WATER IS CUT OFF TO BUILD UP A RESERVE

PAMPANS USE WATER FASTER THAN IT CAN BE PUMPED

While city commissioners discussed ways and means of combating Pampa's water shortage at their meeting last night, Pampa citizens were consuming more than 2,500 gallons a minute, or enough to again exhaust the supply and necessitate cutting off water to the lines while building up a reserve.

First shortage came Saturday night when no water was available for an hour. Considerable reserve was made available Sunday but yesterday the demand increased and at 6 o'clock the peak was reached. With one pump out of commission, it has been found impossible to meet the demand unless residents help by using water sparingly, officials stated today. The water was cut off for a short time last night.

Parts for well No. 1, which went out of commission Saturday morning, should arrive tomorrow and the well is expected to be pumping again on Friday.

According to Andy Crocker, water superintendent, only 1,800 gallons a minute can be pumped while all three wells are in use. With only two wells supply water, cause of the shortage can easily be understood. With 2,500 gallons being used each minute for more than two hours yesterday evening, the reserve soon disappeared.

Adequate storage to meet all demands was favored by the commissioners last night as the best means of meeting the situation in the future. Tanks holding several million gallons could be erected, it was pointed out, and the supply would always meet the demand.

The street department was instructed to oil Sion street leading to the swimming pool. Other dirt streets will be oiled by the city if residents will supply the oil.

It was brought to the attention of the commission that the widening sidewalks in the residential section were becoming dangerous and also that many awnings in the business district were too low. Residents and merchants will be asked to cooperate.

Baseball Tourney Decision To Be Made Thursday

Will Pampa have a baseball tournament this year?

That question will be answered Thursday night when directors of the Pampa Junior chamber of commerce and members of the baseball committee meet at 7:30 o'clock in the city hall. President Tommy Chesser has issued a call for directors, alternate directors and members of the committee to be on time so that the meeting will be over by 9 o'clock.

The Jaycees have sponsored two successful tournaments. First money went to the Pampa-Daniger Road Runners in 1934 and to Colton of LeFors last year.

This year's baseball committee is composed of Bob Knox, chairman, Harold Miller, Harry E. Hoare, A. J. Johnson and Allen Hodges.

Business men and citizens interested in the tournament are invited to attend the meeting and express their opinions. The Jaycees are open for suggestions on conducting the tournament.

Four past presidents divided time in the chair at today's meeting of the Jaycees. They came in order of their election. First was Jim Collins, first president of the organization. He was followed in order by W. T. Fraser, Clarence Kennedy and A. J. Johnson.

Burglary Clues Being Checked

Clues which may lead to an arrest in connection with the theft of $650 from the L. C. Penney store here early Monday, were being checked by the sheriff's office this afternoon.

Burglars broke into the store by battering a hole in the wall of a rest room. Nothing but the cash was taken. More than $1,800 in checks were discarded by the burglars. These were found later in the rest room.

Investigating officers have expressed belief that the burglary was the work of the same persons who entered the store in a similar manner two years ago and made off with $75 in cash.

NEW DEAL IS ISSUE

DEMOS TRAIN GUNS ON FOES OF PRESIDENT

NATIONAL CONVENTION OPENS SESSIONS AT PHILADELPHIA

CONVENTION HALL, PHILADELPHIA, June 23. (AP)—At peace within, the Democratic convention assumed a warlike, unsympathetic attitude toward conservative and social opposition alike today in a fleeting but vibrant opening session.

The standards of all 48 states were waved in a tumultuous, parading demonstration for President Roosevelt which lasted 30 minutes.

An unsmiling James A. Farley, himself always expressing confidence, warned the party cohorts against overconfidence while castigating the Republican ticket and platform as one the electorate would reject in November.

After hearing him praise the new deal, the platform workers under Senator Bob Wagner of New York repaired again to their conference rooms to discuss the policies upon which the party the week-end will ask reelection of Roosevelt and Garner.

Their task was not as easy as they had hoped, but there was apparently no expectation of floor arguments such as have split the party on many farms and labor questions in the past. It looked more than ever as though even the two-thirds nominating rule dispute would be a washout. Strong southerners joined the repealers.

Though divisions remained evident from the start, the party dissenters on hand showed the least inclination to join Alfred E. Smith in his "walk."

CONVENTION HALL, Philadelphia, June 23. (AP)—Welcoming the New Deal as the paramount campaign issue, the opening session of the Democratic convention trained its guns on Landon and Knox today and paid its respects indirectly to Alfred E. Smith.

Salvos of applause seconded a blistering attack on the republican ticket by Chairman James E. Farley, in which he declared the opposition was trying to face both right and left at the same time, and was backed by "the crew of the Du Pont Liberty league."

Smith was not mentioned by name but his forays against the New Deal and his activities as an organizer of the league were much in the minds of the assembled thousands.

Shooting out his words from tight-drawn lips, the blue-suited Farley roused the delegates to their feet. Right at the start he started them cheering with this pronouncement: "The continuance of the New Deal is the issue."

Militant Answers Ready Again and again thereafter cheers rocked the great convention hall as Farley lambasted the enemies of the New Deal. He was given a special standing ovation at his first.

People You Know

(BY A. F.)

An open letter to Aunt Mag, Cousin Kate, Aunt Dollie, Uncle Shirk, Dale Miller and all other relatives, friends who live in or near Dallas: "Dear Kinfolks: They say that relatives seldom write or see each other unless they want something, so continuing in that vein, would like to announce that this enthusiastic Pampian and two superlative boys will be in Dallas this summer (exact time to be sent in another letter) a week to attend the Centennial which we could not afford to miss after writing so much about it for 3 years and after publishing more in THE NEWS about the said Centennial than any other paper in Texas outside of Dallas.

And, dear kinfolks, I am quite sure that all the hotels will be full and we won't be able to get a room, so we are planning to visit you at that time for a week. Believe me, we are looking forward to a nice visit, and repeat the invitation we have sent you so many times to visit us."

"P. S.—Times are kinda hard this year and well have just enough money to get by on."

Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Douglass and daughter, Mary Lou, left today for Hot Springs, Ark. Mrs. Douglass and Mary Lou will visit the former's parents in Jackson, Tenn. They expect to be gone about a month.

Allred to Nominate Garner

GENE WORLEY TAKES PART IN NOISY DEBATE

TEXAS DEMOCRATS GET OFF TO LIVELY, FALSE START

PHILADELPHIA, June 23. (AP)—Exuberant Texas democrats, off to a false but lively start at organization, assembled again today before opening of their party's national convention to select committee members and chart their course for the week.

A caucus called last night ended in disorder when, after almost an hour of argument, the motion for adjournment until today finally was passed.

The adjournment motion was made, amended and the vote was about to be ordered when another motion to sidetrack it was proposed. Points of order were raised in rapid succession and at one point Senator Tom Connally, the delegation chairman, shouted:

"There can be no points of order because there is no order!"

State Senator Tom Pollard of Tyler and Fred Upchurch of Austin originally suggested the overnight delay because some of the delegates had not had time to "get acclimated" and "were hungry." State Senator E. H. Beck of Texarkana and State Representative Eugene Worley of Shamrock contended the delay was unnecessary. The caucus had been called for 6:30 p. m. (CST), two hours after a special train bearing most of the delegates arrived.

Others who participated in the noisy debate were W. R. Nelson of Carthage, State Senator Albert Stone of Brenham, Mrs. Florence Rogers of Dallas, Burrus C. Jackson of Hillsboro, United States Representative Sam Bondham and Roy Miller of Corpus Christi, Texas democratic campaign director.

Cowtown Frontier Centennial Will Open on July 18

FORT WORTH, June 23. (AP)—Directors of Fort Worth's Frontier Centennial today definitely set its dates as July 18-November 29.

The closing date coincides with that previously set for the International Rodeo, Livestock and Horse Shows, the horse and livestock show opening date having been announced as October 2 and that for the rodeo as October 9. These three big attractions will supplement those of the strictly Frontier Centennial.

RIOTING FATAL TO GUARD AT STEEL PLANT

Four Men Wounded In Fierce Fighting; Bullets Rake Street in Ohio.

PORTSMOUTH, O., June 23. (AP)—Blazing gunfire killed a company guard and wounded four men in fierce rioting today at the strike-closed Portsmouth works of the Wheeling Steel corporation.

Set off by an attempt of the company to move food into one of its picket-besieged plants, bullets raked three-blocks long West street in New Boston, location of the corporation's giant plant, endangering women and children.

Sheriff Arthur Oakes read the riot act and ordered the streets of New Boston, two miles east, cleared.

He said about 75 strikers and sympathizers engaged a dozen company guards in the brief, but intense gun fight in which between 200 and 300 shots were fired—the first major outbreak of violence since a strike closed the plant May 22.

George Meyers, about 38, a company guard, was killed by a high-powered bullet.

W. Cronk, 53, Cleveland, a company guard, shot in the chest. D. Mitchell, another guard, shot in the arm.

Joe Roe, restaurant operator, wounded in the arm by a stray bullet which entered his establishment.

An unidentified man, either a picket or a bystander.

Coroner Ross M. Gault set an autopsy for this afternoon to investigate the death of Meyers.

Sheriff Oakes declared the shooting was premeditated and that residents in the vicinity of where the company tried to transport the food, by using a locomotive hauling a flat car, had been warned to get out of danger.

King Edward Is 42 Years Old

LONDON, June 23. (AP)—London saluted King Edward's 42nd birthday with cheers and button-hole sprays of flowers today.

Crowds gathered early to watch the monarch ride through the streets to the colorful ceremony of trooping the colors of his guards.

Resplendent in a scarlet and gold full dress uniform, the King led the procession escorted by his three brothers.

Congratulations came from all parts of the world, the first arriving from Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler of Germany and Emperor Hirohito of Japan.

Edward honored his mother, Queen Mary, last night by conferring on her "the title and dignity of Dame Grand Cross of the Royal Victorian order."

Ice-Pick Slaying Arguments Start

CHILDRESS, June 23. (AP)—Arguments started today in the trial of W. E. Stroud charged in the ice-pick slaying of his wife here in April last year.

The jury was expected to take the case by noon.

Testimony, in which state witnesses declared Stroud stabbed his wife four times in a scuffle at her home here, ended yesterday. The defense offered testimony of relatives that they believed the defendant was "not right" mentally.

Stroud was given a life sentence at a previous trial on the charge last year but the case was reversed.

DAMAGE SUIT IS AFTERMATH OF CONVICTION

30 DAYS IN JAIL AND $200 FINE ARE ASSESSED

Suits for damages, totaling $77,244 were on file in district court here today as the aftermath of an automobile-truck collision near Groom last May 15 in which Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Henry and their three minor children were injured.

The action was brought in behalf of the Henry family by Attorneys Burt H. Stone and J. O. Gulke of Amarillo. S. M. Kantor, official of the Tulsa Tualar Products Co., of Tulsa, was named defendant.

