

Colder Weather Expected After Warming Trend

By United Press International
A ridge of high pressure over East Texas weakened today and let warmer temperatures into the state after a blast of Arctic air greeted the New Year Monday.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said although clouds hung over most of Texas this morning rain or drizzle since midnight Monday had been scarce.

Temperatures early today were a little warmer in most sections of the state, but were still ranged from the teens in the Panhandle to near 50 in the Brownsville area on the southern tip of Texas.

A line from Gage, Okla. south to San Angelo, divided Texas early today with clear weather to the west of it and cloudiness and some fog to the east.

Fort Worth and Waco reported fog early today and haze shrouded the building tops in downtown Dallas.

Other stations reporting fog were Austin, College Station, Houston, Texarkana, Tyler and Lufkin.

On the national scene, a frigid sweep of Arctic air was spreading out of the Midwest through the East while another blast was moving down into the north central states.

One cold front was headed for Texas and early today was located in extreme Northern Kansas. Forecasters said the front was expected to move through Oklahoma today and touch the northern edge of the Texas Panhandle perhaps as early as this evening.

A weather bureau spokesman said a band of light snow was following the cold front on its journey.

The weather bureau said a stationary front will lie from Northern Florida to Southern Texas by shortly after midnight tonight and a cold front will reach into the Texas Panhandle.

Singer's Wife Killed in Wreck

SHERMAN, Tex. (UPI)—The wife of "Little" Jimmy Dickens, singer and star of the Grand Ole Opry at Nashville, was killed Monday in a one-car crash on an ice spotted railroad overpass in North Texas.

Mrs. Dickens, 47, and her daughter, Pamela, 11, were en route to Dallas to catch a plane for Nashville. Dickens was in Rochester, Minn., and planned to return to Nashville and fly to Dallas to return his wife's body.

The daughter, and Mrs. Dickens' cousin, Air Force Col. Walter Hardes of Perrin Air Force Base, both escaped apparent injury.

Don Cain Announces He'll Run for District Attorney

Gray County Attorney Don Cain announced today he will be a candidate for the office of district attorney in the 31st Judicial District subject to the action of the May Democratic Primary.

Cain, a graduate of the University of Texas Law School, began his law practice here in 1951 and has served as county attorney of Gray County since 1955.

He became the first candidate to bid for the district attorney's office, following the Sunday announcement by Dist. Atty. Bill Waters that he would not seek re-election. Waters, who has been district attorney since 1955, said he planned to enter the private practice of law at the conclusion of his present term on Dec. 31, 1968.

Cain has served his community as president of the Pampa Rotary Club, president of the Adobe Walls Council-Boy Scouts of America, director of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, and director of the Pampa United Fund. He is presently serving as president of the Gray County Bar Association. He is a past director of the Texas District & County Attorneys' Association.

The 31st Judicial District includes Gray, Hemphill, Lipscomb, Roberts and Wheeler counties.

Respect for law and order is vital for our community, Cain said in his announcement.

Law violators must be vigorously and fairly prosecuted, and the office of district attorney shoulders much of this responsibility. Good law enforcement (See CAIN, Page 3)

Surgeon Makes New Transplant

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI)—Heart doctor, Christian Barnard, today performed his second heart transplant operation, reliable sources at Groote Schuur Hospital said.

The 30-member medical team headed by Barnard worked to place the heart of a traffic accident victim in the chest of a 58-year-old dentist.

It was the world's third attempt at a cardiac transplant. Barnard's pioneering operation Dec. 3 ended 18 days later with the death of grocer Louis Washkansky, who was given the heart of a young woman, an earlier traffic victim. A heart transplant operation in New York to save a baby failed six hours after surgery last month.

The patient today was Phillip Blaiberg, reported critically ill with a deteriorating heart condition.

The transplant organ came from the body of Clive Hauphd, 24, who died from injuries suffered in a traffic accident, hospital sources said.

They said tests on Hauphd showed his blood and body tissues would match well with those of Blaiberg. The tests took seven hours and were conducted before Hauphd died, they said.

No Truce Extension
The resumption of bombing squelched speculation the United States would prolong the pause in hopes the North Vietnamese would respond with a willingness to talk peace.

351 Communists Die As Bombing Resumes

SAIGON (UPI)—American troops killed 351 Communists with steel dart barrages in a Cambodian border battle today that closed out the bloodiest truce of the Vietnam war, military spokesmen said. The 36-hour pause over, U.S. jets resumed bombing North Vietnam, they said.

UPI correspondent Robert Kaylor, at the battlefield 60 miles northwest of Saigon, said about 1,500 Viet Cong smashed in human waves into a new American artillery base. The guerrillas drove GIs from some key bunkers.

Fighting against being overrun, the Americans lowered their artillery barrels and at almost point blank range fired 100 "beehive" shells. Each round burst into hundreds of half-inch darts that shredded the Viet Cong ranks, Kaylor said.

American Casualties
The defense of the Dau Tieng area post cost 23 U.S. lives. Spokesmen also reported 153 Americans wounded.

They said that in 177 Communist violations of the New Year's truce, 27 Americans were killed and 205 wounded. South Vietnamese forces lost 44 men killed and 132 wounded, they reported.

U.S. spokesmen said at least 569 Communists were killed in the pause and 11 captured. They said never before had so many Communists been killed in a short truce.

In the air, American spokesmen reported "normal" strikes under way once more against North Vietnam. "Toothless" scouting flights during the truce showed the Communists using the pause, as expected, to flood their supply lines with war material before the American planes came again, the spokesmen said.

When the truce ended, U.S. Air Force, Navy and Marine jets went promptly to work on the railroads, bridges, roads, supply dumps and water traffic of North Vietnam, the spokesmen said.

The resumption of bombing squelched speculation the United States would prolong the pause in hopes the North Vietnamese would respond with a willingness to talk peace.

During the truce in South Vietnam, the Communists spoke only out of the ends of their guns. The greatest fight roared for 10 hours as legions of the Viet Cong's 271st and 272nd regiments—units battered by U.S. forces the past two months on the Cambodian border—stormed out of the jungle seven miles south of Cambodia.

They used mortars and recoilless rifles in hopes of destroying the 25th Division artillery base that threatened their longtime guerrilla stronghold area. The guerrillas then launched the human wave assaults.

Ben L. Sturgeon, Pampa attorney, today announced his intention to seek the Republican nomination for county attorney of Gray County.

"Gray County and the 31st Judicial District have been fortunate over the past several years in that each has benefited by the high caliber of its law enforcement officials and the respective prosecuting attorneys," Sturgeon said.

"It is my intention to continue in that tradition, and I will dedicate my ability to the performance of the duties of Gray County attorney so our community might continue to benefit through the service of dedicated law enforcement."

Social Security Increases To Take Effect in March

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—President Johnson was expected to sign into law today a bill giving 23 million Americans a record 13 per cent increase in Social Security benefits.

The increase, the biggest in the history of the Social Security system, would take effect March 1. It would mean increased payroll taxes by employe and employer.

While Johnson sought increased benefits, he did not ask for provisions in the bill limiting welfare aid now going to 5 million mothers—many of them unwed—and their children.

This means that starting July 1 the federal government would provide aid only for the number of mothers and children a state had on its rolls as of Jan. 1.

The 1.5 million members of the United Auto Workers (UAW) union asked the President to veto the bill because of these provisions, describing them as "punitive and regressive."

The bill also provided for a vast new program of job training, day care centers and other services to get jobs for the 1.2 million adults who receive welfare funds to care for 3.8 million dependent children.

The increased Social Security benefits would be financed by increasing payroll taxes in 1968 from the present $290.40 paid by employe and employer to a maximum of $343.20. The taxes would be increased in future years.

Suspect Pulls Gun, Breaks Out of Jail

ARDMORE, Okla. (UPI)—A robbery suspect who had shot it out with a policeman before being jailed here last October, pulled a gun on the jailor Monday night and escaped, taking another prisoner with him.

Night jailer Shorty Claxton said he put down his keys while changing a light bulb in a hallway near Mrs. Welch's cell and she used a long object to reach them. Then, Claxton said, Johnson produced a pistol and ordered the jailer to free them.

The escapers tied the jailer to the cell bars before they fled. Sheriff Harold Rudd said the escapers apparently had outside help. He said he had no idea how the gun was smuggled into the jail.

The highway patrol said Johnson was considered extremely dangerous. He apparently was still armed with the pistol used in the escape.

Johnson had been booked into the Carter County Jail last October, after being involved in a shootout with an Ardmore policeman who had sought to arrest him on an armed robbery charge.

Mexicans Can't Explain Getaway

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Mexican and U.S. authorities were baffled today by the apparent "clean getaway" of an American shrimp boat captain wanted for the murders of three seamen last November off the Yucatan Peninsula.

The only survivor of the incident, Louis Duhon, of New Orleans, La., who since has been repatriated, told authorities that the captain, Frank Poprock, captain of the "Esto Fleet" suddenly went berserk, killing the three men.

