Jobs Needed For Girls In Pampa Area

The Youth Employment Service, organized here to help Pampa boys and girls get summer-time employment, has placed 125 youths under the age of 22 in work this year.

Ragsdale said that boys 18 years of age and above are being placed almost daily with boys up to and including 17 years of age getting a "good" ratio of placement. He added that there are not nearly enough jobs for girls available, however, and reminded Pampans that girls are enrolled in the program who have a wide variety of talents.

Hard To Kill As A Fifth Of Bad Bourbon

Liquor-By-Drink Gets Another Run Today

By DAVID ANDERSON
AUSTIN (UPI)—Liquor by the drink, as hard to kill as a fifth of bad bourbon, gets another run in the Texas Senate today, and the sponsor says this is the last chance, really.

Sen. Joe Christie of El Paso, the bill's floor manager, said the measure is dead in the Senate today, and returns it to the House today.

Christie had said the same thing Monday, but this time there is a very authoritative reason—Wednesday is the last day of the session and every bill passed that day requires a two-thirds majority something the liquor bill does not have. So far the bill has survived a defeat, two filibusters and a mutilation that removed its key provision, liquor by the drink. The Senate voted it down 14-17 last week, after Sen. Jack Strong of Longview removed its liquor by the drink provision. The Senate revived it by a 17-14 vote Monday, and then Sens. William T. Moore of Bryan and H. J. Blanchard of Lubbock tried to talk it to death.

Fancy Footwork
Christie has kept it alive mostly through parliamentary technicalities and legislative fictions, like pretending "Friday was Thursday, hence a day on which the bill was considered, and not Friday, a day on which it was ineligible.

Ray Ordered Returned To US On Charge Of Murder

Red Plane May Have Raided South Vietnam

By JACK WALSH
SAIGON (UPI)—Reliable American military sources said today an unidentified plane which may have been a Communist MIG dropped bombs near a U.S. Special Forces camp 30 miles west of Saigon.

The raid may also have shot down an American helicopter. There was no official confirmation from the U.S. Command on what could be the first attack on South Vietnamese territory by Communist planes.

The fight erupted three miles southeast of the base while Marine demolition teams blew up Khe Sanh's bunkers and pushed ahead with plans to abandon the place military spokesmen said.

A high-ranking U. S. source told United Press International late today that evacuation of the Marine base at Khe Sanh would be completed at "any minute."

neck guard force plus American artillery and air strikes. Military spokesmen said Khe Sanh, which earlier this year withstood a 77-day siege by two North Vietnam divisions, was being abandoned and that U. S. forces will instead maintain "mobile" fighting units in the area.

In Saigon, South Vietnamese spokesmen said 273 government troops were killed in combat last week. Another 856 were wounded. It continued a series of weeks of relatively lower South Vietnamese casualties.

Legal Advisor Says Appeal To Be Made

By SCOTT B. BRUNS
LONDON (UPI)—London's chief magistrate today ordered James Earl Ray returned to the United States to stand trial for the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Ray, 40, was accused of shooting the civil rights leader in Memphis, Tenn., on April 4. He was arrested June 8 at London Airport by a Scotland Yard detective.

The largest aluminum tank car ever built—its load capacity approximates 35,000 gallons and measuring 74½ feet in length—is now in service at the Celanese Chemical Company plant here making rail deliveries of Pampa made chemicals to Eastern locations.

Designed and built by General American Transportation Corporation, Chicago, Ill., the new aluminum fleet will operate primarily between the Celanese chemical plant at Pampa and the Celanese fibers plants at Narrows, Va., and Rock Hill, S. C. The cars will transport acetic acid and acetic anhydride to the fibers plants where both chemicals are used in the production of Celanese acetate fibers. However the aluminum cars will be available for shipments to other locations if required.

Four-Inch Rain In Area; Weather Causes 7 Deaths

Drenching thunderstorms accompanied by light hail struck most of the Panhandle area yesterday, causing accidents and electrical disturbances and dropping up to four inches of rain in some places.

Milton ruled Ray extraditable on both counts. At last week's hearing, Ray denied killing King.

"All I know in this affair is that the man says he did not do it," Milton said today.

Cubans Send Hijacked US Airline Back Without Its 87 Passengers

By CHARLES E. TAYLOR
MIAMI (UPI)—Cuban officials sent a hijacked Northwest Orient Airlines jetliner back to the United States today without its 87 passengers, claiming it would be unsafe for the big plane to take off fully loaded on the Havana airport runways.

The passengers were to be picked up later today by the U.S. operated Cuban refugee airlift.

ter authority then, will be held at 2 p.m.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, the Headquarters Building and adjacent project facilities will conduct open house until 5 p.m.

The formal transfer of control of the project from federal control to control of the authority representatives of the 11 Texas cities involved marks conclusion of the huge $85-million project started in 1960 following a vote of the people favoring the reclamation project by a vote of 30 to 1. Impounding of water at the Sanford Dam began in 1965. The 32-mile aqueduct facilities were completed in 1967. Many of the cities already are taking water from the lake.

Pampa has the water piped to its west city limits, but will not begin taking water until completion of a $750,000 water treatment plant, plans and specifications for which now are near completion. The water treatment plant will be built from funds authorized in an overall $2,900,000 bond issue in March, 1966.

Cost of the total project is to be repaid to the government in yearly installments for 50 years. Pampa's share of the cost for aqueduct, dam and reservoir construction is approximately $5,500,000 over the 50-year period.

tourist trade will utilize other advertising media to supplement the efforts of the five communities.

The sponsoring Chambers are aiming to stop as many as possible of the 10,000 tourist cars that pass through the area daily. They report that stopping nine cars overnight in a community has the equivalent economic effect of adding an industry with an annual payroll of $100,000.

The "Land of Coronado" tourist promotion was initiated by the Area Development Department of Southwestern Public Service Co., which designed the materials to be used.

In addition to Barrett, other Pampa CoC members who attended the unveiling ceremonies at the Tourist Bureau on Interstate 40, east of Amarillo, were E. O. Wedgeworth, CoC manager; G. K. Reading, Howard Buckingham Jr., Mrs. Fred Thompson, Norman Henry and Jim O'Connor.

A meeting of the tourist development committee was held this morning at the Chamber office to put plans in motion to distribute secondary advertising supporting the highway sign-board program.

Runaway Locomotive Derailed In Kansas

KINSELY, Kan. (UPI)—It was right out of a tired, old movie script. A locomotive suddenly lurched forward and sped out of control at 90 miles an hour across the Kansas plains.

Only it was for real. The driverless diesel, pulling a second diesel unit and stirring up a giant pall of dust in its wake, rushed 80 miles through five counties before a frenzied Santa Fe switchman forced its derailment on a sharp curve.

Police and highway patrolmen guarded crossings to prevent any injuries while sheriff's officers chased the unmanned engines. Only the lone ranger and the cameras were missing. The locomotives broke free at a roundhouse in Hutchinson, Kan., and headed northwest through Reno, Rice and Barton counties before curving southwestward at Great Bend, Kan. west of Hutchinson tried to flag down the engines, apparently

This Lieutenant Has Tough Job For The Army

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—The Army does not give medals to men like Lt. Hernani Dumlae of Killeen, Tex., but he has perhaps the toughest job of any soldier.

Dumlae is a survivors assistance officer at Camp Robinson in North Little Rock. One of his duties is to notify the next of kin in Arkansas of the death of an Army serviceman in Vietnam.