Filing of the petition came yesterday afternoon directly in the wake of the conviction of B. L. Wood, Tulsa, who pleaded guilty before a jury to a charge of driving while intoxicated and threw himself upon the mercy of the court.

It was the truck driver, by Wood, and allegedly owned by Kantor, which was involved in the traffic crash with the automobile that carried members of the Henry family. The accident happened two miles east of Groom on Highway 66.

Following Wood's plea of guilty yesterday afternoon the jury assessed a fine of $200 and costs, 30 days in jail and ordered that the defendant be not permitted to drive an automobile for 2 years.

Before the sentence was pronounced Wood had pleaded for leniency, charging that he had been forced to work without sleep for 36 hours before the crash, that he had drunk only one bottle of beer, and that because of his overwork and condition he fell asleep at the wheel of his truck.

In the petition filed by the Henrys, seeking damages, the following various amounts are asked:

J. F. Henry, $10,000 for injuries; $144 for lost salary, and $600 for damage to the Henry automobile.

Mrs. J. F. Henry, $15,000 for injuries, claiming that she was made an invalid for life.

Mary Lee Henry, seven, $25,000 for permanent disfigurement.

Jim Billie Henry, five, $25,000 for permanent injuries, alleging that the boy's sense of balance was destroyed by his injuries and that he never will be able to engage in gainful occupation.

Earl Neal Henry, three, $1,500 for injuries.

The case is scheduled for trial at the September term of court.

At the trial of Mr. Wood yesterday afternoon, District Attorney Lewis Goodrich did not insist upon the maximum penalty because of mitigating circumstances. Walter Rogers and John Sturgeon, Pampa attorneys, represented the defense.

Frank McNeill Dies in Hamlin

Frank McNeill of Tulsa, formerly of Pampa, died early Monday morning at Hamlin where he and Mrs. McNeill were visiting relatives, it was learned here today.

Mr. McNeill was connected with the Shell corporation here from 1928 until 1932 when ill health forced him to resign.

The McNeills' home in Tulsa is at 1522 South Victor street. Funeral services will be held in Tulsa tomorrow. Besides the widow, a son, Ray, survives. The youth was graduated from Pampa high school and was unusually popular. He later attended the University of Oklahoma.

Mrs. McNeill was prominent in Parent-Teacher association work and in club work. Mr. McNeill was well-known here.

TEX'S TOPICS

BY TEX DE WESE

You no doubt are aware that stars once fell on Alabama. You may add to the store of knowledge that WORDS sped over the Mississippi.

The information is contained in a message received from Olin and Hollyce Hinkle. It was postmarked Friday in "Cairo, Ill." as they crossed Old Man River, and carried this message:

"All O. K. Baby flirting with all waitresses including cardboard ones (signs)." The erstwhile conductor of this space adds: "Hot and dry everywhere. Why not abandon everything west of Mississippi?"

The first book about Texas written by a white man in an exhibit in the University of Texas library as part of the university centennial exhibits. Written by Cabeza de Vaca, entitled "La Relacion y Comentarios," it was published in Spanish in 1555.

In it the buffalo is mentioned for the first time. Around the book are centered displays of historical interest such as saddles used on early Texas ranches, ivory-handled six-shooters, spinning wheels, branding irons, and items taken from the heyday of the cowboy in West Texas.

Comes T. E. Johnson, managing editor of the Amarillo Globe-News and J. W. Van London, division highway engineer, also of Amarillo, to welcome a couple of tenderfeet to the Panhandle, and to squander a dime or two for cokes.

There was much said about Amarillo-Pampa football games, the road to Berger, and this and that of the high-points that lure people from over the nation to the plains area.

All in all, it was an enjoyable visit and we have a gilt-edged invitation to spend a day in Amarillo, with the promise that there will be no mention made of the respective merit or demerits of football teams and such.

From Stamford, Tex., comes another invitation to attend the Texas Cowboy Reunion to be held there July 2, 3 and 4.

Judge W. R. Ewing, of district courts, hiked off to a lake near Chillicothe Sunday to do some angling. The lake is shy several bass, following his visit, but the jurist still reflects over the intense heat there and insists that Pampa is a cool place when you tack it up with other sections of the state.

Today's Trivial Topic: Penguins, the curious Arctic seabirds are exceptionally heavy eaters. An 18-inch specimen can tuck away five full-sized herrings at one meal. Golly!

The sage of Pampa says nine times out of ten, the hard yuck is bluffing. The hardest boiled eggs are yellow on the inside, he insists. That's merely his opinion and if he can't back it up, we won't quibble.

Optimistic note: Business statistics for last week failed to disclose any material change in the composite trend of commercial activities. The usual seasonal slack thus far has been of insignificant force due to such stimulants as bonus payments and advance in stock prices. But heavy industries in general have shown a fair degree of improvement and there is reason to believe that the upward movement will be continued.

Despite the increases in the rural populations of the tobacco-cotton areas of the south and the drought-stricken sections of the midwest, the nation's farming population has increased over two millions in the last five years. The increase was drawn from the ranks of those who could not be absorbed into factory and office employment, those who were aided by government loans and grants, and those who were attracted to farming by higher produce prices.

FARM-TO-MARKET ROADS

Almost twenty million farm people still live on mud roads and less than one-third of the public roads in the United States have received any kind of surfacing material, Edward A. O'Neal, president, American Farm Bureau Federation said recently in pointing out the necessity for revision in highway construction policies.

"The tendency has been to spend a large amount of highway funds on expensive types of road on the main highways," Mr. O'Neal said. "And in many cases expensive highways have been built which were not justified by the traffic conditions."

"The time has come when attention should be directed to the building of less expensive roads, covering greater mileage and serving people who are not on the main highways."

"Such roads not only enable the farmer to reach his markets more cheaply, but they facilitate the distribution of mail on rural routes and the transportation of rural children to school. If we are to follow the policy of the greatest good to the greatest number we will devote more attention to farm to market roads and to feeder lines connecting the arterial highways."

Other considerations dictating a radical change of policy are the elimination of hazardous congestion on main highways by improvement to secondary roads, the reduction of burdensome gasoline taxes and license fees and the increase in farm values that results from rural road improvements.

Road surfaces suited to the lighter traffic on rural highways can be constructed for investments ranging from a few hundred dollars to $5,000 a mile depending upon the traffic density and the soil characteristics.

A LEGEND RUINED

Sports writers are referring to it as the most startling upset in the history of the heavyweight division in boxing, so apparently the convincing defeat of Joe Louis by Max Schmeling really is going to go down in history.

Many will think regretfully of something else which probably won't go down in history now that Louis has been beaten so early in his career—the legend of the fighting superman. Or maybe Joe Louis didn't know that he was reputed to be faster, stronger, more accurate, less vulnerable and vastly more ruthless than all other men in the same business.

A great many casual and devoted followers of the commercially important supremacy were well along the road to being convinced that Joe Louis would be interrupted by nothing in his string of victories until old age finally overtook him. But something did interrupt him last Friday night. With all respect for his ability and with an eye to his future success, many will be of the opinion that it was far from the worst thing which could have happened. One of the chief beneficiaries should be, besides Max Schmeling, young Joe Louis. It isn't pleasant to fail to come up to expectations, but it can be an important lesson if the pupil is willing to learn.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — The ineradicable yen of the average congressman for a free drink, a free meal, a woman's smile, or a kind word has been saved from frustration.

Seldom do you find all the lobbyists here working for or against a single piece of legislation. But they all ganged up on the bill which would have made lobbyists register themselves, and the House, snapping to attention at its masters' voice, defeated the bill by a whopping majority.

Senator Hugo Black of Alabama, who pushed his bill to regulate the lobbyists through the Senate, says he is philosophical about it, because this was the first time such measure had ever progressed as far as the voting stage in both houses. The House vote, however, was 264 to 77.

The result, of course, is that lobbyists will continue to ply their devious trade, collecting millions for sale of their real or imaginary influence on members of Congress and the administration, while masked, for the most part, from the gaze of the public, whose interests they usually are sacrificing to special interests and special groups.

Democratic political lobbyists who have reaped fortunes during the New Deal spending era will not be required to tell for whom they're working and what they're getting for their efforts. They can look forward to further undisturbed years aboard the gravy boat.

If the Republicans win in November, a new army of lobbyists will find the same old happy hunting grounds.

Lobbyists and friends of the American Federation of Labor, the Townsendites, and the Coughlinites provided the last-minute opposition which gave worried congressmen an excuse for voting down the bill.

The Black and Smith bills made initial headway after such recent disclosures as:

Evidence resulting in estimates that $25,000,000 was spent on lobbying during the first session of the 74th Congress.

Thousands of fake telegrams sent here in the effort to beat the public utility holding company bill.

Democratic national committeemen cleaning up hundreds of thousands of dollars through sale of real or imaginary influence with Democratic officials.

An estimated profit of $20,000,000 by Joe Silverman on 15 years' dealing in army surplus contracts, with assurance from Joe that he had spent "more than $500,000" for "liquor, flowers, and gambling with army officers."

Conviction of a high army officer for receiving a lobbyist's bribe.

Every conceivable form of social, political, and business pressure to make congressmen vote against the holding company bill.

Circulation of fake war scares and discouragement of disarmament and peace gestures by lobbyists for ship-building companies seeking big cruiser programs.

Various congressmen sharing apartment houses with lobbyists.

"Termites are not ants; they're cockroaches." Republicans would have us believe that Washington one-termites are leeches.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Frederic J. Haskin

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Pampa Daily News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for reply.

Q. What exhibitors spent the most money at the Chicago Century of Progress? C. C.

A. An analysis of figures show that the automobile industry exhibitors led all other businesses in expenditures with the figure of $9,009,000. Food and beverages were second with $3,939,000, and electrical third with $3,000,000.

Q. How old is the President's Cottage at White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia? G. F.

A. The President's Cottage was built in 1816 and restored in 1932. It was the summer home of Presidents Tyler, Van Buren, and Fillmore. The building now houses the Old White Museum containing memorabilia of the Springs.

Q. What is meant by "a better ole?" C. D.

A. Any situation preferable to that which is a better ole. The expression originated in the World War, when Captain Bainsfather told of a soldier who refused to leave a shell hole until a better ole was provided.

Q. Who introduced the bases and diamond in baseball? P. T.

A. Abner Doubleday introduced the bases, and Alexander Cartwright originated the diamond.

Q. How many times has Walter Hampden enacted the role of Cyrano de Bergerac? J. L.

A. In May he had given his 1000th performance of the part.

Q. What city is known as the German Athens of America? E. L. M.

A. Reflecting the large German influence in its growth and cultural life, Milwaukee was formerly so called.

Q. What admiral was known as Old Dradnought? M. L. H.

A. Admiral Edward Boscawen (1711-1761) was popularly known by that sobriquet.

Q. How many miles make a difference of one minute in time? B. N.

A. It would depend upon the latitude. At the equator, about 17 miles makes a difference of one minute in true local time, while in the latitude of New York a difference of 13 miles makes a difference of one minute.

