Nixon Still Confident As GOP Convention Prepares For Opening

B52s Blast Viet Valley

By BERT W. OKULEY
SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. B52s Saturday dropped tons of blockbusters on the A Shau Valley where North Vietnamese gunners shot down an American jet and two helicopters, killing two crewmen. Communist forces used tear gas in an attack on U.S. Marines near abandoned Khe Sanh.

The U.S. Command reported 120 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed in a series of battles throughout South Vietnam's northern reaches as the pattern of combat intensified toward a possible showdown in the cloud-covered A Shau Valley.

American losses in the area, including the men killed in the air action, were placed at eight dead and 15 wounded. A Communist attack on a mixed unit of American Marines and South Vietnamese militiamen was reported to have inflicted "heavy" casualties on the allied force.

The B52 strikes in the A Shau Valley Saturday marked the fifth consecutive day of saturation missions on the Communist stronghold stretching along the Laotian border toward Hue. It is North Vietnam's main infiltration funnel into the South and was the scene of a costly allied offensive last April.

U.S. military experts believe North Vietnamese commanders have sent fresh troops into the valley and are now using it as a major staging point for another offensive, possibly aimed at the old imperial capital of Hue.

Ten B52 raids since last Tuesday have dumped an estimated 4 million pounds of explosives into the valley. Stratofortress crews flew two missions Friday night and four more Saturday morning.

Reconnaissance pilots reported sighting a string of truck parks, bunkers and gun sites along an 18-mile stretch of the valley floor and the surrounding hills.

North Vietnamese anti-aircraft batteries dug into the jungles Friday shot down a U.S. reconnaissance helicopter in the valley 25 miles west of Hue. A second helicopter covering the rescue mission, and two of its crewmen were killed.

North Vietnamese gunners in another section of the valley shot down a U.S. Air Force F100 Supersonic jet fighter-bomber Friday. Its pilot was picked up when he parachuted.

'City Plan' Meeting Set For Monday

Members of the city commission and the city planning and zoning board will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Pampa Room of City Hall for the third in a series of meetings to discuss the development of a new Comprehensive Plan for Pampa.

Marvin Springer, Dallas consultant engineer for city planning, will continue discussion of proposed revision of zoning ordinances and regulations.

Springer and his associates were hired by the city to draw up the Comprehensive Plan concerning the expected growth and development of the city.

The plan should be ready for a public hearing by Labor Day of this year and be in the complete stage of development by March or April of 1969.

about 32 miles southwest of Hue.

The Communists sprung the tear gas attack on a force of U.S. Marines defending an outpost 10 miles west of Ca Lu just below the Demilitarized Zone. Military spokesmen reported six Marines killed and 11 wounded and said the Leathernecks killed five North Vietnamese.

Demos Seem Divided About Sen. Hazlewood

By TEX DEWESE
Panhandle Democratic leaders apparently are divided in their assessment of State Senator Grady Hazlewood's right to jump party lines and endorse Republican Ronald Reagan as a presidential prospect.

Last Tuesday the Potter County Democratic Executive Committee and Miss Claudia Brummett, 31st senatorial district committee woman, took an official stand on the matter by requesting Hazlewood's resignation from the party.

The senator had appeared July 19 at a Republican fundraising dinner in Amarillo at which California governor Reagan was the principal speaker. Hazlewood not only endorsed Reagan, but gave his blessing to Paul Eggers, Republican candidate for governor and praised Republican congressman Bob Price of Pampa.

During the weekend, Randall County Democratic chairman Grady Fox defended Hazlewood's right to endorse whom-ever he wished.

Fox said Hazlewood had the right to speak for his convictions and thought many voters in the state senator's district were for Reagan.

"The idea of a person voting for a man simply because he is a member of a certain party is an insult to a voter's intelligence," Fox said. "We need more forthright people like Sen. Hazlewood."

Fox's stand came after the Potter County Democratic Executive committee had demanded that Hazlewood resign his 31st district spot.

On the other hand, Hazlewood, the second-ranking Democrat in the Texas Senate, was censored at a Friday meeting of the Hutchinson County Democratic Committee in Borger.

Hutchinson County Democratic chairman Leroy Huval, who requested the special meeting, called Hazlewood's pledge as a Democrat worthless, and asked the senator to change his party affiliation.

Hazlewood said Thursday his answer to demands he resign is "a resounding no."

In a statement addressed to those in the Potter County committee who wanted him to resign, Hazlewood said, "Should I ever resign, I assure you it will be because I have failed my constituents because of a lack of guts and courage. It darn sure will not be because people like you requested it."

A meeting of Democrats from 20 Panhandle counties in the 31st district has been scheduled for Aug. 10 in Dumas when party chairman from the district, county and precinct level will discuss the Hazlewood case further.

Hazlewood has been a Democratic member of the Texas Senate since 1941.

Steel Crisis Deepens As LBJ 'Diverts' Contracts

A LARGE CROP of peaches will soon be ready for picking in the Wheeler vicinity. L. A. McWhorter, east of Wheeler, examines some of the already ripened peaches on one of the trees in his 20-acre orchard. Some of the trees have such large crops of fruit that the limbs have bent to the ground.

Wheeler County Farms Nearing Peach Harvest

By JEFF HOLLADAY
Daily News Staff Writer

WHEELER — Here in this eastern Panhandle county where the land begins a gentle, rolling descent from the Caprock, residents are expecting a bountiful harvest of one of the most rare of all Panhandle crops — peaches.

Some peaches are already being harvested, but officials here predict the biggest part of the crop will not start to ripen until the early part of next week. Production is expected to continue until about mid-September.

In an area where wheat, grain sorghums and cotton account for over 90 per cent of all cash crops, peaches in the Panhandle are not big business.

Only in Wheeler, Collingsworth and Donley counties in the Panhandle are peaches grown commercially to any extent. But in an area where fresh peaches are about as rare as a polar bear, they find a ready market.

"If you have a good peach in the Panhandle area, people will come to find them," Wheeler County agricultural agent Max Hatter said.

One reason for the popularity of their peaches, Wheeler County residents say, is the taste, which they describe as "superb."

Whatever the case, one grower claims that he gets buyers from not only throughout the Panhandle but parts of Oklahoma and New Mexico as well.

Extra Income
The crops annually mean $6-7000 for about eight Wheeler County farmers whose orchards range in size from 3-4 acres but one of the largest growers, L. A.

McWhorter, has a 20-acre orchard. For those who grow them, peaches are not the main crop; they also grow wheat, grain sorghum or cotton.

County Agent Hatter said the direct and indirect purchase of steel and steel products by the various civilian government agencies totals approximately 5.2 million tons a year at a cost of almost $700 million.

The White House said it was the President's understanding all other federal agencies would follow the guidelines set down in Knott's directive.

Firms Which Raised Prices Are Affected

By FRANK SWOBODA

AUSTIN, (UPI) — President Johnson, in a move involving billions of dollars in government spending, Saturday ordered all federal steel contracts diverted from companies that have raised their prices.

The immediate effect of the President's order was identical to the one he issued last Thursday for steel purchases in government defense contracts.

If this fails, the President may have little left in his arsenal short of seizing the industry or direct wage-price controls for the entire nation to force a rollback in steel prices.

The White House has suggested neither seizure nor price controls as possible solutions.

Issues Order

The latest move in the President's confrontation with the steel industry over prices—his second since January, 1966—came in the form of an order to all government agencies purchasing steel, by Lawson Knott, administrator of the General Services Administration.

The order was sent to all cabinet agencies was sent to all government plus the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), GSA regional offices, Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC), National Science Foundation, Office of Emergency Planning (OEP), St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, Small Business Administration (SBA), Veterans Administration (VA), Agency for International Development (AID), NASA and the Tennessee Valley Authority. These agencies represent the major steel purchasers in the federal government.

Rockefeller, Reagan Are Working Hard

By United Press International
Richard M. Nixon stayed confidentially away from the Republican National Convention site in Miami Beach this weekend while his opponents were busy trying to block him from a first ballot victory.

While Nixon remained away for a working weekend with aides at a Long Island beach cottage in New York, Nelson Rockefeller arrived Saturday in Miami Beach smiling and confident that he could block a first ballot victory and wrest the nomination away from front-running Nixon.

California Gov. Ronald Reagan, who says he will become a "serious" candidate if enough support is evidenced for him, arrived in Miami Beach from California. Nixon did not plan to arrive until Monday night on the opening day of the convention.

Forces Busy

Although Nixon remained away from the convention city, his forces were as busy as those of Rockefeller and Reagan in trying to hold delegates in line and pick up additional support. The latest UPI delegate count gave Nixon three more than the 667 votes needed for nomination, a drop of 21 in the past week.

Rockefeller, on arriving at Miami Beach, estimated Nixon would get only about 500 votes on the first ballot to Rockefeller's 300. "From there I expect to build steadily and I think the others will start to go down."

Reagan forces also were working on a strategy of blocking Nixon from a victory on the first two ballots, with the (See NIXON, Page 3)

Top News In Brief

NEW YORK (UPI) — A group of U.S. religious and civil rights leaders announced Saturday they have asked President Johnson to take the initiative in setting up a "massive helicopter lift" to aid starving Biafrans.

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — J. William Middendorf, Republican party treasurer, said Saturday Rep. George Bush of Houston was a "terrifically attractive" vice presidential candidate on anybody's ticket.

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (UPI) — Newsday, a Long Island daily newspaper, reported Saturday that Hanoi has advised Washington "indirectly and with great caution" it would cancel its expected offensive in South Vietnam in return for a complete cessation of bombing raids against the North.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas said Saturday the rule of law can survive in America only if judges are free "from fear of being called to account in any other place for their vote or their opinions."

MANILA (UPI) — Weyra rescue workers reluctantly halted their search Sunday for an estimated 300 persons entombed in the rubble of a earthquake-shattered apartment house.

In the last hours of the search for survivors, rescuers donned gas mask, surgical masks and sweat-stained handkerchiefs as they clawed at the twisted steel, stone and splintered wood until their hands bled, looking for human life.

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Republican platform writers confessed frustration today as they tediously quibbled their way through a plank on how to save America's cities. Still ahead was a possible bitter fight over Vietnam.

A critical point was reached 10 days ago when the Russians ordered the largest military maneuvers ever held in peacetime along their western frontier, including that with Czechoslovakia, and stopped the withdrawal of troops they had sent to Czechoslovakia at the beginning of June for Warsaw Pact war games.

But the Defense Ministry in Prague Saturday announced that the last of the Soviet army units that had taken part in the Warsaw Pact exercises June 20 to 30 had finally left Czechoslovakia.

The Soviets had left the troops here in an obvious effort to pressure the new regime into reversing some of its reforms.

Texas GOP Is Split Over Reagan, Nixon

By ROLAND LINDSEY
AUSTIN (UPI)—Lack of local organization among supporters of Richard Nixon and Ronald Reagan is the only thing preventing an open split among Texas Republicans, a GOP observer said Saturday.

"It's not like anything we've had in the past," he said.

Reagan has clearly picked up support since the state GOP convention, and further gains could put his backers in a position to challenge the party leadership of state chairman Peter O'Donnell and Sen. John Tower, both Nixon supporters.

The party organization in Harris County has split, and GOP leaders in San Antonio are on the brink of going their separate ways, though neither of these disputes is blamed directly on the Reagan-Nixon conflict.

Sharp Quits

Harris County GOP Chairman Dudley Sharp quit over a "procedural" dispute shortly after the state convention. He and other factions of the Harris County group had been at odds for several years.

Although the presidential candidate dispute was not the cause of the disagreement, it was in part credited with opening up the split.

Sharp, a former secretary of the Air Force under president Eisenhower, formed a new Harris County organization known as "Republican associates." He said he is "leaning" toward support of Reagan at the national convention because he feels the California governor is more electable than Nixon.

National committeeman Albert Fay, also from Harris County, has publicly endorsed Nixon.

Supports Reagan

The latest crack in the GOP solidarity came this week when former gubernatorial candidate Jack Cox announced he would support Reagan at the national convention.

Cox had been a Nixon supporter, and led the move to name Tower the state's favorite son nominee.

After Tower released the delegation, however, Cox wrote each of the 56 delegates saying he would support Reagan as the candidate with the most "electability" of the GOP aspirants.

Other Republicans of the 10th Congressional District quickly pointed out that Cox's endorsement of Reagan represented a minority viewpoint, and that most Austin Republicans back Nixon.

Another prominent Republican state Rep. Frank Cahoon of Midland, said he would support Reagan on the first ballot, but only to give the California governor a better chance at the vice presidential nomination. Cahoon said he really prefers Nixon as "Republican associates." He

Three New Teachers In Area School

SKELLYTOWN (Sp) — Three new teachers have been hired for positions in White Deer Independent School District for the 1968-69 school year.

Roy Thronburg, Silverton coach, will be head coach at Skellytown Grade School.

According to Dorman Thomas, superintendent, two teachers have been tentatively hired, subject to approval of the local school board.

John Hill of Wheeler will teach English and Spanish at White Deer High School. He graduated from Borgess High School and received a BE degree from West Texas State University. Hill taught in Silverton one year and Wheeler three years.

Rex Jones of Canyon will be high school math teacher. A graduate of Enid High School, he earned a BA degree from Frank Phillips University and has 18 hours graduate work at West Texas State University.

Some teaching positions in the local school system are still open. They are industrial arts, English, Spanish, Biology and assistant coach.

Man Injured In Truck Accident

William B. Jones, 19, of Amarillo, was listed in satisfactory condition late yesterday at Worley Hospital after the truck he was driving crashed into a ravine 14 miles north of here shortly before noon yesterday.

Jones suffered chest and facial lacerations.

Texas Highway Patrol officials say Jones, an employee of Amarillo Rendering Company, was driving north when he apparently hit an air pocket and lost control of the one-ton vehicle.

Jones was taken to Worley Hospital by ambulance.

National Guard Inspection Today

Members of Texas National Guard, Company B, Second Battalion 142nd Infantry, headquartered in Pampa, will have their annual inspection at 10 a.m. today at the National Guard Armory east of the city.

Maj. Cheshire, executive director from the headquarters of the Second Battalion Mechanized 142nd Infantry of Amarillo, will conduct the command inspection.

the Drama of DRUGS

By Joe Tooley

It's amazing how seemingly unrelated sciences combine resources from time to time for the benefit of all. Right now, I'm thinking of electronics and medicine.

Not so long ago, the science of electronics was considered solely as the province of communication. Then it spread to industry; and now medicines is reaping the advantages of advances made in the new field.

An automatic heart pacemaker, one which takes over in surgery when the heart apparently has failed for good, is one of the life-saving electronic aids. Electrocardiographs to measure workings of the heart and electroencephalographs to record brain activity have been in use for quite some time.

Electronic brains can even be set up to aid the physician in diagnosis. These are only a few of the many electronic aids to medicine.

Richard Drug guards your health by keeping complete stocks of fresh medicines. Our skilled, licensed pharmacists merit your confidence.

Rev. Derrel Lewis, Barrett pastor, invites all members, former members and those who have had a part in Barrett's becoming a church to attend the services. A dinner will be held in the Fellowship Hall of the church immediately following regular morning services.

Field Service Students Arriving Here

Miss Helen Elizabeth Hill, blonde blue-eyed American Field Service student from Transvaal, South Africa, is scheduled to arrive at 10 a.m. Monday to make her home for the coming school year.

Nobuhiro Ichiryu, from Kochi, Japan, arrived Saturday night to live with Dr. and Mrs. Julian Key.

The students will study a year in Pampa High School on AFS scholarships and will participate in American community and family life. They hope to exchange knowledge of customs, ideals, interests and problems and to develop better understanding between our country and theirs, Mrs. Key said.

In selecting AFS students and the families who invite them, their intelligence, personality and adaptability to others and to new situations are considered, Mrs. Jack Hood, AFS Chapter member here said.

Peaches
years before they start producing fruit.

Hatter said the county is currently conducting a 23-variety peach experiment program to determine the most ideal peaches for the area.

Some plums and apples are also grown in Wheeler County but they account for very little of the fruit production.

Fruit stands in the county are an infrequent sight and most fruit producers offer the buyers a choice of picking his own, which most prefer, or of buying picked fruit at slightly higher prices.

The "Georgia Peach" Grower

One of the big producers in the area is McWhorter, who lives 1 1/2 miles east of Wheeler. Peach growing is sort of a "natural" for McWhorter, a vigorous man in his mid-60s. He's a native of Georgia, the "Peach State."

McWhorter has been raising peaches in Wheeler County since 1940 and he has never seen the trees hanging so heavy with such good peaches. "He added that this year's crop might set a record.

"There are a lot of old men around here who have never seen such a good crop."

The crop is so good, in fact, that many orchards have sustained substantial losses from broken limbs caused by the heavy yields of fruit.

Some producers suffered losses from a late frost but most assessed it as minor.

McWhorter is already producing some peaches but he says the "main part of the harvest will start about the 10th and last for about six weeks."

McWhorter explained that he raised about eight different varieties of peaches. Some, he said, are more suitable for canning, others for freezing, others for picking, others for eating fresh. But he also said they matured at different times, thus allowing production time to be spread out over a period of about six weeks.

McWhorter said he sold only to individuals — he won't sell the fruit to supermarkets, or fruit stands or truckers or anyone who re-sells. He believes it would deplete the crop and people who are long standing customers might be deprived of the fruit they come seeking.

He says $3 "is my ceiling on the price per bushel" and he never sells over 5 bushels to one individual. "They could sell for more," he says, "but folks have always treated me right so I'm going to continue to let them buy them at these prices." He said he has had people from through the Panhandle and Oklahoma and New Mexico who come to buy the peaches.

Most have to do their own harvesting, however, "I'd rather just set the price and let folks pick their own," he says.

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—The U.S. Supreme Court will decide if Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's case against Clay L. Shaw is "persecution or prosecution," Shaw's attorneys said Thursday.

The attorneys filed notice in U.S. District Court that they are asking the Supreme Court to stop proceedings against Shaw, accused by Garrison of conspiring with Lee Harvey Oswald, Jack Ruby, David Ferrie and others to kill President Kennedy in 1963.

Burglaries Reported

Two burglaries of businesses and two of autos were reported to Pampa police Saturday.

The places burglarized were the Tee Room Lounge, 543 W. Brown, and Whitner Milling Co., 625 S. West. An estimated $16 was taken from the milling company, and an undetermined amount from the lounge.

Paul Fauss of 1028 Mary Ellen reported a stereo tape player valued at $115 was taken from his auto while it was parked near his residence. Fauss previously had reported several stereo tapes missing from the auto.

Jim Miser of 1225 S. Sumner reported an auto stereo tape player valued at $90 was taken from his auto while it was parked in the driveway of his residence.

Mrs. Fern Dulaney of 919 E. Francis reported that four hubcaps valued at $12 were stolen from her auto.

In other police news, several incidents of vandalism and malicious mischief were reported, including an estimated $125 damage to a neon sign at the Crystal Lounge, 114 S. Frost. Several youths reportedly damaged the sign by throwing beer bottles at it, police say.

DALLAS (Sp) — James K. Devlin, president of Data Automation Company, Inc. (DAC) announced July 31 that the firm has made an investment in a new company Agricultural Computing Company (ACC).

ACC, located in Amarillo, has recently been formed for the purpose of providing computer services for cattle feed lot operations in the Texas Panhandle.

Devlin stated that DAC now owns a substantial but minority interest in the company and has been awarded a $25,000 contract to perform feasibility studies, and retained as management consultants in organizing ACC.

Speaker Takes Kiwanians On An 'LSD Trip'

Dr. J. F. Elder took Pampa Kiwanians on an LSD trip at their noon luncheon Friday in Methodist Church.

The speaker told of the various ways in which the hallucinatory drug affects users and the temporary and permanent damage it can cause to the human body and mind.

Dr. Elder passed around sugar cubes to the luncheon club members before he began his speech. At the close of the speech none of the members was inclined to make a test to determine if the cubes actually contained any of the drug.

The speaker cited a number of horrifying experiences of LSD effects that have come to attention of the medical profession.

stand." But so far, his demands and actions appear to have had little effect on the industry.

