STIMSON SAYS U. S. ARMY HAS 4,000 PLANES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Secretary of War Stimson has advised the senate foreign relations committee that the strength of the army air corps is now approximately 4,000 planes.

Stimson's testimony before an executive session of the senate group was made available today by committee members after the war secretary had reviewed the transcript and deleted several passages, presumably because of the confidential character of the information involved.

The regular army air corps, Stimson testified, now has approximately 3,700 planes and the national guard about 900. Slightly less than half are tactical planes, bombers and fighters, he said. The remainder were classified as trainers.

The announcement was made in the house of commons by R. A. Butler, undersecretary for foreign affairs.

The Japanese minister for foreign affairs has been informed by the prime minister that in a cause of the kind for which we are fighting—a cause in no way concerned with territory, trade or material gains, but affecting the whole future of humanity—there can be no question of compromise or parity.

Germans Claim 250,000 Tons Shipping Sunk In Few Days

British Planes Attack Brest, Other Ports

English Deny Nazi Claims Of Success In Shipping War

LONDON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Droves of fighter-protected RAF bombers returned to the assault on the German-held French coast today following an overnight attack on Brest where the air ministry said "an enemy cruiser of the Hipper class is known to be lying."

At least 60 planes were counted in the formations roaring out over the channel today and ground observers said there probably were many more above the clouds, indicating that a large-scale attack was under way.

The RAF squadrons kept in perfect formation until well out at sea, then they spread fanwise. Many of the attacking units swept over the Strait of Dover in the direction of Calais and Boulogne.

In last night's raid on Brest, the air ministry announced, the heaviest bombs used were among the most powerful ever used "for a target of this kind."

This blow in the British counter-offensive aimed at smashing Adolf Hitler's threatened spring sea assault and invasion plans was said to have straddled the berth of a German surface raider which may have been the one that tore up a British convoy off the Azores Feb. 12.

The fact that a German cruiser was said to be lying at Brest for several days and the reports of survivors that raider of the Hipper class carried out the convoy attack lent weight to the belief that it was the same ship.

The admiralty announced today that five ships, instead of the 14 claimed by the Germans, are known to have been sunk in the raid on the convoy off the Azores, contributing 25,000 tons of shipping to the total of 12 vessels aggregating 37,650 tons lost in the week ending Feb. 16.

"The facts are that, of 19 ships in the convoy, 10 are known to be safe and four others (three British and one allied) totalling 19,698 tons aren't yet overdue," the admiralty announcement said.

The Germans had reported 22,000 tons of ships sunk in this one convoy, plus 103,000 additional tons elsewhere during the week.

Furthermore, a naval spokesman declared untrue Adolf Hitler's assertion yesterday that 215,000 tons of shipping had been sunk in the previous two days.

"Nothing extraordinary" has happened recently, the spokesman added. Britain is "still holding her own" in shipping, he added, but admitted that, with the coming of spring, a sharp intensification of undersea and air attacks on British supply routes from America is anticipated.

Norwegians Put To Death By Nazis

BERGEN, Norway (via Berlin), Feb. 25 (AP)—A German military court today sentenced 10 Norwegians to death and imposed prison sentences on seven others for espionage activities in behalf of Britain.

Visitor In Big Spring Tells Of Adventures In Far East

From a Japanese prison cell to the lobby of the Big Spring air terminal yesterday are the extremes to which Winfield Line of Michigan has gone in regard to the places in which he has been detained against his will during the last two years and up to date.

Bound for California from the east in their own plane, Mr. and Mrs. Line are now being held up by the murky weather prevailing throughout Texas instead of by pugnaciously inclined Japanese officials.

Two years ago the couple attracted the notice of Japanese counter-espionage agents who were rather interested in the activity of an American man and a Korean girl.

Hailed before Japanese officers for questioning, Line was put in jail to await developments and was not released until the government was fully satisfied that he was the typical Yankee tourist.

Albert Groebel Named To Cosden Board Of Directors

Election of Albert P. Groebel, Big Spring oil man, to the board of directors of Cosden Petroleum Corporation was announced this morning by R. L. Tollett, president.

He will serve until the annual meeting of stockholders in July, at which time his name will be before the group for reelection.

Committee In Senate Favors Big Load Limit

AUSTIN, Feb. 25 (AP)—Raising the house ante, the highways and motor transportation committee of the senate today offered its bid in the sizzling truck load limit fight.

By voice vote the group favorably reported a bill authorizing a gross weight maximum of 48,000 pounds, 13,000 pounds greater than that in a house approved bill.

The measure the committee reported favorably last night was the house bill, except for the larger maximum gross weight.

This came about by substituting the house bill for the so-called senate scientific load limitation measure permitting gross weights up to 56,000 pounds.

Opponents tried unsuccessfully in committee to pull the top weight down to 30,000 pounds and also to leave unchanged the 35,000-pound limitation.

Hank Greenberg Must Go To Army

DETROIT, Feb. 25 (AP)—The draft board handling the case of Hank Greenberg said today that the big Detroit Tiger outfielder had been placed in Class 1 and that he would be called for induction regular order, presumably next June.

Ben O. Shepherd, chairman of board 23, said in an official statement that Greenberg had suggested in his draft questionnaire that he be placed in Class 2, which would have permitted six months deferment.

British Experts Say—Nazis Feel Effects Of Blockade

LONDON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Britain's blockade of Germany is "fully as effective" now as it was before the last invasion, economic warfare experts declared today, despite a leak.

Supplies of the occupied nations have been exhausted, said these British informants, and Germany "already is feeling a pinch in oil, cotton, copper, rubber and nickel, despite a major leak through Japan."

An increasing amount of products of small bulk, but high value, these sources said, is passing through Japan from South America and the United States, across the Yellow sea to Port Ar-

Raiders Hit Convoys At Many Places

Both Undersea And Surface Ships Take Part In Campaign

BERLIN, Feb. 25 (AP)—A smashing German sea offensive, in which more than 250,000 tons of shipping have been sunk by naval forces alone "in the past few days," was reported by the high command today.

Telling of convoys scattered in the Atlantic and of blows overseas, the communiqué gave this tally for Germany's surface and undersea raiders:

125,000 tons—including a "protecting auxiliary cruiser"—sunk by submarines in "numerous stiff attacks" on a "strongly protected convoy."

83,000 tons, including a large tanker, sunk by other submarines "simultaneously operating successfully in the Atlantic," some of them from convoys.

25,000 tons sunk by surface warships.

