Reds Delay Peace Talks; Insist Seating Arrangements Be 'Right'

Troops Said Near Border

Czechs Doubt Soviet Force

By GERD KRIWANEK
PRAGUE (UPI)—Foreigners might fret about reports of Soviet army movements toward this nation's borders. But Czechs took a holiday today.

On the streets men and women hurrying off to picnics in the countryside appeared surprised when told of reports from Warsaw that Red army units were seen heading this way. Impossible, they said.

Here, as abroad, there was nothing to confirm Moscow was using force against its former Czech satellite.

While Czechs celebrated the 23rd anniversary of World War II's end, criticism of their new reform, more liberal Communist regime took no holiday in neighboring Poland.

Warsaw Critical

Poland Eases Restriction On Diplomat Travel

WARSAW (UPI)—Poland eased its travel restrictions on diplomats today but there was no official explanation of Thursday's ban on their leaving the capital. Diplomatic sources believed the ban was connected with Soviet troop movements near the borders of Czechoslovakia.

At least one embassy sent officials out today to see if they would be stopped and a diplomat from a Western embassy left with his family on a trip after being told he could travel freely. Western newsmen journeyed as far as 60 miles out of Warsaw without hindrance.

The troop movements were reported south of Krakow only a few miles from the Czech border as the official Polish Trybuna Ludu was attacking "revisionist" and "anti-socialist trends" in Czechoslovakia and called for their authors to be "forcibly silenced."

A foreign ministry official told newsmen he would try for an explanation but that the government was "not obliged" to explain to newsmen why diplomats were stopped. Nor, he said, are the police required to tell why they tell a foreigner to turn back.

Disturbances Erupt Across Nation

Congress May Cut Aid To Students In School 'Sit-Ins'

By United Press International
Disturbances erupted at a number of campuses around the country Thursday as Congress took action to cut off federal aid to students involved in any "serious obstruction" of college activity.

Police and college officials were faced by sit-ins, visit-ins, sleep-ins, barricaded doors and old-fashioned rallies in a day marked by multiple arrests and serious charges being brought against some participants.

At Roosevelt University in Chicago 13 students were arrested after they barricaded themselves inside a suite of university offices.

The arrests brought to 37 the number of those arrested since Wednesday when the sit-in protest started over the school president's refusal to hire a controversial professor.

At Carbondale, Ill., five Southern Illinois University students were charged with tacked the Czechs for allowing criticism of socialism. The Polish Communist party newspaper Trybuna Ludu set the tone Thursday with an editorial that said:

"We believe that those voices alien to the real feelings of the Czechoslovakian community and to friendship linking our nations will be forced to silence."

Later, the Polish official Pap news agency, dropped the word "forced" in relaying the editorial. But clearly Poland's Communist leaders, more loyal to Moscow, were unhappy with the Czechs for ousting Stalinist leaders this year and replacing them with a Red regime that permits public criticism.

In Warsaw, Western diplomats were today seeing how far they could go on roads leading out of town. Thursday some were turned back at the city limits, a move apparently connected with the Soviet troop movements. Russia keeps 30,000 to 40,000 troops in Poland.

Reports by witnesses that Red army units in Poland were moving Wednesday only 35 miles from the Czech frontier was linked by some observers to a Thursday commentary on Prague Radio appealing against Russian intervention in the style of the Soviet crushing of the Hungarian anti-Communist Revolution of 1956.

"... For God's sake, let us not have even an implication of a repetition of the tragic history of the reckoning of Yugoslavia (booted out of the Soviet bloc in 1948) or perhaps even that of Budapest of 1956," said the Prague broadcast Thursday.

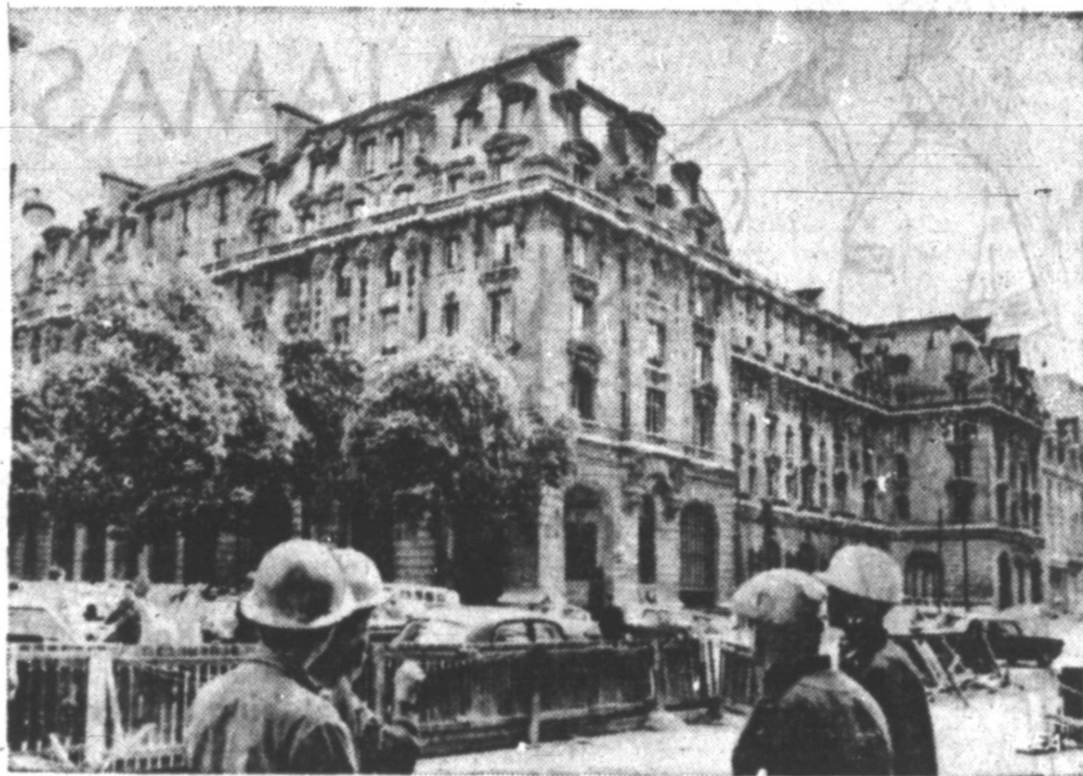

Optimism Is Still High For Miners

HOMINY FALLS, W. Va. (UPI)—Optimism prevailed today for the rescue of 15 miners marooned on islands deep in a coal mine despite frequent frustrations from failing equipment.

Hope all but faded that 10 co-workers would be found alive. The 25 were sealed inside a tunnel of the Maist Coal and Coke Co. mine Monday when a wall of water from an adjacent abandoned mine roared in.

Ten of the men were working at the spot where the flood began. They have not been heard from since and are feared dead. A hole was drilled Thursday from the surface to the area in which they were believed to be, but all that was found was water.

More Communists Head For Saigon; 4,000 Killed

PEACE TALKS SITE — Talks between the United States and Hanoi are taking place in Paris at the International Conference Center, above, the former Hotel Majestic. During World War II, the building was used as a Gestapo headquarters. The Communists delayed serious talks today, quibbling about seating arrangements.

Good Rains Continue Here But Storm Damage High Elsewhere

Slow, soaking rains over the past two days ranging from 1.25 to 2.25 inches in Gray County continue to delight farmers, ranchers and agriculture officials and set the stage for excellent rangeland conditions and crop prospects.

Possible brief thundershowers were forecast for this afternoon. "It was a nice rain, badly needed—and simply great," Foster Whaley, Gray County Agriculture agent, said this forenoon.

"This rain will benefit rangeland (65 per cent of all land in Gray County is rangeland) help all wheat that is to be harvested and help to get up volunteer milo."

Whaley said he still expected a better than average wheat yield. The Laketon area recorded the most rainfall in the county over the past two days with some farmers recording up to 2.25 inches. Lefors generally had less than an inch and a half but more than an inch. One farm three miles north of Pampa recorded 1.50, while 10 miles south of Pampa the two-day accumulations measured about 1.30.

Total accumulations in Pampa during the two-day period were 1.56, according to the Amarillo Weather Bureau.

The Bureau said brief thundershowers might fall this afternoon but that skies would clear by tonight. Forecast for Saturday was partly cloudy and warmer. High this afternoon is expected to be near 60, low tonight in the upper 40s, and high Saturday around 70. Probability of rain this afternoon was 50 percent, according to the Weather Bureau.

An epidemic of huge thunderstorms that set off widespread floods in Midland and Corpus Christi reached into Central and East Texas today, flooding 36 homes in Corsicana.

Floods, hail and tornadoes — there have been at least 20 tornadoes and funnel clouds in the past three days in the Corpus Christi area — have done hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of damage and killed at least four persons.

A tornado swooped down at Rockport today, unroofing two cabanas at the Sand Dollar motel and damaging an automobile. (See RAIN, Page 3)

Parties Schedule County Meetings Here Tomorrow

The Democratic, Republican and American parties have slated county conventions tomorrow to elect delegates to state conventions.

The Democratic Party will hold its county convention at 2 p.m. in the county courtroom of Gray County courthouse. The Republicans will hold their convention at 2 p.m. in the district courtroom on the third floor of the courthouse. The American Party has slated its meeting for 10 a.m. at 1321 Wilks St.

Delegates elected at the county conventions of the Democratic and Republican parties will attend the state conventions to select delegates for the national convention. State convention dates have been set for June 11.

The American Party will hold its state convention on June 8. Delegates to the state conventions of the Democrats and Republicans will also attend a later state convention scheduled for September 17. This latter state convention, sometimes called the "Governor's Convention," is for the purpose of selecting the respective parties' state executive committee. A man and a woman from each of the state's 31 state senatorial districts comprise the state executive committees of the parties.

Pampa's Relative Killed In Crash
William F. Alexander, a cousin of Curt Beck of Pampa, was killed in the airplane crash of a Braniff passenger plane near Dawson recently.

Beck, an associate director of research at Cabot Corporation here, attended funeral services for Alexander, a member of the board of directors for Alexander and Alexander Insurance in Dallas-New York, in Dallas Monday.

Alexander was Beck's first cousin.

Large Group Nestled In S. Vietnam Capital

By JACK WALSH

SAIGON (UPI)—Allied troops today battled 12,000 Communists heading for Saigon and for the first time used heavy artillery against some 1,500 guerrillas nestled in the capital for the sixth day.

About 4,000 Communists have been killed since the Viet Cong Sunday launched a nationwide offensive to coincide with opening of U.S.-North Vietnam peace talks in Paris today. Intelligence experts said 3,300 of them have been killed in and around Saigon.

In the city where 650 Communists died Thursday night and today, allied gunners opened up with eight-inch artillery shells against Viet Cong bands harassing the western and southern city limits. Outside of town, American and South Vietnamese forces grappled with 19 battalions of Viet Cong trying to break through allied lines and reinforce the withering guerrilla units inside the capital.

N.V. Units Used
Some of the Communist battalions were formed of North Vietnamese units ordered for the first time into the battle for Saigon.

On the southern edge of Saigon, near the "Y" bridge, the capital's biggest, Viet Cong bands tried vainly to grab that major gateway to the city. Today remnants of a guerrilla battalion battered for three days holed up in the ruins of a shanty town 400 yards west of the bridge.

The heavy artillery slammed into their positions. U.S. tanks crunched cautiously closer, spitting streams of machinegun bullets. The Viet Cong had rockets.

U.S. Cobra helicopter gunships whirled above, firing their mini guns and rockets at the Communists. On the Saigon side of the bridge, some of the city's 156,000 civilian refugees—100,000 of them left over from the Communists' February invasion of Saigon—watched the battle for their shanty town.

