FIRST DAY AS SUPERINTEDENT — Dr. James F. Malone, left, Pampa's new school superintendent, reviews plans for Thursday's school board agenda with McHenry Lane, acting school superintendent the past six months. Dr. Malone had his first official day as superintendent today and will attend the trustee meeting Thursday. His family is expected in Pampa this weekend from their home in Kilgore.

School Superintendent Is At Work On New Job

Today was Dr. James F. Malone's first day on the job as Pampa's new school superintendent. Selected May 9 to fill the vacancy created by the ouster of Dr. John Damon Jan. 16, Dr. Malone moved here from Kilgore where he was school superintendent six years.

Dr. Malone, his wife Verna Jo, and 12-year-old daughter Terri Ann, plan this weekend to move furniture to their Pampa home, 1915 Holly Lane.

"I'm in the process of moving boxes now, and hopefully my family and the furniture will be moved next weekend. So far today, I've been talking to some nice people and getting the utilities hooked up at home," he said.

Dr. Malone, and McHenry Lane, curriculum coordinator, worked today on the school board agenda for Thursday's regular trustee meeting. Dr. Malone will attend his first regular board meeting at 9:30 a.m. Thursday.

Lane, who retired June 30, has been acting superintendent the past six months since Dr. Damon's job was terminated and he moved to Midland to work with the West Texas Education Center.

A native of Midland, and 1942 graduate of Kilgore High School, Dr. Malone received his B.S. Degree from Texas Tech where he was president of his 1948 college graduating class. He received his Masters Degree from Baylor University in 1951, attended George Peabody College in Nashville, Tenn. in 1953, and the University of Texas in 1955. In 1964 he received his educational doctorate in administrative leadership at North Texas State University.

He first taught school at Troup, Texas, 1948-1950, and taught in Tyler public schools 1950-1955. School principal at Justin, Texas, 1955-1957, he was superintendent there from 1957 to 1960. For two years, he was employed as coordinator for secondary education at Tyler. From 1962 until May this year he was Kilgore school superintendent.

A member of several standing committees on the Texas State Teachers Association, he is one of three Texas directors on the National Education Association. In Kilgore he was member and past president of the Rotary Club, past president of Community Concert Association, Chamber of Commerce director,

Troops Charge Into North Viet Division

By JACK WALSH
SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. Marines advancing behind tanks launched a major attack during the weekend to stop infiltration from North Vietnam. Thus far they have killed at least 201 Communists, military spokesmen said today.

U. S. Intelligence sources said the Leathernecks charged into what is probably an entire North Vietnamese division — the 320th — and bulldozed it back two miles just below the North-South Vietnam border Demilitarized Zone (DMZ). Marine casualties included 10 men killed and 81 wounded.

The Leathernecks drove inland from the South China Sea, driving the Communists toward the Marine bastion of Gio Linh. Farther north, U.S. fighter-bombers flew 133 missions Sunday against supply bases up and down North Vietnam's southern panhandle.

The border battle raged in the northeastern corner of South Vietnam. The American intelligence sources said the 320th, battered by the Marines' early last month near the border fort of Dong Ha, had withdrawn into the six-mile-wide DMZ and re-equipped itself and fleshed out its broken ranks with new manpower. Then the North Vietnamese pushed south once more.

The sources said the 8,000-man division apparently aimed at once more trying to smash along the Cua Viet River, along which U.S. boats moved supplies.

There was no official word for security reasons — on the Marines' goal in the drive. But there was unofficial speculation that for the first time this year the Leathernecks might go into the DMZ.

Predicts New Attack
In Saigon, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky told United Press International correspondent Daniel Southerland in a weekend interview he foresaw a third major Communist attack on Saigon this year — to come within the next two months.

In other developments: —U.S. helicopter gunships killed at least 40 Communists and aided by Navy patrol boats, destroyed a Viet Cong arms smuggling sampan fleet in coastal Quang Ngai Province.

S. Vietnam's Thieu Wants To Meet LBJ
In a weekend interview with United Press International, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky said he believes the Communists will launch the major attack on the capital within the next two months.

Ky predicted the battle would be won against what he called intense guerrilla use of snipers and one and two man bands lodged throughout Saigon.

Thieu's communique said: "There are many important problems which necessitate a direct exchange of views between the national leaders, and cannot suffer a long delay, especially problems relating to the peace explorations and joint defense efforts in the present struggle."

The Saigon regime has been less than avid in its support for American negotiators going into preliminary peace talks with North Vietnamese officials in Paris. Ky said in the weekend interview that the main condition Saigon insists upon in any settlement is a total North Vietnamese withdrawal from South Vietnam.

Thieu's communique said the proposal for the meeting has been sent to President Johnson.

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UPI) — The United Nation Command (UNC) today accused Communist North Korea of violating the truce line with South Korea 2 times since June 26 and said it was "a premeditated plan of violence and intrusion."

LONDON (UPI) — The Bank of England announced today the country's leading central banks "have given firm assurances of willingness to participate" in a new massive move to bolster the pound sterling.

But the bank's official statement indicated final agreement on the new credit line was not reached at a weekend meeting in Basel, Switzerland, of the Bank of International Settlements.

By CHARLES BERNARD SYDNEY, Australia, (UPI) — A gunman besieged by police for six days today smashed furniture into kindling to heat food for himself, his shotgun teen-aged bride and her baby.

The crash and bang of splintering chairs and tables flooded through the windows of the suburban house surrounded by police.

Down the street 100 yards Police Chief Norman Allan and aides huddled in a trailer and tried to figure a way to separate Wallace "Wally" Melish, 23, his shotgun, automatic rifle, pistols and hand grenades from his wife Beryl, 19, and her son Leslie, 12 weeks old. Melish has threatened to kill them if police come any nearer.

'Triumph' Of Personal Diplomacy

LBJ Takes Participants Of 'Little Summit' Home

By FRANK SWOPODA
SAN SALVADOR (UPI) — President Johnson left for home today winding up a weekend "little summit" meeting with the presidents of the five Central American republics.

Aboard the Presidential jetliner with Johnson, his wife and daughter Luci were the president's guests.

The Presidential plane lifted into the air from San Salvador's international airport at 7:59 a.m. (9:59 a.m. EDT), after brief protocol ceremonies.

The host of the summit meeting, President Fidel Sanchez Hernandez of El Salvador, bade goodbye to each of the presidents. There were no airport speeches.

First stop of Johnson's "shuttle run" home will be Managua, Nicaragua, where President Anastasio Somoza Jr. will leave the party. There will be brief airport ceremonies.

Other stops will be made at San Jose, Costa Rica; San Pedro Sula, Honduras, and Guatemala City, Guatemala, to drop off the presidents of those countries. Brief airport ceremonies are scheduled to each.

