Legal Problem Averted Compromise Reached On Paving Program

Following a compromise reached late yesterday between the City of Pampa and the Fort Worth & Denver Ry. Co., the City Commission today closed a public hearing on the 1968 street improvement program and passed an ordinance authorizing the paving of approximately 75 blocks in the city's residential district.

The go-ahead signal was given after Mayor Jim Nation talked with counsel for the railroad and agreement was reached to drop two of the paving units on streets where Fort Worth & Denver property was involved.

Streets deleted from the program included S. Somerville from the south property line of Ford to the south property line of Brown, and Finley from the north property line of Crawford to the south property line of Albert.

The railroad at last Friday's public hearing had protested paving assessments on those two streets and also protested assessments for paving Thut from Somerville to Russell and Clark from Crawford to Albert. In yesterday's agreement, the railroad agreed to remove its protest from the latter two streets if Somerville and Finley streets were dropped from the program.

The action was taken immediately by the council on the two units, thereby canceling out paving assessments totaling $6,786.60 against the railroad. Assessments for the two units allowed to remain in the program, in which railroad property was involved, totaled $2,921.25.

Approximately 35 other property owners in addition to the Fort Worth & Denver were involved in cancellation of the paving on S. Somerville and Finley Sts.

Mayor Nation said the compromise was made to remove the possibility of the entire $500,000 summer paving project being thrown into lengthy court litigation.

Between 500 and 600 property owners are involved on streets

Freeman Set To Endorse Hubert

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's undeclared campaign for the presidency was in line for a boost today from a longtime friend, Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman.

Freeman promised a statement today on "a subject of current interest" and sources said it would be an open endorsement of Humphrey, who is expected to formally enter the race for the Democratic presidential nomination Saturday.

An endorsement by Freeman, a friend of Humphrey's since their college days, would be the second by an incumbent Cabinet member.

Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz declared his support for the vice president in a Florida speech April 4.

to be paved this summer. Texas Security Corp., the city's financial agent for the summer project, began today obtaining property owner signatures.

Streets with 100 per cent sign-ups will be the first to be paved. The fiscal agency has three or four field men working and has an office in City Hall where property owners may sign.

Applicants For Superintendent Are Interviewed

The Pampa school board will meet Wednesday and Friday to interview school superintendent applicants, and also plan to attend the annual workshop of the Texas Association of School Boards at West Texas State University in Canyon Thursday.

John Gikas, board president, said trustees will "also meet again next week, but since not all of the board has been notified, the meeting date is not set.

"We haven't cut anybody out of the applications and still have 32 available for the job," Gikas said.

Trustees planning to attend the one-day conference at WTSU are Gikas, Warren Hassee, John Spearman, and Dr. R.M. Hampton. Jimmy Thompson will not be able to attend.

McHenry Lane, curriculum coordinator and acting school superintendent until his retirement May 31, also plans to attend the conference.

Dr. W. M. Stoker, head of the department of educational administration, is conference coordinator. About 250 school board members and superintendents from the Panhandle area are expected for the Thursday workshop scheduled to start at 3 p.m. in WTSU's Student Union building. Before section meetings, Herbert O. Willborn, member of the state board of education, will speak. General theme is "New Directions for Our Public Schools."

Six topics to be discussed in section meetings are school program, school finance, administration, staff-board and community board relations and school board procedures and practices.

CoC Drive's 1st Check-In Wednesday

The first "waterhole check-in" for the Pampa Chamber of Commerce membership drive will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Corral (Chamber office), according to Roy Sparkman, chairman of the drive.

The membership drive was launched yesterday at a kick-off luncheon at the Coronado Inn. The membership drive features a western motif of "round-up." Sixty volunteer "wranglers" under "trail boss" Roy Sparkman have set a goal of $42,000 to be raised in the round-up.

Directors of the Chamber are serving as foremen with crews of three wranglers each. Incentive prizes have been planned for the top three crews and prizes will be given to the wrangler and the "drag rider" team.

The Coronado Inn was decorated for the first "round-up" session yesterday with bales of hay, saddles, ropes and other western regalia.

Services May Need Another 100,000 Men

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey believes the Pentagon will have to add another 100,000 men to the quarter million inductions planned for fiscal 1969 if the Vietnam war does not end.

The Defense Department budgeted a draft of 240,000 in the 12 months starting next July 1, Hershey told Congress, but according to projections based on experience in fiscal 1968, the total may actually go up to 340,000 if the war continues. Hershey said in his testimony to a House appropriations subcommittee and released Monday, that 285,000 men were originally scheduled for drafting in fiscal 1968 but a total of 345,000 will actually have been called up by June 30.

"That 285,000 resulted in 345,000," Hershey said. "Therefore, when I get 240,000 on my figures, it will take another 100,000."

"If the war gets over, everything is gone. But if the war doesn't get over, I have to think of the worst, because the best I can always live with."

He said inductions ran higher than projected because of the rate of rejection of inductees and because enlistments were lower than anticipated.

Hershey's testimony was released as the Defense Department announced a June draft of 29,500 men and revised the May call upward from 44,000 to 45,900 men.

The added 1,900 will go to the Marine Corps, the second month in a row men have been inducted for that service. Prior to April, no Marines had been drafted for two years.

Top 10 Students Are Named In 'Honors' Program

Nell Duncan was named valedictorian and Stephen C. Walls salutatorian in the annual Pampa High School Honors Night program Monday. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Duncan and Mrs. Lorita Walls.

Miss Duncan's average is 96.73 and Walls' is 96.40 for the spring semester of 1966-67 and fall semester of 1967-68.

The other top eight students named were Sherry White, Renee Secret, Susie Abernathy, Betha Lee Stubbe, Rosalee Franke, Pam Thomas, George Bailey and Steven R. (Will) Walls.

The valedictorian and salutatorian received flowers last night in recognition of their scholastic standings and will make their final speeches at graduation, May 27 in the PHS fieldhouse.

Dr. A. B. Martin, president of Amarillo College, was guest speaker at the honors program. Cameron Marsh, PHS principal, and Weldon Trice, assistant principal, presented certificates to the top 10 and to 141 honor students in each academic subject.

Others on the program were Mrs. Elaine Ledbetter, master of ceremonies; Howard Graham, invocation; The Stringfolk, music; and McHenry Lane, introduction of speaker.

Twisters Can Hit In A Hurry, So... BE READY!

By JEFF HOLLADAY
Daily News Staff Writer
It can happen in minutes.

In Greenwood, Ark., last Friday it was a hot, muggy, leaden day.

A tornado alert was out for parts of Oklahoma and Arkansas.

But the first warning that a tornado existed near the town was issued only two minutes before it struck.

Minutes later, half the town of Greenwood (pop. 2,000) was smashed and 12 persons were dead.

It could happen here. Pampa Civil Defense Director Bill Leonard warned today.

"This is the tornado season and tornadoes are fickle."

"We usually know where they are or in what general area they are likely to strike. But sometimes one can form unexpectedly and strike an area without warning."

Tornadoes happen most frequently in this area from March until September, Leonard said, but they can occur any place at any time.

Tornado weather is usually hot, sticky days with southerly winds and a threatening, ominous sky. Thunderstorm clouds often appear greenish-black and may appear to be bulging down instead of up. Rain and hail frequently precede the tornado and it is often followed by a heavy downpour of rain.

Tornadoes occur mostly between 3-7 p.m. but they have occurred at all hours.

They usually move from the southwest. The path of a tornado is from 10 to 40 miles (the average length is 16 miles). But they may move up to 300 miles.

"Twisters," as they are sometimes called, usually travel about 25-40 mph. Average width of the tornado's swath is 400 yards but may extend up to a mile. Wind speed within the tornado may be as high as 500 mph.

Leonard said a cardinal rule was NOT to telephone civil defense, police or the weather bureau during the hours of an alert, but to get information from newspapers, radio and television.

Weather alerts give an extra margin of time to prepare, but "twisters" may still strike rapidly and unexpectedly.

The safest place to be is in a cave or a storm cellar. The state division of defense and disaster relief offers these (See TWISTERS, Page 3)

Choppers Rescue Trapped Platoon

By JACK WALSH
SAIGON (UPI) — A handful of GIs fought off about 500 Communists for eight hours until American armor and air power rescued them during battling Monday to save Saigon from a new guerrilla invasion, military spokesmen said.