To the west, near Saigon's Phu Tho race track, men of the 199th Light Infantry Brigade dug in and waited until the Communists were almost on top of them before firing. The GIs then radioed for napalm strikes within 25 yards of their positions.

'Black Friday' For Laborites In England

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson today suffered a landslide defeat for his Labor Party at municipal elections and the country's most influential Labor press magazine demanded that he resign.

In what newspapers tagged "Wilson's Black Friday," results flowed in showing Labor had so far taken loss of 1,296 seats in country-wide municipal elections held in the wake of devaluation and massive disenchantment with the government.

Conservatives chalked up gains of 1,307 seats, with the difference made up in seats taken from Liberals and Independents.

The "Wilson must go" call from Cecil King, chairman of the giant International Publishing Corporation, sent the pound down to its lowest level since the gold crisis in March. The London Stock Exchange, always highly sensitive to any political excitement, registered falls in most sections as well.

The treasury announced King had resigned as a director of the Bank of England a few hours after his Daily Mirror newspaper published his front-page statement saying, "Mr. Wilson and his government have lost all credibility. All authority..."

"We are now threatened with the greatest financial crisis in our history. It is not to be removed by lies about our reserves."

His resignation letter, dated Thursday, said he resigned because "I am becoming more and more involved in political controversy."

US Wants Peace, But Not At Any Price; 'Tough' Talks Seen

By K. C. THALER
PARIS (UPI)—The United States embarks today on a crucial course—prepared for a Vietnam peace at a price, but not for peace at any price.

The confrontation with North Vietnam across the conference table in the French capital will be long, tough and perilous. It may witness a revival of some of the worst of the cold war negotiating tactics of the post-war years.

Hanoi set the tone for the conference in a tough arrival statement by the Communist negotiating team. Peace, they said, can come only on their terms. It was not encouraging.

The United States came here in search of what it terms "an honorable settlement" of the protracted, bloody conflict in Vietnam.

The initial stage of the Paris talks will be aimed at a mutual testing of positions and eagerness to end the war.

Hanoi, setting its terms in advance of the talks, has served notice it does not intend to compromise. The Communists demand that the American halt the bombing of North Vietnam unconditionally and stop other acts of war against it.

They are unwilling so far to make a reciprocal gesture of de-escalation of infiltration of the South. They say only if these demands are accepted by the United States, can formal peace negotiations begin.

Hanoi Sets Terms
The negotiations, Hanoi says, have to be based on its four-point outline: This centers on American withdrawal from Vietnam and a pledge that the two Vietnams must refrain from entering into foreign military alliances pending reunification of the country.

South Vietnam's affairs, in Hanoi's view, also must be settled by the National Liberation Front, the Viet Cong's political arm, and reunification as things now stand.

determined by the Vietnamese people of both parties.

In other words: Americans out, Communists in.

Hanoi has left the door open for compromise apparently mainly on the time table for these processes and the possible formation of a coalition regime in Saigon with the Viet Cong.

Contrary to Hanoi's chief negotiator Xuan Thuy, U.S. presidential envoy Averell Harriman studiously avoided setting out America's peace terms in his arrival statement Thursday night.

However, both sides appear to agree on the need for a settlement based on the Geneva Accords of 1954. Both seem to accept the idea of ultimate neutrality for Vietnam, and eventual withdrawal of foreign troops.

But each side attaches a different meaning to these principles. To bridge the gulf between the Viet Cong's political arm, and reunification as things now stand.

They Came To Accept 'Surrender'

By STEWART HENSLEY
PARIS (UPI)—The preliminary talks which could lead to a Vietnam Peace conference were delayed today when the North Vietnamese delegation insisted on discussing such procedural matters as seating arrangements before getting down to the real business at hand.

Adding to the preconference confusion was the Communist viewpoint they had come to Paris to accept a U.S. surrender, once the real talks do get started.

A U.S. spokesman said a procedural meeting would have to attend to such "kitchen sink details" as the seating and the official conference languages—the same problems which delayed start of the 1954 Geneva Conference ending the French-Indochina War.

"We came here prepared to enter into substantive talks today," said William Jordan, spokesman for the U.S. delegation to preliminary talks with North Vietnam.

But he said the North Vietnamese want today's opening (See TALKS, Page 3)

Committee OKs Extension Of Agriculture Act

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Agriculture Committee, turning down President Johnson's request for a permanent extension, has approved a one-year continuation of the federal government's basic farm program.

The committee reported the bill to the House floor Thursday on a vote of 28 to 5. It extends price supports and acreage diversion, along with programs for dairy products, feed grains, wheat, wool, cotton and other farm products.

Congressman Bob Price of Pampa, commenting on the committee's action to his constituents, said:

"The House Agriculture Committee voted a one-year extension of the 1965 Food and Agriculture Act Thursday. The Act was extended by the committee to the end of 1970 without amendments but the Act still will have to hurdle the Rules Committee and a vote on the House floor, which may be opposed by some of the big city Congressmen."

"I supported the extension because of our present day agriculture business dependency on the government program. These government support farm programs are but a round-about way of subsidizing the American consumer, who 10 years ago spent 25 per cent of his disposable income on food and today he spends 17.7 per cent of his disposable income for food. The present program will not change in any way, although I believe it should be changed and probably will be in separate proposals that are now under consideration by the committee, which I hope will help reverse the exodus of people from agriculture to large cities and raise their income, which is 74 per cent of parity, the lowest since 1933 to a level equal to the average of all other segments of income in our nation."

Rain

(Continued From Page 1) bled. Rockport is in the same South Texas area as Corpus Christi, some parts of which have had as much as 20 inches of rain.

Midland, with an unofficial seven inches of rain in a storm Thursday, had hundreds of homes flooded. Police said one area of about 200 homes was submerged. At the height of the storm, water rose to six feet in streets.

Post Oak Creek swelled out of its banks in Corsicana, 65 miles southeast of Dallas, flooding a section of expensive homes.

The Corsicana emergency corps had to rescue with a boat a man in a wheelchair before dawn. Water rose two feet deep in his home. At last report, most of the Corsicana flood had receded but Community Park along the creek still was under water.

The cold front which had caused the year's worst storms by hanging across the state moved further south, increasing the size of East and Central Texas storms.

The Dallas Weather Bureau said the air flow aloft was becoming more westerly which should shut off most of the storms by Saturday.

Some Relief Likely 2 Corpus Christi and South Texas, which have been under the heaviest siege, may get relief faster than East and Central Texas areas because of geographical position.

In the city, where more than 50 blocks of buildings had been burned out in combat, thousands of refugees made homes for themselves in the streets.

They clutched packages of clothes, food and portable valuables. Children watched funeral processions pass. There was no accurate count of civilian casualties. Scores of bodies still lay under the heaps of rubble.

Trucks sat at the city's edge, their loads of vegetables rotting. Police refused to let them in; a favorite Viet Cong way to get into Saigon is to hide among the vegetables. Prices for fruit, vegetables and meat doubled and more. But the government had stocks enough of rice. No one went hungry.

Talks (Continued From Page 1) ing session—set for 10 a.m. EDT—to discuss only procedure

Asked if it appeared Hanoi is stalling on getting down to positive negotiations, Jordan said, "I do not want to characterize their action."

Making clear that no war and peace issues would be discussed in the opening round, aides announced that the two top bargainers—America's roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and former North Vietnam Foreign Minister Xuan Thuy—were skipping the initial meeting.

Their top aides would attend in their place, it was announced.

Jordan told newsmen he assumed the Communists today wanted to take up such subjects as seating arrangements and "possibly the agenda" for the talks.

The U.S. spokesmen said he was unable to say when asked if he thought real negotiations might be held later in the day, after the opening meeting. But Jordan said he felt there would be no real negotiations on war and peace issues today.

When the real negotiations will start "is one of the things to be discussed at this procedural meeting," Jordan said.

The decision to call this afternoon's preliminary get-together was reached after Harriman and Thuy paid individual 15 minute courtesy calls on French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville at the Quai d'Orsay.

Mai Van Bo, the top Hanoi representative in Paris, told reporters Thuy's meeting with Couve de Murville was an expression of the growing friendship between the Vietnamese and the French people. He refused to expand on what he meant by a "technical" session this afternoon.

and gusty winds moved through and left an inch of rain. Flooding was feared along the Nueces River.

Rain or drizzle fell in Amarillo in the center of the Panhandle all night but no damage was reported. It also rained in North Central Texas.

Warnings of Flooding As the storms moved east, the Weather Bureau warned of flooding in low lying areas of East Texas. A heavy thunderstorm moved out of the Hempstead - Navasota - College Station area toward Huntsville.

In Midland, the Texas National Guard was called out to help people from their flooded homes and frequently had to use boats.

Gladys Ora Cullison, 611 N. Gray, McLean, died at 5:10 p. m. yesterday in Highland General Hospital, Pampa.

Mrs. Cullison was born Feb. 18, 1899, in Wood County, Okla. She moved to McLean from Pampa in 1959. She was married to W. R. Cullison in Independence, Kans., Dec. 24, 1919.

Mrs. Cullison was a member of the First Methodist Church in McLean and the World War I Auxiliary.

Funeral services will be held in the First Methodist Church in McLean Saturday at 3 p.m. with the Rev. Elton Wyatt, pastor, assisted by the Rev. Wesley Daniel, Spearman, officiating.

Interment will be in Memory Gardens in Pampa.

Mrs. Cullison is survived by her husband, W. R., of the home; two daughters, Mrs. Blanche Virginia Green of Spearman and Mrs. Rita Jo Cluck of Gruver; two sons, William Roy of Pampa and Marvin Jack of Burk Burnett; one sister, Mrs. Emma Rodgers, Las Vegas, Nev.; six grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

HAROLD L. GRAY

LA JOLLA, Calif. (UPI)—Harold L. Gray, creator of "Little Orphan Annie," the ageless comic strip moppet with oval voids for eyes, is dead at the age of 74.

His death Thursday from cancer came at Scripps Memorial Hospital here after an illness of several months. He worked at his drawing table on the strip millions read until three days before his death.

Funeral services for David Frank Skaggs Sr., who died Wednesday in Mason City, Iowa, will be held at 10:30 a.m. Saturday in the Carmichael-Whately Funeral Chapel here.

Rev. Oland Butler, pastor of the First Methodist Church in White Deer, will officiate. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Palbearers will be Russ Howdgrass, Clayton Powers, Leroy Spodgrass, R. A. Holmes, R. E. Martin and Winfield Powers.

Mr. Skaggs, a former Pampa man who resided with his wife in Tulsa, Okla., at the time of his death, was a member of the Methodist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Laura, of Tulsa; two sons, David in the Navy's air force and John, a student at Tallequah, Okla.; a daughter Mrs. Ben Picone of Atlanta, Ga.; his stepmother, Mrs. Laura Jo Skaggs of White Deer; four sisters, Mrs. Samuel Tibbits of Albuquerque, N. M.; Mrs. Leonard Click of Hereford, Mrs. Charles Harper of San Diego, Calif., and Mrs. Charles Ford of Wilmington, Del.; one brother, Taylor Skaggs of Los Angeles, Calif.; and four grandchildren.

MRS. LAURA MAUDE COX

Mrs. Laura Maude Cox, born Feb. 19, 1892, at Old Mobeetie, died in Worley Hospital in Pampa at 5:16 p.m. yesterday.

Mrs. Cox was a resident of Miami since the age of six. She married J. R. Cox Sr. in Miami in January of 1915. Mr. Cox died in January of 1949.

Mrs. Cox was a member of the First Methodist Church in Miami and of the Woman's Society of Christian Service there. She was also a member of the Order of Eastern Star.