20,000 tons by "one warship operating overseas."

Thus, the high command said, apart from air blows struck against Britain's vital ocean supply lines, "the navy diminished enemy merchant shipping space by over one quarter of a million tons in the past few days."

Its figures raised the 215,000-ton total cited by Adolf Hitler yesterday when he proclaimed that "our struggle at sea only now can begin" and that Nazi naval power would reach full swing in the next two months.

Authorized Germans, replying to British denials of Hitler's statement, declared that, "at the proper time," the names and tonnages of the individual ships would be disclosed.

In the more than 200,000 tons credited to submarines alone, authorized Germans said were several large ocean ships in a convoy "cooperatively attacked by U-boats."

Reinforcements Go To Indo-China

SAIGON, French Indo-China, Feb. 25 (AP)—The French military position in French Indo-China was strengthened today when the 10,086-ton French ship Bernardin de Saint Pierre arrived late today from Dakar, French West Africa, with French naval, army and air force officers.

The number was not disclosed. There were unconfirmed reports that the ship's cargo consisted of airplanes.

Woman Predicts Husband's Death

GORE, Colo., Feb. 25 (AP)—R. T. Willingham, 58, engineer for the Denver & Rio Grande Western railroad, wanted to become an aviator.

"Don't," pleaded his wife. "You'll be killed soon enough in a railroad accident."

He was. His locomotive and two cars of the Ute, fast freight train, struck a rock and plunged into the Colorado river. The rock, loosened by heavy rains, had rolled onto the tracks.

Thieves Visit High School

Thieves hit the high school band a good lick Monday, Dan Conley, director, reported to police.

Missing from the band's equipment room were two silver cornets, a brass and silver trumpet, and a silver piccolo.

In another case, a youth had been transferred to the sheriff's department in connection with loss of a clarinet from a high school locker.

California Gets Dose Of Rainfall

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25 (AP)—California, who as a rule are mightily proud of their weather, are getting a bit fed up with an unusual run of "unusual weather."

"Unusual weather" is the California term for rain, cold, fog, gales—any weather but the glorious California sunshine.

HOUSE AGAIN DODGES TALK ON PENSIONS

AUSTIN, Feb. 25 (AP)—Another move to bring about an early committee report on a proposed $26,830,000 additional social security appropriation was quickly squelched today by the house of representatives.

The appropriation bill had been submitted for emergency consideration by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, who said he opposed deficit financing but that if the legislature provided for one social security function it should provide for all.

Rep. Pat Dwyer of San Antonio today moved to instruct the appropriations committee to make a report on the measure by Thursday. Rep. Obel L. McAllister of Fort Worth immediately moved to send Dwyer's motion to committee.

This the house did after refusing, 72 to 63, to kill the McAllister motion.

There was little discussion of the huge appropriation. The house last week had voted overwhelmingly to delay action on forcing a committee report.

Rep. G. C. Morris of Greenville failed in an effort to send to another committee a bill re-enacting the road bond assumption act. He wanted to transfer the proposal from the highways and motor traffic group to the committee on counties.

New bills introduced in the house included one taxing magnesium metal and its alloys one cent a pound and another allowing colleges to transfer their state-appropriated funds to finance new national defense courses.

Both chambers adopted a conference report on a bill exempting army post exchanges from payment of the state cigarette taxes.

The senate sent to the house a measure authorizing cities of 150,000 or more population to lease land to the federal government for construction and operation of airplane factories.

Six Of Twelve Draftees Picked

Six of the 12 men to leave Wednesday for one year's military training under the selective service act have already been definitely chosen with the remainder to be picked later this afternoon, according to an announcement by Bruce Frazier, secretary of the local selective board.

The men will leave Big Spring at 12:15 a. m. Wednesday by bus and will go to Fort Bliss, where they will be formally inducted into the army.

John Daniels, high school basketball coach and assistant football coach, has been named leader of the group with Clyde Charles McCarty his assistant.

In addition to Daniels and McCarty the list of those known to be ready includes Wesley Alonso Prescott, Jr., William Carl Davis, Joe Travis Myrick, and Concepcion Carrillo of Marfa.

The trainees will be given a send-off meal at the Crawford hotel at 11 o'clock tonight and will go from there directly to the bus station.

Texan Named To Head Communists

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP)—Preparatory to beginning four-year imprisonment for using a fraudulent passport, Earl Browder has announced the appointment of Robert Minor, a Texan and a former socialist, to succeed him as general secretary of the communist party in the United States and hereby become acting head of the party.

"Now Germany is faced with the problem: shall the materials be returned to the countries and the people put to work, or shall it be sent to Poland or some relatively safe area for use in new factories?"

Either course would be helpful to Britain, he indicated.

Movement of the materials would involve an immense transport problem at a time when transport is needed for the military. If they are sent into Poland, the expert said, whole towns in heavily-industrialized northern France and Belgium would be left idle.

Miss 'Laneous' Notes

By MARY WHEALEY

You know this draft deal has been worrying us for a long time. Nothing serious but still we can't forget it. And somehow it doesn't seem like we are the only one thinking about it.

It is just that we feel rather left out. With all the young men going or planning to go to give a year of their time for their country.

Looks like there is something we women could do besides knit or be nurses. (Knitting is beyond us and even a pin scratch makes us ill.)

We may be feminine but it is our country too. We women probably feel even stronger about that than a lot of men. Maybe we realize even more than men, who have comparative freedom in every country, that only in America can women act as individuals, not just as females.

But still if a woman can't be a nurse, knit, or dig ditches, there still ought to be some way for her to make her contribution to the thing we all want to save.

That is what is worrying us. There must be something, or something that we could help, if we could just figure out what it is. Then when we see the men going off, leaving their jobs and security to make the country a little safer for us. Maybe then we wouldn't get that half-ashamed feeling of being pretty useless at a time like this.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Talbot and family and Leo Ida Pinkston returned Monday evening from San Antonio where they visited with Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Jones and family, former residents of Big Spring.

Army Develops Mile-A-Minute Plane Photographic Service

By STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH
Associated Press Science Writer
WASHINGTON, Feb. 25. — The army air corps has developed a mile-a-minute photographic service to aid bombing planes and artillery in attack.

With a new super-speed method of developing and printing pictures it is possible to photograph an enemy position, process the picture on the return flight, drop it from the airplane and return to make additional pictures, thus giving a commanding officer a split-second pictorial of enemy dispositions and movements.

