Rhinoceros-looking red ants are working like mad these days—as you may have noticed as you trip along sidewalks in residential Pampa.

These babies know nothing of the 30-hour week and are seeing to it that they are not going on relief when winter comes.

Every now and then you can spot one carrying a load of supplies bigger than himself, and within the past week or ten days it has come to the point where these hymenopterous insects almost block pedestrian traffic.

These ants you see scuttling thither and yon are all social, living in communities, burrowing in the ground, making chambers, and passages in which they store their food.

And, while we're on the subject, it might be well to mention that these Pampa ants have remarkable habits. In the perfect organization of their communities they are exceeded only by man.

This busy-body business of the ants causes one to wonder if they aren't working the double time, making hay while the sun shines because they have a hunch it's to be a long, cold winter.

Old timers tell you that the ants have put on extra shifts and work under the street lights in order to get ahead of schedule.

An ant, we suspect, is not so dumb as it appears. If you've ever looked an ant straight in the face you will have observed that his expression is practically blank and double nil. Occasionally you meet up with a human being who strikes you somewhat similarly.

No doubt you've heard someone referred to as being "ant-brained." Well, there probably have been times when you thought this was a dirty dig to the ant.

We're drifting off the track a bit. Getting back to the ants and how busy they are—some persons incline to the belief that the ants are working so hard because they don't want to be sold short when the snow and frigid winds sweep down.

Some of us might learn a lesson from these ants. For instance, if the money which will go into the Saturday night craps game, could be salted down in the bank, it no doubt would come in pretty handy on a bleak, wintry day when someone goes to the cupboard and comes back to inform you that the blamed thing's bare.

Personally, we can't grow sympathetic with the scandering Pampa ants. One might add that the town doesn't need a good nickel cigar half so much as it needs an A-1 ant-eater. Perhaps the B. C. D. could wire South America to see what can be done about getting an ant-eater to work to finish out the summer here. It should be willing to work without pay.

Speaking of winter, do you know that to please milady's vanity, about 30,000,000 fur-bearing animals are killed annually in the United States to meet the demand for fur coats and such? Some 20,000,000 of these consist of muskrat, opossum, mole, lamb, kid, marmot, and squirrel.

Tomorrow is the day you can sneak away from the candidates and into the polling places, chuckle up your sleeve and do just as you please about this election business.

For weeks, now, you've been button-holed, pigeon-holed, stamped and almost obliterated by a rush of campaign sputter and flutter. Tomorrow you will have your inning. The candidates are through trying to convince you of this and that. . . . The verdict rests in your hands. . . . When you walk into the voting booth, you are king for the moment. . . . Collectively, you can make 'em or break 'em. . . . They are the boys standing in the dock, awaiting sentence. . . . You are the judge, jury and executioner. . . . A king never had more power than you when you pick up the ballot and start the deadly work of elimination. . . . A candidate is puffy in your hands in that brief period you will spend at the voting box.

So far as your government is concerned, tomorrow presents your "hour in the sun." . . . It is an opportunity to be of great service to your community, your county and your state. . . . This chance should not be missed. . . . You owe it to yourself and to the cause of good citizenship to make careful, conscientious choices when when you go to the polls tomorrow.

As stated here before, we do not wish to appear in the role of a lecturer. . . . But, sometimes all of us need to be reminded a bit, as to

Dr. Brunow Critically Injured In Car Collision; 5 Others Hurt

HEAVY COUNTY VOTE TOMORROW SEEN

3RD MACHINE CRASHES INTO WRECKED CARS

CARS SIDESWIPED ON 'DEATH' CURVE OF LEFORS ROAD

Sharp curves on the Pampa-LeFors road were blamed for another accident last night in which Dr. V. E. von Brunow, Pampa's first physician, was critically injured. Five other persons were hurt, not seriously, however.

Rescue of the injured and their trip to local hospitals was hindered by ambulance chasers who crowded about the wrecked cars and lined the highway from Pampa to the scene of the crash, which was on the second round curve east of the J. M. Saunders home, five miles southeast of Pampa.

A second alarm was broadcast, with a different location given, and two more ambulances were dispatched south. With the highway lined with cars, the ambulances had difficulty getting out of the city. Drivers learned that all the injured had been taken to Pampa in the G. Malone ambulance, first dispatched to the accident scene, and in a car. Dr. Brunow, accompanied by Charles E. Hutchins of Carlsbad, N. M., park service employe at Carlsbad Caverns who is a visitor in the Brunow home, were on their way back to Pampa on a fishing trip when they met a car driven by Mrs. Roy Burns of LeFors. With Mrs. Burns were her four-month-old son, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Strach of LeFors.

Officers of the sheriff's department investigating the accident, said that the cars sideswiped each other. A third car crashed into the wreckage before the injured had been removed. The driver of the third vehicle had not been located at noon, officers reported. It was not known whether he had been injured, although a check of local hospitals and doctors' offices failed to reveal such a person receiving treatment. Officers believe he was taken to his home in LeFors. All three cars were badly damaged.

Examination of the hospital revealed that Dr. Brunow received a fracture of the left hip near the thigh, a fracture of the left knee cap, several broken ribs, and cuts and bruises. This afternoon attending physicians expressed belief he would recover.

Doctors received severe head bruises, a gash on his skull which required 12 stitches, and body bruises. His condition is not believed serious.

Mrs. Brunow who is seriously ill at her home, stood the news of her husband's accident well when told this morning.

Passengers in the other car were taken to Pampa-Jarratt hospital for treatment. Mrs. Strach was found to have suffered severe shock and lacerations about the face. Mr. Strach was cut about the eye and bruised. Mrs. Burns escaped with shock and body bruises. The baby received minor cuts about the face. Officers learned this morning that a coin purse belonging to Mrs. Burns had been stolen from her pocketbook. It contained $18 in cash. A pistol belonging to Dr. Brunow was also reported missing from the wreckage.

Election News To Be Broadcast on Daily News Party

Who's winning? That will be the paramount question after the primary polls close at 7 p. m. Saturday.

The Daily NEWS will have the answer in the hotly contested races at an election night party to be held on the N. Somerville side of the News office.

Loudspeakers will be installed and the returns will be broadcast over an RCA-Victor public address system installed through the courtesy of The Pampa Hardware and Implement Co.

A microphone will be set up in the News editorial rooms and the returns will be broadcast by Mr. Mackenzie, manager of KPND, the NEWS radio station.

The election news will be interspersed with a musical program to be arranged by Mr. Mackenzie. Police will rope off the street to accommodate the crowd.

First returns on the local contests should be available shortly after the polls close. The election night service also will include news of state and district races.

Because of the rush of getting editions together, the NEWS must ask the public not to come into the editorial department and not to tie up telephones by calling the office tomorrow night.

Detailed information will be given at the election party on the street and in the NEWS extra and regular editions.

The Daily NEWS will issue an election extra at 9 o'clock Saturday evening and the regular Sunday morning edition will carry complete results on all contests.

RADIO PRIEST PENS APOLOGY TO PRESIDENT

WILL DO EVERYTHING IN HIS POWER TO DEFEAT HIM

DETROIT, July 24 (AP)—A public apology by Father Charles E. Coughlin for calling President Roosevelt a "liar" was in the record today, but the same open letter to the President that contained it expressed an intention to do all possible to defeat him for re-election.

In a subsequent interview at his Shrine of the Little Flower, Father Coughlin said that "I have no personal quarrel with the President, and I believe he is well intentioned, but he succeeds in surrounding himself with crackpots."

The formal statement was published under the heading "An open letter of apology to President Roosevelt" in the July 27 issue of "Social Justice," organ of Father Coughlin's National Union for Social Justice.

Signed by Father Coughlin, it said that he spoke in "righteous anger" when he addressed the President of the United States in a speech at Cleveland July 16 the word "liar," and "for that action I now offer to the President my sincere apology."

The same open letter said that "as my President I still respect you, as a fellow citizen and as a man I still regard you highly, but as an executive, despite your excellency's fine intentions, I deem it best for the welfare of our common country that you be supplanted in office. To that end, I am a gentlemanly and courageous man. I shall strive."

The possibility existed that Father Coughlin's efforts toward that end might be restrained.

An American prelate in Rome said the church was considering action to curtail the Royal Oak priest's political activities, which have included endorsement of Rep. William Lemke as candidate of the Union Party for President. Any such action awaits the arrival at Rome of Bishop Michael Gallagher, Father Coughlin's ecclesiastical superior.

Informed of the apology, Dr. Francis E. Townsend said it "was the gracious thing to do; I think more of him for it." Father Coughlin, he said, "let the word slip in the heat of a speech" and "it should not be held too harshly against him."

In his assertion that President Roosevelt has surrounded himself with crackpots," Father Coughlin mentioned Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator; Secretary of the Interior Harold I. Ickes, Rexford G. Tugwell, resettlement administrator, and Dr. Felix Frankfurter.

He said that "I have half a dozen men in my parish with as much experience as Hopkins."

Candidate REBELS WOULD 'STARVE OUT' MADRID ARMY

BITTER BATTLE FOUGHT AT SAN SEBASTIAN IN SPAIN

By The Associated Press

An estimate of 4,000 dead in bitter Fascist-Leftist fighting for possession of San Sebastian, famous Spanish resort on the Bay of Biscay, was made tonight (Spanish time) by Colonel Villanueva, rebel commander.

In a vicious battle near Endarlaza, northern Spain, 55 rebels and an undetermined number of government militiamen were killed.

Casualties added to a roughly estimated 25,000 killed and wounded previously during the insurrection.

American Ambassador Claude G. Bowers, who had been summing in San Sebastian, was reported to have taken refuge at Puentebrabia, a fortress a few miles from the city.

The state department is advised that the remainder of the embassy staff had assembled in a hotel.

Villanueva, founder of the town most of the day with a battery of three field guns from hills to the south. He admitted San Sebastian was still in loyalist hands.

Spanish rebels fought leftist government forces only a few miles from Madrid while the Fascist high command was reported to be maneuvering to "starve out" the capital city and other strategic points.

The American state department was advised that two men, attempting a mission of relief for the American consulate at Barcelona, had been killed.

One was Santiago Isturruze, a Spanish clerk, and an unidentified chauffeur. They were trying to bring the Consulate George Jenkins, head of an American motor company at Barcelona, who was on the outskirts of the city.

The United States, France, and Great Britain agreed to pool their facilities to evacuate refugees. American and English refugees arriving at Marseille, France, from Barcelona said they heard General Manuel Goded and 47 other rebel officers had been slain in prison by their loyalist captors.

"Starve out" tactics planned by the rebels for Madrid by means of an army encircling movement were contemplated also for San Sebastian and Irun.

On a front a few miles northwest of Madrid, the government threw reinforcements into a mountain pass, called the gateway to Madrid, in an effort to stem the rebel advance.

The rebels themselves trundled reinforcements north to besiege rebel strongholds.

From Pamplona, Gen. Emilio Mola, northern Fascist commander, sped toward Madrid to take personal charge of the troops battling southward. Truckloads of peasant volunteers streamed over the highway to rebel-held Pamplona and to the San Sebastian front.

In Madrid a call was issued for reinforcements.

Reports received in Lisbon, Portugal, said a provisional government for Spain was being organized at the rebel stronghold of Burgos. Spanish Communists in San Se-

DISTRICT AND LOCAL RACES IN SPOTLIGHT

ABSENTEE VOTERS OF COUNTY BREAK RECORD

Voters of Gray county today were marking time until their visit to the polls tomorrow to make choices for precinct, county, district and state officers in the first Texas primary of 1936.

