

GRANDVIEW COMMUNITY PICNIC — Some of the 250 persons who attended the Grandview community's 40th annual school picnic Thursday are shown making their way down the "groaning" board filled with barbecue, beans, salads, cakes, pies and assorted other "goodies." The picnic was held in the Grandview School gymnasium.

The Crazy World of Washington

By LEON BURNETT
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Odds and ends from the nation's capital—mostly odd:
Easily the top topic in Washington these days is the poor people's march.
But the nomination for the most bizarre debate must go to one overheard by an amateur artist.
In his class, one side of the question was being voiced vociferously by a student as he sketched away.
Taking the other side with equal vehemence was a young model, wearing exactly nothing and holding steady in a very difficult pose.

The debate was inconclusive—but the student ended up with quite a good sketch.
Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., caused quite a bit of clucking at the State Department some years ago when he suggested the United States urged India to solve its grain shortage and other food problems by converting sacred cows into steaks and such.
He later admitted this might not be a good idea diplomatically.
Now, in a report to the Senate, he's come up with another proposal for the Indians: a bovine birth control program.

When President Johnson's helicopter landed at the Pentagon pad, his mutt Yuki jumped out and headed for bushes nearby.
He lingered a bit too long and missed the limousine taking the President around to a main entrance.
Yuki, an old hand at traveling with the fast-moving President simply jumped into a newsman's car at the end of the motorcade and rejoined his master at the entrance.

Methodists To Attend Conference

Three local Methodist ministers and delegates from their churches will attend the Northwest Texas Conference to be held tomorrow through Wednesday in Amarillo at the Polk Street Methodist Church.
Dr. H. DeWitt Seago of the First Methodist Church, Rev. Walter G. White of Harrah Methodist and Rev. Max Browning of St. Paul's Methodist will attend the three-day meeting.
Dr. Julian Key will serve as delegate from the First Methodist Church, with Bob Curry and Bill Wagner as alternate delegates.
Jack O. Miller will be the delegate from St. Paul's Methodist Church, with Ira B. Carlton serving as an alternate.
From the Harrah Methodist Church, Mrs. Luther Kirk will be the delegate and Mrs. Bill Lambright will be the alternate delegate.
The conference in Amarillo will be one of nine annual Methodist conferences being held across Texas during this week through the first week in June.
The eight Methodist conferences are expected to approve a proposal which calls for linking of all communications operations of the new United Methodist Church under a single statewide body.
The proposal was approved by the Texas Methodist Planning Commission earlier in the year.

Mayor Of Reynosa Is Replacing Plaza

By KENNETH R. CLARK
REYNOSA, Mexico (UPI)—Only a very brave man would sledge-hammer the principal plaza in any Mexican city—but Rodolfo Garza Cantu, the controversial mayor of Reynosa, apparently is as long on courage as he was short on pesos two months ago.
Cantu—who chucked his community in March with the announcement that the city was broke and couldn't pay its light bill—now says he has 800,000 pesos and wants to use it to modernize the plaza, the social focal point in this border city of 135,000.

The first hint of Cantu's remodeling project came this week when workmen appeared in the plaza and demolished the stone benches, there since the 1920s.

With the benches already reduced to rubble, Cantu advised the chamber of commerce of the new public works project. He said a million pesos would be available from the federal government for the work, that the city would add 800,000 more, and that the main street which circles the plaza would have to be closed for at least two months while construction was in progress.
The chamber, envisioning the loss of income for businesses which surround the tree-lined square, and the nightmare of traffic which closing the already crowded main street would produce, immediately protested.

Chamber officials, complaining that the mayor so far has ignored them, were busy Thursday recruiting merchants into a united front against continuation of the work.
A chamber spokesman said if the mayor continues to rebuff a meeting with the merchants, they will send a representative to Mexico City in an effort to cut off the million-peso credit.
About the only landmark not yet targeted for the bulldozer is the monument to national hero Benito Juarez, at the south end of the plaza, and even he appears none too secure atop his pedestal these days.

LONDON (UPI)—Residents beside the railroad line at Kensington Road complained they are getting an "egg and bacon" alarm clock at five every morning.
In a complaint to British Railways, they said the engineer and brakeman stop their train on the line for an hour each morning while they cook eggs and bacon for breakfast in a shack beside the track. The idling of the train's big diesel engine is "like an alarm clock," they complained.

Postal Trucks To Boost Maritime Day

Postmaster R. W. McPhillips Jr. announced Saturday that in accordance with the request of Congress in 1933, the President each year has proclaimed May 22 as National Maritime Day to focus public attention on the American Merchant Marine and its role in maintaining the nation's economic strength and national security.

"When you spot a postal truck this month," McPhillips said, "take a look at the poster that says, 'America's Ships Deliver the Goods.' Merchant ships, of course, May 22 is National Maritime Day, and postal trucks carry the National Maritime Day Poster during the entire month.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) — You are tempted to rely more gossip. You have heard but this would only lead to trouble, since it could be reloaded differently. Getting advice from an expert is good. Plan your future more intelligently.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23) — You feel that some good friend does not really understand your motives, but this is not so, so be cheerful. Don't become a part of that group that does very little except gossip. Join another that is just the opposite.

Be more dynamic than you have been in the past. Show you have not lost touch with the ground. Joining some philosophical group would be very good for you and gain much respect from others as well. Don't be so concerned with personal fun. Keep rooted to the progressive and the worthwhile.

'Good Old Days' Were Demanding On Time

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—The good old days... who needs them! Certainly, there was much to be said for them when you consider today's polluted air and water, the crowded highways and the urban sprawl gobbling up man's last open spaces.
But consider them in light of all of today's conveniences in consumer products alone and the good old days were pretty demanding on time and energy.
Even a decade ago, who would have thought of a self-defrosting refrigerator, a self-cleaning range, a television set on which you can switch channels without getting up, a telephone system by which you can dial automatically any number in the nation—and pretty soon, Europe too.

More Coming
And more conveniences are on the way, according to an extensive survey of manufacturers by one firm which has just introduced something brand new in alarm clocks. It's a 24-hour electric clock you set just once for the time you want to be awakened, and from then on, the clock resets automatically.
The clock comes from the Westclox Division of General Time and the company's researchers decided there'd be interest in a sweeping look at what other manufacturers are doing. It found innovations introduced in almost every consumer product area in the last year.

Ladies' compacts now are available with battery-powered, built-in lights. Portable hair dryers now come with remote controls and, for travelers and vacationers, operate on two voltages, 110-120 and 220-240.
In the whole area of housework, it's the good new days. Diapers come disposable. Waterproof plastic gloves for doing the dishes or a bit of hand laundry are disposable and come in rolls of 100—useful, that is if you are still not using a dishwasher or washing machine.

New Appliances
In appliances, these new conveniences have been added: A refrigerator-freezer with a special section that can be made into freezer or refrigerator, whichever you need at a particular time, another that automatically makes hundreds of ice cubes at a time, automatic food cookers which can prepare as many as three dishes at the same time and home "ripeners" which do the work of the sun for bananas, melons, pears, tomatoes and such.

And for the impatient green-thumb, there is a collection of 50 fast-growing plants. Put them in the soil and you soon have a 100-foot formal hedge. That's what the manufacturer said.

Campbell Says Statement Not Quoted Correctly

Jim Campbell of Pampa, Republican committeeman from the 31st senatorial district, was quoted Saturday as being the victim of a "muddled" report in a published story that he told the State GOP Executive Committee Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Canyon was supporting Don Yarborough for governor.

Senator Hazlewood denied that he was supporting Yarborough.

Campbell said he told the Republican Executive Committee, in response to a question about Hazlewood's feud with Smith, that "the senator doesn't care for Preston Smith. . . he might prefer Yarborough for all I know."

Campbell said he made it clear however, that he had no idea how Hazlewood feels about Yarborough.

The district committeeman also said he did not state that Hazlewood was urging citizens to vote for the GOP candidate for governor in November.

"What I said," Campbell stated, "was that it was my belief that Eggers (the Republican candidate) was the kind of man Hazlewood could support, but I couldn't speak for him."

A newspaper report Saturday said the senator "hedged on which candidate he will support in November."

"I'll support the nominee on either side who comes nearest to supporting the principles on which this country was founded," the senator was quoted as saying.

Balloon Flight Ends In Injury For 73-Year-Old

AMARILLO, Tex. (UPI)—Dr. Janelle Piccard, 73, remained in good condition today following surgery yesterday on an ankle she broke in the crash of a balloon.

The crash of a balloon? Yes, and for Dr. Piccard, Friday's balloon ride at the Amarillo Helium Times Column merely carried on a tradition she began in 1934 when she became the first woman to ride a hot air balloon into the stratosphere.

Pilot of the ill-fated but lighter-than-air craft Friday was Dr. Piccard's son Don, the holder of several balloon altitude records. Also along for the voyage was another well-known member of the family, cousin Jacques Piccard, holder of the world's record for deepest penetration of the ocean.

The trio left Amarillo Friday afternoon for Dr. Piccard's first ride in a helium balloon. But when they brought the craft in for a landing about 25 miles south of the city their angle of descent just wasn't quite right, and the wicker basket tipped the voyagers out.

When Dr. Piccard learned that the ankle she had twisted in the jolting landing was broken, she informed her son that she was "too old to be running around in a balloon," but she was glad she took the flight anyway.

Store Burglarized

A burglar or burglars took watches and motor oil from Duckwall's Variety Store sometime Friday night or Saturday morning after breaking into the building through a skylight on the roof, a police report said.

Value of the watches and several cases of motor oil was undetermined, police say.

The North Vietnamese negotiator rejected a proposal by Harriman that both sides pull back their troops from the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) between North and South Vietnam. He said the two sides are "diametrically opposed" on five points which Harriman had said showed some signs of agreement.

They also rejected a U.S. proposal that the international committee of the Red Cross investigate the situation in Vietnam.

As Saturday's talks got underway, U.S. officials outside the conference room said the United States could not agree to Hanoi's demand for an end to all American reconnaissance flights over North Vietnam as part of their price for peace talks.

Roberts said the plane came down on its tail, bounced several times and skidded. Its landing gear was down.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A third television network has scheduled a group of special summer programs about America's race relations.

Previously, CBS-TV announced it would begin its series, "Of Black America," on July 2. And National Educational Television said it would start "An Experimental Black Magazine of the Air" in mid-June.

Now ABC-TV has disclosed plans for six one-hour programs—four in prime time—beginning June 27 under the title "Time for Americans." Says the boss of ABC news, Elmer Lower:

"The President's Advisory Committee on Civil Disorders lays the blame for last summer's riots on what it calls, 'white racism.'"