Johnson left San Salvador with the cheers of tens of thousands of Salvadoreans still ringing in his ears after a weekend considered by observers to be a triumph of personal diplomacy for the President.

The citizens of this tiny coffee-producing nation — including women in rags and children with hunger-swollen bellies — poured into the streets and reached out a forest of hands for a brief touch of Johnson's fingers.

Rites Today Transfer Sanford Dam To Cities

A seven-man delegation from Pampa attended formal ceremonies today transferring control of the Sanford Dam Project from the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation to the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority.

Delegations from other member cities — Amarillo, Borger, Plainview, Lubbock, Slaton, Tahoka, O'Donnell, Lamesa, Brownfield and Levelland — also joined in the day-long ceremony.

Attending from Pampa were Fred Thompson and Clinton Evans, the city's representatives on the CRMWA board of directors; Mayor Jim Nation, City Manager Charles Hill, and city commissioners: Hugh Burdette, Joe Taylor and Clyde Carruth.

The formal ceremony was held at 1:30 p.m. after a tour of Lake Meredith and a luncheon on the Promenade Deck of the marina. Directors held a business meeting at 2 p.m., followed by an open house at the Headquarters Building and other facilities.

The $85-million project was (See SANFORD, Page 3)

Reds Name Candidate For President

NEW YORK (UPI) — The great granddaughter of a slave and a man too young to be eligible for the office were nominated Sunday by the Communist party as its first candidates for president and vice president since 1940.

The selection of Mrs. Charles Mitchell, a Negro, to run for president was unexpected because party spokesmen had predicted the party's general secretary, Gus Hall, would be the logical choice.

Hall and other party leaders later said Mrs. Mitchell and Michael Zagarell, 23, director of the party's youth program, had been selected because the party considered black liberation and the alienation of youth as the two central issues facing the country.

Jaycee 'Fair' Gets Started Tomorrow

A motorcycle race sponsored by the Pampa two-wheelers club is an added attraction for the annual Jaycee Fair, scheduled tomorrow through Saturday.

The race, slated to have contestants from all over the Panhandle, will be held Saturday night behind the Coronado shopping center. It was announced today by Bud McVicker, club president.

The Jaycee Fair will be located west of Coronado Center.

The Boy Scouts, the Business and Professional Women, the Knights of Pythias and the Zeta Beta Chi division of Beta Sigma Phi sorority will also be represented in the fair, McVicker said today.

The Knights of Pythias will again have a dunking tank. Zeta Beta Chi will hold a game booth in order to raise funds for a girls' town project.

McVicker urged all organizations wishing to reserve a booth for the fair to contact a Jaycee member at the carnival area tonight.

The fair will feature "space-age" rides, including the "Flying Comet," the "Rock and Roll," and the "Paratrooper." Other rides at the fair will include the "Tornado," the "Looper," the "Scrambler," "Tilt-a-Twirl" and the regulars such as merry-go-round, ferris wheel, midget cars, etc.

Other features include live ponies, a fun house, concession booths and game booths. Proceeds from the fair will be used to support the club's civic projects.

The fair will be open from 6 p.m. until midnight daily.

(Continued From Page 1) presidents of El Salvador, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Honduras and Guatemala Sunday night. "Our meeting has been fruitful because it has been responsible." He had lent them $65 million for development and education and pushed their economic cooperation.

Recalls Crowd But amid the candlelit glitter of a Sunday night farewell party, it was not the leaders but the people who Johnson recalled when telling a friend: "These are wonderful people. You can see it in their eyes and feel it in their hands."

"Talk about 'simpatico'! That's what the word means." At a Roman Catholic cathedral where daughter, Luci, carried the communion chalice in her church's new liturgy, in the market place, in slum streets and in the coffee-growing town of Santa Tecla, the crowds had but one chant: "Viva Johnson! Viva Johnson! Viva Johnson!"

Through the windows of his air-conditioned limousine, the President could see the hungry children, beggars and houses that could only be called hovels. That was why he was here, pledging American dollars to help El Salvador move into a greater society.

After dinner a brief plant tour will be conducted.

Longest-Surviving Heart Transplant Patient Rallies

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI)—The retired dentist the world knew as the longest-surviving heart transplant patient was so weak that a second transplant seemed his only chance. He quickly rallied.

The latest word today from Grootte Schuur Hospital was that Dr. Philip Blaiberg, 59, was improving.

Blaiberg improved so dramatically Sunday that the hospital said "no further emergency treatment is anticipated."

"There is a definite improvement in his general condition. His lung is improving," the bulletin said.

Only a few hours before, reliable medical sources said Blaiberg "preferred to die of natural causes" rather than

County Board Of Equalization To Meet Tomorrow

The Gray County commissioners court will convene as a board of equalization tomorrow and Wednesday for hearings on any appeals to be made on tax assessments.

Hearings will get underway at 10 a.m. No schedule of hearings has been set up and cases will likely be heard on a "first come first served" basis in court spokesmen said.

Notice of the board's convening has been mailed out to individuals, businesses, and oil firms.

Members of the commissioners court who will act as the board of equalization are Commissioners Clyde Organ, Joe K. Clarke, Truitt Johnson, James McCracken and County Judge S. R. Lenning.

On other topics, he said: —Saigon: The Communists will in the next two months launch "a big and decisive attack" against Saigon and its surrounding area. "Military, I have no doubt we will win. But I am concerned about the political side of the battle."

—A peace settlement: It would take a long time because there has been "too much bloodshed. You need time for cooling off. If North Vietnam wants peace, the primary condition is that they must withdraw their troops. We'll solve the problems of South Vietnam very easily then."

allow a second transplant. Another transplant, doctors told him, was the only way to save his life. He was weakened in his struggle from hepatitis and a lung infection. Blaiberg's wife, Eileen, told newsmen Sunday "There definitely will be no further transplant operation" on her husband. But Sunday night, she denied her husband refused another transplant.

"He would never refuse a heart transplant at any stage," Mrs. Blaiberg said. "It's a complete misstatement. He is very much improved and we are very excited about his condition."

One medical source at Grootte Schuur Hospital said, "Blaiberg the man has been forgotten. He is a tired old man. He appears to prefer to die of natural causes."

13-Year-Old Dies As Plane Hits Suburban Home

By SHERRY CONOHAN CHICAGO (UPI)—Benjamin Masters and his son Billy, 11, had left the house early in the morning to play golf at the country club. Mrs. Masters was mowing the lawn of their north suburban home in Glenview.

The Masters' daughter Cynthia, 13, was the only one in the house, a $70,000 two-story brick-and-frame structure, when the jet smashed to earth Sunday.

