GIKAS OR HAMPTON?

Speculation Rife On School Board Prexy

By TEX DEWEESE
There was speculation today concerning the names to be tossed onto the table for president of the Pampa School Board when it meets Thursday to reorganize.
The new board will consist of Dr. R. M. Hampton, John Gikas, John Spearman, Jimmy Thompson and Warren Hasse. Hasse and Thompson were winners in last Saturday's election.
Gikas, although a board member for seven years, never has been accorded the honor of being named president or even being nominated for the post.
The report today was that his name would be presented at Thursday's meeting as a nominee for the presidency.
Dr. Hampton has been a member for eight years and has served one term as president. Spearman was elected to the board last year. Thompson has served as a board member for three months. Hasse will take office for the first time on Thursday. Gikas will start his eighth year on the board. Hampton currently is board vice president and Gikas is secretary, a post he has held for six years.

Apparently the board will make a choice between Hampton and Gikas as to whether a former president will be returned to the presidency or whether the post will go to Gikas who has served for seven years without ever having been shown the courtesy in the annual board reorganization.
Whoever the new president may be, he will succeed H. Creel Grady, Jr. who failed in his bid for re-election Saturday.
The procedure when the board meets Thursday will be to canvass Saturday's election results following the roll call.
If the election is declared valid, the two candidates—Hasse and Thompson—will be sworn in and take their seats along with Hampton, Spearman, and Gikas.
At that time officers for the coming year will be nominated and elected.
After that the new board will take up current business on the agenda.
There was also some speculation today on the probability the Pampa school board may eventually become a seven-man group instead of the current five members.
It was learned if the board should adopt the seven-man system it would mean all current board members would then resign, according to law, and a special election would have to be called to elect the new seven-man board.
There was some talk that the board might go to seven men before a new superintendent is selected.
The logic behind this apparently was that it would give all seven members an opportunity to make the superintendent selection rather than have just five pick a man who might not be favored by two new board members.
Two members of the board have stated publicly they favor a seven-man board and another has stated he believes two members should be added to the board.

Israeli Forces Sow Mines In Jordan Area

By United Press International
Israeli forces which stabbed into Jordan Monday in pursuit of Jordanian "saboteurs" sowed the border area with mines a spokesman said today in Amman. He said two Jordanian mining technicians were killed and a third injured when a mine exploded this morning.
The Jordanian spokesman said it was the first known instance the Israelis have planted mines across the cease-fire line but he said the area of the Monday fighting below the Dead Sea was "infested" with mines.
Observers in Amman believed today's mine explosion was the Israeli method of retaliating for similar mining incidents inside Israeli-held territory by Arab commandos. The men killed today were in a vehicle which hit a landmine.
Israel meanwhile stepped up its patrolling of the cease-fire line. Jerusalem dispatches reported.
Israeli forces, some ferried by helicopters, landed briefly in Jordan south of the Dead Sea Monday. Israeli spokesmen said their forces "returned intact" after killing several fleeing Arab saboteurs.
They reported destroying a building used as a guerrilla terrorist base and seizing documents and weapons.

Odd But Proud 'Army' Marches In Memphis

By THOMAS CORPORA
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—They came from the ivory towers of the East, the sanctuaries of the Midwest, the campuses of the Far West and the ghettos of the South.
They had a single purpose Monday: unite behind the slender Negro widow and march down the soldier-lined streets of Memphis in memory of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., whose nonviolent drive for racial equality ended with a sniper's bullet several blocks away last Thursday.
It was an odd—but a proud and determined—"army."

One was a small Negro boy of maybe 10 dressed in a dirty, ragged, wine-colored jumper with a hood and shoes so big they sloped around his feet. His sign proclaimed: "I am a man."
Another was a young white, middle class student with a black mourning band sewn around the left sleeve of her brown suede jacket. Her left leg was held in a steel brace and when she marched, she lurched. Her sign said: "Honor King. End racism!"

Union Support

There was a blonde school teacher from New York City in a fashionable mini-skirted brown suit and brown lace stockings, and a black garbage collector from Memphis in rough work clothes. Their arms were linked and they wore signs that read: "Union justice now."
There were white priests, ministers and nuns from New England and trade unionists from Texas and Arkansas; students from Peoria, Ind., and Chicago, and middle class Negroes and whites from

City Vote Returns Are OK'd

Canvassing of the April 2 city election returns and swearing in of the two elected commissioners topped the agenda at today's regular meeting of the Pampa City Commission.
Hugh Burdette, re-elected city commissioner from Ward 2, and Clyde Carruth, elected from Ward 4, were sworn in by City Secretary Stanley Chittenden after the election returns were found to have no changes from the election night count.
The final count showed the total city vote to be: Burdette, 784; Earl D. Hilton, 166, and Carruth, 644. The only contest was between Hilton and Carruth in Ward 4.
Elmer Radcliff, who had served a one-year term from Ward 4, attended his final meeting today. He was commended for his service to the city by Mayor Jim Nation.

City Manager Jim White also attended his last regular meeting today. The city manager will wind up his duties on Friday, April 19. On that date, he (See RETURNS, Page 9)

Last Rites Held For Dr. King

By H.D. QUIGG
UPI Senior Editor
ATLANTA (UPI)—The last rites were held today for Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., "drum major for justice," before his family, his friends and the nation's leaders while 50,000 persons jammed the streets outside his church.
After the funeral the vast throng was to march behind King's casket, on a mule-drawn wagon, four miles to Morehouse College for public services. But the march started before the funeral.
An official of King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) said "things got too tense" in the massive crowd awaiting the funeral, and ordered the funeral march begun.
Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and all the presidential candidates crowded into the red brick Ebenezer Baptist Church while the bells tolled mournfully the anthem of the slain leader's civil rights movement—"We Shall Overcome."
Kings successor, the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, began the service with scripture, "Men die yet he shall live." Abernathy intoned.

