Police Station Burned By Demonstrators In Ireland

Catholics Protesting Protestant Governme

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Roman Catholic demonstrators today burned a police station in a third day of rioting against alleged discrimination by the mainly Protestant government.

Firemen battled the flames three miles from this city's heart where police armored cars patrolled a square mile that became a battleground Saturday and Sunday.

Hospitals treated 96 persons. Scores of other injured were doctored on the spot. Police arrested 29 persons.

Home Affairs Minister William Craig of Northern Ireland blamed the rioting partly on Communists infiltrating the illegal Irish Republican Army (IRA). The IRA seeks to join this British dominion to independent, Roman Catholic southern Ireland.

But Gerald Fitt, member of parliament and injured in the fighting that included Molotov cocktails, said: "it will get worse."

"You cannot sweep this thing under the table any longer. The people who are second class citizens because of their Roman Catholic religion have had enough," he said in a statement.

The armored cars swept in from Belfast Sunday and put down the latest violence with high-powered water nozzles. Hundreds of rioters tried to destroy them with firebombs and block them with timber barricades.

Crowds of demonstrators attacked police strongholds. Police baton charges beat them back. Rioters stormed through the streets smashing windows with bottles and bricks.

This city of 50,000 has a 3-to-1 Roman Catholic majority. But the Protestant majority in Northern Ireland controls the government. North Ireland's six counties remained a British dominion when Southern Ireland's heavily Roman Catholic 26 counties cut its political ties with Britain in 1922.

Roman Catholics first took to the streets Saturday in protest against alleged discrimination after the government banned a parade they planned.

In Dublin, Ireland's Irish Labor party, cabled British Prime Minister Harold Wilson asking for an inquiry into "injustice and discrimination" against Roman Catholic in Northern Ireland.

Exact Roman Catholic complaints were not spelled out.

Home Affairs Minister Craig said the outlaw Irish Republican Army (IRA), infiltrated by Communists, had begun the trouble. The IRA helped lead the revolt for independence in Southern Ireland.

'HemisFair '68' Gives 'Key' To San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO (Tex. UPI)—HemisFair '68, San Antonio's World's Fair, closed Sunday and in a short midnight ceremony the keys to the fair were presented to the city.

Fair president Marshall Stevens called the fair, "The greatest thing that ever happened to the city," and then a policeman officially locked the gates.

Earlier in the day during formal ceremonies Gov. John Connally said, "Although this has been a very happy fair, it is inevitable that those who have given so much of their time to it must feel a sense of deep regret that it must end and a new era must open.

"To all of you who made it possible, we shall always remember you and be forever grateful."

Flags Saluted

During the ceremony, flags from each country represented at HemisFair '68 were lowered and each was saluted with cannon fire.

Each flag was handed to Connally, and he in turn presented a HemisFair flag as a symbol of remembrance.

The fair skies Sunday were a contrast to the bad weather that had marred the opening days of the fair, lowering attendance and starting it off toward a financial loss.

Not that the fair was boycotted. A total of 6,384,482 persons visited the fair during its six month run. The final day crowd of 121,850 was a record attendance for one day, surpassing the previous high by more than 21,000. But 7.5 million paying customers were needed for success.

LBJ Sends Thanks

In addition to the ceremonies, President Johnson sent three telegrams—one to the U.S. Pavilion employees, one to the foreign employees and one to the employees of the fair—thanking them for the job they did at the exposition.

"As HemisFair '68 draws to a close, all who contributed to its success can look back over the past few months with justifiable pride," the telegram to the foreign workers said.

"The world is a better place because of your splendid efforts."

Parts of the fair will remain open for business, but under a new name and new management. "FiestaLand"

Siege Is Broken At Green Beret Camp

By ALVIN B. WEBB JR., SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese irregulars today broke the nine-day Communist siege of Thung Duc, sweeping out of the beleaguered U.S. Green Beret camp and seizing five surrounding villages. American Marines fought their way toward the outpost.

UPI correspondent Nat Gibson said the estimated 8,000 North Vietnamese soldiers who more than 1,000 shells through bombarded Thung Duc with out the encirclement had pulled back into the nearby mountains, at least temporarily.

In Saigon, U.S. headquarters said American Marines reoccupied during the weekend the Khe Sanh combat base they abandoned after 77 days of Communist siege earlier this year. There were no reports of fighting.

South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu told his nation today the best way to end the Vietnam war was for both sides to scale down the fighting. He said the Communists must make the next move following the U. S. BOMBING over North Vietnam.

From Thung Duc, Gibson reported the South Vietnamese irregulars—locally recruited troops—found dozens of Communist bodies in the recaptured villages, battered constantly during the siege by U.S. warplanes and artillery. There was no time to make a count, he said.

A U.S. Marine column pushing toward Thung Duc through heavy jungle met advance North Vietnamese guards and killed nine today. There was no immediate report on American losses in the brief fight.

The North Vietnamese clamped their siege on Thung Duc nine days ago, capturing and hoisting their red and blue flag overhead.

Thung Duc guards the vital An Hoa Valley infiltration corridor toward Da Nang, the U.S. military bastion 360 miles north of Saigon. It is considered vital in the defense of Da Nang.

The North Vietnamese battered Thung Duc with 1,000 shells in the first four days of siege. Overall losses among the U.S. Green Berets and 500 South Vietnam irregulars were described as "light."

The North Vietnamese said they were now undecided.

Police said the defendants had been involved in a fight with a gang of unidentified white youths a half hour before.

Survey Shows Half Of Priests in US Disagree With Pope's Encyclical

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Nearly one-half of the U.S. diocesan priests disagree with Pope Paul's condemnation of artificial birth control, according to a national survey released here today.

The survey, revealed in a copyrighted story in this week's National Catholic Reporter, also shows that Pope Paul's encyclical "Humanae Vitae" had little effect on the priests, surveyed and has exerted little influence on advice given to married couples.

Of the priests who responded, 51 per cent said that before the encyclical they believed artificial contraception was permissible in some circumstances while 49 per cent held the same view after the encyclical. One per cent said they were now undecided.

Age was an obvious factor in the results. Older pastors were about 95 per cent opposed to contraception while younger curates were about 96 per cent in favor of it.

The survey was conducted under the auspices of the center for the study of man on the Notre Dame campus and was sponsored by the National Catholic Reporter, a national lay-edited weekly paper with offices here.

Results showed more priests likely to hold that artificial contraception was in some cases permissible than to actually advise married couples in such manner.

Before the encyclical 45 per cent said they do not advise but let the couples decide after giving both sides of the argument.

The director of the survey, Donald Barrett, a Notre Dame professor of sociology, said the answers to the survey were mostly yes or no with few undecided.

Same Cast On Hand For Curtain-Raising

Supreme Court Starts New Term

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court started its 1968-69 term today with the same membership confronting issues ranging from the presidential election to the Vietnam War.

Chief Justice Earl Warren was back in his usual place despite his announced intention to retire, since the Senate failed to confirm as Justice Abe Fortas, as his successor.

The customary brief opening-day session was expanded to allow arguments by supporters of third party presidential candidate George Wallace, who is trying to get his name on the November ballot in Ohio. Three hours were allotted for this plus a related case involving the Socialist Labor Party.

Then the nine justices go into private conferences either late today or Tuesday, to vote on the Wallace case and to take up the several hundred appeals which have come in during the long summer recess.

The justices also will review early in the term the recent action of Justice William O. Douglas in temporarily stopping the shipment to Vietnam of 256 men in five Army reserve units who are challenging the legality of their callup. Five other justices refused to grant a last-minute reprieve.

If Douglas cannot convince a majority that the men should stay in this country while the court hears their case, his orders will be cancelled. The reservists will still be able to appeal, but the Army can ship them out.

The suit attacked a 1966 statute which allows the President to order any reserve units to active duty for two years. The men argue that under earlier laws their contracts with the government contemplated active duty only in the event of a declared war or a declared national emergency. They lost in lower federal court.

Word as to the court's action on both the reservists' reprieve and the Wallace argument is expected very soon—probably Tuesday.

The Wallace group is attacking Ohio election law requirements which place independent candidates for president and vice president, nor do the voters have any opportunity to write in a name except when there is no regularly nominated candidate.

Says It Would Be Absurd

Thieu Decries Bombing End

By DANIEL SOUTHERLAND SAIGON (UPI)—President Nguyen Van Thieu said today it would be absurd for the United States to end all bombing of North Vietnam without a sign Hanoi would scale down its efforts on the battlefield in return.

The South Vietnamese president's remarks came in a State of the Union address in which he said "the most reasonable way to end this war is for both sides to scale down the level of hostilities."

Thieu said that to yield to Hanoi's demands that the bombing stop immediately to break the deadlock at the Paris talks was "absurd."

"By refusing to respond to our gesture of goodwill in deescalating the war, the Communists are obstructing the peace talks," Thieu said.

"We have taken the initial step to stop the bombing over most of North Vietnam. It is now up to Hanoi to let us know how the total cessation of bombing over the remaining part of North Vietnam will bring both sides closer to peace."

