Death Rushes Down Ohio, New England Rivers On Flood Crest

NATIONS AGAIN PUT HITLER ON 'SPOT'

WOULD FORCE DICTATOR TO ENTER PACTS

ALTERNATIVE WOULD BE AN ARMED ALLIANCE

BY CHARLES P. NUTTER
Associated Press Foreign Staff
LONDON, March 20. (AP)—The house of commons was told today that the four remaining League powers have agreed to join in a virtual military alliance if Adolf Hitler refuses to consider proposals to re-establish the security of Europe.

The proposals—agreed to by Great Britain, France, Belgium and Italy—were published in a white paper submitted to the commons as Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, began an explanation to the lower house.

The plan envisages an international conference to overhaul the League of Nations and greatly widen its scope from existing limitations.

Provision was also made to set up a "buffer zone" against Germany along the Franco-Belgian borders. The zone would be occupied by international troops including British and Italian forces until a new security treaty could be drawn.

The proposed zone would be 20 kilometers (about 12 and one-half miles) wide from which German troops would be withdrawn. The proposals demand that movement of German troops into the Rhine zone must be suspended while French and Belgian governments suspend sending forces into zones adjoining their frontiers.

"I venture to think the commons will consider the proposed arrangements to create a sense of security during the period of negotiation are fair and reasonable," Eden said to the members, and indicate the split in the question has been approached by the French and Belgian governments.

The proposals are subject to ratification by the four governments participating. The British, French and Belgian cabinets have already approved.

London diplomatic quarters are awaiting official reaction from the German government.

A German spokesman, shortly after the proposals were made public, said the plan "high" form basis for discussion. "If certain unilateral parts like the police zone and the Hague court reference were eliminated," he declared Germany would accept the plan.

AUSTIN, March 20. (AP)—Destitute unemployed of Texas today had assurance of relief officials that substantial relief would be provided them "well through the spring."

A close-out program of state relief inaugurated with the start of 1936 scheduled to the end of all direct relief disbursements April 1. Aid was restricted to "unworkable" while those able to work were certified to the Works Progress administration.

Because economies were invoked and the demand for direct relief diminished, along with transfer of some disbursements to the relief commission was able to spread final state funds over a longer period.

The extension of state aid may bridge the gap for many of the aged destitute between the end of relief and the payment of pensions in July.

Adam R. Johnson, state director, estimated a substantial percentage of the 37,532 cases to which checks were issued this month were of eligible age for pensions.

He indicated 170,000 individuals were supported by the direct relief payments, which averaged between $400,000 and $450,000 monthly. About 125,000 cases, or more than 500,000 persons, were transferred from state to WPA rolls. Once the state relief fund was 1,270,000 persons, Johnson warned counties the extension was only temporary and soon they must assume the burden of providing relief to destitute. All unemployed not granted pensions, he estimated, ultimately would become charges of local governments.

Local Centennial Plans Outlined At Kiwanis Club

R. E. Hughes, general chairman of the Panhandle Centennial committee, gave a general outline of the plans for the celebration before members of the Kiwanis Club Friday.

Mr. Hughes pointed out that this Panhandle celebration would not be confined to the people of Pampa but would be a united celebration of every city in the Panhandle honoring the pioneers of the Panhandle as well as of all Texas. He named over a list of the pioneers of this section of the country and asked that everyone cooperate in making this one of the best celebrations in the state.

Harry Kelly and his Centennial band entertained with several numbers.

Visitors today included Tom Rose, Jr., Harry Kelly, Red Fanning, Dick Hughes, James Herring and Dick Ansley.

RANCHER SUICIDES

PAINT ROCK, March 20. (AP)—Ed Wilson, 30, was found dead on the porch of the H. A. Stephens ranch home about 6 o'clock this morning, a .16 gauge shotgun charge through his heart. Earl Curtis discovered the body. P. W. Williams, justice of the peace, returned a verdict of suicide. Burial was at Concho this afternoon.

ALL BUT BEAR AND LEOPARDS OF MANCHESTER ZOO DIE IN FLOOD

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 20. Two hundred animals of the Manchester zoo perished in the flood waters of the Piscataug river. Only three remained alive today, facing almost certain doom.

The three are a pet bear and two

Business Area of Steel City Inundated

Water poured into this deluxe movie theater in Pittsburgh's downtown area as the flood rose to a depth of 18 feet in some places in the famous "Golden Triangle." Damage in the beautifully-decorated theaters and stores, was especially heavy. Windows crashed in before the mighty impact of the surging waters. Occasional rowboats passed up and down the lagoons which had been busy streets a few hours before.

Spectacular Explosion And Fire Kill Eleven Persons

UNEMPLOYABLES WILL CONTINUE TO GET RELIEF

Aid Extension Will Not Be Lasting, Says Johnson

Three Found Dead in Texarkana; Six In Arkansas

TEXARKANA, March 20. (AP)—Three persons were killed today when a terrific explosion, followed by a fire, wrecked six business concerns in the Sandflat business district here, causing a loss estimated at $75,000.

Professor Van Zan, a fortune teller, was the only identified victim. He lived in an apartment above a grocery store and died while trying to make his way to a stairway leading to the street. His body fell just outside his bedroom.

The other two bodies were found in the rear of the same grocery store.

A. C. Ward, owner of the grocery store, said there was no possibility that either of these victims was an employee of the store. He said he had made a check of his personnel and all had been accounted for.

Firemen were searching the ruins for other possible victims.

In addition to Ward's store, the fire swept through Standard Brands, Inc., Ward's Bakery, the Great Atlantic and Pacific store, the Blue Jay beauty shop and the Byway cafe.

The whole neighborhood surrounding the Sandflat business district was jarred at 1:55 a. m. by a violent blast. For several seconds after the explosion, the sound of falling objects could be heard and then another muffled explosion occurred.

Within a minute, witnesses said, Ward's store, the bakery and Standard Brands, Inc., were a mass of flames. As the roof of the bakery collapsed, flames spread to the other establishments.

CARRIZOZO CASE IS GIVEN TO JURY

CARRIZOZO, N. M., March 20. (AP)—Speedy determination of the fate of Hollis Martin, accused triple slayer, was expected from the jury deliberating the Altus, Okla., youth's case here today.

Only three possible verdicts, first or second degree murder or acquittal, were in the instructions given the jurors last night.

One, first degree murder, carries a mandatory death penalty.

SCHOOL BUILDING BURNS

HASKELL, March 20. (AP)—Fire destroyed the three-story brick high school building here early today. The building, erected in 1922, and contents were valued at about $60,000. Cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

L. C. Jones of Amarillo transacted business here yesterday.

LATE NEWS

HARTFORD, Conn., Mar. 20. (AP)—The rising flood waters of the Connecticut river brought Hartford face to face today with a possible suspension of all business activity. City engineers estimated that 2,500 acres of the capital city, or approximately 15 per cent, was inundated.

WHEELING, W. Va., Mar. 20. (AP)—Attempts by hundreds of refugees to return to their homes on flooded Wheeling Island brought police reports today that two more persons had drowned. Earlier police reports at least 14 dead here and three at nearby Wellburg.

It May Sound Goofy But Texas Incubated Storm That Caused The Floods

WASHINGTON, March 20. (AP)—The weather man today explained the east's flood of the century—the many phenomena which occurred at just the right time and the right places to bring disaster.

W. P. Day of the storm section of the weather bureau described the disturbance as "the perfect storm" of its type.

Seven factors were involved in the chain of circumstances that led to the flood. Such an unbroken chain occurs but once or twice in a century. Had anyone of the factors been missing the flood might not have occurred, or at least it might have been less severe.

The links in the chain:

1. The storm started in Texas last Sunday.
2. It moved northeastward.
3. Over the Appalachian highlands on Monday, a flow of warm, moist air rushing in from the gulf and Atlantic because of the moving storm was "expanded and condensed" by collision with a wedge of cold air, flowing southward from central Canada.
4. Extremely low temperatures in Labrador sent out a frigid current which formed a second wedge of cold air over the Canadian maritime provinces.
5. This cold wedge helped to trap the storm and hold it over the watersheds from Georgia to Vermont.
6. The rear guard of the disturbance was formed by unseasonable warmth in far northern sections of Canada and Alaska.
7. The rain came when heavy snows were melting in the highest ranges, and the soil almost reached the saturation point.

"This combination was sufficient," said Montrose W. Hayes, chief of the flood section of the weather bureau, "to raise the Ohio 4.9 feet above the Pittsburgh water mark of 1763 which we consider official; to raise the Potomac to 47.6 feet at Hancock, Md., 7.9 feet above the record of 1889; and the Connecticut to above the 29.3 foot mark set at Hartford in 1854."

CORPORATE TAX DETERMINED BY SUB-COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, March 20. (AP)—A house ways and means subcommittee decided tentatively today to apply a flat 22 1/2 per cent tax on the net income of corporations limited in paying out dividends "by reason of state and federal or contractual restrictions."

Corporations in this category would not be subject to the proposed new levy on undistributed corporate profits. President Roosevelt had suggested that present corporation income taxes be repealed and supplanted by levies on undistributed earnings and a tax on dividends.

Chairman Samuel B. Hill (D-Wash.) said the rate was not conclusive, but was decided upon to provide a "working basis." Details still remain to be worked out, he said.

Hill had no estimate on the number of corporations now under limitations as to issuance of dividends. He said the 22 1/2 per cent was an arbitrary rate, that the subcommittee felt that if it were too low it might offer an inducement to some corporations to show a capital deficit on their books in order to keep free of the tax on undivided corporation earnings.

Existing corporation income taxes average about 15 per cent.

Treasury experts have proposed 33-1-3 per cent on undivided income. (The president has suggested that $20,000,000 additional federal revenue be raised by a tax on dividends and undistributed net income of corporations. In addition, he has suggested $517,000,000 be produced over two or three years through new and broader processing taxes and a "windfall" levy on unpaid or refunded AAA processing taxes.)

Hill said the agreement on a flat rate for corporations which are restricted by state and federal law and contract obligations in issuing dividends was subject to possible modification, "after our staff has worked out further details."

PITTSBURGH IS PANICKY AFTER WATERS RECEDE

PITTSBURGH, March 20. (AP)—Law enforcement and relief agencies marshaled their forces today against the danger of fire in this panicky steel metropolis as receding flood waters brought the death toll in western Pennsylvania to 69.

Threats of disease and a water famine also hung over many of Pittsburgh's 700,000 residents, who have been without light, gas or power for three days.

Recognizing the fire hazard, public safety director Thomas A. Dunn said dynamite will be used to combat conflagrations which may occur during the water shortage.

Police Superintendent Jacob Dorsey said 100,000 gallons of water would be needed to extinguish any major fire and that would make great inroads on the existing supply.

More national guardsmen came to patrol the city and rescue workers battled knee-deep in mud to carry victims from homes in which they have been marooned for days.

The city's nerves were on edge. Numerous reports of fires and new cases of gas poisoning, with great frequency, and usually were found to be false.

A false report announced at police superintendent Dorsey's office that the sixteenth street bridge had collapsed with people crossing it threw panic into consternation. All available ambulances and police sped to the scene and found traffic moving normally.

Firemen, working double shifts, responded to many fire alarms. Candles and oil lamps replaced electric facilities in many homes and buildings.

Train traffic over tracks near the fire-swept Waverly Oil works was stopped.

Mayor William N. McNair threatened to arrest Frank R. Phillips, president of the Philadelphia company (a subsidiary of the Philadelphia company) could light the city-county building and give us the service we need."

"If he (Phillips) doesn't give us power in 24 hours I will put him in jail. The Duquesne Light company (a subsidiary of the Philadelphia company) could light the city-county building and give us the service we need."

L. C. Jones of Amarillo transacted business here yesterday.

CURB PRODUCTION OF CROPS, IS PRESIDENT'S PLEA TO FARMERS

WASHINGTON, March 20. (AP)—President Roosevelt heralded the beginning of the new deal's $440,000,000 farm program today with an appeal to farmers to cooperate and curb production of commercial cash crops.

Mr. Roosevelt was expected to sign before the day was out an independent offices appropriation bill carrying $440,000,000 for the first year's efforts. The AAA moved to make details of the program public late today.

(The new farm act, a substitute for the invalidated agriculture adjustment act, provides subsidies for farmers who switch land from commercial crops to soil-building growths or make other "economic" use of their soil.)

Declaring that government reports indicated farmers planned sharp increases in acres of many commercial crops, the president issued a statement appealing to them not to do so. If growers fail to take advantage of the new program, he said, overproduction of cash crops may lead to the "wrecking of their prices and the mining of their soil."

Farmers, he advised, should not make final planting plans until they study the new program.

He said his statement was "an appeal to all farmers to cooperate for their own and the national good to help them in preventing excessive production."

200,000 LEFT HOMELESS AND PANIC REIGNS

MARIETTA, OHIO, IS LATEST CITY TO BUCK FLOOD

(Copyright, 1936, By The Associated Press)

Busy cities of New England and the Ohio valley bucked the crest of the vast eastern floods today. Elsewhere, amid falling waters, the civil and military authorities of stricken sections fought to quell panic, hunger, thirst and disease.

The death toll stood this afternoon at 138. More than 200,000 were believed homeless; unofficial reports of damage over the dozen-state area neared $300,000,000.

Late developments from the far-flung area of disaster, on the third afternoon of the flood, included:

1. Two scores New England cities, including Hartford and Middletown, Conn., Springfield, Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill, Mass., and Concord, Manchester, Keene and Hooksett, N. H., were gravely distressed.
2. Approximately 100,000 were homeless. The main section of Hooksett lay in ruins. Water from both the Connecticut and Park rivers was reaching Hartford's main street and 15 per cent of the city was under water. Sandbags were piled in the business section as Gov. Brainin of Maine estimated the loss in his state at $15,000,000. Parts of bridges at Waterville and Topsham went out. Many communities had no water, light, gas or telephone service. National guardsmen prevented looting and calmed panicky crowds in some places.
3. President Roosevelt again delayed his southern vacation departure to stay in command of federal relief mobilization. The new deal considered spending close to $400,000,000 for flood sufferers and to guard against repetition of this week's disasters.
4. The death toll by states: Pennsylvania, 150,000,000 damage and 80,000 homeless; West Virginia, $200,000,000 and 9,600; New England, $100,000,000 and 100,000.
5. The whole flood scene, over New England, Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, New York and the Potomac and southern regions, was a dismal picture of rising rivers or

I Saw...

T. E. Johnson, 608 S. Ballard, yesterday afternoon anxiously checking hospitals, ambulance drivers, doctors' offices, after someone had telephoned him that his son Arnold Johnson had suffered a broken leg when run down by a car in the business district. Mr. Johnson soon found his son tooting energetically in the Junior high school band.

A real sign of spring—around 200 tulip bulbs breaking through the ground out at Dick Walker's.

Twinkles

Strange it is how we are conscious of a new crop of college and high school graduates every June, but largely unconscious of them in the other 11 months of the year. Must be a hardy lot.

All the baseball rookies look swell in the pictures, but the old-time looking veterans as usual continue to show how to throw and hit the ball.

No, we won't go away until the dusters cease. Our curiosity about what was happening here would make us miserable.

A Wellington paper refers to Colingsworth county drivers as careful, sober, and intelligence. And somewhat ill, perhaps?

Dallas students have a new craze—sign language. Better than Elsie Dean's tongue sympathy, we'll wager, for what ails most persons in the spring.

Musing of the moment: Songs about Texas are more numerous than we realized. And the way the high school glee club sings them would surprise you. The massed chorus here May 1, comprising all of the school children of the county, should be an event of great interest and an entertainment to be thoroughly enjoyed.

Brevitaries

A MAN SHOULD be very happy, a local attorney remarked to WORDS the other day, if he has been to tuncate both in the choice of a vocation and of a wife. With the two he spends most of his life; if his relationship with each is good, he cannot be very unhappy even if the fringes of his time and his activities are sometimes trying. It is difficult to give advice in the choice of either a wife or a vocation. Chance is a great factor in both instances. Every human being breezes along through life until certain circumstances combine to "freeze" him to a course of action. Often he is the victim of beneficiary, as the case may be, of natural impulses over which he has little control, and of which he is largely oblivious. And he is usually fortunate or unfortunate according to the type of associations he has chosen and the circumstances into which he has drifted. It often is as easy to move into a good job as a poor one, providing some patience and foresight have been exercised.