It was a little after 9 o'clock. About a mile southeast of the Masters home, at the Glenview Naval Air Base, Reserve Lt. William T. Reinders, 32, on a routine monthly flight, lifted his A4B Skyhawk jet into the air. Within minutes, the plane began losing power. Reinders, attached to the VA-727 Attack Squadron, radioed the base that he would try to return. But he could not handle the single-engine craft. He ejected and in an instant the plane fell from the sky and into part of the Masters' home in the soft, rich, peaceful suburb.

Cynthia was killed. Her body was found on the first floor near the sun porch, where the jet hit before landing against an embankment in the back yard and exploding in flames.

Reinders, whose parachute did not open, was thrown into a weeping willow tree near the house and suffered a broken arm and leg. He was taken to the Great Lakes Naval Hospital in serious condition.

A neighbor, Mrs. Thomas Roupas, said: "We ran out and saw the whole house in flames. I ran into the yard and heard Mrs. Masters screaming that her daughter was still inside the house. Several neighbors tried to get inside, but the flames drove them off."

Weapons Charge Is Filed On Man

A 21-year-old helicopter pilot, Warrant Officer Jimmy Leroy Borger of Borger, was charged by Pampa police early Sunday morning with unlawfully carrying arms.

The man allegedly was traveling east on Foster Ave. when he became engaged in an argument with some six youths in a car traveling in the same direction. The argument prompted the display of the weapon, police said. Bond was set at $1,000 by Justice of the Peace E.L. Anderson.

Candidates Disagree On Year's Top Issue

By United Press International Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and his Democratic presidential rival, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy cannot agree on whether the major campaign issue this year is the war in Vietnam or the war in America's streets.

Humphrey says crime and violence is the No. 1 issue and maintains he won't talk specifically about his ideas on how the Vietnam war should be settled because it would undercut American negotiators in Paris.

McCarthy said the Vietnam conflict is "much more the issue" because the other is not an issue "on which people are going to take sides."

Both candidates appeared on national television news shows Sunday. Humphrey spoke on "Issues and Answers"—ABC. McCarthy appeared on "Meet the Press"—NBC.

The vice president said, "I believe the No. 1 issue that troubles the American people today is how you can have both civil order and civil justice."

"I think what the American people want is a law-abiding country, that is a country in which we can make our change without lawlessness. I think they want to see a president, and they want other officials of the government who will not only speak out vigorously against disorder and violence and crime in the streets, and looting and burning, but they also want that same man to speak up, to speak up for" a variety of antipoverty, education and urban programs.

McCarthy, on the other hand, said "I think the war is much more of an issue than the other." "The other is a matter of deep concern to the people, but it has never been presented as an issue because no one of the candidates can offer you a Wayne Gray, 34, son of Mrs. Vona Gray of Panhandle, was dead on arrival at St. Joseph's Hospital here Sunday. He died after a lengthy illness complicated by pneumonia.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in First Baptist Church with burial in Quail Cemetery directed by Kelse Funeral Home.

Survivors are his wife, one son; and a daughter, all of the home; his mother, four sisters, Mrs. Irene Ogletree, Panhandle; Mrs. Curt Brinkely and Mrs. Ed Strange, both of Amarillo; and Mrs. Sylvester Crow, Farmington, N.M.; and two brothers, Robert of Astoria, Ore., and Berl of Panhandle.

Robert B. Kenney Sr., 83, born in Georgetown, June 27, 1885, died Sunday morning in Highland General Hospital after a short illness. He was a retired cable tool oil field driller, and moved here four months ago.

He lived here with his son, Robert B. Kenney Jr., 328 N. Dwight. He lived in Cross Plains 15 years before moving here.

Mr. Kenney had worked in oil fields of Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma. Mrs. Kenney died in 1959 in El Paso.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Duenkel Funeral Home chapel with Rev. DeWitt Seago, pastor of First Methodist Church, officiating. Burial will be in Memory Gardens Cemetery directed by Duenkel Funeral Directors.

Survivors are his two daughters, Mrs. E. Ray Jones, Pampa and Mrs. Jack O. Bannon, Austin; two sons, Leroy Kenney, Corpus Christi and Robert B. Kenney, Pampa; three brothers, Gib Kenney of Amarillo; Johnny Kenney of Spearman, and Pat Kenney of Dalhart; two sisters, Mrs. Bertha Malone, Kingsville, and Mrs. Bessie Brown, Lamar, Ark.; six grandchildren and one great-granddaughter.

Pallbearers will be T.J. Allison, R. W. Caskey, W. F. Sandy, A. L. Myers, Alva Hagood and Clayton Stokes.

In other police news: Raymond Duke of 536 Elm reported to Pampa police that a .32 caliber pistol had been stolen from his auto late Saturday as it was parked near a local lounge.

Also, late Saturday night, Walter E. Gray of 2313 Rosewood reported that a beer bottle had been thrown through a window of his auto, causing an estimated $85 damage.

Rodeo Promotion Activities To Get Started Tomorrow

Poster distribution and ticket sales will be kicked off tomorrow for the Top O' Texas Rodeo slated to be held here in the rodeo arena of Recreation Park July 24-27.

Promotion activities will begin with a 7 a.m. breakfast tomorrow in the Lamplighter Restaurant with directors of the Top O' Texas Rodeo Assn.

According to Rex McAnelly, president of the association, four different groups — each featuring pretty girls from the Leather 'N Lace Riding Club—will fan out over the area to distribute posters advertising the rodeo. Rodeo representatives will also be calling on local businessmen tomorrow in an effort to spur ticket sales, with Glenn Cox and Mack Hiatt being in charge of the group.

McAnelly said the rodeo association had bought its own street decorations and will not be selling individual decorations to stores as has been the practice in the past. He emphasized that the ticket sales would help defray the cost of the advertising and that the association would not have to impose upon businessmen again after this year.

Pampan Hurt In Saturday Mishap

Johnny Holt, 42, Pampa was listed in serious condition today at Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo with severe scalp lacerations after being injured on a farm near Kingsmill about 4 p.m. Saturday.

Holt was working on the farm of A. L. Weathered. According to the Gray County Sheriff's office, Holt was in the back of a trailer being pulled by a pickup.

Details of the accident are not certain. Weathered, who was in the pickup, noticed that Holt had fallen out of the trailer after the pickup stopped. He said Holt had apparently either struck his head on the trailer and-or been run over.

An ambulance was called and Holt was taken to the Amarillo hospital.

Suit Filed In District Court

A. L. and Ruth Watkins have filed suit against Furr Food Stores in 31st Judicial District Court here for $25,000 in damages.

The plaintiffs allege in the suit that because of negligence on the part of Furr Food store on N. Hobart, Mrs. Watkins slipped and fell Jan. 20, severely injuring herself.