Q. Is the dominant color of Holstein-Friesian cattle white or black? C. B. F.

A. Holstein-Friesians are black and white in color with the colors sharply defined rather than blended. They may be nearly all white or black, but no solid colored animal can be registered. White is the basic color of this breed, but whether the white or the black is the dominant color depends on the color inheritance of individuals and no general statement can be made for the breed.

Q. How long is California? E. M. A.

A. The state is 1000 miles long.

Q. Are women of today weaker than the women of their grandmothers' time? E. O. G.

A. Many women of today do not have to undergo the hardships which women of a few generations ago were subjected to in this country. Women who live in cities amid modern conveniences do not have the muscular development that their grandmothers may have had. On the other hand the general health of women is better today than it was formerly due to improved hygiene, more sensible clothing, the progress of medical science, and the very general entrance of women into athletics. Therefore, it can not be said that women today are weaker in general than they were in their grandmothers' day.

Q. How old is Ruth Chatterton? F. M.

A. The actress was born in New York City on December 24, 1893. She is 42 years old.

Q. When was the Moffatt Tunnel between Denver and Salt Lake City begun and when completed? R. G. A.

A. The Moffatt single track railroad tunnel under James Peak was begun in October, 1923, and formally opened on March 1, 1928.

Q. Was William Penn ever put in prison because he was a Quaker? H. D.

A. Religious persecution was common in his time, and Penn was once imprisoned in the Tower of London, and he served two sentences at Newgate.

Q. How long has Brighton, England, been a famous resort? S. W. A.

A. Brighton's popularity as a seaside resort began in 1783 with the visit of the Prince of Wales, who built the celebrated Pavilion which has become a museum.

Q. Was William Cullen Bryant, the poet, ever on a New York newspaper? K. G.

A. For more than thirty years he was editor of the New York Evening Post.

Q. How is James Branch Cabell's name pronounced? M. L. R. A.

A. What's the name, please? By Punk says that the surname Cabell is pronounced to rhyme with rabbit.

Q. How many young people are studying to be stenographers? K. R. A.

A. It is estimated by the Office of Education that 500,000 young people are taking stenographic courses this year in public schools and that another 200,000 are being trained in private schools.

Q. Where are the Bottomless Pits? M. B.

A. These remarkable sinkholes in the Kaibab limestone are about eight miles east of Flagstaff, Ariz.

Q. What is the quotation beginning, "Her voice was ever soft, gentle, and low; an excellent thing in woman, is from Shakespeare's King Lear.

Q. Where was Louis Bromfield born and educated? G. M.

A. He was born in Mansfield, Ohio, in 1898. He received his high school education at Cornell and Columbia universities. His novel, "Early Autumn," was awarded a Pulitzer prize.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

THE ROSY FEATHER STAR BELONGS TO A GROUP KNOWN AS SEA LILIES. IT HAS ARMS THAT RESEMBLE FERNS AND ROOT-LIKE APPENDAGES WITH WHICH IT ATTACHES ITSELF TO ROCKS. YET, IT IS AN ANIMAL!

AN ELEPHANT CAN WALK ON THE BOTTOM OF A STREAM, BREATHING ONLY BY MEANS OF ITS PROTRUDING TRUNK.

SEA-LILIES are of very ancient origin, and they were believed to be almost extinct, but comparatively recent deep-sea dredging has revealed these curious organisms in great numbers. Most of the forms are attached permanently to the sea bed, but the feather stars become free-swimmers in their later life.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—No playwright yet has fashioned a drama about that amazing character of the shipping lanes—Pete Straub. Pete only gets into New York about twice in three years—most of the time he is maneuvering his ratty old freighter to far ports where the junkies find their cargoes.

He came in last week after dropping his hook in some of that choice Brooklyn mud, next to a forgotten pier, and one glance at him revealed a brand new scar. That makes three on the skipper's face. One creases down his left cheek to the point of the jaw. It's a ragged one ("A Lascar got me with a knife in Havre").

Then there is a half-moon gash in his forehead ("A Javanese lady saved me from one 20 drunker ago. I caught her cheating at cards and she slashed me with a spiked ring") which shows dead white against his leather countenance.

"Was she a charmer, Pete?" "She had bells in her laughter and the bluest eyes in the islands—she came from her old drunken father, a one-time Dutch trader who boozed away his business and ended his days dallying in the rum pots of Batavia."

The third scar—we'll have the history of this one from Pete himself. "I've been clubbed over the head, knifed, half drowned, beaten, and maulled—but nothing ever hurt quite so much. Take a look at this scar—it's a ragged seam leading from the corner of my left eye up around my ear.

"We were having a fine time when I got this," said the skipper. "We were having breakfast in Port Said, on one of those palmed balconies that look down on the waterfront. Frank Buck had just come in and naturally the conversation shifted to wild animals. Finally somebody began talking about pythons. Well, I can't stand the thought of snakes, and I remarked that anybody who could must be crazy in the head.

"That's when it happened—there was a shriek, a sort of wild, uncontrolled snarl, and an olive-skinned young fellow in a white turban leaped across the floor and began jabbering in my face. I didn't mind the jabber but I did resent the fine spray that went with it, so I pushed him one and he toppled backwards in an undignified sprawl as I've yet seen.

"This fellow was part cat, for he bounded to his feet with one leap and got out a black looking whip from somewhere. He slashed out once and caught me in the face. The slash opened my eye all the way around to my neck.

"Half blinded with blood, I managed to get out of there and back to the ship, where the doc patched me up. But it burned for days—I've never known such agony."

"But what about the guy with the turban?" "Oh, him?—I later learned that he was a fanatic on snake worship—the son of a rich merchant who had gone sort of batty."

"If you ever go back there he'll probably be waiting with a nice fat boa to wrap around your neck," we suggested.

"I don't think so," the skipper said. "After he hit me with that whip I threw him over the balcony. In Port Said, some of those balconies are pretty high."

Hope was following Dirk down the hall. Dirk reassured her. "I'm to look after everything," he said. Hope took the news stoically. He saw the light burning in her room and went in.

"He was going home," she repeated softly. "He told you he was going back home."

"No, I'll write them. Hope, dear?" "No, I'll write. A letter's better. I'll write today."

Chapter 40 BAD NEWS The boy went on, haltingly. "Tell her, will you? Tell her I was going back. Tell her I'm sorry for everything. She'll understand. You'll be good to her. . . won't you?"

"Yes," said Dirk. "I'll be good to her." He added, "There was something you wanted me to do."

"Of course, I seem . . . to forget things. She sent me some money when she . . . went back. It's in my clothes. Take care of the doctor. . . will you, and whatever else. . . There's about . . . ninety dollars. I was going to use it to . . . go home."

"I'll look after everything," Dirk said. "And you won't . . . You see, downstairs they think my name's something else. I forget what. But let it go at that. I don't want her . . . Names slipped from him. "I don't want my sister mixed up in this. She's . . . She's high place . . . a safe place . . . with you."

"I understand. Is there anything more?" "There's . . . with an effort. "There's a little box here. A little metal box in her bureau. Nothing much. Pictures of home . . . and the folks. We've torn up . . . everything else. She'll want that. And my watch."

"You know, with you sitting there . . . Dirk's hand still lay on his . . . Knowing you're real. I'm feeling . . . better." He smiled. "Why shouldn't I . . . get well? Why should I . . . go home?"

"If I could sleep . . . I haven't slept . . . real sleep . . . since it happened. I feel sleepy now . . . and easy. Stay here, will you, till I go to sleep."

"I'll stay," said Dirk when he came from the room at last. Mrs. Turner's door stood open. She said, when Dirk had told her. "He lasted longer than the doctor said he would. The doctor said he'd be gone by midnight."

It was well after midnight when Dirk, lifting his hand from Roddie's, and gone to the telephone downstairs and talked with Miss Andrews. She was to tell Mrs. Joris that everything was all right, that he would be home soon. He had returned to the room then had sat awhile longer. He wanted to be sure that Roddie was asleep.

"Did he tell you he was going?" "Mrs. Turner was agitated and curious. Her face looked bloated, as if she had had a few moments' nervous sleep.

"No," said Dirk. "He only wanted me to look after his things. His money and his clothes. And to pay the doctor."

"I wondered about that. And who's to claim him?" "She was following Dirk down the hall. Dirk reassured her. "I'm to look after everything," he said.

Hope took the news stoically. He saw the light burning in her room and went in. "He was going home," she repeated softly. "He told you he was going back home."

"No, I'll write them. Hope, dear?" "No, I'll write. A letter's better. I'll write today."

"And Roddie . . . Do you want him to go . . . home?" "He was going back," she said. "because he needed to. But now . . . She looked up at Dirk. "Is there room for him there?"

The question touched him. He thought how large was that plot where Rupert lay, and in the spring how green and filled with flowers. "There's room," he said.

And she. "You are tired. You must go to bed." The dawn was whitening over a white world. They parted silently. Neither knew that it was Christmas Eve.

Hope was showing Dirk the contents of the metal box. They had had dinner together in the little scullery off the south room. Old Timothy had placed the table in the circle of the bay-window with its cushioned window-seat. They had watched the moon come up, silver-white over the white snow.

"We lived on the ranch at first," Hope said. "The Gaudalup Ranch, because it's in the Gaudalup mountains, this side of the Rio Grande. Here they are, the mountains. El Paso's a little to the west of you. Roddie and I were born on the ranch. We loved it. Life was wonderful there. But Mother never got used to it, never liked it."

"She'd met Father one winter in El Paso. He was a cowboy. He must have been fine-looking. I haven't any picture of him then, but Mother says that he was."

"After Father became a preacher—You smile at that, but it wasn't such a far cry for him. He had always wanted to preach, and after one brother had gone to Congress, and another become a district-attorney, he made up his mind."

"He used to study at night, with Mother helping him. And after awhile they went away together, leaving Roddie and me at the ranch. When they came back we moved into El Paso, and Father had his own church. People love him. He's a good preacher. But strict. Strict in his own family, that is. Strict with Roddie and me."

"I was something of an opportunist. I did what he said. Sometimes I only pretended to do it, and it served just as well. But Roddie couldn't do either. Roddie was a rebel."

Pampa of Yesteryear

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

The first load of new crop wheat was brought to Pampa by Mr. Bird of Hopkins. Local elevators quoted a price of 33 cents a bushel.

The chamber of commerce was served a "buy at home" luncheon, with all the food except coffee and sugar grown in Gray county. Frank Foster, Travis Lively, and C. H. Walker spoke briefly, telling why Pampa should be the shopping center for Pampans.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY Seven thousand automobiles in Pampa flouted windshield stickers saying that they had been driven through "safety lanes" where state highway officers, assisted by local traffic officers, had inspected brakes, lights, and other factors contributing to safe driving.

Swimming and life saving classes were in progress at the municipal pool, and chlorine treatment was started for the wading pool in Central park where dozen of youngsters were finding new summer fun.

