In a routine session this morning, the Gray County commissioners court paid bills, approved budgetary changes, accepted a $3,440 bid for an oil lease on school lands in Gaines County, and voted to approve a new hospitalization plan for county employees.

Midland Production Corp. submitted the only bid for mineral rights to the Gaines County school lands at the court's last session. The agreement calls for $3,440 payment for lease, a $16 royalty agreement and a delay rental of $640 if drilling for oil or gas is not commenced within one year of the agreement.

Commissioners approved a Blue Cross-Blue Shield hospitalization plan for county employees in other business.

"It apparently strayed off course," the Pentagon said, "and was intercepted by Soviet aircraft at 7:15 p.m., EDT and escorted to a landing."

(Continued From Page 1) the meeting said they believed Nixon had told Tower he had already made up his mind who his running mate would be if he was nominated.

Others felt Tower had only inferred he would be among those in the "higher councils" who would help make the running mate selection at the convention in August.

Mrs. George McDaniel of Borger, Tex., one of the delegates, said she had received reports from the meeting indicating Nixon had told Tower he had decided who he wanted as the No. 2 man on the ticket. Mrs. McDaniel was not present at the Saturday meeting.

Dallas County Republican Chairman Fred Agnich said he was at the meeting, but said he heard no dialogue concerning the vice presidency.

OPTIMIZATION SPEED READING COMES TO PAMPA

Optimization, the most advanced method known for teaching speed reading, will hold class in Pampa.

Optimization Extends

School and Jr. High students, Teachers, business and professional people.

His unusual invitation to everyone — High School and Jr. High students, Teachers, business and professional people.

"Horse and Buggy reading methods are no longer sufficient to keep pace with today's increased reading requirements," says Dr. Cecil Mullins, inventor of Optimization.

The world is moving ahead in every field of endeavor at jet speed in a jet age. Today's industry could not survive by using the same methods used decades ago. It just does not make sense to use antiquated reading methods.

Dr. Mullins, renowned Educational Psychologist, says that the faster you read, the more you comprehend.

"Fifteen years ago," he gaged with the tremendous possibilities of the human mind. I found that by teaching students to read with greater speed and concentration, I was able to make them read books in as little as fifteen minutes with better comprehension than they would have ever been able to in 3 to 10 hours. It didn't matter whether the books were fiction or history, or of a technical nature. A doctor can devour medical books, a lawyer legal matter, etc. at unprecedented and often unbelievable speeds.

Dr. Mullins' methods were so successful that he created the Optimization Speed Reading Course.

Taught in 3 three-hour sessions, Optimization guarantees the students will read at least 1,000 words a minute or a book in an hour or less with good comprehension.

"One of the secrets at our success," said Dr. Mullins, "is that we are firmly committed to the principles that learning proceeds best, only when the students are enjoying themselves. In our classes most of the students have a ball from the beginning to end — and along the way, they become the best readers anywhere.

The accomplishments of some of Optimization's previous students sound like something out of science fiction. One 13-year-old lad reads books for his public school assignments in 6 to 10 minutes. His grades have jumped from barely passing to straight A's and B's after taking the course.

Another ex-student, a 35-year-old public school teacher, had made less than average grades in his under-graduate university work. He went back for graduate studies after developing, thru Optimization, the ability to read an average non-fiction book in 10 to 15 minutes. His first semester at Texas University he was awarded straight A's and a chance for a scholarship.

These are just two of many reports from teachers, doctors, lawyers and other business and professional men who find that each day has progressively more reading to be done, and fewer minutes to do it.

"I know the results sound incredible," Dr. Mullins said, "but we have a standing offer for anyone who is undecided to come to our first meeting free of any obligation, to see for himself what the course will be like. And our guarantee is absolutely firm."

Why Read Faster!

- If a $20,000 a year executive can save only six minutes every hour through better reading he saves $2,000 a year.
- A College student is expected to buy at least 84 books in his four years. He is expected to read at least twice that number.
- Colleges are now rejecting 3 out of 10 High School graduates because today's youth can't read well enough.