In our series we propose to examine white racism, and its offshoots, one of which is black racism."

Here is an ABC-TV outline of the programs:
—June 27, 10 p.m. EDT: "Bias and the Media." Description: "Racism as it exists in the media in America—radio and television, the advertising agencies, the advertisers, newspapers and magazines."

—July 11, 10 p.m. EDT: "In the Same Boat." Description: "A look at the black and white poor of America who came to (Washington) to participate in the poor people's march."

—July 14, 4 p.m. EDT: "Riots and the Victims." Description: "A look at last summer's riots in Newark. How the black and white community felt then, their thoughts now..."

"Prejudice and the Police." Description: "The city of Houston has undertaken a dramatic method of exposing prejudice among the men who can least afford psycho-drama, Houston's police are facing up to their own prejudices and those of the black community."

—July 28, 4 p.m. EDT: "My Grandfather Made it, Why Can't You?" Description: "A contrasting look at the Negro and white man, whose immigrant ancestors pulled themselves up by their bootstraps."

—July 29, 7:30 p.m. EDT: "Who are 'They'?" Description: "A study of a nice suburban community and the subtle forms of racism in all of us."

Red Cross News

By LIBBY SHOTWELL
ARC Executive Secretary

The annual meeting of the American Red Cross was a success and we thank all of the board members, hospital volunteers and their friends who attended the meeting. Judge J.G. Denton gave a fine talk on Red Cross work and told of some of the plans for the future.

New directors on the Red Cross board are Mrs. V.J. Drew, Mrs. Fred Thompson and Quincy Rogers who will serve 3-year terms. The board has one new officer this year, Richard Hankins. Other directors will be Norman Fitzler, Mrs. A. D. Hills, who also serves as secretary of the board, and S. R. Lenning Jr., Joe M. Daniels, Bill Fraser, and James Trusty. John S. Skelly Jr. is chapter chairman, D. V. Biggers is vice chairman, and the chairman of the various committees also serve on the board. The first board meeting will be at 7:30 a. m. June 4 in the Coronado Inn Mr. Claud Payne will meet with the board and orientate the new members.

Miss Judy Fugate will be the chapter's delegate to the Lost Star MV Camp Athens, Texas. She will attend the Aquatic School to become a water safety instructor this summer.

Miss Fugate is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fugate and Mrs. Fugate is also a WSI. Judy is a Senior at Pampa High next year and will graduate next week. She will work this summer in the Red Cross swim program.

Since weather was so cold Friday afternoon many of the children's parents did not venture out to register their children. Please do not come by the Red Cross office There will be a registration day May 28th in the Red Cross office and fill the places left open on the swim program.

Saturday May 18 was Armed Forces Day and many people flew flags in Pampa. Men and women in every branch of the service can be thanked in this way. Baker Elementary School with Mrs. Austin Ruddick, Teacher sponsor, brought tray favors and nut cups to the chapter to be sent to patients in the Amarillo Air Force Base Hospital for the Fourth of July. They showed the boys and girls at the school put plenty of work into the mats and tray favors. Thanks to the fifth and sixth grades for the mints and the nut cups.

Tet bags for the children of S. Vietnam were brought to the office from Baker School during the week and they were excellent. So few articles had to be purchased to complete the bags. These boys and girls in our elementary schools are bound to be fine citizens. They have learned the art of sharing while young.

Thanks again to the ladies of the Rebecca Lodge who have worked all year cleaning and sizing clothing at the Welfare Index Clothing room. The women have worked free of charge and helped so much with the project. They are to be commended for giving so much of their time. Mr. and Mrs. Stafford also give freely of their time.

Kremlin To Postpone Its Decision On Line Toward 'Maverick' Czechs

PRAGUE (UPI) — Informed Communist sources said Thursday the Kremlin has postponed decisions on its line towards maverick Czechoslovakia until it receives guarantees that Czech reformists will suppress religion, opposition parties and capitalism and remain Communist.

Only after receiving answers to his worries over Czech "democratization", will the Soviet Union decide what attitude to take toward its independent ally including granting Prague a sorely needed $400 million loan, it was learned.

Reliable party sources said the Soviets expressed interest, apparently when they summoned reformist Communist party chief Alexander Dubcek to Moscow May 4, in satisfactory answers to:

Whether Czech leaders would continue a close alliance with the Soviet Union and other Communist nations.

Whether the forthcoming extraordinary Czech party congress, called ahead of schedule to oust old-line Stalinists, might make decisions unfavorable to Communism.

Whether economic reforms might result in reintroduction of private ownership.

Whether the Catholic Church might regain a prominent role.

Observers noted pressure from the Soviet Union, Poland and East Germany already may have dampened Czech reformists. Party sources said a new election law being prepared provides that no opposition party be permitted to run its own ticket in future elections.

Former 'Green Beret' Sergeant To Speak in Amarillo on Vietnam War

Alan Davidson, a former sergeant in the legendary "Green Berets" who served with the U. S. Special Forces in Vietnam, will speak on "Victory Depends On You!" at Holiday Inn West at 8 p.m. Thursday May 23 His appearance is sponsored by the Amarillo Train Committee.

After working with the Vietnamese people, living with them, aiding them, and fighting by their sides, Davidson came to understand the incredible obstacles confronting South Vietnam and the American soldiers who went there to help them.

His training was extensive: guerrilla warfare, jungle survival, demolitions, parachuting counter-insurgency, and intensive preparation as a medic. "I was prepared," he says, "to perform an appendectomy in the morning, hold dental call in the afternoon, and grab my rifle at night."

In 1963 he was sent, along with eleven other Green Beret into the middle of War Zone D—a maze of jungles and swamps that was then dominated by Vietcong terrorists. This small, isolated band of heroic Americans proceeded to establish and hold one of the early "strategic hamlets."

One of the hard lessons Davidson says he learned is that the war in Vietnam is only part of a world-wide Communist movement. Returning to the United States, he said he saw similar enemies of freedom advancing the same Communist program here.

Davidson says he is concerned and he is disturbed. And he asks: Why are our soldiers not allowed to win in Vietnam? Why does our government send the Soviet Union and our other Communist enemies the means and material which the Vietcong use to kill American soldiers? And what can Patriotic Americans do to help our servicemen?

Davidson's knowledgeable re-

You can discover America with Jose (Bill Dana) Jimenez tonight at 10 p.m. EDT on NEC-TV. A gentle good-natured hour takes viewers to unusual fairs, festivals and tourist attractions of the United States in the summer, and also takes time to appreciate the country's beauty and national character.

Among the features of "Discover America with Jose Jimenez" are the Tom Sawyer fence-painting contest in Hannibal, Mo.; the Santa Clara Indians rain dance in Santa Fe, N.M.; the blessing of the fleet in Gloucester, Mass.; the Natural Chimneys jousting tournament in Mt. Solon, Va.; and the New York Shakespeare Festival's mobile children's theatre in the Bronx.

marks, backed up by a display of actual Vietcong weapons and booby traps, as well as slides he made in Vietnam, will help answer these and many other questions about the puzzling war.

The Amarillo Train Committee, which is sponsoring Davidson's talk, was formed to support U. S. soldiers, insist our goal be victory in Vietnam, and demand a halt in all aid and trade with our Communist FUTURE TEACHERS are Michele Patrick of Bethesda, Md., who hopes to make it her life's work, and President Johnson, who has said he will return to the profession after leaving public office. The 17-year-old girl was chosen "Miss American Teen-ager" last year at New Jersey's Palisades Amusement Park, where the contest is conducted each September.

New Mexico Leases Uranium, Sulphur Acquired By Firm

MIDLAND, Tex. (UPI) — A partner of Stoltz & Co. of Midland have reported the firm has acquired 459,000 acres of uranium leases and 634,000 acres of state sulphur leases in southeastern New Mexico.

The acquisition makes the firm the largest sulphur lease holder in the state.

"The next surge of sulphur exploration, Stoltz & Co. believes, will come in the equivalent geological deposits in New Mexico," said Dean Stoltz.

He said the uranium leases were in Roosevelt, Lea, Eddy and Lincoln counties. He said work has already begun on both leases.

Beware Of Too Much Sun

Too much sun can turn an anticipated pleasurable vacation into days of ceaseless pain and discomfort. With just a little caution and a good suntan product, you can prevent both agony and days of unsightly peeling of your skin. Expose yourself to the sun, with plenty of a good suntan preparation lightly patted on the skin, for a short time to start. Then as your suntan develops take more sun each day.

WATCH OUT FOR THOSE FOGGY DAYS WITH THE SUN HIDDEN. Ultra-violet rays can filter through to give you a burn. Protect your eyes with a pair of sunglasses, created to filter out most of the harmful ultra-violet rays. Stop in and we will be glad to help you select dependable protection against the sun.

Hay Supply Short; Don't Let It Happen Again, A&M Advises

COLLEGE STATION — Hay supplies were tight at the end of the current winter season and now is the time to make sure the same situation does not happen again.

Neal Pratt, Extension agronomist at Texas A&M University, says the very favorable statewide soil moisture situation gives hay producers the opportunity to make large tonnages of high quality hay this year.

But, he adds, moisture alone will not do the job. For top yields of high quality, adequate fertilization is a must. He suggests a soil test as a guide to proper fertilization. Do not expect high quality forage nor good growth rates from hay crops which lack adequate plant food, emphasizes Pratt.

Though soil moisture is good now, the situation can change in a hurry and proper fertilization, he explains, will help the plants more efficiently utilize available soil moisture.

BERRY'S WORLD

Loanshark Pressure Widowed This Wife

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Tony Franchina's job in Chicago did not pay enough to cover the hospital bills when he got sick. So he looked for a juiceman — underworld parlance for someone who lends money at illegally high interest rates, — and wound up borrowing $300.

It meant 10 per cent interest a week on the unpaid balance, BUT Franchina thought he could manage it. It was the only way out.

But he couldn't manage it, his wife Dorothy told the Senate Small Business committee Thursday. And it turned out the only way out was something else.

"The first I knew about it was a telephone call," she said. "They told me to give him a message: 'Just tell him he's behind.'"

"Then he had to go into the hospital and he told me I would have to make the payments. I asked why and he told me I must or something might happen — it was very complicated, he said. So I took the money to the Vic Damone pizzeria."

It was not enough, she found out a short while later when she opened the door and found Tony on the steps.

"His face was broken, he needed 12 stitches in his face. You couldn't recognize his face. He had to go to the hospital again." She made another trip to meet the loansharks at the same pizzeria with what money she could manage.

"I got an offer to become a prostitute to earn enough money to make the payments. I told him as long as I had two hands I would never do that for a living."