Nearly Half Of Town Destroyed In Giant Blaze

DUNREITH, Ind. (UPI)—A giant fire triggered by the collision of two freight trains burned out of control today on a cargo of gasoline, crude oil and deadly chemicals, forcing the 236 residents of Dunreith to flee their homes into near zero temperatures.

The threat of additional explosions and the danger of deadly chemical fumes left firemen helpless in the face of the holocaust, which destroyed nearly half of the town. They could do nothing but withdraw and watch the town burn.

"We are just letting it burn now," said State Police Sgt. James Klemm.

Officials ordered firefighters and police out of the town when it became apparent there was danger that two 12,000-gallon ammonia tanks would rupture, releasing their contents into an atmosphere already heavy with highly flammable chemicals.

Railroad officials said of the chemicals being carried in seven other cars the most deadly was acetone cyanhydride, which would kill immediately upon inhalation. The others were methyl methacrylate, ethylene oxide, and vinyl chloride.

Miraculously there were few injuries and most of them were minor. An explosion when the trains collided Monday night was spectacular but caused no loss of life. The residents of Dunreith fled safely. The explosion and ball of flame that "lit up the whole town like daylight" was seen or felt as far away as Indianapolis, 40 miles to the west.

The fire burned half of the buildings in the town, including its only industry, a canning factory and fertilizer complex. Firemen said it would be only a matter of time before the rest of the town was gone.

General Warning Issued
Residents in the rural area north of Dunreith were warned to be ready for immediate evacuation if it became apparent they were in danger of being swept by lethal clouds of smoke.

The residents were told by state police to watch for smoke. They were told that "any time a mass of smoke gathers, get out—quick." Many residents immediately packed up and left the danger area to stay with relatives or friends further away.

A spokesman for the Pennsylvania Railroad said the two freights were passing each other at about 9 p.m., EST Monday when one of the trains bumped into the other.

Former Aide Says FBI Provided 'Unusual Services' To Senator

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A former aide to Sen. Thomas J. Dodd says the Federal Bureau of Investigation made its agents available as chauffeurs and private detectives to the senator.

"On at least one occasion, FBI agents in New York City were detailed as chauffeurs to drive Dodd around town on social calls," Boyd said.

"I know, too, that the FBI at times made its agents available to Dodd as private detectives to tail members of his staff who had incurred suspicion." He did not say which members of Dodd's staff were tailed.

The FBI had no comment on Boyd's article.

Boyd, a former administrative assistant to Dodd, worked with columnist Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson on the expose that led to Dodd's censure by the Senate June 23.

In an installment from his forthcoming book, "Above The Law," Boyd said Dodd's closeness with the FBI was one of the reasons he and other Dodd employes took their information to the columnists rather than to the FBI or its parent, the Justice Department.

The FBI will not order a field investigation of charges against a senator without written instructions from the attorney general himself," Boyd noted. "This protocol involved would only magnify the danger that Dodd, a former Justice Department prosecutor and a friend of the President, would be forewarned instead of investigated."

Both Dodd and the Senate Ethics Committee, which voted to censure Dodd for using at least $116,083 in political contributions for personal expenses, were critical of Boyd and three other employes for stealing some 4,000 documents from his files and turning them over to the columnists.

Dodd recently dropped the libel charges, saying he was too broke to press the lengthy legal suit. No action ever has been taken against Boyd and his friends.

McCarthy To Hurt LBJ Election, Senator Thinks

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—U. S. Sen. Russell Long, D-La., said Sunday President Johnson's chances for re-election would be hurt by opposition from U. S. Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Wis. "I don't think he'll do President Johnson any good at all," Long said in a television program taped for telecast in Louisiana. "It can't do anything but hurt."
Despite his feelings about McCarthy's candidacy, Long said Republicans would be in worse shape in the 1968 presidential elections than Democrats.
"After all, they have several fellows fighting for that nomination and it's impossible... for those fellows to avoid, in one respect or another, scarring the other fellow up some," he said.
"When you have a real vicious fight for the nomination, like the Republicans did the last time, that hurts you something awful," he said.

Seven Jailed On Marijuana Charge in Fla.

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI)—Seven men were in jail and some 600 pounds of marijuana worth at least a half-million dollars was in police custody today, climaxing a two-month investigation.
The investigation by Hialeah Detectives Charles W. Murphy and Tony Martin ended Sunday when they pulled the string on a police trap at a house they rented especially to use for making a "big buy" from a group of men alleged to have kept the marijuana concealed in the false floor of a custom built panel truck.
Murphy said shortly before dawn the panel truck and its four occupants backed into the driveway of the rented house. Three other men were parked in a car in the street.
Murphy and Martin then stepped out of the shadows, flashed their guns and arrested the men in the truck. The three in the car sped off but were caught two miles away by other policemen. Several shots were fired but none found their mark.
"We went for broke," Martin said. "We'd been working from a small buy to a large buy and making them think we could make the big buy."
Murphy said he and Martin offered the men $51,000 for the marijuana, which was valued at between $500,000 and $600,000 retail.
Arrested and charged with possessing marijuana were Nestor Gonzalez, 33, Miami; Ramon Beiancourt, 51, Miami; Damesco Ines Garcia, 35, New York City; Bernardo Senest Lopez, 32, Tampa; Hugo Dos Santos, 29, Paraguay; Luis Augustin Montalvo, 56, Miami, and Eteodoro Rodriguez Corrado, 45, New York City.

Visitors Will Pay At Shakespeare's Tomb

STAFFORD-UPON-AVON, England (UPI)—An ill-omen for 1968: Visitors now will have to pay a fee to pay their respects at William Shakespeare's tomb.
The vicar of Holy Trinity Church, where Shakespeare is buried, announced Sunday he will charge visitors to the chancel. He did not say what the entrance fee would be.
The vicar, Canon Thomas Bland, said the church urgently needs $240,000 for restoration.
"Many people come and look at the poet's grave but pay no attention to the rest of the church and leave without putting anything in the collection box," the vicar complained.

Miss. Congressman Will Be Governor

Williams told newsmen Sunday he would mail the letters to Gov. Paul Johnson and Rep. John W. McCormack, speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives.
Williams completes 21 years as a congressman Jan. 4 with the letters specifying that his resignation would take effect on Jan. 16 when he takes the oath of office as governor.

Amarillo Man's Wife Sues Wards for $50,000

The wife of an Amarillo man who lost a $200,000 civil suit in 31st Judicial District Court three weeks ago against Montgomery Ward Co. here, has filed a $50,000 suit in 47th Judicial District Court in Amarillo against Montgomery Ward and others.

Edith Miles, the plaintiff, charges in her suit that C. K. Webster, credit manager for Montgomery Ward Co. here, went to the office of County Attorney Don Cain and filed a capias "with the intent and purpose in mind of extorting and extracting from Edith Miles" the $30 owed to Montgomery Ward.

Mrs. Miles charged in the suit that C. K. Webster telephoned her after County Attorney Don Cain had issued a warrant for her arrest and told her that the charges would be dropped if she would wire $30 to cover a worthless check that had been issued in partial payment on a charge account.

David Miles, plaintiff in the $200,000 civil suit heard here three weeks ago, had charged in his suit that Montgomery Ward had maliciously charged his wife Edith of "swindling with a worthless check in partial payment on a charge account."

In the original suit, Miles alleged that as a result of the warrant issued for the arrest of his wife on the swindling with a worthless check charge, she was "confined in jail, booked as a criminal, fingerprinted, photographed and in all respects treated like a criminal."

In that suit, Harris Lofthus, counsel for Miles, sought to establish that Montgomery Ward Co. acted in violation of Texas criminal statutes which forbid instituting a criminal proceeding for the purpose of obtaining payment of a debt.

A 12-man jury decided on Dec. 15, after three days of trial in 31st Judicial District Court here, that Webster acted within the scope of his employment in instituting the proceeding and that Edith Miles was not innocent of the charge brought by C. K. Webster. The jury refused to award the Miles any money in damages.

Harris Lofthus of Amarillo will again act as counsel for the plaintiff.

Indications today were that parking meters will not be restored on Pampa streets.

The six-month trial period, requested by the Downtown Business Association and granted by the city commission, ended yesterday.

City Manager Jim White said today some special study was being given to an isolated case or two, but a report will be made to the commission at its meeting next Tuesday.

It is expected, the city manager stated, a final decision on the parking meters will be made at that meeting.

He said officials studying the parking situation believed it would be necessary to make some changes in the blanket two-hour parking limit.

White indicated he might ask that parking around City Hall may be limited to one-hour. He also indicated, City Hall employees may be requested to park on the city-leased Santa Fe parking lot, two blocks away.

"We expect to thresh the things out and make a final decision on them at next week's city commission meeting," White said.

The city manager added that his office had received no complaints on removal of the downtown parking meters.

Pan-Am To Move To Liberal, Kansas

Consolidation of the Pampa and Liberal areas of Pan American Petroleum Corp. were announced today by E. C. Woodall, area superintendent.

Woodall said the consolidation would mean the closing of the Pampa office about Feb. 1 and the transfer of the local administrative staff to Liberal. The move will affect 18 or 19 families.