The trapped platoon, caught half a mile from Army 9th Infantry Division headquarters, left 49 dead Communists behind when they managed to scramble into helicopters and get away. Spokesmen said U.S. and government forces killed 164 Viet Cong in the battling on the capital's outskirts.

In the air, a third F111A Swingwing, supersonic jet was lost Monday night as U.S. pilots flew 155 missions against the supply lines running through North Vietnam's southern panhandle. American spokesmen said they believe the jet fell in Thailand "due to unknown causes." Hanoi radio claimed three U.S. planes—none of them F111As—were shot down in the raiding.

Fighting Near Saigon
In South Vietnam, Communist forces struck up and down the country. But the heaviest fighting raged in the Saigon area where, according to police interrogators, Viet Cong saboteurs caught in the capital said a major Communist strike against the city is expected on May 1—the worldwide worker-man's holiday that is the Red's red-letter day.

In the Mekong Delta, allied troops killed 115 Viet Cong 22 miles below Saigon. Military intelligence said units of three Communist divisions are within striking distance of Saigon. The trapped platoon of the 9th Infantry was out to find them when caught 14 miles southwest of the city.

The Viet Cong's North Vietnamese-led 265th battalion pinned them down with mortar, machinegun and rocket fire. A U.S. Army platoon has 44 men, according to the book; in Vietnam the number is usually less. The streams of Red fire killed six of the platoon and wounded 12 more Americans.

Viet Cong Retreat
At last the Viet Cong picked up the dead they could carry and hurried away. The fighting around Saigon reached to within 10 miles of the city limits. But the drive to block a repeat of the 10 day battle in the city during the Communists' February Tet lunar new year offensive swept into Saigon.

Flying squads of white-uniformed national Police raided whole blocks in search of arms (See SAIGON, Page 3)

Council Appoints Three On Board Of Equalization

Three members of last year's city tax equalization board were reappointed by the city commission today to serve during the 1968 tax year.

R. M. Samples, L. L. Sosa and George Scott were scheduled to be sworn in today or tomorrow by City Secretary Stanley Chittenden.

As soon as the board is organized, City Tax Assessor-Collector Aubrey Jones said today he will present it with the tax assessor's list of personal and real property valuations for the current year.

The board will then meet to study the lists and books and examine them for equalization. At that time the equalization board approves and adjusts tax values. It has the authority to raise or lower the assessor's figures.

In event a valuation is increased, property owners will be notified and a public hearing will be held.

The commission received bids today on sanitation equipment to be purchased for the city's new garbage and trash collection system. Bids submitted by nine firms will be considered and contract awards will be made at the next regular council meeting.

In other business the board approved payment of Pampa's share for the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority project. (See COUNCIL, Page 3)

Two Held After Chase By Police

An 18-year-old youth and a 17-year-old youth were being held in city jail today after they were charged last night with illegal possession of alcoholic beverages.

The two were apprehended af-chase through Pampa streets. Several city patrol units and a Highway Patrol unit finally stopped the youths.

The two were signaled to stop for a traffic violation but apparently tried to outrun officers because of having beer in the car.

Board Says 10 Million Americans Hungry

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A sharply critical of the Agriculture Department, which supervises the two principal government food programs—distribution of surplus commodities and food stamps.

Its report noted that on July 12 Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman testified that he was "powerless to do more" about feeding America's poor, but only 123 days earlier he had turned back to the Treasury $200 million which had been available "to buy food for feeding the hungry."

Millions of Americans are suffering from malnutrition and diseases arising from malnutrition as the "consequences of a political and economic system that spends billions to limit production...to guarantee and sustain profits for the producer," the board charged.

It called a "myth" the belief that persons who are really poor have access to food through the government's programs. "Only 5.4 million of the more than 29 million poor participate in these two government programs and the majority of those participating are not the poorest of the poor," the board said.

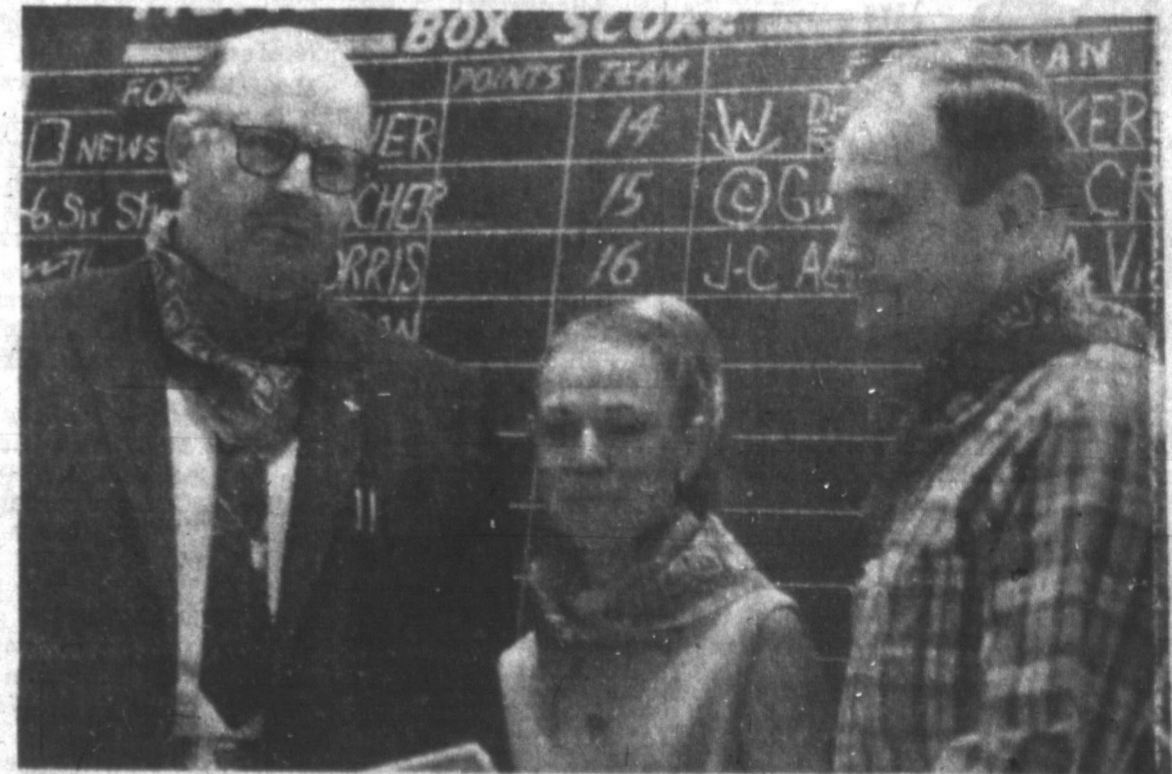

The board, headed by Benjamin E. Mays, president emeritus of Morehouse College in Atlanta, Ga., and Leslie W. Dunbar, executive director of the Field Foundation of New York, was created last July after a Senate subcommittee heard testimony from six doctors of cases of starvation in Mississippi.

The board said its estimate of 10 million hungry Americans is "conservative" and "in all likelihood a substantially higher number" suffer from malnutrition.

The board's principal recommendation called for a free food stamp program. It said the present program of selling food stamps so they can be converted in stores for approximately 60 per cent more food than their cost would buy was unsatisfactory. Its testimony showed that many of the poor cannot afford even the price of food stamps, the board said.

The 20 states which the board said contain emergency areas are Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia.

SURVIVOR RELEASED

WINDHOEK, South West Africa (UPI)—Thomas Taylor of Tahlequah, Okla., a survivor of Saturday's crash of a South African Airways jetliner, will be released from a hospital in a few days, officials said today. Experts from the Boeing Aircraft Co. were due to check over the wreckage of the Boeing 707 in which 122 persons were killed. The plane had been in service only 17 days.

Methodist, Evangelical Merger Set This Week

DALLAS (UPI) — A group once known for its "circuit rider ministers" will merge this week with one started by a Pennsylvania tilemaker-farmer, creating a new denomination of some 12 million members. The historic joining of the Methodist and Evangelical United Brethren (EUB) churches, though loaded with technical details, is expected to produce heated discussions on subjects ranging from race and Vietnam to smoking and drinking by ministers.

There actually are four conferences scheduled through May 4 resulting in "Christendom's ecumenical fact." Million Overseas First will come separate meetings of the EUB and Methodist conferences; then a uniting conference, followed by the first general conference of the New United Methodist Church.

The new denomination will have about 11 million members in the United States and nearly 1 million overseas.

