CYCLONIC WINDS DAMAGE CENTENNIAL

TEX'S TOPICS

BY TEX DE WEESE

Sages of the occult world, spirit mediums, mind-readers, and fortune tellers are a bit puzzled over the unmitigated reservation made in this space last week that something BIG would happen in these United States before midnight of July 31.

Laymen, too, would like to know how we get that way. For instance, we have been told that it rarely rains out here, especially this summer. So we said to a group of scoffers Saturday night that it would rain in Pampa before Wednesday midnight.

Well, drops of rain fell from the Pampa skies for a minute in mid-afternoon Sunday, again last night, and once more this forenoon. If one were to be technical, these few drops could be held over their heads. However, we shall see.

And, as for the midnight of July 31—we shall see about that, too. So far, the guiding influence of the omnipotent Rajah never has let us down.

But, so far as predicting the weather is concerned, you were warned about that third week of July heat in plenty of time, and we really plan to lay off the weather for some time to come.

Being a newcomer to the plains we feel that weather predictions and such should be left to old timers like the Textless Tactician, and the boys who really know their onions. We claim no supernatural powers along any of these lines, you must understand that.

Never have we told a fortune, read a palm, or gone into a huddle with any of the constellations in order to figure things out. However, just make a note of any of these lines, you must understand that.

A woman called us by telephone today and said she wished to goodness we would do something about the neighborhood children and dogs running loose on her nice lawn.

We told her that kids are kids and that they just naturally like to have a rip-roaring time and that we like to see them have loads of fun. Well, she said she liked to see them have fun, too, but that she thought their parents ought to give them a few lessons about not destroying other people's property. She concluded, then, that if youngsters run a bit wild over her well-kept lawn, that perhaps it's the fault of the parents and not that they are the ones who should try to remedy the thing. Guess she's pretty well right about it.

The name of Jess Hatcher, of the Gray county identification bureau, indirectly was linked this week to something which may have been misconstrued by some. It concerned the photographing and finger-printing of a 14-year-old boy. Ha'cher merely was following out rules and regulations of making a record of persons charged with felonies.

Any "kidding" which accompanied the scene should not be pinned to Hatcher or to the sheriff's department, as we see it—for there were other persons present, including outsiders.

It all had to do with the alleged "easing" of the youngster about the electric chair as he sat down in the machine-like appearing seat to be photographed. However, nobody was "easing" this particular youngster, and no doubt when he gets this little bad streak out of his system, he'll grow up to be a respected citizen in his home-town community back in Oklahoma.

We can recall a time when our father called us into the office to check up one day on a boyhood

UNIVERSITY'S LEASE AUCTION NETS $300,000

OIL RIGHTS SOLD TO HIGHEST BIDDER AT AUSTIN

AUSTIN, July 21 (AP)—The University of Texas counted $300,000 as proceeds today from the first public auction of oil leases on public land since Texas became a state. Leases for quarter sections of land in West Texas sold for as high as $48,000 and as low as $1,000. Bids of lower amounts were rejected. Approximately 8,370 acres were leased. In addition to the cash bonus paid by the oil companies the university will receive 50 cents an acre annual delay rental. In event oil is produced, it will receive one-eighth royalty.

Royalty from production on a portion of the school's endowment of 2,600,000 acres has reached nearly $20,000,000 in a dozen years since oil first spouted from a university well. Leases were awarded in Ector, Crane, Andrews and Upton counties. There were no bidders for four tracts in Ward county nor for 15 other tracts in Andrews and Upton counties. Bids were rejected on eight tracts. The board for lease of university lands offered 76 tracts aggregating about 12,000 acres. Major oil companies were the principal bidders, and four tracts in Ector and Crane counties, about one and one-half miles from a proven field, attracted the highest bids, ranging from $32,000 to $48,000. Crane county leases drew a top of $7,500 and minimum of $4,700, while those in Andrews and Upton counties ranged from $1,000 to $8,400 for the quarter sections.

Persons Over 60 Years May Vote Sans Exemptions

ABILENE, July 21 (AP)—As the result of an order entered Tuesday morning in 42nd district court here by Judge Milburn S. Long persons over 60 years of age may secure exemption certificates entitling them to vote in Saturday's Democratic primary, or any other election.

In a friendly suit, filed in behalf of a group of citizens over 60 years of age who had not secured certificates on February 1 this year, Judge Long granted a writ in which the Taylor county tax collector was ordered to issue exemption certificates to all persons entitled to receive them.

The court in giving the ruling said: "The court holds in this application for mandamus against the tax collector, that there is no provision in the constitution to give the legislature any authority to pass a law to require any person over 60 years of age to obtain an exemption certificate before they would be entitled to vote."

OIL OPERATOR DIES

BEAUMONT, July 21 (AP)—H. Kishi, oil operator and native of Japan, died last night from injuries incurred in an automobile accident near Liberty Saturday morning. He had just returned last Wednesday from a business trip to Japan which he carried on extensive transactions from his offices here.

A brother, K. Kishi, of Terry, widely-known agriculturist, was hurt in the accident. He is in a critical condition in a Liberty hospital, suffering from complications growing out of his injuries.

CITY ADVISES AGAINST RACE MEET IN FALL

Additional material for the stables at Fairground park will be available next month, City Manager C. L. Stine told commissioners last night following a trip to Amarillo where he conferred with Works Progress Administration officials. An order for 120 gallons of outside white paint for the barns will be ordered immediately, Mr. Stine was informed. Hardware, cement, roofing material and additional lumber will be available after August 1, he was told. Approximately $1,900 worth of stable material has been ordered and should be here soon.

WELCOME CLOUDS HIDE SUN HERE

Clouds stepped in front of the sun in Pampa at mid-day today and sent the thermometer reading down to 84 at 2 o'clock this afternoon, after reaching 96 degrees at 10:30 a. m. Yesterday's high point was 103 at 4 p. m. The hazy sky brought relief for Pampa, however, and even a few drops of rain fell last night and this forenoon.

SENATOR SMALL DEFENDS RECORD AND FLAYS FOES IN PAMPA TALK

Senator Clint Small, of Amarillo, addressed a crowd of more than 500 persons last night on the courthouse lawn as he opened the final week of his campaign for re-election to the state senate. Sen. Small was introduced to a Pampa audience by Judge W. R. Ewing, of the 31st district court. Judge Ewing's introduction was preceded by opening remarks by John Sturgeon, Pampa city attorney.

DALLAS BEARS STORM BRUNT AT MIDNIGHT

4,000 MEN REPAIRING $100,000 WORTH OF DAMAGES

DALLAS, July 21 (AP)—A violent wind and thunder storm ripping through central-northeast Texas last night left in its wake property damage estimated at several million dollars. There were no deaths reported but in Dallas, where full force of the fast-breaking disturbance hit just before midnight, nearly 40 persons suffered minor injuries, some from flying glass. The Dallas Times-Herald, after a survey of thousands of broken trees, street erosion, wreckage on the Centennial exposition grounds and other losses, estimated the Dallas property toll might climb to around $1,000,000.