Survivors include two sons, Newton M. Cox and William E. Cox, both of Miami; one brother, Sam Black of Groom; four half-brothers, Lawrence Black of Tulsa, Charlie Black of Dumas, George and Frank Black of Odessa; two sisters, Mrs. John Schaffer of Amarillo and Mrs. Lillie Lambert of Groom; four half-sisters, Mrs. Alice Smith and Mrs. Pauline Guill, both of Amarillo, Mrs. Annie Wilson of Meade, Kans., and Mrs. Bess Shaw of San Francisco, Calif.; and two grandchildren of Miami.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. Saturday in the First Methodist Church in Miami with the Rev. D. D. Creecy, pastor, officiating, assisted by Rev. Thurmond Boswell, pastor of the First Christian Church of Miami.

Interment will be in Miami Cemetery. The body will lie in state at the church an hour before funeral services and the casket will be closed at the funeral. Carmichael-Whately Funeral Home of Pampa is in charge of arrangements.

Palbearers will be J.W. Thompson, Bill Tolbert, R. W. Beck, Frank Craig, Glenn Dodson, Wilbur Lyons, Vic Joyner and Bill Wiley.

New Airmail Stamp To Be Issued

Postmaster R. W. McPhillips Jr. announced today the Post Office Department will mark a half century of airmail service on May 15 at Washington, D.C., with issuance of a 10-cent commemorative airmail stamp. The stamp is printed in black, blue and red and will go on sale here May 16.

On May 15, 1918, from a small makeshift airfield near the White House in Washington, D. C., the first mail plane took off for New York City, via Philadelphia. The star witness was the President of the United States, Woodrow Wilson.

During the next few years, to meet the demands of the U.S. Postal Service, the airmail pioneers steadily improved air transportation. The first complete transcontinental service was established on February 22, 1921, when a plane left San Francisco and arrived the next morning in New York. Transit time was a day and a half.

Today one modern jet can carry 27,000 pounds of mail from coast to coast in four hours. Fifty years ago it would have taken 675 Curtis Jennies to accomplish the same task and one and a half days to make the trip. One jet plane carries almost twice as much mail on one trip today than was hauled by all the mail planes in the country during the entire year of 1918.

Ironically, as the 50th anniversary of the first scheduled air mail flight approaches, air mail as a separate, premium service is nearing the end of its journey. After the final touches have been put on the airlift network—probably next year—the Post Office will ask Congress to abolish air mail as a separate category and establish a single priority mail service to be delivered by the fastest possible means, which, for all mail going an appreciable distance, will mean by air.

Good Crowd At Band Concert A packed crowd, estimated at near 1,500 attended the all-city school band concert featuring around 350 musicians at the field house Thursday night.

The elementary school bands representing four Pampa grade schools played separately and with the high school and other city musicians at the event, as did the two junior high bands.

The Pampa High School band, recent winners of the Sweepstakes in the band festival at Enid, Okla., also played together with other musicians and separately.

Reuther Threatens To Pull Auto Group From Giant AFL-CIO ATLANTIC CITY (UPI)—Walter P. Reuther has warned the AFL-CIO that unless its leaders call a meeting by Dec. 15 to consider overhauling the labor movement, he will yank his 1.6 million United Auto Workers from the giant union.

Reuther, who for two years has been feuding with AFL-CIO President George Meany, whom he accuses of failing to keep the labor federation in touch with the times, won unanimous support of his threat from 3,000 shouting, foot-stomping delegates attending the UAW's national convention.

Pampan Has Role In Baylor Opera

Phil Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Smith, 1918 N. Nelson, has a part in the Baylor University School of Music spring opera production "The Crucible" at Waco.

Smith, a junior history major, plays the part of the Rev. John Hale in the American contemporary opera by Robert Ward. The opera is based on an Arthur Miller play on the notorious witch trials in Salem, Mass., in 1692.

The Baylor production, which had five showings, was the first Texas performance of the opera.

Smith is a member of the A Cappella Choir and has been named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. He is a member of the Baylor Chamber of Commerce and Omicron Delta Kappa, men's leadership fraternity. He is a 1965 graduate of Pampa High School.

House Votes Changes In Holidays WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House, according to a saddened minority of traditionalists, has decided it can tell a lie about when George Washington was born.

It also voted late Thursday to uproot Memorial Day and Veterans Day and shift them, along with Washington's Birthday, so that each would fall on a Monday instead of a specific day of the month.

The vote was 212 to 83. The main object of the legislation, which now goes to an uncertain fate in the Senate, is to establish more three-day weekends a year.

Under the bill, beginning in 1971 the official celebration of Washington's Birthday would be shifted from Feb. 22 to the third Monday in February. Memorial Day, now May 30, would be celebrated the last Monday in May. Veterans Day would be switched from No. 11 to the fourth Monday in October.

Christmas, New Year's Day, Thanksgiving and the Fourth of July would not be affected.

Tomorrow Last Day For Special Pet Vaccinations A final appeal was made to Pampa pet owners today to have their dogs and cats vaccinated against rabies while the special vaccination fee still is in effect through tomorrow.

Veterinarians have been vaccinating pets this week at a special fee of $2.

"Tomorrow will be the last day to have the animals vaccinated at this special rate," R. B. Cooke, assistant city manager, said today.

Local Youth T Participate In Science Program Chris Dunham, Pampa High School junior and son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Dunham, 2537 Duncan, is one of 24 outstanding science students in Texas selected to participate in the Secondary Science Training Program to be held for nine weeks this summer at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, Ruston, La.

The program is sponsored by a grant from the National Science Foundation, according to Robert Eloff, SSTP director.

Participants from throughout the nation were nominated by their high school principals and science teachers.

The science institute will be held in the Louisiana Tech physics department from June 3 through Aug. 3.

Retired Navy commander Arthur C. LeClert has joined Cabot Corp. in Pampa as regional accounting manager in the Carbon Black Division, according to an announcement today by S. E. Burham, comptroller for U. S. Cabot Carbon Black plants.

LeClert was retired only recently at the Defense Atomic Support Agency, Sandia Base, N. M., where he had been assigned as comptroller of Joint Task Force Eight since July, 1966.

LeClert retired after more than 24 years of military service. A native of Stockton, Calif., he was a 1943 graduate of Stockton High School. He earned an Associate of Arts degree at Stockton Junior College, a B.A. degree at the University of Maryland and a Master's degree in business administration from Harvard Graduate School.

The retiree is married to the former Carmen Leyba of Albuquerque, N. M., and they reside at 1128 Seneca Ln.

Youth Hospitalized After Incident Here A 16-year-old Pampa youth was admitted to Highland General Hospital, put under restraint and given medication after he allegedly threatened to shoot his father last night.

The youth reportedly had a rifle and a pistol but a police search failed to turn them up, according to a police report.

No charges were filed.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: In our circle there is a widow past 65 who has a man living with her. He's a cousin (widower) about her age. She tells people that she is afraid to be alone in the house without a man. The home is hers and this cousin helps with the household chores. They share expenses, and seem to be enjoying the arrangement.

Most of her friends do not approve of this setup, but so far they haven't let her know how they feel. What do you think of such an arrangement?

TRUMPS: I think every widow over 65 should be so lucky as to have a male cousin about her age with whom to share her home, expenses, and to keep her company. And that goes double for widowers.

DEAR ABBY: I met a girl four months ago and we were immediately attracted to one another. We saw a lot of each other, so our four months courtship is not really as brief as it sounds. (She's 22 and I am 26.)

We plan to marry soon, but she says we have to keep it a secret from everyone but our folks on account of her job. She says she promised her boss before he hired her that she would not get married for at least two years. (She's been there almost a year.) She says they would not have hired her otherwise as they don't hire girls who plan on getting married because after they marry they get pregnant right away, and then they either quit or take a long leave of absence, and they're never the same after that.

I say she should tell her boss she's taking "The Pill" and doesn't plan on getting pregnant for at least five years, and if he doesn't want to keep her, she can get another job.

She says she likes her job and doesn't want to risk losing it. Besides she gets a nice bonus and increases after each year.

I say, no wife of mine is going to work as a "miss" and leave her wedding ring in the drawer. Who is right?

JIMMY: I think you are. And if your girl doesn't see it your way, she obviously is more interested in her job than she is in you. Tell her to explain to her boss that she made the promise not to wed before she met you, also that she doesn't plan on having a family for several years, but how she intends to go about it is strictly her business.

DEAR ABBY: I hope this doesn't sound dumb, coming from a 16-year-old girl, but I haven't dated much and I need to know. Should a girl ever kiss a guy on their first date?

BRONX ADDRESS: The "act" itself is not as important as the motivation. A good-night kiss should communicate "affection," never "thanks." If a boy has shown you a very nice evening, say "thank you" — do not kiss him out of obligation or gratitude.

If there is no "feeling" for the other person, the kiss is meaningless and cheap. A girl should kiss a boy because she WANTS to — not because HE wants to kiss her, or because she feels she owes him something.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SICK, FROM A SMALL TOWN": Time may eventually heal the wound. It may also wound the heel. The advice from here is, "Cool it."

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mother's Day Had Its Start A Century Ago

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—The day that a nation celebrates in honor of one special woman had its beginnings more than a century ago.

The idea for this special day began during the Civil War with Mrs. Anna Reeves Jarvis, who sought to drive out bitterness and hate between the "Blue" and the "Gray" as sometimes only a mother's love can do.

Mrs. Jarvis might well be called the mother of Mother's Day, which the nation will observe next Sunday. But her efforts never were officially recognized.

Began Campaign
It was her daughter, Anna, who in 1905 began the campaign to establish the day as a national celebration when each person would pay tribute to that special person in his or her life.

The day should be in May, she decided, when flowers were profuse and the white carnation, her mother's favorite, should be the day's emblem.

But it took Anna Jarvis some years. It was not until February 4, 1914, that the Congress proclaimed the second Sunday in May as Mother's day, and a national flag holiday. William Jennings Bryan, then secretary of state, proclaimed that the day's purpose was to "establish and perpetuate work for the well being of the home—to give emphasis to the fountainhead of the state and that a tribute to the love of the mother and father resolves itself into a tribute to their law and that recognition of their law means love for country, for comrades and for God."

To help in that perpetuation, there was the forming of an American Mothers Committee in 1933 to single out one mother in each state or territory, and one nationally to be eulogized. The committee at the time was part of the Golden Rule foundation, but in 1950 became an independent organization.

Negotiators Meet
LONDON (UPI)—Representatives of Nigeria and the secessionist state of Biafra met for about two hours Tuesday night in the second round of talks aimed at settling their 10-month-old civil war.

No statement was issued on the meeting, which was held in a secret place, and it was not known when the two delegations

POLLY'S POINTERS Rotation Method Saves Wear on China Dishes

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — I live alone and have a new set of china with flowers and a silver edging on it. To keep these dishes wearing alike, I put the freshly washed ones on the bottom of the stack and use them from the top.

—MRS. H. B. I.

DEAR POLLY — I am answering J. P. B., who has water spots on her stainless steel flatware. I clean mine with a silver cleaner about once a month and then, ever so often, in between, I wash in vinegar water and dry very thoroughly. The silver cleaner seems to keep the spots from reappearing so quickly.

—MARILYN

DEAR POLLY — I had the same trouble with water spots on stainless steel as does J.P.B. but I found by rubbing the flatware lightly with a soap pad, rinsing with hot water and immediately towel drying works great.

—MRS. C. W.

MRS. L. J. L.

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — Can you tell me how to remove old dried milk spots from a baby bed without sanding it down?
MRS. H. R.

DEAR POLLY — When giving baby a bath, partially fill a hot-water bottle with warm water and place the bottle in the tub. Set the baby on it. He will not slip and will have a comfortable seat in the tub while being bathed.

When the markets open cartons they often cut off the tops.

Long bloused sleeves with wide, wide cuffs were everywhere.

