INSANITY PLEA BOLSTERED IN NEW EVIDENCE

RAVING BEHAVIOR OF PREACHER IS RECOUNTED

HOUSTON, June 8 (AP)—Testimony that the Rev. Edgar Eskridge was laboring under the impression his life was in danger the day Police Chief Ed O'Reilly was shot to death at Orange was heard at the preacher's trial today as the defense sought to bolster its plea of temporary insanity.

Clarence Keown, Orange oil man, testified that he talked with the minister the day of the killing, May 29, 1935, and that he heard Eskridge say:

"Today is my day of execution. I'm going to stay and take it like a man."

The witness said he tried to quiet the minister.

"I got him to go with me," Keown said. "We went for a ride. He was wild and cursing. He had a 22 rifle in the car with him at the time. He threatened to kill me so I finally left him."

Keown said he had been a business partner of Eskridge and told of various deals in which they bought oil leases. He said none of the investments Eskridge wanted to make or did make were worth anything. Keown quoted the preacher as saying he had $30,000 and told of Eskridge's buying a boat for $500.

"When the boat was delivered, I had to go on Eskridge's note at the bank for the $500 to pay for it," Keown said.

Keown's wife, pianist at Eskridge's first Baptist church at Orange, said she noted changes in the pastor that led her to believe he was insane.

Defense attorneys said expert testimony would climax their case.

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—A new dealer's charge and a quick denial, that William Randolph Hearst would be the "absentee boss" of the republican national convention, echoed today across the fast-moving political scene.

Secretary Ickes, in an address broadcast last night as the last of the convention delegates converged upon Cleveland, declared that the republicans' standard bearer had been picked in advance by "substantially the same interests" that supported Warren G. Harding for the presidential nomination.

An authorized statement of the publisher's position quickly described Ickes' "whole broadcast" as "rather absurd" and said "the remarks about Mr. Hearst are particularly vapid."

Ickes said the views of William Allen White, Gifford Pinchot, and Frank Lowden would be disregarded, and that "as the discoverer and principal backer of Governor Landon, there is reason to believe that Publisher Hearst will do the final editing of the platform draft."

"All that the convention will be expected or permitted to do," he said, "will be to sign, as usual, on the dotted line."

And also typical as it is of the republican party, graciously the convention will be given an opportunity to endorse that candidate who likewise has been selected in advance.

"The 1936 republican convention will be a reminder of the one in 1920 in still another respect. The Chicago gathering in the earlier year was merely a marionette show, the strings controlling the principal actors of which were held in the hands of Boss Boise Penrose.

"The convention about to open will also be controlled by an absentee boss, who, in this instance, will be William Randolph Hearst."

The cabinet member also asserted the republican platform would be "the result of a mesalliance between the republican party and the Liberty League," with former President Hoover as "obstetrician," Frank Knox as "orthopedist," Jonett Shouse, Liberty League president, as "wet nurse," and with Senator Borah supplying "an anti-monopoly bit as well as tucker."

The Hearst statement said that the publisher supported Hiram Johnson for president in 1920 and "vigorously opposed Harding's nomination."

Of the publisher's activity in the current campaign, the statement said:

"Mr. Hearst believes today that Governor Landon is the choice of a definite majority of the republican voters . . . and that Governor Landon should therefore be nominated. Mr. Ickes obviously believes this, otherwise he would not be working with the reactionaries in the republican party in the attempt to prevent Governor Landon's nomination."

Uncertainty and disorders attended the accession to power of Leon Blum, Socialist leader, who was destined for the premiership of France from the moment the leftistic coalition swept into control of the last election. The new picture painted him in characteristic informal attitude.

Hard liquor was sold at public auction from the steps of the Gray county courthouse this morning and that is no Aesop fable.

The auctioneer was Deputy Buford Reed, representing the State. The purchaser was Alex Davidson of Amarillo, wholesale dealer. The sale price was $68.84 for the 132 pints of liquor and wine.

The liquor was confiscated by state officers, following court procedure under the new liquor law, all confiscated liquor is to be sold under direction of the Liquor Control board and proceeds, after costs have been deducted, turned over to the old age pension fund.

John Willis, former Pampa resident, represented the Liquor Control board at the sale this morning. He has his headquarters in Amarillo.

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—A district of Columbia Supreme Court today acquitted seven men on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government in 1934 during consideration of plans for a $4,863,000 irrigation project in Willacy county, Texas.

The defendants were: William A. Harding, former member of the Willacy county district board; Frank P. McElwath, Corsicana, Texas, contractor; Perry A. Welty and Charles R. Oberg, former PWA engineers; and L. C. Hammond, H. W. Cole and James P. Barry, San Francisco lumberman.

They were acquitted of accusations that they had attempted to induce the PWA to substitute California red wood in construction of a conduit for a Rio Grande irrigation system after PWA had allocated money conditionally to the Willacy county water control and improvement district number one.

The verdict came at 11:27 a. m. (EST) today after the jury had deliberated since 3:43 p. m. last Friday. The trial started April 20.

The government predicated its case on these four major contentions:

1. That the defendants conspired unlawfully to cause the Public Works administration to reject plans for a gravity, concrete, open canal from the Rio Grande to

FOES FAIL TO 'STOP' LANDON BOOM

HEARST BOSS OF CONVENTION ICKES CLAIMS

PUBLISHER WILL EDIT PARTY PLATFORM, HE DECLARES

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—A new dealer's charge and a quick denial, that William Randolph Hearst would be the "absentee boss" of the republican national convention, echoed today across the fast-moving political scene.

Secretary Ickes, in an address broadcast last night as the last of the convention delegates converged upon Cleveland, declared that the republicans' standard bearer had been picked in advance by "substantially the same interests" that supported Warren G. Harding for the presidential nomination.

An authorized statement of the publisher's position quickly described Ickes' "whole broadcast" as "rather absurd" and said "the remarks about Mr. Hearst are particularly vapid."

Mr. Ickes obviously believes this, otherwise he would not be working with the reactionaries in the republican party in the attempt to prevent Governor Landon's nomination."

Twinkles

Politics is the polite little game in which rival candidates for nomination say unforgettable and unforgettable things about each other. Borah's manager labeled Landon as a staunch friend of the new deal.

It would be more accurate to say that the new deal has been a staunch friend to Landon, granting relief which enabled him to make a record for economical administration.

Our impression of Mr. Zioncheck is that he needs more beauty sleep.

Sustained courage also is what keeps a vacationing school teacher going until the next pay check arrives next fall.

The West Foster grouch says his idea of a good time would be watching Mr. Zioncheck "struggle" with some landladies of his acquaintance.

Musing of the moment: The Panhandle Centennial is over. The flags, somewhat hail-beaten and wind whipped, are coming down. The streets are back to normal, but still among the busiest in West Texas. Acceptable to the writer is the more peaceful calm of normalcy. It is always pleasant to greet old friends, make new ones, celebrate a worthy cause. But tranquility is, after all, a thing of beauty. There was truth in the slogan on the cigar box: "As we journey through life let us live by the way." Although some interpret it thus: "As we journey through life, let us live, by the way."

Good Will Trip To Skelly Plant To Be Wednesday

Pampa good will trippers will have a double treat when they go to the Skelly Schfer gasoline plant Wednesday night. They will see two fast playground ball games under excellent lights and have an opportunity to purchase cakes baked by the team. All women desiring to help are asked to take cakes.

Proceeds from the sale of cakes will be used to pay for a public address system which has just been installed. It is one of the best systems obtainable. One of the Panhandle's best known auctioneers has been secured. He is J. C. Fuller of Alameda, a veteran though a youngster.

The ball games will be between the Skelly-Schfer team and the King Oilers in the opener and the Pampa Sluggers and the South Side Lassies, two local girls' teams. The first game will be called about 8:15 o'clock. The sale will be between games.

The local chamber of commerce urges Panampans to make the trip. Cars will leave the city hall from 7:30 to 8 o'clock.

Brevitorials

PAMPANS HAVE much unfinished business with WPA. While the labor supply has been fairly good, the movement of materials has been unsatisfactory and has lately showed signs of being further delayed. As usual, it is hard to place the blame. In WPA, PWA, and other initial projects, delays often are stretched out until they become explanations—or alibis—for permanent turndowns. Currently the City of Pampa has a ruling that certain material for the fairgrounds development cannot be granted because construction could not be completed this month. The City will be justified in making a strenuous effort to get all of the materials promised. In the transition period of works projects, delays appear inevitable. And those cities who most energetically follow all leads in seeking completion of projects are to be favored.

The City has made too large an expenditure at the new grounds to permit any avoidable loss of improvements. It has furnished material; it had not agreed to buy in order to provide facilities for the Panhandle Centennial. Some back-tracking will be necessary to get credit for this expenditure, to finish the grandstand and obtain full approval of it, and to get the other buildings which several months ago were approved.

Did you see the Harvester high school band play in all the parades last week? Those green-sulsted boys and girls played without a complaint and they got scant praise from the public who takes them for granted, but all the praise they wanted was from their No. 1 Hero, Winston Savage. They'd follow that curly-haired young man right into a brick wall.

You cannot stay around any member of the band five minutes at the most without hearing an ardent, youthful rhapsody in praise of Mr. Savage. From trim Robert Kilgore back, the high school band looks upon that room in the red building as home and upon Mr. Savage as an unequalled hero.

If you don't believe this go over to the band room tomorrow and see Mr. Savage give out the letters and sweaters, then you will see how this is understatement.

'Man of Destiny' RESIDENT OF PANHANDLE 35 YEARS IS DEAD

MRS. J. W. GORDON IS TAKEN BY DEATH TODAY

Death claimed another longtime resident of the Panhandle this morning with the passing of Mrs. Lucy Ella Thompson Gordon, 65, wife of J. W. Gordon, at the family home, 311 North Hobart street. Mrs. Gordon's death followed a prolonged illness.

Mrs. Gordon had been a resident of the Panhandle for 35 years. She was born in Douglas county near Tuscola, Ill., and at the age of three years moved to Texas with her parents. In 1897, she married J. W. Gordon, Port Arthur. They moved to Miami in 1901. Later they took up residence in Pampa and at Clearwater but moved back to Pampa to make their permanent home in 1931.

Surviving Mrs. Gordon are her husband, two daughters, Miss Alice Gordon, Pampa, and Mrs. G. Rodney Robinson, Port Arthur, two sons, Joseph Wesley Gordon and Robert P. Gordon, both of Pampa, a sister, Mrs. Era Briggs, Dallas, and three grandchildren, Dallas, Robinson, James Robinson, and Thos. Robinson, Port Arthur, all of whom were present when Mrs. Gordon passed.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the First Methodist church with the Rev. W. C. House, pastor, in charge. Burial will follow in the Miami cemetery directed by Pampa Mortuary. Mrs. Gordon had been a member of the Methodist church since 1882.

