time Louis also established a record by defending his title 25 times. In our opinion most of today's pretenders to the vacant throne couldn't hold a job as Louis' sparring partner. . . The Memphis (Tenn.) COMMERCIAL APPEAL headlined a story: “The Eyes of Texas Are Upon Us.” You can say that again!

eliminated more jobs than all the government spending programs could provide even without financing the expensive bureaucracy it takes to run them.

If the politicians would get out of the way, it is possible the people could solve their own problems by getting down and digging. If the minimum wage laws were eliminated, there would be more jobs for the less skilled, who could be learning new skills to advance themselves. If industry and business were not bogged down with taxes on top of taxes, they could spend more money for more tools which make more jobs possible.

If individuals were not loaded down with ever higher taxes at all levels and were not required to pay higher prices for the products they buy because of the taxes which are passed on by the producers, they would have more money to spend on housing, cars and other products they need and want. This could result in ever increasing prosperity for all who want to work and do for themselves.

But the President's commission was made up of politically-oriented individuals, naturally. Their only solution was more of the same quack medicine which the politicians have been feeding the people for 40 years.

"I Will End the War!"

The Doctor Says

Bone Spurs Cause Pain When Pressing on Nerve

Q—I have arthritis of my spine. X-rays show bone spurs pressing on the spinal nerves. Would infrared light help me or is there a better treatment?

A—Bone spurs are found in most persons with arthritis of the spine. They cause no pain unless, as in your case, they press on a nerve. Heat in the form of infrared light, diathermy or an electric pad may give temporary relief but will not cure the condition. Most surgeons prefer a fusion operation that will relieve the pressure on the nerve and prevent movement of the spine. This gives the surgeon a chance to put your spine in the best position and prevents crippling deformity.

Q—I have a painful bone spur in my heel. Is it caused by a calcium deficiency? Will it get worse? What is the best treatment?

A—The causative factors include arthritis, age (over 50), overweight and poorly fitted shoes. It is not caused by a calcium deficiency but an accumulation of calcium at a point where the heel is subjected to continued trauma. It is not likely to grow larger unless the injury is repeated day after day. A similar spur in a location where it was not subjected to daily weight-bearing pressure could exist for years without you ever knowing you had it.

Most victims can be made comfortable by removing as many of the causative factors as possible and by padding to take the pressure off the tender spot. Only rarely is it necessary to remove the spur surgically. When this is done, the spur may form again if the factors that caused it in the first place have not been remedied.

Q—Is aspergillosis hereditary? One doctor told me that an infection must have existed before the onset of this disease. What did he mean? What is apical tuberculosis?

A—Aspergillosis is an infection with Aspergillus, a fungus found chiefly in birds. It is not hereditary. The Aspergillus spores are inhaled and cause a chronic bronchitis or pneumonia. Although the fungus is widespread it does not gain a foothold in the lungs unless the tissues are weakened by some other disease, such as tuberculosis. The disease is treated with the antibiotic, amphotericin B or by surgical removal of the diseased portion of the lung.

Apical tuberculosis is limited to the apex or upper tip of a lung.

The American Way

By D.R. SEGAL

Our Leader has riled some of our dependents around the world by suggesting a penalty to be exacted on U.S. tourists who stay abroad and spend too much money. He has, as I understand it, exempted Mexico, and maybe the other American republics, from his punishment; but they are afraid down south that it will spread and take in the Western Hemisphere, too.

Laws affecting the importation and exportation of goods and people are an industry. This is something you have to understand. Thousands of people make a living enforcing these laws, arguing about them, prosecuting them and defending against them. You can't begin to imagine the unemployment problem that would result if these laws were wiped off the books. All the immigration and customs people would have to join Vista or the Peace Corps or whatever outfit it is that trains buggy whip makers to be atomic scientists and similarly desirable employees.

The more insanely complicated the more people are required to help us go quietly nuts trying to understand it. And the more complicated the law, the greater the demand for lawyers, judges, bailiffs, jailers, marshals, accountants and lobbyists. You can make a serious mistake underestimating the importance of immigration and customs laws to our economy.

I cannot quite grasp the wisdom of this latest attempt to “halt the flow of American dollars” to foreign countries, inasmuch as it has been my impression that we are delivering U.S. dollars to our friends and allies as fast as our merchant marine union chooses to deliver them. When we read that the Republic of Euthanasia has been granted a billion dollar loan (and nobody ever dreams of repaying a loan) we wonder why we are admonished not to visit this place and leave any dollar bills behind. I sometimes wish I had paid more attention to that course in Economics 1-A during my freshman year.

Those of us who live on the border of another country, as I do, are continually amazed at the fine workings of the immigration and customs laws. Right now we are fussing about something called Green Carders—that is, Mexican nationals who hold a green card permitting them to work in this country. This has come to the attention of the labor unions and they have turned out the Kennedy Eoys to fight for our rights. They come down from Massachusetts and New York to set us free.

The green carder is supposed to be taking jobs away from citizens of the United States. Just how, we couldn't say. If the green carders didn't show up for work tomorrow, who would take their places? Would Ted send us some workers for our shrimp processing plants from Boston? Could Bobby send a hundred auto mechanics down from New York?

The only ray of sunshine is knowing that things are going so smashingly in New York and Massachusetts that the Kennedys can spare all that time to worry about us down here.

The American Way

I sort of thought Bobby might have helped out during the New York City garbage strike with some real keen suggestion, but no, he was pre-occupied with Mexicans working in Texas and the other border states.

