CHILD LABOR amendment for the United States, its intent to prevent exploitation of childhood in order that mildy may buy textiles and other articles at bargain prices, is intensely sought. One of the favorite objections to it is that it would give the government too much control over children. It is seldom conceded that the control would be negative, rather than regimentary.

Bratton, Fraser And Lewis Are Reelected As 1,222 Votes Are Cast

PHARES' APPOINTMENT DISRUPTS BODY

'INS' PILE UP A BIG LEAD IN LOCAL VOTING

MAJORITY IN ONE RACE IS 237; IN OTHER LEAD IS 288

City commissioners met this morning and canvassed the municipal balloting of yesterday. Only one error was found. W. H. Curry received 455 votes instead of 450 as announced last night.

Pampa's city commission was re-elected yesterday in a municipal election which produced 1,222 ballots, or four more votes than were cast two years ago. The ballot totals, after mutilated votes were discarded, were as follows:

For mayor—W. A. Bratton, 718, Mel B. Davé, 481.
For commissioner No. 1—W. T. Fraser, unopposed, 1,163.
For commissioner No. 2—Marvin Lewis, 743, W. H. Berry, 455.
Scattering votes gave C. A. Burton 3 ballots for commissioner and M. A. Graham 6 votes.

The campaign was singularly quiet and devoid of controversial issues. Of the incumbents, Commissioners Fraser and Lewis will begin their second terms next week and Mayor W. A. Bratton his third term.

Third Conviction Of Former Olney Mayor Reversed

Charged With Slaying Son; Accident, Says Court

AUSTIN, April 8 (AP)—The court of criminal appeals today reversed the third conviction of Charles S. Richards, a former mayor of Olney, of murder in the shooting of his son, Eliza.

Richardson was sentenced to ten years at the third trial held in Wilbarger county on a charge of venue. The boy was shot at the father's home in a scuffle. Richardson contended it was accidental.

The opinion stated "there was no denial of the fact that appellant (Richardson) shot and killed his son on the occasion mentioned in the indictment, Jan. 1, 1934, but contended it was an accident."

Court Permits State to Award Sooner Leases

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 8 (AP)—Roustabouts protected by national guardsmen made the dirt fly today at the locations of five state oil wells on capitol property, while the next legal move in the dispute between the state and municipal officials remained undetermined.

The state supreme court yesterday struck down a temporary restraining order, granted Carl G. Lund, a taxpayer, in district court, which would have prevented the state board of affairs from awarding leases on the capitol land.

Lund's application for injunction will be tried on its merits, the supreme court announced.

Governor E. W. Marland did not take immediate advantage of the decision, but hinted the board might make the awards today.

The high bidder was State Senator Knox Garvin, whose offer was a bonus of $374,000 and one-fourth of the oil produced on the 17 tracts. When Marland decided to defy city zoning ordinances and drill the wells, he placed Garvin in charge of operations.

Clarendon Youth Wins Cactus Post

AUSTIN, April 8 (AP)—James T. Brinkley, Houston, was elected president of the students' association at the University of Texas, yesterday, defeating Irvy Cobb, Houston.

James Bradshaw, Belleville, defeated Bernard Karkowski, Liberty, for judiciary chairman. Ed Hodge, El Paso, was named editor of the Daily Texan, defeating Stanley Gunn, Austin, and Paul Crume of Farwell.

Harvey Wallender, Tyler, track star, was voted the year's most outstanding athlete.

Low bids were tabulated on construction in Armstrong, Clay, Floyd, Taylor, McLennan, Frio, Lipscomb, Medina, Coryell, Polk, Limestone, Caldwell, San Saba, and Dawson counties.

Bids were opened on other jobs in Donley, Austin, Val Verde, Hudspeth, Kimble, Brazoria, Cherokee, Aransas, Burleson, Fannin, McLennan, Comal, and Taylor counties.

Shoemaker Friend Of Coolidge Dies

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., April 8 (AP)—James Lucey, 81, shoemaker and philosopher-friend of Calvin Coolidge, died today.

Once a White House guest, Lucey came into national attention when President Coolidge wrote him from the capital.

"If it were not for you I would not be here."

Lucey always maintained he didn't know why Coolidge so praised him unless it was because of their philosophic discussions which dated back to the former president's days at Amherst.

FARMERS ARE ADVISED TO MAP OUT FIELDS TO BUILD UP LAND

COLLEGE STATION, April 8.—Not how much money can be gotten out of the new agricultural program, but how much will it help improve sound farming is the fundamental question to be asked, according to A. L. Smith, who has charge for the Extension Service of putting into action plans made under the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment act.

He suggests that every farmer map out his fields as he would like to farm them—to make the farm cropping plan that he knows would hold and build up the land, and which he has not used because of lack of money. "When that is done let each farmer investigate the new AAA soil conservation program to see how it fits. In most cases farmers will be surprised at how closely the new program fits their own plans," he adds.