"If you're so smart," goes the familiar "crack," "why aren't you rich?" Students of general formal education often become bewildered and embittered when their admitted intelligence does not open the way to material success. But life is a game, with rules which are not made by the smartest and most idealistic humans. Learning to play life's rugged game, without turning some drifting into a hopeless routine, is something which cannot be well taught in the schools. Only those who are truly happy who have learned these rules from experience and observation and who find life endurable even when it is not advisable to show good sportsmanship at the cost of some rewards.

IT HAS BEEN a pleasant feud between Words and Pampa club women, concerning woman's place in politics, but the Business Woman's week is about over and we're wondering how we can continue the discussion until more women are talking and thinking and more men are talking back or running. It has been definitely shown that women are learning to think as a unit on many outstanding questions of the day. Legislative programs of the national organizations are much alike. We think it is unfortunate that so many men do not know anything about these programs, and that there is not closer cooperation in the campaigns for certain needed pieces of legislation. In the absence of a better mutual understanding, men and women misunderstand each other and many a worthy goal is not reached.

Box Rent Due

Postoffice boxholders are being notified that rent for the next three months is now due. The deadline is March 31 and the period will not be extended. Boxholders are urged to pay rent early to avoid a last minute rush and also the chance of losing their box by forgetting to pay.

I Heard...

W. J. Daugherty asking a postal clerk for his order of groceries. The response was a blank look. Then Mr. Daugherty showed the clerk a box rent due card he had taken from his box and on the back of it was a long list of groceries.

Tribute being paid amateur or "ham" broadcasters for their work during the floods in the east. The amateurs are sending out information from flood stricken areas and they are being credited with saving hundreds of lives. Only yesterday a report was sent out that the Johnson dam had given away. Chaos reigned until an amateur tapped out the information that the dam hadn't burst because he was sitting on top of it.

4,000 HOMELESS IN WHEELING'S BIG AUDITORIUM

Many Sick Huddled In Knots in Building

WHEELING, W. Va., March 20 (AP)—Thousands of refugees in this flood-plagued city surveyed the wreckage of their homes and business places today and wondered if their experience could have been true.

In the great Wheeling market auditorium, where concerns have been played and addresses given by many a distinguished artist, some 4,000 of the city's homeless and sick huddled in little knots, murmuring and weeping.

Children in mud-caked clothing wandered around, wide-eyed and dazed, many of them seeking parents they would never find.

In a corner sat a dreary-eyed elderly woman, staring and white-faced. "I have lost everything I have," she kept repeating.

A 12-year-old girl scurried from group to group telling of an experience to an audience strangely grave.

"A man came along in a boat and got me and that was all the room he had. But another man came right along and got my big sister and my mother. They're in here somewhere I guess but I can't find them."

Everywhere the sick and aged lay still on cots.

Some still clutched the small handbill which was the last warning of the city had before the roaring headwaters struck.

A sheet only 12 by 16 inches, it was the latest edition of the Wheeling News-Register, got out by hand after the presses failed.

Every letter of type hand-set by the newspaper's struggling staff, the big banner read:

"Water passes 54 feet. Wheeling is isolated."

But almost before the paper could get to the streets the floods had surged past 55 feet.

of "Celling Zero, the Cosmopolitan production, now showing at the La Nora theater thru Saturday.

James Cagney, who usually gets the girl with a final clinch in the fade out, loses out this time in his role of an aviator who rides to his death.

Pat O'Brien's roles usually make him a disappointing lover. This time he carries all the sympathetic honors, including one of Jimmy's girls.

Stuart Erwin, noted as a portrayer of rural comic types, is a tragic character as a lost aviator begging the ground crew to "talk him down."

June Travis plays a somewhat flighty heroine.

Isabel Jewell, heretofore connected mostly with gum-chewing stenographic parts, is a bereaved wife in several tragical scenes.

Earton MacLane is a minion of the law instead of the public enemy with which he has become identified.

Gary Owen plays a semi-demented character for the first time in his career.

Craig Reynolds, erstwhile lover of the stage and screen, is a high-powered aviation inspector.

James Bush who, a few years ago was billed as the youngest leading man in the West, turns to character as the dramatic radio operator.

Mathilda Compton, French born, makes a perfect Italian cafe proprietress, Mama Gini.

All interpret the leading parts in a film which revolves about the activities of the air mail industry, stressing particularly the romance between fliers and aviation hostesses, and the new and scientific methods of preventing air accidents.

It was adapted from the successful stage play by Commander Frank Wead by himself.

The ruins of old Fort Richardson, established in 1867 near Jackboro, Texas, will prove of interest to Centennial visitors. This army outpost originally cost $750,000 but is now in ruins.

PAMPA TOPICS OF OUR CITY

Girls Tell History

Interesting tales of early Pampa school history and the early history of Texas were told yesterday by Katherine Snell and Edythe Shearer, high school students, at the Lions club luncheon. Texas songs were sung by a group from the high school glee club, including Jessie Marie Gilbert, Louise Roseberry, Pauline Stewart, Rita Holmes, and Frances Coffey. It was announced that the Lions would meet with the Pampa Rotarians and present a program April 15. C. W. (Slim) Windom was introduced as a new member of the Lions club. He formerly belonged to the Spearman Lions club.

New Plug Installed

A fire plug has been installed on the west side of the city park for the protection of new property being erected there, and the older property near by. A city pickup car was damaged when a spark from a welder's torch ignited a leather jacket which had smoldered for some time, evidently, after being tossed into the car by a workman. The upholstering was burned. The loss was covered by insurance.

ITALY CLAIMS IT COULD FIELD EUROPEAN ARMY OF 1,250,000

ROME, March 20 (AP)—Gen. Federico Balotrochi, under-secretary of war, told the chamber of deputies in the presence of Premier Mussolini today that Italy can put 1,250,000 soldiers in the field immediately for "a war of movement."

This army, he declared, was in addition to the army now maintained by Italy in East Africa.

Gen. Balotrochi declared the army would be transformed and modernized in every way so as to be able to conduct rapid advance fighting as opposed to trench warfare.

The under-secretary said infantry divisions would be reorganized to be forward to the field area, where the Red Cross is active. The need is so great that special contributions will be necessary in order that the Red Cross reserve for future disasters may not be too much depleted.

U. S. Takes Woman A United States marshal has taken a local negro woman to Amarrillo in connection with the probe of "black slavery" here. A negro man is in the county jail, being held for federal officers. No charges were filed here.

Belting Stolen Pete Hoffman has reported theft of a 90-foot, 12-inch belt from a pumping well on a Finley lease near LeFors. The belt was slung, rolled up and rolled nearly a mile to a car. Sheriff's deputies are investigating.

Nine More Days There are 9 more days until it is "open season" on persons who lack drivers' and car licenses. The highway patrol is being strengthened to enforce the new laws and there will be no alibis expected. Failure to have the required licenses while driving will result in misdemeanor complaints. Only about 3,000 drivers' licenses—than half—and 2,000 car licenses have been issued at the office of F. E. Leech, tax assessor-collector.

OIL NEWS AND NOTES

Panhandle and Other Fields

NEW FORMULA URGED

AUSTIN, March 20 (AP)—The railroad commission today announced a new formula for prorating production in the Yates field to displace one which certain major companies contended cause inequities.

Three companies offered witnesses in a hearing to substantiate charges that certain acreage leases in the field had received disproportionate amounts of oil under the present method of one-fourth on acreage and three-fourths on potential.

Allocation of the allowable on an acreage basis was proposed. The companies did not formally recommend the change, however, as a part of their protest against the system.

Attorneys for the small tract operators presented no technical testimony but relied upon cross-examination of company witnesses and documentary evidence, including maps of the field, to resist a change.

Witnesses for the California and Marathon Oil companies, the plaintiffs in the new method, alleged the present method caused discrimination. One witness asserted production of about 200,000 barrels from a two-acre lease was "more or less a gift from the production method."

JUNIOR HIGH P-TA CONDUCTS ANNUAL ELECTION OF OFFICERS

NEXT TERM'S PRESIDENT TO BE MRS. LARD

BAND MOTHERS ALSO MEET AND PLAN FOR PARTY

Mrs. Claude Lard was elected president of Junior High Parent-Teacher association for next year to succeed Mrs. Earl H. Eaton, when the nominating committee's report was accepted in a business meeting yesterday afternoon at city hall auditorium.

Mrs. A. C. Green, who this year is finance chairman and formerly headed Horace Mann association, was named vice-president. Mrs. A. C. Houchin was re-elected treasurer. Mrs. S. G. Surratt, of present membership chairman and also treasurer of the Band Mothers club, was elected secretary.

Miss Charlotte Embry is to be historian. Mrs. Don Hurst and Mrs. W. Gorman delegates to the city Parent-Teacher council. The nominating committee included Mrs. F. M. Cuberson, Mrs. Cyril Hamilton, and R. A. Selby.

Principal Selby was the speaker yesterday, discussing the place of the junior high school in the educational system.

"It bridges the gap between elementary grades and high school more completely, and helps to meet peculiar needs of the adolescent age," he said. "It offers a guidance program and develops responsibility. Students of junior high age need plenty of room for play, time for amusement, and the understanding of parents and teachers."

The program opened with an invocation by Mrs. Lard and several numbers by the school band.

The Band Mothers club met preceding the association meeting, and made plans to entertain members of the band and their mothers next month. Mmes. Hamilton, Simons, and Earl Roof were appointed to take charge of arrangements for the event.

Theater Party Is Final Event of Club's Week

Entertainment during national business women's week was ended for Business and Professional Women's club last evening with a theater party arranged by Frances Stark and the program committee.

MENU FOR THE YOUNGER CHILD NEEDS THOUGHT

Food Wholesome But Appetizing Is Suggested

Department of Home Economics Texas State College for Women (CIA)

DENTON, Mar. 20.—The use of certain foods is restricted for children. Among these are stimulating foods, highly seasoned foods, and rich, oily dressings. This, of course rules out the most common of our salad dressings.

Perhaps dressings are not necessary for all children, but for some the use of the right kind may be beneficial. The food value of one dish may be greatly increased for the child who eats little. For others certain foods may be more attractive and may look a little more like those eaten by the older members of the family.

Menus for Eight-Year-Old

Breakfast: 1/2 c. wheatena plus 1-3 c. whole milk, 1 slice whole wheat toast plus 1/2 T. butter, 1 c. milk, 1/2 c. orange juice.

Dinner: 1 lamb chop, 1/2 c. mashed potato, 1-3 c. raw carrot and celery salad—peanut butter dressing, 1 slice bread plus 1/2 T. butter, 1 c. milk, 1/2 c. bread pudding.

Supper: 1/2 c. scalloped peas on toast, 1 c. milk, 1/2 c. buttered peas, 1 slice bread plus 1/2 T. butter, 1 serving fruit salad with golden dressing.

Breakfast: 1/2 c. grapefruit and 1/2 c. whole milk, 1 slice whole wheat toast with 1/2 T. butter, 1 c. cocoa, 1/2 grapefruit.

Dinner: 1 slice liver and bacon, 1/2 c. creamed potatoes, 1/2 c. scalloped tomatoes, 1 slice bread, 1/2 T. butter, 1 c. milk, 1 baked apple.

Supper: 1 c. vegetable soup, 1/2 c. raw carrot and cabbage salad with sour cream dressing, 1 slice bread with 1/2 T. butter, 1 c. milk, 4 dates.

Peanut Butter Dressing: Soften peanut butter with rich sweet milk until of the right consistency to use as a dressing. A small amount of jelly may be added if desired. This dressing is suggested for salads using finely ground carrots in combination with apples, celery, or pineapple.

Golden Dressing: Combine 1 c. pineapple juice 2-3 c. orange juice 1-3 c. lemon juice. Reserve 1-3 c. and send the remainder. Combine 1 T. cornstarch and 1-3 c. fruit juice which has been reserved. Stir into the scalded fruit juices and cook until thick and clear. Add 1/2 c. sugar, stir slowly into 1 egg yolk slightly beaten. Cook a few minutes longer; strain if necessary. Cool. Add a small amount of whipped cream to portions as needed and store remainder in covered jar in refrigerator.

Sour Cream Dressing: 1 c. sour cream, 1-4 lemon (juice), 3 T. sugar. Combine all ingredients, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Use with cabbage, lettuce, or mixed vegetable salads. The lemon and sugar may be varied according to taste and the sourness of the cream.

Interestingly New Coat-Like Frock

Of Wool Crepe — with Effective Crepe Silk Print Contrast

By ELLEN WORTH

Here's something new and spring-like to brighten your mid-season wardrobe. It's honey beige wool crepe with pottery-brown and beige crepe print.

It looks like a redingote. It will fit marvelously into your spring scheme for town. It will take the place of a suit for those first balmy days.

Plain navy blue crepe silk in combination with plain coral crepe is another delightful scheme. It's exceedingly youthful.

By way of another suggestion you can work out smart contrasting effects to remodel last year's dress.

The smart simplicity of today's model makes it very quickly fashioned.

Style No. 1696 is designed for sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46-inches bust. Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards of 39-inch material with 1 1/2 yards of 39-inch contrasting.

Our Illustrated Home Dressmaking Book will enable you to have smart clothes and more of them for less money. Each step in the making of a dress is shown with illustrated diagrams. Send for your copy today.

Price of BOOK 10 cents. Price of PATTERN 15 cents (coin is preferred). Wrap coin carefully.

Dr. Dafoe and the Quins—Merry Comrades All

It's a proud moment for Dr. Dafoe, as he studies the charming girl babies snuggled close to him in the Dionne nursery, and muses over the happiness they have brought to him since their precocious birth 22 months ago. In this appealing photo, the confidence and camaraderie existing between the quins—Marie, Annette, Yvonne, Emilie, and Cecile—and the kindly country physician to whom, in large degree, they owe their well-being, is plainly evident.

Delegates Named To State Music Club Convention

As a delegate to the state convention of music clubs in Fort Worth next month, Treble Clef club elected Miss Frances Stark at its business meeting Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Dave Dodge was named alternate.

Mrs. Jack Horner was appointed club reporter to replace Mrs. Ralph Dunbar, who has been ill and asked that her name be transferred to the associate list.

The business session preceded chorale practice on the operetta, Romance of Kashmir, which is being prepared for music week presentation. All members are being urged to attend practices regularly so the operetta music can be learned soon.

Ridding Home of Insect Pests Is Topic for Club

A better method than swatting the fly was given for destroying these pests by Mrs. Oils Brinkman, Kingsmill club bedroom demonstrator, in the home of Mrs. O. G. Smith Tuesday afternoon.

Solutions were suggested for spraying breeding places of flies and other insects to destroy their eggs, and preparations for killing insects in the home.

Following these demonstrations Mrs. N. B. Cude led a short parliamentary drill. Amusing games and delicious refreshments were enjoyed during the social period.

A demonstration of sponge cake will be given by Miss Ruby M. Adams, county demonstration agent, in an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. Lewis Davis in Empire camp on April 7, next meeting day of the club.

Mrs. Inez Warner, Miss Helen Baird, and Mrs. W. L. Herndon Jr. were visitors Tuesday. Members present were Mmes. Anna Brooks, C. T. Nicholson, George L. Roberts, Cude, Smith, Brinkman, Roy Kretzmeier, Frieda Baer, G. T. Bunch, W. J. Spoonmore, George Nunley, Bill Blair, Chester Nicholson, Davis, J. E. Johnson, E. A. Twentier, A. R. Walberg, S. E. ## Mrs. Hewitt in Grave Condition

JERSEY CITY, N. J., March 20.—The condition of Mrs. Maryon Cooper Hewitt, who recently took a turn for the worse with the development of pneumonia, continued grave today.

Fears that she might not survive were expressed by her physician, Dr. William M. Moody, and Dr. George O'Hanlon, director of the medical center.

She was brought to the hospital Feb. 21 after taking an overdose of a sleeping potion in what police alleged was a suicide attempt.

She is wanted in San Francisco on a mayhem charge for the sterilization of her daughter, Ann.

TOMATO FRIENDSHIP

RUSK, March 20 (AP)—Twenty-three years ago a ten-year-old girl, packing tomatoes at a Maydelle shed, wrote her name and address on a tomato basket. The basket reached a Chicago home and another little girl saw the address and wrote to the little Maydelle girl. There began a friendship which last week brought the Chicago woman to Cherokee county to visit Mrs. Grady Watson of Maydelle.

The Man Who Knows

Whether the Remedy You are taking for Headaches, Neuralgia or Rheumatism Pains is SAFE is Your Doctor. Ask Him

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

BEFORE you take any preparation for the relief of headaches; or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it—in comparison with Genuine Bayer Aspirin.

