Texas Legislature Still Hasn't Solved Any Of Its Major Problems

Act Branded 'Atrocity'

'Model' Village Is Hit By Reds

SAIGON (UPI)—Survivors Saturday buried 88 peasants and tended scores of wounded men, women and children at Son Tra, a "showplace" of the U.S. pacification program devastated by Viet Cong commandos. A U.S. spokesman said it "could be the worst atrocity of the war."
In Saigon, 350 miles south of the smoldering fishing village, sirens wailed for the first of a series of drills as allied generals kept the city under alert. Air Force B52's shook the city with four raids against Communist strongholds in the capital zone.
U.S. and South Vietnamese troops sweeping jungles and paddy fields within a 30-mile radius of Saigon reported killing 38 Communists in fighting that cost eight Americans killed and 24 wounded.

Top News In Brief

Destroy Fortress
North of Son Tra, just below the Demilitarized Zone DMZ, a U.S. Army-Navy task force counted 152 bodies in a village which North Vietnamese regulars had turned into a fortress. Two days of American bombardment destroyed it.
Survivors of the attack on Son Tra told how the team of less than 40 Viet Cong stormed into the village in the middle of the night and tossed satchel charges of dynamite into houses and raked them with machine gun fire.
The village is only 12 miles from the U.S. Marine base at Chu Lai, but American troops in the area were unable to help, so swift and stealthy was the Viet Cong raid. Mortar fire pinned down a U.S. Marine platoon atop a hill overlooking the village as the commandos attacked and fled in 15 minutes.

Pampan Is Charged In Killing

FARMINGTON, N. M. (UPI)—A Pampa man charged with murdering his female traveling companion in a motel room as her two children played next door was held without bond today in city jail.
Roy H. Armstrong, 41, of Pampa, Tex., was charged with the murder of Louetta M. Clark, 32, of Tucson, Ariz., Friday at the Town House Motel.
Officers said Mrs. Clark was shot in the chest with a small caliber pistol.

Jaycee Fair Slated Here

The annual Jaycee Fair, sponsored by the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be held here July 9-13, club spokesman said Saturday.
The fair will be located west of Coronado Center and will feature "space-age" rides, including the "Flying Comet," the "Rock and Roll," and the "Paratrooper."
Other rides at the fair will include the "Tornado," the "Looper," the "Scrambler," "Tilt-a-Whirl" and the regulars such as merry-go-round, ferris wheel, midge cars, etc.
Other features include live ponies, a fun house, concession booths and game booths.
Proceeds from the fair will be used to support the club's civic projects.
Bud McVicker, club president, said that concession booths will be made available to other civic clubs in the community and that clubs interested in participating should contact him at MO 5-4091.
The fair will be open from 6 p.m. until midnight daily.

President Calls For End To Nuclear Arms Race

SUMMER COOLER — Two Pampa boys, six-year old Kent, left, and Randy, 9, splash the heat away in a Central Park pool and drink Cokes to ward off the 102 degree temperature Saturday evening. The boys are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Derr, 1800 N. Wells. Highest temperature recorded Saturday in Pampa was 102 degrees between 5 and 6 p.m.

Pampans Swelter In Heat

Area residents sought relief from the scorching heat Friday and Saturday as temperatures soared above the 100-degree mark. Earlier in the week, the high only reached 80 or below.
Pampa's official high, according to the Amarillo U.S. Weather Bureau, reached 103 degrees Friday. The Bureau reported it did not have the information to know whether it was a new record for June 28 in Pampa.
The unofficial high yesterday was 102, reached about 5 p.m. Temperatures ranged above the 90-degree mark from noon until early evening.
Both public swimming pools reported fair-sized crowds for both days, but they were not larger than usual. A spokesman for the Pampa Municipal Swimming Pool said many "probably stayed at home beneath their air conditioners."
Other people, particularly the young children, enjoyed dipping in the small pools at the various parks in the city. Others bought soft drinks, sundaes, ice cream and snow cones in an effort to alleviate some (See HEAT, Page 3)

Indian Festivities Are Scheduled For Today

Barbecue At 12:30
Indians from a five-state area converge on Pampa today for the third annual Southwest Indian Organization barbecue and festival to be held in Hobart St. Park.
Activities will get underway at 12:30 with the barbecue luncheon.
Tickets will be available at the gate, according to Marland Hays, sub-chief of the Southwest Indian Organization.
Admission price for the barbecue luncheon will be $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children. Those buying barbecue tickets will also be eligible for a drawing in which a hand woven Indian blanket and other prizes will be given away.
Approximately 1,000 persons are expected to attend, including tribal chiefs from the five civilized tribes of the organization.
Full tribal costumes will be the order of the day for the five civilized tribes who comprise the Southwest Indian Organization—the Creeks, Chickasaws, Choctaws, Cherokees and Seminoles. The organization covers parts of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, New Mexico and Colorado.
Featured highlight of the festivities will be ceremonial dancing by the Kiowa-Apache-Blackfoot Society Dancers of Fort Cobb, Okla. The group consists of 40 dancers, ranging in ages from 5 to 70.
Another highlight of afternoon festivities will be the selection of an Indian Princess. She will be chosen from the five tribes in the organization and will represent it at all official functions.
Guests of honor will be U.S. Representative Bob Price of Pampa; Georgeann Robinson, vice president of the National Congress of American Indians; and Mrs. Mamie Echo Hawk, president of the American War Mothers.
Also featured will be a style show presented by the War Mothers of Pawnee, Okla. The show will display Indian regalia and costumes, most of it historic and highly valued.
Mayor Jim Nation of Pampa will give the welcoming address and Jerald Sims, also of Pampa, will be master of ceremonies (See INDIANS, Page 3)

Poll Shows That Most Pampans Oppose Registration Of Firearms By Government

By JEFF HOLLADAY
Pampa News Staff Writer
A poll taken Saturday by the Pampa News indicated the great majority of Pampa citizens oppose registration of all firearms but are in favor of gun purchase limitations.
Opposition to any kind of law that would require registration of all firearms was particularly strong.
A frequent reaction was: "I'm flatly opposed to gun control. If this law passes, I am not going to register my gun and they're not going to get it."
Most felt that a law requiring registration of all firearms would have the effect of "disarming good citizens while letting others keep their guns." As one man put it:
"Let's face it, if any kind of gun registration law passed, only the good and decent citizens would abide by it and turn in their guns for registration. Criminals and some radical elements wouldn't turn in theirs, so why should I?"
Few felt, however, that any gun registration law would pass, and most felt that it would be ruled unconstitutional if it did.
Almost unanimously, though, those interviewed called for restrictions on gun purchases. They felt that criminals, persons under 21, and those with past histories of mental illness or a psychotic nature should not be allowed to purchase any kind of firearms. "And almost all felt that a waiting period for the purchase of arms was a good idea."
Both the Gray County sheriff's office and Pampa police reported no guns have been voluntarily "turned in" in the wake of the anti-gun "hysteria" following the assassination of Sen. Robert Kennedy. Nor is it likely to happen here, spokesmen for the law enforcement agencies added.

'Important' Message Is Promised Monday

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — In his first response to a new conciliatory stance by Russia, President Johnson called for an end to the nuclear arms race Saturday and promised he would have an "important" announcement for the nation and world on the subject next Monday.
The President picked a non-political atmosphere to again extend the olive branch. He spoke at the dedication of the new $30-million J. Percy Priest Dam, emphasizing that "along with peace in the world and progress at home, there is no legacy I would rather leave than a permanent program of conservation."
Apparent Reply
Johnson's comments on the arms race were in apparent reply to a speech by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko this week in which the Soviet statesman expressed Russia's willingness to begin preliminary talks on reducing its atomic arsenal, including the anti-ballistic missile system.
"It would be easy for the United States and the Soviet Union to continue on the present coores-piling weapon system upon weapon system-diverting billions upon billions of dollars, while adding nothing to the security of either side," Johnson declared.
"The time is now at hand," he said, "to find security in a more rational way. I hope to have more to say about this to the nation and the world on Monday, next."
The President is to sign a United Nations treaty at 11:30 a.m. Monday banning the spread of nuclear weapons. It's at this ceremony that he apparently intends to reveal the next step in efforts to end the arms buildup.
Johnson said the U.N. non-proliferation treaty is an achievement the administration has been working toward for more than four years.
"Along with the atmospheric test ban, it stands as a monument to the proposition that men are determined to control the danger of the nuclear age—not be destroyed by them."
"But more is required," he declared. "We must now turn to a task at least equally complex and difficult: to bring under control the nuclear arms race—in offensive and defensive weapons—in ways which do not endanger the security of the United States."
Brief Visit
The President was in the Tennessee city only about an hour and a half Saturday, arriving at 11:46 a.m. and returning to Washington at 1:12 p.m.
He appeared in a happy mood when he stepped from his big airplane (See PRESIDENT, Page 3)

Display Of Fireworks Is Set July 4th

Pampa's annual Independence Day Program will feature an elaborate fireworks display at the Rodeo Grounds on the evening of July 4th beginning at 9 o'clock.
The program committee, consisting of Kay Fancher, chairman, Jim Morris, Floyd Watson, Bud McVickers and Mack Hiatt, is now at work on program details to be announced soon.
The "super" fireworks display will be presented by the Burnett Fireworks Company of Enid, Okla., immediately following a brief patriotic program which will feature presentation of the colors, special entertainment, and a short patriotic address.
The Jaycees will provide traditional July 4th refreshment stands for the large crowd expected.
People from the Top o' Texas area are invited to attend this annual program which is sponsored by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, CoC representatives said Saturday.
Details of the program will be announced within the next few days.
Most Pampa business firms will be closed all day on the Fourth, which is one of the six legal holidays observed locally.

