Soviet Troops Due Move Into Bulgaria

LONDON (UPI) — Marshal Ivan Yakobovskiy, commander-in-chief of the Warsaw Pact, flew to Sofia today amid persistent reports Russia may send troops into Bulgaria to reinforce control over its East European empire.

Yakovskiy's trip followed secret discussions in Moscow earlier this week between the Kremlin top leadership and Bulgaria's strongman, Todor Zhivkov.

Both moves coincided with diplomatic reports that Russia apparently is anxious to place some troops in Bulgaria, the only remaining Warsaw Pact member which has so far been spared the presence of Soviet forces, apart from maverick Rumania.

Russia now has 20 divisions equipped with latest weapons in East Germany, 2 divisions in Poland and 4 divisions in

'Los Angeles '68' Fund-Raising Projects Slated

Students participating in the Los Angeles '68 project will conduct two fund-raising projects Saturday, a car wash at Pampa High School and bake sale downtown and in the Coronado shopping center.

For the $1.25 wash per car, drivers should enter from Decatur Street onto the PHS parking lot. Washing hours are 10 a.m. to noon and 2 to 4 p.m.

The bake sale from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. will be in front of First National Bank and Penny's downtown, and the Coronado Center Cleaners. Baked goods will be provided by girls participating in the project.

Los Angeles '68 is Pampa's chance to be recognized nationally for its PHS Harvester Band and Concert Choir. The band and choir will perform the 10-minute half-time show Dec. 15 in Los Angeles at the Los Angeles Rams vs. Baltimore Colts National Football League game.

The show, which will have a live audience of 110,000 and 10 million television viewers, will be televised locally on CBS-TV Channel 10.

The band and choir, which will sell candy and fruit cakes in addition to the bake sale and car wash services, needs $15,000 for the cross-country trip. The group will start Thursday selling chocolate almonds to help raise money for their trip. A fruit cake sale will start in October.

Those who want to contribute to the project may send donations to the Los Angeles '68 Fund at the First National Bank, Harris Brinson, band director, said today.

Crime Rates Up Again

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's crime rate rose 21 per cent in the first half of this year over the same period in 1967, according to the FBI. The biggest increase came in large cities and in the Northeast.

Director J. Edgar Hoover, releasing the FBI's latest crime report, said Thursday that the crime rate was up 24 per cent in cities with more than 250,000 population and 17 per cent in those with fewer than 10,000.

Suburban areas reported a 21 per cent increase while crime in rural areas rose by 14 percent the report said.

Hoover said the upward trend was consistent throughout the nation—up 27 per cent in the Northeast, 20 per cent in the West, 18 per cent in the South and 17 per cent in the north central states.

A national breakdown showed a 29 per cent increase in robbery, a 17 per cent increase in murder, a 15 per cent increase in forcible rape, and a 14 per cent increase in aggravated assault.

"Property crimes" increased by 20 per cent as a whole, led by a 24 per cent increase in automobile theft, a 23 per cent increase in larceny involving $50 or more, and a 17 per cent increase in burglary.

Hoover also said there was a 34 per cent increase in armed robbery and a 28 per cent increase in assaults with firearms.

Purse-snatching during the first six months of the year rose 45 per cent, the report said, and theft of personal property from automobiles climbed 20 per cent during the period.

'The Great Grape' Debate Rages In Halls of Congress

BY GENE BERNHARDT
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The congressman from New York told the congressman from California: "I like your grapes but not the sentiment behind them."

The exchange of words and grapes between Reps. James Scheuer, D-N.Y., and Robert Mathias, R-Calif., produced a near riot Thursday that crushed both people and grapes in the corridor outside Mathias' office.

The freshman lawmaker from California's San Joaquin Valley, a two-time Olympic decathlon gold medalist, sent bags of muscat and white imperial grapes to all of his colleagues. Some were accompanied by a bumper sticker that read: "Eat California grapes—the forbidden fruit."

Scheuer and Rep. William F. Ryan, another New York Democrat, personally returned their grapes. Six other House Democrats sent theirs back when they interpreted the move as a slap at the labor boycott on California grapes in support of Western pickers who seek union recognition.

"We gave out potatoes last year and none were returned," said a puzzled Mathias in a confrontation with Scheuer. "How come?"

"This time the grapes came with a sticker that delineated the issue," Scheuer said.

"I'm surprised that the boycott got involved in what I thought was a thoughtful gesture," said Mathias, sounding innocent.

Police sought to clear the corridor of the fast-growing crowd of congressional aides, newsmen and a small group of Mexican-Americans who said they spoke for the grape packers. The Democratic study group, an organization of about 150 liberal House members, conducted a telephone campaign to get a big turnout of grape returnees.

One girl, who could not be identified, took the grapes from her plastic bag one by one and crushed them in her fingers, letting the ooze drop into a box hurriedly provided by Mathias to receive the "forbidden fruit."

Just one office down from the scene, Rep. Albert Watson, R-S.C., lounged in his doorway, munching grapes with an air of contempt for the protesters.

A burly, shirt-sleeved young man who said he represented Rep. Bill Nichols, D-Ala., shouted over the crowd, "We're with you Bob. We'll take all the grapes ya got."

In addition to Scheuer and Ryan, Reps. Daniel Rostenkowski, James Howard of New Jersey; William Ford of Michigan; Henry B. Gonzalez of Texas; Joseph Resnick of New York; and Frank Thompson of New Jersey—all Democrats—returned their grapes.

Trip To Moscow Is Postponed In Dispute

PRAGUE (UPI)—Czechoslovakia's top leaders today postponed a trip to Moscow and flew instead to a trade fair. Informed Czechoslovak sources said the trip was postponed because the government refused to accept a purge of leaders demanded by the Kremlin.

Czechoslovak Communist Party informants said that high on the Moscow blacklist was party First Secretary Alexander Dubcek who designed the "experiment in democracy" that brought on an invasion by five Warsaw powers Aug. 20-21.

Dubcek traveled today to the fair at Brno with such leaders as Premier Oldrich Cernik, Parliament President Josef Smrkovsky and Slovak Party Secretary Gustav Husak. The CTK news agency said they received an "enthusiastic welcome" by thousands of visitors at the fair.

CTK reported that 90 per cent of Czechoslovaks questioned in a regional poll in northern Bohemia expressed "full confidence" in the present liberal Dubcek leadership, a hint of the unrest that would follow if Dubcek were removed from office.

CTK said the poll conducted by the Communist Party's Department of Political Analysis said 783 of 864 persons questioned also expressed "full confidence" in President Ludvik Svoboda, Cernik and Smrkovsky.

In another Czechoslovak development border posts leading into West Germany were opened today to Western tourists for the first time since the invasion a month ago.

Communist informants said the purge list included liberal cabinet members such as Culture Minister Mirislav Kaluska, Education Minister Vladimir Kadlec and the chairman of the Czech national council, Cestmir Cisar, already removed from the party presidium at Soviet insistence.

The government opposed purging anyone, the sources said. Passports and exit visas were issued to those on the spot who wanted to go West.

Dubcek, President Ludvik Svoboda, Premier Oldrich Cernik and three other Czechoslovak leaders prepared a list of their own demands for the Kremlin meeting, informants said.

BA TRI, Vietnam (UPI)—President Nguyen Van Thieu said today South Vietnamese troops will take over more of the fighting next year and a U.S. troop withdrawal could begin by the end of 1969.

"I am convinced that next year, the Vietnamese armed forces will be able to take over more responsibility for mobile operations," Thieu said during a jeep tour of a pacification area in the Mekong Delta.

"This does not mean the Vietnamese armed forces will be able to take over the whole responsibility," Thieu said. "but they will take on more responsibility. We see developments in this direction, particularly in the I Corps and III Corps (in the north and around Saigon)."

Humphrey Hits Hecklers

By MICHAEL L. POSNER
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey accused Richard M. Nixon today of making a "patently ridiculous" charge that he was in collusion with the third party candidate George Wallace. He challenged both men to a national debate.

The Democratic presidential candidate also served notice that he would give as good as he got from the antiwar hecklers who have dogged his campaign, booing, jeering and hissing him. He called the bitter outburst against him and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., Thursday in Boston the work of "intentionally mean anarchists—period."

"It's time to blow the whistle," Humphrey told a Sioux Falls, S.D., audience Thursday night.

