Confusion Reigns Over Name For Former Arlington State College

ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI) — Tom J. Vandergriff, who takes times from his auto dealership to be mayor, civic leader, sportsman and myriad other things, has now turned penman in hopes of ending his own, and others', confusion over the name of his home town college.

Vandergriff, long considered "Mr. Arlington" by the residents of this mushrooming satellite city in the sprawling Dallas-Fort Worth metropolitan complex, has written a letter to his "sportswriting and broadcasting friends" begging them to settle on one name for the school.

The school, for many years, was known as Arlington State College, first as a junior college and later as a four-year branch of the state's college system.

Regents Change Name

Then, about a year ago the state's Board of Regents changed the name to "University of Texas at Arlington" to differentiate it from the parent university at Austin. The board did the same thing to Texas Western College, making it "University of Texas at El Paso."

To further complicate the situation, the students at the school voted to abolish the Confederate flag as a symbol of the athletic teams' nickname, "Rebels," and debated the issue of changing that nickname.

Vandergriff, always with an eye for anything that will enhance his city's image, became perturbed at the way the press was being inconsistent in its references to the school.

He said he would "take the oath" that he had seen or heard at least 14 versions of the name and felt sure there were some he had not been aware of. So, he wrote:

Problem with Names
"Those of us whose spirits rise, or fall, dependent upon how the University of Texas at Arlington is faring in athletics have a problem with names. To begin with we aren't sure for how much longer we will be Rebels. That issue is very much in doubt, but only the students can be the final judges in that one."

He went on to say he was "fascinated" at the number of ways the school is listed in the press and took issue with the "apparent" official view that lists the three schools as "UT Austin," "UT El Paso" and "UT Arlington."

"I doubt that this will ever work well," Vandergriff said. "For one thing, it will take a generation, if not more, for anyone except (the overall system) officials to say UT Austin."

"Certainly to those people whose interest in the Austin campus alone x x x there will

How's Business?

Building Prospects Unfavorable

By THE BABSON STAFF

Since spring of 1967 the building field has enjoyed good vitality. This has been quite amazing, considering the high level of interest rates which have prevailed during this period. Moreover, it must be remembered that the danger of inflation has forced the monetary authorities to gradually pull back on the credit reins. But it has been fortunate that the supply of mortgage credit has been ample to enable building to proceed at a brisk pace.

The strength in building, however, has centered almost entirely in the housing sector. Law vacancy rates and the growth in population are responsible for the upsurge in new private housing starts. In addition, there are the favorable factors of the sustained high level of employment and the strong upsurge of personal income.

The situation has not been as cheerful for the nonresidential sector of the building field. Unbuilding was able to hold to a satisfactory level, although lacking the degree of vigor evident in housing. Industrial building has been the laggard among the major components.

It is still a bit early for evidence of the adverse effects of the recent further increase in the money rate to merge. There is usually a time lag before the full impact of monetary restraint shows up. The supply of mortgage credit, moreover, is showing signs of strain also, thus it is now apparent that building may lose some of its vigor for a while. Indeed, contract awards for nonresidential building already may be experiencing difficulty, as the figure for April declined sharply, on a seasonally adjusted basis. While residential building may ease off, a radical reduction does not seem likely since the vacancy rate on housing is low, and since we are now close to the long-awaited building boom due to population trends.

always be only one UT."

Proposes UTA

Vandergriff proposed that the Arlington school always be listed at "UTA," a move which he says "might well help us build an image x x x, per the UCLA example, much faster than through the first one label, then another."

(Editors' note—The United Press International has a style rule forbidding the use of initials in reference to schools with the exception of UCLA, TCU, and SMU because of the danger of double meaning like CU (Colorado or Connecticut University), OSU (Oklahoma State or Ohio State), OU (Oklahoma or Ohio). So, for the present, at least UPI will just say "Texas-Arlington.")

Presidio Weather Observer Would Like A Vacation

PRESCIO, Tex. (UPI) — Oliver Harper, who, as the official weather observer at Presidio, frequently reports the hottest temperatures in the United States, likes to get away to the mountains this time of year for a new perspective.

But he will not be able to this year, says. He is short of help in his hardware store. Meanwhile, the official thermometer down by a pile of steel well pipe keeps running up to around 108 degrees every day before it starts dropping for the night.

A meteorologist a couple of years back said he thought the pile of pipe might have something to do with Presidio's phenomenal temperatures.

Possible Reflection

"I don't think the pipe reflects too much heat," Harper said. "The thermometer is 12 or 15 feet away and well ventilated. Some of my friends over town have thermometers and they will be one or two degrees higher or one or two degrees lower than my thermometer."

Harper believes Presidio is so hot because of its location. The town's altitude is 2,612 feet, which, under different circumstances might make Presidio's temperatures relatively pleasant.

"But we are surrounded by mountains," Harper said. "Six miles away the mountains are 2,000 feet higher. We don't get a free passage of air and I think that is what accounts for our temperatures."

The onset of above-100-degree temperatures this month was rather a shock in Presidio. For the preceding 30 days, they had averaged 7 or 8 degrees below normal and rainfall for the year had been normal, that is to say, 2 to 2½ inches.

"Temperatures don't vary much from year to year," Harper said. "We can expect 100 degrees until the latter part of September. But this is dry heat and 110 here doesn't hurt me as bad as 96 degrees in Dallas. Our humidity averages 25 or 30 per cent."

The hottest it has ever been in Presidio was 117 degrees and it has been that hot three times in the 25 years Harper has been observing the weather twice a day and sending reports to El Paso. All three times were in June.

It also gets cold in Presidio. The lowest Harper can remember was four degrees. It also can get dry. A good example of a dry year was 1962 when Presidio got 1.52 inches of rain—in toto.

Negro School Is Headquarters For Navy's ROTC

PRAIRIE VIEW, Tex. (UPI) — The nation's first Navy reserve officers training at a predominantly Negro school has 23 students and cramped quarters, but big hopes for the future, one of its instructors said Friday.

The corps is expected to triple in September.

Prairie View A&M College is the site of the Navy's first new Reserve Officer Training Corps unit in the nation since 1946.

It is also the first Navy ROTC unit ever commissioned at a predominantly Negro college.

Solving A Problem

"The percentage of Negro officers in the Navy is so minute that the Navy thought this would be the best way to solve the problem," said Lt. Gordon E. Fisher. Prairie View was chosen after a year's screening project conducted by the Navy department from over 100 predominantly Negro colleges and universities in the United States, he said.

Fisher said the Naval Military Science program at the school is already underway, with a 23-man junior class taking nine semester hours of military courses during the summer.

The unit, commissioned in May, is commanded by Capt. Francis X. Brady, who came to Prairie View from Harvard University where he was a professor of Naval science.

Fisher said his unit was forced to share quarters with the Army ROTC until a new Naval Military Science building is completed.

Cramped Quarters

"We are extremely cramped at the moment. We're operating out of a double office and our staff is growing all the time. But the Army has given us fantastic cooperation," he said. He said the Navy Department had run into a few snags in setting up the new unit.

"This is the first time the Navy's done this since 1946, and we don't really have anyone else with the experience to draw on. The department is having to play it by ear," he said. All the officers except Capt. Brady are Negroes, and Fisher said the four chief petty officers are "split 50-50 by race."

Selective Service Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE— Below are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 209 W. 8th Street, Austin, Texas 78701.

Q— If a man mails his draft card to Selective Service national headquarters, would he be considered delinquent by his board for not having it?

A— Where he mails (or leaves) his registration certificate is immaterial. The infraction of law is the consequence of not having it. Whether he will be processed as a delinquent by his board depends upon related circumstances.

Q— Who makes the decision that a conscientious objector will not serve on civilian duty because of a physical defect?

A— His physical acceptability is determined by the same standards applied to men who are not conscientious objectors, normally by an armed forces examining and entrance station.

Q— I've had one semester in college. I've been placed on academic probation for the second semester. I'm still taking a full-time course. Is my probationary status unsatisfactory to the draft?

A— No, if you're still full time. In effect, your school has issued notice that, if you do not improve, you may be unsatisfactory in the future.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) The next 10 days will bring viewers a windfall of provocative documentaries, new entertainment series and exceptional reruns.