The combined areas, Woodall stated, will be known as the Liberal area of Pan-Am.

Under the new setup, Woodall will be transferred and become area superintendent for the combined offices. R. J. Allison will go to Liberal as engineer for the combined area.

J. W. Vaughn, Liberal, will become area administrative supervisor.

Woodall said the Pampa office would remain open until about Feb. 1 when the move is made.

ABC Seeking Alternatives To ITT Merger

NEW YORK (UPI)—American Broadcasting Companies (ABC) today began seeking alternatives to the planned $2.8 billion merger from which International Telephone and Telegraph (ITT) withdrew after nearly two years of delays by government agencies and the courts.

The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) twice approved by a 4-3 vote what would have been the largest communications merger in history. But the Justice Department opposed the merger and went to court to block it. When the District of Columbia Court of Appeals did not rule by Friday on the Justice Department appeal, ITT exercised the right each party held to pull out by Dec. 31, 1967.

The ITT directors met Monday and announced withdrawal. The announcement said the action was taken reluctantly to safeguard the interests of its stockholders because of long delays in final approval of the proposed merger that was announced in December 1965, and "the indication of continued delays in the future."

WEARY EYE — A Coyote, of all things, keeps a weary eye on Pampa policeman Stan Belt, left, and Belt does the same thing as Belt and officer Fred Brown, right, captured the animal at 425 Yeager Monday. Mrs. Oliver Jonas called police and told them she had a wolf caught in her fence. The wolf turned out to be our young friend, the coyote. The coyote was claimed today by Virgel Malone, 410 N. Warren, who told police the coyote broke out of his pen.

Missionary Film To Show Tomorrow

"They Have Overcome," a new missionary film just released by the Assemblies of God Foreign Missions Department, will be shown at 7:30 p.m. tonight at Lamar Full Gospel Assembly, corner of Bond and S. Sumner Sts., the Rev. Wesley E. Pollet, pastor, has announced.

The 43-minute documentary film describes in graphic detail the violent Simba revolt in Congo, the tragic martyrdom of Missionary J. W. Tucker, the growth of the Congo church while in hiding in the jungle, and the return of four Assemblies of God missionaries just a few months ago.

The major role in the new film is played by the Congo church itself. Separated from the missionaries, driven into the savage horrors of the African jungle, exiled from homes and families, chased down and martyred, the Congo church still met every Sunday in the seclusion of the forest and held its regular services.

The film begins with the personal testimony of Mrs. Angeline Tucker, who is the widow of the martyred missionary. She tenderly recounts her last hours in Congo and vividly portrays the time when she received the word of her husband's death.

When the four missionaries returned to Congo, the Assemblies of God Foreign Missions Department sent a photographer in with them to document their arrival and capture on the film the spontaneous joy of the African church.

The title of the film comes from Revelation 12:11 (Amplified Version) — "And they have overcome (conquered) him by means of the blood of the Lamb and by the utterance of their testimony."

Pastor W. E. Pollet cordially invites the public to attend this free premier showing of the Congo film.

According to a Pampa police report Gibson was traveling north on Cuyler St. when he lost control of his car, hit a light pole, traveled 1100 feet on the curb, went across Thut St., jumped the curb and slammed into a water meter.

Damage to Gibson's car was estimated at $450 and to the light pole and gas meter, $150. Gibson was cited for exceeding a safe and prudent speed by investigating officer Joe Brewer.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Random thoughts after a New Year weekend of football watching on television.

—All that fancy talk about how scientific professional football has become was turned into a farce when the Green Bay-Dallas championship game was played on a below-zero, icy Wisconsin field on which the performances looked like slapstick comedy.

For such a popular, multi-million-dollar sport to put such effort into self-development, refinement of strategy and a round-the-year promotion—and then to allow the championship game to be played under disgraceful conditions for a showdown—is embarrassing for fans, athletes and owners. It looked like an ice ballet for elephants.

The argument that hometown fans should have the right to see their players in person in a championship contest is a weak one. Since when has pro football, which has been so completely dominated by television and its audience, suddenly become so concerned about anything but its own betterment? The fact is that National Football League games are blacked out in home towns anyway, and more residents of an area have a chance to see them—via television—if they are played away, ideally in a neutral city which generally has favorable weather.

—The constant pounding of commercials during pro and college games is enough to sour one on the whole atmosphere of the contests themselves. I turned off several of the bowl games Monday for a while because the tastelessness of some of the commercials was just too much.

Nothing, perhaps, is as offensive as the deodorant ad ready to operate immediately. Doctors said the operation might not come for 72 hours.

about fellows who take the stuff with them and are moronically epimanded about leaving their families "defenseless." Almost as sickening are the car commercials for the auto that has had simpering, giggly girls talking about the "rebellion" their product offers.

—And isn't it a bit out of line for field announcers with oleaginous voices to make pre-game loudspeaker statements about war and peace, with less than subtle references to national policy? Somehow it all seems awfully tasteless in an atmosphere of miniskirts, cheerleaders, baton twirling, card stunts and deodorant commercials.

US Doctors Arrive For Vietnam Duty

SAIGON (UPI) — Thirteen more American doctors arrived today to begin 60 days of volunteer work in provincial hospitals.

One of them, Dr. Robert W. Neilsoa Jr. of Bluefield, W. Va. was on his second trip as part of the American Medical Association's volunteer physicians for Vietnam program.

The arrivals brought to 406 the number of doctors who have served in Vietnam under the program since 1965. Their transportation is paid for by the U.S. Agency for International Development, but they receive no pay.

HONG KONG (UPI) — Robbers shot to death a night watchman and stole $13,120 from the Mercantile Bank Monday. A cleaning worker found the body of the watchman when he arrived at work.

Surgeon Flies Back For Second Transplant

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI)—Heart surgeon Christian Barnard flew from America to the bedside of the ailing dentist picked as the second human to undergo a cardiac transplant.

"I am ready to transplant a second human heart today or as soon as a suitable heart can be obtained," Barnard said when he was greeted here by Mayor Gerald Ferry and the cheers of hundreds of city residents who made a New Year's Day trip to the airport to hail his return.

The young surgeon landed at Johannesburg after a jet flight from New York via London. He hurried aboard a big jet waiting to whisk him here where his medical team already hovered around the patient.

The 30-member team stood

HOW'S BUSINESS? 1967 Activity Closed Out With Pronounced Strength

By THE BABSON STAFF
Business activity kicked off another good gain in December, thus closing out the calendar year 1967 on a note of pronounced strength. A measure of reassurance was thus regained, as the year had started off poorly and the second-half business revival was interrupted by the long labor tie-up of the Ford Motor Company plants.

The Babson Composite Business Index climbed to a reading of 154.9 for December, up nearly 2 per cent over November and nearly equaling the year-ago reading. The advance of this barometer means that business during December exceeded the seasonal norm and also the secular growth rate of our economy. While there was little difference compared with a year ago, upward impetus to economic activity had been very slight as 1966 drew to a close whereas 1967 wound up on an expansionary move.

The primary sources of strength during December were the key steel and automobile industries. Feverish post-strike catch-up production at Ford plants did a lot to lift industrial activity well above seasonal expectations, and this was augmented by the further revival of activity in steel.

Elsewhere in the industrial sector, the tone was more one of firmness. Defense-related lines maintained their strength of recent months, as did the commercial equipment sector. Retail trade showed the anticipated year-end strength, assisted by generally favorable weather for the Christmas shopping season.

Mao Appears At New Year's Rally

TOKYO (UPI)—Red Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung made one of his increasingly rare appearances New Year's Eve at a reception in Peking for 20,000 persons, the New China News Agency said today.

Mao, chairman of the Chinese Communist Party, was flanked by his heir apparent, Lin Biao, and Premier Chou En-lai, the agency said.

There was no mention of any of Mao's young Red Guards being present—a further indication that Peking was putting the damper on the young shock troops of the Cultural Revolution.

Instead Chinese army cadres and representatives seemed to make up the bulk of the audience.

At the rally, Mao's Cultural Revolution was hailed as having won "decisive victories."

Over Million Viewers Watch Rose Parade

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—A bright sun warmed more than a million spectators today as the 79th annual Tournament of Roses parade moved gracefully down a wide boulevard that each year becomes a focal point of the nation.

The city of Lakewood, Calif., with an eye-catching floral display of "Adventures in Roses" won the plaudits of judges who awarded it the top or sweepstakes prize.

Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois took his position as grand marshal as the 5 1/2-mile long pageant swung off Orange Grove Avenue onto Colorado Boulevard. The temperature that had dipped below the 40-degree mark during the night climbed toward a predicted high of 66 and the morning sun added to the splendor of the blossoms on the floats.

Other trophies were won by Farmers Insurance Group, Los Angeles, See's Candies, Montana, Thailand, Denmark and Whittier, Calif., with a combined entry, Georgia, the city and county of San Francisco and Burbank, Calif.

Typical of the early arriving spectators was Barbara King, who came to Southern California seven years ago from Boston and each year positions herself with a sign reading "Hello Boston" within view of television cameras. "Some of my friends with color sets can even tell what color shoes I have on," she said.