This kind of survey work, it was said, promises to replace ground reconnaissance work by patrols working ahead of the main force of troops because it reveals details that could not be observed from the ground and the exact placement of batteries and troop concentrations.

Darkness would be no protection in the movement of parachutes, magnesium flares which provide almost daylight illumination for night photography. Camouflage likewise is almost outmoded because of the development of color photography. Gun emplacements and ships disguised with variegated painting — which are often invisible to the eye — stand out like a sore thumb in an aerial color photograph.

Friends Prevent Pauper Burial For Ex-Van Buren Mayor

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Feb. 25. (AP) — San Diego friends of Charles Edward Taylor, former mayor of Van Buren, Ark., who died here Feb. 11, yesterday saved him from a pauper's grave.

When local acquaintances of Taylor, 77, former cattle and oil man, heard he was to be buried in the indigents' plot, they appealed to the Salvation Army headquarters to collect funds. Storekeepers, cafe owners and bootblacks contributed to the cost of a funeral. Taylor was born in Sherman, Texas, in 1864 and came to San Diego 30 years ago. He was mayor of Van Buren in 1906. He made a fortune in the cattle and real estate business in the southwest, only to lose it in oil during 1929-30.

More Talk Of Amendments To Act Heard

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25. (AP) — Fresh talk of a filibuster circulated in capitol corridors today as two more senators—Murray (D-Mont.) and Barbour (R-N.J.) — presented their arguments for passage of the British aid bill without further delay.

One opposition senator, asking not to be quoted by name, told newsmen flatly: "There will be a filibuster." This senator said that an increasing amount of mail was urging that the bill be "talked to death." And, he added, almost a dozen senators had indicated they would be willing to take the floor for long periods of opposition speech-making.

Others of the opposition group asserted that no plans for a filibuster were being considered, but Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) declared that if the administration leadership "tries to push into night sessions we will find means to make our record."

Electric Shortage In Mexico Severe

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 25. (AP) — A threatened water power shortage caused the federal electricity commission to urge today that government and industrial employes be given simultaneous vacations in May to reduce this city's electric light consumption.

If the capital's government, industrial and commercial life is brought to a virtual standstill for two weeks, the commission said, enough electricity may be saved to prevent a "blackout" before the rains begin about June 22. The city already has been put on daylight saving time, and all power is turned off between 11 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. daily.

Frank Kimbrough Goes To Baylor As Football Coach

HSU Mentor Gets Reward For Record

WACO, Feb. 25 (AP)—The Baylor University football team today rewarded Frank Kimbrough for bringing Hardin-Simmons University national football coach.

Baylor University reached over to its sister school at Abilene and took Kimbrough as head football coach, replacing Morley Jennings, resigned.

Kimbrough has one of the outstanding coaching records of the southwest. He gave Hardin-Simmons its first undefeated team in 1937 and last fall produced its first undefeated, untied aggregation.

Hardin-Simmons is an independent. Baylor is a member of the Southwest conference.

Kimbrough leaves prospects for another strong team at Hardin-Simmons, although it is not rated as potentially of the caliber of the 1940 eleven, losing its three backfield standouts.

Announcement of Kimbrough's appointment was made yesterday. He was voted a three-year contract but salary terms were not divulged.

Ralph Wolf, varsity basketball coach and business manager, was promoted to athletic director. A new basketball mentor will be appointed.

Kimbrough said he "was very pleased at being chosen coach here." He added that he had given no thought as yet to naming his assistants.

As coach of Hardin-Simmons, Kimbrough had a record of 47 victories, eight defeats and three ties in six years. His first attracted attention by his work at Wayland Junior College of Plainview and Amarillo Junior college. He was a star athlete at Hardin-Simmons, graduating in 1926.

Kimbrough is a brother of All-American John Kimbrough of Texas A. and M. He could have had John at Hardin-Simmons but advised the latter to go to another school to avoid what some might consider favoritism if the coach played his brother ahead of others.

Dr. W. R. White, president of Hardin-Simmons, said "we considered him the best coach in the south."

14 Entries Line Up For Santa Anita

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 25 (AP)—Fourteen thoroughbreds were seen today as virtual certainties to run in the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap Saturday and there was a strong possibility that one or two more might come into the fold in the battle for the rich purse.

Turf observers counted noses and came up with a field that probably will include the highly favored Midland, Can't Wait, Sweepida, Gen'l Manager, Viscounty, Hysterical, Fairy Chant, Big Ben, Wolf Wolf, Son of Wat, Beautiful II, Wedding Call, Royal Crusader and Bollingbroke.

Chalcedon was not included, despite a statement by owner William L. Brann that his Maryland champion, barring further hard luck this week, would be a starter.

Swedish Fighter Dies After Blow

CHICAGO, Feb. 25 (AP)—Arne Anderson, Swedish immigrant youth who sought fame and wealth in the American prize fight ring, found death instead.

The 22-year-old Minneapolis heavyweight was knocked off his feet last night by Lou Thomas of Indianapolis in the seventh round of their scheduled 10-rounder at Marigold Gardens, neighborhood fight center. One hour and seven minutes later the youth was declared dead of a heart attack.

Thomas, who at 202 pounds outweighed his rival by 12-1/2, said that he and Anderson clinched in the seventh round. He explained that immediately thereafter he shot a short right to Anderson's chin, the latter reeling over backward and striking his head hard on the canvas. He never moved again.

Stanton Cage Tourney Opens

STANTON, Feb. 25 (Sp1)—A five-day Stanton-City-County basketball tournament got underway Monday night with eight teams entered in the race. Cisahas will go on the boards Tuesday and Thursday of this week and Monday and Tuesday of next week.

The list of entries included Jones' Grocery, Toggery Cleaners, Lomax, Conoco Service, Draper Laundry, Wilson's, postoffice and DeBerry Service.

Proceeds from the tournament are to go into a fund for the purchase of miniature gold and silver basketballs for the players of the 1941 high school team.

Lamesa Independents Second In Tourney

LAMESA, Feb. 25 (Sp1)—The Lamesa independent cagers took second place in a basketball tournament at Union school, bowing to the Plains quintet in the finals.

The Lamesans consisted of "Moon" Mullins, Ray Powell, Wayne Rideout, Calvin Ball and Lloyd Harris.

Ten teams lined up in the meet, and, according to Superintendent P. K. Humes of Union, it was a success.

Army Teams Will Play Semi-Pro

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Feb. 25 (AP)—Army baseball teams will get a chance this summer to compete for the national semi-pro baseball title.

