Clocks run slower in Pampa than in Amarillo, for instance, or in Clovis, N. M.

There's nothing like starting the column off with a startling fact that, up until now, you knew absolutely nothing about.

The tickers in those two cities, or in any place of higher altitude, will outdo local timepieces in the business of pendulum-swinging because clocks run faster in high altitudes than in low, for in low altitudes the diminished gravity slows 'em up. Near the equator the gravity pull is less than elsewhere on earth.

In passing, we might say, that Pampa's slower clocks in no way open the door for cracksters in the towns of higher altitude, we hope.

This will be interesting to the boys in the oil fields—or, perhaps some of them already knew it: Alfred Nobel stumbled on the discovery of dynamite when nitro-glycerin, with which he was working, accidentally leaked into sand.

Thanks to REA, more than 3,200 farms in nine states, including Texas, soon will be getting electricity for the first time over new rural electric distribution lines. Government allotments totalling $36,500 for projects to serve these farms have just been approved.

With these allotments, we are informed, REA has lent or earmarked a total of $14,564,412 for 106 rural lines projects in the nation. Considerably over 50,000 new customers will have electric power available over 12,000 miles of lines under construction or projected in 32 states.

All of which moves one to remark that the 1936 farmer can feel lucky when compared to the farmer of grandpa's day who had to be content with the old kerosene lamp or tallow candle.

The Little Boy Next Door has solved the hot weather problem. He gets himself out in the hot sun and turns the family lawn spray upside down, which results in cooling precipitation that's hard to beat.

The man who fell off the flying trapeze says he knows of a "rounder" who was advised to take more exercise and that another fellow is looking for a tavern equipped with parallel bars.

With schools closed for the summer, citizens interested in the welfare of future generations are confronted with the fact that a vast amount of energy may go to waste if skill and patience are not employed in directing growing children in this playtime season, according to Dr. John W. Brown, state health officer.

"The civic, moral, and educational value of developing the natural talents of each child," Brown said, "has a far-reaching influence on the health, knowledge, and character of the future men and women of this state. The child need not be directed in each little act that he performs. Let the summer vacation season be the time when the child has a chance to develop his own individuality. Many an artist, statesman, or competent executive has come from humble surroundings. But looking back of this, we probably will find that this outstanding individual had a chance to develop his natural talent."

"It has been observed that children grow faster during the summer months than at any other time. This is explainable, perhaps, because it is then that they are out in the sunshine and fresh air. Good health is essential to physical and mental growth. The prime factors of good health are care of the body, nourishing food of the right kind, regular habits, sufficient sleep, rest and play, and a happy state of mind."

"Of course, where the child lives and where and under what conditions, means a great deal as to the type of recreation he will find during the summer. The city child will look forward to trips to the country or hours spent in the play grounds and swimming pools. The child living in the country will have many things to do that will keep him in the sunshine most of the time."

"Let us all work toward the end that each child may feel at the end of summer that he has worked out some of his own ideas and dreams, and still developed his physical and mental capacities during these few months of play."

All of which, it seems to us, is mighty good advice and probably more important than some of the things to which most of us give far more thought.

THREE JAILED HERE AFTER CAR CRASH

Water Carnival To Be Attraction On Fourth Here

STORE LOOTED OF $200 HERE SUNDAY NIGHT

LOSS NOT DISCOVERED UNTIL LATE MONDAY MORNING

Varying weather made it possible for burglars to enter and rob the United Dry Goods store on North Cuyler street sometime Sunday night, officers declared yesterday afternoon when they discovered how entry to the building had been gained. The loss was $200 in cash.

It was not until near noon that F. M. Hood, manager of the store, became convinced that his place had been burglarized. When he opened the store yesterday morning he couldn't find the cash where he thought it was hidden. Thinking he had forgotten where he had put it after checking receipts Sunday morning, he instigated a search. When the money was not found, city and county officers were notified.

The question arose as to how the store was entered since all doors were locked when Mr. Hood opened for business yesterday morning. No merchandise had been disarranged. This brought up the supposition that someone had spotted Mr. Hood hiding the money and knew where to look for it without a search.

Officers started a careful examination of doors and windows and finally found where a small iron bar had been used to push back the lock on the front door. The doors at the front of the building are double. It was no trouble to work the bar against the lock because the doors had spread during the dry weather, leaving a space of at least a half inch.

Boy Kidnaped Then Freed; Garageman Is Slugged

MANGUM, Okla., June 30 (AP)—Two fugitive Texas killers were sought by western Oklahoma officers today after they kidnaped a 14-year-old farm boy at Buck Creek, Tex., released him unharmed at Reed, Okla., and sped toward Mangum in a stolen car.

The heavily armed desperadoes, identified by Sheriff F. D. Anderson of Hollis, Okla., through descriptions as Luke Trammel and Forest Gibson, broke from the Texas prison farm 11 days ago after killing a guard.

They slugged Pete Whittaker, garage operator at Lugert, Okla., after releasing the boy, seized Whittaker's automobile and fled through Reed.

Anderson said one of the armed men had but one eye, which tallied with his description of one of the Texas prison farm fugitives. Hugh Pogue, hostage of the felons, was released after a wild ride across the Texas-Oklahoma line. Federal officers said crossing of the line with the abducted boy brought in the possibility federal agents would join the hunt on the theory the so-called Lindbergh kidnaping law had been violated.

"We will ascertain definitely if the federal law has been violated," said John Little temporarily in charge of the federal bureau of investigation at Oklahoma City. "Then if we find it has, we'll join in the search."

"We're ready to shoot it out with them," Sheriff E. N. Claiborn said. Warning that the armed men were in southwestern Oklahoma

Divining and Swimming Contests To Be Held

Despite parents and police, the firecracker bombardment which started a week ago increases daily, as grownups and kids alike become aware of the approaching Fourth and begin making plans for spending it.

The biggest attraction in the city July 4 will be at the municipal swimming pool where an elaborate water carnival will be held in the afternoon. Another drawing card at the pool will be fresh water and scrubbed bottom and walls. Due to the water shortage, the water was not changed as usual Friday night.

Dr. T. J. Worrell, city health officer, declared the water had been made 100 per cent sanitary through use of chemicals. Fresh water is scheduled to be turned into the pool tonight.

Pampans who do leave the city on the Fourth are likely to go to Canadian, Borger or Clarendon where Fourth celebrations will be held. In past years, Canadian's colorful Anvil Park rodeo has been the favorite Fourth attraction of Pampans and citizens of this community, and it is expected that scores will drive to the Hemphill county seat on Thursday, Friday and Saturday to watch the bronco bustin', the calf roping, the bulldogging and the steer riding. The rodeo will be held each afternoon at Anvil park.

The water carnival at the pool here will be held from 2 o'clock until 5 p. m. A children's revue for tots under six years of age will be held at 5 o'clock. Prizes will be given winners in all events.

Divining contests will be held in two classes, one for children from 12 to 16 years; the other for persons 16 and over. All classes of divining will be demonstrated.

Other events: Race under water; boys race, 8 to 12 years; boys race, 12 to 16 years; race for men, 16 years and over; girls race, 14 to 18 years.

Persons who expect to enter are asked to leave their name and the class they will enter at the swimming pool office. Or they may enter by calling 717.

The swimming pool continues to be the most popular place in Pampa. The hot weather has drawn the largest crowds in several years.

Mrs. Lillian A. Blythe has announced that the pool has received new rent suits for children.

Need For New Water Tank For Storage Cited

WILL INCREASE SUPPLY WITH FOURTH WELL

WATER IS TURNED ON LAST NIGHT IN TALLEY AREA

With assurance that repairs will heal the water shortage in Pampa at least temporarily, city officials today began a survey to seek a permanent remedy for warding off a recurrence of the dilemma which brought the water supply to the exhaustion stage within the last week.

At Monday night's meeting of the city commission in city hall it was agreed that additional storage capacity is the most vital immediate problem facing the city.

The commission ordered City Manager C. L. Stine to arrange to make tests for drilling a fourth well to bolster the supply.

The city manager also was instructed to compile prices and figures for an additional storage tank in which to store a reserve supply of water, adequate to offset such an emergency as has arisen under the present difficulty.

With the tank that the commission has in mind, it would be possible to store an additional 3,336,000 gallons of water.

The action was agreed upon following a suggestion of Mayor W. A. Bratton and Commissioner William T. Frasier, who told the commission that building additional storage would be the quickest and most economical way of handling the present emergency.

At present Pampa has only 955,000 gallons of reserve storage capacity—about enough to last half a day in the summer season and two days in the winter.

Present equipment enables the pumping of approximately 2,016,000 gallons of water from the city from 1933 and 1934. The city now consumes now is about 2,400,000 in that period of time.

City Manager Stine told the commission members that the city is pumping 60,000,000 gallons more water now than in the summers of 1933 and 1934. The city now has 1,600 in those years. In spite of this the operating capacity of the water system is the same today as it was three years ago.

Piping Water Discussed At a meeting during the water discussion, which occupied the entire evening, there was some talk of the possibility of piping water from springs on the Price ranch, 30 miles north of the city.

The matter, however, received little support due to what was termed

.55-Inch Rain Falls; Downpour Spots Panhandle

Perryton Gets Inch And Half of Moisture

Rain last night brought temporary relief from the heat and drought to Pampa and the Panhandle district, but it was of short duration and the mercury was climbing back today to the high readings which have been prevalent for the last two weeks.