We say this because, before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin, most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of Bayer Aspirin largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken Bayer Aspirin year in and out without ill effect have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember this: Genuine Bayer Aspirin is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains—and safe for the average person to take regularly.

You can get real Bayer Aspirin at any drug store—simply by never asking for "it" by the name "aspirin" alone, but always saying BAYER ASPIRIN when you buy.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST
901 North Frost Street.
"Matter" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, March 22.
The Golden Text is: "The fashion of this world passeth away" (I Cor. 7:31).
Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "The day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness. (II Peter 3:10, 11).

The lesson-sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "He uttered His voice, the earth melted." This Scripture indicates that all matter will disappear before the supremacy of Spirit. (page 97).
Sunday, 11 a. m.
Sunday school, 9:30 a. m.
Wednesday, 8 p. m. Reading room open Tuesday and Friday 2 to 4 p. m. Lecture, 3:30 p. m., city hall auditorium Sunday, March 22. The public is cordially invited to attend.

FATALITY HURT
PORT WORTH, March 20 (AP)—Miss Claranell Calhoun, 23, was fatally injured when the automobile in which she was riding struck a traffic island post and overturned here early today. Others in the automobile were Raymond Roller, 27, of Whitney, Hill county, who was driving, and Joe Pearce and his sister, Miss Johnnie Pearce, both of Bium.

Dionne Parents To See Babies in Motion Pictures
NEW YORK, March 20 (AP)—The parents of the Dionne quintuplets were in New York today to see their offspring perform in motion pictures.
Oliva and Elzire Dionne also will take in the sights before returning to their home in Canada.
The quintuplets are playing here in the motion picture, "The Country Doctor," part of which was filmed in Callander, Ont., where the quints were born.
Mrs. Dionne said she had seen only three motion pictures in her entire life.

HERE ARE THE REAL FACTS ABOUT BRAN
Brought Out by Tests with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN
Some years ago, there was considerable difference of opinion regarding the use of bran. So to discover the actual facts of the case, the Kellogg Company asked for a series of laboratory tests at leading universities.
Experimental studies on a group of healthy women showed that the continued use of bran was thoroughly satisfactory. Unlike cathartics, it did not lose its effect.
Other independent tests on men indicated that, with certain people, the "bulk" in bran was more effective than that found in fruits and vegetables.
Laboratory analysis proved that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplied vitamin B and iron as well as plenty of bulk. This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is gentle in action. It absorbs a great deal of moisture, and cleanses the intestinal tract.
ALL-BRAN corrects constipation due to insufficient "bulk." It is the natural way—far better than using pills and tablets.
Serve as a cereal— or use in cooking.
Sold by all grocers.
Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

BRANIFF AIRWAYS
Ride the famous "Texas Ranger" from Amarillo to Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston and Brownsville; the "Starlight Express" or "Legislative Special" from Fort Worth to Houston, San Antonio, Corpus Christi and Brownsville and return.
10-passenger planes—two pilots—two motors.
Only two hours and 10 minutes between Amarillo and Fort Worth.
Call Braniff Airways, English Field, Amarillo, or any leading hotel or telegraph office for reservations.

SANTA FE TRAILS AND MCPHERSON REFINERS WILL PLAY IN SEMI-FINALS

BOTH WINNERS WILL COMPETE FOR OLYMPICS

OILERS HAVE AN EASY TIME CAPTURING CAGE TILT

DENVER, March 20. (AP)—Last year's championship teams meet again tonight on the National A. A. U. basketball tournament floor—this time, however, as semi-finalists.

Wearing new regiments but with almost the same lineup as at this time a year ago, the Santa Fe Trails of Kansas City will tangle with the Globe Refiners of McPherson, Kan., whom the Missourians whipped in the final to win the 1935 championship.

The game deciding the one finalist sends the Universal team, Hollywood, against the Western transients of Hutchinson, Kan.

No matter how tomorrow night's struggle for the title comes-out, both teams winning tonight are sure of getting a chance at a trip to the Olympic games.

The champion and runner-up will compete in the trials at New York April 3, 4 and 5, with places on Uncle Sam's Olympic team as the stakes.

Two high-voltage one-point games, one scoring jamhome, and a none-too-brilliant performance by the defending champion, Trails carried the four semi-finalists, all seeded outfits, through the quarter-final playoffs.

The Trails, last place team in the Missouri Valley A. A. U. league this season, and the movie-star sponsored Universals snatched incredible victories split seconds before the last gunshot.

Hutchinson scored a 37-36 victory over Kansas City. Life of Denver.

The Californians won a 31-30 heartbreaker from the Safeways of Denver.

Santa Fe and the Refiners closed the throne room door on the last two college teams left in the meet.

The champions needed all their spirit and finesse to beat Central Missouri Teachers of Warrensburg a cool-headed bunch of youngsters, 34 to 23.

The big, red-clad fellows of McPherson, on the other hand, had a scoring picnic, 67 to 30, against the Greeley, Colo., state team.

Of all the cities in the United States, El Paso, Texas is the most isolated from others. Its nearest neighbor, San Antonio, lies more than 500 miles away.

Insurance for Tigers

COCHRANE SAYS TIGERS ARE BETTER ON BENCH THAN SOME OTHER CLUBS ARE IN FIELD

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Manager Mickey Cochrane thinks so highly of the rookies in the Detroit Tiger spring camp here that he says "we have a better team on the bench than two or three other American league clubs have in the field."

"Our recruits could beat their regulars," said the enthusiastic Mike, without mentioning the names of the teams he had in mind. "We have the best lot of rookies I have ever seen."

York Shows Promise "Rudy York will do all right on first base. He certainly can hit and on top of that he's a good fielder. Chester Leabs is the best natural hitter that I've seen in a long time. He's very fast and has a great throwing arm."

"Dickie Howell (former Alabama grid star) has improved wonderfully since he was with us last spring. He has developed into a good shortstop. He can cover ground, knows what to do with the ball, and there's not a better throwing arm in the American league."

"Gibber English can be used either at second or third base. Don Ross looks great at third. He has a remarkable pair of hands and a powerful throwing arm. He has the earmarks of a good hitter. Chester Moran (like Leabs, an outfield candidate), can hit, but his fielding is not so good."

"With York on first, English on second, Howell at short and Ross on top of that, you have a pretty swell infield. Morgan, Hubert Bates and Laabs will take care of your outfield and you won't have to look far to discover three teams in the league that this outfit could beat."

Cochrane is particularly impressed with Ross, who is hitting the ball hard and fielding in major league style, although he is fresh from Beaumont and just 21. Marvin Owen, regular third-sacker for two seasons, will have to step lively to hold his job, Cochrane intimates.

Mickey, of course, has a few other ball players in camp, fellow like Gehring Simmons, Goslin, Fox, Roseil and a catcher named Cochrane. They haven't done badly the past few years and from all reports should make a strong bid for regular jobs.

FITZ TOPS ALL-TIME HEAVY LIST; JOE LOUIS IS THIRD

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Bob Fitzsimmons, the freckled Cornishman, who left a blacksmith's sledge in Australia to become the kingpin of American prize rings in the '90s, has been named the "world's greatest heavyweight" to date in a consensus compiled by Harry B. Smith, veteran sports editor of the San Francisco Chronicle.

The balloting brought out the opinions of boxing experts from all sections of the country, many of whom were ringsters when the late "Rudy Roberts" was compiling a record that won him titles in the middleweight, light heavyweight and heavyweight divisions.

James J. Jeffries polled a few less votes than Fitzsimmons to become second choice, while Detroit's current negro sensation, Joe Louis, was given third place.

The late James J. Corbett, first heavyweight champion under the Marquis of Queensberry rules, was fourth-place choice, while the man he conquered, the late John L. Sullivan, last title holder under the old London prize ring rules, ranked seventh.

Gene Tunney and his arch rival, Jack Dempsey, rated fifth and sixth positions, respectively. Three negroes, Jack Johnson, the later Peter Jackson and Paddy Sam Langford, round out the "first ten" in the order named.

Fitzsimmons earned his niche in the hall of boxing fame by winning the middleweight crown from Jack Dempsey, the Nonpareil, in 1891, the heavyweight title from Corbett in 1897, and the light heavyweight championship from George Gardner in 1898; after he had lost the heavyweight laurels four years before to Jeffries.

Pitcher Will Likely Sign for About $20,000

(Note: This is one of a series of stories on American Olympic track and field prospects. Written by sports editor of "The Pampa Daily News" in collaboration with this country's foremost track and field coaches.)

BY ALAN GOULD. NEW YORK, March 20. (AP)—The post-war challenge of the British empire to America's supremacy at the non-too-gentle art of hurdling, high or low, should be successfully handled at Berlin this summer.

Barring mishaps and bad racing luck, the U. S. A. figures to sweep the Olympic 100 meter high hurdles and the 400 meters low hurdles for the first time since 1924.

Leading track coaches agree on this forecast, though they are not quite so unanimous when it comes to putting their fingers on the athletes most likely to send the stars and stripes flying highest on the Olympic staff.

Of the three foremost high hurdlers in 1932, Percy Beard of Alabama, the world record holder, has apparently retired; George Saling of Iowa, the Olympic champion in 1928, a victim of an auto accident; and Jack Keller of Ohio State, out of competition for three years, is tentatively essaying a come-back.

Nevertheless the high-hurdling class is the best this country ever has had at one time. "Three legs of the west coast, Roy Elnor and Phil Gope of Southern California, and Leroy Kirkpatrick of San Mateo Junior college, have registered world record performances. Yet it's a question whether any one of the trio is as good in a pinch as Sam Houston's Roy Elnor."

The University of Georgia has developed a sensational lumber topper in lanky Forest Towns, an indoor viceroy over the redoubtable Sam Allen of Oklahoma Baptist. Then there's the veteran Louisianian, Al Moreau, who cleaned up in Europe last summer, and Goodwin, a Penn State college star, and Dan Calderman, Indiana's Big Ten champion.

Five of these boys already have touched world record time of 14.2 seconds in the battle for the three Olympic places available can be gained by the fact that Tom Moore, University of California star, has himself been checked in 14.2 for the high hurdles, has definitely shifted his Olympic aims to the 400 meters low hurdles.

On past performances and experience, Moreau, Allen and Gope seem the best bets to a majority of coaches.

Other possibilities include Oliver of Miami university (Ohio), Johnson of the Olympic club, San Francisco, national junior champion, and perhaps Chick Wallender, the Texas sprint star.

FISHING IN PANHANDLE WILL BE PERMITTED DURING MARCH TRAINING CAMP NOTES

It is permissible to fish in the Panhandle during March, County Attorney Sherman White has been notified by the attorney general's department following his request for a ruling after notification that fishing in the Panhandle was taboo during March, April, and May.

At the request of Panhandle fishermen, the legislature was asked to amend the state law of closing the season throughout the state during March and April and make it April and May in the Panhandle. This was done, but there was a mixup and March was also closed.

The ruling received from Austin reads: "It is my opinion that Chapter 48, Page 1213, Acts Forty-fourth Legislature regular session, is controlling as to the counties enumerated therein. Unquestionably, the patent legislative intent was to permit fishing in such counties during all months except April and May of each year."

Counties affected are: Farmer, Castro, Swisher, Briscoe, Hall, Dear Smith, Randall, Armstrong, Donley, Wheeler, Gray, Carson, Potter, Ogdan, Harjoe, Moore, Hutchinson, Roberts, Hemphill, Lipscomb, Ochiltree, Hansford, Sherman, and Dallam.

SARASOTA—Jimmy Jordan, the Brooklyn second baseman, has a batting average of .526 for exhibition games. He has made ten hits in 19 times up to the date of his yesterday's performance. The Dodgers beat the Tigers 10-4.

LAKELAND—Charley Gehring and Goose Goslin of the Tigers already are figuring on fattening the home run totals this year, with the construction of new stands in Navin field. Detroit, Charley hit 19 home runs last year and a dozen other drives would have landed in the laps of fans if the present bleachers had been there.

PASADENA—The drudgery of routine workouts ends for the White Sox today. The club meets Los Angeles Saturday at Bernardino in the opening game of an exhibition tour. Jimmy Dykes said he would start Marshall Mauldin in center field, giving that rookie his big chance.

NEW ORLEANS—Willis Hudlin, the veteran pitcher of the Cleveland Indians, was slated to get his first bit of spring action against the Cubs here today. He is the only one of the Tribe's 17 hurlers who is yet to take the mound in any game.

Australia May Own Planes VIENNA (AP)—Steadily declining beer consumption in Austria is severely affecting this country's 104 breweries, the majority of which long ago were reduced to part-time. The 1935 wine crop added to their troubles so that several smaller breweries closed and others turned to the production of vinegar and other by-products of wine.

APRIL 5 SET AS DEADLINE IN BALL LOOP

FIVE SOFTBALL TEAMS JOIN LEAGUE IN THIS AREA

April 5 has been set as the deadline to enter teams in the City Playground Ball league which got under way last night at a meeting in the First Christian church. Turner Ferrell was named head of the proposed league. The league council will be composed of the president and team managers.

Five teams, representing the First Baptist church, First Christian church, Coltex Carbon of LeFors, Skelly Oil company, and King Royalty company, entered the league last night. They set April 6 the date for a meeting to draw up a schedule and April 14 for the opening games.

Other churches, companies, stores or individuals planning to place teams in the league should get in touch with President Ferrell at the Green Lantern Coffee shop in the First National bank building. If enough teams enter, and some of them are not considered strong enough to compete with the "cream of the crop" a junior league will be organized.

Representatives at last night's meeting included J. R. Foster, Turner Ferrell, J. J. Maxey, Joe Smith, and D. B. Jameson. W. R. Hallmark will manage the Baptist church team. D. B. Jameson will be in charge of the King Royalty company team. Turner Ferrell will be at the head of the Christian church group. Other managers will be named later.

Other possibilities include Oliver of Miami university (Ohio), Johnson of the Olympic club, San Francisco, national junior champion, and perhaps Chick Wallender, the Texas sprint star.

SAM HOUSTON BALL CLUB IN FIRST PLACE

The Sam Houston playground ball team in the ward school league stood alone in first place in the junior division after second round of play on Wednesday afternoon. The Horace Mann team was perched in the same position in the senior section.

The Sam Houston juniors took an 18 to 5 tilt from the Horace Mann team but the Horace Mann seniors swamped the Sam Houston team 18 to 4. Woodrow Wilson took two games from Baker, the seniors winning by a score of 19 to 10 and the juniors by a 21 to 11 score.

H. Meyers pitched sensational ball for the Sam Houston juniors. C. J. Chasser was being the bat. D. C. Vaughn and F. Vaughn worked the losers. N. Glemmons and J. Keenan worked for the Horace Mann seniors, opposed by B. Stripling and M. D. Snyder.

The game between the Woodrow Wilson and Baker seniors was much closer than the score indicates. Heasley hurled for the winners with Shirley his battery mate. Poe and Allison worked for the losers.

The memorial tower to be erected jointly by the national and state governments and the City of Houston in honor of the Texans who fought at the Battle of San Jacinto, April 21, 1836, will be higher than the Washington monument. It will cost approximately $1,000,000.

The Houston Buffs defeated 5 to 4 by the Chicago Cubs yesterday in their opening exhibition game, were up against stiff competition in their contest with the University of Texas team at Austin, and the Beaumont Exporters faced the Texas Aggies at Beaumont. The teams will play again tomorrow.

The San Antonio Missions, in training at Laredo, will open their exhibition season tomorrow at San Antonio with the Pittsburgh Pirates. Intra-club play continued to be the main item on the Dallas team's program at Longview as the Steers prepared for their first exhibition game Sunday at Dallas with the Syracuse Chiefs.

The Tulsa Oilers' program called for routine practice with emphasis on hitting and pitching. Harold Patchett, outfielder, has joined the squad at Seguin. Division of the Galveston Buccaneers into two squads was ordered today. Manager Jack Mealey said the division was ordered so that young pitchers could work in the morning and the veterans in the afternoon.

Victories Would Be First Since 1924

BRADENTON, Fla., March 20. (AP)—Dizzy Dean let it be understood today his promise to love, honor and obey the St. Louis Cardinal high command is "out" as far as signing a contract at club terms is concerned.

Just as the ace pitcher seemed ready to end his protracted holdout, "Old Diz" talked to President Sam Breadon about his 1936 salary. Breadon named an undisclosed figure. Dizzy promptly balked.