PHILLIPS OF LEFORS WILL INVADE ROAD RUNNER PARK TOMORROW NIGHT

PLANTS TO BE VACATED FOR CLUB'S DEBUT

WOMEN TO BE ADMITTED FREE TO GAME

Phillips of LeFors, surprise baseball club of this section, worked out for two hours yesterday afternoon in preparation for their invasion of Pampa tomorrow night when they meet the Pampa-Daninger Road Runners at 8:30 o'clock. Only men will be charged admission, women being admitted free if accompanied by an escort. Admission for men will be 40 cents, the usual price.

Bowers City, the four Phillips gasoline plants, pipe line department, and production department will be vacated during the hours of the game. It will be the first opportunity fans of this section have had to see the LeFors aggregation in action. They have played only two games, both in Amarillo. They won the first encounter and had the second game in the sack until the seventh, when they blew up.

Yesterday's practice featured infield play. The boys on the firing line were subject to a steady pounding of hot grounders in front to the left, and to the right. If one was booted, that player got three in a row. Manager Eddie Pulliam said he was determined to overcome the error complex which cost him a game in Amarillo Sunday.

Rex Dilbeck, who held Phillips of Amarillo to 2 hits in five innings Sunday, will probably be sent to mound tomorrow night. Dilbeck started the season with the Road Runners and showed much promise. He has a nice change of pace and a tantalizing curve that appears to be breaking faster than it does. Roy Winkler, who has been unable to get started this season, is second choice.

Manager Sam Hale of the Road Runners is undecided about his hurling selection. He has a game scheduled in Amarillo Friday night and games in Duncan, Okla., on Saturday night and Sunday afternoon. The chunker who will get the call Sunday afternoon will probably be the starter tomorrow night. Only Manager Hale knows who that will be, at the present time.

Texas Company's Amarillo Team Beats King 5-3

Texas company's crack playground ball team from Amarillo won an 11 inning thriller from King Oil Sunday afternoon on King diamond west of Pampa. The score was 5 to 3.

Two errors in the eleventh allowed the Amarilloans to send scores the winning counters. For nine innings the teams battled on even terms. Poe of King, and Mitchell of Texas, were almost invincible. Wagner was behind the bat for King with Shell receiving for the visitors.

The game between Texas of Amarillo and Texas of Pampa was postponed because of the rain. A Texas company employe Saturday.

TEXAS STILL LEADS NATION WITH 67 HOLE-IN-ONE SHOTS

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—Indiana, home of the Wabash and basketball players, bombarded the National Hole-in-One club with news this week as membership soared to the 642 mark.

Hoosier golf enthusiasts, out to catch Texas, still leader in the inter-state race with a year's total of 67, took a new survey of acres made by them during the year, added up some of those that had skipped notice, and turned in a batch of 15 to run that state's total to 53.

Indianapolis reported 11 of them

SKEETERS THREATENS TO WIN TRANS-MISSISSIPPI TOURNEY

DALLAS, June 23. (AP)—Up at Wichita, Kansas, today—jaws puffed by a man-sized quid—is William (Wild Bill) Skeeters, a Texas golfing flower growing wider every hour.

Please tag him as a definite threat for the trans-Mississippi title.

He was tagged three months ago, but only as a flash in the pan; a big, heavy formed football player who played into luck on every shot. Now he's a champion and the critics are rocking on their heels.

Four years ago Skeeters, captain of Southern Methodist's football and basketball teams and an all-Southwest conference tackle, was graduated. One year later he put all of his 200 pounds into learning golf. He announced ready for tournament play last summer and lifted more than one eye-brow by going to the quarter-finals of the Dallas city tourney. Luck, they called it, until this summer.

It's recent history how he went out of the city in the semi-finals, one up in 19 holes to Reynolds Smith's three under par golf; lost in the semi-finals of the Corsicana invitation and the finals of the state amateur to Don Schumacher. Meanwhile, he was dumping such names as O'Hara Watts (twice) W. R. Long, Jr., Bernhard Schriever and David (Spec) Goldman.

Last week the quiet, tobacco-cheating giant wounded par by four strokes to take the medal honors in the Rivercrest invitation. He avenged his defeats from Schumacher by plowing him under, 4 and 3, in the semi-finals and then went on to defeat Jonny Dawson, dapper Chicagoan, 2 and 1 in the finals.

He was only 18 strokes under par for the tournament.

For the benefit of those who rumored Ed White, Walker cup player, was in danger of losing his regular spot on the cup team because of inactivity on the links: the popular Bonham youth shattered the Colonial country club record at Fort Worth Sunday with a 35-33-68. He rolled eight three's into the sparkling round.

BEES HANG UP 6TH VICTORY IN 8 STARTS

CARDINALS INCREASE LEAD AS CUBS LOSE

By HUGH S. FULLERTON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The sports "experts," who have been wrong so often this year that they're developing a special technique in laughing off embarrassing predictions, are beginning to worry about their almost unanimous pre-season forecast that the Boston Bees would finish in the National League cellar.

Following the lead of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who broke Chicago's 15-game winning streak Sunday, the Bees whipped the Cubs 5 to 1 yesterday to hang up their sixth victory in eight games. That loss applied the brakes more firmly to Chicago's rush toward the top as the Cardinals outslugged the Phillies, 8-6, increasing their lead to 1-2 games.

New York's Yankees likewise increased their lead, whipping the White Sox 9-6 while the Detroit Tigers edged out Boston's Red Sox 8-7 to regain fourth place in the American league standing.

The Washington Senators, who had been tied with the Tigers, were rained out at St. Louis while Dusty Rhodes pitched the Athletics to a 4-3 victory over the third-place Cleveland Indians.

The National League race tightened up even more when the New York Giants, trying to come back from fourth place, put on one of their best slugging exhibitions to sink the Pittsburgh Pirates 11 to 5. Cincinnati's Reds maintained their slim fifth-place margin over Boston by trouncing the Dodgers 7 to 3.

300 Golfers in Qualifying for Wichita Tourney

WICHITA, Kan., June 23. (AP)—Nearly 300 golfers had their eyes on John Goodman's title today in the qualifying round of the men's Trans-Mississippi golf tournament.

The cast of the 36th annual Trans event rivals that of the national amateur tournament in class. Headed by the defending champion, who also has the doubtful honor of being rated favorite, the entrants include the big guns of amateur golf from Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska.

Sniping at Goodman's title are such performers as Walter Emery, Oklahoma City, Jack Munger, Dallas, Johnny Dawson, Chicago; Gus Moreland, Peoria, Ill.; Graber, W. Duval, Jr., Dallas City and a host of other sharpshooters.

Goodman showed he was ready for the battle yesterday by snaring a 69, three under par, on his first tour of the long, windy course.

Sports Roundup

NEW YORK, June 23. (AP)—Madison Square Garden will go into the courts, if necessary, to prevent James J. Braddock fighting Max Schmeling for Mike Jacobs. They may as well line up their lawyers for the contracts are as good as signed (if they aren't already).

Your agent is being razed unmercifully by fans in all parts of the country for going out on the limb on Louis. Well, we had it coming. The line forms at the right, boys.

Looks like old Jack Johnson had the right dope on the Brown Bomber, doesn't it? Trouble was, nobody believed him but Max Schmeling. Joe Di Maggio disobeyed orders in one of the Detroit games by hitting the ball when he had the bunt sign. Tip: don't sell Bill Bonham when the battle starts for places on the Olympic teams. Along Broadway they're calling Braddock and Schmeling the "Comeback Boys." Prof. Casey Stengel and his Dodgers are taking blows for stopping the Cubs.

The loss of Hank Greenberg crippled the Tigers offensively, but not in the field. Jack Burns is coming up with balls Hank never would have reached.

Rouged Rooters Raise Receipts In Cracker Tilts

ATLANTA, June 23. (AP)—Women are whooping it up for baseball in Atlanta.

Their attendance without charge at special "ladies' night" games is adding gusto and color to the game and hiking the gate receipts.

The male fan is ready to admit that the women are a ball game on out-yell him anytime.

And the woman's cheering, 90 per cent of the time, the observer declares, is for the home team—no matter how poorly the boys may be performing.

President Earl Mann of the Atlanta baseball club says the special ladies' night games are having much to do with exceptionally good gate receipts here.

Last year the Crackers played at home before 330,000 paying fans for a new Class A attendance record.

This year women are continuing to throng the park on their nights. More than 6,000 attended a recent game for a new single-game record here.

Freddie Tauby Is Choice for Center Fielder

DALLAS, June 23. (AP)—Popular Freddie Tauby, Dallas Steer center fielder, apparently is the people's choice for the northern division team in the Texas league all-star game to be played here July 25.

Far in front of his other three rivals not only in votes but in batting, runs, stolen bases, chances accepted and assists, Tauby is almost certain to land the center field job.

He has Patchett of Tulsa, Shelley of Fort Worth and Myers of Oklahoma City, to overcome.

Chosen for the south should be a bit more difficult due to the brilliant all-round play of Herschel Martin, Houston, and Cullenbine, Beaumont sensation. Not to be forgotten is Toney Governor, Galveston's colorful little gardner.

Garms of San Antonio, a good hitter; the injured Mel Mazzera of San Antonio and Epps of Houston, are other candidates.

Trend of the voting, however, shows Martin out in front with Cullenbine leading in ballots for the utility outfielder's position.

Kingsmill Beats Laketon in 10th

Kingsmill and Laketon battled 10 innings Sunday afternoon before Kingsmill scored enough runs to win, 8 to 7. That score has been a jinx to Laketon this season, the Wheat Growers having lost three games by 8 to 7 scores. Losses were to the Pampa Rams, Sunoco Sluggers and Kingsmill.

Cody won the game for Kingsmill when he hit a screaming double down the third base line to score Morgan, who had singled, and Crocker who had gotten a lift on an error, in the tenth. Laketon tied the

Peewees and Little Road Runners to Clash Again

The Junior baseball league schedule for this week will send LeFors to Hoover, the Magnolia Peewees to Road Runner park and Phillips 66 to Borger. All the games probably will be played next Sunday, although according to league rules they may be played any time during the week.

The schedule for the following week which ends July 5, will pit the Borger Christians against Mc's Pirates at LeFors, Hoover against the Peewees at Magnolia park and Phillips against the Little Road Runners at Road Runner park.

A doubleheader will be played at Road Runner park Sunday afternoon with the Little Road Runners playing the double-duty role. The opposition will be the Peewees and a team of boys from Whittsburg. The Danger lads were scheduled to play on the Magnolia diamond but Coach Roy Marshall agreed to play the game at the birds' park where the feathered coveys has thumped the Peewees twice this season. The Borgans whipped the Peewees two Sundays ago on the Mag diamond on a day when the Peewees were badly disorganized and when both of their pitchers were absent.