In Pampa .55 of an inch rainfall was recorded last night. Black clouds gathered over the city from the northwest shortly after sundown and the precipitation began at 8:35 p. m. The rain fell in sheets for nearly 30 minutes and then subsided to a gentle fall which lasted until 11 o'clock.

Amarillo reported 28 of an inch in a heavy shower that began at 7:15 p. m. and lasted for half an hour.

An inch and a quarter of rain was reported at Perryton, a quarter-inch at Jericho, and a half-inch at Dumas. Dalhart had no rain. Showers similar to those at Amarillo fell at Channing.

Borger's 15-minute dust storm, one of the few this year, was erased in spasmodic rainfall totaling .03 of an inch.

Good rains were reported in most sections of the Panhandle. Shamrock had heavy showers and the fall was fairly heavy as far north as Wellington.

A stiff west wind for a time just before the rain threatened to stir up a dust disturbance, but early

NEW TRIAL IN MARK LONG'S SUIT GRANTED

Case Will Go Over To New Term Of Court; Juror Is Subject Of Arguments.

Upholding contentions of counsel for the plaintiff that a juror had been guilty of unintentional misconduct, Judge C. E. Carey in county court today granted a motion for a new trial in the damage suit of Mark A. Long against the City of Pampa.

Judge Newton P. Willis, Long's attorney, late yesterday afternoon filed the motion for a new trial in which it was set forth that B. F. A. Byrum, one of the six jurors at trial of the case last week, had influenced other jurors by his belief that if a verdict were returned for the plaintiff the city would have been compelled to pay Long's attorney fees.

This, Judge Willis contended, was a misconstruction of the law and that such would not have been the case. Had this interpretation not been placed before the other jurors, the plaintiff contended, a different verdict would have been possible.

In the damage action Long sought to recover $500 damages from the city for alleged destruction to his property through improper drainage facilities.

City Attorney John Sturgeon argued against the motion setting forth that it was his opinion that only two of the four jurors favored even a small verdict in behalf of the plaintiff and that the ultimate result of the verdict would not have been affected.

The Long case, Judge Carey stated, will go over the next term of court, today being the last day of the June term.

Trial of the damage action opened in county court a week ago yesterday and occupied most of last week. The jury's verdict being returned late last Friday night in favor of the city.

Other members of the jury were Gus Green, G. W. Carter, F. H. Browning, Raymond Cable and Sammy Cubine.

DRIVER FLEES— CAPTURED IN WHEAT FIELD

WOMAN INJURED WHEN CAR COLLIDES IN GROOM SMASH

Three men were in Gray county jail this afternoon, on drunken driving citations, following an automobile accident three miles east of room last midnight in which a woman was injured and taken to the Groom hospital.

The injured woman was Mrs. Royal Carlton, of Shamrock, who was with her husband and three children when their car was sideswiped and run off the highway by another car in which police say the three men were riding.

Deputy Sheriff O. T. Lindsey and County Highway Officer Otto Wasson went to Groom this afternoon and brought members of the trio back to the Pampa jail.

Richard Jennings of Oklahoma City, who police said was driving the car, fled following the accident and was not captured until early today when A. P. Brown, Donley county deputy, found him asleep in a field south of Jericho.

Roscoe Huff, owner of the car, and his brother, William Huff, both of Plymouth, Ill., were arrested by Donley county authorities shortly after the accident. They spent the night in the Groom jail.

REP. ZIONCHECK, UNDER GUARD, RIDES TRAIN FOR SEATTLE

'SHANGHAIED' CLAIMS SOLON IN STATEMENT

SAID HE WOULD HAVE GONE INSANE IN HOSPITAL

WASHINGTON, June 30 (AP)—Off toward the west went Representative Marlon A. Zioncheck today and a seasonal calm settled once more over the green slopes of capital hill.

The Congressman from Seattle, perhaps more docile than has been his wont in many months, boarded a train for Seattle, shortly after midnight as police braced themselves for a sigh.

Then came a parting thrust—"I'll be back. You wait and see." The effect was to check the sigh and set some of the curious spectators gasping.

Homebound he was under guard. Zioncheck has been the center of great activity in between the time of his escape Sunday from Shepard and Enoch Pratt's private hospital at Towson, Md., and the hour of his departure.

From the institution where he had been confined for mental treatment he fled to his office in the new house office building in the early hours of yesterday. There he remained for many hours with Kenneth Romney, house sergeant-at-arms, post a bond to assure Zioncheck's freedom on an assault charge, and while preparations were made for the westward journey.

After the legal barriers were thrown down, the young legislator issued a statement saying he had been "shanghaied" into both the Gallinger hospital here and into the Maryland institution.

He declared that had he not escaped from Towson, "it is certain that I would have qualified for an insane asylum in the very near future."

With the departure arrangements completed, Zioncheck, Romney and George Bishop, a Zioncheck appointee to the capital police force, proceeded to the union station, accompanied by a squad of policemen.

Zioncheck, dressed in a blue shirt and white linen suit, removed his straw hat but refused to wave a farewell to the assembled crowd before the train pulled out with Bishop aboard to accompany him.

Mrs. Ruby Nix Zioncheck, young bride of the lawmaker, was not seen among the spectators at the train. Had she been there, police were ready to serve a warrant charging assault, which was signed Saturday by Mrs. Benjamin Young.

Mrs. Young who sub-let her apartment to Zioncheck and who charged that he and his bride threw her out of the place after they returned from their honeymoon.

The apartment incident was one of the last of a series of escapades concerning Zioncheck which led to his arrest and confinement at Gallinger for mental observation.

Olympic Team Is Needing Money

BY ALAN GOULD, Associated Press Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, June 30 (AP)—America's Olympic track and field teams will be all dressed up and wondering where to go unless the necessary funds are raised as rapidly during the next two weeks as most of our athletes are running.

Official shepherds of our athletic flock remain confident the financial goal will be reached, thereby forestalling any eleven-hour reduction in the force picked for the trip to Berlin. They haven't had much encouragement lately, however, and the time is drawing short.

The $150,000 that Avery Brundage, president of the A. O. C., says still is needed, fully $50,000 more, required to finance the track team, including men and women. Two of the three semi-final tryout meets conducted last week-end, at Cambridge and Los Angeles, failed to produce expected profits. No report has yet been filed on what the Milwaukee tryouts realized for the Olympic fund.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS The United States Civil Service commission has announced open competitive examinations as follows:

Inspector of locomotives, $4,000 a year, Interstate Commerce Commission. Criminal research statistician, $3,800 a year, Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce.

Cadastral engineer (aerial surveys), various grades, $2,800 to $3,800 a year.

Climatologist, geomorphologist, economic geographer, statistical meteorologist, $3,800 a year; associate climatologist, associate geomorphologist, associate economic geographer, assistant statistical meteorologist, $2,800 a year.

Assistant physicist (textiles), female, $2,600 a year. Agronomist (forage crops), pathologist (virus diseases), $3,800 a year; associate agronomist (forage crops), associate geneticist (forage crops), $2,800 a year; assistant agronomist (forage crops), $2,600 a year, Department of Agriculture.

CAPITOL JIGSAW

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, June 30 (AP)—When hard-headed business men back a proposition with their money, says W. W. Halcomb of the secretary of state's department, they must have faith in it.

The other day members of one of Governor Allred's volunteer parole boards loaned a convict $300 to help him start in the taxi business. Under the parole plan, convicts report regularly to the boards which, as a public service, exercise a sort of supervision.

"Any idea that most paroled convicts eventually commit new offenses and return to prison is all wrong," said Halcomb. "The figures show that less than 2 per cent return, leaving more than 98 per cent who make good."

Dr. Raleigh Schorling of the University of Michigan says the progress of man depends on "pushing the error in calculations to the next decimal place."

"Science now demands accurate measurements as fine as one-hundredth of an inch," he said, addressing the state curriculum conference in Austin. "Split the wall of a soap bubble 40,000 times and you will have approximately that thickness."

Many educators have been led astray, he said, by assigning a lower rank to the value of mathematics in the school curriculum.

The "literary wars" are on, says the "current" press agent of Frank S. Morris of Dallas, candidate for the railroad commission.

He terms himself "current" because "press agents die young and at the reading this one may be wrapped in Abraham's bosom."

Back from a junket involving taking Morris' case to the people, he stated that times have changed since he went to a school and was taught that press agents wrote stories, sent them in and saw them printed in the next edition. Instead, here are some of the things he did on the recent tour:

Put in 20 torrid minutes with his candidate in a wheat field. Held and "shushed" babies while they emitted Centennial wails. Played checkers in country stores with soda pop bottle caps for men, learning how to lose at the right time.

Stopped his sound truck and helped the candidate patch a voter's tire in a super-100 degree temperature. Drank 20 cold drinks in an afternoon.

Developed personal magnetism and attempted to win over grumpy but worthy country editors to the cause.

Conversation overheard in Gov. Allred's ante-chamber, between a press correspondent and a secretary:

"See you got a new fan here." "Yep, a hummingbird." "By the way, the nameplate says 'Hunter.' Guess that's the manufacturer."

"By George, you're right." "Not blowing hot air either." "Well, I guess we'll get another fan."

Pampans Attend Hartley Funeral

Several Pampa residents attended funeral services in Anthony, Kan., Sunday for W. W. Hartley 44, who died in Enid, Okla., Thursday following an extended illness. Mr. Hartley was Santa Fe chief clerk at Amarillo. He was visiting friends in Oklahoma at the time of his death.

SHAKY SUITOR QUESTIONED IN BRICK SLAYING

BELIEVE KILLER WAS MASQUERADING AS A NEGRO

CHICAGO, June 30 (AP)—A handwriting expert was placed on the trail of the slayer of Mrs. Florence Thompson Castle today as investigators renewed their interrogation of an admirer of the pretty night club entertainer.