CARABINEROS SLAIN IN SHARP BATTLE AT FRONTIER

Thousands of Spanish insurgents, striking in the wake of a machine gun attack by low-flying airplanes, surged over the Basque provinces of Navarre and Guipuzcoa Tuesday night (Spanish time) to wrest northern control from loyal leftist forces. Casualties in the two provinces, including the city of San Sebastian, where defenders were raked with aerial fire, were reported at 50 or more.

The United States summer embassy is at San Sebastian and United States Ambassador Claude G. Bowers was reported in residence there as recently as Sunday. The popular front militia withdrew to a mountain apparently intending to shell San Sebastian, as the rebels poured in.

OPponents PROMISE MAGIC MONEY, GOVERNOR ALLRED CLAIMS

'DUBBLES ARE IMPOSSIBLE OF FULFILLMENT'

OLD AGE PENSION ACT IS CHIEF ISSUE OF CAMPAIGN

(By The Associated Press)

Where gubernatorial candidates speak today:

James V. Allred: Luling, Schulenburg, Columbus and Eastburg during day, Galveston, 8 p. m.

Pierce Brooks: Paris, 2 p. m., Ft. Worth, park speeches, 8 p. m. and 9:30 p. m.

F. W. Fischer: Center, 3 p. m., Jasper, 8 p. m.

Tom F. Hunter: San Antonio, 8 p. m.

Roy Sanderford: Breckenridge, 2:30 p. m., Wichita Falls, 8:15 p. m.

The campaigns of Gov. James V. Allred and his four opponents turned into the gubernatorial race stretch today. Four more days of speech making remain before the first primary July 25.

The governor and his opponents, whom he termed "bubble blowers" in a speech last night at San Antonio, planned a total of 12 addresses today.

The incumbent told a San Antonio audience his opponents were trying to confuse the aged with promises of magic money.

"It would be a laughable spectacle," he said, "to see my opponents running around shouting promises of magic money if I weren't for the fact that they are trying to make political capital out of the sufferings of their fellow-men." He said the other candidates promised "everyone past 60 or 65 years of age . . . will get $15 a month from the Federal government and $15 a month from the state government." These assertions, he said, were impossible of fulfillment.

Pierce Brooks, speaking at Waco, charged the old age pension system as currently operated was a "political racket of the meanest sort." He said he would be ashamed to ask Texans for an endorsement of "such a vicious scheme as that, if I were its daddy."

Brooks also took notice of the three other candidates seeking Gov. Allred's office. He referred to Tom Hunter's three attempts to gain the governorship, to F. W. Fischer of Tyler as the "big fish in the oil pool," and dubbed Roy Sanderford as the "candidate with a sales tax weight tied around his neck."

Fischer spoke at Palestine, where he announced in favor of improved working conditions for railroad employes and other members of organized labor.

"I am in favor of the right of laborers to collective bargaining and believe in every advantage for the laboring man. The employer already has the advantage and needs no further aid at the expense of the laboring class," he said.

He explained his proposal for a law regulating the length of trains, saying division of trains into sections would increase employment and enhance safety.

At Houston Tom Hunter described Gov. Allred as "a playboy at the helm" of state government and said the people would no longer tolerate Allred's political activities. He said Allred's "inefficiency or ignorance has already cost the people of this state at least $21,000,000 through his failure to have the legislature take advantage of the Federal Social Security provisions and other matters."

State Senator Roy Sanderford told an Abilene audience he is the only man in the five-cornered race with both business experience and a knowledge of the affairs of state.

He said he had made a success of his automobile and other businesses and was certain he could discharge the business of the state competently.

He said Fischer's plan to take two cents off the gasoline tax was "the biggest monument to ignorance in Texas history."

Landon to Make Speech Thursday

TOPEKA, July 21 (AP)—Refreshed by an overnight break in the heat wave and encouraged by additional pledges of support from avowed democrats, Governor Al M. Landon began clearing his desk yesterday for Thursday's notification ceremonies.

The Republican presidential nominee's acceptance speech, which also will open his drive to oust the Roosevelt New Deal, was in virtually final form and the governor planned to devote as much time as possible to visitors for the notification.

The chamber of commerce estimated more than 100,000 persons would come here for the occasion, the number of excess depending on whether the cool spell continues. Heat that has sent the temperature above 100 degrees for 17 consecutive days was broken last night by a cool high wind.

FISCHER EXPLAINS
HENDERSON, July 21 (AP)—F. W. in his campaign for governor, yesterday explained his plan to finance state operations with a tax on natural resources. He outlined his proposed 15 cents a barrel tax on oil and advocated increased levies on natural gas, sulphur, carbon black and other mineral products in an effort to provide $100,000,000 in new revenue.

Where Huge Throng Will See Landon Notification

On the speakers stand shown above being rushed to completion on the south side of the old State Capitol building at Topeka, Kan., Gov. Alfred Mossman Landon will be notified officially on the night of July 23 that he is the Republican party's candidate for president. On the rostrum with him will sit a hundred or more of the country's leading Republicans. One hundred thousand people—the greatest crowd in Kansas history—are expected to view the ceremonies from improvised benches on the statehouse lawn or from adjoining streets.

CHILDREN IN ONE-TEACHER RURAL SCHOOLS DO NOT HAVE CHANCE TO DEVELOP AS MUCH AS CITY CHILD

AUSTIN, July 21 (AP)—School children who attend the small one-teacher rural schools are not given the opportunity to develop mentally on a par with those of urban areas, it has been ascertained by Dr. Annie Webb Blanton, professor of educational administration of the University of Texas. Dr. Blanton has just concluded an intensive survey of the pupils in the Texas one-teacher school, including urban pupils in the testing program only as a basis of comparison.

"If the sampling of pupils from both one-teacher schools and urban schools is fairly representative, the findings are of large significance," Dr. Blanton declared.

She studied 185 pupils from one-teacher schools from three widely separated counties of the state, and also an equal number of urban pupils chosen at random at the county seats of these same counties.

In her summary of results, Dr. Blanton reports that the findings of the study show that of the rural and urban pupils in ability, in school achievement, and in socio-economic and physical status.

"According to the Binet-Simon intelligence tests, the median intelligence quotient of the rural pupils is 93.1 and of the urban pupils 110.5, these figures showing a median inferiority of the rural pupils of 17.4. According to the group of intelligence tests, the median intelligence quotient of the rural group is 90.7 and of the urban group, 111.9, these figures indicating a median inferiority of the rural pupils of 21.2 per cent. The median intelligence quotient of the rural pupils is, approximately, on the two tests, 9 per cent below normal, while that of the urban pupils is approximately 10 per cent above normal.

"The rural pupils, on the tests in various branches of study pursued in the elementary school, also show a definite inferiority to the school achievements of the urban children included in this study.

"In silent reading, the median reading-quotient of the rural pupils is 85, and those of the urban pupils, 98.4; these figures show a median inferiority of the rural pupils of 13.4 per cent. In oral reading 84.4 per cent of the rural pupils were rated as poor, in expression, while only 37.4 per cent of the urban does not differ greatly from their average inferiority in ability as measured by the intelligence tests.