"When they see an Army officer coming to the house, they sense what is wrong. Most of them become pretty emotional, especially the wives," Dumlae said today.

The 23-year-old lieutenant can recall some of the agonizing trips he made to parents' homes.

But one trip in particular sticks out in his mind.

"The parents were not at home so I went to the family's grocery store. It was a small town store," Dumlae recalled. "The father was there and when he saw me enter the store, he just stopped and stared. Then, without saying a word, he began to close the store. He had an awful look on his face," the lieutenant said.

Dumlae shook his head and continued, "I asked where his wife was and he said we would get her. After they both came back, I began telling them of their son's death in Vietnam and both of them broke down right there. It really hurt to watch."

Since then, Dumlae has been to the house of 17 families to tell them of the death of their husband, son or relative. And at each home he finds the situation a little different.

"I wish I knew a way to find something that I could say that wouldn't hurt them or me. I want to find something that will work for everyone," he said.

Dumlae admits that is hard to accomplish.

He confesses that he really never knows what he is going to say to the kin until he walks through the front door.

"I can usually tell by the home and their appearance what type of people they are. I adjust to each person individually," Dumlae said.

dust storm coming down the A highway patrolman north unaware no one was aboard. Barton County Deputy Sheriff Dean Ratzlaff followed the train through his county. "When I first saw it, it looked like a big dust storm coming down the track," he said. "I had to do between 85 and 90 just to keep up with it."

The engines were picked up at Garfield, Kan., by Pawnee County Deputy Clifford Atteberry who followed them to just west of Kinsey where they were derailed.

"When the first engine hit that sidereal, it sort of lurched into the air a few feet like a fish out of water," said Atteberry. The wheels were torn off and then it hit a telephone pole. Diesel fuel was running all over the ground."

Santa Fe officials gave some thought to staging a head-on collision to stop the locomotives, but the decision was made to derail them near Kinsey where the secondary track they were on merges with the main line.

"There's no telling how far it might have gone if we hadn't derailed it," said J.R. Fitzgerald, Santa Fe division superintendent at Newton, Kan.

Groom School Board Studies New Plans

GROOM (Sp.)—The Groom School Board met recently in a called session to talk with representatives of the architectural firm of Brasher-Gayette Rapior of Lubbock. The firm presented three different plans for expanding cafeteria and classroom facilities and other minor remodeling.

Included in the proposals are: Either building a new cafeteria and equipping the same or remodeling and expanding the existing cafeteria, kitchen and storage area, plus a covered walk-way to the new P.E. gym, plus replacing lights in the older classrooms to meet state standards, and possibly resurfacing the present tennis courts.

BERRY'S WORLD

"It's the latest thing in men's fashion, and I got it for Father's Day—WANNA MAKE SOMETHIN' OF IT?"

This Woman Works Both Sides Of Political Fence

NEW YORK (UPI) — You might say that Frankie Welch is working both sides of the political fence. But the opportunity comes at the invitation of people in both major political parties.

Mrs. Welch is working for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, in a way also for Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, and will be represented at both the Republican and Democratic national conventions.

White House Fling
She already has had a fling at a job for the White House.

"I'm really bipartisan," said Mrs. Welch, when asked whom she wanted to see the next president. She also is a many-talented woman originally from Rome, Ga., doing fabrics and clothing design, manufacturing ready-to-wear and selling it and the wares of other manufacturers from her retail shop in an 18th century Georgian house in Alexandria, Va.

Her customers in many cases are the wives of congressmen and cabinet members' ladies from along Embassy row.

Mrs. Welch, mother of two girls, aged 12 and 16, "got into politics" because of her skill with designs for prints and her interest in the American Indian's welfare. She is one-32nd Cherokee, the Iroquoian people who originated in the Appalachians and migrated south to Georgia and Alabama, west to Texas and Oklahoma.

During a fabrics-buying trip to New York, Frankie Welch told how a book in her father's library on the history of Rome and Floyd County, Ga., set her off first in calligraphic printed fabrics.

The book told of the Cherokee scholar, Sequoia, who worked out a series of symbols, some of them almost like the English alphabet, to start a "newspaper" in 1822. Most tribes could read the symbols which Mrs. Welch called "The first-true American language."

Set Up Fund
She reproduced the symbols on silk scarves, in various colors against a white background, turning the fabric into scarves, dresses and other ready-to-wear. Now $1 of each scarf sale goes to a higher education fund she's established for the Cherokees.

The Indian prints were introduced at a big fashion show last October at the Northern Museum of Virginia in Alexandria. Someone told the White House about them and one day Mrs. Welch received a call from Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson's staff. Would she design a patriotic-themed scarf promoting the President's travel U.S.A. program? Mrs. Welch produced an abstract print in red, white and blue with the bold lettering "Discover America."

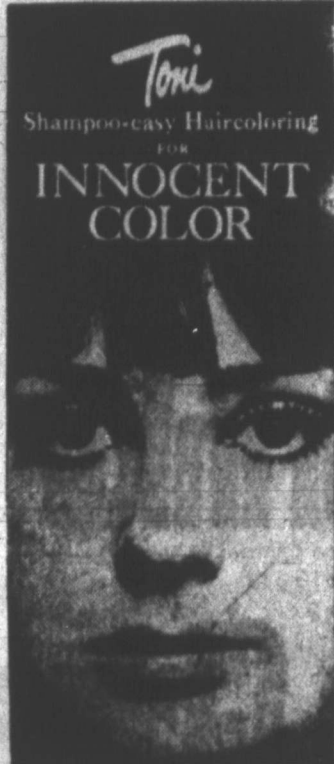

Initially the White House scarf was a gift to wives of congressmen and governors at a White House luncheon and fashion show. The White House still is ordering them as gifts for visiting dignitaries, she said. And Mrs. Welch has branched the "Discover America" print into other apparel including short and long hostess gowns almost kimono style.

Then, Mrs. Gerald R. Ford, wife of the Michigan congressman who is the House minority leader, asked if the designer could do something in the way of dresses and accessories for the young hostesses at the kickoff luncheon for the Republican Convention in Miami Aug. 5. Mrs. Welch did a red, white and blue daisy documentary print to be made into pinafores for the hostesses, and also designed it in several dress styles for other Republican women.

Now, she said, she's at work on a partisan theme for the Democratic Convention.

Television In Review

By RICK D UBROW. HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—It is Tina Louise, recently moved always a pleasure to see a into in the Hidden Valley performer mature, relax and section of Colwater Canyon, suddenly find the right groove. Crane added: "Now I don't care any more. The show I'm doing is the only one I'm thinking about. And I think Tina had a lot to do with is good, television company my change of attitude. She s these days. very cool. She made me relax... as much as anyone in this business can."

It is the same Les Crane who, before Joey Bishop, had the late-night ABC-TV series that didn't work out. But it isn't really the same Les Crane as a performer.

Changes Attitude What happened to bring about the personal change? "I really wanted to be a success before," he said, "and that, more than anything else, prevented me from being successful. I was pksing, pressing, and that television machine is like an X-ray machine, if you are pushing, 'pressing—if you act anything less than natural and at peace with yourself—it shows it."

Sitting poolside at the house

Series of Vehicles Crane first came to public attention with a late-night show in New York. Then, on the five ABC-TV owned and operated stations, he had a week-long tryout of an outstanding, gully and showmanlike program. But personally controversial technique that he didn't seem to really believe in 100 per cent. Now, however, he has suddenly blossomed into a most gracious host, and—combined with his admitted gifts as an interviewer—the result is that his syndicated television talk show is one of the best and most rewarding contemporary programs on the air.

