

Vessels' Appeal Set Wednesday

By JEFF HOLLADAY
Daily News Staff Writer

The wheels of justice are grinding slowly but inexorably toward the final fate of convicted rapist Tom Vessels.

That drama which began in April of 1966 with the rape of a young Pampa housewife, will approach its final and irrevocable destiny Wednesday in the highest court in Texas.

On that day, oral arguments will be heard before the Court of Criminal Appeals on Vessels' appeal from a death verdict assessed him after his conviction for the rape of the Pampa woman.

The court is the supreme court in the state for appeal of criminal cases.

Each side will be given 45 minutes to present its arguments.

"It may take them anywhere from several weeks to several months to hand down a decision," District Attorney Bill Waters said.

But their decision is likely to be the culminating chapter in a long series of events that started on the afternoon of April 28, 1966.

Pampans were shocked to learn the following day of the rape at knife point of the young housewife.

She was assaulted by an unknown assailant who gained entry to her home by representing himself as a gas company employee.

She was assaulted three times while her baby slept in a nearby room. Her assailant finally fled after she managed to scream loud enough to frighten him. She was confined to a hospital for several days, suffering from shock and five stab wounds about the stomach and legs.

A wave of revulsion swept this normally quiet and peaceful city.

The victim quoted the assailant as saying, "If they catch me I'll only get 7 or 8 years for rape and I'll be four or five states away by then."

North Koreans Seize US Intelligence Ship in Port

Military Buildup, Bitter Statement Kill Peace Hopes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Stepped up Communist military pressures plus a bitter public rejection of President Johnson's peace talk formula have virtually extinguished hopes here for early discussions with Hanoi on ending the Vietnam war.

A virulent weekend editorial in the official Hanoi newspaper, Nhan Dan, viewed against the background of a Red buildup in northwest Vietnam and neighboring Laos, has persuaded most U.S. officials that the Communists do not really want talks at this time.

President Johnson's top aides were under instruction, however, to continue their behind the scenes probe through diplomatic channels in the slim hope that Hanoi's public stand may not reflect the private views of North Vietnamese leaders.

The editorial dealt with the President's State of the Union declaration of last Wednesday that if the United States stopped bombing the North, Hanoi must refrain from taking military advantage of the suspension.

It rejected Johnson's formula for peace talks as "an American trick," and went beyond that to charge the President with attaching "very insolent conditions" for opening discussions.

Administration officials pointed out that the official editorial was even tougher than the statements made by Hanoi in recent months. The newspaper called for the United States to "definitively and unconditionally" end its bombing before talks could begin.

In diplomatic parlance, the word "definitively" translates into "permanently."

Board Meeting Set Thursday Is Cancelled

Pampa School Board President H. Creel Grady Jr. announced today the board will not meet as scheduled Thursday but has slated a regular session Feb. 8.

"I polled the board of trustees and visited with the acting superintendent in regard to the Jan. 16 meeting," Grady said. "The poll indicated we would not hold the scheduled meeting, but will meet Feb. 8, the second Thursday next month."

He explained the board will not have its called meeting Thursday because it "would be inconvenient for some and others will be out of town."

Agenda items which the acting superintendent, McHenry Lane thinks should be discussed will be put on the Feb. 8 agenda, Grady stated.

It was learned today, Dr. John Damron, former school superintendent, is out of town but was expected back tonight.

In the Feb. 8 meeting, the board is expected to approve the minutes of the Jan. 16 executive session in which Dr. Damron was immediately relieved of his job and salary.

Dr. Damron has appealed the board's action and sent his notice of appeal to the board and to Dr. J. W. Edgar, commissioner of education in Austin, and to J. C. Hinsley, Austin, Damron's legal counsel.

First Sea Capture In More Than 100 Years

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A North Korean naval force seized a U.S. intelligence ship on the high seas early today; the Pentagon said. As MIG fighters circled overhead, the raiders forced the lightly armed American vessel and its 23 men to put into the Communist port of Wonsan.

It marked the first time in more than 100 years that an American naval ship had been captured at sea. The Pentagon said there has been no word from the U.S.S. Pueblo—armed only with two 50-caliber machine guns—since it radioed it had come to "all stop" and was going off the air shortly after 11 p.m. CST.

The Defense Department said the Pueblo, which it acknowledged to be an intelligence-gathering vessel, was boarded in the Sea of Japan, in international waters off the North Korean coast.

U.S. officials said efforts were being made through Moscow to contact North Korea for more information. The White House, the State Department and the U.S. Embassy in Moscow all refused comment for the time being.

The last incident involving a U.S. intelligence ship came June 8 during the Arab-Israeli war when the U.S.S. Liberty was attacked by Israeli planes and torpedo boats. Naval historians said there had not been an incident comparable to today's capture, however, since the Civil War.

The Pentagon said the Pueblo, which at 906 tons is about one-eighth the size of the Liberty carried oceanographic equipment. This would include depth sounding and underwater topographical equipment as well as electronics and communications gear.

The Defense Department said the seizure took place 25 miles off the North Korean coast although the position officials gave appeared to be as close as 17 miles to the coast. North Korea claims a 12-mile limit for its territorial waters although the United States recognizes only a three-mile limit.

Helicopters, Sleds Used in Bomb Hunt

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. experts in helicopters and dogsleds pushed through Greenland's polar darkness and 25 below zero cold today hunting for four missing hydrogen bombs whose loss set off political repercussions that could affect the NATO alliance.

The bombs, said by the Pentagon to be unarmed and in "no danger" of exploding, were aboard a B52 Stratofortress that crashed into ice-covered North Star Bay, seven miles short of the runway at Thule Air Force Base in Greenland, a Danish possession.

The accident claimed one life and threatened diplomatic repercussions from Denmark. Copenhagen reminded Washington that Denmark prohibits nuclear armed flights over its territories and asked for more information. Between 50 and 100 Danes demonstrated outside the U.S. embassy in Copenhagen Monday when the news of the crash became known after an 18-hour delay.

As the search continued in remote Greenland, the Danes were voting in parliamentary elections to decide the political future of Prime Minister Jens Otto Krag, a firm friend of the United States in NATO.

Whether the crash would affect the elections was open to question. But the promptness of Krag's query to Washington about it showed how sensitive the matter of nuclear arms is in the Scandinavian country. Three of the four leftist parties participating in today's elections are opposed to Danish membership in NATO.