Pallbearers will be W. R. Campbell, J. M. Daugherty, John V. Osborne, P. C. Ledrick, Ike W. Heare, and J. R. Porter.

Mrs. Gordon was in charge of Mrs. W. E. Riving, Mrs. P. C. Ledrick, and Mrs. W. Purviance.

SATURDAY LAST DAY TO FILE FOR OFFICES

Saturday, June 13, will be the last day for county and precinct candidates to file their names with Siler Faulkner, democratic county clerk, to place their names on the ballots for the primary of July 25.

On Monday, June 15, the county democratic executive committee will meet at the office of Mr. Faulkner to draw names for order on the ballot, assess precincts, and appoint election judges. This session will begin at 9 a. m.

Candidates will have until Saturday, June 20, to pay the primary fees and get their names on the ballots. Between June 25 and 30, candidates must file their first expense accounts.

42 Killed as Grandstand in Bucharest Falls

BUCHAREST, Rumania, June 8 (AP)—While 50,000 people knelt in prayer at a grandstand at a Boy Scout review collapsed today, killing 42 persons by unofficial count. An official statement said only three persons were killed with more than 100 hurt; police said 30 were dead and several hundred injured. The official figure showed at least 150 hurt in addition to those killed.

King Carol, Crown Prince Mihail, and the dowager Queen Marie saw the catastrophe.

The grandstand fell as 30,000 spectators and 20,000 Boy Scouts knelt in prayer in a religious service preceding the projected review, which was called off.

The shrieks of the injured drowned out the voices of the priests intoning the service through loud-speakers.

A rigid censorship was immediately imposed to prevent panic over the tragedy from spreading through the rest of the country.

IN SPOTLIGHT AS G. O. P. MOBILIZES

BORAH TURNS DOWN CHANCE TO BE LEADER

BY EDWARD J. DUFFY, Associated Press Staff Writer. CLEVELAND, O., June 8 (AP)—Leaders of the already-booming Landon campaign, working at top speed among arrivals for the republican convention, claimed new encouragement today from two directions of the opposition.

Senator Borah of Idaho, newly-arrived from Washington, shunted aside the leadership of a "stop Landon" drive which was his for the asking. But he still insisted "nothing has been settled" finally about the ticket or the platform.

For the first time, a concession came from the belligerent headquarters of Colonel Frank Knox of Illinois. He was spoken of there as "a definite second choice" with a chance yet to win out if Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas fails to go over on the first three ballots.

"I don't want to go into any combination to attempt to control the convention," Borah told the Idaho delegation at his Cleveland hotel headquarters.

He had talked the possibilities over with his loyal Idaho delegation. "They are willing for me to become the spearhead of a (stop) drive," he said, with a trace of plaintiveness, "but they say nothing about what will happen to me after the opposition has been destroyed."

Crowds in the hotels were increasing hourly as almost the last of the thousands of delegates and visitors poured into the city.

"They found John D. M. Hamilton, the red-haired bundle of energy managing for Landon, calmly reporting his campaign 'rolling nicely,' with additions but no losses in delegate strength.

Other Landon leaders were saying "it's all over," but there were no elaborate quarters of energy managing for Landon, calmly reporting his campaign "rolling nicely," with additions but no losses in delegate strength.

Did you see the Harvester high school band play in all the parades last week? Those green-sulsted boys and girls played without a complaint and they got scant praise from the public who takes them for granted, but all the praise they wanted was from their No. 1 Hero, Winston Savage. They'd follow that curly-haired young man right into a brick wall.

You cannot stay around any member of the band five minutes at the most without hearing an ardent, youthful rhapsody in praise of Mr. Savage. From trim Robert Kilgore back, the high school band looks upon that room in the red building as home and upon Mr. Savage as an unequalled hero.

If you don't believe this go over to the band room tomorrow and see Mr. Savage give out the letters and sweaters, then you will see how this is understatement.

I Heard . . .

Mack Graham being sarcastic at the polo game yesterday afternoon. Just after M. L. Curry took a header. Mack remarked that Curry's body couldn't ride as well as his head thought it could.

D. E. Cecil telling a snake story instead of a fish story this morning. The postmaster shot a bull snake yesterday north of Panhandle that was seven feet long and more than 10 inches in circumference. The snake was after a rabbit when Mr. and Mrs. Cecil both unloaded their 22's at it. When first hit the snake whirled and started after them.

TEXAS ADVERTISING PROJECT

The fact that Texans who love their state are intensely patriotic need not blind anyone to the fact that the Centennial is a huge advertising project, so conceived by a Texas publisher. Advertising is legitimate and necessary. Advertising of Texas heroes is no less important than stressing our natural resources and our bright future. Texas' heroic past is an asset. It makes newcomers proud to be Texans and encourages visitors to come here to live.

Texans have not begun to realize that their Centennial already has attracted more attention in some respects than did the Century of Progress. Detrimental publicity in connection with the drought is being overcome in a manner which should cheer all readers.

For instance, the anti-new deal Saturday Evening Post which has carried stories and pictures highly offensive to West Texans comments as follows on Page 22 of the June 13 issue:

"In Texas, March second was Independence Day; and now, to mark her century of freedom, she invites all the world to come to her Centennial Exposition, which will be held in Dallas from June sixth to November twenty-ninth.

"Large as it looks on the map, few of us realize that this huge state contains more than 265,000 square miles, or that it covers more than 8 per cent of our national area. Texas leads all other states, not only in cotton raising but in livestock, petroleum, sulphur and mohair. In the production of lumber, building materials and citrus fruits, she ranks very near the top. Her annual contribution to our national income runs all the way from half a billion to nearly a billion dollars last year. In 1932 she took from New York first rank in the value of exports produced within state borders, the figure being only a shade under three hundred million dollars.

"...Exposition authorities have had at their disposal appropriations and contributions aggregating some $25,000,000, and they feel that they have been laying out their funds in ways that cannot fail to please their guests and visitors from far and wide."

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUCHER

WASHINGTON—Heavy pressure is being brought on the administration to urge Owen D. Young to run for governor of New York on the Democratic ticket.

It comes from conservatives and practical politicians who argue that Young's election would be certain and that he would be most equally certain to carry the national ticket along with him.

Jim Farley and his staff have been worried about New York ever since the popular Governor Lehman announced his retirement. The "draft Young" movement is meeting bitter opposition, however, from liberals in the administration. Roosevelt will have to override the pleas of some if he falls in with it.

The liberals assert that Young belongs in the group of old-line Democratic anti-New Dealers of the John W. Davis-Al Smith type; that Roosevelt would be making too great a concession if he were to beg him to run; and that Young probably would insist on certain policy compromises of a conservative nature if he were to accept.

They profess to believe that Roosevelt will run ahead of any gubernatorial candidate the New York Democrats name.

On the other hand, it appears that Farley feels that putting Young on the firing line would attract support from business men and middle-class groups in other states which the national ticket wouldn't otherwise receive.

No one here claims to have any assurance that Young would accept the nomination even if it were tendered him on a platter. His personal relations with F. D. R. have remained rather friendly.

Although polls previously gave Roosevelt a slight edge in New York, tendency has increased among politicians to class the state as doubtful.

Its 47 electoral votes are enormously important and only twice in history has a candidate who lost New York been elected.

Latest WPA story is one about a woman who was explaining her situation to the state director in Pennsylvania:

"There was me and Sam, he's my husband, and five children. We didn't have a job. It seemed like we was an awful lot of people to be on relief. So I decided to let Sam go.

"Then the WPA came in style and I got work with them. There was nobody to leave the children with while I was away from home. So I took Sam back."

Miss Ruby Louise Nix, the pretty 21-year-old PWA stenographer who married Congressman Marion A. Zioncheck of Washington to "reform him" and then seemed to fall in with the spirit of the thing, had an exceptionally good record as a government employe.

Mrs. Zioncheck's former superiors and girl associates in PWA's accounting department, without the least trace of cattiness, such as you might expect, report that she was exceptionally popular, intelligent, and efficient.

Q. What is the origin of the expression, crocodile tears? L. S.

A. The expression, meaning affected tears, appears first in Greek and Latin proverbs and is based on the erroneous belief that the crocodile weeps in order to arouse the pity of a human being who, on approaching, is devoured.

Q. When will the White Top festival of folk dancing and music be held this year? H. P.

A. The festival will be held at Marion, Va., on August 14 and 15.

Q. Is there a surplus of applicants for the Flying Cadet course of the Army Air Corps? T. W.

A. In the last class that entered the primary flying school on March 1 there were only 60 cadets, instead of the authorized 150.

Q. Who was the first President to visit Yellowstone National park? M. R.

A. President Chester A. Arthur was the first. His visit was in 1883.

Q. Should the flower so designated be called wistaria or wisteria? T. B.

A. It was named for Caspar Wistar, a professor in the University of Pennsylvania, so it would seem better to use the word wistaria. Both words are recognized, however, in dictionaries.

Q. Did Elias Howe, inventor of the sewing machine, die in poverty? R. P.

A. During five years' litigation to protect his patent rights he was harassed by poverty. In 1854, however, he was finally successful, and by his royalties obtained $200,000 a year, eventually amassing a fortune of $2,000,000.

Q. Who wrote the poem beginning Leaves have their time to fall, And flowers to wither at the north wind's breath? E. G.

A. The lines are from Felicia D. Hemans' "Hour of Death."

Q. How many people will be eligible to vote in the presidential election this fall? J. N.

A. It is estimated that about 58,500,000 American citizens will be eligible to register and vote in 1936.

Q. How many Better Business Bureau centers are there in this country? E. H.

A. There are 53 in the United States and Canada.

Q. When did the first white man settle on Long Island, New York? J. R.

A. The year, 1636, marks the 300th anniversary of the first settlement on Long Island. In June, 1636, one Jacob Van Corlear bought from the Indians a piece of land called Long Island, and in this same year several other purchases were made.

Q. Has Frank Buck traveled extensively to collect his wild animals? C. M.

A. Mr. Buck has crossed the Pacific 40 times and circumnavigated the world five times.

Q. Please name some of the movie stars who have adopted children. E. H.

A. A partial list includes Miriam Hopkins, Gracie Allen, Ruby Keeler, Joe E. Brown, Wallace Beery, Fredric March, Harold Lloyd, Morton Downey, Constance Bennett, Gloria Swanson, and Zasu Pitts.

Q. Did Dr. Mudd attempt to escape while he was imprisoned at Fort Jefferson? L. C. R.

A. Dr. Mudd made an attempt to escape, after which he was sentenced to hard labor. The order hereafter when any boat arrives, he will be put in the dungeon and kept there until it departs.

Q. About how many people speak the Russian language? K. G.

A. It is probably spoken by 110,000,000 in Soviet Russia, and by about 4,000,000 Rutenians in Czechoslovakia, Poland and Rumania.

