"Men without a country" That's the fate of those who plead guilty or are convicted in district court on charges of driving an automobile while intoxicated.

Judge W. R. Ewing brought the fact home to a confessed drunken driver who stood before him in the courtroom yesterday. The man pleaded guilty to the charge, throwing himself upon the mercy of the court, rather than take his chances with a 12-man jury.

The jurist talked briefly with the man as he stood, before the bench—an admitted felon who, under the law, loses his right of citizenship when he becomes convicted of a felony.

"Is it worth it?" the judge asked the man. "Is it worth the price you are now forced to pay? ... If a man wishes to drink to excess and become intoxicated in his own home, that's nobody's business—but when he gets drunk and gets into an automobile and drives over the public highways, then it becomes my business and the business of every citizen."

"You must be punished for it, if the lives of our citizens are to be safe-guarded. Driving an automobile while intoxicated is a very serious offense. Do you know that you have lost your citizenship, that you cannot vote in the coming elections? Again I ask you—do you think the drunken spree you went on is worth the cost of that, coupled with the fine and your loss of the right to drive?"

The man glanced at the floor, looked up at the judge and said: "No, sir, it isn't." But, the realization had come to him too late. The damage was done. Today he is the man without citizenship, the man without a country.

If the object lesson of this little drama between a judge and the convicted drunken driver is soaked in at the proper place, it should cut down on the arrests for this violation and make the public highways safer for motorists in their right minds.

Of all the potential killers, there is none who can be of greater menace than the drunken driver. It would seem that the courts and authorities in Gray county are fully aware of this in their campaign to rid the district of "murderers at the wheel."

If we were the type of person that did things like that, we could remind you again today that we wrote in this space a couple of weeks ago that the third week of July would bring humdrum heat to the Panhandle. As we recall, the prediction was made at a time when everyone was comfortably cool and bragging about it. However, the prediction was about our particular brand of prognostications.

And, by the way, don't forget Fido in this hot weather. For instance, do you know that a dog can't take it if he's muzzled? Better keep him tied up and unmuzzled, rather than to turn him loose with a muzzle.

In case you didn't know, a dog perspires only through the nose, pads of the feet, and the tongue. It is natural for dogs to have their mouths open most of the time in very hot weather. They pant. This serves the purpose of cooling the body. Burning rays of the sun are likely to get him down, if you do.

Things you learn as you go along life's pathway: Two flies can produce, in one summer, a family totaling 6,000,000,000. Over the Dinonnes got all that publicity!

Most species of spiders have eight eyes. The Man Who Fell From the Flying Trapeze says he knows a woman who must have at least eight eyes—and a dozen or so ears.

We'd like to argue with him on that score and take up the cudgel for the ladies, the little dears. For that matter, we know a MAN who is practically all eyes and ears at any given time.

Once we took lessons from Rajah All Ben Down, whose psychic powers would lay you out cold. The Rajah really had what it takes when it comes to snoring into the future. We recall very well one time when we went into a

SPLIT THREATENS TOWNSEND FORCES

THOMAS PREFERS ROOSEVELT TO LONDON BUT FINDS AIDES OF PRESIDENT UNPROGRESSIVE

Boy Leaves Home With Dad's Car; Law Nabs Couple

Two youths, bent on a bit of adventure, wound up in Pampa this forenoon in the throes of disillusionment.

One, 14 years of age, had started out with his father's automobile from Cleveland, Okla., and the other, Vernon Fie, 21, of St. James, Mo., was hitchhiking in search of a job when they met up on the highway and decided to cast lots together.

The younger boy had left home yesterday forenoon. The two ran into trouble when, according to police, they stole some automobile tires in Shamrock.

Sheriff Raymond Waters, of Wheeler, notified local authorities to apprehend the youths and Deputy Sheriff Ben Lockhart picked them up four miles out from Pampa on the Miami road this morning.

They were held here until Wheeler county authorities arrived and returned them to answer to the theft charge.

HUNDRED LEAVE CITY TODAY FOR BIRTHDAY FETE

Will Be Present on Centennial Gulf Day at Dallas

More than 100 persons representing Gulf Oil Corporation employees and their families left Pampa for Dallas today and Saturday to be present at the Texas Centennial on "Gulf Day."

Saturday has been officially designated "Gulf Day" by the exposition and it is anticipated that at least 10,000 employees and others connected with the big oil company will be on the exposition grounds to celebrate the day.

Besides the regular program of events scheduled by the Centennial for the day, special programs in honor of Gulf and Gulf employees have been arranged. These programs will include broadcasts from the Gulf radio studios on the exposition grounds and musical programs over the Centennial radio network.

Tuesday night has been designated as Gulf "Amateur Night." Musicians and entertainers from every department of the Gulf organization will compete for the privilege of appearing on this two-hour program.

Partly cloudy weather for the day has been established at the Jockey Club and arrangements have been made for registration and entertainment there.

Cowtown Fete to Open Tomorrow

FORT WORTH, July 17. (AP)—"Howdy strangers!" rang out in sign language over the entrance to the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial today, and will do duty until vocal greetings herald the grand opening at 3:30 tomorrow when President Roosevelt clips a larriat by wireless and telegraph.

Partly cloudy weather was forecast for that hour.

Opening ceremonies will get into motion when a group in frontier dress meet Senator Tom Connally, Gov. James V. Allred and George Sergeant, mayor of Dallas, honor guests, at the railroad station. The frontiersmen of 1936, welcoming the guests will be Elliott Roosevelt, Sally Rand, Amon G. Carter and Paul Whiteman. Guests and greeters will mount an ancient Wells Fargo stage coach, toiled by Verne Elliott, and ride to the entrance of the pinwheel boulevard.

The soldiers, part of the black horse troops of the second cavalry, will wear uniforms of the old second dragoons stationed at the old Fort Worth many years ago.

Unbearable Heat Besieges 'Bake Belt' Of Nation

Loss of Human Life Steadily Mounts In Mid-West

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO—Weather bureau predicts cooler weather and scattered showers for northern central states, but sees only continued heat and no rain for greatest portion of parched midwest and northwest. Heat deaths neared 4,500.

WASHINGTON—The AAA announces it will start buying of cattle at three centers next Monday if drought area farmers are forced to dispose of cattle in unusually large number.

ALTON, Ill.—The Mississippi river "runs a temperature" of 92 degrees, setting an all time record.

WASHINGTON—The Resettlement administration announces a plan to buy four million acres in the drought stricken northwest in its land use adjustment program.

CHICAGO—July corn futures advances four cents—the maximum for a day's trading—as market opened, duplicating yesterday's limit rise, but trading at times out the gain about in half.

CHICAGO, July 17. (AP)—A withering sun in a cloudless sky glared down on the vast "sweater belt" of the midwest today in continuation of its 14-day heat-drought siege. Loss of human life still mounted. Crop damage estimated at more than a billion dollars several days ago, rose.

And no general relief was sighted. Weather Forecaster J. R. Lloyd held out some hope for the northern tier of central states, where showers and cooler weather were predicted for tonight.

Marked decrease in the death rate due to heat was recorded as the middle west became accustomed to high temperatures, but the fatality total for the 4-day heat wave neared 4,400.

In each day of drought paralleling the vast total of crop irreparably damaged, traders in the Chicago market again hoisted July corn contracts at the opening four cents a bushel, to 93 cents. This was on top of an equal rise yesterday. The grain had been broken in that area under the trading rules. Profit taking later reduced the gain but the market remained buoyant.

Light to medium local showers and cooler weather were forecast for North Dakota, where much of the grain was beyond help, for northern Minnesota, northern Wisconsin and the western part of upper Michigan.

Higher temperatures, with the mercury well over the hundred mark, was the dreary prediction for South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, southern Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, northern and central Illinois, Indiana, and southern Wisconsin.

The only bright spot in these states was in southern Illinois, where sudden downpours drenched fields and led Forecaster Lloyd to say that the drought had been broken in that area. Wind and hail which accompanied the storm caused considerable property damage.

Sizzling heat was forecast for Oklahoma, with continued high temperatures in Montana and Wyoming. A tenth of an inch of rain fell at Aberdeen, S. D., last night where the mercury had skyrocketed to 80 degrees from a high of 104.

Hot spots yesterday were Phoenix, Ariz., 112; Bismarck, N. D., 110; Cordonia, Kas., 108; Devils Lake, N. D., 106; North Platte, Neb., 106; St. Joseph, Mo., 106; Sioux City, Ia., 108; Valentine, Neb., 108; Wichita, Kan., 108.

SWISHER FETE OPENS AT TULIA WITH A PARADE

McCraw Leads Mile-Long Parade at Celebration

TULIA, July 17. (AP)—Swisher county's 46th birthday celebration opened here today with a mile-long parade depicting fifty years of progress on the Texas plains.

Congressman Marvin Jones and Senator Clint Small were here to address the crowd.