Travilla went to Russia, particularly to the Russian military, for his inspiration. There were hussar coats, tsarina sleeves, bodices borrowed from the Russian lieutenant blouse, cartridge pockets cossack pants.

The A-line skirt was still popular. Other skirts were partially shirred, or had wide flounces falling from the hipline.

There were only a handful of midis. Hemlines generally just brushed the top of the knee. Sleeves got a lot of attention.

Wesleyan Service Guild Has Meeting In Church Parlor

The Wesleyan Service Guild met recently in the parlor of the First Methodist Church.

The meeting was opened with group singing, "Jesus Savior, Pilot Me" after which Mrs. Lee Harrah gave the devotional, taking the scripture from the book of Jude, "Keep Yourself in the Love of God," emphasizing that through seeking God's will in means of service to mankind, through prayer and worship we keep ourselves in the love of God. Ida Pool directed the study of the mission of the church. She discussed the fields in which the church had and is successfully carrying out its mission and also showed where the church is failing to meet the needs in other opportunities of service. She was assisted by Diamia Wood, Alma Wilson, Mmes. Irl Smith, J. M. Turner, Sherman White, and Malcolm Denon.

During the business session conducted by the president, Mrs. O. G. Smith, reports were given including the treasurer's report given by Mrs. L. B. Penick, who reported that a total of $429.35 had been contributed toward missions and local work this past year.

Nineteen members attended. Not mentioned previously were: Mmes. John Rosenberg, Charlie Brunson, Don Nonstiel, Aubrey Jones, Grace Boston, Ester Daugherty, Lalar Wilkerson, and Misses Alice Gordon and Inez

California Designers Follow Trend To Cinched Waist

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—California designers followed the trend back to the cinched-in waist in their fall collections this week but offered some compromises to the customer spoiled by the free, easy styles of recent years.

Often designers hastened to assure their audiences that in many of the belted styles the dress was constructed so that it could be worn without one. Sometimes the belt was only loosely placed at the waist, or high above it, or at the natural waist in the back rising to empire in the front.

Silhouettes were skinnier, particularly from shoulders to waist, where they then flared gently outward. Michael Novarese introduced what he called a "scapular look," A-line panels front and back that after nipping in at the waist dropped into side pleats on the skirt.

Coat-dress costumes were popular both for day and evening. Jumpers were back, and so were shirtdresses, but often softened with pleated ruffles down the front and at the sleeves.

There were only a handful of midis. Hemlines generally just brushed the top of the knee. Sleeves got a lot of attention.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP OF TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE
 The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Collective Guilt Nonsense

One of the most disgusting results of the Nuremberg trials after World War II was the gain in acceptance of the concept of collective guilt. Because some Germans were guilty of unspeakable crimes, the non-sequitur went, all Germans were guilty.

Individuals who subscribe to the concept of mass guilt should think one step further and realize that the concept, in our force oriented society, also involves mass punishment.

The country is currently experiencing a collective guilt spasm brought about by the murder of Martin Luther King and we recommend the following comments by the editors of the Wall Street Journal as a splendid discussion of the subject:

In a time of national sadness and tension it is understandable some talk a bit foolishly, as some are doing when they accuse white America of collective guilt in the slaying of Martin Luther King. So it was, too, in the days after President Kennedy's assassination.

But when erudite people like anthropologist Ashley Montagu voice the sentiment, perhaps it's worth a word of rebuttal. In a recent letter to the New York Times, Montagu contends white Americans "are as responsible for the death of one of humanity's greatest leaders, Martin Luther King, as if we had pulled the trigger ourselves."

If that language isn't strong enough, he also has this to say: "There is no 'race problem' there is no 'Negro problem', but there is a sick white man problem, and he is the Negro's problem as well as humanity's challenge."

Now of course no one denies the terrible sufferings and wrongness of slavery or that many Negroes have had a bad time since emancipation. A white American today can readily curse the slave ship captains of 300 years ago (and let's not forget the Arabs and the African tribal chiefs who made the trade possible). But collective guilt is another matter entirely.

Americans did not invent slavery, as an anthropologist ought to know. It is at least as old as the human discovery that something more useful could be done with captured enemies than killing them or eating them. It has existed in many societies, both openly and thinly disguised.

Americans, in any event, did put an end to (overt) slavery in this country, belatedly to be sure but definitely they have tried, especially through the law, to give the Negro full citizenship and in recent years they have gone far in that direction. That it has not been easy on anybody is in part because there is indeed a race problem — here and everywhere different races confront each other. Racial antipathy, or fear of whatever it is, exists not only in South Africa but also in the newly independent black controlled African states, and between Africans of different tribes; some of our own Negro spokesmen are frankly whitehaters. It exists not only in America but in England and elsewhere. We don't even have to discuss something so fundamental as race; a look at a bellicose world shows it rife with enmity among nations even of the same ethnic strain.

None of which justifies racial resentments in America, although this country has dealt with the problem as well as any and better than most. It ought to be possible, however, to realize racial attitudes lie deep in human nature and are not confined to one nation or one race. Those who hope and endeavor to eradicate such feelings deserve praise, not blame.

No one thing wrong with the notion of collective guilt is whether its theorists perceive it or not, it in effect gives up on more more more more human beings. If all white America is guilty (albeit most are demonstrably innocent) and if racial emotions are universal, then it is human nature itself that is under attack. And where does that get anyone?

Another thing wrong with the theory is it denies individual responsibility. If all are guilty, the one who did the deed is not more so, even though in this case one specific individual obviously did pull the trigger. It doesn't add up to a very edifying concept of morality or justice.

That consideration suggests what is probably basically wrong with the collective-guilt doctrine: It simply doesn't make any sense. The people who espouse it in connection with race would not dream of doing so in other, perfectly analogous contexts. At any rate we do not hear them denouncing the Russian peoples and slave labor. Or proclaiming, since we Americans derive mostly from Europe, we are therefore to be held responsible for medieval serfdom.

Nor are these theorists likely to approve of the idea of guilt by association. Yet collective guilt is guilt by association with a vengeance.

In the days since the murder of Martin Luther King, the American people have shown their profound sorrow at the event. Even in the midst of the riots that followed, the response has been more sorrow than anger. Unquestionably the majority of both races wish such tragedies could not happen and the amelioration could come faster.

It does not help that process for people, learned or otherwise, to prate nonsense about collective guilt.

Sacrosanct Foreign Aid

Is foreign aid sacrosanct? It would appear so. The Taxpayers Committee to End Foreign Aid, formerly the Citizens Foreign Aid Committee had some comments and suggestions in its April 29 news release:

"Foreign aid is 22 years old, including interest on the money we have borrowed to give away. Its total cost can be calculated at $164 billion. Annual interest on foreign aid expenditures is some $4 billion. Unexpended foreign aid dollars from prior years' authorizations total on the order of $15 billion. For fiscal '69, the President has asked the Congress to authorize more than $11 billion. If the Congress complies, AID officials will have a spending authority of approximately $26 billion.

"There is nothing in the U.S. economy, balanced budgets at home and abroad would not cure. Foreign aid is the natural enemy of sound economy. Every foreign aid dollar spent at home for goods sent abroad is inflationary; every aid dollar spent abroad contributes to our foreign balance of payments

WASHINGTON

By RAY CROMLEY

Washington Correspondent
SAKOL NAKORN, Northeast Thailand (NEA)—The Thai here in the Northeast are using a system of fighting communist guerrillas that might well be adopted profitably in important areas of South Vietnam.

These techniques depend heavily on police work in depth and sustained intelligence operations. They depend less on bombing. With less bombing, fewer Communist sympathizers are created. By gradually isolating the Communists into non-man's-land areas, fewer civilians are killed and destruction of homes is reduced.

We are now at Target Objective 6. Across the plain, somewhat more than a rifle shot away, are the foothills the Communist guerrillas use as their base and hideout.

No one knows for certain how many guerrillas are in this small cluster of hills—100... 300... 600. Periodically, search-and-destroy teams move in. They rarely find guerrillas. The Communists fade away as the troops advance. The take is usually a few empty caves, sometimes a little food, but not much else.

The Thai troops do know the guerrillas are there. There are raids on the villages. The military intelligence men have detailed maps showing the trails used by Red units and Red messengers when they move in and out of the villages for supplies and for liaison with their village contacts.

This reporter looks at the hills but he can see nothing from this distance. We fly low off the right flank of the hills by helicopter. But, again, there's nothing to be seen.

The major objective of Target Objective 6 is not the semiteflut search-and-destroy missions. It is to isolate and starve out the Communists—separate them from the neighboring communities on which they depend for food, medicine and intelligence and to keep them on the run so they will have no time to rest.

With this in mind 10 man teams are permanently stationed in the two dozen villages surrounding Target Objective 6. On the average, each of these teams is composed of eight civilian defense men (normally reservists) and two police.

Each team patrols its own village, sets out guards, talks to the people, gains their confidence, gathers information on which households have relatives or friends among the guerrillas. The Prime objective is to know the habits of the guerrillas and to anticipate their plans so they cannot sneak into the villages for food, rest, medical care or other aid.

Concurrently, military patrols periodically move around and in to the foothills themselves to search out guerrilla activity and keep them off balance. This system is not working perfectly. The Communists continuously infiltrate new men into these foothills from Laos nearby. Despite the patrols and security squads, the Communist guerrillas regularly sneak into the villages at night from their foothill bases.

When they want to move into a village in numbers, the guerrillas organize a diversion at one end of the village. When Thai security men are occupied with the diversion, another Communist unit moves into the village from another direction.

Though the general commanding this area is first rate, and though he has highly aggressive first-line troops, the very nature of this type of operation is slowpaced. The local patrols—feeling none of the urgency of a real fight—therefore some times simply go through the motions.

Nevertheless, and despite these weaknesses, the system seems to be working in this particular target area. The guerrillas seem to be getting hungrier. Judged by their operations, their morale and their equipment seem to be deteriorating.