Herbert J. Walter was called into the case to study a bizarre message scrawled in lipstick on a mirror in the victim's hotel room. It read: "Black Legion Game."—interpreted to mean "Black Legion came." Subjoined was a printed skull and cross bones.

Chief of Detectives J. L. Sullivan—terming it one of a number of "intentionally misleading clues" left by the man who crushed Mrs. Castle's skull with a paving brick early yesterday as she lay in bed beside her seven-year-old son—asked Walter to compare the note with handwriting of persons questioned in the case.

Sullivan announced James D. Britt, a Stevens Point, Wis., furrier, was sought for interrogation. He said Britt had resided at the same hotel as Mrs. Castle this month and had entertained her at a night club. A man registered under the name, the chief added, had checked out of a loop hostelry last night.

Sidney Schaps, 32, master of ceremonies at a North Side cafe, who listed himself as a "good friend" of the brunette hostess, was held for a new quiz after he had submitted to a lie detector test. Captain William O'Brien said Schaps was "shaky on all his answers about his activities" Sunday night.

Mrs. Nancy Polfus, mother of the 24-year-old victim, told police Schaps was jealous of her daughter and had threatened her. Schaps denied it. He said he had driven Mrs. Castle from the railroad station where she met her son, James Thompson, upon his arrival from his maternal grandparents' home in Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sunday morning and had paid a brief call to her hotel about 9 o'clock that evening.

Subsequently, he added, he conducted floor shows at a cafe. Young James informed investigators it was about 1 a. m. Monday when a man who resembled a negro crawled in the window and beat and choked his mother. He demanded to know from the horrified boy: "Who were you and your mother out with last night?"

Schaps, married and the father of a child, said he saw Mrs. Castle's body at the morgue last night. Tears coursed down his cheeks. Sergeant John O'Malley inquired: "Did you kill her?"

"No, no," the officer quoted Schaps, "Mickey, you were smiling when I saw you tonight." It was the official theory that the slayer had covered his face with black grease paint and affected a negro dialect to frustrate identification by the boy who watched the grotesque crime.

Dallas Taxicabs Are Idle Again

DALLAS, June 30 (AP)—This city's 300 taxicabs are idle in their garages today as their drivers and operators locked grips in the third cab strike here since May 27.

Demands for a closed-shop agreement and a charge operators were hiring non-union men in preference to union drivers were at the center of the trouble.

The drivers started laying up their cabs at 9 p. m. last night and in a short while every cab in the city was off the streets. Six companies were involved.

W. R. Williams, southwestern representative of the American Federation of Labor, demanded a closed-shop agreement, asserting such an arrangement would be "most beneficial to all concerned, including the general public."

He warned that unless an agreement is reached "there will always be the possibility of these strikes flaring up overnight."

LABOR BOARD POWER HIT IN COURT RULING

FEDERAL COURT GIVES INTERPRETATION OF AUTHORITY

CINCINNATI, June 30 (AP)—The U. S. circuit court of appeals held today that the National Labor Relations board lacked authority to issue orders affecting companies whose business "does not directly affect any phase of any interstate commerce."

It dismissed a petition of the board asking enforcement of an order it issued to Fruehauf Trailer company of Detroit and directed that the order be set aside.

The Fruehauf company attacked the constitutionality of the national labor relations act in appealing from the order of the board.

Authority for the national labor relations act, the court said, "is claimed under the commerce clause of the constitution. Since the order is directed to the control and regulation of the relations between the trailer company and its employees in respect to their activities in the manufacture and production of trailers and does not directly affect any phase of any interstate commerce in which the trailer company may be engaged. . . the congress has no authority or power to regulate or control such relations between the trailer company and its employees, the National Labor Relations board was without authority to issue the order."

The board order directed the Fruehauf company to "cease and desist" from discharging or threatening to discharge any employees because of activities in the United Automobile Workers Federal Labor Union No. 19,375, from discouraging employees from joining the union, and to reinstate with reimbursement for lost pay any persons already discharged.

TABLE SETTING ADDS ZEST TO DULL APPETITE

FLOWERS AND SILVER TEMPT SUMMER DINERS

BY MARY E. DAGUE, NEA Service Writer.

When you're planning cool and tempting meals for hot summer days, don't forget the appeal of crisp, snowy linen, crystal and gleaming silver.

An inviting table can go a long way toward propping up wilted appetites and soothing worn nerves. The wise housewife gives special attention to table arrangements during the warm weather.

Flower arrangements should always be fresh, so be sure to use bowls that are deep enough to hold plenty of water. Some authorities advocate immersion of the entire flower stem in water, and if you can use crystal bowls the effect of tender green stems through the clear glass is lovely.

To Care for Silver.

Those who are fortunate enough to own sterling silver need have no hesitancy in using it on the table every day. With proper care, you will never wear it out. To be sure, it shouldn't be used in the kitchen for scraping and stirring because the edges will wear down, but daily use on the table will not even dim its gleam. If you wash sterling silver in hot soap suds, rinse it in scalding water and wipe it dry on a clean linen dish towel, it will keep its luster indefinitely. Rub off stains with each dishwashing, so that the silver is bright and shining at every meal. This adds immeasurably to the beauty of any table and keeps the silver in perfect condition.

There's a dignity about heavy white damask and crystal with silver that few other color schemes achieve. I have some fine old damask that belonged to my grandmother and it's as satiny today as when she used it more than 50 years ago.

Tomorrow's Menu.
BREAKFAST: Cantaloupe, cereal, cream, broiled cottage ham, graham muffins, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON: Cold sliced meats, jellied salad Melba, cinnamon rolls, hot chocolate.
DINNER: Tomato juice frappe, broiled minute steaks, creamed cauliflower, buttered asparagus, salad of mixed greens, raspberry Bavarian cream, sponge drops, milk, coffee.

The contrast of the pure white linen with colored foods is most effective, too. Your menu may be anything you choose because there can be no clash in color with white.

Of course there's nothing like a plate of hot soup to cool one off, but you can't make a mistake with a tomato juice frappe, either.

Tomato Juice Frappe.

Two cans of your favorite brand of tomato juice, 2 lemons, 1/2 teaspoon celery salt, 1/4 teaspoon onion pepper, 4 teaspoons sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 2 drops tabasco sauce.

Open tomato juice and turn into a pitcher. Add remaining ingredients, stirring until sugar and salt and other seasonings are thoroughly dissolved. Pour into freezing trays and freeze until mushy. Serve in glasses with a slice of lime.

Follow the frappe with broiled minute steaks which may be anything from a cut of round to the filet. Have them cut thin and broil them quickly. Top with grilled mushrooms, just as you serve them, and add a bunch of crisp watercress if it is available.

Stanley Baldwin May Resign Soon

LONDON, June 30 (AP)—Rumors Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin may resign soon flooded official British circles today.

Despite a fresh vote of confidence from the house of commons, Baldwin was reported pondering his resignation at his country home. His return to London was said to have been postponed until next week.

Scathing attacks from the opposition against his government continued as the prime minister sought relief from nervous exhaustion and insomnia brought on by pressure of official duties.

His newest parliamentary victory came in rejection of a labor motion last night during debate over a speech in Paris recently by Alfred Duff Cooper, war secretary. Labor, sharply criticizing the Baldwin government, asked adjournment of the session and was defeated 284 to 136. The prime minister was termed "little boy blue who is sound asleep" during the debate centering around Duff Cooper's declaration to a French group "your frontier is our frontier." The labor onslaught was aimed at statements by cabinet ministers of personal opinions on government policy.

Alanreed Girl Describes Closet

"I am very proud of my closet for I needed it most," said Mildred Tibbet of the Alanreed Girls Four-H club.

Before improvement Mildred had a wire across the corner to place her clothes hangers on, and over this she had a marquisette curtain, this arrangement is unsightly as well as a poor way to keep clothes clean.

Mildred, aided by her father, removed the table from a discarded windmill tower, then constructed a convenient and attractive closet. She has ample shelves, and rod space for clothes hangers and there was no expense involved in building this closet.

FARLEY HASN'T RESIGNED, BUT PARRIES QUERY

Various Rumors Are Published by Times

WASHINGTON, June 30. (AP)—James A. Farley's dual role as postmaster general and chairman of the democratic national committee—and the question whether he may quit the cabinet post—aroused new interest today as the autumn election campaign hit its stride.

Farley was reported by one source to have sent his resignation to President Roosevelt, and from another came the suggestion that he might take a leave of absence from the postoffice department.

In Atlantic City, where he went for a rest, Farley said last night: "I have not resigned as postmaster general and beyond that I have no comment to make."

He parried a question as to whether he planned to resign later on, repeating that he had no further comment to make.

The New York Times, however, said in a Washington dispatch that Farley had sent his resignation from the cabinet to President Roosevelt in order that he might concentrate on the duties of his political post.

The newspaper added that the resignation would be accepted and that William W. Howes, first assistant, would become acting post-

Black-Draught's Good Reputation

The confidence people have in Black-Draught, built up from satisfactory use so many years, is shown in its being handed on from one generation to another. It must be good to have such a strong following. Here is a typical reference to Black-Draught by a satisfied user: "We have used Black-Draught for twenty years," writes Mr. Fred Richardson of Hartshorne, Okla. "My mother has used it for fifty years. It is the best medicine I know anything about. I take it for sour stomach and constipation, or when I feel sluggish and bad. Black-Draught is splendid to regulate the bowels, cleansing them of waste matter, ridding them of constipation. I expect to use it twenty-five more years. It is live and it gives satisfaction as it has always given." (Adv.)