The procession was led by Attorney General William McCraw, the two speakers and Representative A. B. Tarwater. Following the Tulia high school band came a group of old timers, among them Mrs. J. M. Crawford, Swisher county resident for 45 years, and second white woman in the county.

Jim Ward and Mrs. Jim Finney drove a wagon depicting the arrival of pioneers to the plains. More than 100 cowboys, cowgirls and rodeo contestants rode in the parade.

Twenty-seven beavers were basting over slow fires in the barbecue pits in preparation to feed the thousands gathered.

A rodeo, automobile races, band concerts and varied contests were scheduled for this afternoon, and dancing at night was to round out the day's activities.

The festival will continue through tomorrow.

Prentice Talks At Kiwanis Club

Railroad progress of recent years and future steps to improve service were outlined at the noon luncheon of the Pampa Kiwanis club today by R. W. Prentice, of Amarillo, trainmaster of the plains division of the Santa Fe Railroad. His subject was "Western Railroad Week."

E. W. Voss, delegate, to the Kiwanis convention in Washington read to members and guests a report of the national convention in entertainment at today's session was provided by the Vanderberg Trio, youthful radio hill billies.

Guests at the luncheon included E. A. Tusha and William Goodice, of Amarillo; O. T. Hendrix, W. G. Keess, H. E. Carlson, E. B. Fisher and Tex DeWesse.

Chain Drags as 2 Prisoners Are Taken to Prison

Two prisoners, removed from Gray county jail two days ago to Amarillo, were placed in the chain gang yesterday afternoon and taken to the state penitentiary at Huntsville.

They were Elmer Astill and C. N. Callicote, both of Wheeler. Astill was sentenced from Gray county to five years on a truck theft charge, and Callicote was sentenced to three years for forgery.

Callicote and Astill were among 18 men who were put in neck chains and locked in the back of a state truck to be transported to the penitentiary.

The Last Frontier Lives Again

Famed in story and song is the old frontier of Texas and though it passes now across the horizon of history the stirring epoch it represents will be recreated in all its glory when the Texas Frontier Centennial opens in Fort Worth Saturday, July 18. Pictured here is a solitary scene that might have been lifted from the pages of centuries ago, but in reality the broad expanse which Iron Shell surveys is the stage for "The Last Frontier," dramatic spectacle depicting the winning of the west. A far cry from the imperial domain of the Red Man years ago, even the reservation of this aged but stalwart Sioux chieftain is now near the center of the Centennial grounds.

Truck Parade To Be Biggest Ever Staged In Texas

300 Trucks to Move At Convention Saturday

Plans were near completion this afternoon for the one-day district convention of the Texas Truckers association which will be held here tomorrow.

R. H. Waters, of Amarillo, regional organizer, said today that final arrangements will be made at a meeting to be held in the Boyles and Luten truck barn, at 8:30 o'clock tonight, at which time the truckers plan to announce the candidate they will support for governor.

A feature of the convention tomorrow, according to Waters, will be the largest parade of trucks ever staged in Texas.

The trucks, approximately 300 of them, will form at the five points on S. Cuyler at 2 p. m. and the parade will move into downtown Pampa at 4 p. m. to be disbanded on W. Foster avenue.

A. W. Hutson, president of the state association, is due to arrive in the city tonight. He will be one of the speakers at the forenoon business session which is scheduled for 10 a. m. at the Schneider hotel.

Following the parade there will be public speaking on the courthouse lawn. Five hundred members of delegates are expected to attend the convention.

Cooling Showers Fall in Section

Cooling showers in the vicinity of Pampa brought slight relief from the heat late yesterday afternoon.

About one-tenth of an inch of rainfall was recorded here shortly after 4 p. m. yesterday and threatened rains later in the evening failed to materialize.

Rain fell all around Pampa. The favored area extended to Amarillo, Canyon, Claude, Miami and included parts of Potter, Randall, Armstrong, Donley, Roberts and Hutchinson counties.

The temperature remained in the higher brackets today. At 1 p. m. it was an even 100 in Pampa with indications of climbing to dizzy heights later in the day.

Mrs. and Mrs. C. E. Hart and family left this week for a vacation trip to Dallas.

800 Employees Of Texas Company To Picnic Saturday

Softball Games Will Headline Day's Attractions

Employees of the Texas company and their families will have an all-day picnic at the company's playground under the cottonwoods on the Saunders lease five miles east of LeFors on Saturday, beginning at 9 a. m.

It is estimated that nearly 800 will be present. The program will include several playground ball games, competition and contests for men, women and children. A special playground for children will be installed.

Featuring the playground ball program will be a game between the Texas company team, entry in the Pampa Playground Ball league, and the office team, organized and co-managed by Dan Gribbon and Neal Gaut. Four umpires have been secured to handle the contest. Another stirring battle is expected between the Texas company league team and the crack refinery club from Amarillo.

At noon a barbecue with all the trimmings will be served. The all-day celebration will close with a dance at the Southern club.

Man Who Taught Screen to Talk Taken by Death

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., July 17. (AP)—Director Alan Crosland, a man who taught the screen to talk, is dead.

Nine years since he paced Al Jolson through the first feature dialogue picture ever made, "The Jazz Singer," Crosland succumbed in Hollywood hospital to injuries received in an automobile crash.

The 41-year-old director was critically hurt July 10 when his car—apparently traveling at a fast rate, police said—struck debris from a street excavation on Sunset boulevard.

As the end came last night, Natalie Moorehead, the blond actress who was divorced from Crosland a year ago, and Alan Jr., his son by a first marriage, gathered in the little hospital room.

Crosland and the youth had made their home together, although Alan Jr.'s mother, Mrs. Juanita Crawford Crosland, also resides in Hollywood.

OKLAHOMA TO 'SECEDE' FROM PENSION CLUB

TOWNSEND, PRIEST AND SMITH LINE UP WITH LEMKE

CLEVELAND, July 17. (AP)—Evidence of dissension among leaders of the Townsend old age pension movement, became widely known today with a statement by Dr. Francis E. Townsend that "I do not consider Gomer Smith any longer a member of our organization."

Gomer Smith, an Oklahoman, has been a national vice president of the Townsend movement.

Gomer Smith delivered a speech late yesterday at the Townsend national convention in which he attacked Father Charles E. Coughlin, who earlier had called President Roosevelt a "betrayor and liar."

Dr. Townsend said he wanted Gomer Smith to resign.

Dr. Townsend was asked whether his statement meant Gomer Smith is "out."

"It does," answered Dr. Townsend.

It was learned that Dr. Townsend submitted a motion to the board of directors that either Smith must go or he (Dr. Townsend) would resign. The directors were to discuss the situation further this afternoon.

Previously some board members had indicated that no action would be taken during the convention on Dr. Townsend's proposal that Gomer Smith be ousted. Gomer Smith has many friends among the delegates, but Townsend leaders were determined that the matter should not reach the convention floor.

Earl Anderson, head of the Texas delegation, said that his state's delegation had adopted a resolution protesting any convention speeches attacking the President of the United States. Another resolution, he said, asked that Gerald L. K. Smith be restrained from speaking in Texas.

Landon Declines Townsend's Bid

CLEVELAND, July 17. (AP)—The ordinarily demonstrative Townsend national convention delegates received with silence today the reading of a telegram from Governor Alf M. Landon, Republican presidential candidate, declining an invitation to address the convention.

"I appreciate your courteous invitation to speak before your convention but it will be impossible for me to make any address of this kind until after my acceptance of the nomination," Landon said in his telegram to Frank Arbuckle, permanent chairman of the convention.

Invitations to speak before the convention also were sent to President Roosevelt and to Norman Thomas, Socialist presidential candidate. No answer had been received from either when today's session opened.

LARGEST DRY ICE PLANT IS NOW FORESEEN

PAMPA GROUP DRILLING WELL IN NEW MEXICO

What is expected to soon develop into the biggest dry ice manufacturing project on the globe—whether using artificial or natural CO₂ gas as the new venture being promoted by the Bueyeros natural carbon dioxide gas field, located in extreme northwestern Harding county, close to the southwestern corner of Union county, the northeasternmost county of New Mexico.

At that point the original dry ice gas discovery, namely the No. 1 Kernin Ranch well, gauged by gas engineers for the United States Government Bureau of Mines, made the champion CO₂ flow of all time, yielding 5,000,000 cubic feet per day, testing 98.2 per cent pure carbon dioxide, according to official records on analyses made by the U. S. Bureau of Mines cryogenic laboratory at Amarillo, Tex.

These tests were made on the discovery well located in Section 20, Township 21 North, Range 30 East, N. M. P. 1.

The analysis, made by C. A. Anderson, associate chemist for the Field Survey Section, U. S. Department of Commerce, showed that beside the 98.2 per cent pure CO₂, the Bueyeros gas contains 0.4 per cent oxygen and 1.4 per cent nitrogen with a helium content of none.

The Harding county dry ice project is being carried out under the direct personal supervision of Wilfred S. Moss, whose New Mexico headquarters are in Albuquerque at the Elgin Hotel.