The Russell Hamlin family moved here recently and displayed a poster reading "Hello North Reading, Mass." in hopes of catching the eyes of their hometown neighbors.

A vanguard of the millions of in-person watchers had gathered during the night to either catch a few winks in folding chairs or cots or in sleeping bags spread on nearby lawns. Traffic converged before dawn in a steady stream of glowing lights.

Viet Cong Terror Attacks On Civilians Increasing

SAIGON (UPI)—Viet Cong terrorists have a new policy of attacking and terrorizing civilian refugee villages, Ambassador Robert Komer, chief U.S. pacification adviser in Vietnam, said today.

Komer attributed the increased attacks to reversal in Viet Cong policy, which used to be geared to creating so many refugees the Vietnamese government could not cope with them. In a communique released today, Komer quoted examples of burnings, abductions and killings in refugee hamlets during November and December.

"There is evidence in 1965 and 1966 that the Viet Cong followed a policy of trying to generate refugees in order to overtax the government of Vietnam and the United States authorities in providing for them," Komer said.

"Now, realizing that this approach has failed, the Viet Cong seem to have reversed their policy on refugees and have added them to their list of terrorist targets," apparently deciding that the flight of refugees is depriving them of much needed sources of manpower, rice, taxes and cover," he said.

"They first launched a campaign to induce them to return to their villages and hamlets. Then came threats, now violence, with kidnappings and the destruction of property being directed against the refugees."

The communique listed 10 incidents throughout the country in a two month span during which 200 civilians were killed, more than 500 abducted and villages burned and pillaged.

Johnson Starts New Year With News Conference

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—President Johnson started off the New Year today with a news conference at the LBJ ranch.

The President called reporters covering the Texas White House to his ranch at noon EST. Johnson and his wife, Lady Bird, rang out the old year at midnight in the company of close friends at their cozy ranchhouse. Their celebration was on the quiet side with their family away from the hearth.

Their two married daughters, Luci Nugent and Lynda Bird Robb, were off on a skiing holiday with their husbands at a Red River, N.M., winter resort. The young couples said "happy new year" by telephone.

Even at a time of celebration, the cares of the world are always with a President.

Johnson heard a "prayer for peace" at St. Francis Xavier Roman Catholic Church near the ranch Sunday. Johnson brought the parish priest special greetings from his holiness, Pope Paul VI, whom Johnson saw in Rome on his global tour

Rhodesian Premier Says Britain Will Never Negotiate

SALISBURY (UPI)—Premier Ian Smith of Rhodesia said today he was convinced Britain had no intention of reaching a negotiated settlement with the rebel colony.

In a New Year's Day broadcast to Rhodesians, Smith appealed to them to "continue the good fight" because "we know we are striving to maintain those things which to us are most important in life."

"On a number of occasions now we have come very near to an agreement only to see the British back away from us," he said. "This does tend to confirm the suspicion which many of us have held for a long time that the British have no intention of reaching a settlement with us, as their main preoccupation is to connive with and appease the extremists of the Afro-Asian group."

"In fact, I come to the conclusion that it would be an embarrassment for them to reach an agreement with a civilized anti-Communist white government anywhere on the African continent—other than an agreement which meant the government would no longer be white."

Cambodian Premier Resigns, Radio Says

BANGKOK (UPI)—Premier Son Sann of Cambodia and his cabinet resigned today, Cambodia Radio said.

The broadcast gave no reason for the resignations.

Observers here said it was uncertain if they were linked to a reported move toward friendlier relations with the United States made by Prince Sihanouk, Cambodia's chief of state.

There had been signs a cabinet reshuffle was taking place in Phnom Penh, diplomats said. They said it appeared to indicate no major shift of policy.

COTTON DESTROYED
TAIPEI (UPI)—Fire broke out in the M.V. Ru Yung, a Nationalist Chinese freighter Sunday, destroying $250,000 worth of cotton. The ship took so much water from firefighters that it listed 15 degrees. No injuries were reported. The vessel arrived Dec. 23 from the United States.

World War II Marine Retiring At Last

CHERRY POINT, N.C. (UPI)—He wore a master sergeant's stripes and was junior in rank to even the greenest commissioned pilot the Marine Corps had—but he was cloud hopping before many of them were born.

Master Sgt. Donald M. Taft, one of the corps' seven enlisted pilots, retired Sunday after 23 years' service. He had logged more than 18,000 hours in the air in both civilian and military aircraft.

His retirement leaves only six Marine enlisted pilots from a World War II high of more than 600. The corps long ago began awarding wings only to officers.

The 34-year-old veteran is a former barnstormer from Houston, Tex. He has been flying and training pilots to fly transports since he signed up with the Marines.

Taft got his start in barnstorming as a ticket vendor and general handyman for the old Royal American air show.

One day in November, 1932, he slipped into the cockpit of an airplane, worked the stick back and forth and pushed the rudder pedals—and flying got into his blood.

World Greet New Year With Old Years' Woes

By United Press International

The world greeted 1968 with something of a hangover from woes of 1967 and other years.

In Vatican City, Pope Paul VI was leading the Roman Catholic Church in special New Year's Day prayers for peace on earth, especially in Vietnam.

In Moscow, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin of the Soviet Union told a Japanese newsman the United States had better "stop its aggression" in Vietnam.

In Saigon, as 1968 dawned during a war truce repeatedly broken by the Communists, a spokesman for the U.S. Army 25th Infantry Division told UPI, "It's business as usual." He said he was waiting for a fresh casualty report.

Predicts Communist Victories

In Tokyo, a broadcast from Hanoi quoted President Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam as predicting in a New Year's message that "many more and still greater victories" lie in store for Communist forces in Vietnam in 1968.

In Peking, according to reports reaching Hong Kong, the Communist Chinese regime of Mao Tse-tung was vowing something of another party purge.

In London, Prime Minister Harold Wilson issued a New Year's address that sounded to many Britons like a threat of more belt-tightening. "The measures we have to take . . . will entail hardship and sacrifice as well as a readiness to accept changes which must often be painful," he said.

But some light penetrated the gloom.

In Tokyo, police reported the number of New Year's visitors to the Meiji Shrine racing past the 2 million mark. Some girls came on the pilgrimage in traditional Madame Butterfly hair-dos and kimonos. Some came in mini-skirts and boots.

In London, the annual honors list of Queen Elizabeth II contained the name Miss E. E. Avep, awarded a British Empire medal for aiding the realm by "contributing to the spray warning service in Essex to help bee keepers."

Out With Old

In Rome, the eternal city's garbage collectors clutched their brooms and ducked into doorways while—doing as they have done for centuries—Romans rang in the New Year by hurling trash, flaming furniture, plumbing fixtures, bottles totally empty and an occasional husband quits full into the streets.

New Tax Goes Into Effect In 14 Cities

By United Press International

Most business places were closed yesterday or more than a million Texans who approved the 1 per cent city sales tax would have contributed the first pennies to their cities' coffers.

The tax goes into effect in 14 Texas cities and towns that approved it between Sept. 28 and Oct. 1.

Extra tax—on top of the 2 per cent the state already charges—will be collected in Aransas Pass, Austin, Brackettville, Corpus Christi, Elgin, El Paso, Henrietta, Ingleside, Nacogdoches, Orange Grove, Port Aransas, Taylor, Texarkana and Wichita Falls.

The 141 towns that approved the tax between Oct. 1 and Dec. 31 will not begin collection until April 1.

The tax plan was approved in almost every major metropolitan area in the state during the latter part of 1967.

And the only large population center to reject the tax was Midland which turned it down Dec. 28.

The tax failed only 19 of 176 elections during the year.

Saginaw, a Fort Worth suburb, Gonzales and Mount Vernon will vote on Jan. 9 and Beaumont residents will decide the issue Jan. 13.

Meany Calls For Labor Support Of Liberal Candidates

WASHINGTON (UPI)—AFL-CIO President George Meany, in a new year's statement, called on organized labor to support liberal candidates in the 1968 elections.

Meany said Sunday the "liberal triumph" of 1964 was diluted in the 1966 congressional elections and warned "there is a danger that it could be further diluted in 1968."

Meany, who has made it clear he will back President Johnson for another four years in the White House, said the new year "will culminate in a national election that will unquestionably be a choice between liberalism and reaction—not only at the presidential level, but in every congressional district."

The labor leader also declared that "the fight for freedom in Vietnam must continue until the aggressors are willing to negotiate peace. But that fight must not be distorted into an excuse for surrender of progress at home."

IEWS DIFFER

BONN (UPI)—East Germany and the Soviet Union differ in their foreign political views, Willy Brandt, West German foreign minister, said Monday.

Brandt said Moscow was not interested in a crisis in Berlin because it could bring the West closer together.

No Kooky Togs for Colleen FitzSimon

NEW YORK (NEA)—Bronwyn FitzSimon, perky daughter of Maureen O'Hara, Ireland's contribution to the American cinema, is much in the news as one of the BYP (Beautiful Young People). And her view on fashion is interesting because it's different from others in that group.