If you want to win a saloon bet, offer odds that the solutions to our immigration and customs problems and our departing dollars are going to be worse than the diseases they set about curing. The only guaranteed result is that no matter what we do, we will have to hire a lot of people to see that, it's done. Think the politicians aren't smart? Some dumb!

Way back in the “olden days” I walked seven miles to and from school. My children never believed it. I finished the fourth grade with flying colors.

Being past sixty, and with that amount of formal education, you would think I would understand the traffic light system at North Hobart and Somerville streets.

I talked to City Engineer Wofford about it by telephone, and he told me all he knew and I “still don't know nothin’.” If you want to go straight ahead you must be in the right turn lane. If you happen to be in the green arrow lane you can go straight ahead, but it looks as though you were going under a red stop light. Anyhow, as I travel North Hobart often, that situation is driving me to aspirin.

Another thing to worry about, is that mini strike of the city employees. I would not pretend to understand the overall problems involved in their recent illness. I do hope that the City can do something to assure that the situation is well, before the hot weather sets in. Wonder if the employees figure that in July, for example, the garbage would not deepfreeze and might be more objectional. And in June, or the hot months, substitute labor is hard to come by.

Note in a newspaper that there is another worry, facing the world. It seems that the “PILL” is causing baldness in women who depend on it. So say I, “What about it?” I never saw a bald-head woman who was pregnant, anyhow.

The sanitation man at Lake Meredith says our lake is badly polluted. The lake artificial pollution could not be foreseen. However, it seems that the Amarillo creek situation and the emptying of other cities' sewage into the lake was mentioned some time past in the Pampa News. In fact, I just happen to have pictures with the yellowish green sewage emptying into the route that leads directly to the Lake.

Suppose we can wait for awhile before we have to worry about COG. That's the urban renewal deal that Amarillo is struggling with. But don't let us be smug about it. It may be on its way to Pampa.

HUNT FOR TRUTH

By H. L. HUNT

ROY AND DALE
 YFS has found new friends. During the closing days of the Houston Livestock Show, thousands unexpectedly received the YFS message. Hundreds took YFS information, 1401 Elm Street, Dallas, Texas, 75202, for setting up YFS chapters in their areas. Two famous patriotic artists voiced their approval and support for the movement.

The last four rodeo performances in the Astrodome set a new world's record for attendance of 125,000, as befitting the stars Roy Rogers and Dale Evans.

Both the “King and Queen of the Cowboys” are noted for their devotion to God and country. Their producer, Art Rush, said it would be impossible for them to say anything for YFS to their paid standing-room-only audience.

Dale met two frightened YFS speakers from the Houston chapter. Impressed and with deep emotion, she took them to their innermost souls and briefly paid them tribute.

The audience refrained from “amen,” but rose in unison and applauded thankfully. Roy objected, “These are what I like—not the ones who would not work if offered jobs.” This brought forth a renewed roar of approval from the record-setting audience.

In the three subsequent shows, Roy and Dale again paid their wholesome respect to YFS. Part of the great reception they continued to receive was homage to the two timid girls who had edged their way near enough that Dale could appraise and approve them. Wherever the YFS message is presented, it evokes the same thunderous applause from both concerned adults and patriotic young people.

The commercial is a short sales message about a product. It is put together by something called an ad agency, which is a creative force assembled to find new ways of linking sex to automobiles and detergent.

In between the commercials is the “show” which is frequently titled NYPO, or something quite like it. NYPO is usually divided into four acts. They are:

Act I—A Special Delivery agent is discovered lying in the bottom of a mail-sorting machine.

Act II—Mark Waters, a convict who often helps the postmaster general in these tough cases, deduces that the deceased was murdered.

Act III—He also discovers that the victim was canceled at 10:36 p.m.

Act IV—That reduces the list of suspects to the only one who could have done it. And he is thereupon arrested.

After watching new television seasons come and go, it has occurred to us that they are putting the wrong man in jail.

But if so, then who is guilty of suspects to the only one who have been over the list of suspects with a magnifying glass, and we cannot see how putting any or all of them away would solve the crime.

The advertising men we know hardly ever watch television, except to buy the spots for their commercials. A vice president of the hottest ad agency on Madison Avenue, just back from screening the new autumn lineup, told us:

“I don't see how I've lived through these two weeks.”

Doing away with commercial sponsorship doesn't seem to improve television entertainment, either. The Ford Foundation's Public Broadcast Laboratory — a Sunday night, non-commercial, high-priced show — attracts little more than one per cent of the viewing public.

Doing away with the network decision makers doesn't seem to work either.

In the first place, they have a responsibility to show a profit to the stockholders, who are everybody. And in the second place, the sale of television sets rises between 7 and 12 per cent annually.

In that regard, disposing of the client doesn't solve the problem of television entertainment either. One corporation we know allocates $40-million annually for television to keep its product selling, which in turn keeps 200,000 direct and indirect employees off the relief rolls.

So that leaves the television producers and writers. And you can't very well put them in jail — and certainly not now when Mission: Impossible is the front-running Sunday-night adventure show. In fact, we would not be surprised to see a new show next season in which the whole hour was devoted to drilling through walls and ceilings.

Well, if anybody has any ideas about how this matter can be resolved, our suggestion is that you keep it to yourself.

For our part, we have just about got a deal sewed up that will give us exclusive television rights to the authoritative files of the Post Office.

With Some Reservation

Farmers are in a vice. They are being thrown to the political wolves. The farm debt is going up faster than at any time since WW Uno. Interest rates too.

The trouble with the farmer is he's about the only one left in this country who still believes in working for a living. Everybody else has got the gimmies. And he is being forced to accept the same, little by little. He is being pushed out.