Scientists here said the impact of the crash probably was enough to send the H-bombs crashing through the 6 to 8 foot ice on North Star Bay, a part of the larger Baffin Bay.

But much about the bombs is still secret and security factors dictated an all-out effort to find the lost weapons. Public fear of adverse consequences, the diplomatic repercussions and the cost of the bombs pointed the likelihood of an all-out search until they are recovered.

Handful of American GIs Lead Troops to Victory

SAIGON (UPI)—A handful of GIs led part-time government troops to a crushing victory over a North Vietnamese battalion today in the battle raging along South Vietnam's 40-mile-long northern frontier, military spokesmen said.

The government militia—regional and popular force-troops with their American advisors reported killing at least 250 of about 500 North Vietnamese who tried for two days to grab a strategic position near Khe Sanh, the Marine bastion anchoring the western end of the Allied border defense line.

At the other end of the McNamara line, in the sand dunes of the South China Sea coast, South Vietnamese regular army troops killed at least another 150 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong they trapped Monday, spokesmen said.

Today U.S. Air Force B52 Stratofortresses, the massed artillery of the American army and Marines and 7th Fleet warships offshore joined in what military spokesmen termed a massive bombardment of the three North Vietnamese divisions poised at the border's Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

In the border battle that has raged for four days, military spokesmen said at least 750 North Vietnamese have been killed.

The bitter fighting stretched along the line of allied bastions —Khe Sanh, Camp Carroll, Con Thien, Gio Linh—stretching from the cloud-shrouded mountains around Khe Sanh to the sunny coastal dunes.

Conner Releases City Crime Data

Police Chief Jim Conner released figures this morning on crime committed in Pampa during 1967.

Most serious of the offenses was murder. Two were committed during the past year.

Other major felony offenses were one robbery, 142 burglaries, 25 assaults, 86 larcenies (theft over $50), and 11 auto thefts.

Assaults increased 108 per cent over 1966; burglaries decreased 2 per cent; larcenies increased 17.8 per cent; and auto thefts decreased 82 per cent.

Thefts under $50 totaled 263 for the year, up 32 per cent from 1966.

Of the 142 burglaries committed in Pampa, 49 per cent were solved. The national average for solved burglaries is about 22 per cent, Chief Conner said.

The above category of crimes totaled 530, an increase of 16.7 per cent over 1966.

Statistics on the number of persons arrested for other violations are:

Vandalism, 83; DWI, 67; arrests for drunkenness, 366; forgery and counterfeiting, 4; unlawfully carrying a weapon, 9; prostitution and commercialized vice, 2; sex offenses (excluding rape and prostitution), 3; violation of liquor laws, 82; and disorderly conduct, 67.

Audit of City Books Approved by Council

The annual audit of books and records of the City of Pampa for the fiscal year ending last Sept. 30 was approved by the city commission today.

The audit, made by Nensstiel and Doggett, local accounting firm, showed that on Sept. 30, 1967 the city had an outstanding bonded indebtedness of $6,391,000, including $1,900,000 new bonds issued during the year. Bonds retired during the year totaled $220,000 and interest paid was $157,729.66.

Bond and interest requirements for the current 1967-68 fiscal year will total $490,815.56, of which $262,000 will be for principal and $228,815.56 for interest.

Tax collections for the 1966-67 fiscal year, the audit shows, totaled $746,024.68, an increase of $71,979, over the 1965-66 year. Of the total tax collections, $455,022.01 went into the General Fund, $277,123.62 into interest and sinking funds, and $13,879.05 into the Library Fund. The audit shows net profit for the city's Water & Sewer Department was $549,139.06. Revenue totaled $783,047.64 and expenses totaled $233,908.58. The audit shows net income, after depreciation and interest, to be $362,966.33.

The city's receipts for the year ending last Sept. 30 totaled $2,021,854.94. Disbursements totaled $1,818,381.45. For comparison, the audit shows 1968 receipts were $1,335,566.34 and disbursements amounted to $1,382,278.04.

The audit approved today explains that Pampa's total obligation to the Canadian River Water Authority for its share of the Lake Meredith dam and aqueduct costs will be $5,977,000. The contract calls for its being paid off in 50 successive annual installments.

Pampa's first payment of $153,700 will fall due on or before Sept. 1, 1969 under a one-year extension of the original due date of Sept. 1 this year. Pampa's payments on the (See AUDIT, Page 3)

TWO INJURED — Two Pampa men were injured early this morning when the driver of the auto shown above lost control and crashed into a utility pole in the 800 block of S. Hobart. Both men were listed in satisfactory condition today in Highland General Hospital. Looking over the accident is police officer Jesse B. Goad.

US-Soviet Pact Is Endorsed By Three Nations

GENEVA (UPI) — Britain, Canada and Czechoslovakia today became the first nations to officially endorse the U.S.-Soviet treaty draft aimed at stopping the spread of nuclear weapons.

Canada's Gen. E.L.M. Burns rose in the conference session to declare his country felt the treaty draft took into account the "concerns of the non-nuclear states." The British and Czech delegates followed suit.

The treaty draft was completed last week when the United States and the Soviet Union reached agreement on the section dealing with inspection. The neutral nations have voiced objections to the American-Russian version because they consider it weighted in favor of the big powers.

Two Pampans Injured As Auto Hits Pole

Two Pampa men were taken to Highland General Hospital shortly after 2 a.m. this morning following a one-car collision in the 800 block of S. Hobart Street.

Ivan Dell Bradt, 27, an oil-field roughneck who lives at 506 N. Zimmers, the driver of the auto, and Arlie Ray Martin, 310 S. Somerville, a passenger, were listed in satisfactory condition this morning at the hospital.

The accident occurred when Bradt, who was traveling north on the wrong side of S. Hobart Street, attempted to cut through an opening in the concrete island and apparently lost control. The 1967 Studebaker automobile then struck a metal utility pole.

Impact of the collision caused both men to strike the windshield. The automobile was estimated to be a total loss.

Pampa police have issued a citation for Bradt, charging him with driving to the left of center.

Johnson To Send Word To Navajos

GALLUP, N.M. (UPI)—President Johnson will deliver his congratulations to the Navajo Indian tribe Wednesday in a telephone or taped message at the kickoff dinner celebrating the Navajo centennial.

