News from Hollywood

By VERNON SCOTT
 UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—This is a story about Gregory Peck.
 First of all, he is a man with a man's character and personality. He stands high in his craft—acting. He has been awarded honors, among them the Oscar for best actor in "To Kill a Mockingbird."
 He also is president of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

Peck is community spirited, active—in an unflamboyant way—in politics, leaning to liberal politicians of the Democratic party.

More than all these things, he is someone almost all of the Hollywood community respects and admires. Superficially, this may appear to be accidental or unimportant. But that is a mistake.

Model Of Respectability
 In the jungle that is Hollywood—where one actor will steal a scene from his best friend by setting himself afire if necessary—Peck is a bulwark of respectability and honesty.

As have most motion picture stars, he has made his share of celluloid bombs in addition to his triumphs.

But more than for his performance on the screen, he is admired for what he does behind the scenes.

For instance, it was Peck who felt the need for action when only one Academy Award winner—Walter Matthau—was present to accept the Oscar last year.

This year Greg called every nominee, pleading with the to be present at the awards presentations out of respect to the thousands of people involved in asking pictures and the millions who pay to see them. There also were the 60 million or so television viewers to consider.

Peck succeeded amazingly well. All but two of the nominees were in Santa Monica auditorium for the awards, adding glamour, excitement and drama to the event.

Best Actress Absent
 The only two not present were the late Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn, the best actress winner, Miss Hepburn, in Europe for a new film, is terrified of public appearance.

Peck received the Jean Hersholt Humanitarian Award from the academy this year. His acceptance speech, like that of his opening greeting, could not have been more fitting.

His judgement and taste were principally responsible for postponing the awards last week following the death of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Peck said, "We must do what is right, what suits the mood of the country and what is appropriate."

Thus he influenced the academy board of governors and broke the mossbacked old tradition that the show must go on. Indeed, he proved the show definitely should not go on if circumstances and good taste dictate otherwise.

Family Man
 Peck has been married twice and is a father of three sons by his previous marriage.

His current wife is French, beautiful and the mother of his youngest two children, Anthony, 11, and Cecilia, 9.

Peck neither seeks nor avoids publicity. At the moment, he is starring in "The Stalking Moon." But that might be the best kept secret in Hollywood. Peck becomes self-conscious when confronted by interviewers and photographers.

Finally, it appears, here is a man on the Hollywood scene able to fit the large boots of Gary Cooper. Peck would shake his head in denial. But then that is exactly what Coop would have done if confronted by the same set of circumstances, adding only a "nope."

POLARIZED
 DUDLEY, England (UPI) — Local zoo officials have decided their amorous pair of polar bears haven't produced any offspring because their home is too cold. So they decided to install central heating in Cavern where the bears live.

REAL SWINGER is actress Betsy Palmer who enjoys a few hours' work out in a gym whenever she can fit it into a busy schedule.

Tornado
water lines were disrupted. A number of cars parked near the Miami school, some with parents waiting to get their children, suffered damage. An estimated 12-15 cars were damaged. Some were tossed about like toys, others were moved only slightly, some sustained only broken glass.

Sheriff's officials from Roberts, Gray and Wheeler counties, area units of the Texas Highway Patrol and Pampa policemen and representatives of the Texas Highway Department moved into the area to restore order, direct clean-up operations, coordinate activities and direct traffic.

A Red Cross mobile unit was set up and national field representative Claud Payne set up an aid station on the first floor of the Roberts County courthouse.

Ambulances from throughout the Top O' Texas area responded to the disaster. Many, hearing only initial reports and expecting the worst, continued to converge on the town of 722 long after all the injured had been carried to Pampa.

The Santa Fe Railway sent cranes and salvage crews to the stricken area and quickly had debris cleared from the tracks. Normal service had been resumed by last night.

The Miami school was cordoned off late yesterday afternoon to prevent injury from possible collapse of the building.

Individuals and oil companies and other firms responded to the disaster by providing portable light units. The generators provided light for many who continued to work throughout the night in cleaning and salvage operations.

The Salvation Army set up a unit in the town to provide food, clothing and spiritual help.

Of the five injured, only one appeared to be seriously hurt. Rodney Greenhouse and Lloyd South, both Miami school students, were treated and released from Pampa hospitals. Billy Newman, also a student, was admitted at Worley Hospital in Pampa for observation. Fred Willard, an adult, and Mrs. Frank Russell, were treated and released from Pampa hospitals. Frank Russell was taken to St. Anthony's hospital in Amarillo, suffering from multiple fractures.

