Just received an invitation to a wedding. Perhaps the strangest marital ceremony ever performed will be solemnized at the centennial in Dallas Saturday night when Miss Violet Hilton of the famous Texas Siamese twin Hilton sisters, will be wed to James Moore, of Cleveland, Ohio.

Refused licenses in many parts of the country, the young couple—and Mr. Moore's sister-in-law—finally returned to Texas, home of the bride, where no law has been found to forbid issuing a license.

We wonder what Daisy, other half of the twins, thinks about the wedding. And will Mr. Moore have himself plenty of trouble about the first time Violet makes up her mind to go to the mountains and Daisy has an idea it would be ducky to go to the seashore.

Well, the man should know his business, but if you ask us, he's letting himself in for something.

We could do very handily with a nice blizzard as this is written and tipy drops of perspiration skip about over this industrious brow. If we so desired, we could bring it up again today and remind you what we said long ago about the third week in July. Just skip it.

How's your blood pressure? You'd be surprised the things we dig up to read about in spare moments, if any. For instance—do you know that betting on your golf game can easily boost your blood pressure to 20 points above normal?

We once saw a fellow bet on something at the 19th hole and quicker than you could say jack-rabbit his necktie was in flames. You have to be mighty careful.

Getting angry is a sand trap, they say, will shoot your blood pressure up another 20 to 30 points. If you clench your teeth and break a club over the left knee, it may jump 80 points instead, and then there you are!

Even if you merely mutter your anger, the panting climb up the next hill, if there is a hill, will force the pressure up another 30 points. By this time you are likely to explode—and tomorrow the Pampa Daily News carries another headline about so-and-so dropping dead at the ripe old age of such-and-such.

Golly, we don't like to preach, but a doctor friend warns us that you've got to keep a close check on the little old blood pressure—and to beware of vacation excitements and stuff.

To the average business man, it's a hazard to listen to an exciting fight over the radio, to drive hundreds of miles at high speed, to gamble on golf, bridge or any other game, to climb mountains, to swim a long distance—in fact all "grandstand" excitement is dangerous.

With this being a fact, a fellow in that predicament wonders if there's anything left for him outside of a quiet hour with the tating needles.

Yes, there is. He can golf in moderation, swim moderately, hike, fish—providing the fish are not too gamey—row a boat moderately, and particularly any exercise that does not speed up the heart action greatly or make heavy demands on the wind or endurance.

You'll notice that there's no mention of danger befalling you from moving the lawn or cleaning out all that trash out of the garage, you little lazy-bones, you.

Somebody's always messing with things. We just learned that according to Lianaeus and most early

'DON'T KILL ME,' ACTRESS BEGS HUSBAND

CARTRIDGE JAMS AND SAVES LIFE OF POLLY MORAN

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., July 15 (AP)—Polly Moran's screams to "Don't kill me" summoned officers to the residence of the film comedienne here today and they snapped handcuffs on her husband, Martin Malone, while he was clicking a pistol.

A jammed cartridge in the pistol saved her life. Sheriff's Deputies Walter Schottmiller and Robert Jorgensen said.

The officers said in the struggle to subdue the attorney husband of the movie star he nearly knocked one of them out.

He was booked on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon. The officers said Malone was intoxicated.

Schottmiller and Deputy Sheriff Robert Jorgensen said Miss Moran told them that Malone had pointed a pistol at her and pulled the trigger repeatedly but a cartridge jammed the weapon and it did not fire.

"Don't kill me, don't shoot me," the officers said. Miss Moran was shouting when they arrived at the Malone-Moran residence on North Havenhurst Drive.

They reported they rushed to the home when someone in the vicinity called the sheriff's office and reported that a woman was screaming loudly for help.

"I'm through with him," the officers quoted Miss Moran as saying. "I've been married to him three years and after this I'm through with him now."

The deputies said that Miss Moran was clad in a kimono and crying hysterically when they arrived. "I recognized her as the actress at once," said Schottmiller. "Malone, however, insisted that her name was

Sheppard Defends New Deal Record

600 From This Area Hear Senator's Address

New Deal objectives to make America a land of real and equal opportunities for individual liberty and enterprise were forcibly brought home to an audience of 600 persons here last night by Sen. Morris Sheppard of Arkansas, senior member of the United States Congress.

Critics of President Roosevelt were unreservedly brought to task and the chief executive was described by Sen. Sheppard as the greatest exponent of human brotherhood the nation has yet produced.

In a rigid defense of Rooseveltian policies in the past three and one-half years, Sen. Sheppard struck at critics who increased to administration methods as bordering on Socialism and Communism.

"They have said that these efforts have been patterned along autocratic tendencies as practiced by Communists and Socialists," Sen. Sheppard said. "On the other hand the New Deal means the preservation of what Communism and Socialism would destroy. There is no greater contrast to Stalin and Hitler than Franklin Delano Roosevelt, the believer in the rights of private enterprise, private property and private initiative."

Defends Spending "Critics of government spending point to the fact that our public debt in 1933 was 21 billions and today it is 34 billions. Even if this had not been offset more likely by the increase in government assets and resources and had not been budgeted in such a way so as not to interfere with government credit—the return of a substantial measure of prosperity and the increase in the income of the people of the United States from 35 billions in 1933 to 65 billions in 1935 would more than justify government expenditures of that amount."

"Every dollar expended under the New Deal has come back many-fold in the return of prosperity. Our public credit has been maintained under the most stupendous relief program the world has ever known."

Sen. Sheppard pointed out that the New Deal found 18 millions of people in need and want three and a half years ago, and immediately took up the task of direct relief in three temporary measures. Next he alluded to the three permanent measures for relief in the CCC, the U. S. Re-employment Service and the Social Security Act.

"The administration of relief under President Roosevelt," he said has been of tremendous value to the recovery of our nation, and it marches on today in WPA and the Resettlement Administration."

600 Present Sen. Sheppard, speaking to an audience of approximately 600 persons who braved the sultry night to hear his address, explained that his was an analysis of the New Deal as it related to individual enterprise and to private property in America.

He took up a defense of the NRA, discarded in part by the U. S. Supreme court. "It was the purpose of the National Recovery Act," he said, "to promote fairness of competition in private industry, to restore employment and to increase business."

"During the first six weeks after NRA was held unconstitutional, twenty American industries asked to enter an agreement based on NRA principles."

He described the Work Progress Administration as being a colossal help on the nation's road to recovery.

Roosevelt, Garner and the Democratic administration, the speaker said, have been successful in routing one of the most terrific depressions

Work Is Proceeding On Amarillo's Track

A move to speed up WPA work on the Pampa Fairgrounds park project was placed in motion today when city officials and members of the Board of City Development enlisted the aid of U. S. Senator Morris Sheppard to ferret out cause of delays which have practically brought the local project to a standstill.

Senator Sheppard conferred this forenoon at city hall with City Manager C. L. Stine, Mayor W. A. Bratten, Commissioners Marvin Lewis and William M. Fraser, John Roby, president and Garnet Reeves, manager of the BCD.

Pampa officials complained to the Senator that only promises and little action had been obtained from district headquarters of the WPA at Amarillo with regard to getting the local project pushed to completion.