Candidates, for the most part, will wind up the active campaign tonight in the final rallies throughout the county, district and state.

The polls will open at 8 o'clock in the morning and will remain open until 7 o'clock in the evening.

Heavy Vote Seen

One of the heaviest first primary votes in years is anticipated in Gray county, election officials stated this afternoon.

Upwards of 5,500 votes, officials believe, will be cast tomorrow in the Gray county primary. The prediction is based on the record list of voters eligible to participate in the balloting. More than 6,300 Gray county citizens are eligible to vote.

This figure is nearly one-third greater than the eligibility list for the last election, it was stated. Another reason for expecting a fairly heavy vote tomorrow lies in the fact that a record number of absentee ballots, 453 in all, was cast before the deadline fell in the county on Wednesday of this week.

Final week of the primary campaign has stirred to the boiling point interest in a number of contests that will record beyond expectations of political observers who had predicted a fairly lethargic campaign right to the end.

Much Local Interest

Chief local attention is centered in the contests for sheriff, county judge, district court clerk, county attorney, precinct commissioners, justice of the peace and marshals.

There is much interest, too, elicited through the county and the Panhandle in the race for state senator between Curtis Douglass and Clint Small.

This has been one of the most severely contested of all the primary races, according to local political observers who have seen campaigns come and go.

Both candidates have marched up and down the 31st senatorial district to tell the voters of respective merits and demerits of issues in this particular race.

Small and Douglass wind up their campaigns tonight on Small's home grounds at Amarillo where both are scheduled for outdoor rallies and huge closing demonstrations.

Of course there will be a certain amount of unusual interest in the state contests for governor, railroad commissioner, and U. S. senator.

Quite a bit of recent stir has been created with the week in the 18th congressional district race between Marvin Jones, Potter county incumbent, and John R. Miller of Hutchinson county.

Local election officials said late this afternoon that all plans had been completed for the handling of voters at the seven Pampa and ten county precincts tomorrow.

Election judges had received final instructions and supplies were delivered to the polling places so as to facilitate the marking of ballots as soon as the polls open in the morning.

Officials estimated that counts on local and county contests should be known within two hours after the polls close tomorrow night and that the complete count should be in not later than 10:30 p. m.

2 COMETS ARE FIRST SEEN IN LAST 26 YEARS

Sensational Prediction Back in 1862 Is Recalled

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE, Associated Press Science Editor.

BOSTON, July 24 (AP)—The comet, approaching the earth at a rate of 25 miles per second, and Koha's comet, now retreating into space, are the first such heavenly bodies visible to the naked eye since 1910.

They are the first comets to appear simultaneously since 1812. That year two celestial wanderers were seen only 2,000,000 miles apart.

The current heavenly visitors have stirred interest in previous comets. Two were visible to the naked eye in 1910. One was the January or Johannesburg comet which did not attract much attention.

JURY RETURNS DEATH PENALTY FOR TRAMMELL

Convicted of Slaying Prison Guard in Pen Break

ANGELTON, Texas, July 24 (AP)—Luke Trammell, Retriever farm convict, was assessed the death penalty today for murdering guard Felix Smith in a break June 19. Forest Gibson, tried jointly with Trammell, was given a 60-year prison term.

Trammell, three times a convict and considered one of the worst criminals in Texas, was under sentence of 12 years from King, Taylor, Coleman, Nolan and Motley counties for murder, robbery with firearms and burglary.

Gibson, in prison his fourth time, was serving 10 years from Limestone county for robbery.

Court appointed defense attorneys indicated they would seek a new trial, particularly in the case of Trammell.

Smith was shot to death with a shotgun two convicts snatched from another guard, R. L. Steele, as the guards were taking a pow squad of several convicts and mules to a field.

Trammell, Gibson and T. B. Atkinson escaped on a horse and mule.

THOUGHT FOR ELECTION DAY

An Editorial

Tomorrow is first primary election day. Polls open at 7 a. m. and close at 7 p. m. It is the chance for the eligible voter to have his say as to whom he thinks best qualified to transact the people's business in precinct, county, district and state offices.

Many already are familiar with the various candidates and the campaign issues.

Use of the ballot is a mighty privilege. Abuse of the privilege is a violation of duty to which we are bound as American citizens.

Your preference of candidates should be made after careful consideration of the fitness of the individual for the office of trust to which he aspires.

We should not vote blindly. Choices should be made with a view to elevating, or retaining in office candidates who best will serve mutual interests of all the people.

That thought ought to be foremost in the mind of each voter when he goes into the polling places no the morrow.

Olympic Swimmer Loses Her Appeal

By ALAN GOULD, Associated Press Sports Writer.

BERLIN, July 24 (AP)—Lovely Eleanor Holm Jarrett, fun-loving swimmer, lost a frantic appeal for reinstatement on the American Olympic team today.

A sub-committee headed by Dr. Joseph E. Raycroft of Princeton heard the swimmer's tearful plea as special trainings carried the American team from Hamburg to Berlin but ruled that the decision which dropped Mrs. Jarrett from the squad.

Mrs. Jarrett established herself in one of Berlin's swankiest hotels and immediately sent a cablegram to her husband, announcing her determination to stand her ground. She cabled her husband she intended to make every possible effort to enlist support to regain her place on the team.

A sub-committee headed by MacArthur departed from the Manhattan at Southampton, Eng.

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM

This is the 75th birthday of Jesse Smith Wynne, an old timer of old timers, a real West Texan, a young man who came to the West when it was young but did not grow old with it. He has that rare capacity of remaining young. Ask the scores of young fellows in the town who will be shocked to learn that Mr. Wynne is 75!

A Panhandle cowboy in the 80's, a pioneer sheriff, a prospective settler making the "run" into the Cherokee Strip in 1883, a rancher on the first land sold by the White Deer land company. . . . His life would make a book entirely worth reading; and now he is 75. Been in the Panhandle since November 1880. (Our secret hope is that we will be only half as young as Mr. Wynne when we are 75!)

So here's a toast to Mr. Wynne on his 75th birthday! May he have many more and enjoy them. And we speak not only for the NEWS but for the whole town. Happy birthday! Happy birthday.

PISTOL-AIMING BRITON GIVEN WEEK IN JAIL

Hearing Continued to Produce More Testimony

LONDON, July 24 (AP)—George Andrew McMahon, bald Briton who drew a revolver at King Edward's military parade, was remanded to jail for a week today after a hearing on a charge of producing a weapon "with intent to alarm His Majesty."

The decision to grant a remand pending continuance of the hearing next Friday was made after Alfred Kerstein, counsel for the prisoner, had announced McMahon wished to testify himself and to call witnesses.

Sitting in the grimy Bow street police station courtroom in the heart of Covent Garden Market, the sharp-nosed McMahon heard Special Constable Anthony Gordon Dick tell how he smashed at the prisoner's pistol hand when King Edward rode by on Constitution hill eight days ago.

The hand had an "object" in it, the constable said. "I saw the object leave his hand at the actual moment I knocked his arm," he added.

Other testimony identified the "object" as a loaded pistol which clattered at the feet of the king's horse.

McMahon was on trial under the treason act of 1842.

GERMANS CHEER AS AMERICANS LAND IN BERLIN

Biggest Welcome Is Saved for U. S. Athletes

BERLIN, July 24 (AP)—Several thousand Germans, massed outside the Lehrter railway station, cheered America's Olympic team today as locomotives painted with big swastikas pulled train-loads of athletes into Berlin, scene of the 11th Olympiad.

Inside the station, a band played a Sousa march. Loudspeakers were hooked up to amplify every word of the formal exchange of greetings.

A huge American flag hung over the platform between two Swastika banners.

First to get off the train was Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic committee. He was warmly greeted and kissed on the cheek by the Duke Adolf Friedrich von Zü Meckelburg, a member of the international Olympic committee.

The American athletes, clad in their Olympic uniforms, then piled off the train. They were ushered toward the end of the station through lines of Youth Olympic guides in white linen uniforms.

Olympic officials including Hans von Tschammer-Osten, Dr. Theodor Lewald, Ritten von Halt and Baron von Gilsa, commander of the Olympic village, greeted them. So did Frank Leo, secretary of the American embassy, on behalf of the American colony.

The team then was taken to City Hall in mud-gray buses flying the Stars and Stripes. Up through the Unter Den Linden they went, through the Brandenburg gate where the Stars and Stripes were hoisted as they passed through.

Both sides of the street, all the way to City Hall, were jammed as though Chancellor Hitler himself were passing. A large contingent of police had been mobilized to handle the crowd.

It was the biggest welcome so far given to any of the invading teams.

JAMES JURY RETIRES

LOS ANGELES, July 24 (AP)—First degree murder or acquittal must be the verdict, Superior Judge Charles W. Fricke told a jury today as it retired to deliberate the fate of Robert S. James, barber, accused of drowning his seventh wife, Mary, after letting a rattlesnake bite her.

"This jury cannot dicker," Judge Fricke said. "There can be no compromise in your verdict—no latitude in your decision. There is no middle course. You must either find James guilty or set him free."

Eleven candidates in the screen residence were last night, they had been dark.

Trammell and Gibson were captured two weeks later in Limestone county near Gibson's home.

The state contended Trammell was the actual killer of Smith.

The convicts were hunted several days in the Mars Y. underbrush section near here.

They were taken to a point near Columbus in Colorado county. From there they fled across Texas in stolen automobiles.

Mrs. Montgomery Passes Suddenly

Mrs. Elizabeth Montgomery, 59, died suddenly last evening at her home, 318 North Starkweather.

Mrs. Montgomery moved to Pampa 11 years ago to make her home with a son, Carroll Montgomery.

The body lies at rest at Pampa Mortuary. Funeral arrangements will not be made until relatives arrive.

what our fellow man expects of us. . . Certainly a vote for good government, through the selection of honest and capable officials is something we owe to our community and to our state.

By way of extension about candidates pictures appearing in the news columns during the last week of the campaign—we might say that this is the result of an agreement entered into before our time here, and a matter of choice by the candidates, themselves.

ARKANSANS ARRIVE DALLAS, Texas, July 24 (AP)—A special train bearing 300 Arkansas citizens arrived here today for Arkansas day at the Texas Centennial Central Exposition.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Vance and son of Houston, former Pampa residents, and Mrs. Sidney Stout and son of Fort Worth, are Pampa visitors for a few days.

Train Whistling To Be Tempered

Shrill blare of locomotive sirens on Pampa's night air will be tempered somewhat in the future, according to a letter received today by Mrs. Alex Schneider, Sr., from R. W. Prentice, Santa Fe trainmaster at Amarillo.

When he spoke here at a civic club luncheon last week, Mr. Prentice made a personal promise to Mrs. Schneider and others to do something about the blasting of whistles on trains passing through the city in the dead of night.

Mr. Prentice sent to Mrs. Schneider the following copy of an order recently issued to all engine-men:

"Much complaint has recently been emitted from the citizens at Pampa due to excessive whistling of our trains and yard engines while operating through that city.

"While rules and laws require a certain amount of whistling and while enough of it should be indulged into to avoid possibility of accident, I feel confident that we are going to extremes. Will greatly appreciate if you will keep it to a minimum. I promised a very dear old lady (Mrs. Alex Schneider) at Pampa yesterday that we will do our very best to keep this whistling within reasonable bounds. I am sure you will respect that promise.

"R. W. Prentice, Trainmaster."