Humphrey told newsmen that the protesters have met a "tough guy" and said the hecklers were "cowards" who will "never run us off the platform."

In remarks directed from the steps of Abraham Lincoln's home here today, Humphrey said Nixon's statement that the Humphrey camp was in cahoots with the Wallace supporters was false. "That charge is patently ridiculous, and Mr. Nixon knows it," Humphrey said.

Trying to draw Nixon into a debate, Humphrey said, "Let Richard Nixon, George Wallace and me debate the issues on national television. That way we'll soon find out who is in collusion with whom. And it won't be Humphrey and Wallace."

Humphrey chose a historical setting for issuing the challenge—the area of the famous Lincoln-Douglas debates.

In his Springfield speech, Humphrey continued to chide Nixon and Wallace.

Two Men, Woman Arrested

By JAMES R. DORSEY
CHICAGO (UPI)—FBI agents today rescued the 7-year-old grandson of a wealthy manufacturer and arrested two men and a woman accused of kidnaping and holding him under threat of death two days ago.

The agents closed in on an apartment on Chicago's West Side and found Hillard Willis Marks, who was abducted while walking home from school in the fashionable suburb of Oak Brook Wednesday and held for $125,000 ransom.

When Hillard was reunited with his parents at FBI headquarters in Chicago, the first thing he said was "did we have the party?" He was talking about the party for his seventh birthday, which would have been held Thursday.

Hugged Son
"No," Mrs. Mary Lou Marks said as she hugged her son. "But we'll have it soon."

The FBI said Hillard was found at the apartment of Robert Steven Marin, 24, a machinist, and his wife, Ethel Marie, 26.

They were arrested, along with a former gasoline station dealer, Daniel C. Pieler, 30. The abduction had been known to Chicago news media since Wednesday night. Reporters had been keeping a 24-hour vigil at the Oak Brook police station, but no word of the kidnaping had been printed or broadcast because the abductors had threatened to kill the boy if word of the crime leaked out.

Hillard is the son of William E. Marks, 34, a furniture manufacturer, and is the grandson of his namesake, Hillard Marks, the founder and president of Perfect Plus Hosiery, Inc.

Another call came. The caller said the price for Hillard's safety was $125,000. Police told reporters the caller said the boy would be killed if any word of the kidnaping appeared in print.

Russians Call For A Buildup Of Forces In Warsaw Pact Nations

By EDWARD J. SHIELDS
MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union called today for a buildup of Communist Warsaw Pact forces in Europe to counter the "aggressive nature" of the NATO allies.

The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda issued the call in a front page editorial and the army paper Red Star echoed it in a news column.

"In a situation when the imperialist forces of the U.S.A., the F.R.G. (West Germany) and other countries, revealing their aggressive nature, are making attempts to weaken the socialist community, the task of the Warsaw Treaty organization is assuming special importance," Pravda said.

It was the latest in a series of Soviet attacks deploring the alleged allied buildup in Europe. Wednesday, the Soviets said they were prepared to move against West Germany's military resurgence.

Pravda said the Bonn government "is fitting out a campaign of provocation . . . and calling for an urgent increase in the military potential of NATO and concentration of new units along the borders with socialist countries."

Cranmer, Bob Pool, officers of the school board, made a trip to New York for the purpose of obtaining a rating on the $200,000 in bonds recently voted by taxpayers of the Groom School district.

In order to make application for a Moody rating a municipality must have at least $600,000 in outstanding bonds.

Word was received from Moody's of New York recently that the school district rating obtained a B AA rating, which, according to Buescher, would save the district approximately $11,000 to $12,000 over a 20-year period plus expediting the sale of the bonds.

Woodard was arrested by police following any incident at his address.

Pampa Employs A Building Inspector

Pampa has employed a building inspector to succeed O. E. (Red) Payne, who retired Aug. 15 after 10 years' service with the city.

City Manager Charles Hill said this morning Elroy Dene Underwood, 405 N. Nelson, would take over the post Oct. 1.

Underwood was assistant building inspector at Borger from 1963 through 1966. He moved to Pampa and has been employed since as a licensed journeyman electrician with Brooks Electric Co.

The caller asked Marks, "do you have that kind of money?" When Marks said he did not, the caller said, "we feel sorry for you."

There were two other calls after that, but their nature was not immediately disclosed. Marks called police immediately after the first call. The FBI took over the case Thursday afternoon.

This morning, Hillard ran into his parents' arms, his wide open smile showing the absence of two front teeth. He was in fine shape.

"What did you do?" his mother asked.

"Just watched television," he said. While Mary Lou Marks ruffled her son's light brown hair, the boy was asked, "Did you go to their place?"

"No, to someone else's place."

"Did they treat you okay?" "Yeah."

"Did you tell them anything?" "I wanted to go home." Marks dangled his son on his knee and laughed happily. "he sure didn't lose any weight."

Humphrey

(Continued From Page 1) Nixon in what was becoming a standard campaign pitch, accusing him of not speaking out candidly on major issues such as gun control, the nuclear nonproliferation treaty, civil rights and the nomination of Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas to chief justice.

He said the debates would let the American people "decide on the basis of facts—not empty promises, slogans and that special brand of fence-straddling which Mr. Nixon perfected long ago."

At an airport rally in Sioux Falls, late Thursday Humphrey stood shoulder-to-shoulder with two of the most outspoken doves on the Vietnam War—Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., and Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D. Both promised all-out support for Humphrey.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—Fifteen thousand people paid $10 each Thursday night to jam a sweltering coliseum and cheer George Wallace.

"I know you are sweating tonight but the Republicans and Democrats are sweating a lot more than you are," the third party presidential candidate said. The faithful cheered.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

For Saturday, Sept. 21
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A strange day, night which is not all good for anything that requires taking chances or that is new and different in its nature. A good character but a very good Saturday. For focusing your energies upon the various and sundry duties that need to be completed before you can proceed any further.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Look about you whether at home or at business and see what you can do about improving surroundings. Fresh draperies could make such a difference. Find the right person to give you a hand in this refreshing process.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make it a point to assist one who is really having it awfully hard today, since you are so good at this. Show a cheerful attitude, though you would rather lash out at one who is acting in an overly manner. Forget care and have fun tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) If you really listen to suggestions of kin you can be very helpful in their plans as well as make your own more successful. Don't just take off and to heck with everyone else. Family accord is very important now.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Be careful when you go up or down stairs, drive, or in motion anywhere today and tonight. And before you use sarcasm with others, think twice. You need that good with others pays off in dividends instead.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) You could have a big low if you aren't careful, since the planets are not with you right now. Think in terms of saving instead so that you have a good bank account. Stop letting others take advantage of you.

VIROO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) You fare better by assisting others than by trying to solve their problems. A good partner does something that will further your interests. Show gratitude in some tangible way. Don't take anything for granted.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Keep focused on confidential duties with others that may take a good deal of your time, but which are really important. Clear up unfinished business. Be sure you assist that person in real trouble.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) You have an impulsive friend it is best you do not follow to any marked degree, or you will get into trouble. His, or her judgment is not very good. Be sure you do not say something unkind about a good pal out of sheer boredom.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You now understand just what should be done in the outside world so that you get to the top, but be cautious about such. Be sure that you are loyal to that bigwig who is having some sort of trouble. Show gratitude for past favors.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A good day to think about new interests you want to add to present ones, but do not star wheels rolling yet. Sit down and write to that out-of-towner about some important plan you have in mind. You will get right advice, results.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Good day to rid yourself of dull do-drumms, obsolete things that only clutter up your life. Don't grumble about whatever duties make you want to perform. Do them willingly and all works out just fine between you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Any talks you have with associates should be kept in light vein and you find you need not commit yourself to more than you can perform and vice-versa. Everyone is on edge. Take care there are no severances of connections.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's years. Ours was a good marriage except for one incident several years ago when John had an affair with another woman. It almost killed me when I found out, but he promised he would stop seeing her.

A week after John's death, his mother told me that John had never really stopped seeing that other woman, and the affair continued right up to the time of his death. This came as a terrible shock from which I haven't yet recovered. How can one be so cruel and heartless? What shall I say if my mother-in-law mentions this affair again?

TORMENTED DEAR TORMENTED: You can say, "I don't believe it and since John isn't here to defend himself, I shall continue to feel as I do." And if I were you, I'd avoid John's mother. Her intentions are clearly malicious.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HATESHARD" IN DETROIT: The hatred we bear our enemies injures their happiness less than our own. Unless you learn to forgive, you will be the biggest loser.