DROUGHT BURNS AS CHIEFTAINS CONSIDER AID

Relief Measures For Area Considered At Meeting

ST. PAUL, June 30. (AP)—Emergency measures to carry drought distressed farmers through a crisis of wintered crops were considered by government chieftains and officials of five northwest states today.

National Works Progress Administrator Harry Hopkins came from Washington to join spokesmen from the arid area in the task of drafting a program.

Proposals for construction of farm-to-market roads and small dams for water conservation were shaped as federal and state estimators indicated $3,000 families would require aid. The cost was unofficially calculated from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000.

Governors Elmer Holt and Walter Welford sat in for Montana and North Dakota respectively. WPA Administrator Victor Christgau spoke for Minnesota, South Dakota, and Wyoming were represented.

While cases of farmers in the northwest who had not enjoyed a good harvest in six or seven years were cited, reports of new drought damage came from the midwest and south.

They prompted Secretary of Agriculture Wallace to plan a personal inspection of the affected prairie states. While he arranged to leave the national capital today, the administration's special drought committee prepared to lay relief recommendations before President Roosevelt.

Showers, followed by lower temperatures, provided a temporary respite in the northern half of the midwest yesterday. But concern over droughts already made was deflected in an upswing in the corn market.

Lightning left two dead in Iowa and Illinois. Tornado wind resulted in heavy property damage in Iowa. Hall battered crops in North Carolina and South Dakota. Highways were blocked by storm-felled trees in the vicinity of Fort Wayne, Ind.

The mercury reached record-levels at some points in the arid states. Newport, Tenn., and Mattoon and Bloomington, Ill., reported 108 degrees; Augusta, Ga., and Mt. Vernon, Ill., 105; Grand Island, Neb., and Evansville, Ind., 103; Knoxville, Tenn., and Macon, Ga., 101; and Birmingham, Ala., 100.

Observers said the rains and cool fall came too late to save small grain in the drought belts of the Dakotas, Montana, Wyoming and West Central Minnesota.

A new invasion of grasshoppers spread more ruin through fields and gardens and in some sections of South Dakota.

DINING TABLE IS USED FOR STUDY CENTER

McLEAN GIRL TELLS HOW SHE BUILT ARTICLE

"For my study center I used a long ago cast off dining table," says Bennie Mae Wade, of the McLean Girls of Pur H Club.

The dining room table had been in the Wade family for a long time and for years served its purpose well at family meal hours. When such services were ended it was used in the wash house. Recently it was resurrected for a study center being used in Gray county's second place winner in the bedroom contest.

During the years the extra leaves had disappeared along with most of the varnish but the oak legs and the main section remained in good condition. By hiring a carpenter at $1 the table was cut to an appropriate size and the legs securely fastened. Then it was painted a soft brown color. For the carpenter and enamel Bennie Mae spent $1.25 and now has a convenient study center.

On this she has placed a green blotter, a lamp, small desk calendar and a pair of book-ends holding her two favorite books. In the drawer, Bennie Mae has placed her stationary pencils, ink, and such supplies.

The chair at the study center is more than 50 years old, having been used daily and still remains in excellent condition. Bennie Mae's grandfather made it, thus it holds a special interest and value to her.

"Why I Switched to Dodge"

by GEORGE DEWITT SHEETS, Cranford, N. J.

I traded in my small car to get a big Dodge "Beauty Winner." It was one of the best moves I ever made.

Why? Because, in the long run, I figure this big Dodge is actually going to cost me less than the small car I had.

For example, I'm getting 21 miles per gallon of gasoline—and I haven't added any oil between changes. And Dodge is so easy to buy! One can get a Dodge for not much more than $25 per month! It's easy to see why more people buy Dodge cars than any other make, with the exception of the three lowest-priced cars!

MODEL PRISONER

There was a peculiar pleasure in running across an old name in the grist of crime news during the past week. With so many upstart gangsters and hoodlums trying to make their way up in the underworld, it has been easy to forget about Al Capone.

The former Chicago big shot got into a little scrape with another prisoner out in Alcatraz. He resisted successfully an attempt to stab him in the back, hit his attacker and made his own way to the prison hospital for treatment.

Prison officials admit willingly that Capone has been a model prisoner. The fact seems worth mentioning. While it isn't to be expected that the gang chief is going to emerge from his long imprisonment completely reformed, it is interesting to know that the Alcatraz environment isn't being wasted.

At the beginning of the present decade Al Capone was a national disgrace—a symbol of insolent defiance of law and order. A good deal of frantic talking was being done; some charged that hoodlums were more powerful than policemen. Out of it all, something came. A part of the product, besides the graves of gangsters who yielded finally to some other fellow's bullets, is Al Capone of Alcatraz, a model prisoner.

LET'S MAKE IT COMPLETE

It is encouraging to note that officials in several states have been making determined efforts to wipe the Black Legion from the American scene. The job probably will prove long and arduous, but it should not be dropped for a moment.

A resolution is before congress asking for an appropriation which would permit fighting the legion across state boundaries. Perhaps something like this is needed. At least, prosecution of accused terrorists and murderers must be carried out to the fullest degree.

At the same time complete revelation of the activities of these raiders is highly important. Keeping the spotlight on the Black Legion should eventually show even the dullest citizen how un-American such a group is. An aroused public conscience will eventually obliterate the organization.

THE CRITICAL MIND

President Tyler Dennett of Williams College looks at the increasing complexity of world affairs with a critical eye. In fact, he admits he is a crank on criticism. He holds to the safeguard of democracy in a torn humanity.

In a recent commencement address, the Massachusetts educator asserted that "criticism is to be the intellectual and spiritual life of a people what seed selection is to a farmer and the material welfare of the race." And he urged that the critical attitude be developed in every student.

Dr. Dennett strikes a vital note. He would defend our democratic state through development of a keen critical sense in the electorate—an attitude which would help them debunk propaganda and smell out dictatorship in the making.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK—Those New Yorkers who can't get away for the summer should take comfort in the report brought back from Texas by a traveler who claims the torrid atmosphere of this town isn't a breeze compared to the parched wastes of Mr. Garner's state.

There were several of us mopping our brows on one of those floating nightclubs which are warded up the Hudson every evening after dark, and the newly returned citizen described it like this:

"Texas was some warm, despite the fact that the natives didn't seem to mind. I had spots before my eyes 24 hours a day. On one of our side jaunts we went out to a ranch on the other side of Amarillo, where the jackrabbits wouldn't have a care in the world if it weren't for the coyotes, who make it a practice to dine on jackrabbits where and when they can sink their fangs into one.

"Well, as I say, it was hot. Nobody in our party could even talk, let alone move. Getting that parade, we saw something move in the open ahead of us, and we got closer it turned out to be a coyote chasing a big fat rabbit, and, mister, it was so hot, both them were walking."

There's a story going the rounds that Billy Gibson, the old prize-fight manager who piloted Gene Tunney into a world title, once dreamed of becoming a big league ball player. That was about 25 years ago, and an old fellow who managed a ball club up in the Bronx blasted his ambitions by telling Gibson he didn't think much of his talents as a player.

"You'd better try some other profession, kid," the manager advised him, "you aren't geared for the big leagues."

So Gibson traded his baseball uniform for the robes of a pugilistic mentor and acquired Gene Tunney, among others.

What makes the story, however, is that the baseball manager who he breezed compared to the parched wastes of Mr. Garner's state.

There were several of us mopping our brows on one of those floating nightclubs which are warded up the Hudson every evening after dark, and the newly returned citizen described it like this:

"Texas was some warm, despite the fact that the natives didn't seem to mind. I had spots before my eyes 24 hours a day. On one of our side jaunts we went out to a ranch on the other side of Amarillo, where the jackrabbits wouldn't have a care in the world if it weren't for the coyotes, who make it a practice to dine on jackrabbits where and when they can sink their fangs into one.

This time interval, referred to a scale, gives the depth in fathoms.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

OUR MOON IS LARGER, IN PROPORTION TO THE SIZE OF THE PLANET TO WHICH IT BELONGS, THAN ANY OTHER OF THE MANY MOONS IN THE SOLAR SYSTEM.

A TURTLE, WHEN ACTIVE, CAN REFRAIN FROM BREATHING FOR A DAY OR TWO! WHEN HIBERNATING, IT CAN LIVE FOR MONTHS WITHOUT BREATHING.

THE moon has a diameter of 2160 miles, and a gravitational pull of one-sixth that of the earth. In other words, a person weighing 120 pounds on earth would weigh only 20 pounds if he lived on the moon.

RUNAWAY BRIDE

Just as happy with Sylvia, who was so soon to wear a rose tulle frock and precede her down the stairway and the ribboned aisle. Maybe this was a nightmare—she would wake up in a minute.

"She heard Bob's voice again. 'After all, Sylvia, we have to be practical about marriage today. This economic upheaval has knocked the props from under romance. No woman can own a man. Good Lord, Sylvia, I'm not going to jail!'"

"Own a man? A woman who loved did not want to possess. She knew that love was a free-will offering. It built no walls. Two people stayed together because they wanted to, not because there was no other place to go."

"I love you terribly, I'm not ashamed of it," but if you marry Marcia, . . . and of course you are marrying Marcia. . . Marcia knew that Sylvia must have motioned, then, to the palms, the white ribbons, the heavy flowers.