Last night the Peewees gathered in a meeting and elected Amos Reed, pitcher, captain, and Claude Heiskell, co-captain. The boys decided to practice between 9 and 11 o'clock each morning, and the captain was named assistant coach in order to comply with league rules.

The Hoover team made a creditable showing at Borger Sunday, E. W. Hogan reported. The Christians failed to score after the sixth inning when E. W. Hogan, Jr., replaced Maddox. Harold Lewis scored on Hogan's single early in the game, and made another run when E. W. Hogan knocked a home run late in the game, it was said.

It is predicted that Borger will find Phillips a tough bone to chew. The 66 team has led the league in improvement, and last Sunday they might have walloped the Peewees if they had not cracked in the seventh inning when they were leading 3 to 2. The final score was 11 to 6. The Peewees crushed Phillips by something like 20 runs the previous time they played.

The second half of the season started Sunday, and computing of standings will begin with that date. Standings up to last Sunday will be thrown in the waste paper basket, and new percentages begun. It is highly probable that the three leading teams will engage in a play-off for the championship at the end of the season. So, today the teams that are undefeated are the Little Road Runners, Borger and the Peewees which won last Sunday. One loss will be chalked up against the other three teams.

The Little Road Runners are likely to have a rougher road to victory than they had the last half. With the coming of hot weather, also came a burning ambition of the other teams to humble the undefeated club. Scores have become noticeably closer. Intense practice among the clubs would undoubtedly result in a close race during July.

A bronze statue bust of John Nance Garner, first Texan to become vice-president, was unveiled during an impressive ceremony at the Texas Centennial Exposition.

score in the ninth and went into a lead in the first half of the tenth. Morgan and Bones divided hurling duties for Kingsmill with Dun can behind the plate. "Silent Alf" West went the distance for Laketon with Barnes his battery mate.

Jolly Ten Will Practice Before Playing Sluggers

The Jolly Ten playground ball team, made up of women from the Sun, Gulf and Wilcox camps south of Pampa, has called off its game with the Pampa Sluggers, scheduled for Thursday evening. The team wants to practice more before taking the field.

Pampa's slugging girls are still working out every afternoon in the hope of making the regional tournament in Wichita Falls on July 4, 5, and 6. They need two more pitchers and a couple of substitutes. Any girl desiring to try out with the team is asked to call De Ann Heiskell at 1969.

SURPRISES IN PLATFORM ARE NOW EXPECTED

WHITE HOUSE DRAFT OF DOCUMENT DELAYED

PHILADELPHIA, June 23. (AP)—Talk of possible surprise in the democratic platform was stirred today by an unexplained delay in the arrival of a White House draft of the party program.

Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, prospective chairman of the resolutions committee, who had been expected all day long yesterday with the Rooseveltian platform, did not turn up until today.

No word as to what the draft contains was obtainable from him immediately, but his delayed journey gave rise to speculation that it might have been drastically revised by President Roosevelt in view of recent political developments.

It was recalled that the New York senator had planned to come to Philadelphia last Friday. Then his trip was postponed to Sunday. Apparently authentic word was passed out almost every hour yesterday that he was due "in a few minutes."

Many times during the intervening period he has been reported at the White House conferring with the president. Expectant platform makers here have disclaimed meanwhile any knowledge of what changes, if any, were being made in the platform.

Speculation has centered on possible changes in the labor, monopoly and constitutional planks. There has been talk of a last minute change to include a constitutional amendment plank, but it has been discounted by informed leaders.

Whatever the White House suggestions turn out to be, they were almost assured a friendly reception by the make up of the platform committee.

A committee made up largely of the senators who have steered the New Deal program through congress was being formed to pass on the platform. Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, who might have caused a struggle, had announced he would not serve.

The Virginian, arriving in the convention city last night, said he was "too worn out" to serve on the committee on which he has worked at every convention since 1896. He intimated also that his suggestions may have been turned down already.

"I don't expect to see my 1932 monetary plank reinserted," Glass said, "although I would like to see it. I rather expect to see something about silver in the 1936 platform."

Glass said Wagner was carrying the platform in his pocket. Asked if it contained any of his views, the Virginian replied with an emphatic "no."

This lent weight to the belief in some quarters that the platform would make few concessions to the "conservative" wing of the party, but would be designed to hold the "liberals" in line.

The make-up of the platform committee also added strength to this view. Among the senators already chosen to serve were such New Deal supporters as Byrnes, of South Carolina; Wheeler, of Montana; Thomas, of Oklahoma; Murphy, of Iowa; O'Mahoney, of Wyoming; Black, of Alabama; and Pope, of Idaho, as well as Wagner.

Other senators on the committee included George W. Bailey, of North Carolina, who has been more critically inclined.

Senator Thomas said he would offer a plank proposed by Governor E. W. Marland of Oklahoma, declaring it the "duty of the government" to provide employment for all able-bodied men who are not needed in productive occupations.

Several labor union spokesmen wanted a declaration for a constitutional amendment to permit minimum wage legislation for women; a shorter work week; a requirement that a two-thirds vote of the supreme court would be necessary to invalidate legislation.

Some farm organizations were asking for crop control and a variety of other agricultural aids in addition to managed currency.

PHILADELPHIA, June 23. (AP)—The democratic state executive committee, preparing the ballot for the July 5 primary, permitted W. Gregory Hatcher and Wesley Pruitt to withdraw as candidates for land commissioner and comptroller but retained their $100 filing fees.

"More was involved than the money, which the committee was quite justified in keeping," said a committee member. "If candidates were allowed to file and then withdraw and get their money back there would be a deluge every election year of persons who filed merely for the publicity. Loss of the fee will tend to restrict the filers to bonafide candidates."

Orville S. Carpenter, old age assistance director, has warned employees of the pension administration that the law prohibits state employees from participating in political campaigns.

"Not only will your violation of this law and this rule subject you to the statutory penalty," he said, "but it will result in your immediate dismissal when information of such violation reaches me."

Opponents of Governor James V. Alfred have charged that he has attempted to build up a vast political organization by means of the pension machinery.

Chief Justice C. M. Cureton and Associate Justice Richard Critz of the Supreme Court, Judge O. S. Attmore of the Court of Criminal Appeals and Lieut.-Gov. Walter F. Wood had no opposition for re-nomination.

The state committee held that a fouston citizen who wanted to oppose Attorney General William McCreary had not complied with the law concerning filing and threw out his name. A court contest loomed.

The fact that in four cases no one attempted to run against the incumbent caused comment among political observers that at least a fair bet was overlooked.

Should any of those unopposed be before the election the committee would select a candidate to represent the party. If two candidates were seeking the nomination and one died the other would become the nominee, and in democratic Texas that would mean election.

Then, from the standpoint of publicity, for the sum of $100 a candidate would get his name on the ballot in 254 counties. In no other way, probably, could he obtain such advertising for the same price.

PHILADELPHIA, June 23. (AP)—The paid admissions for the first week of the Texas Centennial Exposition exceeded the total for the first week at Chicago's 1933 Century of Progress Exposition by 58,780, official comparative figures revealed here today. Paid admissions during the first week of the 1934 Century of Progress Exposition exceeded the first week's total for the Texas Centennial Exposition by 4,755.

The paid admissions for the first Centennial Exposition week totaled 231,149, while the 1933 Chicago exposition total was 172,359, according to official figures for both fairs. The paid admissions for the 1934 Chicago exposition totaled 235,904.

These figures for the Texas and Chicago expositions do not include admissions by passes of employees, press representatives and others.

The Centennial officials were elated over the comparative figures when announced by W. A. Webb, general manager. If the average attendance for the first week is maintained, the total attendance for the exposition will exceed the 10,000,000 visitors expected by executives before the close of the Texas World's Fair November 29.

Total attendance at the 1933 Chicago exposition was 27,703,132. For the 1934 Chicago exposition the total was 21,066,095.

First Bale Will Go To Centennial

CORPUS CHRISTI, June 23. (AP)—The world's first bale of 1936 cotton today was apparently destined for a place of honor at the Texas Centennial exposition in Dallas after bringing its owner more than a dollar a pound.

Because Teofila Garcia, Starr county farmer, sped into the Corpus Christi cotton exchange with the first bale of marketable cotton, he was awarded a prize of $500 yesterday afternoon.

He arrived with his prized bale 11 minutes behind a Hidalgo county entrant but the latter's cotton was adjudged unmarketable because it was assertedly green and wet.

Auction of Garcia's cotton was set for today on the cotton ex-

DIXIE DEMOS HIT SCRAPPING OF OLD RULE

CLAIM CANDIDATE MAY BE NOMINATED BY MINORITY

PHILADELPHIA, June 23. (AP) Dixie die hards opposing abrogation of the two thirds rule at democratic conventions declared today that if it is scrapped the unit rule should be discarded, too.

Otherwise, they said, the day may come when a man will be nominated for president by a mere minority of the delegates.

The two-thirds rule requires that a candidate must receive the votes of two-thirds of the convention delegates before he can be nominated for president or vice president. The other regulation, which is in effect in some delegations, says that a delegation must vote as a unit, according to the dictates of the majority within it.

Administration leaders express increasing confidence that the two-thirds rule will go by the boards. In that case Senator Harry F. Byrd said he would demand that the convention disapprove the unit rule.

Under the unit rule, he foresaw a possibility that a bare majority of delegates in a group of big states bottle up for their favored candidate the entire vote of such states, and thus give him a majority. But the helpless dissenters in these big states, plus the dissenters in other states, might constitute an actual majority of the convention.

The senator conceded there probably was little the convention could do about the unit rule except recommend that states discourage its adoption. He said he believed some states had imposed this rule by statute.

Chief opposition to repeal of the two-thirds rule came from the "old South."

There were some defections, however. For instance, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, majority floor leader of the senate, said: "I think I'll support abrogation."

Russian-Turkish Alliance Seen In Conference

MONTREUX, Switzerland, June 23. (AP)—Sarcasm and criticism hung over an international conference today on Turkey's request to re-verify the Dardanelles.

A Turkish program, aimed toward revision of the Lausanne pact of 1923, evoked objections from several delegations at the sessions.

Critical comment followed what were considered to be Turkish concessions to Russia, together with what were described as deliberate inequalities to other nations over use of the straits including the Bosphorus, the Sea of Marmora and the Dardanelles.

The Turkish program—discussed in a secret session today—some of the conferees and particularly the British thought, would give Russia virtually unlimited freedom to send warships from the Black Sea to the Mediterranean.

To the contrary, the rights of other nations to dispatch fighting vessels to the Black Sea were sharply curtailed or denied altogether.

No more chinning, MADAM!

It used to be said of the Master Draper, head of an old-time dry goods store, that he stroked his chin knowingly when certain customers walked in. This was a sign to his assistant that they could probably be "shaved" . . . or given the worst of the bargain!

Today, walking in and buying the goods for a new dress is wholly without any such hazard. The fabric marked "wool" is just that. Pure silk is woven from the natural silkworm product. If the fabric is composed of one of the newer man-made yarns, the type of rayon is usually named in a sign on the counter, or on the end of the bolt of cloth.