You Must Read Faster To Keep Up With Your Daily Work or Studies

The shirt and blouse are back in the 1968 fashion spotlight, along with waistlines, curves and snow-fresh femininity. Fortunately, most of these up to date blouses and shirts are made of fabrics which have great wash-and-wear ability. Cotton and cotton blends lead in the sportswear field, while Dacrons, nylons and linens in varying degrees of sheerness are favorites for afternoon and evening wear.

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorcee with children. In my capacity as a secretary I had access to all the details of a very messy divorce involving an executive in my company. (His wife deserted him, and he recently divorced her and was given custody of their children.)

I invited him to a party at my home, and on the invitation I wrote: "If I can be of any help in your present predicament, please let me know."

He did not even acknowledge my invitation.

I am very confused about this. Did I use poor taste in offering my help? Did I perhaps embarrass him? Or should I take this as an indication that he doesn't want anything to do with me? Your opinion would be appreciated.

CONFUSED: You offer to help him in his "present predicament" was an innocent blunder, since you learned the details of it from your access to other sources, and not from him. You may have humiliated, if not irritated, him by your well-intentioned intrusion into his private affairs. Meanwhile, he should have acknowledged your invitation. Let things simmer.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine who married and moved out of town wrote that she and her husband were coming to town next month. We see each other only once a year and keep in touch by letter. She wrote: "We would love to see you, so why don't you throw a party, inviting some people we know? We'd sure enjoy it."

I had intended to invite her and her husband for an evening, but I didn't plan on throwing a party, mainly because we have no mutual friends.

My husband is furious. He says she has a lot of nerve, and I should not invite her here at all. She really is a nice person, and our friendship goes back a long way. How can I do this gracefully?

STUCK: Proceed with your original plan and ignore her suggestion to "throw a party." Since you consider her a "nice person," why not dig up a couple of other chums whose friendship goes back a long way and have an all-girl party in the afternoon? That way your husband will have no complaints, and you won't feel guilty.

DEAR ABBY: May I say a word about male surgery to prevent unwanted children? My husband had a vasectomy and I am here to testify that it is the greatest! We are in our 70s and are still lovers. We have no regrets for not having our own children, and we've helped 45 delinquent children to become better citizens.

For people with a background of inherited birth defects, or those with occupations which keep them on the run, or for folks like us who were the oldest of large, poor families and have had it, it is a blessing. RESPECTS HUMAN LIFE

CONFIDENTIAL TO "D.K.P. IN BROOKLIN": I once read "compromise makes a good umbrella but a poor roof. It will do as a temporary measure, but don't expect it to shelter you indefinitely."

Some cars are talking big price slashes. They know what they're worth.