NEW ORLEANS COTTON. NEW ORLEANS, July 24 (AP)—The market advanced fifty cents a bale higher up to mid-session. The weather may show lack of rain in the northwest and speculative interests picked up a few contracts in Oct. and Dec. imparting strength to these options.

Some professional support was indicated by good trade reports and improvement generally in business.

Oct. sold at 12.37 during the morning, Dec. at 12.31 and May at 12.23. The opening sale of July at 12.82 was the only transaction in that option during the morning. Spinners takings held up well during the week. There was an estimate of 102,000 bales compared with 174,000 bales the week before.

CHICAGO GRAIN. CHICAGO, July 24 (AP)—Notable weakness developed in the corn market late today, and did a good deal to drag wheat down.

July and September corn suffered the sharpest tumbles, July fell almost 3 cents a bushel. Forecasts of rain in virtually all of the north central states where drought has been prevalent acted as a decided bearish influence.

Corn closed unstable at nearly the bottom most point reached, 1 1/2-2 1/2 under yesterday's finish, July 90 1/2, Sept. 87 1/2-3/4, Dec. 80 1/2-3/4, wheat 1 1/2-2 cents down, Sept. 1.03 1/2-3/4, Dec. 1.04 1/2-3/4, oats 1/2 to 1 cent off, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to an equal gain.

NAZIS REACT - FAVORABLY TO LINDY'S TALK

Germans Claim Their Opinion Is Same As His

BERLIN, July 24 (AP)—German aviation and political circles reacted favorably today to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's warning against aerial warfare.

The unexpected frankness of the American aviator in discussing the imminence of war in Europe at a luncheon in his honor yesterday was almost universally praised.

Dr. Hans H. Dieckhoff, in charge of American affairs at the German foreign office, said he regarded Lindbergh's philosophical address as one of the greatest short speeches ever written.

A leading German aviator, who requested that his name be withheld, said: "No aviator has so tersely expressed what we all feel as your American colonel."

Colonel Lindbergh astonished his luncheon hosts with the assertion that aviation had "abolished what we call defensive warfare" and had turned "defense into attack."

He then added this warning: "We can no longer protect our families with an army. Our libraries, our museums and every one of the institutions we value most are laid bare to bombardments."

Major Truman Smith, the United States military attaché who has Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh as his house guests, said: "Lindbergh began writing the speech Wednesday morning at our home after supper. The next morning he went over it once more, then read it to me. I knew at that time it would ring the bell."

Lindbergh's program today begins with a visit to the Richthofen air squadron. This will be his first direct contact with the martial side of German aviation.

A luncheon at the officers' mess there, a visit to the Olympic stadium village, a reception for foreigners and a visit to picturesque Lake Wannsee will complete his activities for the day.

Arguments End In James Case

LOS ANGELES, July 23 (AP)—The Robert S. James murder case moved rapidly toward another dramatic climax stage today—the jury.

Argument for and against the life of the red-haired barber were concluded, and Superior Judge Charles W. Fricke prepared to deliver final instruction to the jury of ten men and two women.

James' expressionless, carefully dressed, sat unmoved for the most part during the past weeks as the state presented its startling charges.

Accused of torturing his seventh wife, Mary, with rattlesnakes and black widow spiders before finally drowning her in a bathtub, he hardly blinked an eye when the prosecution produced its most sensational exhibits—two rattlesnakes, named Lethal and Lightning.

The body of James' blonde mate was found lying at the edge of a fishpond at their La Canada home last August 5. The state charged he dragged it there after the alleged bathtub scene to avert comparative suspicion with the death two years before of his fifth wife, Winona, in Colorado.

Wife No. 5 was found dead, her head submerged in a bathtub.

Hidden Rivers Sought as Aid To Drouth Area

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—Mystery rivers flowing beneath the surface of the land were described today by government officials as a possible answer to the drouth menace of the future.

A suggestion that "hidden streams" be tapped to water parched crops areas came from Morris L. Cooke, chairman of President Roosevelt's great plains drouth committee, which was created to formulate a long term program.

"We can learn a great deal," he said, "about tapping hidden rivers which apparently dry up in the summer but which in reality continue to flow beneath the surface."

He also tentatively suggested the building of thousands of small dams to "hold water where it falls" instead of letting it speed away to sea.

Western railroad officials gathered today at Chicago to consider a request from federal drouth relief officials for freight rate cuts on feed for starving livestock.

An ICC ruling in the capital yesterday, permitting special rates up to Dec. 31, paved the way for reductions requested.

A 50 per cent cut was suggested in rates for moving such roughage as cornstocks, beet tops and ensilage, and a 33 1-3 per cent reduction for hay and vegetable meals, in parts of the Dakotas, Wyoming, Montana and Missouri.

Tolley Talks to Texas Farmers

COLLEGE STATION, July 24 (AP)—H. R. Tolley, farm administrator, today told a gathering of Texas farmers he will do all he can to put Secretary Wallace's proposed system of commodity loans into effect.

In an address prepared for delivery here at the annual farmers' short course, he asserted such a program would give additional crop insurance to farmers which he said they now have to a degree under the existing farm program.

"To my mind, the insurance phases of the A.A. program are among their best features," Tolley said.

Secretary Wallace feels so too and he wants farmers to have additional crop insurance. He would couple it with a system of commodity loans that would store wheat, corn and other crops in times of plenty to be used in the years when drouth or other causes reduced production.

"I think such a plan is feasible and will do what I can to help put it into execution at the earliest possible moment. If it is feasible, the checks that come through drouth surpluses will be cushioned.

"Not only will additional protection be given the grower, but protection will be given consumers as well against threats of scarcity, or prices that are too high."

Just how the committee could put into effect this part of its edict was not clear. It was pointed out that Mrs. Jarrett is an American citizen with her passport and visa in order and thus free to go where she pleases.

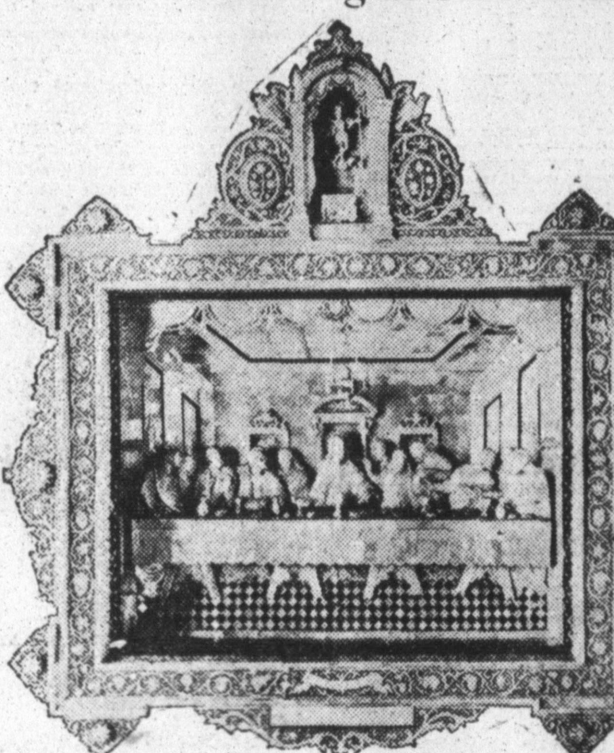

Mrs. Jarrett won the right to a hearing on the train en route to Berlin only after a struggle.

Named Poland's No. 2 Man

Gen. Edward Rydz-Smigly, who inherited the military power of Marshal Pilsudski when the latter died in May, 1935, now has taken over the late marshal's role of Poland's political leader.

Under a new proclamation, General Rydz-Smigly is to be regarded as the nation's first citizen next to President Ignaz Moscicki.

These meteors now appear every year in November in sparse numbers. They are called the andromedids, out of which they appear to come.

The spectroscope has identified cyanogen gas, an organic compound, in comets. Organic originally meant chemical compounds produced only in living things.

About a century ago chemists discovered they could make organic compounds in test tubes without the presence of life.

The Morehouse comet in 1908 gave signs that the mystery of a comet's tail might be explained as something like the aurora. The brightness and colors of this tail changed rapidly in a few hours time, much like the aurora, which is explained as the bombardment of gases by electrons from the sun.

The other was Halley's comet, through whose tail the earth passed in May that year. It was a giant, red spectacle on the western horizon just after sunset.

Halley's comet is named for a pupil of Newton's who made a sensational prediction when it first appeared in 1682.

He forecast its return in 1910 and it actually was seen within a month of the predicted date. That difference was accounted for by its passage close to Jupiter and Saturn.

In 1910 it appeared within two or three days of the calculated time, and is due to return in 1985, allowing 75 years for the swing around its elliptical orbit.

The idea that heads of comets are loose collections of stones and bits of metal received much confirmation from the visible break-up of a famous comet discovered just 110 years ago.

This was Biela's comet, first in 1826 by an Austrian officer who was an amateur astronomer. It returned in 1832 and in 1839, showing it took about seven years to circle its orbit.

In 1845 it came back as two comets, 180,000 miles apart, moving side by side. One was described as like a phantom hand holding a stick of phosphorus, the other as a luminous cloud. At their next visit in 1852 they were 500,000 miles apart.

They never were meteors on the date of the comet's expected return. They came into the earth's atmosphere from a quadrant in the heavens that would have been the comet's path.

Seven years later came a dense swarm of meteorites. Many astronomers concluded some unidentified force had broken up the original comet, and that its parts had spread over the orbit.

Gen. Edward Rydz-Smigly, who inherited the military power of Marshal Pilsudski when the latter died in May, 1935, now has taken over the late marshal's role of Poland's political leader.

Plains Citizens Back From Trip

Garnet Reeves, manager of the Board of City Development, attended sessions of the Southwestern chamber of commerce managers' school in Dallas while away this week. Accompanied by J. M. Saunders and C. A. Studer of Canadian, Mr. Reeves also attended the formal opening of the West Texas chamber of commerce exhibit at Fort Worth.

Mr. Saunders and Mr. Studer returned home Tuesday while Mr. Reeves went to Dallas. He returned last night and was in his office this morning.

Part of the WTCC display was a diorama of the oil bearing Panhandle counties which showed natural resources through pictures. The display was popular, the trippers reported.

MARRIAGE OF CHRISTINE COOK TO J. H. GALLIHER ANNOUNCED

NUPTIAL RITES READ IN 1934 IN MARYLAND

GROOM IS MECHANICAL ENGINEER AT WASHINGTON

One of the most unusual and novel parties of the social season was held last evening when Mrs. Charles C. Cook and Mrs. Mary Ellen Cook Webb entertained in their home with a Radio Amateur Hour at which the marriage of Miss Christine Cook to Joseph Hamilton Galliher, Jr., of Washington, D. C., was announced.

The dining room table was beautifully decorated with marigolds, blue lilies, and greenery carrying out the idea of flower plots and hedges around the miniature transmitter radio towers which stood at each end of the table.

SENATOR CLINT SMALL

The rumpus being kicked up by a few individuals and a few organizations in their attack on Senator Small has at last, to a certain extent, aroused the lethargic public, of whom I am one, and we now rub our eyes and ask what it is all about. Having investigated the whys and wherefores of all this concentrated turoce, I feel like I am in as good position to speak on this as most any one in and around Pampa, since I have lived here most thirty years, pay taxes, try to farm, lose money trying to become an oil producer, drive an automobile, and do the other things that the other average Mr. Citizen does. If, however, I am mistaken in taking this position then I do as Old Erasmus Tack does, "I apologize."