Should all the steel companies decide to raise their prices the President's order regarding government purchases would be effectively nullified. Federal contracts specifically forbid the purchase of foreign steel.

Extent Of Order

The extent of the order Saturday can not be immediately calculated because it reaches all the way down to the state and local government levels where federal subsidies are involved in construction contracts involving the use of steel — contracts for such items as highways and public housing.

In another development in the steel confrontation, the White House said the President has received replies from some of the companies he sent telegrams to Friday warning against price increases. The White House would not comment on the nature of the replies, but it seemed fair to assume that none of them contained a pledge to hold the price line since this is what Johnson is hoping for to solve the problem and he would probably want to announce it immediately.

This is what President Kennedy did when he forced the industry to roll back prices in 1962 and basically what happened when Johnson forced a price rollback in January, 1962.

assumption the former Vice President's support would then begin to fade and that of Reagan pick up.

In other developments:

Nixon—Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., one of Nixon's floor managers, told newsmen the Republicans could gain 10 Senate seats and 40 in the House, and thus gain control of Congress, if Nixon is the nominee.

Baker put New York Mayor John V. Lindsay at the top of the list of possible running mates for Nixon.

Reagan—Speaking to newsmen in Los Angeles before flying toward Miami Beach, Reagan said he had no way of knowing if there was enough support for him to convince the convention delegates to nominate him for president. "If these people (supporters) are backed up by enough delegates, I suppose I am a serious candidate."

Hubert H. Humphrey—The Vice President, leading the race for the Democratic-presidential nomination, said he intended to build on the record of the Johnson administration rather than disassociate himself from it. Taping interviews in Detroit, Humphrey also said the solution of civil rights problems lies in enforcement rather than in more legislation.

Eugene J. McCarthy—Humphrey's chief rival took a campaign recess with a brief vacation on an undisclosed island in Penobscot Bay in Maine. Aides said the Minnesota senator planned to work on position papers on the problems of the cities.

George Wallace—The third party candidate was officially nominated for president by the California branch of his American Independent Party. California thus became another state to guarantee Wallace a spot on the ballot.

Center Wrap-Up

George Smith, Director
Pampa Youth and Community Center

SWIM LESSONS—The Youth Center has completed the schedule for the swim lessons which will be given Sept. 9-Dec. 18 of the new school year. All these lessons will be taught on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Fridays for 10 meeting dates. Each session will last 2½ weeks. All lessons will be taught by Mrs. Jackie Marlar, Center resident Water Safety Instructor.

All swim lessons during the school term will be in the afternoons from 4-5 and 5-6 p.m. Each lesson lasts for 1 hour. All classes are open now for enrollment. Enrollment is free to Center members and $4 to non-members with memberships always available. The complete schedule is:

Sept. 9-25
4-5 p.m. Polywogs
5-6 p.m. Beginners

Sept. 30-Aug. 16
4-5 p.m. Beginners
5-6 p.m. Adv. Beg.

Oct. 21-Nov. 6
4-5 p.m. Beginners
5-6 p.m. Intermediates

Nov. 11-27
4-5 p.m. Beginners
5-6 p.m. Swimmers

Dec. 2-18
4-5 p.m. Adv. Beg.

CENTER MEMBERSHIPS—The Center is open the year around as well as the comfortable indoor heated swimming pool. This means year-round family fun. Participation for all these facilities at the Center is through a membership plan. By purchasing a membership you may have free use of all the facilities and free swim lessons given by our qualified instructors.

There are two different membership plans for your consideration. One, the individual plan, is for those people who are at least 8 years of age and up to adults. This plan sells for $5 for six months and $8 per year. The reason for the age limit is that those children under 8 years of age must have an adult chaperon with them to swim. The other membership is the family plan. This entitles all members of the immediate family to participate and sells for $12 for six months and $20 per year.

To purchase any of these plans you need only come to the front desk at the Center, pay your dues and membership cards will be issued.

WOMEN'S SWIM TEAM—Attention all you women. The Center sponsors a time each week especially for the women. On Monday and Fridays from 3:45 until 5 p.m. the Center has an exercise class and a women's swim team. You can quietly swim away the pounds you want to lose or exercise to the instructions on records.

Exercising is from 3:45 until 4:15 and swimming is from 4:15 till 4:55. Participation is by membership only. You may purchase an individual membership or family one and enjoy this time especially for women.

TEEN DANCES—The Center is sponsoring the teen dance again for those who are interested in this type of activity. The Center is striving to give to the young people the type of entertainment they like best. If you have a special band, please let us know so we can contact them.

The Center has changed the operation of the dance in that we have age group dances.

HONG KONG (UPI)—A smuggled Red Guard publication made available Saturday said opponents of Mao Tse-tung bugged his telephone line in a cloak and dagger plot designed to seal the "inner secrets" of his Chinese Communist party.

The report of spy melodrama behind the Bamboo Curtain said Mao, his wife, Chiang Ching, and Defense Minister Lin Piao were the victims of spy traps for a 10-year period.

It said the wife of the man listening in on Mao's telephone conversations committed suicide, apparently when the plot was cracked.

The "henchman" behind all this was identified as Chiang Hua, longtime chief of the Communist party apparatus in the eastern province of Chekiang, whose capital is Hangchow. The "silk city" is a favorite retreat for the aging Mao.

Chiang was named in the publication, Cultural Revolution Dispatches, as a supporter of President Lien Shao-chi, Mao's chief rival in the mainland power struggle which has been under way for the past two years.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress moved today toward a five-week convention recess after halting a threatened curtailment of postal service across the nation.

House approval Thursday of a Senate-passed measure assured the Post Office Department an exemption from cutbacks in federal employment ordered last June by Congress when it passed the 10 per cent income tax increase. The bill applies to all but about 5,000 of the department's 761,314 jobs.

Petroleum Industry Is Chief Source Of Revenue For Public Education

DALLAS—Texas' petroleum industry continued to be a chief source of revenue for the state's public education program during 1967. The industry, according to a new publication of Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, in 1967 "paid for 29 per cent of the state's cost of public education and of teacher retirement. The publication—"68 Informative Facts"—states that the oil and gas industry last year paid $282 million in state taxes, an $18 million increase over 1966. The annual compilation of industry statistics, released Saturday, further states that: Texas production taxes on oil raised $140.6 million, up $9.6 million over 1966, while production taxes on gas totaled $78.3 million, up $4.3 million over 1966 figures. The Texas petroleum industry taxes account for 21.8 per cent of all state taxes. The state's petroleum industry pays 30 per cent of the state franchise tax; 37 per cent of state property taxes. The Texas Permanent School

Fund in 1967 received $35.4 million from the petroleum industry for lease rentals, bonuses, royalty payments; total since 1932—$655 million. The University of Texas Permanent Fund received $16.8 million in petroleum lease rentals, bonuses and royalty in 1967; total since 1924—$491 million. The Association's leaflet also points out that Texas became the nation's leading petroleum producer in 1928. It adds that the state has produced 30.9 billion barrels of oil, or 36.1 per cent of the U. S. total, and Texas has derived $69.6 billion from crude oil sales. Other items of interest in "68 Facts" include the following: Oil is produced in 199 Texas counties. Texas has 5,600 oil producing firms. Texas has 207,446 producing oil wells in 3,708 fields. To prevent pollution, each day Texas oil men put over 5 million barrels of oil field salt water back into the ground. Texas oil men drilled 9,470 wells in 1967—28 per cent of U. S. drilling. The "68 Facts" leaflet is distributed free through Texas Mid-Continent's Oil Information Committee program.

James Henry Tanner 111, oil, gas exploration

Geologist Joins Cabot Department

A. S. Bonner, Jr. Cabot Corp. oil and gas exploration manager, announces that James Henry Tanner III joined his department recently as Pampa district geologist. Tanner received his B. S. and M. S. degrees in geology from Texas technological College in 1956 and 1957. He has since been employed by Mobil Oil Corp. as an explorationist in Midland, Oklahoma City, and New Orleans. Tanner will be responsible for exploration in the West Texas, Mid-Continent, and Rocky Mountain areas. The Tanners and their two children, Christi Lynn, 13, and James Henry IV, six, reside at 2117 Mary Ellen.

Alaskan Pipeline Study Is Okayed By 2 Companies

CHORAGE, Alaska (UPI)—Humble Oil and Refining Co. and Atlantic Richfield Co. have reported they have signed a contract with Pipeline Technologists, Inc., of Houston for a field study to see how a pipeline could be built for crude oil from a recent huge-potential oil field discovery. The study began Thursday. The study will go from the Prudhoe Bay area of the North Slope of Alaska to port facilities in southern Alaska. Richard G. Dulaney, vice-president of Atlantic Pipe Line Co. of Dallas, and Phelan H. Hunter, president of Humble Pipe Line Co. of Houston, said the climate and environmental problems of the area made a detailed study necessary to see how best to bring out oil. Announcement of the oil field discovery was made July 18. DeGoyler and MacNaughton, Dallas oil consultants, described the discovery on a 90,000-acre block in the Prudhoe Bay area 390 miles north of Fairbanks and called it "one of the largest petroleum accumulations known to the world today."

ARE YOU A QUICK-EATER?

A major Agricultural Department report shows that diets at all income levels are, nutritionally speaking, much worse now than they were ten years ago. Hurried breakfasts and lunches are leaving little time for well balanced meals. A hamburger and a bottle of soda-pop are not enough to supply all the necessary vitamins and minerals.

Teenagers and college students are usually careless about their meals. Just one good vitamin capsule can insure that they get a daily supply of the needed vitamins and minerals. We have them in stock.

BEARING GIFTS — Richard Tarrant, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Tarrent, 1000 Huff Rd. returned recently from a tour of Europe with the All-Student Band, U.S.A. Among the gifts he purchased throughout Europe are two swords, glassware inlaid with white gold, a music box, an umbrella (from England, naturally), French perfume and various jewelry.

Pampan Gives His Impressions Of Europe After Recent Return

By LARRY HOLLIS
News Staff Writer

"We were treated like kings and queens everywhere," said Richard Tarrant, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Tarrant, 1000 Huff Rd., of his tour of Europe with the All-Student Band, U.S.A. Orchestra, Chorus and Jazz Groups.

During the stop-overs in the various countries the groups were guests at receptions, holiday festivities, dinners, and, in a few places, in the homes of Europeans.

Tarrant played baritone in the All-Student Band group. A student at West Texas State University in Canyon, he is a sophomore music major. The tour was sponsored by the Shenandoah Conservatory of Music at Winchester, Va. The groups were coordinated and directed by the founder, Paul B. Noble, Jr.

The groups spent most of their time traveling, practicing, performing or being entertained by the various communities. They did manage to find plenty of time to tour the various places, however, Tarrant said.

After returning from the 34-day tour, which started June 15 in Virginia and ended July 18 in New York, Tarrant had a number of comments to make about Europe.

"Most of the people were very friendly," Tarrant said. He later added he found Europeans were generally more friendly than the people he saw in New York City.

"Of interest to many people are the conditions in France as a result of the various strikes and student demonstrations.

"The coverage of the news in France was greatly exaggerated by the newsmen here in the United States," he commented. "A group of 200 or 300 students would start a demonstration. Then a group of passers-by and tourists would gather to watch them. Then a number of pressmen would come to cover it. By the time the reports got to the United States, the news reported the demonstration was carried on by a thousand students. It wasn't like that at all."

He added the men at the U. S. embassy in Paris were "very angry" about the reports in the United States. The directors of the group had called the embassy before going into Paris to see if it was safe.

Tarrant said he talked to some of the French students involved in the demonstrations.

"I saw some of them carrying signs saying 'U. S. Get out of Vietnam' and so on. So I went up and asked several of them why they were carrying the signs. They answered, 'Because our leaders told us to.' They seemed to be well organized," he said.

"Sure, they had some trouble with demonstrations in France," he added. "But they were nothing compared to some of those we've had over here."

During the Bastille Day celebration in France, the group received invitations from Charles de Gaulle to be his guests. "We had front row seats to watch the parade," Tarrant said.

While in Florence, Italy, the groups were guests at a reception given by Gen. David Sarnoff, head of NBC-TV. They also met Col. Sanders, famous for his fried chicken.

"There really is a Col. Sanders," he said, "and he looks just like you see him in the commercials."

Tarrant found Germany "the most modern place I've seen. It's just like the United States."

He showed a post card of an area in Germany. Outside of the great numbers of Volkswagens, it could have been a freeway outside of Los Angeles.

"The Germans are a real proud people," Tarrant commented. "They have really rebuilt the country after the war. They have large industries, freeways and modern buildings. It's very different than a lot of other places in Europe."

where a lot of the war ruins still haven't been rebuilt."

He added the Germans really enjoyed the members of the groups and were very friendly towards them.

"I had heard the Germans didn't like Americans," he said. "But I didn't find it that way. They seemed very glad to see us because we were Americans."

He mentioned that several of them had asked some Germans where they could find a movie. They pointed out "Dr. Zhivago" and "My Fair Lady" quietly but seemed very pleased to note that a Jimmy Stewart Western was showing down the street, Tarrant said.

The group spent a longer time in Italy than in any of the other countries, Tarrant mentioned the Italians were very friendly.

"Italy is filthy, however," Tarrant said. "I had been warned about it by a doctor, and I found out he was right."

About 20 members on the tour, including Tarrant, developed a rash after swimming at Venice. He said the Venese swept and threw all their garbage into the canals, which in turn infested the beaches. He stated the doctors said the rash was probably a result of such conditions.

During some free time one afternoon in Italy, Tarrant and two other boys each rented a small car to tour the area. Unknowingly, they all entered a road on which cars were prohibited. Then, they were pulled over by several Italian policemen.

"They started talking to us and asked us where we were from. When we said, 'America,' they didn't seem surprised. They started to fine us, when the policeman I was talking to asked me what state I lived in," Tarrant said.

When the policeman found out Tarrant was from Texas he started talking about cowboys and Indians. In the end, he decided not to fine Tarrant. The other two boys, one from Montana and the other from New York, had to pay their fines, however.

Tarrant found the people of Sweden friendly, but he was disquieted by the country.

"I was surprised to learn that 75 per cent of the people are atheists," he said. He felt that because of this, they seemed to lack a definite purpose in life. He mentioned Sweden has the highest rate of suicides.

He also found the movies disturbing, as they were all completely adult in nature and went "much further" than they have yet done in the United States. He and several of his acquaintances did not attend a movie in Sweden, "mainly because we couldn't find one, we could feel at ease watching."

While in Europe Tarrant bought a number of gifts, both for himself and for others. He mentioned that Germany, Sweden and Monaco were more expensive than the U. S. A.; England and France were about the same; Holland, Denmark and Italy were less expensive.

Much of the trade in Europe, particularly in Italy, is conducted in open-air market places, he noted. Most of the sellers hike their prices, since they expect tourists to try to "chew the prices down." After bargaining and haggling, the tourist usually ends up paying at least the regular price and sometimes more without realizing it.

"You go much further if you're honest," Tarrant said. He said he often got lower prices because he offered to buy the objects at the asking price. When the sellers realized that, they often sold him the objects for a lower price than they did to other tourists.

Among the objects he purchased were two swords, glasses, plates, rings, ornaments, music boxes, a record and a set of Scottish bagpipes.

Some highlights of the tour included a command performance for Princess Grace, the former actress Grace Kelly, in Monaco; a tour of the Rhine River; a private celebration of the Fourth of July in Austria; and various holiday festivities in several of the countries.

Dream Shattered For Stowaway

By VIC WILCZUR
PARIS (UPI)—Like so many pretty girls of 26, Djobila Babi had a dream.

During the months she worked as charwoman in a Paris hospital the Yugoslav-born brunette thought of little else, talked of little else but her dream.

In it, she would fly to the United States to join the young man she loved. They would be happy together at last after long months of separation.

Violent End
Djobila Babi's dream ended violently in the soft earth and leafy shade of an apple orchard seven miles outside Paris.

There police Saturday found her mangled, torn body after a desperate two-day search which began Thursday when an off-duty pilot at Orly Airport reported seeing a young woman trying to climb into the landing gear bay of a jetliner about to take off.

Investigation quickly put together the sad pieces of the puzzle.

Djobila's residence permit expired Thursday and with it her job. She wandered the streets of Paris with $2.80 in her handbag.

It was late afternoon when Portuguese National Airways (TAP) Flight 09 wheeled into Paris for takeoff for Lisbon. An Air France pilot driving a home from work glanced toward the runway — then wheeled his car around and sped for a telephone to report what he had seen.

Too Late
Too late. The captain of the TAP Boeing 727, once airborne, reported "resistance" in retracting his landing gear. He lowered it, slammed it shut again and again and again.

The fourth time it jumped neatly flush into place.

Airport officials found Djobila Babi's handbag and passport lying in the grass by the runway. It was now clear she had clambered into the open bay in hopes the giant jet would wing her to America and fulfillment of her dream.

The plane, police said, carried her body high in the air for about seven miles before the retracting landing gear hurled it into the quiet of the apple grove thousands of feet below.

TRANSPLANT MURDERS

CAPE TOWN (UPI)—Transplant surgeons could conceivably be guilty of murder if they hasten the death of a heart donor to perform the transplant, a supreme court judge said Friday. Justice J.T. Van Wyk stressed the importance to doctors of defining exactly when a donor is legally dead.

You, Your Child and School

Have you moved into a new neighborhood? If so, your children and you should prepare for a new school situation. Also, it is very important to allow the new school to prepare for you. Although the summer is vacation time for students, you will find that many school offices are open. Find out which school your child is supposed to attend. If you have any difficulty, call the superintendent's office. There you can find out the procedure for registration and enrollment in the proper school.

Register Early
This will give the school an opportunity to obtain records from your child's previous school. Class placement can then be determined from knowledge and with time for thought. A child who registers on the next day of school cannot be given the same attention. Obviously, the first day is always hectic and rushed. Early registration provides time for any necessary testing, discussion and better planned placements.

The principal, guidance counselor or anyone else involved in your child's placement should have as much background information as possible. This is important if the school staff is going to determine proper teachers and programs. Too often parents hold back information because of fear or some other imaginary reason. Information given to the principal is held confidential and used only for the benefit of your child. Rather than hold back information, you should attempt to provide all that you know which will help the school to know your child.

In addition to the above, parents should work directly with their children. The unknowns of a new situation will generally cause some fears and anxious moments for youngsters. It is therefore important for parents to reassure and encourage their children. Take them to the new school. Let them become familiar with the grounds. If they walk to school, take them over the route so that it will be familiar.

Meet your neighbors. See if there are other children in the same grade. The principal may be able to suggest someone in your neighborhood. If children can become friendly during the summer, it will be easier to adjust when school opens. Don't try too fast as this can cause rejection. Try to be your normal friendly self and time will take care of the rest.