The plaintiffs contend that Mrs. Watkins, 69, slipped and fell because the store was negligent in allowing the floor to be in a slick condition near its entrance.

Second Half 1968 Business Prospects

By The Babson Staff
The first six months of 1968 was a period of vigorous expansion in economic activity. Dollar volume of goods and services produced, scored a sharp advance. While a significant portion of this gain was due to a higher level of prices as a result of inflationary pressures, there was real progress. Physical volume of industrial production also showed definite improvement, with an underlying uptrend for the period.

Looking ahead to the second half, the outlook is less promising. Indeed, business prospects are a bit on the murky side. For example, a big question mark lodges with the steel industry's labor negotiations. If a prolonged strike should ensue, industrial activity in the fourth quarter could be hurt badly. Making it more difficult to assess the business picture is the degree to which the surtax will restrain retail trade. In addition, international conditions contain many imponderables.

But assuming a prolonged steel labor tie-up can be averted, it is likely that business can hold in a high range. However, it will not display the vitality which marked the first half year. Stockpiling of steel will no longer provide an uplift to industrial activity, and even if a serious steel strike is averted, there must be a period of inventory liquidation.

Moreover, inflow of new orders to manufacturers has been lacking vigor in recent months. Thus, even though backlogs of unfilled orders can be a bolstering factor for the next few months, unless demand picks up new momentum industrial activity faces a reduction in pace. At this juncture, therefore, the business outlook for the balance of 1968 suggests a period of deceleration in the rate of economic activity. Carry-over momentum from the first half of the year assures a good beginning, for second-half 1968, but thereafter inventory re-accumulation, tight credit, high OLEN'S TUNE-UP, BRAKE & FRONT-END is located at 310 N. Ward, Pampa's automotive specialty shop. Olen can give your car a complete motor analysis electronically, that will pin-point any trouble you might have with the motor's performance. Mrs. Jo Anderson is pictured with Olen . . . she keeps Olen on the ball.

Olen's Tune-Up Can Get Your Car Ready For Summer Driving

Olen's Tune-Up, Brake and Front-End, 310 N. Ward, is the place to take your car before you go on your vacation. Summer driving can be a pleasure when your car performs flawlessly. At Olen's, the Dyna-Vision Motor Analyzer takes the guess-work out of a tune-up, assuring you of a perfectly performing car.

This electronic instrument will analyze your engine's performance and show where the problem areas are. Have your engine put through the ten-step analysis by Olen, the Tune-Up Specialist.

Have Olen check your air conditioning, so you won't be stuck some hot day with the unit not performing. If you don't have a unit, Olen can install a new unit built to fit your particular car.

Does your car shimmy or shake? Is it hard to steer? . . . Olen can correct these symptoms quickly. Olen will check wheel alignment with the Alente cross-sight wheel aligner, which will show him just what adjustments are needed to get your car back to factory specifications and top driving condition.

Olen Anderson is the owner and operator of Olen's Tune-Up, Brake and Front-End, 310 N. Ward, and it is a name and address that you'd do well to remember.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Walking for pleasure in England during the 18th and 19th centuries required gentlemen to make some curious concessions to prevailing notions of propriety. The World Almanac notes that it was a mark of vulgar tolerance only in tradesmen to walk too briskly, and it was the custom to carry an umbrella while walking to indicate that one was a gentleman, not a tramp.

MANILA (UPI)—Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman said Sunday the Philippine developed "miracle rice," a high-yield variety, has stimulated food revolutions in Asia. He called the new rice "the most significant development of the decade."

Tahiti Is Kept 'In Dark' About French A-Blast

PAPEETE, Tahiti (UPI)—Radio Tahiti saved the news of what happened at Mururoa Lagoon until the polls closed. It was a government order.

What happened was France's newest atomic bomb test, a blast in the 100 kiloton range, a third of a mile above the lagoon 800 miles southeast of this fabled island paradise Sunday.

The tests are supposed to end late this summer with France's first hydrogen bomb explosion. The election on Tahiti was to elect a deputy to the French parliament. Since nuclear testing is unpopular with French Polynesians, Francis Sanford, the incumbent, was considered as good as elected. He has long fought nuclear testing.

Walls and fences in Papeete have been colorful with signs such as "Not to the bomb." The islanders fear radioactive contamination of fish, coconuts and fruit although the French government insists it is doing everything it can to prevent it.

Voting in French Polynesia was postponed a week for what was called technical reasons after France gave President Charles de Gaulle's government a massive victory June 30. The Gaullist deputy for the tiny southwest Pacific islands of Wallis and Futuna was re-elected Sunday. It gave the Gaullist majority 359 seats in the parliament.

The reports of the explosion were ordered kept off the radio until balloting ended Sunday night.

The latest French nuclear explosion, the 10th since testing began at Tuamotu archipelago in 1966, had been delayed by bad weather since Friday. The French are testing the nuclear warhead for ground-to-ground missiles, H-bombs, and France's planned Polaris-type submarines.

GRENOBLE, France (UPI)—Student revolt leader Jacques Sauvageot says the $200,000 film contract offered him recently is not the best offer he's had.

"A circus also wanted to hire me," he said. "They proposed I should start a debate on student problems every night between the wild animal act and the trapeze act."

AOSTA, Italy (UPI)—Giulio Stabillin was sentenced to 75 days in prison Friday for begging after police told a court he went to "work" every day in a chauffeur-driven car.

You say you'd like a few suggestions on how to get more out of your telephone service?

Here are five tips to help make your every "hello" a real good buy:

- Whenever you're moving to another town within the Bell System, let us arrange for your phone service before you move. If you know the address of your new home, we can make arrangements in advance so you'll have the exact service you want in your new home. We'll also refer calls from your old phone to your new number if you like. Just call the business office and ask about our Easy Move Plan. There's no extra charge.
- Speaking of moving, we hope you realize that wherever you move in the Bell System, there is no color charge for the phones at your new address if you had color phones at your old address.
- Ever wonder what to do when you get a wrong number on a Long Distance call? Just hang up, dial "0" for "Operator," and tell her what happened. She'll see that you're not charged for the call.
- And if you ever lose your dime in an out-of-order pay telephone, just go to a working phone and report it to the Operator. She'll arrange to have your dime mailed to you. Also, if you give her the number of the out-of-order phone, we'll get it fixed right away.
- Long Distance interstate rates are lower all day Saturday and Sunday, and after 7 p.m. each weekday. You can also save money if you call by number. A station-to-station Long Distance call costs about one-third less than a person-to-person call.

Cycle Riders Must Wear Headgear

City and county law enforcement officers have reminded motorcycle operators and riders that it is unlawful to ride such vehicles without protective headgear. "Every great once in a while we still see someone riding on a motorcycle without a helmet—usually an accident—and we would like to remind them that it's a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of from $10-$50," a Texas Dept. of Public Safety official said.