"Kooky, far-out fads are not for me," she said. And coming from a 22-year-old Hollywood girl, that was a surprise.

Apparently, Bronwyn has a good deal of fashion savvy tucked away in her pretty head. Definitely no throw-back to the bosom-less flapper era, she knows enough to stay away from the little girl styles that look so silly on anyone who is round where she oughta be round.

She was here in New York last week for some theater and some shopping and I caught up with her at the Pattiullo-Jo Copeland showroom where she selected four stunning fall outfits.

"When I am in New York," Bronwyn said, "my trip would not be complete without a visit to Jo. She designs with that 'pretty look' in mind. And her clothes are always chic."

In her native California, Miss FitzSimon likes the designs of Mike Anthony of Los Angeles who also knows how to make a woman look beautiful rather than bizarre.

Many a middle-aged matron could learn a simple but important truth from this young lady. To be chic is to wear what looks best on YOU. If your neighbor looks great in her 10-year-old party dress, don't start shopping for your clothes in the children's departments unless you, too, are straight up and down and skinny. There are fashions that are as au courant as the little girl nonsense and far more befitting a beautiful woman. Bronwyn FitzSimon recognizes that.

The image of her mother, even to the few freckles dotting her nose, she has been successful in many fields.

An actress in her own right, she has just completed an engagement in "Molly Bawn," an Irish play, match, on the West Coast. She has had more than her share of featured billing in television and has appeared on numerous network programs such as Kraft Theater, Alfred Hitchcock Presents, Jimmy Dean and the Alcoa Theater. On the movie screen she teamed with her mother and Henry Fonda in "Spencer's Mountain," and with John Saxton in "The Ravagers."

Aside from her acting chores, Bronwyn FitzSimon leads a busy go-go life. She has a full-time position as an account supervisor with a California finance company which affords her an opportunity to travel and she loves it.

Two nights a week she teaches Spanish at a local school, devotes another night each week to giving guitar lessons and teaches cooking to eight housewives in her Los Angeles neighborhood.

On weekends she often junkets to her mother's home in Acapulco.

"My home life is most important to me," Bronwyn said. "Mom and I are very close."

Being Irish, we're very family conscious. "I'd like to find the right man, get married and raise 22 children."

Well, if we've made it to the moon by the time her hoped-for kids are teen-agers and they should just happen to be all girls, the United States may have a distinction it hadn't planned on in the space era.

With a mother like that, 22 of the best-dressed moon maillens will be one of our contributions to the space age.

VIVACIOUS DAUGHTER of actress Maureen O'Hara, Bronwyn FitzSimon, is one of the beautiful young people who prefers lovely fashions to kooky fads. From the Pattiullo-Jo Copeland fall collection she chooses these designs by Jo Copeland. Black, cognac and mango-colored ensemble (left) with flared back great coat and cuffed neck is worn over a matching skirt and petit point jersey overblouse. Walking costume (center) is in French iris, combined with a flame saffron scarf and lining. Sculptured brocade camellia cocktail dress (right) has bird-belted front and jeweled buttons.

Women's News

Wanda Mae Huff, Women's Editor

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A woman signed "TEDDY'S MOTHER" expressed some doubts and fears because her son wanted to take ballet lessons.

Why? I have four sons. The youngest takes ballet, but his three older brothers favor sports. (I make sure the sports-minded boys don't ridicule their brother because of his interest in dancing.)

As for ballet being for sissies, I'd like to see a sissy lift a 100-pound ballerina with one hand and hold her over his head. And all those strenuous leaps, turns and jumps take muscle-control, coordination and strength the finest athlete would envy.

Ballet does more for a boy's body than football. Seeing my son dance is a much prettier sight than seeing him carried off a football field on a stretcher, bleeding, with a smashed jaw and a broken leg. Thank you.

MOTHER OF FOUR DEAR ABBY: I was outraged when I read the letter in your column from the mother who was afraid that her son would not be "all man" just because he expressed a desire to take ballet dancing. That mother seemed ashamed because her son didn't choose to follow in the footsteps of his father who was a "five handicap" in golf.

That mother should realize how much masculinity and discipline goes into becoming a professional ballet dancer. He must be as fit as an Olympic champion and possess the grace and rhythm of an artist. I think that any boy who is fortunate enough to show signs of talent in the dance should be encouraged in it — and not made to feel guilty or lacking in manhood.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. DEAR ABBY: This is for TEDDY'S MOTHER: Let your son take ballet. The heck with the he-man junk. There is nothing wrong with a boy taking ballet lessons. In fact, originally ballet was danced only by men.

BALLET FAN DEAR ABBY: A friendly tip to "TEDDY'S MOTHER." If you are concerned about your son's masculinity, it might help if you quit calling him "TEDDY" and start calling him "TED."

FRED'S (NOT "FREDDY'S") MOTHER DEAR ABBY: So TEDDY'S father will "die" if his son studies ballet? Well, I'd rather have a clean-cut, hard-working ballet dancer for a son than a bearded, pot-smoking, unwashed protesting high school dropout.

SEEN SOME DEAR ABBY: Please tell Teddy's mother, who feared she'd never have any grand-children because her only son wanted to take ballet, that she needn't worry.

I've worked with many male ballet dancers who could produce more grandchildren than that woman could handle.

MELEA DEAR ABBY: Would you believe that before my son became a Golden Gloves boxing champion he was advised to take ballet lessons to improve his footwork? He took them, too. And when he was kidded about it, he laughed harder than anybody because he knew that he was as much a man as the manliest.

87-Year-Old Has Birthday Party

Mrs. Willie Mae Manrey, Sanford, sponsored a birthday party and reunion at her home for her father, H. M. Norris, 87, of 814 S. Reed, recently. During the reunion, Mr. Norris' granddaughter, Mrs. Marie Bell, Deer Trail, Colo., celebrated her birthday, and his grandson, Ernest Manrey, Perryton, celebrated his recent wedding.

Sooners Thrill Orange Bowl Fans With Squeeaker

By United Press International
College football's longest television day drew a multi-million national audience and featured a generous helping of USC's "Orange Juice" Simpson romping past Indiana in the Rose Bowl, LSU finally asserting the Wyoming Cowboy, Texas A&M upsetting Alabama and Oklahoma nipping Tennessee.

A New Year's Day crowd of 102,948 turned out at Pasadena, Calif., to watch Simpson score twice from within 10-yard line as Southern California defeated Indiana 14-3 in the Rose Bowl. There was a live audience of 78,363 at the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans watching LSU surprise unbeaten Wyoming 20-13.

At Dallas, an estimated 75,000 saw an aroused Aggie defense catch Alabama out of its usual Southeastern Conference surroundings and beat the Crimson Tide 20-16, and 77,993 fans were thrilled by a 1st period Oklahoma pass interception that carried the Sooners past second-ranked Tennessee 26-24 in a night game at the Orange Bowl in Miami.

The football bowl weekend was kicked off on Saturday when the East topped the West 16-14 despite All-American Gary Beban's two touchdowns for the losers in the Shrine Game at San Francisco; Florida tied Penn State 17-17 in the Gator Bowl by rallying for all its points in the second half; Dick Anderson of Colorado scored on punt returns of 69 and 62 yards in the Blue's 22-16 victory over the Gray, and University Texas-El Paso upset Mississippi State 14-7 in the Sun Bowl on touchdowns by Elly Stevens and Larry McHenry.

Simpson was the workhorse of the Trojan attack, carrying the ball 25 times for 128 yards against Indiana, making his first Rose Bowl appearance. O. J. rammed over from the two-yard line in the first period and bulled across from eight yards out in the third quarter. The Hoosiers, predominantly a sophomore team, got on the scoreboard when Dave Kornow kicked a 27-yard field goal. the Tiger bench to load a second half winning drive. down plunge and figured in Stadium when Glenn Smith, a on 16 carries. He caught a 39- yard string tailback, came off yard pass from Nelson Stokley Morel with scoring strikes of to set up his one-yard touch-eight and 14 yards in the fourth quarter to finally penetrate a end sweep. Kicking specialist Jerry DePoyster booted field goals of 24 and 49 yards.

LSU's other two touchdowns only 38 yards in the first half. Jim Kluck scored the Cow-

Sophs Super In South

By United Press International
The South is loaded with super-sophomores this season, including LSU's Pete Maravich, the nation's No. 1 scorer. But another name worth remembering is 6-foot-11 Bob Lienhard of Georgia.

He may make a winner out of the Bulldogs yet. Led by Lienhard's 15 points and strong rebounding and guard Jerry Epling's 25 points the Bulldogs raced to a 70-64 victory over host Mississippi in their SEC opener Monday night. Georgia, beaten only by Georgia Tech in its second game, now has rung up six victories.

Lienhard from New York City, played several times against UCLA's Lew Alcindor during their school days. "It was a great experience even though I didn't do too well," admits Bob. Neither has anyone else as evidenced by UCLA's 42-game winning streak.

Pampa, Rebels Play Tonight

Pampa, cooled off somewhat by Hobbs Eagles, returns to District 3-4A action tonight against red-hot Tascosa in the Rebels gym, beginning at 8 p.m.