Q. Which of the hills upon which Rome was built, were the first to be occupied? T. T.

A. The Palatine and the Capitoline, since they were the most defensible, were first occupied.

Q. Who first experimented with animal breeding from a single breed? H. N.

A. Robert Bakewell of England introduced this system of breeding chofly after the middle of the 18th century. It was based upon careful selection to develop certain desirable qualities. The crossing of different breeds had previously been thought to be the way to improvement.

Q. Can a group of people see the same rainbow? A. W.

A. No two persons have ever seen the same rainbow. There must be a different set of light paths and rays for each position of the eye that sees them. The eyes of persons standing shoulder to shoulder perceive entirely different sets of rays moving along different paths. There is never only one rainbow in the sky, but millions of them. A rainbow shower really fills all nearby space with a vast network of colored light rays.

Learn to Swim This Summer

Timidity and fear keep many people from learning to swim, yet it is not at all difficult if you go about it in the right way.

Swimming is not only one of the most healthful sports, but it is a valuable accomplishment in protecting one's own life and in assisting others.

The Pampa Daily NEWS offers a practical, helpful handbook compiled by our Washington Information Bureau, in cooperation with the American Red Cross.

It includes complete instructions on life saving and artificial respiration as well as interesting data on swimming records.

GROVER AUSTIN DEFEATS BROTHER JOHNNIE FOR CITY GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

CONSOLATION PRIZE IS WON BY E. W. VOSS

SHORTY HOFFMAN IS DEFEATED ONE UP

Age and experience won over youth yesterday at the Country club golf course when Grover Austin Jr., defeated his brother, Johnnie Austin, for the city championship, 5 and 4. The brothers played the best up golf most of the way, the winner coming in with a one-under par on the first 18 holes and a two under par for the 14 holes played on the final round.

Both youngsters played deadly golf the first few holes. Then Grover pulled to the front with a pair of birdies. Little Johnnie failed to crack and came back to hold his brother to a one-up lead at the end of the first nine holes.

Grover pulled away going in to the final nine holes of the morning round but Johnnie kept pecking away, winning a hole or making the count even. Grover was two up at the end of the first round.

During play in the afternoon, Grover started hitting the ball long and true and his faithful putter went to work. He pulled steadily to the front but had to shoot two golf to hold off Johnnie's excellent stick work. The younger brother made a great stand coming into the final nine but was unable to overcome the lead.

E. W. Voss shot a bang-up game to take the consolation prize in the championship flight. He defeated Shorty Hoffman, 1 up, in a game which saw the lead change hands several times. Voss was three down going in to the fifteenth hole and he came through to win the last four holes with a birdie and three pars.

The winner holed out on the tricky 15th hole and then laid approach shots dead to the pin the rest of the way. In Voss carded a 74, three over par, but Hoffman beat him two strokes or one over par.

The first flight winners were decided Friday when Elmer Watkins defeated Haskell Maguire, 1 up, and Ray Burke beat John O'Day, 2 up, in consolation play.

Charlie Thut won the second flight, defeating C. E. "Dan" McGrew 3 and 2. H. J. Coombs took the consolation flight from C. A. Peters, 3 and 2.

The third flight prize went to C. E. Simmons who won by default from W. R. Clayton. Mr. Clayton was out of the city attending the funeral of a relative. Bert Curry took a 4-3 game from W. R. Ford to win consolation.

The list of prizes presented winners follows:

Championship Flight Winner—Grover Austin, three Kroynon woods; runner-up—Johnnie Austin, pair of Sportocasin shoes donated by Carter's Men's Store.

Winner consolation—E. W. Voss, black leather golf bag; runner-up, Shorty Hoffman, dozen golf balls.

First Flight Winner—Elmer Watkins, leather golf bag; runner-up—Haskell Maguire, pair of golf shoes; winner consolation—Ray Burke, putter, donated by C. E. McGrew.

Second Flight Winner—Charlie Thut, canvas golf bag; runner-up, C. E. McGrew, pair golf shoes; winner consolation—H. J. Coombs, pair slacks.

Third Flight Winner—C. E. Simmons, shirt and slacks; runner-up, W. R. Clayton, six golf balls; winner consolation—Bert Curry, shirt.

MANERO IS ONLY GOLFER WITH MUSTACHE TO COP OPEN TITLE

NEW YORK, June 8 (AP)—It's only fitting there should be something unique about Tony Manero, winner of the most unusual open championship in the history of the United States golf association.

Aside from the fact the North Carolina sharpshooter led the way in the most devastating assault on par in championship stroke competition in the world, Tony was the first player with a mustache to cop the crown.

Tony reared down the final 18 holes in 67, five under par for the Baltusrol club links, for a grand total of 282 and nipped luckless Harry Cooper at the wire by two strokes.

Manero's 67, coming after previous rounds of 73, 69, 73, was one of thirty-eight par-cracking performances over a course which had virtually no rough at all.

All told, in approximately 480 rounds played during the three-day, 72-hole medal test, par was equalled or broken sixty-two times. There were 24 rounds at par; 15 at 71; 15 at 70; seven at 69 and Manero's great 67—one stroke short of Gene Sarazen's spectacular finishing 66 at Fresh Meadow four years ago.

No fewer than 44 players finished with 299 or better, for the total which won for Sam Parks Jr., the 1935 title at Oakmont.

Four players emerged with sub-par aggregates. Manero's 282 shaved four strokes from the previous American record of 286 set by Chick Evans in 1916 and matched 16 years later by Sarazen.

It also lowered by a stroke the British record of 283 held jointly by Sarazen, Henry Cotton and Alf Perry.

Harry Cooper's 284, two strokes below record that had held good for 20 years, heart-breakingly was good enough only for second money. It was the second time Cooper had run second in nine years.

He apparently had the 1927 title clinched when Tommy Armour dropped a 20-foot putt on the final green for tie at 30, and subsequently lost to the silver-haired Scot in the play-off.

Warner, 65, is seriously considering undergoing a major operation on his left hip, but it did not stop him from coaching his son.

The operation is made necessary by an accident Warner suffered while hunting in South Carolina 30 years back. Pop has limped for the past 16 years as the result of the injury, but it did not stop him from coaching his son.

Warner, now in his old home town, Springville, in western New York, barely is able to walk with the aid of a cane. The operation is calculated to put him on the job at Temp University in September in top shape.

Going under the knife would prevent Warner from taking in his third Olympic Games, something he would regret exceedingly, particularly in view of the fact that his name is being in connection with two different European tours.

Those who were so willing to hand Jimmy Stout the 1936 Brown Derby of Jockeydom by his handling of Granville in the mile and a quarter Suburban Handicap at Belmont Park, withheld it when the rider explained the heart-breaking camera decision against the son of Gallant Fox.

Stout fell from Granville at the start of the Kentucky Derby. He was caught napping in the Wood Memorial, which went to Teufel, an entrant, and again in the Preakness was nosed out of first money by Bold Venture, all because he appeared to let a loafer loaf.

PAMPA SPLITS DOUBLEHEADER WITH OILERS

The Pampa-Dancier Road Runners split a doubleheader with the Oilers of Enid, Okla., yesterday afternoon before the largest crowd to see a ball game in Enid this season.

The Road Runners led the first game, 5 to 0, but won the nightcap encounter, 3 to 2.

Lee Dancy threw three home runs in the opening game as the Oilers behind the bat, the largest crowd to see a ball game in Enid this season.

The Pampa hurler went the entire distance and pitched heads-up ball excepting for the three balls which sailed over the fence.

Floyd Lisie was behind the bat, Bednor Chick Evans in 1916 and matched 16 years later by Sarazen.

It also lowered by a stroke the British record of 283 held jointly by Sarazen, Henry Cotton and Alf Perry.

Stout immediately following the Suburban was that had the slightest help to a thoroughbred that is known always to let down when in front, just as his sire was wont to do, there would have been no occasion for the camera decision which went to the 4-year-old Firethorn.

DANCIGER AND BORGANS WIN SUNDAY TILTS

The Berger Christians and the Little Road Runners won games in the Panhandle Junior league yesterday.

Managers, coaches and other officials of the league will meet at the chamber of commerce rooms in Pampa for the purpose of drafting a schedule and to consider other matters affecting the league.

Only two players in the Peeewe lineup were playing their regular position yesterday as the youngsters wearing the Magnolia uniforms went 14 to 10 before the Berger onslaught.

The Peeewe were further handicapped by the absence of both pitchers, Amos Reed and Keg Rafferty. Today Coach Roy Marshall and Manager Howard Buckingham were in the market for pitchers for the remainder of the season.

Interested boys were requested to interview the Peeewe leaders.

While the Peeewe were piling up a total of nine errors, the Little Road Runners were winning another game from Phillips at the 66 diamond.

This time the score was 14 to 2, compared with a 25 to 0 contest run up in the first game of the season.

The Road Runners scored in the first inning when Summers led off with a single, went to third on Seitz's single from where he scored on Hale's long fly.

Two Road Runner counters were registered in the fifth. McLary started off with a walk and went to second on Gray's timely single.

McLary stole third and scored when McNabb came through with a single which also sent Gray to third from where he scored on an out to win his own ball game.

Big Gordon Nell almost broke up the ball game with a home run in the seventh but Gray tightened down and held the Oilers scoreless the rest of the way.

The season team will be here for games next Sunday afternoon and Monday night. The three former Road Runner stars, Nell, Patton and Horton, will be with the team.

Manager Sam Hale will send big Gene Ledford against the Oilers opening game unless he changes his mind. He is uncertain about his second choice.

Complaints against violations of the league rule forbidding cursing during the progress of the game were made against players in both games yesterday.

Canadian's Cubs, it is reported, will resume play on the league Sunday, and a LePors team of boys has been organized and will enter the league it was learned this morning.

Contributors to this chapter last week included Freddie Russel, Nashville; Banner; Roy Shudt, Troy, N. Y.; Times-Record; Robert Gansley, Denver Post; Joe Hornaday, Longview (Tex) News; John DeGange, New London (Conn) Day and Lem Houston, Fredericksburg (Va) Free Lance-Star. Come again, gents.

HOUSTON AND DALLAS SPLIT HITTING BEES

Peeweeks Seek New Pitchers As Old Ones Fail To Show Up; League To Meet

Dependent upon a continuation of present style of play, it appears the Texas League pennant winner will be a team of fence-busters who are supported capably but not in extraordinary fashion by the men on the mound.

The leaders of the race, the Dallas Steers and the Houston Buffs, propelled hits with abandon in their "little trial series" of two games, which ended with the Steers taking the closing tilt yesterday, 7 to 5, and breaking even on the series.

Both matches—the Buffs won Saturday, 12 to 8—were strictly slugging bees, although Curt Fullerton, Dallas veteran, took his ninth victory yesterday.