The law went into effect in December, 1967. Minimum safety standards for headgear are prescribed by the Dept. of Public Safety. Circulars outlining these standards may be picked up at the Dept. of Public Safety office or

Mays Slated In Outfield

By DARREL MACK
HOUSTON (UPI)—Manager Dick Williams of the American League All-Star team today faced the task of picking a starting pitcher from among seven hurlers who worked last weekend while Manager Red Schoendienst of the National League had a well-rotted corps of pitchers to throw in Tuesday night's annual mid-season classic.

Schoendienst was expected to name either Don Drysdale (10-5) of the Dodgers or his own Bob Gibson (11-5) of the Cardinals as the NL starter.

Five members of Williams' staff pitched Sunday and the other two pitched Saturday. Denny McLain (16-2) of the Tigers, Luis Tiant (14-5) of the Indians, Mel Stottlemyre (11-5) of the Yankees and Tommy John (7-0) of the White Sox all started and went more than five innings Sunday while John "Blue Moon" Odom (7-5) of the A's pitched two innings of relief.

Sam McDowell (8-8) of the Indians and Gary Bell (7-3) of the Red Sox pitched Saturday. The game, the first indoors and the first at night since World War II, will start at 8:15 (EDT) before a standing-room-only audience of more than 50,000 and another 120 million television viewers and radio listeners.

Standing-room tickets will be sold until gametime, dome officials said.

Schoendienst announced Sunday that Willie Mays will be back in his old center field spot, due to the graciousness of Curt Flood of the Cardinals.

Flood, elected to a starting All-Star team for the first time in his 13-year career, was scheduled to be in center with Hank Aaron of the Braves in right and Pete Rose of the Reds in left when Rose suffered a broken thumb Friday night.

Schoendienst said he talked to Flood about the situation. "I told Curt it looks like we have two fine centerfielders and Curt said, 'Put Willie in center and I'll play left,'" Schoendienst said.

The Cardinal manager named Billy Williams of the Cubs, the outfielder with the next most votes, to replace Rose on the NL squad.

Missed Putt Aids Victory

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (UPI)—A last minute decision put Tom Weiskopf into the Buick Open and a last minute break won it for him.

Weiskopf shot a last round 69 Sunday to finish the 72 hole test of the 7,001-yard par-72 Warwick Hills course with an eight under par 280.

Then he stood tensely on the fringe of the green while rookie Mike Hill, playing in only his fifth pro tournament, took a shot at maintaining a tie to force a playoff for the $25,000 first prize in the $125,000 event.

He couldn't do it. Whether it was pressure or error, Hill missed a five foot putt on the last green to bogey the hole and wind up with second money of $15,000, while Weiskopf relaxed with the second win of his pro career.

"I hit a terrible putt," Hill said. "I hit it on the toe." Hill's error made Weiskopf look like a seer. He had planned to compete in the British Open and didn't make up his mind to play in the Buick until last Sunday. Then he telephoned his entry, an hour before the deadline.

"I never thought I had a chance to win until the last round when I caught everybody on the first nine," he said. "But before I started, I thought if I shot a 68, I'd win it. I feel very lucky."

The keys to my round were a 15-foot birdie putt on the third hole and then a five footer to birdie the 14th. That first one gave me a lot of confidence and that second put me nine under, in front of the field."

Only three players really were in contention on the last round with Rod Horn falling out of the picture on his 71st hole when he took a bogey to go six under par. He wound up with 282 for third to earn $9,375, compared to his total previous pro earnings of $116.

Eob Lynn and Rocky Thompson tied for fourth at 283, earning $5,812 each, while defending champion Julius Boros, National Open champion Lee Trevino and Johnny Pott deadlocked at 284 for $4,291 apiece.

Dons Defeat Rebels By 5-4

The Palo Duro Dons of Amarillo scored a single run in the seventh inning to edge the Pampa American Legion baseball club, 5-4, in a district game Saturday night.

Ranyan scored the run after drawing a walk to lead off the seventh frame. An infield error allowed the winning run in the seventh.

Pampa took an early 3-0 lead in the first inning on a single by Steve Summers, two walks and an infield error.

The Rebels went ahead, 4-0, when they scored a single tally in the fifth inning when Steve Summers scored on an infield error.

Palo Duro came back strong in the bottom of the fifth when the Amarillo nine scored a total of four runs to tie the contest. A hit batsman, a walk, an error and Brook's double accounted for the four runs.

Pampa is now 4-5. Pampa invades Spearman on Wednesday night and then plays Borger there Friday night.

Tigers Hold Large Lead

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer
The runaway Detroit Tigers have reached the halfway point of the American League pennant race with the biggest lead in 21 years and a conviction that the only team they have to fear is the Detroit Tigers.

Nine and a half games in front after sweeping the Oakland Athletics 6-4 and 7-6 Sunday, the Tigers no longer even identify their pursuers by name.

"How far behind is the second-place team now?" asked such stars as Al Kaline, Norm Cash and Dick McAuliffe, without bothering to question whether the Cleveland Indians still were that team.

The Tigers' lead at the All-Star break is the biggest in the American League since the New York Yankees had a 12½-game margin in 1947. The Yankees coasted to the pennant that season just as the Tigers are likely to do this season barring a total collapse in the second half of the schedule.

The Tigers, who haven't won a pennant since 1945, gained a full game on the Indians Sunday with their two narrow victories over the Athletics.

McLain Wins Sixteenth
Denny McLain raised his record to 16-2 when Willie Horton's ninth-inning homer won the opener and Joe Sparras won his seventh game against six losses with the help of a two-run homer by Kaline in the second game.

McLain, the major leagues' biggest winner and a possible 30-game winner, pitched a five-hitter and struck out nine.

Kaline sent the Tigers off in front with a two-run homer in the first inning of the second game and John Hiller, Fred Lasher and Mickey Lolich held off the Athletics in the late innings to give the Tigers their 12th victory in their last 14 games.

The Indians beat the California Angels 8-3 but then lost 9-7, the Boston Red Sox downed the Minnesota Twins 4-3 and 6-3, the Baltimore Orioles beat the New York Yankees 3-2 after a 3-1 loss and the Chicago White Sox shaded the Washington Senators 4-3 in 11 innings in other American League games.

In the National League, the St. Louis Cardinals blanked the San Francisco Giants 2-0, the Los Angeles Dodgers edged the Cincinnati Reds 6-5, the Houston Astros topped the Atlanta Braves 5-4, the Chicago Cubs swept the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-4 and 4-0, and the New York Mets beat the Philadelphia Phillies 4-2 after a 4-3 defeat.