Only Three Days Left In Special 30-Day Session

By DAVID ANDERSON
AUSTIN (UPI) — With only three days left in its special 30-day session, the Texas Legislature has yet to solve any of its major problems—the 1969 budget, new taxes and liquor law reform.
If another special session is necessary, it will cost taxpayers about a half-million dollars, the cost of a month's meeting. The legislature's major accomplishment so far has been to furnish fuel for the Republican campaign fires of November. The Democrats dominate the legislature 172-9.
The appropriations bill is still in a conference committee that has settled the minor questions but has not faced up to the tough ones involving liquor control, law enforcement and higher education.
The tax bill, also in conference, is in very precarious position. A majority of the conferees appointed by Lt. Gov. Preston Smith and Speaker Ben Barnes are sales tax advocates, but the Senate turned down a sales tax increase once last week and might do so again.
Senate Says No
The Senate defeated liquor by the drink, and with it all the much-discussed liquor law reforms recommended by Gov. John Connally, a special legislative committee. Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin and the Texas Liquor Control Board itself.
The legislature's performance so far has given Republicans plenty to cheer about.
The state GOP and the staffs of statewide GOP candidates, led by gubernatorial hopeful Paul Eggers, have been taking careful notes on the Democrats' antics, particularly their apparent failure to follow through on all their talk about reforming liquor laws.
Democratic legislators have given the GOP some good quotes.
"Disgraceful, Disgrusting"
During the Senate tax debate last week, Sen. Grady Hazelwood of Amarillo told his colleagues their performance was "disgraceful, disgusting."
Sen. A. M. Alkin Jr. of Paris, the Senate dean, said "this has been the most irresponsible two days I have ever observed in all my years."
Sen. Charles Wilson of Lufkin broke the liberals' back when he voted against a natural gas tax increase, the first plank in his anti-sales tax platform. He told his colleagues he "had a problem" in legislative parlance (See LEGISLATURE, Page 3)

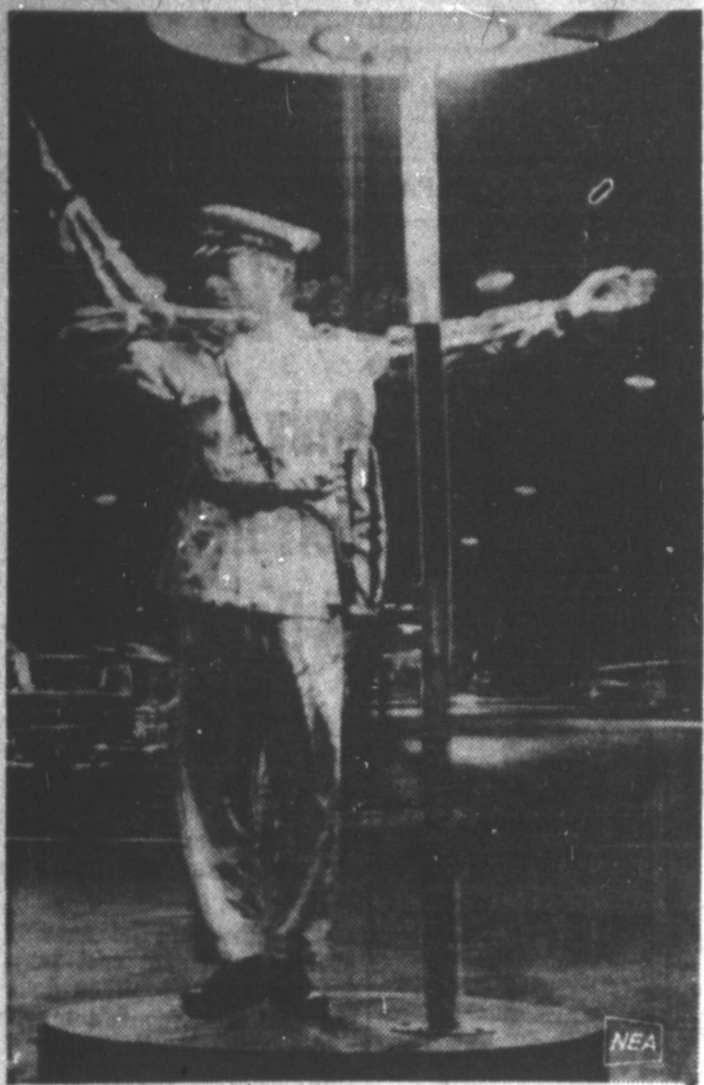

Humphrey Applauded In Oklahoma Speech

By United Press International
Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was interrupted by applause 32 times Saturday in the course of an hour-long speech in which he defended his performance in the Johnson administration.
In the Republican camp, Nelson A. Rockefeller sought to head off a Texas bolt to Richard M. Nixon by 56 Texas delegates to the GOP convention.
Humphrey addressed the Oklahoma State Democratic convention in Oklahoma City and received a one-minute standing ovation from the crowd of 2,000 when he declared:
"The most dangerous thing in politics is an insatiable quest for popularity. Popularity pollutes the lifeline of integrity, I have tried to be faithful and loyal as vice president. I think that's what you wanted me to do when you elected me vice president. Anyone who repudiates the government of which he has been a part in order to make votes is not the type of man who would keep his promises after the election."
Hold Conventions
Democratic state conventions were also under way Saturday in New Mexico, Iowa and North Dakota.
In other developments:
Rockefeller—The New Yorker planned to meet with Sen. John Tower, the favorite son candidate of Texas Republicans, hoping to convince him not to release the 56-man Texas delegation, which was expected (See HUMPHREY, Page 3)

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Janeway Service says "Realistic pros with the best track record for technical timing" are praying for news "bad enough" to bring on a corrective selloff. But, the market adviser says, "they're crossing their fingers and not betting against the pressure building up for a blowoff in the big stocks, led by the heretofore-tired blue chips."

Blair & Co. forecasts declines of 30 to 50 per cent in individual issues in the "not too-distant" future as speculative excesses are corrected. It advises aggressive accounts seeking capital appreciation on a shorter to intermediate term to accumulate cash reserves of at least 35 per cent in the weeks ahead.

Natural Gas Group Is In 'Reorganization'

United Press International The Independent Natural Gas Association of America is undergoing a reorganization which will improve its liaison with federal agencies and increase its lobbying power.

Howard Boyd of Houston, the INGAA president, said the board of directors planned to meet in Houston July 10 to work on the reorganization. The way already has been paved by making changes in the association's charter.

The revamping will be on two fronts — the election of vice presidents and the strengthening of the Washington staff. Instead of electing a first and second vice president, the members will choose three vice presidents—one from each segment of the industry—pipeline, distribution and production.

But the biggest change will be in Washington, where the INGAA has a staff of eight members which primarily is devoted to reporting changes to its members.

The reorganization may allow the INGAA to have a voice in these changes.

"INGAA wants to be more vocal in matters of general interest before Congress, the courts and federal agencies," Boyd said. "Although I don't like to use the word 'lobbying,' we will expect the Washington office to communicate helpful information to Congress so laws can be made with these facts before them."

He also said he expected the expanded staff to keep in constant contact with regulatory agencies such as the Federal Power Commission and the Department of Transportation, which Boyd said "was another agency that may be exercising authority over us."

"We have been doing this on a hit or miss basis or had people do an isolated job," Boyd said. "We think we will get a better performance if we have a fulltime staff. The pipeline industry is of sufficient maturity and sufficiently large that it ought to have a centralized source of information."

Boyd said the number of persons who will be added to the Washington staff has not been determined, but the INGAA budget of $262,000 may be tripled next year to finance the reorganization. He said this will be one of the many aspects discussed by the board.

The restructuring is the first in the 20-year history of the association. It comes after studies initiated 1 1/2 years ago have been completed.

Boyd, who is president and chairman of the board of El Paso Natural Gas Co., said the new structure would take some of the pressure off INGAA officers. Much of the work they handled previously will be assumed by the additional employees.

"In times past, some of these people have had to decide between their company and an INGAA project," Boyd said. "That wasn't fair."

The INGAA is a big-league operation now and it plans on letting congressmen and others know it.

Center Wrap-Up

George Smith, Director
Pampa Youth and Community Center

SWIM LESSONS—The Center is in the process of teaching summer swim lessons and will start a new session Monday. The Center teaches swim lessons the year around and has the only indoor pool in this part of the Texas Panhandle. Unfortunately for the late comers, we have very few Center swim lessons available for they have been taken through enrollment earlier. The only class left is the Advanced Beginners from 10 until 11 a.m. on July 29-Aug. 9. Other classes will be offered in September and we will enroll for these starting July 1.

All Center lessons are taught by Jackie Marlar, Red Cross Water Safety Ins. She is one of the outstanding teachers of the Texas Panhandle and this shows in the great demand we have for her services. Lessons during the summer are from 9-12 and during the school year from 4-6. Enrollment is free to Center members and $4 to non-members. Memberships are always available.

The Syndicate of Sound will put on a show from 8-11 p.m. This group is the one who had the million record seller, "Hey, Little Girl," and are big-time recorders. Advance tickets will be $1.50 and at the door, $1.75. Tickets will go on sale July 1 at the Youth Center. Other bands and their dates are: July 5, Buddy and the Bums; July 12, T y m e; July 19, Impact Society; July 26, Rockin Mods; August 9, Jerry and the Pacers; and August 16, The Cords.

Red Cross News

By LIBBY SHOTWELL, Gray County Director

—There are still two more sessions of the Red Cross Learn-to-Swim Program. These are July 1-13 and July 15-26. Offered at this time are polytechnic beginners who are at least 45-inches tall to the chin, advanced beginners, adult beginners, intermediates, swimmers and the Jr. and Sr. Life Saving Course. All these lessons are $1 and you must come by the Center to enroll. All lessons are taught at the Center pool, which is indoors.

WOMEN'S SWIM TIME — The Center sponsors a women's swim time each Monday and Friday afternoons and is divided into two classes. If you want to exercise before swimming, you need to come at 3:45 p.m. For swimming only you need to come at 4:15 p.m. You may participate in one or both of these classes. Participation is by membership and they are available at all times.

MEMBERSHIPS — The Center is run on a membership basis or a daily fee payment plan. The most economical plan is the membership plan for individuals and families. The daily fee is 25 cents for children under 12 years of age; 50 cents for 12 and above while adults are charged 75 cents.