Ray Dumont, president of the national semi-pro baseball congress, said today the congress had amended its rules to permit four army teams to compete in the 16-bracket semi-pro state tournaments and eight soldier clubs in the 32-bracket state events.

He said training centers could hold their own elimination tournaments if they produced more than the maximum army teams allowed for state meets. Teams must represent at least a regiment.

Professional players called into the army through selective service after June 1 may participate in the tournaments.

No army team will be required to compete in district tournaments in which civilian clubs must qualify.

Phillip's Sets Back Major-City Leaders

Crystal's Chefs suffered a setback in their Major-City basketball league aspirations Monday night when an inspired Phillip's Tremen quintet downed them 32 to 30 in an overtime game.

Empire Gassers took the nod over Cities' Service without too much trouble and walked away with a 27 to 13 score. Ward's, turning in what was considered their best game of the season, was edged out by Vaughn's Doughboys, 37 to 36.

The Tremen-Chefs battle took honors for being the hardest and fastest bit of courtwork offered the customers in this year's Major-City competition. The Chefs came from behind to make 8 points in the last quarter and put the show in a deadlock, thus tacking on the extra frame.

Putting on too much steam for the Servicemen, the Gassers led the chase throughout in their roundelay. This game clinched fourth place for the Gassers in the playoffs.

Ward's put on a do or die attempt in trying to knock Vaughn's out of the running. At the half the Wardmen were leading the fray tempt in trying to knock Vaughn's Morgan displayed a sudden flurry of accurate hoop-hitting and piled up a 24-point count, the highest of the evening.

As things now stand, the Chefs are on top, despite their loss to Phillip's, but they must take the winners' flag in the show Thursday night or drop into second place in the standings. The Doughboys are slated to be put in the pit against the Chefs in the last regular game of the league this Thursday.

SPRINGS ROUNDUP

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP)—Well, here's a little dirt for you... What good southern basketball player is being kept in the doghouse because he wouldn't go out for football? Names and addresses on request... Lefty Gomez was in better physical shape than any of the Yanks who reported to Joe McCarthy at St. Petersburg Monday... Biggest job confronting any big league manager is Joe McCarthy's—He must remake an entire ball club.

Today's Guest Star

Dan Daniel, N. Y. World-Telegram: "Everywhere I am asked the same old question... How much is Monte Pearson likely to help the Reds?... The general opinion is that Larry MacPhail pulled a boner in not availing himself of the first call on the former Yankee."

Pro And Con

Is Joe Louis on the skids, or is he the same old Joe Louis? Here-with, we give you opinions of two of the smartest minds in the sports writing profession: H. G. Salsinger, Detroit News, says he isn't. He says it is foolish to expect a guy to knock out an opponent in the first two or three minutes, as the public has come to expect of Louis.

On the other hand, Dick Cullum of the Minneapolis Times says: "Great as he is, Joe has and always has had his vulnerable points... When a man comes along who can make Joe miss and can punch back, he may suddenly find where Joe is not the man he used to be—and suddenly is exactly the same."

Football Picture

Col. Bill Keefe of the New Orleans Times-Picayune thinks the north and east will be back in the south plucking football stars they want to help make the gates click... That's because of the new Southeastern conference rule... It's all right for the boys to go south... The big idea is—go where the dough is.

San Angelo Booters Pay Visit Here

Weighted under 10-gallon hats and clad in other western regalia even down to 45 thumb-busters, San Angelo Jaycees paid Big Spring a visit Monday evening in interest of the 10th annual fat stock show and rodeo starting there and continuing through Monday.

In charge of the boosters here were Al Harris, and Weldon Shuber, president of the San Angelo Jaycees. Spring Training Camp Briefs

By the Associated Press

SAN ANTONIO — The Boston Bees' pitching candidates have accused veteran Was Ferrell of stealing a march on them by doing most of his spring training in winter. Ferrell cut loose during the opening workout and amazed some of the youngsters. Since then, he has been mobbed by rookies eager to learn his "nuthin' ball" secrets.

ANAHEIM, Calif. — Manager Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics learned today that Wally Moses, fleet outfielder, suffered a bruised left shoulder in an automobile accident near Lubbock, Tex. Moses told Mack over the telephone that his car went into a ditch to avoid a collision with a school bus. His companion, Al Simmons, was not injured.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Manager Billy Southworth is seeing to it that the St. Louis Cardinals take their pep pills daily. It's his job to pass out the vitamin B1 tablets furnished by boss Sam Breadon.

HAVANA — Van Mungo's arm was the Brooklyn Dodgers' principal topic of conversation today after an intra-camp game that was better forgotten otherwise. Mungo pitched two innings and looked to be almost in mid-season form.

SAN ANTONIO—The St. Louis Browns were hoping it wouldn't rain today so they could open their spring training, but Manager Fred Haney already had his ray of sunshine. That was the news his star outfielder, Rip Radcliff, had signed the fifth contract the club offered.

Always in the background and not known widely to the public, O'Connor, a gifted lawyer, actually is the state's attorney of baseball's government. Team That Has Lost 15 Still Aims To Win

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 25 (AP)—Basketball Coach Max Hannum of Carnegie Tech, can't help feeling ashamed of himself when he gets discouraged over losing every game this season—15 to be exact.

"Of course it's not the most pleasant thing in the world to be beaten every time," declares Max. "But the spirit of the team makes me regret any disappointment."

"They have the same reflexes and reactions as a winning outfit. Every time they go out they expect to win. And they are surprised when they don't."

"It's the most remarkable thing I've ever seen. Only three games left with West Virginia, Penn State and Westminster—all have beaten us—but the boys know they are going to win a game yet. In fact they say they're going to win two of three."

The secret is that Tarian cagers are playing for fun and having a good time of it. All are paying their own way—tuition and everything else. Discontinuance of athletic scholarships dashed basketball hopes just as it toppled Tech from the grid heights.

"But don't get the idea that our worst basketball season means we have the worst team," cautions the 40-year-old coach.

"We could have a lot of teams over the country but everyone around here is just too good this year."

Editorial—

TES Franchise Grant In Order

City commissioners have a fairly weighty matter up for consideration this evening in passing on a proposed 25-year extension of the Texas Electric Service franchise.

Yet, there are mitigating circumstances which remove from it the status of a long time warrant. In the first place it is properly called when referred to as a franchise, for in fact it is little more than a permit to do business. It carries with it no guarantee of monopoly, for if the commission will it could grant to others or to the city the right to compete against TES at any time it so desired. Yet it must be admitted that as a practical matter the permit is somewhat exclusive.