After that, he did some television shows and a movie, "An American Dream," before hitting his stride on his new series.

"When you want to be a success," he says, "the thing that you worry about most is failure." Nowadays, however, worry seems to be a thing of the past, and Crane is a very loose cat, as witness his outlook: "Every day a guy should say: Today is the first day of the rest of my life."

As I say, Mr. Les Crane is very good company these days.

Texas Is Keeping Top Literary Students in State

By ROLAND LINDSEY
AUSTIN (UPI) — Texas has 100 per cent reversed a trend that saw its top literary students leaving the state to attend college, the Interscholastic League Foundation said today.

Through a unique scholarship program — there isn't another like it in the nation — the cream of literary and academic competition in the state is going to school and living in Texas.

The program is the Texas Interscholastic League Foundation. R. J. Kidd, general director of the Texas Interscholastic League, has been the key mover in building up a program which now awards more than 150 scholarships valued at more than $150,000 to winners of literary and academic events at state high school contests.

He refers to these winners as "blue chip academic champions."

Once Were Ignored
The "blue chippers" were being ignored a few years ago, while winners of athletic events got "brass band" receptions after capturing state titles.

And, Kidd said, while Texas ignored the academic winners, colleges from out of the state recruited them. Kidd found that when students left the state to attend college, they seldom returned.

"The Texas Interscholastic League Foundation was designed to afford these talented champions the same opportunity and recognition in Texas colleges and universities which athletes have enjoyed for many years," Kidd said.

And, further, to help retain, if possible, some of these blue chip academic contestants for their native state.

Success in Business
The foundation got its biggest boost when research data showed that high school academic contest winners were making cesses in business efforts. This data was used to encourage donors to establish scholarship funds in the foundation.

The scholarship foundation now has 20 donors, and is "getting more all the time." It has no salaried employes and no expenses. All the money donated to the foundation goes for scholarships.

"We still have room to grow," an interscholastic league official said. "We have come from nothing in this seven years, and there is still plenty of academic blue chippers who deserve the recognition."

moves it is the head that moves first and the body trots desperately along in a vain effort to maintain the balance of the whole.

Frenchmen outside Paris regard Parisians with a mixture of distaste and amazement at the best of times. This verges on horror and total incomprehension during crises such as the recent student riot in the Latin Quarter.

The student-police battles that turned areas of Paris into a shambles and the extensive strikes that followed them found their echo in other French cities — in Lyon and Strasbourg and Marseilles — but it is safe to say that without the lead and example of Paris these would never have happened.

Metropolitan giants in France do not count.

Where Paris leads, France follows. In the fields of fashion, art, political science, social theory, philosophy and scientific thought Paris ranks as a world leader and dwarfs the other cities of France.

This has led Parisians to look down on the rest of their countrymen and to regard themselves as a species apart. This, in addition to the rural French suspicion of whatever is happening in their capital, has compounded the social and political problems that a French government must solve if it is to govern this often ungovernable nation.

In 1944 the third largest French port, Cherbourg, was liberated from the Nazis by the allies.

In 1918 the United States began operation of the "Berlin Airlift" to bypass soviet blockading of the western sector of the divided German city.

A thought for the day: British author Sir Izaak Walton once said "good company and good courage are the every sinews of virtue."

Good Food, Good Time, Too!

There Are Plenty Of Rooms Available In San Antonio For Visitors To HemisFair

There are plenty of good rooms at moderate prices available in San Antonio for HemisFair visitors, according to R.W. Colglazier, president of Visitors Services, Inc. Colglazier's organization is the World's Fair housing bureau which is responsible for assisting visitors in finding accommodations.

Despite receiving double the daily expected queries, Colglazier said VSI has been able to process all mail requests for information and housing in usually no more than a couple of work days. Mail has hit 4000 pieces a day indicating the great interest in the Fair.

Those wishing to contact VSI should write to Visitor Services, Inc. P. O. Drawer H, San Antonio, Texas 78206, or call 226-4292, area code 512.

Fair visitors will find food prices both on the HemisFair grounds and in the city very reasonable. Some world's fairs in the last few years have been guilty of exorbitant costs for dining, but this is not true at San Antonio's World's Fair.

A world-wide variety of restaurant cuisine is there for the leisurely diner, but most folks find their way to the many air-conditioned outdoor "food-clusters." Mixed in with hamburgers, tacos, shishkabob and hot dogs are exotic counterparts from dozens of foreign countries. And deserts? Forget the calories and try the Swiss ice cream delicacies, Danish pastries, Dutch fudge, Mexican bunnelos. All these food cluster taste treats are inexpensive. A dollar goes pretty far at these pick and choose food stands even when you add in a dessert.

Everything can be eaten as you walk along.

Walking is only one of the convenient ways to get around what national magazines have called a "bite-size," "air-conditioned," "relaxing and comfortable" worlds fair. For variety, try the longest Mini-Mono-Rail ever constructed at a fair. Or for a breathtaking panoramic view of the Fair and downtown San Antonio take the Swiss skyride; then for a relaxing low-level view enjoy the Lagoon boat Cruise or El Trencito (The Little Train) both of which wind in and out of every nook and cranny of the 92.6 acres.

Whatever mode of on-site transportation you choose will take you through the most exciting and unusual exhibits ever brought together in the Southwestern United States. And 19 industrial giants have built fabulous pavilions.

The United States Confluence Theater creates gasps and goose bumps with its disappearing interior walls and expanding screens as it presents Academy Award winner Francis Thompson's three-part documentary "U.S."

Perhaps the most popular pavilion at HemisFair is the Institute of Texan Cultures which utilizes the most modern exhibit techniques to trace the ethnological history of the Lone Star State from prehistoric times to the present.

The confluence Cosmos is a primary theme exhibit that attempts to place our dramatic leap into space into a meaningful human context as it shows the various ways in which man, through history, has experienced the universe.

One of the major cultural attractions of HemisFair '68 is Teoros de los Museos de Espana. Included among 14 rarely lent treasures from Spain are masterpieces by Velasquez, Goya, El Greco and others. The collection is valued at more than fifty million dollars.

So steeped in educational value is HemisFair that the Texas Board of Education has declared that an organized class trip to the Fair counts as a regular school day.

And entertainment? National travel writers have termed HemisFair's talent tops! From the high-flying Voladores who perform without safety devices from a 114-foot pole to Iaterna Magika and Kino-Automat (termed the best of Expo '67) you'll find spectacle, fun, color, shocks and surprises galore. There is something for everyone.

Fiesta Island with tummy-tumbling rides for the kids, the naughty Puppets of Paris (Les Poupees de Paris) for the adults and the 622-foot tower of the Americas, with its revolving restaurant and observation deck for the whole family.

A sparkling panorama of big-name performers will appear in the beautiful new 2800-seat Theater for the Performing Arts and the 10,000-seat Arena from now through September. Headliners include Allen and Rossi, The Bayanhan Philippine Dancers, Jimmy Dean, Wayne Newton, The Mills Brothers, Ringling Bros. Earnum and Bailey Circus, Louis Armstrong, Henry Mancini and Roy Rogers to name a few.

