US, North Vietnam Agree To Meet In Paris To Discuss Conditions For Peace Talks

VC Hit Saigon Station Date Of May 10th Is Selected For Session

By MERRIMAN SMITH UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States and North Vietnam agreed today to meet in Paris to discuss conditions for possible Vietnam peace talks.

President Johnson told a nationally televised and broadcast news conference: "I have sent a message informing Hanoi the date of May 10 and the site of Paris are acceptable to the United States."

A Hanoi radio broadcast picked up by U.S. monitors only a short time before the President's statement proposed that "formal talks" between the United States and North Vietnam begin May 10 "or a few days later."

President Johnson, who said he had learned of Hanoi's willingness to meet in Paris at 1 a.m. EDT, said at his news conference that the United States had sought a site where it could be assured of "fair and impartial treatment" for both sides.

He said Paris was agreeable on this score, but he cautioned: "This is only the very first step. There are many many hazards and difficulties ahead."

Johnson said he hoped that agreement on the time and place for exploratory talks would be "a step forward" toward "a mutual and serious movement toward peace in Southeast Asia."

He said that because delicate negotiations were involved, he would not answer questions on the talks.

The President was asked whether he had seen any noticeable cutback in North Vietnamese military activity since his March 31 announcement on restricting American bombing of North Vietnam.

Johnson said he was following the situation "very closely."

But he did not make comment further on whether there was any slowdown in North Vietnam's military effort.

As for Paris as the site for the talks with Hanoi representatives, he said that France was a country where both sides could receive fair and impartial treatment.

North Vietnam named its minister without portfolio, veteran diplomat Xuan Thuy, as its representative for the initial talks.

U.S. officials indicated that Ambassador at Large W. Averell Harriman and Special Presidential adviser Cyrus Vance were prepared to leave shortly for an agreed-on meeting place with the North Vietnamese.

American and North Vietnamese diplomats met in Vientiane, Laos, today and there was speculation that the arrangements to hold initial talks in Paris were completed at that time.

Heavy Vote Is Expected In Saturday's Primaries

More than 14,000 Gray County residents will be eligible to go to the polls in Saturday's primaries to vote on state, district, county and precinct offices.

Voters will also face three referendum issues: legalized horse racing with pari-mutuel betting, creation of a Texas Dairy Commission, and legalization of liquor by the drink. Over 344 absentee votes had been cast in the county as of this morning. Absentee voting ended Tuesday but mailed ballots were still trickling into the county clerk's office this forenoon.

Observers were predicting a heavy local turnout on the basis of the largest absentee vote in Gray County's history. Most local attention is expected to be focused on the county attorney and district county races.

Statewide, observers were predicting a better-than-average turnout because of 10 Democratic and 3 Republican gubernatorial candidates and the referendum issues.

The primary will be the day of reckoning for many political careers.

The first hurdle looms large for a number of opposed Democratic candidates, in particular, who must either defeat their opposition or poll enough votes to get in the June 1 run-off primary.

The primary serves as a clearing house for candidates where more than one contender seeks the endorsement of his party. In the event that no candidate receives a majority of the votes cast, the top two contenders then vie in the party's second primary — usually called the run-off primary.

Contested statewide offices in the Democratic primary are these races: governor; lieutenant governor; comptroller of public accounts; associate justice, place 1, Supreme Court of Texas; and associate justice, place 2, Supreme Court of Texas.

Area offices being contested in the Democratic primary are district attorney, 31st Judicial District, and Court of Civil Appeals, 7th Supreme Judicial District.

Locally, posts opposed in the Democratic primary are Gray County sheriff, Gray County sheriff, and constable, Pct. 1.

The only contested race in the Republican primary is between three gubernatorial candidates.

Area and local candidates who will be subject to the action of Saturday's primaries are:

U.S. Representative, 18th Congressional District: J. R. (Dick) Brown, a Hartley farmer-rancher, will oppose Republican incumbent Bob Price in the Nov. 5 general election. Neither is opposed in the primary.

State Representative, 79th District—Malouf Abraham, the Republican incumbent, is unopposed.

Court of Civil Appeals, 7th Supreme Judicial District, James A. Joy, Jack Hazelwood, Bruce L. Miller.

District Attorney 31st Judicial District—Don Cain and Guy Hardin will face each other in the primary. No Republican candidate announced to run for the post.

County Attorney, Gray County Harold Comer and John W. Warner will face each other in the Democratic primary. The winner will face Republican candidate Ben Sturgeon in the Nov. 5 general election.

County Commissioner, Pct. 1 — Democratic incumbent Joe K. Clarke is unopposed in the primary but faces Republican candidate Buddy Cockrell in the general election.

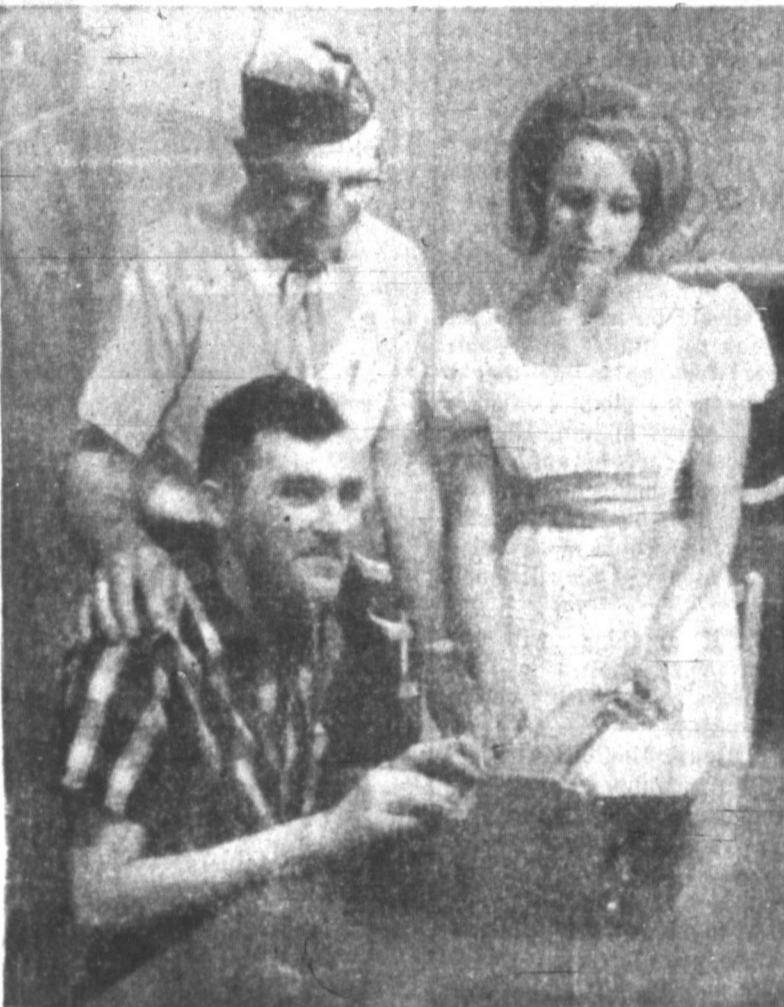

County Commissioner Pct. 3 — Democratic incumbent James McCracken is unopposed by candidates from either party.

Sheriff, Gray County — Democratic incumbent R. H. (Rufe) Jordan, who has held office since 1952, faces newcomer W. E. (Bill) Whitsell in the primary. No Republican candidate announced for the post.

Constable, Pct. 1 — Democratic incumbent W.R. Combs faces two political newcomers in the primaries, J.L. Bromlow and Floyd McMinn. No Republican candidate filed for the post.

Constable, Pct. 2 — H. A. Doggett, Democratic incumbent

Houston Doctors In Transplant Of Heart

HOUSTON (UPI)—Doctors at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital transplanted a heart into a 47-year-old Phoenix, Ariz., accountant today and reported after a boost with an electric shock, the heart was functioning all right.

The transplant was the world's ninth such operation and the first in Houston. The recipient was identified as Everett Claire Thomas, 47, of Phoenix, who had three faulty valves in his own heart and was just about to go into surgery for repair when doctors were able to furnish a heart for a transplant.

Dr. Denton Cooley headed the team of surgeons, aided by Drs. Robert Bloodwell and Grady Hallman Jr.

They said a 23-year-old woman was taken to the hospital Thursday evening, dying of a gunshot wound in the head.

Woman in Coma Doctors said the woman was in a coma and artificial respiration kept her alive, but there was no activity on an encephalogram that would indicate signs of life. The brain was irreversibly damaged, doctors said.

When the woman died, her body and Thomas were wheeled into adjacent surgery rooms and a "cardiac exploration" opening of the chest and start of the surgery on Thomas began shortly before midnight. Doctors found Thomas' heart valves badly calcified—"hard like a stone," a hospital spokesman said. The aortic valve was in the worse shape, but the mitral valve was also badly hardened.

After Thomas' heart was removed in surgery, the donor's heart was "tailored" slightly by surgery to fit its connections and then attached with sutures at the two upper chambers and the two great vessels, the aorta and pulmonary artery.

Blood Flow Resumed Clamps were removed, and flow was resumed into the donor heart. Heart action started up, but was irregular, doctors reported.

Joseph A. Beirne, CWA president, announced Thursday the tentative contract agreement covering 200,000 workers, and said the ratification process would begin immediately.

Beirne said it would be early next week before the results were known.

The new contract called for a 6.5 per cent a-year increase in wages and fringe benefits.

If approved, the settlement eventually would be the pattern for wage and fringe benefit increases for 600,000 non-supervisory workers in the Bell system.

Beirne called the agreement "big in every sense."

His opinion was shared by Ben S. Gilmer, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., who warned the agreement "will inevitably have some effect on the rates our customers pay for service. . . The agreements provide substantial increases in wages and

VC Hit Saigon Station

SAIGON (UPI)—A Viet Cong terrorist blast ripped the U.S.-South Vietnam radio-television station in Saigon today, killing three civilians and wounding about 30 persons including five Americans.

The first major terror blow in Saigon since the Communists' February Tet offensive came as allied forces in the capital stood under alert for a possible second Viet Cong invasion attempt. North of Saigon, U.S. troops killed 73 guerrillas Thursday.

In the northern provinces, where U.S. and allied forces have killed about 1,200 Communists this week, Leathernecks battled North Vietnamese troops near the Marine bastion of Dong Ha.

In the air, Navy pilot Lt. John E. Ryan, 27, of Beverly, Mass., used a missile to slice off the wing of a Soviet-built MIG21 over the Gulf of Tonkin Thursday. It was the first MIG "kill" since Feb. 14. U.S. helicopters tried to rescue the red pilot but could not find him in the North Vietnam waters before night fell.

In Moscow, the Soviet news agency Tass claimed in a dispatch from Hanoi that North Vietnam gunners shot down two U.S. jets Thursday and one today. The report was not confirmed.

In Saigon, the terrorists parked a small taxicab loaded with a satchel charge bomb next to the broadcasting complex and set it off. The blast destroyed Radio Saigon headquarters, heavily damaged the Vietnam television station and did lesser damage to the U.S. military Armed Forces Vietnam Network (AFVN). A Saigon University agricultural building nearby suffered heavy damage.

The dead and most of the injured were Vietnamese. None of the five wounded Americans were reported seriously hurt.

Communications Workers Begin Ratifying New Three-Year Contract

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Communications Workers of America (CWA) today began ratifying a new three-year contract agreement with the Bell system which the company believes will force an increase in the nation's telephone bills.