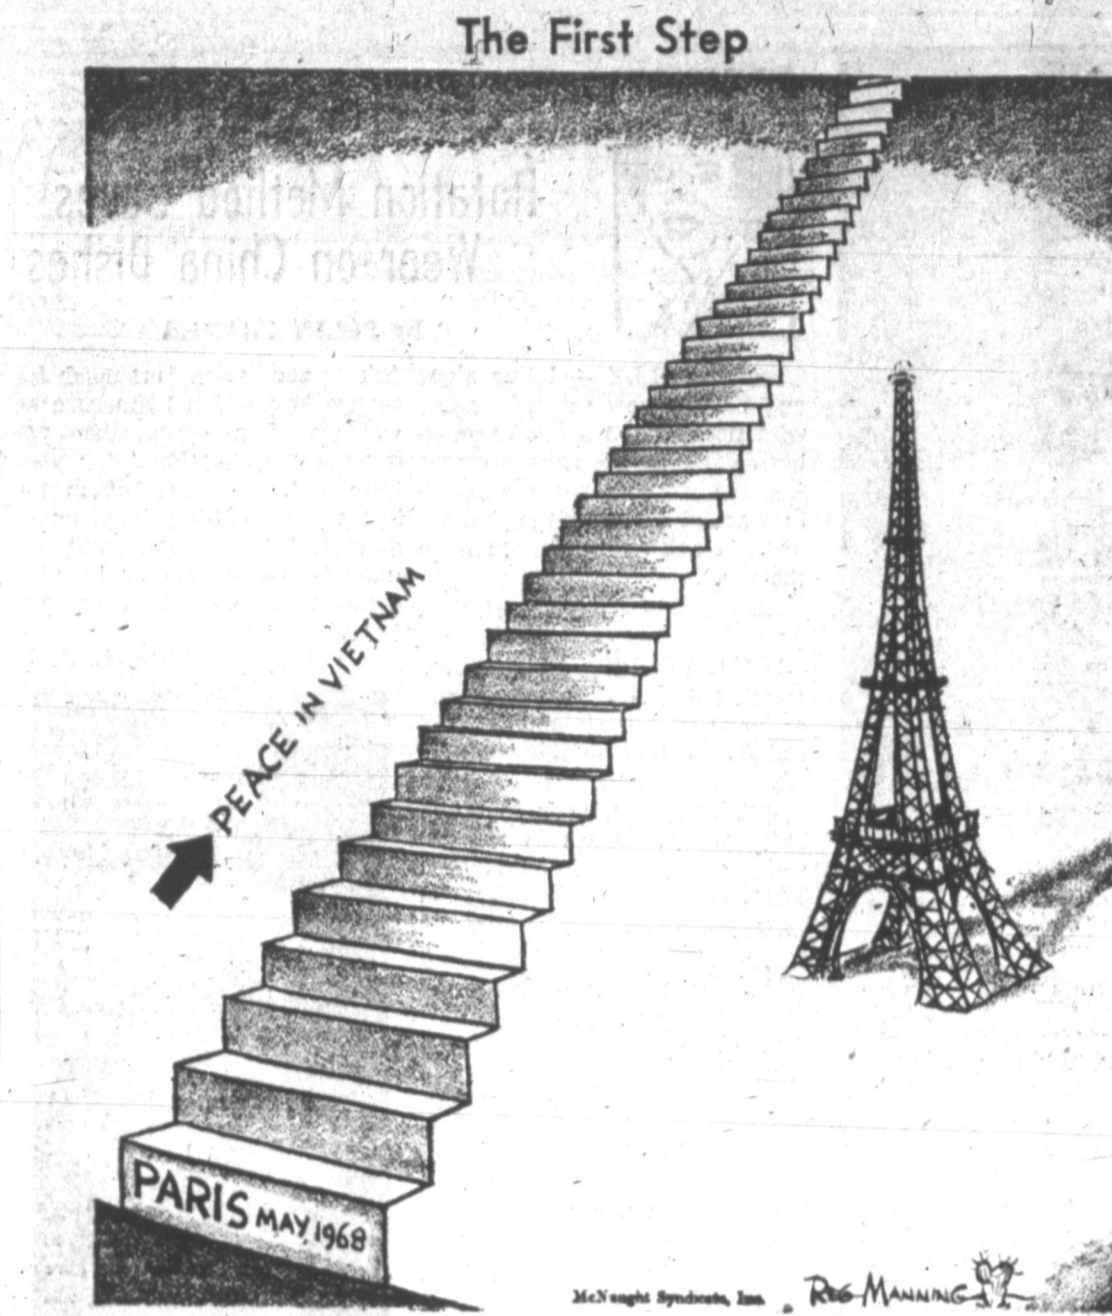

The challenge the Thai commanding general in this area faces is to iron out these bugs in his excellent operation he force the Communists are able to build up their strength inordinately by bringing in newly trained men from Laos and North Vietnam.

Emphysema Sufferer Must Avoid Polluted Air

Q—What is the cause of emphysema? What are the symptoms and the treatment, if any?

A—This disease is caused by long, continued exposure to polluted air. In order to get the maximum pollution in the shortest period nothing beats cigarette smoking. The small air sacs in the lungs become valve-like in that the air taken into them does not flow out freely. The victim has a chronic cough. As the disease progresses, shortness of breath on mild exertion becomes the chief complaint.

H. L. Hunt Writes

CRIME FOR CRIME'S SAKE

Reading the newspapers these days is an unswerving experience to law-abiding citizens because of the prevalence of crime. One of its most shocking aspects is the utter senselessness of these crimes. Slashings and stabbings are perpetrated on persons trying to make a living, all for no apparent reason, making of our cities truly a jungle of savagery.

Students of the problem contend there is a distinct link between the increase in crime and tolerance of the courts toward criminals, with Supreme Court decisions actually shackling law enforcement agencies while turning loose criminals, in effect agitating the criminals to prey on a defenseless society.

Aware of increasing public concern about such decisions, Chief Justice Earl Warren, one of those most responsible for the Court's agitation of criminal activities, made this statement which is both a defense of Supreme Court decisions contributing to crime and an alibi for the criminal element which the Court inspires:

"We note a tendency today to blame the courts and the rulings of the courts for the vast amount of crime. Thinking persons... know that crime is inseparably connected with... poverty, degradation, sordid social conditions... and the lack of education."

Such irresponsible, inaccurate statements by the country's highest judicial figure are examples of what has prompted the decisions that have inflicted all but irreparable harm on this Republic during Chief Justice Warren's tenure. The facts are that the lowest per capita crime rate in the nation's history was during the depression years; and the highest, during the so-called "prosperous" years. Figures also reflect that today's citizens have the highest education per capita in the nation's history to go with the phenomenal crime rate. The penchant of collectives for bending the facts to fit their fancy and glossing over the truth have dealt a near-fatal blow to freedom in this country.

Accident-Prone? Not This Gal! If past performance holds true, as of this moment there are at least 3,650 new studies of the Typical American Woman in various stages of preparation for press, camera or learned journal.

Hardly a day goes by, it seems, without another 10 reports on the female of the species (Mulier Americanis), showing conclusively why she is frustrated, hostile, aggressive, submissive, neurotic or hungry. If the Typical Female Specimen ever stopped answering questionnaires and quit submitting to laboratory observation, we would be very happy. True, it might put two-thirds of the nation's scientists out of work. But they would soon begin studying each other. And we could then find out why they are obsessive-repulsive.

Whatever the American Woman may be, we simply do not believe she is the specimen under all these microscopes, magnifying glasses and slide-rules. What specimens they are scrutinizing, we do not know. And furthermore, we do not care. But it would be a great personal kindness to us if they would stop.

We have gone a little glassy-eyed on this subject because the U. S. Public Health Service has just come out with yet another study of the Typical American Woman—this time on why she is either accident-prone or accident-free around the house.

This study put a sample of specimens in laboratory-controlled kitchens and then observed how they made a meal, washed the dishes and clothes, reached for objects on high shelves, and so on.

And the results of this new study? Well, it turns out that the accident-prone specimen is shorter than average in height, emotional and not particularly well organized.

The accident-free woman, on the other hand, is taller, calmer, faster, well-organized, and knows how to follow directions.

We find something else. But that, naturally, is because we do not know any specimens. We only know a few women. And our research indicates that being accident-prone has, practically nothing to do with how short a lady is or how emotional or poorly co-ordinated.

According to our findings, the accident-free woman is about 40 years old, a blonde, married and quite breathtaking to look at.

She avoids accidents in the kitchen by having a well-coordinated cook to prepare the meals and serve them. If she needs things from an out-of-reach shelf, a very tall butler takes them down.

The accident-free woman we know runs no risk from appliances—such as the washing machine, either, because her clothes never get dirty. Or if they do, she throws them out and orders new ones from the store. The boxes, of course, are

If you watch the golf tours on TV you have probably wondered how fast the balls travel when driven off a tee by champs like Arnold Palmer, Gary Player, Jack Nicklaus and the other top-notchers. Well, no matter how hard they may swing at a ball it cannot travel faster than 250 feet per second, which averages out to about 170 mph. The balls used are tested and approved by the U. S. Golf Association, which set up a speed rule in 1942 that represented the top limit of ball performance. All reputable golf ball manufacturers adhere to the USGA specifications.

Today's smile: The salesman in the drug store said to the customer buying a toothbrush: "How about two of them? Buy one for your wife." The customer said: "No thanks. When I buy a new one I always give her the old one." He paused and added: She uses it to clean her shoes."

New York's Radio City Music Hall, the world's largest and most famous theater, is rightfully called the "Show place of the Nation." Records show 200 million people, more than the entire population of the United States, have enjoyed shows there since it opened in 1932. It has a regular patronage of 24,000 persons per day at the four shows presented. Incidentally, it is the only theater left in this country that presents a stage show along with motion pictures.

Thoughts while shaving: When we were young the term "grandma" implied an elderly lady, but that's not true in this jet age. Many become grandmothers these days at 38 or 40 and they'd evoke a wolf whistle from any discriminating gent... Sir James Barrie who wrote "Peter Pan" once observed: "Nothing is really work unless you'd rather be doing something else..." Years ago we recall having paid a quarter to see a common pin on which had been engraved the Lord's Prayer, 69 words, 297 letters. You viewed it through a powerful magnifying glass. The feat of engraving was done by Charles Baker of Spokane, Wash., who had once worked at the U. S. Bureau of Printing and Engraving in the nation's capital. It took him three years to complete the work. At this late date we wonder if Baker even made any money on his trips around the country exhibiting his work and also we wonder what's happened to the pin? You often hear the expression "heavy as lead," but if someone mentioned anything being as "heavy as osmium" you probably wouldn't know what he was talking about. Osmium is the heaviest of all element metals. For example: a baseball made of osmium would weigh more than 40 regular baseballs. The Chicago (Ill.) TRIBUNE headlined a story: "Wrigley Fights Inflation—by Gum." That's one to chew over.

Country Editor speaking: "We will bet a lot of those wives who worship the ground their husbands walk on are not married to golfers or letter carriers."

Your Dental Health

By DR. WM. LAWRENCE

DEAR DOCTOR: Can you please tell me what Paget's disease of the jaw is? What are the symptoms and what is the cure?

ANSWER: Paget's disease is not specifically a disease of the jaw but rather of the entire body skeleton. When the jaws are involved, upper jaws are more often affected than lower in women more than men, and in middle life or later.

It is a slow, progressive disease, causing enlargement of alveolar bone that supports the teeth. The growth pattern is irregular, sometimes involving both sides of the jaw, sometime one.

The nature of the disease is unknown and, although some few cases become malignant, it's not considered to be a cancerous growth, and does not shorten life.

Paget's disease is rare, of unknown origin and with no satisfactory treatment. Cosmetic surgery is sometimes resorted to when marked disfigurement occurs, or when enlargement of the jaw interferes with proper seating of dentures.

Bone growth can spread and loosen teeth and in some cases seems to cause irregular barnacle-like enlargement of roots.

Diagnosis is difficult, since other jaw diseases have similar symptoms. Changes in the jaw bone often appear before any symptoms are visible in the rest of the skeleton. These changes are sometimes found in routine diagnostic x-rays of teeth. The X-ray picture of bone is said to present a "cotton wool" appearance. But biopsy may be necessary to confirm diagnosis.

DEAR DR. LAWRENCE: My husband had a tooth pulled and the dentist told him he had a bone disease in the marrow of the long bones. What could this disease be and is it dangerous?

ANSWER: It's impossible to speculate on the nature of the disease your husband is said to have. It would seem prudent for him to have a physical and oral exam with blood analysis and biopsy and, after complete evaluation, proper treatment should be initiated.

opened by a pair of scissors attached to an unemotional maid. Moreover, there is no likelihood of the kiddies' toys being dangerously underfoot. A well-adjusted governess sees to that.

As we see the accident-free woman on the basis of our research, her only worry is to avoid tripping on gangplanks and ballroom floors.

Now, we will admit that our findings contradict the facts of pure science in the U.S. Public Health Service study.

But if we are wrong in our research, we would like to hear about it from the specimens themselves for a change.

It's Up To You

Gold Reserve Solution

We have sold about half of our enormous quantity of gold at $35 an ounce. This is probably somewhere between one-third to one-half of its real value. Since $20 gold pieces are advertised for $50 apparently gold is worth about three times the set price of $35 per ounce. No one knows exactly what it would sell for in a free market. But such evidence as is available would seem to indicate that it would bring somewhere between $70 and $105 an ounce.

To continue selling gold at $35 per ounce is to deprive the American people of one-half to two-thirds of the value of their precious gold reserves.