Matters apparently stood unchanged—Dizzy wanting $40,000 a year—the cards offering $18,500. The consensus among training camp observers was that the club will yield a little and Dizzy will sign for about half the sum he says he is worth.

DALLAS, March 20. (AP)—Paul (Gaffy) Dean still a holdout after another exchange of disagreements with the St. Louis Cardinal management, indicated today he would remain out of baseball unless he gets a salary hike.

Paul, watching with interest brother J. Herman (Dizzy) Dean's negotiations with the Cardinals at Bradenton, Fla., revealed he had received a telegram from President Sam Breadon saying the club would not be able to hike his salary above previous offers.

"I merely replied by wire that I was sorry we were unable to get together," Paul said.

The offer was understood to be $9,500 for the season. Paul wants $15,000.

Strong teams are entered from Brownwood, Denton, Estelline, Fort Arthur, Rising Star, Waurika, Okla., Lubbock, Greenville and several others.

The list of individual entries stood well past the 800-mark. Eight major schools—Oklahoma A. & M., University of Oklahoma, Texas A. & M., University of Texas, Southern Methodist university, Texas Christian university, Texas Tech and Baylor university—have entered squads in the university class.

Twelve teams are listed in the college division, eight in the junior college class, eleven in the prep school and academy division. Eleven pentathlon candidates were also on the books Friday and more expected.

FORT WORTH'S TRACK EVENTS START TODAY

62 TEXAS, OKLAHOMA HIGH SCHOOLS IN SHOW FEATURE

FORT WORTH, March 20. (AP)—Four hundred athletes, carrying the colors of 62 Texas and Oklahoma high schools, will battle time, distance and height this afternoon in the preliminaries of the fourteenth annual Southwestern Exposition track and field meet.

Competition in the other five divisions—university, college, junior college, prep school and municipal pentathlon—will start tomorrow morning.

Out of the field of scholastic candidates, a hundred or so will qualify for the semi-finals tomorrow morning. Preliminaries in the other divisions will be held at that time and all finals will be staged tomorrow afternoon starting at 1 o'clock.

The scramble for points in the high school class in past years has produced the hottest competition of the meet. Last year the Abilene Eagles won this division. A new champion probably will be crowned among the scholastic teams this year as Coach Dewey Mayhew of the Eagles ended only two boys this year.

Controversy Over Sprinting Twins Began Year Ago

FORT WORTH, March 20 (AP)—A dispute between Abilene Christian college and North Texas Teachers college of Denton flared anew today when Coach J. Eddie Weems of A. C. C. withdrew his varsity and freshman teams from the Southwestern Exposition track and field meet.

The controversy started a year ago when Delmer and Elmer Brown, crack sprinters, withdrew from A. C. C. to enter North Texas. They had already competed as freshmen and one year as varsity men at the Abilene school. North Texas authorities and the Lone Star conference, of which the school is a member, ruled the twins eligible for either freshman or varsity competition at the Denton institution. Eagle officials decided they must compete as freshmen and they were entered as such in the exposition meet.

R. D. Evans, director of the meet here, was sent an official ruling by the president of the Lone Star conference. Since the exposition meet rule is that athletes eligible at their own school and in their own conference are eligible here, he had no other alternative than to let the Browns compete in the freshman class.

He so informed Weems by telegram Friday and the withdrawal of A. C. C. followed.

"It is highly regrettable," Evans said, "but my hands were tied."

FLOODS

destitution in the wake of falling ones.

Dam Causes Panic

New England saw some Massachusetts cities under military police protection against vandalism. Large parts of Springfield, Lawrence, Lowell and Haverhill, Mass., cities with a total population of 400,000, were under water.

The homeless were put in 100,000; the three-day death toll at 11.

Guardsmen were on duty in all six states; dozens of localities had no light or gas; the Connecticut menaced Hartford with a new crest; the Merrimack rising, tore down bridge after bridge.

In Maine, guardsmen were called to quell a panic caused by false "dam broken" reports.

A $100,000 carpet mill fire harassed flood-stricken Warren, Mass. Concord, New Hampshire's capital faced another lightless night, with candles selling for a half dollar apiece. There was gas, either.

Telephone service in Hartford collapsed in part. Motor vehicles except trucks bearing perishables, were ordered off flooded streets. With a record crest approaching, water crept up on Main street on two sides—from the Connecticut and Park rivers; many manufacturers suspended operations and train trolley and light service was crippled.

Three persons were missing; no one knew how many had been forced from their homes, but officials estimated 15 per cent of Hartford was under water.

Fourteen New England towns had no telephone service.

The menace of disease followed the flood-terror at Pittsburgh where Red Cross officials rushed anti-toxins into the city and suburban areas. With increasing danger of water shortage, it was held possible that some zones might be quarantined. The death toll stood at 45 by mid-morning.

As residents of Johnstown dug themselves out of their flood-besieged dwellings and shelters, the spectre of financial failure faced countless of the city's businessmen.

Many, heavily mortgaged during the depression, were considering letting their businesses go by default. The mayor said that only about $250,000 worth of the estimated $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 damage was covered by insurance.

From Wilkes-Barre, ravaged by the Susquehanna, came descriptions of marooned families with no food or water. One witness told of residents fashioning crude hooks with which to grapple bananas and oranges floating past the windows of their flooded homes.

At Williamsport, where five were reported dead, the flood waters gradually abated after a 36-foot high level of the Susquehanna yesterday afternoon.

Gov. Earle of Pennsylvania ordered state "red tape" cut to aid flood sufferers.

The U. S. weather bureau at Washington said that "the potomac and all its tributaries are falling, and the rate of fall will increase tonight and tomorrow."

Marietta Prepared

The incoming Ohio found Marietta, O., Huntington, Parkersburg, Point Pleasant, W. Va., and other cities prepared with mobilized armies of rescuers and workers, boarded up windows and low-land dwellers evacuated.

They were forewarned by the rate of the industrial upper valley, where more than 20,000 were homeless and property damage estimates exceeded $10,000,000.

The Wheeling area, with 17 dead, still was sloshed by falling waters. Brilliant, O., was completely submerged. Its railroad station floated away. The water fell at Weilsburg, W. Va., where it had been 22 feet feet in the streets. Thousands were immobilized against typhoid in the Wheeling-Steubenville, O., region.

Downstream, near-crest waters of eight to ten feet poured through Marietta business streets, into the city hall basement.

At historic Harpers Ferry, on the falling Potomac, the mayor commandeered grocery stock and ordered the entire population of 705 persons inoculated against typhoid.

ASKS CONTRIBUTION

AUSTIN, March 20 (AP)—Gov. James V. Allred appealed today for contributions to the National Red Cross to aid flood sufferers in the east.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP)—The stock market made a feeble attempt to resume its forward push today, but profit taking obstacles intervened.

Only scattered mines, oils and specialties were able to flourish plus signs at the irregular close. Both buying and selling was comparatively dull, however, and transfers approximated only 1,950,000 shares.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 20 (AP)—Season low price records in oats broken for the third successive day did much to drag all grains lower today.

Oats were under persistent pressure from houses with connections northwest. Sales of large quantities of oats into store here indicated preparations for heavy deliveries on Chicago May oats contracts.

Wheat closed unsettled 1/2 to 1 cent under yesterday's finish, May 94 1/2-%, July 88 1/2-%, corn 1/2-% down, May 89 1/2, oats 1/4-% off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 15 cents.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 20 (AP)—The market retained its early gains during the morning and in few cases extended them a point or two.

May sold at 10.92, July at 10.58, Oct. at 10.19 and Jan. at 10.18.

WOOL

BOSTON, March 20 (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

"The wool market is distinctly dull. Sales have been chiefly in foreign wools which show little change.

"Manufacturers are finding new business slow and specifications against old orders are delayed for the time being. Not a few mills are shut down on account of flood conditions, although no serious loss-to-plants are reported.

"Foreign markets are very firm and if anything rather against the buyers.

"In the west there is scattered buying in a small way at slightly lower prices.

"Mohair is quite but very firm. The bulletin will publish the following quotations:

Domestic:

Soured basis:

Texas: Fine 12 months (selected) 90-92; fine short twelve months 88-90; fine 8 months 83-85; fall 79-80.

Mohair:

Domestic, good original bag, Texas as spring, 58-60 cents; Texas kid, 68-70; Arizona and New Mexican, 53-55; Oregon, 55-57.

Work Party Called

The Pampa Rifle club will start spring activities Sunday morning at 9 o'clock with a work party at the range a mile east of the Dandiger refinery. Members will oil up the targets, repair the pits and shooting boxes and be ready for the first shoot of the season at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

W. H. Seyffert Jr. underwent an emergency appendectomy at Pampa-Jarratt hospital yesterday afternoon.

WENDOVER, Utah, March 20

(AP)—Two men were killed and four others injured in the explosion of a Western Pacific railroad locomotive at Silver Zone, Nev., 24 miles west of here, this morning. The dead are C. E. Deckendorf, 63, brakeman of Elko, Nev., and G. F. Howell, 27, brakeman, also of Elko.

They were riding in the cupola of a caboose on eastbound freight train No. 62 when a "helper" locomotive, pushing back of the train, exploded. The force of the explosion thrust forward, ripping the top off the caboose.

Fred Black, Elko, conductor, and O. C. Cherry, Elko, special agent, riding in the caboose, were scalded by live steam pouring from the engine boilers. The force of the explosion passed over their heads.

WONT ADOPT BABY

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP)—Former Mayor James J. Walker, and his wife, the former Betty Compton, had decided today to forego the happiness they contemplated in the adoption of a five weeks old girl. The Walkers had taken preliminary steps to adopt the baby in Chicago but the former mayor announced last night that because of the publicity they had cancelled their plans.

Visitor To Preach

The Rev. Warwick Aiken of Plainview will conduct services at St. Matthew's Episcopal church here Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. It was announced today Mr. Aiken is rector of the Episcopal church in Plainview.

Lloyd Grove of San Angelo, field agency representative for the Western Reserve Life Insurance company, is a Pampa visitor for a few days. He brings greetings from Dr. and Mrs. Hooper, now residents of San Angelo, to their friends here.

Texas Leads in Home Building

SAN ANTONIO, March 20 (AP)—Texas now leads all other states in the building of new homes and the peak of this new construction should be reached in approximately two years.

This was the statement of B. H. Wooten declared, "particularly in the federal district home loan bank who is in San Antonio to attend the 15th annual convention of the Texas building and loan league.

"This business outlook is good," Wooten declared, "particularly in the building industry, and this is substantiated by the increased demand for loans. More than 75 per cent of all loans made through us and our affiliates are spent for new construction, principally homes."

The bank president forecast 300,000 new homes through the United States within the next two years, and declared that Texas should share largely in this development.

In an annex, the four powers agreed that should Hitler spurn the plan, Great Britain and Italy, as guarantors of the Locarno pact, immediately would inform France and Belgium that they would come to their assistance in a manner jointly approved.

This duty, however, would be reciprocal and would oblige France and Belgium to come to the assistance of Italy and Great Britain to resist unprovoked German aggression.

The general staffs of the nations concerned would be instructed to take immediately such measures as the circumstances dictate.

The arrangement, in effect, becomes a super military alliance, since the Locarno pact provided guarantees only for Germany, Belgium, and France, in case of attacks.

France, Belgium, Great Britain, and Italy affirm that the Locarno pact still remains in force and stipulate that the general staffs of the four countries make immediate contact to arrange technical conditions for carrying out obligations in case of unprovoked aggression.

The Locarno powers, under the plan, invite Germany to submit the Franco-Soviet pact to the Hague court and agree to abide by the court's decision.

Until negotiations for a new security plan are worked out, Germany would be required to suspend its military reoccupation of the

Governor Seeks Jafsie Interview

TRENTON, N. J., March 20 (AP)—Governor Harold Hoffman still sought today to arrange an interview with Dr. John F. Condon, Lindbergh intermediary, in the short time left before Bruno Hauptmann's scheduled execution date.

The governor has expressed a willingness to interview Dr. Condon at his home in the Bronx if Jafsie is unwilling to come to New Jersey. He said he would want a stenographic record of all proceedings.

Yesterday Attorney General David Wilentz, who prosecuted Hauptmann, spent an hour with Jafsie at his Bronx home in what he described as a "social visit."

He would not comment on Dr. Condon's plans when asked if he planned to see Governor Hoffman.

NO COMMENT

DENTON, March 20 (AP)—North Texas Teachers college officials made no comment today on the reported withdrawal of the Abilene Christian college track and field team from the Southwest Exposition track meet at Fort Worth. The Abilene team gave as its reason the presence of three former Abilene college athletes, now North Texas transfers, being entered in the freshman division of the meet.

Grand Champion Steer Sells for $1.40 Per Pound

FORT WORTH, March 20 (AP)—The Twin, grand champion steer of the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show, was sold on the auction block today to the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial for $1.40 a pound. It was the highest price paid for a grand champion in three years.

The bidding started at 75 cents. Amon G. Carter submitted the winning bid. The steer is to be turned over to the Fort Worth club.

The auction of prize winning livestock featured the Friday program at the show, which also was designated as school day, Graham day and Burk Burnett day.

The grand champion steer is a Hereford, exhibited by the Duncan ranch of Oklahoma City and was estimated to weigh 1,228 pounds after shrinkage. This will bring a total price of $1,439.20.

The Champion club calf, exhibited by Marvin McMillan Jr., 4-II club boy of Mason, brought 40 cents a pound and was purchased by the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. It will weigh 946 pounds after shrinking.

CCC CAMPS TO GO

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—Senator Tom Connally (D., Tex.) said today emergency conservation work officials had advised him 20 CCC camps in Texas would be abolished April 1. They are: Livingston, Bartlett, Wolfe City, Bogota, Amarillo, Jacksonville, Gatesville, Taylor, Sherman, Cooper, Floresville, Bonham, Bastrop, Lake Corpus Christi state park, Sweetwater state park, Lubbock, Paris, Karvill, Mary No. 2 at Fort Sam Houston.

Mrs. E. F. Adams and daughter, Mary Lou Adams, are visiting Mrs. Adams' mother in Fort Worth this week.

WILDLIFE CONFERENCE FOR TEXAS

After several false starts, the fishing season in this district has started. But there will be no fishing in the district in April and May. The NEWS was told yesterday by Chas. Smith of Canadian, game warden.

Mr. Smith is hoping that a number of residents of his district will go to Austin March 27-28 for the Texas Wildlife conference. In proclaiming this event, Governor James V. Alford said, in part:

"In no other state of the union is there greater need for an awakened sentiment and effort for preservation of the lures of our out-of-doors, than in our great state of Texas. No other state can contribute so much to the national wildlife restoration movement. Here an increasing army of hunters, fishermen, and trappers, unwise land use, destruction of forests, and many other factors are threatening the security of our wildlife supply. Any diminishing of our bird, mammal, and fish life not only affects the opportunities that should be vouchsafed for the 600,000 hunters, fishermen, and trappers of this state, but to the hundreds of thousands of nature lovers. Important as are the recreational opportunities, more compelling, perhaps, is the economic use of this natural resource. The U. S. department of agriculture estimates that the annual direct and indirect values of the wildlife resources of Texas is in excess of 90 millions of dollars. Texas hunters and fishermen are pouring into the channels of trade more than $25,000,000 annually. . . . Never was a time more appropriate for Texas to give attention to its wildlife resources than during this, our Centennial year, remembering as we must that it was the plenitude of game within our borders that made possible the achievements of our pioneer forebears."

The justification for the Texas conference on wildlife conservation and restoration may well be seen in the following facts:

• Texas ranks first in the annual value of its wildlife resources.

• Texas has a greater variety of wildlife than any other state.

• Texans shoot more game than is shot in any other state.

• Texas wildlife resources are valued at more than $90,000,000.00 annually.

• Texas sportsmen are spending more than $25,000,000.00 annually on hunting and fishing.

• Farmers and ranchmen of Texas make a greater profit in the aggregate from the wildlife that inhabits their land than is made by landowners in any other state.

• Texas is the first state of the Union in rural population; it is fifth in general population.

• Texas ranks nineteenth in the amount of revenue that is provided for restoration and administration of its wildlife resources.

• In many sections of Texas the original wildlife abundance has reached the state of actual depletion.

• A number of valuable species of this State, with abundant opportunity for increase, are scarcely holding their own—among them the Mountain sheep, pronghorn antelope, prairie chickens.

• There has been little legislative effort to coordinate and simplify wildlife regulations in Texas.

• There has been no successful effort in this State to provide the flexible laws with which wildlife emergencies might be met.