Texas Capitol Under 'Seige' By Crickets

By ANN WATSON
AUSTIN (UPI)—The Texas Capitol is under seige. And security forces at the massive pink granite statehouse are expressing doubt about how much longer they can withstand the thousands of invaders. Officials have shown reluctance in the use of force, however, and have confined most of their efforts to chemical sprays. "We're spraying for them and trying to get rid of them, but they seem to be working in faster than we can kill them," said one official. "The crickets are everywhere." "This is the worst that I've ever seen them for this time of year," said J.R. Smith, a Capitol building custodian. "We've got four men over at the capitol every day cleaning up crickets, fighting them—but it's all to do over again the next morning. "For every one we kill, three more show up." The Capitol—open year round with no screens—usually attracts large numbers of the insects in the fall when the first cold spell comes. This year they started coming two weeks ago. The pesky pests have moved into the legislative corridors and even the private apartments of Lt. Gov. and Mrs. Preston Smith and House Speaker and Mrs. Ben Barnes. "We sweep them up at least twice a day. They get several pans full every morning and then we have to call them back around noon to sweep again," said Mrs. Mattie Lee Smith, a secretary in the lieutenant governor's office. When squashed, the insects leave a film that can be slippery. Custodians have to wash down the floors nightly in many parts of the building. The biggest problem, however, is the odor. Many of the

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Watch For Songs

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—In a previous dispatch I broke the bad news that I will be on vacation during the Republican convention and consequently will not be filing any penetrating analyses from the scene. Assuming you have had time to recover from that blow, it is now my sad duty to disclose that I also will be on vacation during the Democratic convention. Sorry it worked out that way, but I always schedule my vacations several years in advance and I had no way of knowing the two parties would pick this time to hold their conventions. I realize my absence is going to leave many of my readers up the creek. They have come to depend on this column for political insights and interpretations that can't be found elsewhere. Analyze GOP In an effort to make things easier for them, I have already analyzed how people watching on television can recognize when the GOP convention reaches the crucial stage. Today I will discuss how to recognize deciding factors at the Democratic convention. There comes a time at most conventions when unofficial delegate counts, popularity polls, endorsements and other political stratagems become virtually meaningless. This is when the convention gets down to the real nitty-gritty—namely, the campaign songs. A candidate may think he has certain delegations all locked up, but when his opponent's campaign song is played on the convention floor, there may be massive desertions. By the same token, his own campaign song may cause wholesale defections on the other side. Watch Reactions The thing to watch for at Chicago is the first playing of "Let a Winner Lead the Way," which is Hubert Humphrey's campaign song. If you see delegates, particularly those supposedly committed to Eugene McCarthy, begin to wipe tears from their eyes, or salute the flag, or beat their breasts or otherwise lose control of their emotions, you may be certain that Humphrey is in. But if it is McCarthy's song, "If You Love Your Country," that reduces the convention hall to a quivering mass of shapeless ectoplasm, the delegates will be putty in his hands thereafter. There is, of course, always a chance that both songs will stir the delegates to the very fiber of their beings. In that event I predict the convention will end in a scoreless tie.

Texas Capitol Under 'Seige' By Crickets

By ANN WATSON

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Texas Capitol is under seige.

And security forces at the massive pink granite statehouse are expressing doubt about how much longer they can withstand the thousands of invaders.

Officials have shown reluctance in the use of force, however, and have confined most of their efforts to chemical sprays.

"We're spraying for them and trying to get rid of them, but they seem to be working in faster than we can kill them," said one official.

"The crickets are everywhere."

"This is the worst that I've ever seen them for this time of year," said J.R. Smith, a Capitol building custodian.

"We've got four men over at the capitol every day cleaning up crickets, fighting them—but it's all to do over again the next morning."

"For every one we kill, three more show up."

The Capitol — open year round with no screens — usually attracts large numbers of the insects in the fall when the first cold spell comes. This year they started coming two weeks ago.

The pesky pests have moved into the legislative corridors and even the private apartments of Lt. Gov. and Mrs. Preston Smith and House Speaker and Mrs. Ben Barnes.

"We sweep them up at least twice a day. They get several pans full every morning and then we have to call them back around noon to sweep again," said Mrs. Mattie Lee Smith, a secretary in the lieutenant governor's office.

When squashed, the insects leave a film that can be slippery. Custodians have to wash down the floors nightly in many parts of the building.

The biggest problem, however,

THE LIGHTER SIDE Watch For Songs

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In a previous dispatch I broke the bad news that I will be on vacation during the Republican convention and consequently will not be filing any penetrating analyses from the scene.

Assuming you have had time to recover from that blow, it is now my sad duty to disclose that I also will be on vacation during the Democratic convention.

Sorry it worked out that way, but I always schedule my vacations several years in advance and I had no way of knowing the two parties would pick this time to hold their insects are dying in nooks and crannies that brooms can't reach and the stench is becoming overwhelming.

"You almost lose your appetite when you go to lunch," said Mrs. Smith.

conventions.

I realize my absence is going to leave many of my readers up the creek. They have come to depend on this column for political insights and interpretations that can't be found elsewhere.

Analyze GOP

In an effort to make things easier for them, I have already analyzed how people watching on television can recognize when the GOP convention reaches the crucial stage.

Today I will discuss how to recognize deciding factors at the Democratic convention.

There comes a time at most conventions when unofficial delegate counts, popularity polls, endorsements and other political stratagems become virtually meaningless.

This is when the convention gets down to the real nitty-gritty—namely, the campaign songs.

A candidate may think he has certain delegations all locked up, but when his opponent's campaign song is played on the convention floor, there may be massive desertions.

By the same token, his own campaign song may cause wholesale defections on the other side.

Watch Reactions

The thing to watch for at Chicago is the first playing of "Let a Winner Lead the Way," which is Hubert Humphrey's campaign song.

If you see delegates, particularly those supposedly committed to Eugene McCarthy, begin to wipe tears from their eyes, or salute the flag, or beat their breasts or otherwise lose control of their emotions, you may be certain that Humphrey is in.

But if it is McCarthy's song, "If You Love Your Country," that reduces the convention hall to a quivering mass of shapeless ectoplasm, the delegates will be putty in his hands thereafter.

There is, of course, always a chance that both songs will stir the delegates to the very fiber of their beings. In that event I predict the convention will end in a scoreless tie.

Quotes From The News

MIAMI BEACH—Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., commenting on differences between leading Republicans on issues to be covered in the party's platform: "Everyone thinks he's got better language than anyone else. It's understandable, but frustrating."

WASHINGTON — Stuart G. Tipson, spokesman for the Air Transport Association of America, on the air traffic jam: "The situation will get worse before it gets better."

PRAGUE—Josef Smrkovsky, reassuring a crowd that Czechoslovakia's agreement to meet with other Communist East European leaders does not indicate a reversal of the reform movement: "In Bratislava (where the meeting will be held) we will explain that our problem and our situation is our own and not that of the Soviet Union nor anyone's else."

WASHINGTON—Congressman Jonathan Bingham, D-N.Y., explaining why he is asking the FBI to abandon target shooting exhibitions in which the target is the outline of a man: "Youngsters should not be exposed to this exhibition of shooting to kill."

WASHINGTON — President Johnson, commenting at a news conference on the bombing of North Vietnam: "I am prepared to halt the bombing when we feel confident the halt in the bombing will not lead to heavy American and allied casualties. More than that I cannot do, and more than that you should not have me do."

PRIESTS JAILED
BILBAO, Spain (UPI)—Four more priests have been imprisoned for refusing to bless public works, banning the Spanish flag from their Roman Catholic churches and for saying Mass for a Basque separatist killed in a gun fight with police, informed sources said Thursday. Their sentences range from one to three months. A total of 10 priests have been jailed in recent weeks.

Miami Beach Hosting Its First Political Convention

When the Republican convention opens in Miami Beach tomorrow it will mark the first time Miami Beach has been host to a major political party convention. When the Democratic convention opens in Chicago on Monday, Aug. 26, it will mark the 24th time the city has been host to a major political party convention. Fourteen times the Republicans have convened in Chicago, and eight of their candidates for President chosen there went on to be elected (one was Abraham Lincoln). The Democrats have met in Chicago nine times previously and their choices were elected President in five of the ensuing elections. It would seem this year that the Democrats might be playing the odds, having had a slightly better than 500 batting average in Chicago over the years.

The Republicans, meanwhile, apparently figure that perhaps a fresh, new convention city is in order this year—a city that might hold even greater balances in its favor.

The convention-city scorecard tallied by the editors of the Encyclopedia Americana ranks Chicago first, with 23 conventions: Baltimore second, with 14; Philadelphia third, with 8; and St. Louis fourth, with 5. Although Philadelphia was the scene of only one major-party convention in the first 22 years of the convention system, it holds the distinction of being the scene of the first convention ever held, although not by a major party.

The year was 1830 and the party was the Anti-masons. As their name implies, they were opposed to Masonry but when they finally selected a candidate—one year and one convention later (This time in Baltimore)—the only candidate they could find to represent them was indeed a Mason. His name was William Wirt, and he lost—winning only 2.5 per cent of the electoral vote.

Baltimore's supremacy as a convention city came to an end in 1856, when both major parties met elsewhere. The Democrats chose Cincinnati and the Republicans, nominating a candidate (John Charles Fremont) for the first time selected Philadelphia.

Chicago was picked for the first time in 1860, when the Republicans met there and nominated Abraham Lincoln. Considering what Lincoln has meant to them ever since, it's not surprising that Chicago continued to be their choice in all but five conventions from 1860 through 1920. They went to Baltimore in 1864, Philadelphia in 1872 and 1900, Cincinnati in 1876, Minneapolis in 1892, and St. Louis in 1896.

A logical choice because of its central geographical location and extensive convention facilities, Chicago is also the favorite convention city of the Democrats. During one 24-year span, 1932 to 1956, they convened regularly either in Chicago (seven times), or Philadelphia (twice, 1936 and 1948).

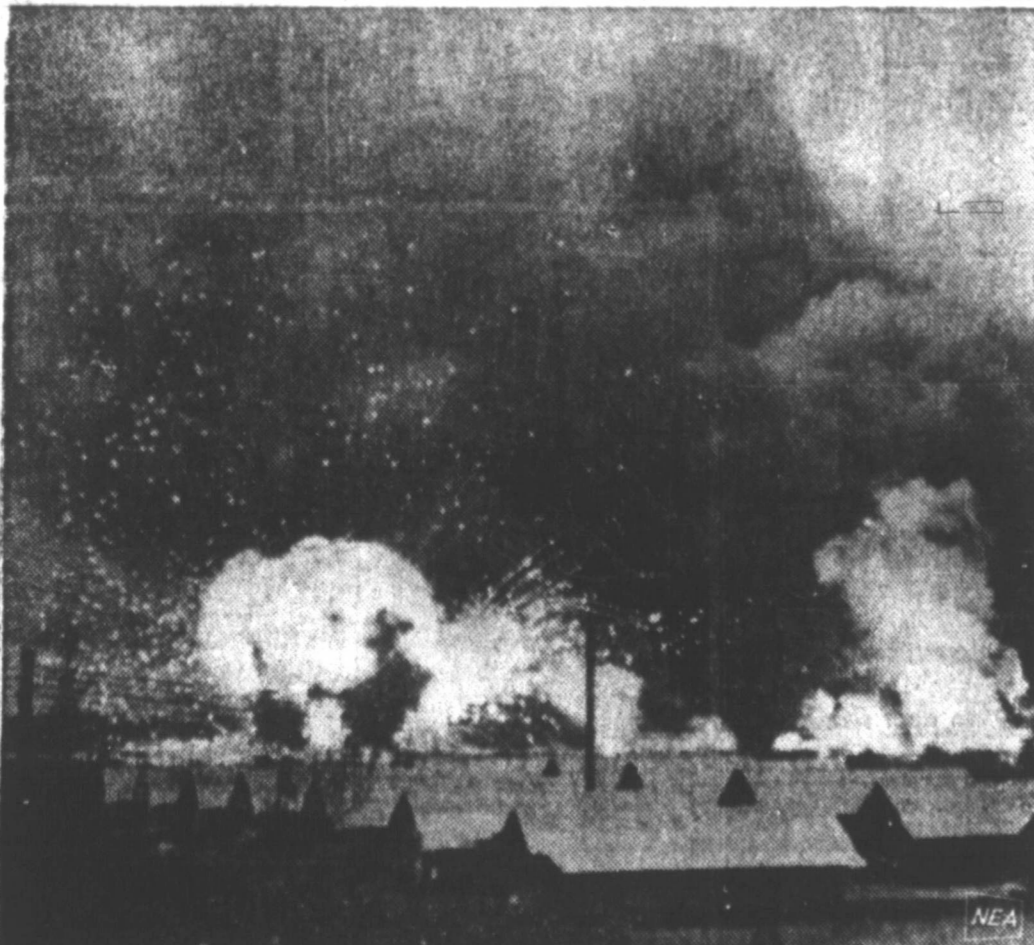

The record for the shortest convention is owned by the Whigs. They took just one day to select Harrison in their 1835 state convention at Harrisburg; and also one day to nominate Henry Clay at Baltimore in 1844.

The longest-convention ever held was in New York in 1924, when it took the Democrats 14 days and 103 ballots to nominate John W. Davis.

Bears Reigned In The Market For Last Week

NEW YORK (UPI) — Seldom an encouraging word was heard on Wall Street this week and it was the bears that did the roaming.

The steel situation, with the White House irate at price hikes posted by some firms following the wage settlement with the steelworkers, made some traders edgy toward the end of the week in an already soft market.

On Monday, with trading at a low level, prices declined, continuing the mushiness that has affected the market for weeks. It turned mixed Tuesday, and when trading resumed Thursday — Wednesday was a trading holiday — finished with a loss again. Friday also turned out to be a losing session.

One depressing item at the start of the week was a Commerce Department report showing a widening of the U. S. trade deficit in June. It stood at a seasonally adjusted $87.2 million, up from the $32.2 deficit in May. A department official called the figures "disturbing."

Somewhat disappointing, also was the reported on machine tool orders for June. While the $4.6 million above the May figure was $97.9 million — some $4.6 million above the May figure — observers noted that one item in the report was an order from Italy's Fiat Motors for $8 million. Besides, the June figure indicated that orders were running at the level of the past few months which has been generally unsatisfactory.

The United Press International Stock Market Indicator finished with a weekly loss of 2.48 to 120.65. Of the 1,671 issued traded, there were 1,080 losers, 464 gainers and 127 unchanged. There were 62 new highs set, 117 lows.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average took another plunge, fall-

'Termite Food' Campaign Is Successful

AMARILLO, Tex. (UPI) — There is not likely to be a hungry termite in this West Texas city for a long, long time. The teen-agers of Amarillo and the surrounding area have provided an ample supply of tasty morsels — 4,200,507, to be exact.

It all started when KPUR radio disc jockey Bob O'Neil began worrying about the nutrition of all the termites left homeless with the widespread construction of termite-proofed houses. So he asked his listeners to help the little wood-munchers out.

Over 50 businesses, clubs and schools came up with enough toothpicks to make a line from Dallas to Oklahoma City if laid end to end. And at about 13 cents per box, the total toothpick investment came to $1,092.13.

The radio station says the toothpicks will be sold and the money given to charity.

Chicago Edges Dallas Cowboys In Exhibition Football

Defending Champion Leads In 3rd Round

CHICAGO (UPI)—Defending Champion Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, ended his third round of the 65th Western Open Golf Championship Saturday by holing out a five foot eagle to grab a four-stroke advantage at the three-quarter mark.

The 28-year-old former Ohio State golfer turned in his second six under par 65 of the tournament to give him a 202 total for the three days of competition.

Nicklaus had equalled the record for the 6,749 yard long Olympia Fields Country Club course with his 65 on Thursday.

Favorite Is Winner After Near Disaster

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J. (UPI)—Top seeded Clark Graebner on the brink of defeat, pounced upon three double faults by Jim Osborne to pull even and then went on to post a 6-3, 1-6, 7-5 victory Saturday in the semifinals of the Eastern Grass Courts tennis Championship.

Graebner, who looked like a sure winner after the first set, but a sure loser in the third, rallied from a 2-4 deficit to beat Osborne.

Graebner will meet second-seeded Charley Pasarel of Puerto Rico in Sunday's championship round. Pasarel advanced by ousting South Africa's Bob Hewitt, 8-6, 6-2.

Top-seeded Mary Ann Eisel of St. Louis and fourth-ranked Kristy Pigeon of Danville, Calif., will battle for the women's singles championship.

Miss Eisel, who struggled through two earlier three-set matches, turned back tall Karen Krantze of Australia, 8-6 7-5 while Miss Pigeon beat back the challenge of another Australian, Helen Gourlay, 6-1, 6-4.

Houston Gets Bluebonnet Bowl Contest

HOUSTON (UPI)—Officials of the Bluebonnet Bowl Committee and the Houston Sports Association (HSA) said Saturday the 1968 football game would be moved from Rice Stadium into the Astrodome.

The announcement, by Joe Kelly Butler, president of the bowl committee, and Judge Roy Hofheinz, also said the game time would be changed to Dec. 31 at 8 p.m.

The bowl contest has also been renamed as the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl.

Hofheinz also said plans were being made for an entire week of sports and entertainment activity in the Astrodome leading up to the bowl.

The HSA also has agreed to purchase television rights to the game for $175,000 and will attempt to set up a network package for the game. The contract is for five years.

but soared to a one over par 72 in the second round. It was still good enough to tie him with four others, just one stroke off the pace.

Bob Stanton, originally of bought a home in New Orleans, turned in a two under par 69 for a 206 total to challenge Nicklaus from the number two spot. Stanton also turned in an eagle, collecting it on the every first round when he holed out a 50 foot putt.

Tied at 208 were Julius Boros, of Mid Pines, N. C., and George Archer, of Gilroy, Calif. Archer who had shared the half way lead with Bobby Nichols, of Louisville, Ky., fired a one-over par 72, while Boros had a four under 72, including an eagle three on the 18th hole.

Astros Play All-Stars

DALLAS (UPI)—The Houston Astros and the Texas League All-Stars will settle the disputed record between the clubs Aug. 12 at the 7th annual meeting of the teams.

The series is tied 3-3. The decisive game will be played at Turnpike Stadium between Dallas and Fort Worth. In the past, the game has drawn up to 10,000 persons and Texas League officials said Saturday it appeared, the popularity of the series was increasing.

Pitchers for the All-Star team include Dick Armstrong (9-8) of the Albuquerque Dodgers; Paul Doyle (5-9) and George Gerberman 10-19 of the Dallas-Fort Worth Spurs; George Boehlert (7-1) of the El Paso Sun Kings; Richard Folkers (11-9) of the Memphis Blues; Dave Lemonds (4-5) of the San Antonio Missions; and Carl Morton (8-3) of the Shreveport Braves.

Doyle, with a 2.03 earned run average, is leading the league in that department. Folkers has the highest total of strikeouts, fanning 111 batters in 138 innings.