"In comparing the totals as to median physical status of the rural and the urban pupils, a very slight inferiority of rural pupils may be noted. The median rating in physical status of the rural pupils is 73.7, and of the urban pupils, 74.5; these figures give a median inferiority of the rural pupils of only eight-tenths of one per cent, the two groups may, therefore, be regarded as approximately equal in physical status, as measured by the physical tests adopted for this study.

"The ratings of the two groups by the Sims Score Card in Socio-Economic Status shows a median rating of 5 for the rural pupils and of 7 for the urban group. This rating places the rural pupils two strata lower in socio-economic standing than the urban pupils.

"The most positive evidence in this study of a cause of the inferiority of the rural pupils included in this study, is the inferiority in ability of the rural pupils and the shorter school term of approximately one month. Other causes that appear to have some influence are a slight inferiority in training of the rural school teachers, poorer equipment and insubstantial conditions in the rural schools, and a lower socio-economic status of the rural pupils.

"It is my opinion that there is a positive relation between the inferiority in ability of the rural pupils and their socio-economic status. I hold that the superior social and economic advantages of urban life, have, on the whole, led to attracting to the cities a considerable proportion of the most capable young people upon the farms; the natural processes of selection have left in the rural districts a larger proportion of those inferior in ability to populate the rural districts. It is not the province of this study to suggest the remedy for this situation. But the situation is one to attract the attention of the thinking, patriotic citizens of the state."

Final Arguments Begin in Snake Trial in L. A.

LOS ANGELES, July 21 (AP)—Prosecution and defense matched legal skill—with the life of Robert S. James in the balance—as final arguments resumed Monday in the barber's trial for alleged wife-murder.

The 39-year-old defendant, seven times married, heard Deputy District Attorney John Barnes demand his death on the gallows for what Barnes said was the snake torture-drowning of his last bride, Mary, in August, 1935.

Before closing his summation of the state's case, Barnes said he would recall testimony concerning the bathtub drowning in 1932 of another James wife, Winona, at a Manitou, Colo., tourist camp.

The state has tried to prove the marrying barber slew the two women in the same manner, blinding their deaths on "fainting spells," and later collected their life insurance.

Attorneys who dropped an insanity defense for James because of lack of funds for investigation expected to start their jury pleas late Monday. An appeal to the jurors' humanitarian instincts was planned, with counsel declaring James' boyhood environment in Alabama twisted his life and society would gain nothing by a hanging verdict.

HEAT KILLS SIX
OKLAHOMA CITY, July 21 (AP)—A forecast of thundershowers for eastern Oklahoma held out some hope of relief as six persons died today from oppressive heat, bringing the total to 36 for the last eight days. The forecast included a prediction of not quite so "warm" or "sweltering" central Oklahoma.

FATALLY INJURED
FORT WORTH, July 21 (AP)—John L. McCombs, 30, of Graham, was fatally injured and his wife and 9-year-old daughter were seriously hurt today when their car collided with a cattle truck on the Northwest highway, three miles south of Springtown, in Parker county. McCombs died in an ambulance en route to a Fort Worth hospital. He had a crushed chest, broken pelvis and arms.

SOIL PROGRAM FOR RANCHES IS UNDER WAY

PROGRAM TO BE SUBMITTED BY THIS FALL

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—The AAA officials said today they hope shortly to submit to ranchers a soil conservation program for the vast grazing lands of the West.

Work is under way on a tentative plan and officials say they desire to have a program adopted by this fall so ranchers will have time during the winter to adjust their grazing areas.

Two major moves are being studied by the planners: 1. To arrange for ranchers to increase their supplemental feed crops to relieve the drain upon pasturage lands; 2. To encourage ranchers to begin grazing livestock later in the spring than at present and to take off livestock off the range earlier in the fall to conserve the grass.

The plan, it is understood, does not contemplate calling upon cattle and sheep raisers to reduce the number of their livestock. It is believed increases in supplemental feed crops will go far toward conserving the grazing lands. Participation in the program would be voluntary, with the government offering as an inducement certain cash payments to those planting feed crops. No specific figures on these payments are being made public yet.

In working out their plan, AAA officials have been assisted by records of the forest service as to the various areas of grazing land and the number of livestock on these ranges. On the basis of the records the AAA will seek to determine the number of livestock which should graze in these areas and the amount of supplemental feeding that should be undertaken by the ranchers.

This plan to regulate grazing aims to maintain the grass in the nation's grazing area, which officials estimate covers approximately 721,000,000 available acres of range land in eleven western states.

Reliable reports, AAA men said, show that three-fourths of the range area has become less productive in the past 30 years and weather records show that one to four drought years may be expected every ten years.

They measure the agricultural asset of grazing resources by the fact that in the eleven western states less than five per cent of the land is devoted to farming and the greater part of the remaining 95 per cent to grazing. They estimate that 65 per cent of the feed for western livestock is range forage.

George E. Farrell, director of the western division of the soil conservation program, estimates the value of the western livestock at $500,000,000. Ranches and equipment investments are estimated at more than a million dollars.

He has said that success of a grazing conservation program would depend upon the ranchers' cooperation.

Farmers' Short Course Starts

COLLEGE STATION, July 21 (AP)—The twenty-seventh annual farmers short course, sponsored by Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college, began here Monday.

The first formal meeting was held by 4-H club boys and girls early this morning with President T. O. Walton of the college as the principal speaker.

Extension Director H. H. Williamson and Carl B. Fritsche, Dearborn, Michigan, managing director of the farm Chemurgic council, were to address a general assembly.

Attendance topping last year's figure by 1,000 was forecast by Roy W. Snyder, short course committee chairman. Eight thousand were expected.

Hundreds of delegates arrived yesterday and participated in union church service last night conducted by Dr. W. H. Andres of Bryan.

The general short course program will be divided into sections for studying horticulture, dairy, livestock, farm crops and soils, poultry and wild life.

Newsman Plays Dead; Now Lives

GIBRALTAR, July 21 (AP)—Jay Allen, American newspaperman, said today he was alive only because he had played dead yesterday.

He was attacked by a mob near La Linea in southern Spain while motoring. His car was struck by 23 bullets.

"I threw myself on the ground behind the car when the firing stopped and played dead," said Allen. "After the mob had gone I got up."

"I was about to cross the line (into Gibraltar) when I was arrested as a suspected fascist, but later I was released."

"My chauffeur was seriously wounded in the chest and now is in a hospital. My car was wrecked and the luggage stolen."

Allen is a correspondent of the Chicago Tribune. For the last two years he has been living in Spain, engaged in literary work.

Parking Lot War Cuts Prices

Dallas operators of parking lots near the Texas Centennial Exposition grounds charged 50 cents a day—50¢ one week. Then they discovered the reason they had no business was because lots a couple of blocks away were charging 25 and 15 cents. Result—down came prices with a crash. SURREALISTS HAIL FAKER AS OWN KIN IN EXHIBITION HOAX

BY ROGER D. GREENE.

LONDON, July 21 (AP)—A bold hoax, aimed at the International Surrealist Exhibition here, hoodwinked show officials completely—but the last laugh was on the author.