I find Curtis Douglass to be the opponent of Clint Small and now a good boy. This fact alone I don't believe entitles Mr. Douglass to supplant as Senator the first and only man to ever gain recognition for a people stuck away up on the north end of Texas, closer to Cheyenne, the Capital of Wyoming, than we are to our own capital at Austin, and who has done more for the Panhandle people in Austin than all the senators put together that we have heretofore sent to Austin.

The thing that concerns me, and that concerns you, most, is, what will happen to our carbon black industries if Small is defeated? This industry is the one that the Panhandle can call her own and the only industry that she leads the rest of the world in. The carbon black industry is to the Panhandle what the steel mills are to Pittsburgh, what the railroad shops are to Fort Worth, and what the ocean is to Atlantic City. It has maintained, built and is building, such cities as Shamrock, McLean, LeFors, Pampa, Phillips, Borger, Stinnett, Sunray and Dumas. Close them down and, not hundreds, but thousands of Panhandle people will be thrown out of employment. This would not affect just the carbon black industry employees, but would affect the butcher, the baker, and the candle-stick maker, the merchant, the barber, the car salesman, and what have you. You know, I am in favor of allowing the carbon black plants to burn a certain per cent of our sweet gas in the manufacturing of carbon black, rather than have any of them shut down for lack of raw material. I cannot see any difference in permitting the trunk pipe lines transporting our sweet gas to Detroit to burn to melt steel to make an auto wheel, than to permit our carbon black plants to burn some of our sweet gas to make carbon black to make an auto tire to go on the wheel made in Detroit. The complaint made by the large trunk pipe lines and the large landowners that are furnishing gas to these trunk lines, that burning such gas are furnishing gas to these trunk lines, that burning such gas are damaging or would damage them considerably, reminds me of what the late Will Rogers said about how terrible the big rich were suffering from the depression. Said Will: "Where they had three yachts they now have two, and where they had sixteen personal servants they had to get along now the best they can with only ten." Close down your carbon black plants and you fellows can bring forth your cows to eat the grass that Hoover spoke of that would grow in the main streets of our Panhandle cities if Roosevelt was elected.

And you truckers that have organized and agreed to vote against Small--You are doing as well in your business as any other man is doing in his line of endeavor, with your limited load of 7,000 pounds per truck. I don't think you have any occasion to complain. If Douglass has encouraged you in your demands that you be permitted to increase your truck-loads to 16,000 pounds, then I think old John Public, being car owners, and who have paid and are paying about eighty per cent of the cost of our highways, should organize to oppose this movement. I am not ready to be driven from the highways by truckers, and for you to haul a load of 16,000 pounds you would have a truck and trailers attached that would be half a block long. This condition almost exists in South Texas now during cotton hauling season, and if for one do not wish to further burden our South Texas brethren who desire to navigate a strip of a public highway in their own motor car.

And to you old folks who are wanting your pension money: If the bill that Clint Small sponsored had been passed, you would be getting your pension in full now. This bill was killed in the lower house and your pension status will remain as is until Small can get back down to Austin and tell the boys of the lower house: "I told you so. . . Now get busy and pass my bill."

And to you farmers who plant and cultivate your lands with engines or other motor vehicles--The only money I have made planting wheat the last five years is the money the State returned to me on my gas refund. I don't believe you have fared any better than I have, so give Clint Small credit for this saving to us, for he sponsored this measure also.

Clint Small has proved himself to me that he isn't going to hurt anybody or any organization by his legislative activities, nor is he going to permit any one or any organization to be hurt. He is absolutely safe, and we, the Panhandle people, have tried him on many occasions and found this to be true. Therefore it behooves us to act sensibly and not defeat the only man we have ever sent to Austin that those who be in power respect, and who can really protect our rights and interests; who went to Austin the first time without an opponent, and therefore did not have to obligate himself to any one or special interest to be elected, who is not fettered now, and who will act, not to serve my or your selfish interest, but who remembers that there are others who have rights also.

Respectfully submitted, IVY E. DUNCAN, (Paid Political Advertisement)

ELECTION RETURNS TO BE ANNOUNCED AT BALL GAME TOMORROW NIGHT

BLACKWELL TO ENTER DENVER POST TOURNEY

GAMES TO BE PLAYED SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Baseball and election returns will both be presented at Road Runners park tomorrow night, beginning at 8:30 o'clock. Fans will be able to sit comfortably in the cool grandstand and watch two teams who will compete in the Denver Post tournament battle, and also hear election returns as they are compiled.

The baseball game will be between the Pampa-Danciger Road Runners and the Blackwell Oilers of Shawnee, Okla. On Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock the same two teams will play. Tickets to the games are now on sale at all drug stores and by members of the Pampa Junior chamber of commerce which is assisting the Road Runners in their quest of publicity for Pampa through entering the Post tournament.

On Monday night at 8:30 o'clock the Road Runners will meet the Eason Oilers of Enid, Okla., another team enroute to the Denver tournament. With the Oilers will be four former Pampa players.

Enroute to Colorado Tuesday night, the Road Runners will stop off in Amarillo for a game with Metro park at 8:30 o'clock. Immediately after the game the team will show off for Raton, N. M., where they will spend the rest of the night. Arrival in Denver will be Wednesday afternoon, the day preceding the opening of the tournament.

Two new pitchers and an outfielder will join the Road Runners in Denver. A shortstop is already here and a hurler will arrive in time to chunk against Enid on Monday night, team officials reported this morning.

Lee Daney and Carl Stewart will be available to look after the Blackwell Oilers. Young Gustovich may also be ready to start a game in the big series. The birds may borrow a hurler to chunk against Amarillo on Tuesday night if one of the Road Runner regulars is unable to go.

Manager Ucal Clanton, former Cleveland Indian first baseman, will bring a crack team here for the two-game series. He has picked up a few old timers to mix in with his youngsters and the combination has worked perfectly. Three players who accompanied Clanton here two years ago will be back again.

Johnny Lisle, brother of Floyd Lisle, veteran Road Runner catcher, will be given a trial at shortstop. He arrived Monday to assist Ben McLarry at that position. Another newcomer or two may also be in uniform.

Manager Sam Hale is uncertain whether he will send Daney or Stewart to the mound tomorrow night. Doppers figure Stewart will get the call, leaving the veteran Indian for Sunday afternoon. They are guessing, however, and Manager Hale may cross them up or send Gustovich to the hill.

Arrangements have been made with the Pampa Daily News to secure election returns as they are received.

Famous Woman Swimmer Is Dropped From Olympic Team

Training Rules Violated by Holm, Charge

BY ALAN GOULD, Associated Press Sports Editor. HAMBURG, Germany, July 24 (AP)—The American Olympic committee today granted Eleanor Holm Jarrett's tearful plea for a formal hearing on charges that she had violated training rules but indicated that the decision dropping the great backstroke swimmer from the squad would stand.

Arrangements were made to take Mrs. Jarrett along to Berlin so that members of the committee might listen to her side of the case on the train from Hamburg. Mrs. Jarrett was dropped from the team as the aftermath of a stateroom party yesterday.

Earlier in the voyage the swimmer had been sharply reprimanded by the committee in consequence of an all-night party which started last Friday night. Her escorts on that occasion included Charles McArthur, playwright and husband of Helen Hayes, the actress. Miss Hayes did not attend the party.

The committee, at that time, agreed to give Mrs. Jarrett "one more chance" but placed her on probation.

The swimmer, broken up by the committee's drastic action last night and asking Olympic officials not to "ruin my life," was conceded the opportunity of telling her story by Dr. Joseph E. Raycroft after Avery Brundage, A. O. C. president, flatly had turned down her appeal.

Brundage, turning his attention to welcoming ceremonies, left disposal of the case in the hands of Raycroft, who is vice president of the committee.

Mrs. Jarrett was dropped from the team just before the Olympic ship Manhattan reached Hamburg. She was ordered to turn in her uniform and equipment and return to America on the Bremen, sailing tomorrow. Her entry in the 100 meters backstroke, in which she was a top-heavy favorite to retain the Olympic title she captured in 1932, was withdrawn.

The "Jarrett case," which began with a cocktail party last Friday and developed reverberations reaching a climax just before the Olympic ship departed, overshadowed the morning's developments including an impressive civic welcome.

A steady drizzle failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the reception. A police band played the German and American anthems and representatives of the Hamburg senate extended greetings. Brundage replied on behalf of the athletes and the entire Olympic party then was taken by buses to city hall for additional greetings.

'PEERLESS MEL' WON 1,500 AND 800-METER RUNS IN 1908

(Note: This is fifth in a series dealing with old-time Olympic stars and what they are doing now.)

By SCOTTY RESTON, Associated Press Sports Writer. NEW YORK, July 24 (AP)—"Mr. Sheppard, Mr. Sheppard, please!" Each day on the third floor of one of New York's large department stores (John Wanamaker's) this cry rings out above the bustle and Mel Sheppard—"Peerless Mel"—the last man ever to win both the 800 and 1,500-meter runs in the Olympic games, answers the call.

He is 53 now, white-haired, smiling and athletic for his years. When he raced to victory in the 800 (1:52.8) and 1,500 (4:03.4) in 1908 in London, he weighed 141 pounds. Now he weighs 194.

Now he weighs 194. He is an electrical engineer in California and won his letter in track at Princeton.

Sheppard resides at Wildwood, N. J., and surf bathing now has supplanted track as his first love.

PITCHER GETS THREE HITS IN SINGLE GAME

OKLAHOMA CITY WINS TWIN BILL FROM FORT WORTH

(By The Associated Press) TODAY'S GAMES. Tulsa at Dallas. Galveston at San Antonio. Beaumont at Houston. Oklahoma City at Fort Worth. (All night games.)

Fred Stiehl today had contradicted the old assertion pitchers don't hit.

He turned the mound duties over to Al Shealy last night and roamed right field for Fort Worth in both ends of a doubleheader with Oklahoma City. In four trips to the plate in the opener he punched out three hits which were good for as many runs. The score was 5 to 4.

In the nightcap Odie Swigart held the Cats to a single hit, which turned out to be a homer. Oklahoma City scored twice when Brittain, Cat catcher, threw wild in the fifth. The score was 2 to 1.

Dallas slipped a bit farther ahead of the idle second-place Houston Buffs with a 3 to 2 victory over Tulsa. Jimmy Levey poled one over the fence in the ninth to account for the victory. Al Baker slugged Tony York in a time mound setto.

Fans saw a fine game at San Antonio as the Missions knocked over Galveston, 8 to 1. Elton Walk-up allowed the Buccaneers five hits, while his mates were collecting 11 and performing sensationally afield. The Missions executed three double plays.

Rain prevented the Beaumont-Houston game.

Obscurity And Fame Clash in Golf Tourney

FAMINGDALE, N. Y., July 24 (AP)—Fame and obscurity clashed for golfing glory over the rolling hills and tree-lined fairways of Beth Page park today in the semi-final struggles for the National Public Links title.

Facing each other in the upper bracket of the post-man's golf show were Walter Greiner, an 18-year-old business college student of Baltimore who never won a tournament, and steady-playing, sharp-shooting Claude Rippey, Washington, D. C., haberdashery salesman, who has won plenty of fine course fame during his short career.

In the lower bracket also were strange contrasts. One was movie extra, Patrick Abbott from Pasadena, Calif., who dazzled an all-star pro field last winter to capture the Southern California open. Opposed to him was another stranger to hitting was another golf-smooth going Bruo Pardee, who shoots a fine game of golf when he isn't selling insurance policies to the folks at New Haven, Conn.