On Tuesday, for instance, there is "CBS Reports: The Business of Religion." This hour is described as "an investigation of America's churches, their income and property, and the growing controversy over whether their holdings should be subject to disclosure and some form of taxation."

Also Tuesday, there is a rerun of the Peter Sellers-David Niven comedy film, "The Pink Panther," on NBC-TV.

Wednesday brings "Mr. 100,000 Volts," a half-hour ABC-TV variety special headlined by French singer Gilbert Beaud, with Brazil's Joao Gilberto and other international entertainers.

Wednesday Thrills
The same night, ABC-TV offers a rerun of a very good two-hour adaptation of the suspense thriller, "Dial M for Murder," with Laurence Harvey, Diane Cilento and Hugh O'Brian.

On Thursday, a summer series called "Dean Martin Presents the Goldiggers," which replaces Martin's regular show for several months and revolves around music and events of the 1930s, arrived on NBC-TV. It is a variety outing, and features Frank Sinatra Jr., Joey Heatherton, Paul Lynde and Barbara Heller, but not Martin, despite the title.

On Friday, NBC-TV offers an hour documentary called "The New American Catholic," and it will examine "new trends and movements coursing through the Catholic Church regarding authority, celibacy and changing forms of worship." The same night, there is a CBS-TV rerun of the outstanding comedy-suspense movie about a daring jewel theft, "Topkapi," with Melina Mercouri, Peter Ustinov and Maximilian Schell.

And the same morning, NBC-TV's "Today" series devotes its two hours to examining student revolt on college campuses.

Summer Series Opens
On Sunday, a summer replacement series for CBS-TV's Smothers Brothers show has its debut, starring comedian Pat Paulsen and singer Glen Campbell. Premiere guests are Nancy Sinatra and the Smothers Brothers.

And Sunday also bring an acceptable rerun of a two-hour adaptation of the arcoties-themed play "A Hatful of Rain," with Peter Falk, Michael Parks, Sandy Dennis, Herschel Bernardi and Don Stroud in the ABC-TV version.

Next Monday—June 24—and also on June 25 and 26, CBS-TV will present three one-hour documentaries in prime time under the overall title, "The Cities," with the programs examining problems of "America's flighted urban nerve centers."

In addition on June 25, ABC-TV will rerun "The Savage World of the Coral Jungle," an hour from its notable series of specials about oceanographer Jacques Cousteau.

'Business Manager' Performs Job Of Money Management For 'Stars'

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—One assumes on hearing a star admit he has a business manager that he is not bright enough to balance his checking account.

Wrong. If there's one thing most actors understand, it is money. Ask any producer. But the supernova-type stars have so many deals involving their own production companies, investments and debts, they need an expert who can keep them free of becoming full time businessmen.

New Law Would Terminate Age Discrimination

DALLAS (SpI) — Those ads that declare "no one over 40 need apply" may be illegal pretty soon, if they reflect arbitrary age discrimination in employment. "Prohibition against discrimination because of age is written into Public Law 90-212, effective June 12, 1968," said Regional Director Wm. J. Rogers of the Labor Department's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions in Dallas.

One such is A. Morgan Maree III. He performs an entirely different function than the agent or personal manager. The agent gets the actor jobs. The personal manager lets him know when his socks don't match or when to come in out of the rain.

The law, he explained, protects persons 40 and 65 years old from age discrimination by employers, labor organizations, and employment agencies. Congress made the Secretary of Labor responsible for enforcing it.

The business manager keeps him solvent. "Most big stars don't have enough time to take care of their finances," Maree explained. "They need someone to keep score, and managing money is a full time job."

Rogers said free information on the new law is available from the Labor Department's Wage-Hour offices located in Albuquerque, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Houston, Oklahoma City, San Antonio, Tulsa and Waco.

"Our company is business management as well as investment counseling. And our clients are 90 per cent in the entertainment business. There are individuals who recognize they are artists and that it is not demeaning for them to be business men, too."

Some stars find it difficult to convince a top financial management firm to handle their wealth, or lack of it. And with good reason.

Maree's company was founded back in 1932 with Charles Starrett and Chester Morris the first clients. Now the organization has 100 individual clients, plus some 50 corporations.

Some stars find it difficult to convince a top financial management firm to handle their wealth, or lack of it. And with good reason.

One type spends money with the abandon of the federal government. Another is the ham juggling real estate, alimony and mortgage payments while shooting films in Spain and Yugoslavia. He's a loser going in.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Enshrined Halibut

By DICK WEST
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—Any one who is dedicated to his profession (which means he can't find a better job) will endure all sorts of hardships to carry out his duties.

On Thursday morning I arose two hours earlier than usual, skipped breakfast and drove 10 miles in rush period traffic with a hangover in order to reach the Smithsonian Institution in time to see Sen. Warren G. Magnuson enshrine a halibut.

More dedicated than that you can hardly get.
 The ceremony I witnessed came about because an employee of the Senate Commerce Committee happened to notice that the only halibut enshrined and the Smithsonian was a Greenland halibut.

Patriotic Move
 A feeling developed within the committee that a museum operated by the U.S. government ought to be displaying a red-blooded, 100 per cent American halibut.

So arrangements were made to have Magnuson, the committee chairman, present the Smithsonian with a West Coast specimen.

By an odd coincidence, it is the same halibut that was exhibited at the Seattle World's Fair in Magnuson's home state.

I'm sure the Smithsonian is delighted with the acquisition, although its delight may have been intensified by the fact that Magnuson is an influential figure in Congress.

There is, I have heard, a fairly heavy traffic in stuffed fish, fowls and mammals around the capital. When a denizen of the deep or wild is given to the government, it may be displayed in accordance with the prominence of the donor.

Should the donor later become less prominent, his gift may be moved to more obscure surroundings. I personally know of a moose head that was transferred from a museum to a private club.

Companion to Whale
 At any rate, the halibut was given a place of honor near the Smithsonian's blue whale. Which in my opinion it richly deserved.

I doubt there is any danger it will be moved to, say, the renegotiation board after Magnuson retires. For the halibut is an extremely interesting fish.

A baby halibut starts out like any other baby fish, but at some point his left eye migrates over to the right side of his head. Thus he winds up with both eyes on the same side, like the women in Picasso's paintings.

You know how to determine the age of a halibut? You count the rings on his ear bone.

I don't run across fascinating information like this every day. Which proves that some days it pays to be dedicated.

IN SCHOOL — Miss Helen McClendon enrolled recently in the Draughtons' Business College IBM secretarial course. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McClendon, 805 E. Albert, she is a 1968 graduate of Pampa High School where she was a member of A Capeella Choir and Red Cross.

Waistlines Are Back With A Vengeance For This Fall

By GAY PAULEY
 NEW YORK (UPI)—Might as well face it. Those waistlines allowed to expand in fashion's era of the no-fit, no-belt silhouette have to be whittled. For waistlines are back with a vengeance.

It isn't enough to tack on a loose little old belt. Some of the waists in the fall and winter fashions from New York manufacturers are strapped in with stiffened leather or self-fabric belts and cummerbunds six, seven and eight inches wide. Which means that the belting starts right beneath the bosom.

Designer Donald Brooks reaffirms the waistline with his miniature corset lacing around the midriff. Chester Weinberg snaps stiffened kids or stitched fabric belts around everything from trouser suits for casual wear or travel to the most exotic of his evening clothes.

The shift of attention to the waistline leaves the matter of hemlines almost where they were in last fall's couture collections. That is, above the knees. But I note the above-knee lengths are a little more modest this season.

Instead of riding up nearly to mid-thigh for day, they're a more conservative couple of inches above kneecaps.

Don't kiss off the midri or maxi length for the ball and winter season. These long skirts which have been kicking around for a couple of years now just may catch on. The New York Couture Business Council, an organization of manufacturers and designers, defines the midri length as 14 inches and the maxi as 11 inches from the floor.

Authority On Violence Say Police Departments In A 'Primitive State'

By THOMAS KENNEDY
 DALLAS (UPI)—Many police departments are in a "primitive state," with small staffs and low budgets, an authority on violence says.
 Dr. Marvin Wolfgang, chairman of the sociology department at the University of Pennsylvania, was in Dallas for the three-day National Institute on Crime and Delinquency.
 He told a news conference that "Violence in the United States has been enormous in the past and we have been unable to overcome it."
 He said police should meet violent rioters with equal force and he recommended more technological and scientific means of solving crimes be made available to police departments.