Duke Sims drove in four runs with a three-run homer and a single and Don Mincher earned the Agnels a split in the nightcap when he knocked in four runs with a homer and a single.

Carl Yastrzemski, homerless since June 15, hit one in each game as the Red Sox ran their winning streak to eight games. Ray Culp, aided by Juan Pizarro, received credit for his fifth victory in the first game and Gary Waslewski, with help from Bill Landis and Lee Stange, was credited with his third win in the nightcap.

Roy White and Andy Kosco hit homers and Mel Stottlemyre pitched a four-hitter for his 11th win for the Yankees but the Orioles won the second game on Fred Valentine's ninth-inning homer. Jim Hardin suffered his fifth loss for the Orioles in the first game while Tom Phoebus squared his record at 8-8 in the nightcap.

Wayne Causey, who scored the tying run in the eighth inning, singled home Ken Berry in the 11th to give Don McMahon his second win for the White Sox. Berry opened the inning with a single and went to second on Willie Davis' fielder's choice sacrifice.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

'Accent On What Is Right'

Leonard F. Read has written an excellent new book entitled "Accent On The Right."

Mr. Read is president of the Foundation for Economic Education in New York. He said that if he had to name it again, he would call it Foundation for Moral Education because sound morals come before good economics.

Mr. Read has written many good books and articles, but it seems to us that this is one of the best books, if not the best book he has written.

Price of the book, paper back $1.25 for one copy, $2 in cloth. Two to four copies, $1.10 in paper back and $1.80 in cloth. Ten or more copies are 85-cents in paper back and $1.40 in cloth.

It would seem that the best way to introduce the book is to repeat some gems from it. Read quotes a Brazilian entrepreneur as having another way of explaining their simultaneous progress and regress: "We get things done while the politicians sleep."

He quotes William Penn as grasping the point when he said: "Covetousness is the greatest of Monsters, as well as the root of all Evil."

Of course, if people didn't covet, they wouldn't steal, they wouldn't murder, they wouldn't bear false witness, and they would honor their father and mother.

Further on Read says, "He who is rich in worldly goods but unaware of his blessings is poor, and probably covetous, he who is poor in worldly goods, but aware of his blessings is rich and assuredly without envy."

Read reports, "so far as I know, the first recorded taboo against defrauding — stealing — appeared in the Code of Hammurabi. But, for certain, thievery was frowned upon and steps taken to discourage theft long before man was able to write codes." Then he says, "Why the certainty? There is every reason to believe that the observance of this taboo, this respect for the principle of private ownership, marked the dawn of civilization."

(In "Territorial Imperative" by Robert Ardrey, Ardrey pointed out that animals of the same species would not fight against each other unless one encroached upon the property of another. These species that live in groups, or tribes, will unite in defense of their property. So it started long before mankind.)

On page 63 of "Accent on The Right," in discussing ownership as "control," Read says, "Legalizing the compulsory transfer of control still amounts to the destruction of private ownership."

The book is only 110 pages, with space enough between the lines to make it easy to read.

The author hammers away that we should look forward and improve the individual. And that is the only solution, because you cannot improve anybody else but yourself, and that's a big enough job for most of us.

Of course, you have to have a yardstick or standard from which to determine improvement. Certainly improvement is gaining more understanding of the laws of nature or the laws of God. That should be the objective of life, if one wants to enjoy life and be happy.

The book can be had by sending the money to The Foundation for Economic Education, Inc., Irvington-on-Hudson, New York, 10633, at the prices quoted above.

While Read says that the accent should be upon what is right, he still continues to say "Thou shalt not kill" as one of the standards of right. We have more than a dozen Bibles, and the true interpretation of that commandment is "Thou shalt do no murder." That is the way the Septuagint, the Jewish Bible, quotes it, and the Catholic Bible translated by Msgr. Ronald Knox, and the Moffatt and Goodspeed Bibles.

We have probably half a dozen books just on the ten commandments.

It certainly couldn't have meant "Thou shalt not kill," because in the very next chapter it says, "if you smite a man and he die, you shall be put to death," and a couple of chapters later, it says, "Thou shalt not suffer a witch to live." So the real meaning must have been, and still is, "Thou shalt do no murder. Murder is premeditated."

Mr. Read also says that the government should be limited to protecting life and property. But who is to be the judge of the amount of protection?

With these exceptions, the book is a splendid one and well worth a man's time to read it and his money to pay for it.

Better Postal Service?

"Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds."

The climatically accented words borrowed from Herodotus for inscription on the monumental portal of New York's Main Post Office have turned out to be unexpectedly apt.

The weather and the postal service do have something in common. Everyone talks about them.

There is also a hopeful difference—managing the weather may still be out of reach, but we just may get around to the mails.

A presidential commission, after a year of study, is reported ready with recommendations for far-reaching changes in the postal system's status and organization.

Appointed immediately after then Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien suggested a thorough overhauling, the commission is said to be in basic agreement with O'Brien's key point.

The Post Office should be transformed from a cabinet-level executive department into a nonprofit corporation, managed by a board of directors with broad powers in areas personnel, pay and postal rates now prerogatives of Congress.

The goal would be a self-sustaining operation after five years, relying solely on revenues.

Most of us probably would settle for less—rapid and dependable service.

The recommendations face tough going in Congress, which has powerful political reasons for wanting to keep its fingers in the postal pie. There is little chance of action this session and it could be years, if ever, before they see the light of law. And they may not be the only or the best way of speeding the couriers on their rounds.

But the proposal is the most promising to come down the pike so far.

THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

For the past several years I have been favorably impressed by the greater number of persons who have joined the John Birch Society. Although they are the targets of criticism, smear, and vindictiveness, they stand upright and fearless in support of their beliefs.

This is not to suggest that I agree with all their beliefs. But I admire courage wherever I find it, and there are few actions more courageous than for an individual to ascribe to an unpopular belief and hold to it with great moral conviction.

I am reminded, to a degree, of the early Mormons. They also held to beliefs which were unpopular. And had I been around to see them in person, I doubtless would have had to say the same thing. While I might not have agreed with some of their views, I would have been compelled to admire their fortitude and steadfastness in the face of persecution.

Of course, as with any movement or group, there are always individuals involved who provide a disservice. All too frequently the real merit of a movement is clouded or made opaque by the appearance of just such persons. But they can be ignored.

In the main, the John Birch Society has been concerned with opposing communism. This is meritorious. And the leaders of the movement have correctly seen that many individuals and organizations in our country are actually engaged in advancing the cause of communism, even though they may not be consciously aware of it.