"Then one day at work I got a call and they told me I would have to make a payment or I would never see my boy again. I got money from my boss and rushed to pay them. I asked them where's my boy and they said he would be home when I got there."

Five-year-old Michael, she said, told her two men had stopped and talked to him. When it was all over, her husband had paid more than $1000 for the $300 loan—and Tony had put a bullet in his chest.

"My husband finally killed himself—the sickness, the money, it all led up to it. I'm not a very brave person. I'm not going to say I'm not scared and nervous—I am. But if a woman ever had any hate in her head, I have."

"These people are worse than animals. They kill and maim not to survive but for pleasure. They're only brave and strong when they force themselves on people who can't fight back. "I wish to God someone would do something."

Plains Hold Bonanza In Sulphur Deposits

By JOY COOK
United Press International
The windswept plains of West Texas hold a bonanza in sulphur deposits and speculators are betting the riches extend into New Mexico.

The wealth of the Texas sulphur deposits appears certain. Three multi-million-dollar processing plants are starting to operate and land in that area sells for as much as $2,000 an acre.

One site, near Ft. Stockton, Tex., was estimated to contain as much as $40 million worth of commercial sulphur deposits. More than 210,000 acres of land in fact, no sulphur has been leased for sulphur exploration.

No such fabulous discoveries have been made in New Mexico. In fact, no sulphur has been located at all, aside from traces logged in oil and gas drilling records.

Snap Up Land
But a handful of private prospectors and prominent mining companies are gambling on geologists' reports that rock formations and other factors in southeastern New Mexico around Carlsbad are identical to those in the mother lode of the Texas Permian Basin.

Those men have snapped up more than seven times as much land in New Mexico as in Texas — some 1.5 million acres of leases from state and federal governments in New Mexico's Eddy, Lea and Chaves counties. The big boom has come in the past three to six months.

One man alone — Dean Stoltz of the Midland, Tex. oil firm of Stoltz and Co. — has taken sulphur leases on more than one-third that total, or 500,000 acres, in the past month.

"We feel pretty certain that most of the people involved (in New Mexico) are speculators with no intention of looking for sulphur," said Bill Egan of Santa Fe, N. M., chief of the minerals branch, U.S. Bureau of Land Management.

"Probably we have more than 1,000 times as much land leased for sulphur down there as will ever amount to anything. These people are just getting leases, hoping sulphur will be found down there and they can sell their leases to the serious firms," he said.

Egan noted that quality sulphur deposits were considerably richer than other minerals, with "One section of land (640 acres) with mineable sulphur probably worth something in the neighborhood of $100 million."

Several firms already operating in Texas led the expansion to New Mexico. The firms include Stoltz and Texas-Avalon Oil Co. of Midland, Duval Corp. of Houston, Sinclair, Atlantic-Richfield, and O. P. Leonard of Fort Worth.

Has Processing Plant
Duval has a $5 million processing plant in operation 16 miles north of Ft. Stockton, Texas, which it anticipates will produce a peak of about 500 tons or $18,000 worth.

Porter said the predicted 1968 income would be about the same as 1967, in contrast to the four and one-half per cent boost in business seen between 1966 and 1967.

"One of the main reasons for this decline is because in recent years investment money has found its way into businesses where the profits are better or the risk was less—or a combination of both."

Deeper wells also hike costs, he added. The official said reports for the first three months of 1968 showed production running "slightly ahead of 1967." However, he said there probably would be a 1.5 per cent decrease in oil production through the year, with a four to five per cent increase in gas output.

New Mexico ranks fourth in the nation in gas production and sixth in the production of oil, with the southeastern section of the state producing some 20 per cent of the oil.

"It is very difficult to predict if the decline will continue," Porter said. "If the supply situation becomes more acute, to the point where prices would be increased, it would spark additional exploration."

Cities Service, Mexico's Pemex Sign Agreement

NEW YORK—Petroleum Mexicans, the Mexican government petroleum agency, has signed a license agreement with Cities Service Company's research and development subsidiary covering the construction of an 18,500 barrel-per-day H-Oil hydrocracking unit at the Salamanca Refinery of PEMEX.

The H-Oil process, developed jointly by Cities Service Research and Development Company and Hydrocarbon Research, Inc., upgrades and desulfurizes heavy residual and asphaltic oils into more valuable petroleum products. It is a major refining process for removing sulphur and other contaminants from petroleum to prevent air pollution.

PEMEX will use the H-Oil process unit to convert heavy petroleum fractions, such as propane asphalt and vacuum residuals, into lighter distillate products to increase production of required fuel products.

A commercial H-Oil unit has been in operation at Cities Service Oil Company's refinery at Lake Charles, La., since 1963. A 26,000 barrel per day unit is ready for start-up at the new refinery of Kuwait National Petroleum Company in Kuwait, and Humble Oil and Refining Company is installing a 16,500 barrel-per-day unit at its Bayway Refinery in New Jersey.

Quirks In The News

By United Press International
REDDING, Calif. (UPI)—A Pacific Gas Electric Co. project has been halted because of a couple of protective eagles.

They are nesting with three eaglets in one of two 85-foot steel towers from which the company wants to string power lines. Every time a workman comes near, the parent eagles swoop down at them.

PG&E spokesmen say the work will be put off until the eaglets are able to fly.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Walgreen Drug Stores introduced a child-resistant top for prescription vials here this week and invited a group of youngsters to try to open it.

Rodney Robinson, 4, of Concord, picked one up and chewed the top right off the vial.

"It's because of resourceful little tykes like him that we say the vial is child-resistant instead of child proof," a Walgreen spokesman commented.

Offshore Oil Industry Is Advancing Rapidly

The offshore oil industry is advancing at an amazing rate through economic, technical and geographic frontiers.

A recent report by the Oil and Gas Journal sets the current offshore investment at $15 billion and increasing at a rate of some $4 million daily.

The report lists offshore production at about eight per cent of the free world's output and estimates proved offshore reserves of crude oil at over 52 billion barrels. Add production and reserves from sheltered waters and the total is higher.

The bulk of these figures have been recorded in less than a decade.

Offshore Production Up
In 1960, for example, less than 30 countries had offshore production. Now the total stands at about 80 and a dozen more are in the wings. In the same period offshore concession acreage multiplied 4.5 times, production increased sixfold and estimated reserves tripled.

The Middle East and its rich Persian Gulf boasts some three-fourths of the offshore reserves and nearly half of current production, but practically every corner of the globe is taking part in the surge.

Erazil is on the brink of a wildcat drilling campaign, western Africa and the Far East have seen a recent flurry of strikes and offshore lease sales in the United States have brought record multi-million dollar bids.

The present year already is expected to produce a variety of offshore records.

Record Pipeline
Recent completion of a 30-inch pipeline in the North Sea off England's east coast marked a record pipeline size. One prediction calls for record pipeline construction—over 900 miles of 8-inch or larger line in the Louisiana gulf. Completion of a 600-foot-deep pipeline in California's Santa Barbara Channel would roughly double the depth record.

Humble Oil & Refining Co., has announced plans to drill for gas and oil in 1,300 feet of water before the year is out. This project would also double the existing depth record.

Offshore growth over the past seven years has been phenomenal and the end is not in sight. The Journal predicts that offshore investment, already accounting for about 25 per cent of the industry's operating expenses, will double in the next ten years.

Agriculturally Speaking

By Jesse Hoermann
Asst. County Farm Agent

This week we are going to stop worrying about farmers' problems because of good rain, and we are going to talk a little about what is happening in 4-H.

Gray County was well represented at the District 4-H Club Contest on Saturday, April 27. We had 30 4-H'ers competing and they all did a good job.

Only senior members are eligible to attend the state Round-up but the juniors placed well with several firsts and the rest were up at the top.

Another senior team, besides those mentioned earlier by Foster Whaley, going to state Round-up will be the rifle team coached by Tom Veale and W. F. Huff. The team members are Mat Mills, David Broggin, Ray Kenny and Ronnie Robbins. The rifle teams have consistently made good showings over the past years. Not only does this make good competitors of the 4-H'ers but it also gives them an opportunity to learn proper methods of handling their rifles. There has not been one single careless accident in the over fifteen years that the 4-H rifle club has been participating.

The junior rifle team also placed first in the district contest. The members who competed are Ted Reeves, Steve Buchanan, Willis Price and Lynn Laycock.

The 4-H Rifle Club gives the opportunity for all boys and girls between 9 and 19 to learn how to practice rifle safety, how to shoot, a place to do this, and coaches that are willing to work with them.

4-H Calves

4-H'ers are getting calves on feed for next year's shows. This is a very good opportunity for boys and girls with the facilities to have a project that will give them responsibility as well as make a little money and build character. Those 4-H'ers that are participating in the calf project are Jim Reeves, Nancy Stockstill, Dusty and Frank Morrison, Frank Davis, Mike and Kit Long, Danny Dalton, Dennis Brooks, Chris Skaggs, and Joe Richardson. If anyone else would be interested, let us know as soon as possible.

There are many other projects 4-H'ers may participate in. Just because a boy or girl lives in town doesn't mean he can not participate in 4-H. Projects may consist of anything from dogs to bicycles.

4-H Horses

Plans are in the making for the District 1 4-H horse show which will again be held here in Pampa on July 16. Gray County has about 40 boys and girls active in 4-H Horse Projects. These 4-H'ers learn to ride, show, and judge horses as well as care for them. They participate in many parades and horse judging events throughout the area.

FISH FARMING is rapidly increasing as a rural industry in several southeastern states. Here, farmers near Star City, Ark., use nets to harvest catfish from a reservoir. In Arkansas, about 4,000 acres of ponds are producing volumes of catfish.

Improvements Are Spurred By FHA's Rural Community Facilities Program

"Rural community progress in Texas has been spurred by the development of 43 modern water systems, sewer systems, and recreation centers through the Farmers Home Administration," Gray County Supervisor Claude Moore said Friday.

Moore reported on benefits brought to the state under Rural Community Facilities programs that have been enlarged under President Johnson's efforts to improve living conditions in rural areas.

Water supply problems have been solved for more than 180,000 people in rural Texas through 418 water systems made possible by FHA loans and grants totaling more than $54 million. The new systems serve both rural towns and countryside where the people have had to exist on uncertain and, sometimes, unsafe water supplies.

Moore reported that three rural communities in the state also have new or improved waste disposal systems through FHA loans and grants approved the past two years. At present, there are 48 waste disposal projects underway in Texas from application stage to those under construction.

"We are beginning to make real progress toward the President's goal of clean, constant water for all of rural America," Moore said. "Towns benefited by the program are able to improve living standards and accommodate new business and industry when they can offer the same kind of water service as found in the city."