Other players selected for the team included:

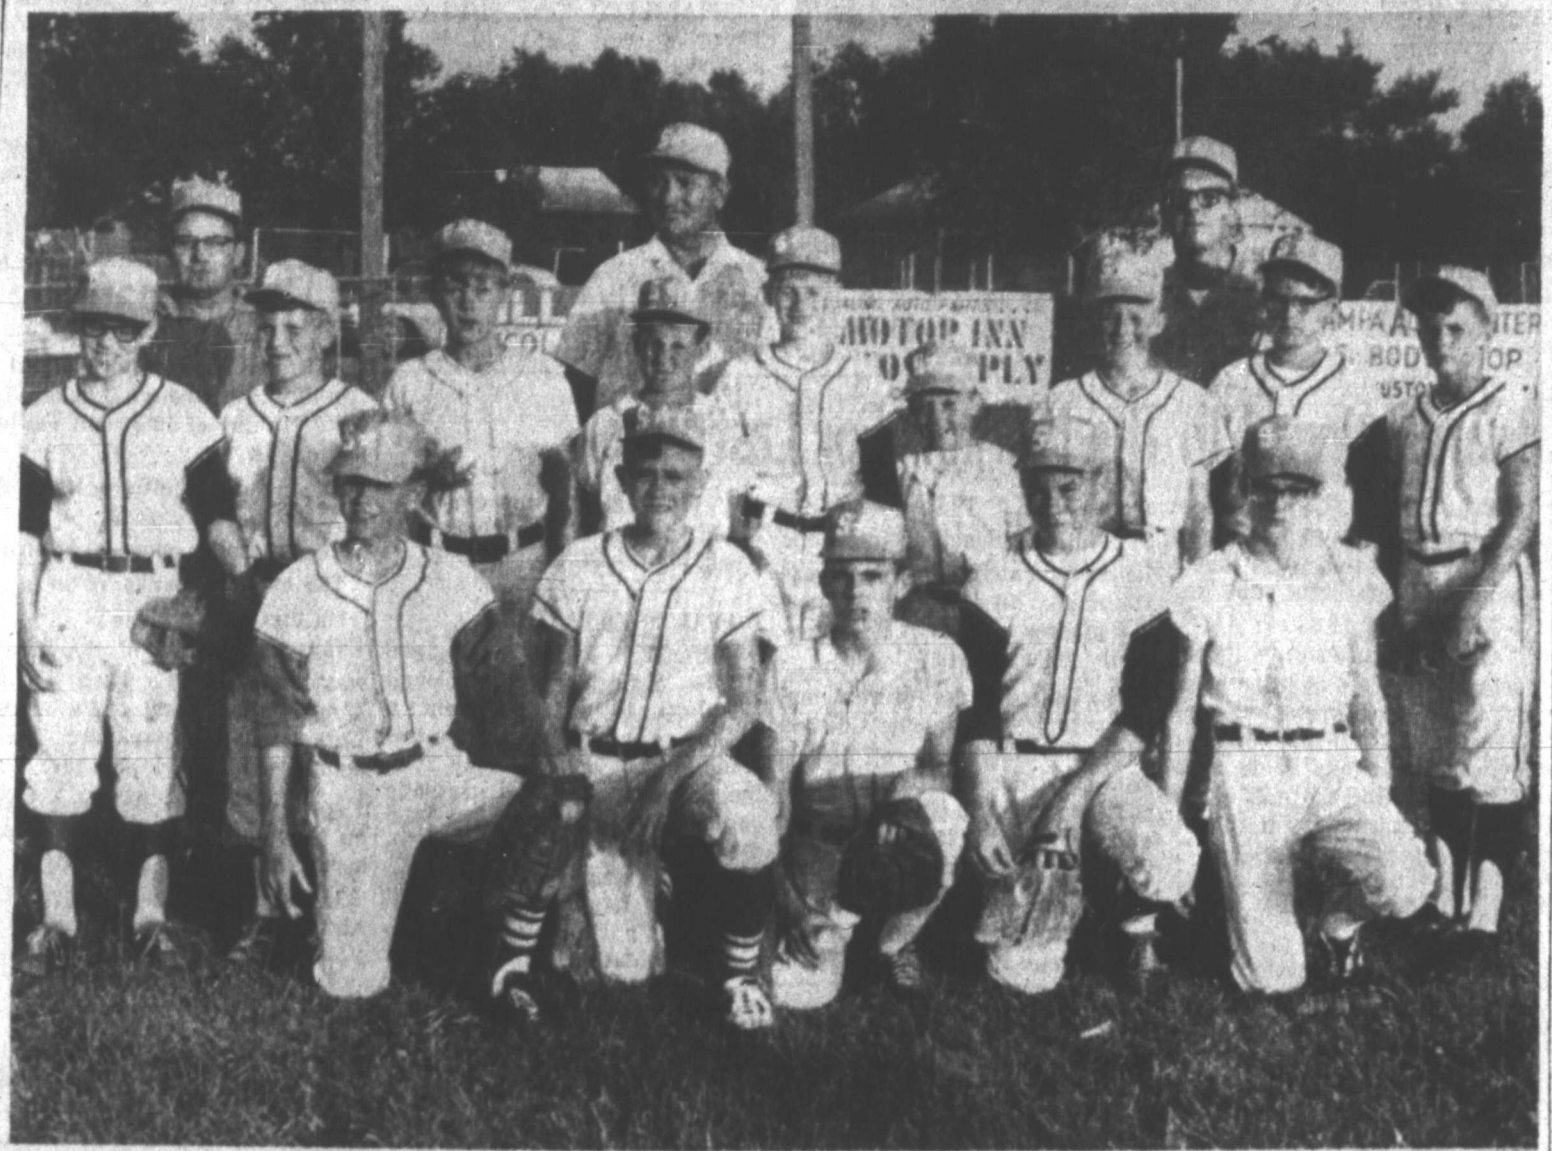

Catchers—John Ruberto of the Arkansas Travelers and Walter Hrinaki of Shreveport.

Infielders—Jim Spencer of El Paso at 1st; John Sipin of Arkansas at 2nd; William Grabarkewitz of Albuquerque at 3rd; and William Sudakis of Albuquerque at 3rd.

Spencer, batting .314, is a likely candidate for the most valuable player award. He has 22 home runs and 80 runs batted in. Grabarkewitz is the league leader in stolen bases with 30.

Outfielders—Bob Taylor of the Amarillo Giants; "Boots" Day of Arkansas; and Rod Gaspar of Memphis.

Utility—Mike Budd of Albuquerque; Jim Barfield of Albuquerque; and James DeNeff of El Paso.

Long Run By Dearion Leads To 30-24 Win

CANTON, Ohio (UPI)—Long runs and passes gave the Chicago Bears a 30-24 exhibition football victory over the Dallas Cowboys Saturday afternoon during the Pro Football Hall of Fame Festival where both teams opened season play.

The Bears, tied 14-14 at halftime, won the game as more than 16,500 watched at Fawcett Stadium when Willie Dearion returned a punt 62 yards for a touchdown and Chicago squelched Dallas' final drive.

In the opening period, flanker Cecil Turner of the Bears took the Dallas kickoff from the initial score. Dallas then pushed 69 yards only to stall, with two subsequent field goal tries missing.

The Cowboys took a 14-7 lead in the second quarter when Don Meredith hit split end Bob Hayes from the Dallas 32 for a touchdown and Meredith passed to flanker Lance Rentzel in the end zone from the Bears 12. Chicago snapped back for a halftime tie in the final minutes when Jack Concannon passed to flanker Cecil Turner down the middle, and he ran the rest of the way in the 74-yard play.

Dallas went ahead briefly when Mike Clark kicked a 54-yard field goal, but Chicago surged in front when Gale Sayers scored on a 47-yard Larry Rakestraw pass-run play and Jim Murphy kicked a 32-yard field goal.

In the final quarter, Dallas flanker Lance Rentzel took a 15-yard scoring pass from Craig Morton for a touchdown only to see Dearion put Chicago ahead for good. In the waning moments, Dallas pushed to the Chicago 18 where three passes failed. On fourth down, Morton rolled left and tried to run but missed the first down by a foot. Chicago took over on the 8 and ran the clock out giving new head coach Jim Dooley his first victory.

Dooley succeeded George Halas, who retired last winter after 39 seasons, permitting his assistant to move up. It was the first time since 1958 that the Bears played a game without Halas running the squad. Mac Percival added extra points for Chicago three times but Jim Murphy's effort in the final quarter was wide. Mike Clark booted good-three times for extra points.

Whitworth Keeps Lead In Tourney

DANBURY, Conn. (UPI)—Kathy Whitworth fired an even-par 72 Saturday to maintain her two stroke lead after the second round of the $15,000 Gino Paul Women's Open golf tournament.

Following a two-over-par 38 on the front nine, Miss Whitworth recovered with three birdies over the final half of her round Saturday, coming home with a 34 for her 72 and a 36-hole total of three-under-par 141.

Veteran Marlene Hagge of Pensacola, Fla., moved into second place with a 70, the day's best round, for a two round total of 143. Miss Hagge got off to a shaky start with two bogeys, but recovered with birdies on five of the final 13 holes.

Another stroke back at 144 were Marilyn Smith of Wichita Kan., and Clifford Ann Creed of Largo, Fla.

Miss Smith, who had an opening round 71, slipped Saturday with three straight bogeys on the back nine of the 6,306-yard Ridgewood Country Club course for her 73 while Miss Creed gained ground with a second round 71.

Pre-tourney favorite Carol Mann, this year's leading money winner on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour with over $28,000, who is gunning for a record fourth consecutive victory, moved back into contention with a 71 following her first round 75.

Tied for fifth place with 145 were Sandra Haynie and Gerda Whalen, followed by Miss Mann at 146 and Sandra Spuzich at 147.

Texan Lands 527 Pound Blue Marlin

PORT ISABEL, Tex. (UPI)—Randy Farenthold of Corpus Christi boated a 527 pound blue marlin Friday to take the lead in the second day of the Texas international fishing tournament. Farenthold fought the fish for 10 minutes and then had to sweat 20 more before bringing it into the boat. The gaff line tangled in the boat propeller and had to be worked loose before the catch could be boated and counted.

Brought in on 80 pound test II the fish gave Farenthold 2,103 points and a solid seat in first place. Hunter Earrelt of Fort Worth held to second with his third sail fish of the tournament, a 37 pounder on 12 pound line. Barrett had a total of 1,095 points.

Linwood Bland of Houston caught his second sail for a total of 826 points and third place.

Sadecki Leads Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Ray Sadecki set the club season high by striking out 12 batters Saturday and Willie McCovey socked a two-run homer in leading the San Francisco Giants to a 7-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Now 10-13 for the season, Sadecki also notched his sixth shutout although the Pirates collected nine hits.

Former Oilers' Manager Stops Off For Visit

Ben Niblock, business manager of the Pampa Oilers baseball team back in 1957, stopped off Saturday to say hello to Pampa friends as he passed through town on a vacation trip.

Niblock, now social worker in Salisbury, N.C., handled the Oilers until the team moved its Southwestern League franchise to San Angelo in 1957.

When the franchise change was made, Niblock went to the Amarillo Gold Sox and later moved to North Carolina.

Cubs Win Again

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—The surging Chicago Cubs, chalking up their 22nd victory in their last 29 games, edged the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals 3-2 Saturday as Randy Hundley blooped a two-run single to cap a three-run first inning.

Bill Hands, who went the first seven innings, and Phil Regan made the three runs stand up as they stopped the Cards on six hits. Since Ken Holtzman beat the Cards on a two-hitter Friday night, the Cubs have throttled the Cards on eight hits in the last two games.

Favored Forward Pass Wins American Derby At Chicago

By ED SAINSBURY UPI Sports Writer

CHICAGO (UPI)—Calumet Farm's Forward Pass, though carried wide on the first turn, made steady progress in the field started in the middle of to handily win the $115,600 American Derby for three year olds under jockey Milo Valenzuela.

Forward Pass was timed at 1:48 4/5, two seconds slower than the track record, in winning his seventh stake of the year. He was carrying high weight of 123 pounds and gave away from three to nine pounds to his five rivals.

Still he was the odds on favorite of the crowd of 31,247 and went off at 1-5 while the second choice in the field WR Hawk's Poleax, was 4-1. Verna Lea Farm's No Double, a 17-1 shot, broke out of the number four post position as the field started in the middle of the home stretch, and instead of heading into the turn, he carried jockey Laffit Pincay Jr., down the center of the track into the turn, forcing Te Vega, the horse in the number five post position, and Forward Pass, coming out of the number six slot, wide while the three inside horses made up ground close to the rail. Pincay got No Double straightened around and he set the pace down the back stretch and almost into the home stretch before Forward Pass collared him and drew out to win. Poleax, with the second high weight of 120 pounds under jockey Bill Hartack, also passed No Double in the stretch. But Pincay rallied his mount to come back and take the place position in a photo. Forward Pass returned $2.60, $3.40 and $2.10. No Double, paid 7.20 and 2.80, and Poleax paid 2.40.

Southern All Stars Win Tournament

The Southern All-Stars edged the Eastern All-Stars, 2-0, in the championship finals of the All-Star Optimist baseball tournament Friday night.

Righthander Steve Timmons was winning hurler. Friday night's game ended the tournament since the Southerners were the undefeated team.

HARRIS-GRIFFITH DUEL

PLEASANTVILLE, N.J. (UPI)—Undeatable Gypsy Joe Harris, who will meet former champion Emile Griffith in a 12-round middleweight bout in Philadelphia Tuesday night, worked six sweltering rounds at the Laoma Byrd training camp Thursday.

Griffith sparred four rounds after Harris completed his strenuous workout.

Indians 4, Athletics 1

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Lou Johnson's two-run single sparked a three-run fifth inning and Tony Horton homered in the sixth Saturday as the Cleveland Indians snapped a three-game losing streak with a 4-1 victory over the Oakland Athletics.

Chico Salmon reached first in the fifth on Ted Kubiak's throwing error and took second on a wild pitch. Larry Brown walked and after pitcher Sam McDowell struck out the bases were loaded when Kubiak fielded Jose Cardenal's grounder, missed the tag on Brown, missed the tag on Brown going to second and then threw late to first.

Goslin Criticizes Modern Hitters

Today's Sport Parade
By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UPI)—Goose Goslin choked up a little. He never used to but this time it was perfectly permissible. Most of them generally do when they're inducted into Baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y., as Goslin was recently along with Joe Medwick and the late Kiki Cuyler. If there was one thing all three of these men could do was hit a baseball. Cuyler, for example, had a lifetime average of .321. Medwick's was higher yet at .324 and Goslin ended up with .316 after compiling such annual figures as .334, .344, .355 and .379 during his 18 seasons in the American League. Goslin came by his nickname because his small sharp eyes were set deeply behind a rather generous nose and because of the unique manner he carried his arms while chasing fly balls in the outfield. But he came by his election to the Hall of Fame strictly for one reason. His bat. He sure knew how to swing it. The Goose is 67 now and after recent induction ceremonies at Cooperstown it was only natural that both he and Medwick, who is 11 years younger, were asked what they thought was the trouble with modern day hitters. Diplomatic Reply. Medwick was a diplomat. "The game has been too good to me to knock it," he said. Goslin was more expansive. "I don't understand how the pitchers have managed to dominate the hitters," said the Goose. "I'd like to be playing now because the fast balls they throw in there now are the kind of balls that I liked." "You think you could hit .300 today?" someone asked the former left-handed hitting outfielder. Goslin laughed and didn't answer immediately. He didn't want to sound as if he were bragging. Neither did he want to sound as if he didn't have any faith in himself. "I wouldn't know," he said. "It's a question for a crystal ball, I guess." The Goose paused. He had the answer inside. When he could not keep it locked up inside him anymore he said: "I think I could." Then he went on: "Must Swing Bat. "I don't understand why the batters today take so many good balls and stand there and look at 'em. You can't get a base hit with the bat on your shoulder like I've seen them try to do on television. They just stand there and look at the ball." Goslin contends the batters are taking too many pitches. This theory is at variance with that of Ted Williams, another Hall of Famer, who feels the batters are swinging at too many had pitches but it doesn't really matter a whole lot because everybody has a different theory today. William Eckert, the Baseball Commissioner, was present for the induction of Medwick, Goslin and Cuyler and weighed in with a few choice remarks also. He went so far as to confirm one nagging rumor. "It is true," said Eckert, "that the pitching has improved relative to batting in the last few years so we're seeing some very fine pitchers' contests today." Thanks for setting the record straight, Commissioner. I'll be glad to pass your wise observation along as soon as I figure it out myself.

Astros May Lose Outfielder Watson
HOUSTON (UPI)—The Houston Astros may be short one outfielder for the remainder of the season—and all because he hit a double. Astros officials said Bob Watson suffered torn ligaments and bone chips in his right ankle when he stopped short at second base after pounding out a double against the Chicago Cubs. Watson is recovering in a hospital. Houston manager Alvin Dark said Watson's injury was a "setback" but that he would return to the field in about two weeks.

Alcindor Foregoes Olympics For Kids

NEW YORK (UPI)—Wilt Chamberlain has decided to forego the 1964 Olympic Games in Tokyo to spend more time with his children. Chamberlain, who is 26, was named to the U.S. Olympic basketball team. He has three children and a wife. Chamberlain's decision was announced by his agent, Mortimer Weiss. Chamberlain has been in the news for his basketball skills and his love of his children. He has three children and a wife. Chamberlain has been in the news for his basketball skills and his love of his children. He has three children and a wife.

Medrano Will Fight Franklin
BEAUMONT, Tex. (UPI)—Rocky Medrano, who wants to fight either welter champion Curtis Cokes or lightweight titlist Teo Cruz, has been signed for a 10-round bout here against Al Franklin of Minneapolis Aug. 13 at the Sports Palace. Medrano, who has fought in both divisions, has a 29-1 record.

Tigers Lose, 4-0
ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Dean Chance allowed only four hits Saturday in pitching the Minnesota Twins to a 4-0 victory over the American League-leading Detroit Tigers. Chance struck out eight and walked two as he evened his record at 10-10. Yankees 3, Orioles 1
NEW YORK (UPI)—Mickey Mantle scored the tie-breaking run on a throwing error by Boog Powell in the third inning Saturday as the New York Yankees defeated the Baltimore Orioles 3-1 behind the seven-hit pitching of Mel Stottlemyre. The Yankees had tied the score at 1-1 in the third inning on consecutive singles by Roy White and Mantle and Joe Pepitone's ground rule double which bounced into the right field stands. Tom Tresh was intentionally walked by Jim Hardin and Jake Gibbs hit a potential double play ball to Powell, but the first baseman's throw to second base was in the dirt and Mantle scored to put the Yankees ahead 2-1.

Stanky Still Runs Real Tight Ship

NEW YORK (UPI)—Eddie Stanky is still running a tight ship. "That's the only way he knows how to operate. It doesn't matter whether he's managing a ball club or he isn't, he takes a lot of pains with everything. That's the way a man like John McGraw was. That's the way men like Vince Lombardi and Paul Brown are. And that's the way Eddie Stanky is." Some people smirked at the way he tried to run the White Sox. They made jokes about him and said he had lost contact with the modern long side-burned generation. Twelve days ago Eddie Stanky and the White Sox parted company. His back home in Mobile, Ala., now but he's still running that same tight ship. He was the first one up in his house Tuesday morning. "Let's go, fellas," he said. "We don't want to sleep all day." The time was 4:30. That's 4:30 a.m. Up immediately Michael Stanky, 16, and his 14-year-old brother, Danny, never have to be told the same thing twice by their father. In that regard, they have it all over some of the ballplayers their father managed. They got up immediately and by 5 o'clock was fired," said Stanky. "When Arthur Allyn gave me the chance to resign I asked him if that would affect my contract if I did. He told me my contract would be honored under any circumstances. He treated me fairly and our relationship was excellent." The very same night I was let go, Leo Durocher called me from Shea Stadium. He had just lost a tough game in New York and I certainly appreciate what he did. He told me I was going to get offers but not to do anything before I called him back first. I promised him I would and I will." Eddie Stanky watched NBC's Game of the Week between the Cardinals and Phillies on his color TV set recently. The reception was fine and he saw Cardinal Manager Red Schoendienst use Lou Erock as a pinch hitter for Orlando Cepeda, last year's MVP, in the late innings. Brock came through with a key hit that helped the Cards win and the next day Eddie Stanky heard where Cepeda said Schoendienst had made the "right move." "I was glad to hear that quote," said Eddie Stanky, who figures to be back in baseball long before 1971. No matter when he comes back or for whom he works, he'll always play the game the same way. It'll be the way he was taught. It'll also be the right way.

Freshman Manager Defends Senators

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Writer
NEW YORK (NEA)—Even the sun seemed about to drip. Any moment, you'd expect a camel to cross the infield. The Washington Senators, languishing around the batting cage, appeared barely able to lift their bats—which, the way things have been going, was not unusual. Most of the players had towels and soaked sweat as if in a Turkish bath. One observer suggested they try swinging towels at the plate, or at least throw them in when the umpire shouts: "Play Ball." In the stands, the sun intimidated popsicles and the popsicles ran. In the Senators' dugout, the sprawling, ruggedy ruddy figure of James Robert Lemon, freshman big-league manager, watched his team work out. For him the day was not unusual. The entire season has been oppressive. A reporter mentioned to Lemon that, since the Senators were in last place, have been for a goodly time, and were several light years away from the ninth-place club. "I know, I know the record," Lemon interjected. "do you have to repeat it?" Lemon removed his cap, veiled his face in a towel, then tossed the now wet cloth aside. Instead of spikes on his shoes, Lemon wears rubber soles. As they say in his trade, the legs go first. A sixth-place club was inherited from Gil Hodges, who defected to the New York Mets. Lofty hopes had pervaded Washington but they disintegrated into mere chimeras. What happened? "Everything," said Lemon. "It started with opening day, which didn't get played until two days later. The riots had broken out. The players and their families were unsettled. Then there were all the things that happen when you aren't winning. Key players, like catcher Paul Casanova, get hurt. We get runners on, and they don't come off until three outs are made. "I didn't come here with any preconceived notions. I had to find out for myself what the personnel was like, then fit the style of play to it." Style is hardly the word. "Take a running game," said Lemon. "What your people can't run, you can't steal. And when your starting pitchers give up four and five runs in the first three innings, you can't play for one run. And what do you do when the outfielders break in for balls over their heads, break out for bloopers and break left for balls to their right? "When a pitcher forgets to cover first on a bunt—like we did in both games of a recent doubleheader—the scores in and says, 'I know, I know what I should've done.' What can you do?" All right, the pitchers aren't pitching, the fielders are not fielding, the runners aren't running. That's baseball, as the flannelled philosophers declaim. But what about hitting? "In the first 30 games," said Lemon, "five starters had only five runs driven in between them—Epstein, Casanova, Peterson and Valentine." Even a sports writer could figure out that was only four players. "Throw in Coggins, then. He's gotta be in there, too." And now, some games later? "We're doing a little better at the plate. At least we're starting to make contact with the ball." As in hide-and-seek, the players are beginning to get warm. What about the future? "It is bright," said Lemon, slipping into his public relations guise. "Epstein'll get better. Frank Howard has a few more good years left. If Casanova gets untracked he'll be one of the best catchers around. Coleman's gonna be a helluva pitcher. Brinkman's a fine glove man, a valuable man if a team can hit. "I'll tell you one thing though. No one has dogged it. All the players have given 100 per cent." If they gave anything less, the Senators would finish below the Italian team after the Mexico Olympic League.