• The valiant efforts of a few forward-looking lawmakers, without general public support, has been unavailing in providing the governmental recognition which the wildlife resources of this State deserve and require.

• Because of favorable climate, our great size, the individual efforts which many landowners have initiated, and the remnant of wildlife which we have available for restoration efforts, more can be accomplished in Texas, if a start is made now, than in any other state making equal expenditures.

• It cannot be expected that dormant public sentiment, and efforts of separate and independently working groups will accomplish the task. It is a job for everyone who is interested in any phase of wildlife development, whether from the viewpoint of the recreationist, landowner or industrialist. It is a problem to be considered both from its potentialities for future happiness and future economic prosperity of our people.

• The future security of our wildlife can be provided if all groups, and all citizens who should be interested in the valuable natural resources of this State, will meet and counsel together, and join their forces and purposes of immediate action. There is need for larger funds for wildlife; there is need for better education; there is need for long-time planning. Without adequate organization it cannot be expected that there will for a long time be the general public awakening that is required for wildlife conservation and restoration. It is a job that is worthy of the Texans who are this year celebrating the achievements of those who made Texas independent. While we are celebrating our hundred years of progress we should guarantee to the youths of the future, the heritage of the up-of-doors of which we are the temporary custodians. We have used much of the heritage that was given us. There will be much more which we may use and enjoy if we assume the full task of conservation and restoration.

CAPITOL JIGSAW

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, March 19. (AP)—The board of control has found it must be diplomatic when dealing with art and artists. It also has to watch its step in matters of history and heroes. These things have been demonstrated in the practical business of laying a new floor in the Capitol and constructing the state building at the Centennial exposition at Dallas.

Plans called for bronze statues of Sam Houston, Mirabeau B. Lamar, Stephen F. Austin, William Barret Travis, Thomas J. Rusk and James W. Fannin to be placed near the entrance of the state building. There was no serious hitch until the subject of Houston's dress arose. Then trouble began.

Pompeo Coppini, New York artist, constructed a model showing Houston in the full dress of his day. Relatives of the great Texan agreed the model conformed to pictures of him and thought formal dress a very good idea. The board of control, however, knowing its public, decided the general conception of the way Houston dressed should not be tampered with, and, therefore, the model was ordered redone to give him a more conservative suit.

One other detail in connection with the statues had to be settled but the board gave it only passing thought. An historian wanted to leave Houston out of the group. Now the question has arisen what decorations shall go into the beautiful new terrazzo floor to be constructed soon at a cost of approximately $27,000. Terrazzo is formed of irregular bits of marble laid in cement and usually is in decorative patterns.

The original idea was to place the names of 12 Texas heroes in the flooring of the main vestibule leading to the rotunda but objection was raised that Texans wouldn't like to walk on these names and the board agreed. Substitution of names of 12 battles in the War for Independence is being considered. Tentative plans for the rotunda feature of a great state seal with its single star surrounded by the seals of France, Spain, Mexico, the Confederacy and the United States, representing Texas' several governments. A suggestion for a design including the flags of these countries was discarded immediately as certain to meet criticism.

Woman in Doll Baby' Case Is Found Guilty

DORCHESTER, N. B., March 20 (AP)—New Brunswick's celebrated "Doll Baby" case brought Mrs. May Bannister, convicted of harboring a kidnapped child, face to face today with a possible maximum sentence of three and one half years imprisonment.

A jury of twelve men found the woman guilty Wednesday of this charge, but decided her innocent of two more serious charges—the actual kidnaping of Betty Ann Lake and taking her child unlawfully with intent to deprive the parents. She will be sentenced later.

The blue-eyed doll which figured in the case was tucked away and the baby it resembled rested in the care of welfare workers as a 12-day case began in the series of three trials arising from the backwoods kidnapping and slayings.

Mrs. Bannister's 19-year-old son Arthur awaits a mandatory death sentence upon conviction of murdering the kidnapped baby's father, and Lake's other son, Daniel, 26, will face trial March 31 on a similar charge. Lake was shot and left to burn in his flaming cabin Jan. 8, the night his infant daughter was stolen, his housekeeper, Bertha Ring was slain and her son Jackie left to die in a snowdrift.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Oscar has gone to Bette Davis's house to stay.

Oscar—the name bestowed by Hollywood's irreverent upon the gold-plated brass statuettes awarded by the movie academy for achievement—went to Bette with an unexpressed apology from filmland.

Brown-haired Bette, who recently gave up artificial blondness, could take Oscar or leave him alone. Of course, when the money in her bank account assembled announced to itself that Bette was his choice for 1935's best actress, Bette graciously accepted.

The benefits Oscar brings to his winners year after year are reams of publicity. Bette got more of that last year through not winning the award than she would have had by winning it. So many people thought her performance in "Of Human Bondage" excelled that of Claudette Colbert in "It Happened One Night" that Bette won the fanfare, although Claudette took the Oscar.

Tactful Apology

Giving the token to Bette for "Dangerous" this year, the academy not only recognized new work but tacitly apologized for its inability to select both her and Claudette last year.

Bette is 25, much older than Oscar. But Oscar was famous when Bette (from Boston via New York) came to town in 1930. She and Oscar lived in different worlds. Bette was yielded as screen material after her first start, but George Arliss kept her from leaving town. He asked for her for "The Man Who Played God."

That was the beginning—and the end is not yet in sight. She keeps improving as an actress and as a personality. She is much more sure of herself now, for one thing, than she was when she used to play his Bette took Oscar home to a little house on Franklin avenue in Hollywood, where the maid always answers the telephone with "This is the Nelson residence."

Marriage Also Career

Bette, who married her childhood sweetheart, Harmon O. Nelson, the orchestra leader, is said by friends to be as intent on a successful marriage as on a successful acting career. "Ham" has his work. Bette has her work, and both are trying to be very good at the thing they are doing. Aside from that, they are Mr. and Mrs. Nelson: which sums up that.

Mr. Nelson likes golf, and Mrs. Nelson doesn't. But Oscar—if he should stand on the mantel as he probably won't—will hear Mr. Nelson tell his golf stories to a sincerely interested Mrs. Nelson.

And if Oscar gets ensconced in the dining room, his gold-plated lips are likely to water, especially on Saturdays. Mrs. Nelson, who doesn't care much for night clubs but likes good food and a nice home and nice clothes, entertains her family and intimates every Saturday with an old-fashioned Boston bean dinner—with apple sauce and brown bread and whipped cream.

International Sunday School Lesson

By DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: Jesus Teaches True Values.

Scripture Lesson: Luke 12:22-34 (Revised Version)

22. And he said unto his disciples, Therefore I say unto you, Be not anxious for your life, what ye shall eat; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on.

23. For the life is more than the food, and the body more than the raiment.

24. Consider the ravens, that they sow not, neither reap; which have no store-chamber nor barn; and God feedeth them: of how much more value are ye than the birds.

25. And which of you by being anxious can add a cubit unto the measure of his life?

26. If then ye are not able to do even that which is least, why are ye anxious concerning the rest?

27. Consider the lilies, how they grow: they toil not, neither do they spin; yet I say unto you, Even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.

28. But if God doth so clothe the grass in the field, which is, and tomorrow is cast into the oven; how much more shall he clothe you, O ye of little faith?

29. And seek not ye what ye shall eat, and what ye shall drink, neither be ye of doubtful mind.

30. For all these things do the nations of the world seek after; but your Father knoweth that ye have need of these things.

31. Yet seek ye his kingdom, and these things shall be added unto you.

32. Fear not, little flock; for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom.

33. Sell that which ye have, and give alms; make for yourselves purses which wax not old, a treasure in the heavens that faileth not, where no thief draweth near, neither moth destroyeth.

34. For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.

Golden Text: Seek ye first his kingdom and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.—Matthew 6:33.

Christ's Warning Against Covetousness—Luke 12:13-34

While our Lord was speaking on the loftiest themes, he was suddenly interrupted by an unnamed man of the multitude who asks him to make a decision on a very personal problem involving himself and his brother. "He does not ask Jesus to arbitrate between him and his brother, but to give a decision against his brother. There is no evidence that the brother consented to arbitration."—Alfred Plummer. Jesus did not come to invade the office of constituted authority and here refused to hand down a decision, but he does take the opportunity of warning the multitude against the sin of covetousness, of which this man surely was guilty.

The Parable of the Rich Fool
Luke 12:15-21

"Take heed and beware of covetousness." The warning against covetousness was followed immediately by a parable illustrating the teaching. The man of whom Jesus speaks was rich, he must have been a hard worker, as his harvest indicates, and he certainly watched over his estate with care. It was right that he should avoid waste. On the other hand, there was no recognition of God in his thinking; he ignored the needs of his fellowmen, especially the poor; he thought he could satisfy his soul with material things. "The man was a great dinner table or a great wine-cellar. He told his soul that it would find heaven in the barn." How many are attempting today to satisfy the soul which was made for God with the material things of this world? "When God says, 'I want you tonight,' you cannot write an excuse."—Joseph Parker

"Stripped naked, a bare desolate soul, he passes from our sight, lost in the darkness of eternal remorse, his own voice still dolefully echoing the condemning voice of God, his own soul saying, 'Thou fool, thou fool.'—See Matt. 6:20-21. Col. 3:1-2—Marcus Dods.

"Be Not Anxious"
Luke 12:22-24

"And he said unto his disciples, Therefore I say unto you, Be not anxious for your life, what ye shall eat; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on." The very word from a root meaning "to be drawn in different directions," "to divide" and thus a person who is given to anxiety is one whose strength and attention are always divided. "Consider the ravens, that they sow not, neither reap; which have no store-chamber nor barn; and God feedeth them; of how much more value are ye than the birds." He did not mean to say that we are to sit down and expect God to feed us, as he feeds the birds. He said they sow not, they reap not, they have no store-chamber, and yet God feeds them. But we can sow and reap and have barns; and we ought to sow and reap and have barns; and, if God cares for the birds who have no thought and rationality, how much more will he feed us to whom he has given foresight and rationality."—G. Campbell Morgan.

"Consider the Lilies"
Luke 12:27-28

"Consider the lilies, how they grow: they toil not, neither do they spin, yet I say unto you, Even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these." But if God doth so clothe the grass in the field, which today is, and tomorrow is cast into the oven; how much more shall he clothe you, O ye of little faith?" In Palestine, wood being so exceedingly scarce, grass was often used for fuel. "If God so clothe the lilies, which can neither toil or spin, how much more will he clothe us, to whom he has given the capacity for toiling and the capacity for spinning. Supposing the day comes when I cannot toil and spin, and I cannot sow and reap, and gather into barns, then, when I cannot, God can; and I am safe in every way."—G. Campbell Morgan.

Spiritual Values First
Luke 12:29-30

"And seek not ye what ye shall eat, and what ye shall drink, neither be ye of doubtful mind." This verse is commonly and strangely ignored by most commentators. It cannot mean that we are not to devote ourselves to remunerative labor by which we are to obtain the means for our anxious care. Life but it does mean that we are not to seek these things in the spirit of anxiety and faithlessness, about which the Lord has just been speaking. "For all these things do the nations of the world seek after; but your Father knoweth that ye have need of these things." "The clear and blessed faith in our Father settles all anxious care. Why should we be anxious if we know that we have a Father in Heaven, and that he knows our needs? He made the needs and will send the supply. My wants so far as God has made me to feel them, are prophecies of God's gifts. He has made them as doors by which he will come in and bless me. Trust is the only reasonable temper for a child of such a Father. Anxious care is a denial of his love of knowledge or power."—Alexander McLaren.

"Fear Not"—Luke 12:32

"It is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom." v. 32. Untroubled and unfeared will be those who devote their lives to God and doing good. The flock may be little in number and resources, and it may be exposed to dangers seen and unseen; but it need not whiten-and-treble with fear a single moment. The Heavenly Father here and now will give food and raiment and protection and in due time also his eternal kingdom. "In this text we find three names for God, three names for ourselves and three relations between God and ourselves, which are rich in meaning—Shepherd, King, Father; sheep, subjects, children; Shepherd and sheep, king and subjects, Father and children."—The Speaker's Bible.

"A Treasure in the Heavens"
Luke 12:33

"Make for yourselves purses which wax not old, a treasure in the heaven that faileth not, where no thief draweth near, neither moth destroyeth." (See especially Matt. 6:20-21). This might truly be called the "banking law of heaven." There alone can our investments be safe for time and eternity. No moth nor rust can consume the treasure that is stored there. No thief nor gang of robbers can dig through the jasper walls and steal our heavenly deposits. But how can one store treasure in heaven? The master

Tree-Planting Is Progressing In Shelterbelt

LINCOLN, Neb., March 29 (AP)—Shelterbelt officials announced today 41 crews of workers have planted 190 miles of shelterbelt trees in Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas and rapidly are expanding operations.

In Nebraska where the work has been under way only a short time, two crews have planted three miles of trees. Fifteen crews soon will be at work. In Kansas, 17 miles have been planted by 15 crews, in Oklahoma, 89 miles have been planted by 11 crews. Thirteen crews planted 81 miles in Texas.

The full quota of 1936 planting—1,424 miles—probably will be completed in Texas and Oklahoma by the first week in April, in Kansas and Nebraska by mid-April or early May and in North and South Dakota by June 1.

Officials said applications for 1,500 miles of planting have been received from farmers for 1937.

RUST, WHEAT'S OLD ENEMY, IN AMBUSH FOR 1936 CROP

BY STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH, Associated Press Science Writer.

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—The annual race has started between growing wheat and the rusts which threaten to decimate the crop.

Pathologists of the United States department of agriculture explain that the kind of weather occurring between now and harvest largely will influence where serious outbreaks of the fungus may take place and how wide-spread they will be. Beyond this, the experts decline to make any predictions.

Rust spreads faster when the weather is warm and moist than when it is cool and dry. Dr. H. H. Humphrey, principal pathologist in the division of cereal crops and diseases, declared:

Spores Are Wind Borne.

Stem rust of wheat, one of the most vicious of the cereal rusts, occurs in every part of the world where wheat is grown. The tiny spores can be carried thousands of miles by air currents. Dr. Humphrey declared that in one outbreak in the north central states stem rust alone destroyed 180,000,000 bushels of wheat.

This rust, as well as the others, is caused by a tiny, parasitic moldlike fungus which attacks all parts of the wheat plant above ground. The spores fall on the plant and send out one or two germ tubes which enter it through the breathing pores, inside they develop through their life cycle using nourishment drawn from the plant, finally breaking through the epidermis as nodules filled with the next generation of spores.

Dr. Humphrey pointed out that the stem rust spores have two stages, red, which normally is found through the summer, and black, which usually appears when the wheat starts to ripen.

Infect Barberry Bush.

The black spores will not germinate immediately, but generally remain on straw or stubble throughout the winter and cannot infect grains or grasses of the barberry bush which in turn produce the spores dangerous to growing crops.

Because of this peculiarity the rust problem in southern states is a complicated one, Dr. Humphrey said. "In the southern states rust seldom develops on barberry bushes because the black spores are formed in May or early June and cannot survive the long hot summers," he said.

The red spores, however, are produced continually throughout the year and the life of the rust is, therefore, independent of the barberries in those states.

Spending Rate Called Best in Last Five Years

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP)—Retail trade and wholesale markets felt the stimulus of broadened demand during the past week, and "consumer spending continued at the best rate in five years," Dun & Bradstreet said today in their weekly business review.

The summary declared that volume expanded in spite of floods and storms, though in some districts the weather conditions tended to curtail retail distribution.

The surge in spring buying was quickened, it was reported, "as consumers pressed to cover immediate merchandise needs and Easter requirements."

Excepting the flooded area, in which business at some centers was brought almost to a standstill, the upturn of retail sales was extended, gains for the week running to 10 to 15 per cent. With two of the districts struggling against the adverse weather conditions, however, the estimated average of volume for the country was only 8 to 12 per cent higher than for the comparative 1935 week.

"With the deferred buying of February released in a constantly mounting volume, most of the wholesale markets reported last year's orders for the comparative week exceeded by 10 to 15 per cent with the gain in some of the apparel divisions as much as 20 per cent."

Bullet Wound Is Fatal to Wife; Husband Slain

COLUMBIA, Mo., March 20 (AP)—Mrs. Warren Thornton Phister, 28, attractive young Englishwoman, died today of a bullet wound inflicted in a double shooting here February 14 when her husband was slain.

Employees of the hotel where she was staying with her American husband, 29 years old, said the couple had a bitter quarrel, which was climaxed by shooting. Police broke in to find the husband and wife both wounded.