An unofficial count listed 19 houses suffering major damage and 22 suffering minor damage; major damage to the school and the service station; 4 garages damaged; 1 lumber yard damaged; 1 church damaged; 1 hotel damaged; and 1 barn turned over.

Highway Patrolman George Broughton sighted the cloud as it first passed over and then swooped back down on the town from a vantage point on the plateau just south of Miami. He said it took just a few minutes for the funnel to form from a black cloud and strike the devastating blow to the "Sweetheart of the Plains," Miami.

Patrolman Broughton lifted debris from one cellar door, allowing one elderly woman to come out of her cellar shortly after the tornado had travelled out of Miami to the north.

Many Miami youngsters could count their blessings today because a cautious school administrative staff, Superintendent Glenn Sanders and Principal H. D. Adams, "kept them after school" just a little while Monday.

School is usually dismissed at 3:50 but the storm siren had sounded the warning some 10 to 20 minutes earlier and the two school officials decided to keep the children in the basement hall until the all-clear sounded. Parents had begun to arrive to pick up their children from school and many made it into the school with their children before the storm hit, undoubtedly saving a great many more injuries.

The storm struck at about 4:06 p.m.

After the twister struck and the injured were being cared for and awaiting ambulances, most residents of the community

Bids Sought For Work At Pantex

The Atomic Energy Commission will invite bids about June 1, 1968, from small business firms only, for a construction project at its Pantex Plant. The plant is operated for the Commission by the Mason & Hanger-Silas Mason Co., Inc. Bids are scheduled to be opened at the Commission's Amarillo Area Office, June 20, 1968.

The project, estimated to cost from $230,000 to $250,000 will consist of the construction of approximately 50 feet of covered ramp and a lunchroom facility containing 600 square feet of floor space. In addition, an existing two-story building containing 14,000 square feet will be rehabilitated and an existing building will receive modifications to the heating and cooling systems to provide precise temperature and humidity control.

Work is to be completed within 150 calendar days after the contractor, to whom the bid is awarded, is asked to proceed.

Pampa WAC Is Honored By Army

FORT GORDON, GA.— Ft. Gordon honored three of its workers for their service to the post in a special ceremony last week. The three were presented Certificates of Achievement as WAC, Department of Army civilian and soldier for the month of May, signed and presented by Maj. Gen. Walter B. Richardson, commanding general.

Selected were Sp4 Linda J. Moore of Pampa; Sp4 Lary K. Rand of Cleveland, Ohio; and Mrs. Ernestine Dye of Crawfordville, Ga.

Sp. Moore is a Signal School instructor in the communication Center Operator Specialist course. She attended West Texas State University at Canyon as a music major before entering the service. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vivian C. Moore of Pampa.

Mrs. Dye is a supervisory security and intelligence clerk for G-2 (security section).

Sp. Rand is company clerk for Company B, 8th Battalion 3d Training Brigade.

In addition to the certificates, both the WAC and soldier of the month were presented $25 bonds.

Junior Pythians Add Members

Pampa Chapter No. 70, Phi Delta Pi, Junior Order, Knights of Pythias, held a stated meeting last night at the Pythian Hall and accepted for membership the applications of the following boys: Raymond Moss Hampton, son of Dr. and Mrs. B. M. Hampton; Jerry Lee Lindsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lige Lindsey, and Charles Allen Coombs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lige Lindsey, Jr.

The new members will be initiated as a special meeting to be held May 17th.

Plans for the three-day camp-out to be held the last of May were discussed by J. C. Hopkins, Knight Advisor. Jay Johnson, chancellor, presided at the meeting.

WASHINGTON — President Johnson, pledging an all-out campaign to find a formula for peace in Vietnam at the projected Paris talks:

"With every fiber of my being, I shall try to move us from fighting to peace; from enmity to brotherhood; from destruction to common efforts on behalf of the men and women and children of all Southeast Asia."

were trying to be helpful and going about their work of cleaning up and caring for each other, almost in a universal state of shock.

Many school children and pre-school youngsters were still somewhat scared and crying an hour after the storm struck.

THE TROUBLE WITH GOLD

Americans, comfortable in the knowledge that their country owned a lion's share of the world's gold, traditionally the basis of a nation's monetary strength, suddenly became aware that the gold stock was dwindling at an alarming rate. Suddenly, for a time, the American dollar itself was suspect in Europe. What is this trouble with gold, and how did it start? What does it have to do with the dollar, and what is being done about it?

Gold has been valued by all peoples. Men have sought for it and fought for it over the ages. But as a medium of exchange between modern nations, gold leaves much to be desired. There isn't enough of it to finance expanding world trade, nor can it be conveniently transported. Paper money and other credit instruments, partially backed by gold reserves, serve this purpose.