The girl who was marrying Bob stepped forward, walked down the ribboned aisle to the two who waited her coming, silent. The ivory train trailed along, forgotten.

"Sorry," Marcia said quietly. Her voice wasn't break. If it did it would make such a brittle sound as it fell. "Or maybe I'm glad. It's better to understand things."

"But, Marcia, darling, you don't understand!" Bob stepped forward. "It's the emotional strain—you know how people swing into moods. . ."

"Yes, of course you know!" Sylvia supplemented with her lips, but her eyes showed that she didn't know at all.

"Yes," Marcia agreed. "It's rather tense for all of us. There isn't much time left for dressing, Sylvia. Better hurry, Bob."

Now to walk slowly, calmly. To straighten a bow and smooth a rose. Not to let on that her world had crashed. She must climb the stairway, head high, just as though the tall steps led to something, instead of not going anywhere—not anywhere! Nothing could be important enough to matter much without Bob, and Bob could get along without her. He had said so. "What difference does it make whom I marry?" Those were his words.

"Sort of dumb of you, Marcia, not to guess," she told herself. She wouldn't marry him. Yet the wedding cake was arranged in small silver boxes, the ices were molded into hearts and 150 people were even now dressing to wish the bride and bridegroom a long life of happiness together. Marcia was sitting on the edge of the bed when the house phone rang. It would be Bob, trying to make atonement. Maybe she should let him. After all he didn't love anyone else any more than he loved her. No, she couldn't compromise. She was giving too much. . . Love and marriage were something sacred. She removed the receiver and placed it on the desk so she wouldn't hear the repeated clamor of the bell.

A few minutes later the outside telephone rang. Marcia gazed at it dully. Bob, apparently, had gone outside the house, thinking that his strategy would deceive her. But perhaps he did love her really and didn't know it. . . but people knew when they did! She must be indecisive, foolish. . .

"Marcia? Oh, my love! I'm really crazy. What did you hear?" It must have sounded ghastly but it was nothing but a goodbye. You know that.

"Yes, I know. I was in a sentimental mood, too." She loved him. She wished he would hang up. His voice was tearing her heart, ripping it as though it had been paper. A bride's heart should be whole. She wasn't going to marry him. She must remember that. She wasn't a woman who could own a man. Good Lord, Sylvia, I'm not going to jail!"

"Own a man? A woman who loved did not want to possess. She knew that love was a free-will offering. It built no walls. Two people stayed together because they wanted to, not because there was no other place to go."

Talks to parents

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH Don't Point "Look, mother! See that funny man? He has a big bump on his neck. What makes him like that?" Children have no qualms about calling attention to the defects of others, and most parents have at some time been mortified at the comments their children make.

How to deal with the situation is an immediate question. To argue the matter out there and then and explain to the child that he must not make personal remarks is often impossible. Generally the father or mother can only try to distract the child's attention. Often one hears the mother remark wearily, "How often have I told you not to point?" Then the incident is forgotten until the next time.

But the child who is old enough to comment on this is also old enough to reason. There is no use in insisting on the apparently absurd rule that one must not point. It may serve to distract attention at an embarrassing moment, but it has no effect on the child. Why must he not point?

If, after the parents and the child are alone, the parent would recall the circumstances of the man with the lump, the reason could at once be made clear, and the youngster cured once and for all of making personal remarks.

"That man was deformed. He does not like the lump any better than you would, and is embarrassed and unhappy when people notice it, just as you are when strangers make remarks about your looks. How would you like to have someone point at you in a crowd and say: 'What a funny little boy! Why is his hair red, or where did he get that big freckle, or what happened to his tooth?' It is because it hurts people that we do not point, and do not make remarks about them."

Even a little child will see the force of such an argument.

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

BY ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD—Hollywood actresses, in the opinion of Ernest Dryden of Paris, err in trying to dress like Hollywood actresses in their pictures.

"I am speaking against my own interests," he says, "when I suggest that quite frequently it would be better for pictures if the actresses were dressed in clothes bought from the street shops. The clothes in gowns designed especially for pictures."

"Many picture dresses defeat their own ends," the noted designer explains. "The moment the audience's attention is distracted by a dress the star happens to be wearing, the picture suffers. Instead of watching the star's emotional performance, the audience is smitten by her clothes. What she is doing, saying or thinking, any expression of her art, is likely to be overlooked."

Dryden is an unusual fellow in other ways. His sketches for "The Garden of Allah," "Lost Horizon," and "The King Steps Out"—are character studies as well as costume designs. Together they make a gallery of incisive portraits.

He has designed for stage, screen, ballet and for Paris salons. He still does, although he came to Hollywood to "retire."

Maintaining that Paris is still the world's fashion center, Dryden retires to his home in Paris, where he has a studio. He has a large influence on what certain women wear.

"There are concerns which specialize in Hollywood's screen clothes, and they have a large patronage," he says. "But I think this is traceable to a pathetic desire for romance."

Stenographer Dreams. "For instance, a poor little stenographer who makes $12 a week will pay 50 cents to see a movie. She sees a star playing a stenographer's role. In the picture the stenographer has a romance with a handsome, dashing leading man who is the answer to the girl's own prayer. Life for the screen stenographer is perfect in the real stenographer's eyes—and she dreams."

"When she leaves the theater, her problem then is to be as nearly like the screen heroine as possible. But what can she do? She cannot be that dress—but—ah! She can wear lapels like those her heroine wears. She can wear a hat like hers—and she does."

HOW'S your HEALTH

Edited by DR. JAGO GALDSTON for the New York Academy of Medicine Senile Dementia

"In 'King Lear,' Shakespeare draws a vivid picture of senile dementia, the mental weakness or deterioration associated with old age.

The madness of Lear is evident in his child-like susceptibility to praise and flattery and his quick unreasonable temper, when Cordelia, his faithful daughter, fails to parade in flowery sentences her love for her father.

Lear's mental aberrations—the failure of his memory; his swinging from haughty command to abject supplication; his delusions in which he sees his faithless daughters brought to justice; his final ravings—all portray the clinical picture of senile dementia with a faithfulness worthy of an expert in psychiatry.

No less fitting are the words Shakespeare places in the mouth of the physician who, when called on by Cordelia to treat her mentally deranged father, counsels rest: "There is means, madam, our foster nurse of nature is repose, the which he lacks."

Senile dementia is a blanket term. The condition may be the result of the inevitable regressive processes associated with old age, or it may be traced more specifically to arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries) which impedes the blood circulation in the brain, to high blood pressure, to heart disease or to defects in kidney function.

The symptoms of senile dementia are numerous and varied. Commonly the sufferer loses effective contact with his surroundings. He is likely to forget recent events, and to be dimly aware of what goes on about him. He frequently manifests mood disorders, in which petulance, anger, apathy and self-pity may appear, apparently without provocation. Not infrequently he complains of being persecuted and maltreated.

Treatment depends upon the severity of the condition. Patients usually benefit by rest, improvement in diet, good personal hygiene, sedative drug and, of course, psychotherapy.

HUBER NINE WILL BE FUE ON AL SUMMERS NIGHT AT LOCAL PARK FRIDAY

BRON CHODY AND POLVOGT WILL BE GONE

PITCHER WITH INDIANS AND CATCHER IS IN HOSPITAL

It will be Al Summers night at Road Runner park Friday when the Pampa-Danciger Road Runners play Huber of Berger. Game time will be 8:30 o'clock with a mission 40 cents for men and 25 cents for women.

"Little Al" has signed a contract with the Oklahoma City Indians in the Texas league. He will not join the team until spring training opens next year, however. Al talked things over with Manager Sam Hale and the boys before signing his contract and decided not to report until the spring.

Fans are expected to pack Road Runner park Friday when they will pay tribute to one of the best loved players ever to wear a Road Runner uniform. Besides being the No. 1 popular player wherever he goes, Summers is also a No. 1 baseball player around second base where he has cavorted for many of his few years. Mrs. Summers will be in the stands Friday night.

Borger's Blackfries will be here minus Byron Chody at righthand, and Fred Polvogt, catcher. Chody is with the Oklahoma City Indians and Polvogt is in the hospital with a broken leg, received in Enid two weeks ago when he slid into second base.

The Blackfries have a new pitcher on the list. They will also present Tucker, new centerfielder, to Pampa fans. The outfielder joined the team a few days after the Borger crew appeared here last.

Carl Stewart, righthanded curveball artist, is scheduled to take the mound for the Road Runners. Stewart stopped Amarillo's scoring spree last Friday night. Since then he has not been used while other members of the staff have been in action. Stewart has been showing a world of stuff this season.

Several of the boys will be stiff and sore when they take the field. They were badly battered in the games at Duncan, Okla., on Sunday afternoon when they split a doubleheader with the Halliburton Cementers of that city.

Don Baker, leftfielder, fell in a hole while trying to snag a fly ball and came out with a twisted and badly cut knee. Grover Seitz, centerfielder, wore a large blister on his heel running over the uneven outfield. Lefty Cox, first baseman, was hit on the head by a pitched ball. Although no bones were broken his side was badly bruised. Sam Hale, third baseman took an elbow in the mouth and cracked a tooth when he ran into Holy while fielding a ball.

A light workout is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon to iron out the kinks.

LASH TOPS DISTANCE STARS ON TRAIL OF FIRST TITLE

BY ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, June 30. (AP)—There has been only one break in each string of conquests achieved by Finland's footracers in the Olympic distance-running track events, the 5,000 and 10,000 meters.