Sen. Sheppard was told that the government has spent only 16 per cent of its pledged amount while the city has expended 76 per cent of its share on the project.

Total cost of the project is $110,112. The government grant was approved for $104,000, and the city's share amounted to $3,500 for labor and $2,520 for material, a total of $6,020.

The government, under the set-up, was to spend $2,812 for labor and $51,250 for material.

The delay, according to City Manager Stine, has been caused through inability to get the government to appropriation funds as provided in the grant.

Work is being held up because of inability to obtain WPA funds with which to purchase needed material. It was stated.

Sen. Sheppard asked local officials to forward a complete history of the project to him at his home in Texarkana and promised that he would, within the next two weeks, take the matter before State WPA Director H. B. Drought at San Antonio, in an effort to iron out the difficulties and to get action that will result in resumption of the work here on the scheduled basis.

City Manager Stine said today that Pampa is anxious to get the same kind of action on the local project that has enabled Amarillo to proceed with work on a $35,000 race track project at Amarillo, district headquarters of the WPA.

SHOWERS FALL IN HEAT BOWL OF MID-WEST

MERCURY AGAIN SOARS AS HOPE FOR NEW RAINS FADE

CHICAGO, July 15 (AP)—Scattered thunder showers scored local triumphs over the drought in the central part of the middle west and a mass of cool air enveloped the states from the Great Lakes eastward today, but Weather Forecaster J. R. Lloyd said the victory over the 12-day heat wave was far from complete.

Added deaths in the affected areas sent the list for the period over the 3,400 mark.

In Montana, Wyoming, Nebraska, and the Dakotas, visited early this week by rains, temperatures again soared with no indication of additional showers.

This, together with failure of the drought relief generally to materialize, brought new outbursts of buying in the grain pits of the Chicago board of trade. Corn jumped up more than three cents a bushel at times and wheat as much as four and a quarter cents a bushel, and the limit of five cents in Kansas City.

Eye and oats also moved upward. Local storms drove down the temperatures in four states where the loss of life was the heaviest, but a tabulation in these states showed the following deaths:

Minnesota, 707; Michigan, 508; Illinois, 401; and Wisconsin, 363.

Sen. Sheppard asked local officials to forward a complete history of the project to him at his home in Texarkana and promised that he would, within the next two weeks, take the matter before State WPA Director H. B. Drought at San Antonio, in an effort to iron out the difficulties and to get action that will result in resumption of the work here on the scheduled basis.

City Manager Stine said today that Pampa is anxious to get the same kind of action on the local project that has enabled Amarillo to proceed with work on a $35,000 race track project at Amarillo, district headquarters of the WPA.

Lindsey Trip to Dallas Delayed By Court Trials

Deputy Sheriff O. T. Lindsey still was awaiting an opportunity today to leave for Dallas to return five typists to Gray county to answer their charges.

Lindsey has been unable to go because of the fact that he is a witness in cases now before the district court here.

He said today he hoped to be able to leave tomorrow that he may be delayed until next week.

The typists held in Dallas are accused in the theft here six years ago of $1,200 from Mrs. Nannie Belle Worley.

Other Pampans desiring to attend the grand opening of the Fort Worth event, where Pampa will have a prominent part in the W. T. C. C. display, are urged to get in touch with Mr. Wynne immediately. Several reservations have been made for Pampa.

The banquet, honoring Amos G. Carter of Fort Worth, will be presided over by Van Zandt Jarvis of Fort Worth, president of the chamber. Speakers will include W. B. Lee of Spur, W. B. Hamilton of Wichita Falls, Houston Hartle of San Angelo, Herbert Jones of Post, Mark McGee, Fort Worth.

LAST FRONTIER CENTENNIAL WILL BE WONDERLAND

Street of Pinwheels Will Lead to Gayety

PORT WORTH, July 15 (AP)—A vast wonderland of color and gayety will greet the eye of the visitor to the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial from the time he enters the street of pinwheels until he walks out the back gate past the village of Sioux, Navajos and Hopi Indians.

The grounds and buildings, every lamp-post, lantern and hot-dog stand were drawn by Albert Johnson, New York stage and architectural designer.

Ending in a circular plaza, the street of pinwheels leads to the blockhouses, similar to those used in the old days of protection against Indians from the entrance pillars.

Spread between them are the shed-covered turnstiles, leading into a pioneer village. As all the roaring activity of a frontier town will be going on daily in the village called Sunset Trail.

Replete with blacksmith shop, newspaper office, old high-steeped church, town hall, livery stable and hotel, the frontier village has quaintness and entertainment.

Inside the frontier buildings will be exhibited assembled by the women's division of the Centennial—historical relics, complete rooms furnished in pioneer fashion.

At the end of Sunset Trail is the LIVES OF 250 SAVED AFTER SHIPS' CRASH

MEN KNEEL IN PRAYER ON DECK; GOVERNOR IS ABOARD

BALTIMORE, July 15 (AP)—Gov. Harry W. Nice and 250 passengers of a passenger vessel which collided violently with a freighter off a seven foot knoll landed safely here early today, bringing accounts of a harrowing night on Chesapeake Bay.

Scots were jolted up, some bruised slightly, in the terrific impact of the vessels, the bay passenger boat, State of Virginia, and the freighter, Golden Harvest of San Francisco, in the darkness between 10:30 and 10:45 p. m. last night. None was believed to be seriously injured.

A floor show was in full blast and merriment reigned at the time of the crash aboard the State of Virginia, which was bringing a Baltimore association of automobile dealers into port from a two-day sea-going convention. Blasts of the ship whistle cut short the fun-making.

Some of the girls in the floor show became hysterical. A few of the men aboard knelt in prayer on the deck.

The ferry boat Pittsburgh brought the rescued passengers into port at daybreak. It had taken them from the decks of the freighter, to which they had hastily been transferred from the passenger boat after the collision.

The State of Virginia and the Golden Harvest were left locked tightly together hours after the collision, which occurred just outside the city limits of the harbor. Capt. W. I. Woodall of the ferry boat said the freighter had push-

Truckers From 26 Counties to Meet Saturday

District convention of the Texas Truckers Association will be held in Pampa Saturday when members and delegates from 26 counties in the 31st senatorial district will come here to participate in the one-day session. It was announced today by R. H. Waters, of Amarillo, regional organizer for the truckers.

The convention will open at 10 a. m. Saturday at a business session in the Schneider hotel. Several out of town speakers will address members at the session.

Waters stated today that a feature of the day will be a mammoth truck parade which is scheduled to move through downtown streets, starting at 4 p. m. It will be the largest parade of its kind ever held in Texas, he said.

Local truck men who wish to enter their vehicles in the parade are asked to get in touch with E. M. Keller, secretary of the Pampa branch of the association.

Other officers of the local organization are E. L. Boyles, president; Carl Brashers, vice president; and Claude Jeffries and Raeburn Thompson, directors. The local club has a membership of 100.

Following the parade, Waters said, there will be public speaking on the courthouse lawn. Names of the speakers will be announced later.

Five hundred members and delegates are expected to attend the convention.

Mr. Gerhard was well known in Pampa. He spent part of each year visiting his son here.