Ferdinando de Soto, who took home a $20,000 dust fortune from the land of the Incas, came to the new world after being excited by reports of the wealth of Florida.

"The rubber core ball, the steel the ribbed, clotted, or corrugated blade were introduced on this side. It is doubtful if golf ever would have become a really popular sport had not Coburn Haskell of Cleveland introduced the two-piece rubber core which revolutionized the pastime.

"The Haskell ball had just come on the market when I began playing," says Ellis Knowles, a member of the United States Golf Association ball and implement committee, who has been active in tournaments since 1905.

"It responded so much more agreeably to the touch, flew so much farther, and required so much less effort to hit that the solid guttie became obsolete within a few years."

THIS AD IS GOOD AFTER THE PRIMARIES—SATURDAY, JULY 25TH

Cubs' Lead Shortened As Cardinals Defeat Giants

Yankees Rout Lowly Browns With 15 To 3 Victory

BY SID FEDER, Associated Press Staff Writer

If the surging Cleveland Indians catch the Yankees in the current American league pennant chase—and that seems a lot more likely today than it did two weeks ago—the man who picked the moment for announcing Steve O'Neill's re-appointment as manager of the Tribe can take a large share of the credit.

That announcement, timed as it was to hit the Indians at their lowest ebb, will go down in the books as the smartest psychological move of the season—the spark that set off the Tribe's dynamite drive in the American league.

Always popular with the players, O'Neill's re-signing reacted as a bombshell to an apparently listless outfit, gave them something to fight for, and bounced the club right back into the picture.

Up to that time, the Indians were playing a shade over 500 ball, lacking the pep necessary to make a fight for the pennant in any league. Since then, they've taken 11 of 14 starts, have shown the hitting and pitching that made the experts pick them as potential pennant timber for the last two years, and have shot from fifth to second place, cutting the Yankees' lead to eight games.

They lost only their second start in 12 days yesterday, dropping a 9-8 decision to the Boston Red Sox, but only after a powerful uphill climb that saw them come from behind a 9-2 handicap to all but tie.

The Yankees, meantime, finally solved the pitching of the lowly St. Louis Browns with an 18-hit attack and ended their longest losing streak of the year at three games with a 15-3 victory. Joe Di Maggio, who has snapped out of his hitting doldrums since the start of the current western tour, belted two homers as Monte Pearson chalked up his 13th pitching victory.

Schoolboy Rowe turned in another fine pitching performance to give the Tigers a 2-0 victory over the Athletics and enable the world's champions to hold onto their place despite the 7-6 triumph of the White Sox over the Senators.

The Cubs' National league lead was shortened to two games as the Brooklyn Dodgers shoved over a run in the last of the ninth to clip the pennant defenders 6-5. The Cardinals, beaten twice in a row by the Giants, came through with a 4-2 decision to drop the New Yorkers back to fourth place.

Regaining the third spot were the Pirates, who slugged behind Cy Blanton's six hit pitching and trounced the Phillies 10-1. The Reds slipped into the second division again, falling 4-0 before the Bees and the five hit pitching of old Bob Smith.

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP)—The little birds are saying Mike Jacobs is flirting with the Madison Square Garden directorate again . . . the big reason for the sad plight of the skidding Yankees is the terrific batting slump of Gehrig and Joe DiMaggio . . . after the halfway mark is reached July 5, Di Mag dropped down to a 250 clip before rallying in the last few games . . . Max Schmeling is going back to Speculator, N. Y., to train for the Jimmy Braddock bout—if it is ever made.

This gem came over the air during a broadcast of a game in a western city: "Gehrig lifts a high foul into the stands . . . a fan is standing up to catch it . . . oh, oh! . . . he's pulling his thumb back into place." . . . The Elmwood Country Club of Marshalltown, Ia., has a "grandmother's foursome" composed of Mrs. Emma Putsel, Mrs. A. R. Cooper, Mrs. H. A. Kinnan and Mrs. George M. Davis . . . the girls can and do shoot a snappy nine holes in the low 50's . . . Ray (Peaches) Davis, new Cincinnati pitcher, looks like Walter Johnson, but only in the face . . . Lou Finney, first sacker and outfielder, is the sole survivor of Connie Mack's last pennant winning Athletic team.

Little did Col. D. Walker Wear of the state boxing commission realize he was making history when he stopped at the Hotel Astor bar for an eye opener the other a. m. . . The Colonel had no sooner ordered a shot of his favorite Bourbon than up dashed Manager Robert K. Those are football coaches you hear moaning . . . Said one eastern mentor: "My first team is O. K., but my second team couldn't make a first down against a strong wind." . . . Jesse Owens is going in for politics when he gets back from the Olympics. "Going to run for office, eh?" asks Victor Jones in the Boston Evening Globe.

The Chicago White Sox sure go for the Vernons . . . They have Vernon Kennedy, Vernon Washington and now, Vernon Wilshire . . . the coaches down at Texas Tech are trying to convert Ed Klein, the football manager into a tackle . . . DALLAS, July 24 (AP)—One of the state's oldest high school rivalries, Beaumont vs. Port Arthur, has gone by the boards . . . Twenty-three years of athletic relationships ended over a single semester . . . Beaumont's athletic council voted to drop the Yellowjackets from their schedule when the neighboring town declined to start their eight-semester eligibility in the eighth grade . . . They start it in the ninth . . . Decision of the Beaumont school precipitated the hottest argument in South Texas high school history . . . Beaumont officials argued its athletes should compete only on equal basis with other schools, thus eliminating possibilities of injuries . . . Opposition forces ridiculed the sentiment by pointing out a 130-pound fullback had played throughout the 1935 season against 200-pounders without a trace of official protection.

Few remember, but Texas almost had its first title fight more than 30 years ago. Dandy Dick Griffin promoter of Dallas' none-too-suc-

OFFICE-WORKER HELPED BY NATURAL LAXATIVE FOOD

ALL-BRAN Corrected Her Constipation*

Here is her voluntary letter: "For years I was a sufferer from constipation." It was necessary to take a laxative every night before retiring. I was an office-worker, and did not get much exercise.

"Some one told me that ALL-BRAN was a good remedy for constipation." I bought a box, and found that it helped my condition. Since then I have not had to invest in laxatives."—Mrs. Margaret Jones, 931 E. Laura Street, Clearwater, Florida.

Scientific tests have shown that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN corrects constipation* safely and pleasantly. This delicious cereal supplies mild "bulk," as well as vitamins B and iron. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Wouldn't you rather enjoy this natural food than abuse your system with harmful pills and drugs? Protect your family from the dangers of common constipation.* Serve ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity. Either as a cereal with milk or cream, or cooked in tempting muffins, breads, etc. Recipes on every package.

CAMPAIGN FOR STATE OFFICE IS UNEXCITING

DULLEST DRIVE WILL DRAW TO CLOSE TOMORROW

DALLAS, July 24. (AP)—Apathetic voters watched the dull Texas Democratic campaign in years drag to an unexciting close today, with little more than local interest in tomorrow's primary election races.

Despite the forecast for fair and moderately cool weather, political observers doubted whether voters would come anywhere near the 794,000 cast in the first primary of 1934. Polls open at 7 a. m. and close at 7 p. m. (C. S. T.).

Major issues, such as stirred the state when prohibition was fighting for its existence and the Ferguson were in power, were practically nonexistent. Candidates centered their fire on purely state matters such as old age pensions, tax relief and means of boosting tax revenues.

What public interest there was seemed to center in the governor's race, where the incumbent, James V. Alfred, was opposed by four candidates who bitterly attacked his administration, particularly with respect to the recently-adopted old age assistance law.

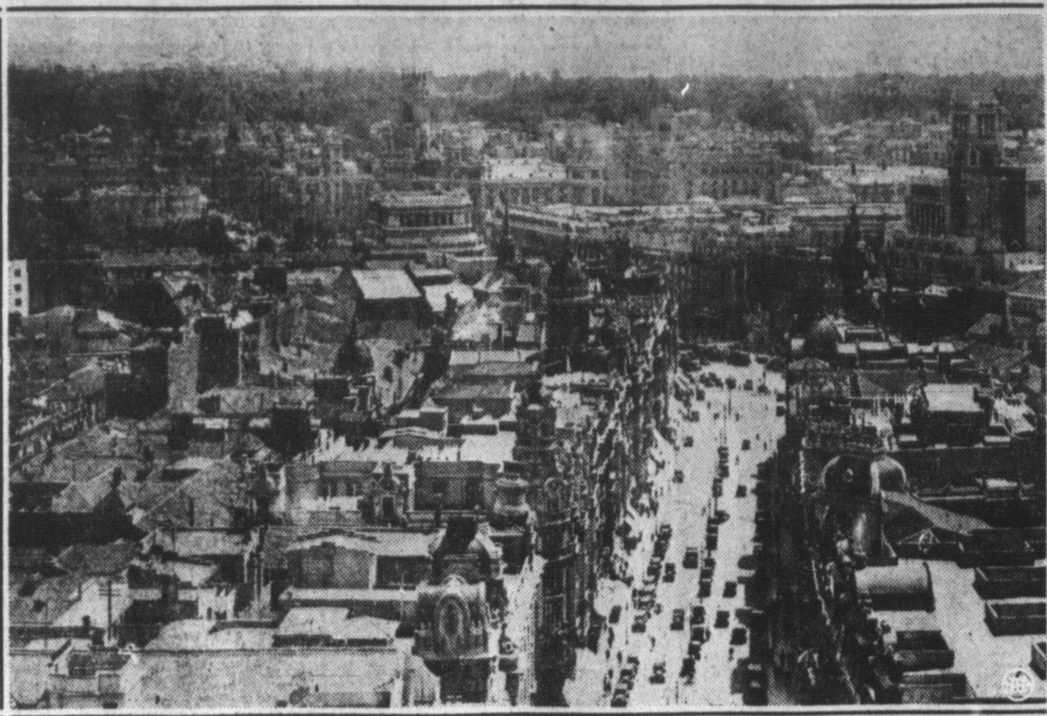

They chided Alfred for being a "ribbon cutter" who, by his many appearances at bridge openings, highway celebrations and building dedications had allegedly neglected state affairs.

It was their contention he should have more liberally interpreted the old age pension law in order to take care of all persons over 60 or 65 years old. They likewise found fault with his pension financing, saying liquor taxes were inadequate and that he should have found a much more prolific source of funds.

Alfred stood on his record, claiming he had done everything within his legal powers and, in fact, was due credit for obtaining pensions for the aged needy of Texas.

James E. Ferguson, former governor who has retired to the political sidelines, was backing a state senator, Roy Sandertford, in the gubernatorial race, while his wife, Miriam A. "Ma" Ferguson stayed quietly in the background, admittedly content to let someone else worry about the governorship.

Other contenders for the chief executive's office were Pierce Brooks, a Dallas businessman; F. W. Fischer, best known for his counsel in important oil suits; and Tom Hunter, Wichita Falls oil man.

The second state Democratic primary is slated for Aug. 29 and, unless a candidate polls more than half of the votes cast in his race in the first primary, he must fight it out in run-off against his strongest opponent.

Morris Sheppard, senior senator from Texarkana, was campaigning for re-election against a field of five. Strong support of the Roosevelt administration and the "new deal" characterized many of Sheppard's speeches. Opposed to him were Congressman Joe H. Eagle, Joseph H. Price, J. Edward Glenn, Guy B. Fischer and Richard C. Bush.

Due to the indisputable Roosevelt strength in Texas, there has been practically no controversy over merits of the national administration or the "new deal."