For several days, the faked "surrealist" picture stood out among the real ones in a flowing cloak shielded him. The friend then drew the attention of an exhibit official to the picture. The official, Howitt-Lodge said, gushed:

"What an interesting picture! I suppose it came in after the catalogue was printed."

"Ah! But He's One of Us!"

When exhibit heads were informed of the trick, they were momentarily flabbergasted—but only momentarily.

"He may think it's a hoax," said one official. "But he's an artist, and unconsciously he may be a surrealist. Aren't we," he added brightly, "all?"

All the artists at the exhibition were busy explaining surrealism to visitors.

"Surrealism," said Andre Breton, Read The News Want-Ads.

62nd Oil Well Is Brought in

HOUSTON, July 21 (AP)—The 62nd oil field for the Texas upper coast appeared assured today near Nome, Jefferson county, where the Shell Petroleum Corporation brought in its No. 1 Carpenter for 21.5 barrels of 27 gravity oil on quarter-inch choke from broken sand at 6,005-58 feet. The sand was believed to be the Priol.

The new strike is about three quarters of a mile southwest of the Nome townsite. The nearest production is at Sour Lake, eight miles north in Hardin county. The Hull field in Liberty county is 10 miles northwest of Nome, and the Hankamer field 15 miles southwest.

MRS. MURPHY RETURNS
Mrs. W. B. Murphy returned Sunday from Seminole, where she has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Fisher. She was accompanied by her daughter, Peggy. Mr. Murphy went to Seminole with his daughters, Loraine and Elaine, and returned with Mrs. Murphy. Mrs. Murphy was on a two-week vacation.

WHEAT IS BUSHEL

With wheat cutting in the Pampa territory nearly finished, the price today at local elevators was $1 a bushel. The market was even today. Little grain is being received although a few farmers are still harvesting. Row crops are badly in need of rain. Early growth was fast and favorable but wilting is noticeable now.

FOUR CIRCLES OF M. E. CHURCH SOCIETY MEET

REFRESHMENTS SERVED IN HOMES AND AT CHURCH

The four Methodist Missionary circles met yesterday afternoon with Circles one and two joining for refreshments at the close of the individual sessions in the church. Circles three and four met in private homes.

Circle one met in the class room at the church with Mrs. H. B. Carson as leader. Mrs. E. J. Husband was hostess. Fourteen members attended.

Nine members and three visitors attended the meeting of circle two, also in the church. The lesson was from "Outlook." "Christian Life was discussed by Mrs. W. C. House. The scripture was by Mrs. Walter Daugherty. Other speakers were Mrs. S. C. Evans and Mrs. Sherman White. Refreshments were enjoyed with group one.

Circle three met in the home of Mrs. W. H. Peters with Mrs. Harold Wright as leader, assisted by Mrs. Emerson. Study was from "World Outlook." Mrs. Kirshman led in prayer. Refreshments were served to eight members and two guests.

The home of Mrs. M. E. DeTar was the meeting place of circle four. Mrs. Ralph Chisum was hostess. The meeting was opened with the singing of Blessed Answer, followed by prayer by Mrs. DeTar. Following a short business session the study of "World Outlook" was conducted by Mrs. Frank Showell, Mrs. C. E. Waller and Mrs. R. E. Elkin. The lesson included reading of a letter from Yo Fang Wu, president of the college at Ginning, China. Present were 17 members and two visitors, Mrs. Gwyn Kimmingsworth and Mrs. Homer Wydner. Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Society Bride for Broadway Star

Joseph Downing, star of the Broadway hit, "Dead End," and the pretty young society matron, Mrs. Josephine Rodenwald of Milford, Conn., had reached the romantic "dead end" of divorce in their first marriages when they met each other. Here you see them in role of bride and groom after their elopement to Belaire, Md.

Frosty iced drinks, electric fans, shady porches—

They all help us to endure the stifling midsummer heat. But the family can't live on iced drinks alone—and certainly shouldn't try it! We can't sit before fans or on porches all the time, either.

There are other ways to combat the burning sun. One of them is to simplify housework in every way possible. Another is to do the major part of the preparation of meals in the early morning hours. Then, after the day's routine is planned, you can relax and think about keeping cool.

Insulated Oven Is Boon.

Use as little heat in your cooking as possible. An insulated oven helps amazingly to keep the kitchen cool. You can prepare a dish, put it in the refrigerator until time to bake and then leave it to cook while you dress or rest in the shade.

Substantial salads are tempting concoctions for hot rooms. Breakfast and dinner are eaten in the coolest hours of the day, but luncheon comes at the very peak of the heat and must be inviting indeed, to tempt appetites.

Quick breads that can be baked early in the day make delicious sandwiches for any occasion.

Desserts may be fresh fruit, served with sugar and cream, or frozen in sherbets and ices. Ice creams made with milk and eggs contain as much nourishment as do their first cousins, the baked custards. All the chilled gelatine puddings are refreshing.

If you plan meals the day before they are to be served, you can do your cooking early in the morning and not have to rush to the mar-

MISS CLAYTON IS BETA SIGMA PHI HOSTESS

MRS. ROSE IS GUEST SPEAKER MONDAY EVENING

Beta Sigma Phi met in social session last night at the home of Miss Ann Clayton, 410 East Foster avenue. Mrs. Tom Rose was guest speaker. Her subject was Parliamentary Rule which was followed by open discussion and a questionnaire.

Mrs. LaVena Wooley was in charge of the study course from the national office. Discussion of conduct, expression and purpose was continued.

A ritual jewel ceremony will be conducted at the home of Mrs. Raymond Harrah next Monday night when probation period will end for several prospective members. At the ceremony they will be given membership jewels.

Delicious refreshments were served to Mrs. Rose, Mrs. Wooley, Mrs. Raymond Harrah, Miss Frances Stark, Miss Clotilde M. Callister, Mrs. Era Smith, Miss Jewell Binford, Miss Lois Hinton, Miss Jewell Shaw, Miss Faye Gilbert, Miss Alice Gordon and the hostess.

While President Roosevelt continued his sailor's vacation and his Republican opponent, Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas, completed his acceptance address and reeked pending its delivery Thursday, their campaign leaders talked about prospects in the fall election.

Democratic Chairman James A. Farley described as "too foolish to be worthy of comment," a statement by Rev. Charles E. Coughlin that the union party would elect a majority in the house.

Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., Republican campaign manager in the east, declared Landon would lose to voters by the union party effect in the east, he said, would be to "make the states doubly sure for us."

Completion of Landon's 3,500 word acceptance speech centered attention for the time being upon Topeka and the opening of the Republican standard bearer's drive. While there was no definite word regarding the subject matter of the address, observers looked for emphasis on such problems as agriculture, relief, employment, finance, tariff, monetary and the constitution. The address will be delivered at 8 p. m. (CST) Thursday, over a national hookup.

While Landon made ready for the address, Chairman John D. M. Hamilton remained in the east, and the Baltimore Sun said he conferred with Gov. Landon on the subject of Governor Alfred E. Smith, foe of the New Deal.