"My wife shot me," an officer quoted Phister, a student at the University of Missouri, as saying. He died several hours later.

East Texas Oil Man Is Killed

HALLSVILLE, March 20 (AP)—J. L. Ferguson, 42, of Kilgore East Texas oil man and former Texas ranger, was shot and instantly killed while he sat in his automobile near an oil test four miles north of here yesterday.

Deputy Sheriff Felix Jones took into custody a Harrison county farmer and lodged him in jail at Marshall pending completion of an investigation.

Ferguson was shot one time with .38.20 caliber pistol, the bullet entering his head under the right ear.

Devious Methods Produce Results In Oil Reserves

TULSA, Okla., March 20 (AP)—Geologists concerned with specific fields of exploration in the United States took stock of their work today and found their devious scientific methods were producing results in discoveries of many vast oil reserves.

In papers prepared for delivery before the annual convention of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, one authority after another told how the science of petroleum geology had borne fruit during the past year.

Harry H. Nowlan, San Antonio geologist, said that from March, 1935, to March, 1936, 47 new discoveries were made in the extreme southwest Texas district. These new finds consisted of 27 new pools and 20 additional sand discoveries in old fields. These discoveries ranged from 700 to 7,500 feet in depth and in age from the miocene to upper cretaceous.

The speaker said the work in Duval county, with five new pools and five additional new sand discoveries, the Pearsall pool in Frio county, the Plymouth pool in San Patricio county, the many new shallow sand discoveries in Nueces county and the deep Frio sand production in Hidalgo county were some of the outstanding developments in that section.

Practicing What He Preaches to Prove Faith

While members of the congregation at Bloomingdale, Fla., give vent to fervid acceptance of his exhortations, Reverend George Hensley, traveling preacher, holds a writhing, venomous diamond back rattlesnake in accordance with the prediction in the sixteenth chapter of Mark: "And these signs shall follow them that believe . . . They shall take up serpents." Hensley claims to have been handling snakes for 23 years.

Alamo Favorite Turning-Around Place in 1860's

KERRVILLE, March 20 (AP)—The Alamo at San Antonio was a favorite "turnin' around place" for teamsters when David E. Wharton of Kerr county drove an ox-drawn covered wagon over Texas in the days of the Civil war.

Wharton moved to Texas with his parents from Tennessee in 1857. Too young to be a soldier, he "teamed" a covered wagon. His longest haul was driving a wagon with eight yokes of oxen from a farm on the Brazos river near Bryan, to Brownsville. He received $1 a hundred pounds and his gross earnings from the trip was $600 which were given to his mother to buy land. He recalls suffering acute embarrassment when he overturned his wagon in front of the Alamo.

Mr. and Mrs. Wharton remember the camel pack train at Camp Verde in Kerr county. At the close of the Civil war, camels were used at the old frontier fort as pack animals. Wharton recalls seeing soldiers' wives, six on a camel, ride to Camp Ives to a "preaching".

Horses, the 90-year-old pioneer said, could smell camels a long distance and frequently showed alarm. One Sunday when several camels brought officers' wives to the meeting place the horses became so frightened and unruly the minister suspended services until the women dismounted and the horses calmed.

Johnnie Morrison, near Buna, Texas, farms with a team of oxen. Fifty thousand ducks wintered this year on the Cimarron river near Grant Bend, Gas.

CAPITOL CHATTER

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, March 19 (AP)—Capital news correspondents will have their day in the white light of publicity soon when a tree grown from a pecan planted nearly 100 years ago by Gen. Sam Houston is transferred to the Capitol grounds.

Ceremonies in connection with the planting will be in charge of the press corps. Politicians will be invited to take sideline seats while the correspondents hold the spotlight. No politician will appear on the program or have any connection with it.

The parent tree was planted by Houston on his homestead at Huntsville. Annually the nuts are gathered by Martinus H. Stougaard, horticulturist at the grounds, and planted. When the trees reach a certain size they are transferred to public parks and playgrounds. Approximately 2,000 trees have been transplanted.

The novel program was conceived by Claude D. Teer, chairman of the board of control. Teer said he figured it would be extremely unusual to have the cream of the state's politicians gathered in one group with none of them permitted to make a speech.

W. M. Thornton of The Dallas News will be master of ceremonies. The program of speeches has not been arranged.

Three massive pecan trees now add to the beauty of the Capitol grounds. One was planted by Gov. James S. Hogg and another by Gov. O. B. Colquhoun. Identity of the person who planted the third is unknown. A record of the tree to be planted by the newspapermen will be placed in the state archives. Teer said the board of control annually received scores of letters from school teachers and students asking about the pecan trees on the Capitol grounds. Nuts from the state's trees are apportioned among members of the legislature with the request that they be distributed among the respective districts for planting by school children.

The pecan is the state's official "nut" and leaders in the movement to make Texans pecan conscious hope when Texas celebrates its 200th birthday specimens of the tree will be growing on the grounds around all public institutions.

When Teer informed correspondents of the ceremony he said:

"We are going to plant a nut tree on the grounds here and you fellows are going to have charge of the ceremonies."

"You're not inferring that the Capitol press corps is the most fitting group to have charge of a program like that?" one correspondent good naturedly inquired.

"No," said Teer, "but we thought

Quadruplets to Invite Dionnes To Centennial

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 20 (AP)—Mrs. J. D. Pennington, an aunt of the Keys quadruplets of Hollis, Okla., said today the quadruplets would go to Canada about April 1 to invite the Dionne quintuplets to the Texas Centennial exposition.

The quadruplets—Leta, Mary, Roberta and Mona Keys, junior students at Baylor university, Waco, Texas, have been selected by Centennial directors to carry Texas greetings to the five Dionne babies, Mrs. Pennington said.

Mrs. Pennington said Pat Neff, president of Baylor, would accompany the girls to Canada.

The people might be tired of the cut and dried tree planting routine developed by politicians.

Contrary to general belief, almost anyone can have a beautiful, velvety green lawn. To be sure, certain fundamental principles must be followed, but they are few and very simple to grasp. If your lawn making efforts have not been crowned with success, try again this spring. If you follow the suggestions below carefully you will always have the kind of lawn you've always wanted.

SOIL: A sandy loam is ideal for a lawn but not a necessity. It is well, however, to approximate this type of soil, which can be done by working in a little sand with soils which consist principally of clay, or working in a little clay with soils that are very sandy.

PREPARATION OF SEED BED: Spade the area which is to be made into a lawn to the depth of six inches, provided this is not deeper than the top soil covering the area. After spading work the soil with hoe and rake until it is finely pulverized.

APPLYING PLANT FOOD: Apply four pounds of complete plant food per one hundred square feet evenly over the area and work it lightly into the top couple of inches

FLASHES OF LIFE

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK—Spring arrived today to find much of the eastern area of the United States devastated by floods. Astronomers say the exact time that winter becomes spring is 1:58 p. m. EST.

BOSCAWEN, N. H.—Twenty prize cattle spent the night in the bedrooms on the second floor of the home of Farmer J. Ralph Graham.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y.—A visitor from New York, taking an elevator to his tenth floor hotel room, remarked, "this is the life—for weeks I have been climbing stairs because of an elevator strike." The next time he had to walk up. The hotel's elevators stopped running because of the flood.

WHEELING, W. Va.—It was illegal to light matches in some parts of downtown Wheeling today. Fumes were escaping from flooded gasoline tanks and officials feared even a small flame might cause an explosion.

STORRS, Conn.—Connecticut State college co-eds who invited boy friends from back home to the formal dance tonight may have to find last minute escorts because of disputed transportation.

There are 4,800,000 acres of land in Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado, Texas and New Mexico subject to wind erosion, it was estimated by Prof. R. I. Throckmorton of Kansas State college.

HUSKIES are Here

GEORGIA COLEMAN

"...A NEW CEREAL WITH A FLAVOR YOU'VE NEVER TASTED BEFORE... THEY HELP BUILD MUSCLE, TOO!"

SAYS Georgia Coleman OLYMPIC DIVING CHAMPION

READ WHAT THESE OTHER GREAT STARS SAY:

FRANCIS SCHMIDT, football coach, Ohio State University, states: "HUSKIES 'get the call' at training tables! They combine a delicious new flavor with the food essentials found in whole wheat."

ED COLE, of Galveston, who pitched the first perfect game in Texas League history, says: "My idea of the sweetest cereal ever made is HUSKIES. They sure win the pennant with me!"

JOHNNY REVOLTA, P. G. A. Champion, known as a stickler for training, writes: "HUSKIES have everything—whole wheat for food-energy and a sweet taste to tickle your palate."

SURE! YOUR GROCER HAS HUSKIES GET YOUR PACKAGE TODAY!

HUSKIES, the different, new whole-wheat flakes, are going like wild-fire! You'll "go for" them, too . . . these crisp, crunchy flakes of sun-ripened whole wheat!

And no wonder! You've never tasted a flavor quite like HUSKIES before. Mellow. Rich. Full-bodied. And they stay crisp in milk or cream.

But HUSKIES pack a lot more than flavor . . . good as that flavor is. They're rich in food-energy . . . in the food essentials wise old Mother Nature stored up for you in whole wheat!

Just look what every tempting bowlful of HUSKIES gives you:

Iron for blood. Phosphorus and other valuable mineral salts for strong bones and teeth. Carbohydrates for food-energy. Proteins to build muscle. And Vitamins A, B, E and G—important to good nutrition.

You see, there's a real reason why great athletes say HUSKIES taste so good and are so good for you. Just try 'em with milk or cream. And your own taste will tell you what a zesty, brand new flavor HUSKIES really have! Be sure to ask your grocer for HUSKIES today.

POLITICS
at random

Experienced politicians are having special difficulty determining whether Mr. Roosevelt will gain or lose politically by his proposal to increase the tax on corporation incomes.

To his benefit most of them count the fact that he has made a sweeping gesture toward budget-balancing; the fact that he has put forward an issue involving only a minimum of risk on constitutional grounds; and the fact that his effort can be explained by Democratic campaign orators as a blow at "the corporations."

That, however, is only one side of the argument. His opponents are seeing to it that the other side also is presented to the public.

They raised the question whether "the corporations" will not promptly pass the tax along to the rank and file of individual income tax payers, who also are voters. They point out that most of "the corporations" are comparatively small concerns, some of them merely incorporated local firms back in the home town.

They attack the plan as a blow at thrift, and a damper on industrial expansion just when things are picking up.

There is, consequently, no general agreement among the politicians as to the net result, nationally, in terms of votes.

New Kind of Issue
In one political sense, Mr. Roosevelt has struck out in a new direction.

For three years he has been fostering a succession of what are commonly called "social" readjustments. Nearly all of these projects have encountered constitutional challenges, and talk of removing the barriers by constitutional amendment appears to be approaching a dead end.

In these circumstances, whether consciously or not, the President suddenly has brought an issue of another kind. The overshadowing feature of his tax plan is a greatly increased levy on the income of corporations; and the power of the federal government to tax such income has been firmly established over a long period.

Only in one respect does a constitutional question appear possible. If the levy were so heavy as to leave no adequate reserve for protecting the capital structure of corporations, it might be objected that property was being destroyed without due process of law.

The President himself has indicated, however, that he has such a possibility very much in mind. Evidently he means to proceed so that, with respect to this one issue, he cannot be accused of constitution-breaking. In that way the tax plan has made a notable contribution to the campaign.

Every One Bewildered
With the customary constitutional dispute eliminated, will the plan be popular or unpopular, for other reasons?

On the score of budget-balancing, there can be no doubt that most of the President's principal supporters, besieged by complaints about spending, are glad a positive step has been proposed. By the same token, some of the natural opponents of the administration are wary about opposing this step.

On the question of who will bear the heaviest burden, and thus presumably will be most offended politically, many doubts are expressed. Some business authorities think the country may be surprised to find the greatest opposition developing among the small corporations, not among the larger and more powerful.

There are, all told, more than 500,000 corporations in the country. The biggest and best known, against which so much political resentment has been directed, mostly are well buttressed by surpluses already on hand. These accumulations of previous years' income tax can't touch. But some of the very small ones, just struggling back from depression are in a far different case.

The long and short of it all is that, once more, Mr. Roosevelt has succeeded in raising an issue which has many friends and foes badly bewildered. It is no wonder congress hesitates and debates.

ABOUT NEW YORK

By GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK—"Sally, darling," I said, don't be inelegant. Get up. She was sprawled on the floor and gave no indication that she knew I was in the room.

"Get up, Sally darling. That's either lady-like or polite. I've done all the way from Madison avenue to see you."
The jade continued to subject me to the silence cure—that dead, cold silence which is always a part of feminine cruelty.

"You bane make talk or my name go home," I warned, attempting a jocosely veiled and not proceeding quite. But Sally let that pass too. She pretended vast interest in some pictures on the wall; I knew she wasn't really interested in the art.

"All right," I said stiffly, "if that's the way you want it—fine."
At that she turned and favored me with an indolent stare, as if to say, "Well, what's keeping you?" I made one more effort.

"Sally darling, what's this you're up to?—Sally, darling, where are you maidly modesty? Get off as floor."
Without so much as a nod she turned to the pictures again, staring at those frame lithographs as all the beauty in the world were apposed behind their glass coverings.

"That was too much, I leaned low, say, 'Take that!' I hissed, jabbing my toe into her ribs. That got her. That made her like.
"Mo-o-o-o," said Sally. Sally is the three-year-old mouse on an exhibition at the National sportsman's show over in Grand central Palace.

Max Ree, the not-so-melancholy one, is off for London to do some work with Korda. Max is a hanging good designer and the man who costumed Garbo for her picture in America, "The Empress." Max Reinhardt thinks he is the only man in the world who designs clothes for Garbo correctly, and say so. Ree is also a winner of the Academy award.

Another of Broadway's Scandivavian colony is Kaj Gryn, the locksmith less who came to America and wrote that Negro play, "Bang Tang," several years ago. She has written another, "Cock of the World" which traces the fortunes of the Negro to find a land suitable to himself. After wandering over the world and falling, even in Africa, to find a place where belonging the Negro realizes that, after all, America is his real home, and back he comes. Langston Hughes, the Negro poet and playwright, has assisted with the script. It already has one play on Broadway, "Mulatto."

Continuing our Swedish monologue, the glegg is now Broadway's most potent drink. It is a combination of brandy port and a number of spices such as almonds, oves, raisins, cinnamon, and sugar. Then you light a match to it, that, as Bob Reud says, when flames up you flame out. Owen Davis, the playwright, graduated as an engineer from Harvard, which just goes to show that higher education can do for you. He has written more than 40 plays, but has never arched a single river with a bridge. Owen says he doesn't want to arch a river with a bridge.

Among the more personable young handmen in New York is Perry, who plays a whanging old game of tennis when in the mood. Perry is tall and dark and soft-voiced, and the debutante call him "Bonnie."
"Most any evening, you'll find scores of them dancing at the St. Morris, staring after him while her disconcerted swains grin and try to make the best of it. Eddy Duchin has acquired a darling tan. He was so swarthy the other evening I fell back in amazement. "Don't let it fool you," he explained, "I get it out of a box—it's make up."
Duchin will take his orchestra to California after completing his engagement at the Plaza. . . . Morley Carnovsky has straight, unruly hair just like Victor McLaglen. . . . west of the titles to be conferred upon Billy the Oysterman is the High Keeper of the Receipts of the S. P. C. C. P., which, when translated into the vernacular of a modern, means the Society for the Promotion of More Ground Berry Pie. . . . Says Billy, "We deplore the widespread neglect of this berry dish."
Armand de Lenz, who appeared last night in that ill-fated drama, "Follow 'em," speaks 11 languages and has acted in every civilized country in the world. . . . Mary one is a Kentucky lass and grew up in the blue grass country around Louisville. . . . Ian MacLaren, who has never been to Louisville, made a first appearance at the age of 14 in "The Derby Winner."

France Mans Her Frontier Forts

With the German guns bristling along its Eastern frontier, France prepared to muster the full force of its military by encircling all leaves and retoubling its watch at the great system of fortresses designed to balk an invasion from across the Rhine. Two rare views of French fortifications are pictured above—the great, windowless steel and cement casement of one stronghold (left); and the crew of a subterranean heavy gun emplacement.

CRUISE TO NOWHERE

by Deck Morgan

© 1938 NEA Service, Inc.