Fullerton's slugging was tough until those camera boys of the cudgel with a four-run rally in the seventh which ended the day's scoring. Heartened, Fullerton breezed in.

Charlie English, speedy second-baseman of the Panthers, turned on his former fellows of the Galveston nine yesterday, leading Fort Worth to a 4 to 3 victory.

English scored three of his team's runs with a double, two singles and a walk.

Beaumont current score of the pennant chase started well with a 4 to 1 victory over Tulsa but the Oilers came back in the abbreviated second game to win, 8 to 5.

The Oklahoma City Indians routed one of San Antonio's mound artists, Abe Miller, in less than three innings with seven homers and six runs.

Vaughn Smacks 3 Singles As Pirates Near 3rd Place

Dizzy Dean Captures 11th Win; Giants Defeated

The heavy hitter of the Pittsburgh Pirates is making that much clear by his stick work these days.

Slow to start, Vaughn has come along fast at the plate in the last four weeks, has pulled up 38 percentage points in less than 21 days, and is now batting just a shade under the 300 mark.

Of course, that's still far off the 385 mark he posted last year to win the title. But consider his steady, uninterrupted rise since mid-year, while most of the leaders have been falling off sharply, now that the heat is on. Consider also, that he has been hitting better than 385 since June 1.

Vaughn hit in his 19th straight game yesterday, getting three singles in five times up to set the pace as the Buc collected 18 hits and clubbed the Phillies 6-2.

The victory left the Pirates just one percentage point off third place in the National league standings, since the Chicago Cubs nosed out the Phillies 4-3 behind Curt Davis' tight pitching to maintain their advantage.

The Cardinals continued to lead the pack, downing the second place New York Giants 9-3, as Dizzy Dean, the top big-league pitcher, chalked up his 11th win, taking the mound with only 48 hours rest.

The New York Yankees, meantime, pulled their American league lead out of the fire and stretched it to 2 1/2 games by outslugging the Cleveland Indians 5-4 in a 16-inning struggle, while the second place Boston Red Sox were losing their jinx hold on the Chicago White Sox and were getting snowed out by a 16-hit attack, 13-5, to end their five-game winning streak.

The Detroit Tigers, hard-hit by injuries, but still fighting for the title of their championship, replaced the Indians in third place by staving off the Senators' closing rally, through the able relief pitching of Roxie Lawson in the ninth, to win 10-8.

The Boston Bees threw off the assault of the Cincinnati Reds on the National league's fifth place by coming through with an 8-3 victory, while the St. Louis Browns downed the Athletics 9-5, to move within a game of sending Connie Mack's team into the American league cellar.

The Boston Bees threw off the assault of the Cincinnati Reds on the National league's fifth place by coming through with an 8-3 victory, while the St. Louis Browns downed the Athletics 9-5, to move within a game of sending Connie Mack's team into the American league cellar.

The Detroit Tigers, hard-hit by injuries, but still fighting for the title of their championship, replaced the Indians in third place by staving off the Senators' closing rally, through the able relief pitching of Roxie Lawson in the ninth, to win 10-8.

Goldman Aims At Golf Title

Associated Press Sports Writer Take it from Arky Vaughn, the National league batting crown won't be given up without a fight.

Goldman shot the course, scene of the state meet opening Wednesday, in 65, one under the non-competitive record held by Lieut. Ken Rogers, Kelley field star and one of the prime favorites for the title.

It was Spec's first four of the par 72 layout. He collected eight birdies, nine pars and a bogie.

Lieut. Rogers, who has been beating par consistently on the course, played in the same foursome with Goldman and shot a 71.

Chastain was one target short of his spectacular 98-100 score of last year.

Jack Kersh, Shamrock, was runner-up in the Class A division with a 94-100 score. C. Loyd of Albuquerque, an outstanding skeet shooter in New Mexico, shattered 93 targets to take third honors.

FIRST DOWN - AND THEN SOME BY HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK.—Glenn Scooby Warner, 65, is seriously considering undergoing a major operation on his left hip, but it did not stop him from coaching his son.

The operation is made necessary by an accident Warner suffered while hunting in South Carolina 30 years back. Pop has limped for the past 16 years as the result of the injury, but it did not stop him from coaching his son.

Warner, now in his old home town, Springville, in western New York, barely is able to walk with the aid of a cane.

The operation is calculated to put him on the job at Temp University in September in top shape.

Going under the knife would prevent Warner from taking in his third Olympic Games, something he would regret exceedingly, particularly in view of the fact that his name is being in connection with two different European tours.

Those who were so willing to hand Jimmy Stout the 1936 Brown Derby of Jockeydom by his handling of Granville in the mile and a quarter Suburban Handicap at Belmont Park, withheld it when the rider explained the heart-breaking camera decision against the son of Gallant Fox.

Stout fell from Granville at the start of the Kentucky Derby. He was caught napping in the Wood Memorial, which went to Teufel, an entrant, and again in the Preakness was nosed out of first money by Bold Venture, all because he appeared to let a loafer loaf.

Stout immediately following the Suburban was that had the slightest help to a thoroughbred that is known always to let down when in front, just as his sire was wont to do, there would have been no occasion for the camera decision which went to the 4-year-old Firethorn.

Voss Cleaners Beat Coltexo

Pitcher Morrison of the Voss Cleaners, entry in the Pampa playground ball league, won his own game yesterday afternoon when Voss Cleaners defeated Coltexo, 7 to 2.

Morrison drew a walk and hit safely on his other three trips to the plate besides hurling air-light ball all the way. Sheridan was behind the bat.

Coltexo pitched the full game for Morrison with Maxey receiving. The loss pulled Coltexo, down to a tie with King Oil for third place and clinched the cleanermen in fourth position.

GENERAL MCKENZIE KILLED 500 WILD MUSTANGS IN TULE CANYON

AMARILLO, June 8 (AP)—Bleaching bones of 500 wild mustangs killed by an army expedition to keep the Indians from getting them—still marked the old McKenzie Trail when H. B. Martin came to the Plains.

Martin, who said he was "ridin' Old Dick and leadin' Old Dick" followed the U. S. Army colonel's trail on the Llano Estacado in 1866.

"The trail had weathered the storms of only about 11 years then," he recalls, "and the McKenzie expedition was fresh in the memory of many men then living."

Martin learned more about Col. McKenzie's expedition from A. D. Tucker, first sheriff of Haskell county who now lives at Pecos.

TEXAS LEAGUE LEADERS

Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK, June 8. (AP)—The Texas League pennant race is about the only Roman who isn't fit for torrid? If the Greensboro (N. C.) Record didn't put out an extra, we don't know Mr. Houston Laving, its energetic sports editor, for a time!

For a time it looked like they'd have to call for one of those camera boys of the cudgel with a four-run rally in the seventh which ended the day's scoring.

Heartened, Fullerton breezed in. Charlie English, speedy second-baseman of the Panthers, turned on his former fellows of the Galveston nine yesterday, leading Fort Worth to a 4 to 3 victory.

English scored three of his team's runs with a double, two singles and a walk.

Beaumont current score of the pennant chase started well with a 4 to 1 victory over Tulsa but the Oilers came back in the abbreviated second game to win, 8 to 5.

The Oklahoma City Indians routed one of San Antonio's mound artists, Abe Miller, in less than three innings with seven homers and six runs.

REVIVAL OPENS WITH LECTURE TO AN OVERFLOW AUDIENCE

DR. HARDEMAN TALKS OF TRIP TO HOLY LAND

DAILY SERMONS WILL BE DELIVERED BY TENNESSEAN

The largest crowd ever to assemble at Francis Avenue Church of Christ overflowed the auditorium last evening to hear Dr. N. B. Hardeman of Henderson, Tenn., give an interesting lecture on "The Holy Land."

Dr. Hardeman, president of Freed-Hardeman college, yesterday morning preached the first sermon of a revival that will continue two weeks at the church, with services at 10 a. m. and 8:15 p. m. daily.

His lecture last evening attracted many visitors, including some from 15 different towns of the Panhandle and Oklahoma. Churches of Christ at Panhandle and White Deer dismissed evening services and many members came here.

The speaker held the interest of his audience for more than an hour, which he explained was twice the length of his usual sermon, as he told of his trip to Palestine. He traveled by motor over a splendid system of highways, he said, but in the cities he mounted a donkey for a closer view of the narrow streets.

Contrast in these two types of travel exemplified the modern Holy Land to Dr. Hardeman. He found primitive agricultural methods and living conditions, but regretted that many spots sacred to Christians have been covered with modern buildings and made commercial show places so that the pilgrim must use his imagination to see them as they were in Biblical days.

In a brief geographical description of the country, he said that it is in the same latitude and has about the same climate as south Texas, but the rainfall all comes in the winter, and vegetation is generally sparse because of the dry summers.

The rural sections, with their vineyards and herds of sheep, appear true to tradition, he found, as do many of the cities, with their narrow streets, lazy merchants, and low stone buildings. He added that he saw only one wooden house in the entire country—at American mall-order house in Joppa.

He spoke of the principal cities: Tyre and Sidon on the coast; Hebron, oldest city in Palestine, where are tombs of Old Testament patriarchs; Bethlehem, set in a fertile section and besting a magnificent temple at the spot where tradition says Christ was born; Nazareth, where the carpenter shop and home of Mary and Joseph are pointed out; and Jerusalem, walled city built on four hills on a site chosen for its military advantage.

Inhabited by Christians, Jews, and Mohammedans and holding ancient traditions for each sect, Dr. Hardeman will speak twice daily during the revival period. E. C. McKenzie, minister of the church, invites the public to hear him.

All services yesterday were well attended. Bible school had 188 present.

PIE SUPPER SCHEDULED
Postponed two weeks ago because of rains, an outdoor pie supper following night softball games is announced again for Wednesday evening on the Siskiyt Older's diamond in Schafer camp. Women of the camp will sponsor the pie supper, inviting everyone in the community and in the Pampa area. Women are asked to bring pies for the auction.

A Cool Slenderizing Caped Dress

That Flatters Fuller Figure Easy to Make!

By ELLEN WORTH

A charming dress with cape that shoulders the sleeveless arms, is interesting detail of this dotted sheer cotton dress in wine ground with white.

A slimming bodice effect is achieved by the surplice waistline cape. The graceful skirt has a length-giving front panel.

Another idea is navy blue and white dotted twill with the vest of plain white. Finish the edge of the cape with bias bands of the plain white. It creates a very sportive effect. It's so practical, too.

Again, another fascinating scheme is white tub silk with dramatic contrast in the cape in purple shade.

Style No. 1764 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48-inches bust. Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards of 39-inch material with 3/4 yards of braided trimming.

Our Illustrated Home Dressmaking Book will enable you to have smart clothes and more of them for less money. Each step in the making of a dress is shown with illustrated diagrams. Send for your copy today.