To put an end to this practice we must reduce our spending both at home and abroad, sell as much as we buy from foreign countries, balance our budget, stop inflation. Alternatively, we could devalue the dollar, that is raise the price of gold, or refuse to pay out gold when foreign dollar-claims are presented. Either of the latter alternatives would be disastrous. The intelligent way out of our dilemma is to cut foreign spending until the balance of payments runs once more in our direction. When we do this the dollar and our gold reserves will be safe. There is no other honorable and satisfactory solution to our problem.

One thing that aggravates our balance-of-payment problem is the practice of sending Social Security benefits to nearly 200,000 persons living abroad. Some of these people are behind the Iron Curtain. Others are in Hong Kong, Africa, most European countries, Canada, the Philip pine Islands, Mexico and, until recently at least, Cuba. Some thing like $165 million per year is sent to Social Security beneficiaries residing abroad. About $36 million, for instance, goes to Italy each year to more than 36,000 beneficiaries. Many of these people have worked for a few years to a normal working span in our country and then have returned to their country of origin to live in luxury the rest of their days. Would it be unreasonable to suggest that these people should live in the country that accords them the generous treatment and that they should spend their money here?

Panhandle Home For Aged Sets Open House To Start Observance

PANHANDLE (SPL) — To open National Nursing Week, May 12-19, St. Ann's Home for the Aged will hold open house from two to five p.m., May 12. Theme for the week's observance is "For a Better Life." Volunteers for the American Red Cross will serve refreshments. Boys and girls from the Children's Home will serve as guides for a tour of the Home and for other facilities in the area, including the recently built arts and crafts building for the Children's Home.

Residents in the Home, which has the highest classification for nursing homes, are from all area towns and from as far away as Pennsylvania and Massachusetts. It is accredited with both Medicare and Medicaid. It has 35 employees to care for the 52 residents, which is waiting list. Included on the staff are three registered nurses, three licensed vocational nurses, three orderlies and 18 nurses aides. Also assisting are 10 sisters from Sancta Maria Convent including an RN and LVN. Mother Feliciano of Sancta Maria's convent is director of the Home.

The oldest resident of the Home is J.M. Crain, Panhandle who will be 102, Sept. 13. A former resident was the late Uncle

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Educational and commercial television are collaborating on a common national project for the first time—a short video course about racial conflict in America.

The course, which will run from May 23 to 29, is entitled "One Nation, Indivisible?" and is intended for students in grades seven through 12 "in areas where local educational stations will carry the programs."

Schools throughout the country, through their administrators, have had their attention called to the programs.

According to National Educational Television, the broadcasts represent the first attempt in the United States to use video "as the medium for carrying a nationwide course of study to schoolrooms."

Ford Funds Used
NET adds that the project is being financed mainly by the Ford Foundation and administered by Education Development Center, Inc., of Cambridge and Newton, Mass.

"Newsweek, National Educational Television, and the three prefer to see the nation spared that torment, and would be pleased indeed if the experiment makes any contribution to that end.

"The main reason for our doing it now is to take advantage of what we believe to be a new mood which, in spite of the April riots, has followed the death of Dr. (Martin Luther) King, a mood of increased sensitivity and awareness on the part of many Americans.

"We also feel that any action that has the prospect of helping the country to reach a genuine solution—which means any action that might lead to a change of attitude—should be undertaken without delay."

preceding it will be three special video programs for teachers that, "together with printed teacher's guides, will introduce teachers to the course and prepare them to handle it in the classroom."

In a statement, the project's steering committee noted: "The tone will be one of restrained but pointed exploration. We seek to inform, not inflame. We seek to raise questions about attitudes, not provide final answers.

"We seek to look in various ways at the dilemma in which black and white Americans now find themselves, and in doing so to suggest to students that it is their problem too, not just a problem for adults."

The committee added: "The project is not being undertaken to help prevent a long hot summer—although like all men of good will we would

By United Press International Today is Friday, May 10, the 131st day of 1968 with 235 to follow.

The moon is between the first quarter and full phase.

The morning stars are Saturn and Venus.

The evening star is Jupiter.

On this day in history: In 1865 Confederate President Jefferson Davis was captured as he fled Irwinville, Ga., and was sentenced to two years in prison.

In 1940 89 divisions of the German army invaded Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands.

In 1941 Germany launched its biggest air raid to that date on London, damaging Westminster Abbey and the famed "Big Ben" clock.

In 1960 the United States' nuclear submarine, "Triton", completed an around the world voyage without surfacing.

A thought for the day: British chaplain Jeremy Taylor said, "no man ever repented that he rose from the table sober, hearty and with his wits about him."

THE LIGHTER SIDE Pity The Salesman

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—During his undergraduate days at the University of Wyoming (class of '63), Harold A. Krause made $30,000 selling cooking ware to housewives.

He did this by appealing to their cultural, rather than culinary, instincts. His pitch was made in rhyme.

"Girls," he would say, "if you don't buy my pots you're liable to end up cooking out of thin pans and tin cans and red pans and bed pans, none of which look a like or cook alike . . ."

Once he sold 7,000 items in a single week. But his feat was largely unappreciated, even in his own family.

Criticize Achievement His relatives began saying things like, "Why doesn't Hal get a job?" The implication being that selling cooking ware was beneath the dignity of a college man, poetry notwithstanding.

Krause resented that attitude. "Selling is the most lucrative of all professions, yet people are constantly putting salesmen down," he noted.

Subsequent enrollment in law school helped him see more clearly the injustice of it all. And it was then that he conceived his true mission in life.

So he dropped out of law school and formed American Salesmasters, Inc., an organization dedicated to elevating salesmen in the public esteem.

Krause was here this week holding a couple of seminars on the virtues of selling, which gave me a chance to check with him on the progress of the upliftment campaign.

"It's going great," he said. "People are beginning to realize that selling is the last frontier of the American Dream."

Impressive Pitch The sheer beauty of his words brought a lump to my throat. I said, "No wonder you made $30,000 selling pots and pans door-to-door."

"Please," he said, looking pained. "Don't say door-to-door. I prefer to think of it as person-to-person."

"Either way," I said, "that's a lot of pots and pans."

"The product doesn't matter," he said. "All salesmen sell the same thing. They sell people. In fact, I don't call it salesmanship; I call it 'humanics.'"

"Look at it this way: a salesman actually is an assistant buyer. He isn't selling you something. He's helping you buy it."

I looked at it that way and it made me regret those nasty things I said about the used car assistant who helped me buy the lemon I'm driving. I now realize he was a last frontiersman practicing humanics. Which rhymes with mechanics.

ETNA ERUPTS

CATANIA, Sicily (UPI)—Streams of lava poured out of two new mouths on the east side of Etna volcano today and explosions rocked the mountain's most active crater near the top but authorities said the flareup posed no immediate threat to inhabited places.

CRITICIZE U.S.

MADRID (UPI)—Manuel Fraga Iribarne, Spanish minister of information, said in a speech Wednesday that the United States was remiss in not supporting Spain in a dispute with Britain over ending Gibraltar's colonial status.

BARNARD HONORED

MILAN, Italy (UPI)—The Dag Hammerskjold International Prize for Science will go to D. Christiana Barnard, South Africa's pioneer heart transplant surgeon, founders of the award announced Wednesday.

FOR SATURDAY, May 11 GENERAL TENDENCIES: You suddenly have an overwhelming urge to achieve a great deal on your own resources, which is very good. Organize a course of action or attack on your problems. Then carry through with energy and steadfastness and you find you can get most anything that you wish if you also take in consideration other's viewpoints.

Cameron County Slates Special Program Honoring Viet Wounded

HARLINGEN (UPI)—A young Westlaco soldier who didn't make it home from the battlefield will be the star of the show this weekend when Cameron County stages its "Operation Gratitude" for 22 wounded Vietnam veterans.

Rollins Keppel, chairman of the Harlingen Chamber of Commerce's Public Affairs Committee, said Wednesday he had just learned that the Marine Corps would make a posthumous award of the Silver Star to Marine S. Sgt. Jose Rosa, who was killed in action on May 2, last year.

Now, on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, the 22 veterans, selected by the Marine Corps from military hospitals throughout the state, and flown into Harlingen by Trans-Texas Airways, will be honored and dined in a series of special events.

The presentation will be the only solemn note of the weekend. For the group of wounded Vietnam veterans who did make it back from the Vietnamese battlefield, "Operation Gratitude" promises to be the biggest "R and R" party this side of Hong Kong.

"The whole thing sort of got out of hand," said Keppel, whose chamber organization conceived the initial idea of a

