NATO, U.S. Warn Moscow

BRUSSELS (UPI)—The United States and its NATO allies bluntly warned Moscow Saturday against any Czechoslovak-style military action in Europe or the Mediterranean and said NATO was beefing up its forces for a "collective response."

The Western allies said any new military intervention by the Soviets would "create an international crisis with grave consequences."

A communique issued at the close of a three-day ministerial meeting attended by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford told the Soviets to refrain from interfering in the affairs of other states "in the interest of world peace."

"Any Soviet intervention, directly or indirectly affecting the situation in Europe or in the Mediterranean, would create an international crisis with grave consequences," the communique warned.

High-ranking U.S. officials described the wording as "fairly serious language."

The communique did not mention any countries by name in the warning against new Soviet attacks, but NATO sources said those in mind included neutral Austria and Communist Albania, Romania and Yugoslavia.

Asked why the nations were not named, U.S. officials said "the Russians are not village talking in the air."

The communique began with a condemnation of the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia and said the Russian intervention there and Moscow attempts to justify it "gives rise to fears of a further use of force in other cases."

Council To Wind Up City's Paving Program for 1968

Two special meetings of the Pampa city commission have been called for 4:30 p.m. Monday and 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

City Manager Charles Hill said Saturday both meetings will be for the single purpose of considering an ordinance to accept the city's 1968 summer paving program.

Hill said the meetings are necessary to wind up the project started last Spring by the Lewis Construction Co. of Dumas and to make final payment to the contractor.

The 1968 residential paving program encompassed approximately 70 units of paving at an approximate cost of $750,000.

The acceptance of the program would mark completion of the overall paving program which included approximately 150 paving units in 1967 at a cost of around $1,500,000.

The paving program was made possible by a bond issue approved by voters in 1966 providing nearly $1,000,000 for the city's share of the overall cost with the remainder being assessed against property owners on the improved streets.

Not Indifferent

"The NATO allies are determined to safeguard the freedom and independence of their countries," the communique said. "They could not remain indifferent to any development which endangers their security."

The NATO allies accused the Soviets of "deliberately" violating, in the invasion of Czechoslovakia, the principle that all nations are independent.

"World opinion has been profoundly shocked by this armed intervention carried out against the wishes of the government and people of Czechoslovakia," the communique said. "The people of Czechoslovakia must be free to shape their own future."

To meet the threat, the United States and its allies decided to strengthen their military forces for "a collective response."

"The quality, effectiveness and deployment of NATO's forces will be improved in terms of both manpower and equipment in order to provide a better capability for defense," the communique said.

South Vietnam Expected To End 'Talks' Boycott

TEEN AIDES — A group of high school girls, making up the Para-Medical Career Club, get lessons from Aline Winegart, a registered nurse at Highland General Hospital, in the caring of a patient. The group, which trains every Saturday, will finish their course about December 7.

Answer is Expected 'Within Few Days'

PARIS (UPI) — Allied diplomats said Saturday the United States has given South Vietnam assurances it would play an important role if it joined expanded talks on a Vietnam peace. They said Saigon apparently reacted favorably and would announce an end of its boycott "within a few days."

Reports in Western diplomatic circles said Saigon would send a delegation to the expanded Paris negotiations by Dec. 1, although the final accord on its participation still had not been worked out.

France's Saur reported Saturday that South Vietnamese officials already had rented a villa in Paris for the use of the Saigon delegation during what are expected to be prolonged negotiations toward a Vietnam peace.

City-Wide Fire Inspection Program Started

A city-wide fire inspection program is in progress, according to City Manager Charles Hill.

The city manager said the inspection project started Nov. 1 and will continue until every commercial building, church, factory, private club, hospital, school facility and nursing home in Pampa has been visited.

Purpose of the inspection, an annual check-up, is to provide advisory service to citizens in order that buildings may be placed in proper fire safety condition, the city manager stated.

The inspection is being conducted by members of the fire department under direction of Fire Chief Finace Dyer.

The city manager also said Chief Dyer has completed the department's first session of in-service training for all fire fighters. The training program began in September and ended on Oct. 31 with 1,708 man-hours of training in the proper execution of fire-fighting techniques.

The city manager stated the new program was instituted by Chief Dyer to more adequately provide fire protection for Pampa citizens.

In his monthly report to the mayor and city commission, the city manager noted that use of facilities and Lovett Memorial Library increased 12 per cent in October over the same month last year.

Guard Optimism

In Saigon, both American and South Vietnamese officials were described as "guardedly optimistic" that the Saigon government would send a delegation to the Paris talks. "Things are still moving," one Saigon government source said.

U.S. officials said they were going ahead with preparations for the talks and expected Saigon to join them in due course. Chief U.S. negotiator W. Averell Harriman met with his staff Saturday at the U.S. Embassy on arrangements for the broadened talks.

Allied diplomatic sources close to the U.S. negotiators said Saturday that the imminent agreement between Washington and Saigon would spell out their roles in military and political discussion with the Hanoi governments and representatives of the National Liberation front, the Viet Cong's political arm.

Saigon until now has refused to enter into any talks in which the Viet Cong has an independent role. It wants the Viet Cong to act as part of the North Vietnamese delegation.

Reds Insist

Both Vietnamese Communist delegations have insisted that the accord for expanded talks worked out last month with the United States in advance of the bombing halt involved four-way talks with independent and equal status for Hanoi, the Viet Cong, Saigon and Washington.

The United States, however, has insisted the agreement provided only for expanded two-way talks in which Washington and Hanoi would be allowed to invite the South Vietnamese and the Viet Cong respectively to join their delegations.

Allied sources said they expected agreement would be based on the U.S. "our side-you side" formula, which would leave enough ambiguity for both the Viet Cong and Saigon to interpret their status as they wish, without a loss of face.

Saigon, according to these sources, would be given a major role on the American side, especially in matters involving a political settlement of the war. Hanoi and the NLF were expected to enter the talks insisting they are separate delegations although the United States and the South Vietnamese would consider them as one.

Eyewitnesses Cropping Up In Tangled Ray Case

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—The mixed up case against James Earl Ray in the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. showed every sign this week of becoming even more tangled before a single word of testimony is ever heard in court.

Since Ray unceremoniously dumped Arthur J. Hanes as defense attorney and hired Percy Foreman last Tuesday, the case has quickly taken on these elements:

- Would-be eyewitnesses, one an 11-year-old Negro boy, are cropping up to say they saw the assassin.
- Attorneys, brothers, defendant and authors are squabbling over who should make how much money out of the case.
- Arthur Hanes is negotiating to sell his story of Ray's defense to Life Magazine, and refusing to turn over his files, if he has any, to Foreman, who presumably could read them in Life if he wanted to.
- It appears possible that Hanes may have been hired only as an ingredient to add more racial tension to the April 4 slaying of the nation's major civil rights figure.
- A mysterious and phony chase broadcast over police radio and thought to be possible evidence of a conspiracy may have been the irresponsible prank of two teen-aged ham radio operators.

Bomb Scare Makes Trouble For Two States

HALTOM CITY, Tex. (UPI)—A bomb that was not really a bomb had repercussions as far away as Fort Sill, Okla., Friday, but police said Saturday they still had not discovered the identity of the would-be robber who started all the trouble.

Detective E.M. Flow said Saturday a "bomb" placed on a shelf in Buddies Supermarket No. 2 was really only five sticks dipped in wax and painted red but it took about six hours and a 300-mile round trip by a military demolition crew to make the discovery.

Bob Davis, substitute night manager of the supermarket, said a man called him early Friday night and asked whether garage doors open.

"Then he told me he had placed some dynamite in our building and that he could push a button and blow the whole thing up," Davis said.

Barnes Surpasses LBJ, Connally As State's Biggest Vote-Getter

By DAVID ANDERSON
 AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—At the age of 30, Texas House Speaker Ben Barnes has surpassed men like Lyndon B. Johnson and John B. Connally to become the biggest vote-getter in Texas history.

Barnes got 1,967,021 votes in the general election, 66,000 more than any man ever received in Texas before.

Barnes got 72 per cent of the vote, the biggest margin ever racked up by any Democrat who had an active Republican opponent. He carried every county in the state.

He got 300,000 more votes than Gov.-elect Preston Smith and 500,000 more than Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

The previous record holder was Waggoner Carr, who got 1,901,038 in 1964 while running for re-election as attorney general against a Republican who did not wage a vigorous campaign. Connally got 1,877,793 votes in 1964, also against a token candidate.

Johnson received 1,663,185 Texas votes in 1964 against Barry Goldwater. That was the biggest vote total he ever amassed in his home state.

Barnes also led the ticket in the Democratic primary last spring. He got 1,221,050 votes, even though he had two opponents, and carried every county in that election also.

No single factor—except possibly his youth—accounts for his success.

In the general election, he ran ahead of other Democrats in Republican precincts as well as precincts that always go Democratic. He did considerably better than Smith in some Negro and Mexican-American bases.

Unfortunately, there are no "youth" precincts to document his appeal to young voters.

However, pre-election straw votes on college campuses indicate young people liked Barnes better than they liked other Democrats.

Republican Richard Nixon and GOP gubernatorial candidate Paul Eggers did much better in the campus polls than they did in the election, but in most of those surveys students moved back to the Democratic column to support Barnes.

Another difference between Barnes and other state-level Democrats was the fact that Barnes identified himself with the national Democratic ticket and campaigned for Humphrey.

This may have helped him in some "brass-collar" Democrat areas, but it would not explain his appeal to Republicans.

Barnes showed strength in cities and rural areas alike.

Of the four largest cities, Humphrey carried only one and Smith only two, but Barnes won them all.

Barnes even carried Amarillo, where both Humphrey and Smith got beat about 2-1.

Nixon Spends Restful Day

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI)—Surrounded by a stiff security buffer zone, President-elect Richard M. Nixon combined rest with work Saturday, leisurely selecting his future White House staff.

Nixon appointed two speech writers and researchers to the second rung of his future administration. Both men aided Nixon in the name capacity during his campaign.

Named as "special" White House assistants were Raymond K. Price Jr., 38, a former editorial writer for the defunct New York Herald Tribune, and Patrick J. Buchanan Jr., 30, a former editorial writer for the St. Louis Globe Democrat.

RIDE 'EM COWBOY — Tracy Greenwood plays cowboy on the back of a toy horse at his home in Velma, Okla. The 5-year-old youngster has been named 1968 March of Dimes National Poster Child, symbolizing more than 250,000 American babies born each year with birth defects. Born with spina bifida (open spine) and hydrocephalus (water on the brain), Tracy began life with a slim chance for survival. Now, however, after five major operations, he can walk with the aid of braces and crutches and enjoys roughhousing with his older brother.

Prairie Trails & Pioneer Tales

By TRACY D. CARY
Chairman, Gray County Historical Survey Committee — Box 676

Our sincere thanks to all those who wrote cards and letters of phoned to inquire why "Prairie Trails" was missing the last two weeks... the first reason is that the Gray County Historical Survey Committee members were very busy preparing reports and the Book of Achievement representing the Committee's work & projects for the past year to be sent to the 1968 Annual Meeting of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee and its private affiliate, the Texas Historical Foundation... and the second is that the delegates from Gray County which included Mrs. Fred Thompson, Mrs. Mary Ann McCloskey, and me, were enroute to San Antonio for the convention.

From all over this great state came delegates of the 254 County Survey Committees which direct the work of historical promotion on the local level.

Highlight of the meeting was an address by Governor John Connally, in which he stressed the importance of appreciation and preservation of Texas heritage. The Governor was accompanied by Mrs. Connally, who was presented with an award by the State Historical Survey Committee for her efforts in the restoration of the Governor's Mansion at Austin. Mrs. Connally's acceptance speech made all of us aware that she is one of the most gracious and charming first ladies of all time... the only thing marring this wonderful evening at the Institute of Texan Cultures was that the spring on my camera broke just as I was about to take Governor Connally's picture...

Sharing our table at this dinner was Miss Louise Kelley, representative of the Wichita County Committee from Wichita Falls... Miss Kelley is a retired teacher and a walking encyclopedia of Texas history, especially that of the middle Red River and Peace River areas. She is a first cousin of Ann Clayton Kay of Pampa, her mother being a sister of Mrs. Mary Leech Clayton and her father a brother to Mrs. Ewing Leech, whose late husband was formerly Gray County Tax Assessor & Collector... Mrs. Leech now makes her home at Abilene.

All business sessions were conducted at the historic Gunter Hotel, which is built on the site of Robert E. Lee's headquarters when he was Commandant of the Post of San Antonio prior to the War Between the States... Emil Huber, director of the Program Field Services Division of the Office of Metropolitan Development, Department of Housing and Urban Development, discussed ways and means of acquiring Federal grants for historical preservation projects from HUD.

Between two of the morning sessions we had a memorable visit with Mrs. Mary Moody Northern, a member of the Galveston County delegation... Mrs. Northern was one of our hosts at the 1967 Annual State Meeting in Galveston and both privately and in her capacity as an officer of the Moody Foundation has been in the vanguard of historical restoration both in her home city and throughout the state... one of the beautiful historic landmarks in Galveston is the Bishop's Palace, formerly the Gresham Home... the official residence of Rt. Rev. John Morkovsky, formerly Bishop of Amarillo and now head of the Diocese of Houston-Galveston... the Palace was recently refurbished with many priceless antiques during a changeover in administration, and Mrs.

Northern told of the pleasure she had in escorting Col. Gresham's daughter back to the old home at its re-opening for an evening in the gracious manner of the great houses of old Galveston... at the 1967 meeting we were privileged to attend a tea at the Palace... adding another memorable event to our associations there... my first trip to Galveston was as an eight-year-old boy and it was in the lobby of the Galvez Hotel that my father, then Gray County Judge, introduced me to Governor James Allred.

An entirely new historical concept for Texas, "Historic Zoning" was discussed in detail by Miss Margaret Gething of the San Antonio Conservation Society. The Society was active in getting San Antonio's King William area of historic homes designated a "historic district" by the City Council—the first such in Texas... this area, 30 blocks square, was begun in the prosperous 1850's by the wealthy German merchant-businessmen of San Antonio who named the main street, "King William Street" after Kaiser Wilhelm I of Germany... the delegates were taken on a tour of several of these elegant restorations, some just begun.

Another interested historian who went along with us on the tour was Miss Ima Hogg of Houston... She and Mrs. Northern have done more than any other individuals in Texas to financially promote its program of historic restoration... the afternoon was extremely hot, as if it were the middle of July and many of the younger delegates were showing fatigue, but not Miss Ima... as I held the gate open for her to enter one of the homes on our tour, she showed not the slightest sign of being wearied, and although she uses a walking cane, her step was firm and agile as she mounted the steps of the home.

One cannot but marvel at the foresight of early San Antonians in preserving their early landmarks... the evidence is everywhere and this historic enrichment is nowhere more prominent than at Mission San Jose... the chairman of the Carson County Historical Survey Committee, Mrs. Ralph Randel, and I were captivated by the Mission begun in 1720, 56 years before the Declaration of Independence, and as we walked through the mission complex, homes of the Indians, workshops, granary, mill and the exquisite church we commented on the fact that here was a church 248 years old and still in use as a parish house of worship! Had these early San Antonians followed the modern practice of demolishing their churches every 50 years or so to make way for "modernized" structures then Texas & the nation would have been deprived of

Center Wrap-Up

George Smith, Director
Pampa Youth and Community Center

TEEN DANCE — Attention all teenagers. The Center has just received word from Mike Evans, manager of Johnny and Joe, that if we can sell 400 advance tickets to their performance by Nov. 20 they will provide another band in addition to Tyme. This will mean two bands and two top name performers appearing on one program. This will be the biggest show ever to come to Pampa.

one of its richest cultural links with the past.