The Harvesters are district leaders, but by a scant one game over Tascosa and Plainview, both of whom stand 3-1. Pampa is 4-0.

The Harvesters had a 13-game winning streak broken Saturday night at Hobbs and must be at their best tonight when they and the Rebs, winners of the Amarillo City Tournament this past week, tangle.

Two New Ones Enter Top Ten

NEW YORK (UPI)—Victories by Columbia and Oklahoma City in holiday tournament play have vaulted these previously unranked major college basketball teams into the nation's top 10 in the United Press International Board of Coaches ratings.

UCLA, meanwhile, which is unbeaten in 42 straight games—eight this season—continues in the No. 1 spot, the place it was voted in the pre-season ratings and has maintained for five weeks.

Sanford Leads Scoring
Another New Yorker, 6-foot-9 Ron Sanford, scored 27 points in leading unbeaten New Mexico to its 11th victory, 67-76 over Denver at Albuquerque. In other games Monday night, Mississippi State edged visiting Florida 66-55; and St. Joseph's topped Brigham Young 66-74 and Penn routed Boston University 75-55 in a Palestra Doubleheader.

New Mexico, winner of the Lobo Invitational last week, overcame a 40-36 halftime deficit with a 56 per cent shooting mark in the second half.

Houston (19-0), Vanderbilt (9-1) and North Carolina (7-1) remained in the second, third and fourth spots, respectively, while the rest of the top 10 underwent a shakeup.

Kentucky Advances
Kentucky (7-1), jumped from seventh to fifth; Tennessee (8-1) and Utah (10-1) tied for sixth; Oklahoma City (8-0), winner of the All-College Tournament, leaped to eighth; Columbia (7-3), on the strength of its three upset triumphs en route to the Holiday Festival title, took over the No. 9 spot and Davidson (6-2) advanced to 10th.

Don King's free throw with 33 seconds remaining—his only point of the night—gave Mississippi State its SEC triumph over Florida. Manuel Washington's 22 points led State.

St. Joseph's winner of last week's Gator Bowl tourney, boosted its record to 7-3 behind sophomores Dan Kelly and Mike Hauer who combined for 54 points. Kelly had 29 and Hauer 25.

Top-ranked UCLA, which swept its sixth straight Los Angeles Classic Saturday night by beating Wyoming 104-71, seeks to extend its winning streak against Washington State Friday night and Washington Saturday night.

Not so fortunate in tourney action were Indiana (No. 5 last week), previously eighth-ranked Boston College, St. John's (No. 9 last week) and previously 10th-ranked Kansas. They all dropped out of the top 10.

St. John's which lost to Columbia in the Holiday Festival final, needs the second 10, followed by Duke, Wyoming, Indiana, Louisville, New Mexico, St. Bonaventure, Tulsa, Temple and Western Kentucky.

While UCLA keeps winning, John Wooden's Bruins failed to receive the unanimous balloting for the No. 1 spot for the first time in a month. Being named third on one ballot by the 36-member board of coaches gave UCLA a total of 346 votes. The other first place vote went to Oklahoma City.

George Bailey, Bo Lang, Beau Bond and Jim Cornutt are all scoring in double figures for the Harvesters with Bailey's 25.6 average leading the way.

Bailey is District 3-4A's top scorer while Bond is second, both have 21.3 averages. Cornutt and Bond are both just over the 10 point mark in conference.

Lose Points
Houston also dropped nine points from a week ago to 308 points.

UCLA easily defended its LA Classic title last week. Houston captured the Rainbow Classic, Vanderbilt won the Sugar Bowl tourney and North Carolina took the Far West Classic.

Kentucky played only one game last week and jumped two notches by defeating Notre Dame.

Tennessee and Utah both suffered their first losses of the season last week, the Volunteers losing in the LA Classic and Utah in the Far West Classic. Utah was rated 17th a week ago.

The Threat by Castro

A day of reckoning with Fidel Castro and Communist Cuba is inevitable and could come soon for many people think. In probability, Castro and his henchmen in the Kremlin will pick time and place for the show-down and, you can be sure, that it will be under conditions most favorable to the Communists. Background on the Cuban problem is extremely involved and anything but clear to the American people, simply because Washington prefers to keep them in the dark. The Kennedy administration dropped the curtain on information from Cuba during the missile crisis in 1962 and since then little has been made public about relations between the two countries.

The missile crisis is a shameful page in American history. The World Almanac gives this innocuous account of it: "A Soviet offensive buildup in Cuba was revealed to the American people Oct. 23 by President Kennedy, who ordered a naval and air quarantine on shipment of offensive equipment to the island. President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev reached agreement Oct. 28 on a formula to end the crisis, and the President said Nov. 2 that Soviet missile bases in Cuba were being dismantled."

But there's more, much more, to the story, most of which was obtained by enterprising reporters from sources in Cuba and elsewhere. First and foremost is the generally accepted report, not denied by Washington, that in return for Khrushchev's promise to dismantle the missile bases, the United States agreed not to invade Cuba or to permit Cuban nationals in America to fight their way back to their homeland. That gave the Communists a sanctuary within spitting distance of the coast of Florida.

A few missile bases may have been dismantled, but not many, and current reports say more missiles from Russia are arriving weekly in Cuba. Fighter bombers and other offensive armaments from Communist nations are being assembled in a cave network which honeycombs the island. Cuba is arming to the hilt.

Eyewitnesses report that "technicians" have been pouring into Cuba from the Soviet Union and have been seen marching in military order in several cities. These technicians

Anti-Travel Law for Racists

We see where the controllers in Washington want to make unauthorized travel a criminal offense, now that Stokely Carmichael has traveled to a number of communist-dominated countries without the consent of the "masters" in the State Department.

We do not approve of the inflammatory statements Carmichael has been making around the world. There are a number of men who are knowledgeable of the law who contend that Carmichael has broken several laws and that he should be prosecuted. If he has, and there is such a thing as equal treatment under the law, then we suggest Atty. Gen. Clark do his duty.

But we think there is no need to pass a law making it a penal offense for traveling to a country that does not meet the approval of the "powers that be." It smacks of a Washington version of a Berlin Wall.

It may seem the thing to do in order to stop individuals like Carmichael from traveling around the world, spouting his racist ideas and hobnobbing with the people the officials disapprove. But such a law can work both ways. Presumably those who oppose his traveling to Hanoi, Cuba and the like would approve allowing someone to go to Rhodesia or South Africa. However, if the officials in the State Department can prohibit travel to Cuba or North Vietnam, it also can prohibit travel to Rhodesia or South Africa.

We think the State Department should keep out of the matter. If an individual wants to go to some foreign nation, friendly or otherwise, he should not be prevented from going. But he should go at his own risk. If he gets into trouble, he should not be bailed out by someone in government.

Carmichael and Rap Brown and the like are racists who are doing their utmost to break down any remaining semblance of good relations between the black and white people. They were up to no good. If they have violated any state or federal laws, as many believe, they should be prosecuted just like any others. But we don't think there should be any special laws to make it easier for the prosecutors to get a particular individual.

For special laws have a way of backfiring. They may be used against the very people who advocate them.

PINE TREE FEATURES

by Robert Lefevre

THE PRESIDENT SPEAKS:

On the occasion of the AFL-CIO convention in Florida, the President of the United States addressed the delegation and the tube-viewing segment of the American people. He made the usual statements of a man about to run for office, but he had a particularly adroit insertion which has caused me to re-view several of my earlier conclusions.

He said that he welcomed suggestions. He said that whenever he got one, he turned it over to the "Best Americans" he knew to get their view of it. And if they all liked it, he'd act on it. He didn't name these "best" Americans. But for the first time a leading political office-holder has gone before the American people to say, in effect, that he doesn't have all the answers. Now, that is an encouraging sign in itself. The American people are well aware that Mr. Johnson doesn't have all the answers. But this is the first time he has admitted it publicly.

Most politicians bluff it through when they don't know what to do next. Of course, Mr. Johnson is undoubtedly bluffing, too, but he's doing it by taking this seemingly humble attitude.

So I'm going to take the president at his word. Actually, he was looking for some suggestions about finding peace in Vietnam. At least he said he was. He indicated that he didn't want the war; but he felt he was obligated, not only on the basis of his own commitments, but on the basis of commitments made by several presidents ahead of himself.

The first problem Mr. Johnson is going to have with my suggestion is that he'll have to look at it in a completely different way. That is, he can't look at it in a political framework; rather, he's going to have to look at it outside of the political context.

You see, the president has honestly been trying to get the North Vietnamese to sit down to discuss the possibilities of peace. But he hasn't gotten anywhere with that approach, and he isn't likely to. It is politically advantageous for the Viet Cong to keep fighting. And in view of the terrible shape of our economy and the mess our money is in, it's expedient for America to keep fighting too, although this may be politically disadvantageous for Mr. Johnson personally.

But you can see the framework in which the thinking has taken place. Mr. Johnson has the view that the only way to have peace is to have some political pronouncement that there is to be peace. In other words, certain politicians made the war and certain politicians, if they have a mind to, can unmake it. All they have to do is make a statement. That does it.