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

REV. J. B. CALDWELL
Hi-Land Pentecostal Church
A MOTHER'S HONOR
2-JOHN 1:4

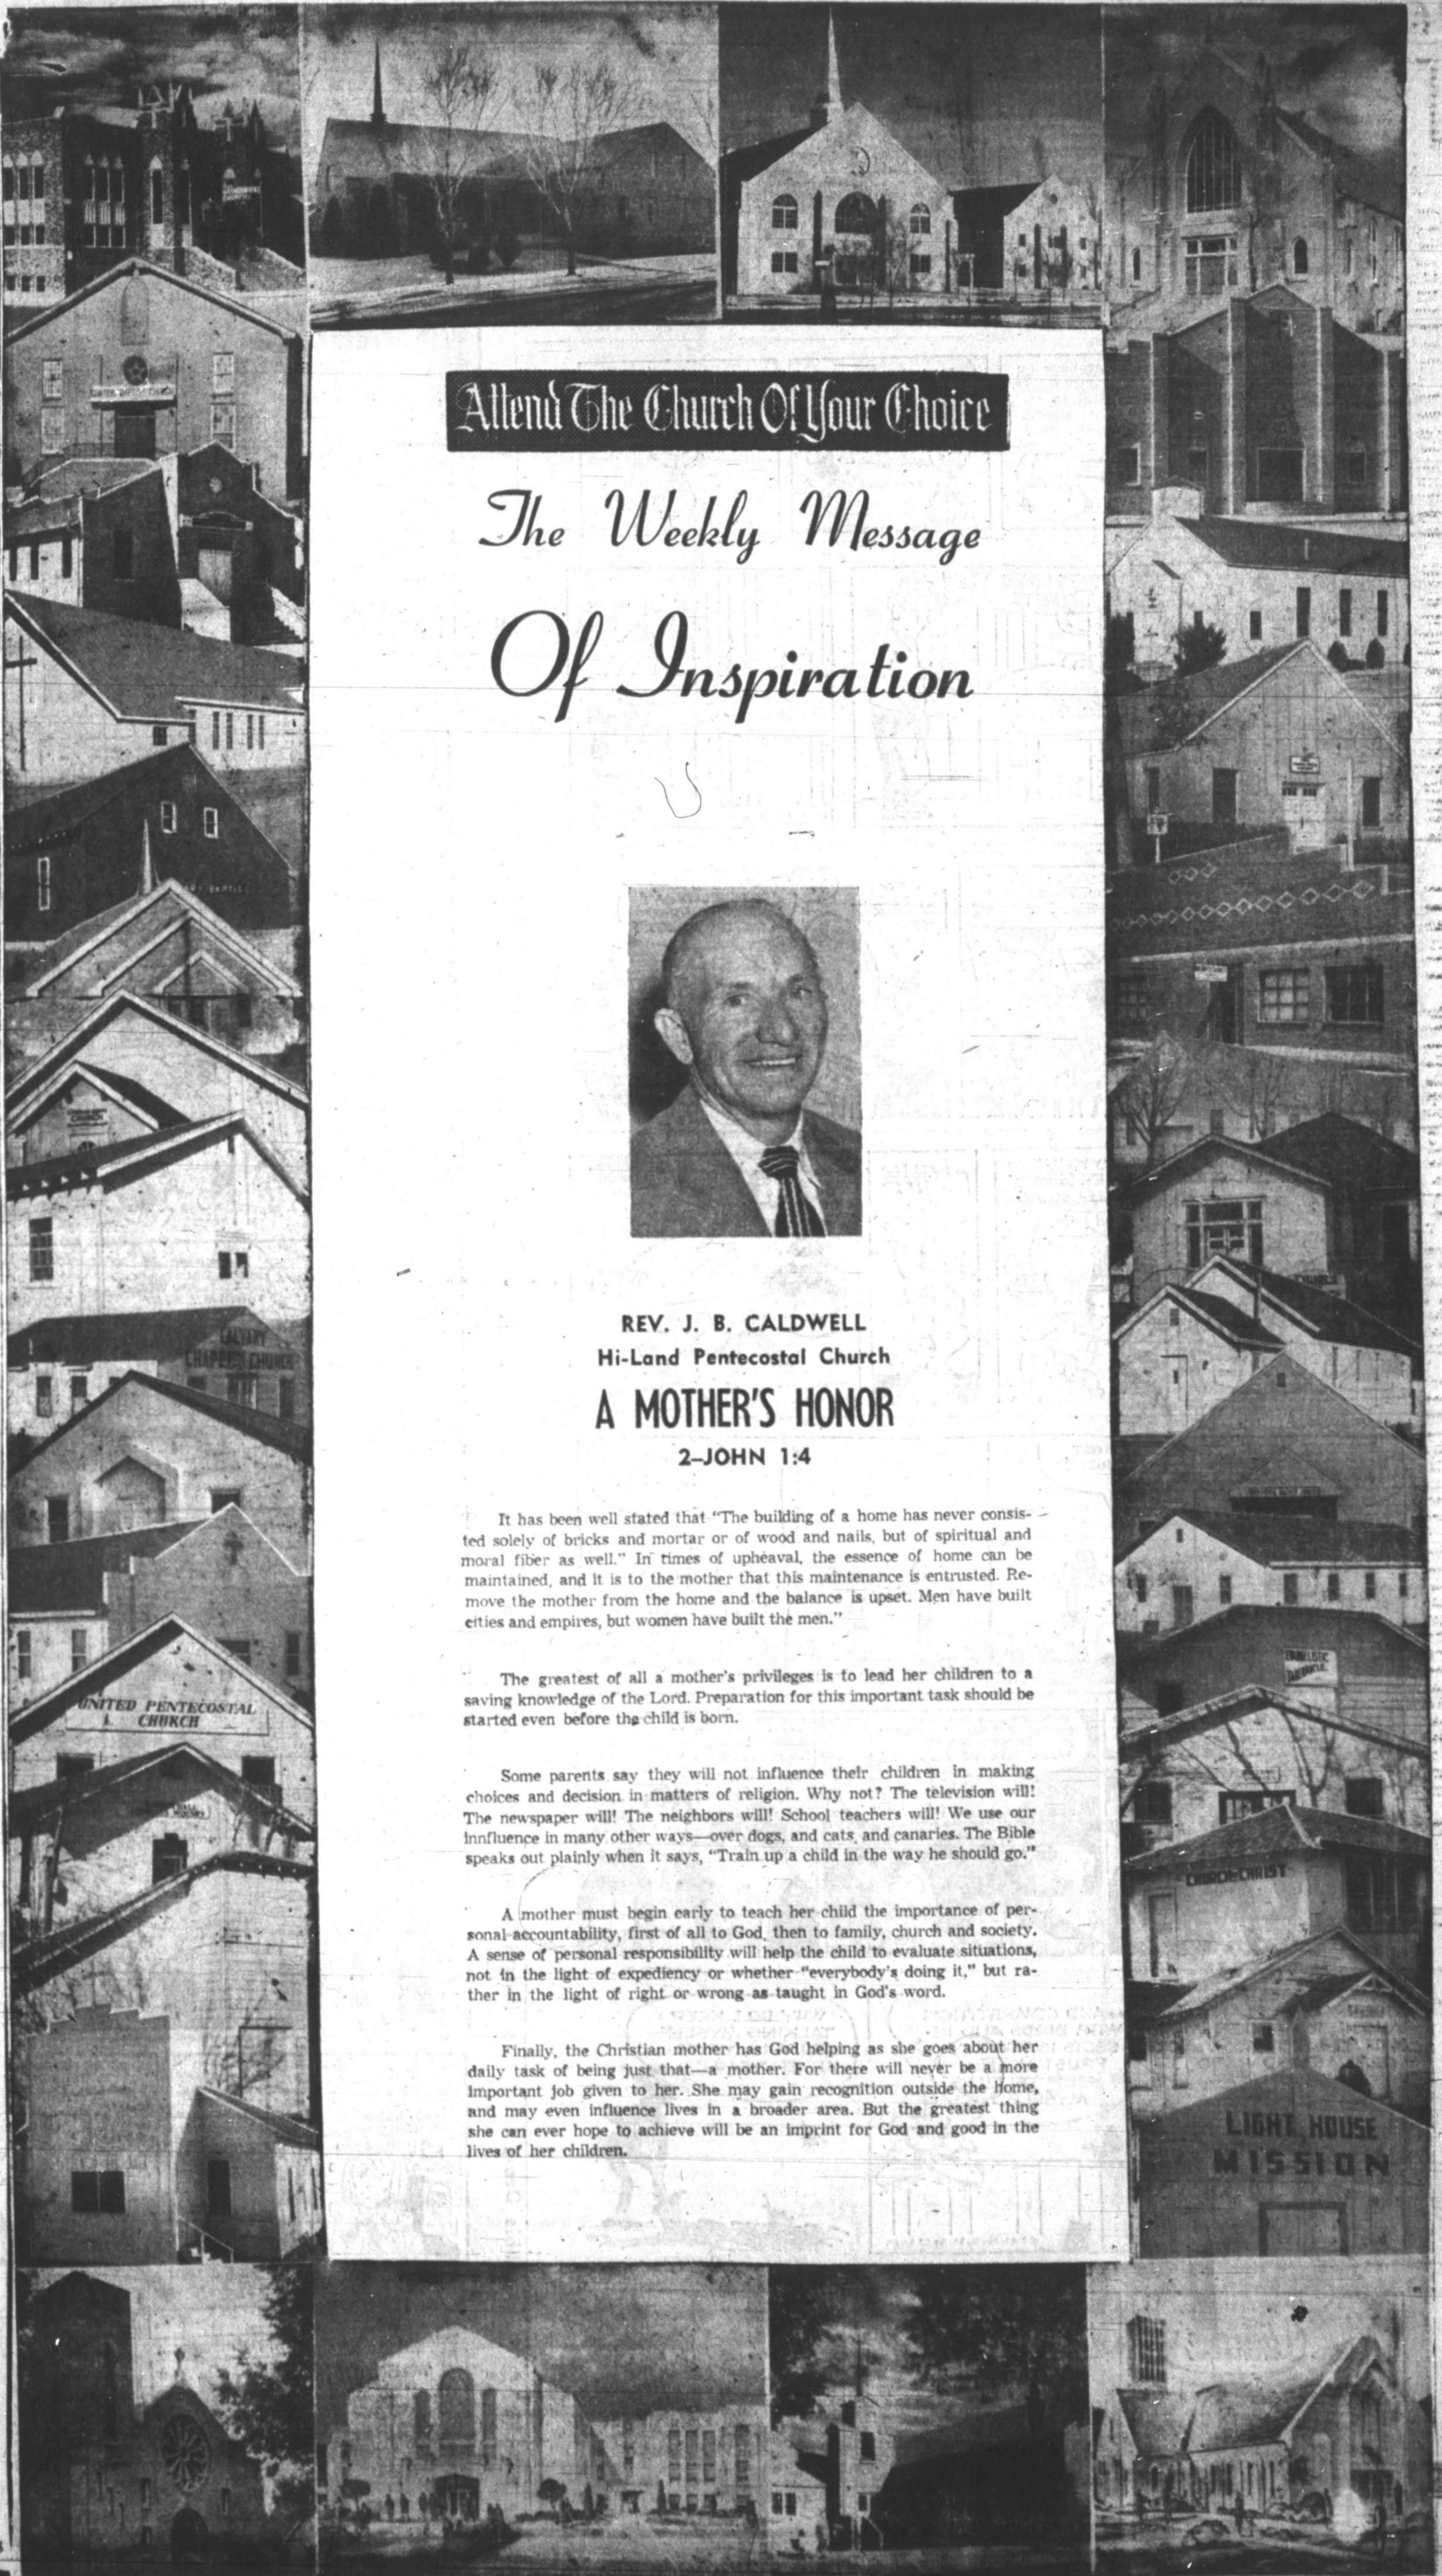

It has been well stated that "The building of a home has never consisted solely of bricks and mortar or of wood and nails, but of spiritual and moral fiber as well." In times of upheaval, the essence of home can be maintained, and it is to the mother that this maintenance is entrusted. Remove the mother from the home and the balance is upset. Men have built cities and empires, but women have built the men."

The greatest of all a mother's privileges is to lead her children to a saving knowledge of the Lord. Preparation for this important task should be started even before the child is born.

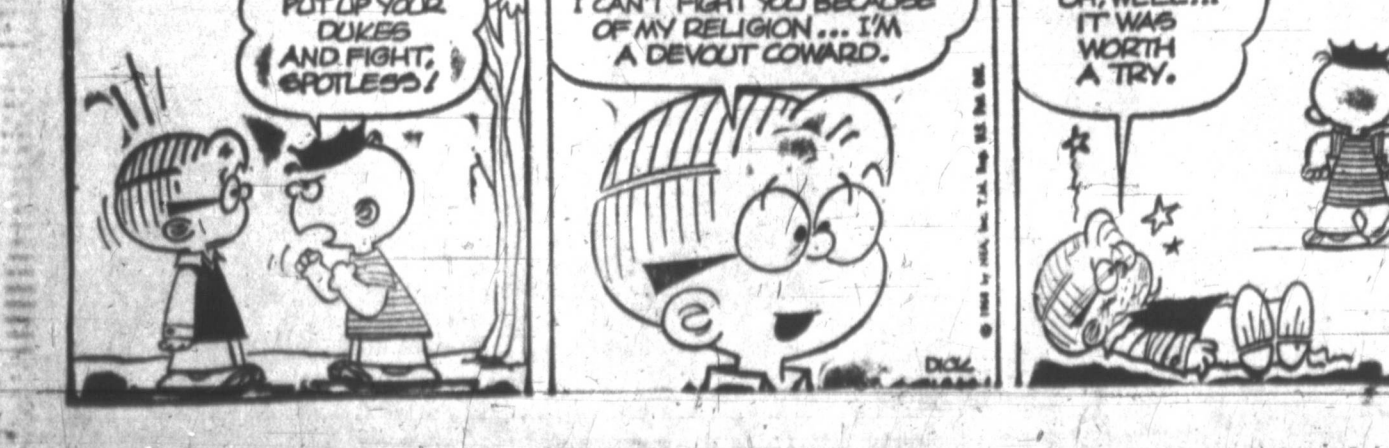

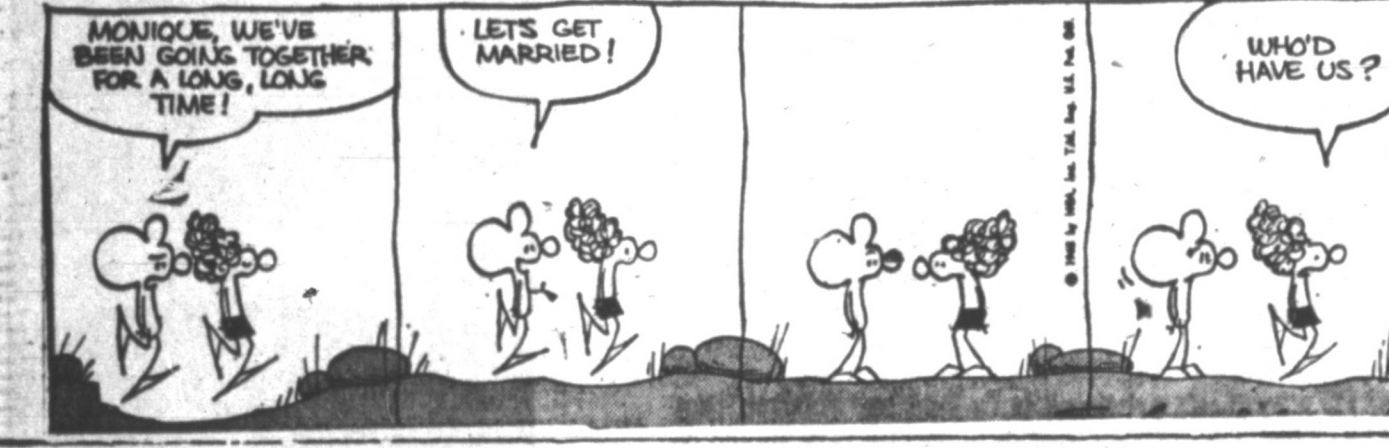

Some parents say they will not influence their children in making choices and decision in matters of religion. Why not? The television will! The newspaper will! The neighbors will! School teachers will! We use our influence in many other ways—over dogs, and cats, and canaries. The Bible speaks out plainly when it says, "Train up a child in the way he should go."