The family—King's black-veiled widow, his four children, his mother and his father—

Assassin May Have Fled US

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—The assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. may have fled the country, according to indications today. The FBI has asked Mexican authorities to aid in the search.
A police spokesman in Mexico City said Monday that a drawing of the suspect, a composite of descriptions by persons who saw the white sniper in the Memphis rooming house from where King was shot, has been distributed throughout Mexico and at border crossing points.
The Mexican spokesman refused to divulge any further information.
"There is an investigation going on, that is all we can say," he said.

entered the church as the organ played the anthem.
Five-year-old Albertine King bit her fingernails but she stopped when her mother spoke to her.
Through the medium of tape recording, King spoke his own eulogy. He said he wanted to be remembered as a "drum major for justice"—not as the man who won a Nobel Peace Prize marching on the dusty roads of the South.
Police estimated 50,000 persons were crowding around the church 45 minutes before the service began and said, "There'll be more."
An estimated 60,000 persons had viewed the body as it lay in state, first at Spelman College since Saturday, then through the night and into today at the church.
The services inside the church were televised to the nation. After the memorial service at the college quadrangle, the body was to be taken to be entombed in a mausoleum bearing the legend:
"Free at last. Free at last. Thank God Almighty, free at last."

McHenry Lane, acting temporary school superintendent, will retire May 31, according to the school board's executive session minutes of March 27. These minutes and those of a regular session March 14 are to be approved in Thursday's school board meeting.
Lane, the schools' curriculum coordinator, has been acting as superintendent since Dr. John Damron's contract and salary as superintendent were terminated in an executive session Jan. 16.

110 Communities In US Hit By Disorders

By United Press International

Sniper fire at federal troops and National Guardsmen worsened Baltimore's three-day riot emergency early today. Wilmington, Del.; Buffalo, N.Y.; and Youngstown, Ohio, joined the lengthening list of communities struck by violence since Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., was assassinated.
On the day of King's funeral, at least 110 communities from coast to coast had been hit by the Negro disorders.
In addition to the first outbreaks in Wilmington, Buffalo, and Youngstown, burning and looting rekindled Monday night in Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Columbia, S.C.
Thousands of police, National Guardsmen and regular Army troops kept a fragile peace in Washington and Chicago, where major violence erupted during the weekend.
Patrol in Helicopters
In Pittsburgh, disorder mushroomed from the embattled Hill District to other sections of the city. National Guardsmen whirling in helicopters at rooftop levels maintained a shaky peace after four days of racial violence, first in Pittsburgh's history.
A minor Negro disorder also broke out Monday night in Wheeling, W.Va., for the first time.
At least 32 persons have died in the most widespread racial rioting in the nation's history. There have been 13,428 reported arrests, 2,135 persons injured, and at least 20,800 federal troops and 44,325 National Guard troops have been deployed, with thousands more standing ready today in case of further unrest.
Damage was uncountable, as scores of communities totaled their losses from arson, looting, (See DISORDER, Page 9)

Reds Hit Barracks

By JACK WALSH

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist guerrillas today blew up a U.S. Army barracks in the coastal city of Qui Nhon and machine-gunned American survivors scrambling out of the wreckage.
U.S. spokesmen said a Viet Cong bomb shattered the barracks in a pre-dawn blast. The explosion and the machine-gunning killed five Americans and wounded 23.
They said the Qui Nhon attack and two other terror raids today killed a total of 18 persons and wounded 44. It was the greatest Viet Cong terror strike since the guerrilla invasion of the cities Jan. 30. In Qui Nhon, some of the blast survivors grabbed their (See REDS, Page 9)

Lane To Retire, Minutes Of School Board Executive Session Reveal

McHenry Lane, acting temporary school superintendent, will retire May 31, according to the school board's executive session minutes of March 27. These minutes and those of a regular session March 14 are to be approved in Thursday's school board meeting.
Lane, the schools' curriculum coordinator, has been acting as superintendent since Dr. John Damron's contract and salary as superintendent were terminated in an executive session Jan. 16.

Lane's request for his May 31 retirement and the board's action are recorded in executive session minutes published in Thursday's agenda.
In that March 27 meeting, the board also met with Dr. Kenneth Laycock to discuss applicants for the superintendent's job. Dr. Laycock, dean of teacher education at West Texas State University, is the board's educational consultant to help select a superintendent.
No details of the meeting with Dr. Laycock were included in the advance agenda. On the item, "consideration of applicants for position of superintendent" (See BOARD, Page 9)

HANOI, PEKING, MOSCOW IN MAJOR SPLIT

N. Viets Didn't Consult Fellow Commies

LONDON (UPI)—The Communist alignment of Hanoi, Peking and Moscow has suffered a major split over Vietnam peace moves, diplomatic sources said today.
Hanoi's peace feelers have been made without prior consultation of Communist China and the Soviet Union. The regime of President Ho Chi Minh did not seek prior formal approval for his sudden willingness to meet American representatives for a Vietnam peace probe.
Both of North Vietnam's key allies have been taken by surprise by Hanoi's decision, the sources said.

This explains the prolonged silence which followed Hanoi's decision.
The Kremlin took five days of consultation before it decided to back Hanoi.
Peking took longer and, unlike Moscow, withheld support while denouncing the American peace offer as a fraud. The regime of Mao Tse-tung was reported to have, in effect, warned Hanoi it would withdraw its support in the event of any compromise peace arrangements.
The sources said a major split has occurred which Moscow is trying to cover up as best it can.