None of our ancient landmarks compares, of course, with the sacred Alamo... Miss Octavia L. West, a retired San Antonio history teacher and attendant at the Alamo was extremely helpful in pointing out various features and facts about the chapel that were not generally known, showed me the book containing the signatures of all the International dignitaries who had visited the Alamo, including that of Calvin Coolidge, who was President when I was born... also Presidents Roosevelt, Kennedy, Johnson and many more... there is much more to the Alamo story, but as Ken McClure used to say, "that's 30 for now!"

This will all be a part of the Nov. 27 Thanksgiving special from 7:30 to 11 p.m. Advance tickets are only $1.75, but at the door on Nov. 27 they will be $2.25, so buy your ticket before Nov. 21. Advance sells deadline is Nov. 20 at 10 p.m.

Johnny and Joe are two of the elite performers in the Hollywood trade. They are recommended by GAC of Los Angeles, the world's largest entertainment company.

Johnny Thomas and Joe Walker have made appearances with such artists as Sonny and Cher, the Everly Brothers and the Young Rascals, to name a few. They were regulars on the past Shindig and Hullabaloo TV shows and have just finished a part in a new movie, starring James Stewart and Patty Duke, which will be released in March.

They have just returned by Hawaii route where they were working with the Monkees. All in all, this will be a tremendous show as they will make two miss it.

Also, we have every Friday night a teen dance for those interested in this activity. The schedule so far is Nov. 22 the Mojos; Nov. 27 Johnny and Joe; Dec. 6 the Mojos; Dec. 13 Tyme; Dec. 20 the Mojos; Dec.

24 Tyme; Dec. 27 The Gentry's and Dec. 31 Tyme.

SWIM LESSONS — The Center is still in the process of teaching swim lessons. This is a year-round program because of the indoor heated swimming pool. Lessons during the school year are taught on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Fridays for 2½-week sessions. Two classes are taught each day from 4-5 and 5-6 p.m.

The Center follows the Red Cross Swim Program which includes beginners, advanced beginners, intermediates, swimmers, Jr. and Sr. lifesaving, plus the Water Safety Instructors course. Jackie Marlar, noted W.S.I., instructs all the classes. To enroll you need only come by the Center and sign up. Classes are free to Center members and $4 for non-members.

under the watchful eye of Tim Joe, who owns the Amarillo School of Judo. Only men and boys are invited to participate.

Q I have received a bill in the amount of 98c which I wish to pay by check. Is it legal to write a check for less than $1 and what is the method for writing it?
—Miss G. W.

A. A "cents only" check is perfectly legal and the cancelled check is a valid receipt. Immediately following the "$" sign, write-in (in figures) the number of cents as a fraction of 100 i.e., "98/100." On the line where you ordinarily spell-out the number of dollars, spell-out the number of cents, i.e., "ninety-eight cents only." Follow the same procedure for any amount less than one dollar.

Apollo 8 Spacemen Calm About Flight

By EDWARD K. DELONG
SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Discounting Russian fears about space radiation, America's Apollo 8 moonflight crew Saturday described their Christmas voyage in lunar orbit as a simple mission and said it will pave the way and lessen the risks for a U.S. moon landing next year.

Astronauts Frank Borman, James Lovell and William Anders said their mission—which will carry them 10 times around the moon on Christmas eve—has its share of risks. But Borman, the commander, said it is planned conservatively to overcome the risks.

"I don't think we're biting more than we can chew," Borman said at a news conference. "I'm not concerned at all."

Apollo 8 is scheduled to start its half-million mile flight to the moon Dec. 21 and drop into the Pacific Ocean a week later. The main reason for flying the mission, Lovell said, is to check the ability of a spacecraft to navigate in lunar orbit.

Not Upset
The astronauts said they were not upset about spending Christmas away from their families and that they would probably celebrate some time after the flight.

The crew will track and photograph sites on the moon where other astronauts could land next year, probably in July on Apollo 11.

"I think we take our proportionate share of the risk to make the next flight that much safer," Anders said.

Anders promised the crew would televise live back to earth views of the three-quarters full earth visible from Apollo 8 on the way to the moon and the crescent sliver of blue earth the crew will see coming home.

Lovell said they also will present live TV shows of the lunar surface and of life inside their craft.

The space agency said Saturday it had delayed completion of the flight readiness test for Apollo 8, being conducted at Cape Kennedy, so technicians could replace some deteriorating protective covers over electrical devices in the third stage of the Saturn 5 rocket.

The new test completion day is Monday, the space agency said, but the delay will not affect the planned launch date.

Borman several times expressed great confidence in the spacecraft and rocket during the news conference.

CHILDREN'S THEATER — In a scene from "Toby Tyler at the Circus," Edwin Child as Bobo the Clown, practices one of his circus routines. Pampa Fine Arts Association will present the circus play and two other children's plays with adult actors from the National Children's Theater of New York and Dallas. "Toby Tyler" will be performed Dec. 4 in Robert E. Lee Junior High School auditorium.

KIDDIE BAGS — Show discussing this year's drive for the "Kiddie Bag Campaign," sponsored by the Salvation Army, is Mrs. Jesse Duncan, Thelma Bray, Mrs. David Tucker, and Capt. Jess Duncan, of Pampa's Salvation Army. Each year the SA sponsors the drive to fill the bags with toys and candies and fruit for the underprivileged children.

Police Investigate 'Hot Check' Case

Police are investigating the forgery and passing of a $27.68 check stolen from the purse of a high school girl Friday.

The check was passed at Floyd's Kwik Stop Grocery, 407 N. Cuyler, Friday afternoon.

The high school girl to whom the check was made out said she had the check in her wallet Friday and that her wallet was placed in an unlocked locker at the high school.

She said she believed the check was taken from the wallet sometime Friday afternoon.

In other police news Friday afternoon and Saturday:

—Mrs. Jim Griffith of 1218 Mary Ellen reported someone had apparently entered her residence during school hours Friday and taken 16 Kennedy half dollars, two or three silver dollars and a Mexican peso.

—An irate Pampa woman phoned police Friday night to complain that her common-law husband had beaten her up and taken her dog and a set of house keys. Informed that police could do nothing unless she filed charges, she immediately declared that she would. Police, however, said the woman apparently had second thoughts. She was last seen in a local tavern arguing with her husband over the dog, according to a police report.

Three Injured In Car Wreck

Three persons were taken to a Pampa hospital Saturday afternoon following a car-truck collision on Highway 70, four miles south of Pampa.

According to Highway Patrolman Ken Evans, who investigated the accident, a car driven by Sam Joyner, Jr., 57, Lawton, and a truck driven by Marion C. Martin, 211 N. Neel, collided in the intersection.

Evans said the Joyner vehicle was traveling north on the highway and the truck, owned by Chase Oilfield Servicing Co., was going east on a county road when the collision occurred.

Martin was hospitalized with a head injury and Joyner's wife, Hazel, 47, and 13-year-old daughter, Judy, were taken to the hospital by Duenkel ambulance with cuts and bruises.

Pair Assessed Jail Sentences

Two men were assessed sentences in 31st Judicial District Court here Friday by Judge Grainger McIlhenny after they waived their rights to a trial by jury, pleaded guilty and waived the 10-day waiting period for sentencing.

David Lee Hale, 21, of Pampa, was given a 3-year term in the state penitentiary, and L. J. Stover, 19, of Paris, was assessed a 5-year sentence.

Hale was convicted for driving a motor vehicle without the owner's consent. The incident occurred here on Sept. 24. Hale was on parole from the state penitentiary at the time.

Stover was accused of a burglary here last March. He admitted the burglary to Paris (Tex.) police after being apprehended there for a burglary.

In addition to the 5-year sentence assessed here, he was given a 3-year sentence from Lamar County.

Children's Theater Ducat Drive Slated

Pampa Fine Arts Association, here by the National Children's Theater of New York and Dallas.

Tuesday for three children's theater plays to be performed

"Monday, parents of all school children are to receive letters explaining the plays, which are first to be performed here for children by professional adult actors," Mrs. Elbert Walker, chairman, said.

Dates for the plays are Dec. 4 for "Toby Tyler at the Circus," Feb. 19, 1969, for "Sleeping Beauty," and April 23, 1969, for "Dick Whittington and his Cat." All the plays will be performed in Robert E. Lee Junior High School auditorium for pre-school and elementary school age children, she said.

"Toby Tyler," the first in this series will play in more than 80 cities and could be called "ten weeks in a circus" written in 1880 by James Otis, the play is the story of Toby Tyler, a boy who joins the circus, temporarily.

Season tickets are $1.50 for all three plays. Individual tickets may be sold at the door for 75 cents for each play. Reservations may also be made by calling John McCausland, MO 5-2961, or by calling Mrs. Walker, 4-7719, she said.

The earth's diameter is at the equator about 7,926 miles; through the poles its diameter is 7,899 miles.

Mass Hypnosis the Answer To All World's Problems

By NOEL GROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — If riots, demonstrations, campaigns and commercials have your mind flogged to a baffled frazzle and you ache for an easy explanation for it all, relief may be just a paragraph away.

Mass hypnosis, that's the answer to just about everything in movements these days, says mentalist and television showman Kreskin, who breezed into town recently and promptly called a press conference to announce his conclusions about political life, social unrest and related subjects.

It may sound like pure mumbo-jumbo to hard-nosed politicians of the old baby-kissing, glad-handing school, and to the authors of the Kerner Report. But Harry Houdini, after all, testified before a congressional hearing in the 1920s about the effect of sorcery on office holders; the House Un-American Activities Committee has been witch-hunting for years, and when the Association to Advance Ethical Hypnosis holds its 13th annual convention in Washington, D.C. everyone might as well get into the act.

"Actually, there's no such thing as a hypnotic trance," says Kreskin, which right away tags him as a sort of New Leftist in the school of mesmerism. "Electro-encephalograph tests have shown that brain waves of a person supposedly under hypnosis are the same as when they are awake.

"This does not mean something out of the ordinary isn't happening, that the subject is faking. But the whole thing is imagination — not a hypnotic trance, but hypnotic suggestion. You can make a person believe anything if they are properly receptive."

Crowds, of course, are particularly receptive, he points out, and adds that "either the techniques used in handling crowds these days are intentional hypnotic techniques, or it is a fantastic coincidence."

"Look at the riots, with their repeated chanting of certain key words and phrases," he says, warming to his subject, "the upraised hands thrust forward, rhythmically, in the V sign."

Television commercials, of course, are the cannies of all. And to hear Kreskin talk, one would think that at the same time the government was nabbing German rocket scientists after World War II, the television boys must have been snatching up all the gypsy spiritualists in southern Bohemia.

"Those commercials for headache relief," he says, "the pendulum swinging slowly, the voice droning 'pain... pain... headache pain... It's obviously the work of professional hypnotists."

And those were not just campaign slogans that were shouted and repeated on the hustings, says Kreskin. They were "code words" designed to jar you off your pedestal of personal identity and into the pit of the fog-minded follower. The outstretched hands, the apparent growing need of crowds to touch a candidate, all are the work of an emotionalism overcharged by hypnotic suggestion, he says.

There have been other names for it, of course — charisma, crowd psychology, mob mentality — but if Kreskin wants to call it hypnosis, that's show biz. And he does carry rather impressive credentials in that department, including the supreme compliment from Phyllis Diller, who said he is a male witch and should be burned at the stake.

But putting a hypnosis tag on today's public relations gimmickry may be a bit much for the home folks who still associate such terms with sparks flying out of the fingers of Mandrake the Magician. Besides, it makes one wonder about those who sought a movement and failed to achieve their goals.

Unless it can be established that sometime before the Democratic convention some souvenir-hunting kid snatched Gene McCarthy's pendulum. And in the frantic speech-making before Miami Beach, Nelson Rockefeller muffed his code words.

These dividends will be payable Jan. 1, 1969 to stockholders of record at the close of business Dec. 13, 1968.

Selective Service Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE: Below are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 200 W. 9th Austin, Texas 78701. He will welcome your questions.

Q—I have taken my pre-induction examination and have passed. I did not know I could take a medical statement to this examination. I've now sent the statement about the defect of the draft board. Is it to be considered?
A—No. Your statement will still receive consideration.

Q—Must a man request a college student deferment each year?
A—No. Only the first. It is your duty, however, to show the board each year you are satisfactorily pursuing a full time course of instruction.

Q—My son is planning to enter a local junior college. In such a college considered an institution of higher learning? Can a junior college student get a II-S deferment?
A—A junior college is an institution of higher learning. If a student takes a full-time course and the credits are acceptable by an institution granting a baccalaureate degree, the student is eligible for classification in class II-S. If the student is taking only a vocational or two-year terminal course, his classification is II-A if a deferment is granted.

Q—Since taking my pre-induction physical examination, I have lost the vision in one eye. What should I do?
A—Obtain a statement from your doctor setting forth his clinical findings and give this to your draft board. This will be evaluated either by the board's medical advisor or the armed forces examining station.

The Prairie Wind

By CLEO TOM TERRY

On the television screen country on twisting, ring-tailed horses (or even mares!) that a real cowhand wouldn't be caught dead on.

Actually, they came in lots of ways. I came in a covered wagon when I was two years old with my parents, from Collingsworth County where my dad had run his father's LF Jones small ranch.

Ace Holland walked in, carrying a skillet instead of a six-shooter but still living off the country—plotting his own trail, wading or swimming creeks, drying out by cow chip fires later.

The polish pioneers of White Deer walked to the Plains too, from down around Fredericksburg, where they first settled when they came to America. J.W. (Will) Moore and Jim Kizer "fiddled" their way in. They hit the Matador Ranch on the night of one of their famous "balls" (dances were almost always called balls back then), and they couldn't have struck it richer! They made so much money at that dance, just helping fill in that they decided they'd just ease along and try to make it to ranch headquarters about the last of every week. Cowboys liked to dance, and most generally Jim and Will had cowboys high-tailing it in every direction to see a dance. There never were enough girls, and "instant girls" were made by the simple act of tying a bandana or handkerchief around the arm of some of the cowboys so there'd be enough "girls" for dance partners. If the neckerchiefed cowboys were good "followers" and didn't try to "lead", they were just about popular as the real girls—more popular than the girls who weren't good dancers for the cowboys ranked being a good dancer right next to being a good horse-back rider in the manner of necessary compliments!

So in the year 1893 two fiddlers made their way up into the Panhandle. Jim Kizer had been pretty rough and ready. Not that dancing made him so. Everyone danced and the dancers, even in my youth, were as apt to be partners with a little six or seven year-old girl, or an old grandpappy or grandmother as with anyone else.

Dances, picnics with baseball games and horse-races, and bronc ridings, and protracted meetings in the summer-time or anytime anyone could round up a preacher—that, together with the Sunday school and the spelling matches in the schoolhouse were the recreation of the pioneers. And everybody went to everything!

Jim, however, was really rough in some ways, being a hard drinking man and not giving God the place he should have had in his life, so that years later when he became a preacher himself he wrote a hymn about the change in his life.