LONDON URGES 'FREE COMPETITIVE SYSTEM' IN ACCEPTING

'FREE SPIRIT OF ENTERPRISE' HE ADVOCATES

RUGGED INDIVIDUALISM IS THEME OF SPEECH

BY WILLIAM L. BEALE, Associated Press Staff Writer. TOPEKA, Kan., July 24 (AP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon summoned his chief aides today to develop in detail his strategy for battling what he calls the New Deal "record" in a presidential campaign "to restore our government to an efficient as well as constitutional basis."

John D. Hamilton, the national chairman fresh from an eastern swing and conferences with anti-Roosevelt Democrats, was called to the governor's desk.

In turn, visiting Republican chieftains, national committeemen and state chairmen, anticipated a personal chat with their presidential candidate.

Topping the urgent problems was the itinerary of campaign tours for Landon; his running mate, Colonel Frank Knox of Illinois, and Hamilton.

One possible guidepost was the nation's reaction to the speech in which Landon formally accepted the unanimous nomination of his party's national convention.

He told a vast throng which blotted out the south lawn of the 16-act capital square for "notification night" that "the time has come to stop this fumbling with recovery" and "to restore and to maintain a free competitive system—a system under which, and only under which, can there be independence, equality of opportunity and work for all."

The crowd appeared "with" the 48-year-old executive from the start. Again and again he was interrupted by applause. A demonstration of shouting, flag waving and band playing lasting nearly ten minutes when he stepped forward to speak.

"Shall we continue to delegate more and more power to the chief executive?" "No, no, no," shouted the crowd in one of the most enthusiastic outbursts of the evening.

"Or do we desire to preserve the American form of government?" Landon continued.

"Yes, yes, yes," came back the roar.

Once started on his 4,000-word address, Landon read in a serious, intent tone. He used no gestures, but now and then nodded his head and clipped words for emphasis.

Now and then he concluded did he smile and wave again as he had when he walked onto the platform.

Near sat Mrs. Landon, smiling at times at bursts of applause. Next sat the governor's 79-year-old father. He fanned himself occasionally but kept a steady gaze on his son. Peggy Anne Landon, 19-year-old daughter, had an eye for the crowd and happenings in the press boxes.

Hamilton opened the formal ceremony which climaxed a day of exceptional pageantry. Brig. Gen. Milton R. McLean, Kansas adjutant general, estimated a two-hour parade drew 120,000 persons onto Topeka's avenues, brilliant with banners, sun flowers and bunting.

The Republican chairman introduced Rep. Bertrand Snell of New York on this "happy and auspicious occasion."

The permanent chairman of the Cleveland convention then delivered the traditional notification speech, telling Landon "America will see you through to victory."

Landon was dressed in a light linen suit as he arose.

On recovery and relief, the Republican nominee said: "The time has come to unshackle initiative and free the spirit of American enterprise. We must be free from incessant governmental intimidation and hostility from private monopolistic control. . . . Those who need relief will get it."

Debts and Taxes: "Crushing debts and taxes . . . invariably retard prosperity. . . . Our party holds nothing to be of more urgent importance than putting our financial house in order."

Farm Policy: "The administration, through its program of scarcity, has gambled with the needed food and feed supplies of the country. . . . We shall establish effective soil conservation and erosion control policies. . . . We propose to pay cash benefits."

Labor: "An employe has an equal right to join a union or to refuse

The possibility that she would attempt a transatlantic flight to her native Sweden was suggested by the inspection of Roosevelt Field L. to join a union. . . . Under all circumstances. . . . to be free from interference from any source."

International Relations: "We shall join no plan that would take from us . . . independence of judgment . . . that might involve us in a war."

Constitution: "It is not my belief that the constitution is above change. . . . But the changes must come by and through the people and not by usurpation."

Among the reports which Hamilton brought back to his chief were the results of conferences with Alfred E. Smith and former Governor Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts.

They were two of five Democrats signing an open letter to the Philadelphia convention urging rejection of President Roosevelt's name.

Smith has declined to discuss his campaign plans while Ely has indicated he would take the stump for Landon. Henry Breckinridge, Democrat who fought President Roosevelt in several state primaries, already has pledged his support to the Kansas governor.

ALLRED STOOD MUTE, HUNTER TELLS VOTERS

GOVERNOR STRIKES AT OLD-AGE PENSION 'YARNS'

(By The Associated Press) Where gubernatorial candidates speak today:

Tom F. Hunter: Denton, 8 p. m. (radio).

Roy Sanderford: Marlin, 2:30 p. m. Gatesville, 8:15 p. m.

James V. Allred: Gainesville, 2:30 p. m. Wichita Falls, 8 p. m. (home town rally).

Pierce Brooks: Dallas, 8 p. m. F. W. Fischer: Houston, 8 p. m.

Texas' five gubernatorial candidates primed their guns today for their final salvo tonight in the Democratic primary campaign. Tonight the contestants for the nomination will halt their oratorical bombardment while Texans cast their votes.

Tom F. Hunter, making his third bid for the governorship, told a Dallas audience last night that Gov. Allred "has stood mute" before "my arraignment" included "gross neglect of the old people through instituting the political system into old age pension administration," and "ignorance of or indifference to the manifold benefits available to the needy and afflicted of Texas through the national security act."

He said he also had charged Gov. Allred with meaning to "manipulate the highway department to his political ends."

Roy Sanderford, speaking at Houston, explained his proposal for a graduated land tax for county purposes only. "Within the last few years," he said, "large insurance companies, mortgage companies, federal land banks and other land agencies have come into possession of many farms and large tracts of land in every county of the state as a result of foreclosure."

"To avoid the danger of those lands being withheld from home ownership for speculation purposes, I merely open this subject to the minds of the people as a warning and suggest that the time may come when it would be well for the commissioners' courts of all the counties to be empowered to levy additional tribute upon such corporations for the privileges they might assume."

He said it was the history of older nations that as home ownership decreased, there was a proportionate increase in the holdings and power

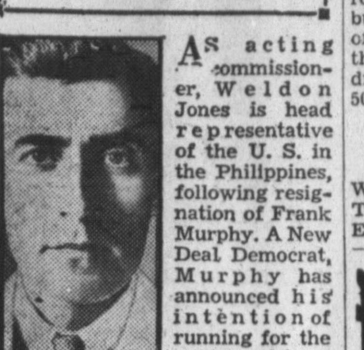

Handles Island Post Vacated by Murphy

AS acting commissioner, Weldon Jones is head representative of the U. S. in the Philippines, following resignation of Frank Murphy, a New Deal Democrat, Murphy has announced his intention of running for the governorship of Michigan.

"The governor has established his own assistance law, in direct opposition to the will of the people, whereby a small percentage of those entitled to pensions will receive a mere pittance."

Fischer said his plan for taxation of natural resources was the only sound, constructive program advanced by any of the candidates.

of the landed gentry "and overlords."

Gov. Allred spoke at Waco, where he said 12,000 names have been added to the old age pension rolls since July 1, when checks were mailed to 40,000 recipients. More will be qualified August 1, he said. He termed as "just another yarn" what he said were reports the pension rolls would be closed after July 1.

"There has been more misrepresentation, more misinformation and more misunderstanding about old age assistance than any other question before the people in years," Gov. Allred charged.

Pierce Brooks, appearing in Dallas, enumerated what he termed Gov. Allred's "shortcomings in office" the last two years. He said the governor made a political racket of pensions, made Texas ridiculous before the nation by parading "his juvenile stuff on a tour," had thrown the Ranger force into politics, "practically destroying its usefulness," and had threatened to throw the highway department into politics "as he did the Rangers."

He added the governor displayed a "weakness for movie cameras" and obviously preferred "a movie career to the state's business management."

At San Antonio F. W. Fischer said Gov. Allred violated the constitutional requirements in handling old age pensions. The amendment providing for pensions, he said, was interpreted as entitling those above 65 years of age to a pension of $15 monthly. "Instead," Fischer said, to avoid the danger of those lands being withheld from home ownership for speculation purposes, I merely open this subject to the minds of the people as a warning and suggest that the time may come when it would be well for the commissioners' courts of all the counties to be empowered to levy additional tribute upon such corporations for the privileges they might assume."

He said it was the history of older nations that as home ownership decreased, there was a proportionate increase in the holdings and power

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—T. Sasaki, harvesting in his fields, pulled up just a plain old garden variety carrot. With it came from the earth a buried gold chain—and at the end of it a $30 gold nugget. Sasaki thinks chain and nugget were dropped by a hop picker perhaps 50 years ago.

Senator Small's Sour Gas Bill Wastes Panhandle's Natural Gas

Senator Small's Sour Gas law caused to be popped into the air approximately one trillion, seven hundred billion cubic feet of our State's natural gas. The market price on this gas at the mouth of the well is four cents per thousand cubic feet. This figures a loss of sixty-eight million dollars; in addition, this waste caused a gas pressure loss on adjoining oil fields, leaving millions of barrels of oil non-recoverable in the ground. It take gas pressure behind the oil in order that oil may be produced.

For instance, one of the forty-three gas stripping plants near Pampa caused to be ruined two thousand acres of valuable oil land which will never be drilled. Before the stripping plants started, oil wells in this vicinity came in, averaging four hundred barrels per day.

The lease-holder now states the last few wells drilled on this tract came in on an average of from twenty to thirty barrels per well, the result of which prohibited the additional drilling for oil on any of this two-thousand acre tract.

This means that two hundred oil wells on which labor would have received five thousand dollars per well, totalling one million, two hundred thousand dollars which has been lost by labor.

This loss, bear in mind, is only one individual case. Therefore, just think what the other forty-two stripping plants operating over the entire Panhandle have done to our natural resources. Aside from the loss of our gas and oil, consider the loss that labor has suffered, which will run into millions of dollars.

What does this mean to the schools, the tax-payer, the land owner and the public generally? Can Senator Small, who has been in the Senate EIGHT YEARS, call this TRUE Conservation? Let the people rule, and

COMPULSORY HEALTH INSURANCE IN CANADA
A worker's health would seem to be of chief concern to himself, but in the Province of British Columbia in Canada another view of the matter has been taken.

The health insurance fund follows the same general lines which have been laid down in other countries. Both workers and employers contribute. Contributions by workers are fixed at 2 per cent of their earnings, but with a minimum contribution of 35 cents a week and a maximum of 70 cents a week.

That this system will be watched with interest by social security officials of this and other countries goes without saying. A health insurance fund is different from an unemployment or pension fund.

DAILY WASHINGTON LETTER

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON.—The amusing and exciting aspects of the Townsend movement's convention in Cleveland still gave little indication as to the size of the vote that the Lemke ticket will roll us this year.

Among politicians, hardly anyone has been heard of who is at the moment guessing a total of more than 1,500,000. Many estimates run below that.

Despite the fact that Dr. Townsend himself and the Rev. Gerald Smith have joined Father Coughlin in supporting Lemke, there is no particular boom in the North Dakota congressman's stock.

One reason is that it appears to be manifestly impossible to "deliver" the Townsends to any presidential candidate this year. Townsend's hold on his followers is none too firm.

A further tip-off is that the three states of the Pacific Coast, birthplace and chief stronghold of the Townsend movement, are generally considered certain to go for Roosevelt this year by big majorities.

Nevertheless, the Union Party will be backed by the most spectacular group of rabble-rousers gathered into a political party in our time—lacking only the late Huey Long to give it vital leadership—and predictions now are likely to fall wide of the mark, either way.