"Mr. Hamilton begged the New Yorker to join actively in the fight to defeat the re-election of President Roosevelt," said the Sun's copyright story. "The Republican leader wants Mr. Smith to take the stump for Governor Landon, as former Governor Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts has agreed to do."

The Sun story expressed the writer's belief, however, that Smith would make no speeches under the auspices of the republican national committee, but might speak against Mr. Roosevelt.

Lemke Drive Cannot Weaken Parties, Say Chiefs

WASHINGTON, July 21. (AP)—Major party leaders, in the midst of campaign preparations, today professed to see no weakening of their party lines as a result of Rep. William Lemke's union party presidential drive.

While President Roosevelt continued his sailor's vacation and his Republican opponent, Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas, completed his acceptance address and reeked pending its delivery Thursday, their campaign leaders talked about prospects in the fall election.

Democratic Chairman James A. Farley described as "too foolish to be worthy of comment," a statement by Rev. Charles E. Coughlin that the union party would elect a majority in the house.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

Remember, too, that it takes time to chill salads and resserts. Here is a main dish salad that is inexpensive enough to serve frequently but looks festive enough for company use.

Tomorrow's Menu.

BREAKFAST: Apple sauce, cereal cooked with dates, cream, crisp toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Salmon salad loaf, date and nut bread, watermelon, tea, cocoa.

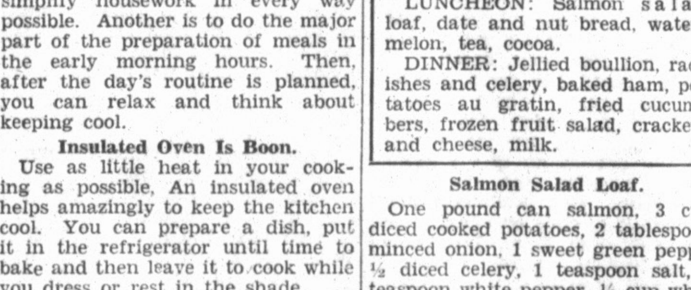

DINNER: Jellied bouillon, radishes and celery, baked ham, potatoes au gratin, fried cucumbers, frozen fruit salad, crackers and cheese, milk.

Salmon Salad Loaf.

One pound can salmon, 3 cups diced cooked potatoes, 2 tablespoons minced onion, 1 sweet green pepper, 1/2 diced celery, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon white pepper, 1/2 cup whipping cream, 2 tablespoons granulated gelatin, 1-3 cup cold water, 1 cup boiling water, 1 cup mayonnaise, curly endive, 2 tomatoes, 1 cucumber, 3 tablespoons lemon juice.

Remove skin and bones from salmon and flake. Sprinkle with lemon juice. Sprinkle potatoes with onion. Remove seeds and pith from pepper and shred. Combine salmon, potatoes, celery and pepper. Season with salt and pepper. Sprinkle gelatin over cold water, add boiling water and stir until dissolved. Cool. Combine with mayonnaise and fold in cream which has been whipped until firm. Fold in salmon mixture, and turn into a wet loaf mold. Chill until firm. Turn out on a chilled platter and garnish with endive and fingers of peeled cucumber.

GARY COOPER IS $4,000,000 PAWN IN STAR RAIDING FIGHT

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 21. (AP)—A new film war was underway today between two major studios with Gary Cooper, rated a $4,000,000 asset, as the prize.

While the lean, towering actor, who used to make $750 a day as a cowboy extra, vacationed aboard Cecil B. De Mille's yacht, his employers of ten years, Paramount productions, fired the opening gun with a suit in federal court.

The complaint asked $3,000,000 actual damages and punitive damages of $1,000,000 from Producer Samuel Goldwyn, for allegedly thwarting Paramount's attempt to sign Cooper to a new four contract and instead placing him under the Goldwyn banner.

Indicating he was ready to launch a counter-offensive, shrewd showman Goldwyn admitted he had acquired Cooper's services and added: "I haven't seen the complaint, but I do not understand any theory on which any such claim can be based."

"Such conduct as that alleged in our complaint is not a breach of good morals and ethics, but is a violation of the law," sharply declared the movie pioneer, Adolph Zukor, chairman of the board of Paramount.

Cooper's Paramount contract expires next December 4, the complaint set forth, and he had agreed last January to continue with the company another four years when Goldwyn persuaded him to break off such negotiations.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Frederic J. Haskin
A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Pampa Daily News' Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for reply.

Q. Is aquaplaning a safe sport?
D. S.
A. Red Cross Courier says that it is distinctly not a sport for novices or for any but the most expert water man.

Q. What is the best season to visit a dude ranch?
C. H.
A. It depends upon the ranch and the person. Some ranches are open the year round; some have a winter season; some a summer season. It depends upon the location and the climate. A person can find a suitable place to suit his taste and his vacation period.

Q. Does a veteran of the World War have to come within his state's apportionment for a civil service position?
A. M.
A. He does not have to prove his residence, but does not have to come within the state's quota, and does receive preference.

Q. What kind of building material is tabby?
G. S.
A. It is a composite of oyster-shell, lime, and concrete which the Spanish first employed. Tabby is an adaptation of tapia, the Spanish name for the material.

Q. Who owns the largest acreage of agricultural lands?
R. W. H.
A. William Randolph Hearst is the owner of the largest acreage of agricultural and pastoral lands in this country. It is estimated that three of his ranches alone have a combined area of one million two hundred thousand acres. In addition, he owns seven other large tracts of land in Mexico, California, and Florida.

Q. What kind of fruit is a calavo?
E. W.
A. It is an improved variety of the avocado or alligator pear.

Q. How much space is covered by the Croydon Airdrome?
E. F. H.
A. This airdrome near London occupies 400 acres.

Q. What character is considered the prototype of the stage villain?
L. P.
A. Charlotte Cushman, in talking to a group of actors, said that Macbeth is the father of all stage villains.

Q. Who is president of the Delphinium Society of America?
E. R.
A. The noted photographer, Edward Steichen, is president of the organization.

Q. What is the quotation about the fact that Time stays, we go?
F. A. C.
A. "Time goes, you say? Ah, no! Alas, time stays, we go" is from the Paradox on Time, by Austin Dobson.

Q. Did American firms supply any of the equipment for the Queen Mary?
M. G.
A. Twelve American firms supplied some of the equipment for the British liner.

Q. Where did Gracie Allen go to school?
E.
A. The comedienne was a student at the Star of the Sea Convent in San Francisco.

Q. For what is tartaric acid used?
R. L.
A. Tartaric acid is used in medicine, dyeing, bleaching, calico printing and the manufacture of cooling drinks. It is sometimes used as an ingredient of baking and Seiditz powders.

Q. For whom was Lake George, Fla., named?
D. K.
A. It is believed that it was named for George II of England. This British was the ruler while Florida was under the domination of the British, 1763-1783.

Q. What year was oil first in Oil City, Pa.?
M. K.
A. It occurred on June 5, 1892. Burning oil came down Oil Creek from Titusville, a distance of 18 miles, and swept over the city. More than a hundred persons were killed. The damage was estimated to be a million dollars.

Q. How many people live in Banff, Alberta?
R. D.
A. The town has a permanent population of 2,500, but during the summer season has about 6,000 inhabitants.