Hanoi surprisingly has not made any formal effort to hide the split. It has not once referred to Communist solidarity and has almost gone out of its way to demonstrate its independent strategy.
Diplomats said considerable "soul searching" preceded Hanoi's positive response to President Johnson's peace offer.
The "doves" were understood to have prevailed largely on strategic grounds, because war losses were understood to have become intolerably large and prospects of victory over the Americans to be receding.

Hanoi, according to the informants, then "apparently decided to go ahead on its own accord to avoid being swayed or impeded in its decision by anticipated conflicting reaction from Peking and Moscow."
The sources warned, however, that the danger of a reversal has by no means been removed. Much will depend on the outcome of the first peace talks at the conference table.
Both Peking and Moscow, the sources indicated, have differing motives in the Vietnam war and in any peace moves.

Peking, starting from the premise that liberation wars pay, sees its entire policy endangered by a peace settlement. It also wants the Americans indefinitely pinned down in a costly war while Peking develops its own nuclear potential.
Moscow wants the war scaled down, because it is very costly to the Russians and because it fears possible confrontation with the United States in the event of further escalation.

Will Hanoi Hold To Hard Line?

By STEWART HENSLEY

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The initial meeting between U.S. and North Vietnamese representatives to try to prepare the way for full-scale peace talks could take place within a week, according to Johnson administration officials.
But beyond that they are unwilling to venture any predictions.
The United States can hardly turn down Hanoi's suggestion that the "contact" take place in Phnom Penh, the capital of Cambodia, since the President and other high officials here have repeatedly said their representatives would be willing to "go anywhere at any time" to talk.

Hanoi did leave open the possibility of some other place in Asia by saying in its formal word Monday that it was ready to confer at Phnom Penh or "another place to be mutually agreed upon."
May Ask Change
In the reply it is preparing, the United States may attempt to secure a change of venue by asking Hanoi for its second choice, since there is no U.S. embassy in Cambodia, which broke relations with Washington almost three years ago. Speculation here centers on New Delhi or Rangoon.

The initial question to be surmounted by roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, Johnson's designated envoy, is whether Hanoi really will insist that the initial face-to-face meetings are solely for the purpose of letting Harriman specify when all U.S. bombing attacks, naval bombardment and reconnaissance flights over North Vietnam will end.
North Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh has publicly rejected the President's demand for some assurance that Hanoi show reciprocal "restraint" of some sort, declaring that this is an American trick designed to "blur the distinction between the aggressor and the victim of aggression."
U.S. officials hope this is simply pre-talk propaganda.

Actually the withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops besieging Khe Sanh might well be interpreted by Johnson as providing the reciprocal "gesture" he has asked. It would be difficult if not impossible for Hanoi to concede that it has made such a withdrawal since it has steadfastly refused to acknowledge that it has any military forces in the South, contending that all of the Communist fighting is being done by the Viet Cong rebels.

Assess Hanoi's Motivations
But diplomats have ways of getting around these awkward situations when there is a real desire on both sides to get down to substantive talks. Nobody in Washington can be sure whether Hanoi harbors such a desire and the Harriman talks will provide an opportunity to find out.
Hanoi has promised the Viet Cong it will settle for nothing less than a coalition government in the South in which the well organized and disciplined Communists would expect to make a short work of the repressives of the shaky Saigon regime.
President Johnson or his successor no matter how "dovish" his inclinations, would find it difficult, in the final analysis, to make concessions of such a basic nature as to point clearly to eventual Communist domination of the South.
It is more likely that the United States would decide on de-escalation and withdrawal of a sufficient nature to greatly lower the cost of the war in men and money but still hold Saigon, the delta and major bases such as Da Nang, Cam Ranh Bay and some positions in the Highlands.

61st YEAR 'Great Thaw' On
Quack Can Still 'Move In On' By Ed Sullivan
The Gullible US Customer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Where there's a wish, there's a way for the quack to move in on the gullible customer.

The old-fashioned spieler offering magical cures for all ills is disappearing from the scene, but he's replaced by more sophisticated pitchmen who bill the ever-hopeful public for more than $2 billion a year. The track is in odd-ball diets, off-beat treatments, or at best the useless pills, capsules and liquids. And their victims come from every educational and economic level.

More Serious

Even more serious is the danger to those who are side-tracked from medical diagnosis and treatment needed, often delaying until it is too late.

Pseudo-scientific quacks and the health cultists who promise everything from restored youth to cancer cures are discussed in a new publication of the Public Affairs Committee, a non-profit educational organization.

Called "Fads, Myths, Quacks—and Your Health," its author is Jacqueline Seaver, a specialist in writing of the health field.

One of the favorite areas of operations for the charlatans, she says, is in the diet field where they push peculiar diets or food fads.

"Downing combinations like vinegar and honey or eating 'health' foods won't hurt most people. What will hurt almost everyone though is following a lopsided, fad diet for long," she says.

Miss Seaver discusses the hazards of the reducing pills, about which several medical journals have warned and which are under Senate investigation.

No Easy Way

There is just no easy way to lose weight, she says. "The only solution is willingness to go on a medically-recommended regimen, and stay on it, possibly for a lifetime."

How to tell a quack? Miss Seaver says that "while there is no sure rule for detecting a quack; if you ask yourself the following questions, the answers will probably give you the truth":

—Does the "doctor" use a special machine or a "secret"

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—After 20 years of frozen-faced exposure on television the rumor mill has it that the great thaw is on with Ed Sullivan.

One source close to the scene intimated Ed was taking elocution lessons. One vindictive writer hinted he was more relaxed on camera. A final unkind thrust was that Ed had undergone plastic surgery enabling him to smile.

To all this old stone face says: "Hah!"