Record Gate Expected In Indoor Fight
PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Fight fans are expected to pay a record indoor gate here for Tuesday's middleweight 12-round match that will pit unbeaten Gypsy Joe Harris against the punching power of former welter and middleweight champion Emile Griffith. Both fighters, training at the Laema Byrd camp, five miles west of Atlantic City, N.J., wound up drills Sunday. The colorful Harris, whose unorthodox style includes a bog-a-loo shuffle, will be in his first 12-rounder and doesn't predict a knockout. VARESE, Italy (UPI)—Lester Lane, a member of the 1960 United States Olympic basketball team, Thursday signed with the Ignis Varese basketball team as a consultant. Lane, 36, is presently head coach of the Mexican National basketball team and will join the Italian team after the Mexico Olympics.

Fishin' Roundup
By MELVIN CLARK
The catfish are biting good. Ray Scarberry, 200 Tyng, went to Lake Fry this past week and came home with nine of them. One 3 lb. two 2 1/2 lbs. and six 1 lbs. These were caught on "Phew."
G. C. Williams, 414 E. Kingsmill, was fishing Lake Meredith in his boat. Only the channel cat were biting. He caught 8 of them, weighing about 1 to 4 lbs. each using small crawfish for bait.
Lee Dick, Route 2, and his son-in-law, Billy Ray McDowell of Finelyville, Pennsylvania, caught 9 channel cat at Lake McClellan weighing from 1/4 lb. to 2 lbs. each. They were using red salmon eggs and stink bait.
Mr. and Mrs. Dick had just returned from a months visit to Alaska. They fished in the Russian River and caught 6 salmon, the largest weighing seven pounds, and also 10 Dolly Vardon (a fish related to the salmon family).
They also caught 2 flounder, and crabs, too numerous to mention, which were a lot of fun to catch. These were all caught from shore. Lee said one of the best things about fishing there at this time of year was the fact that it never got completely dark. They were visiting their daughters Mrs. William Darby and family, and Mrs. James Weatherly and family, who now live in Anchorage.
Other eight pound bass has been caught! Gay Glazebrook, 401 S. Finley caught this one on a farm pond near Wheeler. He was using a yellow bushwacker lure when he landed this beauty.
Lawrence Scriber, 309 Miami, and his wife, Bonnie, had a great fishing trip to Big Bass Lake in Minnesota. They caught 4 to 5 northern pike a day, and were told this was slow for pike. The perch they caught were just right for eating. They weighed from 1 1/2 to 3 lbs. each.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The tumult and flamboyance of August's national political conventions begins on Monday for television watchers.

That is the day the Republican get-together is inaugurated at the Miami Beach, Fla., convention hall, and all three commercial networks are primed for the competitive video battle they consider so important to their corporate stature.

Before the convention gets under way, however, there will be some major preview broadcasts on Sunday.

NBC-TV, at 6:30 p.m. EDT, will offer an hour program that will "include pickups from the party headquarters hotel, the headquarters of the various candidates and other important locations in the convention city. The day's activities of the candidates will be shown on film."

Preview Guide
CBS-TV, at 10 p.m. EDT, will present "Campaign '68: What's Going to Happen in Miami Beach," an hour described as "a behind-the-scenes look at the candidates, issues, delegates, hoopla and setting" of the convention.

The network says the broadcast "will review the Republican platform committee hearings and examine who's ahead in the race for the Republican presidential nomination and why he's ahead. Included will be latest information in the CBS news poll of delegate preferences."

On Monday morning, NBC-TV's "Today" series will last 30 minutes longer than its usual two-hour length, airing from 7 to 9:30 a.m., EDT in Miami Beach.

The formal opening ceremonies of the convention begin Monday morning, and at 9:30 a.m., EDT, NBC-TV will pick right up into coverage of this. CBS-TV, meanwhile, is planning to start its reporting of these ceremonies at 10 a.m., EDT.

Eliminate "Today" Show
Because all of this coverage is live, the time difference will cause elimination of the "Today" program in the Pacific time zone so that the opening ceremonies may be carried as they happen. The usual tape delay broadcast of "Today" in the Pacific zone would conflict with this live coverage.

The evening session of the convention's first day will be carried on CBS-TV and NBC-TV starting at 7:30 p.m., EDT and will be presented until its conclusion, eliminating normal nighttime programming.

AEC-TV, however, is not offering blanket coverage of the convention, and will present its regular programming until 9:30 p.m., EDT. At this point it will broadcast a 90-minute rundown of the day's convention events, including commentary and, if necessary, cutaways for still-breaking news.

Among the expected highlights of these 90-minute broadcasts are the planned commentaries of William F. Buckley Jr. and Gore Vidal.

Miss Forrester Weds Terry Lynn Bromlow

MRS. TERRY LYNN BROMLOW
... nee Francyne Forrester

MRS. DANNY MACK MARTIN
... nee Beverly Iris Fulton

Rev. Dan Cameron, pastor of First Baptist Church, officiated for the double-ring marriage ceremony of Miss Francyne Forrester and Terry Lynn Bromlow at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Vows were exchanged in the First Baptist Church in a setting of five white candles ranging in heights of nine to 24 inches and grouped in a contemporary arrangement on the oak communion table.

Their bases were banked with lemon leaves and white spider mums. Two spiral candelabras with lemon leaves accompanied this arrangement.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Forrester, 1021 Twiford. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lee Bromlow, Lefors. Mrs. Charles Parr, organist, played wedding selections of "Because," "I Love You Truly," and "You'll Never Walk Alone."

BRIDE

Given in marriage and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was dressed in a white crepe gown with mimosa lace accenting the empire waistline. Her chapel-length train, was attached at a peau de soie bow at the waistline. She wore the traditional blue garter made for her by Mrs. Jack T. Mitchell and a sixpence in her shoe given to her by Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Nance. Her elbow-length veil of silk illusion was attached to a peau de soie bandeau. She carried white pom pom mums and spider mums nosegay with love knotted streamers.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Sherry Staring Canyon, was maid of honor and Mrs. Shirley Sanders, Pampa, was bride's matron. Both were dressed in floor-length gowns of creme antique crepe with white chiffon sleeves. They carried bronze pom pom mum nosegay.

Don McCool, Oakland, Iowa, was best man, assisted by Jerry Harrington, Odessa, as groomsmen, Robert Neslage and George Simmons, both of Pampa, seated wedding guests. The bride's mother was dressed in a mint green sheath with contrasting avacado shoes and hat. The bridegroom's mother wore a celery sheath with contrasting accessories. Both wore brown tone cymbidium orchid for corsages.

RECEPTION

For the reception in the church parlor, Mrs. Charles Parr played the music. A champagne chiffon tablecloth covered the serving table and was appointed with a crystal punch bowl and brass plate and centered with an arrangement of candlesticks and bronze mums.

The wedding cake, a champagne double-ring garlanded with grape clusters, was served by Mrs. Vernon Cook. Mrs. Robert Neslage assisted at the punch service as Mrs. Carolyn Ledbetter registered guests.

Others assisting with the reception were Mrs. Terry Forrester, Dallas; Mrs. Lloyd King, Hurst; Mrs. Emmett Forrester Jr., Fullerton, Calif. For the honeymoon to Colorado Springs, the bride wore a grey tunic over white pleated linen skirt with grey shoes and tropicana roses for her flowers.

The couple are to live at 821 N. Nelson. The bride, a Pampa High School graduate, attended the University of Texas and is employed at a Pampa beauty salon. The bridegroom, a Lefors High School graduate is employed at the First National Bank.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Ed Riley, Albuquerque, N. M.; Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Mitchell, Ranger; Mr. and Mrs. Terry Forrester, Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Forrester, Jr., Fullerton, Colo. and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd King, Hurst. Pre-nuptial events included a lingerie shower hosted by Mrs. Jim Powell, Mrs. Joe Tynes and Mrs. Vernon Cook; a miscellaneous shower by friends of the couple and a backyard party by Mr. and Mrs. Terry Forrester and Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Forrester Jr.

Miss Beverly Iris Fulton Exchanges Wedding Vows with Danny M. Martin

An arrangement of pink gardenias and two candelabras with white candles formed the setting in Pampa Church of Christ as Miss Beverly Iris Fulton and Danny Mack Martin exchanged marriage vows.

Mr. Walter Jones, minister of the Pampa Church of Christ, officiated for the double-ring service at 8 p.m. July 27.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. E. C. Fulton, 641 N. Hobart and the late Mr. Fulton. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C.A. Martin, 1212 E. Brown- ing.

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her uncle, Kenneth Cox, of Bakersfield, Calif., the bride was dressed in a white bridal satin dress with rounded neckline, A-line skirt and long V-shaped sleeves. Special trim of her dress was white lace flowers with pearls. Her shoulder-length illusion veil was bordered with lace and attached to a lace and illusion petal headpiece accented with pearls.

She carried out the tradition of something old with a white Bible; something new, her wedding dress; something blue, a garter, and borrowed, a string of pearls from Mrs. Virginia Welborn. She carried a corsage of baby pink roses surrounded by white carnations and long pink and white ribbons, atop a white Bible.

ATTENDANTS

Matron of honor Mrs. Jerry Taylor and bridesmaid Miss Cindy Bennett, both wore pink street-length dresses of lace covered satin with V-necklines, three-quarter length sleeves. They both carried a bouquet of light pink carnations encircled with dark pink carnations.

Johnny Lofton was best man, assisted by D. D. Lofton as groomsmen. Ushers were Danny Winborn and Jerry Taylor.

Wedding music was sung by Mrs. Pat Brewer, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Martin and Ricky Martin. Selections were "I Love You Truly," "More," and "This Day."

The bride's mother dressed in a pink suit with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a peach dress with orange accessories. Both wore white carnation corsages.

RECEPTION

For the reception in the Coronado Inn Starlight Room, Mrs. Freddie Wright played wedding music. Miss Gayle Welborn assisted at the punch service as Miss Cheryl Porter served cake. Mrs. Rodnie Winborn registered guests as Miss Regina Earnest assisted at the serving table.

For the honeymoon to Dallas, Six Flags over Texas and Oklahoma City, Okla., the bride traveled in a white lace dress with pink accessories and the pink roses lifted from her bouquet.

The couple are both 1968 graduates of Pampa High School and will enroll in Draughon's Business College in September. They will live at 720 N. Frost. Out-of-town guests were Messrs. and Mmes. Kenneth Cox, Bakersville, Calif.; Pat Wayne Brewer, and Mr. Mitch Bohanan all of Liberal, Kans.; Messrs. and Mmes. Hershall Bogle, Walton E. Hughes, of Oklahoma City, Okla.; Arnold Bogle, Spearman and C. C. Duncan, Midwest City, Okla.

WATSON-MORSE

Kathleen Aurin Says Vows with Leslie Kreis

Miss Kathleen Aurin was married to Leslie Wayne Kreis in a single-ring ceremony at 8 o'clock Saturday evening in Saint Stephen Presbyterian Church in Fort Worth. Rev. R. J. Jablonowski Jr., performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Bawden Aurin, Fort Worth. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Henry Kreis, Pampa.

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was escorted to the altar in a gown of candlelight imported peau de soie caged in English net. The bodice was fashioned with a scalloped neckline, heavily appliqued with alencon lace. The gown fell in controlled fullness to carpet length where the scalloped hemline was bonded with alencon lace.

Her chapel-length train fell from the watteau neckline and was fashioned of English net appliqued with alencon lace. The candlelight silk illusion veil fell to shoulder length from a coil of candlelight alencon lace. She carried white orchids and stephanotis.

ATTENDANTS

Bridal attendants were Mrs. John Nathaniel Sanderson, Memphis, Tenn., matron of honor; Miss Pamela Aurin, and Mrs. Holder Connally, both of Fort Worth and Miss Karl Schoonhoven, San Francisco, Calif.

They were dressed in gowns of jubilee pink ottoman, designed with empire lines, short sleeves and boat necklines. The empire waists were accented by a deeper pink bow and sash. Their skirts fell in slim lines to carpet length. They carried dyed to match pink carnations around deeper pink roses in nosegay bouquets.

Clarence Wilbur Walls, Pampa, was best man, assisted by Robert Meador, Pampa; James Cook, Tulsa, Okla., and Gary DeShazo, Fort Worth, as groomsmen. Ushers were Stanford Farr, Thomas McAlister, Fred B. Aurin Jr., John Tom Williams, all of Fort Worth. Organist was Eliza Cook, and vocalist, William Pickett.

Vows were exchanged before a large altar arrangement of pink carnations, gladiolas, and roses, accented with candles and greenery.

RECEPTION

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a married couple who have their marriage certificate framed and hanging in their living room? They have been married for eight years and have eight kids. (No twins.)

A FRIEND
DEAR FRIEND: They probably want the world to know that they are not practicing without a license.

DEAR ABBY: An old acquaintance (a man) comes for coffee several times a week while my husband is working. Since we have been married less than a year, I have mixed emotions. I really don't want to hurt his feelings since he is a former boyfriend, but I want to get rid of him.

I have talked to my minister, and he says there is nothing wrong with being open-minded, but I'm afraid my husband would not like it if he knew. What do you suggest?

MIXED EMOTIONS
DEAR MIXED: There is nothing wrong with being "open-minded" — as long as you aren't so open-minded that your brains fall out. Tell the old acquaintance that you would prefer that he discontinued the coffee-kitchen simply because you feel that your husband would not approve. And that should settle it.

Mrs. Roger Clark Wins Lefors Title Of TOPS Queen

LEFORS (Spl) — Mrs. Roger Clark was crowned queen for the week with six pounds weight loss. Mrs. Arlen Howe was declared the June Three L TOPS queen and received a card and prize.

The Three L TOPS met in regular session with Mrs. D.C. Read giving the program recently in the home of Mrs. Dick Bull.

Meeting was opened with Mrs. George Smith, leader, who spoke to members about the next area recognition day to be held in September at Happy.

The money box was drawn with Mrs. Roger Clark as winner. New buddies were assigned for the next three months. Hostess for the next meeting will be Mrs. Neal Cates.

Mrs. D.C. Read gave the program of "The Meaning of TOPS and ways to accomplish the club goals by not becoming too sensitive to a weight problem. She also directed the group in quizzes and games.

Those attending were Mmes. Ben White, D. T. Pfeil, D. C. Read, Marvin Allison, Neal Cates, Roger Clark, Arlen Howe, Walter Elliott, George Smith, and Dick Bull, host.

Slake Thirst Slowly

Thirsty houseplants may need a different type of watering. Often the water runs through the soil too rapidly to soak it thoroughly. Solve this by placing ice cubes around the edge of the pot. These will soak the soil evenly and won't harm the plant.

Scissors and pink shears deserve professional sharpening or their usefulness is dulled. Pink shears can be perked up though by cutting through a double strip of aluminum foil several times.

Push Away from Television
To avoid eyestrain, always keep at least six feet away from your television set and don't concentrate too intently on the picture. The room where you have your set should be neither too dark nor too light; moderate, indirect light is best.

MORE STYLE COMES TO THE COOKOUT. This time the stress is on pleasing the male chef with colorful designs engineered for ease of cooking. Equipment manufacturers take a key from the auto designers who pitch color and exterior features to attract the female. Many grills now feature colors, such as this pedestal at left for the man of the house. In charcoal blue, the barbecue grill has a chrome-plated grid with instant adjustment, a swing-out spit and four fine spit forks, all equipment to let a husband or bachelor show off. Another aid (right) to speed preparation for an outdoor feast is a new solid-state fire starter. Pressed in a small cube is white foam solidified around droplets of flammable liquid. Its high heat lasts for about 10 minutes, leaves no after-taste and avoids flare-ups that occur when people squirt more liquid fuel on charcoal or wood to speed up a fire.

University Professor Reassures Parents of Camping Youngsters

By GAY PAULEY
UP Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—Every parent who ever sent a child off to camp frets. Is he homesick? Is he eating properly? And probably most of all, how safe is he under someone else's care?

The answer on safety is an optimistic one according to a study by a faculty member of the State University of New York. Prof. Arthur E. Gjersten checked accident rate and types at 69 camps in a midwestern state. He reported that of 32,997 campers and counselors, only 4 per cent or 1,334 had been involved in accidents. Most of these were minor.

Other findings in the Gjersten study showed that boys are involved in more camping accidents than girls; 59.6 per cent of the accident victims were boys.

Of all the accidents, 41 per cent occurred during supervised periods of the day, waterfront and game times. Gjersten pointed out, "youngsters are prone to colliding with other objects, especially other youngsters."

Older children are more apt to be involved in an accident than younger ones; 58.7 per cent of the accidents reported involved children between the ages of 10 and 14.

The fifth day of a youngster's stay at camp is for reasons undetermined is most hazardous time, because it is the point at which the youngsters and supervisors have become adjusted to camp and are less inhibited.

The Institute of Life Insurance, reporting on the Gjersten study, added that fortunately many camps carry health insurance to cover hospital or doctor's bills.

The institute suggested also that parents use this checklist in making camping a healthy activity:

Have your child get a thorough physical checkup before going away. Check that the camp has a doctor and nurse personnel on the premises or nearby. Make sure that the camp knows if your child has a physical impairment. And check that your own hospital and major medical insurance cover the child—just in case.

Miss Candice Le Anne Hatcher Weds Charles Stanton

Miss Candice Lee Anne Hatcher and Charles Hammond Stanton were united in marriage with a double-ring ceremony Saturday evening in First Christian Church. Rev. J. W. Duke, pastor, read the candle-light marriage vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Hatcher, 611 N. West. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Stanton, Marlow, Okla.

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I" vowal, the bride was dressed in a traditional floor-length gown of organza and Chantilly lace over satin. Her dress was designed with sashina neckline, natural waistline and long sleeves pointed at the wrists. Opalescent sequins and lace highlighted the detachable cathedral wateau train. She carried out the tradition of something old, new, borrowed and blue and wore a penny in her shoe.

Her veil of tulle bordered with Chantilly lace, was attached to a tiara of pearls and crystal beads. She carried a bouquet of pink sweetheart roses and split carnations atop a white Bible.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Jean Neslage, maid of honor, was dressed in a hot pink empire floor-length gown of peau satin and lace and carried a white lace fan adorned with pink sweetheart roses and split carnations. Miss Cathy Cochran and Miss Ann Wright, bridesmaid, wore petal pink gowns of peau satin and matching lace designed identically to the maid of honor's dress.

Best man was Ronnie Stanton, Norman, Okla., assisted by groomsmen Bill Hite, Pampa, and Tom Updyke, Borger. Ushers were Floyd M. Hatcher, Jr., of Pampa, the bride's cousin, and Glen Prescott, Skellytown.

Organist Tracy D. Cary played "Clair de Lune" and traditional wedding processionals and recessional. Mrs. Paul Reimer, vocalist, sang "More" and "The Lord's Prayer." The church was decorated with white wrought iron candelabra entwined with lemon leaves and white summer bouquets in pedestal urns. Pew markers were tall tapers with leaves and white bows.

RECEPTION

For the reception in the church Fellowship Hall, the serving table was covered with a white drawn tablecloth over pink. The centerpiece was a tall arrangement of white stock, baby breath and sweetheart roses in a cupid holder.

The three-tiered pedestal cake was iced in white and decorated with pink roses and three satin bells.