The dinner, honoring chairman Raymond Nakai and the 100,000 members of America's largest Indian tribe, begins a year of festivities commemorating the 100 years since the establishment of the Navajo reservation and life as a settled tribe.

The Navajos, nomadic raiders who were held in captivity by the U.S. cavalry for four years at Ft. Sumner, N.M., were released and allowed to return to their homeland in 1868.

FIRST CHECKS SLATED IN MARCH

Gray County Social Security Benefits Set To Rise $373,000

To what extent will the boost in social security payments, recently voted by Congress, benefit residents of Gray County?

How much will retirement checks in the local area average under the new schedule?

On the basis of the latest figures from the Social Security Administration, which show the number of local recipients and the amount they were receiving at the beginning of 1967, the new total will be approximately $373,000 greater per year than before.

Across the board increases are provided for retired or disabled workers and their dependents. Those who have been getting minimum benefits of $528 per year will now receive $660.

For couples, there will be an increase in the minimum from the current $798 to $990.

At the upper end of the scale, for those whose monthly salaries averaged $550 or more during their late working years, the pension payment for an individual will rise from $2,016 to $2,279. For a retired couple, it will go from $3,024 to $3,419.

The size of the pension a retired worker receives is directly related to the amount he earned over a period of years prior to retirement and, in turn, to his contributions to the pension fund.

In Gray County, according to the latest annual report of the Social Security Administration, payments to beneficiaries were at the average yearly rate of $888 per recipient.

Beginning in March, when the first checks reflecting the increase will arrive, the local average will be $1,003.

For the community as a whole, the pension payments will amount to $3,245,000 a year as compared with the previous total of $2,870,000.

Hand in hand with the bigger benefits goes an increase in costs. Those who have been paying social security taxes on earnings below $6,600 will be continued at the same rate for another year.

Those earning between $6,600 and $7,800, however, will have to pay 4.4 per cent on the amount over $6,600. Their employers will have to contribute a matching amount.

Apollo Ship Proves Self, Gives Hope To Officials

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The first of the Apollo spaceships built to land men on the moon has proved it works in space, leaving officials hopeful the ship is ready to carry men next time despite an initial engine failure.

The 16-ton Lunar Module was piloted by a robot computer in its earth orbital space debut. If astronauts had been aboard instead, they could have overcome the engine trouble and completed the entire mission.

Ground controllers used an alternate mission planned months ago to snatch success from apparent failure.

Throughout most of its 7-hour 40-minute flight, the Apollo 5 moon bug performed with surprising precision. When it was all over, scientists believe it hurled itself to a fiery death in earth's atmosphere.

"I think it was an excellent flight, a remarkable success, a remarkably good next step on the way to the moon," said Dr. George E. Mueller, head of the U.S. civilian manned spaceflight program.

The success, qualified though it was, probably will clear the Lunar Module for carrying men on its next venture aloft, set for late this year if it is manned.

Another Lunar Module is on hand for a second unmanned trial run this spring if necessary. The final decision whether to scrap plans for that repeat test will be made in March.

The Lunar Module is the type ship that will ferry two men from an orbit around the moon down to the lunar surface and back to the Apollo mother ship. That flight could come as early as mid-1969.

The Apollo 5 mission got off to a perfect start Monday evening when a Saturn I rocket drilled it into a precise orbit 100 miles up.

For four hours, everything went as planned. Then came the first of the punishing firings of its landing and takeoff engines.

The mission was marred at that point by the failure of the engine designed specifically to lower two astronauts gently to the pitted lunar crust.

Mothers' March Data Incomplete

Due to widespread rain, results of the Mothers' March for the March of Dimes in Pampa last night are incomplete, according to march co-chairmen Mrs. Paul Howard and Mrs. Jake Osborne.

They said that weather conditions prevented some areas from being covered last night, but that all blocks are expected to be solicited before the end of the week.

Anyone who wishes to contribute—and feels that they have been missed—may take or mail their donation to the First National Bank or call Mrs. Howard or Mrs. Osborne.

March of Dimes money is used to fight birth defects through public education programs. It also supports coordinated treatment through its nationwide network of nearly 100 Birth Defects Research and Treatment Centers.

Warren Burnett, an Odessa attorney, learned of the Vessels case and volunteered his services. He and Michael Ramsey of Houston became counsel for Vessels when Bowers, the court-appointed defense counsel who was not on retainer fee, was unable to continue his duties because of other matters.

The motion for a new trial was heard on Dec. 22 in 31st Judicial District Court.

At one point in the proceedings, Judge Lewis M. Goodrich walked out of court to prevent Vessels' lawyers from offering testimony in the motion for a new trial.

He later relented and heard the testimony but rejected the motion.

The following week he also overruled a supplemental motion for a new trial.

Burnett and Ramsey immediately filed notice of appeal to the Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin.

Burnett charged in his appeal that the "scientific evidence from the Dept. of Public Safety is incompatible with the guilty conviction."

An appeal on both verdicts has been made by Vessels' attorneys.

Vessels himself, now 31 years old, is serving a 3-year sentence in the state penitentiary at Huntsville for an attempted rape in Randall County.

104 Stop Signs To Go Up Along Through Streets

City Council today placed its stamp of approval on a stop-sign project to protect traffic on thoroughfares at intersections along seven newly-designated through streets.

The seven recently added new through streets are 18th Ave., Bond, Tyng, Nelson, Crawford, Tignor and Beryl. All were paved during the city's overall 1967 summer street improvement program.

City Engineer B. M. Wofford said today approximately 104 new stop signs will be erected at 54 intersections to halt traffic at the through streets.

The legislation approved on first reading today will amend the existing city traffic ordinance.

In other business today the commission gave final approval to an ordinance prohibiting coin-operated gasoline service stations without an attendant on duty, and set Feb. 13 as the date to open bids on the purchase of seven new city vehicles.

The commission accepted City manager Jim White's recommendation that Luke McClelland be appointed chairman of the City Planning and Zoning Commission to succeed Tom Snow who will move to Terrell. The appointment is effective Feb. 1.

Wilson Teachers Attend Meeting

Eight Woodrow Wilson Elementary School teachers are attending the AAAS Science Approach Study in Spearman today.