Branded our late calves a week ago Saturday. Except for lope and Cowboy had bucked the time Tam was in 4H with him. We ate him out for competition in Canyon, this was the first time we didn't have all three grandchildren the night before the branding; used to sometimes have our son and daughter-in-law too. This time only the two boys came, though the granddaughter showed up with her daddy before they started branding the next morning. Two little boys, Eilly Bob Terry and Roy Don Creasy, jumped on Cowboy and Ol' Blue to see who could reach Billy Bob's hat, which had blown off, first. Starting at a run, Billy Bob didn't take up on his reins so Cowboy started for the Penned cows, and when BeBo did try to pull up to change directions Cowboy pulled up but Eilly Bob kept on going. Tonya and I really "hurrahed" him; Cowboy used to be hers so the granddaughter knew the old roping-horse, and knew he could jolt you. Billy Bob was sort of embarrassed at the kidding, but he probably wouldn't have been if he'd known how many of the cowboys present had left their horses unexpectedly.—Billy Bob had already had a little trouble. Early in the morning, instead of trotting his 24-year old horse around to warm the "colt" up, he'd jumped him right into a lope and Cowboy had bucked with him. We ate him out for it, because that is no way to treat a horse.

Two very wonderful persons are gone physically from our midst. Sylvia Lane, whose three daughters live in Pampa and whose husband, Dale Lane, was for a number of years sheriff of Hutchinson County, died last week in Highland General Hospital. Even in pain she was so brave and so concerned for others. And Dave Preston is gone. When I think of Dave, I think of the word "neighbor" for he was all that a good neighbor should be and more. He left a big void in the hearts not only of his family and in his neighborhood but back around Skellytown where he lived for so many years. There just aren't very many people like him anymore—probably there never were, even when people were entirely dependent on their neighbors.

Death of President-Elect Could Create Problems

By MIKE FEINSILBER
WASHINGTON (UPI) — On Jan. 6, Hubert H. Humphrey, acting in his constitutional capacity as president of the Senate, will open certificates from the electors of the 50 states in the presence of Congress and declare that Richard M. Nixon has been elected president of the United States—if all goes well.

Contemplation of the course of possible events if all does not go well inevitably arises from such news as the arrest on Nov. 8 of three Yemeni Arabs on charges of plotting to assassinate Nixon.

No president-elect has ever died or been killed, but attempts were made on the lives of John F. Kennedy and Franklin D. Roosevelt between their election and inauguration. President-elect Abraham Lincoln was under such threat that he was spirited into Washington on a re-routed train while cloaked in woman's garb to escape detection by would-be assassins.

The constitution is clear about the course of events if a president-elect dies after his selection by the Electoral College but before his inauguration. The 20th Amendment, adopted in 1933, provides, "if, at the time fixed for the beginning of the term of the president, the president-elect shall have died, the vice president-elect shall become president."

Must Cast Ballots

But technically there is no president-elect until after the electors of the 50 states cast their ballots on the first Monday after the second Wednesday in December—this year, Dec. 16.

And since precedent is absent and the constitution silent about what would happen if the winner of a presidential election dies before the electors cast their ballots, the course is by no means clear and the avenue to some high-stakes politicking for the presidency is wide open.

The electors of the winning party would be free to vote for whomever they pleased.

Some electors—those of 15 states—are directed by state law to vote for the candidate under whose name they were selected. But there has always been controversy over whether state laws can actually bind the electors. Since the Constitution provides that the electors are to vote by ballot, its implication is that they are free agents. From time to time, a handful of electors have voted independent of the election results without penalty or causing disruption.

Routine Adoption

Both political parties at their conventions routinely adopt resolutions enabling the parties' National Committees to fill vacancies in their presidential tickets.

Presumably, if a president-elect or a vice president-elect or both died between the election and the mid-December meeting of the Electoral College, their party's National Committee would select a new nominee or nominees.

The National Committee—in each party composed of more than 100 members—might choose to elevate the vice presidential candidate to first place.

The committee's meeting could very well turn into a battle for the presidency far more vicious than any convention. The new nominee might easily be someone other than the candidate's choice of a running mate.

Nor would the nominee who emerged necessarily command the loyalty of the party's electors. They might split their votes in several directions.

Some might vote for the vice presidential nominee on the grounds that he, after all, was elected to national office by the vote of the people.

Some Might Defect

Others might defect from party lines and cast their ballots for the opposition party's presidential candidate on the grounds that he, after all, was the presidential choice of a great number of voters.

Those who felt bound by law or custom might vote for the deceased candidate. In a close election, the likelihood of an Electoral College deadlock, with no man winning the required 270 electoral votes, seems strong.

That would throw the election into the House of Representatives which would be required to choose from among the three candidates with the most electoral votes. In such an election, each state delegation has one vote, to be cast as the majority of its members decide.

On Nov. 6, the Republicans won control of 19 state delegations, five were evenly split and the Democrats won 26—the minimum needed to win the presidency in a vote of the House.

But in the five Deep South states won by George C. Wallace, a number of congressional candidates vowed to vote in the House, if it came to that, for the presidential candidate who carried their districts. All of these states have Democratic-controlled House delegations.

House Could Accommodate

With bargaining again in play, an accommodation possibly might be reached in the House to enable one of the presidential candidates to win the required 26 delegations.

If the House deadlocked and the Electoral College had given 270 votes to a vice presidential candidate he would assume the presidency as acting president under the terms of the Constitution's 20th Amendment.

The amendment says, "if a president shall not have been chosen before the time fixed for the beginning of his term . . . then the vice president-elect shall act as president until a president shall have qualified."

In the event of the death of a vice presidential candidate on the winning ticket, the same process would come into play, with the National Committee of the winning party designating a candidate, the Electoral College voting and, if the electors fail to cast 270 votes for one man, the senate choosing a vice president from the two candidates with the most electoral votes.

Democrat Likely

With the Senate under heavy Democratic control this year, the Democratic candidate would be the Senate's likely choice.

In the event that both the president-elect and the vice president-elect died after the meeting of the Electoral College, Congress would have a choice of actions. It could either allow the Succession Act of 1947 to take effect, making the speaker of the House the acting president or, under the 20th Amendment, it could pass new legislation filling the vacancy some other way—perhaps by providing for a new election.

The constitutional amendment proposed by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., providing for the abolition of the Electoral College and the direct election of the president by popular vote also deals with the crisis arising from the death of the winner of a presidential election by giving Congress authority to establish a procedure.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—"The factor that most likely will be the key to the economy and investor sentiment over the next several months will be the degree of monetary restraint pursued by the Federal Reserve Board," Blair & Co. observes. It says a more restrictive monetary policy probably will continue in effect "until there are definitive indications that inflationary pressures are moderating," adding that "while the widely expected slowdown has not as yet developed, investment policy has already been geared to this likelihood, reducing the risk of any extended market reaction."

Hayden, Stone forecasts a market pause "until a clearer picture of next year's political scene develops" and thinks that a quiet period might well "stimulate a further strong rise later on carrying toward the year end." "Moreover," the firm notes, "since stocks rarely perform in unison and the response to singularly bullish corporate news developments

STORMY STORK

At West Mystic, Conn., the raging wind and snow storm that hit the east coast and New England this week didn't stop the stork at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McNeil. The usual route to the main highway leading to Westerly Hospital was cut off by flooding outside their home overlooking the Mystic River. So the couple hopped into the family rowboat and were towed to safety by a neighbor, James Gilman. Mrs. McNeil got to the hospital in time to give birth to her fourth child, a girl.

ABOUT SHINGLES (HERPES ZOSTER)

Shingles is a virus infection attacking the nerves. Usually it is a "one-sided" disease, since nerves branching out of the spinal cord spread out on each side. It is characterized by a vesicular eruption and severe neuralgia pains arising in the affected nerve root ganglia.

Shingles are more frequent in males and while it may happen to anyone, it is more common after 50. After about the fifth day the eruptions usually dry up and scab. A painful neuralgia may last for years. Diagnosis is difficult in the pre-eruptive stage. A physician is needed.

Income Tax Questions, Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE— This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the Pampa office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published by The News as a public service to taxpayers.

Q—I started working this Fall. Will enough be taken out of my paycheck to cover the new surtax as well as the regular income tax?

A—For most people, withholding will be sufficient to satisfy their federal tax liabilities this year as it has in the past. Withholding rates were adjusted in July to take care of the tax surcharge. As you started work after that date, tax will have been withheld at rates set to satisfy your federal income tax liability. The new tax surcharge will have an effective rate of 7½ percent in 1968. Although the tax surcharge rate is 10 percent it is in effect for only 9 months of the year for individuals. The surcharge on corporation income is in effect for the entire 12 months of 1968.

Q—I've made a substantial pledge to my church's building fund. Can I take this deduction on my 1969 return if it is to my advantage?

A—Deductions for charitable contributions can only be taken for the tax year they are actually paid. If you pay all or part of your pledge this year then you must take the deduction on your 1968 return for the amount actually paid. To take the deduction on your 1969 return you should postpone your payments until 1969.

Craig, Defense Sends Pampa by LHS, 7-6

By RON CROSS
Sports Editor

A titanic effort by Pampa's defense and a 150 per cent effort by senior Dan Craig carried the Harvesters to a 7-6 victory over Lubbock, here Friday night and ninth place in District 4-4A.

Craig raced 34 yards for the only touchdown of his high school career with 1:58 to play after blocking a Lubbock kick to give Pampa its first win after eight straight defeats.

Craig rushed the Lubbock punter, blocked the ball, picked it up at the Westerner 34 yard line and ran untouched into the end zone.

Senior Johnny Stokes then booted home the most important extra point of his life to give the Harvesters a final 2-8 season record and 1-4 district mark.

The loss for Lubbock was its ninth against one win and made them 0-5 in district competition, good for 10th and last place.

Pampa was out-first-downed, out-rushed and out-passed but the Harvester defense showed its stuff in the second half, allowing Lubbock only three of its 15 first downs, all of them in the third quarter.

Besides that the Harvesters picked off three Lubbock passes, two by Mike Stephens and the other by senior Hal Clabaugh and recovered one Lubbock fumble with Eddie Hopkins, another senior, coming up with the ball.

By the same token, Lubbock stopped several Pampa offense efforts with three interceptions and a fumble recovery.

Lubbock allowed Pampa only 96 total yards, as the Harvester passing game went completely astray. Quarterback Gary Parrish hit just three of 14 aeriels.

But Parrish, a senior, and Clabaugh, also a senior, were

The Westerners marched 80 yards in 13 plays with sophomore Roger Thomas playing his first game with the varsity, going the final five yards.

Steve Sandlin's try for the conversion with 10:07 left in the half was dead center but fell way short of the mark.

Lubbock carried the lead to the final two minutes when they decided to punt on a fourth and three at their own 48 yard line.

But Craig, who has been used primarily on defense the past two seasons raced in from the left side of his line to become a hero.

Pampa threatened in the first quarter when Stephens intercepted the first of his two passes and ran from his own 47 to the Lubbock 38.

Five plays moved Pampa to the Westerner 25 but Parrish had a pass intercepted to kill the threat.

Lubbock mounted one other threat in the second period, moving from its own 24 to the Pampa 31 but Stephens again picked off a Wilson Leftwich pass to stall the threat.

An onside kick attempt by Pampa starting the second half failed with Lubbock getting the ball at Pampa's 45 yard line.

Lubbock moved to the Pampa 11 in seven plays and Clabaugh alerted intercepted to give Pampa a breather.

But on the very next play Clabaugh fumbled and Lubbock recovered. But the Harvester defense stiffened and pushed the Westerners back to the 39 where they had to punt.

Pampa did get one break in the fourth period but couldn't cash in on it.