The individual membership is for those people who are 8 years of age or older, including adults and costs $5 for six months and $8 per year. The reason for the 8 year limit is because a child must have a chaperone with him in the pool to swim if he is not at least 8 years of age. The family membership, which includes all members of the immediate family, costs $12 for six months and $20 per year. To purchase any of these memberships you need only come by the Center front office, pay your dues and membership cards will be issued.

The first two weeks of the Red Cross swim program is over and although it has been a cold two weeks, the boys and girls have worked hard and have progressed well. At the City Pool the following completed their beginner swimming class and swam in the deep water for their instructor. Instructor Judy Fugate taught the beginner class and passed Rhonda Adams, Bryan Campbell, Neal Crawford, Nancy Gates, Debra Sue Kirby, David Sadler, Jay Osborne, and Ken Cook. The other beginner class was taught by Martha and Jack Hilton and they passed the following pupils; Dora Bischof, Beth Elliott, Rae Lynne Stone, Cheryl Hilton, Dwight Dalrymple and Dwayne Dalrymple.

Gretchen Osborne taught the Advanced Beginner Class with Debra Loper, Teresa Campbell, Tommy Adams, Rhonda Mangham, Becky Thompson, Joe Engel, and Mitch Tollison completing the advanced beginner class.

The intermediate class was taught by Judy Fugate and she passed Jimmy Best, Allen Elliott, Cynthia Ray Knox and Teddy M. Knox. These boys and girls learned the proper kick that goes with the stroke and the strokes for swimming.

Martha Hilton taught the swimmer class where the boys and girls swam 100 yards. She passed the following: Mary Gesting, Phillip Mangham and Becky Thompson.

At the Youth Center pool Jackie Marlar taught the intermediate and swimmer class at one hour and the advanced beginner class at the 2nd hour. She passed the following in intermediate swimming: Beverly Bradford, Ronnie Haidbrecht, Michael Lancaster and Cal Wylie. The advanced beginner class with Jill Ferrell, Vickie McKay, Kathy McKay, Cynthia Williams, Mark Harris Mrs. Guy Bowers, Mark Sells, Gloria Dumas and Jane Harris.

Randy Reed and Mark Williams have passed the swimmer class at youth center pool. Mrs. Marlar gave the tests for the beginner group taught by Mrs. Hoyt Phillips with the following passing the tests: Eddie Brown, Stephenie Fontenot, Paul Harris, Kent Sells and Arney Turner.

Monday morning the 2nd session of the swim program will begin at both pools. Instructors at the City Pool will be Mrs. Carl Williams who will teach the intermediate and the swimmer class with Judy Fugate teaching the advanced beginner group, and Gretchen Osborne working with the beginner group. At the Youth Center Pool, Mrs. Wayne Jones will teach the intermediate and Swimmer group and Mrs. Jackie Marlar will teach the younger group in beginner swimming.

There are still some places in the July 15th classes at the City Pool only if persons will hurry and come to the Red

the Drama of DRUGS

by Tom Beard

Unless the number of graduates from medical and dental schools is substantially increased in the near future, the United States faces a serious shortage of dentists and physicians.

At present there are 141 physicians for 100,000 people. At the present rate the ratio will be 133 to 100,000 by 1975.

One of the reasons for this is the decline in the number of qualified applicants to medical schools. Fewer and fewer of our brighter young people are going into the field of medicine.

Important factors in this drop-off are the long training period, high educational costs, and lack of income during the training period.

Many experts believe that the only answer to the problem is direct aid to medical and dental education.

Richard Drug helps you by keeping complete stocks of fresh medicines. Also the skilled, licensed pharmacists merit your confidence.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) — If you look up those you have had and seen in some time they will gladly help you with present problems. Tell them what is in your mind. Stop being so close-mouthed. You do talking but do not do anything.
AQUARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — You have to look up those prominent people you know in words of a few sentences. They take care of that one matter with this leads to bigger things.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — You want to expand your contacts and would do well to contact prominent persons who can give you the right knowledge. Show that you have real ambition. Do not be discouraged by one who is a person of you.

Indians Pay High Price For 'Benefits' Of Civilization

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The American Indian has paid, and is still paying, a high price in terms of disease for whatever benefits "civilization" has forced upon him.

This was brought out in paper after paper recently at a conference on "Biomedical Challenges Presented by the American Indian" at the Pan American Health organization.

It hasn't been just a matter of white man's germs, though these have killed Indians by the many thousands in the centuries since the Spanish conquest.

It has been a matter also of the white man's ways—such as the practice of eating regularly—and their effect upon constitutions unaccustomed to them.

The conference, attended by scientists from six Latin American nations and the United States, was sponsored jointly by the Pan American Health Organization and the International Biological Program (IBP).

Dr. James V. Neel of the University of Michigan Medical School, chairman of the conference, said that "Ours is the last generation of scientists that will be able to study the quickly disappearing examples of primitive man" for the light they throw on human evolution, and adaptability to environmental conditions.

A systematic study of the Pima Indian tribe on the Gila River reservation near Phoenix, Ariz., has disclosed a "fantastic amount" of gall bladder disease, a constitutional ailment, according to Dr. Thomas A. Burch of the National Institute of Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases at Phoenix. Why? The scientists can only conjecture at present. But one fact stands out: During most of their past Indian tribes lived under feast or famine conditions of the hunting and gathering period of primitive man.

Now they eat regularly, and like most other Americans, they eat too much. The Pimas generally, the scientists said, are obese.

Foreign News Commentary

For 59 year-old Giovanni Leone it could be a long hot summer indeed.

Leone, a short, stocky man with a friendly disposition, has been given the unenviable job of heading a weak caretaker Italian government which in ensuing months must push through a sweeping educational reform if it is to avoid further student disorders in the fall; pass a budget for 1969, and survive, if it can, predictable Communist labor agitation.

It is a government drawn entirely from his own party, the Christian Democrats, Italy's largest party but a minority which must depend either upon the support or the abstentions of the Socialists of Pietro Nenni.

The Socialists withdrew from their five-year coalition with the Christian Democrats after they May election losses which they blamed on failure of the center-left coalition to carry out promised reforms.

A Coalition For nearly 10 years Italian governments have been based on first an "opening to the left" and, beginning in 1963, an outright coalition between the Christian Democrats and the Nenni Socialists, who for 16 years had been in the opposition.

That same coalition remains for practical purposes the only one possible for Italy. When the center-left government of Aldo Moro took over on Nov. 7, 1963, in coalition with the Socialists it promised widespread reform. Included were reforms of agriculture, taxes, social security and education.

Some of these were accomplished. But mounting inflation

WHAT A SPARKLER for the Fourth of July! It's fireworks time year-round with this automatic welder at Goodyear's Akron, Ohio plant. Sparks come from a 440-volt system that automatically welds across 12 inches of 3/4-inch-thick steel in less than 20 seconds.

and political filibustering delayed others, including educational reform.

The delays cost the Socialists heavily in votes. This, then, led to the problems which the Italians must solve before they can regain government stability.

A disturbing one is educational reform. Before the Moro government fell it appropriated $13 million for a building program to help accommodate a student enrollment which had multiplied three or four times since World War II.

It is a figure less than half that spent by many American universities by themselves in the recent years of expansion.

ESPIONAGE TRIAL WARSAW (UPI)—A Polish-born sailor who is a West German citizen is being tried here on charges of working for U.S. intelligence and helping recruit Polish seamen for espionage activities. The Polish news agency Pp said Wednesday Peter Pawelczyk, 39, denied the treason charge and said his work for U.S. intelligence was a way of serving his German homeland. A Polish sailor allegedly recruited by Pawelczyk also is being tried.

1969 Wheat Crop The 1969-crop wheat program has been announced by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and features a national allotment of 51.6 million acres, down 13 percent from '68. Diversion payments at the Maximum rate authorized by law will be offered to farmers for planting less than their acreage allotment and diverting this land to conserving uses. Details on the program are or soon will be available from county ASCS offices.

THE LIGHTER SIDE Helpful Hints

By DICK WEST WASHINGTON (UPI)—Most of my favorite publications carry handy-helpful-household-hint columns. Which is one reason why they are my favorite publications.

Like many householders, I live in a perpetual state of perplexity and-or bewilderment, and I will grasp at any straw that might help me cope with my environment.

For instance, the current issue of one of my favorite national magazines has a column of hints on the car and maintenance of garden hoses.

(Anyone who thinks that garden hoses can take care of themselves is living in a fool's paradise.)

Hose Hazard The first item on the list I'll swear I'm not making this up, advises householders to avoid running over garden hoses with lawn mowers.

This struck me as being such a sage piece of advice I clipped it out and pasted it on the handle of my lawn mower so I would be sure to remember it.

1969 Wheat Crop The 1969-crop wheat program has been announced by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and features a national allotment of 51.6 million acres, down 13 percent from '68. Now I'm on the lookout for a column of hints on the care and maintenance of lawn mowers. The first item, I imagine, will caution against running lawn mowers over garden hoses.

Although there are few areas around a house when I am able to claim any sort of expertise, I do happen to know quite a bit about the care and maintenance of bird baths.

(Most of this knowledge was gained through bitter experience.)

Not Easy Matter One simply does not put a bird bath in one's yard and forget about it. Not if one expects it to operate with maximum efficiency and durability.

Here are a few hints that might be helpful to anyone who has been having bird bath problems:

1. Avoid placing the bird bath near the driveway, particularly if your wife has trouble entering the car in reverse.
2. After you have gotten the right rear fender of the car repaired, move the bird bath to the opposite side of the house.
3. Avoid putting the bird bath in any part of the yard where you might be walking after dark.
4. After your broken leg has healed, paint the bird bath with a phosphorescent paint.
5. Make certain the bird bath has a drain hole and that the plug is removed. Otherwise, it will fill up with rainwater and you will have a bunch of dirty birds hanging around your house.

MODERN PATROL CARS of the Texas Department of Public Safety will be cruising Texas highways in full force over the long July 4th weekend. Trained and experienced officers of the DPS will render assistance, promote a safe and smooth flow of traffic and enforce the law.