All in all there is so much to see and do that the average family should plan 2 to 3 days to see HemisFair '68. Even so you probably will want to plan a return visit before October. Then too, while in the Alamo City don't forget the old favorites such as La Villita, the River Walk, The Spanish Missions, Fiesta Noche del Rio at the outdoor Arneson River Theatre and all the rest. For information, maps and brochures on these stop by the new Chamber headquarters and City Tourist Information Center at 202 E. Commerce on the riverwalk across from the Fair grounds.

In a recent open letter to his friends, Stanley Marcus, president of Neiman-Marcus, said "San Antonio has a hit on its hands and in my judgment the country is going to discover it before the summer is over."

Two Aviators Reject Scrubwoman Image

LANCASTER, Pa. (Sp) — If you hate to scrub floors (and what woman doesn't?), give a little cheer for Ellie McCollough and Dottie Bock.

Ellie and Dottie are two Long Island, N. Y. homemakers who used their aversion to housework to sell a floor wax manufacturer on sponsoring their entry this month in the 1968 All-Women's Transcontinental Air Race, better known as the "Powder Puff Derby."

The plucky New Yorkers are scheduled to leave July 6 from California on the largest and longest air speed race for women in the world—2500 miles from California to Georgia, flying over some of America's most spectacular natural scenery.

And chances are, the girls will be smiling all the way—not just because they love to fly, but because they've again demonstrated the truth of that old adage: "Never underestimate the power of a woman."

It all began late last summer when the distaff flyers were looking for a sponsor to put up the money to enable them to participate in the 1968 Powder Puff Derby.

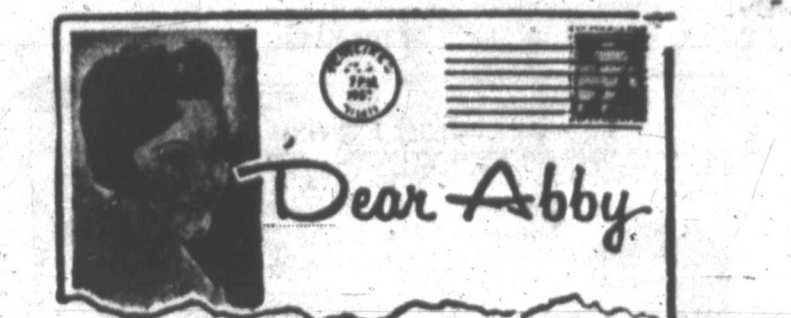

"I saw a television commercial about a one-step floor cleaner and polish designed for 'women with more exciting things to do than scrub floors,'" Dottie explains, "and I thought 'Boy that means us.' She wrote directly to the manufacturer, suggesting that she and Ellie fly the '68 Derby as real-life illustrations of the company's advertising theme.

Dispite the almost total lack of association between floor wax and aviation, this bright and logical idea made sense to the $450,000 Pennsylvania corporation. Ellie and Dottie convinced the company that if it could spend millions of dollars to promote the "more exciting things to do" concept on television, it could certainly find a few more dollars to have the same story proclaimed literally "to the skies" by two adventuresome homemakers who, in fact, do have more exciting things to do than scrub floors!

This month, the girls will pilot a brand new airplane in the derby, specially decked out with a three foot high color reproduction of the sponsor's product on the tail section. Printed on both sides of the fuselage for thousands of Derby-watches to see are the words "Those women have more exciting things to do than scrub floors." The pilots have even been outfitted with colorful rainbow jackets to match the label design of the sponsor's container.

For good luck, Ellie and Dottie plan to take along a mascot on their exciting cross-country stint. It's a large stuffed teddy bear that will ride in the back seat of the airplane along with a case or two of the sponsor's wax.

"We were going to name him one-step, until we learned there were positively no men allowed in the Derby," says Ellie. "So now we call her Powder Puff!"

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I never thought I would be writing to you, but I need an impartial listener, and I am desperate.

I am married with four lovely children, ages 3 to 12. I work of necessity not by choice.

My difficulties started last year when my father-in-law died and "Mom" asked me if she could be our day time baby-sitter to keep busy and supplement her income.

We thought it was a wonderful idea, as we would feel more at ease with grandmother looking after the children instead of a stranger. What a mistake!

We learned too late that Mom is hypnotized by the television. She turns it on the minute she walks in, and it stays on until I come home from work. In the meantime, the two little ones have been tearing the house apart from one end to the other. Mom lets them do anything they please, and you know that is not good.

I have tried to talk gently with her, and so has my husband, but it hasn't helped. The situation keeps growing worse. I would like to get someone else in to look after the children, but how can I without hurting Mom? She would feel unwanted, and I would feel cruel and heartless and guilty. Please help me find a solution, if there is one.

DESPERATE

DEAR DESPERATE: Anyone can make a bad decision—the tragedy is perpetuating it. Face it, "Mom" is not working out as a baby-sitter. To suddenly "disengage" her would be unkind. Why not take an indefinite leave of absence from your job (for a month or so) and gently relieve your mother-in-law of her duties. You could resume in time after having made other arrangements for a sitter.

An alternative would be to place your children in a day nursery. Either suggestion is, I think, better than continuing the way you are.

DEAR ABBY: For 20 years we've lived next door to a family I'll call the "SHMOS." Mr. Shmo and my husband belong to the same lodge, and they fish together. Mrs. Shmo and I are also very good friends.

My husband is a sergeant on the police force. Recently the Shmos' son came home from college and threw a big party in their backyard. I'll bet there were 100 kids there. The party got noisy and wild so the elderly couple on the other side of the Simons' called the police.

Well, Mr. Shmo (Sr.) got smart and told the patrolman that he had better watch his step because his best buddy was a police sergeant, so the patrolman called for the "best buddy" who happened to be my husband. Mr. Shmo (now very drunk) cursed the patrolmen, so they arrested him with my husband's consent.

All the neighbors were watching. My husband had no choice, but now none of the neighbors will even speak to us, Abby, who was wrong? Should we apologize?

SERGEANT'S WIFE

I have tried to talk gently with her, and so has my husband, but it hasn't helped. The situation keeps growing worse. I would like to get someone else in to look after the children, but how can I without hurting Mom? She would feel unwanted, and I would feel cruel and heartless and guilty. Please help me find a solution, if there is one.

DEAR ABBY: I can't thank you enough for telling me to forget all those reasons I gave you are not wanting to go to our family doctor to see if I was pregnant or not. I took your advice and went, and he told me I wasn't pregnant. Boy, was I ever relieved. And Abby, I am glad that you told me that dressing the way I did was just setting myself up for rape.

I never realized before that those mini-mini-skirts and real thin blouses with nothing on underneath could give the guys the idea that a girl was willing to do anything. Thank you very much, Abby I will always love and respect you.

Start the education along social and humanitarian lines. As well as entertainment and apparel for fine success throughout the lifetime. Give as fine an education as you can afford.

Curly Hair Era Dawns Once More

By PATRICIA E. DAVIS

NEW YORK (UPI) — Teenagers who iron their flowing locks to make them straight can put mother's ironing board away.

The big word in hair fashion this year is CURLS from big fat sausage curls to tiny tight mini-curls. And that holds true in wigs as well as lady's natural hair.

Hair styles as well as clothing styles have taken a step backward to the romantic days of Scarlett O'Hara and "Gone With The Wind."

A recent New York showing of wig styles from the cave-woman to modern times wound up with curls, curls, curls.