The franchise has nothing to do with rates, except as might be applied through indirect pressure. Rates are handled as individual matters from time to time and are governed by the company or public opinion through its various means of expression.

As for the two per cent payment as result on streets, alleys, etc., there is one important consideration. The ordinance specifically states it is not to be passed on to the consumer, who usually pays all taxes. In the final analysis he will pay for this one unless history is in the making. The point is, that two per cent, or some fraction thereof, is not to be added on to present bills.

This can or cannot be considered as an unexpected gift. City fathers realize that it is revenue to the city not heretofore available. They realize that it is on a point which has not been fully decided by the courts. And so does the company, for as interested as the company is in the city, it must first be interested in the company.

This two per cent might be applied to rate reductions, but possibly there is not much point, for two per cent likely would make little difference to the majority of consumers. To the city it is in a sum large enough to do some good.

The percentage is admittedly an arbitrary one. It approaches an average on the spread for such matters. It might be too much, it might be too little, but nothing but the future can determine that point.

The company's point is that by extending the franchise, it will have a good bargaining base for refunding bonds in a currently favorable market, thus affecting considerable savings. Spokenmen have indicated this would come back to the consumer in better rates, as it should, and as long as corporation income and surplus taxes are in force and effect, there is reason to believe that the company would prefer to build good will with the money rather than pay it out in taxes.

It is possible, yes probable, that the franchise will be extended and the two per cent rental fee adopted. We can see nothing wrong with that course of action, for although this is an important matter, it is not all-important.

Manhattan—

Ermine-Garbed Vagrants Found In New York

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Here is a story I picked up from Herbert Janssen of the Metropolitan Opera company. It is that it develops that there is another of those "cycle" stories that come to life every three or four years, kindly remember that I do not vouch for it. It didn't happen to me. I wasn't there. I am only passing it along as it came to me.

Janssen, who is a baritone, was rehearsing "Tannhauser." Eventually the orchestra got into the strains of "Evening Star" which, as you know, comes in the final act. As Janssen concluded the beautiful words of this song there came a sudden and inexplicable glare from the tuba. The director is reported to have been furious. "What is the matter with you!" he cried.

"I couldn't help it," explained the musician. "A fly lit on my nose. And I played him."

If Harry Wood appears to be slightly calendar conscious, there are extenuating circumstances. He was born on Lincoln's birthday (1909); he won a Yale scholarship on Independence Day (1926); he purchased his first saxophone on Decoration Day (1927); he became master of ceremonies of the Hit Parade program on Columbus Day (1929), and he made his NY stage debut, with Dorothy Lamour, on St. Valentine's Day (1940).

Every few months, as duly reported by the press, the police go on cleanup drives to eliminate crime. Frequently this takes the shape of raids against gambling casinos. In the past the names of those patrons caught red-handed usually have been withheld by the police. Now it has been decided to report the names of everyone caught gambling to the credit bureau in New York. The credit bureau will use this information against offenders seeking to establish, or extend, credit. The city has found the authorities to authorize this in an old law which classifies all people caught in gambling establishments as "vagrants." In the most recent raids, the best-dressed group of "vagrants" you ever saw were bagged. They came in ermine.

Andre Kostelanetz is a Pole. His name really is Kostelancio. . . Paul Muni is Polish also, as in Gilda Gray. . . Ona Munson, the film actress, is the daughter of a Danish ferryboat captain. . . Not only copper, gold and silver are legal tender. In some parts of the world slaves, soup cubes, ingots of tin, tobacco, blocks of salt, whale teeth, and ivory tusks are used as money. Eggs, beaver skins, nails, brass rings and dried cod are also good tender.

The revolutionary changes in book publishing make it possible for anyone to assemble a good library with very little money. The reprint business is such that one may obtain the finest biographies and novels now for a nominal sum. I have seen the classics in book windows for as little as 25 cents. You can get encyclopedias for 69 cents. The lives of the world's great men, from the dawn of civilization to the present are waiting for purchasers at prices this side of a dollar.

ALONG CAME CINDERELLA

By VIVIAN GREY

Chapter Two FIRST GIFT That was what Roger said. But he was thinking of Lovely Daye with her brilliant smile and striking blondeness. The gleam of the large diamond he had given Emily caught his eye. His pulse started queerly. In exactly one month he would slip another ring into place beside the diamond. The second ring was already in his possession—a circle of diamonds. He thought he remembered a ring on the same finger of Lovely's hand, the faint gleam of a chip diamond in an ornate setting.

"I hope we won't live to regret this generosity of yours Roger," his mother said easily. "It's so dry if a fire started."

But dinner was announced so whatever Mrs. Cosgrave would have said about fire died aborning.

After dinner Roger found reason to make an excursion to the kitchen.

"Was there much ice cream left?" he asked.

"Quite a lot sir," from the butler.

"Enough for four?" And as the man nodded: "Please pack it in ice and send it to the wood lot near the dam. There are some picnickers there I'd like to have it."

Roger again "Gee! That was swell ice cream!" Lovely was lying on her back on the hemlock needles, her hands clasped behind her head.

Roger had come so quietly along the path that he had been in their midst before the picnickers had known it. Lovely was the first to speak, her brilliant smile pointing up the beauty of her face as she looked up at him. She didn't move. Her thin, snug silk blouse lay smooth over her curves. Little of her sultry young loveliness was left to the imagination. Roger Cosgrave was acutely aware of her. Her beauty reached out to him like hands and gripped his heart. It was such a real thing. Almost as if you could take it in your hands, cradle it there and say: "Here for the first time I look upon love."

It swept him, as he remembered the fall before a hurricane swept the apple orchard clean of everything that had been there but the fundamentals, the gnarled old trees lifting their branches skyward. All of the apples that had been blossoms that spring lay rolled in a bruised useless mass down the hill. He felt like that orchard. Swept clean of everything that had gone before.

He smiled at Lovely.

"Did you like it? I'm so glad!" He had tried to include all of them but his words made their way to Lovely alone.

"Like it?" from Katie. "Say does a blonde like a sugar daddy? Does a steno like her boss?"

Roger laughed and Bill said: "All I can say is she'd better."

They all laughed then and Roger made note of the fact that he must have been wrong before. There was no ring on the third finger of Lovely's hand. He was aware of a sudden lift. No engagement ring!

"Cigarette?" Lovely's hand moved straight up into the air. Cosgrave was standing almost directly above her. He looked down smiling. The rest of the party seemed shut out. Just the two of them there together.