In a recent report to the Pampa School Board, Mrs. Marjorie Gaut, elementary education consultant, explained the American Association for Advancement of Science sponsors the in-service training for teachers to acquire specific behavior and knowledge as part of the structure of science.

"In this process approach, the major emphasis is not on the content of science, although much content is included, but on developing facility in science processes," she said.

Some key processes in acquiring science information are using numbers, communicating, observing, measuring, predicting, classifying, inferring and using space-time relations.

In the meeting today, teachers will attend lectures, and teacher-student demonstrations and do science exercises.

Mrs. John Best and Mrs. Sam Hanks, fourth grade teachers at Wilson Elementary School, have prepared a demonstration, which Mrs. Best will present.

The meeting today is fifth in a series of seven in-service workshops. Others are slated Feb. 12 and March 5. Wilson Elementary School is the only school here which is in the AAAS pilot program of education.

Teachers attending the session today are Mrs. Gaut, Bob Parks, Wilson Elementary School principal; Mrs. Best, Mrs. Hanks, Miss Oleta Martin, Mrs. Leroy Thornburg, Mrs. Joe Davis, Mrs. Herbert Coker, Mrs. Tommy Lindsey Lindsey and Mrs. Jim Goff.

Manufacturer's suggested retail price for standard Six Chevy II Nova Coupe shown above includes Federal Excise Tax, suggested dealer or delivery and handling charges. Model shown above equipped with additional sport with Custom Exterior $24.95, White Walls $31.95, Wheel Covers $21.95. Transportation charges, accessories, optional equipment, state and local taxes additional.

Car enthusiast magazines keep saying a lot of nice things about the all-new Chevy II Nova. And why not? At least there's an economy car that doesn't look or act like one. Besides being a whole lot sportier, it offers a smoothly balanced Six and a 307-cubic-inch standard V8 that runs beautifully on regular fuel. See for yourself what all the shouting's about. ## Dear Abby

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I need your opinion on something. My mother tells me it is not right for a girl to go to her boy friend's apartment. She says it will ruin her reputation for good even if nothing happens.

She says that even nice girls can get into trouble by going to their boy friends' apartments that being together all alone is just tempting fate and pressing your luck.

Miss Abby, I've been brought up to obey my parents, but lately I'm confused. My friends at college say "everybody does it," and they laugh at me for my old-fashioned ideas. Can you help me?

CONFUSED AT 18
DEAR CONFUSED: I don't know who's luckier, you or your mother. You, to have a mother who cares enough to warn you against the seemingly harmless temptations to which so many girls yield, or your mother, who has a sensible 18-year-old daughter who still listens. Keep listening. You will never regret it.

SHOCKED IN PITTSBURGH
CONFIDENTIAL TO SUSIE: Q: True, you only live once, but try to live right. There is no accident insurance to protect the girl who pursues the wrong policy.
Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69709, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem. It's my son's beard. Last November we went to visit him (he lives in another state) and were shocked to find that he had grown a full beard since we had last seen him.

He is 28 years old, and single, and that beard makes him look much older, in addition to which he looks ridiculous. There was no reason for him to grow that thing as this state isn't celebrating a centennial or anything.

I told him to please shave it off when he came home for Christmas and he said he did not think he would. Well, he didn't. We hadn't said anything to the relatives, hoping he'd have it shaved off by Christmas, so you can imagine the jeering and laughing that look place when they saw him. It just ruins his looks. How can we get him to shave it off?

UPSET MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: You probably can't, so quit stewing about it. The problem isn't HIS beard, it's YOUR inability to accept it. He is 28, Mother, and if the beard makes him look "older," or "ridiculous," HE will have to suffer the consequences.

Deduct Half the Cost Of Any Medical Insurance

By RAY DE CRANE
 NEA Publications

A provision in the Social Security-Medicare Act of 1965 is responsible for the big break taxpayers get this year on their medical deduction.

For an untold number of people it will mean they will have a medical deduction on their 1967 return for perhaps the first time in their life.

By now most people are familiar with the old-established rules on medical deduction. No credit is received until your total bills exceed 3 per cent of adjusted gross income. Even then, you receive credit only for the excess beyond the 3 per cent figure. Not even prescriptions were not even considered until they exceeded 1 per cent of income.

Those were the old rules. Things are changed this year. Beginning with your 1967 return—the one you will file by April 15 this year—you have a deduction amounting to 50 per cent of your cost of medical care insurance. If your Blue Cross and Blue Shield insurance coverage for your family costs you $280, this means you will have a deduction of $140. The maximum deduction that may be taken on such health insurance is $150.

This amount applies only to premiums you, yourself, pay. If your company pays all or a part of your hospital insurance you can not consider the employer's share.

You get this deduction for insurance even though you do not have sufficient other medical expenses to qualify for the regular medical deduction.

What if you do have considerable medical expense in addition? Proceed as you have in the past with the listing of your medical and dental expenses and this time include that other 50 per cent or excess of your medical insurance. Add to your total the cost of medicines and drugs exceeding one per cent of income. From this total subtract 3 per cent of income. The balance is deductible.

second act in the Harvesters nine-act play, "How To Win A District Crown".

The Shockers, coached by Bill Brown, will go right before the varsity teams which tip off at 8 p.m. The Lubbock team is 21-3 for the season with the Harvesters' record standing at 20-2.

Both coaches praised one another's teams yesterday with coach Joe Michalka going all out, saying he hopes that coach Terry Culley's unit does not "embarrass us."

George Bailey of Pampa and Rick Dyer will exchange blows in the individual scoring contest as Bo Lang, Beau Bond, Jimmy Cornutt and Johnny Carlos call out the Harvester line-up.

Montgomery Word

BY CURTIS MONTGOMERY
 Pampa Daily News Sports Editor

While riding the bus between Amarillo and Pampa not long ago I was informed by a pleasant young lady that folks living in the panhandle are not referred to as "panhandlers." I didn't really think they would be, but in Phillips early in the a.m. we did notice one man staggering along who I'm sure could be called a Top O' Texas panhandler. The lady, who enlightened me about possible misuse of the term "panhandler," introduced herself as Mrs. Damon Runyon. She stated that she was not the wife of the famous scribe but that she had trouble cashing checks sometimes because of skeptical cashiers. Mrs. Runyon lives at 601 Le-fors in Pampa. That name of Damon Runyon will be remembered nationally as long if not longer than the panhandle's athlete of the decade, Randy Matson. Runyon, who will be remembered more for his short stories than his sports writing, is one of five members of the Sportscasters and Sportswriters Association Hall of Fame. The other members are Grantland Rice, Ring Lardner, Ted Husing, and Graham McNamee.