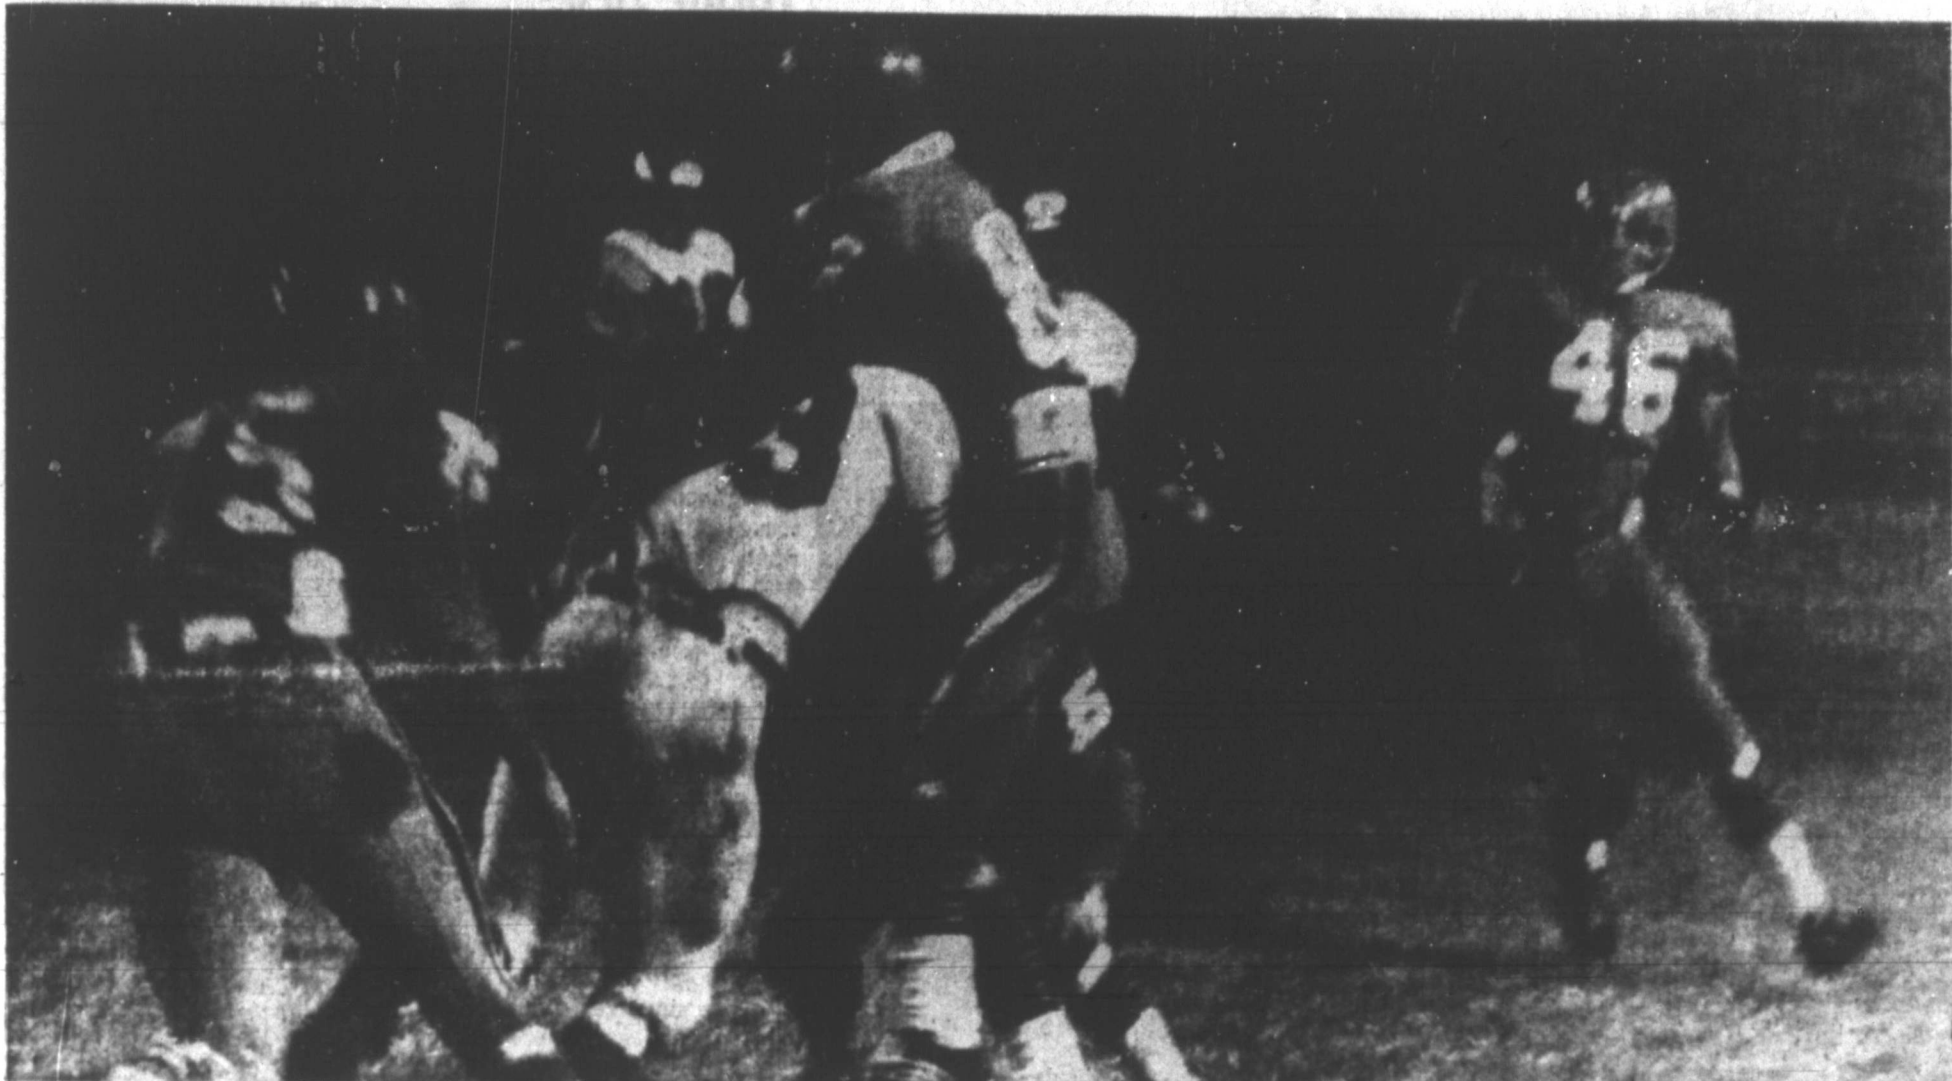

Parrish had a pass intercepted but the ball was fumbled and Hopkins recovered at midfield. But the Harvesters lost six yards and on third down the Westerners intercepted a Clabaugh pass and it looked like it was all over.

Lubbock started at their own 41 but picked up only seven yards in three plays forcing the punt.

Senior end Dan Carlton closed out a remarkable year with two catches for 23 yards to give him over 300 yards receiving for the season and another senior, Jay Johnson caught Parrish's other aerial.

Bears Hit Late, Upset Tech, 42-28

WACO, Tex. (UPI)—Fullback Pinky Palmer, whose two fumbles set up Texas Tech touchdowns, scored one touchdown himself and Gene Rogers added two more in the fourth quarter Saturday to give Baylor a 42-28 upset win and knock Tech out of the Southwest Conference lead.

Palmer carried over from the one-yard line for Baylor's go-ahead touchdown as the Bears came from behind with three fourth-quarter scores.

The Bears had tied the score earlier in the period when Rogers capped an 80-yard drive with a one-yard plunge. Rogers scored another touchdown—his third of the game—late in the quarter on a six-yard run.

Tom Sawyer and Roger Freeman had given Tech a 14-7 halftime and 28-21 third quarter leads.

Sawyer ran five yards for one score and passed five yards to Charles Evans for another in the second period. Freeman scored on runs of one and five yards in the third quarter.

Baylor took the lead on a 15-yard pass from quarterback Steve Stuart to flanker Don Huggins in the second quarter and tied it 14-14 early in the third on a 17-yard run by Rogers.

Baylor's other score came on a 14-yard pass from Palmer to end Mark Lewis.

Rogers broke a single game rushing record for the Bears as he traveled 139 yards in 24 attempts.

The loss put Tech at 4-2 in conference play and dropped them out of a four-way tie for the lead. Texas and Arkansas are tied for the lead at 5-1.

Trojans Ease by Oregon St.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—O. J. Simpson scored on a 40-yard run late in the fourth period Saturday to carry the University of Southern California into the Rose Bowl on a 17-13 Pacific-8 victory over Oregon State.

The burst around right end by Simpson put the Trojans ahead 17-7, but the battling Beavers from the Northwest came back on their first play after Simpson's touchdown with a 74-yard pass from Steve Preece to Billy Main. The Beavers missed on a two-point conversion attempt to leave the Trojans with their four-point victory margin.

Southern California was a slumbering giant for three periods and trailed 7-0 in the fourth quarter.

The Trojans got the ball they drove 55-yards to the Oregon State 11 and on fourth down Ron Ayala booted a 27-yard field goal to put USC ahead for the first time.

A pass interception by Sandy Durko put the Trojans 52 yards away from the Beavers' goal and Simpson made the entire distance climaxing his four carries with the 40-yard spurt around end.

They came the Preece-to-Main touchdown that left the crowd of 39,236 in a state of wild exhaustion.

The first score of the game was by Oregon State and it came in the third period on a 59-yard drive which Preece started with a 25-yard pass to end Roger Canton. After an 11-yard pass interference call moved the Beavers to the Trojan 23, Oregon State stayed on the ground and drove to the one where Bill Enyart plunged over.

'Hogs Hold off Mustangs, 35-29

LITTLE RICK, Ark. (UPI)—Bill Burnett scored three touchdowns and the Arkansas defense held off a frantic fourth quarter scoring surge by Southern Methodist to give the Razorbacks a 35-29 win Saturday. The win kept the Razorbacks in the middle of the fight for the Southwest Conference championship, while the loss, the second for the Mustangs in league play, practically eliminated SMU from the race.

Arkansas held SMU scoreless for the first three quarters, but the Mustangs scored 29 points in the final quarter on four touchdown passes by Chuck Hixson, the nation's leading passer.

Burnett, a sophomore who missed last week's game with a badly sprained toe, scored his three touchdowns on runs of two, five and two yards.

Sophomore quarterback Bill Montgomery tossed touched passes of three yards to flanker Chuck Dicus and five yards to fullback Bruce Maxwell to complete the Arkansas scoring.

The Razorbacks got the lead they needed in the third quarter by scoring two touchdowns within a span of 61 seconds.

Ohio State Rocks Iowa

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI) — Fullback Jim Otis, scored two touchdowns and battered the Iowa defense for 166 yards Saturday while leading second-ranked Ohio State to a 33-27 win over the Hawkeyes.

It was the sixth big ten Conference victory for the unbeaten Buckeyes, who will play Michigan next Saturday at Columbus for the conference title.

Ohio State scored on marches of 73, 70, 55, 73 and 51 yards on a cold, rainy day that made passing difficult. Quarterback Rex Kern also scored two touchdowns for the Buckeyes, who defeated Iowa for the sixth consecutive time.

Iowa, the highest scoring team in the Big Ten, rallied for all of its points in the second half after being blanked in the first 30 minutes. Quarterbacks Larry Lawrence and Mike Cilek put on a sensational passing display as Iowa tried to wipe out Ohio State's 12-0 halftime lead.

Lawrence threw two touchdown passes and ran one yard for another score.

The final Iowa touchdown came with nine seconds to play, but Ohio State managed to cover an onside kick and run out the clock.

While losing, Iowa set a season record for scoring, running its point total to 285 with one game left. The previous Hawkeye scoring record was 272 in 1958.

Ohio State powered for 337 yards on the ground and 83 more in the air. Iowa passed for 246 yards and ran for 141, with fullback Tim Sullivan grinding out 103 yards rushing.

The rain stopped midway through the game and 222 of Iowa's yards passing came in the third and fourth quarters. Sophomore Kern completed five of 12 passes and gained 66 yards running for the Buckeyes. Iowa's starting quarterback, Lawrence, completed 13 of 20 passes, including 12 of 14 in the second half. Cilek hit on seven of 11 throws.

HOUSTON (UPI) — Elmo Wright, a flashy, 6-foot, 190 pound sophomore end, caught touchdown passes of 67, 61, 43 and 13 yards Saturday night to lead 12th ranked Houston to a 77-3 victory over outclassed Idaho.

Ted Heiskell, a sophomore fullback, chipped in with three touchdowns on runs of 5, 18 and 19 yards.

Heiskell, who played for Pampa High in 1964-65, had only 13 minutes of varsity playing time previously this year, led all rushers with 207 yards in 22 carries. Gipson, who suffered his broken nose in the first quarter, had 163 in 13 carries.

Oklahoma Tightens Big Eight Race, 28-14

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI)—Steve Owens, Oklahoma's irresistible force, crumbled the sixth-ranked Missouri Tigers' defense for three touchdowns and passed a ter in a 28-14 Big Eight Conference victory Saturday that dampened the Tigers' hopes for a major bowl bid.

Owens crunched for two yards to eliminate the Sooners' first drive of the game in a touchdown and subsequently scored on two other plunges of one yard each.

The 205-pound tailback hurled his touchdown pass from the nine yard line to wingback Eddie Hinton in the fourth quarter. A similar shocker by the steam-rolling Sooner running back helped knock Kansas from its third place national ranking only a week ago.

Missouri slotback Jon Staggers, a big ground gainer himself, pegged a five-yard pass to end Chuck Webber in the end zone for Missouri's first touchdown.

Quarterback Terry McMillan dashed four yards for Missouri's second touchdown with only 26 seconds left in the game and passed to Webber for a two-point conversion. Missouri's first conversion effort failed when quarterback Garnett Phelps tumbled a low snap from center, tried to run and fell short of the goal. A sun-drenched homecoming crowd of 60,500 which included scouts from the Sugar, Orange, Cotton and Liberty bowls, saw Owens easily break Bill Vessels' 1952 Heisman trophy-winning total yardage record.

Owens pounded the beety Mis-sour line for 177 yards in 46 carries to run his season total to 1,244 yards. Vessels' old record was 1,073.

In the Sooners' opening touchdown drive, Owens carried nine times in a 12-play effort.

Going into the game, Missouri's defense had yielded only 98.6 yards rushing per game. Owens shredded this in the first half with 107 yards in 29 carries.

Staggers broke loose for some long rambles and gained 103 yards in nine running attempts.

Oklahoma rolled up a total of 274 yards on the ground, compared with 174 for the Tigers.

Sooner quarterback Bobby Warmack completed six of nine passes for 105 yards and McMillan connected on 11 of 18 for 130 yards.

Missouri and Kansas, who meet next Saturday, each have only one loss, both to Oklahoma, and Sooner victories the rest of the way would assure defending champion Oklahoma of at least a tie for the conference title.

Owens also caught a pass for 27 yards in a game also highlighted by a diving 29-yard pass reception by Oklahoma's Johnny Barr.

Oklahoma's sieve-like defense, which came of age against Kansas last week, held Missouri to 17 first downs while Oklahoma picked up 22.

Longhorns Rip Frogs

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Stampeding Steve Worster opened the door with a 100-yard first half and eighth-ranked Texas sent its Longhorns storming to a 47-21 victory over Texas Christian that kept its South-West Conference title and bowl hopes flaming.

The victory gave Texas a 5-1 conference record and left it tied with Arkansas for the league lead with only one game left against Texas A&M Thanksgiving Day. Texas needs only to beat A&M to sew up the fast cotton bowl berth.

Worster, a 204-pound sophomore bulldozer, scored but one of Texas' touchdowns, that on a two-yard run, but it was his powerful surges that set up the first two touchdowns that paved the way for Texas' seventh straight victory against a loss and a tie.

Quarterback James Street barged one yard for the first Texas touchdown, tossed 24 yards to end Charles Speyer for another, sent Chris Gilbert spinning five yards for a third and then fed to Worster for his lone tally.

Happy Feller kicked 37 and 41-yard field goals and substitute halfback Bobby Callison ambled 49 and eight yards for the other two touchdowns as reserves took over.

Billy Fondren gave the TCU homecoming crowd of 40,000 that gave Texas a 16-0 halftime lead.

The Horned Frogs scored a third touchdown against Texas reserves in the final minutes when Underwood hit Les Brown on a 52-yard pass play.

He gained 36 yards in Texas' 92-yard drive with the opening kickoff and his 42-yard burst up the middle keyed the 81-yard drive for the second and he caught 24 and 11-yard passes to set up Feller's first field goal

Aggies Handles Rice ,24-14

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—Texas A&M quarterback Edd Hargett riddled Rice defenses for 328 yards and two touchdowns Saturday to hand the winless Owls a 24-14 loss and move up to the number six spot among all time total offense leaders.

The hustling Aggie back threw passes of 11 and 30 yards to Bob Long and Larry Stegent, and directed the Aggies to an 88-yard touchdown drive on their first possession for a 21-14 first quarter lead.

Hargett's 24 completions in 4 tries gives him 4,258 yards in total career offense, moving him ahead of UCLA's Gary Beben and former Miami great George Mira. The two touchdown aerials also tied Sammy Baugh's record for the most career scoring passes at 38.

Rice, winless in eight starts this season, was in the game until Charlie Riggs booted a 26-yard field goal for A&M with 5:37 left in the game.

The five-touchdown first quarter included scoring runs of two yards each by Rice quarterback Robby Shelton and fullback Tomy Cooley.

Stegent scored the first Aggie touchdown on a 13-yard burst off tackle, capping an 89-yard drive which saw A&M cover the distance without facing a second who set a Rice record of most carries in a single game with 35, gained 128 yards for the cellar-dwelling Owls.

Intermittent rain fell during the game, which had no bearing on the Southwest Conference championships, but Hargett apparently was not bothered by the moisture.

His performance moved him to third place in all-time total yardage passing with 5,158 yards, and to fourth place in career completions with 381.

Georgia Clinches Bid With 17-3 Win

AUBURN, Ga. (UPI)—Sophomore quarterback Mike Cavan passed for one touchdown and ran for another in the closing five minutes of the first half Saturday to give the Georgia Bulldogs a 17-3 victory over the Auburn Tigers, the Southeastern Conference championship and a major bowl bid.

It was uncertain whether the fifth ranked and unbeaten Bulldogs would go to the Orange Bowl or the Sugar Bowl. It was rumored, however, they had unofficially agreed before the game to accept an unconditional Sugar Bowl bid rather than risk the Orange Bowl offer, which depended upon them beating Auburn.

Cavan threw a 22-yard touchdown pass to flanker Kent Lawrence to put Georgia into the lead for the first time with 5:15 left in the half. Then, after passing for 54 yards in a 58-yard march, Cavan sneaked across from a yard out with 58 seconds to go before intermission.

The ninth-ranked Tigers, who went into the game as the Southeastern Conference leaders but 2 1-2 point underdogs, scored first when John Riley kicked a 28-yard field goal with 6:38 elapsed in the opening period.

DON WILLIS puts the stopper on Lubbock's Richard Thomas Friday night in Pampa's 7-6 victory. Coming up to help is senior Dand Carlton. (See story, other pictures, page 7.)

Falcons Bite Tulsa, 28-8

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (UPI)—The Air Force Academy Falcons, sparked by little home-town hustler Jim Smith and blessed by two crucial Tulsa fumbles, Saturday defeated the Golden Hurricanes 28-8.

Smith, a 5-8, 168-pound safety from nearby Colorado Springs, sped 77 yards for a first-quarter punt-return touchdown and set up another first-half score with a 26-yard punt return.

Tulsa, plagued by fumbles throughout the game, did not score until the fourth quarter, when John Dobbs connected with split end David Moss on a 29-yard scoring pass.