Chapter XVII
Jane stood on the terrace of the great beach hotel and watched the sun cast its dying red embers on the rolling green surf. The white cruise ship lay just outside the pink coral reef, and smoke poured lazily from its funnels against a blue sky. The whole atmosphere was languorous. The air was filled with the aromatic scents of exotic tropical plants. It was like a heady wine. Before her in the green garden were scarlet blossoms of exquisite beauty. Pink roses waded in the pool.

Tino stood beside her and pointed out tiny sailboats bobbing up and down on the lagoon. It was the realization of that which he had dreamed. How she hated to leave this paradise behind!
For Jane it had been the most marvelous day she had spent in all her life. After a battle with the surf they had spent most of the morning on the coral beach, laughing and looking up at the white clouds chasing one another all over a crystalline blue sky.

Tino had been charming and gay. His talk was filled with glamorous references to his life he had lived in sunny Italy and, more lately in California. His flattery and praise of her, as she lay in the sand in her blue bathing suit, had sent blushes to her face and pleased her enormously.

They had lunched in their private cabana, and Tino knew how to accomplish a nicely laid table, with a devotion to her wishes like a slave's. He tried everything to please her. The bottle of wine they shared made her a little giddy, and she knew she laughed more than she had ever laughed before. He was so tirelessly amusing.

After lunch they took a carriage and explored the island. Jane enjoyed the quaint, narrow drives, and the superb views of land-and-sea-and sky which every rise afforded. She was especially interested in the simple white huts of the natives; she adored the little pekaninies that followed their carriage, holding out fat, chubby hands for pennies. They stopped and picked golden bananas which they bough themselves, tree-ripened.

Once when they passed through a shaded lane, where the tropical growths and red bougainvillea and obscurer shades of the trees kept his head straight forward, and Tino leaned over to kiss her. It was a long, masterful embrace, and she had to push him away. She laughed gaily in his face, while the opera star looked pained. "Darling, you're so exclusive," she had said petulantly.

Now they stood on the terrace of the hotel watching the first purple shadows of the tropical night descend. As the pale disc, which was the moon, came up over the palm trees Jane was enchanted. Inside the hotel the strains of an orchestra endured faintly. They were playing Red Sails in the Sunset, and Jane, looking up at Tino, smiled appreciatively.

Her eyes were bright, and her cheeks in a pleasant flush. They had been dancing inside. "Oh, I adore everything that's happened to me on this cruise!" she said. "I'm happy for you darling," he said. "If I have my way your path through this night should be a bed of roses!"

"What a pretty speech!" she said, and seeing a kiss in his eyes, evaded him. She went down the steps toward the fountain in the garden, and he followed her. "But my dear, like Cinderella's, must have an end," she said. "Curiously, it's the same story. We have to be back on board the ship at midnight, to sail away from all this."

At the thought of returning to the ship, she seemed to fall a little. "That hateful corpse aboard!" she said. "Why did that have to happen to spoil our fun on the ship? I feel sorry for Dirk."
It had slipped out. But she quickly recovered. "Of course he didn't have anything to do with the murder. It's absurd. He's just a young man who's had a tough time in his day, and was enjoying, temporarily, a glimpse of heaven—just as I am. And now this crime—"

—phosphorescent under the white moonlight.
"Who have tonight, darling," he went on. "Isn't it a wonderful night? The air is filled with the scent of jasmine—bougainvillea. Two operatic palms soared heavenward from its funnels against a blue sky. "It is our night." Again he said, this time insistently: "Don't be so exclusive, darling. This night was made for love—our love. Under the moon you are so beautiful!"

Jane trifled with his praise, though praise so fervently given was hard for her to turn down. She looked down the garden path, and saw two figures, looking out to sea. There was something about the pair that was arresting; they were so still. The girl had her head thrown back, and the breeze stirred in her hair. The man sat there merely looking at her, as the seconds ticked by. It was statuesque, for neither one of them talked.

In that unconscious pose Jane saw the unfeigned devotion of the man, and the quiet response of the girl. From the pose she knew it was Ken Martin and Linda Bays. They lived as a pair, and there was not much which needed to be said between them.
Jane's heart went out to them, for they were so obviously lovers. Ken didn't have to bestow flattery on Linda; she in turn, was content with his quiet devotion.

Jane took Tino's hand and walked toward them. But when they came close they knew Linda had been crying faint sobs. She had been crying faint sobs because she had never loved before. He was so tirelessly amusing.

"My dear," Jane said, "the night is so lovely! I feel like crying myself."
Ken had a lazy drawl. "She's refused again to marry me," he said, struggling helplessly.
"Ken, it isn't that, you know!" Linda said. "If people would only let us alone—"

Ken went on to explain. "She got some kind of note this afternoon, and she's afraid."
"I am afraid," she said. "That horrible thing on shipboard last evening. I was sitting in my cabana today, waiting for Ken, when a little colored boy ran in. He dropped a note, and was gone like a flash. The note said: 'A girl will keep her mouth shut on this cruise.'"

"I came in the cabana," Ken said, "and found Linda reading the note. She was pale as a ghost, but I had to take the note away from her to read it. She fought me. Then she wouldn't tell me what it was about, or whom it was from. If she didn't know just what it meant, she wouldn't be afraid. She closed up like a clam. We had our first quarrel. Linda is in danger. I want to know who sent that note."

"I'm not positive who sent it," Linda said. "But I think I know what it means. I means: a girl who talks might die. That's why I'm not going to talk."
Jane's senses were alert. "Does this have anything to do with the murder and the theft of the jewel? If it has I think you should tell everything you know," Jane said.

"I don't know anything," Linda said unsmiling. "If Ken hadn't taken the note away from me, I'd have burned it."

Ken said, "I'm going to show the note to that detective. If Linda is in danger I want to know where to expect it. I'd die for her, and she knows it."
But the ship's officers will think Linda knows something about the crime," Jane warned. "The note could mean anything."

"I know nothing about the murder," Linda said. "Fortunately I was catching all last evening before an audience. But I promise you that a good girl will keep her mouth shut on this cruise."

"It's obvious," Tino said, laughing, "that you are going to be a good girl. I'm trying to teach this young lady, Jane, to be a little head," he added. "But it doesn't seem to work."

Linda tried to smile, mocking Tino's foreign accent. "Why, Tino, look at those moon—"

ling," he said to Jane. "This is our night of romance!"
The lights from the hotel were splashed on the dark garden now. The strains of haunting music came down to them.

"I have a suggestion," Tino said. "We'll dine together in the hotel, the four of us. On the terrace two good girls will charm us with their laughter. We'll stay out in the night where we can reach up and pluck the stars. And then, when we have ended—to romance!" he ended.

"Bravo, speech!" Ken said lazily. "But it's a capital suggestion. Tino, let's go—"

For a moment Jane looked out to sea where the lights of the cruise ship twinkled brightly against the night. Somewhere in that ship was a young man who sat down to dinner in the empty dining saloon, forlorn and lonely. Suddenly Jane gave Dirk for the imaginary slights she had endured at his hands.

She had everything she wanted; she could afford to be generous! Though the distracted Dirk she resolved to try to help him out of his present dilemma. What could she do? For one thing she could find out who murdered Marnie Jackson!

But now she felt herself swept up the terrace steps by Tino's ready arms. Gaily she laughed.

Chapter XVIII
Toward midnight a long black box was brought to the ship and placed in Suite AA, the scene of the murder. Dirk witnessed this gruesome reminder as he stood looking toward the brilliantly lighted hotel on the beach.

Then he walked by the rail and watched the parties come from the zincs. He was standing there alone when he caught Jane's tantalizing laugh. Down there on the embarkation deck, Tino Rossi was swinging along at her side.

Dirk had wanted to see Jane's face to know if she was happy. She had realized her ambition, for she deserved this night. If only that ugly incident hadn't kept him from going ashore with Nora Lane!

But when he was alone with the darkness he weakened. He wanted consolation for something tangible he had missed. He started walking down the promenade deck toward the actress's suite with some vague notion of demanding to see her the next morning. Suddenly he came upon a girl, standing alone, looking back at the lights on shore. It was Jane.

She was more surprised than he. "Dirk!" she said.

He faced her, slightly hostile. "Did you have a good time ashore?"

Her eyes were as bright as the stars. "A marvelous time!" she replied. "Oh, I've never been so thrilled. I came out for a last look at—Baradise."

"Then, I gather," he said coolly, "that you got exactly what you wanted on this cruise."

She sensed his withdrawal, but she went on harping about the charms of the islands. "We took the most adorable drives in a carriage. The air was scented with jasmine. There was the most gorgeous display of color. And later, we danced on the terrace."

"And I suppose your moon-struck opera star was most romantic," Tino was an angel," she said. "He told me all the lovely things a girl wants to hear. And he was a perfect gentleman."

"I know," Dirk said. "He has all the graces. Flowers, bouquets, orchids, compliments—"

Impulsively she reached out and touched his hand.
"You wanted to meet grand people on this cruise," he reminded her. "Color and glamorous romance!" He added, a little bitterly, "Not just someone who has a sawmill job ahead."

"Yes, that's what I wanted," Jane said, and her chin was up when she said it. "Poor Tino—I'm afraid I led him a merry chase today. He was so tired. When we came on board just now he went straight to his stateroom to bed. But, on a marvelous night like this, I couldn't stay inside."

She was leaning against the rail, looking up at him. She went on, "I'm sorry this murder came up to spoil your cruise. You would have had a good time ashore." She hesitated to add, "with her, with Nora Lane."

"I was right here most of the time," he said disconsolately, "looking toward the shore, wishing I could be there dancing—"

"With a lovely lady," she concluded. "Oh, but you have what you wanted most on this cruise, too. You didn't want to meet a girl without a job. You wanted to meet a famous dramatic star. Well, you did!"

"Yes, that was what I wanted," he said stubbornly, and looked away from her toward the twinkling lights. "I haven't changed my mind."

"We both have found what we wanted—but there's still this gorgeous night," she said, taking in the heavens with a sweep of her hand. "I can't go to bed. Why don't we—"

Suddenly his eyes were eager. "Go on."

"You finish it," she said. "What did you think of?"

"Why don't we put deck chairs under the stars and not go to bed at all?" he said.

The giant twin-screw propellers were already churning at the stern; they were underway. They sought the deck under the stars and Dirk placed their chairs where they could watch the lights on the island slip away in the night.

"First I want to tell you," she said, "that I know you aren't implicated in the murder and that I'm on your side."

He didn't want to talk about that. "We're on our way home now," he said, "with a stop at more islands in the sea."

"I'll tell me about your job," she begged.

"For me, that's part of this grand feeling I have. I've got to see some shape to my life. And I'll have to carve out my little niches—literally. I'm designing a new kind of ski. Now, that's out. Let's talk about you."

"There's nothing about me to talk about!" Jane said. "I'm just—"

But he was indignant. "There's everything about you," he said. "Only," she laughed, "and what does that mean? I'm afraid we're being deliberately naive."

"I don't know what you mean?" he said, and they both laughed, their laughter reaching up toward the stars.

And presently they were silent. Jane closed her eyes for a while, opening them now and then to watch the disappearing outline of the coral reefs. At last the islands were swallowed up in high seas which blotted out the horizon.

She stirred, a little restless. She said, "When we came on board they said the barometer was falling. We had noticed it in the little boats. The seas were rough, and long black rollers—"

But already the winds were playing havoc with the seas. Black rollers struck the sides of the ship and faint spray came up in their faces. Dirk's hand caught Jane's.

"There!" he said. "Now you won't be afraid of the old wind."

She stirred, restless under his touch. A few nights ago he had kissed her. She sat up, looking at him, and for a long time she couldn't take her hand away. Then she arose.

"Well, good night," she said. "Why must you go? I don't want you to," he said, smiling. "But Jane was gone."

The next day was an anxious one for the girl. The barometer was falling steadily and she watched the glass, fascinated almost as a bird is fascinated before the serpent strikes.

Toward teatime Jane saw the detective in the bar. He was at a table in the corner and he asked her to sit down.

"Did you have a good time in Nassau yesterday?" he asked.

"Of course. Tell me, do you know anything about storms at sea? Do you think the ship is in danger?"

Snowshoes smiled. "This is my first experience with tropical waters," he said. "From what I hear, though, a hurricane is a nasty blow. But it's late in the season for hurricanes."

"All the passengers," said Jane, "are like scared rabbits. They say if it strikes, it'll come tonight." Snowshoes saw that Jane was genuinely disturbed. To get her mind off the hurricane he asked if she'd like to take a few laps on the promenade deck, and she agreed.

They were walking along, chatting, when Jane caught his arm. He looked out on the sea deck and saw a man and a woman standing behind the fog horns. Tino Rossi towered over the slight figure of Linda Bays in a threatening attitude.

"Don't talk so loud," Linda said distinctly.

Tino caught Linda's wrist and pulled her into the shadows and, as he did so, Jane saw him twist the wrist sharply. An anguished cry escaped Linda's lips. She said, pleading, "Oh, Tino, leave me alone! You can't hold that over my head now."

It was said, "I saw you talking to Dutch Lenz in the bar today. Why?"

"You know I used to work for Dutch at the Tip-Top Club. But I don't want Ken to know I've done the hot spots. I'm crazy about that boy. We're going to be married. Please go away now—"

But it was too late. Ken Martin came along the deck and saw them. Tino still had his hand on Linda's wrist. Jane saw Ken's whole body stiffen; he walked forward and said coldly, "Oh, pardon me if I have nipped a budding romance. A ship is such a small place." Then he turned on his heel and walked away.

Linda ran after him. "Ken," she called. "Don't be such an idiot!" Jane turned to the detective. "What does it mean?" she asked.

"Tino has something on the girl," Snowshoes replied. "Linda knows the blackmail, Dutch Lenz. I wish I could get her to talk. She's drawing a net about herself. The boy, Ken Martin, showed me the warning note she got last evening."

Jane said, remembering, "A good girl will keep her mouth shut." I read the note too. Linda says she knows nothing about it, but will obey it to the letter."

"I'd say that Dutch Lenz had that note sent to Linda," Snowshoes advised. "Dutch and Linda both know something about this crime." Jane's eyes were still troubled. Taking leave of the detective, she caught up with Tino Rossi, as he stood watching the rollers pound against the side of the ship.

LAZZERI YANKS' BIG PROBLEM MAN

NEW YORKERS RELYING HEAVILY ON 3 ITALIANS

(Editor's Note: This is another of a series outlining major league prospects.)

By PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 20 (AP)—Tony's got to "poosh 'em up."

Tony—Anthony Michael Lazzeri—doesn't "poosh 'em up" like some of the good old days, the Yankee Yanks are quite apt to "poosh" around and out him out of 1936 American league baseball race.

Now, now 32, is the Yankees' problem man. If he delivers what he is thought to be, the Yankees will be tough to beat. So far Tony has eluded Manager Joe McCarthy with his condition and spirit, yet there is fear he won't be able to play often enough when the weather gets hot, the doubleheaders pile up and the playing fields get hard and crusty. Therefore, McCarthy has been working out his probable second base replacements so fast the Yankee infield resembles a relay meet. Don Heffner and Jimmy Sautsaver lead the candidates for the big "mush" job.

Frank Crosetti, out for the last 17 games in the 1935 campaign with a knee injury, also is a problem but from the way he is coming in drills, all seems well with him and his shortstopping job. Should he falter, Bob Rolfe may be shifted over from third.

Otherwise, the sun is shining brightly on the Yankees.

I have every confidence that Lazzeri and Crosetti will be going at full steam this year, says McCarthy. "Our pitching should be better for the simple reason that Lefty Gomez has too much stuff on that ball to win only 12 games as he did last season. Lou Gehrig, who didn't hit up to his great standard last year, also should come back strong. Joe Di Maggio should give us extra punch in the outfield."

Joe thinks Detroit is the team to beat, and that the Yankees are the one Detroit must beat. With Gomez, the Yank pitchers hope up to be Charlie Ruffing, Johnny Bronca, Monte Pearson, Walter Brown, John Murphy, Vito Tamulis, Irving Hadley and other Steve Sundra, obtained from Cleveland, or Pat Malone, who must develop this year or get out.

Catching is no problem with Bill Dickey, Arndt Jorgens and Joe Glenn again on hand.

New Station Is Asked by Gulf Coast Company

WASHINGTON, March 20. (AP)—The Gulf Coast Broadcasting company of Corpus Christi, contending that existing service was inadequate for its section of the coast country, has asked the communications commission for permission to construct a new 250-watt radio station.

W. G. Kinsolving, Corpus Christi publisher, told a commission examining the city had grown in the last few years and could support a second station and cited the need of radio transmission of storm warnings to the nearby coast area in the late summer months.