HIGHEST COURT WILL CONSIDER DOG RACE SUIT

HOLDS OFFICERS MAY STOP TRUCKS ON HIGHWAYS

AUSTIN, July 15 (AP)—The Supreme court today upheld the power of the railroad commission to regulate operations of trucks on public highways.

It ruled specifically in the case of the New Way Lumber company of Houston against the commission that officers need not have a search warrant before they may stop trucks and determine if they are being operated in violation of the law.

The court sustained the Galveston court of civil appeals which had dissolved a temporary injunction granted the commission, the highway patrol and other officers from interfering with movement of its trucks.

The opinion by Associate Judge John H. Sharp said that if an officer had probable cause to believe that a vehicle was being operated without a permit or with an unlawful load he might stop and question the driver and arrest him without warrant if the law was being violated.

"To hold otherwise would render ineffective the reasonable and wholesome laws enacted for the protection of the public and the highways," Justice Sharp said.

The court ruled that the fact the company carried lumber in its own trucks did not exempt it from regulation by the commission.

The court also agreed to review litigation to determine legality of pari-mutuel certificate wagering on dog races, over which two courts of civil appeals have differed.

The writ of error in the appeal of Oak Downs, Inc., Winfield Morten and others of Dallas from a decision of the Dallas court of civil appeals in suit by Sheriff R. A. (Smoot) Schmidt to enjoin operation of the pari-mutuel certificate system of betting on dog races there.

Parking Meters Are Suggested

Parking meters as an innovation for Pampa traffic was suggested to city officials today.

It isn't likely, however, that the meters will be adopted here, at least for the present.

A representative of a meter company offered to place meters in operation here for a 90-day trial.

Under the meter system it would cost motorists five cents an hour for parking privilege in downtown districts. The meter costs $58 each and it would require 200 to fill to city's needs.

The salesman told officials that the meters, costing $11,000 would pay for themselves in five months.

Mercury Goes to 110 at Clarendon

DALLAS, July 15 (AP)—North central Texas sweltered yesterday under temperatures as high as 110 degrees, the weather bureau reported here today.

Clarendon, in the Panhandle, reported the highest temperature, 110 degrees. Thermometers soared at Memphis, reaching 108 and stopped climbing at Graham and Seymour only after mercuries pointed to 106 degrees.

Snyder reported 102 and Sherman, Paris, Mount Pleasant, Kaufman, and Albany 100.

Rains fell over the Rio Grande valley, centering at Brownsville, where 3.06 inches was recorded. Scattered showers were reported from nearly all other portions of the state.

Breckinridge Is Out for London

TOPEKA, Kas., July 15. (AP)—Col. Henry Breckinridge, the Democratic new candidate who ran against President Roosevelt in the presidential primaries of four states, stepped into the Republican camp today with a formal declaration for the London-Knox ticket.

The New York attorney dined with Gov. Alf M. Landon at the executive mansion last night and after a two-hour conference dictated a statement to reporters, saying "I shall vote for Governor Landon and Colonel Knox."

The visit with the Republican presidential nominee was a surprise. Immediately afterward, Col. Breckinridge departed for the East.

Governor Landon spread campaign plans on a council table again today in readiness for the second visit since the Cleveland convention of his running mate, Col. Frank Knox.

Breckinridge, who was assistant secretary of war in the Woodrow Wilson administration, opposed President Roosevelt in the Ohio, Pennsylvania, Maryland and New Jersey primaries.

In his statement last night Breckinridge said "Under all the circumstances, I think their election will accomplish lasting good for the country. I think the re-election of the present governing faction would cause lasting harm."

Mrs. Malone, but she identified herself at once.

"After we took him to the Beverly Hills police station we asked him if he wanted to see Mr. Polly Moran and he blew up."

Schottmiller said Malone offered considerable resistance before they subdued him. The struggle occurred at the entrance to the residence.

Malone had been drinking, declared Schottmiller. "Get out of here or I'll fill you full of holes," the officers quoted Malone as shouting at them.

Schottmiller said the actress told him she would go later to the office of Justice Cecil B. Holland in Beverly Hills and swear out a complaint against her husband.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, July 15 (AP)—A maximum rise of five cents a bushel in wheat values at Kansas City today accompanied reports that there were buying all the wheat in sight.

Paralleling this was a wild flurry to purchase wheat futures in Chicago, but the extreme upturn here was limited to 4 1/2 cents. Advice that the Canadian wheat crop was smaller than expected also acted as a stimulus here, according to the Kansas City bull.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer There's a shady place down by the river where there's a carpet of green, a clump of over-hanging willow trees, and the rippling of the water is like a gentle serenade.
It's our favorite picnic place, and now and then a July day comes along when the urge to pack up a lunch and go there is simply irresistible.

Children always love picnics.
Adults usually like them, too, but there are many mothers who say
"No" to the youngsters' requests to go picnicking because they fear the aftermath will be unpleasant.
It needn't be. Plan the outdoor lunch carefully, see that the children do not become too tired, and your picnic will bring none but pleasant memories.

Each Gets Package
To begin with, it's wise to avoid too great a variety of foods. Children will lose their appetites if they see an unusual array of different things to eat. The package picnic is ideal for small children.
All the articles of food are wrapped separately in individual servings, packed in boxes, wrapped in heavy paper and firmly tied. When lunch time comes each child receives his own package.

Sandwiches hold first place in picnic menus and they can be highly nourishing. Vary the breads and choose the fillings with thought for their nutritive value. Chopped raw vegetables, jellies, cream cheese, cottage cheese, dried fruits and nuts that have been put through the food chopper, minced meats and peanut butter all make suitable fillings.

Hard-cooked eggs, plain or stuffed with finely chopped vegetables mixed with mayonnaise, are wholesome and satisfying. They help to supply the vitamins often lacking in the average picnic lunch.

Juniors! Easy to Make-Semi-Princess Dress

With Perky Bow-
Tied Standing
Collar You'll Adore

By ELLEN WORTH

Some of us, while we'd love an honest to goodness princess dress, are not really cut out for it. Just the merest blousing is needed to temper our hips.

The straight front panel in this model, creates a hint of princess.
The belt merging from either side seam, blouses the bodice just slightly before fastening prettily at the back.

This dress may be fashioned of numerous materials as cottons, linens, rayon, tub silks, etc.
The sleeves cut in one with the shoulders, make it very easy to make.

Gay cotton print pictured is both smart and practical.

Style No. 1782 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, 17 and 19 years.
Size 15 requires 2 1/2 yards of 35-inch material with 3/4 yard of 35-inch contrasting.

making Book contains the latest ing lessons and the fundamental

ITALY GLOATS AS SANCTIONS ARE SUSPENDED

Mussolini's 'Secure Guidance' Is Praised

By GEORGE JORDAN
Associated Press Foreign Staff
ROME, July 15 (AP)—Flag-draped Italy emerged today from 240 days of war sanctions with praise for Mussolini's "secure guidance."

The fascist party directorate celebrated suspension of the penalties for aggression against Ethiopia by sending Il Duce a congratulatory message which said:
"After the victorious epilogue of African achievement due to your indomitable will, the end of the League of Nations' adventure is consecrated with your complete victory of the right of Fascist Italy."
"The goal has been reached in a far from slackening pace which impels the people to march on under your secure guidance."