At the shorter distance, slightly over three miles, Josef Guinot of France outran Paavo Nurmi, then just breaking into fast company, in the 1920 games at Antwerp. Four years ago, at Los Angeles, with Nurmi on the sidelines and a freshman cop carrying Finland's banner, Jamuz Kusocinski of Poland, paced off with victory and a new Olympic record in the 10,000 meters, while Halph Hill, a young American lost a close, bitterly-disputed decision in a record-breaking 5,000 meters final to Lauri Lehtinen, the Finnish ace.

Having thus shaken Finland's grip on supremacy in the sphere of distance running, challengers at Berlin this August will suffer from no inferiority complex. From America's viewpoint, there is now real hope of conquest for the first time, not only because of the encouragement given to our runners by Hill's gallant bid but also due to the sensational performances this spring of Donald Ray Lash, 22-year-old Indiana collegian.

Lash Doubles Up
Lash electrified the top-racing world June 13 by smashing Nurmi's world 2-mile record on a rain-soaked track at Princeton. He was clocked in 8 minutes 58.3 seconds as he whipped the strongest field that could be gathered to oppose him, and knocked off the market set by the great Paavo in 1931.

The belief Lash can carry his speed over the longer Olympic distances is well founded. He has won the national cross-country championship for the past two years, at 10,000 meters. He has been doubling up in mile and 2-mile races all spring in college competition, contributing a 4:10.8 mile to his achievements, so that there is no doubt he will be primed to run both Olympic distance races and three.

Until Lash reeled off his phenomenal race at Princeton most Olympic experts were looking to Norman Bright, the California school master, to pick up where Hill left off for the U. S. A. four years ago. Bright lowered the American 2-mile mark to 9:13 last year and may be a factor in the 5,000

King Oil Is Winner Over Coltexo 5-2 In 10 Innings

Schafer and King to Play for Half Title

Stelly-Schafer and King Oil will play for the first half title in the Pampa Playground ball league. King Oil took second place in the league standing yesterday afternoon with a 5 to 2 win over Coltexo of LeFors in a 10-inning battle.

The first game of the playoff series will be a twilight meeting at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow evening. The game will be played on neutral ground, the Christian diamond south of Harvester field. The second game will be at the same hour and same place on Friday evening. If a third game is necessary, it will be played Sunday afternoon on the same diamond at 2:30 o'clock.

For King and Weatherspoon of Coltexo were light with base hits after the second inning when they team scored two runs. Going into the tenth inning, Weatherspoon developed a wild streak. He walked Sharp and Riley in succession and Smith came through with a double which scored two runs. Smith scored on an overthrow after getting to third on an out. Coltexo was unable to register in their half of the tenth. Wagner was behind the bat for King, with Glauson receiving for Coltexo.

Play in the second half of the league schedule will begin on July 7. Cabot Shops will replace the disbanded Methodists in the race.

'Whitey' Baccus Signs as Coach For Childress

CHILDRESS, June 30. (NS)—Forrest (Whitey) Baccus, former S. M. U. basketball, football, and baseball star, has been appointed backfield football coach and head basketball mentor for Childress high school, the school board announced yesterday.

During his high school days at Estelline, Baccus was one of the state's outstanding cage and grid stars. He was named an all-state forward in high school basketball.

Baccus' appointment is an addition to the Childress high school athletic staff. Joe Gibson is retained as head football coach. Presley Wright is assistant in football and basketball. Steve Mathews is football line coach.

CHILD'S NERVE
NEW YORK (AP)—When a larger boy hesitated to climb down from an apartment house fire escape, his playmate, Francis P. Fiering, 5, said: "You have no nerve, watch me."

Francis started the descent, slipped and fell five stories. He died instantly.

Lash has a chance to do as well if not better than all our previous distance runners combined. The best America can show is one second place in each Olympic fixture. Lewis Tewanima, the Indian runner, placed second to Finland's great Hannes Kolehmainen in the 10,000 in 1912. We had to wait 20 years to find another runner-up in Ralph Hill.

Both 1932 Olympic champions probably will defend their titles, although there is some doubt about Kusocinski's condition. The Polish star was put out of competition for a while with a leg injury.

Finland has two newcomers for the 5,000 in Gunnar Hockert and Taisio Maki, both of whom have taken Finland's measure. Lehtinen now 27, has not returned to his record-breaking form of four years ago. Volmari Iso-Hollo, Olympic steeplechase champion and runner-up in the 10,000 meters at Los Angeles, probably will run the longer distance again, with Ilmari Salminen and Paavo Astola as probable teammates. Salminen was European champion at the distance in 1934.

The possibility that New Zealand's Jack Lovelock, former world-record-holding miler, will shift from the 1,500 to the 5,000 meters has added color to the Berlin prospects. Lovelock recently won a 3-mile race in such fast time as to indicate he can carry his feathery form and speed over the equivalent Olympic route.

DOROTHY ROUND BEATEN
WIMBLEDON, England, June 30. (AP)—The comeback efforts of Dorothy Round, 1934 champion, were ended abruptly when she was defeated by Frau Hilda Krahwinkel Sperling of Germany and Denmark 6-3, 8-6, in the quarter-finals of the all-England tennis championship.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Tucker of 701 W. Foster had as guests yesterday Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Tucker and son Billy John, of Sudan, Texas. J. R. Tucker is coach at the Sudan schools.

'HOME TOWNITIS' IS EVIDENT IN ALL STAR GAME BALLOTING

DALLAS, June 30. (AP)—Strictly on the up-and-up, election of players to the north and south division teams for the Texas League's all-star game here July 25, closes at midnight sharp tonight. . . . Only ballots postmarked before midnight shall be counted by the weary office force, league officials said.

Baseball fans can read final results over Sunday morning's coffee, said Secretary Milton Price. . . . Especially representative is the southern division team where fans dropped the civic pride and voted for the player. . . . Slight cases of "home townitis" were evident in northern division balloting.

President J. Alvin Gardner of the league wants one and all to know that the league is keeping a close check on the votes. . . . "This election is as straight as we know how to keep it," quoth Prexy Gardner.

Regular election record books were purchased for balloting and an extra secretary was kept busy tabulating votes. . . . If any fan or player doubted the authenticity of the ballot after the final count, President Gardner invites him to come to the league office and check every vote. . . . Every ballot cast has been neatly tucked away for such squawks.

Coastal disturbances have ruined Preeport's Centennial kinglyfish rodeo. . . . Mayor Charlie Watson announces the rodeo, scheduled for July 1, has been indefinitely postponed. . . . New dates will be decided upon within a few days. . . . Stiff winds have kept anglers ashore.

BAKER IS CONVINCED TIGERS CAN PASS LEAGUE LEADERS

BY EARL HALLIGAN,
Associated Press Sports Writer.
CHICAGO, June 30. (AP)—Filling the shoes of the one and only Mickey Cochrane is a big job, but Delmar David Baker is doing all right, thank you, and is convinced his world champion Detroit Tigers are going to do much better from now on.

Baker, the veteran coach named acting manager of the Bengals when the fiery Cochrane had to retire for a rest, doesn't think it wise for the fans to start selling Detroit short just yet. He's decidedly optimistic about the club's chances of catching and passing the pace-setting New York Yankees because he sees a silver lining to the dark clouds that have hovered over the champions since the start of the campaign.

TEXAS ELE IS DEFEATED BY LAKEKTON 16-6

6TH WIN IN 9 STARTS IS CHALKED UP BY WHEAT GROWERS

The Laketon Wheat Growers broke a two game losing streak by shelling Texas Elf 16 to 6 Sunday afternoon for their sixth win in nine starts this season, and their second from the Bowers City nine.

Although not getting many extra base hits, Laketon steadily hammered the offerings of Southpaw Holtson and Silvers for 19 bingles. Holt Barber and Floyd Ritchie held Texas Elf to eight clean hits. Barnes and Barber worked behind the plate for Laketon and Vernon and Duncan for Bowers.

Ritchie led the attack for Laketon with five for five, driving in seven runs. Wilson got a triple for Texas. Barnes hit a three bagger with two on, for Laketon.

The Wheat Growers will seek to redeem a ten inning loss to Kingsmill Sunday afternoon on the home diamond. The Rams, Sunco Oil, and Kingsmill all hold a one run verdict over the locals.

By ALAN GOULD

There is plenty of indication that the United States Olympic track and field squad will be made up of a startling mixture of transplanted Irish, English, Swedish, German and other athletes, so it was fitting that the first to be named to the team should have been a native American.

The presence of a full-blooded Indian on the American squad is certain to call to mind the fact that a few years ago we sent another native American to compete in the Olympics. Jim Thorpe was the fellow. He did very well, too.

Back in 1912 Thorpe, a thoroughbred Sac and Fox Indian, out-ran, out-jumped and out-threw all other candidates for Olympic glory. He walked off with the pentathlon and decathlon championships. He was easily the star of the show at Stockholm that year.

Made King Wait
King Gustav of Sweden presented Thorpe with a flood of medals and trophies, but not until Indian Jim was good and ready to come and get them. After he had been proclaimed the greatest all-around athlete of modern Olympic games, the court chamberlain ordered him to appear before the Swedish monarch.

Jim was resting aboard the Finland, floating home of the American competitors, when the royal messenger presented himself. Thorpe informed the courier that he was perfectly ready to go and get his award. After all, his friends were all on board. And there was a sufficient amount of sweet and potent punch at hand to satisfy the demands of any Sac and Fox Indian. What did the king have to offer him that he did not already have, Jim wanted to know?

In due time Thorpe did appear, and if the Swedish monarch resented the Indian's slight he failed to show it. King Gustav greeted the great athlete most cordially. Jim collected his battle spoils to the accompaniment of the cheers of the assembled thousands.