I believe their reaction to this discovery has been amateurish and at times actually harmful to the end they seek. When the finger of accusation is pointed at some person who is doing no more than echoing the things he has been taught in a government school, and then when he is called a communist or a "conspiracy" or a "dupe," he not only resents it, but he summons the same kind of courage to stand against this type of accusation that I must admire in the Birch members when they stand firm against their critics. Furthermore, there are hundreds of others who now come to the defense of the accused, since their backgrounds have been similar. And the net result is to make the ideas implicit in communism more popular, as more and more people rally to defend the individual who has been accused.

In a very large sense, this has been the major error embodied in the conservative movement for the past thirty years and more. Being unfamiliar with the techniques of propaganda and communication, and being fundamentally ignorant of the purpose and method of communism, those who opposed it busied themselves by pointing the finger of guilt at those persons, high or low, who acted or advocated ideas in harmony with Marx. Thus, anti-communism took on the quality of a vendetta, with certain individuals isolated as targets.

And the assumption then was that if you could just get those individuals out of the country or out of high office, as the case might be, then communism would be checked and all would come right. During the past several years, one of the targets of the John Birch Society has been Earl Warren, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

The Society spent a great deal of money and conducted some very broad campaigns aimed at the impeachment of Earl Warren. Well, I see by the papers that Justice Warren isn't going to have to be impeached; he is resigning, having reached the advanced age of seventy-seven. And once he resigns, the Birch members who labored so ardently for his removal are going to be treated to an educational phenomenon. For as Mr. Warren steps down from the court, not one single event will occur that will mark a change in the decisions of the court. It will simply go on as before.

This is not to defend the decisions of the court. Some of the decisions were wise and some, in my own judgment, were folly. But following Mr. Warren's departure, the same general trend of the court will be noted. And then, perhaps, the Birch members, brave and steadfast though they are, will have the opportunity to learn

Concern Growing Over Pueblo Crewmen's Welfare Despite Carefully Noninflammatory Official Statements

WASHINGTON — Disturbing doubts are growing over the nature and extent of the "human treatment" the 82 Pueblo crewmen are getting from their North Korean Communist captors.

Five months of direct negotiations and other unpublicized efforts not only have been fruitless in securing the release of the men, but equally disquieting is the scant information about their whereabouts and physical condition.

What little has been put together is not too reassuring. U.S. authorities take pains to stress they know nothing concrete or positive. Officially, they carefully shy away from saying or intimating anything that might give rise to alarm.

But private hints indicate there is apprehension over the fate of the imprisoned crewmen. No one goes so far as to say there is a possibility that casualties have occurred among them. But this dire likelihood is left dangling.

A highly significant comment on the matter was made by Senator Robert Byrd, W. Va., deputy Democratic floor leader, in a broadcast to his state. For this reason it escaped general notice and the attention it merited. Following is Byrd's reply to a question about the Pueblo:

"I know of nothing new. The Joint Chiefs of Staff have turned thumbs down on any military moves because in their opinion these would result in the death of the men and the opening of a second front in Asia. Our government is continuing efforts to bring about the release of the men through direct negotiations and diplomatic channels. I imagine the North Koreans will hold the men until such time as they feel they have milked all of the propaganda value out of this affair."

"Do we know anything about the present health of the men?" "I cannot say that we do."

"Are they all living, do we know that?" "I cannot say that they are with certainty," replied Byrd obviously carefully weighing his words, "and I doubt that anyone knows for sure that they are."

From intelligence reports, it would appear that the 82 crewmen are incarcerated in more than one prison camp. There is also good reason to believe they have not been allowed to receive packages and mail sent them through the International Red Cross.

It is definitely known that all the Pueblo's communications and electronic equipment has been removed, and the vessel shifted to a small port near the Soviet border.

COME CLEAN — Attorney General Ramsey Clark is being bluntly challenged to state publicly what he proposes to do about prosecuting former Representative Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., "for misuse of federal funds."

This demand was made by Rep. Thomas Curtis, Mo., second-ranking Republican on the powerful Ways and Means Committee, and leader of the fight that led to Powell's expulsion from this Congress. Early last year a special committee, following an inquiry recommended that he be seated on condition he repaid $40,000 "wrongfully and willfully appropriated" and publicly apologized to the House.

But under Curtis' vigorous leadership, the House, while demanding the return of the $40,000, refused to seat Powell. This action has been upheld by two lower courts. Powell's appeal is now pending before the Supreme Court.

In calling on Attorney General Clark to "come clean," Curtis cited information disclosed in this column some weeks ago. The column revealed that Assistant Attorney General Fred Vinson, head of the Criminal Division, following an exhaustive investigation by FBI agents and a federal grand jury, had recommended that Powell be indicted and brought to trial.

After a detailed study of these findings, Clark took them to President Johnson. They discussed them at length several times — and nothing has happened since.

The affair is shrouded in tight official silence and secrecy. But Curtis blows it wide open in a blunt letter to Clark demanding an explanation.

"It is difficult to perceive," declared Curtis, "how we are going to maintain law and order in our society if those in high places interfere with the normal course of justice."

The outspoken Missourian notes that his protest regarding a "similar type of action," produced results.

Whereupon he resumed his job as Undersecretary of the Interior. The late Secretary Harold Ickes, in welcoming him back, solemnly proclaimed that a recurrence of Fortas' curious eye ailment "might have been attended by the most serious permanent results."

In the 24 years since then, there is no known record of such a recurrence. Fortas became a multi-millionaire, a key partner of one of the largest and most influential corporation law firms in Washington and, at 55, thanks to his close friendship and long-time service to Lyndon Johnson, was made a member of the highest court in the land.

It is an open secret that Justice William Brennan Jr., 62, the same charges he did in this Congress," declares Curtis, "of 'wrongfully and willfully appropriating' $40,000. That has not changed one bit. Powell was accused of criminal activities by his peers. I do not see how the House could ever change its mind about that. The overriding question is still the integrity of the House, and that does not change."

Meanwhile, action is being stalled on Assistant Attorney General Vinson's recommendation that Powell be prosecuted.

"It is my understanding," Curtis wrote Attorney General Clark, "that this recommendation is not being implemented because of your intervention in referring the matter directly to President Johnson and the President's intervention."

37-DAY WAR VETERAN — It is highly significant that the stormy Senate furor over President Johnson's two "LAME DUCK" Supreme Court appointments center almost entirely on Justice Abe Fortas' elevation to Chief Justice.

Naturally they cannot all be digested during one vacation. But that is as it should be. As we always say, one summer doesn't make a swallow.

They will be given oral doses of tetracycline drugs — which can have bad side effects.

In the early 1950s there was much talk that modern drugs had virtually eliminated this disease; they hadn't.

In the years following World War II there was an increase in gonorrhea, but usually a shot of 600,000 units of penicillin was more than enough to cure it.