Mussolini ordered a nationwide display of flags to greet removal of the economic and financial blockade imposed last October and

Credit Inflation Trend Is Stopped

WASHINGTON, July 15. (AP)—By jamming down a brake, the Federal Reserve board figured today it had gone far to prevent any runaway credit inflation.

The board, acting under powers conferred on it by Congress in 1935, announced that reserve requirements for federal reserve member banks would be increased 50 per cent beginning August 15.

The effect of this action was to nail down a sizeable portion of the $3,000,000,000 in excess bank reserves, to prevent it from being used for credit expansion.
The board ruled that in the central reserve cities of Chicago and New York the portion of demand deposits which must be held in reserve shall be boosted from 13 to 19 1/2 per cent. At banks in reserve cities the rate is increased from 10 to 15 per cent, and at other member banks from 7 to 10 1/2 per cent. The requirement on time deposits at all banks will be increased from 3 to 4 1/2 per cent.

At present, the banks have reserves which are about $3,000,000-000 in excess of legal requirements.
By the simple device of increasing the legal requirements, the board cuts the excess reserves.

WAGES HIKED

cent to 4,000 employees of the Port

ANSWERS YOUR QUESTION

How do I Oil-Plate my engine?

You do it while you drive. It is no work at all, and costs nothing extra. Oil-Plating comes from the sure union that will take place between all working parts of your engine and Conoco Germ Processed Oil—patented. This is the first oil ever especially alloyed so that it does not merely flow on, but plates on! Therefore it does not flow off, letting precious metals scrape and scorch. Instead it keeps them Oil-Plated. And that keeps up the power and oil level, though the thermometer and your speedometer may go up this summer... High time to Oil-Plate your engine with CONOCO GERM PROCESSED OIL.

WORSE STRAIN ON GERMANY

If recent assertions in the London Morning Post about German expenditures for armaments are correct, it is hard to see how the German people can continue much longer on their present path without running into complete financial disaster.

DAILY WASHINGTON LETTER

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON.—"This generation has a rendezvous with destiny," said President Roosevelt in one of the big lines of his Philadelphia speech.

Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska will decide whether to stand for re-election or persist in his refusal to run, in accordance with relative success of a current drive by his friends to gather petitions to put him on the ballot as an independent.

Although the state Democratic organization, headed by Arthur Mullen and Senator Burke, has repudiated Carpenter and endorsed Norris, progressive friends of the veteran independent senator doubt whether that group wants Norris to win or can be depended on for effective aid.

Charlie Michelson, the Democratic party's boss press agent, recently hired a prominent economist to help his publicity staff during the campaign.

"If I knew what I wanted you to do, I'd do it myself," Michelson replied. "You see this button on my coat sleeve? It's useless. It doesn't button anything. But you look funny if you don't have a button there."

Great Britain would like the U. S. to join her in achieving collective security. That may have to wait, though, until the latter begins collecting securities.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

ORCHIDS, SO LARGE THAT FOUR MEN WERE REQUIRED TO CARRY THE PLANT, HAVE BEEN FOUND IN THE EVERGLADES NATIONAL PARK, IN FLORIDA.

A BALLOON DOES NOT RISE BECAUSE IT IS LIGHT, BUT BECAUSE THE AIR AROUND IT IS HEAVIER THAN THE GAS INSIDE.

HALLEY WAS THE FIRST MAN TO ESTABLISH THE FACT THAT COMETS TRAVEL DEFINITE COURSES AND RETURN AT REGULAR INTERVALS.

TRAINS, even though running on schedule, are delayed by storms, and it is impossible to figure their time of arrival exactly. Comets, likewise, are delayed, but with them it is the pull of the large planets that causes the trouble. Halley, however, predicted the date of his comet's return, and missed it by only about a year.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK—It is a pity that the unconscious humor which results from unlooked for accidents in plays can't be saved and put into a scenario for, say, somebody like Chaplin or the three Marx brothers.

These are the contretemps and the hilarious miscues which remain as vivid vignettes long after the play and the players are forgotten.

One recalls that moment in the last act of "Cyrano de Bergerac" and old, sits alone in a cloistered garden. It is fall and the leaves are supposed to drift down—one or two leaves, that is. As the actor murmured, half to himself, "Ah, a leaf if falling"—his colleague in the loft who was to drop the leaf made a miscue and enough leaves to fill a mattress came showering down upon Cyrano. It was several moments before the audience controlled its mirth.

Then there was the time Bradford Hatton was supposed to shoot an intruder with a pistol. At the climax of the scene, Hatton pulled the trigger but the gun refused to fire. Clutching the gun by the barrel, the actor gave a convincing imitation of one man clubbing another on the head. This should have saved the situation, but just as his assailant sank limply to the floor, somebody off stage, trying to remedy the miscue, exploded a six-shooter in the wings. Even the corpse had to laugh at that one.

Similar to this was a hapless moment that came to Estelle Winwood in a drama now mercifully forgotten. At the bidding of Philip Merivale, she crossed to the piano with the intention of playing. But before she got there the piano mysteriously began to play of its own accord. Her pianist "double" behind the scenes was just a couple of strides ahead.

Sometimes it is a contretemps such as that which befell one aristocratic youth in the wait scene of "The Student Prince." Costumed in skin-tight breeches and shining black boots, the gallant was swinging his comely fraulein to the catching strains of a Romberg waltz when there came a sickening rip. His breeches had split wide open.

More hilarious still are accidents which occur off stage in business and professional life.

There was a surgeon whose habit it was to operate in rubber boots and

PAMPA OF YESTERYEAR

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY Residents were annoyed after they were awakened at 4 a. m. by a three-alarm fire signal, sirens of fire trucks, ambulances, and police cars, only to discover that the blaze was at a one-room shack. A misunderstanding in the names of Alcock and Albert streets caused the double alarm, which brought on the excitement.

County Agents Ralph Thomas and Myrtle Miller started collecting a Gray county exhibit for fairs scheduled for the fall. . . . Row crops over the county were flourishing and wheat harvest nearly ended.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY A total eclipse of the moon provided a free show in this area from 8:15 o'clock to nearly midnight. Porches, yards, and parks were dotted with interested watchers.

Oil interest shifted to Wheeler county, where a gusher was brought in on the Sitter place.

HOW'S your HEALTH

Edited by DR. IAGO GALDSTON for the New York Academy of Medicine Nature Worship

A common argument developed by medical fastidists and quacks is on behalf of the "natural" as against the "artificial" methods. They advocate so-called natural healing, natural diets and natural living. These proponents seldom take the trouble to define precisely what they mean by natural. But in a sort of nebulous way they point to uncivilized men who presumably live unspiced lives, and suggest that these were and are outstanding examples of all that man could possibly desire in constitution, health and longevity.

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD—The movie of 1946, film observers are agreed, will be a vastly different creation from the movie of today. While there are some gloomy souls harboring the fear that there may be no movies at all 10 years from now, because of television's inroads, there are others who look with optimism to the future and predict a broadened scope for films and even greater opportunities for film production.