Pressed to explain the rumors, Sullivan said while relaxing in Hollywood: "I'm smiling a little more on the show now, mostly because the comedians are funnier. And I've been practicing in front of the mirror."

Yeah, well what about "this relaxation jazz?"

"Well, I am a little more relaxed," Ed said. "I had my ulcer cut out, and that helps anyone relax."

The latter may account for the fact that Ed seldom folds his arms over his abdomen anymore and doubles up with what once was thought to be mirth or acute embarrassment. It was the ulcer flaring up.

Finally, Sullivan was confronted with the charge that his face appeared to be more mobile than it was only 5 or 10 years ago. Did he or did he not undergo plastic surgery?

"Hell no."

Then why the newfound grin? "To tell the truth my teeth are much better now. I had my teeth capped."

And there you have it, the rejuvenated Ed Sullivan.

remedy that he claims will cure the disease?

It's Apparent Last Summer's Riots Taught Officers Some Lessons

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Senior Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "I think lessons have been learned as a result of the riots last summer."

That comment by President Johnson's riot trouble-shooter Cyrus R. Vance, appears to be borne out by UPI reports from major cities that have experienced outbreaks of arson and looting during the past few days.

In Washington, Chicago, Baltimore, Pittsburgh and other cities where violence occurred following the assassination of Martin Luther King Jr., troops and police responded with techniques designed to bring riots under control with the least possible bloodshed.

The new techniques call for better training, better advance planning, better communications, rapid mobilization of overwhelming numbers of police and troops in a trouble area and minimum gunfire.

Restraint in the use of striking difference between the new approach to riot control and the methods used last summer in Newark and Detroit. In both of those cities, police and National Guardsmen fired frequently—at looters and indiscriminately—at rioters and suspected "snipers."

In Newark, an official count showed that state patrolmen and National Guardsmen expended 13,326 rounds of ammunition in three days. Twenty-three persons were killed. No one kept track of the ammunition fired off in Detroit's six-day riot, but it was certainly numbered in many thousands. Forty-three persons were killed, including several who were indisputably innocent bystanders.

By contrast, not a single shot has been fired by the troops on duty in Washington since the rioting began last Thursday night. There has been relatively little shooting by police. The death toll stands at eight, and that includes two persons whose deaths may have had no connection with the riot.

In Washington, Chicago and elsewhere, there have been some complaints from merchants, that police looked on without interfering while looters ravaged stores. Officials reply that this happened only in cases where there was inadequate police manpower available on the scene to make arrests, so that police were faced with a choice between shooting down a looter or letting him get away with a stolen bottle of liquor or television set.

Whenever possible, under the new technique, police and troops move with overwhelming force into a threatened area and arrest individuals who are caught looting, setting fires, or violating curfew. During the 1967 Newark riot, only 1,300 arrests were made. In the 1968 Washington riot, nearly 5,000 arrests were made during the first four days.

Cities hit by riots this year evidently have been following the advice of the national riots commission — advice distilled from last summer's grim experience — about the need for better planning communication and training.

A detailed operational plan for riot control was ready and waiting in each city. A city official in Detroit said the advance planning proved "highly effective" in nipping potential trouble in the bud over the past weekend.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: About the couple who wanted to know if their four-year-old should watch the cat have her kittens:

Cats do not like for people to watch the birth of their kittens. It makes them nervous. Some times they will become so upset and confused, they will take off, leaving their new-born kittens to starve. I regret to say that I have watched this cat birth with bad results.

Why doesn't this couple look up some farmer who has a sow about to become a mother and arrange for a look-see? Much more interesting, and the sow couldn't care less if the President of the United States was watching.

CAT LOVER

DEAR ABBY: By all means, children should witness the birth of kittens, puppies, cows, pigs and any other animals whenever possible.

We are a farming family, and have been raised on farms for three generations, and there never was any mystery about such things. I think farm-reared children have a much more wholesome attitude about sex

Scouting Scoops

By MRS. G. J. BOYD

Neighborhood meetings are to be held this week. It is important that each troop have a representative present. Further information about the outdoor day will be given and time will be allowed to plan menus for this day. Junior Camporee, HemisFair film, Day Camp and Established Camp will be discussed and questions answered concerning these and other events.

Members of Senior Troop 2 are taking part in the Junior Camporee to give Junior troops benefit of their Scouting knowledge. Troop 1 members are to be in charge of the Wide game, both the instructional morning and testing skills session planned for an afternoon of the Camporee. Much time and planning has been given to this event to be directed by Mrs. Jack Duke, field advisor from Borger.

Leaders are reminded to attend April neighborhood meetings, which will be the last meeting for this school year.

In August 1814, British troops under Adm. Sir George Cockburn and Maj. Gen. Robert Ross burned the Capitol and the White House in Washington, D.C.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

FOR WEDNESDAY, APRIL 10
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening to make whatever changes may be necessary - or at least to accept those that are taking place about you - so that everything can be easier and more operative on the days ahead. Keep in mind that others are pretty critical now and expect you to do things in such fashion that every item is in its right place, every obligation rightly handled.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Take care not to waste a precious moment of this fine day, whether at home, business or elsewhere. Carry through with work sensibly. Co-workers suggest you do things a little differently - do so.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Entertaining others can yield fine benefits later on, as well as pleasure real friendship. Try to please them though you know very little about their form of amusement. Put that fine talent to work.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Avoid arguing with closest friends in particular; otherwise there could be real trouble later on. Rid yourself of conditions at home that bring disharmony. Show that you are devoted and most intelligent.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Finish that shopping early so that you later can sit down with allies and work out certain ideas that are profitable. Write those letters that are so important to you. Be brief but to the point.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Your dealing with some important business person can be ameliorated by carrying through with his advice and you form a firmer relationship. Don't react to his advice. Then you can reap in more benefits.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21): Work more closely with associates instead of being such a lone wolf. Sit down with associates and talk things over calmly. Make time for the social affairs that please you most and relax awhile.