TRIP TO STATE SONGFEST WILL BE MADE BY 50

Pupils Will Receive Passes to Dallas Centennial

Children from Gray county who expect to go to Dallas to sing in the state Centennial songfest Saturday are asked to notify County Superintendent W. B. Weathered, who is making arrangements to secure passes to the Centennial grounds for them.

About 50 youngsters from this county are expected to make the trip. Any children who plan to be in Dallas this week-end, and who have learned the Centennial songs in school the past term, are eligible to participate in the chorus and may receive the passes.

No special train will run from this county, and youngsters here who do not make the trip by automobile will go to Clarendon, Memphis, or Childers to join a train taking children from other parts of the Panhandle Friday night. Roundtrip fare will be between six and seven dollars, or half that amount for children under 12.

Parents of children in Pampa or elsewhere in the county who wish their children to make the trip, but cannot accompany them and their school has made no arrangements for a chaperone, are asked to notify Mr. Weathered, who is arranging to care for a party of the youngsters.

Art Colony for Students Being Held in Canyon

CANYON, June 8.—I. J. Becket of Pampa is spending his summer encamped with the Palo Duro art colony in the state park east of Canyon.

Artists and student artists of the Panhandle have gathered in cabins near Coronado lodge where there are held one art lecture and one popular lecture each week. Group art discussions and individual creative work are inspired by the canyon scenery and the invigorating summer climate.

The art colony is sponsored by the art department of the West Texas State Teachers college and will study and work with professional artists for six weeks. Artists, student artists, and art enthusiasts of the Panhandle gathered in the lobby of Coronado Lodge Thursday afternoon to hear Mrs. Darrell Jackson of Amarillo lecture on wood carving.

Mrs. Jackson's lecture is one of a series to be given by various artists and authorities on nature study which will be open to the public every Thursday afternoon from 5 until 6 o'clock.

Meetings Called For Merten and Priscilla Clubs

Special meetings are announced by two Home Demonstration clubs this week. A Merten club meeting postponed because of bad weather last week will be conducted at the home of Mrs. Frank Bailey Wednesday afternoon.

Priscilla club will have a called meeting Friday at 2:30, in the home of Mrs. Joe Lewis. Main business will be election of a membership and club delegate to the state short hour at College Station in July.

Chapter 27 CIGARET SMOKE

"How is Rupert?" Hope asked. "Rupert was better this morning," Dirk answered. "Doesn't Sanford keep you advised? I asked him to."

"Yes, he telephoned. But then—" "Her voice was lower than usual, as if she feared disturbing some one. It was sheer weakness, no doubt."

"I understand," Dirk said. "You feel I've just come from him. He's going to pull through. He's got every chance. Please sit down, Hope. I'll only stay a minute."

After a moment she moved with a twinkle of beaded, padded slippers, and sank in the big chair. She did not look at him now, but sat clutching the shawl, staring before her, her face pale in the dusk.

Dirk sat down, too, permitting his Martin to creep into his voice. "Martin tells me you had something of a scare the other night."

"Yes," she said, still in the lowered, rather husky voice, as if she were afraid of disturbing some one. Suddenly Dirk was aware of an odor in the room, the faint, not altogether stale, odor of cigarettes.

He thought of Timothy who held that ghosts have their "scents." He thought of Nora who had said that Mrs. Joris did not smoke, Nora, he recalled, did not look after Mrs. Joris' room these days. That nervous people sometimes took up smoking, Dirk was aware.

Sister Mary's Kitchen

By MARY E. DAGUE NEA Service Staff Writer

With a large and popular family, you need a versatile repertoire of get-ready-quick meals. For somebody is always popping in on daughter and big brother or even father and staying for lunch or supper. Biscuits add glamour to any such meal and solid food value, too. And they are certainly quickies when you use one of the reliable biscuit mixtures on the market.

Here's a coffee cake which ought to make a hit with men.

Quick Coffee Cake

Two cups sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 6 tablespoons sugar, 5 tablespoons butter or other shortening, 1 egg, 1-2 cup milk. For crumbs: 2 tablespoons melted butter, 4 tablespoons light brown sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 teaspoon cinnamon.

Sift flour once, measure, add salt, sugar and baking powder and sift again. Cut in shortening. Beat egg well and add to dry mixture with milk, stirring until blended. Turn into a greased and floured shallow pan, spreading dough evenly with back of spoon. Mix and sift flour and cinnamon and combine with brown sugar. Add melted butter and work into crumbs. Sprinkle top of cake with crumbs and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for twenty-five to thirty minutes. Cut in wedges and serve warm.

Try baking powder biscuits split, buttered and made into sandwiches with broiled bacon or broiled ham. Well seasoned, well chilled tomato juice is just the right beverage to go with these.

Nut Muffins

Two cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 egg, 3-4 cup milk.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Halves of grapefruit, cereal, cream, fried dried beef, quick coffee cake, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Sandwiches of baking powder biscuits and ham with creamed asparagus, shredded fresh pineapple, coconut macaroons, milk tea.

DINNER: Boiled tongue with raisin sauce, steamed rice, beet greens, garden lettuce with egg dressing, rhubarb pie, milk, coffee.

4 tablespoons melted butter or other shortening, 1-2 cup broken nut meats.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt and sugar and sift again. Beat egg well and combine with milk and melted butter. Add nuts to dry mixture and stir lightly. Then add liquid mixture and stir just enough to dampen all the flour. Do not try to beat smooth. Bake in greased muffin pans in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for twenty to twenty-five minutes. Serve warm.

If you have an electric grill, bake jelly pancakes at the table. For a heartier note, roll the pancakes around broiled sausages or bacon.

Jelly Pancakes

One and one-half cups cake flour, 1-2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, 2 eggs, 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons butter or other shortening.

Separate whites from yolks of eggs and beat yolks with milk. Sift flour, once measure and add salt, sugar and baking powder and sift again. Add milk mixture gradually, beating until smooth. Add shortening. Fold in whites of eggs beaten until stiff. Bake on hot greased griddle, browning first on one side and then on the other. Spread with jelly and roll.

bled, would not have preferred Mary's precise and gentle ministrations?

Dirk replied now to her inquiries concerning Rupert, and said to her: "I'm worried about Mrs. Joris. I think we should call a doctor."

Mary answered that Mrs. Joris didn't seem ill enough for that. "She'll be all right," Mary added. "What do you think it is?" Dirk asked.

"Worry, sir. . . that's all."

Dirk, tomorrow, gets disturbing information from Mary.

Mrs. Gordon Birch returned to Berger Sunday after spending the week-end in Pampa.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Jones were hosts at a family gathering in their home over the week-end. A chicken dinner was served Saturday at noon to a number of relatives and friends.

The visitors included Mr. Jones father, M. F. Jones, and brother, Harvey Jones, of Gainesville; another brother, W. V. Jones, Mrs. Jones, and their children, Harold, Maurine, and Betty, of Wilson, Okla.; and his sister, Mrs. H. J. Lofland and Mr. Lofland of Pampa.

Friends present for the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Daughte, Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Barrett.

General Strike In France Called

PARIS, June 8 (AP)—Coal miners in northern France numbering 150,000 called a general strike today a few hours after 1,000,000 other workers had won a complete victory in the "folded arms" refusal to work.

Workers in Paris building trades also began a walkout to enforce the five point agreement which ended the 14-day strike after Premier Leon Blum's "new deal" government interceded for organized labor.

The coal miners, who declared they had rather "strike and starve than work and starve," occupied pits and offices in the northern fields. In some places mining officials were held prisoners in their buildings but leaders of the mining union quickly ordered their release.

The government's declaration against devaluation brought new strength to the franc at the opening of the market.

BRIEF ANALYSIS OF PROGRESS OF TEXAS EDUCATION GIVEN

LITTLE-KNOWN FACTS SPOKEN BY PROFESSOR

METHODIST DELIVERED FIRST PROTESTANT SERMON

AUSTIN, June 8.—In the commencement address which he delivered to some 1,000 graduates of the University of Texas Monday evening, Dr. Frederick Eby, distinguished professor of education at the university, gave what is believed to be the most comprehensive brief analysis of the progress of education in Texas ever prepared.

Dr. Eby brought many little-known facts concerning this state's sometimes halting but irresistible march toward universal education for its youth. He cited that the first half-century of Texas history was full of blunders, with educational endowments being scattered here and there, all meeting with disaster; with strife and discord hounding the lawmakers until no adequate policy could be evolved from the chaos of ideas.

It was not until the years following the Civil war that circumstances and conditions developed that made possible the evolution of a sound educational system. These conditions being ripe, it was natural that great educational institutions such as Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college, the University of Texas and others should be founded at that time. Since then, there has been no retrogression, only a steady progress toward the goal of a great educational system, he declared.

This year, as Texas observes her hundredth anniversary, it was considered fitting that the saga of Texas education should be recounted, and it was in tribute to his distinction in the field of educational history that Dr. Eby, a member of the university's own faculty, was asked to deliver this address.

The context of his address follows:

"The cultural traditions and educational policies of the people who came into Texas varied more sharply than those of any other portion of the continent. Overlooking the Spanish and Mexican, that affected the situation but slightly, one can note the policies of Puritan New England, the Scotch Presbyterians, the French Huguenot, French republicans, the English Cavalier, the German, and still others. From this social mixture there emerged a number of different educational systems. First, there were those who regarded education entirely from the standpoint of national policy. Second, there were those who contended that education is the sacred right of the family—the most sacred of all rights, the right of the father. Third, there were those who looked upon education as a religious affair. The church has ever been the mother of schools. Fourth, there were those who saw in the school a local institution, a means of building the town. Fifth, there was the group who considered the school a charity for the orphaned and indigent. It took half a century from 1836 to 1884 for these conflicting elements to compose their differences and lay the permanent foundation of education in this state. Those first 50 years were years of experimentation, of institutional building followed by cataclysmal change.

Lacked Vision.
"The group that believed in public education embraced many of the leading men of Texas. Stephen F. Austin, Mirabeau B. Lamar, Luke Lesasser, Anson Jones, J. A. Collingsworth, and the most important of all Andrew J. Yates.

"So much has been made of the attitude of these leaders that a false conception of the educational policies of the people of Texas a century ago has risen. Comparatively few rose to the height of the national conception of the significance of education. Not all the leaders did so. Even Sam Houston lacked the vision of free public schools as the foundation of democracy of the people. "Private and local school interests had been in the field prior to the Revolution and they continued to make themselves felt. During the Mexican era schools were taught by itinerant schoolmasters in practically every community. Among the most notable of these were Thomas J. Pilgrim, from Connecticut; Mrs. E. R. Weighman, the first woman school teacher; Luke Lesasser, an ardent supporter of public education; Gail Borden, inventor of condensed milk, and Miss Frances Trask, who established the first boarding school for girls in Independence. After the Revolution, schools and colleges sprang up everywhere in great numbers. Among the most important were the University of San Augustine, Nacogdoches university, Marshall university, Washington college, Galveston university, Houston academy, and many others.