This also marks the first instance of organic union of two of the participants in the consultation on church union, in which 10 denominations are discussing coming together.

Among the fireworks is the expected seating of presidential contender George Wallace, a former Alabama governor, who is an official Methodist delegate.

Eliminate Segregation Not questioning the right of Wallace to be elected, sit or speak as a delegate, the Methodist magazine "World Outlook" asked recently, "who will take seriously our lack of racism when the foremost political symbol of racism in this nation sits in our general conference as an elected delegate?"

Elimination of racial segregation is an announced objective in the plan of union and the Central (Negro) Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church is to be eliminated.

1972 Target Date

A target date of 1972 has been set for merger of the remaining Negro and overlapping white conferences.

The merger meeting began Sunday night with a special uniting service at the Dallas Memorial Auditorium.

Czech 'Happening' Is New In Communist World

By WELLINGTON LONG PRAGUE (UPI)—What is happening in Czechoslovakia today is something new to the Communist world—it is a move toward democratization of the country, and by Communists.

Czechs themselves recognize the uniqueness of the current political upheaval. As Eduard Goldstuecker, new head of the Writers' Union, puts it, this is "the first time any Communist party has tried to synthesize itself with democracy."

It is in every sense a political happening. The main players are working without a script, and no one is sure what course the action will take or where it will end.

The facts are that the Communist party's old Stalinist leadership, after 20 years in power, has been overthrown in a bloodless revolution and that the new regime promises a "democratization" of the country. But it is to be democratization within strictly defined limits. The leading role of the Communist party in ruling the country, say the new bosses, may not be placed in question.

Question Remains

What remains to be seen is whether that Communist line can be held.

Alexander Dubcek, the party's new first secretary, has said the leadership "could not channel the events of the last three months into a predetermined framework. . . It could open the door to the process and put itself in its van, but it could not map out its progress in a planned way. The wide and spontaneous activity of the masses, headed by the Communists, was the peculiar feature of this process."

"If I were a Russian," admits Josef Smrkovsky, rewarded with the presidency of Parliament for his role in toppling the Stalinists, "I would be uneasy about what is happening here."

"The party," warns former party chief and President Antonin Novotny, "is no longer firmly in control. The negative forces in the country are activating themselves. The rehabilitation campaign has acquired proportions that cannot fail to harm the party."

But Novotny, last of the Stalinists, must be counted as a hostile witness since his dethronement as first secretary of the Communist party and as head of state.

The events that have led Czechoslovakia to this condition will be ranked in history on the same level as the proclamation of the republic 50 years ago this October, by declaration of Thomas G. Masaryk and Eduard Benes, the republic's temporary destruction by Nazi Germany 30 years ago, and the assumption of total power by the Communists 20 years ago.

The nation Masaryk called into being was a narrow land, almost squeezed flat between Poland on the north and Austria and Hungary on the south, stretching from Germany in the west to the Soviet Ukrainian border in the east.

The animosity of the various peoples forming the new state seemed to doom it from the start. The two largest groups, the Czechs and the Slovaks, got along only with difficulty, and there was constant conflict among the Polish, Ukrainian and Hungarian minorities. Most serious of all, as it proved Masaryk and his chief lieutenant, Benes, were unable to come to terms with the huge block of Germans living within the new state's borders.

Nazis Pounced

All of Czechoslovakia's neighbors were greedy. Twenty years after it was fouged with such high hopes, the state was torn apart. Germany annexed the Sudetenland, occupied Bohemia set up a puppet regime in Slovakia and threw a few crumbs of territory to Hungary.

Reagan Film To Be Shown Here

A film of a recent Ronald Reagan speech will be shown at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Hospitality Room of the Citizens Bank and Trust Company.

Mrs. G.M. McDaniel of Borger, chairman of the Panhandle section of Texans for Ronald Reagan committee, will introduce the film and deliver a short talk afterwards.

The film was recorded at a recent speech given by Reagan at a $100 a plate dinner at the Rice Hotel in Houston.

The public has been invited to attend.

'Rosencrantz' Honored As Best Play

By JACK GAVER UPI Drama Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—"Rosencrantz and Guildenstern are Dead" was honored as the best play and "Hallelujah, Baby!" as the best musical when the Broadway theater's 1968 Tony Awards were presented Sunday night at the Shubert Theater.

Britisher Tom Stoppard's variation on the "Hamlet" theme topped three other nominees—"Joe Egg" by Peter Nichols, "Plaza Suite" by Neil Simon and "The Price" by Arthur Miller.

"Hallelujah, Baby!" scored over "The Happy Time," "How Now, Dow Jones" and "Iliya Darling." The winner closed several weeks ago after a financially unsuccessful run.

Top acting honors in the dramatic field went to Martin Balsam of "You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running" and to Australia's Zoe Caldwell of "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie."

Winners of the silver medallions for starring roles in musicals were Robert Goulet of "The Happy Time" and (a tie) Leslie Uggams of "Hallelujah, Baby!" and Patricia Routledge of "Daring of the Day."

Productions between Feb. 18, 1967 and March 19, 1968 were eligible for nominations made by a committee of drama critics upon which approximately 500 persons connected with the stage voted.

"Hallelujah, Baby!" received the most awards, four. "Rosencrantz and Guildenstern are Dead" received three, as did "The Happy Time."

Special awards for services to the theater were given to Audrey Hepburn, Carol Channing, Pearl Bailey, David Merrick, Maurice Chevalier, Marlene Dietrich and the Phoenix Repertory Company.

The results were revealed on a telecast on the NBC network.

No Massive Expansion In Aid To Cities Is Expected

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Senior Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson probably won't seek —and Congress almost certainly won't approve —the massive expansion of urban programs urged by the National Commission on Civil Disorders.

That's the conclusion of a UPI reporting team assigned to investigate the prospects for action this year on the antiriot panel's recommendations for relieving poverty and frustration in Negro ghettos.

The outlook could change if there was a strong public demand for enactment of the commission's proposals and the substantial tax increase that could be necessary to finance them.

Some members of the antiriot commission headed by Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois, want to reconvene soon to canvass what might be done to rally public support for the two-dozen major proposals outlined in its 425-page report.

Need Backing
But even these members concede there's not much they can do without all-out backing from the White House. And at present, that does not seem to be in the cards.

President Johnson has indicated, both publicly and privately, that he sees no point in placing additional proposals before Congress until it acts on the requests he has already made for expansion of job, housing and urban improvement programs.

Shortly after the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the White House announced plans for the President to address a joint meeting of Congress. But that address, first scheduled for April 8, has been postponed indefinitely and may be quietly forgotten.

Administration officials and congressional leaders agree that money is the problem. The cost of the Vietnam War has plunged the federal budget deep in the red, and Congress is demanding sharp cuts in domestic spending before it will enact a tax increase.

Talk Of Saving
"Lawmakers aren't interested in new ways to spend money," reports Frank Eleazer, chief of the UPI House staff. "They're talking about ways to save it."

One reason the open housing bill was passed last week, Eleazer says, is that many congressmen viewed it as "one piece of legislation that might help cool it in the cities—and wouldn't cost anything."

"For most members, that was enough to ease the conscience," he adds. "As recently as April 11, before quitting for a 10-day Easter recess, the House reaffirmed its refusal to put up $75 million extra for summer jobs in the ghetto and $25 million extra for the Head Start preschool program."

The mood is not much different on the Senate side of the Capitol, according to UPI correspondent Patrick J. Sloyan: When the Senate earlier this month approved the 10 per cent income surtax sought by the administration, he notes, it attached a rider requiring a $6 billion cut in the federal spending proposed in President Johnson's budget in January.

Exempt Public Works
"The Senate specifically exempted public works projects—

the 'pork barrel'—from the spending cut," he says. "But it rejected a move to exempt antipoverty and urban programs from cuts."

As President Johnson has pointed out several times, the Kerner commission proposals mainly differ only in degree from his own legislative program now before Congress.

Both the President and the commission favor expansion of federal efforts to provide job opportunities, decent housing and adequate education for the disadvantaged people of the ghetto. The commission report, however, goes considerably beyond anything the administration has asked.

Take housing for example. President Johnson in his budget message to Congress last January proposed that the government underwrite construction of 6 million housing units for low and middle income families within the next 10 years, with the first 300,000 units to be completed during 1969.

The Kerner commission called for 6 million units in 5 years, with 600,000 ready in the coming year.