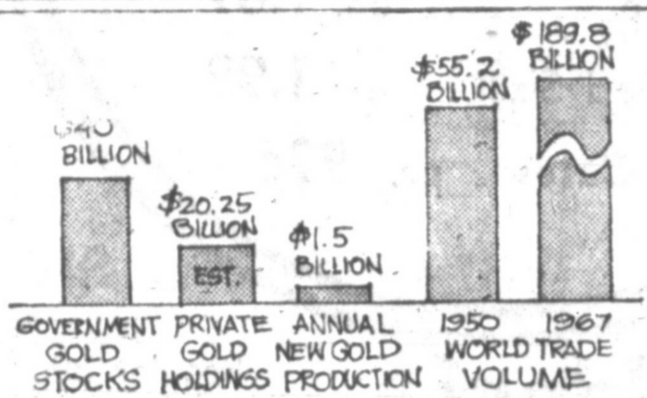

In 1934, the United States announced that it would buy and sell gold at $35 an ounce—higher than the going market price. Gold flowed into the U.S. until ultimately it possessed more than $26 billion worth, some 57 per cent of the total world monetary supply. In 1944, the member nations of the International Monetary Fund agreed to peg their currencies to the "good as gold" U.S. dollar.

As chart at left shows, the dynamic growth of world trade has far outstripped the virtually static gold supply. Thus the recently agreed-upon creation of "paper gold" (international financial credits) to supplement the yellow metal. But paper gold or real gold, the basic problem—America's balance of payments deficit—remains to be solved. The dollar is still the "key currency" in the world's monetary system. Its strength, at home and abroad, is still the concern of the free world.

Yankee dollars helped the postwar world rebuild. Dollars sent overseas came back in purchases. But in 17 of the past 18 years, the U.S. spent more abroad than it earned. In the 1950s, creditors began exchanging accumulated dollars for gold. In late 1967, speculators stepped up their buying, hoping to force the U.S. to devalue the dollar to stretch its gold stock (now down to about $11.4 billion) and thus make gold worth more in dollars.

Hurriedly conferring in Washington, representatives of the United States and six European nations making up the London gold pool proclaimed a new two-price system of gold. The world's present monetary supply—about $40 billion—was frozen at $35 an ounce and will continue to be used to settle international debts. But the seven nations will no longer sell gold to the free market or buy newly mined gold.

'Politics' Label Given RFK Request

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI)—The president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors has labeled a request by Pierre Salinger that the society make an immediate investigation of the practices of two Indianapolis newspapers as "an obvious political counter maneuver."

Vincent Jones, ASNE president, made the charge in response to a telegram from Salinger, a campaign aide to Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, that said reporting in the Indianapolis Star and the Indianapolis News was "one-sided and inflammatory."

In Phoenix, Ariz., Eugene C. Pulliam, publisher of the two Indianapolis newspapers, said they had given Kennedy "and his entourage" far more space than they had given to any other candidate.

"Bobby Kennedy is like all spoiled children," Pulliam said. "When he doesn't get what he wants, he bellyaches about it." The telegram to Jones called for an immediate investigation of the two newspapers by ASNE's Freedom of Information Committee. Salinger asked that the committee make public the results of its investigation before Tuesday's primary vote in Indiana.

"This request was an obvious political counter maneuver," Jones said. He said the committee could not move that quickly.

FEW YOUNGSTERS CAN BRAG of such a unique trike course—the world's largest rubber hose doing duty as a "tunnel." Made by Goodyear, the hose is 20 feet long, more than four feet in diameter and, including the concrete metal flanges built into each end, weighs 13,000 pounds, the equivalent of four medium-sized autos. The hose will be used on the world's largest dredge on a central Florida project.

FOREIGN NEWS COMMENTARY Kremlin Guessing Game

By HENRY SHAPIRO
MOSCOW (UPI) — Gone with the snows of yesteryear are the 1967 predictions of the imminent collapse of the Soviet collective leadership.

Beginning in the spring and continuing through the summer doldrums up to Nov. 7, a popular guessing game among foreign Kremlin watchers was worded something like this:

The Soviet leaders are sweeping a host of critical problems under the rug because they wish to avoid marring the festivities on the 50th anniversary of their regime Nov. 7-8.

Predict Fireworks
"Come Nov. 9," it was said, "there will be fireworks."

It was more than a guessing game. The predictions almost assumed the character of a dogma, and the names of the men who were to fall from or rise in the political hierarchy and the policy changes that were to come were bandied about whenever a group of diplomats or newsmen met.

It is now half a year since the end of the anniversary celebrations and the only known sensation appears to be the monotony of no change either in basic Soviet policies or in the leadership.