LIBRA (Sept. 22 to Oct. 21): Get busy and straighten out certain conditions around you and show real ability at it. Make this a day of accomplishment. Do whatever gives you more fluid health. Up dating your wardrobe is wise, also.

SCORPIO (Oct. 22 to Nov. 21): Contact good pals and make new arrangements with them so that you can cooperate more pleasantly in the future. Some social group can be cultivated now that can be helpful to your affairs. Be charming.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Be sure to follow all rules and regulations that apply to you or use the support of a bigwig. Make certain you stamp yourself as an A-1 citizen, also. Don't take any unnecessary risks with anyone - if anything.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19): Listen to ideas of those whose cultural background is different to yours and you get right answers to present problermatial affairs, modes of advancement. Enlarge circle of friends. Be diplomatic.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 19): Others are very firm in expecting you to come through with obligations made, or by you do so to the best of your ability. Be very affectionate with male. Live a more ideal life in the future.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Be loyal to anyone to whom you have made promises even though others are pressuring you in different directions. Do not give some partner a chance to put you on the carpet by being thoughtless, inefficient. Be wise.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he, or she will be one of those very energetic young people with a firm determination, and you would be wise to teach early toiletten to what experienced and successful parents have to say, and to persevere once a plan is formulated, instead of getting bored with it, soon. A fine critic, re-organizer is this chart.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM

Los Angeles - Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, or your waistline is larger than 32 inches, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim," in both girle and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga. They are available at

Support Sought For Easter Seal Campaign Here

A last minute appeal for support of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults and its program of services to the handicapped was issued today by Paul Keim, who is the Easter Seal Representative in Gray County.

The Easter Seal provided treatment and services for 17,622 physically handicapped children and adults in Texas last year, Keim said, and this program needs to be expanded. Many people are going without services that would increase the productiveness of their lives and make them happier. With increased growth of the Easter Seal Society, more and more of these people will be reached, he added.

The Society is carrying on a continuing program to seek out the disabled who are doing without services and see that they receive the services they need. As Easter Seal Representative Keim is the person to contact for services from the Easter Seal Society.

The Texas Easter Seal Society helps support 21 treatment facilities in Texas where crippled children and adults are treated regardless of their ability to pay. Physical, occupational and speech therapy are offered to help the handicapped overcome their disabilities. A complete referral program to ensure equal rehabilitation services to every person in Texas is included in Easter Seal Society services, he added.

Keim asked that anyone in need of services contact him at First National Bank in Pampa. He added that the Easter Seal Appeal will close Sunday, April 14, and full support should be given the Easter Seal Society by every citizen of Gray County.

DISCUSS TARIFFS

LUXEMBOURG (UPI)—Common Market economics and finance ministers met today to decide if they should accelerate tariff cuts to help the United States' balance of payments. The tariff reductions agreed to in the Kennedy Round negotiations originally were scheduled to go into effect Jan. 1, 1970, but it has been proposed to advance the date by one year. France, however, has demanded trade concessions from the United States in return for the action.

Prolonged Copper Strike About Over

WASHINGTON (UPI)—All but about 2,000 workers are now back on the job in the nation's copper mining and refining operations, according to industry sources.

The prolonged strike, which involved more than 65,000 workers, is virtually ended, they said Monday, except at the Anaconda Wire and Cable Co., and at a small Tacoma, Wash., plant of American Smelting & Refining Co.

GRAMPAW LIFE'S LONGEST MINUTE

36 Killed In Plane Crash

PUERTO MONT, Chile (UPI)—Ground parties removed bodies today from the charred wreckage of a twin-engine Chilean airliner that dived into a mountainside Monday with 36 persons aboard.

Police and Chilean air force officials at the crash site in extreme southern Chile said 31 passengers and five crewmen of the Ladeco Airlines DC3 were dead. The victims included two entire families, airline officials said.

A Ladeco spokesman said there were no foreigners aboard the plane, which had been on a flight from Santiago to the southern city of Coihaique.

Farmer Noe Flores, who witnessed the crash, told police the aircraft plunged nearly straight down into 3,500-foot Mount Emperador Guillermo and burst into flames.

The plane was only five minutes flying time from its destination, Coihaique, a sheep farming center.

BLAME U.S.

ROME (UPI)—A conference of 17 so-called progressive parties opened in Rome today with a proposal to condemn "American Imperialism" in the Mediterranean on the agenda. The meeting is sponsored largely by the Italian Communist party and the Yugoslav Socialist Alliance, a Communist-led organization. The group has accused the United States of responsibility for the Arab-Israeli War and the Greek-Turkish crisis over Cyprus.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—E.F. Hutton & Co. Inc. feels that the "market is now likely to be more frequent periods of profit taking."

However, "the path of least resistance is now clearly pointed upward," the firm says, and some of the better near-term gains may be seen in issues which have not fully participated in the market's current rally.

The Alexander Hamilton Institute, says that although renewed confidence is extremely heartening after the stock market's dismal winter performance, investors should be cautioned against indulging in emotional buying. "Investment opportunities should become more plentiful in the months ahead" as the nation's problems are alleviated, according to the analyst.

Shearson, Hammill & Co. Inc. observes that barring a complete collapse in the progress toward peace negotiations, "it appears likely that the market has hit its low point and reversed the downturn that began last September." A more aggressive investment approach is in order, the firm adds.

March

Georgia, New Jersey and Washington.

There were a handful of hippies with beards and long hair and wearing Indian beads, and militant black youths with carved African amulets hung from leather thongs around their necks.