"Thanks," he said, his tone a little different as his hand touched hers. It was just a fleeting shadow of something sweet and tender

Life's Darkest Moment

Alsop And Kintner Say— Administration FD's Weak Point

By ALSOP and KINTNER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—When Benjamin V. Cohen returns from his London expedition with Ambassador John G. Winant, there is a reasonably good chance he will be made chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission. He does not want the place. It will have to be kept open for him for at least two months, since the present chairman, Jerome N. Frank, is soon to ascend the federal bench. But as co-author of the truth in securities act, the securities and exchange act, and the public utilities holding company act, the SEC famous trio of enabling statutes, Cohen will probably accept the SEC chairmanship if the president can find no other candidate meeting his specifications.

The fact that the unwilling Cohen may well be drafted for the SEC chairmanship serves to dramatize one of the most depressing situations in Washington. Because the war has distracted attention from domestic questions, no one seems to have noticed the curious degeneration of the great administrative agencies launched by the New Deal. Yet a degeneration has certainly been in progress. The most controversial, most effective of all the New Deal agencies, the SEC found it easy at the start to hire the best talent available. Since the SEC was launched, however, no less than four men, Joseph P. Kennedy, James Landis, William O. Douglas and Jerome Frank, have passed through its chairmanship and on to jobs they liked better. At present, of the four regular commissioners, Leon Henderson is giving three quarters of his time to defense work, while Ed Eicher is longingly waiting for the day when his nomination to a judgeship will be consented to by Senator Guy Gillette, whom he fought in the famous Iowa purge primary. In short, only two men on the commission, Robert Healy and Sumner Pike, are full time workers with both eyes on the job, and only Healy can boast continuous service on the commission since its establishment.

Furthermore, where once the SEC only had to beckon to the cleverest young lawyers in the country, its subordinate personnel is now frequently depleted by resignations, and the replacements are less and less distinguished. Finally, if Cohen does not take the chairmanship, there is likely to be an unseemly wrangle among the backers of the other candidates for the SEC. Among these the leaders are Abe Fortas, a protégé of Justice William O. Douglas, who recently inherited Cohen's job in the interior department; David Schenker, the able director of the SEC investment trust study, the only New Deal investigation that finally obtained the consent of the investigated; and Ganson Purcell, director of the trading division, who has powerful support at the White House. In short the SEC is now suffering from every ill the bureaucracy is heir to, from office politics to dry rot of personnel.

For the present, because its original momentum was so strong, the SEC still appears to retain much of its early vitality. The degenerating process, already much further advanced in other agencies, is bound to continue, however. It cannot help but do so, for the president has never really attempted to solve the basic problem of the New Deal experiment. While vastly expanding powers and extending the responsibilities of government, he has never made the government service sufficiently attractive to the kind of man needed to carry the new responsibilities and exercise the new powers. In the first flush of the New Deal excitement, many brilliant men entered the government, but because the financial rewards were poor and the future extremely dubious, they were bound to leave again some time.

Administration, in truth, is the president's weakest point. If any proof is needed, it will be found in the presence in Washington, in a handsome suite at a local hotel, of the Hon. Ed Flynn, chairman of the Democratic National Committee. The New Deal domestic program is in grave danger, for want of good men to manage it, yet the man who seems to be charged with supplying new government workers is the redoubtable boss of the Bronx.

The Bronx psychology unfortunately dominates the Flynn effort. He apparently conceives of the United States as a sort of glorified Bronx county, and proposes to build a nationwide Democratic organization on the pattern of his own Bronx machine. The general objective of his labors is to acquire an unshakable hold on the state delegations, and thus to dominate the Democratic convention 1944. He is ranging through the government, hounding every one from Cabinet officers to the executive officials of obscure little sub-agencies and corporations, strung jobs for the deserving on every side. His conception is pretty certain to come to nothing, in the first place because the wiser Cabinet officers will have no part of him, and in the second because, despite their power of confirmation, he treats the Senators as a set of glorified aldermen. Yet the mere fact that the president at least countenances Flynn's activities is sufficiently symptomatic of his lack of interest in the problem of the government service. Hollywood and the War— Profits Climb As Movies Get Over First War Scare

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—September, 1939. War.

"The sky is falling," shrilled long-jittery Hollywood.

"The picture business is done for," wailed the industry's jobs.

"Foreign revenues will be shot," they moaned.

Long keyed to a high emotional pitch by the sheer drama of its all-Hollywood broke down and wept—and then, its big scene nicely played out, turned immediately to a more practical consideration.

Like all the rest of the world, Hollywood asked itself: "How does this calamity affect us—and what can we do about it?"

In this February, 1941, it is apparent that Hollywood has been affected by the war, and it is even more apparent that Hollywood has done things about it.

Divine predictions were free in those first weeks. Caviar appetites would have to learn the flavor of pork and beans. There would be no more million-dollar epics, no more fancy prices paid for stories and plays.

So what happened? Hollywood tightened its belt—and turned out an unusual number of outstanding films to make 1940 a good movie year, and a year passed significantly by the most expensive "epic" ever made, "Gone With the Wind."

This film's career epitomized what was to be done to Hollywood as its "way out"—a spend-to-earn philosophy aimed at luring from the domestic market enough to compensate for foreign losses. "Gone" cost $4,000,000 before the war and in a year of pre-releases before tapping the mass market it grossed between four and five times its cost.

Nobody is making another

"Gone," but the principle—always good in the industry—is not forgotten. Top productions bring top profits. Hollywood is spending.

But it has been spending with a difference—not for spending's sake, but for results. One executive puts it this way: "Hollywood used to condone its own extravagance by laying it to 'this crazy business.' Making movies was not like any other business, they said. They were partly right—but making movies, like any other job, can be done two ways. Efficiently, or inefficiently. Hollywood has been trying to do it the first way—and it is succeeding."

Just how much the films have lost in foreign revenue is presently unclear, estimates ranging from as high as 47 per cent (in rare instances) to as low as 10 per cent. How much of this loss consists of war-frozen or politically-impounded profits, with a chance to retrieve them later, is also uncertain, a factor to be determined by some financial wizard familiar with all the ramifications of foreign quota laws and restrictions and their effects on the individual companies.

However, most of Hollywood's major concerns showed greater net profits for 1940, a full year year, than for 1939. The big exception was 20th Century-Fox (1939 profits over $4,000,000) which showed a deficit—due partly to foreign losses.