The CO₂ production from the initial pay sand in the Bueyeros district come from a depth of but 970 feet. Geologists assume that development of a number of other thick CO₂ gas sands with deeper drilling of these formations is inevitable, and conservative estimates place the ultimate dry ice production per well at around 10,000,000 cubic feet per day, which would be just twice the volume of the biggest CO₂ gasser of history, namely the freak first well on the land on earth, at Tampico, 30 years ago.

A dry ice gas well is being drilled by a group of Pampa citizens about four miles from the location mentioned above. The well is cutting through at 1,702 feet to cut off water, and the gas already encountered is estimated at from one-half million to five million feet.

Rev. Gerald Smith and William Lemke, in behalf of Lemke's presidential candidacy.

Townsend announced last night that he and the other three would join in public addresses for the new union party ticket. Although details have not been arranged, said the pension chairman, they expect to visit New York, Chicago, New Orleans, St. Louis, Philadelphia and possibly San Francisco.

Meanwhile, delegates to the second national Townsend convention pondered a demand by Dr. Townsend that Gomer Smith, who failed by a close margin recently to qualify for the Oklahoma Democratic senatorial primary runoff, be replaced as vice president of the movement and on the board of directors.

Delegates yesterday wildly acclaimed the Townsend-Coughlin-Gerald Smith alliance, adopted a resolution reaffirming their non-partisanship and almost as loudly cheered Gomer Smith's speech attacking Coughlin and Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, self styled heir to Huey Long's share of the wealth following.

"He raised a controversial issue in our peaceful convention," said the bespectacled Townsend at a press conference after the Oklahomaan declared on the convention floor that his namesake from Louisiana had tried to sell the Townsend movement "down the river."

To Demand Resignation
The non-partisan resolution said the Townsends are "not a political party but the greatest educational and humanitarian movement on the face of God's earth and to that end we want the field clear for the election of our congressional and senatorial candidates."

Dr. Townsend said he would demand Gomer Smith's resignation before the board of directors, which went into a long session shortly thereafter.

The members adjourned without taking any action and officially explained that they were unable to locate Gomer Smith by telephone. Smith said he would not resign under any circumstances.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, July 17 (AP)—After pushing up to new recovery peaks today, stocks fell the pressure, but not to the profit making in today's market and the close was irregular.

Many issues, at the same time, held gains of fractions to 2 or more points, but declines were numerous at the conclusion of trading. Transfers approximated 1,400,000 shares.

WHEAT CROP'S VALUE HIGHEST IN SIX YEARS

Farmers Will Receive $120,000,000 More Than in 1935

CHICAGO, July 17 (AP)—Here's a bright spot in the 1936 drought picture for wheat farmers—at least some of them: The depleted United States crop has a current market value higher than that of any crop in six years, estimated in excess of $663,000,000.

Barring further serious spring wheat destruction, present owners should receive almost $120,000,000 more for efforts in wheat fields this year than they did in 1935, notwithstanding the losses that already have occurred. The return should be more than double that of the lowest income year on recent records—1932.

Grain market statisticians today figured out the value of the indicated 1936 wheat crop, exclusive of Durum, based on Chicago prices thus far in the crop year. Compared with their figures for previous years, this year's wheat crop is the smallest since 1930. It was pointed out, however, that not all of the wheat crop is marketed.

That farmers in the winter wheat belt in the southwest will benefit at the expense of those in the spring wheat belt in the northwest was brought out clearly. Mounting prices have gone hand in hand with the destruction of spring wheat by heat, by drought, but winter wheat production, most of the crop growth having been completed by July 1, is estimated above 500,000,000 bushels for the first time since 1931. Many traders believe spring wheat production may be even smaller than that in the drought year 1934, when the crop totaled only 34,291,000 bushels. Total production that year was the smallest since 1896.

In figuring the average market value of wheat each year, statisticians chose a "median" between the highest and lowest quotations for December contracts on the board of trade during the six months period beginning with the opening of each crop year, July 1. The "median" for this year to date is $1.04, a price which indicated 1936 production value of $663,934,960.

Last year this "median" for the six months period was 95 cents a bushel, giving the even smaller crop produced in 1935 a market valuation of $547,600,000. Previous valuations follow: 1934, $489,843,000; 1933, $440,524,000; 1932, $352,954,000; 1931, $510,445,999; 1930, $693,229,000; 1929, $990,379,000. Prior to 1929 wheat prices averaged considerably higher than in recent years.

F. D. R. AT SEA
ABOARD SCHOONER LIBERTY IN BAY OF FUNDY, July 17 (AP)—President Roosevelt, aboard the yacht Seawanna, coasted along today under the impetus of a light breeze, almost 24 hours out of Seal Harbor, Maine. The wind was proving a little indifferent to the fact that the President was on a holiday, but all hands, including the chief executive, appeared to be enjoying the cruise under canvas since he entered the White House.

DROWNS AT POOL
DENTON, July 17 (AP)—John David Pugh, 9, of the Arzyle company, drowned today in a swimming pool here. His death was not known until a brother, Thomas Edward Pugh, 12, noticed John's absence from a throng crowding the pool. Life guards found the body quickly but efforts at resuscitation were in vain. COLUMN huddle with the Rajah and his crystal ball.

It happened in a Greek coffee house on a December night. The snow showed outside and the wind was wined. It was no night for bathing suit salesmen—a typical evening on which to pity a poor sailor.

The Rajah was at his best—and a bit in his cups. So far in his cups was All Ben that he finally gave away his secret. We've carried it all these years, rarely bringing it into play.

Suffice it to say—thanks to the Rajah—we can flop back into a mental telepathic spell on occasions when the crystal ball begins to roll. All of this is by way of explaining to you a feeling that holds us in a grip of steel today.

With that we shall venture to show you just how the spirit of the Rajah, and his secret, continue to create within us an inner-mind that "sees all and knows all."

On the strength of this—and with no further reservations—we "see" in the crystal ball that within the next two weeks (before 9 p. m. on July 31) there will be a major happening that will call forth tons of ink to tell you about it on Page One of the nation's newspapers.

As we get it, now, this event may take the form of a great disaster, or involve nationally known figures—at any rate there's something BIG about it.

You may take it, or leave it. Can we help it, if the spirit of the Rajah dogs us to Pampa? All we ask is that you keep that deadline in mind. Or, in a pinch—you could just forget about the whole thing.

Mrs. W. H. Waddell has as weekend guests her two sisters and their sons, Mrs. J. E. Frisby and son of McAllen, Mrs. E. J. Langdon and son of Gurdon, Ark.

Mrs. C. E. Oswald and son, Harry, of Wichita, Kan., former Pampa residents, have visited friends here for a few days. Mr. Oswald is a driller for the Aylward Production company of Wichita.

Mary L. Fern Savage of Loflin, Kan., is visiting in the home of her uncles at McLean, was brought to Pampa-Jarratt hospital last night for an emergency appendectomy.

LILY PONS TO WED WHEN HE FINDS THE TIME

Andre Kostelanetz Is Lucky Fellow, She Reveals

BY MARY ELIZABETH PLUMMER, Associated Press Staff Writer.
NEW YORK, July 17 (AP)—Lily Pons is going to marry Andre Kostelanetz, the little opera star hinted today, as soon as they "find the time."

"Neither of us has any time to get married," complained Miss Pons, who has had only three months' vacation in five years. In the next breath she added:

"If I am fortunate enough to be married," complained Miss Pons, who has had only three months' vacation in five years. In the next breath she added:

"The place doesn't make any difference," she smiled. "I have no preferred place—just a preferred person."

The little singer implied that she would be married long before February, when she will sing "Coq d'Or" at the Metropolitan.

"If we aren't married by then," she exclaimed, "it's no use to ever—'tis such a long time."

Over the luncheon table Miss Pons, eating potatoes in an attempt to gain weight, replied to the first question about "Kosty":

"We are not engaged—but I hope we will be married some day. If I am fortunate enough to be married to Mr. Kostelanetz, I shall feel myself one of the luckiest and proudest women in the world."

"He is a great artist. We have the same outlook on music, and think along about the same lines."

Misses Janice Purviance and Maxine Wheatley are spending the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Williams at their ranch home near Panhandle.

Mrs. C. E. Oswald and son, Harry, of Wichita, Kan., former Pampa residents, have visited friends here for a few days. Mr. Oswald is a driller for the Aylward Production company of Wichita.

OIL TRUST IS BEING PROBED IN WISCONSIN

TEXAN IS INDICTED ON PERJURY CHARGES AT MADISON

MADISON, Wis., July 17 (AP)—An extensive investigation of charges by independent oil jobbers of the country that an oil trust is attempting to squeeze them out of business, is proceeding secretly here behind the closed doors of a grand jury room and under the guidance of federal officials acting directly on instructions from Washington.

The investigation has been under way since May 4 with the exception of one brief recess. It will last perhaps another six weeks or two months.