Joseph A. Beirne, CWA president, announced Thursday the tentative contract agreement covering 200,000 workers, and said the ratification process would begin immediately.

Beirne said it would be early next week before the results were known.

His opinion was shared by Ben S. Gilmer, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., who warned the agreement "will inevitably have some effect on the rates our customers pay for service. . . The agreements provide substantial increases in wages and benefits over a three-year period."

Beirne placed the amount of increase for the total contract package over three years at 19.58 per cent. The eventual cost to the Bell system, he said, would be more than $2 billion.

Aviation Day To Be Observed In Pampa Sunday

The Pampa Senior squadron of the Civil Air Patrol will sponsor Pampa's second annual Aviation Day, to be celebrated Sunday.

The day will start with a fly-in-breakfast at 7 a.m. One hundred planes are expected to fly into Pampa from throughout the Panhandle area.

At about 10 a.m., eight sky divers will start their exhibitions which will continue all day. For those wishing to tour Pampa by air, penny a pound airplane rides will start at 8:30 a.m. The money from the airplane rides will provide next years operating capital for the CAP squadron. Aircraft dealers from throughout the Panhandle will have their latest aircraft on exhibits. Also on display will be helicopters from Amarillo.

Awards will be presented to outstanding pilots, longest distance traveled, the pilot with the most flying time and the oldest pilot.

The Pampa Cadet squadron will sell sandwiches and cold drinks. Attendance is expected to far exceed the 4,500 who attended last year's celebration, said Captain Ralph Prock, CAP squadron commander.

Everyone in Pampa is invited to come to Perry LeFors Airfield for breakfast and see Gray County's new aviation Terminal building. CAP representatives said.

Barring Major Upsets . . . Connally, Tower To Be 'Favorite Sons'

By United Press International Barring major upsets, Democratic Gov. John Connally and Republican Sen. John Tower will come out of Saturday's precinct conventions with the support they need to become the state's favorite son candidates of their respective parties.

The 5,260 conventions, which will define the role the state plays in presidential power politics this year, will begin in the afternoon in rural areas of Texas and at 7 p.m. or 8 p.m. in the cities.

The chairman of Sen. Eugene McCarthy's presidential effort in Texas said Thursday he expects McCarthy supporters to make up 20 to 40 per cent of persons attending the Democratic conventions.

Don Allford of Austin said McCarthy backers will join with the Texas AFL-CIO and supporters of Sen. Robert Kennedy in fighting adoption of the "unit rule" resolutions in precinct conventions.

Should the unit rule be carried through to the national convention, all of Texas' 104 votes in the Democratic delegation would go to one candidate, with the minority getting no voice.

Allford conceded if the unit rule passes, even a turnout as large as he predicted would net the Minnesota senator very few delegates.

Kennedy has made no attempt to win precinct conventions.

But Connally and his allies, mindful of the upset staged by McCarthy's amateurs in New Hampshire, have campaigned for his favorite son nomination as if the position were seriously threatened.

Connally took 30 minutes of prime time on statewide television this week to urge Democrats to attend their precinct conventions and vote for him and for unit rule.

Strategists in both camps say the areas in question are El Paso, Beaumont, Port Arthur, Galveston and the senatorial districts of Sen. Joe Bernal of San Antonio, Sen. Chet Brooks and Sen. Barbara Jordan in Houston and Sen. Oscar Mauzy in Dallas.

There has been little or no public opposition to Tower as a favorite son among Republicans but some partisans of California Gov. Ronald Reagan want the delegation to be free to go to Reagan on the second ballot.

Stock Market Spurts Higher NEW YORK (UPI)—News that Washington and Hanoi have agreed to meet in Paris next week sparked a hectic buying spree on the New York Stock Exchange today.

Virtually every group on the list joined the upswing with the high-priced glamor issues scoring the most impressive pickups.

The rapid turnover had the high speed stock ticker more than 20 minutes behind floor trading.

Shortly before noon, the United Press International stock market indicator had gained 0.80 per cent with 1,384 issues traded. There were 931 advances and 259 declines. The Dow Jones industrial average rose substantially but was well below its 11 a.m. level.

Motors met good demand, helped by an industry sales gain for the last third of April. General Motors was the stand-out with a pickup of 2%.

Chrysler advanced 1% in active trading.

Negro Organizers Are Recruiting Laborers For March On Washington

By HENRY P. LEIFERMANN MARKS, Miss. (UPI)—Negro organizers fanned out across one of the nation's most impoverished counties today in a drive to recruit laborers and sharecroppers for the "poor people's march" on Washington.

The Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, successor to the slain creator of the march, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., said the marchers would remain in this northeast Mississippi town "for a couple of days" before resuming their trek.

The break in the march, which began Thursday in Memphis at the spot where King was killed by a sniper, is to allow recruiters time to circulate in Quitman County, where the median income of white and Negro residents is $1,517 a year.

It was in this area, a flat stretch of scrub oaks, slash pines, and tenant farms, that King once said he saw such poverty that it brought tears to his eyes. Because it became a symbol of poverty, this town of 3,000 was designated as the starting point Tuesday and for a wagon train trek to Washington.

Other marchers and "freedom train" riders will start at such points around the country as Los Angeles, Chicago and Boston and converge on the nation's capital May 12-19 to inhabit a tent shantytown for "as long as necessary" to pressure Congress and the Johnson administration into active relief of the poor.

Californian Is In 'Fair Condition'

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—Carpenter Joseph Rizer lay in fair condition in a respirator today with the heart of a 43-year-old man beating in his chest.

Rizer, 40, who had been given three months to live because of deteriorating heart disease, underwent the world's eighth cardiac transfer Thursday at Stanford-Palo Alto Hospital.

Dr. Norman E. Shumway, a heart transplant pioneer, headed a surgical team which spent 4½ hours transferring the organ from a northern Californian man who died of a brain hemorrhage Wednesday night.

Relatives of the donor preferred he remain anonymous. The donor's two kidneys also were removed and placed inside persons with incurable kidney disease.

Arab Guerrillas Killed By Israelis

Russian manufacture, Swedish machine guns and hand grenades, mines and explosives, the Israeli announcement said.

In Cairo, the newspaper Al-Ahram said today the United Arab Republic put its armed forces on maximum alert while Israel was parading its armed might through Jerusalem.

The disclosure that President Gamal Abdel Nasser had alerted his troops came as life in Jerusalem was slowly normalizing after Thursday's ceremonies.

Israel faced a United Nations Security Council investigation of conditions in Jerusalem in the 11 months since it occupied the entire city, Ambassador Muhammad H. El-Farra of Jordan asked that Roubi El-Khatib, the mayor of Arab Jerusalem before the occupation, be allowed to tell the U.N. of conditions in Jerusalem.

There was little sign of any easing of Arab-Israeli tensions. Cairo officials also disclosed that Nasser had sent messages Wednesday to heads of state and the Security Council, calling the parade an "illegitimate act." He said the parade "adversely affects the United Nations' prestige and future."

At Amman also said early returns showed Egyptian voters had approved with "near unanimity" Nasser's policies in a referendum held Thursday.

In the United Nations, Israel received a mild rebuke for holding the parade in defiance of a Security Council resolution against it.

The council late Thursday voted unanimously to "deeply deplore" the parade.

You'd Better Get Ready For 'Transcendental Meditation'

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The Maharishi Mahesh Yogi, complete with giggle and beard, hits the concert trail this month in company with the Beach Boys, a rock group, to preach transcendental meditation. The question is, are you ready? You'd better be, according to Mike Love, one of the Beach Boys who spent a month at the feet of the yogi tuning in to the message — along with the Beatles and Mia Farrow. The Beach Boys, and the Indian guru, wrapped in a beach towel or something akin to it, will make 35 concert appearances in 17 days beginning this week mostly on college campuses. "We Beach Boys were all initiated into transcendental meditation in Paris last December," Love said.

Intellectual Interpretation
"I knew it was good for me and I wanted to learn more about it. That's why I want to Rishikesh in India to check it out. If I could relate my experiences to others and interpret it on an intellectual level, it will help all people better their lives." Mike is a likeable 27-year-old. He is a tall, gangling character with long, thinning red hair and prominent adam's apple.

Asked if he didn't think the yogi was getting a little too commercial for a holy man, Mike was ready with an answer.

Beatles brought him fame. And because the Beach Boys are the top American group, he agreed to tour with us.

"He wants to get his message across to American youth."

What message?
"That man was not born to suffer. Anyhow, his meditation will do a lot of good by getting kids away from LSD, pot, booze and speed because you really don't need it if you understand what the Maharishi is saying." Does Mike dig the message?

"Sure," he said, downing a noontime Bloody Mary. "He should be as commercial as he can get, man," Mike said.

"If it were up to me they'd put him on the stock exchange and sell shares in him. He has to be taken care of and the people should bring his philosophy to the business world. Business men would make twice as much money if they listened to him."

What, if anything, will the bearded guru do after the Beach Boys rock through one of their numbers.

Discuss Meditation
"He'll probably speak on transcendental meditation or maybe racial matters," Love explained. "He's really looking forward to this whole tour." How, Mike was asked, did this tour come about?
"Well, the Maharishi got our vibrations," he said. "The

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Graham Loving & Co. says that "in view of the market strength during the past week, it appears that while we are probably in a top area from a temporary standpoint, any near-term decline would probably be relatively modest." Adds the firm, "What will probably occur is rotational weakness rather than decisive decline in the market."

Bache & Co. notes that economic news continues "quite favorable" with major corporations maintaining in the second quarter the momentum from favorable first quarter statements. The firm says it envisions the near term "in terms of a trading market, and in deference to the overbought condition we would prefer selective commitments on minor dips rather than during periods of strength."
Thomson & McKinnon points out that "in the face of probably the most bearish consensus in years, the current uptrend began a week before President Johnson's historic speech." It says the uptrend has been "dynamic and thus far has shrugged off adverse news." Adding that the "buying power" shows no sign yet of exhausting itself.

Measles Campaign Causes Reduction

AUSTIN (UPI) — A statewide campaign against measles is credited with reducing the number of cases in Texas by about 75 per cent over 1967, the Texas Department of Health said today. Latest figures compiled by the department showed only 2,654 cases of measles reported in Texas this year, compared with a total of 8,570 cases recorded at the same date in 1967. Dr. J. E. Peavy, state health commissioner, said immunization campaigns are largely responsible for the decline. The health department began promoting measles immunizations extensively in February, with Peavy and Dr. Sam Nixon Jr., chairman of the Texas Medical Association's committee on public health, using television and radio spots to warn parents to have their children vaccinated against measles. Peavy said the campaign is paying off. "The number of cases reported has dropped markedly in the past month or so," he said. The health department reported only 262 cases of measles in the state during the week ending April 20. Dallas County showed the heaviest outbreak of the disease,

Price Calls For Record Turnout

Although unopposed in the primary elections this week, Panhandle Congressman Bob Price urged 18th District voters to go to the polls Saturday.

In addition to hotly contested races for governor and other state offices, Price said in a statement from his Washington office that a solid turnout would indicate the concern and interest of Panhandle and High Plains citizens in establishment of an effective two-party system in Texas.

"Texas needs a truly competitive system in both state and national politics," he said. "Republicans have fielded more and better qualified candidates than in any modern-day Texas election."

"With a strong possibility of a Republican majority in Congress next year and a Republican president," Price said that Republicans, Independents and Conservative Democrats would have an opportunity Saturday of putting the state of Texas in a better political bargaining position next year.