 "The organization should be strengthened, tightened, and the man on the beat does not necessarily need a college education to do an effective job. But he needs to know more about human relations—how to understand the behavior of minority groups, special interest groups and ethnic groups," Wolfgang said.

 He said he would like to see strong controls on guns, but that guns alone were not the cause of increases in violence.
 "Although I would prefer all guns in private hands to be turned in to public authorities," he said, "and believe that many lives would be saved by very restrictive gun legislation, I am aware that there are probably twice as many guns around the country today as in the 1930s."
 The meeting's speakers ranged from Larry L. Dye, a former offender who is now with the Civil Commission on Correction-

Manpower and Training, to Ralph Salerno, an expert on the Mafia.
MODEST SCOTS
 HAZLEHEAD, Scotland (UPI)—Four Scottish paratroopers Sunday showed off their answer to an airborne Scotsman's dream: the maxi-kilt.
 As a crowd of 5,000 at an airshow peered upward the quartet came floating gently down from an 800-foot ramp ankle-length kilts safely in place.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
 UPI Foreign News Analyst
 As American and North Vietnamese representatives meet in Paris with no visible progress toward peace in Vietnam, changes are taking place in Saigon which could have an important effect on pursuit of the war.
 The changes revolve around the power struggle between President Nguyen Van Thieu and his flamboyant vice president, Nguyen Cao Ky, which slowly seems to be approaching a resolution in favor of Thieu.
 New Mayor
 Within recent days Thieu has replaced the controversial National Police chief, Maj. Gen. Nguyen Ngoc Loan and named a new mayor of Saigon.
 Earlier he had replaced three of the four corps commanders in South Vietnam, including one of the most powerful, Lt. Gen. Le Nguyen Khang, commander of III Corps surrounding Saigon.
 All had been close friends of Vice President Ky.
 With those moves he seized the political heart of South Vietnam including control of the 80,000-man National Police force.
 Thieu's gradual ascendancy over his chief political rival seems both the result of his own cautious maneuverings and the fortunes of war.
 Other Changes
 Other important changes made by the Thieu government have included the appointment of Premier Tran Van Huong, replacing the ineffective Nguyen Van Loc, the naming of a new cabinet reducing the power of the military, and the replacement of about half of South Vietnam's 44 province chiefs.
 Whatever may be the outcome of the current power struggle, Thieu more than Ky seems to have reacted to the Communist Tet offensive with a realization of the need for positive action.
 Even though peace still may be far away, it could mean that the South Vietnamese finally are realizing that this is their war.
 It might even mean that some Americans could start coming home.
NEW TRANSPLANT
 CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI)—Surgeons said Monday a man who was partially blind regained his full sight after they transplanted part of a baboon's eye into his own.
 Prof. Frans van yel, dean of the University of Stellenbosch medical faculty, said the baboon's cornea was transplanted into the man's eye about a month ago. The patient was identified only as a European.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: One day last week a little neighbor boy was here playing with my son. Fortunately I was present when the playmate had an epileptic seizure. I took him home and told his mother what had happened. Abby, she turned on me as if I had accused her of some crime. She said, "What do you mean, EPILEPTIC? Once in a while he has a little fainting spell but he'll outgrow it. Besides, it can't be epilepsy because we have never had any insanity in our family!"

I tried to tell her that I knew an epileptic seizure when I saw one because my younger sister had had many. I also tried to tell her that it had nothing to do with "insanity," and with medication, epilepsy could be controlled. I even told her how happily married my sister is today. I did all I could to educate this woman, but she insisted she had no need for my explanations, so I left. Abby, it seems incredible that we still have people who think epilepsy is something to be ashamed of. I hope you will print this letter with a few facts of your own to wake up people like my neighbor.

SYCAMORE LANE
DEAR SYCAMORE: The notion that epilepsy is something to be ashamed of dates back to biblical times, when illnesses which couldn't readily be diagnosed were attributed to witchcraft, insanity, or the work of the "devil."
It is a safe estimate that about one out of every 100 Americans has epilepsy. The exact cure is not known, but it can be the result of prenatal influences, infectious diseases, or brain damage.

Also the "tendency" toward it can be inherited. It is not considered an hereditary disorder. In recent years medication and drugs have become extremely effective in controlling epilepsy. With proper care, most epileptics are able to attend school, hold down a job, eventually marry, and live normal lives. I hope your neighbor sees this for her sake, but especially for her son's.

DEAR ABBY: A neighbor recently acquired a 90-pound "puppy." When he cries at night, he sounds like one of the hounds of Baskerville. We live in a canyon and the echo of his barking can be heard for miles.

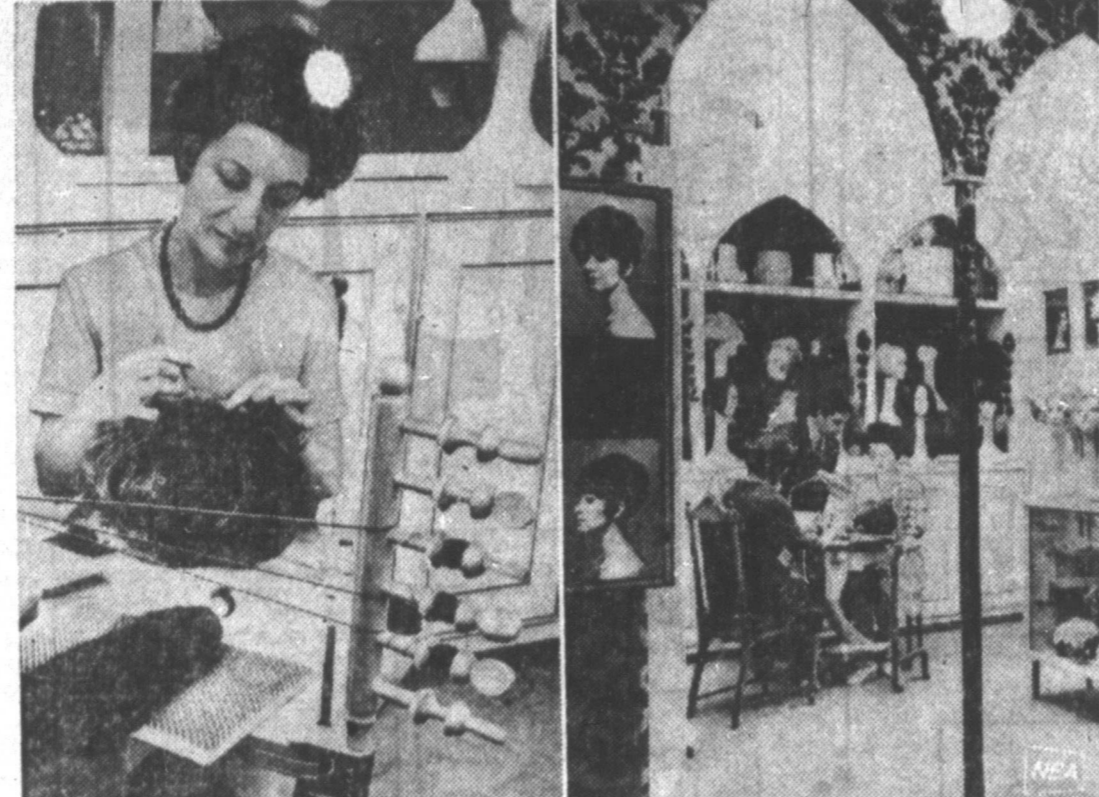

The noise at night is bad enough, but we also have a day time problem. The puppy likes to tiptoe through the tulips (ours) regularly every morning.

Also up in arms
DEAR ALSO: A dog, like a child, cannot be expected to know what it hasn't been taught. The real culprit is the dog owner, so tiptoe over there and tell him that if you want your tulips fertilized, you'll do it yourself.

DEAR ABBY: The man who advised "love-hungry" women to greet their husbands at the door every day for a year with a Geritol embrace must have more red blood in his veins than the cold fish I married. In the morning it's "Don't touch me or talk to me. I'm in a hurry to leave."

Good-Natured Summer Face Is Radiant from Healthy Sunshine

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEA Women's Editor
NEW YORK — (NEA) — The new face for this summer is one which radiates health, the love of outdoors, all the good things that come from nature.