An official of one oil firm, William A. Tracy of Fort Worth, Tex., bulk sales manager of the Sinclair refining company, was indicted on charges of perjury in the only report the grand jury has made so far.

The investigation, ordered by Attorney General Homer S. Cummings on complaint of the national oil marketers association, has to do with allegations that the independent jobbers are subject to unfair competition with larger companies through manipulation of contracts and price schedules.

Anti-trust experts from the department of justice were sent to Madison from Washington to join District Attorney John J. Boyle in conducting the inquiry.

To date nearly 100 witnesses, mostly representatives of oil companies, have been questioned and voluminous stacks of records have been subpoenaed.

Around the grand jury room, however, the strictest kind of secrecy prevails and the investigation proceeds under the protection of a court order which forbids the disclosure of any details.

When Attorney General Cummings ordered the inquiry, he said the grand jury method of conducting the task through the jury's power of subpoenaing witnesses and evidence, and there was no implication that indictments necessarily would result.

Madison is located centrally in an area of some 14 states to which, it is understood, the investigation proceeds under the protection of a court order which forbids the disclosure of any details.

Bridal Shower Is Given by Friends For Mrs. Moore

A kitchen shower was given recently in the home of Mrs. Robert Montgomery, complimenting Mrs. Merle Moore who before her marriage last week was Miss Margaret Deiver. After an hour of games and delicious refreshments, the honoree was surprised with a large basket of gifts.

Those present were Meses. Bert Moore, George Deiver, Roy Logan, J. W. Hurt, Kline, Ward, Pollard, John Haggard, Charlotte Moore, Vern Savage, Ina Marshall, Bob Kenchington, Johnnie Collins, Edna Johnston, Jim Swanner, the honoree and hostess.

Priscilla Club's Lesson Concerns Wall Decoration

"Whether we make of our walls unobtrusive backgrounds or decorative effects in themselves, depends upon the character and color of our furniture, pictures, vases, and draperies, as well as the size, use, and exposure of the room," said Miss Ruby Adams, county home demonstration agent, to Priscilla Home Demonstration club Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. C. A. Tignor.

Mrs. Joe H. Lewis presided for a short business meeting.

Punch, angel food and spice cake were served to Meses. J. M. Daugherty, J. R. Spearman, E. A. Shackleton, Frank McAfee, Albert Lockhart, Norman Walberg, Lewis, Misses Margaret Tignor and Adams.

Girls' Class Is Entertained With Morning Social

Clarabelle Jones and Carrie Jean Speed were hostesses when the Cheerup Pals class of First Christian church met in the basement Wednesday morning for a social and business hour.

After discussion of plans for future meetings, the girls were served sandwiches, cookies, and grape juice. Present were the teacher, Mrs. E. M. Hope, and Betty Jean Triemann, Annabelle Lard, Betty Lou Britton, Faye Renee Reese, Anthonette Hanna, Bernice Knapp, and Marietta Burba.

Profit Made From Gardening Hobby

"Our hobby of gardening is beginning to pay nice profits," said Mrs. Robert Brown Tuesday afternoon to fellow members of Hopkins Home Demonstration club.

The Browns have a small garden plot which is surface irrigated. A section of their garden recently made a nice profit of $8 from 30 cents worth of carrot, beet, and mustard seed. They have had an abundance of vegetables to use fresh and have canned 65 pints. Many carrots and beets are still in the garden for table use.

County Ranked Second in Loans Issued by FHA

Gray county ranked second in the 32 Panhandle counties in modernization credit loans under title 1 of the National Housing act since it was instituted 20 months ago, according to a statement by P. S. Luttrell of Fort Worth, associate director of the Fort Worth office of the Federal Housing Administration.

Residents of Gray county negotiated 510 loans amounting to $129,297.85. Gray county's record was fifth in the northwestern district of Texas, comprising 113 counties of north and West Texas.

Title 1 or modernization credit loans are made by banks and other financial institutions approved by the Federal Housing Administration; the loans are made for repairing, altering, modernizing and the improvement of real property. The obligation is repaid in small, equal monthly payments over a period of years not to exceed five.

This particular section of the National Housing Act expired on April 1, 1936, but because of the demand for this type of loan, and the great benefits to property owners, building material dealers, and labor in the building trades, the Modernization Credit Plan was extended to April 1, 1937.

"Altogether, many thousands of business firms, and millions of wage earners, have profited," says Luttrell. "The recovery evident during the past year and a half in practically all lines of industry related to housing indicates that the modernization credit plan of the Federal Housing Administration has acted as a substantial force."

ALLEGED SPY MAPS DEFENSE IN NAVY PLOT

AVERS BLOW ON HEAD LEFT HIM IRRESPONSIBLE

WASHINGTON, July 17. (AP)—A two-fold defense was prepared today for the coming trial of former Lieutenant Commander John S. Farnsworth, who is accused of selling naval secrets to an agent of the Japanese imperial navy.

Lying on a cot in his jail cell, running nervous fingers through his prematurely gray hair, Farnsworth outlined one of the points in his defense. He insisted that he negotiated with the Japanese for the sole purpose of obtaining employment in Japanese aviation and that he never divulged American naval data.

Relatives indicated another line of defense. They intimated it would be based on recent statements of his parents that he had been irresponsible ever since he was knocked unconscious in an airplane crash in Pensacola Bay, Fla., some years ago.

Clad only in a quarter sleeved nightgown as he lay in the District of Columbia jail, Farnsworth told reporters his own story of the events that led to his arrest recently by the G-Men and naval intelligence operatives.

Again and again, he denied that he had sold to an agent of Japan a confidential copy of "the service of information and security," an American navy document. He said he gave a batch of photographs and other papers to a member of the Japanese embassy, but that these were merely evidence of his experience and qualifications for the job he sought and were not secret data.

He proposed, he said, that the Japanese government engage him as a flying instructor. He asked $50,000 as a cash down payment, he added, and a commission and salary

Mrs. Carlson Is Hurt in Wreck

Friends here have learned that Mrs. Phil Carlson, former Pampa resident, is still in a critical condition in a hospital at Grey Bull, Wyo., following an automobile accident near that city on July 3. The Carlsons are ranching near there.

Mrs. Carlson received a broken back and other major injuries. Details of the accident were not learned in the communication from Dr.

and Mrs. R. A. Webb and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cuberson of Pampa who arrived at the Carlson home a few days after the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Donovan plan to leave Sunday for the northwest. They will visit the Carlsons before proceeding to the Pacific coast.

THE FAIRGROUNDS PROJECT

Another example of what thorough understanding will accomplish is seen in the aftermath of a conference here yesterday between city fathers and district WPA officials, relative to the Pampa Fairgrounds park project.

It developed at the session that most of the delay in the local project had been the result of a misunderstanding in which district WPA officials said they had been expecting Pampa officials to comply with certain requirements and authorities here had been expecting the WPA office to fill the bill.

All this has been straightened out now, it is hoped, and the project can be pushed to completion.

At least, the city officials got action when they called U. S. Senator Morris Sheppard into the picture and filed a request that something be done about a situation that appeared as if Pampa was to be "left out in the cold."

A thorough understanding is the best cure for most ills, whether they be public or private matters—and city and WPA officials are to be commended on their move in getting together and mapping out a course of direct action.

WINTER IS COMING

Summer is here. Unfortunately, it is a brief season—and the wise householder will take advantage of the warm months to prepare for winter.

In doing that, he should keep in mind the dangerous fire hazards that come with the cold weather—hazards which have caused millions in property damage and thousands of deaths, and yet can be easily and inexpensively eliminated.

One of the most prolific causes of fire is heating equipment. The best of furnaces and stoves need periodic inspection and overhauling, as do pipes and chimneys. It is obvious that such a job can't be adequately accomplished in winter, when the furnace or stove is in constant use. Now is the time to check up on your heating plant and to make sure it is safe and efficient. Have the work done by a qualified expert who knows his business. Amateur inspections, like amateur repairs, are often worthless.

Another important source of home fires is electrical wiring and equipment. Heating appliances are apt to get out of order. Wiring becomes frayed in time. Call in your electrician—don't trust your own hazy knowledge of electricity.

A majority of the most dangerous fire hazards can be done away with in this easy fashion. The expenditure of a little time, effort and money may save your property, to say nothing of your life. Do it now!

DAILY WASHINGTON LETTER

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON—First report of alleged irregularities to the Senate committee which will investigate campaign expenditures has to do with thousands of purportedly faked poll tax receipts in San Antonio, Tex.

Pressure on the committee, chairman of which is Senator Lonergan of Connecticut, to investigate the charges has been strong, since the congressional district involved is that of Representative Maury Maverick, one of the most popular and valuable members of the House.

Maverick is having a hard fight for renomination—equivalent to re-election in this heavily Democratic territory—because of the huge sums of money being spent to defeat him.

It is understood here that Maverick is one of several congressmen marked for political death by power interests, as a result of his active participation in the battle for the public utilities holding company bill.