The collective leadership appears to work no more and no less efficiently or harmoniously than it has been since former Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev was ignominiously ousted from power Oct. 15, 1964.

The ruling troika—party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and President Nikolai V. Podgorny—appear as inseparable as ever.

No Guarantee
But firm as the ruling troika may be there is no guarantee of its permanency.

Brezhnev has a history of cardiac trouble with two reported heart attacks.

Kosygin's health is reported not too sturdy. The death of his wife last year seems to have made a substantial difference in his mood.

There are, of course, the usual rumors, customary in such situations and in the fact that they cannot be confirmed, that Kosygin has expressed a desire to be relieved of some of his administrative chores.

But old Bolsheviks do not resign or retire that easily, voluntarily. Neither Brezhnev, Podgorny or Kosygin could resign without good enough reasons to persuade their Politburo associates to let them go.

LEICESTER, England (UPI)—Leaders of a newly organized Anti-Immigration Society said today they would campaign to step further colored immigration into Britain. The group also wants persons who entered the country after 1948 repatriated to their native countries on "generous terms."

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren
DEAR ABBY: Everybody says I have a good personality and although I am far from "beautiful," people tell me I am not a bad looking girl, but I am nearly 17 and have never had an honest-to-goodness date. I mean a date that wasn't fixed up by somebody.
I wear glasses. Could that be my trouble? Please don't suggest contact lenses because I get sick to my stomach at the thought of sticking something right into my eye. I don't want to be an old maid, and wonder if you can help me.

17 AND NO DATES
DEAR 17: Glasses rarely (if ever) have cost a girl her popularity, but they frequently provide a good excuse, which is easily seen through. If you want to be "popular" try to develop the kind of personality other people find attractive. Forget about yourself, and the impression you're creating, and concentrate on making the person you are with glad that he's with you.

DEAR ABBY: Several times in the past you have advised ladies whose bosses become too friendly to seek other employment.
Now, after seven years I find myself in that very situation. I have an excellent job with an excellent salary, but I have recently had "problems" with my boss.

I have been interviewed for other positions, all of which would mean a substantial reduction from my present salary. Each prospective employer has asked why I'm leaving my present position, which I think is a fair question, so far I have said, "for personal reasons," but this reply always seems to elicit an unfavorable reaction. Abby, what sort of reason should I give?
"CURIOUS" IN D.C.
DEAR CURIOUS: "For personal reasons" is both honest and discreet and therefore your best answer. To be more specific would elicit an even more unfavorable reaction. And to lie is foolish.