Warner Is Speaker For Jr. Pythians

Corporation Court Judge John W. Warner was the guest speaker at the Pampa Chapter No. 70, Pi Delta-Pi, Junior Order Knights of Pythias Father and Son dinner held last night at the Pythian Hall.

Judge Warner told the 65 members and guests in a talk titled "98 cents and Up" that the tragedy of a man's life is not that a man dies or that he dies with dreams, ambitions and goals unfulfilled or that he dies young, the tragedy is that dies without ever having been worth anything.

Jay Johnson, chancellor of the local chapter, was master of ceremonies and he gave a brief history of the Pi Delta Pi Chapters. A. L. Weathered, grand vice-chancellor, told about the Pythian Children's Home at Weatherford and the Home for the Aged at Greenville.

Knight advisor J. C. Hopkins also reported on the projects of the Pampa Chapter and invited those boys interested to make application for membership. The Chapter's regular meeting dates are the first and third Mondays. Some of the "Dads" complimented the boys and members of the Pampa Lodge for the fine job the members are doing.

Amarillo Man Posts Bond In Shooting Incident

An Amarillo man, charged with aggravated assault and unlawfully carrying a pistol after being involved in a disturbance at the Peppermint Lounge, 715 S. Gray, last night, was released on $1,000 bond this morning.

Willie Cloud Gaffney, 28, was arrested by Pampa policeman Roger Scott after shooting a Pampa man, Lonnie Benjamin Buntun, 25, of 509 W. Wilks. The shooting occurred shortly after midnight.

According to a police report, Gaffney had been involved in another affray at the lounge prior to the incident and had armed himself with a pistol. He reportedly re-entered the lounge and attempted to draw the pistol on the man with whom he had argued. Columbus Morgan, manager of the lounge, attempted to stop the shooting and in the ensuing struggle the pistol discharged and struck Buntun, a bystander not involved in the argument.

Euntun, wounded in both thighs, was taken to Highland General Hospital, where he was listed in good condition today.

Religion in America

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International
America will never solve its racial crisis until millions of white people undergo a radical change of heart.

That's not the punch line from a sermon by a pulpit-pounding evangelist. It's the key finding of the national riots commission headed by Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois.

The Kerner commission called for massive expansion of job, housing, education and welfare programs to relieve the desperation of the urban poor. But it said the most basic and urgent need is for "new attitudes, new understanding, and above all, new will" on the part of white Americans who are apathetic or even hostile toward the aspirations of the ghettos' restless Negroes.

The commission's report has important implications for churches seeking to be of service in dealing with conditions that breed riots.

Demonstrations Alone, Fall
One is that the problem can't be solved solely by the writing and lobbying techniques which religious social actionists have used in recent years to bring pressure on Congress for enactment of civil rights legislation.

In its present unwillingness to approve huge new government programs of aid to the poor and the steep tax increase that would be necessary to finance them, Congress is doing what its mail indicates a majority of white Americans want it to do. Public opinion surveys support this congressional appraisal of voter sentiment. A recent Louis Harris poll showed 63 per cent of the whites against, and only 23 per cent for, the idea that they should pay higher taxes to improve living conditions in urban slums.

Nor is there any reason to believe that churches can accomplish a significant shift in public opinion merely by educating their members about the problems which exist in urban ghettos.

Education Not Enough
In view of the massive amount of detailed, documented, graphically presented information which has been placed before the American people by all of the news media, it is hard to believe that white indifference stems only from ignorance of the Negro's plight.

There remains the possibility that a large number of white Americans—not all, by any means—are suffering from the age-old human conditions which the Bible calls "hardness of heart."

Hardness of heart does not yield to education, exhortation or explanation. It can be cured only by a basic change in a man's feelings about his duty to God and to his fellow men.

It may be an old-fashioned suggestion, but ministers who wish to preach on this subject can find even better texts in the Bible than in the Kerner commission report.

They might recall the question which another rich and complacent nation was asked by an angry God (Isaiah 3:15):

"What do you mean by crushing my people,
"By grinding the face of the poor?"

Or the admonition of Proverbs 28:27:

"He who gives to the poor will not want,
"But he who hides his eyes will get many a curse."

Christ's Lesson
They could remind their congregations of the answer Jesus gave to a lawyer who asked what is a man's most important religious duty:

"You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your mind. This is the great and first commandment. And a second is like it: You shall love your neighbor as yourself."

They also could read the parable of the Good Samaritan, in which Jesus made clear that your neighbor is anyone, of any race, who needs help you are able to supply.

And for the benefit of any who cling to the idea that they can combine professions of love for God with indifference or hostility toward black neighbors, there are these words from the first Epistle of John:

"If a man says, 'I love God,' and hates his brother, he is a liar. For he who does not love his brother whom he has seen cannot love God whom he has not seen."

First Baptist Sets Services

Rev. Dan Cameron, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will be in the pulpit for both services of worship Sunday.

"The Pastor and His Friends," is the subject he has chosen for his Sunday morning sermon.

Randall Purvis, minister of music, will sing "God's Love Sustains Me" by Bartlett and direct the Chancel Choir in singing the anthem, "My Faith Has Found a Resting Place."

Miss Etoise Lane, organist, will play "Sunrise on the Sea of Galilee" by Martin for the morning offertory number.

"A Dinner Filled With Table Talk" is the topic the Pastor will discuss at the 7 p.m. evening worship. The Youth Choir will occupy the choir loft and sing special music and a man's quartet will also sing. The members of the quartet are: Hoyte Phillips, Randall Purvis, Roy Korngay, and Paul Barrett. The evening offertory selection is "What A Friend We Have in Jesus" by Converse.

Sacraments to Be Observed Sunday At First Presbyterian

The Sacrament of Holy Communion and Baptism will be observed this Sunday at the First Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Martin Hager, pastor, will administer the Sacrament of Holy Communion assisted by Ruling Elders of the Church at both the 8:30 and 11 a.m. worship hours.

Rev. Hager will use as his sermon topic this Sunday, "Insistence Above Everything," taking his text from Job 19:25.

At the 11 a.m. worship service, the choir will present the Anthem "From Ill Do Thou Defend Me" by Bach. The choir is under the direction of Mrs. J. Stanley Hill. Mrs. Fidelia Yoder will present the offertory selection "Hymn of Praise" by Schreiner, as well as the prelude and postlude selections.

The Junior High Fellowship will meet at 5 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall for a film. The Senior Highs will meet in the Youth Lounge of the church with Sister Alice of St. Vincent's Catholic Church and her Senior Highs will be the special guests.

Church of Christ Scientist, 901 N. Frost, begins at 11 a.m. and is open to the public.

Laymen to Preach In Central Baptist Sunday Service

Laymen will fill the pulpit in both morning and evening worship services Sunday at the Central Baptist Church. Three men will be speaking on brief, related subjects in each service.

Dean Davis, L. C. Yager and W. C. Bass Jr. will share the pulpit in the 11 a.m. worship service. James Baird, Richard James and Charles Tingle will be speaking Sunday evening at 7 p.m.

Rev. T. O. Upshaw, Central Baptist pastor, will be concluding a week of preaching in First Southern Baptist Church in Bakersfield, Calif. He has been participating in "Encounter California," an evangelistic crusade throughout California that is being led by Texas ministers and laymen.

Jehovah's Witnesses State Services

Jehovah's Witnesses will hear Daniel Katsanis, former minister here and presently of Amarillo North congregation, as speaker at their 10 a.m. Sunday service. Mr. Katsanis' subject is "Getting Along with Others in Christian Love" and will be given at Kingdom Hall, 17th and Coffee streets.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

REV. J. S. McMULLEN
First Assembly of God

FOLLOWING THE MASTER

In Matthew 16:24 Jesus said, If any man will come after me let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me. For whosoever will save his life shall lose it, and whosoever will lose his life, for my sake, shall find it.

As a minister of the gospel, when we surrender to preach and teach the word of God, it involves many things. It means to walk by faith in obedience to His command which is given through the word of God.

It is said of Abraham that he believed God and it was counted unto him for righteousness. By faith Abraham when he was called to go out into a place which he should after receive for an inheritance, obeyed; and he went out, not knowing whether he went. By faith he sojourned in the land of promise, as in a strange country. For he looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God.