His most important antagonist is Ralph W. Morrison of Texas, a utility man, the only political appointee to membership on the Federal Reserve Board. Morrison is reported to have expressed willingness to spend as much as $150,000 to defeat Maverick and is said already to have spent tens of thousands to elect Maverick's opponent in the primaries of July 25.

Morrison recently submitted his resignation from the Reserve Board, but Roosevelt thus far has refused to accept it. Meanwhile, the president on his southern trip paid a special visit to San Antonio and its Alamo "to keep a promise I made Maury Maverick," which meant as strong an endorsement as a president can give a candidate in party primaries.

Morrison's chief claim to fame comes from his successful handling of the Hamilton Dam power project on the Lower Colorado river, which had been started, but left uncompleted, by the Insull interests. After failing in attempts to get RFC and PWA loans for development, he got a bill through the Texas legislature to create a state power authority to take it over.

Then it was fixed up for the power authority to get a $12,500,000 loan and a $7,500,000 grant from PWA. Morrison is reported to have made a profit of $800,000 on sale of the dam to the power authority, which bought it with PWA funds.

Politicians of the major parties are keeping quiet about the Union Party candidacy of Congressman Lemke, backed by Father Coughlin, and probably will continue to do so. Strangely, perhaps, radicals who believe in a third party of one kind or another are hurling the bitterest denunciation at Lemke.

Communists have charged that Lemke is a stooge for London and the Liberty League.

The American Guardian of Oklahoma City, leading Socialist weekly, charges that Lemke has "definitely tied his organization to the openly Fascist 'Third Party' outfit of Newton Jenkins in Illinois," that he announced "perfect co-operation" with Jenkins after a conference; and that Jenkins has appeared with unformed Nazis on the platform at official Nazi meetings, is openly anti-Semitic, and favors hanging "labor agitators" to lampposts.

And the militant progressive Nation is out with a critical article entitled, "Lemke: Crackpot for President."

This seems an age of self-abnegation. An Ontario man sues himself for $56,000. Mussolini fires three dukes, and Farley is frowning at the postmaster general.

"Life insurance company reveals there is little danger of being killed by lightning." Now we'll probably hear our 110 golfer pal tell of his 84 game.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER. NEW YORK—New York is like this:

George O'Brien, the screen cowboy, is in town looking for excitement (optimistic fellow). Held up by traffic at a Sixth avenue intersection, the big fellow suddenly found himself surrounded by admiring gamins.

"Where's yer horse?" one of the fascinated striplings demanded. "I sell papers," the urchin explains. "I had a dollar bill. I lost it and now I know they'll beat me."

De Rose, who admits being a softy, digs into his jeans and comes up with a $2 note. "Take this, Sonny—this ought to fix everything!" Pete grins, and the urchin smiles brightly through his teeth. He brushes them away and campers down the street.

Five minutes later, after Miss Breen and de Rose have gone, our modern Oliver Twist is back at his post in front of the RCA building. A kindly old lady is fumbling in her pocket book, and if you get close enough you can hear him say: "I had a dollar bill. I lost it, and now they'll beat me if I go home." Sure, New York is like this, too.

The elevators in Manhattan's 24-story Municipal building, installed in 1912, are being replaced. The old ones were so slow and uncertain of their progress, the boys on the upper floors used to refer to themselves as commuters from the street level. For 24 years, one of the principal diversions there has been betting on the length of time it would take for the lifts to make a trip.

HOW'S your HEALTH

Edited by DR. JAGO GALDSTON for the New York Academy of Medicine

Treating Low Backache. Since pain in the lower region of the back may be caused by a multitude of organic, occupational and postural conditions, no single remedy or mode of treatment can avail in all cases.

In every instance of persistent low back pain, it is essential that a careful medical examination be made promptly. The examination should include a searching inquiry into the habits of the sufferer and into such unusual occurrences as may have subjected him to any strains. An X-ray of the region affected is also desirable to establish whether any organic disease of the bone or joint structures is present.

Specific treatment naturally follows on the nature of the underlying cause. This may consist of manipulation to re-establish or to increase the mobility of the parts. The manipulation may be forceful—then it is usually administered under general anesthesia—or it may be of the more gentle type of massage.

Physical therapy in the form of diathermy, infra-red or ultraviolet treatments frequently proves effective in relieving the pain symptoms and easing movement. Frequently, to cure the condition, it becomes necessary to correct postural errors, or the lower back region reflects bad posture.

In a number of cases the treatment of low back pain calls for the application of orthopedic supports, including many types of belts and corsets. Too much emphasis cannot be placed on the necessity for having such belts and supports prescribed and fitted on the basis of a careful study of the patient's condition. A "random" support is more likely to do harm than good.

Lastly, the sufferer of low back pain can gain much by avoiding strains of various sorts by sitting in chairs which give him proper support, and by sleeping in a bed which serves his comfort. By some little study the individual can determine what may gain in ease and comfort by placing cushions at the small of his back or under his knees.

HOUSE OF SHADOWS

By Ida R. Gleason. © 1936 NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY. CLAIRE FOSDICK sets out to drive to the lonely mountain home left her by her eccentric uncle, LYMAN FOSDICK. Claire is trying to decide whether to marry NICK BAUM, to whom she owes money. She also hopes to find a valuable and mysterious jewel owned by her uncle and believed to be hidden in the house.

Her car is wrecked by a log across the road. PAT MAGAN, an old friend, and BOB STEELE, young engineer, arrive on the scene and take Claire to the mountain house where EB SPRATT and his sister, SUSIE, are the caretakers.

DAN DALLAS, the hired man, reports that the watchdog has been shot. Claire goes to her room for the night. She sees a curious arrow carved on the wall, pointing to the cupola. Lamp in hand, Claire goes to the cupola. Suddenly and noiselessly, the lamp is shattered. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER IV

Claire had been too excited to notice that her hand was hurt by the broken glass, but now she was conscious of a throbbing pain. Pat tried to stop the bleeding with his handkerchief and Susie sent Eb for water and bandages.

"This Dan Dallas," Bob said. "Does he sleep on the premises?" Susie jerked around. "Yes, in the little cabin down near the tool house," she answered. "He's a—"

"Hold your tongue, Susie," ordered Eb, who had come back in time to hear the conversation. He turned to Susie. "Say, you ain't figurin' Dan had anything to do with this, are you?"

"We don't know where this shooting is coming from nor who's doing it, so naturally I suspect anyone," answered Bob coldly. "Pat arose. 'The three of us have better give the place the once-over right now.'"

For an hour the lights from the men's lanterns flickered about the grounds as a careful search was made. But not a trace of anything or anyone could be found. Down at his cabin, Dan had been awakened and questioned, but said he had seen nothing that would indicate a hostile prowler.

"I looked around the place after the dog was killed," he told them, "but I couldn't find anyone." "And you didn't hear anything later?" asked Bob.

"Nope," Dan answered. Pat meantime had walked over to a gun that was leaning against the wall. He opened this casually, the pointed at the magazine. "This shell is empty, Dallas. Looks like it had been fired recently."

The man turned and looked coolly at his questioner. "I shot one bullet at a coyote yesterday," he said. "Well, come along out with us now. We're going to look over the place," Eb ordered.

Daylight was breaking when the search finally ended without result. The men tramped back into the house. Claire was telling Susie again about the mark on the wall behind the bed. Dan listened with an expression of interest in his eyes. "Didn't you ever run across that mark when you were cleaning the room, Susie?" he asked suddenly.

"Sure," she cast a quick glance at him. "But how should I know it meant anything?" Pat, who had dropped into a chair, now sprang to his feet. "Come on, it's likely enough now to go up to the cupola and give it the once-over."

"And you and I had better get breakfast started, Susie," Claire suggested. "We all need something to eat after such a night." "Call us when it's ready," said Eb, motioning to Dan to come with him. "We'll be at the tool house."

The two young men went upstairs to the cupola where Claire's lamp had been shot to pieces. Splinters of glass still covered the floor. The bullet that caused the disorder was embedded in the wall.

"Evidently came from the direction of that slope over there," Bob eyed the densely wooded mountain that rose directly opposite the House of Long Shadows. "Did you notice Dan's gun?" asked Pat. "Could it do the trick?"

"I think so. We'll dig the bullet out and see if it fits." Bob opened his pocket knife as he spoke. "Since no one seems to have heard the shot probably it was the same gun with the same silencer that got the dog."

Pat glanced at his friend but made no comment. In a few minutes the bullet lay in his hand. Both examined it and Bob put it in his pocket. "Fifteen minutes' intensive search of the cupola revealed nothing more. If the arrow mark really pointed to the stairway, the lookout, any further sign on the weather-beaten walls had been erased by the elements. At the open door of the bedroom that had belonged to Lyman Fosdick Pat paused. The big four-poster bed was still pulled out from the wall as Claire had left it, so they could see the small mark on the wall.