First Sermons.
"In 1817 the first Protestant sermon on Texas soil was delivered by a Methodist circuit rider at Jonesboro on the Red river, the northern gateway into the state. During the 1820's Methodists, Baptists, and later, Presbyterians held occasional services in scattered parts. All such religious activities were illegal, prohibited by the constitution. The first church in Texas was organized in Illinois and brought into Texas by wagon in 1833. The first to be organized in Texas was a Methodist church in East Texas in 1834. "The first Protestant church that challenged the Protestant bodies of the United States to make Texas a point of attack. First the idea got abroad that the new republic had become a rendezvous for outlaws, freebooters, and infidels. Second, it was looked upon as the vantage point for Protestant efforts to evangelize Latin America. These challenges were irresistible. Again, various people in Texas sent burning appeals to their co-religionists back home in the states.

Travis Wrote Letters.
"In 1835 came William B. Travis wrote two letters to the Methodist conference of the United States urging that mission work be established. As a result Dr. Martin Ruter, president of Berea College, Ky., was dispatched to survey the field. On his return he reported that the state made the supreme sacrifice for his church, his Master, and, shall we say, for Texas. His chief recommendation was the establishment of a college. The Methodists nobly responded and Ruterville college, six miles north of Austin, was the first to open its doors for advanced instruction for the youth of Texas. This was in 1840.

Baylor Founded.
"A Baptist church of nine workers in Washington-on-the-Brazos, in 1837, sent an appeal for help to their brethren in the United States. They did not even know to whom to address their plea. By chance it fell into the hands of Jesse Mercer, founder of Mercer university in Georgia. Two missionaries, James Huckins and William M. Tyson, were sent to Texas. In 1841 they established the Texas Baptist Education society and this in turn founded Baylor university at Independence four years later.

"In 1837 the Episcopalians of Matagorda set out to secure a teacher for their children. In response to their efforts the Rev. C. S. Rees was appointed missionary and in 1839 he opened Matagorda academy which he later attempted to make a university.

"In 1839 Dr. Daniel Baker, one of God's noblemen, paid a visit of some length to Texas. Some years later he came permanently and in 1849 founded Austin college in Huntsville.

"Denominational education dominated the field of secondary and higher education in Texas down to the dawn of the present century. From 1830 to 1860 Protestant pastors came into the southwest in great numbers. Down to the Civil war 90 per cent of all teachers were men, and 90 per cent to 95 per cent of these men were preachers. With but few exceptions every church building was also a school house. Pastors received little or no salary for preaching; they eked out a scant living by teaching. Teaching and preaching were but two means of making Christians.

"In 1846 a report was made to the Brazos Synod on Larissa college. The single member of the committee declared: 'The school is under a good moral influence, as well as a good course of literary training, but I fear that there are more ministers of the gospel directly connected with the school than heaven will appreciate their being there.'

"For the greater part of a century there lay side by side in the office of the secretary of state two documents; the one, the declaration of independence with its arresting accusation against the Mexican regime; the other, was a stirring memorial signed by 62 men calling upon congress to establish a system of public education and to set aside land for its endowment. This petition was the work of Andrew J. Yates, college professor, author, and financial agent of Texas. Yates was an authority on government, the best informed man in Texas on education, and probably the wealthiest man in the republic. Among the great signatories of this memorial are those of Dr. Asa Hoxey, J. A. Collingsworth, Francis R. Lubbock, Robert Barr, David C. Burnett, and Anson Jones. Yates favored the New York state system of education.

Jefferson Is Ideal.
"Nothing was done to promote public education by the first and second congresses. The election of Lamar was a signal that a new day had dawned for the interests of the children of Texas. He had taken as his ideal statesman, that great educational pioneer, Thomas Jefferson, who took more pride in founding the University of Virginia than in his authorship of the declaration of independence. "In accordance with the demand of Lamar a law was passed in 1839 setting aside three leagues of land for a school in each county and 50 leagues for two colleges or universities. Andrew J. Yates was sadly disappointed with this law and wrote President Lamar a lengthy letter. He outlined a complete system of state education from the primary school through the graduate department of the university. As a consequence a system of education was provided in the new law of 1840. Strange to say, not a single public school was ever established on these local endowments. The fact is, state education was neither understood nor desired by the rank and file of Texans a century ago.

Schools Endorsed.
"The leaders of education in Texas a century ago pinned their faith to a land endowment policy. The same day the law of 1839 was passed giving each county three leagues of land. DeKalb college and the University of San Auguste received four leagues of land each from Congress. The same day the law of 1840 was passed Ruterville college was given four leagues of land. All seven of these local colleges were endowed with land by the Congress of the Republic. Thus the local and private school interests countered every move made by the advocates of State education.

"By one of those inscrutable accidents of human experience which human intelligence cannot explain, in 1845 a terrible tragedy took place in San Augustine, Texas, that was to have the most extensive reverberations. Having completed one year of study in the new system of education was the most bitter experience. The system included compulsory attendance, drastic taxation, inspection by state officers, uniform textbooks prescribed by the state superintendent, the building of local school houses by public funds, the secularization of the curriculum. This was far more galling than the defeat of the war and the political disabilities. It touched to the quick the most eternal and sacred rights of parenthood. In the Constitutional convention of 1875 the entire subject of education formed a red-hot subject of a thousand controversies. In the end the system was completely scrapped. A mere shell of public education was left, not even as good as before the war.

"In this sad plight two noble Yankee citizens helped despairing Texas. George Peabody, the prince of merchants, who donated $3,000,000 to encourage public education in the South; Dr. Barnes Sears, formerly president of Brown university, was the wise and sympathetic agent of this Peabody Board. They introduced superintendency of public education, State grading of school, the training of teachers, and the public high school.

Yank System Returned.
"It is a curious fact in the history of government practically every feature of the first school system created upon the Texas people in 1871 and which they rejected with such vehemence in 1876 has returned during the past half century. In 1884 by constitutional amendment the districting of counties and local taxation was reaffirmed, the office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction was re-established. In 1887 county supervision was returned, in 1915, compulsory attendance was required, uniform State-adopted texts, secularization of the curriculum, and about three years ago regional supervisions were returned. The centralizing features are not as great and probably never will be.

"In calling attention to this strange coincidence may I emphasize that there is a profound difference in the manner in which these two systems came about. In the first instance the people of Texas were coerced against their will. In the other case these measures have been voted by the people of their own free will after open discussion and reflection. The first was the method of tyranny; the second is the method of democracy.

REACTION.
"Local interests, private initiative, family interests, church interests, state interests, have all been harnessed in the fundamental policy of Texas education. The century has kept the faith of the fathers.

children. There were around 1,200 schools in over 100 counties before the war. Universities, colleges, academies were organized in great numbers. There were at least 150 in all. The Masons, Methodists, Catholics, Baptists, and Presbyterians were the chief agencies in the establishment of these schools. Initiative was even more active than all these other agencies combined.

Built On 2 Hills.
"In most instances when a college, academy or university was established, the male department was built on one hill and the female department on another hill. From a quarter to half a mile was considered the most intriguing and salutary distance between the sexes. The people of Texas had an extraordinary interest in the education of young women. The first catalogue was issued in 1844 by Ruterville college. The first degrees were issued by Ruterville. The first law school was opened by Baylor at Independence, the first medical school at Galveston.

"From 1861 to 1870 the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse rode swiftly over the schools of Texas. With the call to arms the young men and most of the faculties went to the war. The schools for young women and for children continued for a time. But poverty soon forced even these to close. Soule university the proudest enterprise of education in Texas was again closed at the close of the war. But in 1866 yellow fever swept up from the coast and in a few days Soule closed its doors. Another institution is said to have lost half of its students to the scourge of smallpox. There was still another decimating rider—the iron horse. With the coming of railroads into Texas a vast shifting of the population began.

Important towns that did not get on the railroad soon declined and the most flourishing schools in Texas became ruins for bats. Port Sullivan, Salado, Ruterville, Inuitan Retreat, proud Independence, Washington, the college town, Gay Hill, Larissa, and dozens of others are now no longer on the map. Of the two hundred or more universities, colleges, and academies that bedecked the map of Texas between 1836 and 1866 there remain the Ursuline Academy at Galveston, the Ursuline Academy at San Antonio, and Waco (now Baylor) university. These alone remain at their original location. Baylor university was moved from Independence, and the Ursuline academy at Galveston was moved to Belton, and Austin college was relocated at Sherman after 25 years at Huntsville.

"From 1871 to 1875 Texas was ruled by the most drastic educational system ever established in a free state. The republicans charged that the democrats had permitted two generations of children to grow up in ignorance; they had squandered one of the sacred public funds. The new system of education was the most bitter experience. The system included compulsory attendance, drastic taxation, inspection by state officers, uniform textbooks prescribed by the state superintendent, the building of local school houses by public funds, the secularization of the curriculum. This was far more galling than the defeat of the war and the political disabilities. It touched to the quick the most eternal and sacred rights of parenthood. In the Constitutional convention of 1875 the entire subject of education formed a red-hot subject of a thousand controversies. In the end the system was completely scrapped. ## Minter To Drop Suit, Is Report

LOS ANGELES, June 8, (AP)—With their attorney reported absent on an indefinite vacation, Mary Miles Minter and her mother, Charlotte Shelby, were expected today to drop their suit for $750,000 against a brokerage firm.

Both the former screen actress and Mrs. Shelby refused to discuss published reports that the suit, naming Blyth and company as defendants, had been settled out of court and referred inquirers to their absent attorney, Joseph Lewinson.

Reports of the settlement said the brokerage company agreed to pay Miss Minter and her mother between $100,000 and $125,000.

They sued to recover on admitted defalcations of Leslie B. Henry, former representative of the brokerage firm, now serving a sentence in San Quentin prison. Blyth and company contended Henry was not acting as their agent in the investment of the Minter funds.

Dusting The Covers Of Texas History For THE TEXAS CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION OF 1936

AUSTIN, June 8.—During the first five years the Texas Republic was in existence, colonists obtained title to approximately 25,000,000 acres of land, it was reported by Arthur Ikin, Texas consul from England, who sent back to his native country a "Guide to Emigrants," in which he explained general facts concerning almost every aspect of the new republic. His report was published in book form in London in 1841. Of the comparatively few copies which found their way back to Texas, one is now in the Texas collection in the University of Texas library.