In 1960 there was 4 million farms. This year they will fall below 3 million. If we keep losing farms at that rate we are going to feel the “food gap” pretty quick and a lot of us will have wrinkles in our bellies.

In 1966 them gov't planners seduced the farmers into planting more so they could feed the world. But they didn't use it for that. They used it to bring prices down.

Corn has brought less than a dollar bushel and some as low as 50 cents. Everything else is about the same as far as markets go. One farmer made $19,000 in 1965, $14,000 in 1966 and $9,000 in 1967. Another one made $17,000 in 1966 but only $8,900 in 1967. You can't hardly call that a booming business.

If I was the farmers I would tell them planners to go fly a kite and quit turning the screw. It looks to me like if they didn't plant anything for a year, except maybe a garden, they wouldn't lose anymore than they're losing now.

see the market open up. They are going to have to start fighting the bureaucrats sometime. And it had better be soon. As long as the farmers in this country have been singled out to do the starving they might as well take the rest of us along with them.

They have got the power to do it. And they ought to start throwing some of it around. Meanwhile Elbee Jay's plan calls for protection against “fraud in the marketplace.”

Fred — Smith certainly is a foxy fellow. He's drawn up his will in such a way that the lawyers can't get more out of it than his own heirs.

Ted — How's that?

Fred — Why, he left his fortune to one of the best lawyers in the country, provided he saw to it that the other half went to Smith's children intact.

Samuel F. B. Morse was an eminent painter before he invented telegraphy. He painted a scene showing a man in death-agony once, and asked a physician friend to examine it.

Mr. Morse (after the doctor had scrutinized the picture) — Well? What's your opinion?

The physician removed his spectacles, turned to Morse and commented:

Doctor Blank — Malaria!

HERE ARE THE CONVICTIONS

THAT LED TO

OUR BELIEF IN A UNIVERSAL SINGLE STANDARD OF RIGHT

Open To Challenge
See last paragraph

Before stating our belief in a universal single standard of right we want to make it clear that we invite questions on this belief. And, if we cannot answer without evasion or contradictions, we are not worthy of your confidence and will admit our error and change our belief.

Want Information

We believe that most of our political trouble comes from putting confidence in persons who continue to advocate government economic planning even though they can neither rationally answer questions about what they advocate, nor find anyone who can.

We know of no better way to learn and develop, and thus be able to be useful, than have our convictions questioned either privately or publicly.

The Pampa Daily News believes in a system of universal natural law.

It is our belief that every fact of existence—if it is a fact—is immutable, irrevocable and eternal.

That is — we believe that moral facts are no less concrete and timeless than physical facts. The law of gravity does not change with seasons; atomic behavior is not subject to the good intentions of man. For physical facts are not capable of change; else they would not be facts.

And so we believe it is with moral facts, which stem from the same source as physical laws.

Let's take two facts, one physical and one moral.

1. Water seeks its level.
 2. Stealing is wrong.
- It is commonly accepted that the first fact is not subject to amendment. A change in political administration, a vote of the people, a petition of the Society of Learned Mathematicians of the World cannot change it. It exists as a fact.

The second law, we believe, is no more subject to amendment than the first. The majority might wink at it, try to reconcile it with some base or unsound conviction. But that does not affect the law — only the people who must live by it. Jumping out of a five-story building to flout the law of gravity will hardly bring about a suspension of that law. Neither will disregarding moral law bring about its abolition.

Guide To Morality

Now, we have outlined our convictions in fundamental moral law, or fact.

Next, it is incumbent upon us to state a single universal law or fact as we believe it:

Persons, groups and governments ought not threaten to initiate force or use it to attain their ends. This would certainly mean, Thou shalt not steal individually or collectively. If no person or group stole, there would be no murder, no false witness, no adultery.

To express the belief positively, all individuals or groups should get what they get in a manner that would be profitable to all. Then all would respect the private property of others 100%. That would be true liberty and voluntarism.

That is our interpretation of the Declaration of Independence. This is the universal single standard of right we use as our measuring device of morality — a yardstick of ethics.

- Thus we believe:
1. That every man is born with equal unalienable rights to take moral action to make more secure his property which includes first his life, then his liberty and all he produces.
 2. That these rights are the endowment of the Creator and not the gift of any government.

Since we believe these facts are expressed in this guide of human conduct, we do not believe any man has the moral right to curtail the rights of his brother. That is, no man has the right to initiate force against his brother. Every man, to be sure, has the right to resist the initiation of force, but should not initiate it.

In all of recorded history, men have banded together for certain reasons — to hunt, to play, to trade, to build. In a voluntary association, such as the one that publishes this newspaper, each man exercises his rights through the group. BUT, simply because each man is the member of a group, he cannot morally assume rights he did not possess as an individual. And, neither does the group possess rights which the individuals in that group do not possess as individuals.

An example—John Doe is a shoe salesman. He does not have a right to sell shoes at gunpoint. Even, if 10,000 John Does in the shoe business form an organization, that organization does not have the right to sell shoes at gunpoint.

Rights and morality are individual matters. These moral laws do not make exceptions for groups. They do not say, "Thou shalt not steal except at the desire of the majority." They say, "Thou shalt not steal." Period. And a man's association with a group does not relieve him of the burden of these laws.

We believe, therefore, in a single standard of conduct. Thomas Jefferson stated the matter. He wrote: "I know of but one code of morality, whether it be for men or for nations."