Housing Officials Skeptical
UPI correspondent James L. Srodes found great skepticism among federal housing officials, construction industry spokesmen and union leaders as to whether manpower, materials and mortgage money are available to sustain a building effort as large as that envisioned by the commission, even if Congress was willing to vote the necessary appropriations.

Srodes says Robert C. Weaver, secretary of Housing and Urban Development, is convinced the administration's goal of 6 million units over 10 years represents "the maximum feasible program."

To carry it out would cost about $10 billion in federal aid funds over the next 5 years, he notes, and "so far Congress has not been noticeably eager to appropriate the first time."

The situation is similar with respect to job programs. In his January budget message, Johnson sought an increase of $42 million in federal funds for job training, placement and other services designed to combat hard-core unemployment.

$2.1 Billion Total
That would bring the total federal outlay for such programs to $2.1 billion a year, and would provide job training or work experience for about 1.3 million persons.

The Kerner commission called for creation of 2 million new jobs over the next three years. It said 1 million should be created directly by the government—hiring people for public service work such as cleaning up slums.

The other 1 million would be created by private industry, with the government subsidizing a large part of the cost of hiring and training hitherto-unemployable workers.

The commission called for sweeping improvements in welfare programs and the quality of education available to ghetto children.

It proposed an increase in welfare payments, with the federal government carrying a bigger share of the cost; more more

THE LIGHTER SIDE Wall Street Dovish?

By DICK WEST WASHINGTON (UPI)—What would you say is the most dovish group in America? Folk singers? Pediatricians? Student supporters of Sen. McCarthy? The Joint Chiefs of Staff? Wrong on all counts! Judging from what has been happening in the stock market lately, that distinction belongs to Wall Streeters.

President Johnson's announcement of a bombing curtailment in Vietnam set the bulls off and winging. With each subsequent move toward negotiations, real or fancied, stock prices have gone up, up and away.

Show me a blue chips investor trying to consolidate his capital gains position and I'll show you a latent peacenik.

Strange Company I hardly know what to make of this except to say that peace feelers make strange bedfellows. If J.P. Morgan were alive today, he might be photographed at a congressional hearing with Dr. Spock on his knee.

Any time now I expect to see the nation's largest brokerage firm change its name to Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner, Smith & the Smothers Brothers.

Or hear Joan Baez entertain at a Berkeley peace rally by singing "What's good for the Dow-Jones average is good for the U.S.A."

Should peace talks between Washington and Hanoi fail to materialize, the market presumably would plummet. In that event, the next band of pickets to appear at the White House probably would be mutual fund buyers.

The situation could create a demand for an entire new crop of protest buttons and bumper stickers: "Make dividends—not war."

Corner On Clinkers Another group of test subjects consumed up to a pound and a half of pure fat daily. Scientists concluded this level of fat could be fed to individuals "engaged in extensive physical activity, without undesirable effects."

Fat May Be In Diet Of Astronauts (UPI)—Space travelers of the future may find their diet packed with one of the foods most often shunned at today's table—ordinary fat.

So, at least, say researchers at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) Ames Research Center in Mountain View, Calif. They point to studies conducted with healthy male volunteers, ages 21 to 45, to back up their claim.

"Because of its high calorie density and low weight and volume compared with other foods, fat may be a principal nutrient for long space trips," NASA spokesman said.

In one experiment, where the test subjects remained relatively inactive, scientists found up to half the total calories the men got in their food could take the form of fat.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have a strange problem for age 14. While babysitting one night, a man called and asked for my employer. I told him she would be quite late, but I would give her his message. He started talking to me and we got into a rather interesting conversation. Then he asked if he could come over. At first I said I didn't think it would be right, but he talked and talked and finally talked me into it. He is nice looking and about my father's age.

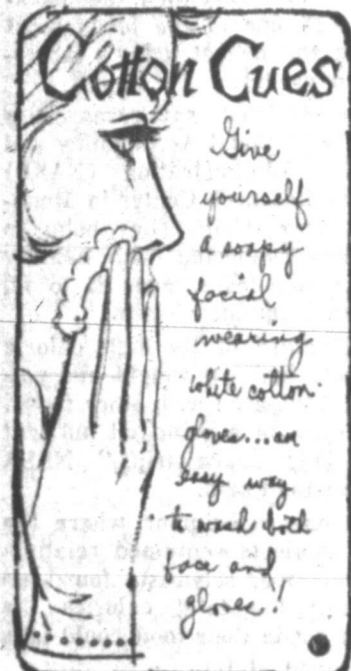

Well, he made a couple of passes at me and I told him to leave, but he promised to behave himself so I let him stay. Late on, he made another advance, and I got mad, but he apologized and said he wouldn't do it again and he talked me into letting him stay.

Now he comes over whenever I am babysitting there. I keep telling him not to come over anymore, but he talks me into it. I need your help Abby. I don't have any intentions of giving up this babysitting job because it is my only source of income.

DEAR ABBY: First, let me explain that I have been happily married to a wonderful woman for 18 years. We have two fine children. Now, the problem: I received a telephone call recently from a friend of mine who informed me that a girl I used to go with (20 years ago) was moving back to town. It was a real serious thing between us at the time. In fact we nearly ran off and got married. It seems she is separated from her husband and has set herself up in an apartment here. Her husband is in Texas. My curiosity about her appearance, feelings, etc., after 20 years is most intriguing.

My alternatives: (1) Call her just to say "hello." (2) Take the bull by the horns, and ask my wife if she would have any objections if I saw her. (3) Forget the whole thing.

DEAR PERPLEXED: Forget the whole thing. Why look for trouble?

Garden Club Has Ribbon Awards

Pampa Garden Club met at the Courthouse Annex recently with Mrs. Joe Weaver as hostess. Mrs. Melvin Stephens, president, presided. Mrs. Mirron Dorman, who recently returned from the Texas Garden Club state convention held in Corpus Christi, reported on the convention.

Mrs. Dorman announced the Pampa Garden Club won the rating of a Blue Ribbon Club in the state meeting.

She also announced the national Garden Club convention will be in Dallas in 1969.

Mrs. Thelma Bray reported 100 Red Dew trees have been planted along Ked Deer Trail and at Pampa schools.

Mrs. V. N. Osborne presented the program on "Driftwood," Nature's Expression of Beauty. A display of 20 arrangements featuring driftwood, or weathered wood, was made by Mrs. Osborne as she discussed ways of treating the wood to give it different textures and finishes.

The Flowers Show School No. three will be given at the new Garden center in Amarillo April 30, May 1, and 2.

Three guests, Mrs. Tom Price, Bernard Johnson and Elmo Wright, and 24 members attended.

The Women's Missionary Union church lounge for mission study. Darlene Elliott Circle met in members' homes and the church lounge, with Mrs. Harry Hall reading the prayer calendar, and Mrs. R. L. Edmondson directing the prayer.

After Mrs. Wes Langham led the business session, Mrs. Jim Embry taught the mission book "Trumpets in Dixie." Eight members attended as Mrs. Mike Porter gave the benediction.

The Zelma Northcutt Circle met in the home of Mrs. Milo Carlson at 211 Charles St., with 14 members attending. The opening benediction was directed by Mrs. W. R. Morrison. Mrs. F. H. Jernigan taught the mission study book and gave the benediction. Members decided to meet with Mrs. O. B. Batson, 1012 W. Buckler for the next meeting.

The Mary Truly Circle met in the home of Mrs. A. D. Ackerman south of city with nine members and one visitor, Mrs. George Smith attending.

Mrs. George Henderson conducted the business meeting as members discussed the March mission study, Mrs. George disposes dusters can be used for a day's dusting and then thrown away. If you show with Mrs. Ed Cantrell, 1613 Mother, you're willing to help her with household work, she'll probably be happy to let you meet your friends on Saturdays when the work's all done!

Mrs. Ed Cantrell had the benediction. Ila Breedon Circle met in Mrs. Dan Cameron's home, 2348 Duncan, as Mrs. Lee Moore read the prayer calendar and Mrs. J. P. Heath directed prayer.

Mrs. E. E. Shelhamer conducted a business meeting for the nine members attending. Mrs. Ross Buzzard reported on missions in action, Mrs. Tommy Burns directed the circle program with Mrs. C. F. Pennington, Shelhamer, Heath, Lee Moore and John Damron participating.