Talks to Parents

Compromise By BROOKS BETTERS CHURCH Children from 8 to 16 are at heart the most conventional creatures under the sun. It is not only useless but cruel to try to force upon them independence and individuality in the matter of clothes and behavior. In the presence of their elders, they may be attention seekers of the worst kind, but when with other children they make every effort to conform to the group standards. They know what does and does not "go," and to insist that their conventions are stupid or ill-advised is useless.

To make a child of this age wear an unusual or outmoded type of clothing however suitable and effective it may seem to the adult, is to subject him to exquisite torture. Children are brutally frank in their comment, and he must either defy the group or be the butt of their mockery. In either event he will be alone. Mary, for example, is made to wear dresses far more childish than other girls of her age wear. The chances are that she will play alone, or she will develop an aggressive over-sophistication to compensate for her apparent childishness. Harry, who is short, is kept in short trousers when the other boys have put on long ones. He will play by himself or else become the toughest and most lawless of the "gang."

JAYCEES TO SPONSOR TWO GAMES TO RAISE FUNDS FOR TOURNEY PLAYERS

SHAWNEE NINE TO PLAY HERE ELECTION DAY

OILERS WAS SECOND TEAM TO ENTER DENVER MEET

Last year about this time, Pampa was receiving more than its share of favorable publicity through the middle west and the Rocky mountain area. Within the next week, the city will again become news.

The occasion will be the entry of the Pampa-Danciger Road Runner baseball team in the Denver Post tournament, to be played at Denver, Colo., July 30 to August 10, inclusive. The Road Runners took third money last year and placed three players on the all tournament team besides bringing back many prizes for individual play and good sportsmanship.

The Pampa Junior chamber of commerce will assist the Pampa team in its effort to get good players to make the trip by sponsoring two baseball games with a team en route to the tournament. The games will be played the night of July 25 and the afternoon of July 26. The opposing team will be the Blackwell Oilers of Shawnee, Okla., the second team to enter the tournament. The famous House of David team placed its check with the tournament committee the night of July 25 and the afternoon of July 26.

Tickets good for either game will be placed on sale immediately at 40 cents each. Election results will be broadcast at regular intervals during the Saturday night game, which will be called at 8:30 o'clock. The Sunday game will be at 3 o'clock.

Most of the power to be added to the local team will be here for the games. Shawnee has signed a bunch of great players and the team is already being talked as a contender for the money. It will be the first appearance of the Shawnee Oilers here this season.

On July 27, the Eason Oilers of Enid, Okla., also entered in the Denver Post tournament, may play a game here while en route to the big event. With the Oilers are four former Road Runners—Neil, Patton, Horton and Ledford. The Oilers are now in first place in the Oklahoma state tournament being played in Tulsa.

Road Runners officials will soon be able to announce the players who will make the trip to Denver. Fred Brickell, manager of the team last year, will be one of them. Cy Young will be another if he comes through. Several others stars are being lined up and their names will be released soon.

NEW YORK, July 15. (AP)—Tales from the nation's way-side tees were bigger, better and even stranger this week as 82 more golfers scored aces to run the membership in the Associated Press National Hole-In-One club to 842 since January 1.

E. B. Jobe, a southpaw from San Angelo, Texas, aced the 115-yard fourth hole at Glenmore club on June 21 and July 12 with the same ball and same club.

Bobby Graves of St. Paul scored an ace, three birdies and an eagle over an 18-hole round at White Bear Yacht club to set a course record of 66.

Elizabeth Boyse of Winchester, N. Y., bagged an ace on the 165-yard second at Winchester C. C. and was rewarded with 18 prizes in addition to a certificate. (But don't ask us where she got them.)

King Oil Sets Cleaners Back With 12-6 Win

A rejuvenated King Oil company playground ball team stopped the march of the Voss Cleaners yesterday afternoon with a 12 to 6 setback in a league game. The oilmen jumped on Patrick for hits and runs when needed while Poe was holding the slugging Vossmen in check. Adair was behind the bat for King, with Sheridan receiving for the Cleaners.

Coltoso was extended to the limit to defeat the Baptists, 7 to 6. Phillips worked for the winners with Glazebrook going the route for the churchmen. The Christians, underdogs in the first half but the most potent club in the final stanza, whipped the Texas company, 5 to 2. The churchmen spotted the Texas team two runs in the first inning and then held them scoreless. Geppelt hurled winning ball all the way. Stancil and McBride tried to stop the churchmen.

Phillips took an easy 14 to 4 game from the newly organized Cabot Co. team. LaPrade won his third straight game of the second half.

334 of 382 To Shove Off for Berlin Games

NEW YORK, July 15. (AP)—Founded to the whistle by pressing financial obligations, 334 of the U. S. Olympic team's 382 members boarded the liner Manhattan today to sail at noon for the Berlin games.

It took a good deal of private and public cajoling to do it, but the team sailed with its own expenses clear. An obligation of about $30,000 for running expenses remained, but there was even some hope but this might be wiped away before the games are over.

The team will spend nine days on the water if the weather is clear. It is scheduled to reach Berlin July 25. This will give six days of practice before the games start August 1. Only three members of the women's swimming team were still trying early today to get the money necessary to sail. These were Iris Cumming of Redondo Beach, Calif.; Dorothea Dickinson and Elizabeth Ryan, both of New York.

All others had raised the $500 necessary to finance each member of the team. There was great excitement on the waterfront this morning as the Manhattan, streaming from stem to stern with bright bunting and flying the American and Olympic flags, started taking on her precious cargo.

Of the 23 teams which will represent the United States in the 11th games, 21 were booked on the Manhattan, streaming from stem to stern with bright bunting and flying the American and Olympic flags, started taking on her precious cargo.

TERRY MOORE OF CARDINALS KNOCKED OUT

MARTIN'S CIRCUIT HIT BRINGS IN FOUR RUNS

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer
For Frankie Frisch, like Mickey Cochrane, it never rains but what it pours, as far as the bad breaks of this baseball year are concerned.

It's getting so now what with Daffy Dean's ailing arm and Dizzy Dean's head hurt, that no one can blame the peppery pilot of the gas house gang if he begins to feel a little down on his luck.

Yet, as it turned out, the Deans weren't his only worries. With the lump Burgess Whitehead's line drive left on Dizzy's head last Saturday barely reduced to normal, another batted ball took Terry Moore, outfield star and heavy hitter, out of action.

A freak hop by Brooklyn Babe Phelps hit into the outfield sent Moore to the sidelines yesterday with an injured groin, out for a few days, at least. Terry's outfield mate, Pepper Martin, saved the day for the Cards, however, with a victory, as Dizzy Dean may be back to pitch today, and as yesterday's triumph leaves them only a few percentage points back of the league leading Cubs, who made it three out of four over the New York Giants with a 6-1 decision.

Also scheduled to return to the baseball front today, along with Dizzy Dean, was that other hard luck victim, Cochrane, who joins his Detroit Tigers for a doubleheader with the league leading Yankees in New York after a Wyoming rest cure for his jangled nerves.