The olden times segment featured the cavewoman in wigs made of animal skins; a Chinese girl in ornate robes and severely-styled black wig; a Cleopatra wearing a dark wig highlighted with rope and gold braid and the Marie Antoinette wig, a towering white creation with an ornate feather headdress.

For the "Now" segment of the showing, wigs made of "Chapellin," a new synthetic fiber, were used.

The people behind the new process say the fiber simulates the finest human hair, holds a curl through four or five washings with regular shampoo, and can be sprayed, teased and set at home. And it is inexpensive. A 2-inch fall costs only $25. The Chapellin wigs and falls shown were curvable and curly. Among the models were blonde shoulder length tresses pulled severely back from the face and cascading into fat sausage curls in the back.

A brunette wig styled in fussy tight little curls was worn with a mini-dress. One of the most striking styles was the one and only straight haired wig shown, a dark brunette creation that hung straight down to the model's hips, a la Tahitian.

In 1906 President Theodore Roosevelt signed the Pure Food and Drug Act — a law making illegal the shipment in interstate commerce of adulterated foods and drugs.

In 1852 Henry Clay deid in Washington.

The serving table was covered with a linen cutwork cloth over yellow and was centered with a floral arrangement of yellow and white daisies and gold candelabra bearing white tapers.

About 40 attended.

In 1870 Ada Kepley of Effingham, Ill., became the first woman to be graduated from an accredited law school when she received a diploma from the Union College of Law in Chicago.

All-Star Contest Set For Tonight

An opposing baseball team was selected today by James Whitmarsh, manager of Ideal Foods, to play against the Babe Ruth All-Stars in the annual All-Star game tonight. Game time is 8 p.m.

"We'll play if it doesn't rain anymore," Jack Hood, vice president of the Babe Ruth league said, early this morning.

A total of 15 players were selected to oppose the all stars. Included are Robert Morris, Jeff Hoga, Mark Finney, Dale Ammons, Steve Flowers, Jim Gallman, Jerry George, Dudley Warner, Larry Knutson, Dwayne Glover, Wade Archibald, Sammy Heasley, Donnie Cain, Greg Schulz and Nonnie Brewer. League officials will select only one all-star team instead of two as in the past to try to make a stronger showing in district and state all-star competition.

The all-star team includes Ken Adams, Joe Foster, Gary Haynes, Dan Hood, Lewis Davis, Randy Marsh, Ricky Harris, Doug Thompson, Tim Jones, Chuck Sexton, Larry Yearwood, Gary Potter, Marsh Gamblin, Freddy Harper and Mickey Sims.

The queen of the Babe Ruth league will be crowned before the game.

Members of the teams are selling tickets for the 18 inch color television set to raise money to elect their queen. Drawing for the TV will be before the game.

Pampa is affiliated with the National Babe Ruth organization which holds playoffs at district, state, regional and world series levels.

This year, the district tournament for the area will be here in Pampa and the district champion will go to San Antonio for state competition.

District play is from July 8-13 with Pampa meeting Canyon at 9 opening night in the local stars' first action.

Rebels Host Amarillo On Wednesday Night

The Pampa American Legion baseball club will try to seek revenge for a one-sided loss when the Rebels host Amarillo in a district game here Wednesday night. Game time at Optimist park is 8 p.m.

Amarillo defeated the Rebels, 15-3, in the first meeting of the clubs at Amarillo on June 15.

Coach Lloyd Summer has decided to hurl Al Gomez against the Amarillo team. Gomez was credited with the win over Wheeler, 10-8, at Wheeler Sunday afternoon.

On Friday night, The Rebels host Dumas at 8 p.m. The first contest between Dumas and Pampa at Dumas on June 16 was postponed because of wet grounds.

In the Dumas game here on Friday, Summers will use possibly three hurlers—Alvin Achord, Steve Summers and Tom Hawkins.

Alvin Achord has been the big gun in the last two games for the Rebels. He was 7 for 8 in the two games with Perryton and Wheeler in games away from the familiar confines of Optimist park.

Against Perryton, Achord had a perfect night—3 for 3 including a double. Against Wheeler, the next day, he hit 4 for 5 including two doubles.

Pampa is now 3-4 and has a chance to boost its mark over the .500 mark in three games this week.

The Rebels end a three-game schedule this week when Pampa invades Palo Duro of Amarillo Saturday night.

Texas Pigeon Racing Club To Hold Meet

Coombes, Pampa. These birds are specially banded when they are hatched. The outstanding bird trophy will go to Lloyd Gooch with

TEN SPARKLING thoroughbred qualifiers are racing at La Mesa Park Futurity this season. Fishin' Roundup

By MELVIN CLARK

The channel cat are really getting hungry! Lots of good reports this week. Don Burke, 3005 Dosewood, and his father, Alvis Burke of Liberal, Kansas were fishing Lake Gething near Pampa last Friday, and caught a 12 1/2 lb. channel cat! Also seven more weighing from two to two and one half pounds each. Their bait was crawfish and large waterdogs.

At Roman Nose State Park in Oklahoma, Owen D. Handley of Skellytown was fishing with a brown scale Lazy Ike lure and landed one 3 1/4 lb and one 3lb channel cat. He also caught one 2 1/2 lb. bass, and one 2lb bass using the same lure. All the fish were full of crawdads. Evidently they figured his lure looked like the crawdad.

T. J. Duree, 946 Malone, took his two brother-in-laws, Ben Jackson and Ed Connor on a fishing trip that was really a fishing trip! They went to one of the small lakes in Roger Mills County, Oklahoma last Thursday and Friday and really had a fishing party. T. J. caught one 5 lb. bass, one 4 lb. bass, and one 3 lb. bass.

These were all caught on minnows during the hottest part of the day. In addition they filled their ice chest with 1 1/2 to 2lb bass using lures and minnows. Then Ed caught a 5 lb. channel cat on a waterdog. To finish off the trip they filled a 3-gallon bucket with extra large blue gill.

Dillon and Juanice Ferguson, 333 Canadian, just completed a trip to Eagle Nest and Cimarron Canyon, New Mexico. They caught 86 trout. Five of these were 12 inches long and weighed 2 lbs. each. They were fishing the swift-running stream where the flies did not work too well, so they used worms and fire ball eggs for lures. The fishing permits there are $10.00 per year, or $5.30 for 5 days. Happy fishing, everyone!

POOR EXAMPLE
LONDON (UPI)—Mrs. Anne Kerr said she had nothing against canned tongue or canned potatoes or frozen spinach. But in the House of Commons dining room?

"Food is becoming more and more tasteless and less interesting," she said, "and food at the House of Commons is no exception."

"We have people from all over the world dining there," said Mrs. Kerr, a member of Parliament herself. "I think that is a pretty poor advertisement for British cooking."

The Self-Respecting Child

The other night I was involved in an interesting discussion about whether or not there is such a creature as a "self-respecting child."

I think there is, and I have a few suggestions to offer on what parents can do—and not do—to create the kind of atmosphere that permits such people to emerge.

(1) Don't criticize your child. Let him learn for himself from experience. Criticism breeds resentment and puts him on the defensive. It makes him unresponsive to your teaching and unwilling to communicate with you. Children learn from the examples their parents offer, not from preaching.

If a child observes that his father tells "little white lies," that his mother cares more about what the neighbors think than she does about being honest, then it doesn't make any difference what such parents say to the contrary; it's their actions and behavior that impress him.