Suppose we drop that procedure. It's been tried and we don't get anywhere with it. Instead, suppose we abandon the governmental-political approach and put it this way: Let's put the whole thing on an individualistic, voluntary basis. Those in this country who want to fight, hold up your hands. Fine. These are going to be the best scrappers anyway. I presume Mr. Johnson will be among the first to hold up his hand.

Now let's ask those who don't want to fight in Vietnam to come back (if they're already there) or to stay home (if they are still here). The scrappers can go and the ones who don't want to go can stay home. What's wrong with this? Actually it is in full harmony with the Declaration of Independence, which is the basic American document. According to the Declaration, each human being has the right to decide how he will dispose of his own life, his own liberty, and how he will conduct himself in pursuit of his own happiness.

So instead of trying to look for some kind of a collective solution in which Mr. Johnson, and a few of the men who preceded him, is presumed to have committed millions of persons to actions they disapprove, how about letting the individuals who wish to commit themselves, do so?

This means that the hawks can go to war and the doves can stay home. You don't have to have a political, collectivist solution here. Just let each person make up his own mind.

Uncle Sam has just published a new booklet entitled: "Your Money and Your Life" and you might profit from reading it. It estimated the public spends $1 billion a year on unnecessary and falsely represented products and treatments. In addition to exposing many worthless devices for diagnosing and treating various diseases it also debunks "cures", no-diet reducing products, wrinkle removers, sea water minerals and many other so-called nostrums. In addition, it summarizes, air purifiers, alcoholism treatments, tired blood tonics, cold and cough remedies and even hair restorers. Yellow is the most popular color in food packaging, according to a survey. That reminds us that the late George Washington Hill of the American Tobacco Co. once asked Edward L. Bernays, the public relations genius, to determine why women refused to smoke a particular brand of cigarettes. Bernays discovered they resented the green package and urged Hill to change the color. Hill refused and Bernays was forced to change women's fashion colors to include green. Bernays' magic made green a popular color and women soon discovered they liked to smoke Hill's cigarettes.

Nixon's New Hampshire Aides Give Him Big Edge In Primary; Report Backing of three-fourths of GOP Legislators

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Former Vice President Richard Nixon is starting off the new year with highly encouraging news from New Hampshire.

With that state's March 12 presidential preference primary less than 10 weeks away, Nixon's New Hampshire campaign manager, State Representative David A. Sterling, is reporting two politically significant developments.

1. Three-fourths of the GOP members of the state legislature are actively supporting Nixon's 1968 presidential bid.

2. Private polls show Nixon running "more than three-to-one ahead of Governor George Romney throughout the state."

Nixon's wide-spread support among the state's lawmakers, considered his most important political advantage in New Hampshire, now includes 9 of the 13 Republican senators and 200 of the 255 GOP representatives, according to Sterling's report.

Significantly, Sterling also forecasts that the number of Nixon's backers among the state's legislators will eventually top 80 per cent and will give the former vice president "one of the most effective presidential primary organizations in the state's history."

Under the strategy Sterling worked out with Nixon, the lawmakers will blanket the state, conducting intensive campaigns in their districts. "Several of the legislators already have canvassed the largest towns in their districts," reported Sterling, "and have found Nixon leading anywhere from three-to-one to five-to-one among the rank and file of the party."

STRANGE SUPPORTER — Nixon's campaign is also receiving a big indirect boost from an "old supporter" and the least known of the Republican presidential candidates in the New Hampshire primary. Attorney William W. Evans Jr., of New Jersey, who campaigned for Nixon in the 1960 Wisconsin primary, is conducting his own presidential campaign and spending an estimated $25,000 to drain off support from Governor Romney and help his friend Nixon.

He never learned that charity begins at home, did he?

Country Editor speaking: "You're really mature when you are old enough to admit your mistakes, try to correct them and profit by them."

Evans, the former mayor of Wyckoff, N.J., is stumping the state calling on the U.S. "to disengage from Vietnam," while challenging the other presidential candidates to a Vietnam debate.

In adopting this "dovish" approach to the war, Evans privately admits he hopes to cut into Romney's voter strength by appealing to persons who would normally back the Michigan governor because of his views on Vietnam.

By urging candidates to debate, Evans says he will spotlight Nixon's tougher Vietnam stand the position supported by the vast majority of Republican voters in the state.

Until recently none of Romney's political lieutenants in New Hampshire took Evans' presidential campaign seriously. However, when "Evans for President" billboards began to spring up, they took a second look.

The first thing they discovered was that Evans had hired the highly respected public relations firm of Hamilton S. Putnam and Associates. The same firm is handling the reelection campaign of Senator Norris Cotton, R-N. H.

Next they learned Evans was no "oddball" candidate. Observing Evans' efforts, aides reported he was conducting an intensive campaign and attracting considerable favorable attention wherever he went. And Evans had little trouble obtaining the necessary signatures to qualify for the primary.

Although they found no evidence Evans' campaign was initiated by Nixon, Romney's aides did confirm that he had had correspondence with the former vice president and informed him of his plans.

OUTSIDE INFLUENCE — Governor Romney's political fortunes in New Hampshire could also be seriously influenced by a decision the Senate Permanent Investigating subcommittee will make later this month.

The Senate probes, investigating last summer's racial riots, will decide after Congress convenes January 15 whether to call Governor Romney to testify.

Hearings on the Detroit riot, the most costly in the nation's history, have been tentatively set for early February or right in the middle of the New Hampshire campaign.

Democratic members of the subcommittee have asked Senator John McClellan, D-Ark., chairman, to summon Governor Romney as one of the first witnesses. They want to grill Romney about his delay in committing Michigan's National Guard troops after notification Detroit police were unable to handle the rioters.

Question Box

QUESTION: Are the housing and automobile industry sales figures a fair weather-vane of the economy considering that the majority of such purchases are made on extended credit to purchasers? If credit is permitting one to buy what is in existence wavy in exchange for that buyer's production of tomorrow, then what is to offset the immediate purchasing power given progressively higher paid workers and sellers involved in the production or ownership of the credit-sold them? E. K.

ANSWER: We suspect the housing and automobile sales are as accurate a measure as there is in the present "credit-based" economy. It is true that there is a "buy-now, pay-later" philosophy which has permeated the whole nation — indeed most of the world. It seems to have affected (or infected) nearly all governmental agencies and the vast majority of the people.

A recent report by a major insurance company pointed out that credit is a "way of life" in the United States, and that it no longer is considered irresponsible for families to go into debt far beyond ability to pay. Once it was expected that a family would save for the future to buy a home or an automobile, paying a substantial amount of cash. But easy issuing of credit by the government and banks has changed the entire picture. We would say, therefore, that the sales of housing and motor vehicles on credit accurately reflects the credit-based economy.

As to the ultimate effect, economic rules continue to apply.

One pays more tomorrow when he buys today what he wants without paying for it. Interest charges are higher, as well as the original charge, based on the risk taken by the lending agency. It may be concealed by the continuing inflation, but added charge is present.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT
Relief Is Possible
In Denture Discomfort

Lower dentures are notoriously troublesome setting used to. Why? Mainly because of the shape of lower jaws, and lack of a hard, flat, stabilizing surface, such as the hard palate. Added to these difficulties are inability to get "suction" and unsettling movements of tongue, lips, cheeks and chewing muscles.

Ridges ideally suited for maintaining lower dentures have smooth, well-rounded, medium high crests, with gently sloping sides, and adequately protected by thick, firm, padding of gum tissue.

But, alas, ideal ridges are rarely seen. What dentists usually have to work with are the normal mishapen ridges, even sometimes no ridge at all.

Of these many types there is one that probably causes most pain for denture wearers: the inverted "V" shape. This ridge has a sharp, jagged crest and slightest pressure of hard denture material on the gums against the knife-edge bone causes severe pain.

Inverted V bony ridges are not always evident in clinical exams because overlying gum tissue is usually well-rounded and smooth. But if you look carefully just below the gum crest you'll see a narrow, constricted area, and if you manipulate the gums you'll find the attachment is thin and the gum moves freely on it.

What can be done about this condition? Lessening biting pressure by use of narrow back teeth in the lower denture, and perfectly adjusting the bite, are two steps to relieve pain. If this fails to give complete relief, then surgical intervention may become necessary to reduce and round out the sharp edge.

Don't hesitate to have this done if your dentist considers it advisable because it can help tremendously. Also, it's a rather simple technique for both patient and dentist.

When gums are healed, the old dentures can be rebased — new pink denture material added underneath — and the bite again adjusted so that pressures are balanced.

Results can be a delight for long-suffering patients.

I am glad to see that they have finally come up with a new postal law that protects my privacy under the 4th Amendment. But it won't go into effect in the nick of time this year.

I have been getting some very pandering advertising for years but I am giving notice that I don't want to get any next year. What is it but a personal letter from Sheldon S. Cohen, commissioner of Internal Revenue.

This is to let the Postmaster General know that he should notify the mailer of Form 1040 to stop sending such pandering advertising to me.