Through insurance of private loan financing, the Agency also has made possible the construction of 15 outdoor recreation centers developed by community associations and serving an estimated 13,500 people in rural Texas.

The centers give rural families the same opportunity as city and suburban dwellers to enjoy modern swimming pools, playing fields, golf, boating, and other forms of outdoor recreation.

Moore said the Agency also has made grants to 60 counties of the state for comprehensive planning of the future development of water and waste disposal services in rural areas.

Panhandle Water District News

By FELIX W. RYALS

The constant demand for a surtax coupled with the demand to cut domestic spending could possibly have far-reaching effects on some much-needed programs. One of these programs is that of getting water from the Mississippi River or elsewhere to the West Texas, East New Mexico and West Oklahoma areas.

Should these areas get lost in the current economic struggle, we can look forward to almost certain need for a poverty program for this great area. For the area to stay sound and healthy more water must be made available during the next two decades.

Texas water attention moved to Washington as hearings got underway on many water projects.

Chief Engineer John Vandertulip of the Water Development Board endorsed all the projects recommended by President Johnson in his budget. Then he urged approval of three items: An increase from $3,000,000 to 1.6 million in right-of-way funds for Cooper Dam; a new item of $50,000 to buy right-of-way for the Texarkana Reservoir conversion (which would give this project current interest rates instead of expected higher ones a start next year would require) and a start on the Aubrey project.

Executive Director Howard Boswell will testify May 22 at the Senate Public Works Committee hearing on authorization of the navigation of the Red to Shreveport and Daingerfield. Spokesmen for all four states involved have agreed to be in unanimous support of the Corps of Engineers recommendations on both bank stabilization and navigation, so as to present a united front at Congressional hearings. The four state position will be that the navigation project from the mouth of the Red to Daingerfield should be considered as a unit, with no division into two reaches for cost allocation to be considered.

However, Boswell's position will be that there should be no restudy of the Shreveport-Daingerfield reach, that the cost of Dam and Lock No. 6 be assigned equally to the reaches above and below Shreveport, and that no construction be started on the bank stabilization project from Denison to Index, Ark., until Congress has acted on an analysis of the cost-sharing policy on such projects, to consider them as flood control projects for financing federally. Boswell will also suggest that the old Mooringsport project be deauthorized, and that the navigation of the Denison-Shreveport reach of the Red River be evaluated in the future as changes indicate a better chance for a feasibility finding.

Last week the U.S. Geological Survey made a formal announcement in Washington of its theoretical studies of data from every available source on the feasibility of recharge of the Ogallala in the Texas and New Mexico High Plains. The new Survey office in Lubbock, with Richmond F. Brown, a research hydrologist, as project chief, will coordinate the studies of the Survey and the Bureau of Reclamation, with Trigg Twitchell of Austin in the job of over-all director.

The Survey said that 7 million acre-feet must be imported to support the present farming economy of the region. The statement quoted Trigg Twitchell as saying that the lack of surface storage sites and the high evaporation rates make it desirable that at least half the imported water be stored underground.

While there have been some recharge projects of magnitude, such as those in Southern Calif., no effort approaching this one has ever been undertaken. Twitchell said the study will include injection techniques, new methods of preventing sediment tation of injection wells, new analytical and sampling methods for predicting the underground movement of injected water; and the changes in chemical quality of injected, imported and native water.

The original Washington statement listed only the "southern" High Plains, but the new studies will be applicable to both the North and South Plains areas of New Mexico and West Texas. Intensification of the studies will begin July 1, the announcement said, although gathering of the data already available has been under way for some time.

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service said today about the only moisture short areas in the state was in the far West Texas counties of El Paso, Hudspeth, Reeves and Ward and spots in the Panhandle where only moderate moisture was received over the past several days. Otherwise, the service said soil moisture is adequate to surplus and mostly surplus in the eastern and southern parts of the state.

Flood damage to crops, rice levees in some upper coastal counties and bottomland pastures and fields has been extensive but cannot yet be fully appraised since flooding is still a problem.

Planting has been stopped and replanting made necessary, for the fourth time in hard hit upper coastal counties, in widespread sections of the state.

A good pecan crop has been set in practically all major producing areas and spraying for nut casebearer control is underway in some areas.

Whites Topple Greens, 24-18, In Intra-Squad Game

By JES DUMONT
Daily News Sports Editor
The White varsity squad, led by quarterback Gary Parrish, scored two touchdowns in the second quarter and one in the third stanza to defeat the Green team, 24-18, in an intra-squad football game Saturday night.

quarter to put the Whites ahead. King hit the middle for three yards and a TD opening the second quarter after both teams failed to score in the first quarter.

The extra point and the Whites led 8-0, with only a few minutes gone in the second quarter. Heiskell scored the second touchdown for the Whites from the two yard line. Heiskell went through the middle for the marker mid-way in the second quarter and the Whites led, 14-0. A pass play accounted for the extra point and the Whites led, 16-0.

The Green team came right back on a long pass from Ross Holman to Denny Johnson which covered 55 yards and was good for a touchdown. The Greens failed on their extra points. The Whites then led 16-6.

With less than four minutes left in the third quarter, Gary Parrish tallied from the ten yard line around right end. King crashed the middle for the extra point and the Whites had a commanding, 24-6 lead.

In the fourth and final quarter, the Green came back strong to score a long touchdown—83 yards—by Randy Cantrell on easily the most spectacular play of the contest. The extra point was no good. The score was White 24, Green 12.

The Green scored its final touchdown late in the fourth quarter. This made the score max of 18 days of intensive spring training practice and coach Swede Lee was said to have told his players that they were going to "war" in the contest.

War it was—good, hard football. The Whites sophomore team won 28-14 over the Green squad in a Saturday afternoon intra-squad game.

Forward Pass Wins Preakness

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI)—Calumet Farms' Forward Pass, winner of the Kentucky Derby on a disqualification, charged to the front in the stretch at Pimlico Saturday to win the $195,200 Preakness Stakes by six lengths. Disaster struck Dancer's Image once again.

Dancer's Image, finished first at Churchill Downs two weeks ago but had the purse taken away from him when tests revealed the presence of a pain-killing drug and was disqualified. This time, he finished third behind King Ranch's Out of the Way, but even that minor position was denied the big gray son of Native Dancer and he was disqualified again.

Casper, Player Tied For Lead

By ED FITE
UPI Sports Writer
FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI)—Gary Fisher had to sink a four-foot birdie putt on the final hole Saturday to pull back into a share of the third round lead of the Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament with steady Billy Casper at three-under-par 207.

Casper, No. 2 money winner on the tour, had wrestled the lead away from the little South African on the back nine of Colonial's 7,136-yard par 35-35-70 layout, but Player climbed back onto the top rung with the birdie that gave him a 33-36-69 to Casper's 33-35-68.

The two tour veterans had the race for the $25,000 first money practically to themselves with a four-stroke lead over the closest contenders—Earl Stewart Jr., a home pro who hasn't been on the tour regularly in 16 years, and Tommy Aaron, who were at 211.

Forward Pass, with two legs engaged in a speed duel for the early lead in the Kentucky Derby, was not permitted to do so this time. Valenzuela, who won the Derby in 1958 with Tim Tam, rated his colt right behind the early leaders until the field reached at the end of the backstretch.

Moving up on the outside

Forward Pass circled three horses to gain a contending position. For the next quarter of a mile, the four leaders stayed bunched. Then, suddenly, Forward Pass spurred ahead to win by the greatest margin since Bold won by seven lengths in 1951.

Meanwhile, Dancer's Image

who had gained position along the rail as a ground-saving move by Usery, started his bid as he rounded the final turn.

His 3-wood approach missed the green and he "chilled" his chip shot into a trap. He blasted out to within 3 feet for a bogey 6.

Off The Top

West Texas State's football team may find the sweet sound of victory early this year. The Canyon, Texas University meets the Wichita State Shockers at home in its second contest on Sept. 21.

Wichita State, now famous throughout the land for its violations of the NCAA rules under coach Boyd Converse, is a football coaching graveyard. Insiders in Wichita feel it's going to be that way for a long time. The Shockers have been described by a fraternal sport's writer as "lacking the horses" this season.

A new and popular coach, who has an outstanding record as football coach at one of the local Wichita high schools, is under a tremendous handicap at the start. A late recruiting season (so essential anymore) combines with a football squad which may be disenchanted by all the turmoil at the university.

In recent history, Wichita State has never kept a football coach for any length of time. It's circulated that immature alumni pressure when the coach loses—even in early rebuilding years—results in the firing of very excellent mentors.

We hope that future West Texas teams play Wichita State and that Eddie Kriewel, a good coach, will be head football mentor for Wichita State.

However, if past pressures are a factor, Wichita State will probably find another coach soon and another and another. It's that tough in Wichita.

START AT HOME

West Texas, bidding for national recognition following two consecutive 7-3 seasons, has three home football games at the start of the 1968 season.

The Buffaloes play Lamar Tech on Sept. 14, Wichita State on Sept. 21 and then end their three game home stand against University of Pacific on Sept. 28. All start at 8 p.m.

The Buffaloes, who ranked fifth nationally in total offense and second nationally in rushing last year, will have its entire starting backfield returning this year.

Senior halfback Eugene Morris is publicized as a potential Heisman trophy winner. The 190-pound speed demon waged a duel with O. J. Simpson for the 1967 rushing title. Morris ended second with 1,274 yards. Simpson had 1,415 yards with 75 more carries than Orange Juice.

At fullback will be Duane "The Train" Thomas. Thomas, now recovered after being sidelined with a fractured fibula in the sixth game last year carried for 602 yards before injury struck.

Senior Curley Watter, who ranked ninth nationally in kickoff returns last year, can break any game wide open with his speed. Olan Thompson and sophomore fullback Willie Walker round out the backfield for the Buffaloes.

Senior quarterback Roy Winters, an Associated Press honorable mention All-America selection last year, ranked 12th in total offense last year.

That's the backfield. There'll be more written before September on the line which includes six returning lettermen, all over 200 pounds.

GOOD ATTITUDE HERE

It was asked if we thought football coach Swede Lee could produce a state champion his first year at Pampa High School. The answer is no.

The Green and Gold may well win some important games but this first year is essentially a rebuilding year and only the most rapid fan would expect a Lone Star championship in Texas, a state which is rated as tops in the football field in organization and quality of teams.

Lee, who has impressed many here already with his desire to build a good football team, may install a go-go spirit.

There already seems to be renewed spirit among the football players at Pampa—and desire is very important.