A convenient bin for linens and waterproof ceramic tile walls and floors in the laundry will also ease housekeeping chores.

DEAR PUZZLED: When big sister gave kid brother the ring, it became his property to do with what he chose. If kid brother feels that a replacement is in order, it's up to your daughter (not you) to replace it.

DEAR ABBY: My husband (I'll refer to him as "John") passed away recently, and I suffered a great loss as we had been happily married for over 20

Women Showing Concern About Lowering Of US Moral Standards

By GAY PAULEY
 NEW YORK (UPI)—"You should just see my mail," said Mrs. Walter Varney Magee, new president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs (GFWC).
 She referred to correspondence coming into her office from both women and men from all parts of the nation concerned about and asking for concerted action on what Mrs. Magee calls "the proliferation of lurid sex, crime and violence in movies, television, magazines and paperbacks."
 And so, because of so many letters, Mrs. Magee has made her major goal for the 11-million member federation a campaign to halt the spread of such material, to set the country back on the moral path.
 "The program came to us, actually," said Mrs. Magee. "Women are so concerned about the lowering of our moral standards."
 Many, she said, had written of their concern but said that as individuals or part of community groups; they felt helpless in the face of the onslaught.
 "Our aim is to show the various media they have a responsibility to the public," she said. "They can create a monster, or they can be a hand

Washington Window

By JOHN HALL
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—Hubert H. Humphrey, who has the uncanny ability to smile while demons chew at his ankle, likes to compare his current underdog fight to that of Harry Truman in the 1948 election.
 In many ways, the situation is similar. The Democrats emerged battered and bruised that year from a convention scarred by a walkout of southern delegates behind the Dixiecrat banner of Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina. The solid South became unglued and gave its electoral votes to Thurmond but Truman, who started far behind in the polls and failed to improve by election day, upset Republican Thomas E. Dewey—and the Democratic party survived.
 Truman had Thurmond. Humphrey has George Wallace. And the 1948 analogy has motivated Humphrey to wage a Trumanesque campaign with all the accompanying handshaking, baby-kissing, hell-raising furor of a man who must catch up.
 Humphrey, unlike Truman, does not have the Republican-controlled 80th Congress to attack; the conflict between Congress and the White House during the past four years has been between members of Humphrey's own party. Truman did not have to defend a controversial war in Southeast Asia.
 And, notwithstanding the southern walkout, the Democratic party in 1948 was solidly united behind Truman north of Mason-Dixon line.
 One is tempted to say that the real lesson from the past for Humphrey may lie in Barry Goldwater's debacle of 1964. The Republican party was fractured by fratricidal strife between the Goldwater conservative wing and the liberals. Like Humphrey, Goldwater won the nomination without trouble.

Woman Pays Self-Imposed $150 'Fine'

HARRISBURG, Pa., (UPI)—The states of Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan are each $50 richer today because of the haunting sense of guilt of a woman who carried an illegal bottle of rhubarb wine through the three states 40 years ago.
 "Mrs. Jane Doe," now 70 and apparently from Pittsburgh, said in a letter to Gov. Raymond P. Shafer that while traveling between Michigan and Pennsylvania in 1928, she broke the law by having a pint of rhubarb wine for medicinal purposes.
 Enclosed was a money order for $150 which she said "I feel I owe. . . please see that the states of Michigan and Ohio each get $50."

Had A Bad Day? Here's The Way To Wind It Up At Night

By GAY PAULEY
 NEW YORK (UPI)—Observations on the American scene: They say there are days when you get up on the wrong side of the bed. But once the day starts off all awry, watch the terrors pile up. There was one such day in our household this week when the kitchen light switch shorted and we cooked breakfast by dawn's early light. Our apartment handyman, eventually lured to the site of the crisis, said we'd need a whole new light fixture.
 So he took his pliers and a passel of blown fuses and said, "I'll be back." We cooked dinner by candlelight.
 Other Problems
 On the same day, the following also occurred: One parakeet blew his cage and eventually was found behind the piano, safe but scared almost out of his feathers. The television set in the master bedroom decided it needed a vacation. A chunk of plaster fell out of the newly-finished turquoise ceiling in the foyer.
 The freezer was somehow not freezing. Turned out we needed a new insulation around the door; this we found out from the repairman amid the frozen peas and leftovers now thawed thoroughly.
 I was just about to apply an adhesive bandage to a burn from broiling a steak (it turned out to be tough) when I came across this item from Traveler's Times, which puts up pleasant messages in public transportation systems in New York and other cities.
 Now I feel as though I may make it.
 Pill Substitute
 It's called "A Substitute for Sleeping Pills" and goes thusly: Empty the ashtrays and leave the kitchen clean. Put fresh linens on the bed. Arrange tomorrow's clothes in apple-pie order. Do a simply, stretching exercise. Take a long, warm, slow-soaking bath.

Personal Income In New Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Personal income of Americans again registered a sharp rise in August, pushing the annual rate to $804.2 billion—$90 billion higher than the rate at the same time in 1967.

The Commerce Department said reports the August gain was more than $5 billion, figured on an annual basis. It was the fourth consecutive month that the rate rose by about $5 billion.

The report listed an August payroll rise of $3.5 billion which followed rises of $3 billion in July and more than $4 billion in each of the two preceding months.

Non-wage income from dividends, interest and rents collected advanced about $1.7 billion in August.