"It points toward the stairs all right," said Pat. "Nothing else on that side of the room but that case for books." He walked across and examined the volumes on the shelves. "The old boy seems to have gone in for variety—raining, piety, travel, finance, and politics."

"Anything on jewels?" asked Bob. "Nope, unless you count that one," Jewels of Verse. "Come on, I'm starved." Pat started for the door.

Breakfast was ready when they came downstairs. Susie insisted that they sit down and went to call Eb and Dan Dallas. "It was a bullet, then, that broke the lamp?" Claire asked.

"For answer, Bob held out the piece of lead," Claire asked. "The girl's face turned white. 'Then—then someone did try to kill me!'"

Susie and Dan coming back cut short the conversation. "Where's Eb?" asked Pat. "Dan said he went back to look the tool house," Susie explained, taking her place at the table. "He'll be along directly."

"Ever loan that gun of yours to anyone, Dan?" asked Pat. "Used it sometimes," answered the man, looking levelly at his questioner. "Why?"

"Did he ever use a silencer on it, Dallas?" asked Bob Steele. "Not that I know of," Dallas told him. "Susie looked questioningly from one to the other. 'Yes, a gadget to cut out the sound of the shot, Miss Spratt.'"

Susie dropped a knife to the floor with a clatter. Mr. Pat, was that why he didn't hear anything when Trigger was shot, and when Claire was up in the cupola?"

"We think so, Miss Spratt." "Lord love us!" gasped the woman. "Then they could creep up on us and murder us in our beds, and nobody'd be the wiser!" Susie soothed her. "Nothing can hurt us in the house here."

"I ain't so sure," answered Susie. "There's been queer goings on 'round here ever afore you come up." "What do you mean?" Pat edged forward eagerly. "Oh, Susie just gets a case of nerves now and then," interrupted Dan.

Pat went on quizzing Susie. "You mean you heard or saw something you didn't understand?" For a minute the housekeeper did not reply. Then she lowered her voice. "Yes, I did. Three times I've heard a soft-like noise in the night. Once it was so loud I routed Eb out to listen, but it stopped as soon as we struck a light."

"Likely a pack rat," suggested Dan. "Pack rats don't chip edges off stone fountains," answered Susie. "You found stones shipped, Miss Spratt?" asked Bob. "Yep. The corner of the house out by the root cellar. The wind blew something off the clothesline get it. I saw the fresh marks. And they was tellin' me down at the village that the white miner had been seen again."

"The white miner?" asked Claire. "Sure—the white miner. That's what we all call 'em. Frodo Frodo's real name, and he had the freshest, whitest skin ever you see. He was from over near Tin Cup way, Claire. A reminiscent light gleamed in Susie's eyes. "It happened durin' the mining boom, while your Uncle Lyman was for him. A likely youngster—the white miner used to come down to the town for grub and things."

"What happened to him?" Pat asked. "Oh, he took up with a fellow who come from our California ways. They was never here, and claim and worked it all summer. Ore ran pretty good, too. I used to see quite a lot of them both when they come down for their town dances. Then one night they'd both been drinking a lot and had a fight."

"Over you, perhaps, Miss Spratt?" asked Pat, his eyes twinkling. "I'll bet you were by way of being a town belle when you were young." Susie shot him a coquettish glance. "Go on with you, Mr. Pat." Then she sobered. "I ain't sayin' what was the cause of 'er row. Anyway they drifted long toward the morning and we never saw the white miner again. And the other one only once more when he went through town on his way back to California, so he said. A year or two after someone found a man's skeleton under the flooring in their cabin. They couldn't make no one 'round here believe it wasn't his. Only the folks do say when something's goin' to happen, the white miner is seen again trudin' along the mountain trails."

"And someone's met up with him lately?" asked Bob Steele. "Opposit the house here," Claire told him. She added slowly, "The mountain that fired the gun at me."

"Um," Pat shrugged his shoulders. "This is getting good—white miner—mysterious shootings. Come on, let's go out and look at these shippings where someone's been getting busy. I'd like to do a little digging myself around the cupola. See if we can unearth another arrow sign."

The sun was beginning to redden the sky as they went outside. "Wonder where Eb is?" asked Bob. "I'll go down to the tool house and get some shovels for him. Dan said he was there, didn't he?"

Dan nodded and walked on around the cupola. Dan was already there, starting down at the ground. "Someone's already started digging here." He pointed to a small hole close by the cupola wall.

Pat dropped to his knees and examined the place closely. That's

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Movie fans of five and maybe more American cities soon will be asked to re-write the script of the next Marx brothers picture, "A Night at the Races."

Last week when Groucho, Chico and Harpo submitted their script in person to several western cities' fans, about 150 changes were made in "A Night at the Opera."

That picture revived the goofy trio's popularity, indicating fans know something about movie-editing. So the boys are taking advantage of the audience blue-pencil again.

For six weeks a full company will tour with a stage production of "A Day at the Races." And by the time they get back to Hollywood, says Al Casberg, they may have a different script.

Customers Always Right. Boasberg, a writer of comedy, worked with the Marxes on their last road tour and picture. He will accompany them next time. The gags and situations that amuse Duluth, Minneapolis, Chicago, Cleveland and Pittsburgh, the movie makers figure, will amuse people everywhere. Things that seem funny in the writing but that bore those audiences don't will be deleted.

The routine of rebuilding plans on the road from audience reaction is not new to the theater, but it is applied to film scripts. Moreover, says Boasberg, it is so effective they will know how good the picture is before it's started.

He tells of the birth of the most hilarious scene in "A Night at the Opera." The stage script included that stateroom scene in modified form, but at Salt Lake City they decided it was not "going over."

The theater manager, however, protested its omission because his program had to run a definite length of time. Reluctantly, they retained the scene, began kidding it by having more and more of the cast crowd into the stateroom. Audiences began howling with mirth—and it was a cinch for the movie.

In the completed film Allan Jones sang the hit song, "Alone." On four other songs was used. After hearing it four times daily for six weeks, Boasberg couldn't remember the tune. That settled that. People remembered "Alone."

"Gags" are revised on tour until they click or are thrown out entirely. Audiences are the only and final word on that score.

The "road," often called dead in the movie folk, is the very much alive for the mad Marxes.

DANEY AND DAILY TO PITCH FOR DANCIGER-HUBER CLASH HERE TONIGHT

PHILLIPS WILL PLAY BIRDS IN PAMPA SUNDAY

FOOTBALLER WILL BE IN LINEUP FOR 66 CLUB

A pair of speedball righthanders, Lee Daney and Daily, are scheduled to be opposing mound artists tonight at Road Runner park when the Huber Blackaces of Berger tangle with the Road runners at 8:30 o'clock.

Daney, Road Runner Indian hurler, has four wins against five losses this season. The little ace struck tough luck in several games but showed old time form last week in defeating the Southern Pacific Railroaders from Houston. Daily is a newcomer to Berger. He has two wins against no losses.

On Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock the Road Runners will meet a strengthened Phillips 66 team from LeFors. Games time will be 3 o'clock at Pampa. On the mound for the Oilers will be either Christian, a righthander, or Harvey Dilbeck, a young pitcher. Carl Stewart will probably get the nod for the Road Runners.

Wearing a Phillips uniform for the first time Sunday will be an infielder by the name of Bowers, fresh from the Nebraska State league. Bowers played quarterback on the Nebraska university football team last season. He holds down either second base or shortstop.

A tie in games won and lost now exists between the Road Runners and the Blackfacs, each having won four this season. The Blackfacs started out with two straight victories over the birds. Then the carboeers lost a pair. The Blackfacs jumped into another lead but saw it overtake again. The same thing happened and tonight's game will be the ninth of the season and the breaking of the tie again.

Cy Young, appearing in a Road Runner uniform for the first time, defeated the Blackfacs in Berger Wednesday night, 9 to 5. The Road Runners played fine ball behind him despite the absence of Al Summers, second baseman, who was injured in Berger on July 4. Bailey has been holding down Summers' position in great shape. That change sent Poindexter, a catcher, to left field.

Summers was in a uniform Wednesday night and worked out before the game. He did not play, however. Tonight, he may play a few innings. Manager Sam Hale reported this morning.

JOHNNY LEHMAN IS FAVORITE TO WIN WESTERN GOLF MEET

OMAHA, Neb., July 17 (AP)—Johnny Lehman of Chicago, just another starter when the thirty-seventh Western Amateur Golf tournament opened at the Happy Hollow club Tuesday, was the favorite today to win the crown.

He won it back in 1930, but for the last three or four years he has been more or less forgotten as far as major play was concerned.

Yesterday, however, he conquered the defending champion, Charlie Yates of Atlanta, Ga., a member of the U. S. Walker Cup squad, 2 and 1 in their second round match. Lehman was three strokes under par for 17 holes with the aid of six birdies.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 17 (AP)—Give Jimmy Doyle of Cleveland credit for the snappiest line of the week. . . . Says he: "Joe Louis was the victim of dope, all right, but it was the brand dished out by sports writers before the fight." . . . "Ouch!" . . . The favorite pastime of Don Lash, Indiana's Olympic distance runner, is sleeping. . . . He is thinking of challenging Joe Louis, who is a pretty good snoozer himself.