PAUL NASH, South Africa runner who shares the 100-meter record at 10 seconds flat, feels that the ruling which rejects South Africa from participating in the Olympics at Mexico City is unjustified. Nash (in black uniform) finished third behind winner Jim Hines (72) and Tommie Smith (right) in a 200-yard race last summer in Los Angeles.

Yachting, Surfing Popularity Grows In Land-Locked Region

UPI Sportswriter Yachting and surfing, two sports normally connected with the ocean, have made quite a splash in the land-locked confines of West Texas.

At latest count, there were at least four yacht clubs in West Texas and surfing is a booming business at the Sandhills State Park at Monahans.

The oldest club is the Concho Yacht Club of San Angelo and next in line is the Lake Thomas Yacht Club of Midland. There are also clubs in Lubbock and Amarillo.

The surfing is mostly confined to Sandhills, where the rolling sand dunes provide the perfect outlet for "sand surfing." born in Peru and brought to Texas from the West Coast.

Park Supt. James A. Jaynes said visitors—mostly youngsters—are enjoying sand surfing "more and more all the time." Over 118,000 visitors He said 118,645 people visited the park in 1967 and "the biggest part of these tried to slide one way or another."

The older people do not try to slide, Jaynes said, because "getting back up on the hill is the hard part for them." Jaynes said the "little, narrow, short surf board" is most popular among the surfers. "They rent them and sell them out here at the concession stands," he said.

"From the tops of those dunes they can build up quite a bit of speed," Jaynes said. The highest dunes tower 90 feet from trough to crest and many are 60 feet tall. Sand surfing pioneers have reported speeds up to 30 miles per hour, but the ordinary surfer skids down the sandy slope at about 17 or 20 mph.

Some Minor Problems Surfers have minor problems with sand in their eyes, hair and clothing, but Jaynes said he feels their sport is extremely safe.

"One of the things that recommends this sport is the safety," he said. "Their speeds, at least now, are not dangerously high and the sand cushions an ordinary fall."

More akin to their sea-going counterparts are the yachters of West Texas. And one of the most successful clubs is the Lake Thomas Yacht Club, founded in 1964 by Staynor Dugan of Midland.

Commodore of the club is J.E. Bagwell and vice-commodore is Robert D. Fitting, both of Midland.

The membership totals 41 families, and Dugan says the club is probably the strongest in the state. Dugan and some friends, all yacht owners, got together and started counting the number of boat owners they knew. They came up with 25 names without even scratching their heads and that was enough to start the club, patterned after the Concho club of San Angelo.

The Lake Thomas club holds races every other weekend. Dugan said racers come from as far away as North Carolina to participate in the regattas. All boats in the club are of the sailboat variety. There are no keelboats because the lake will not lend itself to this type of sailing.

West Texas Signs Pampa Forward

George Bailey, star forward for Pampa's basketball team, has been signed by West Texas University cage coach Dennis Walling.

Bailey, the top scorer for the high school basketball team the past two years, said the West Texas basketball team is in the process of rebuilding and that was one reason for his choice of the university.

"They're starting a new basketball program at West Texas State and that was an important factor in my decision," Bailey said.

In two seasons at Pampa, Bailey led the Harvesters to seasons of 22-8 and 28-4 respectively. Twice, he was named to the all-tourney team at the Hobbs, N. M. Invitational and at Pampa's own Top Of Texas tournament.

Bailey was named to the All-West Texas Academic basketball team. Recently nominated for the Young-Texan of the month by the Pampa Optimist club, he has already passed the district and zone competition and is considered a leading contender for the state award.

The 18-year-old student is in the top ten per cent of his graduating class of 357. He had a perfect school attendance from the 7th grade through the 10th.

Bailey set three school scoring records—1,231 points in two years, 707 points in a single year and a single game high of 524 points for a 17.4 average and was honorable mention All-district 3-AAAA. His total as a senior was 707 points, an average of 22.8 per game.

He plans to major in law or history at West Texas State and said before signing for the Buffaloes that he preferred to attend a college near Pampa.

Two Pampa cagers have now joined the West Texas basketball team. Beau Bond, a 6-7 center previously signed on an athletic scholarship at the University.

Trainer Suspended Over Derby Drugging

By MILTON RICHMOND UPI Sports Writer BALTIMORE (UPI)—Lou Cavalaris picked his head up from out of the newspaper.

He was going over the race entries. Naturally. "I'm still allowed to look at the paper," he said.

There was no resentment whatsoever in the voice of the warm friendly 44-year-old trainer now serving a 30-day suspension because he authorized Phenylbutazone, a pain killer, be given his horse, Dancer's Image, six days before the Kentucky Derby.

Dancer's Image, which won the Derby and later was disqualified, runs in the Preakness at Pimlico Saturday but Cavalaris won't be there to see the race.

"I'm barred completely," he said. "I can't even go as a spectator. I can't go on any race track in North America for 30 days. I imagine that means on any race track in the whole world. But I'm not planning to go to Paris."

Lou Cavalaris laughed at the small joke. "We have a saying in racing," he said. "If a race-tracker isn't on the track, he's nowhere." In that case, Lou Cavalaris will be nowhere today but his heart will be here.

He'll be 446 miles away at his home in Toronto. He'll be in front of his television set in his downstairs den.

"Yes, I wanna see it," he said, not even bothering to explain he meant the Preakness. "And I'm in good shape television-wise. We have two sets in our house. If something should go wrong with them, our neighbor, Dr. Mitusi, has three sets. He's a football nut. Has all three sets going on New Year's Day."

Cavalaris is a man who immediately impresses you with his sincerity. He is a rather husky individual with a head of hair that was once black but now is more gray, and a manner which is completely open. He talks like someone who has absolutely nothing to hide.

"It was the lightest penalty they could inflict," he said, after a great deal of thought on the matter. "When you're innocent, as I will always believe I am, you feel no penalty at all is warranted. But when you know the rules of racing, you know that the trainer is responsible for the horse. And I'm the trainer. It's a tough rule, but racing being what it is, you have to have rough rules. I have no malice toward the stewards. All three were trainers sometime in their careers so they understand what I was trying to do."

Immediately after Dancer's Image was disqualified as the Kentucky Derby winner, owner Peter Fuller said the horse wouldn't run in the Preakness if Cavalaris couldn't saddle him.

Later Fuller changed his mind and said the horse would run and Bob Casey would be brought in to train the animal for the race. It was Cavalaris who persuaded Fuller to change his mind.

"Why penalize the horse?"

said Cavalaris. "He didn't do anything wrong. Why deprive him of an opportunity? Or racing fans from seeing him run in the Preakness I'm glad he'll be in it."

Since the disqualification of Dancer's Image, Cavalaris has been flooded with letters and wires from well-wishers around the country. He hasn't gotten a single letter from a disgruntled bettor but he has been deluged with literature about Phenylbutazone or Butazolidin, as it is more commonly known by its brand name.

"I don't even want to hear the word again," Cavalaris laughed. Did that mean he would never use the drug again?

Lou Cavalaris looked at his wrist-watch, checking on his flight to Toronto. Somebody wanted to know how he thought Dancer's Image would do in the Preakness.

"He'll run well," said the suspended trainer. "I think he's got a good chance."

Fishin' Roundup

By MELVIN CLARK

Last week, Eddie Levick, 1104 Seneca, caught a 7 lb. 4 oz. large mouth bass which he entered in the Sports Afield Awards Program. Well, now the bass are really chasing Eddie. This week he was fishing in his canvas fishing float at Lake Gething east of Pampa, when a 3 lb. bass ignoring Eddie's favorite lure charged toward him with such force the bass wedged between his leg and the floater! You can probably buy Eddie's fishing tackle cheap, since he has found this easier way to catch fish!

Holly Gray, his wife, Alice, George Ingram and his wife, Viola, were at Canton Lake during the Pike Rodeo. Holly caught three pike with the largest measuring 19 inches, and they went for his white bomber with black dots. Alice caught a 3 1/2 lb. drum on a white and red bomber.

George caught another drum about the same size and Viola caught a 2 1/2 lb. Pike on a white and black bomber. During the 4 day rode of 500 lbs. of fish were weighed in at the weigh-in station at Canton Dam. When you consider many of the fish were not weighed in, there was a lot of fish caught. Plans are now in progress to make this an annual event.

J.B. White, 419, N. Wynne, got 20 nice large blue gill this week in just 1 1/2 hours of fishing close to Durham, Oklahoma. His bait was minnows.

At Earl Mitchell's lake, south of Shamrock, you can fish for $1.00 per person per day. Bob Martin, 1230 Christine, was there one!

Realtor Week Observance Is Slated Here

"Home is Where Security Starts. Don't Wait in '68" is the theme of the 1968 Realtor Week celebration by the 38 members of the Pampa Board of Realtors, H. W. Waters, president, announced Saturday.

Throughout the coming week, Waters continued, community-wide observances are scheduled as realtors in this area join with their more than 85,000 colleagues throughout the nation in directing attention to their calling and the special nature of the services they render.

Government Wants Tires Labeled In US As To Quality

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The federal government is proposing a requirement that auto tires built after Aug. 31 of next year be labeled as to how they compared in quality with other brands.

All tires would be evaluated by the government for high-speed endurance, tread wear, traction and ability to stand overloads.

The proposal was published in the Federal Register Thursday, and final standards will be set forth after 30 days during which comment will be received and considered.

Mayor Jim Nation has proclaimed the week of May 19-25 as Realtor Week in Pampa.

His proclamation pointed to the real estate field's achievements in the nation's free enterprise economy and the realtors' fight to protect the ownership rights of individuals as well as promoting the advantages of real property ownership.

Realtor Week activities this year will be closely tied in with the broad Make America Better program of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, which was launched in February to help solve major problems of our cities and towns.

"This seven-objective program was undertaken since Realtors and other experts agree that the betterment of housing for low-income families cannot be achieved unless other problems which are deeply involved in the social unrest in our cities can be concurrently solved," Waters pointed out.

"Highlighted under the Make America Better Program are such vital areas important to the achievement of stability and safety in our cities as reducing juvenile delinquency and crime; family education and training programs; rehabilitation and construction; education and training of children at earlier ages to provide employment capabilities; changes in restrictive practices which unduly increase construction costs; and cooperation and assistance with local organizations in the enactment of these and similar proposals."

A realtor, Waters explained, "is a professional in real estate who subscribes to a strict Code of Ethics as a member of the local and state boards and the National Association of Real Estate Boards."

Realtor, which is a coined term and a service mark registered in the U. S. Patent Office under the trademark laws, can be used only by members of the National Association and its local boards.

"Since it is a trademark, it should always be capitalized as are other trademarks or proper nouns," Waters explained.