Cold weather contributed to many lost balls during the game, but two of them proved to be Tulsa's undoing. After Smith's long first-period punt return, Glenn Leimback recovered a Tulsa fumble on Hurricane 44, the Falcons, aided by a 14-yard pass interference penalty, finally scored on a bruising three-yard run by left half Jim DeOrto.

Tulsa mounted two serious threats, once early in the first period and then again as the game ended. The first-period Hurricane charge was stopped by the Falcon defense at the nine-yard line, and Tulsa could not drive over from the one in three plays during the closing seconds.

Meredith 'Doubtful' Starter for Cowboys

By United Press International
 Washington quarterback Sonny Jurgensen wore a heavy vest-type protector last week for the Redskins' National Football League encounter with winless Philadelphia.

This Sunday, paired against Dallas and its renowned "Doomsday Defense," Jurgensen is exchanging the heavy vest for a lighter one.

That seems like just the opposite approach to take, since most rival quarterbacks—after being dumped on the ground all day by the hard-rushing Dallas defense—would think more seriously about strengthening the protection.

For Jurgensen, it's another story. He needs the protector for his injured ribs, but was unable to manipulate against the Eagles last week and took himself out of the game after only six passes. He'll wear a lighter one this week.

Cowboys Lament
 The Cowboys are 15-point favorites over Washington, but that is little solace to Dallas coach Tom Landry. Just a week ago the Cowboys were sailing along with a two-game lead over New York and were favored by 17, in a face-to-face confrontation, to extend it to three games and virtually wrap up the Capitol Division crown.

Instead, the Giants won 27-21, and Landry now will claim no more for the Cowboys other than "we are a contender in the Capitol Division."

The three other NFL divisions are even tighter. Baltimore and Los Angeles are tied for the Coastal Division lead, Chicago and Minnesota are deadlocked for the Central Division lead, and Cleveland holds a one-half game edge over St. Louis in the Century Division.

In other games Sunday, the oddsmakers have tabbed Chicago a 13-point favorite over Atlanta, Los Angeles 6 over San Francisco, Baltimore 12 over St. Louis, Minnesota 2 over Detroit, Cleveland 9 over Pittsburgh, Green Bay 14 over New Orleans, and New York 14 over Philadelphia.

Philadelphia Story
 With the prospect good of the Giants extending Philadelphia's losing streak to 10 this season, the Cowboys' situation becomes even more precarious. If Dallas should succumb to Washington, the division probably would see a two-way tie at the top.

The Washington-Dallas series has never been one in which the odds made much difference. In the 15 games between the two, the average score is 25.9 to 24.4, in Dallas' favor, and many of the deciding points have come in the last seconds. Washington leads the series 7-8.

If all the games go according to the bookmakers' schedule, only the Century Division will unlighten. Cleveland would open

Purdue Eases By M-State

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—Purdue rode the tough running of fullback Terry Williams and a rugged defense led by guard Chuck Kyle to a 9-0 conquest of Michigan State Saturday.

The Big Ten battle was turned to snow near the end, adversely affecting the footing and play execution of both teams.

Williams scored the game's only touchdown on a five-yard sweep late in the third quarter. The tally was set up by a Michigan State fumble at its own 22-yard line.

Purdue's Jeff Jones contributed a 32-yard first-quarter field goal to the Boilermakers' margin. The boot came after Michigan State had stymied a deep Boilermaker drive with a tenacious back-to-the-wall defense.

The visitors threatened to widen their gap midway through the second quarter when they drove to the Michigan State five-yard line. The drive was halted, however, by a pass interception in the end zone.

up a 1 1/2-game edge over the Cardinals.

Anything is possible—including a St. Louis victory over Baltimore, a San Francisco win over Los Angeles, a Washington verdict over Dallas, and a Cleveland-Pittsburgh tie. With the other games going according to Hoyle, that would produce a two-way tie for first in each of the four divisions.

Kansas Holds Fired-Up K-St., 38-29

MANHATTAN, Kan. (UPI)—Quarterback Bobby Douglass ran for three touchdowns and passed for a fourth to pull seventh-ranked Kansas past arch-rival Kansas State 38-29 Saturday to move back to the top of the Big Eight Conference scramble and prime contention for a bowl bid.

The victory, coupled with Oklahoma's 28-14 victory over sixth-ranked Missouri, put the Jayhawks atop the league with the Tigers, both at 5-1. Kansas and Missouri meet for a showdown next Saturday at Columbia. Oklahoma remained in the race with a 4-1 record.

Douglass scored on a five-yard run with 14:54 left in the game to put the Jayhawks ahead 31-21 and ice the triumph, after Bill Bell broke a 21-21 tie with a 41-yard field goal.

Douglass' touchdown was set up by an 83-yard scamper by fullback John Riggins, who sprinted to the Wildcat eight, 20 plays later Douglass scored.

The senior quarterback added another nine-yard scoring run midway in the final quarter to swell the count.

Kansas State, fired up by a homecoming crowd of 36,000 and hoping to wreck Kansas before Orange, Sugar, and Cotton bowl scouts, used two third period fumbles to grab the 21-21 tie.

Kansas' Tom Anderson fumbled a punt on his own 15 and Forrest Wells recovered for K-State. Quarterback Lynn Dickey hit three straight passes to move the ball to the one, where wingback Mack Herron scored.

Douglass opened the Jayhawk scoring midway in the opening quarter with a one-yard run after Shanklin ran to within inches of the goal line on a fake field goal attempt.

The Wildcats tied it at 7-7 the second period on a 26-yard pass from Dickey to flanker Dave Jones.

Kansas came back with two touchdowns in the first half on a three-yard run by Shanklin and a 10-yard pass from Douglass to wingback John Jackson.

The Rolling Plains Registered Beef Cattle Association will hold its annual sale in Clarendon at 12:30 p.m. Nov. 20 at the fair building. Walter Britten will sell the bulls. Seventy-six bulls will be offered for sale, featuring top blood lines and good beef producing bulls and some herd bull prospects. There will be 25 Herefords, 25 Galloways, and 15 Angus bulls in the sale. The new sales arena is heated and you will be comfortable. If you wish to come by plane you can land at the city-county airport. Buzz the fair building and a car will meet you. Those wishing a catalog in advance of the sale can write to H. M. Breedlove, Secretary, Clarendon, Texas 79226.

Soil Testing

Recently we received from our Soil Testing Laboratory at Lubbock, the results of soil tests on several samples sent in by Dean Burger and his son Ken.

This served to remind us this is an excellent time of the year to take care of this chore. There is a good saying that was coined by our Extension Chemist. It is "Don't guess, Soil Test". We think this is an excellent idea for irrigation farmers. We notice that an increasing number of soil samples are coming back showing a need for phosphorus. This is to be expected after being under irrigation for several years.

Farm-City Week

Nov. 22-28 has been designated as Farm-City Week.

John McHaney, Extension Economist, Extension Service, College Station Texas has set forth some very excellent food for thought concerning American Agriculture. Here are McHaney's remarks:

"Let's look at a little history... When the consumer went to the retail food store during the 1920's and purchased a pound of beef steak, one pound of pork, a quart of milk, one dozen eggs, a pound loaf of bread, a dozen oranges and 10 pound sack of potatoes, and based upon average wages at that time, he had to work about four hours and 29 minutes to buy these groceries.

This would leave him only three hours and 31 minutes out of an 8-hour work day to earn money to pay for his shelter.

White Deer Students

Dear FFA President

WHITE DEER (Sp) - Bill Sarpalus, state FFA president, was a recent speaker at White Deer High School where he spoke to the student body and junior high students.

His topic was "Dream a Dream and Strive to Accomplish This Dream." The speech dealt with leadership importance.

Sarpalus lives at Boys Ranch where he has spent six years of his life. He attended Clarendon Junior College last year before being elected state FFA president.

LONG-LASTING FENCES AND POSTS

An experiment conducted at Texas A&M reveals that the more zinc or galvanized coating on a wire, the longer it will last. The study also revealed, contrary to popular belief, that good-quality wooden posts will last longer than steel posts in high rain fall regions or in industrial areas where fumes cause corrosion.

MEMBERSHIP UP

WACO - For the first time in the history of the Texas Farm Bureau, the state's largest general farm organization has more than 119,000 member families.

clothing and other needs of his family.

"Today, it takes only about one hour and 30 minutes of labor to buy these same groceries.

As a result, he has about six hours and 30 minutes left out of an 8-hour work day in which to earn money to buy such items as clothing, homes, TV sets, automobiles, tile bathrooms, air conditioning, back yard swimming pools, hair dryers for the daughters, private telephones for the teenagers, dishwashers, weekend cabins on the lake or other items of his choice depending upon his wants and income.

"Show me a country where the people have to work a large number of hours out of each day to purchase their food and I will show you a country that has a low level of living and a very low per capita income".

Adam Smith, a great economist of the eighteenth century, made the following statement:

"When the time comes that one farm worker, through the improvement and cultivation of land can provide food for just two people, the labor of half of the society will be able to provide food for the whole society. Then and only then can the other half of the people be employed in providing the other wants and fancies of mankind".

Today one farm worker in the United States provides the food not just for two persons, as Adam Smith dreamed about in the eighteenth century, but for himself and forty-two others.

While one American farmer is making a living for himself and forty-two other people, the forty-two are making TV sets, fishing boats, sporting goods, air conditioners and millions of other items that make our standard of living the envy of the world.

Cold Weather To Curb Screwworm Plague In State

LUBBOCK (Sp) - Although recent cold weather throughout the Texas Plains area should begin to curb screwworm cases, the livestock producers need to continue to keep a watchful eye for the pest during the next few weeks, the Texas Extension Service says.

Screwworm cases literally exploded across Texas in October, with more than 4,000 cases being confirmed, report officials at the Mission Laboratory where sterile screwworm flies are being produced in record numbers to combat the situation. At present 190 to 200 million sterile flies are being produced each week, almost three times the capacity for which the plant was designed.

As of Nov. 1, Texas had already recorded 7,852 screwworm cases this year, exceeding case confirmations of all previous years since the screwworm eradication program was initiated in 1962 with the exception of the first year. Last year only 835 total cases were recorded.

Officials emphasize that good management practices should be continued. A delay of all animal surgery is advisable until cold weather takes a firm foothold in the area. Herds should be inspected regularly and all wounds should be treated, as soon as possible. Spraying of herds will help reduce fly populations.

FHA Makes Loans To Farm Families

During the 1968 fiscal year, 19 farm families in Armstrong, Donley, and Gray Counties availed themselves of Farmers Home Administration operating loan credit, County Supervisor Claude Moore said recently.

Moore said that $157,540 was advanced during the 12 months ending June 30 for such expenses as new machinery and equipment, livestock, feed, fertilizer seed, pasture improvement, and fencing. Operating loan funds also were used to refinance debts and pay family living expenses.

"This type of credit," Moore said, "has enabled many small farm operators to stay on the land."

As the fiscal year ended, farm families that included nearly 440,000 people nationwide were benefiting from the program which serves family farmers who can find no other source of necessary operating loan credit.

Loans are made through county offices of the Farmers Home Administration serving all rural areas of the United States. All loans are accompanied by technical assistance in farm and financial agreement. The local FHA county office is located in the Agricultural Building in Pampa.

In addition to operating loans, Farmers Home Administration makes loans to purchase and develop farms, to develop community water supply systems, to obtain housing in rural areas, including housing for farm laborers and senior citizens, and to meet the emergencies from a natural disaster such as hail, flood, or drought.

Carson County 4-H Awards Presented At Recent Banquet

PANHANDLE (Sp) - Jane Hudson, member of the Groom Town and County 4-H Club, and James Martin, member of the Conway Go-Getters 4-H Club of near Panhandle, were named as 1968 Gold Star girl and boy at the recent Carson County 4-H Achievement Banquet held in the Agricultural Building in Panhandle. They are the daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Hudson of Groom, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Martin of Panhandle.

The awards were presented by the 1967 Gold Star winners, Carla Ketchum of Conway and Randy Warmiski of White Deer. Receiving the Rosemary Dettlen Award, given by the Liberty Community Club to the girl who had progressed the most in her work, was Clara Louten, niece of the late Miss Dettlen.

Another special award was given to Randall Warmiski, who received the state safety award. He was also given a special award by Ford Motor Co. and awarded a trip to the National 4-H Congress to be held in Congress.

Other awards were presented to 24 boys and girls, and membership cards were given to 35 new members.

Carson County clubs are Conway, Groom, White Deer, Panhandle, and the Happy Workers Club and the Rain or Shine Club, both of Panhandle.

Installed as officers of the county 4-H Council were James Martin, chairman; Jane Hudson and Gale Phillips, vice-chairmen; and Carla Ketchum, secretary-treasurer.

Speaker at the banquet was Carl Hudson of Groom, a former Gold Star winner who is now a student at Texas Tech.

Music was by the Groom FFA Band, whose members are Lanny Fredericksen, Steve Stevenson, John and Jerry Crowell, Jimmy Babcock and Ray Brown.

An estimated 200 youths, parents, county officials and others attended the banquet.

Mignon Nickel and Skipper Youngblood, both of Lefors and 1968 Gray County Gold Star winners, attended the District 1 Gold Star Banquet held recently in Amarillo. Also attending were their parents and Gray County extension officials.

Panhandle Water District News

By FELIX W. RYALS

The Texas Legislative Water Interim Committee held a public hearing in Hereford Oct. 5 for the avowed purpose of ascertaining the desires of the West Texas and Panhandle area on a Water Import Plan, from some outside source, such as the Mississippi River or Missouri River.

"A number of county water associations presented testimony supporting the need for an import source to supplement the declining Ogallala underground water we now depend upon.

The testimony presented by the Texas Tech College of Agriculture was overwhelmingly in support of the Import Plan. West Texas is fortunate indeed to have men of the caliber of Dr. Gerald Thomas, Dr. Wayland Bennett and Dr. Herbert Grubb of the Texas Tech College of Agriculture. The Texas Tech testimony in support of the Import Plan was presented by Dr. Grubb. Dr. Grubb presented the following factual information:

"The best available geologic and hydrologic information indicates that the Ogallala aquifer will be exhausted in the foreseeable future.

"The Ogallala is the source of the present irrigation water used in Potter, Randall, Parmer, Castro, Deaf Smith, and Oldham counties, among other counties in the High Plains.

"Some estimates put the time of physical exhaustion of the present water supply at thirty to forty years in this area. However, a serious economic problem is expected much sooner, because the time of economic exhaustion will vary with price, cost, and technological conditions faced by the farmers who presently use the water.

Economic Well-Being

"Irrigation water is important to the economic well-being of the citizens of the area. Farm income depends directly upon irrigated crops, and non-farm incomes depend upon sales to farmers through production material and consumer goods, and the purchase of raw materials from farmers in the form of grain, vegetables, sugar, meat, and fiber, which are used in the manufacture of edible food and usable garments needed by consumers everywhere.

"The counties listed above have approximately 890 thousand acres of irrigated cropland, producing grain sorghum, wheat, cotton, sugar beets, soybeans, and vegetables.

"Approximately nine out of eleven acres of harvested acres in this area are irrigated acres. Grain sorghum has the largest share of irrigated acres with almost half the total irrigated acreage. One-fourth is in wheat, one-eighth in cotton, and the remaining one-eighth is planted to soybeans, sugar beets, and vegetables.

Irrigation

"Irrigation, compared to dryland farming, more than doubles yields of cotton, increases yield of wheat about three times and grain sorghum about six to seven times.

"The importance of irrigation water to farm income in the area is illustrated by the difference in net farm income per acre for the major crops.