Immanuel Kant, another great student of morals, in his "Metaphysics of Morals" wrote: "... I ask myself only: Can I will that my maxim become a universal law?"

Single Standard of Conduct

Our belief in a single standard of conduct, and in the existence of individual rights, and in the fact of universal natural law, brings us to oppose all things in which an individual or group seeks to initiate force — that is, curtail the rights of any other individual or group.

We must oppose each brand of socialism, whether it is called Communism, Fascism, Fabian Socialism, New Dealism or New Frontierism.

We oppose socialism in factories, schools, churches and in the market place.

We do not believe there is any such animal as "good political socialism," either on a local, national or international scale. We do not believe in initiating force for any reason, even though the cause is a "good" one.

We believe it is violating the rights of the individual to force him to support a school, church, industry, business or profession if he does not choose to do so.

Two men out of a hundred have no moral right to force the 98 to support a school or church. Neither do the 98 have the moral right to force the remaining two men to support that school or church.

If that belief is contrary to the above standards we want to be convinced. Repeatedly we have offered as much as $1,000 to prominent persons who advocate using collective initiated force to examine publicly the morality of using such force where each person would agree to answer questions as he would before a court. We earnestly seek to be shown any errors in our reasoning.

If six, 26 or 6,000,000 individuals voluntarily get together to establish a church, school, business or club—and if those people do not curtail the rights of anyone inside or outside their own group — we have no argument with them.

The majority cannot write moral law. Neither can the minority. But, neither does the majority enjoy any moral advantages denied the minority, or the individual.

We believe, therefore, in a voluntary supported government. The state, at best, exercises those powers which the individuals in that state voluntarily have turned over to the state for administration. An example: We prefer a private police force because we'd rather support a police force than wear a gun. But if some do not want to support a police force, they should not be forced to do so. Nor should they receive its services. The police force should have no powers denied any individual, and neither should the existence of a police force abridge the right of any citizen to defend himself.

We do not believe the state has any rights simply because it is a state.

Governments should exist only to try to protect the rights of EVERY individual — not to redistribute the property, manipulate the economy or establish the pattern of a society.

These are the basic elements in our belief and of our editorial convictions.

Regrettably, we do not always follow this principle. We fall into error. Our humility perhaps, is not sufficient to the effort. But it is our belief to the degree a universal single standard of right is followed you will have a deeper understanding of your religion, greater freedom and security and more happiness and a higher standard of living. This belief will also benefit every person in the community, the state, the nation and the world. That is the reason it is our belief.

Television In Review

HOLLYWOOD—(UPI) — The sweet smell of possible long-term television success is bringing back to the home screen next season numerous stars who once had their own series, and want to try again. Phyllis Diller, who last season had an unsuccessful show about a wealthy family that went broke, will return to the weekly grind with an hour variety series. She will be trying to do what the Smothers Brothers did — overcome a past situation comedy failure with a song-and-comedy series.

Then there is Martin Milner, who formerly costarred with George Maharis in "Route 66," and now will be coming back in "Adam-12," a show portraying the experiences of two squad car policemen in Los Angeles. Darren McGavin, will be returning in "The Outsider," as a private investigator. In the past he starred as Mike Hammer in the Mickey Spillane series, and in "Riverboat."

One upcoming series, "Name of the Game," which concerns a vast publishing empire, will star three actors who have had series of their own. One is Gene Barry, who starred as "Bat Masterson" and in "Burke's Law." Another is Tony Franciosa, who had a short-lived show called "Valentine's Day." And the third, and probably best known, is Robert Stack, who of course gained considerable fame as Elliot Ness in "The Untouchables."

Another new series, "Land of the Giants"—a science fiction entry—has Gary Conway, also formerly of "Burke's Law," as its headliner. The new show concerns seven passengers on a space ship which is thrown into a land in which everything is mammoth and they are tiny by comparison.

Tough Laws On Minors Drinking Recommended

AUSTIN (UPI) — Minors in the state of Texas will likely find it more difficult to buy alcoholic beverages as a result of a liquor law revision study now underway by a special House committee.

The committee, headed by state Rep. R. H. Cory of Victoria, has heard suggested revisions from both "wet" and "dry" groups, and the suggestions have one common idea — strengthen the laws dealing with sales to minors.

Cory's committee has scheduled one more public meeting Monday to hear recommendations from the attorney general's office, then the five-man group will begin working on actual proposed revisions.

Two groups which appeared before the committee meeting Monday expressed opposite views on liquor by the drink, but agreed on needed legislation regarding minors.

The "Citizens Committee for Tourism and Regulated Sale of Mixed Drinks" favored legalized liquor by the drink, but recommended that the committee provide punishment for any adult who purchases liquor for a minor.

It also suggested that express punishment be set out for a minor found in possession of alcoholic beverages, and that punishment be set out for any person who sells alcoholic beverages to a minor.

The committee also called for stronger laws against driving while intoxicated.

The Texas Alcohol Narcotics Education, Inc. (TANE) said it is "unalterably opposed" to liquor by the drink, but agreed that stronger legislation is needed to keep alcohol away from minors.

Unsold Cannot Sell Short and Earn Lew

By United Press International

If Wes Unseld is ever going to get a chance to meet Lew Alcindor in a head-to-head duel in the collegiate ranks, he's going to have to best Elvin Hayes tonight.

Hayes and Unseld, the 6-foot-8 All-American from Houston and Louisville, were rated about equal at the start of the season. But while Louisville was losing six of its first 14 games, Houston was romping to a perfect season and turning in a stunning 71-69 upset of UCLA at the Astrodome.