The ticket will get much or most of what cynical politicians call the "nut vote" and nobody really knows how big that vote is.

You may have noticed an interesting story about the night flight of an army transport plane to Jasper, Ala., to get a bill passed in the closing days of Congress to Speaker William Bankhead for signature.

Then the plane took off to Uvalde, Tex., where Vice President Garner also signed the measure. The bill was supposed to be a rather inconsequential one, overlooked in the last-minute rush on Capitol Hill.

The inside story is this: In the closing days the administration pushed through a bill providing that congressional committees might take recalcitrant witnesses to court on contempt charges in the summer and fall as well as when Congress was in session.

The bill passed House and Senate without amendment. But someone on the Senate side wrote on it "passed without amendments." If that had been correct, the bill couldn't have become a law, as the House had no time to pass on any Senate amendments.

The bill went on the wrong pile and considerable mix-up resulted. Finally everything was straightened out and the bill was saved by the quick flight to Jasper and Uvalde. Significance of the episode is that important Senate investigating committees will be able to make things immediately hot for witnesses who refuse to answer their questions, instead of being compelled to wait until after election—and until Congress reconvenes in January—to be able to start prosecutions.

One of the rules Rockefeller says he followed through life was never to lose interest in things. Of course, he never mislaid a principal, either.

It's getting so a timid entomologist daren't open a paper, lest he find the police are on the trail in another butterfly murder.

A new film is "Born to Dance." If there is a sequel, it probably will deal with the subsequent generation and be titled, "Born to Pay the Piper."

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Frederic J. Haskin

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Pampa Daily News' Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for reply.

Q. What is meant by a land-tied island? C. R.

A. This is an island which, by the development of a sand and gravel beach, has been tied to the mainland. In this manner the famous Rock of Gibraltar has become a land-tied island.

Q. What makes a person cry? E. F.

A. Crying is brought about by a reaction of the sympathetic nervous system on the lacrimal glands which secrete tears.

Q. Please give a definition of industrial racketeering. How much money do such racketeers make? E. J.

A. A special grand jury in a report last December described industrial racketeering as "the systematic extortion of money from business by the criminal underworld through pretended trade and protective associations, labor-union racketeers or plain intimidation."

Q. How is soy sauce made? A. D. D.

A. Soy or shoyu sauce is a dark brown liquid prepared from a mixture of cooked and ground soybeans, roasted and pulverized wheat (barley is sometimes used), salt, and water.

Q. Who was the first veteran ever admitted to a national soldiers' home? G. L. S.

A. John J. Adams, a private in the Massachusetts Volunteers, on June 30, 1861, and was discharged June 30, 1861.

Q. Is it possible to be admitted to any of the famous gardens around Newport, R. I., during the State Tercentenary? T. R. P.

A. Among the gardens open to the public during this period are those of Mrs. John Jacob Astor, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Vanderbilt, Countess Szechenyi, and Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Hamilton Rice.

Q. How many radio sets are in use in the world? E. M.

A. According to the International Broadcasting Office at Geneva, there are now about 56,168,450.

Q. Where in Colorado is No-Man's Land? E. J.

A. So-called No-Man's Land in Colorado is a tract of about 1,300 square miles in the north central part of the state, about 50 miles from Denver.

Q. By what name was Pocahontas known to her family? T. S.

A. Her family name is said to have been Matoaks.

Q. Is the author of the plays, The Lion and the Mouse and The Music Master, living? M. R.

A. Charles Klein, who wrote both plays, died in the sinking of the Lusitania in 1915.

Q. How much packaged and processed food is manufactured in the United States? F. H.

A. In 1935 the production of commercially packaged and processed foods was 125,000,000 tons.

Q. When will China elect a new President? W. H.

A. A new President will be elected at a National Convention to be held some time this year, probably in November. Lin Sen is now chairman of the National Government, and is de jure its titular head.

PATIENTS AND SYMPTOMS. In practically all disease conditions the sufferer is the first diagnostician. The doctor in a sense serves as a consultant to refine the diagnosis and prescribe treatment.

It were well then if people learned to pay attention to their symptoms so that they might describe them properly and fully, thereby aiding the physician to make a correct diagnosis and to prescribe suitable treatment.

A mother took her child to a physician's office and said he was suffering with pains in the abdomen. Since such complaints are quite common in children and usually not serious, the physician was about to pass the case as a gastric upset.

Then the mother casually reported that the child's face appeared to be swollen, and especially puffed around the eyes. This at once suggested to the physician the possibility of trichinosis infection.

dark Del Rio beauty is framed smartly for the occasion. She Loves Clothes. Not that she is haughty about it. It's just that:

"I love clothes. I always have loved to dress. At home or away from home, I am uncomfortable unless I feel well dressed. First thing every morning I fix my hair as prettily as I can, and dress. If I am going out, it will be something tailored—I like that for the street."

"If I am resting at home, I will wear perhaps some hostess pyjamas or some simple house dress. Slacks? Never! I abominate them—they are not even comfortable. I like feminine things. And I could not be one of those women who must hurry to dress up when unexpected callers arrive. I love to dress—for myself."

Bought Lots of Things. Dolores as she speaks, has Paris written all over her costume, a tailored something in dark red with navy blue trimmings, and tres chic, as the couturiers would say. She has been to London and Paris to make the picture "Accused" and—

"I love Paris—more than ever before! Paris belongs to the French again. There are so few tourists. And the shops—there are such wonderful things! Hollywood clothes? Of course! I love them. But I could not resist the lovely things. I bought lots and lots of things..."

The Mexican star is back to make "Continental," first of a series of features for Columbia. She returns, she says, inspired by the London view of films and their importance.

Pleased With English. "Every one is talking pictures there," she says with enthusiasm. "English pictures are prospering, and it is flattering, pleasing, invigorating to see with what ceremony and distinction they surround an evening in a film theater."

"Everyone dresses, tickets are a bought for the legitimate theater, and they pay $2 to see a picture—one picture, not a double bill. One dines first, and then there is the film, and afterward one goes to a cabaret."

"Here," she added rather wistfully, "people just go to the movies... any time, wearing anything... yes, even wearing slacks!"

was the iron of agony in his soul which gave edge and energy to his soul. In any case, he was not a man to do things by halves, and he flung himself headlong into his task." (James Stalker) Paul, of course, was fully forgiven when he became a Christian for the terrible crimes which he committed in the name of religion, but he never was able to blot these stains out of his own mind.

"Scattered Abroad"—Ver. 4
 "They therefore that were scattered abroad went everywhere preaching the word." Tertullian writing before the end of the second century of our era, uses the famous words: "The more ye mow us down, the more quickly we grow. The blood of Christians is fresh seed." It was hard, tragic, that the Christian group at Jerusalem, that had been knit together by the Spirit into such a delightful confraternity (4:32) should be broken up, "scattered" (8:4). That, however, is another characteristic of Christianity; it is a missionary religion; it may not selfishly "nest," settle down; must be forever pushing on and out—or else, as here, driven on and out. Jesus has been spoken of as "restless"; he was, and his religion is. Contrast Judaism and Christianity; the former has its gaze, historically and sentimentally, fixed upon the little country Canaan, Palestine; the latter, like its Lord, faces everywhere; the whole world; for the one Jerusalem is a goal, for the other a starting-point (Luke 24:47).

Preaching the Gospel in Antioch Acts 11:19-21
 Luke describes for us the progress of the gospel in Judea, Phenicia, Cyprus, and Antioch. It was a glorious crusade as fleeing believers told the story so that new believers were added to the army of the Lord in every village and city. Phenicia was an important land along the sea containing Tyre and Sidon. Cyprus was an island in the Mediterranean about sixty miles from the mainland. Antioch, about 300 miles north of Jerusalem, was a large city on the Orontes river founded in 300 B. C. by Nicator. It rose quickly to take first rank in the kingdom of Syria. It was the third city in the Roman Empire and had probably a half-million people. Jews, Greeks, Latins, and Syrians. It was destined to supplant Jerusalem as the center of Christian activity. These fugitives began preaching immediately, even though they were in a strange city. "The hand of the Lord was with them." God had demonstrated his approval of their mission to the Gentiles. God gave power to the message and many were convicted and converted. "They turned from their idolatry to the Lord Jesus Christ." A victory had been won in a distant land.

Encouragement for Persecuted Ones I Peter 4:12-19
 Peter, when an old man, writes a comforting letter to the Christians who are suffering under the cruel hand of Nero. We see it as Peter's hour of help in one of the darkest hours of the life of Christianity. Domitian and Trajan had been bad enough, but Nero was worse. The cruel tormentors made their way from Rome into the provinces where any person who was known as a Christian was caught and made to suffer. Peter knew what it was like, for he had experienced such treatment from the Sanhedrin and under Herod Agrippa I. When he heard of the fiery trials of the Christians of the five provinces he wrote this letter to encourage, cheer, and strengthen them. They needed to understand the meaning of their suffering and to gain from trial the good that Christ would have them receive.

 John McCormack is at work on a novel based on the events of his own career.

International Sunday School Lesson

By DR. J. E. NUNN

General theme: Christianity Spread By Persecution.
 Scripture lesson: Acts 7:59 to 8:4.
 1 Peter 4:12-19.
 Acts 7:59. And they stoned Stephen, calling upon God, and saying, Lord Jesus, receive my spirit.
 60. And he kneeled down, and cried with a loud voice, Lord, lay not this sin to their charge. And when he had said this, he fell asleep.
 Acts 8:1. Saul was consenting unto his death. And at that time there was a great persecution against the church which was at Jerusalem; and they were all scattered abroad throughout the regions of Judea and Samaria, except the apostles.
 2. And devout men carried Stephen to his burial, and made great lamentation over him.
 3. As for Saul, he made havoc of the church, entering into every house, and haling men and women committed them to prison.
 4. Therefore they that were scattered abroad went every where preaching the word.
 1 Peter 4:12. Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you:
 13. But rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings; that when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy.
 14. If ye be reproached for the name of Christ, happy are ye: for the spirit of glory and of God resteth upon you: on your part he is evil spoken of, but on your part he is glorified.
 15. But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief, or as an evildoer, or as a busybody in other men's matters.
 16. Yet if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed; but let him glorify God on this behalf.
 17. For the time is come that judgment must begin at the house of God: and if it first begin at us, what shall the end be of them that obey not the gospel of God?
 18. And if the righteous scarcely be saved, where shall the ungodly and the sinner appear?
 19. Wherefore let them that suffer according to the will of God commit the same unto him in well doing, as unto a faithful Creator.
 Golden text: Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life.—Revelation 2:10.

Where Fighting Raged Hottest in Madrid

For the sixth time in the five years since Alfonso's abdication, Madrid's streets echoed to the clamor of disorder when the Spanish government turned its artillery against rebel troops. The mob milling in the street is typical of excitement seeking Madrid crowds in time of revolt.

Some Builder-Uppers, Those Dionne Quintuplets!

Building with blocks is a lot of fun, but seems mighty serious business to the quintuplets. Whatever this project is going to be, it evidently is so important that all five partners of the "Dionne Construction Co., Ltd." have been called in to take a hand.

Going 'Over There'

If you're fitting tunes to pictures, this one calls for "Over There." For here you see composer Irving Berlin accompanied by Mrs. Berlin, the former Ellin Mackay, looking a bit surprised when the newscameraman recognizes them on ship board as they sailed from New York for a five-week vacation in Europe.

CHAPTER X

The swift twilight of the mountains was beginning to fall as Claire gained the open air. Everything about her seemed normal and peaceful, and already she was beginning to feel ashamed of her fright.