Faces are coming out of hibernation. No more hiding behind a mask of make-up. Today's new make-up is so light and translucent it shows your complexion as it really is. Hopefully, yours is already as it should be — the kind of skin you see on so many young California girls. And if it isn't? Fortunately, you don't have to head west to reach today's golden state of beauty.

Wayne Hutchison, (make-up director) has some advice to help your skin look as clear as a perfect day.

No. 1 on his list is cleansing. Use a complexion caretaker packed with skin-deep cleansers and finish with a splash of water.

Next use a fresh-up lotion. Drench cotton with the lotion, splash it across the face and feel the new pep you've put into your skin.

Last, let your face drink in good moisture overnight. And by day, swoop on your moisturizer under make-up.

Newest moisturizers have special ingredients to school the skin in soft manners and a sun-screen to even temper the effects of too much sun.

Once you get the good natured face, Hutchison has some ideas for what follows. Make-up should be in clean, fresh-air shades. Lip colors should be saturated with sunlight and chosen for compatibility with your hair color.

Does your lipstick have a tendency to turn red? It is your own chemistry that does it. Use a little lime toner on top.

CALIFORNIA GIRL COMPLEXIONS can be achieved with a lotion that rinses away every trace of cleanser and make-up and leaves the face with a bit of a blush (left). Drench a cotton pad with the lotion, splash across the face and see a wide-awake face (right) appear in the mirror.

West Texas Event Slated Wednesday

One of the state's largest golf tournaments, the Men's West Texas golf tournament will get underway at the Pampa Country Club Wednesday.

Over 100 entries are already signed for the event, according to Hart Warren, head pro at the Country Club. The event is limited to 225 entrants.

Players swing into action Thursday, beginning at 8 a.m. when scores will be counted.

All flights except the championship, junior-senior and senior will qualify on Thursday, Warren said.

Thirty one entries have signed for the championship flight in the 43rd annual event.

It is the first time that Pampa has hosted the event, an honor since it marks the first time the annual Lone Star tournament has been held at a Panhandle site north of Plainview.

One practice round without green charges will be held Wednesday. The championship flight will play its first round Thursday while all others will qualify for flights. Championship flights declare.

A ladies luncheon and style show is scheduled Friday at 12:30 and a dance Friday night.

The medalist, winners of all flights, runners-up, consolation winners and the championship flight will receive prizes.

A senior flight for golfers 55 and over plus a junior-senior flight (45-54) 54 holes of medal-flights.

Pampa amateur golfers already entered in the Men's West Texas golf tournament include Max Hickey, Malcolm Douglas, Eddie Duenkel, Bob Loerwald and David Parker.

Hickey won the recent Petroleum Club tournament at Borger while Parker was runnerup in the Perryton golf tournament over the weekend.

Hickey is considered the leading title contender from Pampa.

Hart Warren announced today that all Pampa golfers who desire to enter in the amateur tournament are urged to register as soon as possible since the deadline is Wednesday.

Warren is head professional at the Pampa Country Club.

Skinner Gets Many Wires

Today's Sport Parade By MILTON RICHMAN UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bob Skinner, the new Philadelphia manager, received a number of wires.

There was one he was supposed to have gotten but did not. It was composed by a bunch of his old ballplayers, the San Diego Padres, whom he said good-bye to Saturday night in Seattle.

"We won our game, 2-1, Sunday. How did you make out?" the wire to Bob Skinner was to have read.

The Padres were all set to send "Skin" the telegram Sunday night after knocking over Seattle but for one reason or another they never got around to it.

They knew the Phillies had lost their first game under Skinner to the Dodgers, 2-1, the same score the Padres had won their first game without him, and they weren't looking to rub it in so much as to tease him.

The identical scores made for one coincidence.

Allen Strikes Out

The fact that Richie Allen, upon whom Skinner must count most, struck out with the bases full Sunday ending the Phillies' last threat, made for still another coincidence.

"I can guarantee this much," says Eddie Leishman, executive vice president and general manager of the San Diego club and a man who knows Skinner well, "Bob will not have difficulty handling any situation. No matter what it is, he'll get to the bottom of it. This is only the second year he has managed anywhere but he's the best handier of men I've seen in a long, long time. He never lets too many problems develop."

One threatened to with one of the players on the Padres but that same player now is one of Skinner's biggest boosters.

Skinner didn't meet Richie Allen for the first time in his life last Sunday when he jetted into Philadelphia from Seattle.

It was Allen who immediately thought of when the Phillies fired Gene Mauch last weekend and maybe Allen's conscience was bothering him a little, because when Bus Saito, the excellent columnist for the Trenton Times, asked him for his reaction, he said, "I suppose now they'll blame me for costing the man his job."

Bob Skinner wasn't born yesterday.

He was born Oct. 3, 1931 according to his birth certificate and he knows what the score is in Philadelphia.

In other words, he's going in there with his eyes wide open. One of the first statements he made had to do with how much he appreciated Richie Allen as a ballplayer. It should be remembered how Gene Mauch kept saying the same thing also.

As a member of the Pirates, Reds and Cardinals, he played against Allen many times, and managing San Diego, a Philadelphia affiliate, he spent time in the Phillies' training camp at Clearwater, Fla., last spring and got along fine with Allen.

Bob Skinner doesn't push. He does things in low key and wasn't the player you'd single out as a future manager with the Pirates. Dick Groat and Bill Virdon were more the type.

Skinner Waxed Majors

But Bob Skinner knew what he wanted. He and Larry Shepard were both working for the Phillies last fall in the Florida Instructional League and the two were rooming together when Shepard was named Pittsburgh manager. Shepard begged Skinner to come with him to the Pirates as one of his coaches.

"Thank you, no," Skinner said in that quiet way of his. "I'll be pulling for you, Larry, but I'd like to manage in the majors myself some day and I'd just as soon wait and take my chances."

He made it pretty quick. With less than two years' experience in the minors, in fact.

He isn't the kind anybody shoves around. When some of his friends call him "Dog," that's short for "Devil Dog" because he used to be in the Marines.

Bob Skinner doesn't come on strong but he has a way of getting the situation in hand. He'd better. Philadelphia can be rougher than Guadalcanal sometimes.

handicap play are scheduled. 2 rounds of match play and the final round medal are scheduled in the regular flights.

Wichita Fall's Bill Holstead is the defending champion and will return this tournament. The top names in Texas amateur golf will compete in the tournament.

Former champions are Ross Mitchell of Lubbock, 1962 winner and 1966 victor, Dave Lawson of Lubbock.

Also entered are James Herring, John Farquhar, Bobby Sanders, Miles Childers and C. L. Duniven Jr. of Amarillo. Farquhar has yet to win the West Texas amateur, one of the few titles the leading amateur golfer hasn't won.

Charles Coody, Ed Hopkins, Don Cherry, Ernie Vossler, Iverson Martin and Billy Maxwell are other past champions of the West Texas golf tournament who have now turned into the professional ranks.

Entry fee is $25 and the entry deadline is Wednesday.

Richard Ellis, Pampa, was the first winner of the first Men's West Texas Golf Association $500 academic and golf scholarship award.

The basis for winning the award is need, scholastic ability and participation as a golfer.

The award is presented a student who lives within the boundaries of the WTGA to assist him in attending the school of his choice.

Now enrolled in Texas A & M University, he was second golfer on the Aggie golf this year.

Pampa golf fans wishing to watch the tournament are welcome to attend the meet.

BEBAN SIGNS
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Heisman Trophy winner Gary Beban will report to the Washington Redskins training camp Aug. 3 after signing with the team Monday.