Thieu said North Vietnam has increased substantially "not only the infiltration of armed troops into South Vietnam, but also the flow of war materials into North Vietnam" during the partial bombing pause.

"If we completely stop the bombing over North Vietnam today, than ask Hanoi to do something for the restoration of peace in South Vietnam, Hanoi will tell us that to have peace we shall have to recognize its instrument, the so-called National Liberation Front (NFL)," he said.

"In fact," he said, "the basic issue is not the end of the bombing. The basic issue is the end of the war."

Thieu laid down his own conditions for peace: "The Hanoi regime has to acknowledge its aggression and accept an end to that aggression."

"Hanoi has to acknowledge that, in South Vietnam, our constitutional government, elected by the free choice of the people, is the only authentic representative of the people of South Vietnam; and it has to accept to enter into negotiations with the government of the Republic of Vietnam (South Vietnam) for the restoration of peace."

Woman 'Skyjacks' Airplane

MERIDA, Mexico (UPI)—Mrs. Judith Vazquez sat her daughter Sylvia, 12, next to her 2-month-old son Ernesto in the cabin seats just in back of the cockpit of the twin turbo-jet. Then she tied her pinned-up hair, walked into the cockpit, pulled out a pistol and carried out the year's 13th skyjacking to Communist Cuba.

There is a female passenger holding a gun on me at this instant, obliging me to change course to Havana," radioed pilot Capt. Ricardo Rerosa to Aeromaya Airlines headquarters here.

The Hawker-Siddeley plane carrying four crew members and 14 passengers, including three Americans, flew from its appointed rounds of tourist spots on the Yucatan coast to with the Vazquezes. It took two hours to reach Havana and Erosa said Mrs. Vazquez grew hysterical.

Erosa and copilot Manuel Gutierrez said the mother began weeping and screaming. "I would rather face a firing squad in Cuba than live in Mexico any longer. They'll kill me if I stay in Mexico," she said.

Erosa said she did not say who they were.

By the time the plane had almost spanned the Caribbean to Havana, Mrs. Vazquez collapsed. She handed the gun to Erosa. The pilot said his fuel supply was too low to return. He said he had to land in Cuba. The plane stayed in Havana only four hours, far shorter than most hijacked planes. It was possibly a bow of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's Communist government to Mexico, the only Latin American nation recognizing his regime.

Election-Minded Congressmen Seek Adjournment By Weekend

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Election-minded members of the 90th Congress are shooting for adjournment by the end of this week and a chance to return home for some intensive campaigning.

With the general election less than a month away, House members—all up for re-election—are anxious to wrap up several pending bills, and hopeful President Johnson would not submit another Supreme Court nomination that would again tie up the Senate.

Both Houses were meeting at noon EDT. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said during the weekend that Johnson had not contacted him about possible plans to name a successor to Chief Justice Earl Warren after withdrawing Abe Fortas's nomination last Wednesday.

But Mansfield said he believed it would be "very difficult" to win Senate confirmation of an alternate choice now, even if the man chosen were a senator. He said any move to win confirmation would face "nothing but obstacles" and bring on a parliamentary battle that would delay adjournment.

Should the President submit another nomination for Senate consideration, the House might vote to go home anyway regarding president nomination as strictly Senate business. The House held similar views on the prospects of Senate passage of the Nuclear Nonproliferation Treaty, the only other major obstacle to adjournment. Mansfield believes there are enough votes to win Senate approval, but that the problem of getting enough lawmakers to answer quorum calls could delay a final vote interminably.

Both Houses, meanwhile, moved fast toward adjournment. Scheduled for Senate approval today was the Health, Education and Welfare Department money bill, which the House surprisingly passed Thursday.

Your Horoscope JEANE BIXON

TUESDAY Your birthday today: This year promises to be lively one of social activity. Invitations and encouragement tend to guide you. While pursuing happiness, today's natives will actually be giving a year of service to their world.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): Your most certain source of support and guidance is your own diligent labor and deliberate thought. Advice from others is conflicting.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Persistence begins to produce results, but nothing for immediate boasting. While associates have not yet accepted your main ideas, there should be encouragement. Do something nice for loved ones in the evening.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Discretion is difficult all day, but you'll be glad you managed. Quietly attend to your personal affairs between other matters. Give your health thought. Put in time, improving your home.

CANCER (June 21-July 20): Another day for going it alone, doing things that require no collaboration with other people. Social activities create more stress than expected.

LEO (July 21-Aug. 23): You really ought to consider what your drive may be doing to your relationships. Find some better basis for reconciling conflict between personal obligations and your vocational progress.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 22): Just now seek the broader perspective (instead of focusing on immediate details). Nobody is going to be at ease all day. An impersonal approach from you may help somewhat.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23): Your inclination is to try to achieve beauty by spending cold cash. It doesn't work that way: you have to create it yourself. Be practical with the money (as opposed to the urgency of associates).

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21): Your ideas will take a little longer — This is not the day to press them. Conciliation now paves the way for more favorable relations later. Review accounts now.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your personal drive turns to be the significant factor in your success today. A very simple presentation of your plans gives people little to focus objections on. (Whatever you can do single-handed is fair game.)

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Concentrate on your own projects. As not many of the people around you offer much assistance. Provide diversion and a relaxing change of pace at night.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): For the time being, don't be so demanding. Give others, and yourself, time to reorganize a bit. Turn your attention to your belongings.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mr. 20): Focus your effort in the day on routine. The probability is that everybody is distracted now. Try to find light entertainment at night; take a break from the monotony.

Careful planning can reduce unnecessary trips to the food store and it can guard against impulse buying, both of which can add to the cost of your family's groceries. Shopping with another member of the family helps keep down impulse buying, too.

Tax Exemption On Gets Conference OK

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House-Senate conferees have approved continuing the federal tax exemption of municipal bonds to build industrial plants, and to raise the ceiling on issues from $1 million to $5 million.

Many cities and counties use the exemption to attract new industry. The Treasury Department had opposed the measure.

Suit Filed Over Plot Of Ground Near The Golden Gate Bridge

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Was Gen. John C. Fremont the rightful owner of Fort Mason, a choice hunk of real estate near where the Golden Gate Bridge now stands, or was he a squatter?

For the 26th time since 1863, the question as to who owns the 70-acre site has been taken into court.

The heirs of Fremont Thursday filed suit in federal court to reclaim the property which they contend was seized without payment by President Lincoln during the war between the states.

The government, however, argued—as they have in the past—that Fremont was, in effect, a squatter.

Recent announcement by the armed services that it was phasing out the fort touched off the latest suit. The military declared half of its excess property and turned it over to the General Services Administration for disposal.

The suit was filed on behalf of Jesse Benton Fremont and Juliette Hull of New York City and Valarie Larson of San Francisco, all descendants of "The Pathfinder."

Traffic Jams To One Day Be A Thing of Past

By PHILIP GARON
HOUSTON (UPI)—Traffic jams will be a thing of the past for the man of the future.

He will jet himself around the city with his personal rocket belt, the ultimate word in vertical and horizontal transportation in the year 2,000.

And if that rocket belt in every garage seems far-fetched, one has only to view some of the other displays at the "festival of the Future," a highly enlightening and often startling glimpse of things to come now on view at a Houston department store.

The 21st century executive will carry his entire office around in a James Bond-like attache case which is actually a portable electronic communications and computing center.

Built into the five-inch wide brief case is a TV screen, light storage fire, remote television camera and tripod, keyboard and telephone.

There's even a little storage space left over for futuristic aspirin to relieve 21st century-style headaches.

In the home of the future, predictably, the medium is the message.

A central computer will control an electronic complex of automatic lighting, entertainment equipment, appliances and communications gear—all in space no greater than that needed for today's portable radio.

On the air, Denise has a soft, wispy voice.

"It's a welcome change from the usual male tone which jams the airwaves," says Bob Farner, her high school speech teacher.

Her show runs from 4 p.m. until 8 p.m., and very little advertising is used during her program. Instead, teen-agers tune in for almost uninterrupted rock 'n' roll, punctuated with time notices and record identifications by Denise.

She chooses the records and the order in which they will be played.

HARRY S. WILBUR, SR. Panhandle Pioneer Banker Rites Set For Tomorrow

CANADIAN (Sp.) Funeral services for Harry S. Wilbur Sr., 81, who died Saturday night in St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo, will be at 3 p.m. Tuesday in the First Baptist Church here.

The Rev. Robert T. Noland will officiate, assisted by the Rev. Jack Pearce, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Perryton. Burial will be in Edith Ford Memorial Cemetery in Canadian, with arrangements by Stuckley Funeral Home.

Palbearers will be deacons of the First Baptist Church. Mr. Wilbur, one of the Panhandle's pioneer bankers, was born in Kansas and moved to Grady, Okla., in 1917. He was cashier and managing officer of a local bank before moving to Perryton in 1919 to become co-founder of the Bank of Perryton, which is now the Perryton National Bank.