CALLS BRITONS FAT

THE BRITISH ISLES — (UPI)—A Welsh surgeon said Saturday the British public is "too fat, too lethargic and smokes too much." Dr. R.J. Williams told the British Medical Association a national "keep-fit campaign" was needed. He said poor eating habits, lack of exercise, venereal disease and absence of proper immunizations were causing "grave harm" to the public health.

COMMAND PERFORMANCE

MANILA (UPI)—Strip-teaser Teresita Reyes, 18, has told police investigators she and another girl performed before a mixed audience of armed jail guards and convicts at the Manila city Jail three weeks ago, it was reported Saturday. Police authorities said they were investigating charges of irregularities in the city jail involving both inmates and their police guards.

POISON-IVY IS AN ITCHY PROBLEM

The itch that follows exposure may be acquired at any time, but the peak of poison-ivy, poison-oak, or poison sumac is in the spring. The poisonous sap may reach directly to the skin, by contact with the plant, or later on by way of handled shoes, clothing, tools or domestic animals.

Poison-ivy symptoms begin to appear one or two days after contact. Some people are unusually sensitive and few are entirely immune. We have some poison-ivy lotions which usually offer quick relief and we can help you choose a good product. When the eruptions are unusually severe or cover most of the body, consult your physician.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Have You Seen this Horse?

Grey and white appaloosa pony, 10-12 years old

This horse was purchased at Clovis, N.M., about Feb. 15, 1965 by an individual living near Pampa, Texas, for his granddaughter.

The former owner, Cynthia St. Clair, would like to see her former horse very much.

Goodrich Named Transwestern's New President

HOUSTON — B. D. Goodrich, president of Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation, was elected president, chief executive officer and a director of Transwestern Pipeline Company, of Houston, at a meeting of the Transwestern board of directors.
 Goodrich replaces Basil P. Kantzer, who has resigned as president and a director of Transwestern to work for Texas Eastern as a consultant in oil and gas exploration.
 "We are fortunate," Goodrich said, "to be able to retain the services of Kantzer to assist us in our worldwide search for oil and natural gas. Kantzer's career spans some 34 years in the industry, the major portion of which was spent in oil and gas exploration and production," Goodrich pointed out.
 Transwestern is a subsidiary of Texas Eastern, acquired by the company in 1967. Transwestern is a major supplier of natural gas to Pacific Lighting Service and Supply Company in California, and Cities Service Gas Company which serves gas consumers in Oklahoma and Kansas. Transwestern presently operates 2,580 miles of natural gas pipeline with a total of 160,550 compressor horsepower.

Oilman In Call For Limiting Flow Of Imported Crude to US

(Editor's Note: The following is the text of a statement by Don Watson, president of the Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners Association, before the House Ways and Means Committee in Washington, D.C., Thursday. A hearing by the committee was held on tariff and trade proposals.)
 "Mr. Chairman, Members of the Committee, I am Donald Watson of Amarillo, Texas, helium capital of the world. As President of the Producers and Royalty Owners Association, I represent 415 independent producers and royalty owners of the Texas Panhandle. Since oil was found in the Panhandle in the early 1920's Independents have been the backbone of the industry in this locale.
 "I know that most of you are familiar with our geographic location, which comprises 26 counties in the Panhandle. Seventeen of these have oil and/or gas production. In 1967, the Texas Panhandle alone produced over one trillion cubic feet of gas; and in area extent — the Panhandle-Hugoton gas field is the largest gas field in the world. 13,000-plus wells have accounted for cumulative production through 1967 of 1,199, 666, 000 barrels of oil. As you can well imagine, the economy of our area is most dependant on the petroleum industry. We have asked to present a brief report concerning the present condition of the petroleum industry in the Panhandle of Texas.
 "During the last ten-year period, our petroleum reserves have declined from 318 million to 275 million barrels. Our production of crude oil is 6 million barrels-a-year less than it was 10 years ago. Last year we produced 33 million barrels of oil and discovered 17 million barrels of new reserves. This is a deficit of 16 million barrels.
 "Our drilling program over the same 10-year period follows the same negative pattern. In Texas Railroad Commission District 10, the Texas Panhandle, there were 1,307 field wells drilled in 1958. In succeeding years, 1,248; 1,043; 1,185; 1,030; 921; 887; 805; 590 and in the year 1967, 499. 1967 is down 62 per cent from 1958. Wildcat wells, or those drilled outside any known field, were 118 in 1958, and 31 in 1967. Oil well completions were down from 725 in 1958 to 229 in 1967 — or a decline of 69 per cent.
 "There still remain huge basins which are geologically favorable for exploration in our region. Unless adequate incentives exist for the independent producer, they will remain unexplored. If proven reserves can be discovered in this new area to reverse the trend of present declining reserves, we could again offer the nation an ample supply of hydrocarbons during any national emergency.
 "Our Association feels that the most effective act that can be initiated to check the general deterioration of the domestic petroleum industry in the Panhandle of Texas is for Congress to enact legislation limiting the flow of imported crude to 12.2 per cent of our domestic production, as proposed in Senate bill 2332.
 "We feel that the present Mandatory Oil Import Program has failed to achieve its original objectives. The special exemptions and loopholes have damaged industry and are a threat to our national security. We urge that this program be returned to its original intent.
 "In closing, I would like to state that our Association supports the testimony given to this Commission by the Independent Petroleum Association of America."

Dave Stockton Fires 67 To Take Cleveland Lead

PEON'S HAPPY BURDEN

Young Golfer Seeks First Win Of Season

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Nerveless Dave Stockton withstood the pressure of three strong challenges Saturday to shoot a four-under-par 67 to take a two-stroke lead at the third round mark of the $110,000 Cleveland Open.

Stockton, a 26-year-old son of a former golf pro, started the round two strokes behind George Archer, but battled his way into the lead on the back nine with a steady putter. Stockton, in the rough on at least three of his last six holes, relied on his iron game and putting to fight his way to the top.

The Californian stood at nine under par 204, two strokes better than Argentina's Roberto de Vicenzo and Bobby Cole of South Africa after three rounds over the 6,742-yard Lakewood Country Club course.

Archer, who led the second round by one stroke, battled an attack of flu and finished the round with a one-under-par 72. He then announced he was withdrawing from the tournament and flying home to Gilroy, Calif.

Also at six-under-par 207 with Archer was Don January. At minus-five were little Dave Marr, rookie Bob Dickson and Tommy Aaron, all with a good shot at the title in Sunday's final round.

Stockton, aiming for his first victory this year, started his round with an eight-foot putt for a birdie and on the fourth green rapped in a 15-foot birdie putt to dip seven under par for the tournament.

His only bogey came on the tough 17th hole where he hit two shots into the rough, then missed a short putt for a five on the 460-yard hole. He recovered on the final hole, however, by dropping an eight-foot birdie putt to finish with a 67.

Hayes, Chaney Will Return To Astrodome

HOUSTON (UPI) — Ben Kerner, former owner of the St. Louis Hawks, announced this week he plans to hold a National Basketball Association doubleheader in the Houston Astrodome next Feb. 4.

The games would match the Boston Celtics against the San Diego Rockets and the Detroit Pistons against the Cincinnati Royals.

The doubleheader would also bring back two former University of Houston stars—Elvin Hayes and Don Chaney—to the Astrodome. Hayes has signed with the Rockets and Chaney will play with the Celtics.

Kerner said he was staging the games because he thought Houston was a good basketball city and the Astrodome is one of the finest sports arenas anywhere.

REDS TOP YANKEES
MOSCOW (UPI)—The United States Olympic basketball team lost its second straight game to the Soviet Union Friday night, 91-80.

The Americans dropped their last encounter with the Russians 91-83 after defeating the Soviets 84-78 in their first meeting last week.

Reds Blank Giants, 5-0

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Gary Nolan, fully recovered from arm trouble, backed his four-hit pitching Saturday with a three-run homer which helped carry the Cincinnati Reds to a 5-0 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

The sturdy righthander, who started the season at the Reds Tampa club in the Florida State League because of arm miseries, teed off for his first major league homer in the seventh inning after Tommy Helms had doubled with two out and Woody Woodward drew an intentional walk.

Junior Golfers Practice Putting, Chip Shots

The Junior High golf team, now practicing at the Pampa Country Club, held a putting and a chipping contest this week.

Winners in the 36 hole putting contest with a par 72 were Greg White (71), Pat Casey (72), Joe Lamberson (76) and Bruce Brown (76). White is in the ninth grade while the other three golfers are in the eighth grade.

Winners in the chipping contest were Randy Stephens, who hit one of his three balls four feet from the pole; David Hall (5 feet), Donnie Cain (10 feet) and Curtis Heard (13 feet). All are eighth graders with the exception of Heard, a ninth grader.

The chipping contest featured a pole 85 yards away hitting into a high wind with three balls. The closest was Stephen's hit which came within four feet.

Next practice is Tuesday morning at the Pampa Country Club at 8 a.m.

Eural Ramsey, head golf coach, said that "all boys have shown a great interest and have improved by hard work involved in practice."

The cooperation of the members of the Pampa Country Club and the school system have made the junior golf program possible, Ramsey said.

Ramsey gave special thanks to Hart Warren, head professional, for his instructions for the boys.

Cubs Edge Cards

CHICAGO (UPI)—Ron Santo's three-run homer climaxed a six-run sixth-inning rally Saturday that enabled the Chicago Cubs to snap a seven-game losing streak with a 10-8 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals.

It was the Cubs' first victory after five straight losses to the Cardinals, who also had a six-run rally, and only their second win in their last 14 games.

SAWYER TO SCOUT

KANSAS CITY (UPI)—Eddie Sawyer, former Philadelphia Phillies manager, will be a full-time scout for the Kansas City Royals of the American League in 1969.

Sawyer managed the Phils from 1948-1953 and again for two days of the 1958 season.

BROWN BROUGHT UP

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Righthander Paul Brown has been purchased by the Philadelphia Phillies from their Reading, Pa., farm team in the Eastern League.