Hayes scored 39 against

UCLA and the sparkling effort made him the player of the year over Alcindor. The performance made Hayes the most talked about player in collegiate basketball this year and Unseld faded into near obscurity even though the Cardinals rallied to win the Missouri Valley crown. Now Unseld gets his chance to get back into the spotlight tonight when Louisville meets Houston at Wichita, Kan., in one of the eight NCAA quarter-final games around the nation. The winner of the Louisville-Houston game will be heavily favored to beat the Kansas State-TCU victor and advance to the semifinals next Friday night against UCLA.

UCLA is expected to breeze

ELVIN HAYES, Houston's All-America forward, will lead the Cougars into a game with Wesley Unseld and Louisville tonight in the Midwest NCAA tournament at Wichita, Kansas.

St. Peters Not Saved by One

NEW YORK (UPI)—Elnardo Webster returned home a year too late to save the St. Peter's College basketball team its most embarrassing moment in history but just in time to bury the memory.

The 6-foot-5-inch Webster was not a student at St. Peter's last year when the Peacocks were humiliated by Southern Illinois in the opening round of the National Invitation Tournament. He was attending Wharton Junior College in Houston at the time and scoring points at a record clip.

Had the Peacocks had Webster last season, they might have avoided the humiliation at the hands of the Salukis. As it is, the high leaping forward did what he could to cover up the memory of that debacle Thursday night by scoring 51 points while helping the Peacocks defeat Marshall 102-93 in double overtime in the first game of the 1968 NIT.

In sparking the Peacocks to their first victory in four appearances in the NIT, the native of Jersey City, N.J., established a single game field goal record of 23, breaking the previous mark of 21 set by George Mikan of DePaul in 1945.

Not even Duke's methodical 97-81 victory over Oklahoma City in the second game of the opening round doubleheader could take anything away from the magnificent play of Webster. The crowd of 17,602 at Madison Square Garden gave the St. Peter's star a rousing ovation when he entered the arena to watch the nightcap.

Injuns Beat Giants By One

The Cleveland Indians beat the San Francisco Giants 9-8 for the second straight time on Chico Salmon's run-scoring single. Willie Smith collected four hits for the Indians, who blew a 6-0 lead after seven innings.

Lou Johnson, the ex-Los Angeles Dodger, capped the Chicago Cubs' three-run sixth inning in a 6-4 triumph over the California Angels with a run-producing triple. Don Mincher belted three hits for the Angels.

Hank Aaron finally picked up his first hit of the spring—a double to drive home two runs—as the Atlanta Braves topped the New York Yankees 7-3 behind a 14-hit attack. Ken Johnson, Cecil Upshaw and Ed Rakow combined to limit the Yanks to eight hits.

through the West regionals at Albuquerque by beating New Mexico State tonight and the New Mexico-Santa Clara victor on Saturday night.

Louisville also was aiming for a shot at UCLA a year ago when the NCAA finals were played in Louisville. But the Cardinals were upset by SMU in the Midwest regionals.

This time Louisville is the underdog and everyone is already talking about the drama of a UCLA-Houston rematch. Put coach John Dromo, claiming he may put Unseld on Hayes for a direct confrontation, claims the Cardinals "feel we can beat anybody" after surging in the second half of the season.

Also, Houston isn't as strong as it was during the regular season since guard George Reynolds is ineligible for the tourney. Also, Louisville played a stronger schedule than Houston did during the season.

St. Bonnie

The most interesting pair of regional games tonight will be at Raleigh, N.C. where North Carolina meets St. Bonaventure and Columbia battles Davidson. Both games should be close all the way.

If Davidson and North Carolina both win, it'd set up quite a grudge match during the regular season since North Carolina doesn't schedule its intrastate rival. But both St. Bonaventure and Columbia have been playing superb ball and could win if they can overcome the disadvantage of playing before a hostile crowd.

In the other regional at Lexington, Ky., Kentucky has the home court advantage and that should be the key factor. Coach Adolph Rupp's team meets Marquette tonight while Ohio State meets East Tennessee State in the other clash.

The Finals

The winners of the four regionals advance to the NCAA semi-finals and finals next weekend at the Los Angeles Sports Arena—where UCLA will have the advantage of the hometown crowd.

The 31st NIT opened on a dramatic note Thursday night when St. Peter's took two overtimes to edge Marshall 102-93. Duke romped past Oklahoma City 97-81. Duke and St. Peter's now will play Monday night in a quarter-final game.

Kansas meets Temple and Villanova plays Wyoming in two more first round games Friday night with four games set Saturday including the nationally televised Army-Notre Dame meeting.

Elnardo Webster scored 51 points—two short of George Mikan's NIT record set in 1945—to pace St. Peter's to the victory. Webster, who scored 23 field goals in the two overtime periods.

St. Peter's trailed by 15 in the first half but utilized a press against the erratic, sloppy ball-handling Marshall team to catch up in the second half.

Duke roled to a 49-28 halftime lead and then coasted to the victory over Oklahoma City as coach Vic Bubas poured in the subs. Mike Lewis collected 22 for the winners.

In the NCAA college division finals at Evansville, Ind. tonight, it'll be Kentucky Wesleyan vs. Indiana State. Kentucky Wesleyan beat Ashland 45-32 and Indiana State topped Trinity (Tex.) 77-67 in the semi-finals. LIU, the top-rated small college team, bypassed this tourney to take an NIT bid.

Nicklaus, Barber Lead in Florida Golf

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus complains that he's having trouble with a new driver he's trying out. If he ever gets the hang of it, the rest of the golf pros are the ones who'll be in trouble.