Earlier this year one student took 418 million units of penicillin—five times the amount usually needed to cure pneumonia—but the gonorrhea bugs survived.

Because women suffer no pain in the early stages of the disease some medicines estimate that 90 percent of all women carriers do not consult doctors.

They backtracked on one case history in Atlanta and discovered one 16-year-old girl in a suburban high school had infected 10 male classmates and they, in turn, had spread the disease to three more girls.

If the facts about gonorrhea, openly discussed, are frightening—that's good. My own dear widowed mother may have made many mistakes in rearing her children, but somehow she managed to implant a terrible fear of the personal humiliation and physical "brain consuming effects" of social disease.

I'm convinced that, during the undisciplined years, fear was a potent deterrent to promiscuity.

Sad and Painful Side Of the New 'Morality'

By PAUL HARVEY
The saddest and most painful side effect of the "new morality" is venereal disease. The pill does NOT prevent THAT.

The frequent hangover from sexual permissiveness is gonorrhea.

Atlanta estimates five cases for every 100 residents.

Los Angeles County Health Department has hired hippies to spread the word among that city's unwashed.

Miami's director of venereal disease control says, "We have bankers and even physicians infected."

Dr. William Brown of the National Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta says, "More Americans contracted gonorrhea last year than measles; gonorrhea is now out of control!"

The Wall Street Journal questions medical men as to why. Most cited two main reasons: sexual promiscuity is encouraged by birth control pills. Also, the new strains of gonorrhea, brought back from Asia by servicemen, resist our drugs.

A military doctor guesstimates that one in four of our soldiers in Vietnam, Thailand, Korea and the Philippines will contract gonorrhea this year, and 30 percent of those will not respond to injections of penicillin.

They will be given oral doses of tetracycline drugs — which can have bad side effects.

In the early 1950s there was much talk that modern drugs had virtually eliminated this disease; they hadn't.

I'm convinced that, during the undisciplined years, fear was a potent deterrent to promiscuity.

Some high schools are trying to educate young people to the increasing hazard, but 85 percent of our nation's high schools are making no such effort.

In many instances educators are overruled by parents who protest public discussion of this "sordid" subject.

The National Disease Center in Atlanta has awarded grants to 25 medical institutions for new studies of gonorrhea. Until they discover some remedy more universally effective than any now available, the hazard remains.

If samplings can be projected nationwide, 10 million Americans — 1 in 20 — will be infected with this disease this year.

With Some Reservations
I see where one of them researchers for clinical psychos has been testin a new system of 'punishing bad habits.'

His subjects carry a small battery-powered device in their pockets. Whenever they feel like biting their nails or smoking a cig they give the little gizmo a squeeze and get themselves a shock.

The whole idea is based on a theory that if you have a unpleasant experience while doing something you will stop wanting to do it.

A better idea, I think, was thought up by two other D.R.'s in England. One patient was a compulsive gambler who always lost his weekly earnings, they made films of him at the gambling tables and at home. They set him down in a dark room and run the pictures. Everytime they run the gambling film they gave him a shock. That feller ain't been in a gambling hall in two months. Of course, he might have a bookie.

The reason I like this idea better is it could have some real worthwhile uses in this country. Suppose they was to film the politicians — everytime they made a speech, then sent them a shock every time they told a lie. It might work wonders.

Then again, I have got my doubts. The authorities say it should not be used in cases where the habit is caused by "deep-seated" neurosis.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The abolition of violence in popular entertainment such as television is hardly likely because, as Mae West once put it: "Virtue has its own reward but has no sale at the boxoffice." Well, in many cases, anyway.

But the abolition of wholesale brutality and unmotivated sadism is only the negative aspect of the anti-violence argument. The big question, of course, is: what do you use instead? Conflict, without doubt, is the essence of drama.

Yet there are many kinds of conflict, most of them more dramatic than the use of guns and fists. And just as important as the anti-violence crusade is the new need for network officials to take a positive step in the entertainment area.

To allow, instead of the standard cynicism criticized by Carl Sandburg, genuine feelings of optimism, pleasure, anger and style when writers want to express them—which is often.

Seek Worthwhile Subjects
For this goes to the roots of an attitude toward the nation itself. Where optimism and pleasure (not the laugh-track kind) and style are discouraged, the nation gets a very mean, nasty, distorted and cynical view of itself. One needn't be a Pollyanna—but there are beautiful things happening too, and significant things, and there are real people and matters worth exploring.

The novelist Thomas Wolfe once wrote: "It is good to eat, to drink, to sleep, to fish, to swim, to run, to travel to strange cities, to ride on land, sea and in the air upon great machines, to love a woman, to make a beautiful thing."

This is the expression of health, exuberance, of juices joyously flowing in a man who loved life. When is the last time you remember getting that kind of feeling from watching a television entertainment program? Who wouldn't rather be lifted up than put down and thrown into the gutter again?

In "The Decline of Pleasure," Walter Kerr wrote: "We are all of us compelled to read for profit, party for contacts, lunch for contracts, bowl for unity, drive for mileage, gamble for charity, go out for the evening for the greater glory of the municipality, and stay home for the weekend to rebuild the house."

Widen Scope

Where, indeed, is the pleasure? Well, there is little doubt that it is often hard to come by in the very uptight circles of most of middle-class, suburban America. And if that is the case, then television might do well to seek it out in other age groups and other social levels throughout the land—using writers and producers and directors from these places. Surely we cannot be satisfied with brute force and cynicism as our chief outlets.

Enthusiasm about life is beautifully contagious. I remember, years ago, reading these words about New York by H. L. Mencken: "If only as spectacle, the city is superb. It has a glitter like that of the Constantinople of the Commem. It roars with life like the Bagdad of the Sassanians." I was already living in New York when I read those words, yet it made me look at the city with freshness and a new sense of thrilling adventure.

Worth The Telling

Not long ago, there was a young lady here in Hollywood who trained hard to become a professional dancer. One day she went blind. But despite her affliction, she still loved to dance.

BERRY'S WORLD

"If we can't watch shows with guns and violence, I guess that just leaves SEX!"

Each night, using a cane to guide her, she would leave her little apartment near Sunset Boulevard, walk down the brightly lighted thoroughfare to a place that offered music and sit at a table until someone asked her to dance. And each night, tapping her cane, she would walk all the way home. It was about a mile, but she had no money for a car or a taxi. One night, no one asked her to dance. And no one at the place ever saw her again. People there imagined terrible things—murder, assault. But it was nothing like that. She simply felt the place had helped her restore confidence in herself, and now she was moving on. She went home to the Midwest and married the boy who waited for her confidence to come back. No guns, no fists—but conflict, drama, courage, beauty and a reverence for the things life can bring.