"Further evidence of this fact is that all major dictionaries in the United States now carry, or will carry in their next printing, the correct definition and capitalization of the term."

In discussing the Code of Ethics, Waters said that it was one of the first such codes adopted in the history of American business. Under its 30 articles, which cover all aspects of real estate transactions, realtors pledge their fair treatment and total real estate knowledge to both parties of a contract the buyer and seller.

"Our board was formed in 1946 while the parent group, the National Association of Real Estate Boards, was founded in 1908," he concluded. "With offices in Washington, D. C., and Chicago, NAREB furnishes Realtors with the latest information on real estate developments, market conditions, economic trends, and new techniques."

June Oil Allowable Is Reduced

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—The Texas Railroad Commission has reduced the state oil allowable for June by 27,500 barrels a day below the May figure.

It was the third consecutive month for the allowable to be reduced. The commission set the June allowable at 45.2 percent of potential after demands decreased from the May figure of 45.7 percent.

The June allowable amounts to 3,485,366 barrels a day compared with 3,512,814 barrels in May. Both the U. S. Bureau of Mines' estimate of the demand and nominations from crude oil purchasers showed decreasing demands for the month.

The Bureau of Mines estimated a demand of 3,015,000 barrels daily, down 25,000 barrels a day from May. Nominations by purchasers were 46,143 barrels daily below May nominations.

Estimates of crude oil stocks in Texas totaled 103.7 million barrels, down 800,000 from the same time last year.

NO DUMB ANIMAL OVIEDO, Spain (UPI)—A stubborn horse has received credit for saving a number of lives when it refused to enter a tunnel which collapsed seconds later.

A local bread maker tried everything to get his animal to move since the horse was holding up traffic. The horse refused to move and the hoots and horns of impatient travelers grew louder and louder until they were drowned out by the enormous crash inside the tunnel.

The horse received a hero's welcome when it returned to Oviedo.

Miller Backing Hazlewood In Court Post Race

Hereford attorney Bruce L. Miller, who will not be in the runoff for the position of Associate Justice of the Seventh Court of Civil Appeals, made the following statement to area newspapers recently:

"I wish to thank all of my supporters. My vote in my home county was most gratifying.

"For the runoff on June 1st, I urge my supporters to vote for Jack Hazlewood. He, in my opinion, is the only remaining candidate who has the necessary appellate experience and high qualifications necessary for this very important position—Associate Justice of the 7th Court of Civil Appeals."

Hazlewood is opposing Plainview Judge James A. Joy in the June 1 Democratic Party runoff election.

NO DUMB ANIMAL OVIEDO, Spain (UPI)—A stubborn horse has received credit for saving a number of lives when it refused to enter a tunnel which collapsed seconds later.

A local bread maker tried everything to get his animal to move since the horse was holding up traffic. The horse refused to move and the hoots and horns of impatient travelers grew louder and louder until they were drowned out by the enormous crash inside the tunnel.

The horse received a hero's welcome when it returned to Oviedo.

Twentieth Century Club Celebrates 40th Birthday with Salad Luncheon

The Twentieth Century Club of Pampa celebrated its 40th birthday at the home of Mrs. Fred Neslage with a salad luncheon recently. The courtesy committee chairman, Mrs. W. R. Campbell, had issued invitations to all the past members on the club roster, consisting of 102 members through May 1968.

Guests were met at the door by Mrs. Lorene Locke, president, and Mrs. Fred Neslage. Name tags decorated with the club colors of crimson and green ribbon and the club flower, the American Beauty Rose, were presented to each member.

Following the luncheon, President Mrs. Locke welcomed members and guests of the club. Mrs. Raymond Harrah, the only active charter member, introduced the guest charter members. Mmes. W. A. Bratton, Corpus Christi; H. D. Lewis, Dumas; R. W. Mitchell, Roswell, N.M.; Henry Thut, A. H. Doucette and Raymond Harrah, all of Pampa.

Mrs. W. R. Campbell read the list of deceased members, which was followed by a moment of silent tribute, and introduced out of town and local past members.

President Mrs. Locke welcomed and introduced guests, including Mmes. Kermit Lawson, Top of Texas District vice-president, Mrs. Alice Crawford of Borger, Top of Texas District president; James C. Stowers, Kansas City, Mo.; A. W. Brown, St. Louis, Mo.; Charlotte Blumberg, Fort Worth, Mrs. Doris Wilson representing a Pampa radio station, and Miss Wandá Huff, representing Pampa Daily News.

Following the reading of the club litaney, Mrs. Locke introduced Mrs. Jack Foster, who presented "Highlights of Twentieth Century Club's Forty Years."

Mrs. Foster expressed appreciation for the sturdy foundation early club members provided, and evaluated the worth of the club as based on the service it had rendered the community, quoting "Service is the rent one pays for the space occupied."

All of the projects executed throughout the 40 years reflected the social, political and economic challenges of the times, the needs of a growing community, a community in years of war and peace, prosperity and depression.

Among the many projects reviewed were: book showers in behalf of the city library over a period of 12 years; art exhibits for local artists, student tickets provided to community concerts, essay contests and achievement awards for Carver school, subscriptions to Readers Digest for Latin American Colleges, sponsorship of the Negro nursery, provision of clothing for boys at Pampa Junior High School, participation in mental health by sending boxes to Wichita Falls, responsibility for one meeting each year of Senior Citizens, scholarship award for Senior High School student, allocation of funds to the Opportunity Plan at West Texas State University and provision of workers and funds for all local civic drives.

Mrs. Foster concluded her resume of the club's heritage by stating: "Certainly the club's service to Pampa has earned the community's respect and esteem, and has justified the space it has occupied."

The hostesses assisting Mrs. Neslage were Mmes. William Easley, Bob Andis, V. J. Jamieson, and Steve Odum, provided a register.

Club women are to put away pretence and fault-finding and work together without prejudice or self-pity.

"We are to take time for calmness, gentleness and clear judgment. Women are challenged to put their best impulses into straightforward action — and to seek the things that unite rather than divide their efforts. Most of all, we are to be kind and seek to know the common heart of humanity," she concluded.

Mrs. Lanehart assisted in the installation by presenting each new officer with a red carnation, the club flower. The following officers were charged with their new responsibilities: Mrs. Paul Hartin, president; Mrs. Malcolm McClelland, vice-president; Mrs. Jimmy Hayes, treasurer; Mrs. Phillip Rapstine, reporter; and Mrs. W. Civic Culture Club Studies Home Life

The Civic Culture Club met recently in the home of Mrs. George Neef. Mrs. Emmett Osborne, president, opened the meeting by leading the club in repeating the American's Creed. Mrs. C. V. Forsman was welcomed as a new member into the club. A report was given of the visit of the Club to Wheeler to hear an original Easter play given by the Wednesday Study Club of Wheeler.

The program was on Home Life. Mrs. A. C. Houchin, speaker, had as her subject "Opportunities to Save on Food Money." She began by saying, "Being a house wife is not a fault, but an honor. Every woman should realize that her job is home-maker is the great job in the world."

Continuing, she said "God created man in His own image, but did not give him dominion until He had made woman. We are our husband's helpers and should be careful in spending the family pay check."

"Grocery shopping is a challenge. Meals may be planned around the specials which are offered. Beware of higher priced foods because of quality, but consider what type of product you really need and its purpose in the meal. Then you can save without suffering. It behooves the home maker to do some figuring to keep the grocery bill within the budget of the salary while at the same time to have balanced meals, she said.

Advising the shopper, she said make a list of items and stay with it. Never take your husband and children to the grocery store if you want to save money. Husbands will stop at the exotic counters, and the children will buy comic books, if you are on a budget leave them at home."

She concluded by saying, "the super markets are wonderful, but don't forget the neighborhood groceryman, and that many of them may deliver groceries. It is a great help to those who cannot drive to the store, or for some other reason cannot shop for their groceries."

Attending the meeting were Mmes. A. B. Cross, Frank Grant, Emmett Osborne, A.D. Hills, John McKeerney, C. V. Forsman, J. W. Duke, George Neef, A. C. Houchin, J. B. Townsend and Floyd Pennington.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My problem is one I'm sure you have not had before, although I am sure lots of other people feel the way we do about it, but they're too ashamed to admit it.

I am 25, and engaged to a man who is 30. We love each other very much and plan to marry soon. So what's the problem? We both detest children and have decided that we do not want any. Ever. We realize that no method of contraception is 100 per cent sure, but we don't want to take any chances. We do know that certain types of surgery can be performed on both the male and female to insure permanent sterilization; but we don't know whether a doctor would perform such surgery on unmarried people. We don't want to get married until this is done. Please don't say, "After you are married, you'll change your minds." I assure you we will not. Our question: Will a doctor do this for us?

HATES CHILDREN

DEAR HATES: Whether a doctor will sterilize you (and/or) your fiancé, you must find out for yourselves. But let me warn you — "forever" is a long time, and to voluntarily throw away the privilege of bearing children is a decision you may live to regret.

bearing children is a decision you may live to regret.

DEAR ABBY: When my husband drove me to work this morning I noticed that his right ear was perfectly clean. When he picked me up after work, I noticed there was lipstick on his right ear. What should I do about this?

ELSINORE

DEAR ELSINORE: Tell your husband either to have his friend kiss him on his left ear, or to start driving a British car so you will be seated on his left! (If this doesn't work, kick him out either door.)

DEAR ABBY: I have a 2-year-old son who was born with only a thumb on his left hand. No fingers.

We were recently at a gathering, and a very loud little neighbor boy (I'll call him Billy) kept insisting that my baby show everybody "that hand" — as he calls it. Billy's constant insistence annoyed me, especially since his mother was sitting right there, taking it all in, and smiling.

These people see my son every day, and I have explained that he was born that way, so the sight of his little hand without fingers should no longer be a novelty.

I suppose I should get used to the idea that my son will be stared at a lot, but it hurts me to see his defect pointed out as if he were some kind of freak.

What should I do if this happens again?

N.Y. MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Don't wait for it to happen again. Tell Billy's mother, privately, to teach her son that it is rude and unkind to call attention to the handicap of another.

Your son need not go through life "stared at." If you aren't familiar with the most modern techniques of adding artificial fingers and making them "work," you owe it to your son to investigate. If your family doctor can't direct you to such help (offered by rehabilitation experts) write to me. I can.

Everybody has a problem.

Theta Delta Group Attends Luncheon

the Drama of DRUGS

A ten-year-long research program only bore fruit for the Bristol Laboratories in East Syracuse, New York. The result was well worth waiting for. It has long been hoped for by the medical profession.

This was the production of the first synthetic penicillin for medical use. The amazing new drug is potassium alpha-phenoxymethyl penicillin and bears the trade name of Syn-cillin.