Some of the new profits included foreign revenues the companies cannot take from the countries of origin, but all the lots including 20th are optimistic over 1941 prospects.

Crude Production Increase Large

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 25. (AP)—With the biggest gains in Kansas and Texas, daily crude oil production in the United States increased 16,600 barrels to 3,277,665 for the week ended Feb. 22, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Kansas production gained 29,600 to 297,100; Texas, 13,300 to 1,350,400; East Texas, 50 to 374,525; and eastern fields, 400 to 112,200.

"I Tried Almost Every Medicine Without Relief," Says Texas Lady; "Then Hoyt's Compound Banished Stomach Misery."

"Thanks to Hoyt's Compound, I no longer have aches and pains, headaches or kidney misery," declares Mrs. J. W. Hubbs, 1321 Third St., Wichita Falls, Texas.

MRS. J. W. HUBBS

For 23 years I had acid indigestion, torpid liver, kidney and bowel distress, gas, belching and bloating. It felt like a solid lump formed in my stomach. I had muscular aches and pains, and had to arise often each night.

"I tried Hoyt's Compound, and now I am able to eat any kind of food, even onions, without indigestion, gas and bloating. What a relief it is. My liver is functioning properly, and I don't have to get up at night. I hope others, too, will get this relief."

Hoyt's Compound is recommended and sold by the Collins Bros. Drug Store and by all leading druggists everywhere.—adv.

Lamesa Votes Water Bonds

LAMESA, Feb. 25 (Sp1)—Voters of this city gave a $75,000 water bond issue a rousing 143-28 majority in balloting here Monday.

Bonds are secured only by revenues from the water department, and Mayor W. L. Marr and other city officials predicted there would be no necessity of raising rates.

Proceeds of the issue will go toward providing an additional 200,000 gallons in storage with 100-foot elevation. In addition, there must be 630,000 gallons more water per day produced as well as extending two miles of six-inch mains, a mile of eight-inch mains and around 20 fire hydrants. Some 30 control valves will be required for the new piping.

Commissioners hearkened back to 1924 when the south side of the business district was razed by fire due to an adequacy of water. With this in mind, they felt that water provisions for a city of 7,000 should be made to meet requirements of the state fire insurance commission. Lamesa's rates now are based on a 1930 census of 3,628 and the 1940 census showed 6,019 living within the corporate limits.

Plans are to market the bonds as soon as possible so that improvements may be completed in advance of the peak demand setting in with summer. Already the city has one new well which tests out at approximately 200 gallons a minute.

500 High School Musicians To Meet Here

Band Clinic Scheduled In Auditorium

Five hundred or more members of high school bands in this area are expected to congregate here Friday for an all-day band clinic at the municipal auditorium, Dan Conley, director of the high school band, said Tuesday.

Invitations have been sent to a score of bands in the area as far north as Tahoka, west to Odessa, south to San Angelo and east to Sweetwater.

E. L. Gadbois, formerly director of music in North high school at Minneapolis, Minn., will be in charge of the clinic. Now with the Victor Publishing Co., which has issued the state adopted band text and contest music for the year, Gadbois will concentrate on the contest piece and discuss the text.

Conley said that directors of bands in this area had been queried on the possibility of a concert Friday evening and that an announcement would be made on this point later.

Best members of several bands will be drafted for the clinic band, under direction of Gadbois. However, the clinic here will differ from others in that frequent substitutions will be made by directors to give more band members experience. Assisting Conley in arrangements is Roger Eaton, Coahoma band director.

that lay over the moment and then was gone. "I've got a tea date. Time I push along. Some other time!" It was almost like asking for a definite date so intent were his eyes.

"Are you always in such a hurry?" Lovely asked, an audacious note in her voice.

"Not always."

"You'll have to prove that to me."

"I'd like to, quickly."

"Well, you didn't have to get fresh," Joe said to Lovely as Roger made his way back to the house.

"And you could of set up. Wouldn't hurt you none to act as if you were a lady."

Lovely laughed blithely.

"Why should I pretend, tall, dark and daring? Anyhow I'll bet he's bored to tears having girls always act like ladies. The guy probably could do with a little variety."

"Well, let some other dame take care of that. You don't have to."

"You wouldn't be telling me what to do, would you, big boy?" Lovely sat up, the smile wiped from her face.

Katie's quick eyes moved from one to the other.

"I didn't mean anything, honey," Joe apologized.

"Then don't say things that don't mean anything," Lovely snapped.

"All right, I've apologized haven't I? What more can I do?"

"Get down on your knees and knock your head on the ground," Lovely was on her feet. Her voice was imperious even though there was a suspicion of laughter in it.

Joe did what she ordered with promptness that was ludicrous. They all laughed then and the threatened storm passed with no apparent harm done.

But Lovely was quiet on the way home that evening.

At last Joe turned to her and said:

"What's matter, honey, cat got your tongue?" Lovely was distinctly annoyed but she answered quietly as, riding head thrown back, she looked up at the star shot velvet of the sky.

"It's just too lovely to talk—the stars and sky and the sweet smells and all." Her voice was dream swept.

There was honeysuckle blooming along the parkway and weighting the night air with its fragrance. There was a sweetness of drying grass. Joe thought: she's dwell in that mood. Wait till we get home. He was content to give all his attention to the wheel from then on. Anticipation was a marvelous thing.

Quarrel

But when they reached the shabby walk-up where she lived with her married sister, Lovely was in no mood for lingering farewells.

"Not tonight, Joe," she said as he would have kissed her. Something about her mood, the star strewn night, the sweet freshness of cut grass, the pleasant cultivation of Roger Cosgrave's voice still echoing somewhere within her made her shrink from the enthusiasm of Joe's caresses. Even the lawfulness of far West Twenty-sixth Street had not destroyed a certain glamour that held her.

Joe stood back and looked at her.

"What's up?" he asked, a queer note in his voice.

"Nothing Joe. Don't mind me tonight. It's just that everything in my brain is so beautiful and so dreamlike that I don't want anything real to touch it. It's been such a sweet day."

She laughed softly. There was a tender note in the sound. She didn't want to hurt Joe. He was her kind, all too familiar with the kicks and cuffs—the seamy side—of life. No use adding anything to that experience if she didn't have to. But there was something just then she couldn't have Joe coming into.

"You see," still with that little laugh that was meant to placate and satisfy him, "I know nothing real could be as lovely as the stars and sky and summer smells and soft wind against my face. It's been so grand today, Joe!"