Mrs. Bill Hite assisted at the punch service while Miss Kathy Hall served cake. Mrs. Ronnie Stanton, Norman, Okla., registered guests.

For the honeymoon to Colorado and New Mexico, the bride traveled in a soft pink dacron double knit outfit with white accessories and the pink roses from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a 1968 graduate of Pampa High School where she was a member of the Student Council, Tri-Hi-Y, and Sub-Deb Sorority. The bridegroom, a graduate of Marlow High School, and of Southwestern State College School of Pharmacy, is employed in a Pampa pharmacy.

For her daughter's wedding,

Rainbows Attend Assembly Program

Seven adults and 23 girls from Pampa Assembly No. 65 attended a friendship night recently honoring six grand officers of the Grand Assembly of Texas Order of Rainbow for Girls at Borger.

After the salad supper, girls of the Borger Assembly presented a program.

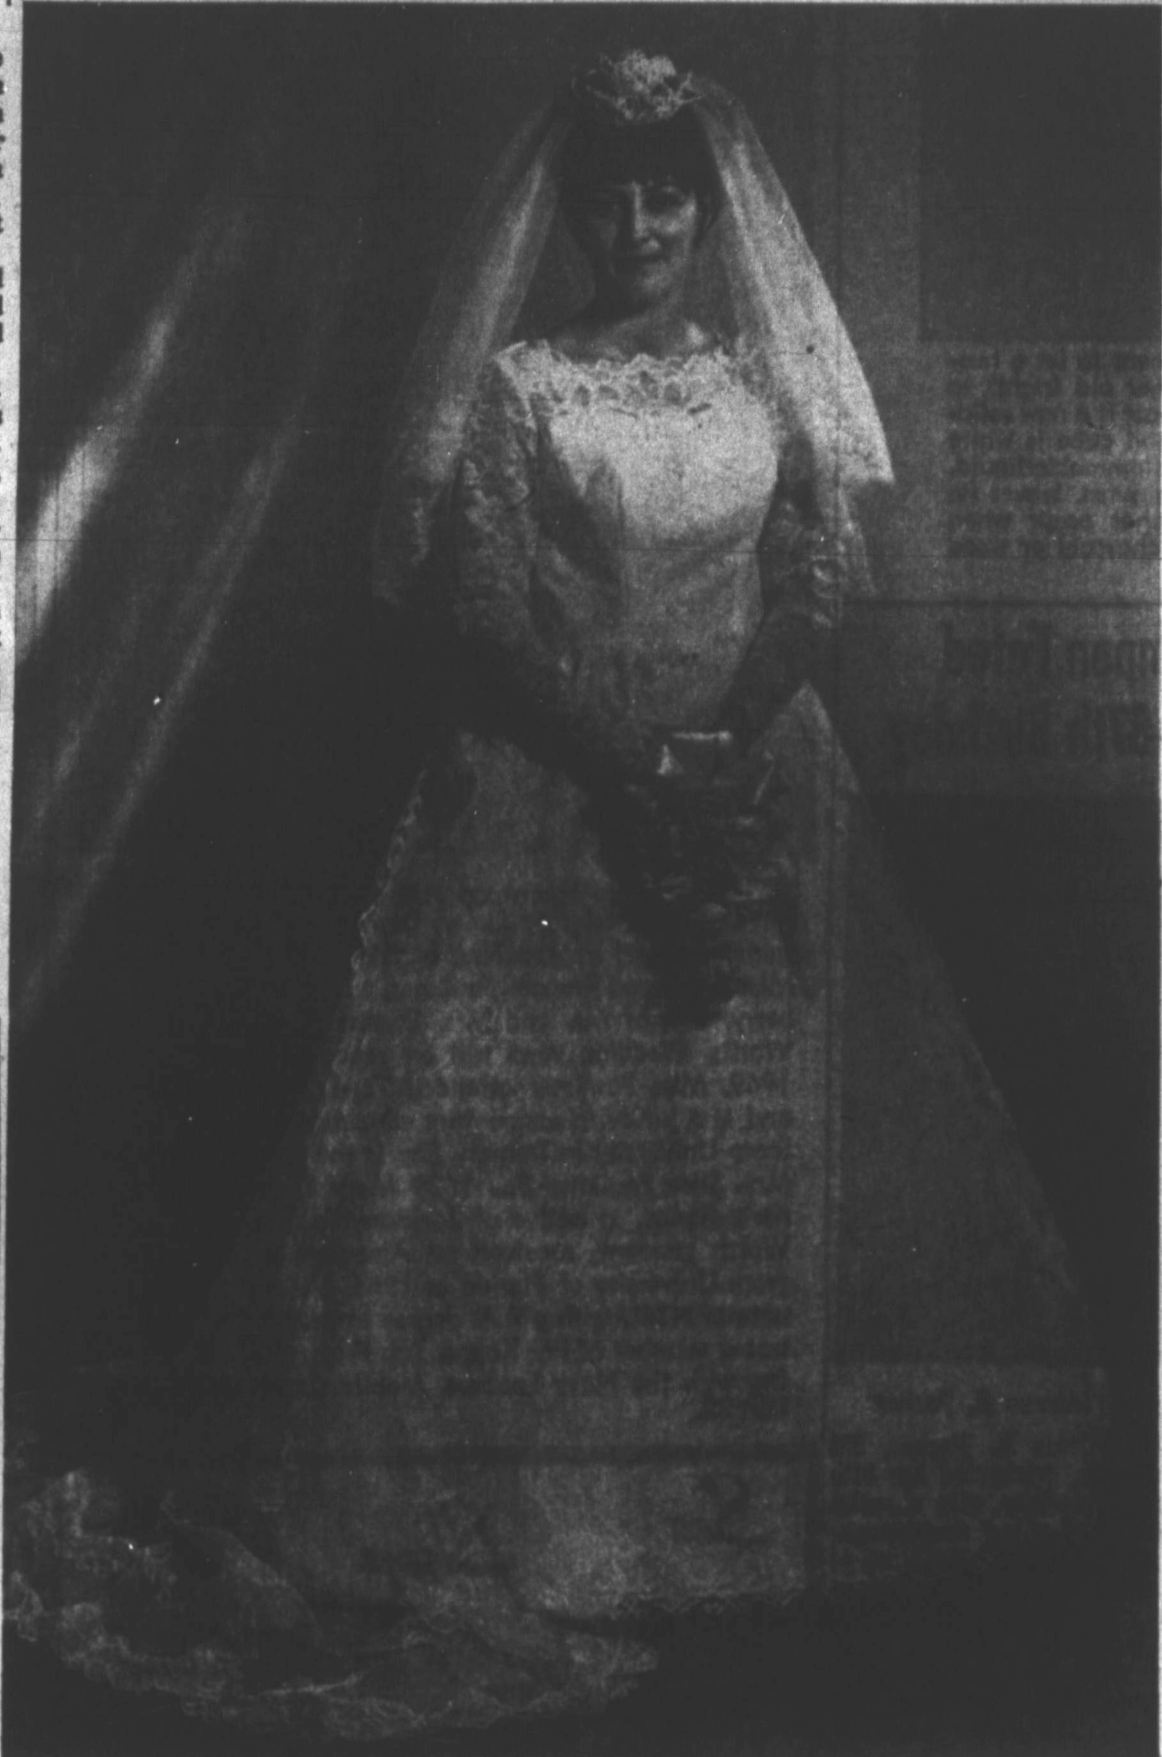

Those attending were Cathie Diest, Carrie Beth Rogers, Tinker Diest, Terry Morris, Dana Martin, Lillian Carson, Tereasa Willis, Suzanne Walters, Pamela Welch, Cathie Dial, Janice Stubblefield, Renee Harwood, Linny Tucker, Lana Sue Brown, Marsha Foster and Jo Followell.

Adults present were Mrs. John Reeves, mother advisor; John Reeves, Mr. and Mrs. P.B. Kratzer, Mrs. Wilford Stubblefield, Mrs. Cecil Diest and Mrs. Wendel Winkleblack.

Mrs. Hatcher wore a pink knit suit with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother was dressed in a sky blue lace sheath with black patent accessories and a gardenia corsage.

Both wore gardenia corsages. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. John Mobley, wore a lime silk suit with black accessories and a gardenia corsage.

Pre-nuptial events included a bridal shower hosted by Misses Jean Neslage, Sherry Lawley and Judy Utzman.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: After a good night's rest until as late as possible in the morning, you are able to seize a chance to get off in some new conditions or some better ways of getting things done and thoroughly enjoy yourself. Reasons that include persons who know their hobbies backward and forward being health and happiness.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Doing whatever will give you better health is your best bet in Aries. You can get out that hobby for which you've had little time lately. To out of your way to make you love happy. Then there's real happiness ahead.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — A very good day to enjoy some form of recreation with an associate you really admire. Talking over quietly through letter to get along in the days ahead is easy in Gemini. It may be to June 21 — You may be bored at some chore which you want to do in perfection, but the end result will show you a way to show your wish service.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) — Recreation of the kind you find today so that you get rid of that feeling of tension and suppression. Only with charming people who are really a joy to be with. Conversation can be very illuminating.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) — You want to get going much better with family. This can only come through reasonable conversation with them on practical level. If you have to go out keep focused on home matters. Don't forget that!

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 22) — A good day to handle that civic matter very nicely and then get out with congenial who like to do the same thing you do. Make a study of that information that you forget to write that important letter.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Although you may be out having fun, keep focused on how you can make your money matters more as they should be. Take care for the months ahead in a more practical way. Stop being such a visionary.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — No better day than this to hit on the right idea with some good friend that will make both your lives more worthwhile. Success is then off to some party where good friends meet. Be your own party set.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Now you have just the right opportunity to gain that secret aim that has been impossible to you before. However, you have to do some work if you are to be successful. Get right at it!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) — Out to that place with good friend where some study, amusement can be mutually enjoyed. Or it may be a little trip that you should take so that all goes much better for you. Don't find pay takes on that property make it work for you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) — You have some work ahead of you that doesn't seem vital, but if you go ahead with it, you find later that it was really very important. Show a higher up that you are an A.I. citizen. This brings support.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20) — If you go to a charming new site with a friend who wants information you can give that is akin to him, or her, this will lead to fine things. This will improve your relationship. Also stop being so antagonistic.

Violent French Politics Influence Autumn Fashions

By JOAN DEPPA

PARIS (UPI)—The 1968 fall-winter fashion collections that ended Wednesday in Paris seemed to mark an important turning point in styles.

First, to understand French fashion this season, from the new acceptance of miniskirts to the sudden scorn of 'bourgeois' luxury, you have to try to understand French politics.

Or at least understand the politics of the May-June 'French Revolution.'

It was that violent upheaval which brought spring business to a standstill, blocked delivery of materials for the July-August showings, and changed the attitude of the French public toward fashion itself, that made the Paris styles differ from Rome, New York, London and Madrid.

In Paris, there was little experimentation with longer hemlines, for instance, as there was in New York when almost every designer showed some of the maxi or midi (well below the knees), lengths.

In fact, some of the modernists of Paris, like Feraud, Cardin, and Courreges all but did away with the skirt by cropping hemlines to astronomically new highs.

All three showed skirts varying from mid-thigh to higher, worn with tight, boots or stretch jump suits. Ungaro was much in the same vein, but he generally kept his hemline at four inches above the knees or substituted slacks, or brief bloomers.

Gabrielle (Coco) Chanel was the last holdout and even she showed shorter skirts that had removable knee-covering pants underneath. Here at a glance are some of the major trends from Paris couture:

—A silhouette which emphasizes body curves. There are two major alternatives, one which skirts the body lightly, sometimes outlining the bosom, or one which is belted in tightly at the waist for an hourglass effect. Dior, St. Laurent, Ricci and Chanel are in the former school; Feraud and Cardin are solidly in the latter.

The importance of trousers. After nearly disappearing last spring, pants of some sort are back importantly in every collection except those of Feraud and Cardin who prefer long, long boots or tights with microscopic mini-skirts. Ricci shows long trousers under dresses. Gres show tight-fitting knitted pants that stop just above the knee under short, full-skirted coats.

Black, gray and dark brown as the basic colors of the wardrobe, sparked with red, yellow or blue at most houses. off-beat combinations of rust and purple, brown and blue at St. Laurent. Pastels at Dior as an alternative to black for evening wear.

Short coats, some cut exactly like duffle coats down to the hood and toggled fastenings, as the newest answer for keeping warm. Wrap coats or trenchcoats as fingertip length also important all day long, look smartest with pleated skirt flipping beneath.

Long suit jackets that at least cover the hip, sometimes almost fingertip length, worn over tunic blouses with high necks. Both jacket and tunic are often belted and sometimes a chain belt is the only jewelry worn with the costume.

Wider shoulders without padding. Most designers cut lots of short sleeves out of the same piece as the bodice, sometimes cut the bodice so that it extends over the edge of the shoulders.

Narrower belts except at Courreges, Feraud and Cardin. Lots of the belts, sometimes out of leather, sometimes out of fabric.

Tiny neat hair styles, either by cropping hair very short or by chignons. Long falls of hair were used to elaborate the looks for evening but still kept very simple by comparison with last season's extravaganzas.

Tights replace stockings for warm in many collections. Dior's super-shiny stockings are an immediate hit for dress-up occasions. Dark stockings, black, brown and dark green, still are popular.

Shoes and boots change less than they have for seasons. Shoes are very chunky for street wear. Boots are sometimes so high that they are attached to heavy elastic pant and pulled on like tights.

Shoulder bags virtually all the only kind being shown. Tiny bags at Dior, roomy ones at Chanel, and light furry muffs slung on a chain around the neck at Lanvin.

Evening dresses often are exactly like daytime dresses, only out of richer fabrics or the same fabrics, only floor-length. Lots of velvet and transparent black chiffon, organza and mousseline for evening.

THIN OR BROAD For deep set eyes use white or bone shadow from lashline to brow, then add the thinnest thread of eyeliner. For prominent eyelids, make the lid recede by smooth-lashline to the crease and play up the area above with white highlighter and draw on a wide band of eyeliner.

TOP NEWSBOYS — These two young men are being congratulated by Bert Stevens, right, circulation manager of The Pampa News, for their outstanding work as carriers. Both have been awarded a free trip to HemisFair in San Antonio. They are, left, Dean Gallagher, who won a recent open contest for carriers by acquiring 48 new subscribers; while Ronald, center, has been named "Carrier of the Year" for 1968 for best service given to his customers. Ronald went six months without a complaint, paid his bill on time each week, lost no customers for six months and delivered The Pampa News to 93 per cent of his homes on his routes. He also "crew worked" once each week. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gallagher, 336 Anne.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The new government-industry squabble over steel prices clouds the current outlook of the stock market, says E. F. Hutton & Co. Inc.

The firm also believes the "downward drift" will continue unless trading volume picks up, either in a rally or a selloff, because only higher volume can give the market a sense of direction and technical significance.

W. E. Hutton & Co. says the market has entered a less speculative environment despite better odds for a moderate near term recovery. Lower trading volume currently underscores the change in phase, the firm says.

In response to reports that mutual fund buying power is dwindling, Wolfe & Co. comments that the funds "cannot have invested more than 48 per cent of the money their stockholders placed with them for management in the nine months through June 1968."

This would suggest that the funds still have a great deal of catch-up buying to do, the firm concludes.

Columbia Dean Resigns

NEW YORK (UPI)—Citing a disagreement with those who make university policy, Edward W. Barrett resigned Friday as dean of Columbia University's Graduate School of Journalism.

"I simply find myself in disagreement with the basic outlook of a majority of those who make university policy," Barrett said in a statement.

"I should add that, while I have real sympathy for many who seek constructive change, I have no sympathy whatever for the young SDS group who seek destruction," he said.

Barrett referred to the Students for a Democratic Society whose members staged a sign which erupted into disorder at the school last April.

The 58-year-old Barrett, former assistant secretary of State for Public Affairs who became dean of Columbia in 1956, has said he feels the Columbia faculty and students should have more influence in university policy.

A university spokesman said Barrett "saw no progress" toward any change.

Earlier in the year, Barrett made a speech to the alumni of Graduate School of Journalism in which he urged a change in the makeup of the board of trustees in order to give the faculty a larger voice in university affairs.

Barrett proposed specifically that vacancies occurred on

FLYING HAZARD
STOKE-ON-TRENT, England (UPI)—The city council warned courting couples recently that they were endangering their own lives and those of others by hiding in the long grass at the local airport.

The 24-man board as many as eight be given to persons with "faculty status."

The university charter now prohibits faculty members from holding board positions.

"I hope that I can do all within my power, from the outside, to assist the university and particularly the Graduate School of Journalism of which I am deeply proud," Barrett said.

The resignation becomes effective Aug. 15.

There was no immediate comment from Columbia officials.

Barrett joined the university staff after serving as executive vice president of Hill and Knowlton Inc., a public relations firm, from 1952 to 1956.

A graduate of Princeton University, Barrett began his career with the Birmingham, Ala., News in 1930 and moved to the Columbia Broadcasting System in 1932.

In 1933, he joined the staff of Newsweek magazine where he remained, except for the World War II years, until 1950 when he became assistant secretary of State for Public Affairs.

During the war, Barrett served as chief overseas operations for the Office of War Information and later acted as deputy chief in the psychological warfare branch of the allied forces headquarters.

He is a trustee of the Columbia University Press and the author of the book, "Truth is Our Weapon."

Eisenhower And Goldwater Slate Talks At Convention

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Their last candidate who made it and their last one who didn't will address Republicans on the first day of their 1968 national convention opening here Monday.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower will address the delegates by television from Walter Reed Army Medical Center in Washington, where he is recuperating from the latest in a series of heart attacks.

Following him on the program for the 8 p.m., EDT, convention session will be, among others, Barry M. Goldwater, the 1964 nominee who was defeated by Democrat Lyndon B. Johnson.

The convention schedule as announced Friday calls for the roll call of states for nomination of this year's GOP presidential candidate Wednesday night. Thursday night his running mate will be named and both will deliver acceptance speeches.

After a short opening session which starts at 10 a.m., EDT, Monday, the delegates will recess until 8 p.m. The Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday sessions will all take place at night.

The highlights:

Monday
10 a.m., EDT: GOP National Chairman Ray C. Bliss opens convention; Speeches: Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann of Nebraska on "Revitalization of Rural America"; "Inspirational reading" by actor John Wayne; Sen. Jacob K. Javits, N.Y., on "Revitalization of Urban America"; Gov. Claude Kirk of Florida, welcoming message. 8 p.m.: Speeches by Eisenhower, Sen. Edward W. Brooke, Mass., Goldwater, Sen. George Murphy, Calif., New York Mayor John V. Lindsay and Keynote Gov. Daniel J. Evans of Washington.

Tuesday

Opens 8 p.m.: Speeches by Thomas E. Dewey, former New York governor and GOP presidential candidate in 1948 and 1949, and House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford, permanent chairman of the convention.

Main business: Credentials committee reports on challenged delegations; if any, with possible that unresolved disputes could be settled by convention vote. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., reports in platform.

Wednesday

Opens 5 p.m., EDT: Nominations and seconding speeches of presidential contenders. Roll call of states for selection of candidate.

Thursday

Opens 7:30 p.m., EDT: Nomination of vice presidential candidate. Acceptance speech by vice presidential, then presidential candidates. Benediction by evangelist Billy Graham. Adjournment.

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES R. SMITH

HONG KONG (UPI)—The Red Chinese army shows serious cracks at the top command level as it celebrates its 41st birthday today.

It is not a very happy anniversary despite the increasingly important role the army is playing and despite an order from Peking for the entire population of 700 million to "love" and "support" the army. The huge military establishment of more than three million men is showing grave internal strain. It also is coming under stronger civilian criticism than ever and occasionally is the target of violent attack.

With most of Red China's normal administrative structure damaged or destroyed by the cultural revolution of Communist Chairman Mao Tse-Tung, it is the army that is holding the country together.

Assigned Domestic Tasks
Soldiers are supervising the railroads, helping with the harvests, keeping civilian aircraft flying, watching over factory production, giving military training to Red Guards and helping run the schools.

Military men are operating special "Mao-thought" indoctrination courses for millions of adults, running defense industries, guiding research and development programs for nuclear weapons and missiles while trying to maintain public order.