Junior High Teams
 The waves which the Pampa High School Harvesters are making en route to the state play-offs have pulled down most of the write-ups, all of which they deserve.

However, the junior high teams have gone virtually unnoticed. Pampa Junior High's ninth graders play today at 4 p.m. at their gym against Austin of Borger.

Coach Claude Robertson's squad lost a tough one in overtime last week to Spearman, 51-49. Mike Jordan paced that team, which is 6-6 for the season.

Bill Pott's seventh graders are a good team. Richard McCampbell, Atcky Smith, D on Procter and John Snow are the horses on that team. They play Dumas at 4 p.m. this Friday at the Pampa Jr. High Gym. They stand 6-0 for the year.

Sam Jacoby's Lee Junior High Rebels are paced by Doug Thompson, a 5-8 boy. That Lee ninth grade team is 2-7 for the season and has a date today with Phillips at Lee starting at 4 p.m.

The eighth graders follow directly afterwards. They are undefeated at 8-0. They play again Thursday following the ninth graders against Houston of Borger at 4 p.m. The next game for the seventh graders is at Borger with Houston this Friday afternoon. They have a good 5-1 record.

In a weekend which had a "Moon Man" winning a golf tournament (Kermit Zarley at Kaiser), two final football games on the tube—Let's hope

Bing Leads NBA Scorers

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dave Bing, rookie of the year in 1967, went into today's All-Star break leading the National Basketball Association scoring parade with 1,363 points.

Bing transformed the Detroit Pistons from a cellar club last year to an above .500 team this season with his aggressive backcourt play and superb marksmanship.

Houston Listed No. 1!

NEW YORK (UPI) — The University of Houston today became the choice not the echo for the nation's coaches as the surging Cougars snared 28 first place votes to move past UCLA in the eighth weekly ratings as the No. 1 team in major college basketball.

Snuggled comfortably in second place for the last six weeks, Houston moved to the top by parlaying a 17-0 season record with its 71-69 triumph over the Bruins Saturday night. Houston picked up 28 first place votes and 343 points in the balloting by United Press International's 35-member board of coaches.

Previously unbeaten UCLA, which had been ranked first in each of the last 23 ratings stretching back to the 1966-67 pre-season balloting, collected seven first place votes and 321 points. The Bruins, who were ranked as low as third on one ballot, now trail the Cougars by 22 points after leading by 36 a week ago. Week after week Houston grabbed the Lion's share of the runner-up votes, but until this week their claim to top ranking always had been hampered by a schedule whose quality was questioned by some and by a winning streak that was far shorter than the Uclans. Now the Cougars, who before today had never received a single first place vote in ratings history, own an 18-game win skein that is the longest in major college basketball.

In the balloting based on games played through Jan. 20, all of last week's top 10 remained in the select circle, but a host of upsets set off a chain reaction that moved nine teams out of the places they held last week.

Following UCLA were North Carolina, which remained third; New Mexico, St. Bonaventure, Tennessee, Columbia, Utah, Kentucky and Vanderbilt.

Cincinnati soared six places to 11th and Marquette moved up seven notches to 12th to lead the second 10. They were followed by Duke; Davidson; Tulsa; New Mexico State, Princeton, and Texas-El Paso (tied for 16th); Wyoming and St. John's.

Five coaches from each of the seven geographical areas of the nation comprise the UPI ratings board. Each week they select the top 10 teams with points distributed on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis for votes from first to 10th.

NBA Expands Again To Milwaukee, Phoenix

NEW YORK (UPI)—Expansion continues to be the hottest craze in pro sports these days.

Even though several of its existing teams aren't drawing very well, the National Basketball Association Monday announced that Milwaukee and Phoenix have been awarded franchises for the 1968-69 season. The move increases league membership to 14 teams and continues the NBA program to reach 20 teams by 1972.

If the American Basketball Association continues with its 11 teams next season, there will be 25 major league basketball franchises for the 1968-69 season next season.

Phoenix has never had a major league franchise of any kind before while Milwaukee is receiving its second NBA franchise. The town had the present St. Louis Hawks for four seasons before they moved in 1955.

The NBA also made two other decisions. It awarded the 1971 All-Star game to San Diego and the 1972 mid-season classic to Los Angeles. As previously announced, Baltimore will host the 1969 game and Philadelphia entertains in 1970. The 1968 East-West game will be played tonight in New York.

The NBA also awarded the Los Angeles Lakers the first-round draft choice of the Detroit Pistons in the 1968 college draft as a result of the 1969 game and Philadelphia Arbitration Committee awarded the Pistons the first choice of the Lakers in 1967 when Larusso refuses to report to the Pistons after he was dealt them by Los Angeles.

But the committee ruled Detroit's subsequent sale of Larusso "negated the primary reason" for the committee's original award to the Pistons. Detroit appealed the verdict but a special five-member board of governors panel upheld the committee's decision.

Phoenix and Milwaukee will be stocked in the same manner as San Diego and Seattle were last season. The 12 existing clubs will protect seven players and put the remaining members into a pool from which the clubs will select their basic roster. First choice between the two will be decided by a coin toss.

Wilt 'The Jolly Giant' Set for Star Cage Tilt

NEW YORK (UPI)—It was obvious these two weren't big basketball fans.

They went about their work automatically and unhurriedly, pulling chairs from where they are kept stacked in the back of Madison Square Garden and putting them out on the floor for those who will be at tonight's NBA East-West All Star game.

"Wow, did you see the size of that guy?" said one of the maintenance men to the other, staring at an exceptionally tall figure entering a dressing room farther down the Garden corridor Monday.

"Wow, did you see the size of man asked."

"I dunno," replied his co-worker, awed. "I never saw anybody so big in my life. Maybe he was the Jolly Green Giant."

Inside the dressing room, Wilt Chamberlain, the tall figure they were talking about, bit into a sugar-coated doughnut, sat down on a stained leather-covered trainer's table and still towered over his questioners.

When you're 7-foot-one inch and don't slouch, you're still taller sitting down than most people standing up.