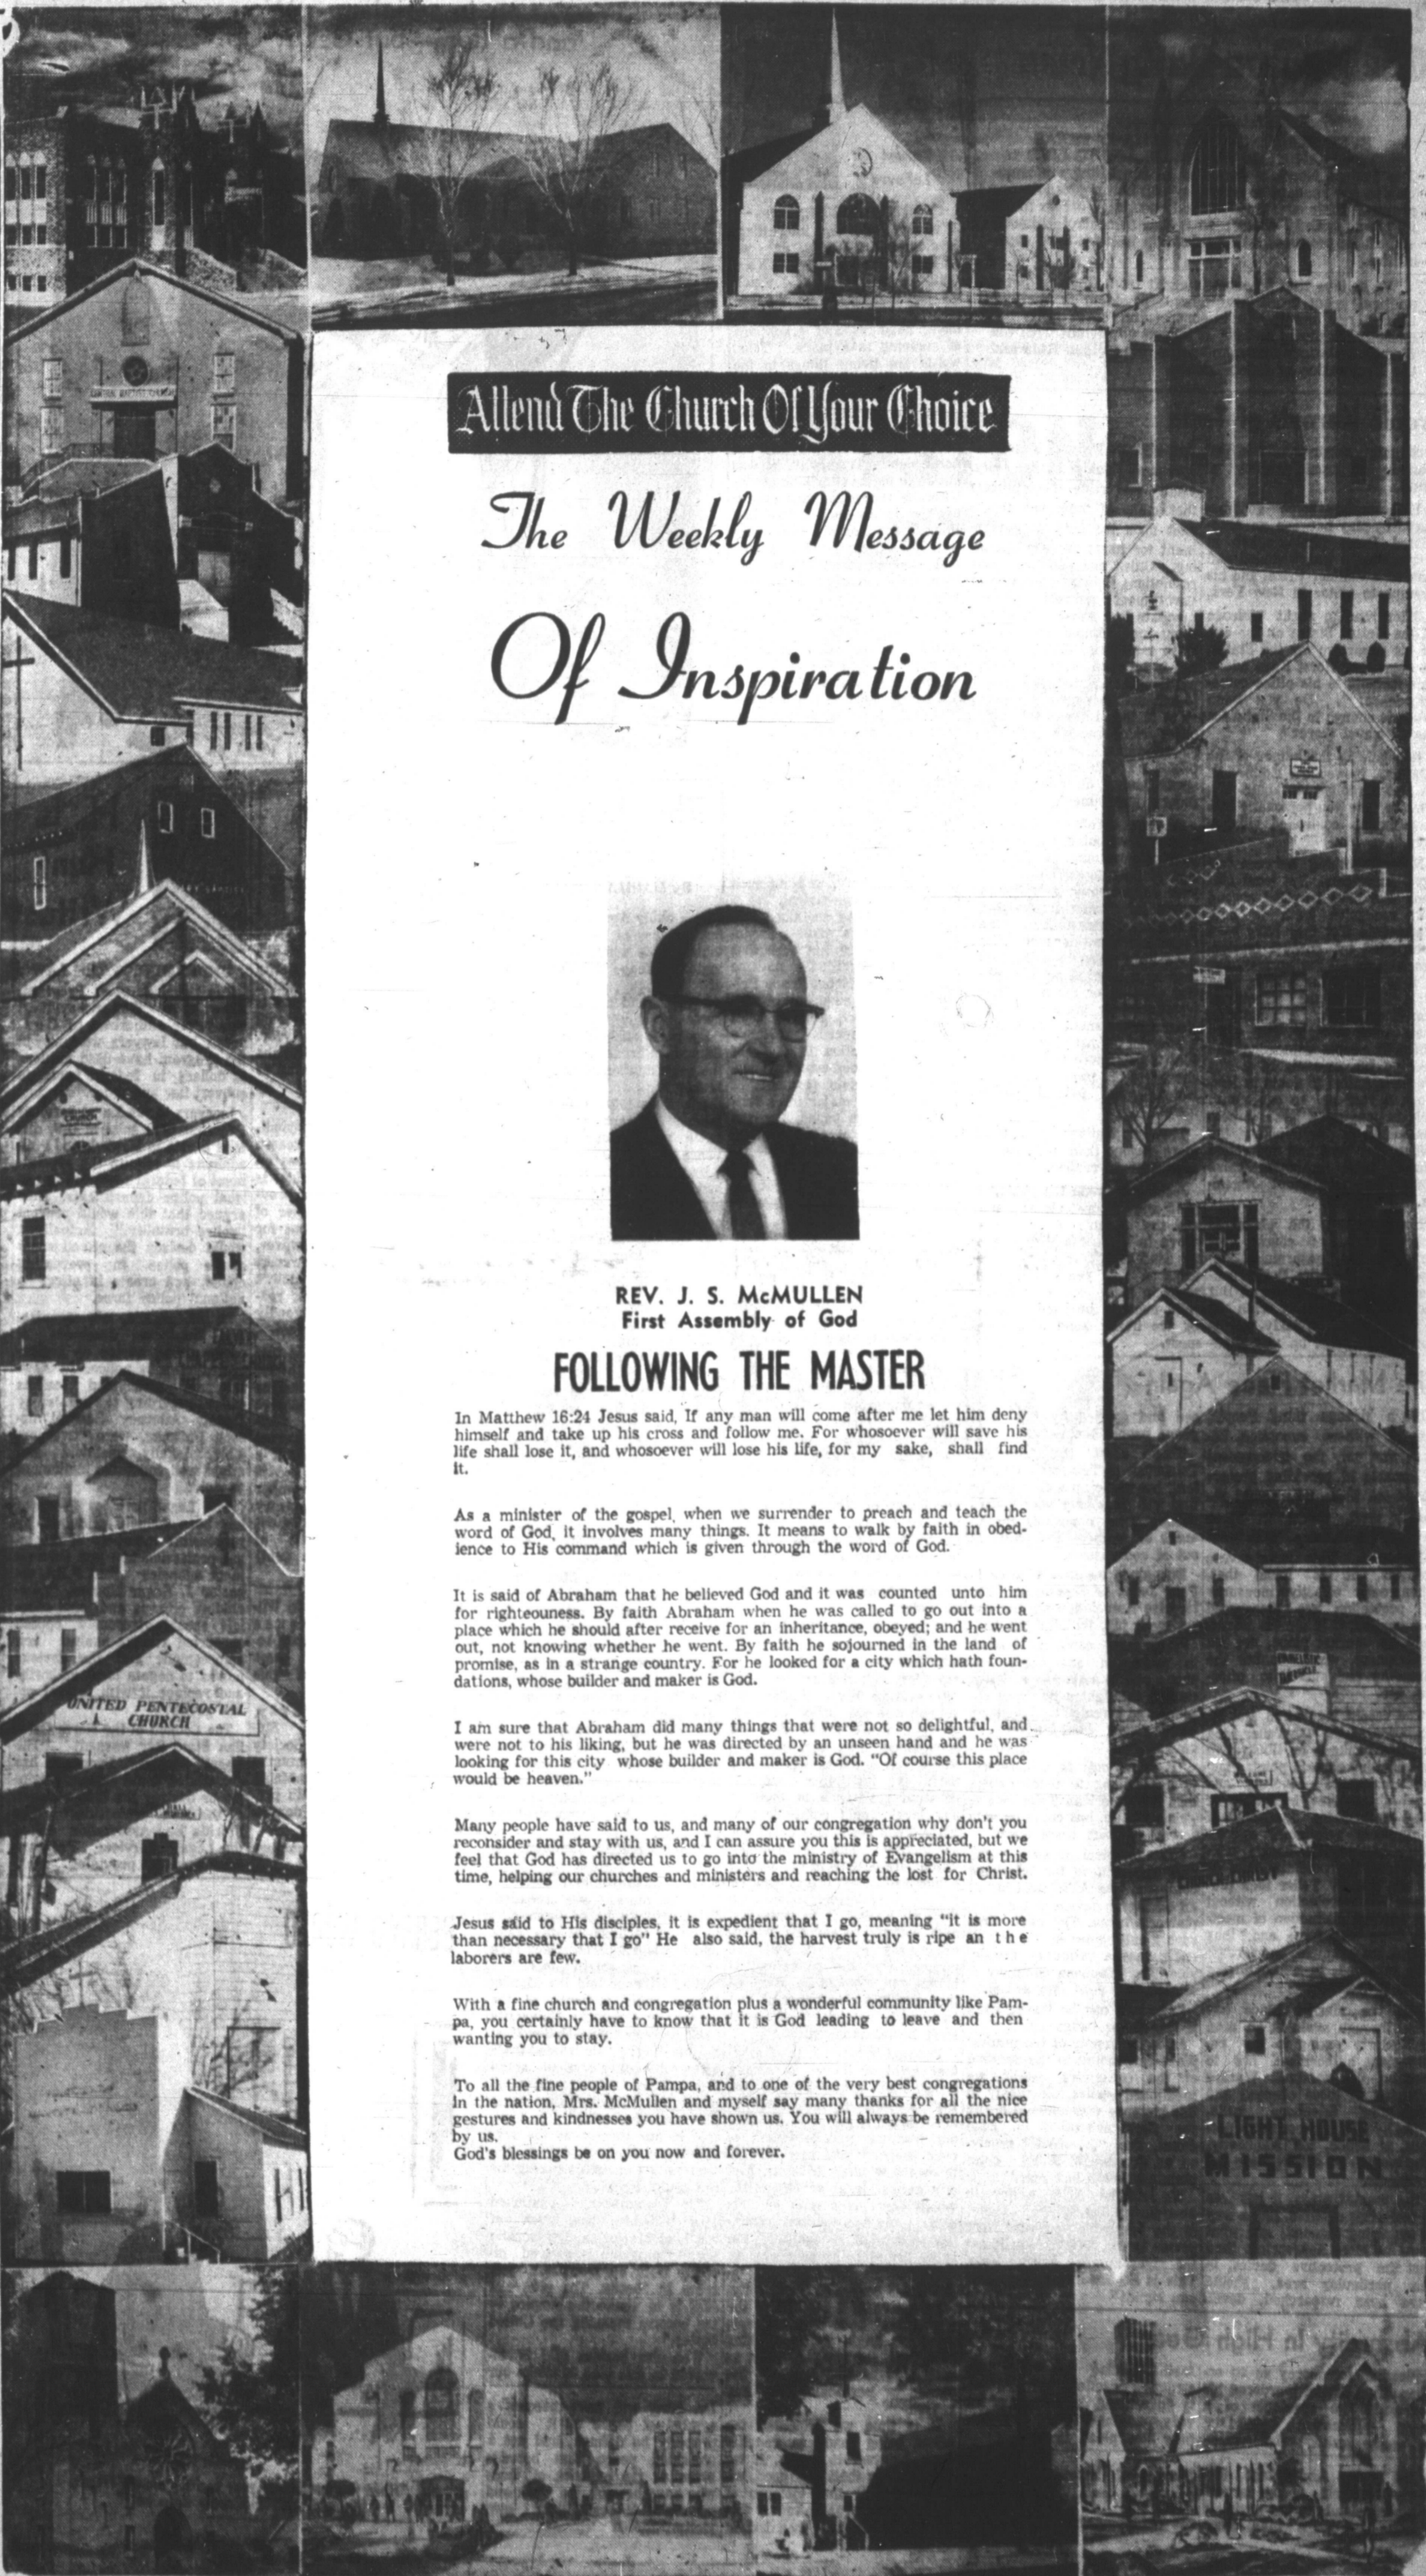

I am sure that Abraham did many things that were not so delightful, and were not to his liking, but he was directed by an unseen hand and he was looking for this city whose builder and maker is God. "Of course this place would be heaven."

Many people have said to us, and many of our congregation why don't you reconsider and stay with us, and I can assure you this is appreciated, but we feel that God has directed us to go into the ministry of Evangelism at this time, helping our churches and ministers and reaching the lost for Christ.

Jesus said to His disciples, it is expedient that I go, meaning "it is more than necessary that I go" He also said, the harvest truly is ripe and the laborers are few.

With a fine church and congregation plus a wonderful community like Pampa, you certainly have to know that it is God leading to leave and then wanting you to stay.

To all the fine people of Pampa, and to one of the very best congregations in the nation, Mrs. McMullen and myself say many thanks for all the nice gestures and kindnesses you have shown us. You will always be remembered by us.
God's blessings be on you now and forever.

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE
The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Ironic Kernels of Truth

Sometimes things said in jest contain an ironic kernel of truth.

Let's explore some good-natured by-play between an Associated Press photographer in Vietnam who was wounded and earned a Pulitzer Prize, and his newspaper editor in New York.

After reading about violence in the United States on the eve of his departure for the States, photographer Horst Faas added this footnote to his office correspondence: "Do you think it's safe enough in the States for me to travel there?"

Recognizing the humor of the situation, Newsphoto Editor F. A. Resch replied in kind: "Plan to take you personally into government controlled villages only."

Natural joshing between two good Americans. But local citizens who have traveled abroad will recognize truth in both statements. For they have been confronted by earnest foreigners who, in all seriousness, ask if it is unsafe for women and girls to be on the streets of American cities, especially in the evening or night. The story about 72 people witnessing and hearing the screams of a girl who was knifed to death in New York a year or so ago, with nobody lending a hand to help the victim or even calling the police, has been told and retold abroad until foreigners raise honest questions about America.

The answer to the photographer's query, of course, referred to the government-controlled vs. the Viet Cong controlled villages in Vietnam. But there's still a ring of truth in this response. Quickly-recognized facts point up this situa-

The Market Place Again

It's a strange thing. People, almost without exception, believe that only the government is capable of providing protection from those who would resort to theft, threat or force in their relationship with their fellow-man. Yet under severe analysis, it is found that, when really effective measures of protection are discovered and applied, it is almost invariably the market place, not the government, which makes the discovery and puts it to effective use.

The recent innovation and installation of the TV Teller idea in some banks is an illustrative and exciting case in point; placing inanimate concrete and steel—themselves incapable of steel—themselves incapable of committing retaliatory aggression—between the bank's valuables and the potential thief or robber, the TV Teller idea provides real protection without the dubious distinction of meeting force with force and thus setting the example, one further step removed, in a continuing chain of violence.

But the market place has come through again in an area particularly vexing to law enforcement authorities: not to mention the victims. We are referring to those obscene and frightening telephone calls, made by sick and cowardly persons, of which, too frequently, lone women or children are the recipients.