He moved to Canadian in 1920 as cashier of the Southwest National Bank, and became president and executive officer when the bank merged with the First National Bank in 1939. Mr. Wilbur retired last March.

He was a member and past president of the Canadian Rotary Club, the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and the Panhandle Bankers Association. Mr. Wilbur was a past potentate of the Kliva Shrine Temple in Amarillo, and was a deacon in the First Baptist Church of Canadian.

Survivors include his wife, Pearl; sons, Harry S. Jr., of Canadian and Earl L. of Dalhart; a daughter, Mrs. Russell Carver of 9003 Erskine; a brother, Lee of Elkhart, Kan.; a sister, Mrs. Ruth Reynolds of Strathmore, Calif., and 5 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

15-Year-Old Is Disc Jockey On Dimmitt Station

By MIKE WESTER
DIMMITT, Tex. (UPI)—If Loy D. Stone gets tired of noises created by his teenage daughter, all he has to do is turn a switch—the switch on his radio.

Stone's 15-year-old daughter, Denise, is a disc jockey-engineer four hours a day at the local Dimmitt radio station. The high school sophomore narrates a show which spotlights teen-type music.

Believed to be the youngest girl in the state to have a first class commercial radio operator's license, Denise fits well into the program she hosts because "I like music and I like to talk."

Most disc jockeys have third class licenses, the bare minimum for broadcasters. But Denise's first class license allows her to operate the station single handedly, if necessary. She can also open up or close down by herself.

On the air, Denise has a soft, wispy voice.

"It's a welcome change from the usual male tone which jams the airwaves," says Bob Farner, her high school speech teacher.

Her show runs from 4 p.m. until 8 p.m., and very little advertising is used during her program. Instead, teen-agers tune in for almost uninterrupted rock 'n' roll, punctuated with time notices and record identifications by Denise.

She chooses the records and the order in which they will be played.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Only 64 days of the year do not have a legal holiday somewhere in the world. The World Almanac says July is the most crowded holiday month, having 29 days with observances. December has the fewest legal holidays with 21. No holiday enjoys universal legal recognition, but New Year's Day probably comes closest with 58 of 76 major nations celebrating the New Year on Jan. 1.

'69 Kingswood Estate 3-Seat Walk-In Wagon

Chevrolet introduces the walk-in wagon.

Here's a wagon that welcomes you in the back door without making you stoop over to keep from banging your head.

Now you simply walk up a step in the bumper and walk down a step inside. Then you simply turn around and sit right down. Don't worry. We've slanted the back-end to help avoid the roof from bumping your head.

Another thoughtful design is our dual-action tailgate. Its concealed door openers won't catch a sleeve like an outside handle.

And another: You can specify washers for the headlights.

Still another: Tri-Level loading in most wagons. Order a roof rack for carrying convenience on top, in addition to the load space you have inside and under the rear floor.

Our '69 wagons also are big on looks and performance. One quick example is the new 327-cubic-inch engine, standard in many models. It's the largest standard V8 in its field.

Look over both our wagon sizes, biggest and big. Even the names are new. All at your Chevrolet dealer's now.

Just walk in.

Putting you first, keeps us first.

Center Wrap-Up

George Smith, Director
Pampa Youth and Community Center

SWIM LESSONS — Parents who are interested in having their children learn to swim should investigate the Center swim program. Lessons are taught the year around and start with the very little beginner, called polywog, and goes through Water Safety Instructor.

Classes meet on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday during the school year and each session lasts for 2½ weeks or 10 meeting dates. All lessons are taught by Mrs. Jackie Marlar, Red Cross Water Safety Instructor. Lessons are always free to Center members and $4 to non-members. Memberships are always available. The schedule is:

Oct. 21-Nov. 6
4:00—Beginners.
5:00—Intermediates.
Nov. 11-27
4:00—Beginners.
5:00—Swimmers.
Dec. 2-18

WOMEN'S SWIM TIME — The Center offers a very special course for the women every Monday and Friday. This is the exercise class and free swim period just for the female. No males invited.

If you are interested in exercising, come at 9:30 a.m. If you want to swim, come at 10 a.m. You may participate in one or both activities. This class has grown to a very nice size and other women are invited to attend. Participation is by membership, either individual or family.

MEMBERSHIPS — The Center has two types of memberships that allow you to participate. One is the individual type for persons 8 years of age or older including adults. This membership sells for $5 for six months and $8 per year.

The other type of membership is the family one. This membership includes all members of the immediate family and sells for $12 for six months and $20 per year.

A noted advantage of a membership is that we allow you to take the swim lessons free of charge on a first-come-first-served basis. You get more than 10 times the cost of a membership back in the form of swim lessons. The only way that we can stay in business selling memberships so low in cost is by our wonderful business organizations' and individuals' donations. These donations supplement our program so that every Pampa can enjoy the Center's facilities.

JUDO CLASS — The Center was overwhelmed by the response to the new judo class. We now have over 75 enrolled in the course with more coming in each day. If you are interested in judo, you may still join the class. Participation starts on Monday and Thursday nights at 7:30. You should wear some old clothing to the first meetings until you become oriented.

This class is for men and boys who are 8 or older. Each person must be a member of the Youth Center to participate. The classes will be taught the year around. Sam and Paul Moot are conducting the course.

VOLLEYBALL RESULTS — Competition continued in the women and men's leagues this past week with all defending champions posting victories. La Bonita will be challenged this week by Yellow Cab in the women's league and Bell Pontiac will have stiff competition from Bob Branscum's Skelly Production team.

Results last week in the women's division found La Bonita over the coaches' wives, 17-0 and 11-1, while Yellow Cab bumped First National Bank, 15-4 and 15-4. Scores in the men's league found First Baptist Church over Furr's, 15-10 and 7-0; Skelly Production over Jaycees, 11-1 and 11-1, while Bell Pontiac tripped Skelly Oilers, 15-4 and 15-12.

5 Pampans Will Attend Cancer Meet

Five Pampans will represent the Gray County Unit of the American Cancer Society at the Twenty-Third Division Annual Meeting of the Society, October 9-10, at the Sheraton Dallas Hotel, Dallas.

Unit president Mrs. Maynard Johnson is the official delegate, while Mrs. Bob Andis is the other Gray County delegate. Mrs. Kermit Lawson, who is a district director of the state association, and Mrs. Jack Foster, a member of the state vice board, are also slated to attend the meeting, as is Mrs. Jim Terry, last year's house-to-house chairman.

Hanes H. Brindley, M.D., Temple, president elect of the Texas Division, said "The decisions made during the committee and leadership meetings will serve as a basis for enlarging the Society's programs for 1969-70."

The Pampa group will join more than 350 other Texas Delegates in eight hours of leadership and committee meetings. Delegates will also hear several prominent Texas physicians present four cancer cases. The cases will be typical of the various successful cancer treatment techniques now being used in the state.

Dr. Brindley, quoting from the soon to be released Texas Division Annual Report, said the Society now has over $1,154,000 invested in Texas research institutions, an increase of $170,000 over the previous fiscal year.

Democrats Set Headquarters Opening Thursday

Opening of Gray County Democratic headquarters has been set for 7:30 p.m. Thursday at 123 W. Kingsmill St., former location of the Courthouse Cafe.

Democratic candidates for office at the November election will attend the opening, headed by J.R. (Dick) Brown, of Hartley, candidate for Congress from the 18th District. Also in attendance will be J.D. Helms of Spearman, state committeeman, and Miss Claudia Brunjey of Amarillo, state committeewoman.

Wiley Reynolds, Gray County Democratic chairman, said Saturday all local candidates will attend the opening and extended an invitation to the public.

The county chairman added that the headquarters will be open daily except Sunday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Reynolds also called attention to the area-wide Democratic rally and barbecue to be held at 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 15 in the Pampa Youth and Community Center, 1005 W. Harvester St.

Top Democrats who will attend that affair include LT. Gov. Preston Smith, candidate for governor; Ben Barnes, candidate for lieutenant-governor; J.R. (Dick) Brown, candidate for Congress; Crawford Martin, candidate for attorney general, a spokesman for Amarillo's Hubert Humphrey headquarters and local Democratic office seekers.

Tickets for the rally and barbecue, Reynolds said, will be $5 each and can be obtained by calling Mrs. Jim Osborne at Mo 5-4537 or at Democratic headquarters, MO 4-3671.

Pampa Attorney John W. Warner will speak to Pack 22 Cub Scouts, sponsored by St. Paul Methodist Church, tonight at the church at 7:30.

The session will be a meeting for Cub Scouts and their parents and parents interested in getting their children into the Pack.

Warner will speak on the subject, "You, Your Boy, and Scouting."

Warner is district commissioner of the Santa Fe District, Adobe Walls Council, Boy Scouts of America.

BIRDSEED
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI)—California plans to tax birdwatchers.

Norman Livermore, resources secretary, said Thursday a bill will be drafted to charge birdwatchers a "user fee" at state-wildlife areas.

"They gather with the sportsmen at the checking station—the sportsmen take off to the shooting grounds and the birdwatchers to the sanctuary area," Livermore said. He said hunters complain that they pay the cost of keeping up the areas and birdwatchers pay nothing.