Brown, 27, will take the place of Rick Wise, who is in the reserves, for two weeks.

Unseeded Amateurs Score Stunning Tennis Upsets

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI)—Clark Graebner of New York and Tom Edlefsen of Berkeley, Calif., two unseeded amateurs, scored a pair of stunning upsets Saturday to lead a five-man American charge into the fourth round of the Wimbledon tennis championships.

Graebner, playing some of the best tennis of his life, beat sixth-seeded Manuel Santana of Spain, the 1966 champion, by 9-7, 6-2, 6-1. Edlefsen, virtually overlooked on the U.S. team, came back from the brink of defeat to oust 14th-seeded Cliff Drysdale of South Africa 9-7, 4-6, 1-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Also winning their way into the last 16 were professionals Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., and Earl Buchholz of St. Louis, Mo., and amateur Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va.

Third-seeded Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex., Mary Ann Eisel of St. Louis and Stephanie DeFina of Hollywood, Fla., led the U.S. women contingent as they advanced to the third round.

Miss Richey, helped re-write Wimbledon history with her 6-1, 6-3 victory over Helen Amos of WASHINGTON (UPI)—Mike Epstein hit a two-run homer and Frank Howard set a club record by hitting the 100th homer of his career with Washington Saturday powering the Senators to an 8-2 victory over the California Angels.

Epstein hit his second homer in as many games and his fourth of the season after a single by Howard in the fifth inning to give the Senators a 5-1 lead and Howard connected for his 25th of the season with none on in the sixth. Both blows were off reliever Jim Weaver, who took over after Sammy Ellis was tagged for three runs in four innings.

Houston Firm Sports New Baseball Museum

By PHILIP WHITE JR.
HOUSTON (UPI) — A museum in a furniture store? You're kidding. And a baseball museum no less.
The same thoughts must have run through the minds of S. P. (Sammy) Finger and A. L. (Aron) Finger, owners of Finger's Furniture Center in Houston, when the idea first came to mind.
But the Fingers had purchased the land formerly occupied by historic Buff Stadium, which was razed in 1961 after 33 years of baseball-filled days. The spacious Finger Furniture Center was constructed on the site.
Being great baseball fans, the Fingers decided it would be appropriate to erect some sort of a memorial on the site of home plate of Buff Stadium, a site now occupied by couches, beds and dressers.
On Wednesday, the Houston Baseball museum was officially dedicated in the basement of that furniture store.
Inside the museum, which opens to the public July 1, the Arthur M. Meyer collection of autographed baseballs is nicely displayed and explained. Meyer, one of baseball's most devoted fans, rarely missed a game in old Buff Stadium since its opening in 1928.
His collection houses autographed baseballs from practically every member of the Hall of Fame and from three presidents of the U.S. The museum also sports special mementoes

Record Enrollment Predicted By Exec

AUSTIN (UPI) — The executive vice president of the Texas High School Coaches Association Thursday predicted a record enrollment of about 4,900 for the association's 36th annual coaches school in Fort Worth next month.
L. W. McConachie said advance registration for the school is running well ahead of last year's pace and his office will stop taking them on July 19.
"As of now, we have processed 1,189 registrants compared with 1,083 at this time last year," McConachie said. "It looks like we will pass last year's total figure of 4,814 at San Antonio and threaten the 4,900 mark."

Unruly Detroit Fans Force Outfielder From Position

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UPI) — Nobody would ever call Ken Harrelson a chicken.
Nobody who knows anything about him would ever call him that.
Here's a guy who has done it all. You name it, he did it. Souped-up racing cars; rough, tough elbow-in-the-kidney football on the sandlots; bare knuckle fist fighting. The whole bit.

In Savannah, Ga., where he grew up, they still tell a lot of Ken Harrelson stories. One of the stories they tell has to do with the time he happened to be in the same restaurant as the town bully.

The town bully made an ungentleman-like remark about a woman sitting in the restaurant and Ken Harrelson told him he should apologize because that wasn't very nice. Instead of apologizing, the guy repeated the remark. Only louder.

A slight disagreement resulted. The kind John Wayne made famous in his movies when he was younger and in better shape.

Ken Harrelson wound up with a busted nose but you should've seen the other guy. He looked like the Green Bay Packers ran carrying a grudge. The town bully lost his appetite for awhile. Nobody ever saw him back in that restaurant again.

The incident is offered as evidence that Ken Harrelson ordinarily doesn't back down. But he backed down the other night in Detroit.

He backed down because he didn't care to take a chance on losing an eye or possibly having part of his head blown off. He backed down because he had good sense. He backed down because, well, what else do you expect any man to do when he finds himself hemmed in by a band of maniacs who should be in an institution rather than in a ballpark?

At Mercy Of Crowd
Those Detroit "Fans" who made Harrelson back down last week had him at their mercy. They had him with his back to them in right field. And in that position they threw cherry bombs at him. Cherry bombs that can blind a man or rip huge chunks of flesh from his body.

A plea was made over the public address system at Tiger Stadium but it did little good. Neither did a threat by the umpires that the game would be forfeited to Boston.

Ken Harrelson didn't wish to lose one of his eyes or maybe both. So he didn't go back out to his normal right field position in the bottom of the ninth. He stood behind second base instead.

"I wasn't about to go out there again," says Harrelson. "It was just a few people up there in right field but they behaved worse than animals."

Neither does the Detroit management or the Tiger players.
"We're embarrassed," confesses Detroit pitcher Denny McLain. "Some people pay a buck and a half and they think they can do or say anything they like. Fortunately, these kind of people make up only a small part of our hometown crowd. All Detroit fans aren't like that I assure you."

throwing beer bottles at Reggie Smith in center field. I looked around for a cop but I couldn't find one.

"I remember another incident in Detroit last year," adds Harrelson. "It was during our pennant drive late in the season. Someone threw an iron bolt at me from the upper deck. It could've gone through my skull. I don't see anything funny about that."

The Sporting News, baseball's bible, carried an editorial on the McLain episode and captioned it, "A Fan Or Lunatic?" But Detroit isn't the only place afflicted.
Hurlers of cherry bombs and other assorted fireworks occasionally make Yankee Stadium in New York sound like a downtown Saigon and other parts report similar periodic disturbances.
Nor is this idiocy confined to haven't been the only targets. baseball. Only last Sunday 70 soccer fans were crushed or trampled to death in Buenos Aires because some fugitive drove up to a service station for gasoline and the attendant found a small bomb wired to the ignition of the car.

"If it had gone off when my wife was driving at high speed, she and the baby could have been killed," says McLain.

The prime question about such behavior always is why? Psychologists say it is all a form of identification, and that this is how some frustrated fans identify themselves with the athletes.

If that's the case, then maybe it's better to remain one of those shy, quiet 97-pound weaklings you always see on the back of magazines.

BACK SPIN—Oregon State's Dick Fosbury, who high jumps with his back against the bar, recently set the NCAA Track and Field Championships high jump record with a leap of 7-2 1/4. His winning vault cracked the mark set by John Thomas of Boston University in 1961. On the attempt shown, Fosbury's heel kicked the bar as he tried to clear 7 feet, 3 1/4, one-half inch less than the American record.

Lumbermen Win Babe Ruth Loop

The Pampa Lumbermen captured first place in the final standings of the Babe Ruth League by defeating the Pampa Jaycees, 8-2, in baseball action Friday night.

Winning pitcher was Jeff Hogan. Losing hurler was Dale Ammons. Leading hitter for the winners was Joe Foster, who had 3 for 5.

Ideal Foods took second place after forfeiting a protested game to First National Bank. The Babe Ruth board of directors ruled on the protested game after the First National manager protested that Ideal had used an illegal pitcher. The protest was ruled in favor of First National Bank.

Ideal blasted Pampa Jaycees, 15-5, as Randy Marsh hurled the win. Losing pitcher was Chuck Sexton. Leading hitter for the winners was Steve Flowers, who had 2 for 2 at bat.

Carts Replace Caddies In Pampa

Hart Warren, head professional at the Pampa Country Club golf course, said Saturday that the "local club has not used caddies since golf carts were introduced in 1961.

"We use caddies for tournaments such as the recent West Texas Men's Golf Tournament but we have no regular caddies for the Country Club."

Eural Ramsey, in charge of the caddies during the recent West Texas Men's Golf tournament, said a total of 65 caddies worked during the four day event here.

The golfers, he said, were high in praise of the local caddies.

"I was pleased with the turnout and the attitude of the caddies," Ramsey said.

Three more tournaments are scheduled at the Pampa Country Club this summer and they all will require caddies, Ramsey said.

Those desiring to caddy during these upcoming tournaments should contact Hart Warren for assignments.

Ramsey reported that the caddies received at least $4.00 a round from their assigned golfer during the West Texas golf event. Most received $5.00 a round, Ramsey said.

Caddies at the Men's West Texas tournament were Pat McKinney, Jim Pepper, Chris Brandon, Terry Washington, D.

Warner, Joe Lamberson, Steve Bailey, Doug White, Ricky Musgrave, Bill Simmons and Mike Redell.

Also included as caddies were Donnie Cain, John McCarroll, Randy Stevens, Wayne Ramsey, Chip Taylor, Shane Lee, Curtis Heard, David Irwin, Randy Specht, Jim Corraut, A. J. Brewer, Bud Fussell, Gene Carlson, Charlie Bunnard, Bruce Brown, Tom Watson and Leslie Harris.

Also included were Barry Smith, David Hall, George Barry, Eugene Hapeman, Jerry George, Marsh Gamblin, Greg White, Pat Casey, Butch Wilkerson, Coiz Free, Mark Hudson, Curtis Thornton, Larry McPhillip, Mike Soukup, Ray Lockhart, and Steve Atchley.

defrocked Clay after his conviction on refusal to be inducted into the Armed Forces.

The year before, Terrell and Doug Jones had met in a heavyweight title bout in Houston, but it was not in the Astrodome.