According to the Bristol people, early tests indicate the synthetic anti-biotic can obtain more effective results than the best forms of penicillin formerly available.

There is also hope that the new substance will be effective against germs which have developed resistance to natural penicillin.

In the best American tradition, Richard Drug has 5 complete departments operated by skilled personnel: Prescription, Prosthetics, Camera, Cosmetics, Hearing Aid. Depend on each of them.

A gourmet luncheon at the Brookhollow Golf Club, and an early afternoon visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Schepps completes the tour.

Reservations must be made in advance, and all visitors to the Metropolitan Operas (men and women) are invited to attend. Checks for $12.50 each should be sent before June 3 to the Southwestern Hospitality Board, P. O. Box 8171, Dallas, Texas 75205. Cancellations must be made at least 48 hours prior to the start of the tour.

She presented to the president, Mrs. E. E. Shelhamer, the flower pot; to the vice-president, Mrs. L. J. Zachry, the water; to the secretary, Mrs. Jim Chase, the soil; to the treasurer, Mrs. H.S. Sadler, the fertilizer; to the reporter, Mrs. Paul Mitchell, the fragrance; and to herself, the parliamentarian, the sunshine.

To the members, Mrs. Carter said, "There wouldn't be a study club without you. The president couldn't preside, the vice president couldn't assign programs, the secretary would have no minutes to write and the treasurer would have no funds, so I charge each of you to add our efforts and individual blossoms to the bouquet which comprises the Twentieth Century Culture Club."

The luncheon tables were covered with white damask cloths featuring bouquets of yellow iris entwined with English Ivy interspersed with tiny yellow spring flowers. Miniature yellow bouquets were pinned with yellow ribbons to green name tabs. Hostesses were Mrs. L. H. Hart and Mrs. H. S. Sadler. Mrs. Shelhamer led the group in prayer.

During a business meeting conducted by Mrs. Carter, the group voted to have husband's night next year. Mrs. Henderson announced the book, "This England," had been presented to Lovett Memorial Library as the club's project.

Mrs. Rufe Jordan presented the budget which was adopted

The Panna Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Panna News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Attend Tomorrow's Public Hearing

Chairman George Hinson's Texas House Education Committee will be in Panna tomorrow for a public hearing to gather information and study the need for upgrading technical and vocational training in a 35-county area at the Top O' Texas.

Rep. Malouf Abraham of Canadian, who represents our 84th District in the Texas House, will attend the hearing, and is urging residents from Panna and the entire area to participate.

We agree with Abraham that technical and vocational training comprise a field that needs a great deal of study, research and especially, greater awareness on the part of the general public.

The hearing, of course, will be of interest to educators at all levels and highly important to people in industry, city and county governments and chambers of commerce. The Panna Chamber of Commerce is jointly sponsoring tomorrow's hearing in Panna. Representatives of all areas involved with vocational and technical training are urged to attend, state their ideas on needs and set forth deficiencies of the present program locally and area-wide. This especially applies to industrial officials.

Chairman Hinson will open tomorrow's hearing promptly at 9:30 a.m. in Coronado Inn's Starlight Room. Hinson has the reputation of being one of the most knowledgeable men in Texas educational circles. The Panna hearing will mark the fifth he has conducted over the state.

The House Committee wants to hear testimony containing ideas on training needs in the area and particularly in Panna.

Tomorrow's hearing here will mark one of the few opportunities people of the Panhandle have had to attend a public hearing of this type and directly express views for consideration of the state legislature.

Social Misfits — Chemistry Awry?

In the world of not too many years hence, it may be as routine to make chemical analysis of psychologically disturbed persons as it is now to take their fingerprints if they commit antisocial acts.

The words of the laboratory technician may carry more weight than that of the psychiatrist in pretrial or precommitment hearings or in decisions to dismiss patients from mental hospitals or grant parole to prisoners.

One of latest developments suggesting this eventuality is the reported success of a chemical test which can determine the extent and severity of serious mental illnesses. The test, which involves measuring the amount of a certain protein in the body's cerebrospinal fluid, was applied to 131 patients at St. Vincent's Hospital in New York, most of them schizophrenics.

In about 90 per cent of the persons tested, a definite correlation was found between the severity of the psychoses and the level of the protein in the fluid. The more serious the illness, the lower the level.

There was also a correlation with treatment. If patients improved, regardless of what kind of treatment was given them, the protein level increased.

In another part of this still largely unexplored field of human chemistry, scientists have discovered that a small percentage of men who are abnormally aggressive and who have committed crimes of violence are genetically abnormal. They have an extra male chromosome. Chromosomes are the strands of genes, present in all living cells, which contain the biochemical instructions that make a man or animal or plant what it is. Associated with the chromosome defect are other typical characteristics: Taller than average height, mental dullness, severe acne and a history of bizarre sexual behavior.

Studies have found that over-aggressive inmates of prisons and penal hospitals are about 60 times as likely to have been born with an extra male chromosome as men in the general population. At least four of those studied so far have been convicted or charged with murder.

One of them is Richard Speck, killer of eight nurses in Chicago. It is possible that Speck's genetic defect may be cited in the upcoming appeal of his death sentence.

If so, it could not only set a legal precedent but could bring society into its first significant confrontation with the new knowledge that scientists are steadily uncovering about the psycho-physical make-up of human beings.

In the short run, science is forcing us to a re-evaluation of our traditional concepts of mental illness, of individual responsibility, of crime and punishment.

In the long run, it may provide the means whereby we no longer sentence criminals to death or to specified terms of incarceration, with the aim of punishment, but to indefinite periods of chemical and psychological therapy, and eventually even "genetic surgery" with the aim of rehabilitation.

In the longer run, the potential psychotic or criminal may be spotted and treated in early childhood, with the aim of prevention.

Santa Fe Is Centenarian

John Santa Fe turns 100 this year but you'd truly have to say he neither looks nor acts his age.

From that modest beginning at Topeka, Kan., in 1868, Santa Fe has grown into a $2 billion empire whose 13,000 miles of track extend, as Cyrus K. Holliday, its founder and first president predicted, from the Great Lakes to the Pacific Ocean and the Gulf of Mexico.

Santa Fe operates more miles of track in Texas—3,615 to be exact than in any other state. There are 7,578 Texans on the payroll who last year earned $59,151,026. One of these employees are right here in Panna. The company's '67 tax bill amounted to $2,264,466.

road has scored some impressive transportation "firsts," including the first to become fully Dieselized in 1954; development of the Autovoy car for shipment of automobiles in 1960; and the inauguration of "Super-C," the world's fastest freight train in 1968, which operates on a 40-hour schedule between Chicago and Los Angeles although it consistently makes the run in little more than 36 hours. These are but a few; the list is almost endless.

While Santa Fe is pardonably proud of its distinguished past, its centennial theme is geared to the future "Second Century of Progress On to 2066."

The Panna News wishes it God speed.

PINE TREE FEATURES

THE CHOICE WE FACE

I was impressed by a recent writing of Caryl P. Haskins of the Carnegie Institution of Washington. Haskins took due note of the fact that we live at a time when both evolutionary and revolutionary factors are at work in our midst. Never has so much change and alteration been available to us. Never have so many courses of action been available to us. Never the ability to make wise choices been in such vital demand. Let me quote a paragraph from his writing:

"The more rapid the social evolution, the more imperative becomes this requirement and the more vigilance is demanded to satisfy it. Through history this has been one of the most difficult lessons for man to learn. Repeated failures to understand it or to act upon it adequately must have accounted for major historical setbacks—and indeed for major distortions of social evolution. It is a danger if anything more acute today than ever before, because of the immensely increased dynamism of social movements and evolutionary forces with which we live, and because the stakes of failure, like those of success, are so much higher than they have ever been. It would be difficult to find a more opposite general caveat for our time than this of exercising due care that, in embracing new and experimental courses on myriad fronts of movement with the ardor that we must, we do not at the same time discard long-tested values and long-tried adaptive courses which, if they are lost, will only have, one day, to be re-won—and probably at enormous cost. This is a consideration that is before us in all our affairs, every minute of every day."

Distinction or Extinction?
It is all too true that magnificent civilizations and cultures have arisen in the past. We have the stone works they erected as monuments to give mute testimony of their past progress and glory. But those cultures are gone. And if we make erroneous decisions now, or if we have made them in the past and refuse to recognize their fundamental weaknesses, then we will be doomed to repeat the endless story of all preceding history: That which is built can be razed.

There is no doubt at all in my mind — although I confess to some timidity in expressing it bluntly — that the built-booby trap which has undermined all preceding cultures, and is already built into our own, relates to reliance upon the state to solve ALL problems.

So long as a state is small, we may be able to live with it; to endure it and to pay for its exactions. But the tendency of the state is to enlarge and broaden all its areas of concern. And the tendency of men having states to lean upon for problem solutions is to paternalize their states, to endow them with magical and mystical omnipotence, and then to submit to the follies that are constantly committed by these states as they seek to retain power.

In short, the revolutionary and evolutionary factors with which we are presently struggling combine both advantageous and disadvantageous features. A mere ukase from the state will no longer suffice. Some of the ancient customs to which we have clung are being discarded like the ragged clothing of hippies in convention.

But other customs, equally ancient, are as vital to us as the air we breathe. Somehow we must choose correctly between given alternatives of procedure. And the only way to maximize our chances for preserving what is left of Western culture and Western civilization is to summon the wisdom to choose correctly. The only way we can maximize our chances to find wisdom is by permitting man to assert his natural freedom of choice. If men, as individuals, are permitted to choose, then those who choose incorrectly will perish, but the rest will survive.

If a few, endowed with power, continue to choose for us all and to force their choices upon us, the result is predictable: a wasteland where America now stands, with the shattered shafts of once noble monuments to mark the passing of our epoch.

North Vietnam Sending Thousands of Troops Into South Since LBJ's Bombing Halt Order

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — While U.S. negotiators are holding out hopes that preliminary talks in Paris will evolve into something more, the realities in Vietnam offer little encouragement for this optimism.

Since the partial bombing halt was ordered on April 1 by President Johnson, the North Vietnamese have succeeded in reducing by two-thirds the time it takes to send military supplies and reinforcements into South Vietnam from their main staging area in the north.

"U.S. Army units are now taking North Vietnamese prisoners who say it takes only 11 days now to travel by truck from the Hanoi-Haiphong area to Saigon," the latest U.S. intelligence estimate on enemy infiltration states.

"In the Ashan Valley, American units have captured North Vietnamese regulars who have been in the South only four days," the military report points out. "These enemy soldiers reveal that they were able to ride all the way from staging areas north of Hanoi without being bombed." This compares with from 30 to 45 days previously needed.