For Best In Typewriters At Lowest Price, See Jerry Perry

For 20 years, Jerry Perry paid high rent, hiring bookkeepers, salesmen and engaged in all the other ordinary necessities for operating a business. Jerry did not get the satisfaction however, of being able to sell typewriters and adding machines for enough less than ordinary list prices which he would have liked to have done.

In April, 1967, Jerry moved to 940 S. Hobart where he converted a rickety garage into a complete compact, sales and service store. Jerry does all his own sales, service, and book-keeping. Having no rent to pay and combining his purchases with the purchases of one of Oklahoma City's largest dealers he obtains his machines for less money per unit than any other typewriter dealer in the Texas Panhandle. This adds up to being able to sell machines for less than all his local competition combined.

With inflation what it is, people like to buy the most they can get for the least money and they like to know they can return a machine for service should any be needed. This, says Jerry, sells typewriters for less. All Pampa school students should remember, you can rent or purchase the machine you need at an all-time low, low price at Jerry Perry Typewriter Co., 940 S. Hobart.

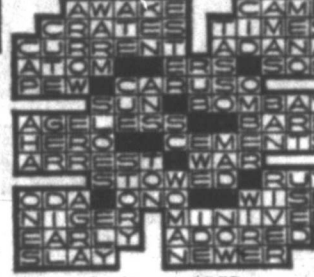

COMPLETE, COMPACT — Sales and service for typewriters and adding machines is a specialty of Jerry Perry Typewriter Co., 940 S. Hobart. Jerry invites everyone in today for help on their office equipment needs.

Contractor Asks Paving Extension

City commissioners will be asked at their Tuesday meeting to consider a recommendation that an extension of time be granted to the contractor for completion of the city's 1968 street paving program. Rainy weather and other factors have caused the street improvement program to fall behind scheduled completion dates, it was stated. The consulting engineer also will submit a recommendation concerning the second monthly estimate for work completed on Division 2 of the street improvement program. Other business on the Tuesday commission agenda released Saturday by City Manager Charles Hill will include payment of monthly bills.

Fire Prevention Week Will Be Observed Here

Today through Saturday has been designated as national Fire Prevention Week and plans have been made locally for the occasion. Open house at the fire station, poster distribution and public school programs are planned.

Fire sirens will be sounded at noon each day of this week to remind citizens of the importance of fire prevention.

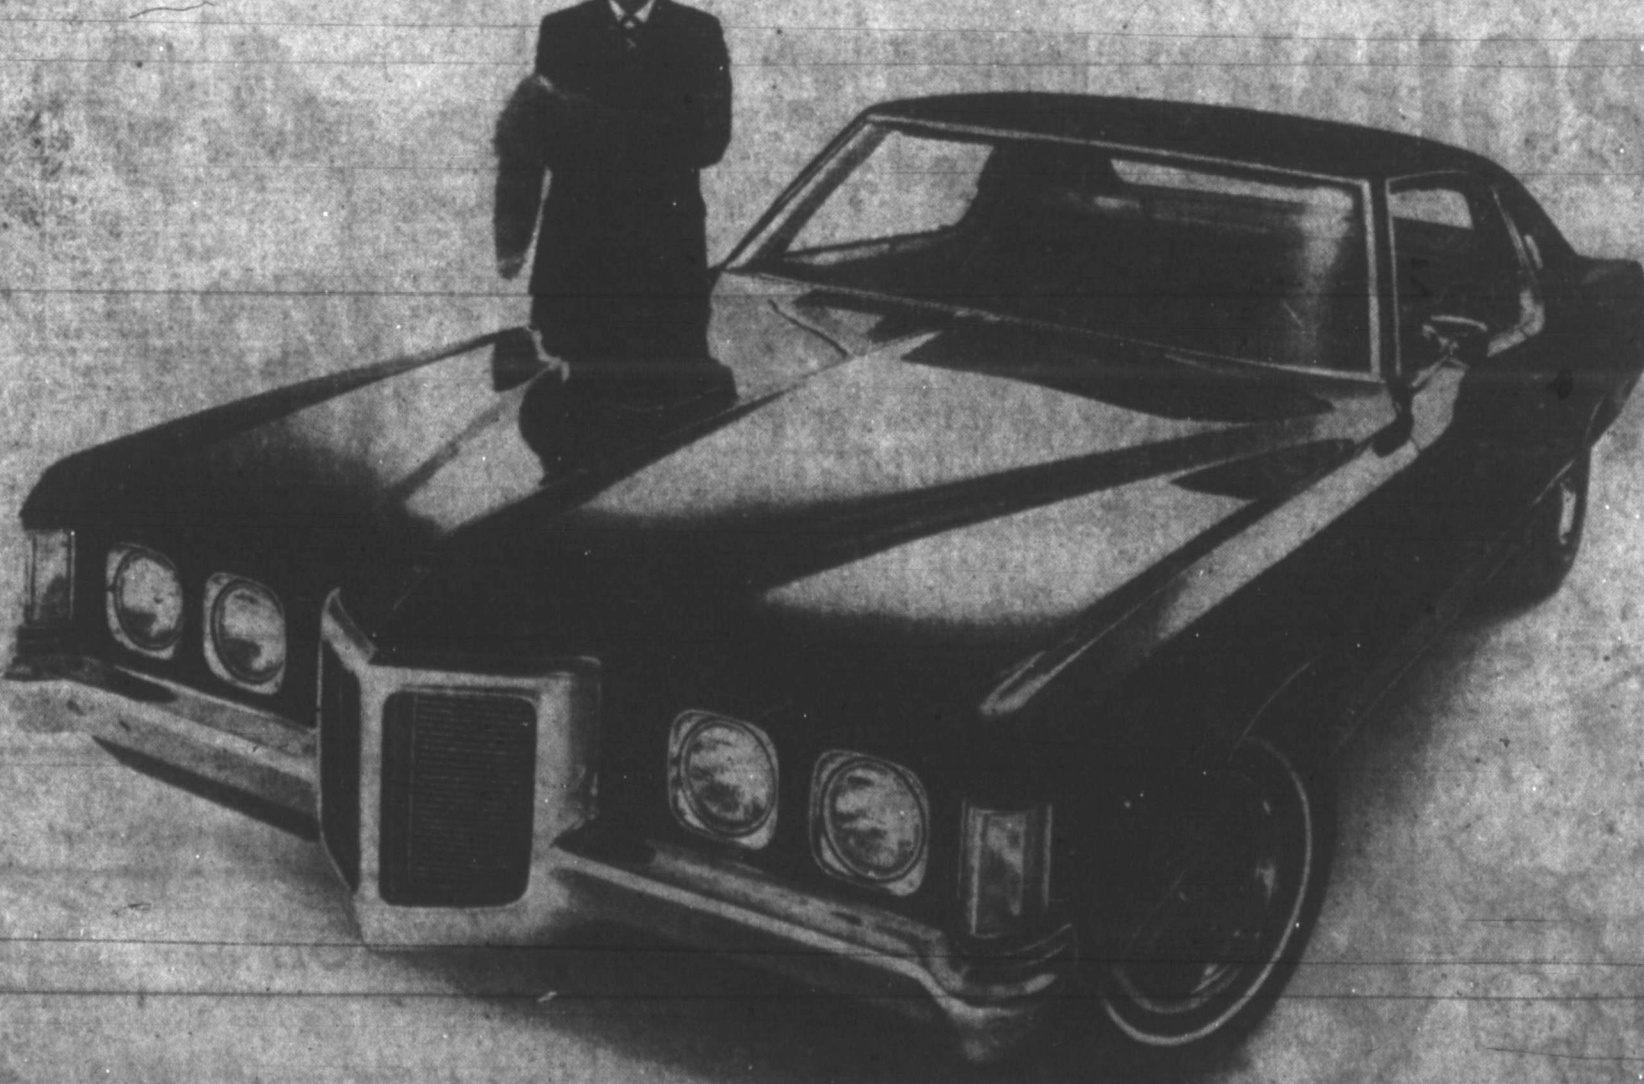

Fire Chief F. E. Dyer urged all citizens to join in the observance, emphasizing the saving of life, property and money through fire prevention measures.

In 1960, 61 persons were killed when an Eastern Airlines Electra crashed into Boston Harbor.

California Man Discovers Way to Hold False Teeth

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. — A new discovery called Acryline is big news. Users say it fits plates so beautifully they can't believe it. Acryline uses a startling new vacuum principle. It flows on plates and forms an air tight seal. Users say this feels like natural teeth. This wonderful feeling lasts six months before a new application is necessary. Acryline is available at Gibson Stores.

Just when everyone found our windshield wipers, we hid our radio antenna.

It's all part of a plot to keep Pontiac miles ahead of the usual, humdrum four-wheelers. And judging from this year's Grand Prix, the coup is complete. Because if you think a radio antenna in the windshield is something, the cockpit is something else. This layout could win the space race on its own. Every single control, gauge and rocker switch faces the driver. Even the traditional glove box was moved to the padded console between G.P.'s Morrokide-covered, Strato-bucket front seats.