And the price, you get out of the advertisement . . . no quibbling about that! You read before you shop, an dbuy just as much as the pattern envelope calls for. Every day, now there are especially good buys in dress goods. Have you loomed at all the advertising pages today?

BREAKFAST IN GARDEN PRECEDES WMS BUSINESS HOUR

MEETING TIME OF M. E. BODY IS IN MORNING

LOCAL AND NATIONAL MISSION WORK IS REPORTED

The beautiful rock garden at the home of Mrs. W. Purviance was the setting for a breakfast yesterday morning, preceding the monthly business meeting of First Methodist Missionary society. Members of all circles met together.

After the breakfast, to which each member contributed, Mrs. John Hessey presided for the meeting. It opened with a hymn, in the Garden.

Reports were given by officers and committee chairmen. Mrs. C. E. Naylor, supplies chairman, asked that contributions be made this week for a box that will be sent to Holdenville institute at Laredo. Members voted also to send several song books to Scarratt Bible college.

A vacation Bible training school will be started in the Colored Methodist church here on July 6. It was announced by Mrs. J. E. Ward, chairman of Christian social relations. She will be in charge. Comment on the vacation Bible school just completed in First church was made by Mrs. Hessey.

Mrs. John Platt gave the conference treasurer's report. Mrs. Frank Shotwell a report on study books. Mrs. Travis Lively on the baby special and Mrs. Carson from the spiritual life committee. Mrs. W. R. Ewing gave interesting topics from the publicity bulletin, including a list of Methodist institutes in the south and their work.

The benediction by Mrs. J. M. Turner closed the meeting. Circle one had 13 members present, circle two, eight; circle three, four; and circle four, six.

President III, Endeavor Meets In Home Sunday

Because their newly elected president, Maudie Woodworth, has been ill several weeks and unable to attend meetings, the Senior Christian Endeavor of First Methodist church conducted their meeting at her home in Kingsmill Sunday evening.

Announcement was made of the list of new officers. In addition to Miss Woodworth they are Dorothy Southard, vice-president; Katie Schafer, secretary; Pauline Stewart, pianist; Charles Maderia, song leader.

The program Sunday included a talk by James Todd on Young People, and a story, Bundles, by little Elsie Graham.

Those present were Hazel Bati, Betty Jo Nolen, Pauline Stewart, Juanita Cockerill, Beulah and Dorothy Coughard, Valerie Austin, Charlotte Watson, Irene Veil, Opal Sullivan, Elsie Graham, Maudie Woodworth.

R. L. Johnson, Ronald Twentier, Charles Maderia, Virgil Frazier, Vernon Van Bibber, Bob Jones, Ben Mize, George Porter, Ralph Shannon, Glen Eldridge, Wayne Hutchins, Edwin Koonce, Phillip Bewley, James Todd, John S. Mullen, Mr. and Mrs. Frost, Mr. and Mrs. Woodworth and Mrs. Coffin.

Officers Named For Junior G. A.

Junior G. A. of First Baptist church elected Lillian Nix president for the coming term at a meeting in Central Park last week. Meribelle Hazard was elected secretary. Jenny Lind Myatt assistant secretary.

Evelyn Hill is to be vice-president and song leader. LaVerne Hill pianist and social chairman. Jo Anna Nix and LaVerne Covington group captains, and Mary Frances Yeager reporter.

Preceding the business session was a study of South American children. Stories were read by Meribelle Hazard and the counselor, Mrs. Owen Johnson. Refreshments were served to six members.

Members are urged to be at the church Thursday at 4:30 for the next meeting.

INCLUDE FRESH VEGETABLES IN SUMMER MENUS

Garden or Markets Furnish Supply For Table

BY MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

Vegetables from your own garden supply quite the most delicious of summer foods. If you haven't a garden, the fresh peas, corn and tomatoes from the corner grocery store will provide the same flavors and food elements.

A hearty dish—containing two or more vegetables, cheese, eggs, and milk—with the addition of bread and butter, salad and dessert, makes an ample, well-balanced meal for a warm day. Moreover, it is easily prepared and will reduce the time the housewife must spend in the kitchen.

Choose vegetables that are the family's favorites. The combinations and methods of preparing such dishes are almost endless.

Some Casserole Combinations

Try a casserole of cooked carrots, macaroni and cheese sauce, baked in the oven for 20 minutes. Or place alternate layers of cooked lima beans, boiled rice and thinly sliced cheese in a baking dish, cover with milk and bake 20 minutes in a hot oven.

Stuffed green peppers and stuffed tomatoes may be prepared in a number of ways. Cooked rice, cheese and bits of crisp bacon makes a savory filling for peppers. Scoop out the centers of the tomatoes and refill with a mixture of cracker crumbs, minced onion, butter and the pulp taken from the tomatoes.

Another filling for stuffed tomatoes is made by combining celery with blanched, shredded almonds. Fill the centers of the tomatoes with this mixture, cover with buttered crumbs and bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes. Place each tomato on a round of hot, buttered toast before serving.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Grapefruit, cereal, cream, graham toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Jellied bouillon, radishes and celery, cold boiled ham, potato salad, cherry cobbler, milk, tea.

DINNER: Creamed eggs and peas, stuffed tomato salad, apple tapioca pudding, milk, coffee.

Peanut Butter Sauce

A nourishing dish that may be new to the family is made by adding peanut butter to thin white sauce and pouring the sauce over diced, cooked potatoes, arranged in a baking dish. Sprinkle the top with buttered crumbs and bake 15 minutes in a hot oven.

Creamed eggs and peas, served with stuffed tomato salad and an apple tapioca pudding make an inviting dinner for a summer evening. Here is the recipe for the main dish.

Creamed Eggs and Peas
Four tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, 2 cups milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon white pepper, 6 hard cooked eggs, 2 cups cooked green peas.

Melt butter in a sauce pan, stir in flour and cook over a low fire until bubbly. Add milk, stirring constantly, and cook until mixture boils. Add salt and pepper, peas and sliced egg whites. Put in a moderate oven to keep hot while frying eggs yolks through a ricer. File rice egg yolks in the center of the mixture and scatter ripe olives around the edge. Serve from baking dish.

Collections of Income Taxes Are Up 23 Per Cent

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—Secretary Morgenthau reported today that income tax collections in the first 20 days of June amounted to $298,505,822, a 23 per cent increase over the comparable period last year.

At the same time the daily treasury statement indicated that income tax collections for the fiscal year ending June 30 would exceed the $1,434,000,000 estimated by President Roosevelt in his revised budget message.

The statement said receipts for the year had amounted to $1,405,000,000 through June 20.

Morgenthau's report on the first 20 days of this month, covering second installment payments on last year's incomes, showed collections in this period were $55,817,907 in excess of the $242,688,776 collected in a corresponding period last year.

The report was based on telegraphic returns from the various collection districts.

YOUNG GUESTS ATTEND PARTY FOR BIRTHDAY

MARY JO COCKERILL, 4 YEARS OLD, IS HOSTESS

Centennial elephants brought back from a recent trip to Dallas were favors at a birthday party given yesterday for Mary Jo Cockerill, 4 years old, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cockerill.

Games entertained the small guests, who presented gifts to the honoree and enjoyed refreshments of pink birthday cake and ice cream cones. Doris and Betty Roundtree, Betty Johnson, and Joella Shelton assisted in directing the games and serving.

Guests were Joyce Harrah, Carolyn Beth and Sue Ann Montgomery, Harold Hefflin, Bobby Morris, Cherry Jean Maddux, Belva and Charlene Dull, Brent Fisher, Mary Jo and Tommy Lee White, Joan Stroup, Verna Lee Alden, Ronnie Hollingshead, Carol Anne McClellan, Walter and Janelle Patton, Gerald Johnson, Colleen Cockerill, and the youngest guest, Bobby Carroll Selby, three months old.

Gifts were sent by Oma Claire Morris and Merdella Roberts.

Cool Tailleurs Made Man-Style For the Summer

By ADELAIDE KERR

NEW YORK (AP)—"Mint julep suits"—cool as the clink of ice in a glass—have taken the fashion world by storm.

As tailored as tweed, made of aircooled fabrics and running the color gamut from white to navy blue, they offer casual smartness for travel, country and town. American designers have evolved them for travel, country and town. American women who want to be both comfortable and smart in hot weather.

Many Colors
They come in a variety of fabrics—silk and rayon suitings, linens and piques and in as wide a range of colors. White is outstanding. White tailleurs of rayon, silk and linen suitings will be worn by some of the smartest women at country clubs this summer.

After white comes a scale of light colors such as natural, maize, spring blue and dusty rose also designed for country and resort wear, and a group including navy blue, London tan, aster violet and green and brown tweed mixtures for business women and city shoppers.

Severely tailored, they borrow many a fashion note from "the male." They are unlined, and designed with notched lapels.

Smart accessories also are mannish. Dark blue and London tan shirts are worn with white or natural suits, and handkerchiefs to match are tucked into breast pockets. Shirts of printed cotton and light silk are worn with the dark suits.

'Tailored' Hats
The hats which top the ensemble often reflect the same tailored trend. Felt and pajamas with brims which roll up in the back and down in front and are trimmed only by a ribbon band are favorites for country wear. In town many smart women prefer big flat crowned cartwheel straw hats which are one of the season's outstanding trends.

White jackets over dark frocks or skirts are as noteworthy a 1936 fashion trend as summer suits. Crisp white linen, pique and rayon canvas make nonchalant short sleeved models which, combined with white hats, gloves and bag, make a cool costume for hot days in town.

Methodists Will Picnic Tomorrow, Inviting Friends

An old fashioned church picnic will be given tomorrow for members and friends of First Methodist church. Each family will take a basket lunch for the outdoor supper.

The party will meet at the church at 4 o'clock and go together to the Saunders ranch east of LeFors. Transportation will be provided for those wishing it.

Arrangements are in charge of Roy Bourland and a committee of men.

BAPTIST BROTHERHOOD

The Laymen's Brotherhood of Central Baptist church will meet at the church this evening at 8:30. All members are urged to be present for a special program.

Texas Has Had 3 Governors in Past 48 Hours

AUSTIN, June 23 (AP)—Texas has had three governors within the past 48 hours, it became known here today.

When Governor Allred left the state late Sunday en route to the national Democratic convention at Philadelphia, Lieutenant Governor Walter Woodul of Houston became the chief executive. But Woodul was absent for a few hours attending a banquet at Juarez, Mexico, and Wilbourne Collie of Eastland, president pro tem of the Senate, became governor.

It was Senator Collie's second opportunity to be temporary governor. He served around New Year's day when Allred was at Pasadena for the Rose Bowl football game and Woodul was at New Orleans for the Sugar Bowl game.

TESTIMONY TO START

CUIERO, June 23 (AP)—Testimony starts this afternoon in the murder trial of Vince Boss, 19-year old Houston Italian accused of killing R. W. Albert, Brenham cheese salesman, in a robbery. A jury was completed before noon and court was recessed until 2 p. m., when the taking of testimony will begin.