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

REV. W. O. RUCKER
Harrah Methodist Church

"Are ye able . . ." Matt. 20:22

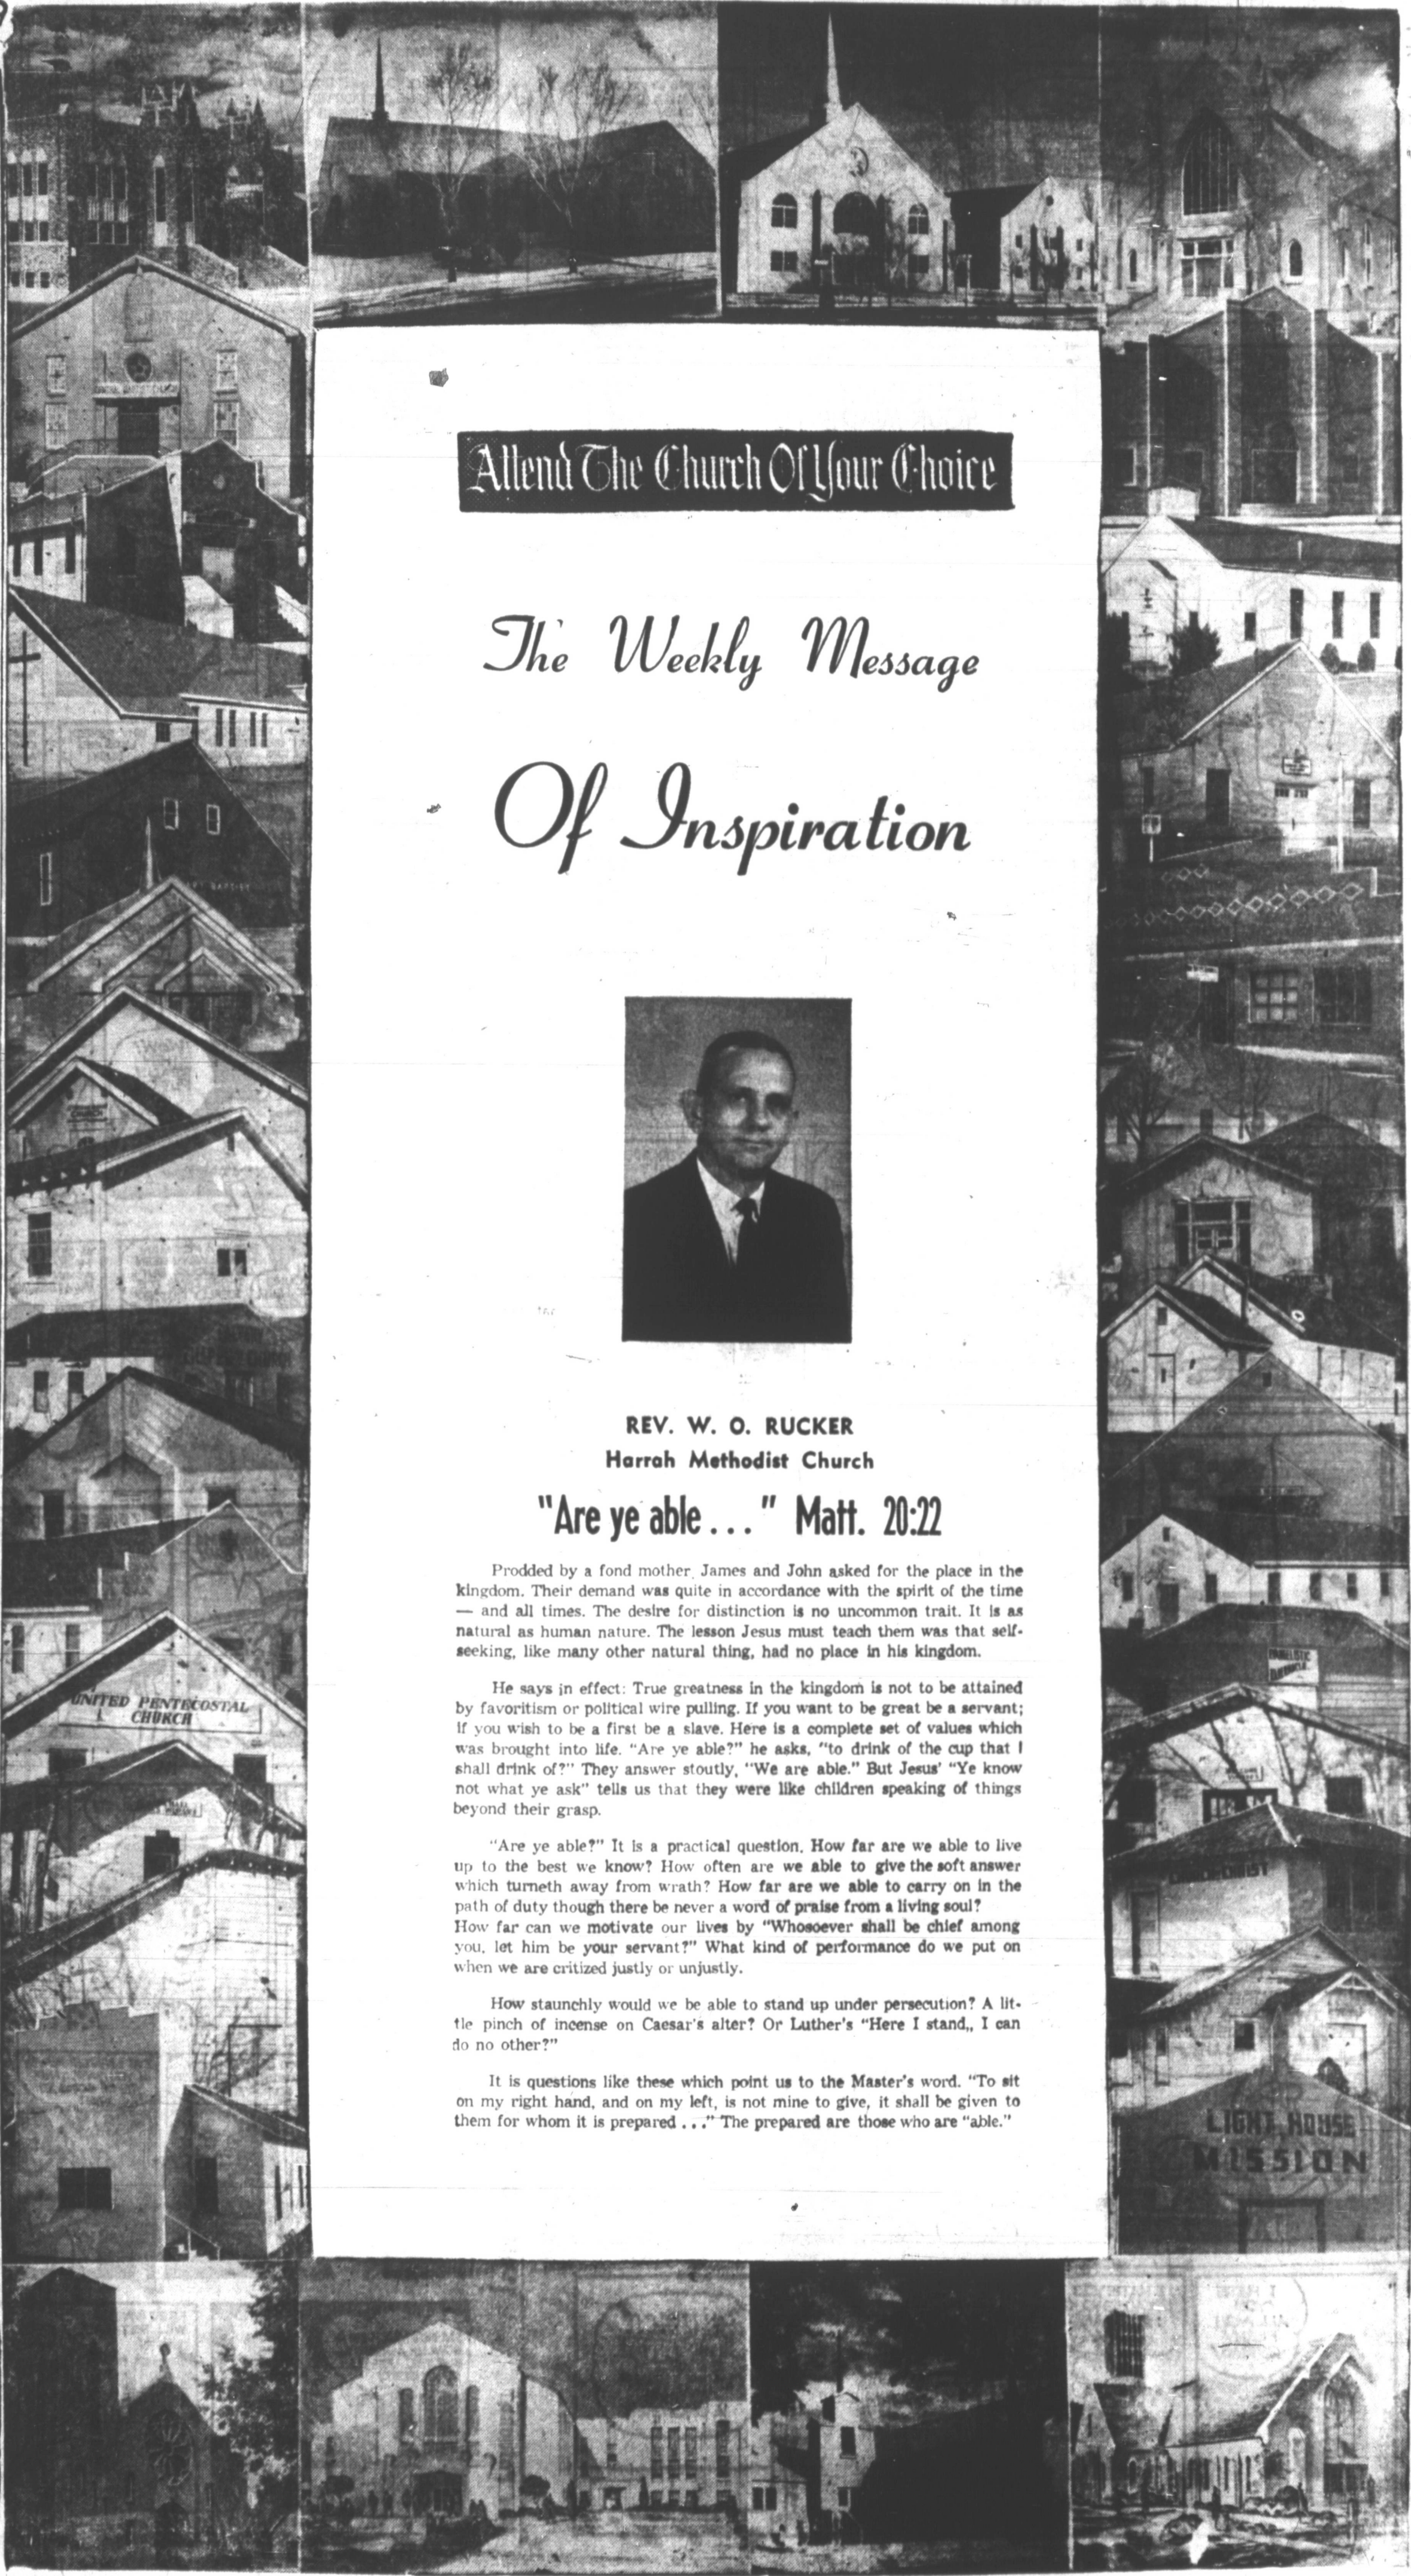

Prodded by a fond mother, James and John asked for the place in the kingdom. Their demand was quite in accordance with the spirit of the time — and all times. The desire for distinction is no uncommon trait. It is as natural as human nature. The lesson Jesus must teach them was that self-seeking, like many other natural things, had no place in his kingdom.