Maybe He Knew
The noble redman might well have saved himself the trouble of claiming the trophies (perhaps subsequent happenings explained his reluctance to go and get them in the first place). A short time after he returned to this country the A. A. U. committee announced that Jim Thorpe had a past—a past that rendered him ineligible to compete against the world's amateurs for Olympic glory. The charge was that Jim had played a bit of baseball for money. Not much money—perhaps enough to cover his incidental expenses on the trip to Stockholm—but money, nevertheless.

All the Olympic prizes were packed and shipped back to Sweden. What eventually became of them no one knows. They stripped Thorpe of his trophies but they couldn't erase the picture of his all-conquering efforts on the cinder paths. To all who saw him, including King Gustav, the Indian remained the outstanding athlete of the 1912 Olympics.

In the years that have followed, every all-around performer of merit has been compared with the great Sac and Fox. But there was only one Jim Thorpe—just as there has been only one Babe Ruth, one Bob Jones, one Bill Tilden and one Johnny Weissmuller.

Ellison Brown stands a fair chance of winning the Olympic classic—at least his chances are every bit as good as those of any of the men who will face the starter in Berlin. America has not won the Olympic marathon since little Johnny Hayes grabbed the laurel wreath at London in 1908 after the much-

Cinci Reds Win 7th In Row And Force Cubs Into Tie

Reds Only Half Tilt Behind 4th Place Giants

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.
In spite of the verbal brickbats that have been tossed at the Cincinnati Reds for their night games, their red pants, their fireworks and the rest of their display, Chuck Dressen's club is rapidly becoming an important factor in the National league pennant race.

The Reds' sudden rise has been one of the big surprises of the 1936 season, but even more surprising is the fact that Dressen has been able to build up a dangerous ball club without digging deeply into Owner Powell Crosley's bankroll.

Playing before the biggest crowd that has seen a game in Cincinnati since 1928—33,468—the Reds again showed their strength last night by turning back the Chicago Cubs 4 to 3 in a duel between Paul Derringer and Curt Davis. It was Cincinnati's seventh straight victory and put the Reds only half a game behind the fourth-place New York Giants in addition to knocking the Cubs back into a tie with the Cardinals after one day of clear possession of the National league lead.

All other major league clubs were idle yesterday as rain removed the only other scheduled contest, between the Tigers and the White Sox.

For six innings Davis and Derringer engaged in a brilliant mound battle with the Cubs holding a slight edge over Cincinnati's collection of young players who have broken into the majors in the last year or two and castoffs of other clubs. The Cubs were first to break the deadlock, scoring a run in the seventh on Jimmy O'Dea's single and Johnny Gill's double.

The Cubs cracked completely in the last half of the inning and piled three errors on top of four Cincinnati hits to give the Reds all their runs. Singles by Ival Goodman, Les Scarsella and Babe Herman opened the rally.

Three doubles into the overflow crowd which made ground rules necessary gave Chicago two runs in the eighth, but Derringer tightened up and stopped them short of a tie.

WHAT A LIFE
BARABO, Wis. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Roy Butler spent the afternoon shopping for new furniture with his veterans' bonus money. When they finished they discovered they had no home to furnish. Their house had burned down in their absence.

To the consternation of "wise bettors" who reportedly were laying it 8 to 5 against Marberry withstanding the fire in his first Texas league game, the big Streetman, Texas, righthander set the Buc down 5 to 1.

The run they talked during the game was not the fault of the veteran hurler, who pitched many a year in the majors and even tried his hand at umpiring. An error let in the run to mar a pitching performance that greatly heartened the league-leading Dallas club in its drive for the pennant. Marberry allowed five hits, permitted no one to reach second until the ninth inning and fanned five.

Oklahoma City, meanwhile, improved its third-place standing in a tight game with Beaumont, whose hold on second place is none too secure. The score was 5 to 4. In the only other league game last night the Fort Worth Cats continued their amazing battle to shake off their chronic cellophane by stiff-arming Houston, 2 to 1. The win put the Cats into a tie for sixth place with San Antonio.

'WHAT WAS IT BUILT FOR?' ASKS HERBERT HOOVER OF THE ALAMO

AUSTIN, June 23. (AP)—In the opinion of Gov. Alfred, President Roosevelt apparently has a strong vitality and is withstanding well the strain of his office.

The governor accompanied the President from the time he entered the state at Texarkana until he left it at Denison.

"It was no easy thing for Mr. Roosevelt to move rapidly from place to place for a week and meet thousands of people," the governor said. "It would have been trying for a younger man."

"Naturally his sleep was interrupted. He was so deluged with letters, telegrams and business of all sorts he had to work hard between stops. Secretaries accompanied him to help."

"Yet he appeared quite fresh all the time and came up repeatedly to give the people of Texas what they had been waiting for, a sight of the president of the United States. It was impossible for him to make as many platform appearances as the people wanted, or as he himself would have liked. He had to get some work done."

"In Fort Worth, he sat in an open car with rain falling and smiled. So did Mrs. Roosevelt. Both refused my coat."

"The heat was pretty bad at times, at Houston, San Antonio and especially Dallas, but the president made no complaint. In fact, he told me he liked hot weather and fared well in it."

Allred said the President was much impressed with the Alamo country, greater knowledge of it generally was foreseen.

In sharp contrast with Mr. Roosevelt's familiarity with the stories of San Jacinto, the Alamo and other great events in Texas life, was the reported lack of information of a former president of the United States, who visited the Alamo after retiring from office.

Whether true or untrue, the story has been told and was retold on the special train which bore Mr. Roosevelt through the state, that when the former president was escorted through the Alamo queried:

"What was it built for?"

FASCISTS HISS AT SELASSIE IN LEAGUE UPROAR

Emperor Accuses 52 Nations of Deserting Him

By WADE WERNER
Associated Press Foreign Staff
GENEVA, June 30. (AP)—Little Haile Selassie of Ethiopia faced down a hostile demonstration by speakers in the League of Nations assembly today to declare he had been fighting the cause of small countries faced by powerful invaders.

His first words were drowned by an uproar that threw the assemblage of statesmen into confusion.

Police went into action in the galleries and arrested a number of alleged fascists charged with the scolding demonstration.

When he again could be heard, Haile Selassie spoke quietly in a rather flat voice. He devoted much of his speech to a recapitulation of the developments leading to the Italian conquest of Ethiopia. Then he said:

"I did not wish the war that was imposed upon me. In this struggle I have been fighting the cause of all small countries against the greed of a powerful invader."

"The representatives of 52 nations assured me the aggressor would not triumph.

"Despite our lack of airplanes, artillery and other modern weapons, my confidence in the league was absolute.

"I could not believe the 52 nations—among them the most powerful in the world—could be defeated by a single aggressor."

Many fist fights broke out in the hall during the demonstration. There was cursing in Italian, French and Spanish.

Haile Selassie heard himself called scurrilous names in several languages.

When the disturbers finally were dragged from the building, a crowd massed outside hissed and boomed them.

Haile Selassie declared Italy had waged war with "atrocious conditions."

"I never expected the people of foreign countries to have their sons shed their blood for us," he told the assembly, "but I did expect the league powers to grant me financial assistance so I might purchase badly needed arms."

He said the very existence of the league depended on the value of promises made to small states, asserting that whether the little countries were to become vassals of the league was the problem at stake.

Finger Prints Left At Store Checked

Attaches of the sheriff's office this afternoon still were checking finger prints in connection with the burglary Sunday night of the Cretey drug store where a lone thief made away with $240 from the cash till after permitting himself to be locked in the store.

Sheriff Earl Talley said the prints were returned this afternoon and that he expected the check-up to be completed some time this afternoon.

was broadcast throughout the area. Sheriff F. D. Anderson at Hollis, Okla., was watching highways in Harmon county on the theory the men might double back.

The two men seized Pogue's automobile and forcing him to accompany them, drove to Wellington, 15 miles north of Buck Creek.

After a futile two-hour attempt to steal an automobile there, the gunmen drove on into Oklahoma.

Deputy Sheriff F. H. White of Reed said Whittaker was slugged after the men entered the home of his mother, Mrs. R. L. Whittaker, east of Hollis.

Asking for matches, White said the two men pushed roughly past Mrs. Whittaker, struck Whittaker over the head with the butt of a gun, picked up the keys to his automobile and fled.

Mrs. Margaret Hatchell, Reed telephone operator, said she saw the automobile roar through Reed and head north toward Mangum.

Sheriff Anderson was certain the two men were Trammel and Gibson.

Trammel and Gibson, flushed a few hours earlier by gunfire from Sheriff A. A. Payne of Paducah between Roaring Springs and Childress, drove into a filling station near Buck Creek in an old (Ford) automobile.

Young Pogue, driving a 1927 model (Chrysler) sedan, stopped immediately in track of the fugitive pair. As the filling station operator approached the fugitives' machine, the two men jumped out and ordered him to keep quiet.

One of the men pulled a pistol and fired several shots into the gasoline tank of the machine they had occupied while the other removed the distributor from the motor.

"Don't say anything to the officers about us being here," one of the men warned as they jumped into Pogue's machine and sped away.

The filling station operator, whose name was not immediately learned, did not notify officers of the incident until almost 11 p. m., officers said.

Pogue, who returned here early today after being released at Reed, Okla., said they drove to Wellington, about 15 miles north of Buck Creek, and stayed there two hours while the men searched for an automobile.