Now, if that cockpit suggests to you that Grand Prix was designed for two-listed driving men, plant one gold star squarely in the middle of your brow. You see, it's a genuine Wide-Track. On an exclusive, 118-inch wheelbase. With G78-14 boots. (Mag-type, steel Rally II wheels, if you so specify.) Engines range from the standard 350-hp, 400-cube V-8 up to 370- and 390-hp versions of our 428 V-8 which you can order. (Specify the "SF" package and the 370-hp version is included.) Transmissions from the standard, fully synchronized 3-speed to a close-ratio 4-speed or a 3-speed Turbo Hydra-matic (automatic or manual shifting) which you can order. See what we mean about our engineers? Relentless. Unmerciful toward competitors. Pontiac offers the only Break Away car for '69.

DETROIT (UPI)—Bob Gibson and Lou Brock shared the World Series pedestal for heroes today and if Nelson Briles can wrap up the title for the St. Louis Cardinals against the Detroit Tigers they may have to move over.

in the record book, but with the Cards holding a 3-1 advantage in victories in this best of seven series, he could pitch his club to a second straight world championship and that would be glory enough.

Briles will be facing the same left-handed foe, Mickey Lolich, who outpitched him in St. Louis last Thursday, and hurled the now gasping Tigers to their only victory so far in the series.

But unless the Cardinals get a little psyched by Lolich, their booming bats could be enough to get Briles off in front. The memory of last year, when the Cards built a 3-1 edge over the Boston Red Sox and then went on to win, also could lift the club.

Forced to Seven Games
 A year ago the Red Sox scored victories in both the fifth and sixth games to tie the series and force the Cards to go seven games before wrapping it up.

It wasn't merely a beating that Gibson and Brock helped improved somewhat and both teams stayed on the field to the finish.

Gibson, though he had to spend an hour and 28 minutes between pitches during the delay, seemed to lose little effectiveness, although he wasn't as sharp as he was in the series opener when he struck out 17 batters for a series record.

Most Everything
 He added to his records Sunday, becoming the second most successful pitcher in series history with a 7-1 record, surpassed only by Lefty Gomez, 6-0. He set records for seven straight wins and seven complete game victories.

He struck out 10 batters to become the first pitcher ever to reach or exceed that total in five series games, and he boosted his total series strikeouts to 84, 10 shy of Whitey Ford's record for 146 innings compared to 72 for Gibson.

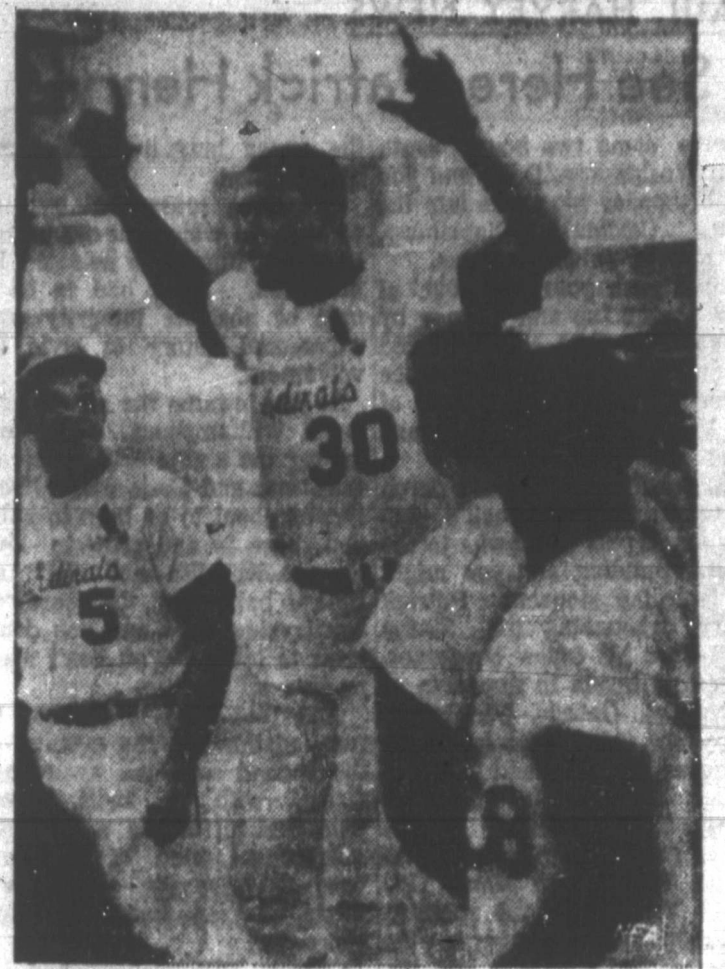

Gibson also homered to become the first pitcher ever to hit two series home runs.

Brock wasn't reading a book, either. He hit a leadoff home run in the first inning, tripled and scored in the fourth, and then slammed a double over centerfielder Jim Northrup's head with the bases full, driving in three runs in the eighth.

Then he piled on a bit of insult, stealing third base to tie his own one-year-old series record of seven thefts in one series and also to equal the series career mark of 14 by Eddie Collins, who was in the World Series eight times compared to three for Brock.

Gibson allowed only five hits, with Detroit's only run coming on Northrup's homer. And if Briles doesn't do the job today, or Ray Washburn on Wednesday should the series go that far, then Gibson will be back for another record try Thursday, when he becomes the seventh game will be played.

CHA-CHA HAPPINESS—Cardinal first baseman Orlando Cepeda raises his arms in a pose of joy after another St. Louis triumph. Cepeda, a Puerto Rican, is called Cha-Cha. He also coined the phrase, "El Birdo."

Tech Eyes Old Rival T. Aggies

By United Press International
 Texas Tech, ever-mindful of the final seconds loss that propelled the Texas Aggies' drive to the Southwest Conference championship a year ago, carry a meaningful challenge to the Aggie heartland in this week's feature football fare.

Tech and Arkansas both defend their tentative 1-0 conference leadership this week, but while the Razorbacks apparently will have a comparatively easy time doing so, Tech will have its work cut out for it.

While Tech is visiting College Station for a night showdown with the Aggies, Arkansas will host winless Baylor in an afternoon clash at Fayetteville, surprising Southern Methodist takes its "Excitement '68" campaign to Fort Worth at night against dangerous Texas Christian and Texas stages its annual swatfest with Oklahoma in Dallas. Rice will be idle.

Record Not Good
 The Aggies went into the Tech game last year with a dismal 0-4 record that included a 20-17 conference loss to SMU while Tech was 2-1, including a 19-13 upset of highly ranked Texas.

Tech, which eventually was to finish in second place with a 5-2 league record, scored with 53 seconds left to take a 24-21 lead and apparent victory. But, the Aggies smashed back and Edd Hargett twisted and fought his way 15 yards to score with just 3 seconds remaining to give A&M a 28-24 victory.

The Aggies went on to sweep their remaining games and take the title. Tech stumbled once more, 16-0 to TCU, and was No. 2.

Tech already has another upset of Texas, 31-22, behind it to go with a 10-10 tie against Cincinnati and last Saturday's 43-13 rout of Colorado State. The Aggies have not played a league rival as yet, but last week's 20-14 loss to Florida State

Giants Roll Again

By United Press International
 Allie Sherman can hardly be blamed for rapping the edge of his dressing room desk when the health of quarterback Fran Tarkenton is discussed.

The New York Giants coach is only following a popular superstition. Thanking the fates for each time Tarkenton, the spark of the Giants explosive offense, gets to his feet after being dumped by some massive lineman.

Sherman made sure to rap his desk again Sunday when a reporter asked about a strained back muscle suffered by Tarkenton shortly before halftime in the Giants 38-21 victory over the New Orleans Saints.

"It's nothing serious," said Sherman while going through his desk-knocking ritual. "He's a little sore right now, but that shouldn't last long."

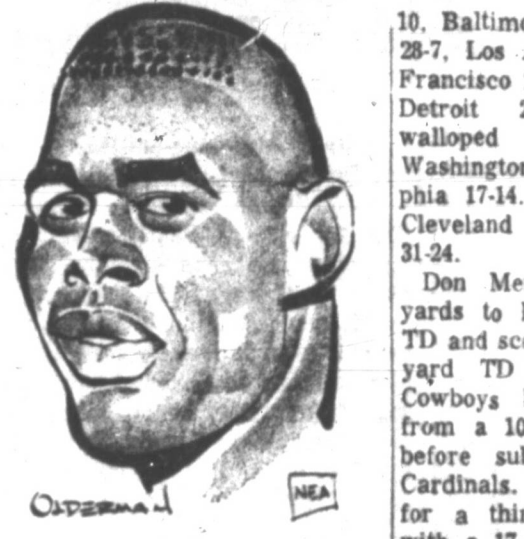

Sherman had good reason to

In other NFL games, the Cowboys kept pace with New York by defeating St. Louis 27-

Don Meredith passed seven yards to Don Perkins for one TD and scored another on a two yard TD pass. John Mackey Cowboys had to break away from a 10-10 third quarter tie before subduing the stubborn Cardinals. Les Shy accounted for a third Dallas touchdown with a 17-yard run while Mike Clark contributed to the Cowboys attack with field goal kicks of 14 and 50 yards.