On the other hand, if his parents act in harmony with the principles they want him to accept—such as being honest with one's self and with others; employing reason and fairness and never resorting to the use of force; being respectful of the rights and opinions of others—then it's not necessary for these parents to lecture; their child is learning from them every day of his life.

(2) Don't make him feel guilty when he says or does something you disapprove of. Before you react, ask yourself if it was really wrong for him. Don't ask him to act against his own self-interest.

(3) Don't plan his life. Don't set his goals, either short or long range. It's his life, not yours.

This is beginning to read like an awful lot of "don'ts." But that's because precisely what is lacking in so many parents is the ability to leave their children alone; to let them make their own decisions; to refrain from harmful criticism; and, to a child's mind, parental criticism is harmful, no matter how noble the parents' intentions.

There is one important thing, however, that parents can do for a child: Be on his side. Not just when he's right, but all the time! Because when he's wrong he needs someone in his corner more than when he's right. Not to "fake it," not to pretend he's right when he isn't, but to sympathize with his dilemma and to help him understand himself. His parent can say, "You must feel badly." It's hard to admit that you've made a mistake. "I'll bet you wish you hadn't done that." That's all. No recrimination or "you shouldn't-haves" or name calling, and no pity. Just some human kindness and warmth.

After all, children are not just incipient adults, undergoing a twenty-year training program. They are human beings and, with a good start in acquiring self-respect, they might make their dearest dreams come true.

HOW TO ADDRESS OUR LAWMAKERS

You may want to write your senators and representatives in Washington, and here are their addresses: (FEDERAL)
Rep. Bob Price, 1353 Longworth Bldg., Washington, D.C. 20525.
Sen. Ralph Yarborough, Senate Office Bldg., Washington, D.C. 20540.
Sen. John Tower, Senate Office Bldg., Washington, D.C. 20540.

Rep. Malouf Abraham, Canadian, Texas, 79014.
Sen. Grady Haselwood, Canyon Hwy., Amarillo, Texas 79100.

A Case of Judicial Censorship

Two long-time foreign correspondents have combined their talents to write a book which is going to be widely quoted across the land this summer.

The title is, The Experts. The authors are Seymour Freidin, who was executive editor for foreign affairs of the New York Herald Tribune, and George Bailey, who was executive editor of The Reporter magazine.

On page 85, there is this extraordinary report:

"Unrevealed until now, as well, was the outburst of the late President's brother, Senator Robert F. Kennedy. Grief-stricken at the sudden calamity that cut the President down, Bobby Kennedy telephoned a ranking official of the CIA, who, dumbfounded, heard him demand with commingled anger and emotion: Did your outfit have anything to do with this horror?" Bobby Kennedy, subsequently regaining his composure, never mentioned the call again. But he has often encountered the man he phoned, who, as it happened, had been a dedicated pro-Kennedy supporter."

Of course that paragraph was written, and the book was already off the presses when an assassin's bullet struck Bobby Kennedy. But the paragraph underscores a point that we want to make. In the aftermath of a tragedy of this kind, emotions run high, and rumors keep pace.

Accordingly the arbitrary threat of that California judge to hold newsmen and officials in contempt if facts about Bobby Kennedy's assassin are made public is an insult to the public. And a danger.

If, like Oswald, this new Kennedy assassin also had leftist associations—and contacts, as the meager news about him suggests, then the public deserves to know it at the earliest possible date. Newsmen and officials, judicial and otherwise, who withhold full disclosure about his political orientation are actually helping those who share the assassin's views.

Mayor Yorty revealed just enough to suggest that the shadow of Communism—and-or Castro has fallen on another victim. For this the Mayor has been chastised publicly, it being suggested that he has jeopardized the ability of the court to get a conviction of the accused murderer. Nuts!

If Bobby Kennedy could ask the question quoted in The Experts, imagine the questions the public is asking in this period of imposed blackout. Censorship by judicial decree is no more palatable than any other kind.

Meantime, the War Continues

Pick up any newspaper and the headlines are depressingly similar:

"GIs Dying at Record Rate During Peace Talks" — "Marines, N. VN in Fierce Battles"

More American soldiers were killed in the week immediately preceding the week coinciding with the start of the Paris talks than in any previous two-week period in the year—more than 1,100, bringing total U.S. Battle deaths to over 25,000.

Some Americans may have been able to dismiss the war from their minds, now that U.S. and North Vietnamese representatives are actually meeting with one another. But not the parents and wives of men killed in those two weeks, or being killed in weeks to come.

"Many Americans have been misled into placing too high a value on Vietnam peace talks and expecting 'too much too soon,'" a group of prominent citizens warned recently. The group included educational and business leaders, former President Dwight Eisenhower, former Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois, James B. Conant, Gen. Omar Bradley and Gen. Lucius Clay.

There is unmistakable evidence that Ho Chi Minh thinks of negotiations as another way to fight another war—in effect as another weapons system," they said.

The history of the tortuous negotiations, that took place in the midst of the Korean War is classic proof of the truth of this statement.

Thus the insanity continues and the discouraging headlines and heart-breaking casualties repeat themselves week after week.

If there has been no progress in Paris so far, how much can there be as long as one side refuses to agree to the first step toward peace, a mutual scaling down of military activity — indeed, refuses even to admit that a single one of its soldiers is on the soil of South Vietnam?

Those who protested so much against America's involvement in the war are strangely silent now.

If they sincerely desire peace, nothing is stopping them from making this desire plain to Hanoi. They never hesitated to convey their moral support in the past.

Articles for this column are preferred to be 200 words or less in length. However, longer articles may be printed. All letters must be signed with name and address.

The following open letter was sent to U.S. Rep. Bob Price: Please pass HR 11465 which bill is to repeal United Nations Participation Act 10 1945.

In 1944 the United States of America had 60 per cent of the world's gold, and a most powerful military force. Since joining the United Nations we are now being disarmed and have lost most of our gold.

Have gone steadily and surely downhill. Please get us out of United Nations so we will again enjoy the blessings of our U.S. Constitution, instead of UN Charter, where the little school children are being bussed across town.

The three secretary generals of United Nations, Trygve Lie, Dag Hammarskjöld and U-Thant openly favor world communism. If we drift on until the United Nations take over completely, who will have control of United Nations? The communists, of course. Let us not surrender our dear United States of America.

The last best hope of freedom on this earth to the communist (bloody dictatorship) who dominate the United Nations.

Today the "Cream of our young manhood" is bleeding and dying in a far off land in a United Nations No-Win War by weapons we are helping supply.

Please pass Bill HR 11465, or better still, get us out of United Nations.

Mansfield, Dirksen Asked to Stand For Short-Notice Peace Talks Support Trip

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has quietly alerted top Senate leaders for a quick mission to Paris to give bipartisan backing to U.S. negotiators at the Vietnam peace talks.

The President has asked Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., and Republican Leader Everett Dirksen, Ill., to stand by for such a trip on short-notice. Both have said they will hold themselves ready for such an assignment.

The major purpose of an appearance by Senate leaders at the Paris negotiation table would be to show North Vietnamese negotiators that the Administration's peace initiatives have broad support in Congress and in the nation.

With Some Reservation

Like the termite's nightmare, "I drempit I Dwell in Marble Halls," the college engineers over the country have been handed a tough assignment.

"Design a Better Bra" is the ultimatum handed down by the Lovable Co. and the college engineers will spend their summer days lingering over the lingerie.

The male engineers are not adverse to studying up on the subject and no doubt will give their wholehearted research, but the female engineers ain't so hepped up about it. I think the company made a Boo-boo.