Q. What is the title which King Edward recently conferred on his mother?
K. G.
A. King Edward VIII conferred on Queen Mary the title of Dame of the Grand Cross of the Victorian Order.

Q. England already has had the disagreeable sensation of being whipsawed between Hitler and Mussolini.

Q. Worrying and fussing about the Italian war in Ethiopia—and fearing the while that her Mediterranean fleet might be blown up if she got very tough about it, she was in no position to protest vigorously when Germany marched into the Rhineland.

Q. England now has to worry over the possibility that the next time Germany makes an overt move somewhere in Europe, Italy will pull a fast one which involves Britain's interests somewhere else.

Q. Yugo-Slavia, a nominal ally to France, recently caved in and made a secret political agreement—as well as commercial and financial agreements publicly announced—with Germany as to Austria. She agreed, it is understood, to march into Austria in case of a restoration of the Hapsburg dynasty.

Q. There are reports that Germany, meanwhile, is secretly promoting such restoration and using Yugo-Slavia as a cat's-paw in the hope that after Yugo-Slav troops enter Austria it will be easy for Austrian Nazis to take over the government.

Q. An Ohio health expert suggests that people who suffer from the heat take a pinch of salt, advice which any perspiring cynic will take with a pinch of salt.

Q. Max Schmeling's house in Germany was struck by lightning. No one, however, was hurt, so the lightning can quit trembling.

Q. It's a wonder that, this summer, politicians haven't seen the possibility of a "cold standard."

HOW'S your HEALTH

Rheumatism
Until it is possible to differentiate a gen disease from others with similar symptoms, it is not possible to search intelligently for its cause or to institute effective treatment.

Take those diseases collectively called rheumatism. As the term is commonly employed, it covers a large variety of symptoms centering about muscle, bone and joint disturbances.

Rheumatism, it is estimated, affects 10 per cent of all persons past 40. It is 12 times as prevalent as cancer, and one-fortieth as fatal. The disease is more frequent among outdoor than indoor workers, more prevalent in rural than urban communities, and twice as frequent among the poor as the well-to-do.

The American committee for the control of rheumatism in a recent report has formulated a classification of rheumatism under six headings: those rheumatic conditions which are attributable to injury; those caused by known and established infections; those which are possibly or probably chargeable to an infection or to the poisonous products of germs; those which are essentially due to degenerative changes in tissues; those which are probably due to recognizable or suspected chemical derangements, and the sixth group embracing miscellaneous types of rheumatism which still remain unclassifiable.

Obviously, no single mode of treatment can ever be expected to prove effective in "rheumatism." On the contrary, treatment promising any good must be based on a careful diagnosis which establishes the type of the rheumatic disease, and which fits the therapy to the condition.

The report stresses the prominent role played by trauma or injury in the development of joint diseases. Chronic or repeated injury of joints may cause changes in their structure which are at first symptomless. The damage becomes apparent only when some unusual strain is placed upon the affected joint.

probable that women do not do so either, and since the early training of children depends primarily on the mother, the early home training of her daughters is apt to be very much in line with her own. It is now pretty generally acknowledged that there is great value in the collecting habit and in the possession of a good, active hobby. If in spite of their own indifference to these things, mothers can be brought to recognize their importance, they can train their daughters to develop along the same lines which boys have for so many generations followed.

True, the mother who herself knows none of the joys of collecting, who has no speciality of her own to which she devotes her leisure time, is not really equipped for teaching her daughters to achieve these means of recreation and joy. She would do well to collect something, if it is only embroidery cottons or china elephants; to take up

Training Collectors
By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH
Psychologists are prone to make the statement that the instinct to collect and the tendency to have hobbies are more usual among boys than among girls. They seem unable to find any reason for the difference but are nearly unanimous in stating it as a fact.

It does not seem probable, however, that the habit of collecting and of hobbies is a natural instinct granted only to the male. It is much more likely that it is the result of early environment and education. Since girls do not as a rule make collections or have hobbies it is

HOUSE OF SHADOWS by Ida R. Gleason

CHAPTER VII
Claire watched alone at Bob Steele's bedside. Hannah had gone to get a room ready for herself, and Susie was busy about her kitchen duties. A foreboding stillness hung over the old house. Only the sound of the breeze in the pine tree and the faint, uneven dripping of the eaves could be heard. Claire moved to the window, hoping to see Pat returning.

As she came back to the side of the injured man she noticed that his eyelids fluttered. She laid her cool hand on his forehead. "Claire," white lips formed the word.

"Yes, Bob, I'm here. What is it?" "Dear, I—I love you," the murmur trailed into silence, and Claire knew he was still unconscious.

For a minute she stood looking down at Bob in amazement. Of course it was only delirium; Bob didn't know what he was saying. She turned away and caught a glimpse of herself in the mirror of an ancient dressing table. If both these young men were in love with her, when she was practically engaged to Nick Baum—what a mess, what a dreadful mess it had all become!

Her thoughts were broken by the sound of the door opening, and Hannah beckoned her from the room. She led Claire to the recess of a deep bay window. "I caught her red-handed! Going through your bag," she whispered.

"What do you mean, Hannah?" "Just what I'm sayin'. I came into your room and there was Susie, rummaging 'round in your things. She kinder giggled and said you sent her for something."

Claire shook her head. "No, that was her own idea. But I can't imagine what she was after. I never knew her to do anything like that before."

Hannah shrugged. "I never have put anything past that woman." "Oh, well, you're prejudiced, Hannah. But I'll speak to Susie about it." She walked back to Bob's room, more disturbed than she had intended the maid to know. For some time she had been conscious of a growing suspicion of Susie, and this news did not in any way lessen the feeling. She determined to have a straight talk with Susie as soon as she could leave Bob. She had promised Pat to stay until he came back.

But the hours went by and Pat did not return. At last Claire called Hannah and went downstairs to see if she could find him. The house seemed deserted. Dan Dallas had been sent down to the village for supplies, but where had the housekeeper disappeared, and why didn't Pat come back?

Claire turned her steps towards the little cabin where Dallas stayed. She skirted the aspen grove, aware of a growing uneasiness, and hurried on to the cabin. To her surprise, the door was partly open. She hesitated, and after knocking once or twice, went in. Nobody was there. Dan Dallas, possessions were arranged neatly and everything was scrupulously clean.

"Must have had military training," decided Claire as she noted her uncle's shoes were lined upon a low shelf, with his clothes hung carefully above. In one corner stood his rifle. She picked this up and looked at it curiously. Was this the gun Pat had quizzed Dallas about the night before? She put it back, just as she had found it.

Giving another hasty glance around, she went out quickly and closed the door behind her. As she stood on the doorstep a rat peeped down at her from the logs above her head. At her slight movement, it scurried out of sight, but the next moment something rolled over the edge of the roof and dropped at her feet, evidently dislodged by the tiny animal's panic.

Claire picked it up curiously, then gazed at it wide-eyed. A silencer for a gun. She remembered having seen one in a play. What was it doing on Dallas' roof? The shot that had killed the watch dog, and come so near to snuffing out her own life had been fired from a weapon with a silencer. There was no other way to account for the lack of sound.