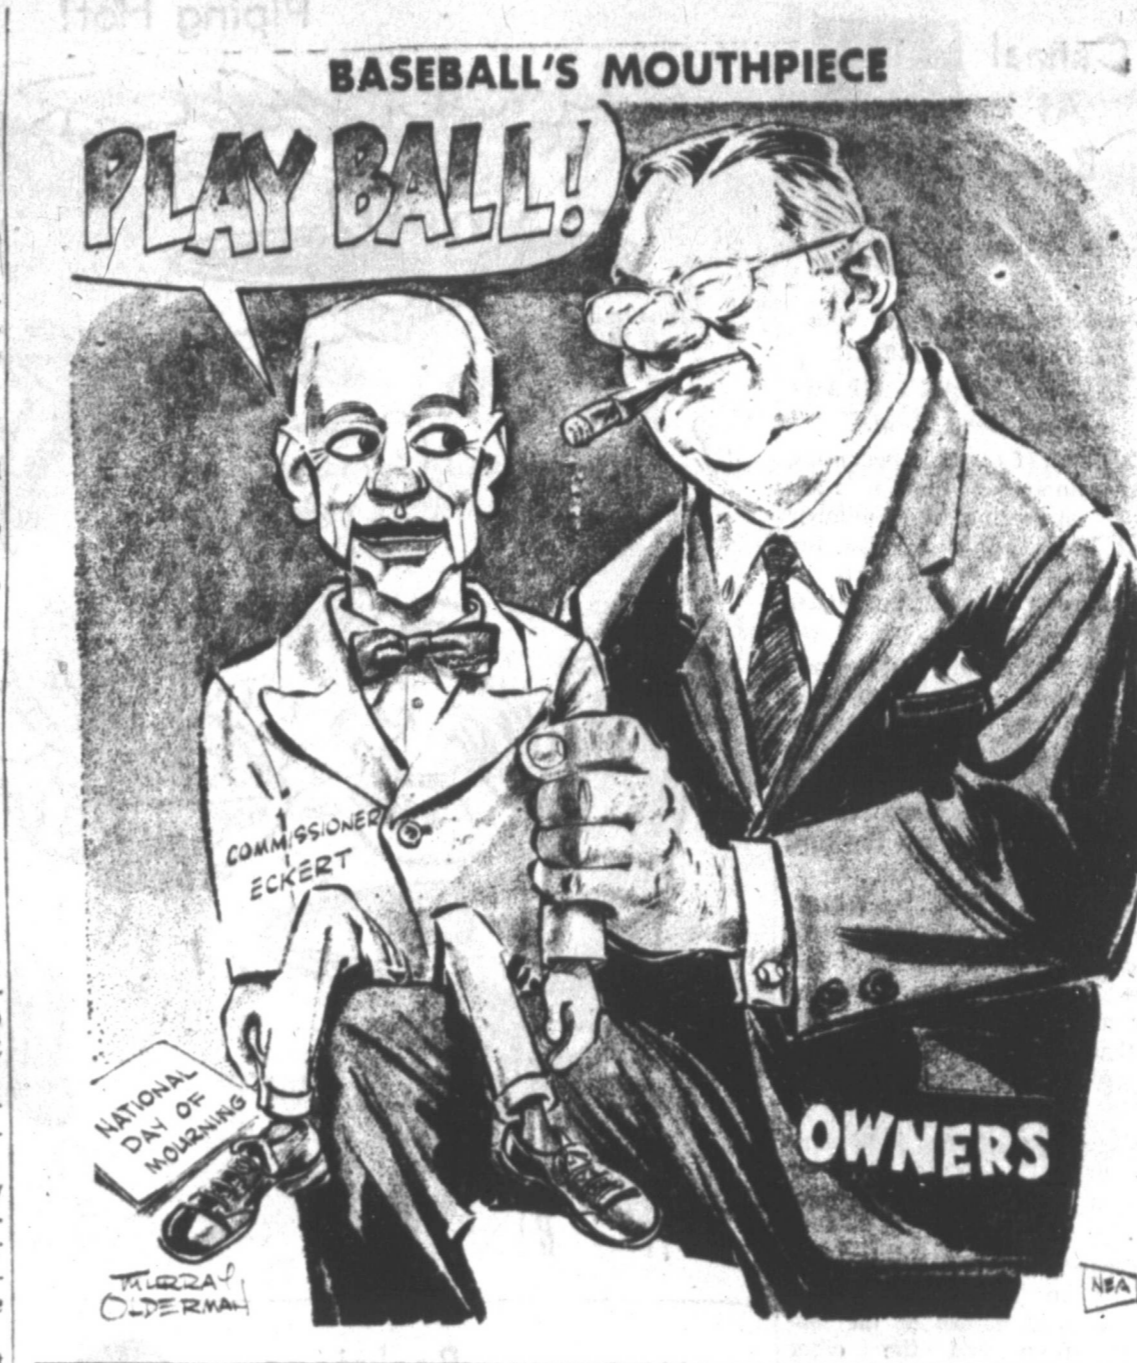

The former UCLA star quarterback will join the team four weeks later than most rookies because he is scheduled to play in the Coaches' All-America game in Tampa and the College All-Star game in Chicago.

No terms of the contract were announced, but Beban reportedly signed a three-year pact for about $200,000.

TREVINO ADVANCES
PALM BEACH GARDENS (UPI)—Lee Trevino, winner of the U.S. Open Sunday, has vaulted into fourth place in the PGA earnings list.

Trevino, who earned $30,000 for his victory at Rochester, N.Y., now trails only George Archer ($84,780), Tom Weiskopf ($86,756) and Billy Casper ($128,760) in total earnings for the year.

BULLETIN
EL PASO, Tex. (UPI)—New U.S. Open golf champion Lee Trevino will be reunited with his family today after a swift change in plans caused him to cancel out of the Canadian Open in Toronto and fly to the bedside of an ill daughter.

Righthander Slated To Hurl When Pampa Hosts Palo Duro

Al Gomez, ace pitcher for Pampa, is slated for his first starting role when the Rebels host the Palo Duro Dons in a district baseball game here Wednesday night. Game time is 8 p.m. at Optimist park.

Gomez has hurled two contests in relief, credited with a win in one. He allowed no runs in the other.

Tonight, the Rebels travel to Clarendon, a member of the Southern division of the American Legion, where Pampa plays a non-district contest.

Pampa is now 2-1 following its defeat at the hands of Amarillo by a score of 15-3 at Amarillo Saturday night.

Pampa used three pitchers — George Bailey, Jerry Heasley and Steve Summers — to try and silence the Amarillo hitting attack. The Amarillo team got 17 hits.

The Amarillo team scored seven runs in the first inning as Heasley relieved Bailey in the first inning.

Getting hits for Pampa were John Jenkins, 2 for 4 including a double, Steve Summers, 1 for 4, Eddie Hopkins, 2 for 4, including a triple, and Steve Scott, 1 for 4. The Rebels got a total of six hits.

Eddie Hopkins, who had been working on a farm near Groom, joined the club in Amarillo and played behind the plate the entire game for the Rebels.

Tommy Hawkins, who attended a funeral in New Mexico, arrived in the second inning at Amarillo and was put in as a pinch-hitter in the second inning.

By WES DUMONT

Following Jeff Holladay's column on auto racing, we received a number of letters again from Canadian, LeFors, Perryton, Miami, Spearman and Pampa.

In light of the interest in this area, we are again publishing the letters as a public service.

Dear Sir: You question the value of boxing, drag racing and the Memorial day races? You claim they lead to a climate of violence. Why not ban all the TV sets since they have very violent episodes also?

Ed's Note: Forget banning TV. My set isn't paid for and we hate to lose our initial payment charges in case the authorities should ban TV.

Dear Sir: Do you favor Ft. Worth as a site for a National league baseball club?

Ed's Note: No, we don't favor Ft. Worth. We favor Dallas where they reportedly have a surplus of righthanded strength.

Dear Sir: Amarillo recently added a hockey team. Do you think Pampa should have a hockey team to compete with the new team in Amarillo.

Ed's Note: No, it might start a cold war.

Dear Sir: We understand you were graduated from New Mexico Highlands University in Las Vegas, New Mexico, where David Condon, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune, also attended school. How come he made it so big and you made it so small?

Ed's Note: Both of us attended the school of journalism at New Mexico Highlands University. Condon was considered by a professor there as not being able to write. We were told that we could. All which proves that sometimes professors are half-writes.

Dear Sir: Do you favor a guaranteed minimum annual wage for football players?

Ed's Note: No, sport writers.

Dear Sir: You have said that you favor banning a number of sports, so many, in fact, that we wonder if you shouldn't change jobs. Why don't you become the first male society editor in Texas as history?

Ed's Note: It's not our cup of tea.

Dear Sir: You mentioned that Cassius Clay would have fared better from a personal standpoint if he had allowed the United States Army to induct him. What would he use on his Army form for his name—Muhammad Ali or Cassius Clay?