"Net farm income from irrigated cotton is more than six times that from dryland cotton. Net farm income for irrigated grain sorghum is increased four times, and for wheat two times. Irrigation is necessary to the production of sugar beets and vegetables, a factor which increases the farmer's opportunity to maintain his income position under U.S. Government programs of acreage controls and price supports on cotton, grain sorghum, and wheat. In addition, irrigation reduces the risk associated with farm income in dryland farming areas by minimizing the effects of droughts upon crop yields.

"The evidence cited above clearly shows the importance of irrigation water to the farm economy of this area. The ultimate disappearance of the irrigation water supply in the area presents a condition causing grave concern to the farmers and businessmen of this area and of other areas as well. The obvious question is: What can be done to adjust to the impending economic crisis?

"The only alternative in the absence of irrigation is the

Are summer grazing deferments the only ones of benefit to rangeland?

The answer is no.

Here are some considerations to make about winter grazing deferment.

Heavy winter grazing may remove the leaves which serve as a protector and insulator for the growing buds of a plant during the winter months. If grazed too heavily, the plant may die because of exposure in cold weather.

Secondly, if winter grazing is practiced the mulch ordinarily formed during deferment will not be present to absorb heavy spring rainfall, with resulting losses in runoff.

And last, cool season grasses such as Texas bluegrass, Canada wildrye and western wheatgrass are often grazed down so fast in the winter that they never have a chance to make good growth for early spring grazing.

return to dryland agriculture, but the result of this would be lower income for both farmers and local businesses."

SPEECH EVALUATION — Jerry Willicms, speech pathologist at the Amarillo Speech and Hearing Center, evaluates Chris Gruber's speech training by using a phonetic mirror. The mirror is used to reflect how words are formed. Chris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Art Gruber, Pampa. Mrs. James O. Evans, chairman, has six members on her speech and hearing committee, who assist her in making doctor appointments for children needing assistance and in following up with arrangements for treatments and transportation to the center.

The child's hearing difficulty was detected through the league's speech and hearing clinic held here last April.

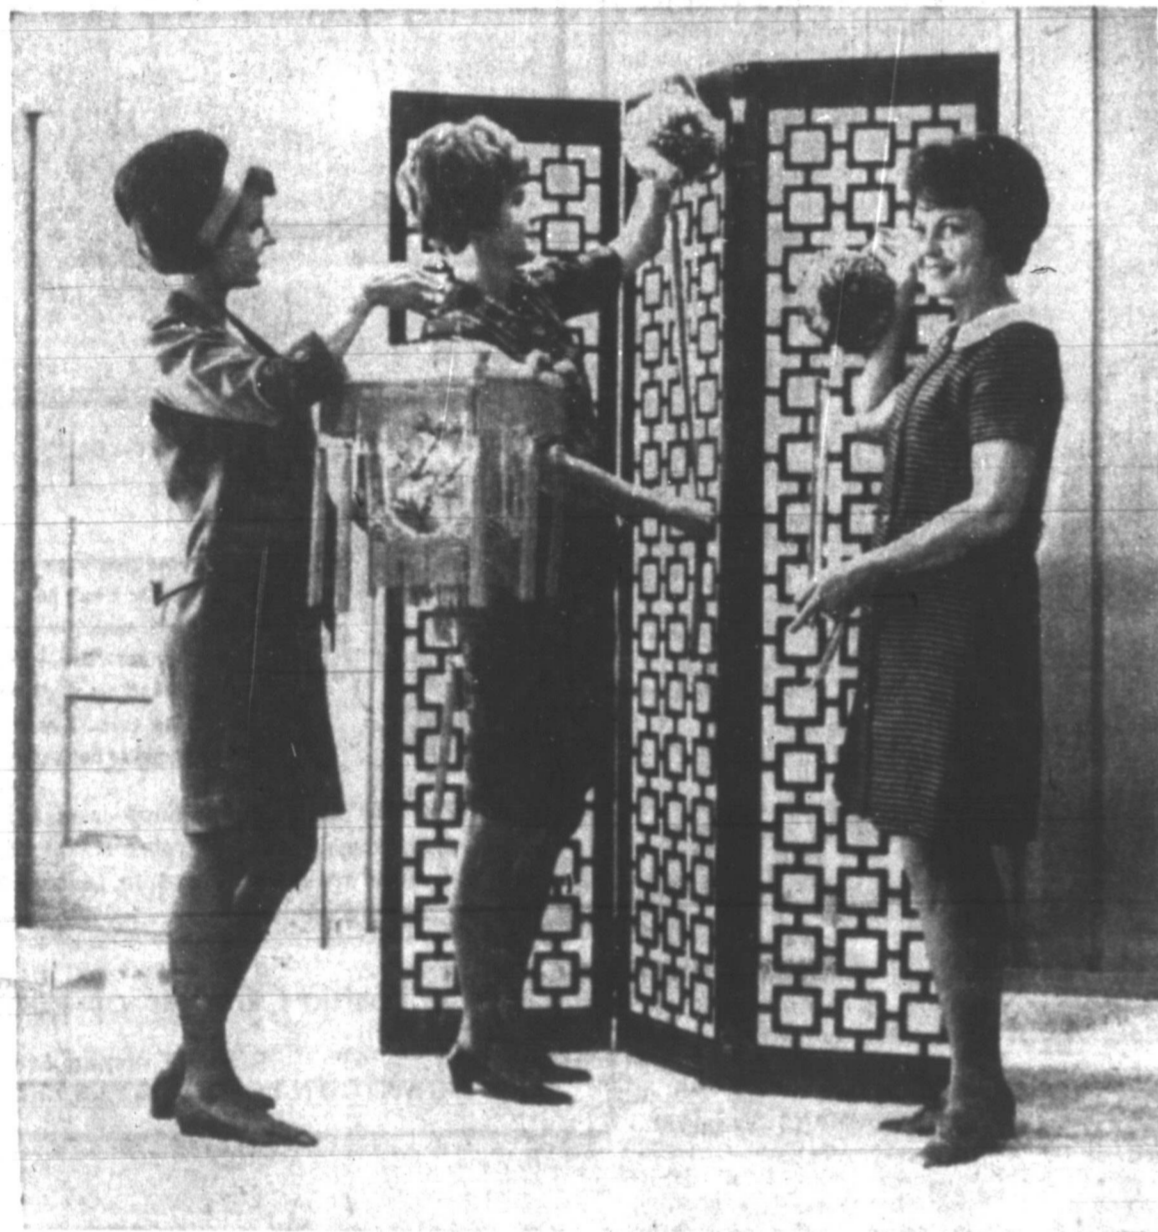

He receives regular checks, training and treatment at the Amarillo center. Buddy Stephens, right, director of the Amarillo center, operates an instrument panel in another section of the soundproof chamber. The two sections are connected by a one-way mirror. The custom-built chamber has been in operation about 60 days.

Pampan Has Program in Amarillo

Mrs. Malcolm McDaniel, soprano, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. H.V. Wilks, presented the program for the Harmony Club of Amarillo recently on their guest day, honoring patrons of the club, at the Federated Club Rooms in Amarillo.

The following program was given: Allegro, Old Home Day, and Down East by Charles Ives; Ah! Je veux vivre (Romeo and Juliette) by Guonod; Il Bacio by Ardit; The Blue Danube by Straus; La canzone di Doretta (La Rondine) by Puccini; Poveri fiori (Adriana Lecouvreur) by Cilia; Un bel di (Madam Butterfly) by Puccini.

Mrs. McDaniel, a member of the Harmony Club, is a voice student of Miss Mary McCormic, former opera star of the United States, Paris, France and Italy, and a former voice instructor at North Texas State University at Denton. ## B&PW Members Schedule Banquet

The Pampa Business and Professional Women's Club met recently in the City Club Room for its regular business meeting.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Pearl Castka. Mrs. G. E. Tinnin gave the club collect.

Minutes of the last meeting and treasurer's report were given by Mrs. Earl Eaton. Mrs. D. C. Ash, chairman of the Civic Participation Committee, asked members to attend the Thanksgiving banquet Nov. 26, at 7:30 p.m. at the First Methodist Church dining room. Members are asked to bring food for the Thanksgiving basket.

After the business session, reports on the District 9 Conference, held in Borger recently were given by Mmes. Pearl Castka, H. F. McDonald, Helen Knox, and Clara Lee Rhoades.

Those attending from Pampa were: Mmes. Tommie Grant, Noel Thompson, Ruby Cunningham, Eli Ethridge, D. C. Ash, Helen Knox, Clara Lee Rhoades, H. F. McDonald and Pearl Castka.

Nineteen members were present.

Color has returned to men's business hose. Not the bright, light casual colors worn with sportswear, but rich sophisticated shades to complement the new suit colors. Some of these colored socks are ribbed while others utilize small all-over designs in their knits. For cold weather wear, these are wools and wool-blends in heathery ribs as well as in small neat patterns.

bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Faye Isbell, west of city.

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I" avowal, the bride was dressed in a pebble crepe, satin finish street-length dress designed with a boat neckline and long tapered sleeves. Her illusion net veil was attached to a headpiece of a cabbage rose of pebble crepe with satin finish. Seed pearls trimmed the coil. She wore the traditional something old, new, borrowed and blue.

Her white carnation bouquet was centered with a removable corsage of white carnations.

ATTENDANTS

Bridal attendant was Mrs. James E. Hall Sr., Grand Prairie, the bride's matron of honor, who wore a cherease pink, street-length dress designed with short sleeves. She wore a pink and white carnation corsage.

Best man was Jerry Isbell, Okmulgee, Okla., the bridegroom's brother, Bob Davis and Scott Davis were ushers.

Organist, Mrs. Donald Walburg, played traditional wedding music and accompanied Miss Donnie Walburg as she sang "Whither Thou Goest."

The bride's mother, was dressed in a blue dress with black accessories. Both wore pink carnation corsages.

RECEPTION

For the reception in St. Paul United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall, a white linen cut work cloth was placed on the table, which was decorated with pink candles and a centerpiece of the bride's bouquet.

Miss Tony Isbell, the bridegroom's sister, assisted at the punch service. Mrs. Coy Young, Dumas, served cake. Mrs. Linda Nellis registered guests. Others assisting were Mrs. E. K. Haner, Mrs. Sam Steadman and Mrs. Buster Fain.

The bride's traveling costume was a white dress with gold accessories with white carnation corsage.

The bride, a graduate of Western Republic College at Amarillo, is employed in a Pampa insurance agency. The bridegroom, a PHS graduate, and Oklahoma State Tech graduate, at Okmulgee, Okla., is employed at Celanese.

Out-of-town guests were Messrs. and Mmes. E. K. Haner and son, Spearman; James E. Hall Jr. and family, Grand Prairie; Jerry Isbell, Okmulgee, Okla.; Jee Sears, Friona and Coy Young, Dumas.

A shower was given by Mmes. R. C. Collier, Nyle Franklin, Bill Tucker, Max Browning, Ray Laycock, Y. E. Turnbo and Kit Autry.

City Council PTA Attends Program In Carver Center

The City Council Parent-Teacher Association met at Carver Educational Service Center recently with Mrs. Paul Howard, president, presiding. The spiritual thought, given by Mrs. Ocie Stewart, was from the book "The Art of Living".

Committee reports were made by Dan Johnson, by-laws; Mrs. James Frazier, historian; Joe French, exceptional children; Mrs. Paul Howard, parent and family life; Mrs. Jack Robertson, youth protection; Mrs. James Malone, cultural arts; and Mrs. N. L. Nichol, fall workshop.

The program was introduced by Mrs. Alvie French. A tape on "Good Manners" was presented by Mrs. Rachelle Watkins' first period speech class.

Mrs. Paul Howard introduced Dr. James Malone, superintendent of schools, who discussed goals he and the school board hoped to reach in the next three years.

The next meeting will be at 9:30 a.m. Dec. 3 in the Carver Educational Service Center.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband recently joined the Masonic lodge. Naturally I was very proud of him, but now it has presented a problem to us.

He tells me that this is a "secret organization" and he has given his word that he will tell me the "secrets" of his of the lodge.

Abby, in all the 18 years we have been married we have not kept any secrets from each other. I have cried, begged, threatened, and tried everything I could think of to make him tell me the "secrets" of his lodge, but he refuses.

How can an organization which is supposed to be dedicated to such high ideals create a barrier between a man and his wife? I'd appreciate your views.

WIFE OF A MASON
DEAR WIFE: Consider yourself fortunate to be married to a man whose word means something. And quit pestering him to reveal the lodge secrets or you'll lose your Mason by degrees.

DEAR ABBY: The boy who sits in front of me in history is very smart and gets 100s on almost all his tests. I was stuck during a test last week and asked him for some answers. He gave them to me wrong! I didn't know it until we got our papers back. He got 100 and I got 65! I was plenty mad and told him I thought he was a dirty cheat. I admit I wasn't very honest to ask him for the answers, but don't you think he was twice as dishonest to have purposely given them to me wrong?

CHEATED
DEAR CHEATED: Do not expect to find an honest partner for a crooked deal.

DEAR ABBY: I've often read letters in your column about women who were worried about their husband's being unfaithful. Well I am one woman who is not worried. In fact, I am all for it.

You see, my husband's capacity for love making is far greater than mine, and rather than force himself on me night after night, he attempted to divert his energies to various other hobbies. The hobbies didn't help, so he eventually took up drinking, and was well on his way to becoming an alcoholic before I realized his problem.

We discussed it, and I told him I would rather have him out playing the field than killing himself with the bottle. He agreed and complied with my request, and it has made a new man out of him.

His other women aren't taking anything away from me. In fact, they are doing me a favor. I am grateful for other women.

CONTENT
DEAR CONTENT: If you are so sure of yourself in this strange love, why are you blabbing about it? I don't advise your system.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is not speaking to his parents because last Sunday we invited them for 12 o'clock noon dinner. They didn't show up, but at around 1:45 p.m. my husband's sister phoned to say that Mom had unexpected company and they could not make it.

My husband thinks they should have told the unexpected company they were sorry but they had a previous dinner invitation and had to leave. What do you think?

A. H.
DEAR A.H.: I think your husband is right. And I also think your husband should start speaking to his parents. If only to tell how he feels and get it off his chest.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Miss Sherry Elliott, Daniel Stone Exchange Vows in Oklahoma Church

Miss Sherry Karen Elliott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Elliott, Canute, Okla., recently exchanged marriage vows with Daniel Ray Stone, son of Floyd L. Stone, Pampa, and the late Mrs. Mildred Stone.

Rev. Leon Sewell, pastor, Baptist Church, Weatherford, Okla., read the double-ring marriage vows in an evening ceremony in First Baptist Church, Elk City, Okla.

The church was decorated with a 15-branch candelabra with a seven branch candelabra on each side. These were banked with Woodwardia fern and accented with white bows. Baskets of white gladioli completed the scene. Vows were repeated before a white satin-covered prie-dieu.

Organist was Bethan Legate, Sayre, Okla., who accompanied Jim Walker, Clinton, Okla., as he sang "Twelfth of Never."

BRIDE
Given in marriage by her father, the bride was dressed in a formal-length Empire gown of hand scalloped Chantilly lace with a Redingote effect overpeau, that swept to a watteau-scalloped chapel train. Ruffles of lace encircled the neckline and sleeves. Her bouquet was made of white orchids, white roses and stephanotis.

ATTENDANTS
Maid of honor was Shellean Elliott, Canute, Okla., sister of the bride. She wore a formal-length gown of antique gold velvet featuring a round, scoop neckline, empire waistline, and elbow-length sleeves gathered into bands. Her shoes were dyed to match. The headpiece was fashioned from antique gold velvet five-loop bows and gold tulle veil. Her bouquet a colonial type formed of white miniature carnations and moss green satin leaves, was encircled with moss green net and long streamers of moss green ribbon.