Wilt Chamberlain doesn't slouch. He started out frowning this time because he ordinarily isn't big for interviews. The more he talked, however, the less he frowned. Finally his features softened completely so that he turned out to be a rather good-looking individual, goatee and all.

"With the exception of my poor foul shooting, there's not too much to complain about," said the 31-year-old star of the Philadelphia 76ers. "I think I'm having a fairly good season. I'm surprised I'm doing this well. We just played our 49th game and I can feel it."

"You mean you're beginning to feel your age?" somebody asked him.

"I'm definitely older," he said, taking another bite out of the doughnut. "But I can still run down the court. The only trouble is people expect you to match one year after another."

This is Chamberlain's ninth season in the NBA and he's appearing in his ninth All-Star game tonight so that gives you an idea of how far downhill he's gone.

There are those who believe the big guy has passed his peak, and that may be so, but then there are the figures, which seldom lie, and which say he's No. 1 in the league in field goal percentage and rebounds.

From the time he turned professional, Chamberlain has been a favorite target of critics, first perhaps because of his size, second because of his disposition, and third because of his ability which everyone agrees is tremendous but which some feel should be even more so.

"I'm not out to impress anyone," he said, sitting there on the table, "except the ones who matter to me like my friends. People say I'm tough to get along with; I'm no tougher to get along with than any other guy."

Chamberlain then talked about Lew Alcindor.

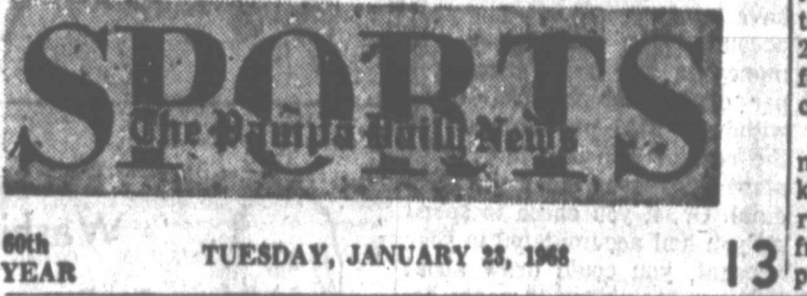

He said he knew UCLA's golden boy eight-nine years, Alcindor is a good friend and that he's the greatest ballplayer in college today.

Suddenly, however, Chamberlain's mood changed and the frown returned.

UCLA Sets Sights On NY

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The UCLA basketball team today set its sights on a weekend invasion of New York as the first chance to prove coach John Wooden's belief that the Bruins could be a better club as a result of the defeat by Houston.

Wooden told the Southern California basketball writers luncheon Monday that UCLA could emerge a better team after having its 42 game winning streak snapped by the Cougars last Saturday night.

East Favored By 10 On ABC-TV Tonight

NEW YORK (UPI) — The East, with a strong front line, has been established a 10-point favorite in the National Basketball Association's 18th annual All-Star game tonight, mostly because the West has lost the services of ace rebounder Nate Thurmond.

The burden falls on slender 6-foot-9 Zelmo Beaty of the St. Louis Hawks, who will have to battle the East's Wilt Chamberlain and Bill Russell on the boards in the nationally televised game (ABC, 7:30 p.m. CST) at Madison Square Garden.

But don't expect the 7-foot-1 Chamberlain and the 6-10 Russell to be in the lineup at the same time.

"They just don't complement each other," said East Coach Alex Hannum of the Philadelphia 76ers. "Wilt will play the first quarter and Russell the second period. We'll see how it works out. Whichever group works out best will see the most time."

In addition to Chamberlain of the 76ers, who'll be playing in his ninth straight All-Star game the East presents 6-10 Willie Reed of the New York Knickerbockers and 6-8 Jerry Lucas up front. Oscar Robertson of the Cincinnati Royals and Dave Bing, the NBA's leading scorer from the Detroit Pistons, make up the East's starting backcourt.

West Coach Bill Sharman's starting lineup will be 6-5 Elgin Baylor of the Los Angeles Lakers and 6-8 Bob Boozer of the Chicago Bulls up front and Lenny Wilkens of the St. Louis Hawks and Jerry West of the Lakers in the backcourt.

The East also will call on guards Dick Barnett of New

SWC Okays Fresh Rule

DALLAS (UPI) — The Southwest Conference, by mail vote, today approved immediate participation of freshman athletes in all sports except football and basketball in line with recent action taken by the National Collegiate Athletic Association NCAA.

Commissioner Howard Grubbs did not announce the exact vote, indicating the balloting was not unanimous. Only a two-thirds majority six of the eight members was necessary.

Government May Decide to Mediate

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Federal mediators will decide by the end of the week whether to step into contract negotiations between major league baseball club owners and their players.

William E. Simkin, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, said the two sides would resume negotiations in New York Wednesday and continue talks through the rest of the week.

At the end of the week, Simkin said Monday, the mediation service would review the situation with both sides and "determine at that time whether a formal offer of mediation service should be made."

Marvin J. Miller, who represents the players, formally requested the aid of federal mediators last Friday. He complained that the players had been unable to get the owners to meet with them.

Simkin said he had consulted with both owners and player representatives in connection with Miller's request and had been told of the scheduled resumption of negotiations.

The main issue involved in the negotiations are players demands for an increase in the minimum salary and improvements in working conditions.

The Romulus Version

Why does the bridegroom carry the bride over the threshold? A historian has come up with a story which goes like this:
The city of Rome was founded about 754 B. C. Chief founder was a young gentleman named Romulus. He was accompanied mainly by other young men of a generally rough and pioneer character.

Once the walls of the city were laid and the first primitive huts molded of mud and rushes, the male minds turned to a not surprising subject—namely women. To attract same, the leader sent an embassy to surrounding tribes, offering in meekest terms to conclude a treaty of alliance whereby the young women of those neighboring towns would be permitted by their elders to entertain courtship from the sons of the pioneer village.

The tribes were shocked to suppose that these uncouth characters from Mudville would even suggest wedlock with their fairest, so all alike haughtily refused the embassy. And the young men of Rome thus were left to look forward to a long, lonely life. Willy Romulus, however was not the kind to accept such a verdict. He devised a plan to invite people of the surrounding tribes, both men and women, to come to Rome, with the idea of capturing the unmatched women while they were there.