Ed's Note: He might have signed his initials. CC—Conscientious Clay.

In case you haven't guessed, these letters are completely fictitious.

NOTE: In case the world comes to an end, this column will be discontinued.

Marines Aid Twins' Win Over Nats

By JOE GERGEN
UPI Sports Writer

There's no stopping Frank Quilici now that the Minnesota Twins have given him his start.

Quilici, the slight battler who figured so prominently in the Twins' 1965 American League pennant drive before fading into the obscurity of the minor leagues, re-emerged from the shadows again last Friday night when he started a game at second base, courtesy of the U.S. Marine Corps.

He appears quite reluctant to leave the spotlight.

Quilici, subbing for Rod Carew who is serving a reserve hitch with the Marine has now started in four games and the Twins have won them all.

What's more they owe much of that success to the spirited utility player, who has collected seven hits in 12 at bats since coming off the scrap heap.

Twins Move Up

The 29-year-old Quilici, who was hitless in seven appearances through the first two months of the season, doubled and tripled, scored one run and drove in another Monday night as Minnesota defeated Washington 4-1 to move within a game of the second-place Baltimore Orioles.

The Oakland Athletics edged the Orioles 3-2, enabling the idle Detroit Tigers to open an eight game lead, the Chicago White Sox nipped the third-place Cleveland Indians and the California Angels outlasted the New York Yankees 2-1 in 12 innings.

In the only two National League games played, the Atlanta Braves overcame the Cincinnati Reds 3-2 and the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Houston Astros 4-3. A scheduled game between Los Angeles and Philadelphia was postponed by rain.

Quilici tripled to right center in the third inning and scored on pitcher Jim Kaat's single. He doubled home Jerry Zimmerman in the man, who had walked, in the course's rough which is filled with cactus plants, mesquite and rocks.

Several players expressed concern over rattlesnakes in the course's rough which is filled with cactus plants, mesquite and rocks.

"This is a demanding golf course which rewards you for a good shot and penalizes a bad one," Melynk said.

EAST - WEST MATCHES KICK OFF NCAA GOLF

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (UPI)—The annual East-West matches today kick off a week of collegiate golf activity that will show whether the University of Houston still holds its stranglehold on the NCAA championship.

Houston's Hal Underwood and Florida's Steve Melynk, the favorites for the individual title, were among those getting in a final practice round over the New Mexico State course Monday.

Houston's All-American Hal Underwood and Florida ace Steve Melynk, considered the favorites for individual title honors, were among the golfers firing practice rounds.

"It's a good course, I like it," said Underwood, who shot a one-under-par 5 for the front nine during practice.

Melynk, who played the course earlier this year said he liked Southwest courses.

"This is a demanding golf course which rewards you for a good shot and penalizes a bad one," Melynk said.

"So much for so little"

The Panama Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Panama News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Freedom To Say 'No'

The do-what-you-feel philosophy so frequently spouted by many young people today has borne its fruit and left millions of persons agape. A young man apparently had such a strong feeling of rancor against the senator from New York, Robert F. Kennedy, that he felt like killing him. So he did. And a nation prays for the departed senator.

That a man controls his acts by thinking does not mean he lacks feeling. It means that he is the master of his fate. Following a do-what-you-feel attitude can mean one must forfeit mastery of his own fate even as Sirhan Sirhan must do. Young Sirhan was in a unique position shortly after midnight, in the early hours of June 5. He was the one person who could have stopped the assassination of Senator Kennedy. He could have decided not to pull the trigger even though he felt like it.

"Freedom," it has been said, "is the ability to say no." Especially to oneself, we might add. Where is Sirhan's freedom now? No matter what corner of the world one hails from, murder is not likely to be hailed as a good thing to do. Nor would it honor the murderer. A society accepting murder as a way of life would soon perish of its own standard.

If we would have a land of freedom, it is requisite that each one who lives in our land think about freedom and act accordingly, from a standard of moral rectitude, not from a "drive" to do-what-you-feel. Alexis de Tocqueville, on a visit to America over 130 years ago, appraised the greatness and genius he found, saying, "America is great because America is good. When America ceases to be good, America will cease to be great."

As each individual thinks before he acts, and says no to himself when he feels like doing anything that would interfere with anyone else's freedom, then America will indeed be a land where all may walk in the light, or in the dark — even presidential candidates.

Barbering Branches Out

Shaving was fast becoming a lost art among barbers, long before the comeback of the beard. Now the same may be true for the haircut.

The long-hair trend has knocked the barbershop business off by about 15 per cent from 1966, complains a Barbers' Union official in Los Angeles. The result has been a decline of more than 50 per cent in the number of apprentices working at the trade, he says.

Some barbers have begun counterattacking, however, reports the Los Angeles Times. There is more emphasis in barber schools on hair styling and analysis, tinting and dyeing, shampooing, razor cutting—and beard trimm- ing. Even if you don't have a beard, some shops will accommodate you. It seems there are a surprising number of weekend hippies who have to be clean-shaven on the job but who come in on Fridays to have false beards fitted.

In New York, wig makers are also enjoying a boom thanks to the part-time hippie population — young men who are respectable conformists from 9 to 5, then transform themselves into instant swingers for an evening on the town.

So far, no one has reported seeing a mild-mannered clerk enter a telephone booth, doff his civvies and emerge as — Superhippie!

Spray-can Mine Field

Man's ingenuity in devising ways to blow himself up is apparently endless. Latest development is a "Liquid Land Mine" using Astrotite, the most powerful known explosive.

In a recent test, a two-ton truck was completely destroyed by just eight pounds of the liquid. Poured directly onto a dirt road, the stuff soaks into the first few inches of earth, giving tremendous upheaval power. Although the land mine was fired remotely in the test, a pressure-sensitive fuse can be used that will react to the weight of a passing vehicle.

Other virtues of the liquid are that it remains detonable for up to four days, even in the rain, but eventually deactivates itself, making dangerous minefield clearance unnecessary. Once applied, it cannot be detected by standard mine-detection equipment.

Liquid Land Mine can be simply poured from canteenlike containers, says its maker, Explosives Corporation of America, or sprayed from trucks or helicopters.

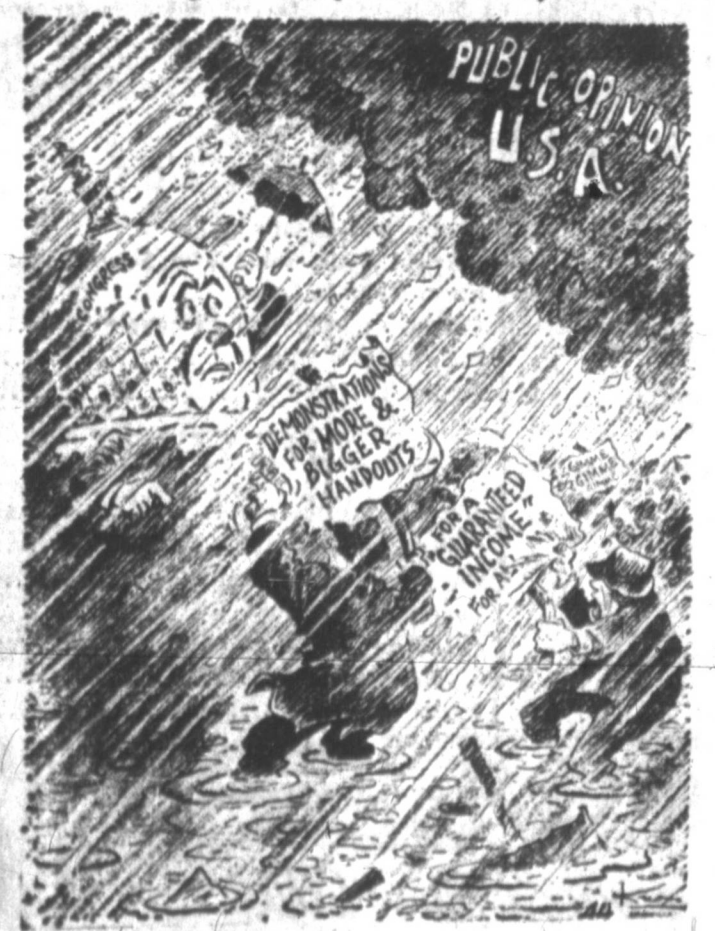

What next-handy aerosol can for home and garden use?