Other bridal attendants were Susie Stone and Marsha Stone, sisters of the bridegroom and Mrs. Terry Vandale, Weatherford, Okla. They were dressed identically to the maid of honor.

Candlelighters were Randy Willis, Mt. Park, Okla. and Mike McCutchins, Tulsa, Okla. Flower girl was Debbie Wheeler Weatherford, Okla. Her formal-length gown was fashioned identically to the bridesmaids' and made of the same color and material. Her headpiece was miniature version to the bridesmaids. She wore a wristlet corsage of white miniature carnations and moss green ribbon and leaves and carried a basket of petals.

Ushers were Mike Fleck, Odessa; Randy Willis, Mt. Park, Okla., and Mike McCutchin, Tulsa, Okla. Best man was Tom Lair, Anadarko, Colo. Groomsmen were Arnold Kilewer, Canton, Okla.; Buford Abeldt, Haskell, and Bobby Elliott, Canute, Okla.

The bride's mother was dressed in an ice blue, three-piece wool knit suit trimmed with pearls and metallic braid. Her accessories were silver and gunmetal gray and a gardenia corsage.

RECEPTION
A reception was given by the bride's parents in the church parlor after the ceremony. The serving table was centered with the bridal bouquet on an all white table with a white net overlay. A five-tiered cake was topped with bride and bridegroom miniatures under a lace and jeweled arch.

A white Bible with the wedding vows in gold topped one tier. Replicas of the wedding party dressed in antique gold velvet descended a circular staircase which was attached to the cake.

The cake was served by Jo Ann Dale, Canute and Phillis Hinkle, Oklahoma City, cousin of the bride. Pat Garst, Oklahoma City, and Susie Fry, Frederick, served punch. A tray of gold rice bags was provided for guests.

The bride's traveling costume was a three-piece suit of red, white and navy blue with navy blue accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The couple live in Weatherford, Okla., where they are attending Southwestern State College. The bridegroom is a senior majoring in business. The bride is a junior majoring in home economics.

Knitted fabrics, because of the elasticity of the loops, have more freedom of movement than woven ones.

Sorority Members Present 2 Degrees

Mrs. Wayne Dollar and Shirley Sanders received their Beta Sigma Phi Exemplar Degree recently during a candle ceremony presented by Mrs. George Massie before a table covered with a white ritual cloth, centered with yellow roses, flanked by candles. Mrs. James Trusty presided during the ceremony, assisted by Mrs. Don Stafford and Mrs. Bill Baten. It was announced during the business meeting, a social would be held Nov. 18 at Mrs. Jack Vaughn's home at 8 p.m.

"Clothing for Madame" was presented by Mmes. Ernest Fletcher, Doug McBride and James Trusty. A skit entitled "Poor Planning and Buying" was narrated by Mrs. Doug McBride, with Mrs. Ernest Fletcher acting as model. Appropriate clothing for morning, afternoon and evening were modeled by Mrs. James Trusty. Mrs. McBride stressed when buying a wardrobe, one should choose mix and match, clothes that can be dressed up or down and take time to plan your wardrobe carefully. Refreshments were served from a table covered with a blue cloth, centered with an arrangement that carried out the theme of Beta Sigma Phi "Reach for the Stars", accented by white candles. Hostesses were Mmes. Wayne Darrow and Don Stafford. Other members attending were Mmes. Don Carpenter, T. L. Garner, Paul Mitchell, Norman Ross, James Schaffer, Jack Vaughn, Wendell Maloney and Dick Wilson.

Miss Brock Repeats Vows With Curtis Lee Timmons

Miss Sharon Janana Brock repeated wedding vows with Curtis Lee Timmons in an evening ceremony Nov. 9 in St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Durant Brock, Pampa. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L.D. Timmons, Dumas.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin empire style dress with rounded neckline and straight skirt. Her long sleeves and bodice trim on her train were of imported Spanish lace. The imported illusion veil was attached to a coil of small seed pearls and acura crystals. She carried white gladiolas for her flowers.

Mrs. John Marchet, of Colorado Springs, Colo., a cousin of the bride, was matron of honor and wore a deep pink crepe A-line dress with long sleeves and matching shoes. Her headpiece was of pink carnations. Mrs. Jim Gotcher, Pampa, another bridal attendant, was dressed identically to the matron of honor.

Wayne Timmons, Dumas, the bridegroom's brother, was best man. Usher was John Marchet and groomsmen, Terry Cole, Dumas.

Decorations in the church were two large baskets of white gladiolas and two candelabras.

Mrs. Jack D. Edwards, organist, played prelude marches and accompanied vocalist, Betty Garcia, as she sang "Catholic's Lord Prayer," "Our Father," "Ave Maria," and "Hand in Hand."

The bride's mother wore a crystal pink A-line dress fashioned with a roll collar, three-quarter length sleeves and crystal pink buttons which lined the front of her dress. The bridegroom's mother was dressed in a two-piece coat style, light blue suit with matching accessories. Both wore pink carnation corsages.

For the reception in St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church cafeteria, a three-tiered wedding cake with white gladiolas, and pink candles was placed on a white table cloth.

Mrs. Glen Larsen assisted at the punch bowl as Mrs. Paul Keim served cake. Mrs. Marvin Stone registered guests.

For the honeymoon to Oklahoma City, the bride traveled in a three-piece beige suit trimmed in leather with matching accessories. Her flowers were white carnation corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet.

The bride, a Letors High School graduate, attended West Texas State University and was employed as a legal secretary. The bridegroom, a Dumas High School graduate, served in Vietnam.

EXERCISE WITH MARGARET

Monday thru Friday
 8:10 - 8:30 A.M.

Your Horoscope
JEANE DIXON

SUNDAY, NOV. 17.
 Your birthday today: You will encounter unexpected obstacles in the coming year's events. Careful planning is spoiled by crises. The results will take a final turn for the better with rethinking of the plans. Where today's natives see that something has to be done, they are capable, without regard for personal hazards.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): Go to church this unsettled day. Take into account the sensitivities of others; protect them from the inconvenience you suffer when expectations fall short. Give thought to your health!

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Older people's problems are cause of concern. Use this Sunday as a chance to relax, meditate and pray. Seek release from stress in relationships.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21): Social activity has a tendency to drift away from what you planned. Romances also come apart (with little provocation). It is probably best to stay home.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Dissension can grow abruptly, so be alert to keep conditions in balance. Hasty decisions are provocative, and unlikely to work out.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): An exciting event may touch your romantic spirit but, alone, it does not make this Sunday a success. You have to exercise both tact and ingenuity to keep things going smoothly.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Nothing is what it appears to be. Discretion is essential all day. Entertaining should be carefully kept within bounds. Wait until tomorrow to discuss costs.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): This is one day when you are crowded into ideal behavior; nothing else works. Take precautions against household accidents.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Yesterday's tangles hover. Romantic interests are frustrated. Social activities develop awkward moments, and nobody is able to bridge the gaps.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Parents present some potential problems. Your planned schedules are interrupted by new acquaintances who offer diversions which, subsequently, turn out somewhat disappointing.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Sudden attractions can just as abruptly face out or flip. News from distant places is not welcome. Prepare for some contrary streaks in behavior.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mrs. 20): Continue being conservative about money, particularly if it isn't yours. Pass the Sunday as quietly as you can: there's enough tension without your adding to it.

degree of development you have reached. If you have acquired equilibrium in mental health, everything you touch prospers during this year.

Natives are delicately balanced in this respect and suffer personal misfortunes far out of proportion to their mistakes.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): All things carry a touch of glamor (or deception) today. Stick with well-tested procedures. Wait and see how "too-good-to-be-true" deals come out before making commitments.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Creative projects thrive. Postpone or avoid, however, any participation in lawsuits. The closer the relationship, the more likely the misunderstanding.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Your humor is better today, and the spirit of fun should be encouraged. A little efficiency is lost, temporarily, as compensation for the laughter.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Much mystery lurks just beneath the surface of a pleasant day. Later, you will wonder what you bought with your money. Care is essential to avoid being misunderstood in romantic matters.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Your imagination is vivid but is no sound basis for major decisions. Use it for creative self-expression. Misinterpretations generate.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Be receptive to the people whose relationship you value. Stick firmly by previously made decisions. Observe safety rules.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Everything looks better than normal. This is to be enjoyed but shouldn't lead you into get-rich-quick schemes. (All offers should be carefully checked.)

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Soft-sell presentation promotes plans. Emotional factors, however, should be kept out. Progress in romantic interests is possible (through discretion).

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Things come your way so easily in emotional matters that you must take care what you ask for. Sudden whims are not adequate for any action.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): People around you are unpredictable. Depend on your own drives, intuition; press directly for what you want. Review your situation, begin tentative plans.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Promises are so easy to make (and to believe)! Fulfillment is something else again.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mrs. 20): Pursue sentimental or romantic interests between your regular jobs. Creative projects are favored. Make a small party tonight, just for the novelty of it.

Miss Linda Noakes, Harry T. Price Say Marriage Vows in California Ceremony

Linda Rose Noakes and Harry Ton Price recently exchanged vows in a double-ring autumn ceremony at Menlo Park Presbyterian Church in Menlo Park, Calif.

The family wedding ceremony was followed by a dinner reception at the Los Altos Hills Country Club and a honeymoon at San Luis Obispo.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Thelma Noakes and the late William D. Noakes of San Diego, Calif. She is an honor graduate of San Diego State College with a Bachelor of Arts degree in mathematics and is employed as a programmer analyst with Lockheed Research Laboratory in Palo Alto, Calif.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom E. Price of Wheeler, and is a graduate of Lefors High School. He graduated from the University of Texas with a Bachelor of Business degree in 1964 and a Bachelor of Law degree in 1968. He was recently admitted to practice before the Texas Bar.

The couple plan to temporarily reside at 660 Mariposa Ave., Apt. 313, in Mountain View, Calif.

The bridegroom is the grandson of Mrs. Lela Pearl Reed, Pampa.

Church Class Has Officer Election

The Fidelis Class of Central Baptist Church met recently in Mrs. Rondal Lueddecke's home as Mrs. Sam Paterson presided at the installation of new officers.

She compared each office to a jewel and challenged each officer to become more aware of spiritual and physical needs of others.

Officers installed were Mrs. Earl Murphy, class teacher; Mrs. Eilly Joe Chance, assistant class teacher; Mrs. George Rallsback, president; Mrs. Gene W. Lewis, vice president; Mrs. A. C. Malone, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Bud Steward, Mrs. Rondal Lueddecke, group leaders.

Others attending were Mrs. Jewel Snider and Mrs. Dale Roth.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE
The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.
We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Union Anarchy

Anarchy, as the myth has it, and as most dictionaries define it, is synonymous with the absence of political government. That, as this newspaper has emphasized again and again, is an inaccurate, fallacious definition.
Anarchy, we have insisted, means the absence of order. And absence of order, rather than being synonymous with the absence of political government, is, in actuality, synonymous with absence of respect for property rights. ("Property," as used here, is intended in its total, absolute sense: the individual's life, mind, body and material possessions.)

What we have said thus far takes on particular significance, and validity, when it is realized that political governments, regardless of time, place or coloration, come into existence and continue to exist by violating the property rights of the individuals within the particular geographical area over which the political establishment claims jurisdiction.

Increased comprehension is gained when it is further realized that now, at a time when the people of this country are burdened with more political government than ever before in history, violations of individual property rights, crimes of all descriptions (both legal and illegal) are also setting unprecedented records.
And, finally, still further understanding is made possible when it is realized that labor unions, the subject of this discussion, operate within a tax-free, preferential framework of laws and governmental protection enabling them, with impunity, to commit violations of property rights which, if committed by anyone operating outside that preferential and protective framework of law, would call for prosecution and punishment including, in some instances, the death penalty.

A case in point is provided by the now one-month-old United Steel Workers Union (USW) strike against the Lone Star Steel Company, a small company producing steel pipe for the oil and gas industry and bomb casings for the military, at Lone Star, Texas. Commenting on the strike and attending violence in a recent issue, the Wall Street Journal said:

"James Griswold, a WW II fighter pilot who survived the battle of Midway, prudently decided not to land his DC3 in a new combat zone last week (belonging to the Lone Star Co.) When a radio message from the airport controller warned that his plane might be shot down (by striking union members) in the landing attempt."

The worry over possible ground fire stemmed from a scene, the Journal said, "... reminiscent of the turbulent 1930s. Beatings, shootings and threats have landed some men in the hospital — frequently closed the company's airport, made nighttime driving risky throughout this area and caused some nonstriking employees to start living as well as working behind plant gates."

Since October 16, when the strike started, the Journal added, "eight shooting incidents have been recorded, along with severe beatings and several threatening telephone calls to families of non strikers — Truckers who have crossed union picket lines to pick up steel pipe have been one of the major targets of violence," and one truck, according to the Journal, "was hit by five bullets soon after crossing the picket line," while other drivers, fearful of attack, are carrying "shotguns at their sides."

To be quite fair, it must also be reported that the Texas Rangers have moved in, against individual striking union members, when violence at the Lone Star plant and environs seemed to be getting out of hand. However, the Union itself, enjoying a preferential status and mantle of protection of the Federal Government, continues in its predatory and violence generating practices almost unchallenged and unchecked except by the Lone Star Co. and individual non-striking workers.

Many Have Self-Esteem

There's larceny in every heart, the cynics say. While we would question the assertion that everyone has something of the thief in their makeup, that some do is proven by the readiness with which people do unto corporations what they would never do to fellow individuals says Don Oakley of Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Take the matter of insurance fraud, which siphons off unknown amounts of insurers' incomes every year and helps keep everyone's premiums high and growing higher.

Every company suffers from this kind of theft-at-a-distance. But at least one of them—Nationwide—has a thick file of cases in which its patrons returned or refused claim payments they might easily, and sometimes legitimately, have pocketed with no one being the wiser.

A conscientious car owner in Massachusetts, for example, was sent a check for $88.38 under her $100 deductible policy after estimated repairs of $188.38 were approved. She didn't consider the case closed, however, until she sent back her personal check for $25—the difference between the estimate and the actual repair cost of $163.88.

A couple in Pennsylvania received a payment of $45 for their son's coat, which had been stolen at school. It was later recovered—and they returned the money.

An Ohio woman reimbursed the company for a claim paid more than 10 years before. She explained that she had been paid $150 for a fire in her car and confessed that she had it deliberately set because of financial difficulties at the time. It had taken her that long to save up enough money—and the courage—to make restitution and set her nagging conscience at ease.

Another policyholder was paid $10.40 for a radio antenna that had been broken by vandals. When the vandals were later apprehended and ordered by the court to pay for the damages, the policyholder endorsed the check and forwarded it to the company.

"Suckers," someone says. "What multi-million-dollar company would miss such measly amounts?"

Maybe so. Or maybe these people, and others like them, consider their own opinions of themselves more important than what anyone else might think.

And maybe, just maybe, it's this kind of basic integrity, multiplied by the millions and reflected in countless different ways, that has kept the world from going entirely to pot all these many years.

Today is Sunday, Nov. 17, the 322nd day of 1968 with 44 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase.

The morning stars are Saturn and Venus.

On this day in history:
In 1869, the Suez canal in Egypt, between the Arabian desert and the Sinai Peninsula, was formally opened.
In 1881 Samuel Gompers organized the federation of organized trades and labor unions—actually the forerunner of the American Federation of Labor.

Pull Up A Chair

By JOHN KEASLER

Full moon. Over Miami. (As chance would have it.)

Very late; cool soft November night; flickering silver on Biscayne Bay; Biscayne Bay lapping gently, silken wrinkles, rippling blackness touched with lace.