The market place, if left free of inhibiting controls, has a way of supplying demand; and what could be more appropriate than that the protective device, in this particular area, should have been researched, devel-

Absurdity In High Gear

Pleading for mercy as an orphan after having murdered his parents is the spectacle of a union publication pleading "save the trains" after union featherbedding and other destructive practices have virtually guaranteed the demise of the very passenger train services they now plead to save.

The Malay Archipelago, formerly Malaysia, is the largest group of islands in the world. It consists of more than 3,000 islands of Indonesia and the Philippine group.

LOOTING RE-DENIED

I've detected a very interesting development. Words, as we all know, are no more than symbols by means of which we express ideas. As we use words and ascribe meanings to them, shadings and gradations of meaning take place. Thus, words are living things in the sense that they undergo both growth and curtailment.

Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., the slain Nobel Prize winner, was known as an advocate of non-violence. Tragically, he was cut down by the very kind of violence he recognized and detested. But in his very active life, this Negro leader may very well have contributed to a special kind of meaning that accompanies the word "violence."

For to King, the violence he detested was the kind of violence that could be directed against the person of a man or possibly even the morale or the personality of a man. But it did not go beyond the personal level. To King, a personal affront to a man, or a personal blow struck against a man, was reprehensible, and such actions spent under direction of the federal government.

Or note carefully the news stories mentioning the pame of your congressman. On the average of nine times out of ten, your congressman gets indirect credit for "being informed by a federal agency that so many thousands of millions of dollars have been given to a local college or a hospital or a sanitation district, or for a military installation or project nearby. Your congressman has become a lobbyist for his district to see that it gets more than its 'fair share' of tax payer money collected by the federal government.

The implications are much more serious than most of us take time to realize.

Joshing between the photographer and picture editor may prove to be just a foretaste of the kind of humor we will be using in a few years hence to make a little more bearable rigid controls imposed upon us by the heavy hand of government.

"You're an Imperialist, a Warmonger and a Bum—but Get It Up!"

The Manion Forum

By MARILYN MANION

On a chilly April day, the long, hot summer of 1968 began. The violent riots which shook Washington, Chicago and other cities of America started several months ahead of the first heat wave.

By most analyses, these inflamed outbreaks were due to the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. But, even had the lawless killer's bullet not reached its mark, this summer's strife was scheduled in advance to start two months early.

Ironically, Dr. King himself had planned a march on Washington for April 22, a march so controversial that the NAACP's Roy Wilkins declined to participate. Wilkins had expressed fear that the event would break into uncontrollable violence.

Ey coincidence (or by design; we may never know) Dr. King's march was scheduled to take place during a peculiar and critical 10-day period (April 21-30). These particular 10 days had been selected by American leftists for a program of nationwide agitation and disorder. The first plans for this campaign of violence were mapped-out this January in Chicago. In February, additional plans were made at a Regional Meeting of the Students for a Democratic Society at New York University in Manhattan.

Mrs. Alice Widener, Editor of "USA" Magazine, attended the New York meeting and testified as to what took place there over the March 31 Manion Forum radio program. Mrs. Widener described an affiliate group of SDS and what type of activity flag burning demonstrations in New York City and San Francisco, and the Oct. 21 melee at the Pentagon, are again prominent in both organizing and coordinating the demonstrations this year.

And so another summer begins. They are inclined to promote: "I sat there," she recalled, "and actually heard them plan to dump garbage at the exits and the entrances of New York City subways, and set fire to it."

Mrs. Widener told the Manion Forum radio audience of the speech by Columbia University SDS member Steve Halliwell at the meeting: "He briefed them on revolutionary student activity, and he talked to them about their playing the same role in our society as the revolutionary students did at the universities in Russia during the pre-Leninist period.

"It is amazing," continued Mrs. Widener, "how much of the Students for a Democratic Society program is derived directly from the Bolshevik program in Russia. The plan of SDS is to shake the empire—the empire meaning the United States."

Who else besides SDS is involved in this plan to shake our

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not insure answers.)

QUESTION: The reason given for special elections is that it's easier to thwart the majority will that way. (Usually stated in other words, but the idea is there.) Special elections become more numerous by the year. Shouldn't your opinion of the majority's will be improving as more issues are decided by special elections?

ANSWER: A great many individuals believe that the reason for holding special elections on bond issues and tax overrides is to make it easier to win approval, since a smaller number of persons generally turn out for the special elections. However, the special elections. However, since the bond issue promoters do not admit that is their reason, it is difficult to broadly condemn them without proof.

If one wants to concede that the special elections do thwart the "majority will," we see no reason why we should change opinion that a majority decision is not necessarily a correct decision. We contend that if a principle is right, it is right regardless of the number of persons taking the contrary view. If it is wrong, it does not change when 51 per cent of voters (or even 88 per cent) approve it.

UNDERMINING THE LAW

The Legal Services Program, a part of the "War on Poverty," was never authorized by Congress, but lawyers working in the program have used millions of dollars in federal funds to subvert law and order.

Lawyers in the Legal Services Program filed suits in U.S. district courts in Newark and Philadelphia to require the appointment of federal receivers to run local police departments. They argued that this would prevent "police brutality." Actually it would destroy the effectiveness of the police in preventing crime, and create in effect a national police force.

In Indianapolis, this organization distributed thousands of cards giving advice on non-operation with police. In Newark, it distributed leaflets which, according to New Jersey Deputy Attorney General Joseph Hoffman, were "irresponsible, legally unethical and might well constitute incitement to riot."

The Legal Services Program has been roundly criticized by responsible members of the legal profession and law enforcement agencies. (Said F.B.I. director J. Edgar Hoover, "Law-abiding citizens and local officials should vigorously oppose concerted attacks against law enforcement and the devious moves to negate local authority and replace it with federal police riot.")

The Council of the North Carolina State Bar warned: "The Legal Services Program has constituted a serious and crippling or destroy the independence of the legal profession." The Florida Bar Association called the Legal Services Program "deficient in providing any

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Daily Use of Laxatives Is Harmful, Not Helpful
Readers who are or who believe they are constipated and who are dosing themselves with various laxatives secretly suspect that they are doing themselves no good. Many of them write to me asking about the harmful effects of this or that laxative. The greatest danger with all such drugs is irritation of the delicate lining of the intestines and setting up a chronic colitis.

The laxative habit thrives on the twin misconceptions that if you go for more than 24 hours without a stool you are constipated and that if you are constipated you are in big trouble. Most people, after taking a laxative, over-emptily the bowel and are physiologically entitled to miss a day. If they take a laxative under such circumstances, they again overemptily the bowel and the result can best be described not as constipation, but as a cathartic diarrhea.

To the reader who inquired about the daily use of castor oil, I can only say that this harsh purgative is one of the most irritating. I would not recommend it for a sick dog and I doubt that any doctor would recommend its daily use. Milk of magnesia, senna and Senokot (a senna preparation) are not as irritating as castor oil but, if they are taken daily, the end result will be the same.

Other readers have inquired about bran bread and bran cereals. I would rigidly avoid all such products if they contain the coarse identifiable flakes of pure bran because bran in this form is also a bowel irritant. The use of products made with finely ground bran flour is less hazardous but, as is the case with vegetables and fruit (the natural laxatives), the amount of bran eaten must be carefully adjusted to allow the stools to be firm and well-formed.

Some readers show a preference for enemas. These, too, should not be used routinely and when used should not contain more than eight ounces of plain warm water. Larger enemas tend to overemptily the bowel, and soap or other additives are irritating and unnecessary. The secret of success in the use of a small, plain water enema is to hold it at least five minutes before passing it. Don't take an enema unless you have gone 48 hours without a bowel movement (72 hours if the last stool was loose or watery).

Wit and Whimsy

A young skeptic in the congregation once interrupted Billy Sunday with the question:
Young Mr. Smith — Who was Cain's wife?
The Evangelist answered in all seriousness:
Billy Sunday — I honor every seeker after knowledge of the truth. But I have a word of warning for this questioner. Don't risk losing salvation by too much inquiring after other men's wives.

Law: What which is nothing but commonsense that would not be a law if people had commonsense; written in words that make no sense so that we have lawyers to argue nonsense before juries who have to use commonsense to decide which lawyer makes the most sense.

One good thing about the old days — when you bought a horse you were fairly certain that the manufacturer wouldn't come out with a new model next year.

Uncle Buckle — Going to the beach, is like going to the attic — you are always surprised at what you find in trunks.

A Texas lad rushed home from kindergarten demanding that his mother buy him a set of pistols, holsters, and gun belt before the next day.

Mrs. Brown (his mother) — Why, dear? Surely you don't expect me to believe you need them for school?
Young Bobby — Yes I do. Teacher said tomorrow she's going to teach us to draw.

Woman at political meeting
Mrs. Mann — I'm not prejudiced at all. I'm here with a perfectly open and unbiased mind to listen to what I am convinced is pure rubbish.

The McPherson family was just about to sit down to Sunday dinner when Mrs. McPherson looked out and saw the O'Briens turning in the front gate.
Mrs. McPherson — Oh, my goodness, here comes company, and I'll wager they haven't eaten yet.
Mr. McPherson — Quick, everybody out on the front porch with toothpicks!

One good thing about the new math — it keeps the children from finding out how little their parents know about the old.

Guy Hardin Concludes Campaign For District Attorney TO THE VOTERS OF THE 31st JUDICIAL DISTRICT

During my campaign for District Attorney, I have been received in a very courteous manner, and I would like to take this opportunity to thank each of you. It is with regret that I close my campaign knowing that there are some of you that I did not see personally. It would therefore be appreciated if you would let me take this method of soliciting your vote for the office of District Attorney.

For 11 years I have held the office of County Attorney of Wheeler County and my record is open to public inspection. I invite and would appreciate any interested person to check my record, or with the officers with whom I have worked. If you will do this, you will find that I have properly prosecuted the cases filed in my courts.

My experience also includes 8 years of defending criminal cases and I know that experience on both sides of this type of work is a valuable asset and would assist me greatly, if elected.

My belief has always been that the law applies equally to all persons, regardless of social status, and if elected I will continue to have this belief and will administer the duties of this office fairly to all persons.

I can and will devote the required time to each county to handle its needs. The District Attorney has an equal responsibility to each county in the district, regardless of size.

As you cast your ballot on May 4th, please remember that I would sincerely appreciate your vote for the office of District Attorney.

'Single Girl' Marries, Proves Book Right

Woman To Woman
By PATRICIA McCORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI)—A funny thing happened to Jean Baer on the way to the publishers. She had in hand this manuscript—"The Single Girl Goes to Town." Before it hit the book stalls, she decided to practice what she preaches in one chapter—namely, "single girls can gain much from entertaining at home the party way."

So she gave this bash. Among those invited was one Dr. Herbert Fensterheim, a clinical psychologist. Everyone had a great time. Macmillan put out Miss Baer's book Wednesday. But after June 20, they can't bill her as a single girl. She's marrying the psychologist that day.

In an interview, Miss Baer said the march of events has proved her point that a single girl should entertain—inviting interesting people to a party just the way married folks do. "A single girl can meet more people at home when she gives a party in her apartment than she can on a trip to a dreary island—where all she may wind up with is a married man," she said.

Knows the Score
Miss Baer knows the single score. She left suburban Mount Vernon, N.Y., for Manhattan and became GD (geographically desirable). That means, she explains in the book, that it isn't a chore for the male who dates you to pick up and deliver you at your doorstep.

During the course of research for her book, aimed at helping the single girl to settle properly in the big city, Miss Baer had nothing funny happen to her. "Only when I was interviewing single men about their comments on single women did something entertaining happen," she said.