"Sure has, honey." A low urgent note in his voice as if strong emotions were surging against a barrier of will.

"You don't mind just tonight, Joe?" softly.

Joe had kissed her countless times when she'd rather liked it but tonight it would have done something to a dream that was too lovely to spoil.

"Not if it's what you want, kid. The thing your little heart desires

Here And There

Robert Halley, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Halley, left Monday evening for San Francisco, from which point he will sail to his post as ensign aboard the Indianapolis, heavy cruiser at Honolulu, Hawaii.

Robert was graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy on Feb. 9 and commissioned. Eager to get about his work, he anticipated enlisted men and officers alike would have much fun at his expense if and when he crosses both the equator (one of the stations on the Indianapolis' route is below it) and the international date line.

Both call for rations of those crossing them for the first time. Robert was a member of the first class to be graduated in three and a half years and of the last class to make the European cruise before outbreak of hostilities.

Mrs. J. C. Spaulding was in Monday and said that rains had been welcomed in their area, and that it would help in putting up land. So is breaking well this season she added. Over the county similar reports were heard, and it was estimated about 50 per cent of the land was up.

A car which had rested for a long time at the Big Spring hospital was identified by police Tuesday as one stolen from Lamesa on Jan. 12.

A 12-year-old Midland girl and her 8-year-old brother were held here by police Tuesday for Midland authorities. They were reported as runaways, who wanted to go to Dallas to see their daddy.

Mr. and Mrs. Lips Brothers of Lamesa were Sunday dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Moore and daughters, Devada Lee and Dorothy. Bernard Mayo of Big Spring was also a guest.

Double L Speer at the Settles hotel is hatching up something he may call the Palm Room. At least a room in the basement, formerly maintained as American Legion headquarters, is being renovated and redecorated as a party place.

Coats Bentley, who has been corresponding for the Herald at Stanton, was due to leave Tuesday night for El Paso to begin one year training in the army. He volunteered for the training.

Sweepstakes atmosphere prevailed at the ABC park Saturday when Nelda Muriel Smith romped home on her "Rex" to win the stick horse derby. Floyd Brown's "Boy Bean" was judged best-made; Mary Lou Redwine's "Sea Biscuit" was wisest. Others entered were Wandalene Richardson's "Gunpowder," Bernadene Smith's "Silver," Louis Poulton's "Lillian," and Don Richardson's "Henry."

is the law of my life, Lovely." His voice was very earnest on the last. And he was to remember having said that. And live up to it in future years.

"That's sweet of you, Joe." Her hand fluttered against his face caressingly, for a moment. She turned quickly toward the shadowy stairs. There were four flights of them. "Good night," she swung around on the first step to say.

"Good night, Lovely. See you tomorrow night." He said it with easy assurance.

When Lovely reached the top of the fourth flight the dreams were suddenly wiped from her face.

Voices came from beyond the door of her sister's flat. Voices raised to a quarreling, snarling note.

"Jeepers creepers! Do you have to rave just because I bought a hat?" Her sister's voice was shrill.

"Hat! Hat!" Ring Mulsby's voice was viciously derisive. "She calls that Happy Holligan thing a hat! Spending the money I sweat for on jokes like that! Why didn't you wait till February-fourteenth and wrap yourself up and send yourself to me? Spending my tax earned dough on funny Valentines! Looks like something you'd run into that had stuck to you."

"All right, go on knocking yourself out if you think it's getting you anywhere! The minute Sunny is big enough I'm getting me a job and earning my own coin."

"Yeah, try it and do it!"

"I'll do it all right! You and your money! Money! Money!"

Lovely could hear her sister's voice gathering fury. She knew the scene by heart. She could see them in there quarreling, little Sunny, who should be in bed, strutting wide eyed and solemn. Not really alarmed because this was just life to her. Poor little Sunny. Lovely felt she almost knew the exact words they would use next. And she did.

"Money," Gert was going on, "that's all I ever hear from you. You'd think I was pouring it into the gutter, when I never spend a cent I don't have to. What if I did buy a new hat yesterday? A woman's got a right to something new once in a while, hasn't she?"

Preparation Of Farm Planning Sheets Started

As members of the county committee went to Sweetwater for a district party on farm planning, the county AAA staff here Tuesday announced that preparation of 1941 farm planning sheets had been started.

It was estimated that this would require about two weeks and when it is finished, a series of community meetings will be held. As planning sheets are passed out, opportunity will be given to farmers to participate in the cotton stamp plan for supplementary reductions of cotton acreage.

This would enable farmers to receive payment at 10 cents per pound on adjusted yield up to 225 per farm, with no multiple farm operator receiving more than $50. It was estimated that this program could release a maximum of $22,500 in stamps to be expended only for American made and produced cotton goods.

Going to Sweetwater were M. Weaver, county administrative assistant, L. H. Thomas, Earl Hull and Ross Hill, county committee-men.

New Midway 4-H Club Is Formed

Expansion program for 4-H girls work in Howard county bore fruit Monday with organization of the county's sixth club at Midway.

Evelyn Wilson was elected head of the new club, which has 20 members. Others named were Neva Jean Jenkins, vice-president; Frankie Stracener, secretary; Johnnie Townsend, reporter; and Mrs. R. F. Jenkins, sponsor.

Lora Farnsworth, county home demonstration agent, said that organization of the club was the outgrowth of a plan whereby home demonstration members would each "adopt" a 4-H club girl for guidance in club programs and demonstration, and to assist girls outside organized club areas.

Members of the new unit are Alva Jo Foy, Ross Faye Rice, Mary Anna Whitaker, Orelia Shirley, Patsy Sue Whittington, Leta Mae Parker, Bobbie Townsend, Willie Pearl Tonn, Effie Jahe Rice, Phyllis Jean Brown, Eloise McMurray, Wanda June Hale, Pauline Joiner, Ariens Bennett, Reba.

Other 4-H club girls in the county are at Coahoma, Centar Point, Moore and Garner, where there is a senior and junior unit.

Senate Committee Favors Improvements On Guam, Samoa

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Acting at top speed the senate naval affairs committee approved today a $242,373,500 authorization for improvements at the islands of Guam and Samoa, Pacific ocean outposts near Japan. The legislation passed the house last week.

Favorable action came after an executive session at which Admiral Ben Moreell, navy department spokesman, declared that the improvement at Guam and Samoa and of numerous naval bases acquired from England were "absolutely vital to the defense of the United States."

Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) one of the first senators to emerge from the committee's closed session, said committee action on all the projects was unanimous.