350,000 WILL SCRATCH FOR, KIRBY CLAIMS

ORGANIZATION WILL TRY TO BEAT HIM AT POLLS

HOUSTON, June 23, (AP)—John Henry Kirby, chairman of the "Southern committee to uphold the constitution," said today the organization, claiming 350,000 registered members in 17 states, would oppose re-election of President Roosevelt.

Kirby, wealthy lumberman and outspoken foe of the "New Deal," said he was not sure whether the group would support Landon or put its own presidential candidate in the field. He said a mail poll of members was under way to determine the committee's next move.

"If we decide to throw our support to the republican nominee," Kirby said, "it will be as democrat. We do not support the republican, but we will exert all our efforts to stop Roosevelt. We will fight for the principles of the democratic party and the constitution."

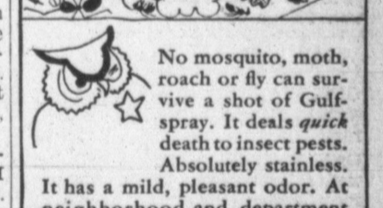

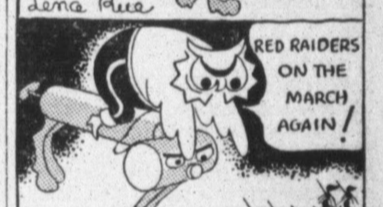

"Only an act of God can prevent Roosevelt's nomination at Philadelphia but Jeffersonian democrats can try to defeat him at the polls," Kirby and Vance Muse, manager of the Southern committee, praised Alfred E. Smith for his "stop Roosevelt" move. In writing his approval of Smith's move to the 1928 democratic nominee, Kirby said:

"In our view, this crisis in our national affairs demands patriotism rather than partisanship."

Kirby said the declaration of Gov. Eugene Talmadge of Georgia that he would support the democratic nominee would have no bearings on the Southern committee. Gov. Talmadge was one of the first leaders in the Southern committee.

Slugging Held 'Legion Vengeance'

Victim of Black Legion vengeance, authorities charge, Mrs. Dorothy Guthrie is shown in a Detroit hospital, after she had been found, bound, gagged, and beaten, in her home.

Speaking in Smith's home town, Hamilton said republicans would "honor" him and four colleagues who have demanded that President Roosevelt be set aside for another candidate at Philadelphia.

His speech as originally prepared contained no reference to Smith and the co-signers of the anti-Roosevelt manifesto—former Governor Joseph B. Fly of Massachusetts, former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, former Secretary of State Bainbridge Colby and former State Supreme Court Justice Daniel Cohanlan.

Only a short time before his speech Hamilton inserted this statement: "In the words of Governor Landon, spoken today at Topeka, 'the line of demarcation between fealty to party and loyalty to country is being determined for each citizen to determine.'"

"At least five distinguished and determined citizens led by a man who has rendered a distinguished service to your city and your state apparently made the choice between party and country as millions of others will do before the general election in November; and tonight—as republicans—we honor them for the high ideals that have prompted this action on their part."

This wholly unexpected appeal led to fresh speculation as to whether Smith will, indeed, take his famous "walk," and if so, whether he will walk to the republican camp.

Two Desperate Texas Convicts Still Trailed GROESBECK, June 23. (AP)—Bloodhounds and heavily armed peace officers concentrated here today in a manhunt for two elusive, desperate Texas convicts.

Wary manhunters headed by Capt. Lee Miller of the state highway patrol and Sheriff Will Adams of Limestone county waited until daylight to spread out through a 30-square-mile area of underbrushy country into which Luke Trammell and Forrest Gibson fled last night after the stolen car in which they were traveling was riddled with officers' bullets.

Miller sent a rush call for bloodhounds and more officers. In last night's party which forced the desperadoes into the thick brush there were 11 men. Miller said they decided it was useless to pursue Trammell and Gibson in the pitch darkness. They were believed armed with a shotgun and rifle.

The officers, traveling in three cars, met the convicts' speeding auto on a little-used side road near Oeltha, Texas, about 9 p. m. "They were traveling at a fast clip," Miller said. "We turned around and looked out after them. We overhauled them close enough to open fire."

The convicts, who escaped last Friday from Retrieve prison farm with T. B. Atkinson after killing a guard, drove their car into the brush and had disappeared when the officers came up, Miller said.

The riddled machine, Miller said, was "the car in which J. W. Casagne was abducted in Burleson county yesterday and later released.

THREE KILLED BY HEAT WAVE ON YESTERDAY

A break in the heat wave which killed three persons in Texas yesterday and parched crops, sending thermometers shooting high above the 100-degree mark, seemed certain today with partly cloudy conditions forecast for East Texas and the cessation of scorching north winds.

Scattered showers and hail were reported from the plains area near Lubbock last night, after a maximum temperature during the day of 102. In some sections an estimated 2 inches of rain fell. A few homes northeast of Lubbock were damaged by the heavy hail but the area so affected was small.

Heat and drought relief was brought to Wichita Falls by a quarter-inch rain following a day of 102. In some sections an estimated 2 inches of rain fell. A few homes northeast of Lubbock were damaged by the heavy hail but the area so affected was small.

KIWANIS CONVENTION OPENS FOR FOUR-DAY SESSIONS IN CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—Kiwansians from Texas arriving here for the 20th annual convention of Kiwanis International today prepared for four days of conference on child welfare, urban-rural problems, adult education, public affairs and to outline plans for greater economy and efficiency in government and public schools. More than 5,000 delegates and visitors from all part of the U. S. and Canada are attending.

The Texas Kiwanis delegation is in charge of Milton E. Batten of Enid, Okla., governor the Texas-Oklahoma district, Lieutenant governors are in Texas: Rev. N. R. Hawkins of Taylor; Clarence W. Perkins, Jr. of Alice; Arthur Grigg of Galveston; Neal Gibson of Sherman; W. Victor Womack of Abilene, and Fred Thompson of Pampa.

Harper Gatton, Madisonville, Ky., president, stated that all clubs were active in civic and welfare work. "America is a land of plenty and opportunity," he declared. "We have the necessary capital, land, building materials, skilled labor, leadership and courage for complete recovery. We have seen years of depression but recovery is here. New clubs and new members have brought manpower to Kiwanis and we will go ahead with greater achievements," he said.

Fred C. W. Parker of Chicago, general secretary, declared, "Kiwanis can no longer accept only the challenge of the under-privileg-

German Frontier Fort Reinforced

PARIS, June 23. (P)—France sought a "friendly understanding" with Great Britain and improved relations with the United States today, informed sources declared.

These basic points were reported as prominent in the socialist government's foreign policy submitted for the cabinet's approval after the ministry of national defense ordered heavy reinforcements of military forces along the German frontier.

Authoritative quarters said 30,000 men were ordered sent to the north and east borders to bolster the French boundary defenses. The increases would bring the military strength in the line from the Belgian border to the Swiss boundary to approximately 140,000 men.

Future reinforcement, possibly in October, of the Paris military garrison was reported under consideration when an extra battalion of colonial infantry may be ordered to the capital.

Marble Table Operator Slain

HEMPSTEAD, June 23. (P)—C. N. Proctor, 39-year-old marble table operator, was shot to death here last night in front of a cafe.

Willis McRae, operator of the cafe, was arrested and charged with the slaying. He was immediately remanded to jail without bond pending an examining trial.

A number of people were within the block when several shots rang out and Proctor crumpled to the sidewalk. A few doors away, Proctor's wife sat watching a movie.

GEORGE ADAMS MOVES

George Adams has moved to Oklahoma City where he has accepted a position with the Southwest Flying Service of that city. Mr. Adams recently received his department of commerce airplane and engineer license.

During the last three years, Mr. Adams was mechanic for the Panhandle Flying service here. Dee Graham, local pilot, is president of the company. Mr. Adams also worked on his pilot license while here and is nearly ready for his tests.

DU PONT'S ARE BACKING GOP, SAYS FARLEY

'ENTRENCHED GREED' IS TRYING TO REGAIN CONTROL OF U. S.

PHILADELPHIA, June 23. (AP)—With an assertion that the sole issue of the coming presidential campaign was the continuance of the new deal, Chairman Farley of the Democratic National committee today opened his party's national convention.

To this he added a lashing attack upon both the nominees and the platform of the Republican party and a charge that they were the product of an effort to appear conservative to the East and liberal in the West.

"Behind the Republican ticket," he added, "is the crew of the Du Pont Liberty league and their allies, which so far financed every un-recovery agency that has disgraced American politics with their aspects of race prejudice, religious intolerance, and personalities so gross that they had to be repudiated even by the regular Republican organization."

With these assertions he coupled extended praise for the accomplishments of the new deal and a prediction that the Democratic platform would be one to which the resolutions committee could commit itself "without laughing and swallow without choking."

"The continuance of the new deal is the issue," Farley shouted to the delegates at the very outset of his remarks.

"The question before the American people is clearcut and cannot be disguised. That question is: Shall we continue the new deal which has rescued our country from disaster and despair or shall the government be turned back to the old dealers who wrecked it? There you have the issue stripped of all camouflage."

Platitudes Unsurpassed
Calling upon the party for a vigorous campaign toward the goal of a tremendous Roosevelt majority, he asserted "that verdict must be so overwhelming, so conclusive, so compelling that nobody can doubt that the country is united in its determination that there shall be no backward step in our progress."

The platform adopted by the Republicans at Cleveland, he said was "unsurpassed in the history of party declarations for platitudes and vague promises," and again he said: "Nobody takes the Cleveland platform seriously—not even our political adversaries."

Had the Republicans been sincere he continued they would have renominated former President Hoover who, Farley said "represents the classical attitude of their party, and then we would have had a direct and frank contest before the American people of the new deal and the old deal."

But they "passed him up," Farley added, "despite his impassioned stampeding scheme which naturally failed, for you cannot stampede an elephant securely chained to the picket posts of evasion and straddling."

Or, he continued, the Republicans could have chosen Senator Borah, "but he was earmarked with the stigma of liberalism," he added.

"So they had to find a candidate whom they could present as conservative enough to meet the specifications of the duPont Liberty leaguers in the east, while appearing fiercely liberal in the West."

"Even when it came to choosing their vice presidential candidate, they had to follow the same hazardous course. The larger men refused the post so they picked a gentleman, doubtless a good editor, who has never held public office; never strayed into fields other than his own business—even more widely unknown to the public than his chief."

People's Government
Turning to the new deal and the problems just ahead, Farley said that "for three years ours has been a people's government," adding: "It is our job to keep it a people's government."

"That is what I meant when I spoke of the responsibilities incident to this gathering. We know how millions have been poured out to prepare the ground for an assault aimed to bring back the reckless period that piled up great fortunes for those on the inside, and finally brought the country to the verge of bankruptcy."