Earl Morrall continued his superb performance in place of the ailing Johnny Unitas as he connected on four long touchdown passes.

Lolich Will Have To Be Detroit's New Series Hero

DETROIT (UPI)—A St. Louis scout said before the World Series that Mickey Lolich would be the pitching hero for Detroit—if the Tigers had one.

For that to happen now, Lolich would have to hurl the next three games.

"It looks like it's up to me," the Tigers' left-hander said as he watched on television while the Cardinals were demolishing his teammates 10-1 on the field.

But the unflappable Lolich returned to a more characteristic tone of voice to add in a more chipper manner: "It looks bad, doesn't it?"

It certainly does. Detroit trails 3-1 in games and the last time a club came back from that kind of long odds to win, it was the New York Yankees of 10 years ago.

Oakland Continues Road To Glory With Victory

By United Press International
 The Oakland Raiders and Houston Oilers started moving in different directions last Dec. 31 and they haven't stopped since.

Oakland beat the Oilers 40-7 that day for the American Football League championship and earned a trip to Miami, where the Raiders lost to Green Bay in the Super Bowl.

Apparently pleased with the extra money and glory that came their way, the Raiders are bent on a second helping. They routed the Boston Patriots 41-10 Sunday to stand as the only unbeaten team left in the to overcome a 10-7 halftime deficit and continue on for their 14th consecutive regular season triumph. Oakland can equal the league record set by San Diego in 1960-61 when it plays to the Chargers next Sunday.

Miami capitalized on a pair of Houston fumbles to win for the first time after three losses. Safety Willie West ran 10 yards for the first score after taking a lateral from John Bramlett, who had picked up a loose ball at the Oiler 20, and Jim Griese hit Karl Noonan on a 50-yard touchdown pass in the third period just after Jim Riley recovered a fumble.

his back flat against the clubhouse wall.

He tried to make light talk but it didn't quite come off.

"It's the worst World Series I've ever played in," said the puckish, 24-year-old pitching ace of the Tigers' staff.

Answers All Questions
 There was an awkward silence for maybe a moment or two and then came the questions. McLain made a masterful attempt to answer every last one.

"No," he said reflectively, "I wouldn't call what happened to me a humiliation. There are a few guys who lost two games before. Didn't Koufax? And how about Whitey Ford?"

Sandy Koufax did lose two games but not in the same World Series. McLain was right about Ford, though. The former Yankee lefty dropped two series games to Koufax in 1963.

"Is your shoulder hurting?" They asked McLain.

"Yes," he said, simply.

"How much?"

"Enough," he answered.

"Did it hurt you going in today?"

"Yes."

"Have you been getting treatment for it the past three days?"

"Yes. I hurt it again in Baltimore before the end of the season."

"Are you going to the doctor again for it tomorrow morning?"

"Yes," said McLain. "I've been taking X-ray treatments for it. I've had my limit of that."

Keyes, O.J. Praised

By United Press International
 Ask a man who knows, and he'll tell you that it's a tough choice between Leroy Keyes and O. J. Simpson.

Coch Alex Agase has now seen both men in action against his Northwestern team on successive Saturdays.

"Of course," he says, "I'd like to have both of them," but in a more realistic vein Agase would have a hard time picking one over the other.

"O. J. is a more dangerous runner but Keyes is more versatile and can do more things," the coach said.

Reeves Lost To Dallas For Season

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Mike Clark's kicking and the Dallas Cowboys' rushing strength in depth got the credit today for lifting the Cowboys out of the mid-game doldrums to a 27-10 defeat of the St. Louis Cardinals.

The team seemed to let down some after we lost Danny Reeves in the first period, coach Tom Landry said in review of the game which saw the Cowboys build a 10-0 lead, then let the Cards catch up.

Then Clark kicked a 50-yard field goal to shove Dallas out front 13-10 and from then on the Cowboys took charge.

"Mike's field goal certainly helped a great deal," Landry said. "I thought Clark and (Les) Shy were our strong points."

Syracuse toppled the fourth-ranked Bruins as it limited them to one touchdown while grinding out 256 yards rushing.

Jayhawk Roll
 Kansas, ranked No. 5, had a field day at the expense of New Mexico as it rolled for 541 yards. Jayhawk quarterback Bobby Douglass passed for two TDs and ran for two more.

No. 7, Ohio State rallied for two TDs in the second half as the Buckeye defense carried the burden for the first two quarters when it scored on a blocked punt and held Oregon to six points.

Eighth-rated Notre Dame had little trouble with Iowa as Terry Hanratty passed for two scores and ran for another. The Irish offense went for 587 yards.

LSU's Maurice LeBlanc and Jim West rambled for two touchdowns apiece as the ninth-ranked Tigers battered Baylor with their relentless running attack.

Tenth-rated Florida unleashed halfback Tommy Christian for touchdown runs of 58 and 51 yards and tallied 21 points in the first quarter to put down a stubborn Mississippi State team.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Tale of Two Cities

By all odds the two most publicized cities in our country are Washington, D.C., and New York City. Washington is forever making news, and unless you read the trade journals you may have missed one news-worthy story. It has mounted a nationwide promotion campaign to attract tourists to the city for the fall season. Massive TV and radio spot announcements, press releases and newspaper advertising are being undertaken. It seems that Washington lost $40,000,000 in tourist business during the riots last April and May.

$3,472 a year. And if the children are older, the gross payments can range as high as $4,144.

But that's only the first part of the problem. Any fool can see that an unskilled worker is a candidate to have his head examined if he chooses to work. And there are a lot of people in New York City who can recognize the difference between $3,328 earned and $3,472 handed over on a platter. However, welfare recipients aren't happy. They want more. The New York Times front-paged a picture story of a welfare office in shambles this way: "A group of about 75 welfare recipients rampaged through three Brooklyn welfare centers yesterday, over-turning furniture and barring about 600 caseworkers from the centers. The protesters, mostly women, ripped telephones from walls, scattered papers and threw desks into the middle of the intake room which are in the same building in downtown Brooklyn. There were no arrests in the day-long protest. Policemen who watched some of the destruction said they were helpless without a formal complaint from a welfare official."

You can see why President Johnson chose Mayor Lindsay to help with his riot commission study, can't you?

Higher Auto Prices

President Johnson again has demonstrated that whatever industry does is wrong in his eyes. Latest illustration was when Mr. Johnson attacked with great vigor the announcement by Chrysler Motor Co. of plans to increase prices of its new automobiles.

Mr. Johnson said the increase was "not in the national interest," and from there he went on to say it was a "dangerous inflationary threat" and an "onerous and unfair burden on the consumer."

As we pointed out when the President attacked plans for steel price increases, no such objections were voiced at increased wages which were gained by unions, and Mr. Johnson certainly has demonstrated little willingness to halt government spending and thus attack the principal cause of inflation. But the instant an industry seeks to keep pace with its higher costs and inflation, it is pumpeled on by the administration.

It is estimated that the higher prices and increases in accessories and limitations in its warranty policy will amount to 3 to 4 per cent rise in Chrysler prices. Since prices in general have gone up 4.3 per cent during the past year and since they recently have been rising at an annual rate of 6 per cent, the claim that a 3 to 4 per cent rise in auto prices is "dangerously inflationary" hardly seems to be well taken.

The Labor Department says average hourly wages in the auto industry rose more than 7 per cent in the past year, and on a weekly basis, including overtime pay, the salaries jumped about 20 per cent.

Whether the price increases are justified, we do not know. The consumer is the one who should make the determination of whether the price is "justified" by buying or not buying the auto.

But some folks are wondering how Mr. Johnson can consider a 4 per cent rise in prices to be inflationary in view of the fact that the federal government just boosted taxes by 10 per cent and first-class postage rates by 20 per cent.

Amish Harassed Again

In the past two or three years some fathers in Independence and Hazleton, Iowa, and Hutchinson, Kan., tried to keep the state from seizing their children and forcing them to attend state approved schools. Although they were not against education, they felt that their children should be educated in Amish ways that harmed no one. They were hauled in court and lost.

Living with slowness of pace, simplicity, shunning automobiles in favor of horse-drawn buggies, wearing bonnets and plain clothes, might be, in hippie terminology, "doing their thing." All they want is to be left alone with their old ways.

But their slow ways are not attuned to the speed-mad ways of others. And, according to an editorial in the Danville (Ohio) Commercial News, two Amish youths in Middlefield, O., were cited by police for "drag racing," their buggies at 35 mph (the speed limit for horse-drawn vehicles being 7 mph). The 17-year-old was charged with reckless driving of his buggy in an accident in which he struck a motorcycle.

The Commercial News puckishly added "These Amish kids are letting horse power go to their heads."