The difficulty was to get the people to come in the first place. Happily, he was able to solve the problem by "discovering" an ancient altar of Neptune, underground. This archeological "find" stirred up great interest in the neighboring towns. Romulus realized that the occasion should be solemnized by religious observances and a grand celebration, including athletic games together with a festival and fair.

Medical Vistas Hazy But Exciting

Science, which creates all sorts of social problems in its relentless advance across the frontiers of knowledge, also has a way of solving those problems. Since the first heart transplant operation was performed in South Africa a few weeks ago, much has been written about the potential ethical and legal dilemmas doctors could run up against in this new and rapidly progressing field of organ transplantation.

Theoretically, a physician could be torn between his duty to do everything to save the life of a dying patient and the knowledge that the undamaged heart or kidney or spleen of that patient was urgently needed by someone else. Not so theoretically, existing laws in most states give surviving relatives entire say over the disposition of a person's body.

Editor:
The Payroll Deduction for your Social Security is presently 4.4 per cent based on earnings up to $6600. Your employer makes an equal contribution to your Social Security, thus increasing it to 8.8 per cent.

In 1966, you paid 4.2 per cent on $6,600 or a total of $277.20. In 1967, you paid $290.40 into the fund. If you make $6,600 or more a year, you and your employer put in $580.80 each year total.

Let's explore this payment a little further. Suppose you are age 21 and work until the customary retirement age of 65, and pay the maximum each year. Granted there are no more increases in Social Security payments (which is very unlikely), that would mean contributions by you and your employer of $25,552.20 during the 44 years of your employment. If these contributions were placed in a trust fund accruing only 4 per cent interest per year, the interest over 44 years would amount to approximately $22,500. That means at age 65, you would have at least $48,052 in your account. With that amount of money in the bank drawing 4 per cent interest, you could withdraw $160 per month for the rest of your life in interest alone and never touch the principal. Or, if you chose to spend all you had accumulated in your account, you could draw about $560 per month for 10 years before you ran out of funds, and in addition, you could work and earn as much as you pleased without losing this income! Check this out and compare the advantage over drawing the maximum amount payable now under Social Security, which is between $124 and $135.90 per month.

How did we allow this to happen?

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Heart Disease Can Be Aggravated by Obesity
Q—I am 62. A heart doctor says that my heart is out of shape and deflected. Does this require an operation or medical treatment?

A—If, as I presume, you have an enlarged heart, this may be due to a valvular disease, chronic high blood pressure or emphysema. An operation might benefit a valvular disease, but the other two causes require nonsurgical treatment.

Q—My husband has hypertensive heart disease and I have mitral heart disease. Please explain the difference. Is obesity a cause?

A—Chronic high blood pressure causes some enlargement of the heart because of the greater effort the heart must put out to force the blood through the body. A leaky mitral valve, usually a result of rheumatic fever, causes enlargement because the heart must compensate for the back-flow through the incompetent valve. Obesity puts an added burden on even a normal heart and will aggravate, rather than cause, heart disease.

Q—I am 72 and have an enlarged heart. My doctor is giving me Coramine, which helps me. He stopped the digitalis because it made me feel weak. What is Coramine? Is it related to sal volatile?

A—Coramine is a brand of nikethamide. It is a valuable heart stimulant but, because the margin of safety between the effective and the poisonous dose is so small, it must be taken only under careful supervision. Sal volatile is ammonium carbonate, a constituent of smelling salts (aromatic spirits of ammonia). It is not related to nikethamide.

Q—Can a person who has diabetes, hardening of the arteries, high blood pressure and an enlarged heart safely take digitalis? What would be the result of too large a dose?

A—Digitalis is a powerful drug. It can be a lifesaver in persons with certain types of heart disease. It is safe only when taken under medical supervision. The signs of digitalis poisoning include weakness, nausea and drowsiness.

Q—My husband has a left axis deviation of his heart.

To Pressure Arab and Soviet Committees in 'Holy War' Campaign Israel in UN to Give UP Jerusalem's Old City

ROBERT ALLEN
PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — An explosive new element is being interjected into the uneasy truce that exists between Israel and Arab nations in the strife-torn Middle East. Moslem leaders from 23 Asian and African countries, including the Soviet Union, are preparing to set up "committees for the rescue of Jerusalem."

This "Holy War" campaign, which is being instigated by the Kremlin, was discussed at a recent meeting in Rabat, Morocco, according to information obtained in Amman, Jordan, by U.S. intelligence. As outlined at the secret Rabat meeting, the plan is to set up well-financed committees in all countries with Moslem populations to call for U.N. diplomatic-military action to force Israel to give up Jerusalem's Old City, seized from the Jordanians during last June's fighting.

American intelligence officials believe the decision of Soviet leaders to assign Deputy Foreign Minister Yakov A. Malik as permanent Soviet representative, is tied closely to this coming "Holy War" campaign. Malik, who represented the Kremlin at the U.N. Security Council from 1948 to 1952, has served as Deputy Foreign Minister since 1960, handling Middle East and African affairs. French diplomats here say Malik has instructions to raise the Jerusalem control issue during the coming U.N. debate on the unsettled Middle East conflict.

The Kremlin's strategy, according to the French, is to unite members of the U.N. against Israel in the Jerusalem dispute while stirring up the Moslem world to support Arab nations in the next round of the fighting. The key Soviet proposal, which Malik is reputed to be bringing to New York, calls for the United Nations to take temporary control over Jerusalem's Old City even if force is necessary—move that Israel will vigorously oppose.

RUSSIA'S GRAND DESIGN—The coming Soviet U.N. offensive is viewed here as a major diplomatic-propaganda effort by the Kremlin to stimulate a belligerent spirit in Israel as well as among the Arab nations. The Russian purpose appears to be the perpetuation of the Arab-Israeli conflict, since this makes it easier for the Soviets to penetrate the oil-rich Middle East. On the other hand, peace in that region would tend to slow down expansion of Russian influence in the area.

Since the U.S. has refused to What is it and what can be done for it?

A—This occurs in persons who have a leaky mitral valve. When medical treatment with digitalis and restricted activity fails, an operation may be necessary.

Vice President Hubert Humphrey got the headlines and a warm greeting in Kenya on his recent African trip, but his traveling companion, Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall, made the most lasting impression, according to the post-visit assessment cabled to the State Department by U. S. officials in Nairobi after they surveyed local officials and the press.