Walter Reuther, president of the AFL-CIO, was there, and singer Harry Belafonte. Civil rights leader Bayard Rustin, his bushy, disheveled gray-black hair and dark rimmed glasses giving him the appearance of a black Sen. Everett Dirksen, was at the head of the march, shouting orders and instructions to the marshals.

And Coretta King, the widow of slain civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., was there in the place where her husband would have walked had he not been gunned down by a white assassin.

Scheduled Second March King planned the march to support striking Memphis' Negro garbage collectors, and to prove—after he had failed the first time—that he could keep a huge demonstration under control.

His first-march two weeks ago in support of the sanitation men turned into violence when a gang of Negro youths known as the Invaders broke ranks in downtown Memphis and began smashing windows and looting. Monday those young men wore the yellow and red armbands of march marshals, committed to preventing the kind of violence they had caused the first time.

The march Monday was peaceful, solemn. Perhaps because it became more than a demonstration of support for the striking sanitation men ("union justice now") and more than a march to support civil rights ("I am a man").

It was a walking memorial to King. Mrs. King's plane was late in reaching Memphis because of heavy fog at Atlanta and the march started without her. The marchers, estimated by city police at 19,000 and civil rights leaders at 42,000, assembled at the gray stone Clayborn Temple, a church in the downtown Negro section.

A few minutes after 12 p.m. EST, they began their two-mile march to the new, white marble city hall. They marched eight abreast, arms linked, voices stilled and faces solemn.

The procession moved slowly down Linden Avenue to Main Street. At each intersection, a squad of Tennessee National Guardsmen in steel helmets with gas masks tied to their legs stood at casual parade rest, their bayoneted rifles at their sides.

City police lined the route. National Guardsmen were stationed on rooftops and three police helicopters traced the march route low overhead.

The security precautions were the tightest in the city's history, and included county sheriff's deputies, state highway patrolmen and U.S. marshals besides police and guardsmen. People were told to stay off rooftops and out of windows.

At Main and Beale Streets, where the violence started in the last march, the column halted to wait for Mrs. King, three of her four children, and the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, a longtime associate of King's and his successor as head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC).

At city hall, the march dignitaries climbed a 20-foot platform supported by steel framework.

The people on the platform were a kind of living history of King's life and struggle. There was Abernathy, his associate since 1955 and the Montgomery bus boycott; Mrs. Rosa Parks, the Negro seamstress who had refused to give up a seat on a Montgomery bus and catapulted King into the forefront of the civil rights movement; Dr. Benjamin Spock, the pediatrician and pacifist who recently became allied with King in a fight against the Vietnam war, and there was Walter Reuther and other labor leaders, King's allies in his campaign to raise the economic status of poor black and white workers everywhere.

His widow spoke. She challenged the marchers to assure that her husband's spirit "never dies."

BURLINGHAME, Calif. (UPI)—Thousands of motorists swerved to the right and the left along Bayshore freeway Monday to avoid the oncoming wrong-way automobile.

It took police 11 miles to catch the errant motorist, nurse Bertha Ann Hopkins, 71. She told police she had decided not to stop because she could not find an exit.

President, Bunker Confer On Vietnam With Rusk, Clifford

By MERRIMAN SMITH

UPI White House Reporter THURMONT, Md. (UPI)—President Johnson was meeting with Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and his top cabinet advisers today for a second round of high-level talks on Vietnam.

Bunker flew in from South Vietnam early today to join Johnson, Secretary of State

Dean Rusk and Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford at Camp David, the presidential retreat in Maryland's Catoctin Mountains.

"I have no statement to make," Bunker said on arrival at Andrews AFB, Md., just outside Washington. "I am just here to consult with the President." He said he did not know how long he would be staying as he switched to a helicopter to come directly to Camp David.

dent," the minutes state, "the board of trustees and Dr. Laycock entered into discussion of the applicants for the position of superintendent of schools. Following this discussion Dr. Laycock retired from the meeting room at 8 p.m."

In other personnel discussion March 27, the board approved election of teachers for 1968-69, by accepting the recommendations of elementary and secondary school principals.

After Pampa school trustees canvass the school board election returns Thursday morning, they will administer the oath of office to two new board members, Warren Hasse and Jimmy Thompson.

Thompson was returned Saturday to his position of trustee, a post he received by appointment Jan. 11. Hasse replaces H. Creel Grady Jr., board president, who served as trustee six years.

According to the agenda, before any business is transacted and before trustees meet with any audiences Thursday they will reorganize the board by electing a new president and board secretary. John Gilka, current secretary, served the board eight years, six years as secretary.

The only audience scheduled in the board agenda, released

Johnson spent the night at the remote complex. Rusk and Clifford accompanied Bunker on the chopper trip this morning, along with Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Walt W. Rostow, a key presidential adviser on Vietnam, and George Christian, White House press secretary, also were taking part in the talks.

Johnson met the helicopter bearing Bunker, Rusk, Clifford and Wheeler as it sat down on a softball field at Camp David.

In the last board meeting, the Carver Community spokesman, Mrs. B. R. Skinner, stated she "wanted a chance at the new board," to explain how the Carver community feels about closing Carver Elementary School.

Other agenda items are approval of minutes of March 14 and 27, approval of resignations, assignments and appointments of personnel, change of date for a school board workshop at West Texas State University, and approval of bill payments and financial statements.

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Manipulation or Management

To be sure it is not a precise analogy, but we think that the lesson can best be learned if we picture the President of the United States as the head of the biggest business in the world, and the Congress of the United States as the Board of Directors.

Even in commercial corporations it takes some political manipulation—some wheeling and dealing—to rise to the top as President. We've recently observed a frustrated top official of a major auto manufacturer, who reportedly thought he should have been made president of that firm, resigning to take a top job with the competition.