Mrs. Eugene Hamilton attended as a visitor. The Ida Starnes Circle meeting at Mrs. Paul Turner's home at 125 N. Faulkner, had seven members present as Mrs. W. D. Osborne directed the invocation. Mrs. Paul Turner had charge of the business meeting. Mrs. S. E. Waters taught mission study, and Mrs. Windred Cates gave the benediction.

MISS DEB

... answers questions about Junior Miss etiquette, grooming and interests.

Q. I finally found MY perfume, an unusual fragrance that couldn't be confused with anyone else's. But after all my searching, the perfume doesn't last!

A. Maybe you're using perfume in the wrong places! Perfume dabbed behind the ears, contrary to tales told, is strategically placed. Instead put a few drops on pulse spots—the inside of wrists, your temples, the crook of your arm, and along your throat. In the pulse spots, the blood is close to the surface and its warmth helps to radiate scent. Another way to use fragrance so it lasts: Put a few drops of perfume on a Kleenex tissue to tuck into your bra.

Q. My dry-cleaning expenses last year were over $50, not including alterations. There must be some way to cut costs.

A. There is! Wash everything washable. Sweaters most often look better when washed with a cold-water soap. Many types of fibers gain extra bounce and fluffiness after a soap-and-water

Fashions in Spring '68 Welcome Waistlines

Fashion for spring '67 welcomes the return of the waistline, the renaissance of the skirt and the triumph of fit and flare, in shapely, frankly curvy, silhouettes. Pretty girls, romantic girls, feminine girls, even old-fashioned girls move into fashion focus.

Ruffles are rampant; so are pleats, panels, dirndl skirts. Sleeves are soft, sometimes long and flowing. Collars are simple and demure—witness the peter pan style, appearing frequently. In line with this simplicity, the bateau neckline enjoys a fashion revival.

The waistline levels off almost anywhere—at the natural waist, lifted high under the bosom or lowered. Self-fabric belts and sashes, in matching or contrasting colors, may mark the waistline, or it may be leather-belted or chain belted. Wide belts, while they do not actually cinch the waistline, certainly emphasize the idea of curves.

Half-belts or half-sashes at the front of high-waisted dresses further enhance the lifted look. For coats, martingales often carry out the theme of the belt.

Curvaceous "body shirts" with more fit, more emphasis on the bosom top action-motivated skirt or appears, in solid blouse becomes a pretty complement for the newly-important skirt or appears in dolid colors, with handsomely-patterned jackets and skirts—fitted and flared, of course.

Amid all the fit and flare, another kind of femininity in fashion displays its own flair. This is the Thirties look inspired, mostly by the success of the movie, "Bonnie and Clyde." Here, the line is straight and soft, typified by the longer cardigan jacket, middie blouse and slim skirt. Supple fabrics hold sway.

Many shirts grow into dresses, making the classic shirtdress one of the most important fashions for spring. There are many moods for the shirtdress, from tucked-and-tailored (but still very feminine) styles to floaty, romantic styles with dirndl skirts and soft, flowing sleeves, in sheer or semi-sheer fabrics.

Such a feminine fashion spring, the vest enjoys great favor with designers. Partly, this stems from the trend to costume components—shirt and skirt, plus vest. Another good fashion reason for the vest comes from the fact that often it isn't really a vest, it's a sleeveless jacket for a suit.

Why sleeveless? Because of the late Easter, when such styles will be well suited for parading, and also—the better to show off those pretty blouses with their romantic ruffles and soft sleeves.

The dress, the suit and the separates look all gain fashion favor for spring, and so do coats. For the most part, coats are shaped to take account of curvier silhouettes, flatter skirts. Frequently, they're belted or half-belted to further define the return of the waistline.

What about lengths? The Thirties look seems to call for longer skirts, say fashion authorities, but in spite of some mid-winter acceptance for the mid or mid-calf length, the spring trend is still strong for short skirts. The mini, however, is most often limited to sportswear.

As separates or as parts of suits, pants are still important. For evening and at-home, they move into long, flowing colored pajama styles, bared at the top.

Dresses, under jackets or coats or on their own for evening, have halter strappings or other bared treatments to illustrate femininity via décolletage.

Culottes have apparently become a fashion staple—there are one or two culotte or pant-dress styles in virtually every collection. Often, the treatment is more "divided skirt" than culotte, thanks to the general trend to skirt flare and fullness.

Fabrics go soft in feeling, although wools are not as bubbly in texture as they once were. Silks move in a feminine direction. Sheers and semi-sheers, particularly volles, have importance. Crisp fabrics, such as gabardines, provide counterpoint to soft styling. In casual wear and rainwear, canvas is the big new fabric.

Hardware touches, while still present, go discreet, in line with the trend to pretty softness.

Colors and prints reveal all the way from pale and pastel to bold and bright.

GURU, Nehru, Mao—whatever you call it, the high-collar jacket is in.

Astrological Forecast By CAROL RIGHTER

FOR WEDNESDAY, APRIL 23

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A beautiful day and evening to put some new interesting plans in motion. You can have big results and which you feel to be the means by which you can enter into a cycle. Be sure that you think a plan out very carefully first for it can have long-range results of vital significance.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) Stop asking others to get certain situations cleared up for you, since it could be more fun and a pleasant challenge handling them yourself. Be determined to gain what you desire. However, be diplomatic.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) Associates are making certain plans, so you had better express your own ideas as well, otherwise you could be disproved or disappointed later. Confide in kin. Get their approval and support as well.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) An experienced, dynamic pal gives you the right advice now so that you gain aims without working so hard. Family is helpful also. Out to that social affair in the evening that gives you prestige as well as enjoyment.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you present your plan wisely, you find you get the backing of the biggest you contact now. Get civic duties done and you improve your image greatly. Try to keep appointments more promptly.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) It would be well to study some new system that has cropped up so that you can apply it for greater success of your own. Contact those who have different views to yours. Profit by their suggestions.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You are inclined to use more precise systems than you have for some time so do just that. Look to loved one for assistance in handling present material responsibilities. Show that you are devoted.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get together with associates because by conferring with them today, you can cement far better relations arrange your future better. Make amends with one you have acted selfishly. Be big about it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you change your attitude somewhat, you find that coworkers will cooperate more readily with you. Be sure you buy some accessory for your wardrobe that makes it more charming. Highlight your finest points.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Show others that you like them by entertaining them as they would prefer, buying some gift they will appreciate. Show a cheerful spirit that will please others.

Stop being so adamant. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Others can come forth with good ideas that will help you to have more harmony at home now. Some form of entertainment at home that makes them laugh will lift them out of the doldrums. Spend a little money; they deserve it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) The planets are favorable and you can get that fine mind of yours working admirably and you can gain much financially as well as in happiness. Others usually unavailable will join you in fun now. Be cheerful.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have to concentrate upon how to increase your assets appreciably now, good friends and experts can be of infinite help. Start saving more money, also. Find the right new outlet as well.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, he, or she, will be one of those interesting young people who is alert to all good chances and fortunate that are in the offing and has the ability to quickly whittle big projects down to a workable basis. Success starts early here and becomes quite phenomenal since the desire for comforts is great.

JUST TWO THINGS HOLD HOME TRADE AT HOME

With good automobiles and good highways, a merchant cannot afford to sit back and think any one customer as his.

Two Things— and only two— attract home town buyers to home stores. First is well selected stock and merchandise of good quality and fairly priced.

Second is letting the potential buyer know about the goods by means of attractive and effective advertising. After 200 years, the best and tried medium yet discovered for advertising is still your local newspaper serving the area. People can't easily buy what you have if they don't know you have it.

Central Africa Home Of Problems, Strangeness

By PETER LYNCH
 United Press International
 Central Africa is the home of many of the strangenesses that are part of the Western image of the continent—the giant Watusi tribesmen and the tiny Pygmies, the deadly tsetse fly and the romantically named Mountains of the Moon.

It also is beleaguered by the problems that face many African nations—political turmoil, tribal rivalries and economic woes—and in one instance something that most of the new black nations have escaped, extensive Communist influence.

The new black African nations of this region are: Burundi, Cameroon, Central African Republic, Chad, Congo (former French), Congo (former Belgian), Gabon and Rwanda.

While other African nations have flirted with Russia or recognized Red China, the former French Congo is the only nation where Communism, Chinese-style, has made significant inroads.

Many Loans
 China has poured millions of dollars in interest-free loans into the country and at least 200—perhaps as many as 500—Cuban troops are stationed in its capital of Brazzaville.