Welterweight champion Curtis Cokes of Dallas won his title in New Orleans in one of that city's major boxing shows in recent years and as a result boxing revived somewhat in Dallas with Cokes defending his championship there against Francois Pavilla and Jean Josselin in 1967 and against Willie Ludick this year.

None of the Dallas promotions was a whopping success financially, but the groundwork had been laid for possible future successes. There is no regular schedule of boxing planned for Dallas, however.

That isn't true in at least three other cities in Texas. Houston has boxing shows every two to three weeks; at Beaumont shows are staged every other Tuesday, and at Corpus Christi they are held once a month.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We are the money for me to fly home several times as she wants to see me and her new grandson. My husband wouldn't hear of it. He says he doesn't want me going home unless he can go with me.

When the boys want to work out in the yard with their father, this old man comes out and talks to them. If they're planting flowers, he is right there, telling them how to do it. If I happen to be outside sitting with friends, he comes out and joins us.

My daughters cannot even sun themselves without this old man coming out to sit with them. Abby, I hate to seem mean, but who needs an old man following you around and inviting himself over every time you go outside?

My husband does not have the nerve to say anything to him, but if you tell me I should do it, I will.

PESTERED DEAR PESTERED: The poor old gentleman is lonely, and he could also be getting a bit childish in his declining years, so be kind to him. Tell him, gently, that you and your family need a little more privacy. He may forget from time to time, but be patient, and remind him. One day, you, too, may be old and lonely.

UNDECIDED DEAR UNDECIDED: I think your husband is selfish and unreasonable. I am just about ready to go anyway, but I hate to do it. What is your advice!

DEAR ABBY: My husband is in the army and we are stationed 1,800 miles from home. My mother has offered to send

Miss Carolyn Sue Chaney Exchanges Vows with Homer Earl Lester

SKELLYTOWN (Spl) — First Baptist Church of Skellytown was the setting for the June 14 wedding of Miss Carolyn Sue Chaney and Homer Earl Lester of Skellytown. Elder W. Franklin Hardy performed the double-ring evening ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. John F. Chaney Jr. and the late Mattie Lou Chaney. Mr. Lester is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam T. Lester of Skellytown.

Vows were exchanged by candlelight from six seven-branched candelabra entwined with garlands of salal foliage. Baskets of white gladioli and white daisies were flanked by the candelabras. Centering the nuptial scene was a white wrought iron prie dieu at which the couple knelt to exchange nuptial vows.

BRIDE Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of peau de soie designed with crescent waistline covered with Chantilly lace and seed pearls. The dress was accented with a modified scoop neckline and long sleeves which tapered to long puffed points over the hands.

Back interest was formed with a wateau chapel train with appliques of lace. A coil of pearls and illusion shaped as leaves held an elbow-length veil of French silk illusion with a border of scalloped Chantilly lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses and a white orchid corsage atop a white Bible.

ATTENDANTS Miss Gaye Allen of Skellytown served as maid of honor. Miss Margaret Landgraf, Madill, Okla., cousin of the bride, and Miss Vicki Mercer, Skellytown, served as bridesmaids.

They were dressed identically in floor-length gowns of yellow satin with yellow daisy headpieces. The feminine attendants carried cascading arrangements of white daisies and ivy.

Thomas Lester, Shamrock, served his brother as best man. Groomsman were Richard D. Mills, brother-in-law of the bridegroom and George Johnson of Idalou, cousin of the bridegroom.

Serving as ushers and seating the guests were Johnny and Mike Chaney, both brothers of the bride.

Miss Louann Landgraf, of Madill, Okla., a cousin of the bride, served as flower girl, with Sammy Mills, the bridegroom's nephew, carrying the rings to the bridal pair.

Altar candles were lighted by Rhonda Jackson of Floydada, a cousin of the bridegroom and Tommie Chaney, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Edith Beigle provided a medley of nuptial music on the organ and served as accompanist for Butch Rogers, as he sang "More" and "The Wedding Prayer," as the couple knelt for the benediction.

Pews were decorated with large yellow satin ribbon bows with green lemon leaves.

RECEPTION A reception was held in the church parlor immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table was appointed with a white crocheted lace cloth over yellow. Mrs. Richard Mills, and Miss Nancy Lester, sisters of the bridegroom, presided at the punch and cake service. Miss Becky McBrayer, White Deer, was guest registrar. Guests were served from a three-tiered wedding cake with cupid pillars supporting each tier-which were decorated with yellow roses and sugar wedding bells. The cake was scalloped around the edges and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom standing under a heart-shaped arch.

Appointments on the bride's table were completed with an arrangement of white gladioli and white daisies in a crystal bowl.

For the wedding trip to Mexico, the bride traveled in a yellow and white A-line dress with white accessories and the orchid corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet.

Miss Paulette Boissenett distributed tiny net rice bags to guests.

After a trip to Mexico, the couple will be at home in Skellytown.

The bride, a 1968 graduate of White Deer High School, and the bridegroom, a 1963 White Deer High School graduate, attended West Texas State University and Frank Phillips Junior College two and a half years. He is employed by Cabot Carbon Co. at Skellytown.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Lester, parents of the bridegroom, were hosts for a rehearsal dinner in their home for members of the wedding party.

Several courtesies were extended to the bride before her marriage. Miss Marlene Darnell, Le Roy Allen, Ralph McGee, Paul Boissenett, Don St. Clair, A.R. Baker, A. Lane, Gene Harlan, M. L. Mercer, Edna Duhiven, Carl Cade, Leroy Snodgrass, Bobbie Tatum, Allen Payne, and Melvin Norris were hostesses for a bridal shower in the Skellytown First Baptist Church's Fellowship Hall May 17.

Mrs. Bob McBrayer, and daughter Becky and Miss Gaye Allen were hostess for a lingerie shower May 11 in the McBrayer home in White Deer.

For her son's wedding, Mrs. Lester chose a rose-sheath dress with matching hat and slippers, white gloves and a corsage of white rosebuds. As the bride left the altar, she presented Mrs. Lester with a long stemmed red rose.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Iribeck, Tulla, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lester, Shamrock; Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Koen, Pampa; Mr. and Mrs. George Newby, Borger; Miss Rita Marchbanks and Miss Jan Smith of Wellington; Mr.

line scalloped neckline of white lace. The long sleeves of white lace ended in a point over the wrists. Her white lace train was held by white silk crepe bows at the shoulders and extended to the floor. The train of lace ended in a four-inch border of white silk crepe.

Her veil of white silk crepe was fashioned into a large flower, ended in a point over the forehead for a headpiece. The headpiece was trimmed with seed pearls and held a veil of white nylon lace. Her bouquet was a white orchid surrounded with white rosebuds atop a white Bible with white satin streamers.

Panhandle Water District News

By FELIX W. RYALS
In 1959 some questions were raised about the possible pollution and contamination from a recharge well in the District. The recharge well was the gravity-flow type that emptied the raw uncleaned rainfall and run-off water back into the underground Ogallala formation near the edge of a lake bed.

The District collected water samples from windmill and irrigation wells in the vicinity and had them analyzed by the Texas Department of Public Health. All samples were free of coliform bacteria.

The experiment station at Bushland has been carrying on studies on the movement of bacteria and organic matter since 1965 under the direction of Ordie R. Jones, Hydraulic Engineering Technician USDA. Four wells were used in the controlled experiment.

Data, collected by Jones, from these experiments show that pathogenic enteric bacteria, as indicated by coliform organisms, can travel short distances in the Ogallala aquifer. Most of the coliform bacteria injected into a recharge well were filtered from the water by travel through 66 feet of a fine sand aquifer.

This data agrees with pollution studies conducted by the State of California, which showed little movement of bacteria beyond 100 feet from a well being recharged with water containing raw sewage.

The Bushland experiment compares sand sieve analyses for the coarsest sample from the Ogallala aquifer with a sample from the California aquifer. The effective sizes and uniformity coefficients for samples from the two Bushlands aquifers are considerably finer than those in California; therefore, it can be inferred that bacterial travel in the Ogallala aquifer at Bushland should not exceed 100 feet.

Since the bacterial filter ability of an aquifer is a physical characteristic, the movement of bacterial through the aquifer is dependent on aquifer characteristics.

Bacteria moves only a few inches in surface soil during periodic flooding with polluted water. On the other extreme, polluted water can move at least one-half mile with little purification in creviced rock formations. The results of the research reported here apply only to fine sand formations such as those comprising the Ogallala aquifer at Bushland.

Coliform bacteria are not likely to travel more than 100 feet in fine sand formations of the Ogallala aquifer. Bacteria

Screwworm Alert

The number of screwworm cases in the Southwest continues to increase and is the highest since 1963. Weather conditions continue to be near ideal for the propagation of this costly livestock pest. Officials of the eradication program continue to emphasize the importance of livestock producers checking their animals at frequent intervals and submitting worm samples from all infested wounds. Knowing where the new cases are permits the dropping of sterile flies at the earliest possible time, the officials said.

may travel further where the Ogallala formation has a higher permeability than at Bushland. Very little organic matter, as measured by chemical oxygen demand, was filtered from recharged water by travel through 66 feet of the Ogallala aquifer.

The significance of this organic material as related to possible pollution of the aquifer was not determined.

Short-term pumping of a multiple-purpose well that had been recharged with clarified lake water did not effectively remove coliform bacteria and organic matter from the well and surrounding aquifer.

During the past 10 years reclamation construction projects totaling some $5.5 billion in cost have already returned to the Treasury of the United States over $1 billion.

Commenting on the repayments from reclamation projects in 17 western states, Floyd E. Dominy, Commissioner of Reclamation, said that eventually 89 per cent of the authorized construction costs of the Reclamation program will be returned.

"Bureau of Reclamation water resources developments create wealth many times over the federal investment in the program."

Reviewing the fiscal 1967 program Dominy observed: "We are rapidly approaching the point where we have received a dollar back for every dollar spent on construction."

"The over all picture shows a steadily rising rate of return from the investment in all reclamation projects. Eventually, from our total authorized construction program of $9 billion, just a shade under $8 billion will be returned to the Federal government by project beneficiaries."