The something: Most of those interviewed asked her to dinner or a dance.

The point about adjusting to life in the big city once a girl leaves home, according to Miss Baer is to do things interesting to you. That's one sure way of meeting people who are interested in the things you are.

'Senior Citizen' Month Named By Connally

AUSTIN — Governor John Connally has proclaimed May "Senior Citizen Month" in Texas and urged all citizens to join in honoring fellow Texans "who have reached a status of seniority and respect."

In his proclamation, the Governor said the State of Texas recognizes both a debt of gratitude to and an obligation for its senior citizens, and called on Texans to include senior citizens into the normal sphere of life.

"Texas of today exists on the foundations laid by these surviving Texans of yesterday. Their work, their efforts, their very lives stand as an enduring challenge to the future," Governor Connally said, and added: "If we are to enjoy the full productive capacities of our resources, we must continue to utilize the skills and knowledge of our older citizens in all civic and community endeavors. Their inspiration and counsel form a continuing asset in the growth and development of Texas."

The Texas observance of "Senior Citizen Month" coincides with the national observance proclaimed by President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What is your opinion of a woman who would take a job as a "housekeeper" for a single man? Part of the deal is that the housekeeper has to live ON the place. If a woman sells all her own household goods, and sells (or rents) her own house to move in with a man and keep house for him, how do you think that looks?

What does the community think of a woman who would hire herself out this way? And what do YOU think?
MADRID, IOWA LADY
DEAR ABBY: Personally I couldn't care less, but if I were to give it one moment's thought, I would assume that the housekeeper was KEEPING — not PLAYING house. Now, what's YOUR problem, Lady?

DEAR ABBY: I am a minister's wife and I would like to ask you a simple question: Is the minister's wife "automatically" invited to all the weddings her husband officiates at?

I have never attended a wedding without having been specifically invited, yet many parishioners have expressed great surprise (and even hurt) when I haven't shown up with my husband. They also seem surprised when my husband says his farewells after having performed the wedding ceremony, although not one word was mentioned beforehand about his staying on as a guest.

Should a minister just assume he is a guest wherever he performs a service? And should "and if you hear them burning, you turn off the stove." Alas, not one recipe for mud pie is included in the cookbook.

his wife join him, even though no invitation was issued?

MINISTER'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: A surgeon's wife is not expected to accompany her husband when he operates, and neither should a minister's wife be expected to "show up" wherever her husband performs a service. No one is "automatically" invited anywhere. Although most clergymen and their wives would be welcome as honored guests at the affair of their parishioners, they should be invited — same as any other guest.

DEAR ABBY: Re the new, effeminate-looking styles for men. They aren't "new" at all: In 1916 as a college fop I wore silk underwear, pleated, pink shirts, and a handkerchief tucked into my cuff. And as a boy I was "dressed and curled." In 1918 the Germans learned what the "Ladies from Hell" (the Scots) could do despite their kilts, purses and bagpipes. So cool it, Ma'am.

N.A.R. CONFIDENTIAL TO C.W.A.: The man who is always talking about how great he is with the women is doing what he does best. Talking.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal 90069 and enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

High Fashion's 'Darling' Declares Her Indifference for Modeling Title

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — Penelope Tree rates as high fashion's newest darling but insists she couldn't care less about playing the role.

"I hate fashion . . . you know, high fashion," said this 18-year-old modeling daughter of the United Nations' Marietta Tree. "I mean a woman trying to emulate a page in a fashion magazine."

Miss Tree says thusly, even as she appears steadily in Vogue in some pretty far out poses. But she said, "You can't look like Vogue. It doesn't want you. It just wants to show what individuality is."

"I believe in a look of one's own," the tall (five feet 10 inches), gangling (115 pounds) model said. "You know, go to a thrift shop, buy a piece of old curtain goods. Buy clothes, then forget about them. Change often. Don't worry about discarding."

Miss Tree was practicing her credo the afternoon she had tea at the Plaza Hotel. She wore a long sleeved blouse in tones of mauve and white. "I think it was somebody's nightgown, at one time," she said. "I found it in Chelsea (London). The black belt? (trimmed in glitter). It's off one of mother's old dresses. Mother's a conservative about clothes though. I'm rather angry about that."

Around her neck, Miss Tree had strung a rectangular plaque on a long chain — it was a bronze calendar from Nepal, she explained, and was a gift. The knee-high boots and pink tights, the suede skirt with deep fringe all were original Tree, not thrift shop finds. The skirt reflected her interest in the culture of the American Indian. Also original Tree was the mane of straight dark hair worn sleeked back from a wide forehead and falling almost to her waist. Fake were the full lashes on the upper lids, half a pair attached to the outer edges of the eyes below.

The look of the girl with the huge brown eyes definitely is her own, a theory of looks she preaches in a couple of television commercials she has filmed for cosmetics. She has signed up with a firm as a beauty and fashion consultant.

"Every woman has at least two good features," said the consultant. "Study your face . . . accent those good features."

Miss Tree's role as a model began with a party more than a year ago. She was leaving and waiting for her coat. So was Richard Avedon, whom she'd never met. He's the photographer who's snapped a thousand beauties' faces and figures for high fashion magazines and if Avedon says a face has possibilities, it's like an endorsement from the gods.

Avedon put her to work and her first pictures appeared in Vogue last July. She doesn't think the fact that she is Marietta Tree's daughter had anything to do with it. "I was just lucky," she said.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You really want to make a big move in the world of action now. But you had best not do so or you will be regarded as a big mouth with little substance behind what you have to say since others are so preoccupied with their own worries and their desire to find out what they would resent comments by you. Do so later.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): — You had better handle those important matters early instead of getting out for some reason. An early better day for you. Do not take any unnecessary risks. Avoid association with the unreliable.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): — Avoid making changes at home or bringing up some touchy subject that could mean a big argument. Do whatever you can to get others instead of being belligerent. Drive with the utmost care.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): — In-doing being forgetful with partners now, do your utmost to gain their good will. Do not force them to do what you think is the right idea. Avoid broaching that new and clever suggestion just now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): — Show ingenuously in advancing where your career is concerned today, but don't be too forward with others or you lose them. You will need more steady before delving into them. Show fine accounts.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): — You want to do everything in your power to keep from executing a responsibility, but this does you no good. Study the situation with more intelligence and you get the right picture. Then be happy.

CAPRICORN (Jan. 22 to Feb. 19): — Show others that you are willing to sacrifice in order to keep promises made to others. It will not be easy to do what you please you most today, so forget all about it. Be more concerned with home and family.

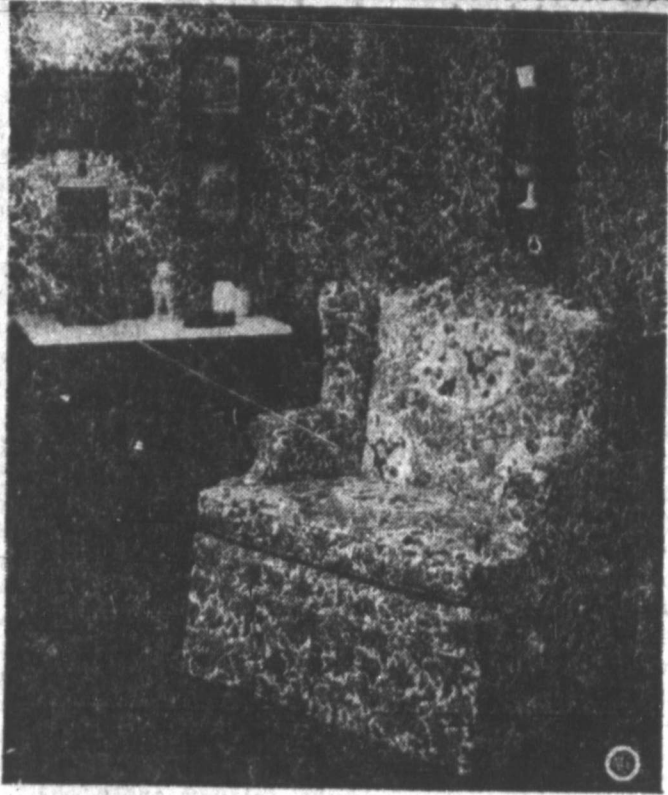

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18): — You think an associate has short-changed you and want to get him on the carpet, but this is not the case. Be sure that you keep your own side of any contracts you have made. Then you get along famously.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20): — Being demanding and get out in the social pleasures that help you to feel happy again. Use that fine imagination to get the pleasure from others that you believe you deserve.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY: — He or she will be one of those self-reliant and almost entirely self-sufficient who will see others only when advantage is to him or her. Teach early that cooperation is the best way to get ahead in the world.

Children's Recipes Have Imagination, No Mud Pies

By ELDON BARRETT
SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)

There is nothing like a hamburger made David's style. "If it's black it's done." "David's Hamburgers" is one of a potful of recipes in a children's cookbook compiled by Jean Hobart from the verbatim offerings of her afternoon kindergarten class at Campbell Hill Elementary School in Seattle.

Miss Hobart explained that the cookbook is the outgrowth of a class discussion on measurements led to cooking ingredients which, in turn, led to the subject dear to any five-year-old's stomach.

To further not only her pupil's education but her own as well, the teacher then had each student submit a recipe for his favorite food.

It was only natural that most of the recipes were for dessert. Even "Chris' Cereal" called for "one gallon of sugar."

Another youngster instructed his followers to "add one pound of cinnamon and two pounds of salt" to his concoction.

Leslie's Chocolate Cake is most impressive, although it is far off the mark as far as the subject of measurements are concerned.

To make Leslie's chocolate goodie you mix in "some more of that vanilla and next some more of that butterscotch and some more of that flour."

The addition of chocolate apparently is understood.

But David's Hamburgers take the cake.

"First you take a handful of hamburger and flatten it and put it in the oven on a pan with a foil on it and cook it for a long while. Take it out and look at it. If it's black it's done."

"Take it out of the oven and put it on bread. Put cheese, lettuce, naise (sic), ketchup, mustard, pickle and relish on it. That's all. Then you eat it."

Most of the youthful chefs de cuisine specified long cooking times but Mike was an exception. "Mike's Cake" takes only three minutes to cook and the oven temperature should be "7 to 3 degrees."

"Roni's Chocolate Frosting" reminds the cook to "put the milk away and then start cleaning up" after mixing the ingredients.

And "Tricia's Coconut Cookies" are an exercise in cooking by ear.

They must be cooked for an hour or longer if necessary

Twentieth Century Culture Club Studies "World of Women" in 1968

Amid a setting of covered wagons, stage coaches, reward posters and gold nuggets, Twentieth Century Culture Club observed its annual guest day coffee recently in the home of Mrs. Jack R. Hood.

Mrs. Weldon Carter, club president, welcomed 28 guests, giving the names of the program members had presented during their years study of "The Wonderful World of Women". In turn members revealed the names of the women whose lives they reviewed. During roll call by Mrs. Hood, members introduced their guests.

The serving table was covered with a blue and white checkered cloth, appointed with white iron stone coffee and tea service and bread-board, from which hot orange cinnamon swirl bread was served. Centered on the table was an antique ceramic wash basin with matching water pitcher, filled with a spring bouquet of garden flowers.

Depicting the theme of "The Desperate Women", western magazines were opened to articles about frontier women. Documents, guns and garters were in evidence throughout the room.

Favors presented to members and guests were reward posters encircled with tiny red and black garters pinned with a miniature pistol and holster.