He says in effect: True greatness in the kingdom is not to be attained by favoritism or political wire pulling. If you want to be great be a servant; if you wish to be a first be a slave. Here is a complete set of values which was brought into life. "Are ye able?" he asks, "to drink of the cup that I shall drink of?" They answer stoutly, "We are able." But Jesus "Ye know not what ye ask" tells us that they were like children speaking of things beyond their grasp.

"Are ye able?" It is a practical question. How far are we able to live up to the best we know? How often are we able to give the soft answer which turneth away from wrath? How far are we able to carry on in the path of duty though there be never a word of praise from a living soul? How far can we motivate our lives by "Whoever shall be chief among you, let him be your servant?" What kind of performance do we put on when we are criticized justly or unjustly.

How staunchly would we be able to stand up under persecution? A little pinch of incense on Caesar's altar? Or Luther's "Here I stand, I can do no other?"

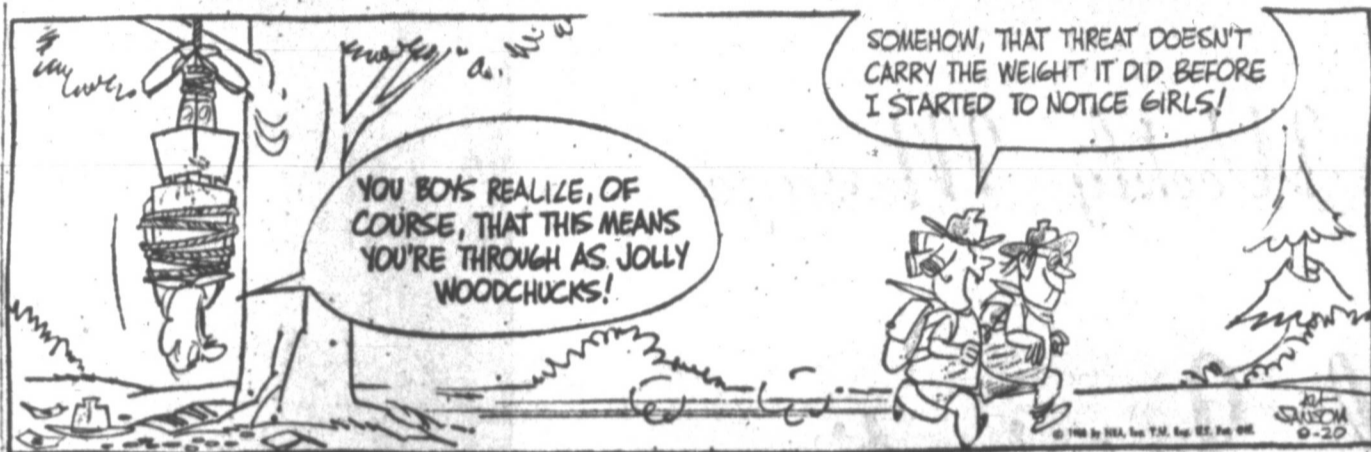

It is questions like these which point us to the Master's word. "To sit on my right hand, and on my left, is not mine to give, it shall be given to them for whom it is prepared . . ." The prepared are those who are "able."

EVEN CARDS HAVE "DOWNS"—St. Louis catcher Tim McCarver protests decision of plate umpire Ed Sudol in recent game. Manager Red Schoendienst has come out to (1) assist McCarver in his stand and (2) to lead a consoling word to Tim, so that he won't get carried away—and carried out of the ball game.

Harvesters Seek Victory No. 2 At Dumas

'Fierce Fight' Seen As Both Teams 'Primed For Battle'

By JEFF HOLLADAY
Pampa News Staff Writer

Fresh from their first victory in 11 outings, the Pampa Harvesters journey to Dumas tonight hoping to reap victory number two and let the Demons take the hit/lost.

Game time is 7:30.

Some observers foresee a fierce fight shaping up as both teams attempt to salvage ruffled egos.

The Harvesters were drubbed 69-6 by the Demons last year and "Swede" Lee's young troopers are reportedly eager to settle that score.

The Demons were getting one of their worst wallopings in a long time last week while the Harvesters were winning their first of the season. The Palo Duro Dons lambasted the Demons 35-0 in that tilt—one of the worst one-sided whippings the Demons have endured in quite some time.

Dumas coach Bill Spann has nine lettermen from the team that advanced to the Class AAA quarterfinals last year and they have doubtless pledged to purge themselves of their un-winning ways. It doesn't fit well with the Dumas tradition.

The Harvesters have lost starting quarterback Gary Parrish for the season but no other serious injuries have been reported. Dumas is also reported to be healthy for tonight's game.

The loss of Parrish will throw the weight of field generalship upon Ross Holman, a 137-pound junior.

Holman threw a touchdown pass last week and is seen as the key to renewed Harvester fortunes.

Pampa threw the ball for 112 yards last week and Holman was doing a large share of the passing. "Swede" Lee declared earlier that the ability of the Harvesters to move the ball would be contingent on the passing game.

Balancing the attack will be the spirited running of halfback Scotty King, a 176-pound junior.

Lee also had special praise this week for the workout of the

Mantle Strokes 535th

McLain Gets His 31st Win

By AL DALEY
UPI Sports Writer

Mickey Mantle got his pitch in route to another career milestone — 535 homeruns — but Denny McLain, who served up the pitch, got the victory, his 31st, and gained a new fan.

"McLain has made a fan of me for life," exclaimed Mantle after the game which New York lost to Detroit, 6-2.

The homerun moved the powerful switch hitter into sole possession of third place on the all-time homer list.

It came on his last time at bat in the eighth inning Thursday.

As Mickey stepped up for his last trip to the plate at Tiger Stadium this year, and possibly forever, the crowd of 9,063 gave him a standing ovation.

McLain called catcher Jim

Price out to the mound to prolong the cheer. Then Mantle, after taking two pitches inside, motioned to the Tiger hurler to get the ball out a little more.

The Yankee great got the pitch he wanted and lined his homerun into the second deck in right field.

As Mantle rounded third base, he looked at McLain, nodded twice and shouted, "Thanks!"

Denny just grinned and when Mantle crossed the plate to another standing ovation a d much more noise than 9,000 fans are supposed to make, McLain waved a salute.

The only other American League game, Washington at Cleveland, was rained out.

In the National League, San Francisco crushed St. Louis 11-5 in a day game. Under the lights, Atlanta topped Houston 4-1 and Los Angeles beat Cincinnati 3-1.

Junior High Teams Win 3, Lose One

Pampa Junior High got into the win column twice last night and Lee Junior High lost one and won one as junior high grid action swung into full action.

Pampa Junior High 8th whipped Lee Junior High 8th, 20-8.

Pampa Junior High 9th eased by Canyon 9th 20-0, and Lee Junior High 9th waltzed by another Canyon 9th grade team, 6-0.

In the PJH win over Lee, in the 8th grade league, Richard McCampbell scored two touchdowns and Alan Keaton scored one touchdown for PJH while Lee scored on a punt return by Rick McGuire.

Scoring for PJH 9th in their win over Canyon 9th, 20-0, Bill Cummings scored two touchdowns and Wade Archibald scored the other.

Scoring for Lee 9th in its win over another Canyon 9th grade team, 16-0, were Dale Ammons, who scored from one yard out in the first quarter; Greg Schulz for the two-point conversion; a 20-yard pass from Ammons to Mike Edgar in the second quarter; and the two-point conversion by Tommy Montgomery.