THE NEW CAPABILITY — The South-bound traffic from North Vietnam also has reached unprecedented proportions. Infiltration into South Vietnam is currently four times the 6,000-man-a-month average of late 1967. An estimated 150,000 have gone into South Vietnam or nearby sanctuaries in Cambodia and Laos since Jan. 1.

This logistic speed-up, due in part to the bombing reduction, means that Hanoi now has the capability of launching major attacks against Saigon at least once every six weeks according to U.S. military command in South Vietnam.

Many of the North Vietnamese reinforcements in the south are supposedly being replaced in the north for the first time by regular Chinese Communist military units.

While nothing is being said about this in public, administration officials are beginning to admit this ominous development in private. For example, Secretary of State Rusk told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee recently that Chinese Red anti-aircraft units are now operating in North Vietnam.

American military officers in Saigon, confused and literally burned up by what they term the "phased cutback" of bombing raids over North Vietnam, are adjusting their tactical operations to meet a complete halt in U.S. bombing of the north.

These tactical operations include not only the aerial attacks up to the 19th parallel but also the U.S. Navy's ship-to-shore bombardments which also will be halted soon.

MILITARY OPPOSITION — In opposition to any further cutback in bombing, U.S. military

WHICH IS MORE IMPORTANT

The question has to be raised as to whether U.S. business management is ready to accept communism. It seems incredible that such a question could even be seriously asked. But the fact is that an increasing number of American business concerns have shown that they are ready and willing to do business with the Iron Curtain countries.

Their hope for a profit from such transactions could lead to the day when they would have no profit at all because of the takeover of their enterprises by a communist regime. Communism is the sworn and lasting enemy of capitalism. The communists have never permitted any doubt about that.

Some of the heavy intellectual thinkers assure us that the cold war is over and that international communism is no longer much of a threat to the free world. This theory ignores the support given the aggressors against South Vietnam. It ignores the subsidy that Soviet Russia pays to Fidel Castro to enable him to maintain his grip on Cuba. It takes no note of communist infiltration and subversion throughout Latin America.

We are told that the differences between Russia and Red China mean that the Soviet Union is "mellowing" and so we can do business with her. But the heart of the argument between Moscow and Peking is simply how best to extend communism all over the world.

Dupes can learn communism is about as good for business as diphtheria is for a delicate child. If U.S. businessmen allow themselves to be blinded to that fact, the end result will be disastrous.

VIETNAM HEADLINES — North Vietnam is using President Ho Chi Minh's birthday as a spur to greater production. He will be 78 on May 19. Hanoi's propaganda machine has been urging workers to greater effort as part of an "emulation drive" in honor of the occasion. The pressure now is on in both agriculture and industry.

Ho Chi Minh also has sent word to his negotiators in Paris to press for a halt in U.S. bombing of all North Vietnam by May 19. Communist China is maintaining its daily propaganda support for what it terms the "Negro revolution" in the U.S. The campaign began with a rare personal statement by Chairman Mao Tse-Tung on the shooting of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., last month.

Witch Hazel Water Has No Special Powers

Q—I have heard that placing pieces of cotton soaked in witch hazel on one's closed eyelids is a good way of relaxing and rejuvenation. Is this true? Is it safe to put witch hazel so close to one's eyes?

A—Witch hazel water has no special powers but it does smell good. If a little got in your eye it would prove mildly irritating but the tears would wash it away and no permanent harm would result.

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

The health quackery business is booming at over 2 billion dollars a year with come-on eye-appealing, ear-catching, mechanical devices, mystical potions, magic pill and phony cures. That's not all because quackery claims more American lives each year than all the crimes and violence put together. We recommend "Facts on Quacks," a unique 32-page booklet which reveals the health hucksters' own trade secrets. It was prepared by the American Medical Association in cooperation with other private and government health agencies.

It may be obtained by sending 30 cents (no stamps) to the AMA, 535 North Dearborn Street Chicago, Ill. 60610. This may be the best investment you ever made in your lifetime because it gives simple rules for recognizing the health fakers and swindlers who rob the uniformed, the desperate and the unsuspecting of their money.

Today's smile: A drunk said to a passerby: "Where's the other side of the street?" The passerby pointed and said: "Over there." "That's funny," said the drunk. "I was just over there and some guy told me it was over here."

Mozart was the most prolific of all musical composers. His output totalled more than 600 operas, operettas, symphonies, violin sonatas, serenades, concertos for the piano and other instruments, chamber music masses and litanies. Only 70 of his works were published before he died at the age of 35. Incidentally, he started to write music when he was 6, which is proof enough that he was a child prodigy who became a giant in his field.

Thoughts while shaving: The neatest money-making trick of the year was executed by a Detroit automobile executive who used his option to buy 10,000 shares of General Motors stock just a few days before he left that firm to take one of the top jobs at Ford. The purchase netted him about $18,000 which to our way of thinking is proof of making money faster than printing it. . . . If you have a backyard swimming pool we don't see how you can get through the summer without an underwater speaker to supply music when you are swimming underwater. That's the latest gadget we saw on a window shopping tour of New York Madison Avenue. . . . Most folks think bananas grow on trees, but they are actually considered as plants by botanists. Some grow to a height of 30 feet. Incidentally, bananas are one of the oldest fruits known to mankind. . . . A crew of 30 men are permanently employed to paint the Golden Gate bridge in San Francisco. It takes 7,000 gallons of a particular kind of paint containing zinc to do the job. The zinc paint seals out the corrosive salt air moisture. When the crew finishes the job they start all over again. . . . Railroads are folding up and consolidating in this country, but that's not the case in Britain where rail travel is still a principal means of transportation. In fact, the world's busiest railroad center is Clapham Junction in England with more than 2,000 trains passing through every 24 hours. We doubt if there are 2,000 passenger and freight trains running in this country. The New York POST reported in a story: "A $13,000 a year city housing official was charged with accepting bribes last night by the Manhattan District Attorney." How else would you fill up a housing project?

Country Editor speaking: "Women are hard losers, particularly when they're trying to REDUCE."

Q—What is the cause of blepharitis? Is it due to smog? None of the medicines I have used has helped me. Is there any cure for it?

A—Blepharitis or inflammation of the lids may be caused by irritating cosmetics or uncorrected errors of refraction, especially astigmatism. smog that caused conjunctivitis might by extension cause or aggravate a blepharitis. In some persons blepharitis is an indication of poor general health. Improvement would follow close attention to adequate rest, diet and exercise.

If the blepharitis is chronic it is often hard to cure. Keeping the lids clean and free of crusts and applying yellow oxide of mercury ointment every night should help.

Q—My eyes are dry and burn all the time. My doctor gives me drops but they relieve the burning only temporarily. What do you advise?

A—Dryness of the eyes may be caused by infections, burns or drooping of the lower lids. There is no permanent cure in most cases. The use of drops that contain glycerin or emulsified cod liver oil is the best treatment. You should use the drops as many times a day as needed for comfort.

Q—I have vascular spasms in my right eye. My doctor prescribed Paveril. What does it do? Are there any bad side effects?

A—Dioxilyne (Paveril) is given to relax blood vessel spasms. Side effects are rare. Too large a dose may cause nausea, dizziness, sweating, flushing and abdominal cramps.

Q—What is the safest way to remove a foreign body from a person's eye?

A—First, wash your hands, thoroughly. Pull the upper lid up and have the victim look down. If you can locate the speck brush it away gently with the moistened edge of a clean handkerchief. If you do not see the speck pull the lower lid look up. If the speck cannot be located, irrigate the eye with soothing eye wash if you find the foreign body but can't remove it easily, it may be imbedded in the cornea. In that case, its removal should be attempted only by a physician.

Have you wondered why there is so much crime in the streets lately? Well, it is pretty hard to resist, I tell you. All the programs and advertising are showing it on Tee-vee as being the 'in' thing to do.

For instance some car manufacturers are showing the wonderful way to get a new car if you happen to be a Bonnie & Clyde — you just grab it.

Another manufacturer shows a couple of hoods robbing a store. It boasts of how much loot you can get in their station wagon and shows them taking off grinning like a couple of burritos eaten cactus.

The best one though is putout by the justice department. They show a teenager stealing a car and how he happens to get caught and locked. Then the announcer lays the blame on "You." He says you should have locked your car. The car is your responsibility.

Well, that's just fine. Suppose your car is set in the driveway and you are carrying in groceries and some hood comes up and steals your car.

As you come out of the house you see him backing away with your responsibility. You run in the house and get a rifle and try to stop him. "O, no" says the authorities, "you can't do that." The trouble is, your responsibility ends the minute you try to protect your own property as best you can, but it's your fault if you don't. O, happy ays.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Yo-Yo's Anniversary

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Well, well, what have we here? Why, bless my soul, it's a press release reminding us that 1968 is the 40th anniversary of the American yo-yo. As if we needed to be reminded.

I recommend we all rush out and celebrate with appropriate ceremonies. One suggestion: tie a string around your waist and have someone roll you up and down the stairs.

But seriously, folks, there's a lesson to be learned from studying the history of yo-yoing.

According to historians at Hallmark Cards, which is trying to revive the sport, which has been in the doldrums lately, the yo-yo originated in the Philippine islands as a weapon.

Hunters would tie a string around a stone and hurl it at their prey, the beauty of it being that if they missed, the stone was retrievable.

(Prior to this development, Filipino hunters used to lose an awful lot of stones.)

It was in ancient Greece, well spring of so much Western culture, that the yo-yo was converted to a toy.

Thracian youths called it "discing," and a toy it remained when introduced in 12th Century England as the "bandalore" when it spread to France as "l'emigrette" and when it reached our shores in the 1920s and was given the name "yo-yo."

(To forestall the inevitable letters from old timers claiming their grandfathers were yo-yoing in this country as far back as 1848, let me say I'm only quoting from the press release. Don't write me; send a card to Hallmark.)

In the history of the yo-yo we have one of the tragic little ironies, or ironic little tragedies, that have marked the progress, and all too often the retrogression, of civilization.

A good argument can be made that the human race would have been much better off if the yo-yo remained a weapon.

Once mankind started using it as a toy, mankind started looking around for another weapon to take its place. And typically, mankind came up with something far more accurate, deadly and destructive.

What is more, the subsequent weapons were generally unretrievable. Which has run up the cost considerably. (It's pretty difficult to retrieve a bazooka shell, for instance.)

Now who's on your side?

Your insurance man can be—if he's an independent agent. As such, he's free to represent several fine insurance companies, and serve your interests in dealing with them. He serves you first when you need help. We're independent agents.