A Real Tough Job

If you are unhappy with your lot, if you're not pleased with your job, if your business is not flourishing as you would wish, ponder for a moment the prospect of becoming a political pundit, or a book publisher, or a comic strip author.

Suppose, for example that you had spent feverish weeks since last summer working on a biography of George Romney, hours reading galley proofs and page proofs, only to have the subject drop out of sight and head for the hills of Michigan.

Political Greed To Blame

The stinkiness of greed is schooled into every child in our land. Our nursery rhymes, our folklores, our collections of mythology, the Bible—all tell of the reprehensibility of greed.

But grown-up Americans reward greed. Political greed. This strange trait is not new to adult Americans. Abraham Lincoln took note of it more than a century ago when he was campaigning against Senator Douglas.

where we continue to maintain thousands and thousands of our troops (and their dependents) thereby enriching the countries in which they reside, the national banks now hold upwards of $16 billion of our dollars. We are pledged to accept those dollars in payment for our gold in Fort Knox. And we have only $10.5 billions in gold.

And so our creditors, the bankers in Europe, have served notice on the President, and the Board of Directors—Congress—that the United States will have to cut expenditures drastically, and increase revenues radically. Europe even says that the increased revenues must be: a minimum of $13 billion, and preferably $15 billion, annually. Otherwise, the credit of the United States government will be kaput, and its bank notes will be worth what Europe decides, rather than what we say.

in the bindery ready to have some fancy cloth and a gaudy book jacket applied. Where will it all go now? Maybe to the garbage heap. Maybe they'll try to salvage some of it by adding some new material.

Creators of cartoons and comic-strips live a hazardous life, too. Who and what can you satirize if you're working on material for release a few days or weeks in advance? If Lyndon Johnson and Bobby Kennedy can do a full hour performance of "Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Sheen" at the White House after six years of "Hatfield and McCoy" feuding, what's safe to kid about.

Even editors of the editorial page like this one have to gamble. Today's political candidate may be in retirement before the paper is printed and folded. Humphrey may be running with Nixon. The TFX may take off and land safely.

las didn't have the formula for practical political greed. That didn't evolve until about 35 years ago when "tax and tax, spend and spend, elect and elect" came into popularity. Greedy politicians have been playing the political profit game ever since.

The richest and most productive country in the world has been reduced to a trembling insolvency by political greed. Our citizens passing through European cities when the gold rush struck last month couldn't get hotels or airlines to accept an American dollar. Here at home the cost of living is rising at a rate of 4 percent a year, and will accelerate; taxes are going to be increased to a level only short of confiscation; the value of pensions, annuities, retirement benefits and life insurance is declining each month. Interest rates are the highest in 100 years.

THE AIRBORNE DETERRENT TO AGGRESSION

The Strategic Air Command plays a key role in the defense of the United States. At all times its planes are in the air, ready to strike back if this country is attacked, thus deterring would-be aggressors. U.S. citizens should be alarmed that serious consideration is being given to ending the strategic alert.

This proposal grew out of the propaganda outcry which occurred two years ago when a S.A.C. bomber lost four H-bombs off the coast of Spain. It intensified this year when a B-52 S.A.C. bomber carrying H-bombs crashed in Greenland. The communist press and Far-left writers spread alarmist stories about the danger of these bombs. Pressure was brought to bear on our government to ground all H-bomb carrying planes.

The fact that these bombs were not armed and therefore harmless was lost in the propaganda barrage. The obvious motive of the communists in urging the U. S. to surrender part of its nuclear deterrent was ignored.

The Defense Department's annual report to the Senate Armed Services Committee on January 22 emphasized the importance of the S.A.C. airborne alert. The report stated that a mixed striking force of missiles and armed bombers was absolutely essential. Missile sites on the ground might be destroyed in a nuclear attack, yet airborne bombers would remain safe to deliver a counter-attack. This "second-strike" potential deters nuclear war.

It is playing into the hands of the enemy for our country to allow misleading propaganda to determine its course of action. The nation's safety hinges on a strong deterrent force.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: Why should there not be a sales tax on food if there is a sales tax on other purchases?

ANSWER: As long as virtually all other purchases are taxed, we can see no logical reason for a special exemption of food purchases from the tax. It is an emotional conclusion that certain people should be exempt from paying taxes which all others are required to pay.

There should be no tax of any kind, because taxes are based on coercion and compulsion and give the politicians power over the lives of other people. Every individual should pay for the services, if any, which the government renders to him.

QUESTION: Why should there not be a sales tax on food if there is a sales tax on other purchases?

Two groups: first, the politicians who promised handouts, and took from some and gave to others, for their votes. Their greed was satisfied by being returned to office, again and again and again.

First Lady's Whistle Stop Trips Shelved But Humphrey's Campaigning Could Reactivate Them

WASHINGTON — Like so many of the nation's Democratic politicians, President Johnson's startling decision not to seek reelection has left the First Lady's political campaign plans in a shambles.

Timing of the President's announcement was so unexpected that it caught Mrs. Johnson by surprise, although she knew her husband was seriously considering not seeking reelection.

Right up until the President made his dramatic TV announcement, Mrs. Johnson had kept her press secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, busy making plans for a series of "whistle stopping" train trips throughout the country.

Tentative plans, developed with the help of the Democratic National Committee and other Cabinet members, called for Mrs. Johnson to make the trips to boost her husband and his Great Society programs.

The first of these regional rail safaris was being scheduled before the Democrats gather in Chicago in August for their party's presidential nominating convention.

Although this pre-convention "whistle stopping" was being organized on a "non-political" basis, funds for the trips were being raised through the Democratic National Committee to avoid congressional criticism.