The blond bomber, swinging a 13-pound club 130-pound Gardner Dickinson has been using, missed eight fairways in Thursday's opening round of the Florida Citrus Open—and still wound up in a tie for the lead with Miller Barber at 5-under-par 67.

"This new driver is a lot heavier than I'm used to," said Nicklaus, "but I'm going to keep fiddling around 'till I find the right one."

Nicklaus and Barber, a 36-year-old Texan who won the Oklahoma City Open last year in a playoff, went into today's second round of the $115,000 tournament with a shaky one-stroke lead over five contenders.

In a logjam at 4-under-par 68 were left handed New Zealander Bob Charles; Australian Bruce Devlin who feels he should have been several strokes lower; Dean Beman, Don Massengale and Tom Weiskopf.

Just one stroke back were Bert Yancey, John Lotz, Bob Murphy and Lee Trevino as 44 of the 144 entries battered par Thursday despite brisk winds and colder-than-normal temperatures.

Harvesters Go To Oklahoma

The Pampa Harvester baseball team journeyed to Anadarko, Okla., to face that city's high school team today at 4 p.m. with the Pampans looking for victory number four of the young season.

The Harvesters also meet that team tomorrow there in a double header starting at 1 p.m. It is located 100 miles on the other side of Elk City. It's 110 miles from here to Anadarko.

Dan Carlton is supposed to start on the mound today, but Fran McGahn may relieve, if a fire starts. Alan Woodard will start the first game of the double header and Dick Henley will go on the mound in the second game for Pampa.

UCLA Goes At New Mexico

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI)

—Defending NCAA champion UCLA opens defense of its title tonight against New Mexico State and defense-minded New Mexico University meet Santa Clara in the opening round of the Far West Regional playoffs.

The winners of tonight's games collide for the regional crown Saturday night, with the winner advancing to the national finals next week in Los Angeles.

Coach John Wooden's Bruins are seeking their fourth NCAA championship in five years, are overwhelming favorites to breeze through the regionals for a possible rematch in Los Angeles against top-ranked Houston, the only team to beat UCLA this season.

The Bruins return every member of last year's starting lineup with guard Mike Warren and Lucius Allen and forwards Lynn Shackelford and Mike Lynn joining the 7-1½ Lev Alcindor.

But UCLA cannot afford to take New Mexico State lightly—a team which is noted for its unexpected wins over nationally ranked opponents.

"We're not ready to rule out a win over UCLA," said Aggie Coach Lew Henson, who in two short years has brought his team from the depths to national recognition in two consecutive NCAA regional playoffs.

Former Champ Goes in Semis

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)

Former champion and third-seeded Central State of Ohio battles sixth-seeded Westminster (Pa.) tonight in the first semi-final game of the 31st Annual National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) basketball championships.

In the second game Oshkosh State of Wisconsin and Fairmont State of West Virginia clash in a battle of the unranked for a berth in the finals.

Central State blasted Central Washington 66-47 in Thursday's quarterfinals behind a 27 point performance by Clarence Lane.

The Marauders, now 27-4, played it cautious in the early going as neither team scored for the first 5:48 of the first period. But then, Chris Buchanan hit a field goal for the Ohio team and seconds later, the Wildcats countered with a score.

That was it for Central Washington however, as the 1965 champs capitalized on 53.3 field goal shooting and were never in danger.

Central Washington finished the season with a 22-8 mark.

Westminster, despite a 32-point surge by Russell Boston and 31 points by teammate Michael Drespling, had a harder time of it in gaining a 92-84 victory over Eastern Michigan.

Fairmont State slipped by Dickinson State (N.D.) 86-81 to gain its semi-final berth.

In the wildest game of the night, Oshkosh State of Wisconsin edged Drury (Mo.) 57-55 on Ron Hayek's in close shot with four seconds remaining.

Raiders, Blanda Share Glory

NEW YORK (UPI)

—The champion Oakland Raiders and their reserve quarterback George Blanda shared 1967 American Football League scoring honors, it was officially announced today.

Oakland, which ranked only sixth in team scoring in 1966, captured the title last season with 468 points, the second highest total in AFL history.

The record is 513 set by Houston in 1961. Kansas City finished second with 408 points followed by New York with 371.

Blanda, with 116 points, finished eight ahead of runnerup Jan Stenerud, the Kansas City Chiefs' kicking star, and became the first player in AFL history to win the scoring crown solely on the efforts of his kicking.

In addition to relieving starting quarterback Daryle Lamonica, Blanda also served as the Raiders' place kicker, booting 56 conversion and 20 field goals for his 116 points. Blanda led in the extra point department while Stenerud kicked the most field goals, connecting on 21 of 36 attempts.