Speedy Mail....At A Profit

After one good year which added almost $10 million in the black, postal authorities are anticipating an even better show during the next 12 months with the books expected to balance out $15 million ahead.

At present, 92 per cent of the mail reaches its destination the day after posting but the mailmen think they can do even better. A new rapid-delivery system beginning Sept. 16 should assure delivery of most first-class mail in less than 24 hours. Mailcations in the U.S.

Post Office Department? No, simply the current state of the service in Britain, where couriers not only actually complete their rounds swiftly but manage to turn a tidy profit to boot.

The Majority Has Had Enough

While it was obvious six months ago that a section of the U. S. public was deeply unhappy with the course the country was taking, few people, if any, had any idea of the depth of the protest against "liberal" permissiveness that lay under the surface of the national life.

Now, only a few weeks before the presidential election, the protest against defeatism abroad and lawlessness at home has become a tidal wave. Vice President Humphrey's campaign has an air of futility about it, and the only hope of the "liberals" is that conservative vote will be so split that the Great Society forces will squeak through to victory.

Whatever the final decision of conservatives, it now is clear that a fundamental change has taken place in American politics. For years the "forgotten men" in American life were the white collar and blue collar citizens who paid their taxes and supported the welfare handouts with their hard-earned dollars. The dominant left-of-center intelligentsia ignored the needs and scorned the beliefs of the great middle class—the vast majority in the United States—and catered to the demands of a minority. The national news media, such as the television networks and news magazines, propagandized in favor of legislation repugnant to the majority. It built up public figures into virtual saints—figures who had a dream of America that was not the dream of the great majority.

At last, however, the majority has found its voice. The majority has learned that it can assert itself independently and politically despite the thought orientation techniques of the television networks and the stunted news coverage of the news magazines. Even some of the media people, such as "liberal" columnist Joseph Kraft, have acknowledged that the national commentators have lost contact with the average American and are uninterested in the average American.

Ironically, it was the left-wing—the people who were supporting Sen. Eugene McCarthy and the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy—who called for "participatory politics" in the United States, meaning the politics of personal involvement and grassroots action. "Participatory politics" has caught on in this election, but not the way the leftists intended. Instead, there has been a profound grassroots uprising among the "average" Americans scorned by those who want to turn this nation into radical paths.

The unmistakable truth is that the vast majority of Americans have had their fill of strife and disorder, defeat and anarchy. They are sick at heart because American lives have been wasted in a war that the Johnson, Humphrey administration has conducted, as Sen. Strom Thurmond has said, on a "no-win" basis.

For several years, Americans have sat before their television sets and seen rioters burn down entire sections of American cities. They have seen Black Power interviewed on TV and impudently state that they want to put America to the torch.

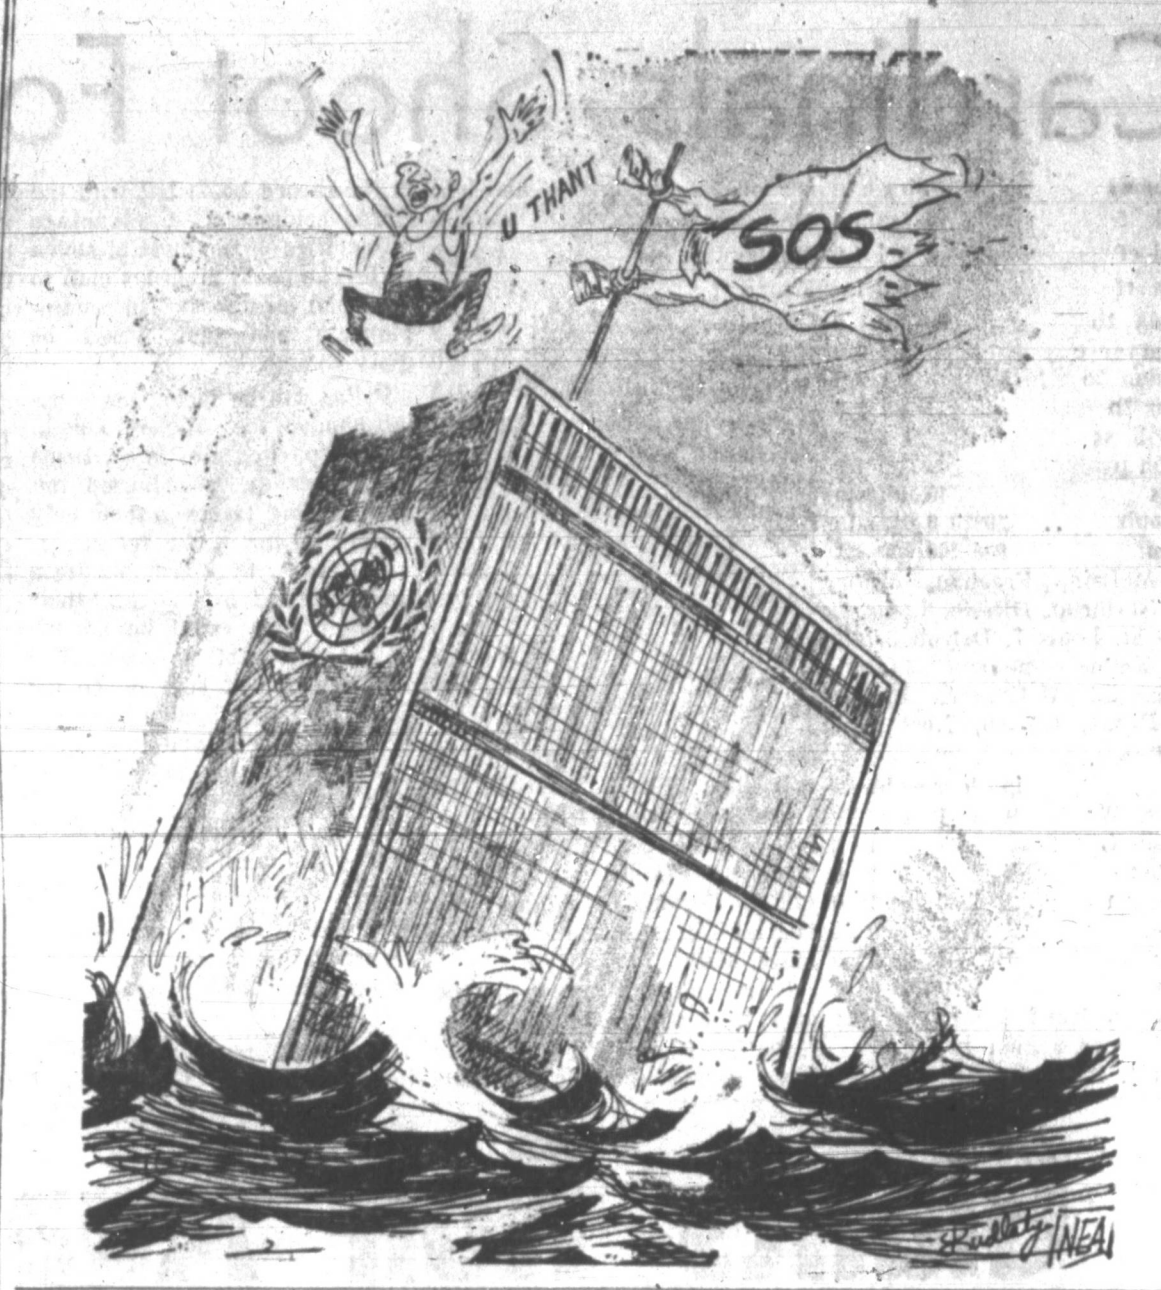

Americans have read about the hordes of anarchists who stormed the Pentagon a year ago and who later occupied academic buildings at Columbia University and reduced that institution to an organizational shambles.

In recent days, Americans have learned about the riotous conduct of relief recipients in New York City who broke up welfare centers, destroyed public records because they weren't getting all the financial aid they demanded.

Good Americans, who go to work each day, have seen the Great Society pour billions of dollars into anti-poverty schemes, subsidizing idlers and worse. They have taken note of dozens of outrageous programs and schemes, such as using tax funds to hire lawyers for Job Corps enrollees who get in trouble with the law.

Yes, the majority of Americans have had their fill. They know what to do, and unquestionably they will do it when they go into the polling places in November. They know that the country needs an administration that will systematically dismantle the edifice of special privilege that the Kennedy and Johnson administrations built to house all those who want to sponge off their fellow-citizens or abuse the country that gives them freedom.

For almost eight years the United States has travelled the wrong road, and the American people have suffered cruelly. But there is light at the end of the road. The return of orderly rational government now is in sight.

City's Anti-Glue-Sniffing Ordinance is Successful

A distraught mother writes that her son, 13, has been sniffing glue and she wants to know what harmful effects could occur. Inhaling the plastic cement used to make model airplanes leads to chronic poisoning of the liver, heart, kidney, bone marrow and brain. A real jag may cause loss of consciousness. Most youngsters will stop this dangerous habit when the dangers are explained to them in an unemotional manner and not as a sermon on juvenile delinquency.