Said Very Little
Unable to find a machine which suited them, the fugitives hurried east to Reed, Okla., where they stole a 1935 model (Chevrolet) automobile, young Pogue told officers here. The machine was stolen at a garage, Pogue said.

The men released the youngster without harming him and he immediately came back here in his own machine. He said the men said very little while he was in their custody. They talked only about stealing a fast automobile, he said.

Descriptions of the pair given officers by the youngster fitted perfectly those of Trammel and Gibson, officers said.

The fugitives, who came to this section from South Texas in a stolen automobile, have played a successful game of hide-and-seek with officers for the past 36 hours.

Twice fired upon by officers, they have escaped into rugged back-country roads and later managed to steal an automobile and make a getaway.

Forty officers, including state highway patrolmen, swarmed over the wastelands yesterday after the fugitives had twice been sighted. Their last brush with the officers was in mid-afternoon when Sheriff Payne, alone, encountered them.

The boy told officers they fled, after releasing him, in the direction of Mangum, Okla.

REED, Okla., June 30 (AP)—The story of the desperate struggle of a mother and her son with two armed men, one of whom boasted he was Po-reat Gibson, fugitive Texas killer, was told here today.

Mrs. Margaret Hatchell, the mother, emerged from the scuffle with a few bruises, suffered as she grappled with one of the intruders, who snapped his pistol ineffectually three times at her son.

The son, Pete Whittaker, filling station operator and a Kiowa county special officer, exhibited a few cuts and bruises, and wondered what the two fugitives would do to his automobile, which they seized after a fight in the Whittaker kitchen.

Then he heard, he said, the crash of something bumping down the side of the steep cliff. He said he thought it might be a large stone.

Suitor Charged In Fatal Fall of Girl Near Waco

WACO, June 30. (AP)—A fisherman's story and a charge of murder today confronted a 26-year old suitor in the fatal plunge from Lone- "Devil's Backbone" of Leta Mae Tekie, 23, pretty department store cashier.

Owens Haynes, cableman for the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, was charged yesterday as the suitor of Miss Tekie's fall from the 75-foot cliff near here.

L. L. Hewitt, who told officers he was fishing along the Brazos river at the time of the girl's fatal fall, gave them a statement detailing an argument he heard between a man and woman about 11:30 p. m. Saturday.

He said the woman cried out in the still night, "Don't do that," and beseeched the man to take her home. The man's words, he said, were indistinguishable. The argument continued for some time, Hewitt related, and then there was a few minutes of silence.

Then he heard, he said, the crash of something bumping down the side of the steep cliff. He said he thought it might be a large stone.

In a moment a car's motor started and an automobile drove away, he said.

Haynes declared his fiancée fell to the ground, Foster of troop 4 who was awarded the Bronze Palm. The Eagle advancement was awarded to Jack Hessey of troop 14 by his father, John Hessey, member of the court of honor. John T. Rogers of troop 22 was advanced to life rank. The star rank was conferred on Jack Green of troop 15 and James Archer, Ray Byles and Aubrey Green, all of troop 80. Advanced to first class rank were Eugene French and Billy McNutt of troop 14, Blaine Goad of troop 22 and Soren Jensen of troop 80.

Merit badges were awarded as follows: Jack Hessey, bookbinding, camping, cement work, reptile study, scholarship; Billy Winchester, troop 14, safety; John T. Rogers, first aid, athletics, bird study, personal health, public health; James Archer, troop 80, firemanship, first aid to animals; Aubrey C. Green, Jr., troop 80, athletics, swimming, physical development, safety, personal health.

Other members of the court of honor were District Attorney Lewis Goodrich and Scout Executive C. A. Clark. After the meeting, it was announced at a brief Scoutmasters' round table that receipts from the Cavalcade of Scouting held during the Centennial would cover all expenditures.

It was tentatively decided to hold no Council Camporee this summer.

a prohibitive price for pipe and the cost of boosting the water for so great a distance.

Suggestions also were made to consider water ground possibilities south and west of Pampa, as well as to make tests a short distance south of Pampa.

Commissioners told of many complaints received because it was found necessary to shut off water service in the Talley addition, outside of the city limits. The water there was turned on about 8:30 o'clock last night, following a request from the district. Water service was maintained adequately in all districts today.

The immediate situation was greatly relieved by last night's rain which cut down water consumption ordinarily made for irrigation purposes.

This enabled the pumping equipment to again get ahead on the reserve supply sufficiently to carry through today while repairs on the disabled well were being rushed to completion.

Shortly after noon today City Manager Stine said that parts needed to complete the repairs had not arrived in the city, although they should have arrived early this forenoon.

He expressed belief that the parts would be here by tonight.

City Manager Stine said the well would be back in operation within six to eight hours after the parts arrive here, which should bring normal operations some time tomorrow.

The present break-down at Well No. 1 is the first to occur since installation of the equipment two years ago, the city manager stated.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, June 30. (AP)—Stock market buyers aimed principally at specialties today while neglecting or selling a number of the leaders.

Profit taking in Chrysler was well absorbed throughout and, in the final hour, yesterday's star performer was pushed up more than 2 points to a new 6-year peak, proximate $90,000 shares.

arrivals of the rain dispelled the possibility.

The thermometer climbed to 97 in Pampa yesterday afternoon. The rain cooled off the city considerably and at 7 a. m. today the reading was 70. Early this afternoon the mercury had climbed back again into the 90s.

The official weather forecast today indicated fair and warmer with showers in southeast portion of the Panhandle.

Hunter Assails Allred Record

BROWNWOOD, June 30 (AP)—Tom F. Hunter, candidate for governor, continued his attack on Governor James V. Allred, whom he described as "the ribbon cutting ambassador of Texas," in a speech here last night.

He charged that the old age pension fund received but $104,000 out of $303,000 collected, while "his E men, or 750 electioneers, cost $130,000."

He again challenged the persistent absence of Governor Allred from the executive office and added:

"If the people of Texas, in the Centennial year, wanted a drum major or a show boat pilot, people of Texas got it."

TOMLIN'S MOTHER DIES
DURANT, Okla., June 30. (AP)—Mrs. Louisa Tomlin, 60, mother of Pinky Tomlin, song writer and moving picture actor, died here today of pneumonia after a three-day illness. Tomlin had just returned from Dallas where he had been at the bedside of a brother, Troy, near death with a mastoid ailment. Tomlin cancelled midwestern stage appearances to come here.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brady and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Bud Mooney and daughter spent the week-end in Cimarron canyon, Eagle Nest lake, Raton Pass and other points of interest.

Garner Is Going Back to Laredo

LAREDO, June 30. (AP)—Vice-President John Nance Garner, chief of the American delegation participating in the dedication of Mexico's new Pan-American highway, returns tonight to the scene, where, 34 years ago, he was first nominated for congress.

"Cactus Jack," as he is affectionately known to thousands in the Texas borderland, will be the honored guest tonight at a banquet for high Mexican and American officials immediately after the train bearing Garner's delegation arrives at nine p. m.

A brief but elaborate ceremony formally opening the $17,000,000 scenic route from this frontier port of entry to Mexico City, will be held on the international bridge tomorrow, with General Eduardo Hay, Mexican minister of foreign relations, and Garner the principal speakers.

The Rio Grande, swelled by hard rains upstream, was rising slowly but was not expected to interfere with the dedication.

A picturesque street celebration in Nuevo Laredo will be held after the dedication and then Mexican and American delegations will motor southward toward the capital of the southern republic.

Garner plans to go only as far as Monterrey, 150 miles below the border. General Hay was in San Antonio today after an inspection trip with President Lazaro Cardenas and his staff. President Cardenas will not attend the dedication, as he returned to the capital from Monterrey.

Aged Couple Is Beaten to Death

OGDEN, Utah, June 30. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Adam Snyder, gray-haired grandparents, were slain and Mrs. Snyder's 80-year-old mother was beaten so severely she may die when a club-swinging killer attacked all in their home today, permitting only a deaf-mute child to escape.

Police started a search for tall, George Mortensen, 37, Salt Lake City cosmetics salesman. His wife, 35-year-old Grace Mortensen, daughter of the Snyders, also was bludgeoned with a pick handle in the early-morning tragedy.

Police Sergeant L. M. Hilton said Mrs. Mortensen told him her husband followed her to the Snyder home last night after she left him "because he drank too much."

Mrs. Mortensen was not critically injured. It was feared her grandmother, Mrs. Emma Scott Ross, 80, would die of numerous cuts and bruises. Snyder was 62, his wife ten years younger.

Police shocked at the scene of death and havoc in the Snyder home, obtained little information from the child witness to the crime—curly-haired 6-city Becker, 8, daughter of Mrs. Mortensen by a previous marriage. Sergeant Hilton questioned Mrs. Mortensen.

Truckers Hold Another Meeting

Because of a heavy rain just before meeting time, attendance at the Texas Truckers association meeting in the courthouse last night was smaller than usual. Carl Bra-shers, vice-president of the local association, presided.

He gave an interesting talk on the organization and its aims, and presented figures showing the amount of taxes paid by operators of commercial vehicles in Gray county in 1936 as compared with the taxes paid by railroads. Taxes paid on gasoline sold in this section was also discussed, following a check among wholesale dealers during the month of February.

The question of what officers are eligible to stop and weigh trucks and loads was also discussed at the meeting. Weights allowed in other states was cited.

Well, well, look who's at the Democratic convention! Just below that hat may be seen Dr. Francis Townsend, father of the old age pension plan, who flew to the Quaker City to have a look around, he told reporters. Perhaps he's getting a pointer or two for his own conclave, to be held in Cleveland beginning July 15.