Justice Marshall, they reported, impressed and delighted his audience with his frank comments. For example, Marshall was praised for answering questions about black power and Stokely Carmichael, the pro-Castro black militant, with such forthright statements as: "Stokely Carmichael hasn't done anything for the civil rights movement except get his name in the papers. If he or anyone else breaks the law, they should be locked up regardless of whether they broke it for black power, white power, or purple power."

QUID PRO QUO—Premier Levi Eshkol of Israel made an unusual private appeal to American Jewish leaders in New York during his recent visit to the U.S. The frank speaking Israeli premier asked them to use their influence to win support in their communities for President Johnson's efforts to obtain a negotiated peace settlement in Vietnam.

The unpublished request was the outgrowth of an informal understanding President Johnson reached with Eshkol during their two-day Texas meeting. Although these sessions resulted in a joint statement implying a long-term American commitment to maintain Israel's defense needs, no public mention was made that Vietnam was even discussed.

President Johnson personally brought up the subject of Vietnam after winding up the talks on U.S. arms aid to Israel to offset recent Soviet aid to Arab nations. "Now, I want your help on Vietnam," the President told Eshkol.

"In what way?" asked the Israeli Premier. "Don't worry. I'm not going to ask for a public commitment from you to support our position in Vietnam," stated the President. "What I want and desperately need is the support of American Jewish leaders. You have great influence with them. I want you to urge them to support my Vietnam policies."

After a brief pause, Eshkol replied: "That can be arranged. Before I leave, there will be a private meeting with leaders of the conference of presidents of major American Jewish Organizations in New York. I will use that opportunity to urge support for your policies."

The President then thanked Eshkol. In their earlier discussions on U.S. arms aid for Israel, the President at one point remarked: "We will make sure Israel will have sufficient arms to match the Soviet build-up among the Arabs. But you must remember, one aircraft piloted by your fliers is the equivalent of five for the Arabs."

HUNT FOR TRUTH

By H. L. HUNT

POLITICAL SUBSIDIES FROM SECRET TO OPEN
Earlier this year, a great furor developed over the disclosure that the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) had been secretly subsidizing various organizations, including the left-leaning National Student Association (NSA). CIA spokesmen stated that the subsidies were being dropped, and the controversy has since died down.

Now, however, the committee appointed by President Johnson to investigate the situation is recommending that open subsidies replace the hidden ones. Open subsidies may be less deceitful than hidden ones, but they are no less a misuse of funds, and they are even more symptomatic of a basic weakness in American foreign policy.

Money appropriated for the CIA should go for the development of a more effective intelligence network for this country. It should not be used for the support of non-government organizations, especially those which have even been anti-government.

The key issue here is the type of organization that has been receiving CIA money. The National Student Association, recipient of one of the largest subsidies, openly calls for abolition of the House Committee on Un-American Activities and the admission of Red China to the United Nations. Groups advocating pacifism and world-government have also received money. These are hardly the kind of policies that will strengthen America in the struggle against Communism.

Since high government officials are now urging open subsidy of such organizations, it is obvious that official policy is moving ever closer to a "no-win" position.

We cannot fight Communism by attempting to become more like it. Whether secret or open, subsidies to Farleft groups can only hurt the cause of freedom.

Well, our first try at hatching a modern Matty-Hairy has fizzled out like a sprak on a hobo's vest. The state department sent Jacqueline Kennedy to Cambodia to try and cajole that Prince Si-Hannok into being neutral. He was even more neutral than they thought, specially to the wiles of a seductive Matty-Hairy. He wouldn't give her the right time.

Our "secret agent" let on she was going to see the ruins and peer at Angkor—Wat! They sent along a peer called Lord Har-Lick to watch the Matty-Hairy and another statesman-ship called Forrestal to watch the Peer. With all their peers and stiffs it's no wonder they got their lines fouled up. And after they left the Prince wasn't such a prince after all cause he let the cat out of the bag.

Now it ain't so bad to try a little underhand spying and flunk the course if you learn something. But the state department didn't learn. They turned right around and sent over "Smiley" Bowles and his "Amateur Hour" to try his luck at pacifying Si-Hannok. He didn't have any more chance than a rabbit at a Injun picnic.

This act came to be considered the beginning of the Protestant Reformation, although Luther's original intention was to purify the Church, not to establish a new one.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Despite the animosities aroused by the war in Vietnam, the United States and the Soviet Union have demonstrated they can deal with each other when each has something to gain.

Latest example is the agreement to limit the spread of nuclear weapons which the two now have placed before the 17-nation Geneva conference after nearly five years of trying.

It is in the interest of both since some day the war in Vietnam must end and each has a pressing need to cut back on the astronomical cost of armaments. In the latter stages it is interesting to note that it was the United States rather than the Soviet Union that did the most foot-dragging.

This was because of the necessity that the United States keep its allies closely informed on progress of the negotiations and what they entailed.

Since France is boycotting the Geneva talks and is not expected to sign the accord, the most interested Western allies were Italy and West Germany, both of them non-nuclear powers. As usual, the stumbling block was the question of inspection and agreement finally was reached through compromise.

The U.S. and the Soviets had agreed that inspection could be carried out through the international Atomic Energy Agency headquarters in Vienna, West Germany, and in a lesser way, Italy, balked at this because of fears of possible "leaks" through the agency could result in a thievery of industrial secrets.

Credit Union Has Annual Supper

The Lefors Community Federal Credit Union held their eighth annual chili supper Jan. 20 in the civic center with 61 people present for the evening's activities.

The organization was begun eight years ago and has grown to 245 members with shares and assets of $80,000. The assets went from $54,000 to $80,000 in 1967.

The charter was amended in 1967 to include the McLean and Allenreed area.

Arthur Hammer opened the meeting by recognizing the guests and new members. Last year's minutes were read and approved. Fred Blackwell, treasurer, gave a report on the financial condition.

New officers elected for 1968 will be C. A. Hammer, president; Ed Brock, vice president; Marilyn Lewis, secretary; Fred Blackwell, treasurer, with Ruby Blackwell and Eolte Ferguson as assistants; and Maude Presley all serving on the board of directors. On the credit committee will be Carl Wall, chairman; Spencer Presley, Loan Officer; George Smith and Ben White.