Lovers park along the causeway, by the pines that love the sand, and I drive by them every night. Their cars are moored happy in the darkness, tacitly spaced by ancient programming; the code of discreetness tells them where.

(In love's young dream it's Cupid who gets the poetry and the fame, but actually it was Henry Ford who put the action in the game.)

I drive past the cars of lovers just about every night, on the edges of the causeway to the island where I live; over the bridges and through the trees, and over the years I've come to accept the cars of lovers as I have the sand and sea and would only be aware of them if they were absent.

The paycheck's in the city and the bills come to my home and the roundtrip is unending so you forget to look and really see. Beautiful nights get to be simply 12 miles of something to drive through homeward, and rather in the way. The moon and stars are props.

But this moon was enough to jolt even a veteran moon-ignorant, hanging there so close and big. Before I fully realized what I was doing I turned off the hard road and drove onto a stretch of deserted beach and stopped. I glared at the moon to see if it had changed much since both of us were younger.

It seemed to be holding up quite well. Put on weight, but who hasn't? I had been thinking about the moon for quite a while, anyhow, as my five-year-old is obsessed with the moon.

He climbs on the table in the back yard and reaches up to try to grab it. (I don't know what they teach them in Kindergarten these days.) Also, Wally Schirra had brought the moon to my attention—until he held up those funny signs in Apollo 7 I didn't really think people were going there. (Lot of big talk.)

As I switched off the ignition, I realized vaguely that, sure enough, that was it—I was checking it out to see if this big yellow Lovers Lane moon was the same one the scientists keep talking about.

Apparently so.
Will people being on the moon over Miami mess up the romance for lovers? It's hard to say. What will happen someday when a boy parks with a girl and says, "Look what a beautiful moon." And she says, "My uncle has a pizza parlor franchise there."

I don't know—lovers, I'm sure, will make do.
But, sitting there, glowering at the moon, I suddenly realized what was bugging me, and had been. Here all these Wally Schirra types were going to the moon and no telling where all—guys my age... and all I do is drive back and forth across this damn causeway.

A whole new era had passed me, and I had been feeling ancient all along, I realized. The last out-of-town assignment I got was to Cincinnati.

And, then, as a match flared in a parked car way down the beach, I realized something else that made me feel older than ever.

If one of the prowler cars that keep an eye on Lovers Lane stop and ask a middle-aged man in a battered Volkswagen bus why he's parked by himself this time of morning, it's not going to help my case much to shout that I could out-astronaut any man in the house if I hadn't promised to paint the utility room tomorrow.

As I reached for the ignition key to get out of there before somebody caught me looking at the moon, I took one last glance before getting back into my humdrum rut. And it looked so close you could...

... almost touch it. And I thought of my kids, including the five-year-old who keeps trying to touch it, and of my family, and all the families in all the sleeping houses at the end of all the cherished ruts.

And, turning around, driving out, I thought of all the young lovers and their homes and families not here yet, and wished them luck in the most

Ready or Not—
Nixon Due To Get Treaty Early

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — In a move which could precipitate the Nixon Administration's first congressional battle, Senate Democratic leaders are planning to seek approval of the nuclear non-proliferation treaty as soon as Congress reconvenes.

The schedule has been set by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont. He has sent a request for quick action to top-ranking members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., and Sens. John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., and George D. Aiken, R-Vt.

Mansfield's schedule calls for short hearings and quick reapproval by the Foreign Relations Committee which recommended ratification as recently as late September. That would set the stage for floor action on the treaty while other legislation was being readied for Senate floor consideration.

Signed by more than 80 nations, the non-proliferation treaty prohibits nuclear powers from transferring nuclear weapons and pledges non-nuclear nations not to receive or develop them. During the campaign President-elect Nixon said he favors ratification of the treaty eventually.

However, Nixon took the position that the treaty should not be ratified at a time when the Soviet Union had just violated its treaty with Czechoslovakia. By its invasion the Russians were thus ignoring their United Nations commitments. He favored delay until the situation in Europe is "more normalized."

In pressing for quick Senate approval for the treaty, Mansfield says he is "just taking Mr. Nixon at his word"—his word that he favors ratification.

NIXON'S SUMMITS—There is reason to believe that quick ratification is not the word which the new President will give on the treaty after he assumes office on January 20th. During the campaign Nixon outlined a detente diplomacy based on a series of tough-talking summit meetings with Kremlin leaders.

The non-proliferation treaty, unratified and awaiting Senate approval, would be a bargaining point for Nixon Administration diplomats in such summit talks with the Russians. One of Nixon's campaign objections to quick treaty approval was that it would seem to indicate approval of the Russian move into Czechoslovakia, and that would not be a proper prelude at all for Nixon summits.

Under Mansfield's schedule, perilous, fascinating journey of all, still to come.

It was good I got home when I did as the fan belt had slipped off the drier. However, en route beneath the moon, I realized one thing: You don't always have to have somebody with you in Lovers Lane to be in love, with lots of things.

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANSTADT

One Aspirin will Work
As Well as Two for Most

Although aspirin is a very valuable drug in the treatment of tension headaches and rheumatic fever, there are hazards connected with its injudicious use. These have been widely publicized in recent years. Now it appears that one of our sturdy astronauts has been dropped from the space program because of a disability connected with the use of aspirin. He was never made dizzy by a barrel roll; he didn't crack up when subjected to greatly increased atmospheric pressures but he WAS a victim of aspirin asthma.

Although this is not a common disease, it is progressive. It is characterized by sinusitis, attacks of shortness of breath (asthma) and a chronic cough. Perhaps one of the reasons this and other complications follow self-treatment with aspirin is that so many persons who take this drug regard two tablets as the standard dose. The truth is that for most people one tablet works just as well as two and is far less dangerous.

Q—My fingers crack open. I was told it was due to cold weather but it happens even when it is warm. Will anything prevent this?

A—Washing your hands several times a day with strong soap is the commonest cause. Allergy to nail polish or other substances with which you have frequent contact, disorders of the circulation and various systemic diseases are other possible causes. Protecting the cracks with a soothing ointment will help but a permanent cure cannot be expected until the cause is found and eliminated. This may require some expert detective work by a skin specialist or an allergist.

Q—What would cause the skin of my finger tips to dry up and peel? Could it be a fungus?

A—The cause and treatment of this condition are almost identical with those of the previous question. A fungus is not likely to be the cause unless itching is a prominent symptom.

Q—I have heard that the amount of acidity of the vaginal secretions at the time of conception determines the sex of a child to be born and that an acid or alkaline douche prior to intercourse can control the outcome. Is this true.

A—Science has made many advances but predetermining the sex of your baby is not one of them.

PAUL HARVEY NEWS

Where to Next for George

By PAUL HARVEY
George Wallace carried five states and lifted eight others. Wallace's 13 percent of the total popular vote was the greatest for any third party candidate in half a century.

Somewhere out there across each of the 50 states are a total of almost 10 million Americans who voted for him and doubtless millions more conservatives who approved his outspokenness but voted for Richard Nixon.

Precinct samplings show that Wallace brought to the polls many Americans who had never before been sufficiently motivated to vote.

Uncompromising conservatives who rallied to Barry Goldwater in 1964 and again to Wallace—and watched both dreams stillborn—surely deserve no less consideration than lesser minorities demand and get.

How many of them will be won over by President-elect Nixon none can know yet. After all, he did support their man Goldwater. Further, Nixon has pledged his administration to "pull us together."

So conservatives might find their guest room in the White House not too uncomfortable. Mississippi Gov. John Bell Williams has repeatedly dared to put personal philosophy above partisan loyalty. Elected to Congress as a Democrat, he supported Republican Goldwater. Subsequently elected governor as a Democrat, he supported Wallace.

Gov. Williams is presently urging his state's Democrats to try to recapture control of their national party. If they are unsuccessful in realigning their party along Jeffersonian principles, then Williams says "the South should support the GOP."

It is my thought that we should all support the new President without reservation—at least until he gives us cause for reservations.

President Johnson admittedly sought and failed to create a "consensus" Administration. He wanted everybody to approve, applaud and support him.

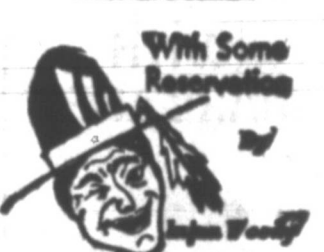

It is a paradox of human nature that the harder one tries to be loved by everybody, the less likely he is ever to realize that objective.

The most respected—the almost revered—leaders are those men of such genuine conviction that even those who do not always agree with them always respect them.

During the campaign, Wallace frequently stated that "there's not a dime's worth of difference between those other fellows..."

Whatever difference there is, it's a very important difference. Basically, it represents "big people" as opposed to "big government." It represents fundamental values of political philosophy which, just for one example, will be reflected in the selection of Supreme Court justices—selections which will shape America and influence Americans for generations to come.

That big conservative 13 percent can best serve its objectives not by giving up but by staying active—by exerting continuing influence on their near-alikes.

I dropped by to see my old friend Vaulting Catfish. "Hey, Vault," I says, "how did you like the way the presidential election went?"

"Huh," he says, "it don't make a copper-dime's worth of difference."

"Oh, why not?" I asks, knowing full well that the answer would be...

"Well, I draws Vaulting Catfish, 'if he is a great president it won't help the Injuns any. And if he is a poor one, it won't help the Injuns any either. Why, the poor Injuns have starved under some of the greatest presidents we ever had."

"Give me a for instance," I says.

"You take that feller Washington. He was a great president. He wanted to take all of the northwest territory. He made treaties agreeing to pay for the lands but he never did. He just moved us off."

"There was Jefferson and Lincoln and Grant and so on. Why, it don't matter where you begin or end. In fact the greater the president the hungrier and more destitute we get. Every generation breeds a new kind of conriver. They are still stealing the land. Johnson took the land from the Senecas in N.Y. to build a dam and tried to flood out the Injuns in the Grand Canyon. This president, if he's great enough, will run all the Injuns off the Snake river in Washington and build a dam there."

"I kind of hope this president won't be so great. We suffer more under the great ones than the poor ones."

"Add there you have it, straight from Vaulting Catfish's mouth."

A Miss Is As Good as a Mister
NEW YORK (NEA)—The other week, as regular readers may recall, we noted that sadly the battle of sexes was just about over.

At that time, we reported on how science and society were conspiring to make the difference between men and women irrelevant. And that, as we explained, was going to create enormous difficulties for the culture.

Well, as the news magazines always say, it is turning out just the way we predicted. According to a new city regulation, help-wanted ads in New York will be forbidden from using the standard headings of "male" and "female."

The new law says that want ads must be listed solely by occupation without regard to sex—unless the advertiser can prove that male or female is a "bona fide qualification" of the job.

But that is almost an impossibility, as any fellow who does the dinner dishes knows.

What with automation, education and emancipation, and difference between the sexes has very little to do with most occupations. Nowadays almost anybody can be a steam shovel operator, say, or a governor for small children.

So in that regard we are not against the new law. Our worry is for the civilization and what will become of it if help-wanted must be advertised without the "male" and "female" designations.

We cannot speak for the consequences in Philadelphia, Penn., or Biloxi, Miss.

But as far as we can see into the job market in New York—well, as the mind's eye opens, the scene is Broadway and 42nd Street. Theatrical producer David Derrick is talking with talent agent Fred Couch.

COUCH: Say, D.D., is the part of Julius still open?

DERRICK: No, I'm not doing "Romeo and Julius" this season.

COUCH: What about "Lord Chatterly's Lover"?

DERRICK: That's out, too. I'm only doing "The Ice Person Cometh."

COUCH: Great! I've got the perfect actor for the part of the seaman.

DERRICK, Really? Who is it?

COUCH: Sorry, D.D. You know what the employment law says about asking that question. But you'll know the one I mean if you saw in the paper who just arrived in town on the King Elizabeth.

DERRICK: Don't be absurd. I wouldn't hire that old Playboy rabbit to do...

COUCH: Old? Who do you mean old? You ought to see that creamy skin and rosy cheek. Just like a milkman.

DERRICK: A milkman?

COUCH: Absolutely. A regular schoolboy complexion.

DERRICK: But what's the track record?

COUCH: Brilliant! Three years as a primo ballerino in "Sleeping Handsome" and 42 weeks in "A Moon for the Mister Begotten."

DERRICK: Too arty. This part calls for a real sophisticated tempter. Somebody like the Gabor brothers.

COUCH: Yeah? Yeah? Well, what about that Oscar nomination for the role of Mata Harry...

And so it goes. But where will it end? For our part we see nothing but dislocation on the horizon.

BERRY'S WORLD

"You think YOUR tax status is complicated—how about Aristotle and Jackie?"

Cities' Service Finds New Deposit of Sulfur

NEW YORK — Union Minera Del Sur, S.A. De C.V., in which Cities Service Company owns a 34 per cent interest, has made a discovery of sulfur near Coatzacoalcos, Mexico, it was announced recently.

Cities Service officials stated that additional exploration will be necessary to determine the extent of the deposit and its value. The discovery was made on one of five concession tracts totaling 30,000 acres.

Drilling has commenced on a second tract and it is anticipated that a third drilling rig will be utilized in the near future.

The majority interest in Union Minera Del Sur is held by Mexican Nationals in accordance with Mexican mining law.

Sun Oil Company Has Changes In Its Organization

DALLAS — An organizational realignment of the operating department within Sun Oil Company's Southwest Production Division, headquartered here, has resulted in two levels of drilling and production supervision.

Surviving levels are the divisional office in Dallas and the ten district offices located throughout Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas.

Key personnel changes resulting from the realignment include transfers of E. L. Kownslar, district superintendent, C. E. Rogers, assistant district superintendent, and C. J. Merryman, district engineer, from Midland to Dallas as regional and assistant regional superintendent and assistant coordinator for joint operations, respectively.

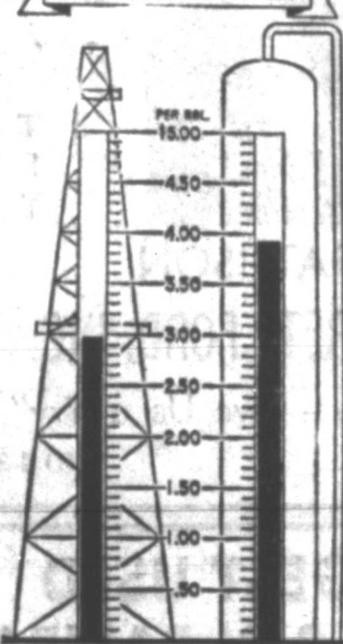

Messrs. Kownslar and Rogers will be responsible for Sun's drilling and production operations in West Texas, New Mexico and western Oklahoma. Kownslar is a 35-year Sun veteran, Rogers is a graduate of the University of Michigan and joined Sun in 1948, and Merryman is a graduate of Louisiana State University and started with the company in 1950.

Additional Sun Oil changes include the transfer of R. G. Denyer, district superintendent at McAllen, to district superintendent at Pampa. He succeeded at McAllen by George P. Moncrief, formerly district superintendent at McComb, Miss. Succeeding Moncrief at McComb is W. R. Brooks, formerly district engineer there. Denyer is an Oklahoma State University graduate and was employed by Sun in 1950. Moncrief is a Texas A&M graduate and a 22-year Sun employee. Brooks was graduated from Texas University and joined Sun Oil 20 years ago.

HAPPY HUNTING

At Reed City, Mich., Norman Rautiola, president of a wire company, said he would shut down his plant today through Nov. 22 so his 102 employees can go deer hunting. The boss said he would go too.