Don't Let 'Em Kid You... Marijuana Not Harmless

LAREDO (UPI) — Oran Pugh has chased marijuana smugglers 16 years. "After four or five years, they are not nearly as sharp as they used to be," Pugh said. "It must affect their brain cells. Twelve or 14 years ago, I knew a plumber with a prison record. He told me he could not get up in the morning without a marijuana cigarette. He smoked two or three more marijuana cigarettes through the day. He now has become a little morose, a little bit of an imbecile. There is only one reason he has done that. It's the marijuana. Pugh's men have arrested a record 220 persons and seized 2,000 pounds of marijuana so far this year at Laredo, one of the major narcotics smuggling gateways from Mexico. That figures out to around 2 million cigarettes, not considering the stems that had to be removed from some of the marijuana. Last Monday, customs agents caught a Texas Wesleyan College student and two former students of other colleges on the International Bridge with two pounds and 12 ounces of marijuana. The same day, customs agents arrested two Mexicans on the Roma Bridge who were trying to smuggle 300 pounds of marijuana into the United States. Monday's catches represent two of the worst features of the modern marijuana traffic: the increasing number of students and dropouts involved and smugglers who try to bring across hundreds of pounds. "They don't consider the chances they are taking," Pugh said of the students. "They are in a kind of rebellion but they are damaging their health and minds. A mature man will never get connected with anything like this. But a lot of today's youth apparently are not mature enough to consider the consequences." Pugh said that 70 per cent of the smugglers his men catch bear all the signs of youth in rebellion—long hair, beards in the case of men, queer-looking clothes. The remaining 30 per cent have hair cuts and are shaved. They look like businessmen, which is what they are. They bring the stuff across to sell it. The students and dropouts risk prison to smoke it. "It is alarming, the increase in arrests," Pugh said. "It's discouraging. I wonder what has become of our youth."

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Oppenheimer, Newborg & Neu comments that despite the market's sharp recovery from new lows in recent sessions, "the basic economic and political environment remains unchanged." The possibility of an increase in troops in Vietnam, inaction on a tax increase and the prospect of wartime economic restrictions all serve as market depressants, the company adds.

Bache & Co. says the Dow Jones industrial Average seems to be getting set for a drive on the 850 zone and adds that a move through this level would have "favorable technical implications." The investment firm says it feels the market could be headed for "calmer" times in the near future and adds that it "would not be surprised" to see additional recovery efforts through the rest of the year.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

While North Korean and United States representatives exchange insults at Panmunjom, the 82 surviving crewmen of the USS Pueblo moulder in captivity somewhere in North Korea.

There has been no suggestion that their release is anywhere near imminent.

On the contrary there have been suggestions that the affair could drag on for months.

The United States position has been difficult from the start. Now it seeks alternatives.

Some Change

Although real negotiations seem to have progressed little beyond the stage of charge and counter-charge, both sides have indicated some change of position through propaganda broadcasts and other unofficial exchanges.

When the North Koreans seized the Pueblo on Jan. 23 off the North Korean coast near the port of Wonsan, Secretary of State Dean Rusk advised them to "cool it," and said "There can be no satisfactory result short of prompt . . . release of that ship and its officers and crew."

Among more hawk-like congressmen there was a demand that the United States blast its way into the port to release ship and crew.

On their side, the North Koreans declared "these cri-

FRANCO PLOT

VITORIA, Spain (UPI)—Spanish police today held 17 persons, including three Roman Catholic priests, suspected of participating in a movement to overthrow the regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco. Police said some of the suspects were accused of machine gun holdups of a provincial bank.

Accusations Fly

Both sides accused the other of aggression.

The North Koreans hinted in broadcasts that they might consider leniency for the Pueblo's crew in exchange for a U.S. apology.

The advantage lies with the North Koreans since they have possession of both ship and crew and since the United States obviously does not wish a war now in both Southeast and Northeast Asia.

The question now is, should the United States apologize, for the sake of its 82 men, for something it may not have done.

Washington Window

By WILLIAM THEIS
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Take U.S. troops from Europe for the Vietnam War? It's an attractive compromise for some who support President Johnson's Vietnam policy, but it would not mute growing antescalation demands in Congress.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a former Air Force secretary who has become increasingly concerned about the military drain of Vietnam, failure of European allies to help, and the balance of payments crisis, recently put it to the Senate bluntly:

If President Johnson is to decide to send more American forces to Vietnam, Symington said, send the "already trained men we have in Europe rather than hastily trained youth from this country."

Symington served notice he would attempt to see that no more money is provided by Congress than would support more than one American

Presidential Commission Says US Is Moving Toward Two Societies

The Crisis in our Cities
X The Choice

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The presidential commission which investigated racial rioting in urban ghettos had this to say about the choice which now confronts America:

"Our nation is moving toward two societies, one black, one white—separate and unequal . . ."

"Continuation of present policies has ominous consequences for our society. The share of the nation's resources now allocated to programs for the disadvantaged is insufficient to arrest the deterioration of life in central city ghettos."

"Under such conditions, a rising proportion of Negroes may come to see in the deprivation and segregation they experience, a justification for violent protest, or for extending support to now isolated extremists who advocate civil disruption."

"Large-scale and continuing violence could result, followed by white retaliation, and, ultimately, the separation of the two communities in a garrison state."

"This deepening racial division is not inevitable. The

WRONG MOVE

CARDIFF, Wales (UPI)—Lawrence Steer, an ex-convict who jumped bail in 1965 and went into hiding to avoid being returned to prison on firearms charges, needn't have bothered. A blanket pardon for such offenses was in effect, and he would have been released.

Steer, visibly aged by worry, gave himself up last week. On Monday, a judge gave him a two-month suspended jail term and ordered him to pay the $120 he forfeited when he failed to appear in court three years ago.

Patrons Must Pay Tax On Mixed Drinks

AUSTIN (UPI)—Texas private club patrons must pay state and local sales taxes on mixed drinks and in some cases on the gratuities that are added to their bills, comptroller Robert S. Calvert says.

Despite pressure from club operators, Calvert refused to back down from his December ruling that drinks are subject to state and local sales taxes.

In a new ruling issued this week, Calvert gave in only on one type of gratuity. He said gratuities are taxable unless they are paid "directly to the employes performing the services."