The Tigers lost a good chance to pick up some ground on the idle Yanks yesterday by falling against hardworking Harry Kelley and the Athletics and going down 10-2. Those clouting Cleveland Indians clubbed the Red Sox out of the first division and moved up to fourth place with a 5 to 1 victory for a clean sweep of the series. The Senators lightened their grip on third place, finding the sinking St. Louis Browns little trouble and emerging on the long end of a 13-3 count.

The Phillies, who seem to be finding themselves to some extent, outlasted the slipping Cincinnati Reds,

Pitcher Hurls No-Hit Ball Until 9th And Then Loses

Galveston Noses Out Beaumont 1 To 0

(By The Associated Press)
TODAY'S GAMES:
Dallas at Beaumont (day).
Ft. Worth at San Antonio (night).
Oklahoma City at Galveston (night).
Tulsa at Houston (night).

For nine breath-taking innings a young Oklahoma City righthander, just recruited from Davenport, Ia., pitched such puzzling ball that Galveston batsmen got neither a run nor a hit. And then his dazzling performance ended in defeat.

The pitcher was Roger Wolff. In the tenth inning Pete Susko caught one for two bases and George Binder rapped out a single to bring in the winning run. The score was 1 to 0.

The winning pitcher, left-handed Beryl Richmond, allowed six hits. The Indians couldn't convert into tallies. The Galveston batters Wolff kept completely baffled for nine innings freely admitted they had seen, even though they won, an exhibition of big-time pitching.

In another South Texas city the pitching was of another character. The Dallas Steers saw Beaumont whip across 11 runs in the first three innings and add two more during the evening to win 13 to 2. In one of the season's weirdest exhibitions, the first three cantos required a full hour. The next six innings lasted just 30 minutes.

The second-place Houston club eased upward with a 2-to-0 win over Tulsa. San Antonio yielded to Fort Worth's Cats in 14 innings, 3 to 2. Bear Tracks Greer shading Abe Miller in a fine mound duel.

MARY ASTOR'S EX-MATE WILL FIGHT CHARGE

ACTRESS CLAIMS HER HUSBAND WAS BIGAMIST

LOS ANGELES, July 15. (AP)—Mary Astor's divorced husband, Dr. Franklin Thorpe, stood on the court reply "it's absurd" today while her attorneys framed a lengthier answer to her charge that he had another wife when he married her.

The pretty film star's latest suit was her second sensational stroke in two days in a fight to gain full custody of their four-year-old daughter, Marilyn, who was awarded to the Hollywood surgeon when the couple was divorced last year.

Previously the actress had accused her former mate of threatening to "scandalize" her publicly if she did not consent to the divorce. They were married in 1931.

Dr. Thorpe amplified his comment on Miss Astor's letter suit only briefly: "Until my marriage to Miss Astor, I had never been married before and I can hardly see the foundation for a suit of this kind. The whole grant of charges seem to me to be absurd."

Because of his alleged earlier marriage, Miss Astor set forth the divorce decree obtained by Dr. Thorpe last year should be set aside and their marriage declared void.

She said she did not learn of Dr. Thorpe's other marriage until last Saturday. She did not name the woman.

In demanding invalidation of a property settlement, Miss Astor asked that her former husband be compelled to return $60,000 in stocks and real estate. Since he was married to another woman at the time of their union, she declared, they had no community property and practically all of the $60,000 came from her earnings in the movies.

"I greatly regret Mary's attitude in regard to this matter and feel that she has been very badly advised," Dr. Thorpe commented on the first suit.

"I have always tried in every way that lay within my power to shield and protect Mary from any adverse criticism or publicity and to be kind and considerate about the child's visiting her."

When she was just knocked out for a minute, Pat told him. Then, with a wave of his hand at the newcomer, "Claire, this is my side-kick, Bob Steele, a mining engineer, with a good job—believe it or not. He's spending his vacation in the Rockies. Miss Claire Fosdick, Bob. I used to aim valentines and spitballs at her when we were in grammar school."

Claire smiled and held out her hand rather shakily. "How about my car, Mr. Steele?"

He took his head. "Pretty badly damaged. Front axle busted and a lot of minor casualties. Someone had closed the road with that log. We'll have to take you in our bus wherever you were going, Miss Fosdick. We heard the smash and came back."

Claire turned startled eyes on Pat. "Closed the road? You mean the log was put there?"

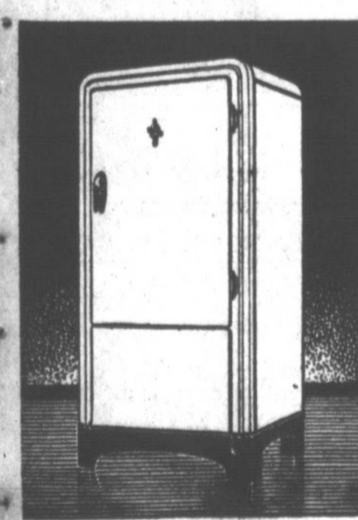

"Sure. Probably repairing or something. But Bob and I are on the loose, and we'll be tickled to death to trundle you any place you want to go. Feel able to make it over to our car?" He helped her to her feet. After a minute she was able to walk unaided, and got into their car to wait until they could move the wreck out of the road.

When finally they came back she had decided to tell them why she was going to the house in the mountains, omitting only her personal reasons.

Although she had not seen much of Pat Magan the last few years, she had always had a warm spot in her heart for the jolly Irish boy with whom she had gone to school. The blond young engineer was a stranger, of course, but she liked his clean-cut appearance and, besides, he was Pat's friend.

For some reason she could not explain, Claire felt she was going to need help. "Hannah must have talked me into it," she told her. The fact that the road to the House of Long Shadows had been deliberately closed to her disturbed her more than she was willing to admit.

HOUSE OF SHADOWS

BEGIN HERE TODAY

CLAIRE FOSDICK sets out alone on a summer evening to drive to the mountain house inherited from her eccentric uncle, LYMAN FOSDICK.

Claire's parents are dead and she has learned that most of the fortune she thought was secure is gone. She owes money to her father's friend, NICK BAUM. Nick wants to marry her, but Claire cannot quite bring herself to say "yes."

The trip to the mountains is for two purposes: (1) to think out her problems, and (2) to search for a mysterious jewel belonging to her uncle and supposed to be hidden in the house.

Off the main highway Claire's car crashes into a log across the road.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER II

When Claire regained her senses she was lying on the ground with a coat for a pillow. A young man was bending over her, an anxious frown on his face. For a minute she stared confusedly, then a smile of recognition touched her lips.

"Pat Magan?"

He grinned. "Sure, the very same. And what do you think you're trying to do to yourself anyway?" With one arm he lifted her to a sitting position, while he held a flask to her lips. "Just a swig of this and you'll feel finer than frog's hair."

Obediently the girl swallowed the fiery liquor. Presently she straightened up and looked about her as another young man came out of the darkness.

"How is she, Pat?" he asked.

"Guess she was just knocked out for a minute," Pat told him. Then, with a wave of his hand at the newcomer, "Claire, this is my side-kick, Bob Steele, a mining engineer, with a good job—believe it or not. He's spending his vacation in the Rockies. Miss Claire Fosdick, Bob. I used to aim valentines and spitballs at her when we were in grammar school."