"Three different kinds of titles to land in Texas may be classed, primarily, into those obtained under the Spanish or Mexican government, and those obtained under the Anglo-Texan." Ikin explained. "Of the former, including the grants made to colonists through the revolution; 2ndly, unconditional bounty lands to volunteers, and the heirs of deceased soldiers, and to soldiers who were in certain battles; 3rdly, special grants of congress, and titles created by the leasing and sale of government land scrip.

"The titles obtained under the present government are supposed already to amount to twenty-five millions of acres. They consist of 1st, conditional grants of land made to settlers, in various quantities, at various times, during and since the revolution; 2ndly, unconditional bounty lands to volunteers, and the heirs of deceased soldiers, and to soldiers who were in certain battles; 3rdly, special grants of congress, and titles created by the leasing and sale of government land scrip.

"To the purchaser of land in Texas, the most important distinction next to that of the title being valid, or invalid, is whether it is 'located,' or 'unlocated.' If the former, it should be represented by the original Mexican title-deeds, or, when obtained since the revolution, and perfected by the patent of the present government. If unlocated, as a great number of 'headrights' or grants to settlers since the revolution, and of government scrip still, the first object of the holder will be to 'locate' it, which is done by indicating the selected tract of vacant land, sufficiently clear to define it in the register of the county surveyor. Also, on being assured of the validity of the claim to locate, will further proceed to have the tract surveyed more exactly, and, for a small fee, enter a plan of it in the county map accordingly. The charges of surveying are three dollars for every linear mile that it runs. A board of land commissioners, who sit for each county, should next be applied to, in order to approve and confirm the title and location; upon their doing which,

and upon all dues being paid, the Commissioner of the General Land Office will issue the patent title. "In the survey of lands, the Mexican measure is observed; 3 geometrical feet are equal to 1 vara; 5,000 varas are a linear league, the square of which, consisting of 4,428 acres and a fraction, or 25 million square varas, is a sitio; 4 sitios make a Texas township; 5 sitios make a hacienda. The labor, which, when each settler received the munificent donation of a league, was added to it as arable land, consisted of 177 acres and a fraction, or one million square varas. In surveying land which fall on water-courses, not more than half of the square of the survey may lie on the stream, if that stream be navigable; if not navigable, the whole square may front the stream. "Except in the case of government land scrip, and special grants of Congress, aliens cannot directly hold real estate in the Republic; but, as in the United States, lands may be conveyed to an alien by bond, stipulating to make a legal conveyance to the vendee or his assigns, on he or they becoming citizens; which bond, when recorded in the county where the land is situated, will prevent any subsequent transfer. Alien heirs of citizens are allowed ample time to obtain estates bequeathed them, and to dispose of it.

"The public land of Texas, which amounts to considerably more than 150 millions of acres, is not at present offered for sale. "Homogeneous interests, and a simple, unique form of government, are the great political advantages which Texas possesses over the United States. Scarcely less is the comparative smallness of her territory, which, with all its natural advantages, will evidently, if the Texans keep within the limits they have assigned themselves, rapidly fill us, so as to form a really consolidated and densely settled country; unlike the United States, which, as a nation, appears to have been ever wasting its energies on too wide a field, and seldom to have efficiently filled up the bold outlines of its undertakings.

HIGHWAYS and BUYWAYS

THE advertising columns of this paper are the highways of commerce. There you will find the products and services of firms who are glad to place their goods on display where the greatest number of people can find out in the shortest possible time whether those goods are worthy or not.

True, sometimes you can find good values off the highway — among the "unknowns" and the "just-as-goods." But why take the risk—when you can use the advertisements as a dependable guide to value, and save a lot of time in the bargain?

When a manufacturer places himself on record in the printed page, he is forced to guarantee you consistent quality and service—or the disapproval of millions quickly forces him out of the market. That's why you have such a friendly feeling for old and well-known advertised names—you know you can depend upon them.

Read the advertisements regularly and know what you want before you start out to shop. It pays to make the advertising highways your buyways.

BANKER DIES SUDDENLY COLRADO, Tex., June 8 (AP)—C. H. Lasky, 76, president of two Mitchell county banks and one of the most prominent residents of this section, was found dead this morning in his automobile in front of a Colorado grocery store. A few minutes earlier he had left the City National bank, where, as president, he had presided at a meeting of the board of directors. He had moved from under the steering wheel and the car keys were gripped in his hands when he was stricken. Death was attributed to a heart attack.

KILLED IN ACCIDENT MIDLAND, June 8 (AP)—Funeral services for Wilson Keyes, killed here Saturday in an automobile accident, were set for 4:30 p. m. today at the home of Mrs. W. F. DALLAS WAITS FOR ARRIVAL OF PRESIDENT

ROOSEVELT TO SPEAK AT CENTENNIAL ON FRIDAY DALLAS, June 8, (AP)—Dallas settled back with a sigh today after two days of the Texas Centennial exposition had converted it into a continental carnival center and quietly awaited presidential inspection of the big show.

The presence of Mr. Roosevelt Friday was expected to send the turnstiles clicking more often than on opening day Saturday, when 117,623 pushed into the 200-acre fair.

When the gates closed last midnight 87,801 had filed into the grounds. Addition of the figures of the first two days put the total attendance at 205,426.

The principal event was the unveiling of a bronze bust of Vice-President Garner in the fair's amphitheater. The bust was the work of Miss Electra Waggoner Bowman of Fort Worth and New York.

"Cavalcade of Texas," portrayal in pageantry of Texas history, which was to have had its premier last night, was taken off the exposition calendar for several days. Officials who viewed it last night in private said additional equipment and more elaborate scenic effects were needed.

Civic and exposition officials laid elaborate plans for entertaining the president, whose principal planned activity will be to deliver an address in the massive cotton bowl.

To the exposition heads the time of the speech—10:30 a. m.—presents difficulties. Expecting a record crowd, they braced themselves to the prospect of several frenzied hours as the thousands jammed into the stadium.

After the address, Mr. Roosevelt will make a tour of the show. Final details of the day's schedule were to be worked out today by Centennial officials and the reception committee.

On Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper's schedule were visits to Houston, Austin and San Antonio before returning to Washington. The secretary formally opened the exposition Saturday.

In U. S. to Fight for Son Freddie

Arriving at Los Angeles to aid his wife in the court battle over guardianship of their son, Freddie, child film star. Cecil Llewellyn Bartholomew of London is shown here. A peaceful settlement was forecast in the effort to win custody of the boy from his aunt, Mylicent Bartholomew, with whom he has been living on the coast.

And so to bed—but first a pre-dawn frolic in the hotel corridor, playing hide and seek with newspapermen, who were hard put to keep up with them.

Suspect Reveals 'Flogging Tree'

Held under $50,000 bond in the kidnaping and flogging case of Robert Penlon of Ecorse, Mich., Frederick A. Gulley is shown as he demonstrated to Detroit authorities how victims were tied to this tree and lashed by the Black Legion. The tree is on an abandoned farm 11 miles from Detroit. Gulley said he was forced at gun point to join the legion and had tried vainly to get out.

PLASTER OF PARIS CASTS RIDER

Britain Builds Parasite Planes

Aviation's first aerial parasites, sketched above, are being created at Rochester, England, for the Imperial Airways in an attempt to surmount difficulties that have blocked long range, non-stop airmail flights. Too heavily loaded to be able to take off under its own power, a 5000-mile airmail ship is mounted atop a huge flying boat, designed to help lift it into the air. After reaching cruising altitude, the lower unit will return to the airport for duty as a passenger carrier on shorter flights.

Here's Speed Bus for Zioncheck

If speed is what Representative Marion Zioncheck craves, he'll get the McCoy by visiting his father-in-law in Texarkana, Ark. Here is shown the ancient vehicle with which T. M. Nix, extreme right, promises to burn the highways to thrill his ebullient son-in-law. Nix confided that cops had chased him for "doing 35", but declared the old bus wouldn't go that fast. In the picture are three other relatives of Mrs. Ruby Zioncheck—Edsell Nix, brother, on the fender, and Bob Lott, brother-in-law, posing informally with his foot on the shoulder of his wife Thelma.

When Overhead Gets Too High

Like a business man made desperate by steadily increasing losses, Senorita Anita Lizana, Chilean tennis champion, threw caution to the winds and, in an effort to stem the tide, hurled her racquet at the ball that soared beyond her reach. She lost the match, played at Surbiton, England, to Dorothy Round.

Path of New Assault on Everest

In man's fifth attempt to reach the "roof of the world," a group of daring young Britons are struggling along the route depicted above toward the untrod summit of the Himalayan Mount Everest, world's highest peak. Carrying on a venture which already has taken numerous lives, tortured by intense cold and rarefied air, and almost balked by a premature monsoon, the climbers are establishing camps at the heights indicated. After passing the blizzard-swept North Col, they will try to place Camp No. 7 at 27,800 feet, higher than ever before. Then in one desperate spurt, they must reach the summit and return—only one-half mile of the most perilous travel in the world—in 15 hours.

Stilted Effort

After inspection of this bit of engineering, a lot of New Yorkers have revised their idea that reference to a "stilted effort" was a slur. The 15-story warehouse at 35th street and 11th avenue has been left standing on stilts while engineers build elevated railroad tracks through its lower stories.

Steering to Happy Landings

As Roosevelts Feted Rural Women

At lawn party unique in capital history, President and Mrs. Roosevelt greeted the official delegates to the convention of country women which has drawn 6000 women to Washington, D. C., from every state of the union and twenty-two foreign countries. Mrs. Alfred Watt, president of the Associated Country Women of the World, stands between the Roosevelts on the White House portico.

It's Sea-Going Quadruplets at Uncle Sam's House

Handsome modern in every inch of their streamlines and appointments, the Coast Guard conducted a quadruple christening at the Philadelphia Navy Yard where four new cutters have just been completed. Pictured in drydock being fitted (only the bows of two at right are visible), they were to be named the George Campbell, William Duane, Samuel Ingham and Roger Taney.

Bordelle's Modernistic Mural

Pierre Bordelle's Chrysler Building mural of a streamlined mountain lion overtaking a blunt buffalo is causing much comment at Dallas, where the Texas Centennial Exposition will open June 6.

A Rare Photo—Zioncheck on the Defensive!

In this rare photograph of Representative Marion Zioncheck on the defensive, the playboy congressman from Seattle is pictured in bed at Gallinger hospital in Washington, D. C., after physicians said he was "suffering from overwork," and prescribed rest. His enforced stay at the hospital, where he was held for observation, punctuated five months of antics. He was jailed five times, married, took a riotous honeymoon, allegedly ejected his landlady from his capital apartment, tried to enlist the aid of President Roosevelt in locating his missing bride, and sought the arrest of Vice President Garner on charges of "conspiracy" to detain her.

Striking View of Ship Christening

Miss Mai Duane, descendant of William J. Duane, Secretary of the Treasury in President Jackson's cabinet, took no chances on fizzling the christening of the new U. S. Coast Guard Cutter at Philadelphia Navy Yard. She gritted her teeth, grasped the baptismal bottle of champagne firmly and used both hands to smash the flagon against the Duane's prow. Then look what happened.