They form the guard around President Alphonse Massamba-Débat and were essential in putting down an attempted military coup in 1966.

It is the other Congo, the former Belgian colony, that has become synonymous with political instability among the new black African countries.

Late last year a white mercenary force, originally called in by the Congo's military president, Gen. Joseph Mobutu to put down one rebellion, revolted itself but was driven out of the country into neighboring Rwanda.

Mobutu wants the mercenaries repatriated to the Congo, possibly for public execution, while the International Red Cross and Rwanda are trying to have them repatriated to Europe.

Marked Contrast
 Mobutu, meanwhile, has "Congolized" (his version of nationalization) foreign companies operating in the Congo by decreeing they must have their headquarters in his country.

Intended to halt the flight of Belgium-based companies, it also has driven many needed white technicians from the land, dream of independence and the reality are in marked contrast.

Its original nationalist leader, Barthélemy Boganda, envisioned a federation of four own land, formerly Ubangi-French equatorial colonies—his Shari, the Congo, Gabon and Chad. Boganda was killed in an air crash before independence and the dream died.

Power passed to his cousin, David Dacko, who lacked the needed political dynamism and personal popularity. It was Dacko who recognized Red China. On Jan. 1, 1966, he was overthrown by the army and replaced by his cousin, Lt. Col. Jean-Bedel Bokassa.

President Francois Tombalbaye of Chad has held his country together, despite political and tribal unrest. Its economy is agricultural, although surveys are underway in hopes of finding mineral wealth.

Burundi and Rwanda, two tiny adjoining countries that would make more sense as one, are prime examples of the tribalism that plagues Africa.

Historically in these countries the majority tribe, the normal sized Hutus, have been the serfs of the giant Watusi, while the tiny Twa Pygmies ignored both in Rwanda, the problem seems settled and peace reigns—as do the Hutu after they rebelled in 1961, the year before independence.

Massacre Watusi
 Eacked by some 50,000 Twa Pygmies, they forced Watusi King Kigeri V and more than 100,000 of his followers to flee, while thousands more Watusi were massacred.

A United Nations-sponsored election confirmed Hutu dominance, a 1964 Watusi attempt to regain power failed, and President Gregoire Kayibanda's Parmehutu party obtained 97 per cent of the vote in the 1965 elections.

None of this has solved the country's economic problems, and the mountainous land exist mainly on subsistence farming and coffee and tea exports.

In Burundi, the land of the Mountains of the Moon, the past six years have seen nine governments fall, three prime ministers on subsistence farming kings deposed and finally a military coup that established 27-year old Col. Michel Micombero as the youngest head-of-state in the world.

An era ended in Gabon last year with the death of its first leader, Leon M'Ba, called the "black De Gaulle." He was succeeded by a 32-year old protegee, Albert Bernard Bongo.

M'Ba left his nation as one of the few African countries that exports more than it imports.

Gabon also has an advanced educational system, particularly at the primary level. Rich deposits of iron ore, manganese, oil, natu[r]al gas, uranium and some gold, as well as crops of coffee, cocoa, palm oil, peanuts and rice, provide the plenty.

Gabon's future development rests with the manner in which Bongo carries out the ambitious program inaugurated last year with a $58.8 million budget.

Success Story
 A combination of leadership and natural resources have made Cameroon the success story of central Africa. It has been a model of stability, despite minor squabbling among its 200 tribes, under President Ahmadou Ahidjo.

Formerly U.M. trust territories under British and French administration, Cameroon has successfully united itself. With Bauxite, natural gas, iron ore and rutile, from which titanium is made, and flourishing agriculture, it manages to make ends meet.

As with the other areas of Africa, the future lies in finding internal peace and external economic cooperation. The latest move toward the latter was the proposal by Congo's Mobutu to form a sort of little United States of Central Africa with other French-speaking nations.

The only nation to respond to the former Belgian colony's bid has been Chad, and observers say Chad is likely to withdraw when predicted pressure against the union mounts from Cameroon, with which Chad has close economic relations.

FOREIGN NEWS COMMENTARY Tanzanian President

By PHIL NEWSOM
 UPI Foreign News Analyst
 President Julius Nyerere of Tanzania is a man given to making sudden decisions and then sticking by them. He likes to think of himself as a man of principle not subject to the heat of the moment nor by ordinary, traditional considerations.

He also is widely regarded by other African leaders as the continent's leading Socialist and a man of considerable influence.

Observers in his capital of Dar-es-Salaam therefore wondered what kind of a Pandora's box he may have opened with his decision to recognize Biafra, the breakaway eastern region of Nigeria.

Especially so since the Lagos regime governing the rest of Nigeria has been whittling away steadily at Biafra-controlled areas and, if it persevered, seems destined to be the ultimate winner.

Moral Decision
 Nyerere placed his decision on a moral basis when he declared through his foreign minister that east Nigerian Ibo tribesmen "have been killed in tens of thousands and driven from their homes."

Therefore, he said, even though it would be a setback for African Unity, he felt he had to accept and recognize Biafra.

This is precisely the factor that is causing most concern since it stabs at one of the most sacred principles of the Organization of African Unity (OAU) and conceivably could change the entire lineup of alliances on the continent.

When the colonial powers carved up Africa, they did so on a geographical basis with little regard for tribal and racial groupings.

The OAU has accepted the boundaries inherited at independence in the belief that to do otherwise would result in map-redrawing that might never end.

Resist Minority Demands
 Kenya, for example, neighboring Tanzania, firmly has resisted secessionist demands of minority Somalis. Similar secessionist groups exist in Sudan, Congo and Zambia.

All of these, it is feared, will draw new hope from the Nyerere decision.

As a measure of Nyerere's unbending independence of thought, he is the only one among eight originals to refuse to reopen diplomatic relations with Britain, broken in late 1966 over Rhodesia.

He has maintained friendly relations with Red China even though the Red Chinese have been discredited in other parts of Africa.

And in his seemingly sudden decision to recognize Biafra he is not acting out of character.

Marx, Lenin Expected German Revolution

By WELLINGTON LONG
 BERLIN (UPI)—It was the conviction of both Karl Marx and V.I. Lenin that the first nation to ignite the spark of world revolution would be Germany. Now, more than half a century later, another group of young revolutionaries are still trying to get the workers of West Germany to unite.

Marx and Lenin had reasoned that because Germany was so heavily populated, industrial workers there would respond more readily to the appeals of communism and form the backbone of a revolution.

But Germany has lost two world wars and is now divided in two, and the workers in West Germany and West Berlin are still impervious to the passionate cries for revolution from left-wing students for whom "Red" Rudi Dutschke is an idol.

Dutschke, who was seriously wounded by a would-be assassin April 11, is ideologist for the Socialist German Students Federation (SDS). The SDS is the driving force behind the "Extra-Parliamentary Opposition," whose initials APO are also to mean "Anti-Parliamentary Opposition."

Easter Violence
 When Dutschke was wounded, the APO and SDS led their groups into the streets for five days of Easter weekend violence. They have said they intend to renew their attack, hopefully with the support of factory workers.

So far, however, the students have been unsuccessful in recruiting workers.

The APO has made Axel Springer its personal bogeyman. The leftist students hold Springer, who publishes the heavily illustrated Bild and more serious Welt, as personally responsible for the shooting of Dutschke.

Dutschke was shot by a Munich house painter, Josef Bachmann, whose stepfather was one of Adolf Hitler's storm troopers and who paints portraits of Hitler to hang over his bed.

Blame Springer
 But to the leftists, Springer was as guilty of the shooting as Bachmann.

During the rioting following Dutschke's shooting, demonstrators invaded Springer's editorial offices and ransacked them. In West Berlin, they hurled stones through the windows of Springer's printing plant and burned a dozen delivery trucks.

Springer is West Germany's largest newspaper publisher, controlling about 21 per cent of the newspaper circulation in the nation and about 60 per cent in West Berlin. The editorial views of his newspapers support the right wing of the Christian Democratic Union.

Pampa Soldier Home On Leave

P.F.C. Lee T. Hollis, 3rd Brigade, 4th Inf. Div., of Pampa, has completed 18 months' duty in Vietnam, and is now home on leave.

P.F.C. Hollis sailed with the 4th from Tacoma, Wash., in September, 1966, and arrived at Tuy Hoa in October. After six months duty at Tuy Hoa, P.F.C. Hollis went to Pleiku and joined the 3rd Brigade where he has been the remainder of his tour.