"A fine treasure hunter you make, running away like a scared rabbit for the first noise you can't explain," she scolded herself.

She put down the empty lamp and walked resolutely through the aspen grove to the tool house. "I'll get a crowbar or something and see if I can't find out what's going on down in that cellar," she told herself. "Maybe Dan Dallas could dig—"

But on second thought she decided to see what she could do alone. She was not at all sure about Dan Dallas.

After securing the crowbar and a can of kerosene, she passed the open kitchen door. She could see Susie, moving about getting supper and talking to Dan Dallas who sat by the table peeling potatoes. Claire paused as their voices came to her.

"Heard anything from your brother yet, Susie?" the man was asking.

"No," Susie did not turn from the stove. "But he's all right. I ain't worryin' none. He often goes off half-cooked if he happens to think something he wants down in the city. Eb always was closer-mouthed than a ward politician. At first I couldn't help think of the white miner, but when I got to figurin' it over, I decided Eb'd gone to the city, and that's all there is to it."

"Um," grunted Dan. "How do you explain the cap with the blood marks?"

"Say, you ain't tryin' to work up a murder mystery 'round here, are you? I never see such a scary crowd! Eb probably banged his head on something or other and come in and got his other hat. It's gone out of his room, anyway. I looked to see."

"It is," Dan glanced up at her quickly. "And you figure Mr. Steele was hurt in an accident, too?"

"Sure. I heard the Doc say he probably slipped and fell against something. It's easy to do on them pine needles. They're slick as grease after you've walked on 'em long enough."

"What's Miss Fosdick up here for, anyway?"

The housekeeper shrugged. "It's her house, ain't it? I suppose she's got the right to come and upset things any time she takes the notion. But I, for one, will be glad when she goes and takes that old hell-cat of a Hannah with her. The men are all right—but that woman!"

"Then you think she just happened to come up here?" he persisted. "How do you explain the gun with the silencer and the dog being killed, and the broken arrow mark?"

"How should I know?" Susie's voice sounded sharp. Then she turned with a coquettish smile. "Try one of these fitters. If I do say so, as I shouldn't, I can sure make 'em."

Claire waited a minute longer, but they did not return to the subject, so she went on to the cellar. Queer that Dan Dallas should be quizzing Susie. If he had put the silencer on his own cabin roof, why should he mention it at all? Was he testing her to see if she knew Eb had borrowed the gun?

She walked to the farther wall of the cellar, where she had heard the tapping sounds. Dead silence. She put her ear against it and thought she heard something, but could not be sure. Experimentally she struck the wall with the crowbar. Almost at once there was a response, like a big pulse beating with horrible regularity back there in the darkness.

"Awkwardly she began digging, and after several minutes had quite a sizeable hole. Painfully she flexed her cramped muscles. On the floor at her feet lay a pile of dirt half as high as the huge barrel of salt pork nearby.

"Mercy, what a mess!" she gasped aloud. "If I don't find anything, whatever will Susie say?" But Claire could not feel very penitent. After all, the House of Long Shadows belong to her, not Susie.

At last she was forced to stop, and once more she put her ear against the wall. Certainly something was stirring behind there. She must go on. If only she dared to ask Dan Dallas to help her!

Those thoughts raced through her mind as she worked. When she was forced to stop for breath, she fancied the sounds were growing louder. Could she be nearing the solution of the mystery? And what would she find? Suppose she should suddenly break through a retaining wall and encounter some horror better left buried.

Claire's nervousness by this time was beginning to get the best of her, though she still worked on steadily. When next she stopped for breath, she thought she could hear a new sound against the wall. Like someone breathing heavily—or was it only her own laboring lungs and pounding heart? She sat down on the pile of earth to rest, then moved the lamp to the top of the pork barrel so that it rays fell directly over her shoulder. She examined the hole closely, but so far as she could see, all sides of it were firm enough. Apparently there was no sign of anything falling from above.

Wearily she started in again, and the very next stroke thudded with a different sound. Claire stopped in fright and listened. Dead silence. If there had ever been any movement or noise beyond that darkness, it certainly was not there now. Half-timidly she dug farther.

Now the crowbar was cutting through an opening. There could be no doubt about that. Breathlessly she brought the lamp and held it close to the small place where the sharp point of the instrument had gone through. What was her astonishment to see—not darkness, as she expected—but a dim, wavering radiance. She blinked her eyes and looked again. It was gone. Then it had been only her imagination. She carried the lamp back and started making the hole larger.

After much effort—he again brought the lamp, for now the opening was large enough to put her own head through. Carefully she moved the light so that she could see for quite a radius in the gaping darkness.

Apparently she had cut into another small tunnel. The air seemed fresh and cool. Piles of fresh dirt lay before her, and at one side a piece of wood. Then she gave a start. Something black was crumpled close to the wall just below her. She turned the lamp so she could see, then gave a little cry.

A man! Though he was so covered with dirt he looked hardly human. He was lying face down in the soft earth, quite motionless. Claire watched for a terrified moment, then spoke to him, though her voice sounded strangely cracked and unnatural.

He did not move, so she reached her hand through and touched him on the shoulder. Was it a corpse or had he just dropped unconscious? She must go for help. Quickly Claire started to back out of the hole, when her attention was caught by another sound before her.

She stopped, listening and holding the lamp ahead of her to throw as long a light ray as possible. Something or somebody was certainly stirring on the other side of the opening. Maybe the man on the ground.

Without warning and for the second time since she came to the House of Long Shadows, the lamp in her hand shattered into bits. There was a sudden rumbling, and then darkness closed about her.

But not for long. Almost immediately from behind her another circle of light swept the opening and there was a deafening report. Claire collapsed in a frightened heap. Then, finding she was not hurt, she turned to see Dan Dallas, flashlight in one hand and a still smoking revolver in the other.

"He leaped to her and drew her back into the cellar, being careful to keep out of range of the hole. "Hurt, Miss Fosdick?"

"N-no. I guess not. But what—?" Claire began.

"Another close call. You aren't due to be shot, evidently." His tone sounded relieved. Without waiting for further explanation, he crept back into the hole, his gun ready.

But now there was only silence. Then Susie's frightened voice called from the steps outside.

'Putting on the Dog' in Paris

A Molyneux ensemble in brown and white is worn by Madame Jean-Charles Napp. The brown straw hat is trimmed with the fabric used at the neckline, sleeves and revers of the jacket.

"Dan! What is it?" Claire ran to her and grasped the housekeeper's arm as she came down into the cellar. "Hush!" Claire commanded tensely. Still clutching Susie firmly, she dragged her forward and held her firmly against the wall.

"After what seemed an endless wait, Dan crawled back. "He got away again."

"But he was on the floor—he didn't move. I even touched him," Claire gasped.

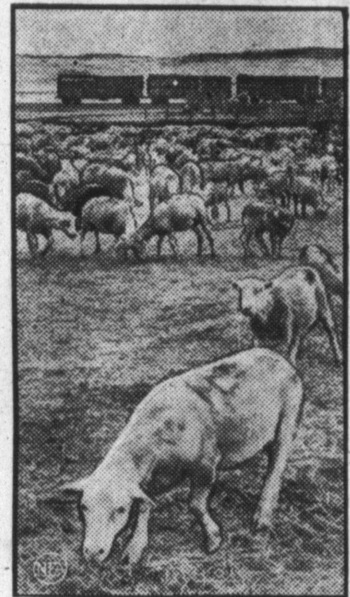

"On the floor?" Dan turned and went back into the opening. After listening for several minutes he cautiously lowered his flashlight to the other side of the hole and turned it on.

"There's someone here. Can you hold the light for me while I make the opening large enough to drag him through? Keep to one side. There was someone else in there, too. This fellow didn't do the shooting because he's already dead." Then, seeing Susie, he told her threateningly. "Don't you dare make a move."

Claire held the electric torch while Dan dug with quick, strong movement. Then he reached down and dragged the inert form through the hole. Claire held her breath, while Susie made queer little clucking noises in her throat as though she were half-dead with fright. Carefully Dallas turned the man over on his back. Claire gave a gasping cry.

JAPANESE BIRTHS RISE IN 1935 TO 250 AN HOUR—A NEW RECORD

BY GLENN BABB.

TOKYO, July 24 (AP)—With little brown babies arriving at the rate of more than 250 an hour, Japan's natural increase in population during 1935 was the greatest in history. For the second time her annual growth passed one million. It was 1,028,623 during the year, compared with 1,007,398 in 1932, the previous record year.

These figures show there is no relaxation in the pressure of population on the resources of Nippon.

Japanese social scientists explain by that factor the restlessness of this eastern empire against all bonds. Its conquests of Manchuria, its military and economic penetration into North China, its plans for economic advance into the South seas and its unceasing flight for world markets.

Emigration Negligible.

The figures are those of the cabinet's bureau of statistics. They apply only to Japan proper, excluding colonies such as Korea and Formosa and the newer dependency of Manchoukuo.

Natural increase means simply the margin of births over deaths. Emigration and immigration are on such a small scale as to make no essential difference. In 1935 there were 1,790,681 babies

SHAW, 80, CLINGS TO BELIEF HE SHOULD CLING TO BANKROLL

LONDON, July 24 (AP)—Eighty years old Saturday, July 26, George Bernard Shaw hangs on firmly to the belief that a playwright has no business investing money in the theater.

That's what he says, anyway, in a letter to Sydney W. Carroll, critic, author and manager, who asked Shaw for a subscription to the Open Air theater in Revent's park.

Shaw replied as follows: "My dear Sydney Carroll: "Have you ever asked yourself this momentous question? Why is it that old Shaw, who has been in the theater business for 44 years, is not an inmate of Fulham Workhouse?"

The instructive answer is that he has never lost sight of the fact that it is the business of a playwright to take money out of the theater, and not under any circumstances to put money into it.

Cleans Out Producers. "I have carried out this policy since I have written my first play, 'Pygmalion' in 1894. Deaths were 1,162,058, a decrease of 72,525 from 1934. The natural increase for 1934 was only 809,224.

Per Capita Increase Drops. In one respect 1935 fell below the previous record year, 1932. Last year's natural increase was at the rate of 14.85 per thousand, whereas in 1932 it was 15.20.

The official census of October 1, 1935, showed the population of Japan proper to be 69,251,185. That count gave the population of the whole empire—excluding Manchoukuo—as 97,694,628.

Population increase in the colonies more than keeps pace with that of the homeland. Some time in 1938 the population of the Mikado's realm will pass the 100,000,000 mark.

strictly in the Open Air theater. You have lost £10,000 and I have had some of it.

"Where did you get the £10,000? Certainly not by criticism. I have been a critic myself and I know. I cleaned out Miss Horniman in 1894 with my first commercially-produced play. That was tea-money.

"When the famous Vedrenne-Barker management was dissolved after its adventure in the Shaw business, G.-B. (Granville-Barker) pawned everything short of reducing himself to nudity, and I disgorged as much to my royalties as to make a solvent ending.

Adam and Eve and Shakespeare. "Even Barry Jackson was finally panicked, although his last production of Back to Methuselah' actually made a profit of £25. Who is to be the next victim?"

"If you can pick up 10,000 pound notes and spend them on the newest and biggest change in managerial policy in my time, you are clearly eligible.

"How would the Adam and Eve scenes from 'Methuselah' followed by 'The Comedy of Errors' do for Regeen's park? I can pocket Shakespeare's royalties all right. Anything that will tempt a shark is good enough for