'Hill Boys' Take Lead In PGA Championship Tourney

By PAUL ENGLISH

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—The Hill boys, Mike and Dave, had the lead but defending champions Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus had a good night's rest and a course better suited to their games today for the second round of the $200,000 PGA team championship.

The Hill brothers banged out a best-ball nine-under par 62 for a two-stroke edge over the Palmer-Nicklaus duo Thursday on the tight, comparatively short 6,700-yard Twin Hills Country Club course with its par 35-36-71.

"These late nights are killing me. I've got to get some rest," Palmer said after the first round, explaining that he and about 100 other tour golfers had discussed their differences with the PGA until about midnight Wednesday.

"We didn't have our dinner until about 12 o'clock and I believe that did take its toll," Palmer said.

Fourteen of the top 16 scores were turned in on the tree-lined Twin Hills layout Thursday as the sprawling, wind-swept Quail Creek Country Club course 12 miles away proved much tougher for the golfers who opened play there. The players switched courses today, with both Hills and the Palmer-Nicklaus teams going to Quail Creek, which plays 7,100 yards to a par 36-36-72.

Four teams were tied for third at 65, and four more carded 66s Thursday.

Mike Hill joined the PGA tour only in May.

Mike at 29, the younger of the brothers, scored two birdies and saved his brother with pars on three other holes Thursday. Dave racked up five birdies and an eagle.

Nicklaus and Palmer had a balanced attack Thursday, with Palmer picking up birdies on holes 2, 5, 9, and 10, and Nicklaus going one under par on holes 6, 13 and 16.

SCHAYES NAMED

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dolph Schayes, former Syracuse Nationals scoring leader, was appointed supervisor of officials in the National Basketball Association Thursday by league commissioner Walter Kennedy.

Kennedy also announced that Mendy Rudolph, starting his 18th year as an NEA referee, will head the newly created post of chief of staff officials.

YANKEE WINNER

THORPE BAY, England (UPI)—Yankee Flyer, the U.S. challenger, won the fifth race in the best of seven series for the Little America's Cup for seacraft catamarans Thursday.

Britain leads the series 3-2. The sixth race will be held today.

Shockers Tumble To Borger 'B'

The Pampa High School Shockers football team "just plain took a good old country licking" yesterday at Borger, falling to the host Bulldog "B" team, 28-0.

Coach Marvin Lay ran the game for the Shockers.

The Borger team ran up 23 points in the first quarter before the Shockers defense stiffened and allowed only six more points for the game.

Head Coach Robert "Swede" Lee said, "Our players are just going to have to work harder and get better. We have no excuses, we just got beat."

Buck-Broncho Match Highlights Area Grid Slate

Football games in the Top O' Texas area slated tonight will be highlighted by the Clarendon-White Deer conflict at White Deer.

Clarendon, rated fifth in the state this week in a United Press International poll, is slightly favored to win the game. The Bucks of White Deer slipped in last week's opener, 21-20, before Silverton.

In other area contests, Perryton, ranked first in the state AAA poll, will travel to Woodward, Okla., for an interstate match; Panhandle of District 1-A, will travel to Shamrock to take on the Irish; McLean, T.A., will take on Lefors in Lefors at Shaw Field; Claude meets Groom in Groom; Wellington takes on tough class A Wheeler; Spearman travels to Canadian; and Miami will go to Cato, Okla., in an eight-man contest.

West Texas State Coach Kerbel Builds Winners!

By MIKE WESTER

CANYON, Tex. (UPI)—Football is more than a profession to Joe Kerbel. It is a magnificent obsession in which winning is the name of the game.

The silver haired Kerbel, 46, is head football coach at West Texas State University where he is in his ninth year. But he has 14 years of service behind him as a head coach and a memory bank which houses one of the most successful schoolboy coaching tenures on record.

Since becoming a head coach, Kerbel has engineered two state high school championship teams, a couple of college bowl victories and the images of many youngsters who have advanced beyond his tutelage into the frenzied world of professional football.

Resired in Seminole "I grew up in the little oil town in Oklahoma of Seminole and on Saturday mornings everyone would gather at the park over by the hospital and play football," Kerbel says. "There were usually enough for six or seven teams and we'd all bring our sack lunches and play until it got dark."

Even then, several seasons away from his first shave, Kerbel was an organizer.

By the time he had advanced to the coaching ranks as an assistant at Bartlesville, Okla., there was little doubt that Kerbel had found his calling. By 1950, he had gained his first head job and watched his Cleveland, Okla., teams compile records of 12-1 and 8-2 respectively before another oil town—Breckenridge, Tex.—needed his services.

Compile 30-4-2 Record
In five years at Breckenridge, Kerbel saw his troops compile a 30-4-2 record and win two state championships.

Kerbel's three-year tenure at Amarillo High saw him further advance his prestige as a builder of winning tradition. Before he left the school-boy ranks to become an assistant at Texas Tech, the Sandies had won 25 and lost only 8.

New WTS Era
The '60s ushered in a new era at West Texas State as Kerbel took the reins of a faltering program and began laying the foundation which is now evident. From that first year which saw the Buffs win 3 and lose 7 he's molded one of the nation's most respected independents.

During the 1967 summer Kerbel suffered a mild heart attack and his coaching duties were somewhat restricted. But he rebounded with his old bounce and his pace hasn't slackened.

This year he'll win his 50th game at West Texas State, and hopefully coach another All-American in halfback Eugene (Mercury) Morris who scored four touchdowns and rushed for 234 yards on 21 assignments.

Randy Matson Is Featured In Article By 'Sport' Magazine

Pampa's Randy Matson, holder of the World shot-put record, is featured in a six-page illustrated article in the October issue of Sport Magazine in which the author of the article, Al Stump, poses the question: "Is it possible for Matson, our best bet on paper, to lose out on an Olympic gold medal?"

Matson will compete in the Olympics at Mexico City next month.

The magazine article, titled "The Faraway World of Randy Matson," states that Matson "today is so studious in his quest for a master's degree in business administration" that there is concern he may be giving so much attention to his business future that "it has taken its toll on his here-and-now endeavors."

This concern about the relatively distant future, the magazine article suggests, arises from the fact that "Matson turned in one of the worst series of his life in the recent Olympic trials. Except for a winning toss of 67-1, none of his throws was over 65 feet. He was nowhere near close to the 70-footer he had exploded earlier in the summer and a very far grunt from his 71-5½ world record throw of April 22, 1967."

Neil Steinhauer of Oregon University, who has beaten Matson three times, is expected to be Randy's biggest threat at the Mexico City Olympics. Steinhauer has tossed the shot 68-11½ for his best mark so far.

The Sport story, incidentally, describes Matson's hometown of Pampa this way:

"Pampa is a place Matson loves. The little wheat-and-oil town of 26,000... a spot in the dry, wind-whipped, mesquite-thicketed Panhandle, is all he wants. He is a man who needs privacy, who loves the lonely back country where coyotes howl and where strangers seldom prowls. Pampa, up near the Oklahoma border, is where he can go for weeks without having someone gawk at his muscles."

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better plan and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Goods And Services

There are just three ways of getting the things and services we need or want in this world of ours:

1. By producing them ourselves, on an individual basis.
2. By exchanging what we produce on an individual basis for what others have produced in the market place.
3. By stealing or asking by force what others have produced.

There are no other ways.

And since, as will be readily seen, it is utterly impossible for any individual to produce all the things and services he needs or wants to survive and live the good life, that reduces the ways in which we can obtain the necessities and luxuries of life to only two:

1. By voluntary exchange.
2. By theft or robbery.

With these economic fundamentals once grasped, other truths emerge in quick succession:

1. The person who argues in favor of the market place, voluntary exchange way of life is arguing in favor of a process which makes it mandatory that both parties to an exchange profit; else the exchange could not take place.

And, since to produce more is, also, to have more to exchange, this is the system which encourages maximum production to the ultimate benefit of all.

2. The person who argues in favor of the government stealing legally (by process of taxation) from some in order to give

Campaign Litter-ature

The political campaigns are in full swing and we are about to enter a maze of electioneering which will surpass anything in the past. Each year the number of voters increases as more and more of our youth mature to legal voting age.

This being an election involving the highest office in the land, more voter interest and a proportionately higher investment of campaign funds for the various items distributed by the candidates will be required.