Several years ago the city of Waukegan, Ill., considered whether or not to pass an ordinance against glue sniffing. Some feared that such an act might call attention to this practice and aggravate the problem. The ordinance was passed, however, and the results have been excellent.

The law does not limit the amount of glue a merchant may sell so long as the buyer signs a register. Every month the police check the registers. If a boy is found to be buying many tubes in different stores, this is taken as prima-facie evidence that he is a glue sniffer and the case is further investigated. Very few cases are being discovered.

One merchant reported to the police that a boy tried to buy more than a dozen tubes but that he refused to sell them. The law neither required him to refuse to sell nor to report the incident to the police but this kind of public-spirited co-operation has helped to solve the problem in Waukegan.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION—Can there be any real and true value of goods and services and ideas established when all persons, over the world, are interfered with in competing in all exchanges of ideas and producing of wealth?

ANSWER: Value is established by free and willing exchange among all people. The true value of any good, service, or idea is in what other people are willing to offer in exchange for it. It is entirely subjective to all individuals, will vary from individual to individual and for the same individual from time to time. When an offer to buy matches an offer to sell, the value has been established for that commodity at that time and place, and an exchange will take place, and where both parties to the exchange have profited, or they would not make the exchange.

When there is interference such as import quotas and tariffs, in the flow of offers to sell and buy, an artificial value is set because it must include a reckoning for the quota or the tariff, which in no way adds to the desirability of the exchange, and some bids to buy and offers to sell are prevented from being made at all.

When people are prevented from making an exchange, it is obvious that they are harmed. What is not so obvious is that everyone else is harmed too since setting a true value has been interfered with and everyone else pays the inflated value.

Of course, there cannot be maximum development of ideas without freedom of speech and freedom of the press. And since ideas must come before production, i.e., someone must think of a product, such as a washing machine or an airplane, before it can be built, anything that interferes with exchange and further development of ideas will limit the benefits for all which come from ideas.

Intellectually, culturally, morally and spiritually, all people are impoverished when the exchange of ideas is interfered with. Access to ideas of all kinds and full development and testing of ideas in these areas is necessary for the enrichment of life.

There can be no true value established unless there is complete freedom from interference in all voluntary exchanges among all people in ideas and the production of wealth.

During the "water meetings" when citizens met to make recommendations, it was said it would cost about a million and one-half dollars to get Lake Meredith water ready to use. It seems a figure to get larger lines from the ample supply that we have from the Ogallala underground would cost over two million.

It was the opinion of some that this was "eye-wash." The twelve million dollars already committed to the dam was not mentioned.

It may be asserted that the Meredith water, being well over 30 miles away, can never serve Pampa.

As bad as the Meredith water is, of course some great disaster of nature could cut off the ground water. If it leaves the lake water intact, we could of course put up with the taste. There seems little use in continuing to sell the lake water for 4 cents per thousand, when it costs much more.

To spend what is necessary to get larger water lines from our ample supply, to sink more wells, when we have enough water to last hundreds of years, seems like a good idea. But to continue to get nothing from Lake Meredith seems futile.

Any filter plant built to refine lake water should be declared for use of industry only. Better to sell it to some industries at 4 cents per thousand, than to Lubbock. Large industries might be impelled to come to Pampa, if we have such a prospect, and we know Lubbock is NOT coming to Pampa at all.

Drive some two hours south from Washington, D.C., and you can disappear 200 years into the past. Colonial Williamsburg, Va. now is as it then was.

You'll park your car out of sight by the Inn and journey by carriage or afoot along cobbled streets to the grand Palace where the British governors of the Virginia Colony lived and ruled and entertained.

Sit quietly on the vast porch of Christiana Campbell's and look out across the lawns to the Capitol Building and you might yet hear the eloquent Patrick Henry denouncing the Stamp Act before his fellow burgesses.

Then go inside to the table at which Col. George Washington and young Tom Jefferson worried over pig roast and pumpkin fritters about the increasing tyranny of the Crown.

Then follow their footsteps toward William and Mary College. You'll pass the apothecary shop and the bakery, the shops of the gunsmith and the harnessmaker, the cabinetmaker and the wigmaker, the printer, the bootmaker and candle-dipper — with artisans dressed in the fashion of 1770, and each shop open and displaying the same handcrafts produced with the same tools as were used then.

If two centuries seem long from where you now sit, it seems not long at all in Williamsburg. Just three reasonably extended lifetimes ago young George Washington rode out to Carters Grove plantation nervously to propose marriage — and was turned down.

He, after all, was a working man. In families of many children the perpetuation of influence required that estates be increased, not divided, by marriage.

There is no record of whether the young lady lived to regret her decision.

You'll be reassured by the scrutiny to which the governing House of Burgesses selected its members. Each had to be a man of absolute integrity with a personal history of civic involvement.

As you breathe the air of colonial Williamsburg, 115 1/2 among the sights and sounds of that time and place where liberty was about to be born in pain, you share in and grow to love the gracious life and the gay Palace balls and the carefree countryside rides and you don't want to leave. You don't want to give all this up.

And then—and it happens to most visitors on the evening of the second day—the awareness strikes with a swift, sharp pain that all this is what these magnificent men of Williamsburg did give up — that we might be free from a foreign oppressor.

Colonel Williamsburg and its historic public buildings and private homes and craft shops have been preserved or restored under a grant provided by John D. Rockefeller Jr. in 1926. For the remaining 30 years of his life he gave this project his personal attention. The serenity and character of the houses and gardens have survived the installation of the hotels, conference center and adjacent golf courts.

Nowhere more than here have I felt the past brought to life. And from that experience in the then and there I return to the here and now with renewed reverence for our republic which cost so many so much and a renewed determination to help seek and find and elect custodians competent to keep it safe from all enemies, foreign and domestic.

Cannel At Bay

Only the iggle-eyed Unerstan NEW YORK (NEA) —As we understand it, the human condition is basically a problem in communications.

Whatever diplomacy, education, marriage, child-rearing and genetics used to be in the ignorant past, modern science has discovered that they are all fundamentally information-mechanisms. And any crisis that cannot be attributed to deprivation or eastern interests turns out to be a communication breakdown.

The theory seems to be that if you can just open the lines and make yourself clearly understood, then harmony and co-operation will surely follow.

But somehow it doesn't seem to work out that way in real life. In Prague, for example, Czech leaders have been summoned to yet another conference at the Kremlin.

In Paris, U. S. diplomats are still discussing a truce with the North Vietnamese.

In Rome, the Israelis are trying once more to talk about peace with the Arabs.

In New York, the teachers and Board of Education are communicating again this year about opening the public schools. And the Students for a Democratic Society are once more explaining clearly to university officials why Columbia should be closed.

Why all this difficulty in human relations persists is almost impossible to understand, especially when the problem itself is so easily seen.

The only reason we can figure out is that communication may be too hard for humans to accomplish.

To begin with, there is frequently a language barrier which must be overcome through the use of interpreters.

At least half of the trouble at the Paris peace talks is that Ho Chi Minh learned to speak French in Hanoi. And, conversely, the other half of the trouble is that Averell Harriman learned to speak English at Yale.

But even without that obstacle it seems to us that there is difficulty in communicating when the entire transaction is carried on in English.

Right at the outset there are the Preliminary Communications about the time and place of the final communication. Is it, for example, to be in Yurp or in the U.S.? Nifso, when? Minny a communication has been roont because Chewly thought it was called for lemon o'clock Washington time and Turmie thought it was for lebm London time.

And finey, at the hort of the problem, is the topic itself. Unless the parties agree beforehand on the exact boundaries of discussion, their communication will prolly be quite sturl.

For all of the marden means of communication and iggle-eyed specialists who make everything crystal clear, a lot of time and effort could be saved if people just stayed home and talked to themselves in the Mirror.

True enough, the wife might find it a bore. But whatever the discomfort fuh huh, the world would be spared a great deal of hosale bother.

There was a time, and not so long ago, when people gave a lot of thought and energy to not being explicit or communicating everything they knew. And the world wasn't much worse for it.

As we recall those days, the only time real trouble began was when you knew exactly what the other fellow had in mind.

Wallace is running a full head of steam and it is activating the pop-off valves of Humphrey and Nixon.

For a while there the 'Owl man' (when anybody said Agnew they would say, "Who-Who?") was shootin' off faster than a barn-fire loaded with popcorn, but Nixon put the six on that.

Then the 'Fish,' Muskie started gettin' husky out in the hustings and Humph put the gaf into him.

The trouble seems to be that Nixon and Humphrey both do not want to talk about Wallace — they are trying their best to ignore him. They ain't dan much talkin — just whispering out loud.

The Repubs say a vote for Wallace is a vote for Humphrey. And the Demos say that a vote for Wallace is a vote for Nixon. And Wallace says, Do you really think that Humphrey or Nixon can get enough votes to throw the election into the House of Representatives?

This is the first election in history where the voters are all wearing their candidate buttons underneath the lapels of their coats. It's a case of "You show me yours, and I'll show you mine."