The program to import water into West Texas and Eastern New Mexico which is now under study must show benefits in excess of costs before the project will be recommended to the Congress for authorizing legislation.

Just as projects now in operation are paying for their costs, our import program will be required to return to the United States government a major portion of the construction as well as operating costs.

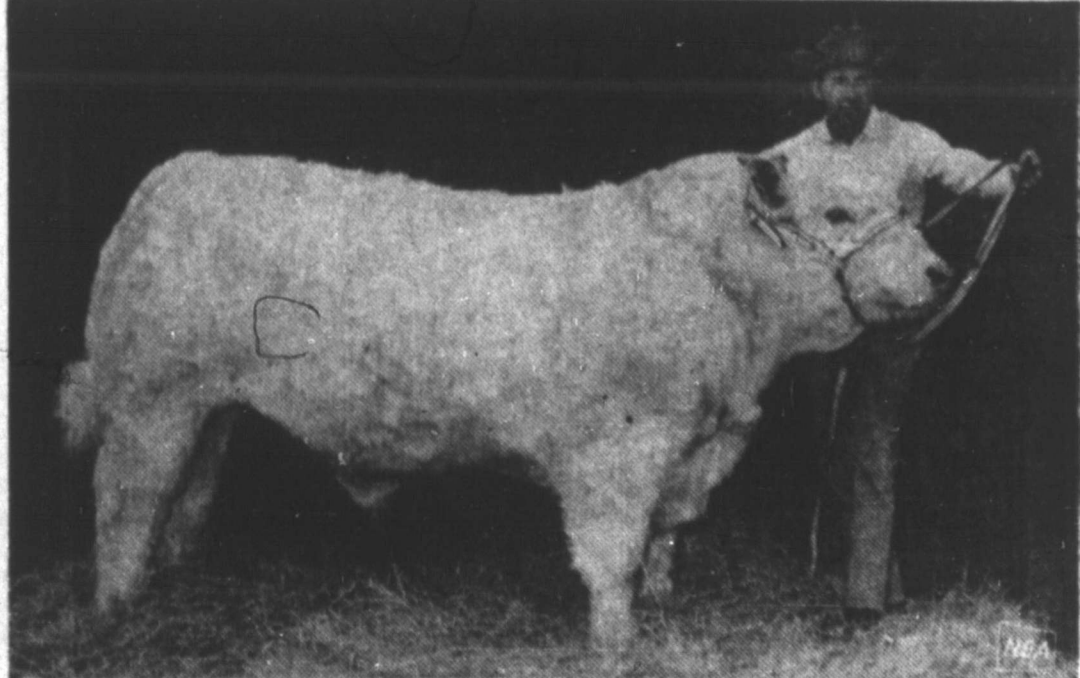

A program of the size and scope required to import 18-20 million acre-feet of water into West Texas and Eastern New Mexico will have many opponents who will base their opposition on size alone.

Others will oppose the project as not benefiting the nation but as being too regional in scope. It is possible that the term "pork-barrel" will be applied to the import project. These arguments against the project can be answered by the fact that each project repays to the United States government a large share of its cost and that benefits from the project eventually return many times their costs.

These facts are proven for Reclamation projects to date. With authorization and construction continuing under existing direction, benefits for exceeding costs can be expected for any future project which gets Bureau of Reclamation blessing.

SCD News

Several persons have done brush spraying this year and the grass is really looking good as a result. There is a good recovery of Little Bluestem, Big or Sand Bluestem, Indian grass and Switchgrass. This is a result of good moisture and the eliminating of the brush from competing for the water.

Deferment for the rest of the growing season is a must if you want the grasses to recover and make a good healthy plant. If you do control brush but do not defer, you would be better off not even to spray the brush because the cattle will hunt out the good grasses. They will graze them into the ground where the brush has been protecting the grass.

The cattle on these areas sprayed will hunt out these tender grasses and will completely eliminate them from the pastures.

The brush on the farms of Earl Tarbet and Lester Bailey looks like it has been controlled good and the grass is really recovering. Others who have sprayed are Vera Dial Dickey, June Woods, Ercy Cubine, Charlie Carpenter, John Haynes, and Harve Hudgins.

Residue Burning

Burning of crop residue can be very harmful to the soil. Burning residues causes the soil structure to gradually deteriorate as the soil organic matter is reduced. When you burn stubble you only have the potash left. The nitrogen and the phosphate are released in a gaseous state and is returned to the atmosphere. I have checked the temperature of soil that was bare in late July and it has run about 20 degrees hotter than the soil temperature where it has either a good cover of living or dead matter.

Crop Insurance

Program Will Pay Out $457,000

COLLEGE STATION — The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation said recently it will pay an estimated $457,000 in damages to insured wheat farmers in 24 Texas Panhandle and Northern counties and Curry County, New Mexico.

The estimate puts losses slightly above the $423,000 paid a year ago, but still indicates relatively minor damage to the crop. Ben A. Jordan, Jr., state director for FCIC, reports.

Counties in the Panhandle where losses have been reported and the estimates include Dallam, $18,000; Sherman, $39,000; Hansford, $40,000; Lipscomb, $20,000; Moore, $50,000; Carson, $30,000; Gray, $15,000; Deaf Smith, $15,000; Randall, $2,000; Parmer, $17,000; Castro, $47,500; Swisher, $46,250; Hale, $8,800; and Floyd, $5,500.

Federal Crop Insurance is designed to protect the farm working capital that must be invested and risked each year to produce a crop. Policy guarantees are geared to cover most production costs. When low yields, due to weather or other natural causes, reduce crop values below these guarantees, FCIC makes up the difference in cash.

We have heard of some disappointing yields on some irrigated wheat. The rust affected the irrigated wheat much more severely than it did the dryland wheat. The dryland was advanced more in its maturity before the rust set in.

Alfalfa
On Tuesday we will meet with a group of Alfalfa growers in McLean for the purpose of investigating the possibility of that area obtaining a dehydration plant. The plant would be used to process green chop alfalfa into meal and pellet form.

About two years ago a movement got underway to plant alfalfa under a sprinkler watering system. This is the most profitable crop now being grown in the McLean vicinity. Several hundred acres have been planted and is now under irrigation. A ready market is available to the commercial feedlots. Most feedlots are not set up to handle hay or similar types of roughage. Pelleted alfalfa or in meal form works well in the regular milling equipment of most feedlots.

Fuel cost is one of the major costs involved in dehydrating any crop. Natural gas should be relatively cheap in a gas-producing area around McLean.

We believe there is enough production of alfalfa to justify a plant. We hope to have some specialist from our area office at Lubbock to meet with the McLean group on Tuesday.

Milo is a much more economical crop on the High Plains than alfalfa since much less water is required. A higher gross return per acre can be obtained from alfalfa. Since there is a limit on the number of acres of alfalfa a farmer can irrigate, it comes down to the question of, "What is the water production worth from a given irrigating well when applied to a few acres of alfalfa or a much large acreage of milo?"

Several factors have a bearing on the decision of an irrigation farmer trying to decide whether he should raise alfalfa or not. One of these would be, "Do I have more water production than I have land to irrigate in milo?" A farmer having a thousand gallons per minute well that had only 80 acres of land should seriously consider placing the entire acreage in alfalfa.

Mississippi Farmer Quits, Wants No 'Business' With Government

CLARKSDALE, Miss. (UPI)—Roy Flowers' plantation on the Mississippi Delta was a touch of the Old South.

There were sprawling fields of cotton, clusters of workers' shacks, and hundreds of Negroes laboring in the fields.

Flowers boasted of the "best cotton crop and the best bean crops in the delta." The U.S. Department of Labor said he made $1 million a year from his various plantation enterprises.

But there was one big difference between Flowers and the antebellum planters: Flowers didn't think he was big enough to tackle the federal government.

"I'm settled up with the government to date. I'm doing this just not to have any more business with the government." The Labor Department filed suit against Flowers after sending investigators to check on the operations of the white landowner.

Flowers was accused of failing to pay minimum wages to his field hands, and of hiring workers under 16. The suit said Flowers overcharged his tenants for coal and wood used for heating and cooking and that, in many instances, he charged laborers for cotton sacks used for cotton picking.

Also, the Labor Department said, Flowers charged his tenants as much as $70 a month for houses when a "reasonable cost" would have been $5 per month. Flowers has agreed to lower the rent to $5 monthly.

The guards were protesting their own pay and work conditions.

Washington Window

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's campaign crew is groping for an issue of convention procedure to unite a majority of the Democratic delegates against backers of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Humphrey's own campaign team is expecting a move of this type, but it is so confident of victory that it is willing to go more than half way to meet the demands of McCarthy spokesmen. But it doubts that the McCarthy supporters will settle for anything short of unconditional surrender.

Since the death of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, Humphrey and McCarthy are the only major national contenders for the Democratic presidential nomination. The vice president appears headed toward a first ballot victory if anything is predictable in this year of unforeseen political events.

Inasmuch as he did not compete in presidential primaries, the Humphrey campaigners are concerned about shouts of "streamroller" and "boss domination" of the convention already coming from the McCarthy side.

The McCarthy camp would like to dramatize that issue at the convention. They are not likely to try a contest over a "peace plank" repudiating the Johnson administration on Vietnam. Anti-Goldwater Republicans tried and failed to win fights over platform planks at the 1964 GOP convention.

McCarthy supporters also are not expected to try to resist the election of pro-Humphrey or pro-administration officers already tapped by the party leadership for key roles at the convention.

But they are talking about fights over seating delegations with arguments that they were denied their legitimate share of delegates from various states. This route was successfully followed by backers of Dwight D. Eisenhower in winning him the 1952 Republican nomination from Robert A. Taft.

That Eisenhower gamble was led by men like Thomas E. Dewey, Herbert Brownell and Henry Cabot Lodge, shrewd political pros of a type not conspicuous in the McCarthy organization.

There also has been talk about demanding repeal of the unit rule, a procedural practice recognized by the Democrats but not by the GOP at national conventions.

Under a unit rule, a state delegation can bind all of its members to vote as a solid bloc on the nomination of a candidate or other questions. Some of the states which have historically followed this practice might resist a change, but the Humphrey leaders might not.