They should have offered a prize to the women for designing some new and better male undergarments. Then they might have more interest.

One member of the Better Bra Brigade suggested a 'blow up' bra but was soon deflated by a co-ed who said it was too uncomfortable.

There is no doubt that science keeps probing into new fields, and it is a uplifting challenge to most engineering students, though M.I.T. turned thumbs down on the overall project as they didn't like the nature of it.

It will be interesting to watch and see which student comes to the forefront with a new and lively innovation. May his slide rule measurements meet with the approval of the judges viewpoint.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT
Prepare Your Child
For Adolescence

PAUL SCOTT

Adolescence is generally admitted to be a stormy time. It is characterized by rebellion against the authority of parents and of society, emotional confusion and a desire to experiment with new ideas which may include driving a gasoline-powered vehicle, the use of various drugs and/or some form of sexual stimulation.

How well your child comes through this period will depend in part on how well you have prepared him for it and in part on how understanding you can bring yourself to be.

Every teen-ager is the product of what has gone on in his life since earliest childhood. No one is in a better position to know a child's background than a sympathetic parent who has kept the youngster's confidence by maintaining mutual respect.

One of the greatest worries confronting the budding adolescent in his physical difference from the members of his own age group, it is estimated that about 5 per cent of pubescent boys have tenderness—and-or enlargement of their breasts. A similar number of girls fall way behind their classmates in breast development or in the onset of their menstrual periods.

Some boys are painfully short and some girls are painfully tall. These variations in teenagers who have no physical illness can cause them untold agony unless they can be persuaded that the selection of his senatorial representatives. He has passed up the present-day foreign policy experts — today's counterparts of Connally and Vandenberg — to alert the Democratic and Republican party leaders. Dirksen is not even a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, and Mansfield is only its third ranking Democrat.

By appointing the top-ranking members of the Foreign Relations Committee, Johnson could have gotten the same political and ideological spread embodied by Mansfield and Dirksen. Such a choice would have meant designating Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., and Sen. Bourke R. Hickenlooper, R-La., Hickenlooper, like Dirksen, has generally supported the President on Vietnam. Fulbright, even more than Mansfield, has opposed him.

In sticking with the party leadership Johnson gives another little snub to Fulbright, for whom he has little affection at this point. Fulbright is running for reelection and, while he is now thought to be in no serious trouble, a hurry-up call to serve the nation in vital negotiations abroad might have helped at the ballot box.

In that connection, it must be noted that Dirksen is running for reelection too, and the 72-year-old Republican leader has been as helpful as the loyal opposition can be in advancing President Johnson's program at the Capitol.

As matters stand, Dirksen will get the campaign dividends when and if Senate leaders are sent on a dramatic flight to Paris to confront the Communists in the hope of achieving a Vietnam truce.

Significant in the present instance, however, is President Johnson's selection of his senatorial representatives. He has passed up the present-day foreign policy experts — today's counterparts of Connally and Vandenberg — to alert the Democratic and Republican party leaders. Dirksen is not even a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, and Mansfield is only its third ranking Democrat.

Open Letter To The President

My dear Mr. President:
An overwhelming majority of Americans share the concern which you have expressed in the aftermath of Senator Kennedy's assassination. We, too, are concerned, and deeply, with the mounting wave of crime and violence and with the disregard for law and order which is sweeping our country. We do not agree that the fault lies with the millions of law abiding, hard working, tax paying citizens, of all races, who alone support the economy of this country. We resent the implication that somehow we, all Americans, are to blame. We feel that the causes which lead to the consequences which you deplore, and which we deplore, lie elsewhere. It is not a sick society which is to blame, but a perverse philosophy in government and the permissive and tolerant attitude of our elected officials and appointive justices which has given rise to so many of the problems with which we are confronted.

We feel it is time that someone, like the boy in Anderson's fairy tale, "The Emperors Clothes" stripped the veil of sanctity from the eyes of those who refuse to acknowledge the truth. We feel it is time that you, Mr. President, examine the contribution which your administration has made to violence and disorder, that you review the contributions of your highest court in the light of decisions which increasingly protect the criminal and hamper the efforts of our police and prosecutors and State courts to protect the innocent against vulpine and voracious violators of their rights.

We feel that you should evaluate the contribution to disorder and violence which has been made by political demagogues who, in exchange for votes, promise more than they, more than our country can fulfill, and by doing so arouse hopes which being unfulfilled give rise to bitterness and lawless reaction.

We feel that you should examine the impact which has been exerted by "liberals" who belong to that school of thought which professes to believe that a "poor environment" should be an excuse for all anti-social activity and should exempt the offender from punishment. A poor environment is no excuse for failure—the splendid career of Al Smith and hundreds like him constitutes a complete refutation of this concept.

You have demanded law and order. We agree that this is an imperative. Have you demanded as well that degree of self-discipline without which law and order cannot exist? Have you, in the alternative, insisted upon imposed discipline where self-discipline is absent? We do not need more laws, we need rather prompt, firm fair and impartial enforcement of those which we have.

Those who have incited and led riots which make a travesty of law and order are still at large. As surely as if they had held the pistol or applied the torch those who incited these riots are as guilty of murder as was the demented wretch who assassinated Senator Kennedy. What action have you taken to bring these culprits to justice? What action do you propose to take?

Recently on television we witnessed the debating spectacle of your Attorney General standing at bay while an undisciplined mob threatened to burn and destroy. What action do you propose to take to bolster and strengthen the sanctity of law in the face of this challenge?

What do you propose to do to alter the thinking of those who refuse to enforce discipline in our colleges, and universities and mistakenly assume that education at the public or private expense of others is a right and not a privilege? When will you state, without equivocation that freedom is not license, that privileges carry with them obligations, that in the absence of self-discipline, enforced discipline must result?

You have appointed a commission to examine into the causes of lawlessness and disorder. Will it, like the ed that these differences fall within a normal range. In many cases, as adolescence progresses the variations fall more nearly into line with the general average but, even if they don't, they should be recognized for what they are. Often an examination by the family physician with neither parent present, followed by a large dose of reassurance, will give the youngster the perspective he needs and will relieve his groundless worries ghetto commission, find no one to blame except the mass of Americans who do not and cannot control the policy of our government except through its congressional representatives? Or will your commission probe more deeply, will it seek to determine the extent to which these disorders have been influenced, encouraged, and yes, protected by the utterances and actions and attitude of our elected officials? Will they then, suggest, as indeed they must, that the tone of the orchestra is created by the conductor, that the course of the ship is determined by the captain, and the welfare of those who control policy, who act or fail to act, and not by those who, like the mass of your fellow Americans, can and do obey the law and look to our elected representatives to see that others are required to do the same?

The wrongs committed by or suffered by a minority can never be corrected by destroying the rights of the majority!

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

Ernest Hemingway was once paid $30,000 for a 2000-word article on Spanish bull fighting by SPORTS ILLUSTRATED magazine, which made him the highest paid author in history. However, an unknown Minnesota housewife topped Hemingway's fabulous reward when she wrote 25 words to complete a sentence in a prize contest and won $500 a month for life. It's estimated she will collect $12,000 a word for her literary efforts, which no one can identify or even remember.

Today's smile: An anxious mother queried her daughter after her new beau departed: "Any hint of marriage, dear?" The daughter answered: "Yes, mother, but he keeps ignoring them."