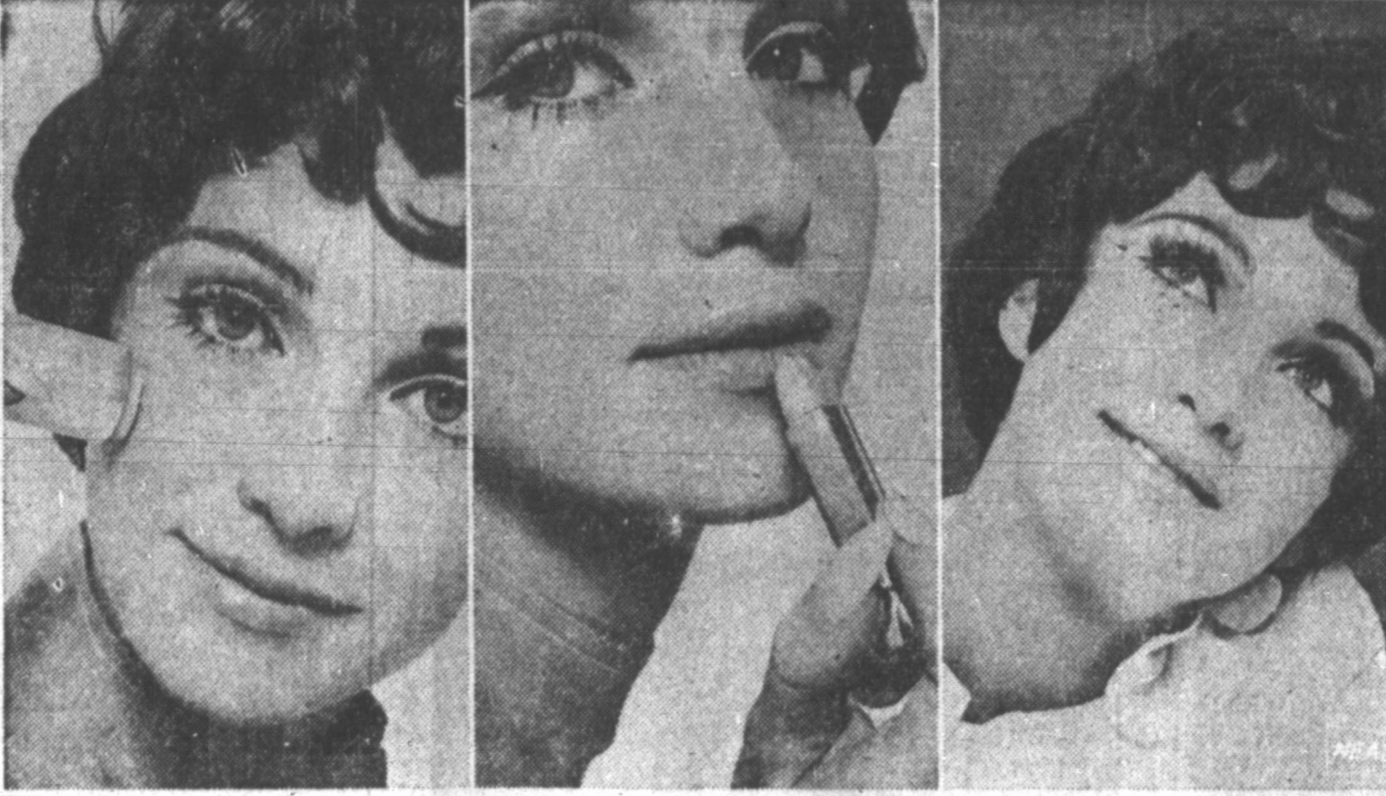

DEAR ABBY: Recently my husband informed me that he has signed everything over to our children in the event of his death. He said his reason for doing this was that I would probably get a boy friend, and he doesn't see why he should leave me money to spend on another man. We have been married four years and have two children. I have never stopped to think about the future. I just assumed that we would be in rocking chairs together, but his statement started me to thinking.

When I asked him how I was supposed to live if something happened to him first, he said I could live with one of the children.
He refused to let me go back to work to provide for my future, and I can't see myself job-hunting in my old age.
What can I do besides die first?

WORRIED
DEAR WORRIED: See a good lawyer and tell him what you have told me. Then ask for his advice. You may be pleasantly surprised.
CONFIDENTIAL TO "UPSET IN NEWARK": For goodness sake, DON'T ask his boss to take him off the road. It won't help. If a man is going to "cheat," he will cheat on his lunch hour.
Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

THE LITTLE GIRL LOOK IN MAKE-UP presents a new discovery for instant glamor—a unique foundation base, minute make-up stick, is a liquid-light make-up, fluffy and extremely fine in texture. It swivels up (left) from its case, blends on easily, gives superb coverage and leaves a smooth, even finish. With a twist of the wrist a new collection of lipsticks, called Lip Games, you can play any number of color combinations. Be a winner with a dual lipstick (center) that is used individually as a frosted or a clear color or combined to create a third variation. Apply color only to the lower lip. Then apply color and the frosted tint to the upper lip. Here is the Little Girl Look for 1968 (right). It dictates important lips, sensual, but softly accented eyes, warm skin tones and an airy coiffure.

Natural Look Is Back Once More

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEA Women's Editor
NEW YORK — (NEA)—The art of make-up changes each season to complement the current fashion. And the Spring '68 girl glows with a frankly feminine face. She looks natural, yet uses more cosmetics to achieve that look than women have used for years.
Her hemlines vary from mini to maxi. But frills of femininity show up at her neckline. So the face now must be reminiscent of a romantic portrait, framed with a fluffy coiffure.
A new lipstick collection brings color to the lips, a far cry from the pale tones so popular last year. And two tones can be used at the same time. Pure, vibrant colors will combine with frosty companions to create innumerable effects.
Eyes will glimmer with color, too, with sometimes as many as three shades applied on the lids. But this rainbow design can be so beautifully blended that the effect is amazingly soft and subtle. An example would be soft brown under the brow, pearl below and blue on the lid. Brows will be feathery, stroked slightly upward. Eyelashes will be more important than ever before as an essential ingredient in creating the beautiful face. You can buy them in a variety of textures to suit the face, the mood and the occasion.

The eyes and the lips can be complemented by the use of a warm skin tone created with a new minute make-up stick. A light make-up, fluffy and extremely fine in texture, if swivels up from its case, blends on easily, gives superb coverage and leaves a smooth, even finish.
The hairdo that frames the face this season poucs into a puff of fluff in unexpected places—nape, tip of the crown, or asymmetrically to one side. These light, airy effects contrast with silky smooth bands of hair elsewhere in the coiffure.
It's a whole new book and a pretty one to boot.