Hostesses were Meses. J. M. Felts, Wayne Irwin, J. L. Chase, V. L. Hobbs and Jack Hood.

Mrs. Hobbs introduced the program, which was presented by Mrs. Rufe Jordan. In discussing lives of desperate women, Mrs. Jordan said the prevailing note in their lives was one of tragedy. They all possessed a cold courage whether they were using their sex to steal military secrets or hold up a stage coach.

She added "their appetite for life, action and excitement was hard to satisfy. They committed espionage as coolly as they sipped their tea, seduced men in high places for their country and their causes, rode like Comanches, dealt stud poker, packed guns and rustled cattle."

The life of Belle Boyd, the Siren of Shenandoah, was one woman Mrs. Jordan discussed. She described Belle as tall and graceful, a horse woman at 12, Stonewall Jackson's courier at 17, at 18 a dangerous spy, and at 19 in prison.

One historian, according to Mrs. Jordan, wrote of Belle, "She was the most active and reliable of the many secret agents of the Confederacy."

Mrs. Jordan described how Belle grew up in a house ringing with cries and laughter of brothers and sisters in the Shenandoah Valley in Virginia. She loved the rolling river and knew every bend and crook. She was educated and entered Washington society for a time. She volunteered as a dispatch rider and rode as a courier mostly at night between the camps of Bourgeois and Jackson, carrying secret documents.

Mrs. Jordan described how Belle once concealed herself in a dark closet to overhear important conversation and lay there for hours, listening and remembering. Later, alone in the outside darkness, she saddled her horse, managed to pass Federal pickets, riding 15 miles to relay the information for it to be passed on to Southern generals.

On another mission, Mrs. Jordan said Belle was given secret documents and was arrested. She was prepared to swallow the most important one rather than let the enemy capture it. However with her skill and cleverness, Belle outwitted a colonel, made a spy trip in the company of an officer and was cleared of charges of treachery.

While in prison Belle was greeted as the celebrated Confederate spy and placed in a small prison room with one small window. She was asked to sign an oath of allegiance to the Union.

Her reply, according to Mrs. Jordan was "If it's a crime to love the South, its cause and its president, then I shall rot here, and if I ever sign such an oath, I hope my tongue cleaves to the roof of my mouth. 'Cheers from the Confederate prisoners rang through the halls, Belle led them all in song, the prison ringing with the voices of a 100 men and one girl," she added.

Mrs. Jordan related after Belle's release from prison, under orders from the Confederate Secretary of State, to carry important papers to England, Federal gunboats attacked and the ship surrendered. While on the boat Belle fell in love with a Yankee Ensign of the attacking gunboat. Though she was a Rebel and he a Yankee they later married. Some evidence indicated he turned traitor when he married her, thus he was sentenced to prison and disinherited by his father. On his behalf Belle wrote a letter to President Abraham Lincoln. Her husband was later released but lived only a few months.

Death came to Belle in 1900. The epitaph on a white cross on her grave in Wisconsin reads, "Belle Boyd, Confederate Spy, Born in Virginia, Died in Wisconsin. Erected by a Comrade", according to Mrs. Jordan.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CULTURE'S COFFEE — Mrs. Rufe Jordan, right, and Mrs. E. E. Shelhamer, visit over the coffee service during the Twentieth Century Culture Club's Guest Day Coffee recently in Mrs. Jack Hood's home. Mrs. Jordan, guest speaker, discussed "Lives of Desperate Women" in American History.

The Life of Little Jo Monaghan was reviewed also by Mrs. Jordan. Old timers around Silver City said of him, "No horse was too wild or too savage that he could not be brought to saddle under Little Jo's hands."

Mrs. Jordan said "he liked the wide open spaces, breaking horses, mining and gun toting. He never smoked or swore and shunned the barrooms and dance halls. The one friend he made absconded with all his savings. The townspeople were up in arms over the injustice, but never caught the thief, according to Mrs. Jordan. "Little Jo staked a claim, built a prosperous saw mill and hired a Chinaman for a cook, but still lived the life of a reclus. After his cook's death, during a raging blizzard in 1903, a neighbor noticed his stock had not been fed, stopped to investigate and found Little Jo dead.

"The mystery that had surrounded his life was cleared up when the undertaker raced to the nearest saloon and ordered a drink and a second one before he said, 'Little Jo Monaghan was a woman,'" Mrs. Jordan said. Guests attending were Meses. Claude Wilson, D. B. Jameson, Bob Allford, Raymond W. Laycock, Larry Wall, Albert Reynolds, Skeet Roberts, Homer D. Johnson, E. "Why did you buy 15-watt light bulbs?" my husband asked. "For a worthy cause," I said. "I got them from Timmy's mother because he is selling them for Cub Scouts and I want him to win."

"That reminds me!" he said, searching through his desk. "Have you seen two books of chances on a new car? I bought them from Charlie; his daughter's sorority is selling them." "Maybe I can take the bulbs off the income tax. I won't use them, so it was giving, wasn't it?"

"Giving! Glad you said that!" He was pulling the drawers out of his desk now. "Carl gave me money for fertilizer I sold him for Stu's Boy Scouts. Where is it?"

"I didn't win the contest," Stu said. "Marvin Fuller won because HIS father sold 45 bags at work."

"Your father tried and he does not work in a big office like Marvin's father. Besides, he was selling Cissy's Girl Scout cookies at the same time!"

"I did not win MY contest either," Cissy said. "Ginny won because her mother sold 58 boxes at work and 14 at bridge club."

"I'm sorry," I apologized. "You know I was busy with all the fruit cakes I had left from my club's sale."

"The doorbell rang, and Rick called, 'Do you want candy the high school band is selling?'"

"I bought five bars from John at the office," Bob said, feverishly sorting fertilizer money from cookie money, "but I traded them to Les for four raffle tickets his nephew is selling for their church bazaar — for a color television set."

"My chess club is selling grass seed," Rick reminded us. "It's just as well you traded the candy," I said. "I bought six bars from Myra — her daughter plays trombone."

Bob finished sorting and handed over the money to Stu and Cissy. "I guess I could sell some grass seed," he said.

"What about the card party tickets for MY club?"

"If I take them I'll have to quit my job."

Bob answered the doorbell and came back into the room with eight boxes of greeting cards. "I bought these from Mary Lee. She's selling them for her daughter's choir group."

THE FALSEHOOD: Race track gambling creates jobs, brings money into Texas and keeps Texas money in Texas.

THE TRUTH: Race track gambling is economically ruinous because it produces nothing and adds nothing to the welfare of the people.

Gambling is the biggest single cause of crimes such as embezzlement, and invariably brings in its wake, a mounting stack of unpaid bills, skipped installment payments, repossessed automobiles, appliances, furniture and lapsed insurance policies.

Gambling is one major cause of broken marriages, neglected children, poverty and sometimes even suicide.

Scent, Cosmetics Come from Herbs

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Every time you dab on a perfume, apply a cosmetic, you're dipping into man's oldest cultivated plants, the herbs. Herbs have been used for both, and for numerous other products, since man began recording his history. And who knows to what uses they were put even earlier!

Hundreds of medicinal plants were known in India long before Christianity. The ancient Greeks wrote book after book on herbs. Early Chinese records mentioned incense of which herbs were a major part. An Egyptian papyrus, circa 2,000 B.C. mentioned myrrh. And of course myrrh is a part of Biblical records, where also are mentioned spicy balms, hyacinths, calamus and cassia.

Superstitions have grown around herbs, love potions have been made from them, monarchs have been honored with fragrant plants scattered in front of them as they walked or rode through streets, and cooks both ancient and modern used them.

No wonder, then, that two New York state women have made a profit out of them.

The two are Helen Whitman and Charlotte Lee, green thumbs who for the sixth year are exhibitors in the International Flower Show currently running at the New York Coliseum. The theme of their display of "fragrant herbs and allied plants" is their use — either the leaves, roots, stems or flowers — in perfumes and cosmetics.

On display are 52 plants, ranging from angelica (part used is the root) to wormwood (leaf is used), although their "tool shed herb farm" at Asalem Center, N.Y. offers more than 300 varieties.

"They've found that angelica seeds pre-dated Christ by 2,000 years," said Miss Whitman, who trained as a landscape gardener. "It's used in numerous cosmetics; some think of it also as a purifier of the blood."

Wormwood has a variety of uses and its oils go into the makings of absinthe. Also known as artemisia, superstition has it that a bit of the plant inside a shoe kept the traveler from growing weary. It also is supposed to ward off lightning.

Many of the herbs go into the essential oils of the perfume and cosmetics world, Miss Whitman said. The leaf of the tiny white cedar, for instance, is one. Oil from the castor bean is another, going into both soaps and lipsticks.

Through distillation, or other extracting methods, the more familiar plants also give the scent to perfumes or soaps — jasmine, lemon verbena, camellia, violets and of course the rose.

Tool Shed Herb Farm grew from what it was originally — a tool shed for gardening equipment which Miss Whitman established after World War II when she was designing gardens. Miss Lee, who had been a consultant in mental health working in New York City, joined the firm later "because I got tired of commuting." Salem Center is about an hour and one-half from Manhattan.

—FOREIGN NEWS COMMENTARY—
Quebec's Nationalism

By PHIL NEWSOM
 UPI Foreign News Analyst . . .
 The soft-spoken premier of Canada's Quebec province, Daniel Johnson, makes it clear he is a firm believer in nationalism, and in his case he means French nationalism. He also is a firm believer in a federal Canada.

Between the two he sees no contradiction.

But it places him in direct conflict with Canada's new prime minister, Pierre Elliott Trudeau, who also is a firm believer in a united Canada and also a French Canadian, and with Rene Levesque, another French Canadian, an ardent advocate of a sovereign Quebec.

Royal Commission

These are three of the men around whom events will revolve as Canada goes about attempting to settle a crisis which a royal commission has described as Canada's greatest since it became a self-governing dominion of the British Empire in 1867.

As Johnson believes in French nationalism, he also believes in English nationalism, and it is his belief that the two languages and the two cultures can develop side by side in a united Canada under a new constitution which would recognize Quebec as a special situation.

Trudeau, the swinging intellectual who replaced Lester B. Pearson as prime minister and leader of the Liberal party, rejects Johnson's demand for "extra powers" for French-speaking Quebec.

Ultimately, he believes, they would lead to Quebec secession. Johnson believes his plan is the only way to hold Canada together.

Economic Ties

Levesque, the separatist, wants political sovereignty but with economic ties by which Quebec would share a common market with English Canada.

In Montreal and in the green valleys of Quebec with their villages and steeped churches, a tide of separatism has been rising, a tide which, in a way, Trudeau himself helped start before ever entering politics in 1965.

As one of the founders of the monthly review Cit Libre, his sharp criticism of the Quebec government today is credited with being one of the factors leading to the "quiet revolution."

The "quiet revolution" led to the establishment of schools providing education for technicians, scientists and craftsmen for new industry, and away from the traditional parochial system limited to teachers, lawyers and priests.

It also led to extensive social welfare programs.

A side effect was a new self-confidence and a resentment against the English language domination of jobs in banks, government, railroads and other branches of industry.

Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Vice President Humphrey said Monday the use of "anywhere, anytime" in connection with Vietnam peace talks may have been an overstatement.

Which may be the understatement of the week.

Actually, the disagreement between the United States and North Vietnam over a site for the talks seems to be more of a misunderstanding caused by faulty translation.

It is often difficult to convert the idioms and nuances of one language to another tongue so that they convey the precise meaning intended.