Over the past several years one of the most widely circulated pieces of propaganda has been the bumper strip. The reason for the popularity of the strip is its versatility. It can be applied to a wide range of fixtures and will adhere to almost any space from its traditional spot on automobile bumpers to straw hats. We have seen them on briefcases, kids' lunch boxes, houses, store windows and the inevitable bikini in press photos released by the professional ad men.

It matters little to us where the partisans of any particular candidate may choose to display their support by plastering one of these stickers — pro-

The Root Of It All

Every time a solution to a problem is sought on a basis of expediency rather than principle it is like trying to re-inflate a punctured tire without patching the hole. Most of the current consumer protection proposals completely overlook basic principles of a free market economy. They aim instead at the imposition of controls that in the long run, would hurt consumers by crippling the right of free choice.

Typical of the expedient approach to consumer problems is the advocacy of a major consumer organization for more careful radio and TV licensing on the theory that, "The airwaves belong to the public, but have been captured by advertising groups." The head of the consumer organization urges legislative attention to the alleged immense marketing waste caused by "gimmicks" in gas stations and supermarkets. Nor was a word mentioned concerning the fundamental principle that advertising and promotion are an integral part of the free market mechanism of the U. S. economic system.

CAPITOL EYE

HHH's Road Is Gloomy And Uphill

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
 Washington Correspondent
 WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Vice President Hubert Humphrey's managers have just been given a shockingly gloomy report on his prospects for carrying New York State with its huge and vital electoral vote.

The report is not a statewide survey but merely a privately taken poll of two urban areas. Yet the message is devastating, for they are two Jewish districts in Brooklyn which normally deliver an enormous Democratic vote but this time show a very heavy leaning toward Richard Nixon.

As an indication that this poll was no freak, a group within a major Jewish fraternal organization in New York City recently took a private vote and it came out 20 to 4 for Nixon over Humphrey.

There are other signs of impending disaster in New York. Humphrey's campaign organization in the state is a jerry-built edifice, so badly financed halfway through September that his people as of this writing were still having trouble lining up headquarters space.

Reform Democrats who favored Sen. Eugene McCarthy but now are moving behind Humphrey nevertheless report that many of their number are sitting listlessly on the sidelines, still unwilling to pitch in.

It is almost comical to hear that at this late stage some Democratic congressmen in New York were being pressed to "get together and come out" for Humphrey. Such support should be automatic and early.

In the judgment of one Democratic professional in New York, the evident big turn-away in the Jewish vote is principally a "law and order" phenomenon. He sees this as the big issue of the campaign, and the one that appears to have put Humphrey on the road to disaster even before he achieved full campaign speed.

The more generous estimates of Humphrey's November prospect have shown him far behind Nixon, yet leading in New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Massachusetts and Michigan among the big states he must crack to have any hope of victory.

Already these liberal estimates are being called into question. As indicated here, the New York outlook is very bad. Fresh reports from Pennsylvania and New Jersey also are negative for Humphrey. At this moment only Massachusetts among the 10 biggest seems a reasonable Humphrey bet.

Professionals who worked the transcontinental telephone circuit during the vice president's first week on the road got a flow of disaster reports they could hardly believe. One such Democrat was so stunned he said, only half in jest:

"Hubert Humphrey may be the first presidential nominee in history to lose all 50 states."

This man's view is that the remarkably potent third party candidacy of Alabama's George Wallace will in the end prove far more damaging to Humphrey than to Nixon. The vice president seems to be very badly whipsawed between the "law and order" discontent on one side and the anti-war clamor on the other.

Seeing his dilemma but unsure how to deal with it, he has been floundering about wildly. His worst flopping came in the aftermath of his ill-founded and subsequently retracted prediction of U. S. troop withdrawals from Vietnam.

He looked painfully foolish in Houston when, to support his talk of withdrawals, he waved a newspaper which reported that a Marine unit was returning home. In fact, of course, it is being replaced by an Army unit.

A professional politician here indicated how unsettling that performance was when he said:

"If a guy will wave a paper around and go off with something like that, you have to wonder, if he got to be president, whether his elbow might bump the (nuclear war) button on his desk."

Barely started on the long trail to Nov. 5, Hubert Humphrey is conceded by his own managers to be in a hard uphill fight. In truth, the first overwhelming cascade of disaster reports suggests he is only inches from the bottom of the hill.

WASHINGTON:

When LBJ Faces Crisis He Wants Action --- Fast

By RAY CROMLEY
 Washington Correspondent
 WASHINGTON (NEA) — The other day one of President Johnson's advisers unburdened himself on his personal thoughts about his White House job. Some notes follow on his reflections:

It's a body-contact sport — American politics—not an intellectual exercise, especially when you're in a hassle with Congress.

The problems you face at the White House are not intellectual problems. The problems that are anticipated don't happen. You get hit with a sudden crunch.

You can do all the studies in the world. Then you come up against the problem. What happened? What do you do about Czechoslovakia? What do you do about missiles in Cuba? What do you do about the Pueblo?

Or the President asks you what to do about the Middle East. You can know all the history in the world, but if the Russians decide to bail out their Arab allies, what are you going to do?

You learn this rapidly when the President asks you, "What now?" If you come up with a background talk on the history of the region or a careful explanation of the situation, the President listens carefully and then says, "Therefore?" That stops you cold.

The question is not why we have a problem but what do we do about it.

Then, usually, the decision has to be made before the precincts are in. You have to commit yourself to total action at times, and this decision has to be made, if you are lucky, with 51 per cent of the data.

Sometimes you have virtually no data. Take the Pueblo. Influential men were urging us to action when we had no information on what had happened. There was radio silence from the Pueblo. The headquarters in Honolulu knew nothing. I am terrified by the terrible problems on which men (at the White House) must make decisions with inadequate data. In a crunch then, the job of the White House assistants in a sense is to find the guy who knows the answer in a hurry in the vast bureaucracy of government. It's a sort of espionage staff. When there's a crisis, your job is to find the man who knows the man who knows the answer.

Our other job is to argue back and forth until we come up with an answer while the President asks questions. There are some terrific arguments at the White House, which is how it should be. The President encourages them, brings in other men to argue different points of view.

People say the President runs the White House staff with a whip... or with arm-twisting. Well, the sure way to disaster is to surround yourself with flunkies. Once you surround yourself with flunkies you have had it. No man gets to be president who doesn't understand that.

But the question is whether anyone has the ability to handle the kind of problems we now have to face. There is no training—no practice—for the exercise of this kind of power.

Then, on top of that, the question arises as to what extent the President is trapped by his own bureaucracy.

To illustrate this, a former adviser tells what President Truman reportedly said when Gen. Dwight Eisenhower was elected president:

"Poor Ike. He will sit here (in the White House) and say, 'Do this' and 'Do that' and nothing will happen. It is not a bit like the Army."

With Some Reservation
 In Jim Foody

Mebbe you might have overlooked it, but one of the greater menaces facing us today is the attempt to cut out the importing of Mozzarella cheese. Why, what would a pizza be without cheese? That's what makes the pizza more binding.

That Rep. Laird of Wis. Has fired off a telegram to Elibee Jay and says it is urgent that he clamp import quotas on the herds of curus comin into the pizza parlors.

He says that pizza pies are an American dish and should use American cheese, which is a good enough thought on the brain wave but not much help on the taste buds.

American cheese is fine on cheese-burgers or in macaroni—and; but on a pizza? Nevaire! In my research on pizzas I recall talkin to one 'Tony' and he says when it comes to pizzas Mozzarella is the whole cheese.

Question Box

QUESTION: Don't you think most Negro spokesmen have a rather unrealistic concept of what it's really like to be white? And that they therefore are in for a rude awakening some day? They don't seem to realize that whites, too, have a darn hard time finding the job they want and that one is NOT automatically accepted just because one is white. Recently, a Negro family moved out of a white neighborhood because people there weren't friendly enough; they had left them more or less alone. I don't know about you, but to me, THAT SOUNDED LIKE A NORMAL NEIGHBORHOOD! My neighbors leave each other alone, and WE ARE ALL WHITE.

ANSWER: We do not know what is behind the thinking of many persons, black or white, brown or red or yellow. We do know that many people are friendly with their neighbors, regardless of race, color, creed or national origin. Others prefer to be by themselves.

We believe that if left alone people who are of similar backgrounds economically are likely to gravitate to the same area. There should be no legal bars either to prevent or to require integration or segregation.