WHITE WOOL COAT (left) has cunningly concealed side fastening. The newly raised belt and high pleat are fashion highlights to note. It is a Modern Deb design. The belt rides high on the crisp, linenlike skimmer (right) by Jeannene Booher of Claret. In bright orange, the simplicity of line is accented with crystal ball buttons and slash pockets.

Cadette Troop 214 has worked toward the "Challenge of Emergency Preparedness" since last September. Mrs. Marian Jameson, Red Cross first aid instructor, is working with the Troop on its first aid basic and challenge work. Vernon Pirkle, Pampa fireman, also demonstrated Pampa's only resuscitator machine. This troop spent a Saturday "work-day," cleaning and repairing the Girl Scout Little House to complete part of their Challenge Preps.

Due to the unavailability of the HemisFair Film, a film concerning the points of interest in Texas was substituted for neighborhood showing.

Hottest new item: fire starter cubes that burn with a hot, even flame the minute you touch a match to one. The manufacturer says the item works even when wet, suggesting if you want to test, you slosh it around in a glass of water then put it in an ash-tray and light. It burns with such an intense heat that it would easily ignite charcoal or logs with the use of kindling wood. No flare up or small explosion is involved, as is sometimes the case with liquid starters, says the maker.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Welcome to 1968. Now you can rent a critic.

The gentleman's name is J. C. Thomas, and he came to the attention of televisioners the other day on NBC's "Today" show.

His function was summed up briefly by host Hugh Downs: "Very simply, if for some reason you can't attend a cultural event of some kind but you'd like to know what it was all about Mr. J. C. Thomas will go in your place and then he returns to give you a personal critique in your own home."

Well, after that, another member of the "Today" staff, Barbara Walters, asked Mr. Thomas what it cost for someone to rent his services as a critic.

"Twenty-five dollars," Mr. Thomas replied.

"Do you get many offers for this kind of work?" the rent-a-critic was asked.

Some Interested

"Oh," he said, "I've had perhaps a couple of dozen phone calls, Barbara. And of those about seven or eight, maybe nine people have hired me so far."

"Now you can't make a living from this,"

"Oh no."

"What do you do in real life when you're not criticizing?"

"I'm a free lance writer and critic essentially," said Mr. Thomas, "and a photographer and a musician and perhaps a few dozen other things; whatever is necessary to survive and do it creatively."

What made him decide to become a rent-a-critic?

"Well, I moved to New York in January to free lance essentially in the creative and the performing arts, primarily writing, photography and the other things I do, and I had to think of a way with all the millions of writers, some unemployed, some not, some talented and some not in this town, to think of a way to get my name across fast." Mr. Thomas was asked whether he gives a written report or comes back and chats about what he has seen.

Personalized Treatment
"Well, here's the way I generally do it," he said. "First of all, I will talk to the individual, because this is personalized communication in my book and it's aimed at an audience of one."

"Therefore, I have to know what the audience of one wants to get out of the particular activity, what his or her likes and dislikes are, and so on, so I can, shall we say, slant the review toward their particular tastes without inhibiting myself, of course. But slanting it toward them so that they are going to get what they hired me for."

"Then I attend it, of course, take my notes. Then I write it up and I will deliver a verbal critique as well as a written one. I will give them a written one and then I will improvise on that. I will even sometimes, if I feel so inclined, act out a few parts or go through certain motions. Actually I do a performance; it's more than just a straight critique."

Go get 'em, J.C.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Reynolds & Co. contends this is a "real bull market," adding that the "obvious fears" of investors currently seem outweighed by better than expected corporation reports, inflation fears, Vietnam peace prospects and other considerations. The analyst says it feels that "this market is going to surprise people on the upside," with the Dow Jones industrial average possibly cracking 1,000 before the upswing runs its course.

Spear and Staff Inc. says prosperity and inflation—whose signs abound these days—are like "two sound waves that reinforce each other." The company adds that while money managers may "question the harmony, there is no denying that the music is sweet for stocks." The firm says it continues to believe the market will work irregularly higher.

Shearson, Hammill & Co., suggests that prospects for further advances in stock prices seem favorable over the intermediate and longer terms. At the same time, the market adviser says investors whose primary objective is intermediate or long term capital gains should continue to "pursue a fairly aggressive policy" and take advantage of weakness to add to their portfolios in well situated stocks.

DALLAS (UPI)—Eugene Lock Monday congratulated L. Gov. Preston Smith and Don Yarborough for "a hard race, well fought," but endorsed neither, candidate for governor. Locke ran 5th in Saturday's Democratic primary race. Yarborough and Smith finished first and second to win places in a June 1 runoff. Locke said he "regrets the loss but my disappointment is tempered greatly by my gratitude to my supporters."