Lou Gehrig says the reason he's hitting all his homers with the bases deserted this year is because he forgets about circuit clouts when men are on and concentrates on getting 'em home. . . . Is there any better recipe than a round tripper, Lou? . . . Comparison: Up to July 4, Gehrig had whiffed only 18 times. . . . Jimmy Foxx had fanned 65 times.

How's this for tough luck: Tony Buckovich of the Hubbell (Mich.) team of the Copper Country league, twirled a no-hitter July 12 against South Range of the same circuit, but lost, 1-0. . . . Working in 115-degree heat, Tony fanned 14 batters and walked only three. . . . The winning run was the result of a walk, a passed ball, a bad throw to second and a steal of home. . . .

Phillies Best Dizzy Dean As Cubs Nose Out Bees 1-0

Cards Trail Cubs by Two Full Games After Loss

By SID FEDER Associated Press Sports Writer

It may be only a flash in the National league's red-hot pan, but those Phillies are giving the baseball world an occasion for some eyebrow lifting.

Although they're still a long way from the first division, let alone the top of the heap, they've been the hottest outfit in the big leagues since July 1, and the only club in their loop to keep up with the pace set by the galloping Cubs.

They made it ten victories against four defeats since the first of the month, two in a row over the Cardinals, and spoiled Dizzy Dean's return to action, by teeing off against the great ace yesterday and burying him under a 6-2 score. "Old Diz" lasted just five innings against the slugging Phils in his first start since a line drive knocked him unconscious and out of the lineup last Saturday.

The defeat for the gas house gang left it two full games back of the Cubs, who also won their tenth start out of 14 since July 1 by turning back the Boston Bees 1-0 in a ten-inning affair, on the strength of Lon Warneke's four-hit hurling. Back in spring training, the "wise boys" said the Phils, if they were dangerous at all, would be dangerous because of their pitching, but their hurlers have been the weakest link, and their power, as in the past, has been at bat.

In their drive, they've averaged 10 hits a game, and they haven't lost a series in more than two weeks. Bill Dickey and Joe Di Maggio led the Yankees to a 5-2 win over Detroit, boosting New York's pacesetter margin to ten full games.

The beating bounced the Bengals out of second place, and the Cleveland hitting Indians from Cleveland moved in with a 7-0 walloping over the Athletics—their sixth straight win.

The Red Sox, with Jimmy Foxx hitting homers number 25 and 26 to take the big league lead, climbed back into the first division by splitting with the St. Louis Browns. The Sox lost the first 6-3, and then won 6-4.

Boston's advance was at the expense of Washington which fell again before Jimmy Dykes' Chicago White Sox, 9-7, and dropped into fifth place.

In the National league, the Giants won over Pittsburgh 7-6, when Mel Ott hit his 17th homer with a mate on base in the eighth inning. The Reds and Dodgers were idle.

'Mystery Man' Is Sought in Death Of Honor Co-ed

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 17 (AP)—A "mystery man" was hunted today by police investigating the slaying of blond Helen Clevenger, 19-year-old North Carolina university honor student.

The man, of whom officers had only a scant description, was seen dashing hatless from a fashionable hotel into a thunderstorm early Thursday—a few minutes, supposedly, after Miss Clevenger was slain in her room on the third floor.

This incident, together with the bullet, which coroner George F. Baier Jr. said was fired from an unusual type of gun, probably of a foreign make was admittedly all the officer had to go on.

The police fixed the time of the slaying at 11 a. m. yesterday, but the body was not discovered until the girl's uncle, Prof. W. L. Clevenger of North Carolina State college, went to her room on his own, just around the corridor.

School Teacher Shows He Licked Max

When Joe F. Carney, 130 pounds, met Max Baer at the Texas Centennial Exposition in Dallas and announced he had licked the former heavyweight champion twice and could do it again everybody laughed. Then he sat down and showed how he had done it as principal of the Ashland, Cal., grade school, in 1922 and 1923.

SPORT SLANTS

by Pap

You can't convince Del Baker that the Detroit Tigers are out of the running. He still is sold on the idea that the Tigers will be up there when the teams straighten out for the home-stretch dash. This, despite the fact that the Detroit team, winner of two pennants and a world championship, this summer suffered all sorts of bad breaks after two seasons of what amounted to a charmed existence—almost entirely free from injuries.

But the Tigers' luck finally changed. Maybe it was simply the law of averages catching up with them, or perhaps Lady Luck, tickle female that she is, refused to favor Detroit any longer and turned to other contenders. At any rate, most of the luck the Tigers of 1936 have had has been bad.

After taking part in a dozen games, big Hank Greenberg suffered a fracture of the left wrist—the same one he injured shortly before the series last fall. Then Mickey Cochrane, spark-plug of the outfit, had a nervous breakdown. Alvin Crowder, the veteran hurler, went on the voluntary retired list when he developed a sore arm and his services were lost to the team. Schoolboy Rowe had his trouble getting started and valuable ground was lost.

Yet, despite the loss of key players and the fiery manager, Del is keeping his chin up and carrying on for Mickey. He still thinks that the Tigers are the equal of any other team in the American league, and that goes for the first-place Yankees, too.

Rowe's 2-hit game against the Philadelphia Athletics helped buoy up Baker's spirit. And now that Simmons has found his batting eye with a vengeance, the Tigers, he thinks are headed for happier days.

The veteran Detroit coach, who took over the reins when Cochrane was forced out, is certain that the Tigers have had more than their share of bad breaks and are due for some good ones. There is still time.

TEXAS SPORT NOTES

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP)—July 17 (AP)—Wise baseball followers are rumoring the return of Shreveport to the Texas league next season. The Louisiana nine would replace Galveston, they tell you. . . . Predictions were made soon after the death of Shearn Moody, beloved former owner of the Galveston franchise, that the club would fold up after this season. The Pirates were the favorite hobby of Sportsman Moody. . . . The club was his personal pastime and he dropped many dollars into the building of a fighting club.

Now the Buccaneers are floundering in the cellar and playing to small crowds. . . . Texas league officials profess to know nothing of the rumored franchise change. However, Vic Emanuel, Houston Post baseball expert, writes that the change will come unless a sharp attendance increase is noted.

The Post says the average attendance for Galveston's first 47 home games was about 325 per game. And that includes 4,456 who attended the opener. . . . A group of oil men are ready to back a Shreveport team, it is said. . . . Loss of Galveston would hurt. . . . The Pirates are the only team to enter the Shaugnessy playoff three consecutive times. . . . They bagged the pennant in 1934.

This and that: The State A. A. U. swimming meet has been scheduled for Fort Worth sometime in August at the River Crest pool. It follows the Southern A. A. U. meet to be held at Dallas, July 25 and 26. . . . Crafty old Mike Cevengros by many years the senior of the Houston baseball club, will be out of the lineup several days. He has a sore growth on his left shoulder, the aftermath of an infection. . . . Loss of Cevengros sent Prexy Fred Ankenman hurrying to the Cardinals for mound aid. . . . Old Oscar Turo, veteran spit baller of other Texas league days, is still spinning them across the plate. . . . He's with the Conroe Oilers, who also have Ray Flashkamper and other veterans.

Back in 1925, Turo was a free agent looking for a job because of his age. . . . Eleven years later he still has the old "Number Two" going.

At Ve'non, they have organized a "Dodo" club for dumb softball players. . . . Players may qualify only by making an extraordinary error, or using particularly bad judgment in the heat of battle. . . . Just an ordinary mistake won't do for membership. . . . A secret committee will decide upon the extent of the player's mistakes.

BEG PARDON SEATTLE (AP)—Life Guards Edward Whitesell and Roy Kellogg saw a swimmer splashing a few hundred yards off shore and Whitesell said "that swimmer is out of bounds. Let's go get him."

They swam through the surf. As they neared the splashing swimmer, they nosed their head out of the water and belloped.

No-Hit, No-Run Game Hurlled By Jakucki For Galveston

Second Triple Play Of Season Made By Houston

By The Associated Press

Today's games: Dallas at Houston (night). Dallas at Galveston (night). Fort Worth at Galveston (night). Oklahoma City at Beaumont (day). Tulsa at San Antonio (night). What are the wild waves saying?

If they are baseball-minded along the coastal sands at Galveston, they must be talking about the superlative pitching in the Buccaneer stronghold these last three nights.

In three engagements between Galveston and Oklahoma City, fans have seen a one-hit game, a two-hit game which was hitless for nine innings and, last night, a no-hit, no-run performance turned in by Jack Jakucki.

The Galveston hurler missed a perfect evening by walking one man and hitting another with a pitched ball. Both runners were tagged trying to steal Jakucki's triumph, which ended 10 to 0, in the ninth of a doubleheader.