Peculiar Translation

When President Johnson said he was willing to go "anywhere, anytime" to talk peace, the North Vietnamese, perhaps through some peculiarity of their own language, translated "anywhere" as Cambodia or Poland.

In English, of course, when "anywhere" is used in that context it means 10 other countries. In another context, it could mean something else.

A word like "anywhere" can mean almost anything, depending on such things as voice inflection, accent and clothing.

Let us say you are taking your wife out to dinner. As you are helping her on with her coat you say, "Where would you like to eat?"

"Oh, anywhere is all right with me," she replies.

If you were a Vietnamese, you presumably would take her to a restaurant specializing in Cambodian or Polish dishes. But being an American, you know immediately that "anywhere" is not all right with her.

You can tell that from the way she is dressed.

In a literal interpretation, "anywhere" could mean the neighborhood pizza palace. But your wife is using the word idiomatically. Meaning she wants to go to some place fancy.

From the desk of . . .
ALTON B. CHAPMAN

TO THE RESIDENTS OF THE SEVENTH SUPREME JUDICIAL DISTRICT:

Thank you for the privilege of serving you for eleven years and four months on the Court of Civil Appeals.

For the sake of the Court from which I am retiring and for the good of the State of Texas, I earnestly solicit your votes for Jack Hazlewood because:

1. In my opinion, the judges on every appellate court, from the United States Supreme Court on down, should be first and foremost good lawyers. Jack Hazlewood is an outstanding lawyer.
2. Of six major scholastic honors possible for a student to win in the Texas University Law School, Jack Hazlewood won them all. Such a scholastic record is possible only by one with an outstanding legal mind and the willingness to work, two attributes needed on an appellate court.
3. Jack Hazlewood has had more than four times as much experience in the Court of Civil Appeals as both his opponents combined.
4. The most practical and effective training for an appellate court justice is trial and appellate practice, as a lawyer, against other strong lawyers. This is exactly the training Jack Hazlewood has had for more than fifteen years, and in it he has many times demonstrated his competence.
5. This is the exact same training five justices of the Supreme Court of Texas had before becoming members of that Court. None had judicial experience on the trial level. They are Justices Griffin, Walker, Greenhill, Steaky and Chief Justice Calvert.
6. In the official bar poll conducted by the State Bar of Texas among the lawyers and judges of the 46 counties of this district Jack Hazlewood received more votes than both his opponents combined. This poll indicates that the members of the legal profession also rank him number one.

Respectfully submitted,
 Alton B. Chapman, Associate Justice,

Russell-Led Celtics Top Lakers, 124-109

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)—The world isn't changing after all—the Boston Celtics are kings of pro basketball again.

"This has to be one of my greatest thrills," bearded player-coach Bill Russell admitted after his Celtics regained the National Basketball Association championship with a 124-109 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers Thursday night.

Nicklaus Leads Houston Tourney

HOUSTON (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus, after playing erratically the last seven months, was smiling and swinging the stick again today and everybody else in the 94-man field at the $100,000 Houston Champions International golf tournament was chasing him.

Nicklaus, who hasn't won since the Sahara Invitation last October, fired a six-under-par 32-33-65 in Thursday's opening round for a stroke lead over Dan Sikes and a two-stroke margin over four others—Tom Weiskopf, George Archer, Miller Barber and Roberto de Vicenzo.

"I played better than I've ever played here, by about 10 strokes," Nicklaus said. "I've played this well before this year, but I haven't put anything together. I feel like I'm getting my game in shape now."

Nicklaus said he likes to start slow early in the year because he doesn't want to build to a peak before big money tournaments begin.

"I feel you can only build yourself up eight or nine times a year and if I build myself up early, then I'm not at my peak in the summer," he said. "I feel like I'm starting the heavy part of the season."

He supported that statement with his middle iron play—including a 160-yard, six-iron shot six feet from the pin on No. 18. This put him in position for a birdie putt and gave him the lead over Sikes.

But the Celtics set the stage to show the so-called experts their domain wasn't over by upsetting the 76ers in the Eastern Division playoffs. They took the Lakers, who were making their fifth bid for a championship since moving to Los Angeles from Minneapolis. In their best-of-seven game series four contests to two.

"We had a great bunch of hustlers although this was not our most talented team," Russell commented. "The Lakers weren't the most challenging team we had to face, but they had the most heart."

John Havlicek, the Celtics' 6-year pro from Ohio State, poured in 40 points and Bailey Nowell, the 9-year veteran who came to Boston last season, scored 30 before a forum crowd of 17,392.

Russell picked off 19 rebounds and collected 12 points. Twelve of his rebounds came in the first half as the Celtics virtually won the game by using a fast break with expert precision to jump into a 70-51 halftime lead.

Larry Siegfried had 22 points for Boston.

Upset 76ers

"That man Russell was the difference." Coach Bill Van Breda Kolff of the Lakers declared.

"Perhaps, this was the Boston center's greatest moment. The Celtics and their 34-year-old star were counted out before the season began after giving up the title a year ago to Philadelphia.

Pampa Baseball Nine Renews Rivalry

By WES DUMONT
Daily News Sports Editor

Senior Dick Henley is scheduled on the pitching mound for the Pampa high school baseball nine when the Harvesters invade Borger for a 3-AAA conference game Saturday afternoon. Game time is 1 p.m.

Henley, one of the most versatile baseball players in Pampa's history, starred in the team's recent upset over Amarillo in eight straight contests. The score was 5-1 in favor of Borger.

Henley, who played the hot corner at third base most of the season, shifted to the outfield for the first time in a recent contest against Tascosa.

"We're looking toward the future in these final four games," baseball coach Bobby Stephens said. The baseball team fielded three sophomores and three senior players in its starting lineup against Tascosa.

Sophomores included Tom Hawkins, John Jenkins and Ross Holman. Juniors were Eddie Hopkins, Gary Parrish and Hal Clabaugh.

The three starting seniors were Larry Turcotte, Henley and Steve Summers.

Only four games remain. The final home game is scheduled with Plainview Tuesday afternoon. Game time is 4 p.m.

Baseball fans are urged to attend the final game and boost the surprising Pampa team. There is probably no better way to enjoy the recent ideal weather.

Pampa Football Eleven Impresses Coach Swede Lee With 'Good Effort'

"We were pleased with the results of our first four football practices."

Pampa meets here for the first time on Sept. 13 to open the season. Lee said no player will be cut. Over 100 reported for spring practice.

Six high school coaches and three junior high mentors are running the large squad through its paces.

The football squad runs from a 1-split end formation.

Texas Gains Second

ABILENE, Tex. (UPI)—The University of Texas at Arlington, led by Don Copeland, cut their team total by 12 strokes at the Abilene Intercollegiate Golf Tournament Thursday, and pulled into a second place tie behind tournament leader Trinity University.

Copeland had a 70-68—138 total after 36 holes of the 72-hole tournament on the Abilene Country Club greens, taking the lead in medalist play. The tournament is being hosted by McMurry College.

Tied with UT at Arlington, far out of contention after Wednesday's first round, is Stephen F. Austin, both with 574 totals.

Leading Trinity University is three strokes ahead at 571.

Midwestern University golfer Mike Zinni shot the most spectacular round of the tournament so far, firing a 64—8 under par—to tie the course record for 18 holes set in 1960 by Robert Wood of Texas Wesleyan.

Second and third in individual play were Zinni, 75-64—139, and Gene Potter, Trinity University, 68-72—140.

White Sox Cut Former Star

CHICAGO (UPI)—Ken Boyer, rated the National League's most valuable player in 1964, was dropped Thursday, and the Chicago White Sox called up Bill Melton from Hawaii of the Pacific Coast League to replace the veteran third baseman.

The Sox announced they had asked waivers on Boyer for the purpose of unconditional release.

Boyer, who will be 37 years old May 2, hit .295, slammed 24 home runs and drove in 119 runs to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to the pennant, and the World Series victory over the New York Yankees in 1964, becoming the league's most valuable player.

His contract figure jumped from about $50,000 a year to a reputed $70,000, but his batting went downhill until it reached .125 in the first 10 games of the 1968 season.

Ed Short, general manager of the White Sox, said, "When we brought him up here we hoped he'd give the club a little extra spirit. We did well last year, but we didn't win the pennant. This year we decided dropping Boyer would be the best thing."

FIGHTER SUSPENDED

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Ki Soo Kim, a Korean middleweight recognized by the World Boxing Association as junior 160-pound champion, was suspended Thursday by the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission.

The commission suspended Kim for allegedly failing to fulfill a contract to defend his title against Benny Briscoe of Philadelphia.

Helton Selected On Academic Team

GROOM (Sp.)—Mike Helton, a senior in Groom High School, was informed by letter this week that he had been selected to the Class B All West Texas Academic basketball team.

The selection for the team is made by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce from 400 high schools in a 132-county area. Selection is based on academic achievement, athletic achievement, character, citizenship and leadership. Nomination is made by local school officials.

Mike is the son of Mr. and Mrs. N.B. Helton of Groom. He has a scholastic grade average of 95.3.

At a special meeting Monday night the Groom School board hired new head football and track coach for the coming 1968-69 school year. He is Gordon R. Stevens of Vernon.

Stevens is 28 years old, married and has three children, ages, one, two and four. He is a 1967 graduate of White Deer high school, and graduated from West Texas State university in 1961 with a Bachelor of Science degree in English, social studies, physical education and drivers education.

Stevens has had six years of experience as assistant football and track coach at Vernon. For the past two years he also held the head basketball coach position at Vernon High School. His wife is a certified music teacher.

At a recent meeting of the Groom school board, Dean Burger was elected president, J.L. Granmer, vice president and Bob Pool, secretary. Other board members are Troy Treadwell, W. H. Ollinger, R. E. Boyce and Dr. Richard Hall.

DENIES ROMANCE LONDON (UPI)—Mia Farrow, the estranged wife of Frank Sinatra, denied Thursday a report linking her with British actor David Hemmings. Miss Farrow, in Britain to make the movie "Secret Ceremony," said the report probably resulted from the fact she and Hemmings are both working on a benefit program in opposition to the Greek military regime.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—To put on a play of manners in the United States of America in the year 1968 is virtually an act of defiance. You remember manners, don't you? NBC-TV's "Hallmark Hall of Fame" does, and on Thursday night it defied the ratings system again by presenting a 90-minute adaptation of Sir James Barrie's social comedy of manners, "The Admirable Crichton."

Washington Window

By WILLIAM THEIS WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress has had second thoughts about its "fight-if-necessary" Tonkin Gulf resolution of 1964. Would it have reason to regret a "pay-as-necessary" commitment to the nation's poor and underprivileged in 1968? Would a "Sense of Congress" resolution making some generalized response to the demands brought by the poor people's march be either possible or useful? There isn't much evidence that Congress is willing to pass such a resolution even though the crisis at home is as pressing as any of the overseas threats which prompted the Formosa, Middle East or Vietnam commitments-by-resolution.

Smoking, Drinking Now Permitted by United Methodist

DALLAS (UPI)—The United Methodist Church Wednesday removed a clause from its minister's code which prohibited smoking or drinking. In other action, the delegates to the church's uniting conference struck out a "selective conscientious objector" clause from a resolution having to do with those who believe in pacifism. Thus delegates rejected the idea that a conscientious objector could object to only one war. The church said the decision about smoking and drinking among its ministers should be an individual matter. Previously, ministers of the Methodist Church were to abstain from "all indulgences."