Dan would have to explain this to everyone's satisfaction or else— She hastened back toward the house. As she came within sight of the kitchen door, she saw Susie carrying a small, covered tray. From her arm an unlighted lantern was swinging. Something in the housekeeper's manner made Claire draw back behind a tree to watch her. What on earth could Susie want with a lantern at this time of day? The answer was given when the woman walked quickly to a large root cellar at the back of the house, and disappeared down the steep flight of stone steps.

Claire promptly followed. The root cellar had always held a fascination for her ever since her little girl days. Now a familiar coolness rushed up to meet her, mingled with an earthy odor. The cellar was very large and so cool that pieces of meat, securely covered with cheesecloth wrappings, could be safely hung from its rafters. Bins for vegetables took up one side of the room. Along the other side was built a huge wooden cupboard. Inside, Claire knew, were shelves holding neatly labeled glasses of jelly and preserves.

But there was no sign of Susie. Perhaps she was back in the avocation, whether it be bridge or fancy work, and follow it with real absorption. Otherwise she had bent persuade the father to undertake this part of the child's training.

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

By GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK—Turning the pages of a New York newspaper which devotes prominent space to social happenings, I observed a tiny paragraph recording the presence of Margaret Sullivan at an important Mayfair function. She was, it said, exquisitely gowned and quite the most fascinating personality there.

Here, indeed, is a modern Cinderella story. Four years ago this scribbling roustabout ambled over to Newark to observe the maiden performance of a new and somewhat shaky theatrical venture. It wasn't much shakes as a play. Those were the days when the blight was still on the land and actors haunted the vicinity of the backstage bulletin boards, waiting for the dread notice that signified their services were no longer needed.

In the past year this new and lovely girl who had come up from Virginia to essay a career on the stage. The night I was there she was, or so it seemed, the prettiest girl I had ever seen. But she wasn't there the next night. None of the cast was. The public's apathy was speedily sensed and the show folded.

That was the last I saw of Margaret Sullivan until she bobbed up in a motion picture. Now she is a star with an independent fortune, a glamorous career, and a bright future.

For years this courier has identified Ray Henderson, the composer, as one and the same with the Ray Henderson who is Miss Katharine Cornell's press representative. But now comes a dispatch from Los Angeles, which says that Henderson is working out the details of Miss Cornell's tour.

"It seems," he writes, "I am one of those fellows who have honors thrust upon them, all because a Buffalo composer changed his name to that given me when I was a bawling infant. You see, I am not the Ray Henderson who writes tunes for musical shows. That chap had a very good name, Borst, but apparently he didn't like it and so he hit upon the name that is mine. I never have met him, so I don't know why he chose Ray Henderson, rather than a thousand and one other names that would be much more attractive."

"For years I have been a press agent and strange as it may seem I like it!"

Well, representing Miss Cornell—who wouldn't?

Beachcombing along the waterfront you discover:

That small boys are going in swimming sans everything, leaping like young frogs into the river from those high pilings beside the docks. That you can get a dozen ripe bananas for 5 cents at any of the East River fruit piers.

That the tavern near South street offer a sailor's punch for 15 cents which would stagger a horse.

That the pushcart merchants do a thriving business with a dozen seamens, selling them hard-earned rings, brass knucks and cheap perfume (to take home to their sweeties).

And that the town's most breath-taking vista is still to be glimpsed from Brooklyn bridge just as dusk paints the skyline.

NEW SLAYING DESCRIBED BY DAYTON DEAN

SHOT NEGRO 'JUST FOR HELL OF IT' HE RELATES

DETROIT, July 21 (AP)—Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea announced today that Dayton Dean, confessed Black Legion "brigadier" in the slaying of Charles A. Poole, held told of a new killing in which members of the terrorist organization shot a Negro to death "just for the hell of it" May 25, 1935, near Pinckney, Mich.

The victim, Dean said, was Silas Coleman, 43, a World War veteran. He was lured to a desolate spot on the pretext he was to collect wages due him, Dean told McCrea, and shot down for the entertainment of a Black Legion drinking party.

McCrea said he would ask warrants today charging five men with kidnaping Coleman from his home here.

The men Dean accused of participating in the slaying are Harvey Davis, Jack Banner and Ervin D. Lee, who are held for trial for the Poole slaying; Charles Boush, awaiting trial as accessory after the fact in the Poole case; and James Roy Lawrence, who was released after questioning in the Poole slaying.

In a formal statement to McCrea, Dean said Coleman was killed because one of Dean's superiors in the Black Legion said he wanted to "see what it feels like" to shoot a Negro.

Four members of the Black Legion and their wives were spending a week-end at a cottage near Rush Lake, in Livingston county, and the slaying was arranged to furnish "a little excitement" for the men in the party, Dean related.

The Black Legion members, he said, induced the Negro to accompany them, led him into an isolated section of marshland, and opened fire. Wounded by one bullet, Cole-

LEWIS LEADERS PONDER BID TO 'STAND TRIAL'

'Insurrection' To Be Charge Against 'Rebel'

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—Headed by John L. Lewis, representatives of unions including one third of the American Federation of Labor's membership assembled today to decide what to do about an "invitation" to stand trial on charges of "insurrection."

John P. Frey, veteran president of the federation's metal trades department, brought the charges before the A. F. of L. executive council after the 12 unions in Lewis' committee for industrial organization announced their intention to organize steel, automobiles and rubber without regard for craft lines.

Frey maintained this policy violated federal law, and that even the establishment of the committee constituted rebellion.

The council then "invited and requested" the 12 unions to send representatives to a hearing August 3. Lewis was represented today as feeling that the whole proceeding with a suspension threat in the background—was illegal. He has been advised by counsel that the federation convention alone can try and suspend member unions.

In usual well informed labor quarters, it was said that the mine union chief would decide to attend the trial only if he felt it would be good policy and that the 11 unions affiliated with him would follow his lead.

Efforts to reconcile the warring factions of craft and industrial unionists virtually had come to a halt today. George M. Harrison, president of the railway clerks and chief peace maker, was said to be out of town. William Green, A. F. of L. president, told reporters that he knew of no conferences slated for the next few days.

Youth Trapped When He Fails To Spell Name

PHOENIX, Ariz., July 21 (AP)—An Amarillo, Tex. youth, trapped by a police investigator because he picked an alias he couldn't spell, signed an extradition warrant today as Elmer Charley Tatum, 18.

E. C. Moore, the investigator, said the boy first gave his name as Pat Thomas.

"Write it," Moore said, pushing a pencil and paper toward him.

He misspelled Thomas. Moore said the youth was wanted for car theft.

PRORATION ORDER DELAYED AUSTIN, July 21 (AP)—Railroad Commission action today that issuance of the monthly proration order would be delayed, possibly for several days. man fled in terror, he said, but the terrorists tracked him down and emptied their guns into his body. Coleman's body was found by a fisherman. It had been pierced by 18 bullets and was dropped against a pole in the marsh.