Kinsolving said Houston Harte, San Angelo publisher, and M. B. Adams, Abilene publisher, were large stockholders in the corporation seeking the station and would support him financially.

Argentina Enters Fruit Business
BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Miguel Augusto Carcano, Argentina's new minister of agriculture, plans to establish 100 fruit stands here in the capital to provide low price sales direct to consumers, thus relieving the growing fruit industry in the Rio Negro valley.

He Faces a Cordon of Foes

On the course taken by this house painter turned dictator will hinge peace or war for Europe, as he is confronted by a cordon of foes bent on punishing Germany for scrapping the Locarno pact, and flinging aside the last remnants of the Versailles treaty. His proposal for a new peace program scorned by France, Adolf Hitler finds only hostility on all sides, but, with fealty of his army pledged to him, he declares it "impossible" to turn back from the remilitarized Rhineland.

Dusting The Covers Of Texas History For THE TEXAS CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION OF 1936

AUSTIN, March 20.—"The rivers of Texas, though not so large, are, in proportion to the extent of territory, more numerous than those of the United States," wrote Arthur H. Hahn, English consul to Texas, in his "Guide to Emigrants," published in London in 1841.

Just as, in describing Texas geography, he included considerable areas to the north and east that are no longer a part of Texas, in his discussion of the waters of the republic, he mentioned several streams which flow outside the present boundaries of this state. His information concerning the country he was seeking to colonize, however, is remarkably correct in the main. One of the few known copies of this little book is now in the rare book division of the Texas Collection of the University of Texas library.

The rivers of Texas "rise in the upper country, and, receiving as they descend the innumerable tributary rivulets (usually called creeks) which drain the prairies, they flow in a south-easterly direction towards the Gulf of Mexico," he continued. "Most of them do not, however, empty immediately into the Gulf, but into bays or basins of smooth water, formed by the exterior chain of long, low islands already noticed. Between these islands numerous inlets form the sea communication. The interior bays are generally shallow, with the exception of the channel worked by the current of the rivers. The time will probably come when these bays will form, with the islands, one continuation of the mainland, the river channels alone remaining; such at least is the apparent tendency of the land here to encroach upon the sea; an effect attributable to the influence of the gulf stream, and which, judging from the fossilated marine substances found at the base of the now far-inland mountains, appears to have been in operation for a long period. In the upper country the Texian rivers and their tributaries offer abundant facilities for the employment of water power. In the level region their course is more sluggish, though even here they seldom overflow their banks. The principal rivers are:

"1. The Arkansas, a mighty tributary of the Mississippi, which waters the extreme northern boundary of Texas for several hundred miles; the Canadian river, and other large streams, flow into it.

"2. The Red river, so called from the influence of oxide of iron upon the colour of its waters, is also a principal tributary of the Mississippi. It rises in Texas, and for a great distance forms its northern boundary, at a parallel far south of the Arkansas. It has a course of 1,500 miles. 1,200 of which are now said to be rendered navigable. The throughout its whole course, secured to Texas by treaty. Upon this stream lie the cultivated Red-lands, where some of the most productive cotton plantations in the world are to be found. The Washitas are the chief tributaries.

"3. The Sabine river, which rises in Texas, and at a certain point becomes its eastern boundary. Continues so until it empties itself into Sabine Bay, which is a sand-bar, with eight or nine feet water. Steamboats have proceeded up this river, for several hundred miles. There are numerous flourishing settlements on its banks.

"4. The Neches also flows into Sabine bay. Its navigation is not equal to that of the Sabine. The principal tributaries are the Attoyac and the Angelina.

"5. The Trinity, San Jacinto and Buffalo, all empty into Galveston bay. The first is a noble stream, and its fertile banks are rapidly becoming populated. It offers fewer impediments to navigation than any other Texian river, and its easy communication with Galveston presents great facilities to the grower of produce. It has a course of probably 700 miles. Its chief tributaries are the three forks of the same name. Galveston bay is a broad and beautiful sheet of water, thirty miles across. Between it and the gulf, lies Galveston Island, at each end of which are inlets, having sandbars, over which vessels may pass drawing twelve feet water.

"6. The Brazos river, after a course of nearly a thousand miles, empties immediately into the Gulf, over a bar with a mean depth of about six feet water. The alluvial lands on this stream are celebrated throughout America for their inexhaustible fertility. The oldest American settlements about the Brazos, and the produce of its valley at present far exceeds that of any other portion of Texas. It is navigable for a considerable distance. Among the numerous tributaries, the Navasota may be considered the most important.

"7. The San Bernard, Oyster, Canby, and some other small streams which flow into the Gulf near the Brazos, are all equally celebrated for the extraordinary fertility of the lands they water.

"8. The Colorado, Navidad, and Lavaca, fall into Matagorda bay, which is upwards of sixty miles in length, and averages about seven feet breadth. At the bar, on its pass or inlet, it has a depth of from nine to eleven feet.

"9. The Colorado is one of the noblest rivers in Texas, flowing for 800 miles through the heart of the republic, and watering scarcely an acre of inferior land. It offers, however, at present, many obstacles to navigation. The Passajona, San Saba, Llano, and Fiedernales, are its main tributaries.

"10. Into Espritu Santo Bay, which is a continuation of that of Matagorda, flow the confluent waters of the Guadalupe and San Antonio, two of the most bright and beautiful streams in the world, and for some distance capable of navigation. The Blanco, San Marco, Coletto, and Cibola, are the main

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

ONE OF THE DIFFICULTIES OF HIGH ALTITUDE FLYING, WHERE THE TEMPERATURE REMAINS AT ABOUT SEVENTY DEGREES BELOW ZERO, IS KEEPING THE MOTOR COOL! THE COOLING EFFECT OF AIR DECREASES AS ITS DENSITY DECREASES.

THE LOGSKIN TURTLE WILL LAY AS MANY AS ONE THOUSAND EGGS AT ONE TIME.

A YOUNG SNOWY OWL, NOW IN THE LONDON ZOO, WAS CAPTURED ON SHIPBOARD, IN MID-ATLANTIC, 500 MILES FROM LAND.

ALTHOUGH high altitude flying affords many advantages, it also presents many problems. At an altitude of 50,000 feet, the cooling effect of air is only about 70 per cent of what it is at sea level, and, in spite of the fact that the pilot must use great precaution against freezing, the motor heats up readily in the rarified air.

TOTAL OF 3,295 WORKERS PAID $87,695 BY WPA IN PANHANDLE

AMARILLO, Mar. 20.—Pay rolls cleared through the local office of the Works Progress administration for February on all projects, amounted to $87,695.86. This money went to 3,295 workers, all of whom except 124 were taken from relief rolls in twenty counties of the Panhandle comprising District No. 16.

Project pay rolls equal 84.3 per cent of the total expenditures on projects for February. This large percent of federal funds confined to pay rolls is made possible because the sponsors of work being done have contributed substantial amounts in equipment and materials to work men.

Cost to the federal government for material, supplies, equipment and non-personal services for the month of February was only $18,847.35. The total expenditures for these items from the beginning of the program, through February amount to $111,979.88, while pay rolls alone for the same period amount to $272,190.94 or $284,192, exclusive of administrative cost.

There are 33 people, including the department heads now employed in the administrative office in Amarillo, with administrative pay roll for February of $4,450.98. Some re-tributaries. Nothing can surpass the scenery of these rivers.

"11. Beyond Espritu Santo Bay is the city of Amarillo, a very fine body of water surrounded by land fully equal to any in Texas. On this bay the shores are no longer flat, but rise in conspicuous bluffs. On the bar there is seldom more than eight and a half feet water. The Mission and Amarillo rivers here empty themselves.

"12. The Nueces river runs into the Bay of Corpus Christi, where the banks are loftier and the water deeper than in any of the other bays on the Texian coast. The bar, however, does not admit vessels drawing more than five or six feet. The Nueces has a course of about 300 miles, and its valley is eminently fertile and healthy. The Rio, Leon, and San Miguel, are the principal tributaries.

"13. The Rio Grande, or Rio del Norte, the largest Mexican river, and throughout its whole course the boundary between the hostile republics, rises in the Rocky mountains, and after running for sixteen or eighteen hundred miles through rich and often populous districts, discharges its waters in the Gulf over a bar which has often not more than three feet water. The Puerco is the chief tributary of the Rio Grande, it runs through the back part of Texas, and has a course of about 500 miles.

There are several large and valuable salt lakes in the republic. Fresh water lakes are not very numerous or extensive.

"I have been thus explicit in enumerating the Texian rivers, believing them to form the most important feature in the topography of the country. The spread of population has hitherto been chiefly confined to the borders of these streams, each of which forms, as it were, its own isolated community. Instead, therefore, of a partial distinction of counties, it appears more practical to view the country as divided into its different river districts."

NEW ORDER OF PEACE MAPPED BY CONFERENCE

NEW LOCARNO TREATY IS PLANNED AT LONDON

By CHARLES F. NUTTER
(Copyright, 1936, By The Associated Press)
LONDON, Mar. 20.—The cabinets of Great Britain and France, supporting the four-power Locarno proposals for a way out of the Rhineland impasse, dispatched the suggestions for a European political new deal to their parliaments today for formal approval.

Government leaders started plans for laying the foundations for a new order of peace for Europe in an international conference which they hoped would be held next May, either in London, Brussels or Geneva.

There, they hoped, Germany would discuss its military, financial and economic problems with the other European nations.

A meeting of the League of Nations conciliation committee of 13, originally called for today to consider the Anglo-Ethiopian conflict was postponed until tomorrow.

A private session of the league council, set for this afternoon, also was delayed until after Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's address today to the House of Commons on the proposals for settlement of the Rhineland situation.

Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin's cabinet last night approved the text of the plan for a new Locarno and arranged to make a full statement to the House of Commons today.

Foreign Minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin also reported the four-power accord to Premier Albert Sarrault's ministry at Paris last night and won strong support for presentation of the proposals today to the Chamber of Deputies.

The Italian and Belgian diplomats submitted the plan to their governments, while the text of the draft proposals was received by the German delegation today and was studied immediately by Joachim von Ribbentrop, Adolf Hitler's ambassador-at-large.

Vono Ribbentrop, after a long overnight telephone conversation with Berlin, went to the British foreign office this morning for further clarification of several points in the security plan.

The draft of the plan has been transmitted to Berlin, a German spokesman said, and is being given careful consideration, "but Germany can agree to no one-sided measures."

Britain's press reflected optimism for the first time since Hitler's army marched across the Rhine March 7, but there was a noticeable disinclination to dwell upon what would happen next if Germany should turn down the proposals.

The Locarno plan, many details of which this far were kept secret, provided for a course of action, authorities said, in the event of an absolute breakdown of negotiations with Germany for a settlement.

British sources said that the plan included a French agreement to drop demands for German evacuation of the Rhineland and to negotiate Hitler's proposals for a new security system at the proposed conference.

British sources said that Germany must accept an international police force for the remilitarized Rhineland during the negotiations, which would deal with other proposals as well as Hitler's offer for 25-year non-aggression and air pacts.

Sam Bass, noted outlaw, is buried at Round Rock, Texas. Centennial visitors who visit the grave of this famous outlaw will read this inscription in his tombstone: "A brave man, repented in death here. Why was he not true?"

It always works

Just do what hospitals do, and the doctors insist on. Use a good liquid laxative, and aid Nature to restore clocklike regularity without strain or ill effect.

A liquid can always be taken in gradually reduced doses. Reduced dosage is the real secret of relief from constipation.

Ask a doctor about this. Ask your druggist how very popular Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has become. It gives the right kind of help, and right amount of help. Taking a little less each time, gives the bowels a chance to act of their own accord, until they are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin contains senna and cascara—both natural laxatives that form no habit. The action is gentle, but sure. It will relieve any sluggishness or bilious condition due to constipation without upset.

WHAT SERVICE MEANS TO US

Our idea of GAS SERVICE is of something more than furnishing a supply of gas that shall be at all times dependable and adequate to the demand, though that is an obligation we are pledged to fulfill.

To furnish courteous, competent advice and assistance in the most advantageous use of Gas; to keep our customers informed on improvements in gas equipment; to make our every contact with customers a source of mutual benefit and satisfaction.

These also are important features of our idea of service.

TEXAS RANGERS USE SIX GUNS JUST LIKE IN GOOD OLD DAYS

AUSTIN, March 20 (AP)—Texas rangers, unlike their imitators on the stage and screen, have little time for song and horse-play—they're too busy enforcing the law in the good old western way—with six guns.

Horses generally have been abandoned in favor of the faster motor car, but the spirit of the organization, born in the early days of Texas history as protection against "bad men" and cattle rustlers, lives on.

Captain J. W. McCormick, new chief of the rangers, is carrying on the old traditions. He admits a hankering for old-fashioned shooting irons where quickness of the draw and sureness of aim mean the difference between life and death.

"In a tight spot, I guess I wouldn't care for one of those new-fangled machine guns," he explains. "Give me two good six-shooters and a rifle or so and I reckon I can take care of myself."

The captain, a tall, wiry, story-book type of ranger, nearly always wears two six-shooters, one double action for a club in hip holsters.

When expecting trouble, he frequently carries a third pistol in a shoulder holster and a fourth in a coat pocket, and sometimes takes along a sawed-off shotgun and a couple of rifles.

There are some things you learn from experience and not in schools," he said, explaining his habits of armament.

"I aim to be practical."

He is remarkably fast in pulling a gun, fellow rangers say; and others probably would so testify, if they could.

The captain drew two guns recently when he exterminated a gang in the East Texas piney woods. Gov. James V. Alfred termed the action one of the most remarkable pieces of law enforcement in ranger history.

The gang was reported to have terrorized the country that property values had declined. McCormick said no one ever would know how many persons had been murdered over a long period.

Captain McCormick and two assistants moved into the San Augustine area, arrested all members of the gang and obtained penitentiary punishment for 40.

He didn't kill anyone in this exploit, but he had "to lay awake nights figuring ways to avoid it," he says.

On one occasion the captain grabbed a gang leader by the coat collar and kicked him across the town's main street in the view of the assembled populace.

At the end of the campaign, the citizens of San Augustine presented McCormick with a pair of silver-mounted six-shooters—single action—and a ruby-studded belt.

TEXAS IN WASHINGTON

BY DONALD A. YOUNG.
WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—A Texas flag displayed by a fashionable hotel here during a Texas club celebration disappears mysteriously and the club had to produce $30 to buy a new one.

It was taken from its place at the end of a huge ballroom soon after Texans in Washington sent up rousing cheers when speakers recalled the Alamo, the Battle of San Jacinto, the signing of articles of independence from Mexico.

The Supreme Court has been asked to rule that injury to the hand of an Eastland county mechanic by gasoline was an "occupational disease" rather than an accident covered by compensation insurance.

An accident and indemnity company appealed to the highest court from a ruling by the fifth circuit court January 23 which approved a $2,185 award to James M. Jones,

Lone Star gasoline company mechanic. The firm contended that under the Texas workmen's compensation law, it was freed from liability from "occupational disease." It argued Jones had failed to prove injury to his hand through daily work was an accident.

Secretary Wallace again has invoked the privilege of using not more than 30 per cent of federal customs receipts to assist farmers in the export market.

Through the authorization proposed originally by Senator Tom Connally and Rep. Marvin Jones of Amarillo, Wallace acted in disposition of about 1,500,000 bushels of wheat, in the form of 333,000 barrels of flour by guaranteeing Washington and Oregon shippers against loss in connection with Philippine sales below domestic prices.

Communism, Mexicans and the Mexican population of San Antonio figured prominently recently in a floor debate between Reps. Maury Maverick of San Antonio and Tom Blanton of Abilene.

"Is it not a fact," Blanton asked, "that there is communism in Mexico and they have the right to allow it there if they want to and that the Mexicans in San Antonio believe just as the Mexicans in Mexico believe?" "No sir, no sir," Maverick retorted. "The Mexicans in my district are better founded in many respects than some of the American people because they study the constitution, they go to school and try to improve themselves and because they love it and they appreciate living in a free country."

GOVERNORS BLAMED

AUSTIN, March 20 (AP)—Figures to show that recent governors had not been too liberal in paroling convicts were cited today by T. C. Andrews, member of the state pardon board. "Most of the ex-convicts now in prison are not men who were liberated on parole, but who served their time out in this or some other state and have become hardened criminals," he said.

A seven-ton stone monument, erected a year ago on grounds of the Velasco coast guard station marks the site of the Battle of Velasco, historic Texas event to be commemorated in Centennial observances this year.