In 1953 residents of the Russian-occupied zone of Berlin staged mass anti-Communist riots protesting working and living conditions. The uprising was quickly smashed.

In 1933 President Franklin D. woman into space. She was Valentina Tereshkova.

In 1967 Red China said it had exploded a hydrogen bomb.

Eye of Science is Cold, Man MONTREAL BUTCHER GIVEN WOMAN'S HEART — Small news item.

This sort of event is becoming so commonplace that it is almost impossible to remember what life used to be like. But only last year, as we dimly recall, women were getting hearts from butchers.

There was a time not so long ago when only a pair of mice could produce another mouse. But a Baltimore laboratory last week produced a mouse with five parents—two males, two females, and one John Hopkins, Ph. D.

It appears, too, that researchers in California may have discovered a birth-control vaccine that can be inoculated like measles or polio shots. And if that is the case, then pregnancy is just another communicable virus condition.

Almost anything is possible nowadays, it seems—and getting more possible by the minute.

Research is making enormous strides in inquiring into the fundamental nature of the universe, man and the other basic items of life.

And if we understand the results of that inquiry, all the basic items of life turn out to be the same. One electron looks pretty much like any other electron. Fundamentally, the living and the nonliving are identical—give or take a virus or two.

And as for man, well, he appears to be only an adaptable mechanism made of interchangeable parts, and survives by his ability to learn new roles as the times require—such as being a hunter, trapper, farmer, researcher, or adaptable mechanism made of interchangeable parts.

So, as we explained, almost anything is possible nowadays. And under those circumstances, there no longer seems to be any reason to look for the truth any more. Not when a Ph. D. can give birth to a mouse.

And so, from what we can see, the search for truth has largely been abandoned. In fact, nobody even talks about it any more.

In those bygone days people used to talk about the facts and the moment of truth. They used to say, "In vino veritas," and "Out of the mouths of babes." The worst thing they could call each other was a liar.

But that has all changed now that everything is possible.

These days, a fact in chemistry says, has an expected half-life of five years. A man approaching the moment of truth these days is reconditioned and reassembled with new parts. These days in vino is "A problem," and most of the babes we know are only out for a good time and no hard feelings afterward.

Whether there are more liars around is impossible to say. But we notice that political candidates these days are not advertised as "Honest" as much as "Experienced."

Naturally, when one thing is fundamentally the same as another, everything is just as important as everything else. To a human mechanism trying to adapt to modern science, one person, appears to be basically interchangeable with another. And, in fact, the living seem to be no more worthwhile than the nonliving.

Once upon a time, people used to say, "Where there's life, there's hope."

But to define life nowadays requires an advanced degree in biophysics. And as for hope—well, there is no need for that hypothesis to explain the workings of the electron.

The winds of violence don't worry us nearly so much as the cold climate of rational basic research.

Wit and Whimsy

The power and speed of new cars help bring places closer together—like this world and the next.

An American was touring Wales, and on entering a hotel in one town noticed the words "Tam Hlab" written on the mat.

Mr. Smith (The American): Ah! I suppose that's Welsh for Welcome.

George (the doorman) — No, sir. That's the bath mat upside down.

New Johnson-Kosygin Exchange of Letters Seeks Significant Vietnam Peace Efforts

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has opened up a new diplomatic exchange of letters with Premier Aleksei Kosygin of the Soviet Union.

Although the content of the messages is being closely held within the White House inner-circle, it can be reliably reported that the President is seeking three objectives:

First is to urge the Soviet leader to use his influence over Hanoi to keep the stalemated Paris talks on Vietnam from breaking down completely.

A second objective is for U.S.—Soviet talks on arms limitations, including the development of new military missiles and satellites systems and the shipment of weapons to the explosives Middle East.

The third objective is to obtain a long-sought invitation to visit Russia before his term expires next January 20. This is one of the President's priority projects.

While Premier Kosygin has neither accepted nor rejected the President's proposals, the Soviet leader has indicated in his response that a complete halt of U.S. bombing of North Vietnam is needed before he'll discuss the other issues.

One of the chief authors of the President's recent messages to Kosygin is Llewellyn Thompson Jr., the current U.S. ambassador to the Soviet union.

The prime mover of President Johnson's original meeting with Premier Kosygin last summer at Glassboro, N. J., Ambassador Thompson has been pushing for a new meeting between the two leaders as the means to break the Paris deadlock in Vietnam.

Since returning to Moscow on April 17, Thompson has presented U.S. proposals, to Soviet officials, including one Vietnam peace offer not yet made public, before Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, the U.S. chief negotiator, presented them in Paris.

MOSCOW NEGOTIATIONS — As one high-level administration official puts it: "The public negotiations on Vietnam are being held in Paris for the record. The significant secret talks are being conducted in Moscow."

At the time he announced the March 31 limitation on U.S. bombing of North Vietnam and took himself out of the 1968 presidential race, the President offered to have both Harriman and Thompson negotiate a peace settlement with Hanoi.

Although it isn't generally known, Thompson arranged the Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting at Vienna in June 1961 which led to the 1962 Geneva agreement on Laos which the Communists signed but never honored.

Originally, President Johnson had planned to send Thompson to Paris with Harriman, but dropped the idea after several members of Congress objected to his views on Vietnam, and to his 1962 proposal of a Kennedy-Khrushchev sum-

PAUL SCOTT

The Doctor Says:

Drug Treatment of Gout Requires Continuance

Q—I have taken colchicine, Benemid and cortisone for my gout. These drugs caused a stomach ulcer. Would allopurinol be better? Would it cause any bad side effects?

A—Although colchicine and probenecid (Benemid) may cause severe nausea, they do not cause peptic ulcers but the cortisone may do so. Colchicine must be given at the start of a course of allopurinol because early in the course of this treatment there is a tendency toward acute attacks of gout. This valuable drug should be taken under close medical supervision and should not be taken by anyone who has liver damage.

Q—I have had about 30 severe attacks of gout in the past 20 years. I have tried probenecid, Anturane and salicylates, but usually have to discontinue them because of headaches, nausea, and nervousness. I am now taking allopurinol, but after taking it for five days I have a severe attack of gout. Should I keep on taking it? Is there anything better than colchicine for this disease?

A—Since hereditary gout can be controlled with the judicious use of colchicine combined with other drugs but cannot be cured, you should continue with your treatment indefinitely. The dosage of these drugs required to prevent attacks is much less and better tolerated than that needed to relieve an acute attack.

Q—Are there different kinds of gangrene? Do the affected parts become black? Is there any cure for this disease?

A—Gangrene is not a disease but a term applied to tissue death. It may be a manifestation of different diseases. When as is the case in some infections, the blood still reaches the dead or dying tissues the condition is called moist gangrene. But when, as is the case with severe frostbite or tissue death due to obstruction in an artery, no blood can reach the tissues we have mummification or dry gangrene.

This is a pathological classification. Classification by cause would include such types as diabetic gangrene and gas gangrene, a disease caused by the gas bacillus.

In mummification, the dead tissues become coal black. Efforts can be made to prevent the various causes of gangrene, but once a tissue is dead there

"Did you know it was Soviet rockets that are killing civilians in Saigon? Are you aware it is Russian tanks and Russian heavy 155-mm howitzers and ground-to-ground rockets that are smashing American perimeters in South Vietnam? Did you know that Soviet ground crews have fired over 5,000 SAM missiles at U.S. planes and pilots in North Vietnam, where more than 1,000 U.S. planes have been shot down?"

"Most disturbing development in U.S. trade with the Soviet bloc nations," according to Lodge, "is the fact that, under presidential executive order, over 400 items of 'strategic' U.S. products, machines and instruments have been cleared for shipment to those countries."

Some Facts About Not So Reverent Rev. Abernathy

By PAUL HARVEY

Now we see the not always reverent Rev. Ralph David Abernathy in Washington as head man of the poor peoples' campaign—mouthing platitudes about nonviolence—while seeking to extort money from congress under threats.

How much cash this "professional protestor" is raking in none but he will ever know. Churches are known to have donated huge sums, but leaders of the SCLC will say little about their finances except periodically to plead for more.

Known cash contributions have ranged from a quarter to $5000. Some unions have contributed generously. The Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union reported pledges from its locals totaling $20,000.