P.F.C. Hollis is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Hollis, 1905 Coffee. When his leave terminates, Hollis will report for duty at USAG (2018), Ft. Knox, Kentucky.

CENSURE ATTEMPT

PARIS (UPI)—The French leftist opposition was launching today a two-day Parliamentary offensive intended to defeat President Charles de Gaulle's government on a censure vote.

Despite a Gaullist setback in a Northern Corsica by-election Sunday, observers gave the leftists little chance to topple Premier Georges Pompidou's cabinet.

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Three Times Seven

With gold so much in the news these days, and the Administration insisting that Congress remove the gold from beneath our currency, it may be instructive to review how this nightmare started. Unhappily, the lesson isn't taught in history classes these days. It went like this:

On March 4, 1933, President Franklin D. Roosevelt closed all banks in the United States by invoking war powers granted by Congress in the Trading With the Enemy Act of World War I.

On March 9, five days later, Congress passed the Emergency Banking Act which legalized what the President had done, and further provided for control over "all transactions in foreign exchange" and "transfers of credit between, or payments by banking institutions."

On April 5, approximately one month later, the President is sued an executive order making ownership, possession or use of monetary gold a crime. Citizens were ordered to deliver all gold to their banks.

On May 22 of the same year, by an amendment to an agriculture bill, the President was authorized to reduce the gold in a dollar.

On October 22, in a fireside chat, the President said he had authorized Reconstruction Fi-nanace Corporation to buy gold at variable prices, determined by the President. Secretary of Treasury Morgenthau has described how the price was determined from day to day. He wrote, in Collier's magazine, October 25, 1947:

"Every morning Jesse Jones and I would meet with George Warren in the President's bedroom to set the price of gold. Franklin Roosevelt would lie comfortably on his old-fashioned three-quarter mahogany bed. The actual price... made little difference. One day when I must have come in more than usually worried about the state of the world, we were planning an increase of from 19 to 22 cents. Roosevelt took one look at me, and suggested a rise of 21 cents. It's a lucky number," the President said with a laugh, "because it's three times seven." I noted in my diary at this time, "if anybody ever knew how we really set the price of gold... I think they would really be frightened."

On January 30, 1934, Roosevelt ended day-to-day operations. He reduced the gold in the U.S. dollar by 40 percent. An ounce of gold was thereupon worth $35 in paper dollars, instead of $20.67. The price has not changed since.

Secret of Food Supplies

We hear a great deal about developed and underdeveloped nations. Just what is the distinction and what are the symptoms of an underdeveloped nation, and why are some nations more developed than others? These questions are of course not susceptible to pat answers because the answers must reach into factors of geography, climate, politics and human variables that are complex in the extreme. But, a few facts should go into the record.

Today, when we speak of an underdeveloped country, we are speaking of a country where the people do not have enough to eat; where technology lags so far behind needs that there is no way to sustain an expanding population. More and more, the symptom of an underdeveloped country is malnutrition and starvation. The United States is conceded to be one of the most developed countries on earth and its people are the best fed and the best clothed. Our technology is superior and is so far advanced that a substantial portion of our resources are today going to stave off famine in other countries.

Nowhere is the evidence of our development more apparent than in agriculture. Long ago, farmers, industry and the research laboratory teamed up to make our land the most productive on earth. New industries were founded on the requirements of the farmer and the soaring demand for food and fiber. For example, within a comparatively few years, the scientific use of chemical pesticides has completely changed the food output picture.

With the application of intelligent national and international policies, the family of pesticides, about which we have heard so many old wives tales, could play an immeasurable part in relieving the threat of famine and hunger over much of the world. Yes, the United States is a developed nation, but its development has been no accident. It's traceable to one factor more than any other—the independence of its citizens—in business, in industry, in the laboratory and on the farm.

Before It's Too Late

The history of Great Britain during the past quarter century is reminiscent of the inevitable end of a man who lives by the advice of a quack doctor. By the time the last dose of quackery has been administered, the patient is too sick to know what has killed him. For years, Great Britain blazed a meteoric path along the road to a welfare state under the guidance of textbook theorists and socialists. For years, the "progress" of Britain security became the ruling political philosophy of Britain. That philosophy is now bankrupt. No more is heard of British progress. Postmortems have taken the place of progress reports. The economic doctors of the time are but names in the history books. Experts now are busy analyzing the "British decline." According to one authority, an associate professor of history and humanities at a leading university, one of the many major problems facing Britain today is her reluctance to face up to the fact that she no longer is a major world power. This is something like telling the luckless victim of the quack doctor "you're dead, brother." Before it is too late, we might well question some of the economic medicine we have been swallowing in our own country.

In 1941 thousands attending an America First rally in New York City heard noted Charles Lindbergh say, "It is obvious England is losing the war." In 1898 the U.S. government asked for 125,000 volunteers to fight against Spain in Cuba.

Popularity:
A Sometime Thing

The wife being a casualty of the Tet offensive, we have learned not to mention President Johnson's name around the house.

But according to a nationwide survey reported the other day the President's popularity has jumped in the past several weeks from 38 per cent to 57 per cent.

Naturally, we found that news quite noteworthy. And so, forgetting our resolve to be silent on the subject, we noted Johnson's soaring popularity to the wife at dinner.

"Well," she said sweetly, "I am not surprised in the least." "You're not?" we inquired, incredulously.

"Not at all," the wife said "In fact, I've decided to vote for him."

"Vote for him?" we echoed. "For heavens sake, what changed your mind?"

"His irrevocable decision not to run again," she said. "Then how can you vote for him?" we asked.

"How can I vote for anybody else," she snapped. "Do you realize what courage and sincerity it took for him to make that decision?"

"That may be true," we said a trifle too loudly. "But the decision is that he's not going to run again."

It occurred to us dimly that she was on to something there. We abandoned the entire topic and took another helping of anticid.

It is only honest to admit, however, that we cannot offer any better explanation of the workings of popularity—either for LBJ, or for anybody else.

The only conclusion we have been able to reach is that it's almost impossible to tell which people are popular until they are over it.

Not so long ago, it was generally believed that such people as Leo Durocher, Ernie Kovacs, and Kukla, Fran and Ollie were very popular. And if memory serves, we shared that opinion. In fact, we have often wondered from time to time where are they now?

Within the past several weeks however, we have seen all of these figures in action again. And it has stopped us completely from wondering where are they now?

The important question it seems to us now, is where were they then?

And once you start asking that question, as we said, it is very hard to tell who is popular. Where, for example, will Frank Sinatra have been when people ask about where is he now? Where is Doris Day now? Or the Beatles? Or Dean Martin? Where, for heaven's sake is Jacqueline Kennedy now?

For our part, we do not really care much one way or the other.

From what we can see, you do not have to be popular in order to get the banks and stock exchanges to close for your funeral, or have frightened politicians charter jet planes to attend, or have a national day of mourning set aside by presidential edict.

But whatever it takes to get that, we'll take it over popularity any day in the week.

Today I would like to tell you good people some thing about pounding sand down a rathole. That Office of Un-omic Opportunity has gone and give the Zuni Injuns 200 thousand gets to improve their jewelry business. Now, they ain't going to teach a Zuni anything about making jewelry. But they are going to try.

What the OEO wants to do is get the Zuni's to start producing their famous handmade jewelry by machine and then market their "genuine" handicrafts. The politicians figure they've made everybody else crooked so they might as well work on the Injuns and teach them how to hoodwink the public.

Of course, it don't matter none that the stores are already buying all the authentic Zuni jewelry they can get their hands on. The Zuni's are makin over 3 million simoleons a year in the jewelry business. Do you think they will start dealing 'crooked' just to please the

That movie "Bonnie and Clyde," the story of a couple of bank robbers, reminds us that today's bank robbers may be more efficient than their predecessors of yesteryear, but they're not nearly as colorful. When Bonnie Parker and Clyde Barrow were withdrawing funds from mid-western banks at the point of a gun in the 1930's they had such colorful competitors as Pretty Boy Floyd, Baby Face Nelson and a host of others with similar names. When today's robbers are finally picked up by the FBI or the local police their names read like those you'll find in any directory.

Today's smile: A woman witnessed an automobile accident on a busy city street and said to a bystander: "The poor man. Have they called a doctor?" The bystander said: "A doctor ran over him, lady." The woman then said: "That was fortunate. They didn't have to call one."