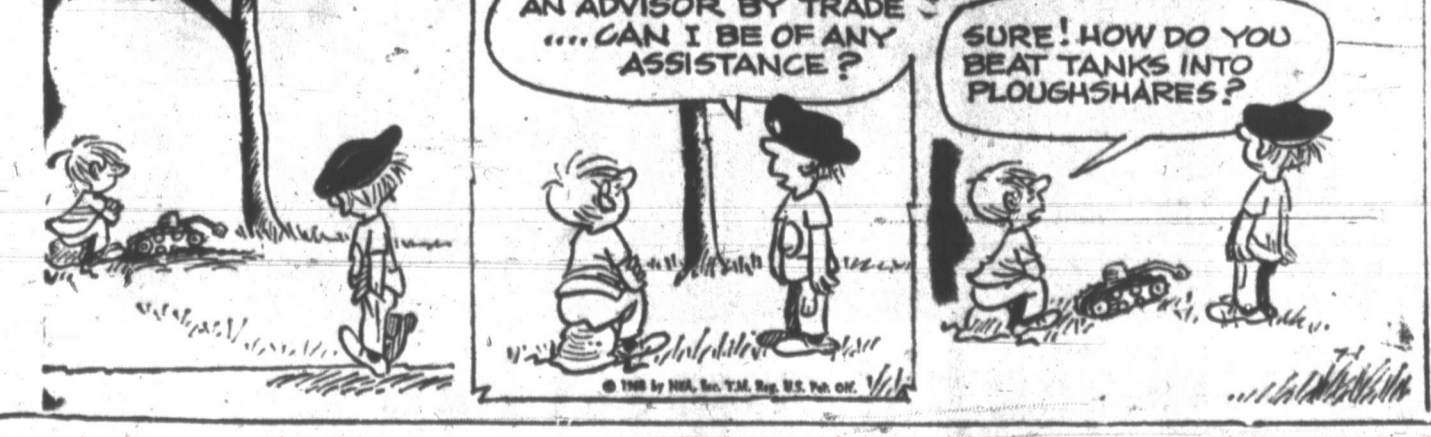

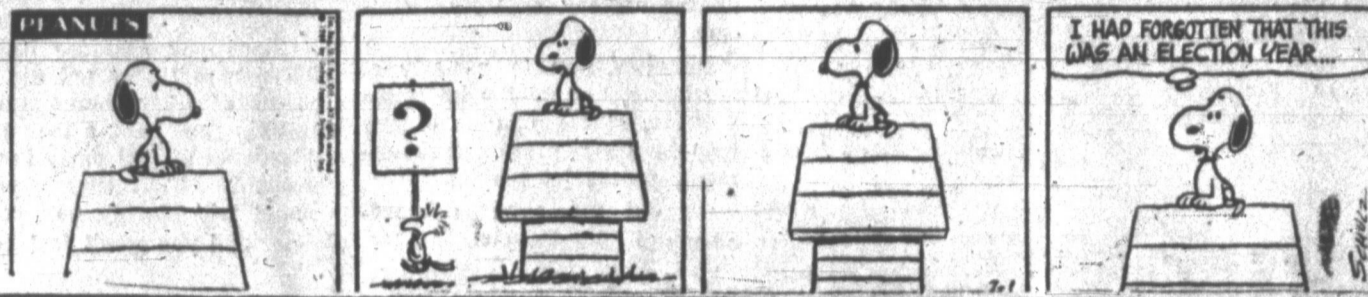

Pity the poor car that doesn't become attractive until it has its price cut. Pity it. But don't buy it. Buy instead a car that sales figures prove is attractive all year long. Chevrolet, America's favorite. (Now all the more attractive, with special savings on V8 engines and automatic transmissions.) A car with windshield wipers that stay out of sight until you turn them on, and an automatic alarm system that warns you not to leave your keys.

The simple truth is: we can afford to put more into each car we build, because we build more cars. Putting your first keeps us first. See your Chevrolet dealer last, for good sound savings on all 1968 models.

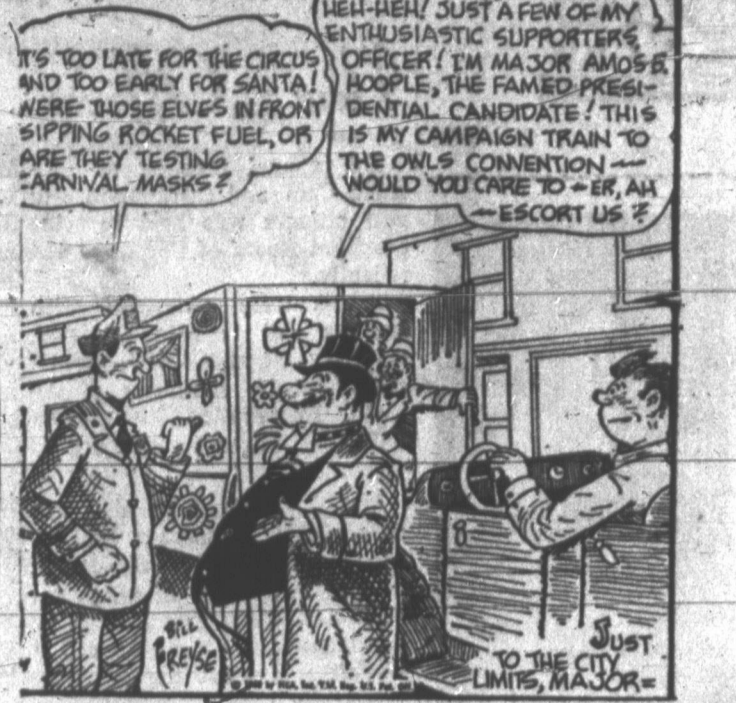

You get the biggest year-end savings just where you'd expect to.