British and Arabs Arrayed as Foes in Palestine Riots

Nomad bands that strike unexpectedly continue to spread terror in Palestine despite efforts of British troops to check the race war between Arabs and Jewish settlers, in which more than 70 have been killed. The solidarity of Arab sentiment is demonstrated at the mass meeting of aroused villagers pictured above. All raise their staffs and right hands in pledge of loyalty to the national cause. Below, steel-helmeted British troops rest in the shadow of the wall of Jerusalem, in the heart of the trouble area, ready for riot duty.

CREAGER ACTS TO FRACTURE 'SOLID SOUTH'

WOULD PLACE TWELVE SOUTHERN STATES IN DOUBT

CLEVELAND, June 8 (AP)—A group of southern republicans will discuss ways and means tonight of making the so-called "solid south" less solidly democratic.

R. B. Creager, republican national committeeman from Texas who called the southern meeting, said it would launch a drive to place 12 southern states in the doubtful column. Efforts would be made, he said, to crystallize sentiment behind matters of particular interest to the section.

He said invitations had been sent to the national committeemen, delegates and alternates from Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, Louisiana, and Texas.

All those invited, however, did not plan to attend. Rep. J. Will Taylor, national committeeman from Tennessee, said he had "too many other things to do" in connection with opening of the party's national convention Tuesday.

Creager said the southern meeting "will have nothing in the world to do with the presidential or other candidates as such."

"A group of us simply think," he said, "it is high time that these southern states get together, not only in their own personal interest but to work toward placing them in the 'borderline' classification in the general elections. It would be a healthy condition."

"Take this state where we are going to meet, Ohio, although it has been predominantly republican, it has been classed as doubtful and it has produced five or six Presidents. Now, look at my own state of Texas, which has about the same popula-

Three Licenses

Licenses to wed have been issued here to: S. G. Starke and Roberta Demaron.

Weidon R. Smith and Ruby Collins. Lloyd F. Batson and Annie Laura Burleson.

Accounts Wanted

Statements of all debts in connection with the Panhandle Centennial celebration are desired at once by the central committee. They may be sent to the B. C. D. office. Compilation of all expenses is being undertaken by the finance committee.

Barbecue Complimented

Frank Hill, who was in charge of the barbecue for oldtimers at the school gymnasium at the Panhandle Centennial, is receiving many expressions of approval for the occasion. About 2,100 persons were fed in 1 1/2 hours. Meat, beans, and apricots were cooked at Diley bakery and buns were bought from all local bakeries.

Church Supper

A covered dish luncheon will be held at the First Presbyterian church on Wednesday night at 7 o'clock. Members are urged to take a guest. The Men's Brotherhood banquet set for that night will be postponed in favor of the congregational meeting. The session has been called to meet at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

Elks to Meet

An important meeting of the Pampa Elks club had been called for tonight at 8:30 o'clock in the club rooms on West Kingsmill avenue. Frank Thomas, exalted chief, will preside. Refreshments will be served following the business session.

All Quiet

Chief of Police Art Hurst reported everything quiet over the week-end. No accidents, no thefts, and no accidents were reported. The chief was still enthusiastic this morning about the way traffic was handled during the Centennial celebration. Motorists and pedestrians cooperated in every way possible, the chief declared.

Roosevelt Will Leave Tonight On Texas Tour

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—President Roosevelt went back to his desk today to study and act on bills which have finished their legislative course and work on speeches he will make during a 4,000-mile tour starting tonight.

The chief executive returned to the White House yesterday from Nashville, Tenn., where he and other capital officials attended the funeral service for the late Speaker Joseph W. Byrns.

Late tonight he will leave on the long trip which will take him to Little Rock, Ark., June 10; Dallas, Texas, June 12, and Vincennes, Ind., June 14 for scheduled addresses.

On the way to Little Rock the President probably will make some rear platform appearances. From the Arkansas capital, where he will speak at the 100th anniversary of the state's entry into the union, he goes to Dallas to speak in connection with the big celebration of Texas' independence from Mexico 100 years ago.

The best we've ever done has been to produce a vice president—and that through a fluke. "If Texas hadn't gone for Hoover in 1928, the democrats would not have had to accept Vice President Garner four years ago. They were afraid not."

Charles A. Jones, national committeeman, from North Carolina, helped Creager plan the session.

Roosevelt Will Visit Old Church

President Roosevelt will worship in this historic old church at the "ghost town" of Rockport, Ark., when he visits the state to launch its centennial celebration June 10. Special services have been arranged by Methodist and Baptists for the visit. After the meeting, the president will view a pageant depicting life in the town from 1842, date of its founding, until its virtual disappearance. The church is all that remains of the once flourishing village.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, June 8 (AP)—The stock market strolled into a rally today that lifted selected issues 1 to 2 or more points.

Steels and specialties led the procession. The comeback was attributed partly to a turn for the better in European news as well as indications of continued domestic economic progress. There was profit taking in the final hour, but the close was firm. Transfers were around 700,000 shares.

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO, June 8 (AP)—Pessimistic crop reports from spring wheat territory did much to rally prices late today, and almost overnight losses occasioned by light to good rains northwest.

Fair support for the Chicago wheat market came about through resting orders to purchase on declines. There was also some buying of wheat against sales of corn. Wheat closed steady at the same as Saturday's finish to 1/4 cent off, July 84-84 1/2, Sept. 84 1/2-3, corn 1/2-1/2 advanced, July 60 1/2-3, oats 1/4-1/2 off, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to 1 cent gain.

ROPER AT HOUSTON
HOUSTON, June 8 (AP)—Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Daniel C. Roper arrived here at 7:10 a. m. today from Dallas where the cabinet member officially opened the Texas Centennial exposition Saturday. They will spend the day at public functions held in their honor by the chamber of commerce and other civic bodies. Mr. Roper will speak at the chamber of commerce banquet tonight.

URGE SCHOOL DISTRICT TO BORE FOR OIL

ADVOCATES RAISING OF TEACHERS' PAY TO FAIR LEVEL

AUSTIN, June 8 (AP)—School districts in some instances might profitably go into the oil drilling business, in the opinion of State Representative Augustine Celaya of Brownsville, chairman of the house hot oil investigation committee.

Admitting he was not certain it would be practical for school districts to drill their own properties, Celaya suggested that persons interested in raising the pay of teachers to a "fair level" should give the matter serious consideration.

"In probably many instances, school districts have property in proven oil territory," Celaya said. "When there is oil on both sides of them they are not taking a chance in the sinking of a well. Why shouldn't they do their own drilling and receiving all the profits instead of leasing to an operator and getting only one-eighth royalty?"

"School teachers now are grossly underpaid, and people can't pay any more of their taxes. This idea if a practical plan of operation can be worked out, might solve the problem in some cases.

"The work of course should be limited to the proven oil areas. There would be too many chances for loss in 'wildcatting.'"

Celaya reiterated his opposition to the state going into the oil business or "for that matter into the liquor business or any other business."

"If the state should take over drilling on state lands," he said, "it would mean a horde of employees on state payroll. It is only natural that employees of state departments engage in politics in an effort to perpetuate their jobs. We must remain on guard against the building up of vast political machines."

J. H. Walker, retiring land commissioner, evoked considerable comment a short time ago with a suggestion that the state should consider the feasibility of doing its own drilling on prison properties.

Walker, who was connected with the prison system for a time, said the system had sufficient convict labor to carry on much of the drilling operations.

He expressed the opinion that some of the prison lands were underlaid with oil and that sufficient oil possibly would be found to maintain the system.

allow it. They planned a welcoming demonstration tonight for John M. Landon, the governor's 79-year-old, Bull Moose, father; and the governor's daughter, Peggy Anne.

CLEVELAND, June 8 (AP)—Texas Republicans decided today to cast their 25 votes for Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas as presidential nominee "on the first and other ballots."

Standing and shouting, the Texas caucus, unanimously instructed R. B. Creager, Texas national committeeman, to support the Kansasan.

At Creager's suggestion, the caucus deferred action on a vice-presidential candidate.

The Landon action was suggested by H. E. Exum of Amarillo, who termed him the best available man "to fill the bill."

The delegation re-elected Creager and Mrs. Lena Gray More of Brownsville, national committeemen. Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls was selected the Texas member of the important platform committee. Other choices: Crenshaw, L. J. Beckenstein, of Beaumont; Carlo Watson of Brownsville, rules; C. O. Harris of San Angelo, party organization; Exum and R. W. Humphreys of Galveston to notify the presidential and vice-presidential nominees of their selection; J. W. Bass of Austin, honorary vice-chairman of the convention.

Exum also was selected vice-chairman of the delegation.

3. That the California defendants, especially, planned "closed bidding" on redwood.

That the men from California and Texas sought, by offers of better positions, to have Oberg use his influence with superior officers to have the Washington PWA office approve the substitution of plans.

The government introduced many letters from Barry, who had gone to Texas in an effort to "sell" redwood for the irrigation system, to his home office. Prosecutors noted frequently Barry's reference to "our board of strategy,"

IN PUBLIC WORKS, even a slight change of plans involves endless checking, approving, and re-drafting of specifications. This is illustrated in the case of the new high school auditorium, which would be under way now had the board not found it advisable to spend somewhat more funds than the original estimates. An auditorium must be adequate to be worth the building; it must be furnished, it must have acoustical properties which permit the human voice to be heard throughout.

Right-of-way difficulties on the Pampa-Berger highway are more serious than most persons believe, but now that other delays have been hurdled, this last barrier should be attacked with all resources. Highway 269, the new number assigned, is destined to be important. Tourist travel in New Mexico's No. 1 industry. This road will serve a considerable part of the traveling public. It is a shortcut between Oklahoma City and Denver.

WHEN THE OIL field highway is finally completed, those who are concerned with its dedication should remember the late "Pete" Rejd with appreciation. He was Pampa's most consistent good roads enthusiast. Until his death, he was one of the city's most widely known and loved citizens. Not spectacular in his approach to a problem, he had a sincerity and a sustained interest which got results. We often marveled at the patience he had in matters not promising immediate results. If he were living today, he would be thought constantly of ways to open the road north across the Canadian river. More than a decade ago he and others took one of the longest steps toward getting the road—they obtained easements from ranchmen along the proposed route. Admittedly the most difficult stream to bridge in this section, the Canadian, can and will ultimately be conquered. It is a barrier to relations with what should be neighbors of this part of the plains.

SONORA, June 8 (AP)—Geo. Smith pioneer Denton city marshal who, in the early days, led a posse in pursuit of the outlaw, Sam Bass, was dead here today at the age of 81. Funeral services were arranged for this afternoon.