Claire smiled and held out her hand rather shakily. "How about my car, Mr. Steele?"

He took his head. "Pretty badly damaged. Front axle busted and a lot of minor casualties. Someone had closed the road with that log. We'll have to take you in our bus wherever you were going, Miss Fosdick. We heard the smash and came back."

Claire turned startled eyes on Pat. "Closed the road? You mean the log was put there?"

"Sure. Probably repairing or something. But Bob and I are on the loose, and we'll be tickled to death to trundle you any place you want to go. Feel able to make it over to our car?" He helped her to her feet. After a minute she was able to walk unaided, and got into their car to wait until they could move the wreck out of the road.

When finally they came back she had decided to tell them why she was going to the house in the mountains, omitting only her personal reasons.

Although she had not seen much of Pat Magan the last few years, she had always had a warm spot in her heart for the jolly Irish boy with whom she had gone to school. The blond young engineer was a stranger, of course, but she liked his clean-cut appearance and, besides, he was Pat's friend.

For some reason she could not explain, Claire felt she was going to need help. "Hannah must have talked me into it," she told her. The fact that the road to the House of Long Shadows had been deliberately closed to her disturbed her more than she was willing to admit.

"Let's get going, Pat," she urged.

"Sure," agreed Pat with enthusiasm. "We'll show you how Depression's the car, you know, in case you're wondering."

Claire pointed out the road and then told them about her quest, even to the part about the mysterious hidden jewel.

For a minute neither of the young men answered. Then Bob Steele said slowly, "We had planned to spend most of our vacation in the city, Miss Fosdick, but if Pat's willing I'd like to help you look over the house in the mountains. Maybe some of my technical knowledge would come in handy. Things underground are my meat, you know—not to mention bread and butter."

"Count me in, too, Claire," Pat agreed. "I can't think of anything I'd rather do than chase an elusive what-have you. Maybe we can start tonight."

The rest of the trip was spent in making plans. Claire told them about her eccentric Uncle Lyman, his fondness for jewels, and how he had given the fantastic name to his house in the mountains.

"And you mean to tell me that no dame ever waited him up the church aisle and snatched his name and fortune?" asked Pat incredulously. "A bachelor with money enough to drift around the world buying jewels?"

"Susie Spratt was his housekeeper for years and she never spoke of any woman. No. He never married," Claire answered. "Uncle Lyman made acquaintances all over the world, but no close friends. He built the House of Long Shadows so he could be alone. You'll see what I mean when we get there."

When they came to the end of the trip both young men agreed that Lyman Fosdick had indeed named his house well.

In the uncertain light of a half moon the building loomed gloomily against the dark background of the mountain. Of imposing height, it was a perfect example of the flamboyant mansions of an earlier period—narrow railed porches, and many bulging bay windows. At the right side of the second story rose a round cupola which seemed to melt into the shadow of a huge pine tree with twin tops that grew close to this side of the house. In fact the gloomy aspect of the place was largely due to this mighty giant of the forest.

"Trigger's dead, Susie," the man said, looking at her steadily. "I just found him out in those aspens back of the doghouse."

"It's really two trees grown together, and a marvelous specimen, as you will see by daylight," Claire said, pointing toward the tree.

"But it must cut off lots of light from the house," remarked Bob Steele.

Claire nodded. "Yes. It's the house of long shadows, you know."

In spite of the sound of the wheels on the gravel driveway no light showed in the darkened front windows. In the distance a dog bayed.

"Queer old place," muttered Pat.

"Drive up to the porch and let me out," Claire said. "I'll get the Spratts up while you take the car around to the barn."

But Bob got out and went up the steps with her. "Sure you'll be all right till we get back, Miss Fosdick?" he asked.

"Why not?" asked the girl in surprise. "I've come here all my life."

She twisted the iron knob of the doorbell. The faint sound of the bell ringing could be heard in the stillness, then footsteps. Presently the door opened a crack and a sharp-nosed man peered out.

"Oh, you, Claire?" His voice had an odd creaking sound.

"Hello, Eb," the girl greeted him as she went in.

"I was just settin' out in the kitchen, smokin' a last pipe afore goin' to bed," Eb explained. "You didn't come up by yourself?"

"No, Eb. But I was alone when I started," answered Claire. "My car's down at the bottom of the hill, smashed up. Someone put a big log across the road where it cuts off from the main highway and I hit it. The two men coming along heard me and brought me on up here. I happened to know one of them."

"A log across the road? Eb's voice sounded genuinely surprised. "I was down that way myself, just afore supper and there wasn't no log."

"Well, there certainly was one when I got there," Claire replied with conviction.

Before Eb could express any further opinion, his sister, Susie, came hurrying down the stairway, her plump figure wrapped in a dressing gown. Innumerable curl-papers wagged about her round face that still retained traces of a one-time babyish beauty.

"Claire! She threw her arms about the girl and kissed her. "Have you had your supper? Eb, stir up the kitchen fire quick. Claire'll want something hot after her drive."

"Footsteps sounded outside and Eb went to open the door. He admitted the strangers with a sour look. After Claire had presented the newcomers and explained again about the accident, she dispatched the Spratts kitchenward to prepare supper. Then she looked rather curiously at the young men. Bob Steele was handsomer than she had thought, while Pat Magan was—well, still just Pat.

"I'm sure glad to see you again, Claire," he was saying. "Golly, you're looking wonderful."

"You haven't forgotten you've kissed the Barney Stone, have you, Pat?" laughed Claire.

"Pat always gets a little groggy when he's excited about something, Miss Fosdick," Bob Steele explained. His own blue eyes rested on her admiringly.

The girl turned away with a laugh. "It's Claire to you, too, Bob. And now while we're waiting, let's go into the library. That was the room Uncle Lyman loved

SNAKES RATTLE AS JAMES AND WITNESS CLASH

Ex-Sailor Refuses to Put His Hands on Barber

LOS ANGELES, July 15 (AP)—The defense of Robert S. James neared an end today in a courtroom atmosphere still tense from a demonstration of hostility between the red-haired barber and the man who accused him of murdering his seventh wife, Mary.

The enemy flared during a dramatic re-enactment of the story of Charles Hope, ex-sailor, who testified that James thrust the bared leg of his wife into a box containing a rattlesnake before drowning her in a bathtub.

Hope, who turned state's evidence and pleaded guilty to first degree murder in connection with the death last August of Mary James, was summoned by the defense to demonstrate his story of the alleged rattlesnake torture.

Hope apparently liked the job. He ordered attorneys around in a loud voice, and arranged the counsel and a chair to simulate the conditions in the breakfast nook of the James' home.

Then James was ordered by his attorneys to lie down on the table as Hope testified Mary James lay, intoxicated and trussed. The hostility showed when Hope was instructed to thrust James' foot into a duplicate of the box in which the state charges lay the snake that struck Mrs. James on the foot.

Hope began to perspire. His teeth clenched. He recoiled. "I won't touch him," he said. "Nothing can make me put my hands on that."

James rose from the table, glaring at Hope, his fist clenched. For a brief moment the two men looked into each other's eyes. Then court attaches came between them and James was led back to his seat.