Youth All-Star Game Slated Tuesday Night

Walden Haynes, manager of Pampa Lumber's champion Babe Ruth League team, will manage this year's All Star team, assisted by Dale Haynes and Melvin Davis, both of whom coached at the Lumber team.

This year the League officials decided to have only one team instead of two as in the past, in an attempt to make a stronger showing in District and State All-Star competition.

The team was chosen by the eight managers, each submitting 15 names, without voting for his own boys.

The top 15 were then determined as follows to make up the team:

Pampa Lumber — Ken Adams, Joe Foster, Gary Haynes, Dan Hood, Ideal Foods — Lewis Davis, Randy Marsh; First Nat'l. Bank; Rick Harris, Doug Thompson.

Pampa Jaycees — Tim Jones, Chuck Sexton; Pampa Lions Club — Larry Yearwood, Gary Potter; Roberts Butane & Supply — Marsh Gambelin.

Cree Drilling: Freddy Harper, Pampa Hardware: Mickey Sims. These boys will play against a second team, picked from the rest of the league, this Tuesday night at 8 p.m. at Opti-mist Park.

The Queen of the Babe Ruth League will be crowned before the game.

Members of the teams have been selling tickets for the 18 inch color television set, to raise money to elect their queen. Drawing for the TV will be before this game.

Pampa is affiliated with the National Babe Ruth organization which holds playoffs at district, state, regional and world series levels.

This year the District Tournament for the area will be here in Pampa and the District champion will go to San Antonio for state competition.

District play is from July 8-13 with Pampa meeting Canyon at 9:00 opening night in the local stars' first action.

Hiring Of Walker Counters Trend

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — Judge Roy Hofheinz, who had the good sense to put a roof on a stadium and transfer baseball indoors, is bucking the trend in another direction. By hiring Harry Walker, an effusive sort of guy who talks like a Roman fountain, the judge countered the dictum which decrees that baseball managers today should be the strong, silent type.

It's been a bad few years for gentlemen who spout knowledge. And Walker, who can come within a silly millimeter of telling you exactly which part of the circumference of a ball needs the roundness of a bat, definitely belongs to that species.

So does Gene Mauch, who recently bowed to the creed that a manager's only future is to be fired. Mauch was dismissed in the ninth year of his residency with the Philadelphia Phillies. Not because his brain was not whirring with its usual efficiency but chiefly because he couldn't apply his cerebral powers on a slugger who would rather get stuck in parkway traffic than get to the ball park on time.

Other nimble pundits who were unable to convince their owners that brilliant strategy offsets an addition to the loss column were Bobby Bragan, Eddie Tebbetts and Solly Hemus. Eddie Stanky, the little thinker of Chicago, had an abortive experience as the soul spirit of St. Louis. His free-wheeling soliloquies have made his tenure with the White Sox bumpy at times.

All these men have the common quality of being exceedingly bright, lucid, articulate and abrasive. So does Harry Walker. None was a particularly outstanding natural ballplayer. They existed on the field by their wits. They were never afraid to buck the establishment.

A trend in the other direction took hold 15 seasons ago when Walter Alston was named manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers and migrated west with them to Los Angeles in 1958, all the time maintaining his woodworking shop in Darrown, Ohio. He still has it. Walter was and is an organization man. He is the strong, silent type who feels most comfortable when a radio station interrupts its broadcast for a civil air defense test.

Walter also has existed longer in his job than any other manager in both major leagues, which should say something about keeping your mouth shut. By comparison, tight-lipped Hank Bauer of Baltimore, Ralph Houk of New York, Gil Hodges of New York and Jim Lemon of Washington are loquacious. However, with Alston, they share physical presence. They don't look like the kind of men you'd want to confront alone behind a locked door to prove a point of order.