Calvert's first ruling precipitated a storm of protest from club owners who contended that under Texas law, clubs do not sell liquor, but merely charge a fee for serving a member his own liquor. They said sales taxes could not be assessed for such a service.

The club operators' main complaint, however, was the assessment of sales taxes on the 10 or 15 per cent gratuity or service charge added to the bill by many clubs.

They said such gratuities should be tax exempt, whether they go to the club or the employes.

Calvert agreed to examine that question. His men surveyed some 300 clubs and Calvert said they found some that pass the service charges to employes and others that retain the money in the club treasury.

He declined to say which practice was the more common.

As a result of the survey, Calvert amended his ruling to exempt gratuities that go to club employes.

The new order says "the gross receipts subject to the sales tax will include the receipts from all sales including sales of meals, non-exempt food products, mixes, ice and drinks as well as receipts for all services which are a part of such sales, including any charges made by the organization for gratuities as a part of its service costs."

The ruling is retroactive to Jan. 1, Calvert said.

Editor Lauds Optimization

Optimization is indebted to Dick Nichols, Editor of the Pasadena News Citizen. Mr. Nichols has just completed the Optimization Speed Reading Course and is writing about it in his Pasadena Parade column. Here are excerpts from his April 2, 1966, column.

A stranger coming in to the Optimization class at 8:30 p.m. last Wednesday night would have flipped . . . over and over.

Said the Teacher:

"Your assignment this week is to read two books in 30 minutes and repeat this four times, for a total of eight books."

"By then you should really have some speed built up, and your other assignment is to read six books in one hour, ten minutes per book."

Now, this isn't nearly as rough an assignment as it might seem, and despite the skeptics, it can be done the way they've taught us to do it.

If you're a new reader, you need to know that we have put this tired but well-oiled old mind in the Optimization Speed Reading class out at San Jacinto College.

Before we started, we listened to so many skeptics, we nearly backed out, thinking there couldn't be much to the course. A person can read just so fast, we were told, and that's that.

Two questions come often. What's the trick? Why don't they teach this in high school if it's so great?

There's no single "trick" but there's emphasis on eliminating bad habits, on widening the span, on thinking ahead and on learning not to "vocalize," even with your mind but rather to see something and transmit it directly into the "awareness box" in your brain. How it's done is a long story and one that would not make any sense unless you had come along with us to this point in the class.

I believe I have figured how the instructors are working us. They are forcing us to use more of our brain-power than we have used in years, and taught us to read at speeds, several times above our capability.

Then when we slow down to, say three or four times our beginning speed, it's so easy we want to kick ourselves.

First night I clocked in at 571 words per minute, which I later learned isn't so terribly slow for a first night. Comprehension, based on a test, was 70 per cent.

At the end of the eighth week, on the final test, my comprehension was at 70 per cent and my net reading speed, after counting off for the 30 per cent of the questions I couldn't answer, was about 11,000 words per minute.

But the increase in speed, no matter what it is, is very helpful for people who need to absorb lots of information in a hurry, and it helps in the speed and enjoyment of anything you read for pure pleasure.

Speed Reading Class For Pampa

Dr. Cecil Mullins, renowned Texas Educational Psychologist, states that the faster you read the more you comprehend. "Fifteen years ago," he continued, "I become intrigued with the tremendous possibilities of the human mind. I found that by teaching students to read with greater speed and concentration I was able to make them read books in as little as fifteen minutes with better comprehension than they would ever have been able to in 8 to 10 hours. It didn't matter whether the books were fiction, history, or of a technical nature. A doctor can devour medical books, a lawyer legal matter, etc., at unprecedented and often unbelievable speeds."

The Optimization Speed Reading Course

My guess is that it has already quadrupled the number of things I'm able to read in a week's time, and makes daily mail sorting a snap.

Anyway, it's a ball, and it's helpful, too.

The Optimization method has been producing reading speeds of several thousand words per minute for ten years and has drawn praises and comments from educators and businessmen in every state of the union and many foreign countries. During recent years Optimization has developed to the point where it offers a written money back guarantee of 1000 words per minute and one book an hour to each of its students.

"To the best of my knowledge, Optimization is the only method in the world which offers such a guarantee," said Dr. Mullins, the inventor of the technique.

The course is taught in 8 2 hour sessions, usually meeting once a week for 8 weeks.

Optimization accepts all students 13 years old or older. It is not unusual to have grandparents and grandchildren sitting next to each other in the same class.

"One of the secrets of our success," Dr. Mullins said, "is that we are firmly committed to the principles that learning proceeds best, only when the students are enjoying themselves. In our class most of the students have a ball from beginning to end — and along the way, they become the best readers anywhere."

The accomplishments of some of Optimization's previous students sound like something out of science fiction. One 13-year-old lad read books for his public school assignments in 6 to 10 minutes. His grades have jumped from barely passing to straight A's and B's after taking the course.

An older ex-student, a 35-year-old public school teacher, had made less than average grades in his undergraduate university work. He went back for graduate studies after developing, through Optimization, the ability to read an average nonfiction book in 10 to 15 minutes. His first semester at Texas University where he was awarded straight A's and a chance for a scholarship.

These are just two of many reports from teachers, doctors, lawyers, and other business and professional men who find that each day has progressively more reading to be done and fewer minutes to do it.

"I know the results sound incredible," Dr. Mullins said, "but we have a standing offer wherever Optimization is taught for anyone who is undecided to come to our first meeting free of any obligation, to see for himself what the course will be like. And our guarantee is absolutely firm."

Bill Miles, director of Optimization will conduct classes in Pampa and invites anyone who may be interested to attend one of the first classes — free of obligation.