OF Advertising Start with an Audit

Advertising is a serious investment... art, engraving, typography and copy are costly. All are planned carefully to attract readers who are prospects for the merchandise or service. No business can afford to waste any part of this investment in any medium that cannot guarantee definite circulation and readership. "Waste basket circulation" in post offices, and so called throw-aways that usually travel to the incinerator are of little or no value to the advertiser.

The Pampa Daily News is a completely Family Newspaper Delivered Daily... paid for and Welcomed!

BUYING ON THIS BASIS IS SOUND!

Careful studies made regularly by an independent organization—the Audit Bureau of Circulations—shows advertisers exactly what they get in circulation and readership for their advertising investment.

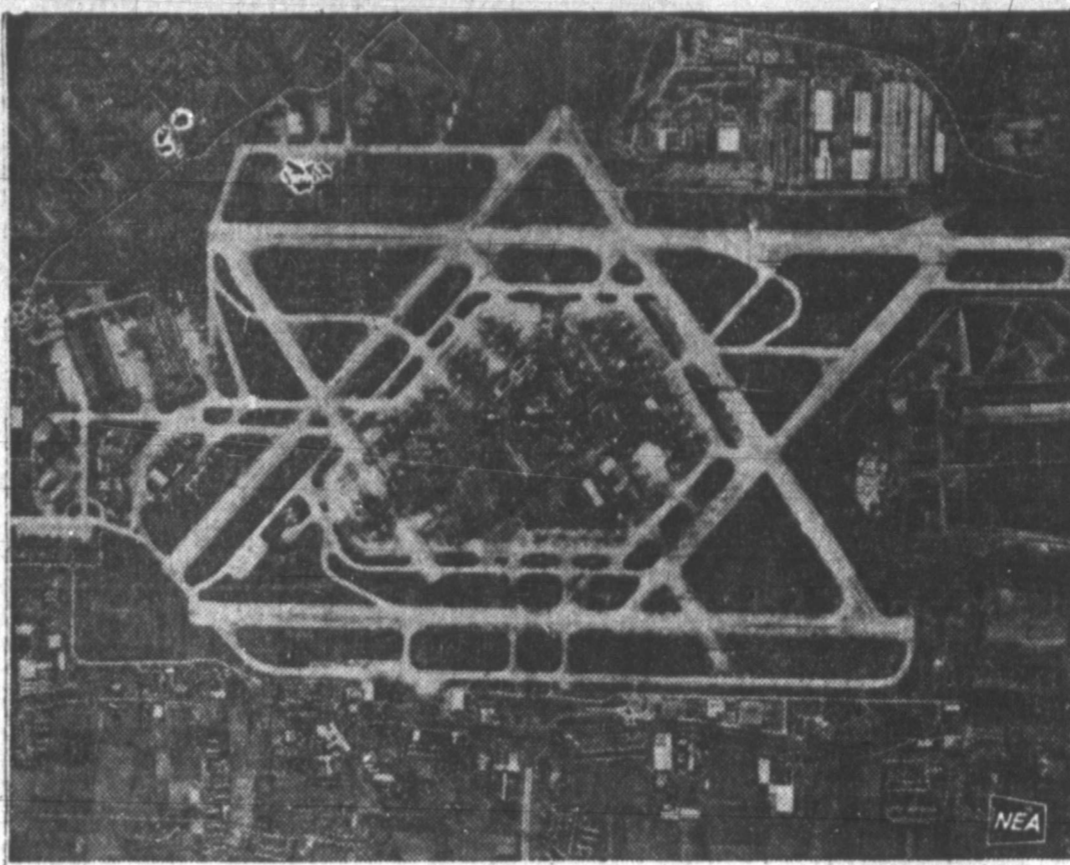

For most subscribers the PAMPA NEWS is the family shopping guide, for it carries the advertising of practically all progressive Pampa stores, markets and services.

It is the ABC's of advertising

the Audit Bureau of Circulation (ABC) is a cooperative, non-profit organization of advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers for the verification of circulation of newspaper members in the United States and Canada.

CABOT FAMILY DAY — There was a large turn out on Saturday for Family Day at Cabot's Machinery Division. Employees, their families and friends visited the facilities throughout the day looking at the many displays and exhibits. In addition, the Panhandle Industrial Division participated this year, opening their doors to the public for the first time. The Chamber of Commerce organized a large delegation for a tour of the shops. City officials, members of the school board and Pampa school officials also attended the open house. Music, refreshments, and favors for the children added to the festive spirit of the day.

The agency estimated the United States gross product at $781.2 billion and that of West Germany at $120 billion.