Bauer has been described as the only man whose face looks like a clenched fist. Houk is a tough old World War II Ranger who keeps area clear in front of him—unless you like to polish your shoes with tobacco juice. Hodges, known affectionately as Moonie, also had a reputation as the strongest man in baseball, so when a fight on the old Dodger's broke out, it was always on the third base side of the diamond—Gil played first. Lemon, in his first year with the Senators, is an unknown in the rough-and-tumble part of baseball. He just looks as though he should fit, at 6-5 and 210.

The late Fred Hutchinson, who managed at Detroit, St. Louis and Cincinnati, was from the same rugged groove. When Hutch got a mad-on, players quailed and light bulbs shattered. He once broke every fixture leading from the Detroit dugout to the dressing room.

Harry Walker, now embarking on his third managerial venture, might break them too. But only through the sonic vibration of his Alabama whine, echoing down the corridor.

Record Number Of Cowboys Sign For Cheyenne Rodeo

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (SpI) — The "Daddy of 'Em All," the Cheyenne Frontier Days rodeo, oldest and largest outdoor rodeo in the world, already is setting records—and it still is three weeks away.

A record number of 514 cowboys have signed up to enter nearly a dozen events, vying for a record Frontier Days' purse of $105, 100. Last year, 512 contestants divided $94,500.

The 72nd edition of Frontier Days takes up the last full week of July—July 23-28—and another record should be set. Officials say they expect a record 170,000 visitors for the celebration.

Cowboy entrants in rodeo events will have two new contests this year to test their skill. They are a wild horse race and a chuckwagon race.

Some of the top cowboys in the nation—including all Around Cowboy leader Larry Mahan of Salem, Ore., whose winnings stand at $17,054—will be in Cheyenne's rodeo arena, trying to better their averages and standings.

A lot of the oldtimers, including Freckles Brown Shost Webster, Merle Davis, Joe Snavely and last year's All Around winner Walt Linderman, are entered.

The calf roping event has drawn the largest number of entries—214. Steer roping contestants total 133, and steer wrestlers number 93. Seventy-two are entered in the bull riding event and this year there will be 58 amateur saddle bronc riders. The bareback bronc contest has attracted 41 entries and saddle bronc riders num-

Astros Fall Before Mets

By AL DALY

After building a reputation based on an ability to lose games on many plays, the New York Mets have finally arrived—now their opponents are making the bad plays and the Mets are winning.

New York took a 1-0 decision from Houston Sunday when Astros' second baseman Denis Manke fielded what appeared to be an inning ending double play grounder, but instead got only one out the hard way. In the

Income Tax Information

Q—I teach school and usually take a course or two in the summer. Has there been any change in the law regarding the deductibility of these expenses?
A—No, tax deductions for education can be taken under the same conditions this year as they were last year.

Briefly, an educational expense is deductible if the course is required by your employer or is necessary to maintain or improve the skills required on your present job. No deduction can be taken for courses needed to meet the minimum requirements of a job or to obtain a new job.

Q—I received an extension of time to file my return and now I'm billed for interest on my taxes. Why is that?
A—The extension of time to file you received only waives the penalty for not filing your return by the original due date.

Under the law, interest at the rate of 6 per cent per year must still be paid on any taxes paid after the due date.

Q—I receive a small sum each month to cover the expenses of a foster child I have taken into my home. Is this money taxable?
A—These payments do not have to be reported as income unless they exceed the cost of the support you provide the child.

If the amount you contribute to the child's support is more than the payments you receive, then the child may qualify as your dependent.

Q—Do you have any booklet that will help a taxpayer prepare for an audit?
A—Yes. Send a Post Card to your district director and ask him for a copy of IRS Document No. 5202, "If Your Return is Examined." It's free.

Q—I'm self-employed. If I set up my own retirement plan, is it true I have to do the same for my secretary?
A—Retirement plans for most self-employed individuals must include employees of the self-employed person who have been with him three years or more.

Q—From the tax standpoint, what's the difference between alimony and child support payments?
A—Alimony payments are deductible for the payer and taxable income to the recipient. Child support payments are not deductible for the payer and are not taxable to the recipient.