The estimated cost of this demonstration in Washington is $365,000.

But the Poor Peoples' March Committee is calling for no less than $3 million in contributions and probably getting it. Funds have been pouring in too fast to tally; unopened envelopes are being stored at Brinks.

Officials are doing much traveling by plane and out from fund-raising speeches elsewhere. Some are staying —not in the shanty-town — but at plush motels in Washington.

Being hosted and consulted by members of the President's Cabinet and the Congress is heady stuff for one whose fame discovered by accident.

Mr. Abernathy is known to most Americans as the self-appointed heir to Martin Luther King's leadership as president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

But around Montgomery, Ala., they remember Mr. Abernathy as a disreputable clod who, panic-stricken and screaming, fled his own church office on the night of Aug. 29, 1958—with an irate hatchet-wielding husband on his heels.

The pursuer was accusing the pursued reverend of unnatural sex acts with the pursuer's wife, predating her marriage and beginning at the age of 15.

The wife subsequently testified in the trial of her husband for assault that Mr. Abernathy "never stopped chasing me" even after her marriage.

The jury found in favor of the pursuer, yet Mr. Abernathy somehow emerged from this sordid and revolting public exposure—preaching righteousness.

Now we see this man urging today's college graduates to become what he is, "a professional protestor."

And while Mr. Abernathy insists that his objectives are "nonviolent," his other public utterances imply otherwise.

Boston, May 9: "And believe me, Ralph Abernathy, this nation is going to have hell on its hands!"

Birmingham, May 8: "We're going to turn this nation upside down... I won't be nice the next time I go to Washington."

UPI, May 21, quotes Abernathy: "We're going to raise hell!"

And the man Mr. Abernathy has appointed the new "field director" of the poor peoples' march, Hosea Williams, said on June 3 in Washington: "The picnic is over; we're going to share in this nation's wealth or there won't be any wealth!"

The cruelest irony of what many are calling a "new civil war" is that this time the Negroes are frequently victimized by carpetbaggers of their own race.

Well, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act has gone into effect. It is against the law to use printed advertisements for workers that indicate a "preference, limitation or discrimination based on age."

O, I pity the poor business man now. Suppose he runs a cabaret or nite club. His ad might read—"Wanted, Go-Go Dancer, no age limit." I bet he will go Ga-Ga when a 65-year-old dancer shows up and demands to be hired. He will have to hire her too. That sec'y of Labor, Wirtz says if he don't, he has to write a personal letter for a request for an exemption and he has to make a strong showing that such an exemption is necessary.

The nite-club owner probably won't have a leg to stand on—even if the Go-Go Dancer ain't either.

Suppose a feller wants to hire a car-hop? And a 80 year old youngster shows up. The law forbids employes to refuse to hire him because of age. So if your hamburger has got icicles on it by the time he gets back to your car the boss can sit right down and beg the sec'y of Labor to please let him off the hook. Then he can advertise again. And what if another 80 year old shows up?

Bermuda is the oldest of the self-governing British colonies, also one of the most prosperous due largely to American tourists. Actually there are 360 islands in the group, but only 20 are inhabited and only one is the tourist haven and honeymoon paradise. It's an ideal place to live because there are no taxes on real estate, incomes or inheritance. Revenues are raised by excise, postal, transportation, stamp taxes and duties. Close to 200,000 tourists visit there annually and 80 per cent of the visitors are Americans. If you want to get away from traffic jams, Bermuda is the place to go. Motor cars are tolerated, but speed is almost restricted to that of the horse and carriage.

Incidentally, Bermuda was named for a Spaniard, Juan de Bermudez, and the British might have ignored the place if a company of colonists bound for Virginia had not been shipwrecked there in 1609. It proved to be one of the most profitable shipwrecks in history for it has since attracted millions of American dollars to British commerce.

Today's smile: A teacher said to her class: "I want it so quiet in this classroom you can hear a pin drop." Quiet ensued and after a few moments one youngster piped up: "Okay, Let'er drop."

We've often wondered why the automobile industry did not find some way to heat the rear windows of cars to keep steam off them during rainstorms, and snow and ice in winter driving. Well, the motor magnates eventually get around to the obvious and we learned recently that some of the 1969 models will be equipped with rear window defrosting and defogging devices. It's about time, but wait until you see what they charge you for them.

Thoughts while shaving: Light is the chief factor in growing corn, according to the Dept. of Agriculture, which sponsored a program at the University of Illinois. Soil scientists there installed aluminum reflectors to throw light on the lower parts of corn plants and obtained a phenomenal yield of 277 bushels per acre. The average yield is only 78 bushels. Although astronomers use telescopes to study the stars it is possible for the average human to see thousands of them with the naked eye. Those with good eyesight, it is estimated, can see about 9000 on a clear night.

The gear train, which is the basic mechanism of all clocks, was invented by Archimedes, the Greek mathematician, in the 3rd Century B.C. And alarm clocks are said to have been invented by monks during the Middle Ages to arouse them for nightly prayers. The hottest spot on earth is in Libya where the thermometer has registered 136 degrees. It's been reported the ground is so hot there that rainfall sometimes evaporates before it hits. The San Francisco (Calif.) CHRONICLE reported in a story: "Faulty members are often cursed and threatened while patrolling the halls of Berkeley High School." It is their own fault for going there.

Country Editor speaking: "It's an old saying that nothing succeeds like success, but don't forget it's the hardest thing to follow up."

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Ken Kragen is 31, and Ken Fritz is 30, and they run the Smothers Brothers organization. The average age of the organization's staff is about 28. And the situation there is what the new Hollywood is all about. It's really not so much a matter of age, but rather a rejection of the old-line thinking of executives who say: "We've always done it this way." Fritz sums up the company's attitude with this very sound theory: "Judgment can take the place of experience." And Kragen adds this elaboration: "The cry word around here is: Nobodys ever done it like we've got to find a way to do it." Things are very loose and free-swinging at the CBS-TV offices of the Smothers Brothers. You turn one corner and there is comedian Pat Paulsen holding court. You sit talking to Fritz and Kragen, and in pops Tom Smothers—who has a great interest in the production side—to discuss a bit of company business. Tom, in fact, is the coproducer of the Smothers Brothers summer replacement series, which bows on Sunday on CBS-TV, with Paulsen and singer Glen Campbell as stars. Tom's brother, Dick, sticks pretty much to the performing side. And there is no doubt in Hollywood that, beyond the summer series and the brothers' return with their own show in the fall, the organization is on its way to expansion.

Secretary For Senator Is Boosting An Lac Orphanage In S. Vietnam

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—Betty Moul, in the midst of helping her boss win reelection to the U.S. Senate this year, also is running a campaign of her own. The sure winners in Miss Moul's campaign are hundreds of orphans among the victims of the Vietnam War.

Pittsburgh-born Betty Moul is private secretary to Jacob K. Javits, New York's Republican senator since 1956. The petite brunette, when she isn't shuffling the senator's appointments, handling correspondence, arranging speaking schedules and chauffeuring the senator, is out making speeches on her own to raise money for the An Lac Orphanage in Saigon.

Shifting Population
The orphanage, an arm of the Thomas A. Dooley Foundation of which Miss Moul is a trustee, cares for a shifting population of about 400 children from infancy to early teens. And where does this bundle of energy spend her vacations? In Saigon, helping the understaffed staff to feed and clothe, to give medication (malnutrition, diarrhea and tuberculosis are major illnesses), and to teach the unfortunates. Miss Moul instructs them in English and laughingly said that to the children she's become "Co My," their way of calling her "Miss America."

She pays her own way to South Vietnam and admitted that she scrimps on her salary—"bring my own lunch... buy all my clothes on sale." She has worked out with the senator a schedule that permits her to spend close to two months every other year at An Lac. She takes the vacation due her one year in December and then backs the one due for the following year right against it.

Quit Steel Company
Miss Moul came to New York in 1959, transferred by her employer, U.S. Steel, but left in 1963 to work for the senator. She became interested in Dooley's work in Southeast Asia when she read "Give Joy to My Youth," a biography by Teresa Gallagher, an officer also of the foundation.

Miss Moul recalled that Dooley already was hospitalized for the cancer that killed him in 1961. "But I called him and said, 'My name is Betty Moul, I work for U.S. Steel and I can type.'"