White Deer Group Hears Vietnamese

SKELLYTOWN (Spl) — Stephen's Barbecue in Borger was the site of the annual Junior Historians Club of the White Deer High School banquet held for club members recently.

Master of ceremonies, Sheila Beth Berry, JHC president, introduced Bui Thach, foreign exchange student from Vietnam, who lives in Amarillo, as guest speaker. Thach lives with an Amarillo family and attends Amarillo High School.

His speech centered around the idea of the Vietnamese toward Americans. Thach (pronounced "Tac") stated that the Vietnamese were jealous of the American soldiers because of money. The soldiers have more money to tip the storeowners and this makes these owners expect more from the Vietnamese customers. In turn, the Vietnamese customers resent the American soldiers. He told about his family and school life and ended his talk by singing Vietnamese folk songs, accompanying himself on his guitar.

Lawson Shaw, sponsor, awarded some Historians certificates for selling the most magazines in a recent campaign. They were Kathleen Rapstine, LaDonna Russell, Gaye Allen, Lyne Had, Cathy Jordan and Bobbie Beck.

Honor guests were Mr. and Mrs. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Randel, Mr. and Mrs. David Grayson, Mrs. Dorman Thomas and Mrs. Lawson Shaw.

HOUSTON (UPI)—Judge Myron A. Love refused Monday to reduce the $100,000 bail for Dr. Archie Burkhalter, indicted on charges of accomplice to murder in the sniper slaying of his former partner Dr. Robert Pendleton. Burkhalter, James Oliver Steamberg, a pipefitter, both of Pasadena, and Robert D. Tucker, a hospital laboratory technician, were indicted last week on charges of accomplice to murder. Tucker was arrested at Mesquite, Tex., near Dallas, where he was working as a truck driver. The other two men gave themselves up to police. Burkhalter was free on bond at the time charged in the March 3 rape of a patient.

DALLAS (UPI) — John M. Grizzaffi announced Monday he will seek election in Dallas County for the legislative place made vacant by the airplane crash death of Joe Lockridge, killed in a Braniff crash Friday. Grizzaffi is a food and liquor executive in Dallas and is making his first elective bid.

THE LIGHTER SIDE 'The Political Image'

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Everyone knows that images have become very important in politics. Many voters, however, do not know where images come from. Or else they are confused about it.

It is still widely believed, even among some of the more informed members of the electorate, that images are delivered by the stork. In this enlightened age, there is no point in clinging to old myths. I am convinced the nation will be better off if we strip away the little niceties and lay the facts on the table.

Toward that end, I recently made arrangement to accompany a congressional candidate when he went shopping for his 1968 image. Here is what transpired:
 The candidate stopped by an image agency located near the Capitol and spent several minutes wandering around the showroom, gawking at the new models and peering at their price tags. Pretty soon a salesman sauntered over.

Dove Image Popular
 "That's a beauty, isn't it? The salesman commented, nodding toward one of the images. "It's our eight-cylinder oven. Very popular this year."
 "What sort of extras does it have?" the candidate inquired.
 "This one comes equipped with black power steering and automatic anti-poverty transmission. We also can install four-speed domestic spender if you would like."
 "One of my opponents already has that image," the candidate said.
 "Then what you need is the underdog six," the salesman purred. "It has been especially designed for primaries. It has a poor mouth carburetor that gives off the impression you're behind even when you're ahead. Then you can claim a narrow victory is a major upset."
 Get Bandwagon Model
 "What happens after the primaries?"
 "You trade it in for a custom bandwagon, which is tops in our line of winner images. No candidate should go into a general election without one."
 "My home district has a large university," the candidate said. "I need an image that appeals to the youth of today."
 "Come over here and get a load of the juvenile X-L-7," the salesman said. "Note the low-slung haircut, the Robert Lowell poetry quoter. We offer a four-year guarantee on the SS-4 deflector which has a draft card afterburner."
 "That's almost exactly the image I was looking for," the candidate said. "If I can get one with an academic freedom demonstrator, I'll take it."

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The State Bar of Texas named Woodville lawyer Josiah Wheat president-elect Monday. Wheat, elected in mail balloting, will take office in 1969. A run-off will be held May 16 in the vice presidential race between Morris Harrell of Dallas and C. M. Hudspeth of Houston.

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — Comedian Don Rice will be master of ceremonies for the Fair Park Coliseum show headlining the 51st annual Panhandle South Plains Fair Sept. 23-28 in Lubbock. Rice will appear with Pat Boone and Diane Shelton, who will bring her twirling and juggling act to the fair for the first time. At least one other name attraction is being negotiated.