In expectation of the President's renomination, the post-convention trips were to be completely political. Plans called for Mrs. Johnson to campaign during the week with the President joining the campaign train on week-ends.

UP IN THE AIR — White House insiders say that all of these trips, including the "non-political" one, have been sidetracked because of the President's abrupt change in plans.

Whether Mrs. Johnson makes them, they say, will depend on the role the President finally decides to assume in Democratic party affairs during his last 10 months in office.

Q—Is it true that a lump in the breast that is not sore is malignant and one that is sore is benign?

A—Although most breast cancers are painless, at least in the early stages, many benign breast tumors are also painless. The presence or absence of pain is not a reliable indicator of malignancy.

Q—After my last baby was born, a lump appeared in my breast. It is painful and goes down somewhat during my periods. My doctor says he should watch it because it might become cancerous. Wouldn't it be better to have it removed now and not take a chance?

A—I would not advise removing a benign lump since such tumors rarely become malignant. You and your doctor should both watch it for signs of change in size or hardness.

Q—Does cocoa butter have any beneficial effect in developing the bust?

A—As a bust developer it is a bust whether taken internally or applied externally.

Q—I am 23 and married but not pregnant. When I gently squeeze my right breast a milky liquid exudes from the nipple. There is no soreness. What causes it? Is any treatment necessary?

A—In some women with no history of childbirth, this secretion dries up spontaneously in two or three months. If it doesn't, you may have pituitary tumor, in which case the best treatment is deep irradiation of this small gland in your head.

Q—What would cause a man's breasts to become very sore? What can be done for them?

A—This soreness is common in boys during puberty. It may be seen late in life due to infection, external irritation or exposure to cold. It usually clears up spontaneously, but, if severe, it can be relieved with hot applications.

Q—I am a woman, 46. Is there any other reason than cancer for the nipples to be sore?

A—Although cancer of the nipples may cause a slight itching or burning sensation it does not cause soreness. The usual cause is injury or infection.

Buttons were used by the Greeks and Romans as fasteners for clothing and by the ancient Chinese as a decoration of rank. They were adopted as clothes fasteners in Europe in the 10th century and became an industry here in 1706. Despite the invention of the zipper, the lowly button has maintained its popularity as a clothes fastener. Since its earliest days the American button industry has relied upon nuts grown in Central and South America for raw material. However, during World War II chemists developed buttons made by mixing powdered animal horn with a resin binder. They're what are commonly used today.

Today's smile: A mother said: "My boy wanted to get them to make him a parachute jumper ever since he joined the Army." An elderly aunt answered: "Why don't you knit him one?"

Elias Howe is credited with inventing the sewing machine, but the idea was not unheard of at that time. Thomas Saint, an Englishman, made one in 1790, but it was cumbersome and impractical. Another who fooled around with the idea before Howe produced a practical one in 1846 was Walter Hunt, who is best known for having invented the very practical safety pin. The cosmetic industry has been able to provide creams and oils for just about every need of men and women, but to date it hasn't come up with anything that will grow hair on a bald head. The chemist who invents that one will become a millionaire overnight.

Upside-Down Economics

The Wall Street Journal
Some critics of current Congressional tax tactics accuse the lawmakers of "upside-down economics." Things have become pretty twisted, all right, but the legislators are far from the only offenders.

Members of Congress have of course been insisting that the Administration reduce its spending as a prerequisite for approval of an income tax increase. At times it has appeared that various lawmakers have been suggesting, as the critics charge, a trade of, say, a $10 billion tax boost for a reduction in outlays of the same size.

That sort of deal would indeed be somewhat strange, since spending cuts and tax boosts are not offsetting but complementary factors. A dollar-for-dollar arrangement, however, would have a certain amount of logic on its side.

At the moment, the excessive demand stems from the government, not the private economy. If the government tries to straighten out the present financial mess by raising taxes, it thus makes all of us the scapegoats for its own errors.

History, moreover, offers little hope that a tax increase will automatically be accompanied by federal spending restraint. On the contrary, increases in the past have usually served as excuses for stepped-up federal outlays. So the more frugal among the lawmakers apparently would like to make sure there is at least some net reduction in total inflationary demand.

In fairness the legislators can't pin all responsibility on the administration. Though the executive branch plans spending programs, they still must be approved by Congress; both branches should be giving thought to what taxes are and should be for.

For years Washington's "new economists" have assured all who would listen that taxes were a fine instrument for manipulating the economy. In practice taxes have proved to be a clumsy device for such purposes. The trouble comes not just from political wrangles with long time lags before tax changes alter private spending patterns, either up or down, and by the time the patterns shift the effect may not be what's needed at all.

Ignored by almost everyone in power is the original aim of tax policy: To cover the government's expenses. Just what would happen now if that aim were miraculously resurrected and budgets were balanced—not necessarily every year, but over a period of years?

Well, for one probability, reasonable efforts to match income with outgo would cool that inflationary heat that now worries even the administration. There would be less need to charge around setting up special Cabinet committees on wages and prices and otherwise nosing into private transactions, most of which should be no business of government.

The Federal Reserve System, for its part, would not have to spend so much time worrying about the success of new Treasury sales of securities and, in the process, pumping up the money supply. Instead it could chart a sensible, noninflationary monetary course.

Then, too, sound fiscal and monetary policy would be the best way to assure everyone, at home and abroad, of the long-term soundness of the dollar. Dictatorial devices for curbing foreign investment and tourism could be discarded. Responsible financial policy also would promote domestic growth, making possible pleasant prospects like future tax reductions.

We are by no means claiming that all of this could be achieved overnight. But with all that the trouble the nation has run into with the upside-down new economics, isn't it time to see how things would work right-side up?