Thoughts while shaving: A blue ribbon symbolizes the first prize everywhere. That is because the greatest honor bestowed by British royalty is the Order of the Garter, instituted in 1346 by Edward III, and the garter ribbon is always blue. For centuries it was only awarded to royalty, but in 1912 Sir Edward Grey was admitted to the order for his services to the Empire. Other commoners have since been honored, including Sir Winston Churchill. You frequently read about cloth being Sanforized, a process for compressive shrinkage of fabrics. It was invented in 1928 by Sanford Cluett, who died recently at the age of 93. It's impact on the textile industry is so great that an estimated 448 mills in 50 countries now use the Sanforized process in making cloth. And to show you that Cluett never lost interest in his quest for new horizons he invented "Clupak", a stretchable paper, when he was 79. We've just had the season of college commencement and honorary degrees, which reminds us that former President Herbert Hoover was the all-time champ in picking up honorary sheepskins. He received 85 of them from the world's leading universities. Karate is generally associated with the Japanese who have claimed it as their own. It was of Chinese origin, however, and was first introduced as a method of hand-to-hand combat by the inhabitants of Okinawa in the 17th century. Ever hear of a deliologist? Well, be careful, you might be one. He's a fellow who collects picture postcards. It's curious how time changes around the world. When the Japanese in Tokyo are having their Monday lunch hour the tourists in Hawaii are enjoying a Sunday afternoon at the beach at Waikiki and New Yorkers are going to bed on Sunday night. The New York WOMEN'S WEAR DAILY headlined a story: "Hose Men Told, Keep Legs Pretty." That's not new. Adam told that to Eve.

Pampan On First Rotary Drilling Rig In Panhandle

PANHANDLE (SpI) — Mrs. Mary Jane Lewis of Pampa watched the dedication of a historical marker unveiling the first operational rotary drilling rig in the Texas Panhandle near here with unusual interest Saturday.

Mrs. Lewis, who resides at 1005 N. Somerville, is the daughter of Frank Sticott, who was 24 when he helped drill the rig in October, 1923.

Sticott attended the ceremonies with his daughter.

Dignitaries from Borger, Panhandle and Amarillo were present for the unveiling of the marker placed on Highway 207, eighteen miles north of Panhandle.

H. D. Lewis, Joe Trigg and the late J.E. Trigg, who owned the drilling company which introduced rotary drilling to the Panhandle oil fields, were honored at the ceremonies.

Attending were Lewis, Joe Trigg and members of the Texas State Historical Committee and the Carson County Historical Society.

According to the marker, the first rotary drilling unit was moved into the area in October, 1923. Included in the tools were a $25,000 rig with a six-inch diameter drill pipe, a derrick, three steam boilers, two mud pumps and other equipment.

Also included on the marker was that, "other rotary drilling was first used in Texas about 1900, and revolutionized oil drilling superceding cable to rigs as a major drilling device. The pioneer effort here made history in the Texas Panhandle."

Ex-Amarillo major F.V. Wallace praised Lewis and the Triggs at the dedication of the marker.

Harris County District Attorney Trying 'Assembly Line' Technique

HOUSTON (UPI) — When Henry Ford conceived the idea of an automobile assembly line, he probably never realized the technique would be applied to law enforcement.

But at the Harris County district attorney's office, some of those ideas have been applied to help stifle the explosive crime situation.

It might be called the super-market of district attorney's offices.

Carol S. Vance, head of the operation, has 52 lawyers under him, each assigned a special task in the tedious process of convicting law breakers, a club whose membership is growing much faster than the organizations in Change of restricting membership, the courts.

Nell McKay, assistant district attorney, is an exmable himself of the specialization in the office. He, along with Vance, handles strictly administrative matters.

But with nearly 6,000 felony cases a year flowing through the office, the administrative work keeps him very busy.

Three attorneys and one investigator are assigned to each of the six criminal district courts. Four lawyers work in justice courts, 12 are trying misdemeanor cases in the county courts and two attorneys and an investigator handle special investigations.

Four assistant district attorney present cases to the grand jury, three prosecutive in juvenile court, two in the nonsupport courts, one is assigned to bail bond forfeitures, one screens felony complaints and another screens misdemeanor cases.

This latter individual handles an average of 16,000 complaints a year. His job is to determine if there is sufficient evidence to prosecute.

After an accused has been charged, indicted, tried and convicted, the work of the district attorney is still not finished. The accused may, of course, appeal.

Three attorneys in Vance's office handle appellate briefs and make oral arguments before the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals at Austin. According to McKay, one-fourth of that court's cases are the product of Harris County.

If the accused takes his case to the federal courts, the Harris County district attorney's office is again called upon to present argument in support of the conviction.

Each month, the grand jury returns 700 indictments in Harris County. The District Attorney's office has its hand full. The hope is that they can work themselves out of a job. The criminal element is not cooperating.

Woman Becomes Meteorologist For West Texas City Of Pecos

PECOS, Tex. (UPI) — The Southern Union Gas Co. decided a few months back taking the official weather readings for Pecos took up too much time, so Mrs. Charlotte Woodruff volunteered for the job.

"There is no pay in the job and it only takes a few minutes each day to take the readings," Mrs. Woodruff said. The equipment, a small shed with thermometers and a rain gauge, was installed and Mrs. Woodruff became the town's official meteorologist.

"The whole job of checking the daily readings and rainfall takes about 10 minutes of my time a day. I make a reading in the morning before work, another at noon and then one in the evening," said Mrs. Woodruff, who is the mother of two children.

Once a month, Mrs. Woodruff sends the weather reports to the state climatologist in Austin.

High Death Toll Over Holidays Is Expected

CHICAGO (KPI) — Between 700 and 800 persons will die in automobile accidents during the July 4 holiday weekend, the National Safety Council estimates.

"Announcing so dismal an estimate gives us no pleasure, Council President Howard Pyle said Sunday.

The traffic count for the 102-hour July 4 weekend begins at 6 p.m. local time Wednesday and ends at midnight Sunday.

A similar nonholiday period averages 650 traffic deaths, Pyle said.

FTC To Seek Ban On Cigarette Advertising On Radio, Television

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., says that the Federal Trade Commission will ask Congress to ban all cigarette advertising on radio and television.

Magnuson, disclosing that the five-member commission voted 3 to 2 recently to propose the ban, said the Senate Commerce Committee would give the recommendation "serious consideration." Magnuson is chairman of the committee.

The far-reaching proposal constitutes the major portion of the commission's annual report to Congress on cigarette advertising. The report must be submitted this week.

When Congress passed legislation in 1965 requiring warning signs on cigarette packages it refused to give the commission permission to act against cigarette advertising.

This statute remains in effect until mid-1969 and therefore the FTC would be unable to put its proposal into effect.

The alternatives are for the Federal Communications Commission to act against cigarette advertising. Effects Of Drugs On Unborn Babies Is Being Studied HOUSTON (UPI) — Researchers from the Baylor University College of Medicine are studying the effects of drugs on unborn babies and the ability of newborn babies to eliminate drugs from their bodies.

The researchers, headed by Drs. Reba Hill and Marjorie Horning, have received a five-year grant totaling $1,987,000 from the U. S. Public Health Service.

The drugs under study are anti-convulsants, pain killers, tranquilizers and sedatives. The study will also concentrate on the routes of drug entry.

Blood and urine tests will be made on 300 babies a year to determine how the immature and inefficient chemical systems eliminate the drugs and how long it takes to clear the body.