In the first game Orville Armbrust was almost as niggardly with the Indians as Jakucki, giving up a single hit during the evening. The score was 3 to 2 for Galveston. In Tuesday night's game Roger Wolf, Oklahoma City righthander, pitched nine innings without granting a hit or run and then lost, 1 to 0, in the tenth.

At Houston the second triple play of the season was recorded. Nemo, Watwood and Keane—all named Jaxon—turned the trick for Houston and the Buffs went on to whip Tulsa 7 to 4.

The Dallas Steers tightened their hold on the league lead with a double-killing at Beaumont, winning the first game 3 to 0 and the second 2 to 1. Fred Marberry turned in another great pitching performance for the Steers in the opener.

Diminutive Jackie Reid pitched Fort Worth to a 4-1 victory over San Antonio.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By The Associated Press)

Lon Warneke and Billy Herman, Cubs—Former pitched four hit ball as Herman drove in only run in 1-0 win over Bees.

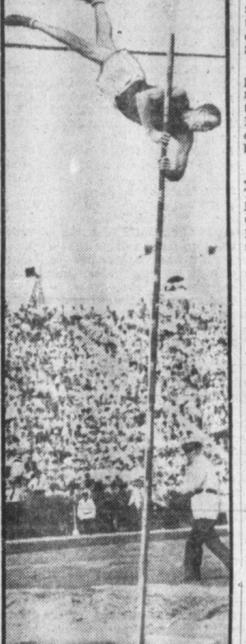

Earl Caldwell, Browns, and Jimmy Foxx, Red Sox—Former gave only seven hits in winning opener of doubleheader, while Foxx hit two homers, one in nightcap win.

Minter Hayes, White Sox—Hit 2 doubles and single, batting in three runs in 9-7 victory over Senators.

Phillips Flyers Trounce Sluggers

The Phillips Flyers from the South Pampa field took a 20 to 19 slugfest from the Pampa Sluggers Wednesday night under the lights at the Skelly-Schafer plant west of the city.

Errors were numerous on both sides with the Sluggers leading in that department, 9 to 6. Several new faces appeared in the Pampans lineup.

DeAun Heskell was on the mound for the Sluggers, with Ford behind the plate. Abramathy went the distance for the Flyers with Fisher her battery mate.

Riley and Avis Heskell, both Sluggers, homered.

'JIM CROW' BUSES IN ETHIOPIA MARK RIGID LINE FOR ITALIANS

BY A. EDWARD STUNTZ.
Associated Press Foreign Staff.
ROME, July 17. (AP)—Italian leaders have resurrected the old Anglo-American horror of "going native" in a campaign to convince colonists of Ethiopia that the color line must be sharply drawn and rigidly observed.

"The fascist empire must not become an empire of mulattos," said one government inspired editorial.

A provincial commissioner for the examination of peasant aspirants said the government was doing everything to remove any temptation to race mixture.

"Most of our peasant boys are either married or bound in engagements in their early twenties, or late teens," he said. "We have found that it is mostly the ones with young wives or sweethearts who want a chance to make something of themselves in the new colonies. And our government has very wisely made provisions to send their girls out with them."

Race Segregation Decried.
Other authorities revealed that a color line and race segregation already have been started.

The new bus services opening up week by week in the vicinity of Addis Ababa, Harrar, Gondar, and other cities, have two sections in each vehicle, one for whites and the other a "Jim Crow" compartment for natives of Ethiopia.

Two forms of townships in sectors of intense agricultural or other development also are planned. Where large concentrations of Italians are settled, Ethiopians will be largely excluded. Where Ethiopians are given the major task of resource exploitation they will do so under command of only a few married white officials.

The press campaign at home to disillusion proponents of race amalgamation was inspired, an authority said, by fascist detestation of false sentiment.

"Paesta Nera," with its picture of Italian knightly liberating a charming Ethiopian slave girl, was all right as a war song but "dangerous" he said, as an inspiration to sentiment.

"Dangerous," too, was the wave of "exhibitionist" offers from well-to-do Italian families to adopt homeless little Ethiopians.

This government, informants said, has had to throw overboard a former mode of Italian thought which was incapable of understanding the North American color line. Rather it intends to create an understanding of the race problem based upon woeful experiences in the Americas.

Mussolini intends to follow in part the policy responsible for the big negro educational institutes in America. He has laid his ground-work in the form of a secondary school program in Ethiopia.

But, although this program may eventually evolve a race of Ethiopians of great value to the fatherland, there is no talk here about their equality.

OUT OUR WAY - - - - - By WILLIAMS

WASHINGTON, July 17. (AP)—Detective Chief Bernard W. Thompson today termed "absolutely groundless" the story of red-haired Jean Bell that she was mutilated and left to die in a gas-filled apartment here by New York gangsters.

Thompson issued a statement to reporters after Joe Silvers and Leo Maimone, New Yorkers, had been freed by a United States commissioner from charges of mutilating the girl. They pleaded innocent when arraigned.

SECRET SERVICE INVESTIGATING HOOVER'S MEN

HARD FEELINGS CROP OUT AS REPORTS SPREAD

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—Hard feelings between famous organizations of United States government deaths burst into the open today with reports—and denials—that the secret service was investigating the "G Men."

The reports have been current for some time, but not until now have they drawn official comment. They hark back to the last session of congress, when there was an argument as to whether the G men were spending too much money and whether too many persons were being shot in the war on crime.

The first official intimation of the tense situation between the rival services came yesterday when Attorney General Cummings threw out a veiled warning that unnamed persons would better not try to get the scalp of J. Edgar Hoover, head of the justice agents and a subordinate of Cummings.

Newspapermen had asked him about reports that the agents, who had participated in so many sensational inquiries and manhunts, were now being probed by the secret service.

"There has been some activity, I suspect of an ill advised nature," Cummings answered.

"I'll say this," he continued "if anybody's shooting at Hoover, they are shooting at the wrong person. They'd better start shooting at me."

William H. Moran, chief of the secret service, was asked about the reported investigation and replied "there's nothing to it."

A third detective service, the postal inspectors, preserved a studied silence but were known to be awaiting developments eagerly.

There has been rivalry between this service, oldest of all the federal investigating agencies, and Hoover's men.

Some postal inspection men have complained privately that there was a disparity between their appropriation and Hoover's and that the G men were taking too much credit for arrests.

Cummings would not say what aspect of the justice agents' activities he suspected were under inquiry. Other officials indicated the alleged "activity" dealt with expenditures by Hoover's federal bureau of investigation and with gunplay by agents.

Testimony of Defendant Ends In Snake Trial

LOS ANGELES, July 17. (AP)—The wife murder trial of Robert S. James moved a step nearer the jury today with the defense case concluded.

The state prepared to offer several rebuttal witnesses this morning in winding up its charge that the barber killed his seventh bride, Mary, drowning her in a bath tub after torturing her with rattlesnakes.

Arguments are slated to start Monday and the weird case may possibly go to the jury of ten men and two women Tuesday.

James, pale-faced and calm as usual, stepped off the stand late yesterday as his last witness after rigorous cross-examination. During one recess he sat alone in the prisoner's tiny room whistling "Silent Night."

The defendant, under direct examination, said he left Charles Hope, ex-sailor who admitted aiding James in the alleged scheme, alone with his wife on the day last August he later found her dead.

James said Hope represented himself as a doctor and agreed to perform an operation on his wife, an expectant mother.

Answering another query, he declared he signed a confession corroborating Hope's story of the wife-death-plot to halt prolonged questioning in the district attorney's office. James said the grilling was "torture."

JAP OFFICER IS NAMED IN PLOT TO 'SELL' NAVY

'Agent of Jap Navy Is Involved,' Is Charge

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—Delicate diplomatic questions became involved in the John S. Farnsworth case today as the department of justice pursued its investigation of alleged sale of naval secrets to the Japanese.

The name of a specific Japanese officer has been drawn, the Washington Star understands, into the case of Farnsworth, former lieutenant commander in the United States navy, who is accused of disclosing confidential information to an "agent of the imperial Japanese navy."

The state department, keeping close touch with the situation, was proceeding cautiously. The department, it was indicated, has no intention of filing a complaint with the Japanese government at present.

It was pointed out that Farnsworth has not yet been tried. The Washington Post received information from other sources that the question whether representations will be made to Tokyo, demanding the withdrawal of a member of the Japanese diplomatic corps there, depends on the disclosures and outcome of the trial.

No date for the trial has been set. Farnsworth, who is still held in jail here, is to have a hearing before a United States commissioner July 29, but it is believed that the government will press for a grand jury hearing before that time.

FIRST CHARTER RENEWED
AUSTIN, July 17. (AP)—Baylor university, said to be the only corporation chartered by the Republic of Texas now in existence, received a new 50-year charter today. M. E. Sandlin, assistant secretary of state, approved papers for the re-incorporation. The present charter would expire in a few days.