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, June 23. (AP)—Profit realizing tripped up leading stocks in today's market, but support appeared for many issues in late dealings.

A number of industrial specialties exhibited strength throughout, and in the final hour the packing and miscellaneous groups found buyers. The close was somewhat irregular. Transfers were around 1,000,000 shares.

Dry Ice Gas Is Used in Making Rubber, Black

The many uses of carbon dioxide gas, used in the manufacture of dry ice, were mentioned today by Pampa residents who are promoting the drilling of a CO-2 well in the Estancia valley in New Mexico.

It is used in carbon black manufacture, in making a finer quality of rubber, refrigeration, air conditioning and in many other ways. Last year, Government figures show, 7,000,000 tons more of dry ice than was available could have been sold. It is claimed that the development of carbon dioxide gas will open one of the world's largest industries. There is now only one plant in the world making dry ice from natural carbon dioxide.

The well being drilled by Pampa investors is down 1,702 feet and is being drilled deeper, despite the fact that 6,000,000 feet of gas has been struck. This is by far the largest well of its kind that has been discovered, it was reported.

Kiwanians Hold Picnic at LeFors

Pampa and LeFors Kiwanians and their families gathered near LeFors yesterday afternoon for an All Kiwanis picnic, held in connection with the International convention, now in progress in Washington.

Games for men, women and children preceded a picnic luncheon of chicken, served by wives of the Kiwanians. More than 100 persons enjoyed the outing.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Voss and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Schneider are now in Washington. Mr. Schneider and Mr. Voss being official delegates from the Pampa club.

COLUMN

Slocum, a Virginia district home demonstration agent, called today "Take a half a cup of Friendship, add one cup of Thoughtfulness; Cream together with a pinch of powdered Tenderness, Very lightly beaten into a bowl of Loyalty.

With one cup of Faith, one of Hope, and one of Charity; Be sure to add a spoonful each of Gaily that sings And the ability to laugh at little things; Moistened with the sudden tears of heartfelt Sympathy.

Cattle in a good natured pan. Serve repeatedly." ★ ★ ★
Seems to us, that's a mighty fine recipe. In too many instances home merely is a place in which we stop to catch our breath while planning some activity that will take us out again. The message of the old song still tells the story thoroughly, if we only knew it—"There's No Place Like Home."

interest in the meeting time, Rayburn and Miller said the delegates' credentials for the convention would not be ready until today.

At the caucus today the delegates must choose ten of their number for convention assignments, the most important of which is the platform committee.

The 100 Texans on the special train were in a jolly mood upon arrival. Behind a police escort, they were whisked across the city to their hotels, and wearing broad-brimmed Texas sombreros, milled about the lobbies for a time before going to their rooms.

They brought along a special Centennial gavel to present to Senator Robinson of Arkansas, who is expected to be permanent convention chairman, Paul Wakefield of Austin, secretary of the delegation, said it was made of Texas mesquite, with a dried cactus handle and a Texas star on each end of the head.

Myron Blalock of Marshall, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, who remained in the background of the first caucus, said Governor James V. Allred probably would reach Philadelphia today. Vice President John N. Garner also was absent, having decided to remain away from the Quaker City until his renomination later in the week.

The Texas delegation otherwise was virtually complete. Arthur Lee Yowell, the democratic agent, arrived earlier in the day astride a donkey he rode out of Dallas April 20 to advertise the Centennial. After much persuasion, the management of the convention headquarters hotel permitted him to roam the first two floors to visit, among others, Garner's headquarters.

Missing likewise from the party's nominal general staff was another who had disagreed often with Mr. Roosevelt. The Georgia delegation refused to reelect Governor Eugene Talmadge to the national committee.

Farley's speech today was offered as a sort of preliminary keynote, in praise of Roosevelt, in condemnation of his enemies. The actual keynote will be delivered at a second session tonight, by Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky. The nominations and adoption of the platform come later in the week.

Today's proceedings were slow, as usual, getting under way, Farley early gave up hope of beginning on schedule.

Row on row of blue-leather seats remained to be filled as the official starting hour arrived and passed.

While band and organ music boomed to the high vaulted roof of the auditorium, early comers looked over the setting for this 27th major decision in the history of the party since 1801. Slitken flags in clusters of three dotted the silver-gray, box pleated sliver border which had been strung around the first gallery rim. In between were brilliant medallions bearing the seals of the states.

Seats of Honor

The only other so honored was Thomas Jefferson, in serious profile on a background of buff-red, directly below the speaker's rostrum. Above the head of this great exponent of state's rights stood the words: "the democratic party."

California and Texas, the two states that tipped the scales for the first Roosevelt nomination in 1932, had seats of honor right up the front. Several Texans sported the

about the intention of those who had refused to go along. "That it would be a Roosevelt platform was a foregone conclusion, and the renomination of Vice President Garner was regarded by most as fully as certain as the president's own."

An assertion in Boston by Governor James M. Curley that he would accept the vice presidential nomination if it was offered, attracted no serious attention. Governor Clyde L. Herring of Iowa, who had said he was mentioned for second place on the ticket, already had taken himself out.

The introductory ceremonies today were held to an official welcome to this republican stronghold by its republican mayor, S. Davis Wilson, and bits of the entertainment to keep the convention diverted when no business is at hand. The real keynote, Senator Barkley of Kentucky will speak tonight.

Senator Wagner, fresh from conferences in Washington, was closeted with Secretary Wallace about the farm plank, but it remained uncertain whether the president would accept Wallace's proposal for crop insurance. In the end, Mr. Roosevelt is depended on to decide.

Glass Absent
Fused reelection to the resolutions was Senator Carter Glass, the Virginia party patriarch, who refused election to the resolutions committee, saying he was too weary after the long congressional session at Washington. Governor Perry was chosen Virginia's representative in his stead.

Missing likewise from the party's nominal general staff was another who had disagreed often with Mr. Roosevelt. The Georgia delegation refused to reelect Governor Eugene Talmadge to the national committee.

Farley's speech today was offered as a sort of preliminary keynote, in praise of Roosevelt, in condemnation of his enemies. The actual keynote will be delivered at a second session tonight, by Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky. The nominations and adoption of the platform come later in the week.

Today's proceedings were slow, as usual, getting under way, Farley early gave up hope of beginning on schedule.

Row on row of blue-leather seats remained to be filled as the official starting hour arrived and passed.

While band and organ music boomed to the high vaulted roof of the auditorium, early comers looked over the setting for this 27th major decision in the history of the party since 1801. Slitken flags in clusters of three dotted the silver-gray, box pleated sliver border which had been strung around the first gallery rim. In between were brilliant medallions bearing the seals of the states.

Seats of Honor

California and Texas, the two states that tipped the scales for the first Roosevelt nomination in 1932, had seats of honor right up the front. Several Texans sported the ten gallon hats advertising the Centennial celebration down there. Patrick J. Haltigan—the reading clerk whose stentorian voice made itself heard through those hectic Madison Square Garden ballots in 1924—was given a try-out. He had to tone down a bit because of the loud speaking system.

The departure of Farley and other convention notables from their hotel headquarters two miles from the hall was made into a parade, led by a squad of motorcycle policemen—sirens shrieking wide open.

The Farley entourage almost collided with another smaller parade. It was also democratic. A man dressed in the clothes of a farmer drove a hay rake through the streets, its sides emblazoned with a sign asking Mr. Hoover the whereabouts of the grass in the streets that he mentioned in his Madison Square Garden speech in 1932.

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 23. (AP)—Oklahoma today counted three deaths and one injury as the toll of sudden blasts of wind which struck yesterday, accompanied by rain which brought relief from the year's record heat.

John Snyder, 25, was killed at Hanna, McIntosh county, when a roof collapsed. H. A. Moore, 48, Oklahoma City, and an Ardmore negro, W. Bell, were drowned during a heavy wind on the Ardmore city lake while they were fishing.

Okmulgee, Henryetta and Hanna received short, heavy rains. Southwest Oklahoma, including Hobart, Lawton and Clinton had good rains during the night.

Newman Orchestra To Play for KPDN
Bert Newman and his Melodiers will begin Monday an engagement as station orchestra for radio station KPDN, playing three times daily for broadcasts.

The 10-piece orchestra is composed of young musicians who form a colorful as well as tuneful organization. It is coming to Pampa from Abilene, where it is this week completing a lengthy engagement at the Hilton hotel.

In addition to broadcasts, the band will play three times weekly for dances at the Pla-Mor auditorium.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. G. Stein have returned from a two-week trip to the Centennial exposition at Dallas, San Antonio, and Monterrey, Mexico.

BROOKS CRITICIZES
SCHERTNER, June 23. (AP)—Pierce Brooks, campaigning for governor at the Schertner annual picnic today, criticized the Allred administration for what he said was its handling of the old age pension matter. "A year has elapsed since the people of Texas ordered these pensions paid," Brooks said. "Not one penny has been paid to anyone entitled to a pension and, as a consequence, not one penny of the available federal pension money has been received in Texas."

Haywood McBee today was held on $1,000 bail awaiting action of the county grand jury following arraignment in Justice E. F. Young's court yesterday afternoon on a charge of theft of an oil well pump belt from A. D. McNamela.

CHICAGO, June 23. (AP)—Edgar Weller, University of Texas tennis star, handed the seeded list its first upset in today's play in the National Intercollegiate tennis championships by defeating Norman Bickel, University of Chicago, 6-3, 6-2. Bickel, seeded tenth in the list of 82, was outgeneraled by the Texas youth who was stroking well stiffly to ruin the Maroon's bid for points at the net.

WASHINGTON, June 23. (AP)—President Roosevelt today signed the new tax bill and the $100,000,000 interior department appropriation bill.

Signing of the long controverted tax measure, designed to raise $800,000,000 through a sweeping revision of corporate taxes and other levies, cleared the president's desk of major legislation passed by the congress just gone home.

The tax act, a compromise between the house and senate, goes a long way toward carrying out suggestions by President Roosevelt with stiff levies on corporation income withheld from stockholders. Advocates of his suggestion contend it will be subject to individual income taxes, while opponents argue it will be harmful to corporations in need of surplus.

The yield of the measure has been estimated by senate and house conferees as follows:
New corporation tax system $630,000,000.

Changes in taxation in cases of liquidation of corporations, $33,000,000.
Tightening of law applying to taxation of "irrevocable trusts," $20,000,000.

Reduction of tax exemption of intercorporate dividends $10,000,000.
Import taxes on fish and vegetable oil, $100,000,000.

"Windfall" tax on persons who avoid payment of AAA processing taxes, $82,000,000.
Miscellaneous, $10,000,000.

SANDERFORD TALKS
MEXICO, June 23. (AP)—Senator Roy Sanderford, speaking here today, contrasted his platform for governor with that of three opponents. "I am the only major candidate for governor who is opposed to payment of a state income tax," Senator Sanderford said. "Governor Allred, F. W. Fischer and Tom Hunter all have come out for this tax."
