U. S. A. TO TAP SMALL SAVINGS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (A)—The treasury, officials said today, is ready to start on a campaign to tap the savings of children, housewives and smallsalaried workers for a sizable part of the $9,000,000,000 it must borrow in the next 12 months to finance the defense program.

All that is holding it up is final congressional approval of the bill to increase the federal debt limit to $85,000,000,000,000. House and senate have approved the measure.

If the house accepts minor senate changes next week as expected, officials said, Secretary Morgen-thau will announce a money-raising plan calling for

1. Postal savings stamps in denominations of 10, 25, and 50 cents and $1. These will be a "national defense" series of the regular postal stamps now on sale at all postoffices.

2. Either postal or treasury "savings certifi-cates" in denominations of $1 and up.

3. United States savings bonds, commonly known as "baby" bonds in denominations of from $25 to $1,000. These bonds are sold at 25 per cent discount (for example a $25 bond sells for $18.75), but are redeemed by the treasury after 10 years for their full face amount. These are also sold at post-offices.

4. A new type interest-bearing bond, possibly maturing in 40 years and bearing 2 per cent, or a little more, interest. The exact terms of this issue haven't been settled.

5. Intermittent sale of regular $1,000 denomination treasury bonds, notes, and bills.

British Make Fierce Raids Against Axis

Everything Points To New Offensive In Short Time

By the Associated Press British and Italian attention to outhern Italy singled out that can when spring brings an axis offensive.

That a spring offensive is imof both sides, the axis to attack and the British to resist.

Not the least of Britain's preparations is the recently dis-played might of the RAF. Two prolonged raids across the chan-nel last night were described by observers as the most violent ever made by British bombers.

Some sources in London con-sidered it possible that unusual German activity along the "invasion coast brought on the fury of the RAF. The British once before claimed RAF bombs broke up a gathering invasion armada

Poloists Play No. 1 Lamesa Team Today

Big Spring poloists, smarting under a defeat administered a week ago, will be out to even the score at 2 p. m. today when they meet Lamesa's Whites (No. team) in a featured clash,

Rated as one of the best teams in this part of the country, the Lamesa Whites had to ride hard and cut loose with some fancy stick work to nose out the Big Springers by a count of 8-7 last week at Lamesa.

Today, the locals hope to make it a different story, for they may have the services of Jay Floyd, who makes a difference on any body's polo club.

If Floyd can make connections, he will be one of the starters. In event he is unable to participate, Gus White, Jr., Lamesa, will join the Big Spring ranks for the day. He has played often with the Big Spring riders and is virtually recovered from a head injury suffered last week when struck by a polo ball,

In the saddle for Big Spring will be Dr. M. H. Bennett at No. 1, Lewis Rix riding at No. 2, Lloyd Wasson in the No. 3 post and Jay Floyd or Gus White, Jr., at No. Pat Patterson and Jess Slaughter may see service.

Hospitality to your Home The entrance of your home is one of the most important factors in the kind of impression your home makes on visitors. Your entrance should be impressive, dignified, but welcoming. The addition of a Colonial Entrance and front door gives an atmosphere of charm and warm hospitality so typical of our Southwest. An authentic Colonial Entrance may be added to your home for a very little cost-but will mean a great deal in beauty. Colonial Entrances harmonize with most Southwestern architectural types.

Delinquent Taxpayers Must Bear Penalties

State solons can be forgiven a brainstorm now and then, but one hard to stomach is the current revival of a proposal to abolish penalties and interest on delinment taxes.

To the person who owes back taxes, it's all very well, a great idea, and a boon to property owning people. Other proponents point out it presents a remarka-ble means for collecting back taxes which otherwise various governmental agencies would ave difficulty in getting. This is surface logic, but it point is there in making efforts and even sacrifices to discharge tax obligations to our governing units on time, if, in a few years, those who were not able or were not willing to extend the same effort can pay these taxes without penalties?

While such a move doubtless would help many, its net result would be to discourage prompt tax payments. This is not mere reasoning, for tax collectors the state over will testify that each move of this sort has been followed by a period in which a group of property owners will willingly let tax bills ride in the belief and hope that soon another good day is coming when all their paying ommissions will be washed away.

As long as we adopt means which ultimately result in encouraging the people to ignore tax payments, we will have the spectacle of some of the people carrying the tax load of all the people. If everyone were to pay, the tax bill of all would be less. And abolishing penalties and in terests on back taxes certainly is not the way to induce all to pay and continue to pay regular-

He hadn't been there a min ute before hundreds of gray, softly-talking pigeons began dropping out of the sky, crowding him on the sidewalk, pecking at his feet, trying to light on his shoulder.

George Wojcinski gave a deep laugh and began tossing corn about on the sidewalk and into the street. His pockets were bulging with grain. He fills them every day and comes looking for the pigeons, and they wait for him. When you feed a thing every day, it gets to know you pretty

"That's old Buff," suddenly said George, "Hello, Buff,' he called. He pointed to a mouse-colored bird that waddled out from under a big freight truck. "Me and old Buff's been friends for years . He went away last month and I thought something had him. He was gone five days."

George Wojcinski, who is 51 and who came out of the ancient winding streets of Krakow 26 years ago, says his hob-by costs him about twenty-five cents a day.

"You go to the movies I bet," said George, "I don't, I feed pigeons."

He threw old Buff a glance and moved on down the street. He didn't say anything more. His pockets still bulged with the yel-low manna. Old Buff stared back at George, and the look he got in return was the equivalent of "Nix, pal . . . You've had yours. Don't let me catch you horning in on the little party I'm about to throw your friends in 11th Avenue."

Then he struck out across West Street, and old Buff and I just stood there and watched him-go.

HOLLYWOOD - As if life of it all.

It's Madeleine Carroll, How is anybody ever going to know whether she's an actress or not? There are about three schools of thought on the subject. One, those who say she's the most beautiful thing in pictures and can't act for sour apples; two, those who say she's the most beautiful thing in pictures and is a competent performer; there, those who say she's the most beautiful, etc., and don't give a hoot whether she can act or not.

I took it so seriously I wrote to managers in London that they must come up to catch me in the play! And then when I had a chance to go into films -I thought I'd never stoop so low, except perhaps under an assumed rame and hiding the fact from my friends. They all told me it was the thing to do. More money, and all. So I went into films, and a lot of people are kind enough to say I'm pretty, and I'm glad, because it helps in this business-but I still want to be an actress."

Miss Carroll was wearing a military uniform of some sort for "One Night In Lisbon," and she was looking-as usual-beautiful. If you so remembered, she would deprecate a bit, but still not coyly. "I can't be so impress-ed, myself," she might say, "because I have to see this face first thing in the morning - every morning." All of which doesn't answer our