It is interesting to note that the Wall Street Journal recently reported the battle that is going on in a middle-class Negro neighborhood in Cleveland. The middle-income Negroes objected to a city-sponsored development of subsidized homes for Negroes from slum areas, in their neighborhood. The objection was not because they were black, but because they had not earned the privilege of moving into the better neighborhood. The blacks already there had worked hard and saved to be there and resented others receiving such handouts.

It all demonstrates that coercive action by government does not solve problems of slums, poverty or any other human problems. Only by voluntary action can there be lasting solutions. This fits in with the MYOB (Mind Your Own Business) philosophy.

man—in a pizzeria?" I asked. "Well, you know those long wood spatulas they reach into the oven with to take out the pizza? When the chef swings it around the room he hollers out 'Duck Man' and you better duck or you getta you he a d knocked off."

A Girl In Kansas City

By PAUL HARVEY
 Young years ago in the Pacific left me with an undulating appetite for Polynesian, Melanesian and Oriental food. State-side, Cantonese cooking is a reasonable facsimile. This is not about that.

But during a recent visit to Kansas City I learned that such cuisine was available just down the street and downstairs from the Muehlbach; I went.

Early to bed means early to eat, so I was alone in the simulated tropical setting or I might not have noticed the next four customers.

They were a man and wife, comfortable, respectable — a crew-cut son wearing horn-rimmed glasses —

—And the girl.
 She, like the young man, was eighteenth, self-conscious. Her white and gray lace-blouse suit-dress became her—neat, pretty. The white bow in her hair belonged there. Her face glowed softly with round-eyed innocence. If that innocence were contrived, which I doubt, more the pity.

I am not usually a people-watcher, except with professional purpose. I am never an eavesdropper — except with professional purpose. But part of what ensued in words and gestures could not have escaped my notice.

"What shall we have to drink, dears?" the mother asked.

The large menu was decorated with three-color sketches of such exotic rum-base cocktails as "Hula Punch," "Voo Doo," "Navy Grog," "Heavenly Flower" and "Secret Kiss"—limit two!

From my rattan table across the room the girl's hesitancy was apparent. Her wish to make a favorable impression on the more sophisticated prospective in-laws was also apparent.

Though few of the words reached my ears, the smiles of reassurance and the nods of acquiescence affirmed that, "These are very mild drinks, you know, hardly more than soda pop..."

And there was a skillful assist from the waitress; surely I only imagined her reluctance. So each of the four was served something tall and frosty and colorful with a straw protruding through a cone of ice and a garnish of mint leaves and fruit peel and a bright red maraschino cherry.

Three drank. She sipped. I hurt.

The girl in Kansas City was really not my rightful concern. I'd never seen her before and I'll not likely see her again except in indelible recollection.

For in the unfolding of this significant little drama — amidst phony palm fronds and simulated bamboo curtains and gaudy paper lanterns and pagan carvings and recorded music — another generation was being subtly seduced by the artfully camouflaged trouble which always starts out seeming fun.

Her soft, girlish laughter was louder as I left. She was eating. The glass of "Heavenly Flower" or whatever it was — its ice melted, its mint leaves wilted, its straw soggy, its cherry missing — was mostly still there. It was about one-third empty.

It would be easier next time.

The Manion Forum

By MARILYN MANION

The Politics of Guilt
 First there was the Kerner Report, which blamed law-abiding Americans for riots in the streets, accusing them of "white racism."

Then there was the CBS documentary on "Hunger In America," complete with horrible pictures showing the thousands who starve while the rest of us (the same hateful, average Americans grow fat and apathetic.

Over and over again, the taxpayers' of this country have been maligned, accused, held up for contempt. They are "responsible" for every evil, from rioting to looting to poverty to hunger.

There is a reason for this concentrated effort to make America ashamed. It is a political reason, and it isn't very pretty. The liberal politicians want the so-called "ghetto" and "poverty" votes. Not that these votes represent a majority — far from it. But they do represent cities of states which will possibly swing the election in November. "One man, one vote" might be better stated "One man, ten votes" in the big cities of this nation.

These liberal office-seekers cannot, however, risk the wholesale loss of the rest of Americans — the productive citizens who will be expected, as usual, to foot all the bills. And so evolves the campaign to make these citizens feel ashamed of themselves; to strike their breasts in repentance; and, finally, to atone for their "sins" by voting for astronomical handouts.

The campaign works on some people — especially those who consider themselves "intellectuals." Especially if they are influenced by liberal teachers, preachers, writers, and speakers. But the common man is something else again. He does not feel guilty and it is going to be pretty hard to convince him. The name of the game is guilt, and the way to play it is dirty. During the CBS documentary, for instance, the camera was focused on a pitiful Negro infant who was nothing more than skin and bones. It appears that this little child, instead of being a victim of malnutrition, was born to a healthy, well-nourished mother. It was born, however, prematurely, and weighed only 2 lbs. 12 ounces at birth. The baby died five days after birth because it was born too early. Yet, millions of viewers were led to believe that malnutrition was the cause of the child's condition.

What sort of person could stoop so low as to enter a hospital and photograph such a helpless infant for purpose of propaganda?

The same sort of person, apparently, who tells Americans that they are "guilty."

Before you prepare to atone for your supposed sins, have a look at those who are doing the accusing.

Wit and Whimsy

Mr. Brown (the head of the house after viewing the crumpled fender) — Well, dear, did the officer scold you for hitting one of the city's trees?

Mrs. Brown (the new driver) — No, he was just lovely, John. He said the city planted them just to keep drivers from getting up on people's porches.

A thought for the day—British poet and author Rudyard Kipling said: "Meddling with another man's folly is always thankless work."

Want To Climb Mount Everest? It's Ready And Waiting For You

By M. M. GUPTA
KATMANDU, Nepal (UPI)—Mount Everest, the world's highest mountain, and other giants of the Himalayas, are ready for the world's adventurous, the roof of the world is open again and ready for challenging. After a four-year ban, the Nepalese government has lifted that closed all mountains over its prohibition against any 18,000 feet to international attempts to climb 29,028-foot Mount Everest, the world's highest mountain, and other giants of the Himalayas. Future expeditions will find the going easier. During the ban, the Nepalese government has lifted that closed all mountains over its prohibition against any 18,000 feet to international expeditions, airfields have been constructed closer to the jumping off places. The reason for the no-climbing rule imposed four years ago was that, according to Nepal's government, climbers had disregarded regulations and taken some forbidden routes, resulting in complaints from Communist China that they had crossed into Tibet. Wrong Peaks Climbed There were complaints that some expeditions had mistreated local porters and sherpa-native mountain climbers—that they had climbed the wrong mountains and, generally, were causing a bad situation. New routes have been established to keep order in mountain climbing in the forbidding Himalayas. Mountains are, so to speak, booked up in advance by getting climbing permission from the government and paying a royalty. Standing license rates, which may go up, are $50 for a peak below 20,000 feet, $300 for one between 20,000 and 25,000 feet, and $500 for the monsters above 25,000 feet. Everest, once 21 days in trekking time from Katmandu, can now be reached in six days by landing at Lukla Airfield. The Dhaulagiri and Annapurna ranges have been brought to within a week's reach instead of nearly a month's hard slog. As a result, climbers can now "do" a mountain in three weeks instead of the minimum three months previously required. At doubtful approach routes to keep teams out of Tibet. Expeditions will also have to report their arrival and departure to headmen in villages along the route, who will have been told in advance to watch for them and help guide them. Villagers Ready Sherpas willing to join expeditions have been licensed. Local village organizations have been The government will provide a liaison officer experienced with the locality. His salary, food and mountain clothing will be paid by the expedition. Everest, already conquered three times, is still the dream of mountaineers. During the ban, permission to attempt the peak was sought by men from Austria, Britain, Canada, Japan, West Germany, Yugoslavia and an all-sherpa expedition led by Tenzing Norgay, who made the first conquest with New Zealander Sir Edmund Hillary in 1953. Most of the 30 peaks above 25,000 feet in the Himalayas have been climbed but about 100 above 20,000 feet are still virgin. However, some of the ranges are still closed to climbers until the new arrangements have been extended to them. In granting climbing permission, the government said it will give preference to scientific expeditions and treat the sporting sons as secondary.

In 1959, the Chicago White Sox won the American League baseball pennant for the first time in 40 years. In 1926, Jack Dempsey lost the heavyweight boxing championship to Gene Tunney in Philadelphia.