At the same time, the army is charged with keeping war supplies flowing to North Vietnam, Laos and Viet Cong forces in South Vietnam. It also has more than 50,000 men in Vietnam and Laos helping maintain communications and transport facilities damaged by American bombing.

Despite these extra duties, the army is expected to maintain combat readiness on Red China's extensive border areas.

Defenses Weakened
Military intelligence analysts in this listening post believe the numerous non-military demands being made by the cultural revolution undoubtedly have affected the army's ability to respond to attack from outside.

The ability of China's military machine to mount an attack outside the country's borders has been impaired even more seriously, these sources said.

According to the analysts, the army's preoccupation with international politics has been reflected by a much less aggressive posture in sensitive border areas and by a less belligerent tone in policy pronouncements on such issues as the Vietnam War.

CLEANING BILL

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Ten housewives presented Mayor James Tate Friday with a $341 bill for street cleaning, representing 813 woman-hours of work at $1.65 an hour. The housewives said 271 neighborhood residents had swept and washed down the streets outside their homes because the city did not do so.

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY
County Agriculture Agent

Several people have called to ask about the yields of the nine different varieties of wheat planted in the test plot on the Abe Lewis Place. Here is the yield per acre in bushels with the varieties listed in their proper rank. Tascosa—51.91; Scout—51.60; Caddo, 49.71; Sturdy—47.50; Crockett—46.06; Parker—45.68; Kaw—40.11; Improved Triumph—39.46 and Gage—34.90.

Aphids on Milo

We are still receiving a large number of calls concerning the extremely heavy population of corn leaf aphids and greenbugs on milo.

We realize this is one of the heaviest and widespread infestations over the county that we have seen. However, I've had calls on these pests for years and the answer remains the same at the Experiment Station. Norris Daniels, entomologist, says, "They will not reduce your yield." In the first place there is no known method whereby kill. In my opinion you are pouring money in a rat hole trying to control them.

Research at the Bushland Experiment Station has shown that wheat 8-10 feet tall will tolerate a population of 800 greenbugs per running foot, and yield will not be reduced. Smaller wheat can be damaged heavily with greenbugs.

Cattle on Feed Report

We have had numerous calls asking for information on the 32-State Cattle on Feed Report. Much of the information has been published in area, state, and national news media. I do have copies of the official release and would be happy to let you take a look at my office copy.

In a nut shell, there were seven percent more cattle on feed in the 32-cattle feeding states as of July 1, 1968 than reported at the same time last year. Increases from a year earlier were recorded in all weight classifications, except 1,100 pounds and over which was down one percent.

Most market observers believe the current steady tone to the market will continue through August and into September.

Recently, John McHaney, Extension economist of the Extension Service, Texas A&M University, sent some very timely information which is highly significant to anyone engaged in any phase of the cattle business.

In 1950 the per capita consumption of beef was 63 pounds in the United States. In 1967, the per cent increase per person rose to 107 pounds. This is a 70 per cent increase per person since 1950. Each year an additional three percent more beef is required as a result of population increase with all other factors equal. These are very significant factors of which every beef producer should be aware. These factors affect what you get for stocker calves if you are a cow-calf man. They affect the price a stocker operator gets for his steers and ultimately what the cattle feeder gets for his fat cattle.

In the 1930's only about one-third of all cattle slaughtered in the U. S. passed through some sort of feeding facility. Today over two-thirds of all cattle slaughtered are coming out of feedlots. After a consumer has eaten good lot-fed beef, they are not satisfied with a grass fat. The above reasons are the only answers that can be given for the steady to rising price of finished cattle in spite of heavier placements of cattle on feed with each report.

A sudden drop in the economic level of this nation would do much more to drop cattle prices than a slight increase in numbers placed on feed. Beef is the luxury item in our diets. We eat more beef if we make more money.

Beef prices are much more responsive to the economic status of the country than a product like wheat that has an inelastic demand. If the millers were given the wheat required to bake a loaf of bread, the price could be lower only about two cents per loaf. How much more bread would you eat if they would lower the cost of a loaf of bread by two cents: a loaf?

HARVESTING HINTS

Weeds in grain sorghum may cause trouble at harvest time, says Henry O'Neal, Extension agricultural engineer. Wet weather has caused excessive growths of Johnson grass and careless weed in many fields. He says it may be necessary to operate the combine at a lower speed in order to handle the tough, high-moisture weeds closer attention to the care and maintenance of the combine is also suggested.

Hereford Breeder Group Schedules Panhandle Tour

The Panhandle Hereford Breeder's Association announced plans to hold a regional cattle tour, August 12-13 across the eastern part of the Texas Panhandle.

The tour will include an overnight stop in Pampa.

The second annual event will start at Perryton and end at Conway, with 20 stops during the two days.

The tour will assemble at 8 a.m. Aug. 12 at the C.A. Hooper & Son ranch five miles east of Perryton on Highway 15. The tour will then proceed on to view the commercial herds of Wallace Hamper and H.C. Brillheart & Son. The next scheduled stop will be the registered herds of Alex Born & Sons, the noon stop on the 12th will be at the Clark Mathers Ranch, north of Canadian, where the Pampa Shrine Club will prepare a barbecue courtesy of the tour participants.

After lunch a representative of the American Hereford Association will talk about the Total Performance Records program.

The first overnight stop will be at the Holland Hereford Ranch located 16 miles south of Canadian on Highway 83, then on to J.W. Thompkins and Breeding & Caldwell's ranches.

The tour will view the commercial herd belonging to Ellis Locke with the next stop at Orval Christopher's ranch. The 12th and last stop of the day will be at the Maddox Hereford Ranch located five miles west of Miami on FM Road 282.

Overnight headquarters will be at the Coronado Inn here in Pampa, where the Pampa Chamber of Commerce will host a social hour at 7 p.m.

Eight stops are scheduled at the second day, Aug. 13, with the first one being at 8 a.m. at Frank Carter's One Bull Ranch north of Pampa. The next stop will be the Emmett Lefors Ranch and then on to view the commercial herd of Billy B. Davis. The tour will continue on to the Clyde J. Magese Ranch and the F. Jake Hess Ranch. The noon stop will be south of McLean at the Sitter Headquarters where H.M.

"Flip" Breedlove will prepare a barbecue courtesy of the tour participants. L. E. (Sonny) Nance, co-owner and manager of Hall-Nance Ranches, Haslet, Texas, will be the noon speaker. The title of his presentation is "What TPR Has Done for Me."

First stop of the afternoon will be at the Tomie M. Potts ranch, Memphis. The last stop of the day will be at the Callihan Ranch, Conway.

Hotel accommodations for the overnight stop at Pampa may be obtained by contacting Gaines Franks, Secretary of the Panhandle Hereford Breeder's Association, P. O. Box 828, Amarillo, or by contacting the Coronado Inn in Pampa. Those wishing to secure accommodations for the evening of Aug. 11 should contact the Dutch Inn at Perryton.

Good Crops Across State Reported As Favorable Weather Continues

COLLEGE STATION, Tex.—(UPI)—Texas farmers saw their crops make good progress in later-maturing areas the past three weeks in favorable weather, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service said Saturday.

Crops in the later maturing areas did well, but crops along the coast had some harvest delay because of recurring showers.

Rice and grain sorghum harvest moved ahead slowly, hampered somewhat by the weather. Maturing corn was drying slowly. Hay on the ground was damaged or lost altogether to wetness and soybean growth slowed.

Crops from Central Texas westward made generally good progress. Insect damage was light in the west, increasing in the east. Replanted cotton in the South Plains made rapid progress.

Rain and insects hurt cotton fields in Jackson County and many farmers had to abandon their fields. Only "fair" prospects were seen for cotton in South Central Texas, the service said.

The pecans suffered from powdery mildew in many areas. Peanuts had some leafspot disease.

Soil moisture was favorable

By EVELYN MASON

Producers are encouraged to come into the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service to report planted acres of cotton and grain sorghum and designate the diverted acres. The sooner you report the acres the earlier you will receive payments. Payments will not be made until after Sept. 2 but the sooner you report the sooner you will receive payment. Failure to maintain the proper diverted acres will lose you program benefits.

Participating producers in the CCC Loan Program may place their wheat in the loan with a maturity date on the note of April 30, 1969. You then have the option of repaying the loan and redeeming the wheat any time until April 30, 1969. If not redeemed by that time, CCC will assume the wheat unless an extension program is requested by the producer. The wheat remains the producer's until maturity date of the loan.

The 1969 Wheat Program will be very much like the present one. But wheat allotments have been mailed to all producers showing a reduction of slightly over 13 per cent of the '68 allotment. Mandatory diversion will be 15 per cent of the 1969 allotment. You can divert the minimum (without payment) and still plant the entire 1969 allotment. Or you can divert an additional 50 per cent of the allotment with payment on the diverted acres above the minimum. Barley base may be requested and planted to wheat as in past programs.

for the time of year and a few areas were reaching the point of needing more water.

Pasture, range and livestock were all above average for this time of year, but flies and mosquitoes and screwworms were creating problems for livestock men.

The vegetable harvest in the eastern part of Texas was active, with good yields. Watermelons were moving on good volume from Northeast Texas. The South Plains onion harvest neared an end, but potatoes and cucumbers were increasing in harvest volume. Some vegetables were being planted in South Texas.

Texas County Agents Association Meets

Foster Whaley, Gray County agricultural agent, will be one of an estimated 350 persons attending the annual meeting of the Texas County Agricultural Agents Assn. meeting today through Tuesday in Abilene, Texas.

The Windsor Hotel will be the site for the meeting which kicks off with registration beginning at 1 p.m., announces H. C. Stanley, Jr., Taylor County agricultural agent and vice-president of TCAA. Presiding at the meeting will be Elwyn Dysart, Hartley County agricultural agent for the annual affair.

A full slate of events make up the agenda for the annual affair.

Panhandle Water District News

By FELIX W. RYALS

A local farmer was in the past week to get a permit to put down a new domestic water well. The old domestic water well went dry. With the arrival of each new irrigation season more and more domestic wells have "dried up."

The original domestic windmill water wells were, for the most part, drilled only a few feet into the upper portion of the water table. With the beginning of intensive irrigation in 1956 the water table has declined leaving more and more domestic wells above the water table.

Some domestic wells go dry during the heavy pumping season if they are located near irrigation wells. When the irrigation wells shut down, the static level returns and the domestic well will again produce the needed water for the home or livestock.

The "drying up" of domestic wells has been particularly irritating to dryland farmers who live on land adjoining irrigated land.

The laws of Texas, with certain reservations, gives a landowner the right to capture and use to water beneath his land for beneficial purposes. The "drying up" of domestic water wells is just one of those "trials and tribulations" that we have to learn to live with.

The water conservation district does offer some protection to existing domestic wells just as it does existing irrigation wells by requiring new irrigation wells to stay a certain distance away from an existing domestic well.

There is no way the District can keep the water table from declining. We now advise everyone drilling a new domestic water well or a replacement domestic well, to drill all the way to the red clay beds just as the irrigation wells are drilled.

When the new or replacement domestic well is drilled all the way to the red clay beds, the domestic water well will have water as long as the irrigation, municipal or industrial well.

State Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake, who serves as chairman of the Water Committee of the Texas Legislature, has been holding a series of hearings in various areas of the state on proposed new legislation concerning surface and ground water in Texas.

Some very hot questions have come up at hearings during the past week. Two of these questions were: Should there be only one authority per river? And should all river authorities operate under a single general law?

The Texas Water Conservation has gone on record as being opposed to both of these questions. The various river authorities asked for a delay in answering the questions.

Clayton also raised several ground water questions. The Texas municipal or industrial Water Panel Chairman, J.W. Buchanan, requested that questions pertaining to ground water be delayed until the September or October hearing to be held in Hereford.

The two questions to come up the Hereford hearing are:

(1) Should Article 7467 be amended to declare imported water or municipal and industrial effluent discharges to be public waters, subject to State control?

(2) Should preference and priority be provided for ground water uses as is already provided for surface water?

Two officials from Texas A&M University will address the assembly at separate noon luncheons, according to Stanley. Dr. John E. Hutchison, director of the Texas agricultural Extension Service, will speak on Monday, while Dr. H.O. Kunkel, dean of agriculture, will address the group on Tuesday.

Keynote speaker at the awards banquet will be John McKee, who is in charge of civic and government affairs for Ford Motor Co.

New Nixon Worries in Midwestern Area

EDITOR'S NOTE: As Reagans prepare to head for the beach to pick their choice for president, there is a dispute in the minds of delegates from the Southwest as to the man who will be Richard Nixon. The following dispatch, fourth of six stanzas up the race as viewed from the great part of the country, shows Reagan rather than Nixon.

BY JAMES R. CAMPBELL
OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—The nation's Southwestern area, the domain of foraging lions, is "happy hunting ground" for Richard M. Nixon. His quest of the Republican presidential nomination, a Republican leader in an eight-state hand stretching from the lowlands of the Mississippi river and Gulf Coast to the Rocky Mountains favor the former vice president overwhelmingly.

The other announced candidate, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, has found it mostly barren land. Only in Arkansas, where his brother Winthrop occupies the governor's office, does he hold the majority of a delegation to the GOP National convention in Miami.

There is more sentiment for California Gov. Ronald Reagan, primarily for the second spot on the ballot. He would not become a serious contender for the presidential nomination short of a protracted convention deadlock.

Present Estimates
Best present estimates show a total of 136 delegate votes committed or leaning to Nixon, 18 to Rockefeller and 30 to Reagan. Fifteen others are uncommitted or undecided.

Nixon is heavily favored in Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri, New Mexico, Colorado and Wyoming. It's closer in Kansas, where Nixon is expected to get 5 of the delegates to Rockefeller's 3 after they are released by favorite son Sen. Frank Carlson. A dozen was uncommitted in the traditionally Republican stronghold, which was locked up for Nixon at this point in the 1960 campaign.

The influence of George Wallace is most evident in those areas more taking to the South than to the West, such as Arkansas, Oklahoma, and Texas. Rockefeller has little support of leaders in these areas, and a poll in Arkansas indicated Wallace could defeat Rockefeller but not Nixon.

Although Oklahoma's delegates are officially committed to Gov. Dewey Bartlett as a favorite son on the first ballot, 17 are for Nixon and five for Reagan. Rockefeller has made a couple of passes at the delegation. He got publicity, but no votes.

No Sentiment
Texas, the colossus which anchors the region, has more than twice as many delegate votes as any of the other Southwest states. Nixon has a Texas-size share of them with 44 leaning to him against 12 to Reagan. There is no sentiment in the state for Rockefeller.

All 56 delegates were committed to Sen. John Tower until he released them and led 44 to Nixon.

POSTPONE TEST
PAPEETE, Tahiti (UPI)—Adverse weather conditions Saturday forced a postponement of the first nuclear test blast in France's current series at Mururoa atoll some 800 miles southeast of Tahiti. The Saturday blast was to have opened the second half of a test series which began July 7 with the explosion of a conventional nuclear device. An H-bomb blast is expected to climax the tests.

READY AGAIN—Soldiers carefully watch for signs of enemy movement near their hilltop firebase west of Kontum. The men from the 3d Battalion, 8th Infantry, 4th Infantry Division, had just fought off a vicious enemy attack on their position near the Cambodian border.

KENNEDY IN VALENCIA.
VALENCIA, Spain (UPI)—Joseph Kennedy, III, eldest son of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, was in Valencia today as part of a brief summer tour of Spain with his traveling companion, Charles McDermott. They planned a visit to the San Sebastian area in northern Spain Sunday.

Red Cross News

We are so very sorry to lose another of our Water Safety Instructors, Mrs. Hugh Barlow, who will move with her family to near Canadian. Lee tells us her address will be Rt. 1, Canadian, Texas.

We had a visit this past week with Mickey Spoon from Canada, who has been a SWI and has taught swimming the past few years there. When he used his skill sheets, he could not find the address for Area office and did not know where to order any more sheets, so he did not report his classes. Anyone who does not know about our Red Cross can go to any office and get the information needed. Please do not let your authorization lapse because of the need of materials. Amarillo office and Pampa office will see that the materials are ordered as needed.

Joe M. Dealy of Dallas was elected at the National Convention in Denver this year to be a member of the board of governors for a three year period.

As of April 30th, the 1968 Fund Campaign had reached 29 per cent of the goal nationally or the amount of $100,724,000. We are sorry that we were unable to reach our total goal this past year of $21,200,000. But we are grateful for the $15,100,000 that we did receive from the Pampa United Fund. We added the $495.00 we received to this amount for our SOS Campaign. This year our Red Cross allocation from UP will be $14,000. Help us reach this amount!

The Nursing Conference with

Ruth Robinson, RN, from St. Louis will begin Monday morning at the Chapter House, 1800 S. Harrison, Amarillo, at 9 a.m.

Mrs. Forrest Hills will represent Pampa and we know that she will come home enthusiastic over her Red Cross Nursing work. This class is open to RNs and any one interested in this work should call Mrs. Hills and make arrangements to attend this meeting.

Monday morning a Safety Class in Jr. and Sr. Life Saving will be held at the City Pool at 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. for 9 days. Registration will be held that morning at the pool with a $1 fee for the use of the pool and 60 cents for the Water Safety Book. Please plan to take this course if you are interested in becoming a Water Safety Instructor or if you wish to take another step up the ladder of Water Safety. Mrs. R.A. Fugate and daughter Judy will teach the course.

On August 12, one week later, a Jr. and Sr. Life Saving Course will be held at the Youth Center Pool with Pete Erwin teaching the course. Many of you have registered for this course and we urge you to take advantage of the course as planned.

Thanks to Rotary Club for sponsoring the Swim Meet this year held at the close of the swim program. We had announced earlier that the Kiwanis Club was the sponsor and we are sorry to have gotten our clubs mixed. The children really did enjoy the event and it is one of highlights of the summer for boys and girls.

Price Works With 'Task Force' On Agriculture Plant in GOP Platform

WASHINGTON, D. C. (SpI)—To handle Congressman Bob Price, a member of The House of Representatives Republican Task Force on Agriculture, said today the group had approved a number of recommendations and other information for consideration by the Platform Committee of the 1968 Republican Convention.

Congressman Odin Langen (7th Dist., Minn.), Chairman of the Task Force, submitted the Agricultural Plank recommendations to Gov. Walter J. Hickel of Alaska, chairman of the Platform Subcommittee on Agriculture and Natural Resources.

"The Agricultural Plank of our platform must reaffirm the traditional concern which the Republican Party has had for the importance of agriculture that began with the establishment of the Department of Agriculture under President Lincoln," Price said. "The material and recommendations we are submitting to the subcommittee encompass a number of Task Force proposals and studies aimed at restoring the economic level of rural America through the expediency of adequate farm income. Our primary objective must be an adequate price for the farmer's commodities to stabilize farm family income and subsequently provide the economic stimulation so badly needed in rural America.

"The farmer's economic position has slipped considerably under eight years of Democrat Administration." Price continued. "With wheat prices at a 26-year low, the parity ratio at depression-year levels and farm production expenditures setting new upward records, our future food supply is being threatened as our food producers face extinction." Price said the Republican Party has a great opportunity on the farm scene.

"When the nation's largest single industry is in trouble, all America is threatened," he added. "There are no easy solutions, but the Republican Party can do no less than to tackle the problem with firm resolution. The American farmer is the keystone of our national strength, and the Republican Platform must represent our concern for the preservation of this greatest of resources."

Exceptions Anyone?

Chief Justice Earl Warren's resignation from his high post, and the tentative appointment of man-servant Abe Fortas by President Johnson, has occupied the press and the Senate for days now. Reviewing the Court's decisions over the past 15 years isn't possible in the space we have, and nothing we could say would improve on the language of the Conference of State Chief Justices ten years ago. By a vote of 36 to 8, that Conference approved the following resolution. In 1958: "That this Conference while recognizing that the application of constitutional rules to changed conditions must be sufficiently flexible to make such rules adaptable to altered conditions, believes that a fundamental purpose of having a written constitution is to promote the certainty and stability of the provisions of law set forth in such a constitution." Nor is it possible in this short space to make a projection of the decisions which Mr. Fortas may find it necessary to make. Two, only, require mention in passing. Mr. Fortas' career is one of bureaucrat, lobbyist, corporation lawyer and presidential legman. Never a judge. Ultimately, the Supreme Court is going to have to face up to the task of ruling on the legality of the Vietnam War, and the somewhat equivocal resignation from his high post, and the tentative appointment of man-servant Abe Fortas by President Johnson, has occupied the press and the Senate for days now.