A mother must begin early to teach her child the importance of personal accountability, first of all to God, then to family, church and society. A sense of personal responsibility will help the child to evaluate situations, not in the light of expediency or whether "everybody's doing it," but rather in the light of right or wrong as taught in God's word.

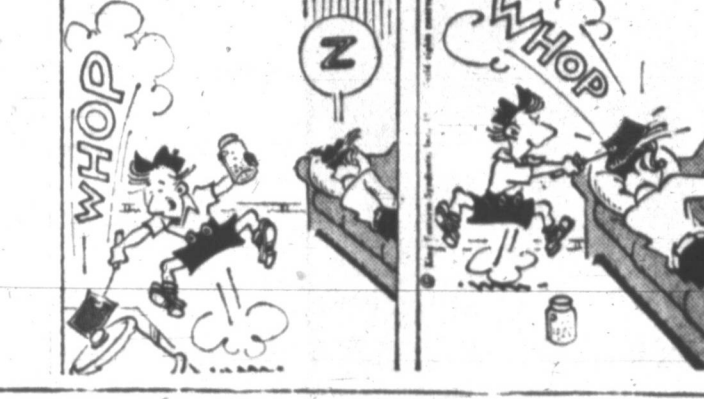

Finally, the Christian mother has God helping as she goes about her daily task of being just that—a mother. For there will never be a more important job given to her. She may gain recognition outside the home, and may even influence lives in a broader area. But the greatest thing she can ever hope to achieve will be an imprint for God and good in the lives of her children.

Two Home Runs Lead Astros Over Giants

By JOE GERGEN
UPI Sports Writer

Nothing but fair skies are forecast for Pete Ward, whose personal barometer is 40 per cent and rising.

The Chicago White Sox, who have been living under a large black cloud since the start of the American League season, have one bright ray of sunshine in the slugging of Ward, who appears headed for his best season in four years.

"If I hit 20 homers," said Ward, "it's a good year."

By those standards, Ward may be heading for a great year. He smacked homers No. 7 and 8 Thursday night in Chicago's 4-2 victory over the Oakland Athletics and already has realized 40 per cent of his goal with the season just a month old.

for the first time in his career after five victories.

Colavito's homer, a three-run blast in the eighth inning, was his third in two days and 369th of his career, moving him into a tie with Ralph Kiner for 16th place on the all-time home run list.

Singer faced only 33 batters as he gained his second victory in six decisions.

BARCELONA, Spain (UPI)—Ben Ali, 121, Spain, stopped Kid Miller, 117, Ghana (7).

PORTLAND, Me. (UPI)—Jerry Graci, 142, Arlington, Mass., drew with Mike Cruz, 135, New York (10).

Measure of Ability
The 20-homer mark by all appearances is a good measure of Ward's ability. In the only two seasons he bettered that total, he batted .295 and .284, respectively, and drove in 84 and 94 runs for his two finest years in the majors.

Ward has provided almost all of the offensive punch for the White Sox, who now have won five of their last seven games in a bid to escape the cellar. He has, however, been the prime defensive weakness of the club and currently is playing his fourth different position of the season, left field.

In the only other scheduled games, the Washington Senators snapped a six-game losing streak by beating the Boston Red Sox 3-1 and the Minnesota Twins rallied for a 4-3, 10-inning victory over the California Angels.

Los Angeles blanked Chicago 6-0, Atlanta topped Pittsburgh 4-2, Philadelphia pounded Cincinnati 7-3 and Houston defeated San Francisco 5-3 in National League encounters.

Wynn's Homer Wins
Jim Wynn and Ron Davis hit homers to support the six-hit pitching of Dave Giusti and give the Astros their third victory over the Giants in their four-game series. Wynn's homer broke a 2-2 tie in the third inning and handed southpaw Mike McCormick his third loss against two victories.

Giusti, boosting his record to 3-2, retired 20 of the last 22 batters he faced. The only batter to reach base against him after the third inning was Willie McCovey, who singled in the sixth and blasted his eighth homer in the eighth. The home run gave McCovey the NL lead in that department.

Sonny Jackson drove in three runs with a pair of singles and helped former pro basketball player Ron Reed notch his third victory without a loss as the Braves split their four-game set with the Pirates. Reed, who played pro basketball with the Detroit Pistons, went 8-2-3 in innings before Jim Britton came on to get the final out.

Francona Stars
Tito Francona also starred for the Braves at bat with three hits as Atlanta pinned Bob Moose with his second loss.

Zoilo Versalles, Bob Easley and Rocky Colavito each hit a home run and Bill Singer hurled a three-hitter as the Dodgers beat southpaw Ken Holtzman

Ex-Lobo Coach Joins Football Staff Here

Bob McAllister, ex-New Mexico University defensive coach, has been named assistant football mentor at Pampa high school.

McAllister, 33, coached for the New Mexico University Lobo's in 1967 where he was defensive coach.

The native Oklahoman coached at Amarillo high school from 1963-1966.

He coached at Hobbs, New Mexico, in 1966-67, was three and one half years at Amarillo high school from 1963-1966 and two years at Sayre high school in Sayre, Okla., where he was head track and football coach. He coached in Wichita Falls, Tex., in 1964.

While in the service in 1955-56, he played guard on the Bombardier, Germany, football team. He played with Bob Pollard, ex-fullback for the Philadelphia Eagles Professional football team in the early 1950's.

His wife's name is Joyce, an elementary physical education teacher. He has two sons, Mike, 9, and Pat, 8.

He attended Watonga high school in Watonga, Okla., He was graduated from Southwestern State in Weatherford, Okla., in physical education and industrial arts where he was captain of the football team and senior guard. He was president of the Letterman's Club and played in the All-State Oklahoma and Texas Oil Bowl classic.

He will also teach driver's education at the high school.

BULLETIN
Rain forced the postponement of the Palo Duro-Pampa high school baseball game scheduled for Amarillo this afternoon.

At press time, there was no indication if the Saturday contest between Amarillo and Pampa at Amarillo would be played.

CHICO CHANGES COACHES
CHICO, Calif. (UPI)—Chico State College has named Jerry Waugh to replace Gene Anderson as its head basketball coach.

Waugh was a former assistant under Dick Harp at the University of Kansas, where he also played his collegiate basketball.

Young Ex-All American Cage Star Dies Of Apparent Heart Attack

DETROIT (UPI)—Bill Buntin, former All-America center who led the University of Michigan from the bottom to the top of the Big Ten standings, collapsed and died of an apparent heart attack following a basketball game Thursday. He was 28.

Buntin, a three-time Big Ten center and twice named to the All-America team, went outside for a breath of fresh air after playing in a basketball game at Detroit Cathedral High School.

He returned complaining of shortness of breath and was rushed to a hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

Buntin, who set Michigan scoring records which lasted only until Cazzie Russell shattered them the following season, was the No. 1 draft choice of the Detroit Pistons upon his graduation in 1965.

He took Michigan from eighth place the year before he was eligible to a tie for fourth during his sophomore season. With Russell added, the Wolverines then ripped off three straight conference crowns.

But the 6-foot-7 giant found his weight and lack of speed prevented him from making the National Basketball Association club. He had gone from a playing weight of 230 pounds to 265 and was unable to shed it, following a lengthy holdout.

The following year he failed to survive the final cut with the Indiana Packers of the American Basketball Association and failed in a brief fling with the Detroit Lions of the National Football League.

Buntin averaged 22.5, 23.2 and 20.1 points during his three seasons as a Wolverine, hauling down 370, 338 and 323 rebounds.

LUECK SIGNED
GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI)—Guard Bill Lueck of Arizona, one of two first-round picks of the Green Bay Packers, has signed his 1968 contract with the National Football League club.

The Packers previously had signed linebacker Fred Carr of Texas-El Paso.

White Deer Students Are Honored In Recent Annual Awards Assembly

WHITE DEER (SPL)—The annual Awards Assembly was held in White Deer High School recently in the yearly school tradition. Mike O'Keefe, student body president, presided over the assembly. Each high school teacher presented awards, either major or minor, for outstanding work done by students in their particular field.

Members of the Student Council received cards from principal David Grayson, then each took his turn introducing teachers on the program. Members are Renee Allen, Carolyn Chaney, Ila Grayson, Norveleen Huckins, Anna Kuylenstierna, Cathy Jordan, Kathy Kelp, Lonnie Lane, Larry Linder, Becky McBrayer, Steve McClendon, Mike O'Keefe, Donna Reid, Ronnie Shahan, Johnny Slagle, Ricky Thurman, Vicki Tollison, Mike Williams, Valarie Wimsatt and Billie Woodward.

Principal Grayson recognized eight students whose grades for the first five six-weeks of this year averaged at least 90 or above. These students, Carolyn Chaney, Ruby Cone, Deborah Evans, Becky McBrayer, Douglas Hinton, Mike O'Keefe, Vicki Mercer, and Mary Beth Peters, will receive major academic awards.

Bernard Shields, a Celanese employee, presented to Glenda Villines the Texas Chemical Award for outstanding achievement in the field of science. Glenda a senior and WDHHSValedictorian received a slide rule, ward in drama for the production of "A Minuet" were made

SORBONNE REOPENS

PARIS (UPI)—Paris University officials said today they planned to reopen the suburban branch of the university which, with the ancient Sorbonne University, has been the center of bloody student riots this week.

The branch at Nanterre was closed a week ago because of student protests, and the Sorbonne was shut down the following day. The closings sparked riots that left more than 1,000 persons injured and hundreds arrested.

Student leaders said Thursday they would boycott classes at both schools unless all of the arrested students were freed.

THE WHEELER-DEALERS FROM CONSHOHOCKEN
NEW TRACK-TESTED LEE XL-100
 THE FIRST-LINE* TIRE OF FULL 4-PLY NYLON CORD
 New. The "task-master" is a first-line, full-dimension full 4-ply nylon tire, thanks to Lee of Conshohocken. It has all-new tread design and sidewall, narrow whitewalls. Built of nylon cord to resist heat, moisture, and severe road shock. And Cushyn rubber increases mileage by reducing tread wear. The X-100 gives you soft, comfortable rides with plenty of traction on turns.
 First Line is Lee's designation. No industry wide standards exist for "First Line" tires.