With a changed cast the sensational show went on. Hope took James' position on the table. Russell Parsons, defense attorney, stood by him.

"Now raise my leg and stick in my foot," ordered Hope. "I don't know exactly how James got hold of her leg because I was watching the rattlesnakes. It looked like it was about to jump right out of the box."

A pair of rattlesnakes, "Lethal" and "Lightning," which the state declares were used in the alleged torture of Mrs. James, rattle incessantly during the re-enactment. They were in a box behind the desk of the court clerk.

James was ready to make a lengthy appearance on the stand today.

said, looking at her steadily. "I just found him out in those aspens back of the doghouse. Saw him run in there after something and I followed him."

"Dead!" cried Claire. "Why, he barked when we came in. I heard him."

"And almost took a leg off me when we went around with the car," added Pat.

"He's been shot. See?" The man parted the shaggy hair above the dog's eyes and pointed to a bullet hole.

"But—what would do such a thing?" Claire exclaimed. "And why didn't we hear the shot?"

GARNER HOPES ALLRED WILL WIN ELECTION

GOVERNOR SHOULD BE ELECTED IN FIRST PRIMARY, SAYS

(By The Associated Press)

Where gubernatorial candidates speak today:

James V. Allred, Mineral Wells, national guard encampment, noon; Reisel, 2 p. m.; Granger, 4 p. m.; Cameron, 8 p. m.

Pierce Brooks: Granger, 11:30 a. m.; San Antonio, 8 p. m.

F. W. Fischer: Clarksville, 3 p. m.; Texarkana, 8 p. m.

Tom F. Hunter: Waco, 8 p. m.

Roy Sanderford: Gonzales, 3 p. m.; Victoria, 8 p. m.

Not as Vice President of the United States but as a private citizen, John N. Garner has added his influence to Texas' none too-spirited gubernatorial race.

He came home yesterday from a successful fishing trip to announce he hoped Governor James V. Allred would be elected in the first primary. "I have never talked about national affairs," he said, "but I still vote in Texas and I have a right as a private citizen to my own preference. I don't mind the world knowing that I think Allred has made a fine governor."

Governor Allred, meanwhile, was at Eastland for a campaign defense of old age assistance as organized under his administration. He said Texas was paying more pensions to the aged needy than any other state, excepting New York and Ohio.

He deprecated criticism of the system as coming from "men who had other fish to fry last summer when I was out campaigning for the (pension) amendment."

Pierce Brooks went home to Dallas for a speech in which he said "special privileged interests" have maintained unbroken domination of the state's legislative branch.

He said that "only a scanty few heads of the executive branch of the state government have objected to this sort of domination. In the two years Governor Allred has occupied the office he has not once made a serious effort to break up the lobby maintained at Austin by the utility corporations."

F. W. Fischer, Tyler attorney, carried his campaign to Paris. He said he favored a small pension fund for firemen. Such pensions, he added, were provided for in a bill passed by the last legislature, but the measure was vetoed by Allred.

Fischer turned to defense of his proposed tax increases on natural resources. He said Louisiana had profited by higher levies on oil and sulphur.

At Childress, Tom Hunter repeated his contention "no politician

Leading Battle for Steel Union

Charging that the steel industry plans to "provoke" strife and bloodshed to prevent unionization of the plants, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, is seen as he warned steel executives, in a speech delivered at Washington, that "unlawful, ruthless tactics of former years will not be tolerated," and that he would invoke New Deal labor legislation against them.

should ever be allowed to interfere with the functioning of our state highway department." He said Governor Allred had publicly committed himself as against politics in state departments, but recently at Corpus Christi promised the appointment of a highway commissioner who would cooperate with Harry Hines, Allred appointee.

Hunter said the governor has "usurped the powers" of many sheriffs by "misuse of the Ranger force."

Roy Sanderford told a San Antonio audience he favored a three per cent sales tax to pay old age pensions and replace the ad valorem tax. He added he believed a reasonable tax on gas, oil, sulphur and other natural resources would wipe out the state deficit.

He said he was for government economy. "I propose by firm use of the veto power, if necessary, to reduce state governmental appropriations one-fourth if I am elected," he said.

Churches of Kilkenny, Ireland, have been put to various uses. The cathedral has been a stable, the Franciscan friary a tennis court, the Black abbey a court house.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

Without Colman—And You'll Run Out of Bile in the Morning Rain! to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks pink.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mass bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. See.

OTHERS WILL BE ARRESTED IN SPY PLOT

WHOLESALE ROUNDUP OFFICIALS

WASHINGTON, July 15. (AP)—Moving swiftly to bring former Lieutenant Commander John S. Farnsworth to trial on spy charges, high officials hinted today that his arrest was only the beginning of a wholesale roundup of persons suspected of supplying navy secrets to foreign powers.

After Farnsworth, 31 and trembling, was lodged in jail under $10,000 bail on a charge of purveying confidential data to an agent of the imperial Japanese navy, navy officers said the United States is "homecombed" with spying activities.

The determination was expressed to take all possible steps to protect the fleet's secrets as the United States goes ahead with its program to strengthen the navy.

J. Edgar Hoover's justice department agents have not been withdrawn from the investigation with the arrest of Farnsworth, it was learned. They will continue to work with naval intelligence men in trailing other suspects on the navy's list.

There was no definite information today as to whether the state department would seek action against the unnamed Japanese naval officer to whom Farnsworth is alleged to have delivered a confidential naval publication entitled "the service of information and security."

At the state department, it was said that steps to bring the Farnsworth case to the official attention of the Japanese embassy were impracticable.

The Washington Post, however, told of informal conferences between Japanese and American officials. It said that Captain Tamon Yamaguchi, Japanese naval attaché, conferred yesterday with Captain William D. Puleston, chief of naval intelligence. The Japanese embassy said the Farnsworth matter was not discussed.

Federal Judge Leon R. Yankwich of Los Angeles, who recently sentenced Harry Thomas Thompson, former Navy yeoman, to 15 years on charges of selling secrets to a Japanese naval officer, said espionage charges probably would be brought against several other persons.

While Japanese spokesmen both here and in Tokyo denied all knowledge of Farnsworth, the latter sat in the District of Columbia jail today denying guilt. He called the charges "hoax," but a preliminary hearing was set for July 29.

Mystery Girl to Talk at Howard Hughes Hearing

LOS ANGELES, July 15. (AP)—Howard Hughes and the woman companion whose name he tried "to keep out of it" were ready to testify today at a coroner's inquest into the death of Gabe S. Meyer.

Meyer, 59, was struck and killed by an automobile driven by Hughes last Saturday night.

Declaring he wished to keep the name of the woman with him at the time of the accident "out of it," Hughes, holder of several plane speed records and one time motion picture producer, at first refused to identify the companion.

Detective Lieutenants Ralph Davis and Clifford Gillan said yesterday that the "mystery girl" was Miss Nancy Bell Bayly, 21, whom they described as a Santa Barbara debutante.

Herold Judson, attorney who told the police Miss Bayly would appear at the inquest, added that she will testify that Hughes struck Meyer while trying to avoid being hit by another automobile passing on his right.