RAINS FAIL TO BENEFIT MUCH OF MID-WEST

JOB FOR VICTIMS OF AREA PROVIDED BY GOVERNMENT

CHICAGO, July 21 (AP)—Reports that recent rains had failed to shake the drought in a wide area of the corn and cattle belt centered attention of federal and state officials today on a long range program for relieving the stricken dwellers. Observers in such typical drought ravaged states as Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri, Oklahoma, Montana, Illinois and the Dakotas said that in much of their territories the rainfall either came too late or was insufficient to counteract the effects of prolonged aridity.

At Washington the Works Progress administration announced authorization of 69,000 drought relief jobs in North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Wyoming and Colorado and 20,000 in the south.

WPA officials asserted 350 water conservation projects in the western states already had put 24,150 men to work providing almost the sole source of employment for needy farmers. All approved projects, the announcement said, would be completed, requiring an average of five months.

The Resettlement administration, distributing $3,393,000 in direct subsistence grants to farmers, explained its general plan called for the removal of hard hit families to fertile land as close as possible to their former homes.

In Oklahoma water for livestock was seen as the vital need, with feed a secondary consideration. The southern part of the farmers were ready to plant millet, sudan, canes and grain sorghum if good rains materialized. The WPA planned work for 25,000 farmers to begin in a week or ten days and the Resettlement administration mailed subsistence checks to 3,900 families.

Weather deaths during the heat wave which accompanied the drought were counted at upwards of 4,572.

TAX FIGURES SUBMITTED TO AUSTIN, CLAIM

TAX ASSESSOR LEECH EXPLAINS LOCAL ANGLE

Reports emanating from Austin that Gray county is one of only 17 counties out of 252 in the state that still has not submitted tax valuation figures to the state comptroller's department, were discounted today by Ewing Leech, county tax collector.

Leech said that Gray county's estimated figures were forwarded to the state more than a week ago.

"Inasmuch as our board of equalization to fix definite county valuations does not meet until Aug. 25, we sent our estimates in a week or ten days ago," Leech said.

The tax collector said that Gray county valuations for 1936 would be higher than the current valuation figures, according to present estimates. Gray county's 1935 valuation figure is $28,261,000.

County Auditor R. C. Wilson today was busy preparing figures for the annual county budget which will be studied by other county officials and presented for public hearing some time after Aug. 15.

The auditor commented on excellent tax collections for the county for the period ending June 30. Final computation, he stated, shows that delinquencies for the last collection period amount to only 6.8 per cent of the total tax roll.

Local officials expressed surprise that Gray county had been included in the list of 47 counties which are charged with not having sent in estimated valuation figures to state officials.

The law provides that county officials shall make the reports by July 15 and that the tax board shall meet within five days after receiving them to set the rate. The setting, however, always is delayed until near the end of July or in August because part of the counties do not make their renditions by July 15.

Pat Dooley, chief clerk in the comptroller's department, said the renditions had been coming in more promptly this year than usual. He expressed the hope that the remainder would be received before the end of the week. The board should be in position to determine the rate shortly after the renditions are completed, he said.

Other counties which Dooley claims so far had not reported were Baylor, Coke, Crockett, Deaf Smith, Franklin, Glasscock, Henderson, Hill, Houston, Karnes, Kaufman, Kinney, Limestone, Loving, Midland and Rockwall.

FDR HEADS BACK ABOARD SCHOONER LIBERTY OFF CAPE NEGRO ISLAND, July 21 (AP)—President Roosevelt put a week of vacation under canvas behind him today and headed back to the Bay of Fundy with Yarmouth on the southeast coast of Nova Scotia a tentative first stop. The 35-mile run depended largely on the weather. A soupy fog delayed the President to put back into Shelburne harbor, 15 miles north of here, after a morning attempt to slip into the Atlantic for some deep sea fishing.

Merchants in the capital, who earlier appealed to President Lazaro Cardenas to interfere in the walk-out, were reported preparing "direct action" of their own initiative. A session of chambers of commerce representatives was called to discuss a general business shut-down.

Railways and travel agencies reported all projected tours from the United States had been cancelled or postponed.

The strike, centered in the federal district and five surrounding states, was estimated to have darkened the homes of 4,000,000 residents and cut off power supplies to 3,200 factories.

To Have Picnic

Final arrangements for the Pampa Veterans of Foreign Wars chapter picnic Sunday will be made at tonight's meeting in the American Legion hall on West Foster avenue. Commander D. A. Bartlett has issued a call for all members to be present promptly at 4 o'clock. Tomorrow night a group of local VFW members will go to Borger for a social meeting. Others will go to Amarillo where a special initiatory meeting and social evening will be held.

Prowlers Reported. City police officers were kept busy last night investigating reports of prowlers. No arrests were made although the officers made trips to several different parts of the city. Following investigation the officers were of the opinion that the prowlers were residents unable to sleep and who strolled about their lawns.

Jail Still Empty. The city jail has been empty for several days. Last night was no exception in the quiet which has been keeping officers wary. They believe the calm is unnatural. Several speakers have been arrested lately by Traffic Officer Bob Irvin. Parking in the bus stop zones has also given the officer opportunity to present tickets.

Civil Service Exams. Student Aid, $1,440 a year, Soil Conservation Service, Department of Agriculture. Three years' college training with major work related to the optional subject chosen; required; no previous military service. Exams completed prior to May, 1933. Optional subjects are: Agricultural engineering, agronomy, biology, farm management, forestry, horticulture, range management, and soils.

District Refugee Administrator, $3,800 a year, Bureau of Biological Survey, Department of Agriculture. Marine Surveyor (formerly called Assistant Inspector of Hulls and Assistant Inspector of Boilers), $2,900 a year, Bureau of Marine Inspection and Navigation, Department of Commerce. Optional branches are: Hulls, engines and boilers, diesel, and electrical.

Full information may be obtained from O. K. Gaylor, secretary of the U. S. Civil Service Board of Examiners, at the post office.

Power Strike in Mexico Continues

MEXICO CITY, July 21 (AP)—Labor and managements turned toward the government yesterday to attempt to end the electric workers' strike.

Direct negotiations between the strikers and officials of the foreign-owned Mexican Light and Power company were suspended Sunday.

Company representatives disclosed rejection of workers' demands for wage increases estimated to total approximately $278,000 annually. G. R. C. Conway, president, declared arbitration "the only rational way" to settle the differences between the power concern and its 3,000 employees. Merchants in the capital, who earlier appealed to President Lazaro Cardenas to interfere in the walk-out, were reported preparing "direct action" of their own initiative.

A session of chambers of commerce representatives was called to discuss a general business shut-down.

Railways and travel agencies reported all projected tours from the United States had been cancelled or postponed.

The strike, centered in the federal district and five surrounding states, was estimated to have darkened the homes of 4,000,000 residents and cut off power supplies to 3,200 factories.

NOTICE There are so many of my friends and customers inquiring as to whether or not I still own a store on the South side. I will make this statement: I do not, have not owned, nor had any interest in any store in Pampa, except the Pampa Pawn Shop in 5 years. Signed: FRANK ADDINGTON Owner and Operator of the Pampa Pawn Shop