Stradivarius, the great violin maker, is always honored by musicians on the anniversary of his death in 1737 because the date of his birth in 1644 was never recorded. During his lifetime he is estimated to have made 540 violins, 12 violas and 50 cellos, valued today at more than $5 million. He also designed violis, guitars and mandolins. No one has ever equalled his craftsmanship in making stringed musical instruments.

Thoughts while shaving: An architect friend tells us that within the next few years most of the homes will include air-conditioning units as standard equipment, just as the heating unit has been for years. We doubt if any baseball player in history topped Yogi Berra's record. He has played on 10 world championship teams. He also starred in 13 World's Series in which he scored a record of 41 runs; set another record for getting the most hits (71); established still another record of batting in 39 runs; and reached the most total bases (117). An amazing record! . . . If you write the U.S. Chamber of Commerce in Washington and request it they'll send you a booklet listing the special days, weeks and months we Americans observe. It's an eye opener for you'll find we celebrate everything from Old Maid's Day to Iced Tea Week. . . . Miller Is Man To Watch — Profile of Chairman of New Rockefeller For President Committee

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Indiana businessman J. Irwin Miller, chairman of the Rockefeller For President Committee, is the rising star to watch on the fast-changing political horizon.

In his new political role Miller's long-range objectives go far beyond his announced intentions to win the Republican presidential nomination for Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

Political associates say that the strategy of Miller, who also has close ties with President Johnson, calls for trying to obtain the presidential nomination for Rockefeller even through a "new party" should the New Yorker fail to capture the major GOP prize.

Miller, the first layman to ascend to the presidency of the politically powerful National Council of Churches, believes public opinion can be molded and mobilized in such a way as to make anything possible in the field of politics or foreign policy.

One of the key organizers of the 1963 civil rights' march on Washington, Miller is a long-time champion of using the massive "nonviolence" tactics of the late Dr. Martin Luther King to change the nation's racial, political, moral, and social landscape.

Nonviolence tormented the American majority so hard it couldn't stand it," Miller told an interviewer of a national publication. "But when people see violence they are relieved. It lets them off the hook in respect to their own guilt."

Significantly, Miller has given his private backing to the coming "poor people's army" invasion of Washington, which King planned before his assassination and which now is scheduled to take place in mid-May.

PREPARING THE WAY — While Miller, chairman of Columbus Engine Company, of Columbus, Ind., is known for the modern church buildings he has helped to finance, it isn't generally known that he also started his own church.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

No Irrigation Dizziness In Inner Ear Disease
Q—Sometime ago in the hospital I had a test where they strapped me in a chair and shot water into my ear. I became very dizzy. What was this test for?

A—In Barany test, irrigating a normal ear with hot water causes dizziness and a tendency to fall to one side. That's why you were strapped in position. Cold water causes a tendency to fall to the opposite side. In diseases of the inner ear neither hot nor cold irrigation caused dizziness.

Q—What is Mayringitis? What causes it? Is there any cure for it?

A—This is an inflammation of the ear drum. It may be caused by irritation of the drum from the outside, in which case removing the cause and applying soothing ear drops will help. It may also be caused by an infection traveling up the Eustachian tube from the junction of the nose and the throat. For this penicillin is given, but if there is bulging of the drum it may have to be punctured to let the pus drain out.

Q—I have been having trouble with my hearing lately. When I yawn it clears up like magic. What is the cause and what do you advise?

A—You have a blocking of your Eustachian tube. This may be caused by thick mucus or by a slight swelling of the lining of the tube. Sometimes chewing gum works just as well as yawning. When neither works, hold your nose and try to blow it gently with your mouth closed. If you have a cold or other respiratory infection your trouble will disappear when this clears up.

Q—What are the symptoms of inner ear disease? What is the best treatment?
The inner ear is the seat of both hearing and equilibrium. Diseases in this area may cause ringing of the ears, loss of hearing, dizziness or any combination of these. Treatment can be prescribed only when the cause has been determined.

Q—What can be done to relieve itching in my ear?
A—If it is an extension of seborrheic dermatitis, control of this disease with anti-dandruff

Asian Riots Provide Clue To Curbing U.S. Violence

By RAY CROMLEY

Washington Correspondent BANGKOK (NEA) There's a lesson in Asia's recent riots that Americans may want to study closely.

In Japan, there's a good deal of student unrest because of the uncertainty Japanese college men face on graduation. Most students feel this strain as a vague restlessness or hopelessness. But a few students with strong political aim have been able to channel thousands of the aimless students into a series of riots so severe they have the whole nation concerned.

The rioting of these restless students is now taking on political overtones. But talk to the average Tokyo student who's been in a riot. He's confused about why he's been rioting or what the rioting has been about.

One riot in Sendai started as a protest against moving the college campus and against dividing the university into two separate schools. Then someone latched on the slogan: "Americans go home (from Vietnam)." By a neat, deft touch, the rioting took on a political objective.

Some Tokyo students who took part in riots a number of years ago were surprised when those riots turned out to be demonstrations against President Eisenhower. These students said they were pro-Eisenhower.

In northern Thailand, minority groups, beset by poverty and despair, have been restless for years. Small groups of Communist Chinese, Lao and North Vietnamese organizers are now busily channeling this unrest into attacks on all government officials.

In Laos, the major Communist Pathet Lao base is composed of groups of unhappy minority tribesmen. A communist party organizer who had been quite successful in getting these Lao minority groups to follow his leadership complained to this reporter that they had no political understanding and even less po-

H. L. Hunt Writes

NOT NEW LEFTISTS

This is certainly a time when our nation needs young people who are inquiring and eager to probe into the questions that will affect their future lives. But the so-called New Leftists are not asking questions with the hope of finding constructive answers. Their attitude is a self-defeating one of strict negativism.

The New Leftists make quite a bit of noise, but they constitute only a small minority of American youth. Far more typical of the young people of America are members of a nationwide organization that this year is observing its 40th birthday: The Future Farmers of America.

These Future Farmers, now numbering nearly half a million, believe strongly in the future of farming. They reject the theory that rural communities and farms face extinction in the U.S. They recognize that our agricultural way of life will continue to change, but they have faith in their ability to adapt themselves to the changes and to help mold those changes for the benefit of all people.

These fine youngsters want no part of the New Left movement. Although members of the same generation, they find it impossible to identify with the beatniks and the hippies. They have no need to look for a synthetic and unreal utopia they know that the very nature of farm life is alive and dynamic.

Like another Freedomist movement, Youth Freedom Speakers, our Future Farmers are sound and solid, forming a happy contrast to the defeatism of the New Leftists. The cogency of both YFS and FFA structure, directness and potential force for freedom in Republic USA.

Now It's Time For Animals' 'Patsy Award'

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "This time again for the Patsy Awards."

The Patsys, you will remember, reward the mammal, fish or fowl with a trophy for the best performance in motion pictures and television for the year.

Cynics brush aside the Patsy awards. But among knowledgeable students of award-giving in Hollywood, they carry more prestige and considerably more candor than television's Emmys and the Golden Globes of the Foreign Press Association.

This year's crop of nominees include Polynesia, the macaw from "Doctor Dolittle." So far as is known this is the first time a Macaw has made the grade.

Previously, a turkey and a goose were nominated, but not a macaw.

Sophie the sea lion, again from "Doctor Dolittle," is in the running, too, although her's was little better than a supporting role.

And Ben the bear made it for his striking performance in "Gentle Giant," which was later made into a television series, "Gentle Ben."

Those animals comprise the movie nominees along with Baron (dog) from "Doctor Dolittle," "Chee Chee (chimp)" "Doctor Dolittle," (Pogo) (dog) "Flight on the Lam;" Sir Tom (mountain lion) "The Cat," and Storm (dog) "Luv."

Good old Lassie is the Bette Davis of animal actors. She has been nominated and won more Patsys than any quadruped in television history. But her competition is tough this year in the video division.

There's Arnold the pig from "Green Acres," and that stupid bear, Ben, again for "Gentle Ben."

The Ben Turpin of animal actors, Clarence the cross-eyed collie, has been nominated for "Daktari" along with Judy the chimp from the same show.

The remaining nominee dogs—Higgins of "Petticoat Junction," Junior of "Hondo" and Lord Nelson of "Peace, Don't Eat the Daisies."

Winners will be announced June 1 at Universal Studios providing juries survive fang, claw and hoof in the battle of the Patsy.