There is one paragraph where this Cohen feller says, "This is what distinguishes the American tax system and makes it a model for the rest of the world." Well, it might be a distinguished model to him but it is smut to me.

Some other lines in this material is disturbing to me so I am glad that it won't ever clutter up my mailbox again, after mid-March.

For instance: "How to prepare a joint return" is very sexually provocative. And: "Where to get forms" and "Unmarried Heads" is erotically arousing.

The law states that if I want to continue receiving these pandering advertisements I can, but if I don't want them I can lower the boom. So I am going to lower the boom on these darn arousing, provocative Tax Forms once and for all.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Economic conditions in the United States have many economists worried sick. Which probably is good sign.

Economists are always at the peak of their form when the economy is booming. Prosperity gives them a wide area in which to point out trouble spots. Which is their main function.

During a depression, of course, the trouble spots are apparent to everybody. So the economists are forced to point out bright spots. This makes their work a lot harder.

As a rule of thumb it can be stated that the trouble spots during prosperity outnumber those of depression by roughly 27 to 1.

Spurs Optimism
Anyway, after reading a series of cautionary statements on the state of the economy, I decided the boom was certain to continue for a while. So I began looking around for some juicy investments.

Nothing seemed very promising until I came across a speech given by Raymond H. Lapin when he was installed as president of the Federal National Mortgage Association.

Lapin said his agency was agitating about establishing a permanent desk at which home mortgage loans would be bought and sold in much the same way that the stock market operates.

MAN FILMS
KUALA LUMPUR (UPI)—The Malaysian board of film and censors banned 24 U.S., British, Japanese and Indian movies last year because they showed violence, racial hatred or communism. "We try to be broadminded and move with the times," said the board chairman, Mohamad Hussein Marling.

But we cannot allow anyone like girls stripping one another naked to be passed for general viewing.

CLAMS KNIT RECORD
WEATHERSTONE, England (UPI)—Mrs. Gwen Matthews had hoped to knit 3,000 ounces of wool in 1967 but she in wallowing off a chair and sprained another knitting arm Sunday. Even after she knitted 244 garments, including 2,430 ounces of wool and her claimed award record.

YUM!
DAILY, Scotland (UPI)—When John Murray, 48, wants a cigarette, he puts a handful of midgets between two slices of bread and munches away. He estimates as many as nine cigarette sandwiches a day. Murray said he likes tobacco but not smoking. "Doing it my way, you're spared that early morning cough," Murray said.

SENDS CONDOLENCES

Wilson told Canadian Prime Minister Lester Pearson Massey was "a great Canadian whom we represented so much that we admire in this country."

REASON

'Strongman' Back In Jail Again

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Harry Boucher, the "Bulgarian strongman," was back behind bars Saturday, tormenting his keepers with piercing screams and doing his best to shake the jail down.

"He made a deal with one of the officers to quiet down in exchange for two fish sandwiches," one patrolman reported.

But the truce lasted only about 30 minutes and then Boucher came on stronger than ever, shouting in several languages, beating on the bars and clanking his cell door.

Boucher, who claims to be a 21-year-old refugee from Sofia, Bulgaria, was arrested Friday night for contributing to the delinquency of a 13-year-old girl who was discovered in his room at the local YMCA.

He had been arrested on a prowler complaint Christmas Eve but was released after it was learned he was traveling the United States under sponsorship of the World Council of Churches.

Police, having dubbed him the "Bulgarian strongman" after witnessing some of his antics when he was first behind bars, gave him a wide berth when they went to pick him up the second time. Five carloads of officers were sent to the YMCA to persuade him to surrender when he initially refused to come out of his room.

Recalling his first arrest, Sheriff Bill Morris said: "It took five officers to put handcuffs on the man. He's the toughest man I've ever seen."

To prove the point, Boucher, a six-foot, 180-pounder, performed such stunts as tearing a stainless steel cup apart with his hands and springing into the air and placing both feet on the wall six feet above the door, then landing on his feet.

He can also sleep with his legs behind his neck and draws in his stomach until the imprint of his spine is visible.

Authorities aren't too sure of any of the data they have concerning Boucher. In addition to claiming to be a refugee, he has told police he is a Russian seeking political asylum, a student at the University of Wisconsin and an emissary of an Indian yogi who told him to come to Memphis to teach actor Elvis Presley's expectant wife the art of yoga so she will have an easy childbirth.

REVEAL ARRESTS
RAWALPINDI (UPI)—"Certain antinational elements" have been arrested in an antigovernment plot, the Ministry of Home Affairs said Monday. The minister did not say who was arrested and gave no details.

Florida's citrus trees never defoliate; blossoms, fruit and glossy green leaves often appear at the same time.

More Revenue Forcast In Houston, Galveston

HOUSTON (UPI)—The ports of Galveston and Houston contributed strongly to the economy of the upper Texas Gulf Coast in 1967, and officers of banks in both cities predicted the generally sound economy would carry easily into 1968.

A spokesman for the Port of Houston said it was expected to bring in more revenue in 1967 than in 1966 when it took in $5,871,729. However, its tonnage dropped slightly. About 58½ million tons of cargo were handled by the port in 1967. In 1966, about 60 million tons moved through it.

Revenue was slightly off in 1967 at Galveston. In 1966, the port took in $4.5 million, but 1967 brought only $4.1 million. Tonnage dropped somewhat, too.

Wheat Running Low
The drop in tonnage in both ports was attributed to drop in surplus wheat shipments by the federal government. Apparently it is running out of wheat, the Port of Houston spokesman said.

A six-week strike in cotton warehouses last spring was another factor in the slight decline at Galveston, according to C. S. Deboy, manager of the wharves. But he said business increased strikingly in the last quarter of the year.

According to Byron Mills, senior vice president of the Moody National Bank in Galveston, the city's year economically was a good one. He said the owner of a large department store had told him 1967 was the firm's best year and Mills predicted a favorable carryover in 1968.

Tight Money Situation
Mills and two Houston bankers agreed money has been tight in 1967, but apparently not as tight in Houston as in Galveston.

"We've had tight money in Galveston all year long," said Mills. "My thinking is that all people have adopted a wait and see policy."

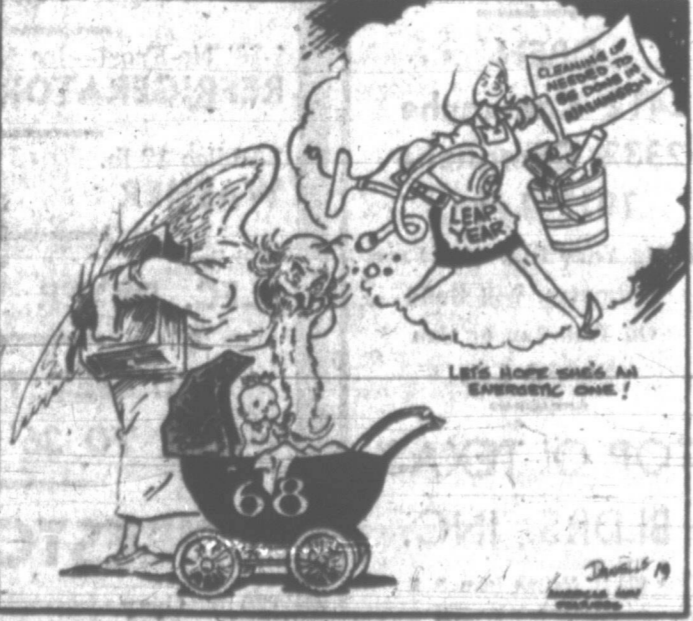

Ross Pennett, president of the Houston Bank and Trust Co., said he did not think money in Houston was as tight in 1967 as it had been in 1966. And Robert Gerrard, senior vice president of the Texas National Bank of Commerce, said he thought the money had been looser the last half of 1967 than the first half.

ASIAN FLU STRIKES
DALLAS (UPI)—A virologist at Baylor University Medical Center Thursday confirmed that Asian flu has hit the Dallas area for the first time this winter.

"Asian influenza and adenoviruses," was how Dr. Dighton Rowan characterized his lab findings. Rowan said his lab had merely confirmed what many Dallasites had been saying all along.

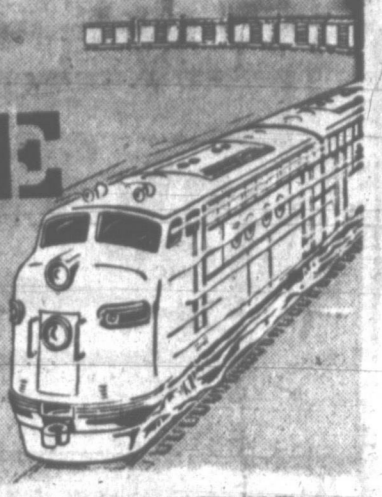

A SMASHING PARTY
MANILA (UPI)—Bandits broke up Antonio Uy's New Year's Eve party Sunday night, robbing the guests, spraying Uy's home with bullets, killing a police chief and wounding three others and abducting Uy's wife and seven children. The 50 robbers released Uy's wife and children after escaping.