Although some states have not yet chosen delegates, the Humphrey organization believes it already can look ahead to 1,600 first ballot votes or more. The winner needs 1,312.

The McCarthy organization thinks it has 700 in sight. It hopes that improved McCarthy showings in public opinion polls and other tactics will shake 600 more into the McCarthy ham-

Many of the old timers are discussing the unusually erratic weather we're experiencing this week with night temperatures dipping to the 40's and two days later soaring over 100 degrees. Then, too, the month of May was one of the coolest in living memory. Those who know the panhandle well say this is to be expected when a comet or large body comes particularly close to the Earth as happened June 14 when the wandering asteroid Icarus, a chunk of rock about a mile in diameter came within four million miles of our planet while circling the sun between the orbits of Mars & Jupiter.

Icarus passes Earth every 19 years and like Halley's Comet which came last in April of 1910 and will next appear in 1966 much was, and is, added to our folklore each time they appear. For this reason, one prominent question included in our "idea letter" which has been mailed to over 565 Gray Countyans as a guideline in compiling their family history sketches for the Gray County Book is, "do you remember Halley's Comet or any unusual weather conditions experienced in early days?" I grew up hearing from my own father the story of Pampa's unusual weather all during the year of 1910 when the comet made its last visit — "the weather was so hot in January we had to have all the windows open, but it got so cold in the summer months we had to wear overcoats to the 4th of July picnic."

One native Pampan, Dr. Halle Gantz, now president of Phillips University at Enid, Oklahoma was born on May 13, that year and shares the comet's name in a different spelling.

The author, Samuel Langhorne Clemens, better known as Mark Twain, who wrote "Adventures of Tom Sawyer" and "Huckleberry Finn" was proudest of having been born in a "comet year" than of any other laurel or distinction bestowed upon him. Having been born in 1835 and knowing that the comet returns approximately every 75 years, he predicted, "I came with the comet and I'll go with the comet when it returns again." And as Halley's Comet approached perihelion on April 2, 1910 Mark Twain died just as he had envisioned.

Usually the first place a person interested in compiling a family history looks for data regarding his ancestry is in the oldest Bible still in possession of the relatives for this is traditionally the most treasured book or possession handed down from generation to generation with the dates of births, marriages, deaths, confirmations, military service, and other vital statistics recorded either in the family record section or scattered at random throughout the well worn and yellowed pages.

There, too, are often to be found insertions relating to extraordinary and unusual events through which the family passed and which had made a profound impression on their memory.

Mrs. Forrest Doshier (nee Inez Christian) of Amarillo has compiled an excellent history of the Terrell-Christian Families in which she relates how her ancestor Paul Christian (1772-1851) made such notes in his records stating: "1717 was a 'locus' year, 1804 was a 'locus' year, 1821 was a 'locus' year, . . . you may look for locus in the year 1838. . . so says Paul Christian." We can see that Paul Christian observed a cycle of 17 years between the coming of the locusts. On that basis our next "locus" year will be 1974.

Another celestial phenomenon which we have discovered mentioned in numerous old diaries and journals handed down to descendants is the eerie and uncanny 19th of May, 1780 when occurred one of the strangest events in the history of the world. It began about 11:16 a.m. here in America, and suddenly the sun failed to shine. There was no eclipse. . . the sun was completely blotted out. From the North Pole down to the Equator, over the continent of Europe, the entire Western Hemisphere, and all of Asia, . . . more than half the globe was visited especially that part of the world having daylight.

At that time the State Legislature of Connecticut was in session and the darkness was so great that they could not see a piece of white paper 12 inches from their eyes. Dogs howled, animals kept up a constant noise; chickens and birds in the fields went to roost. And until 3:45 p.m. in the afternoon the unbelievably intense darkness hovered over the world.

Then on the same night of May 19th as was recorded in the Bible belonging to the Austin family, "the moon had been full the night before. . . and ordinarily it would come up as a great ball of fire over the Eastern horizon, but on this night it did not come out," and it was apparent that even the lunar system had been affected. The Austins and other people were driven into panic and for the rest of their lives talked of their experience in hushed whispers.

Then approximately 70 years later, on the night of November 13, 1850 beginning about 9 o'clock hour upon hour, and hour upon hour the heavens were filled with an avalanche of falling stars, recorded in the Swindle Family Bible "the whole sky looked like a terrific down-pour of rain, only the rain was of stars shooting in every direction, the geese and ducks were so upset they honked and quacked all night long." It was the effect of similar experiences that prompted me to record in my own family Bible a celestial phenomenon we witnessed on the night of December 11, 1939 when there appeared in the southwest sky the conjunction of five of the largest planets. It was so unusual that members of the family assisted our aged grandmother who was ill at the time outside so she, too, could view the heavenly spectacle. Life Magazine late in Feb. of 1940 carried a three page story on that astronomical event that had not happened since the year 2450 B.C. or approximately during the days of Noah.

If you or your family experienced any unusual or hazardous conditions such as prairie fires, blizzards, earthquakes, floods, grasshopper or cricket plagues, hails, cyclones, or witnessed any unusual celestial phenomena here in the Panhandle (such as the Northern Lights) we would like to hear from you. . . write us at Box 676, Pampa.

No Kitten! Hip Horror Film Features Four-Legged Cats

By DICK KLEINER
HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Gayle Hunnicutt massaged Michael Sarrazin's chest and talked dreamily about murder.
 They were shooting a scene for Universal's new mod horror movie, "Wylie." This may be the first attempt to combine the old, traditional horror film with the hippie milieu, and it sounds like a combination which should work. After all, some of the hippies are pretty horrible to start with.
 The chief vehicle of the horror in "Wylie" is our old friend, the cat. You will see just how far a cat will go for money—especially a cat that comes from a broken home.
 "It's an animal story," says that skillful horror writer, Joseph Stefano, who did the script. "The whole point is to show that we humans should not behave like animals—because they are so much better at it than we are."

 Gayle Hunnicutt continued to rub away on Michael Sarrazin's bare chest, and I don't know how Mike could stand it. Gayle is a sexy thing even when her hands are still, but when they are moving along a man's unclad chest, it must be tough to take lying down.
 After the scene, Gayle and her two Yorkshire terriers—Heathcliff and Kathy—talked about cats. Actually, Gayle did most of the talking; the dogs just growled a little.
 "I've always liked cats," she remembered as the definitive study of a young man of the late 60s.
 "A picture is like an iceberg," says co-producer Bernard Schwartz. "There is the surface and there is so much more beneath the surface. The surface of our picture is the cats—but the real meaning is much bigger and much more significant."
 "Wylie" got started on the wrong paw. The first director left the picture—the official reason was a bad back, but unofficially the change is ascribed to temperament—and Rick was brought in to take over. Since he saw the picture differ-ently, he was allowed to reshoot everything.

 "It's tough moving in like this," Rich says. "But everyone was very nice about it. I had different ideas about the characters than my predecessor, and the actors went along with my new ideas. And the producers, even though it added to the cost, let me start all over."
 Later on in the scene—after Gayle finished her exotic massage—a cat was supposed to leap onto Mike's well-rubbed chest. It was a tricky business—cats are not the easiest animal to deal with.
 "They're very hard to work with," Rich said. "What you have to do is outsmart them. You don't plan any long scenes, just short ones with a simple thing for them to do."
 It worked. The cat landed smack on target. You might even say it was a bulls-eye, but why mix animals?

WORKING on both sides of the lens, a cress Diane Cilento portrays a photographer in her latest English film, "Mrs. 007." In real life, she is the wife of Sean Connery and is sometimes referred to as "Mrs. 007."

A Level Look at a Big Star

By DICK KLEINER
HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Something new under the warm Hollywood sun—split-level filming. Everything about "Hello, Dolly," now shooting at Twentieth Century-Fox, is so expensive that they are trying to cut a corner or two. The sets are fantastic, and so are the bills. They've built an exterior—a New York street—the cost $2 million. And the interior, the fabulous Harmonia Gardens, is a cool $500,000. But Harmonia Gardens has two levels. On the balcony, Michael Kidd was directing a second-unit fight scene. On the main floor, Gene Kelly was directing Barbara Streisand in the finale of the title song.

 Barbara Streisand, a Big Star, was going through a stack of still photographs between shots. Like all Big Stars, she has the right of approval over which pictures the studio releases. She studied each photo carefully, marking them on back with her O.K. or no.
 Her husband, Elliot Gold, and her private press agent and her hairdresser and some others guarded her jealously.
 Her relationship with Kelly seems good. She asked him, respectfully, how she should do the scene—"Should I do the bow?" and "Should I turn around?" and "Should I wave?" and she took his advice. She was concerned about the smallest detail of her costume and the way she walked and the way she moved her hands.
 When she got up to sing—a playback of her own prerecorded song—it was magic. A great performer, she comes alive when she works.
 But there is something unmagical about her when the camera isn't turning. She drove off to the rushes with her husband—he driving, she in the back seat, a chauffeur-employer arrangement.

ITCHY NOSE or is Princess Stephanie a natural scene stealer? She and her mother, Princess Grace, were at New York's Kennedy International Airport when this photo was taken.

Split-level filming—and a split-personality star.
 Rickles Keeps in Trim
NEW YORK (UPI)—Don Rickles, the insult comedian who appears at Jules Podell's Copacabana night club for the first time in October, has been at the night club three times recently as a guest. Each time the star of the current show invited him on stage and Rickles did 10 to 15 minutes of his deprecating routine. "Just Spring training for my debut here," Rickles said.
 Carol To Guest
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Carol Lynley will guest star in the first episode of 20th Century-Fox's new television series, "Journey to the Unknown."

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)—The first dramatic production given by a professional company of actors to be performed in Newport on September 7, 1761.

BREAKING UP a couple of old pros like Bob Hope and Phyllis Diller is quite an accomplishment for Michael Burns, left, who's not even a comedian, but a dramatic actor. The trio is making a film in Puerto Rico; perhaps this story should be included in the script.