Learning From History

Shortly after the end of World War II, General Albert C. Wedemeyer was appointed by President Truman as head of a fact-finding mission to make recommendations regarding the China and Korea. The Wedemeyer Report was submitted on Sept. 19, 1947. It was suppressed for more than two years by General George C. Marshall, obviously with the approval of President Truman. The report pointed out that the Moscow Agreement of 1945 had been derailed by Soviet intransigence, and that the American proposal for a four-power conference had been rejected by the Soviet Union. That wasn't a very popular point of view along foggy bottom in the late 1940's, and so the Wedemeyer Report was ignored and buried. It was an expensive burial. On May 15, 1954, the Department of Defense issued the following statement: "The initial aggression against the Republic of Korea in June, 1950, was inspired by the Soviet Union, and carried on by the puppet regime it had created in North Korea. . . If the war had been a Korean affair, as the Communists claimed, it would have ended late in 1950 (after Mac-

Jets And The Jitters

What shall it profit a businessman to fly across the country in a few hours if while wheeling and dealing on Pacific time, his nervous system is still on Eastern time—or vice versa? "Time zone fatigue," it's called, and it's a problem that will get worse when the supersonic jets shrink transcontinental or transatlantic travel time even more. Since man's inner "biological clock" is set for a 24-hour day, the disorientation involved in beginning the cocktails and conference cycle just when your stomach says the bacon and eggs should be coming on definitely could cause difficulties. Some firms take the matter so seriously, in fact, that they recommend a period of adjustment of at least a full day for executives jetting from coast to coast. Not only do we get too soon old and too late smart. In the jet age, we get too soon where day, the disorientation involved

Martians Give Up?

The flying saucer men have gone back to their home base in galaxy No. 85936048-X. What other explanation can there be for the fact that the number of calls about saucer sightings to the Aerial Phenomenon Office at Wright-Patterson AFB in Dayton, Ohio, are only a fourth of what they were last year? Letters are coming in at a mere tenth of the 1967 rate. And in case anyone thinks the Air Force is covering up something, the nongovernmental National Investigations Committee on Aerial Phenomena confirms that reports have fallen off sharply. Interesting thought: Now that they've sized us up, have the saucers gone back for reinforcements?

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

Now is as good a time as any to ask if any man ever saves this year's straw hat to have it cleaned again next summer? Of course many gents don't wear hats these days, but back in the days when every male wore a Panama or boater (which was popularized by Maurice Chevalier) it was the custom to put it away in the fall and have it cleaned again in the spring so it could be worn a second summer. Another by-gone custom was offering cloves to patrons at bars. It was supposed after downing a couple of martinis or a shot of bourbon that if one chewed on a clove it would eradicate the scent of alcohol on his breath.

Today's Smile: The father of a teen-age daughter related: "My daughter decided to run away from home last night, but she changed her mind when she got to the front door and the telephone rang."

We wonder if any Congressional Committee ever investigated how many—or how few—government publications, prepared at great cost to the taxpayers, are bought by the public? Here is a random sampling of just a few of the current ones: Identity of Artificial Color on Oranges; Rapid Identity of Margarine and Butter; Liver Flukes in Cattle; Tornado Safety Rules; and Growing American Bunch Grapes. Write your Congressman and ask him to send you a current list from the Government Printing Office and see for yourself how your tax money is being spent.

Thoughts while shaving: We don't know if you're any better off financially as a white collar worker or a blue collar worker, but last year the white collar jobs increased 1,220,000 and those of the guys wearing blue collars only increased 300,000. . . Lightning is Nature's most destructive force. Last year it topped $322 million in damage to property. It causes more loss of life and property than floods, tornados, hail or windstorms. . . Caesar's Palace, the super-plush Las Vegas hotel, is about to become a movie star. At any rate when Garson Kanin's film "Where's It At?" is shown in the theatres it will carry an acting credit as follows: "Caesar's Palace played by Caesar's Palace." What next? . . . Longfellow's village blacksmith stood under a spreading chestnut tree, but today's farmers work in comfort in air-conditioned surroundings at the nation's race tracks. Blacksmiths travel the racing circuit these days, living in the north in summer and in the south in winter. . . Look this one up if you doubt us, but no baseball player ever hit a home run out of Yankee Stadium. Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and many others hit homers there, but no one ever whacked the horseshoe out of the park. . . The Alperquerque (N.M.) JOURNAL headlined a story: "Bosom Builder Ruled Not A Bust." Some of them make mountains out of molehills.

Country Editor speaking:

"The politicians tell us we never had it so good, but we're just as broke paying for the good things as we were when we did not have it so good."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The curve ball, the bane of many an erstwhile heavy hitter's existence, was reportedly thrown in a baseball game for the first time in 1866 by William Arthur (Gandy) Cummings. The World Almanac says. Cummings pitched for the Excelsior Junior Nine and the Stars of Brooklyn. Others for whom the same claim is made are Fred Goldsmith of the Chicago White Stockings and George McConnell.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Coating on Tongue Made of Dead Cells Q—What would cause a white coating on the tongue? A—The cause is a failure to eat enough tongue-scouring foods, such as toast, raw carrots and nuts, or eating them but not chewing them enough. The coating is made up of one or more layers of dead cells.

I like to keep you little taxpayers happy and well informed on what you are getting for your money, so here is another report from your friendly OEO office. If you don't feel happy after reading the report it is only because you are not socially inclined and have not been confirmed by 'Big Brother'.

Total for Community Action Programs—301 million (Whew!) Upstairs Bound—28 million to teach students where the upstairs are.

Frosted Grandparents—8 million, for grandparents to "Cool It."

Herd Start—162 million to control the herds; 102 million for summer programs to finance mobile swimming pools.

Family Planning—9 million, to plan bigger and more families.

Legal Service—34 million to show welfare cases how to sue the government.

Migrant Projects—26 million to help them migrate to someplace else.

Injun Projects—23 million to build houses without terlets. Job Corps—271 millions (WOW)—Six urban centers for men, 18 for women, and 3 special centers for the unknown sex.

Neighborhood Corps—268 million for the Neighbor Hood. Enrollment Opportunities—42 million for 'search and deploy' missions.

Well, there you are. Read 'em and weep and happy tax-cheating.

The Big Question Is . . .

PAUL HARVEY NEWS

By PAUL HARVEY There was one of those race-symposiums on TV the other evening in which three policemen were confronted by three Negro spokesmen charging "police brutality." The policemen, less loquacious than their protagonists, did not get to say much. They dared not interrupt, as their challengers did. The essence of the Negroes' grievance was distilled in an incident related by one of them.

Washington Counting On Red Blunders

By RAY CROMLEY Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON (NEA)—U.S. officials have decided, for now at any rate, that absolute silence will pay off in Czechoslovakia. Unless plans change, Washington will not follow Britain's lead in publicly protesting Moscow's Czech imperialism. Nor will the U.S. ambassador bring up the Czech matter at the United Nations.

It's Up To You

By HOWARD KFSHNER A Safe Spending Limit In recent years we have poured out about $130 million of the people's money for so-called foreign aid, administered by an army of Federal employees. This program has often created more misery than it has alleviated. By interfering with indigenous effort we sometimes reduce the local food supply below what it would have been without our aid.

HOW TO ADDRESS OUR LAWMAKERS

You may want to write your senators and representatives in Washington and Austin. Here are their addresses: (FEDERAL) Rep. Bob Price, 1223 Longworth Bldg., Washington, D.C. 20525. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, Senate Office Bldg., Washington, D.C. 20525. Sen. John Tower, Senate Office Bldg., Washington, D.C. 20525. (STATE) Sen. Grady Haslewood, Canyon Hwy., Amarillo, Texas 79106. Rep. Malcom Abraham, Canadian, Texas, 75014. Present thinking among U.S. policy makers is that anything this country might do in the Czech-Russian confrontation would help get Moscow off its limb. It could turn the affair from what it is, a Soviet bullying of Czechoslovakia, into a Moscow-Washington fight.

BERRY'S WORLD

Andy's Movie Church Burns In 'An Angel in My Pocket'

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — It was more like a picnic—a church picnic, at that—than a movie set.

On the universal back lot, producer Ed Montagne and director Alan Rafkin are guiding Andy Griffith and Lee Meriwether and Gary Collins through a crucial scene in "An Angel in My Pocket." Andy plays a minister in this one, and his church is burning down.

With a carefully controlled led flame, it all looked very real. On signal, the fire roared—shooting out windows, climbing the walls, spilling through the roof. Andy and Gary and a young actor named Richard Van Fleet were trying to stop it—according to the script—with a garden hose and a shovel.

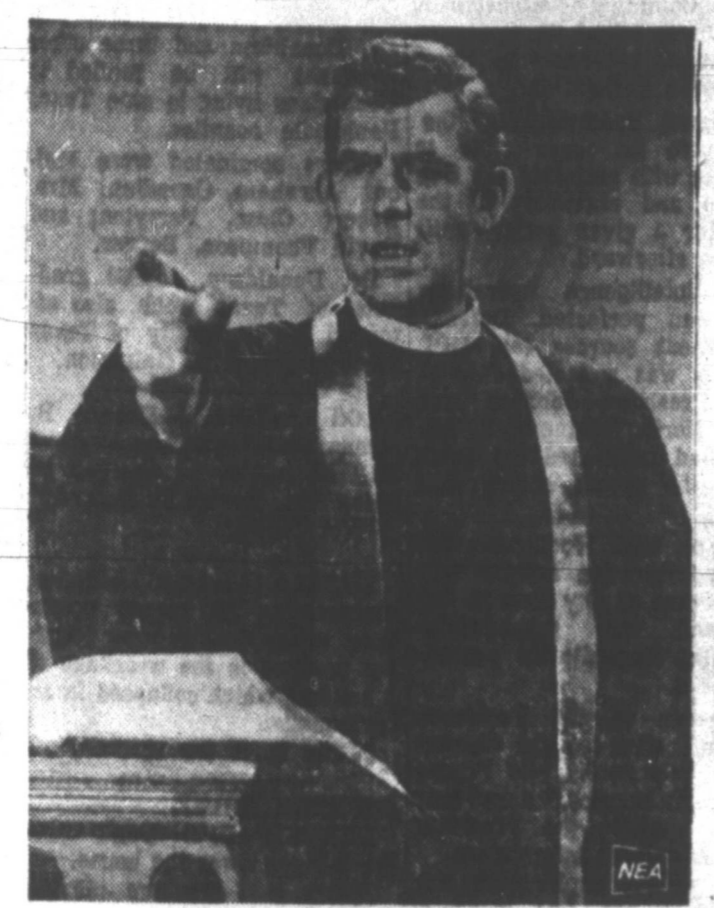

Between each take, the three fire fighters slumped down on the grass and relaxed. During one such slump, Lee Meriwether noticed that the hair on Andy's hand was singed. She said he ought to put something on it, some burn ointment or something.

"No, Andy said. 'I hate anything on my hands. It's almost a phobia with me. I don't wear a wedding band, or a wrist watch for that reason. Drives me crazy to have anything on my hands.'"

Writers Jim Fritzel and Everett Greenbaum, two funny men with a great capacity for amusing each other, dropped around to see how it was going. They created the character Andy plays and have retained ownership of it. There was talk about a television series for Andy, based on it. "Maybe," said Ev Green-met Cary Grant, the actor he most admired and had been waiting for years to meet.

Finally, one day in the Universal commissary, somebody introduced them.

Said Don Knotts to his hero: "How're they treating you, Cary?"

Then Gary Collin's wife, Mary Ann Mobley, came by to have lunch with her husband, Lee Meriwether, who had been the only beauty around, took mock umbrage at this gorgeous invader.

"No pretty girls on the set," said Lee.

Director Alan Rafkin, a sly one, said, "I'll tell you know when a pretty girl shows up," and Mary Ann hit him on the arm.

Mary Ann was bubbling. She's expecting her first child in October and could think of nothing else. She was full of resolve about how she was going to communicate with her child.

"My own teen years were unhappy," she said. "I couldn't communicate with my parents very well. I was the public waterworks. Everybody was dating but me—my father wouldn't let me."

They had one more go at the fire. Andy got too close and burned his hand slightly. Van Fleet was burned on his arms and legs and they took him to the studio hospital for treatment. Rafkin called a lunch break.

Tables were set up in the grass. Everybody sat down

Producer To Release Jayne's Last Movie

By VERNON SCOTT

UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —The anniversary of Jayne Mansfield's death in a Louisiana automobile crash a year ago last June 29 passed unnoticed in the town that gave her fame, headlines and tragedy.

But this month memories of the blonde glamor girl will be jogged by the release of a movie in which she was working (on-and-off) at the time of her death.

Producer Mike Musto will open "Single Room, Furnished" in Phoenix, Ariz., as a test market.

If the film is well received, Musto will show the picture in theaters across the country. He says, "Jayne proved she was really a fine dramatic actress in this picture. All she needed was a chance to prove her ability."

"Nobody was willing to give her an opportunity. Most of the men in her life just took advantage of Jane."

Less than a year after her death, two of Jayne's ex-husbands—Mickey Hargitay and Matt Cimber—remarried. At the time of her death both proclaimed their undying love for the actress.

The big pink mansion with heart-shaped swimming pool and bath tub on Sunset Boulevard is for sale at $275,000. Her estate still has not been unraveled. Hargitay, Cimber and the children have received various sums of money, according to Musto.

"Jayne began the picture with me in September of 1966," Musto sighed. "But she had another commitment in October. We stopped shooting until February of 1967."

"There were problems and we had to stop production again with five key scenes to film. She died in June, before we could finish the picture."

Asked why he had delayed releasing the picture for more than a year, Musto said Miss Mansfield owned 40 percent of the profits and that this participation in the film was thrown into the estate.

"The estate was such a mess that I had to wait," he explained. "Then I had to rewrite and reorganize the picture so it would make sense and one bench—carrying the writers and Lee Meriwether—was on soft ground and sank slowly. It didn't stop them from eating or talking."

"I try to see every good movie or play that comes along," said Ev Greenbaum. "A writer has to give so much of himself that he needs to reach to put something back."

"I don't see anything when I work," Andy said. "I just go home and go to bed. Fortunately, I can rest—I have two well-behaved dogs, some well-behaved kids and a well-behaved wife."

TV Notes

NEW YORK (UPI) — The singing King Family will film seven one-hour color specials for syndication in the 1968-69 television season.

Although television star Woody Woodbury is making personal appearances around the country during the summer, his show is not suffering "re-units." Woodbury taped an extra program every week this past season to provide new shows throughout his leave from Hollywood.

Twentieth Century-Fox offers "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir" next television season starring Hope Lange and Edward Mulhare.

Dick Clark will produce a new daytime television series for the younger generation at ABC-TV. It's titled "It's Happening."

The stars of MGM's new television series, "The Courtship of Eddie's Father," will be Bill Bixby, Myoshi Umeki and Brandon Cruz.

Aquanauts to Live on Ocean Floor

Artist concepts of the Sealab III support vessel and the Sealab III habitat. The support ship will supply electrical power and other necessities to the aquanauts living and working in and around the habitat on the ocean floor below. Sealab III is scheduled to take place at a depth of 430 to 450 feet in the waters of the Navy's San Clemente Island test in the Channel Islands area near Southern California.

US Intelligence Estimates In Viet 'Closer'

By DONALD H. MAY
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Pentagon officials report that President Johnson's forecast for a major Communist offensive in Vietnam is based on improved intelligence estimates of North Vietnamese infiltration.

Intelligence specialists in the past have not been able to estimate with certainty the flow of men and materials to the south for a given period until months afterward.

But intelligence operations have been perfected, Defense Department sources told UPI, and this was reflected July 31 when President Johnson said 30,000 North Vietnamese soldiers had infiltrated the south during the month ending that day.

Johnson said Wednesday the current infiltration activity was greater than at any time in the war and was substantially above the immediately preceding weeks.

Newsman at the Pentagon, who had often sought current figures only to be told "come back in six months," asked how it was possible the President now has current information.

The official explanation was that there are two ways of computing infiltration.

The first is the time-honored military system of identifying North Vietnamese "fillers" in the south, plus the number of North Vietnamese "fillers" in Viet Cong units.

This is done largely by gleaming from prisoners information on the size of the units and when they entered the country.

Officials might hear in February that a North Vietnamese battalion of 200 men entered in January. In March they might conclude it was actually a 1,000-man regiment. In April they might decide it was a 10,000-man division. In May they might learn that some of these troops were the same ones logged the previous December.

Each time this happens, the January figure is revised. The second method involves measuring the volume of traffic of troops and supplies, observable at certain points, moving southward through North Vietnam toward the approaches to South Vietnam.

Some of this traffic crosses the demilitarized zone, and some goes down through Laos and enters farther south, so that the entry time varies greatly. It averages something like two months.

By deduction, officials can translate traffic in North Vietnam into current infiltration and can project infiltration a couple of months ahead.

CAR SUFFERS
CINCINNATI (UPI)—A 20-mile team on its way to the HemisFair in San Antonio, Tex., didn't get much of a bang out of thunder Wednesday, but a passing car did.

Thunder heralding an approaching storm frightened the mules, causing them to rear up and scratch a passing car's paint.

'Liberated' Hue Is Not The Same

(Editor's note: The last time UPI correspondent Alvin B. Webb saw South Vietnam's ancient imperial capital of Hue was in February when the Viet Cong seized the city. Webb was seriously wounded while trying to save a U.S. Marine who had fallen in the battle. Now recovered fully he has revisited Hue to write the following vivid account of the scars that remain, the grass that grows in the streets.)

By ALVIN B. WEBB JR.

HUE, Vietnam (UPI)— Hue is a city of ugly battle scars carved deeply—and perhaps permanently—into the face of centuries-old historic beauty. She tries to hide them, under sheets of shiny tin and behind walls of new brick and fresh mortar, beneath grass that has not been cut for months, below mounds of ochre dirt.

Tiny streetcorner stands are once again filled with everything from applesauce to zircon rings, and street urchins tugging at your shirt implore "You buy Buddha picture?"

But the tin-roofed shacks look tawdry, like costume jewelry on a queen. The screech of the street hawkers and the black marketeers seems out of place in a city once so genteel. The tired, weary eyes of the old "Mama-san" belie the smile on her face as she begs you to spend the night on her saan.

And somehow you sense that the glory that once was the ancient imperial capital of Vietnam is gone.

For years, Hue has held itself aloof from the war. While men died in the Ia Drang Valley and on the slopes of Con Thien and in the mud of the Mekong Delta, Hue's tree-lined boulevards went untouched, her imperial palace grounds were trimmed neatly each week, her sampans peacefully plied the Perfume River.

Hue's holiday from the war ended violently on the morning of last Jan. 31, and in the 25 incredible days that followed, when Communist forces overran and held the city against all the firepower that Allied might could muster.

They seemed to appear from nowhere, then suddenly they were everywhere, the North Vietnamese soldiers who conquered Hue in the pre-dawn hours of Jan. 31.

Heroes were born by the minute to stand and then to die. Men like Spec. 4 Frank Doezema, a 19-year-old draftee whose bullets tore out his own life far from the Michigan farmland he loved.

But the wave of Communist attackers washed over their bodies, flooded through the narrow streets, swept over every building in the city until at last the only Allied bastions to hold were the U.S. Army compound on the south side of the river and the South Vietnamese Army headquarters in the walled citadel itself.

Through the gloom, the Communist flag waved atop a pole on the main south parapet of the awesome 40-foot-high stone wall that encased the citadel like some medieval fortress.

The flag would wave defiantly for another 25 days.

NOT OPTIMISTIC
TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI)—Israeli Premier Levi Eshkol said Thursday peace will be a long time coming in the Middle East "as long as our enemies