To farmers who apply for them, after completing the program of approved soil conserving and soil building practices, grants of money will be made later in the year because soil conservation and sustained farm buying power are of vital importance to the nation. For this reason the government teams up with the farmer to help finance the job of making American farms secure.

Farmers whose farm plans for 1936 conform to the flexible soil conserving program may be paid at the rate of 5 cents per pound for the normal lint cotton yield on land shifted from this soil depleting crop to some crop or use that protects and restores the soil. Not more than 35 per cent of the base acreage of cotton may be shifted to form the basis of a payment and that only if the total in the county does not exceed 25 per cent.

JOE PENNER'S DUCK ORDAINED AS CLERIC BY MAIL-ORDER CHURCH

LOS ANGELES, April 8 (AP)—An investigator for the Los Angeles Ministerial association charged today that at least 918 persons, and Joe Penner's duck, have been ordained by a local "mail-order church."

Dr. U. L. Di Ghilini, the investigator, said $10 was charged for ordination as a minister, $5 more for a doctor of divinity degree—with no theological study necessary—and $15 additional for a third rank of bishop.

Results of the inquiry probably will be given to the district attorney's office, the Rev. Isaac Ward, association leader, announced. He is pastor of Hollenbeck Presbyterian church.

In assisting the investigation, Penner, radio and screen star comedian, permitted the name of his pet fowl, Googoo, to be used on an application to a Los Angeles organization last January 18. Dr. Di Ghilini reported.

A statement was prepared by Dr. Di Ghilini, as sponsor, that "Drake Googoo" was a clairvoyant with some stage and screen experience. Two days later, ignorant of the applicant's true identity, the church certified the duck as a preacher, empowered to administer communion, perform marriage rites and read a final tribute over the bier of the dead, the investigator said. Many of the 918 persons ordained for small fees are clairvoyants, palmists, card readers, and the like, whom a city ordinance banned from practicing their professions as such, Dr. Di Ghilini said.

Junior League Organization Meeting To Be Held Monday

Enough Teams Available to Form League

An organization meeting of the Panhandle Junior League has been called for Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the city hall and managers and sponsors of the various teams which are planning to enter the league are invited and urged to be present.

Two of the prospective entries in the league, the Magnolia Peepees of Pampa and the Amarillo Mavericks opened spring training this week. The Mavericks started spring practice yesterday with 14 candidates on hand for the first workout, according to Harry Dumbell, coach. The team will hold workouts each afternoon.

The Peepees will open spring practice today under the direction of their coach, Roy Marshall, and sponsor, Howard Buckingham.

Enough teams to form a league have already agreed to enter, provided organization is completed. They are the Mavericks, Peepees, Little Road Runners, Phillips of Pampa, Canadian and Hoover. Tonight, Phillips of Borger will decide whether the Hutchins on county 68 crew will enter a team. It is likely that Borger will be represented in the league. With Pampa, Amarillo and Borger entered, keen competition is expected. Ben Romines will have charge of the Pampa Phillips team. Mr. Romines is a former baseball player. The Canadian team, sponsored by the Rotary club of that city, will start the season with new uniforms purchased at the tail-end of last season. Mrs. Perry Patterson is coach, and W. T. Allen, manager.

Harold Miller of the Road Runners said that arrangements for the Little Road Runners would be made and announced after the organization meeting Monday night.

The Little Road Runners would probably practice with the senior team. A decision for candidates for the team would likely be made after the meeting Monday night. Rules and regulations will be fixed at that time, and a schedule drafted.

Whether the age-limit will be 16 or 17 or what will be determined by the coaches, managers and sponsors at the meeting. It had been planned to make the age-limit 16 in order to conform with national Junior League rules. A special "dispensation" may be made in the case of Hoover where the players range in age from 14 to 19.

AIR HOSTESS

dead convinced Lieut. George Pickering of the highway patrol and Coroner S. A. Blatz that the tragedy occurred at 10:20 a. m. Ten minutes earlier Pilot Ferguson, on route from Newark, N. J., radioed he was flying through thick weather by his instruments and would not land at Pittsburgh.

Jack Frye, president of Transcontinental Airways, said in New York the Sun Racer was flying on a special radio beam but was 50 miles off its course.

Frye said that about the time of the crash another TWA plane, east-bound, was delayed in landing because of interruption of a radio course beam for interspersions of weather reports. He said without further information he could not say whether a beam interruption could have contributed to the wreck.

The commerce department in Washington said, however, a check on beacons by an air commerce bureau pilot showed them to be "accurate and functioning." The report added two commercial pilots also reported the beacons all right.

Lieut. Pickering and other investigators who reached the desolate mountainside seven miles from Uniontown soon after Miss Granger's report said the big transport crashed with terrific force.

One wing apparently was ripped off by the limb of a tree while the ship skimmed the hilltop. It hurtled on to tear through a hundred yards of underbrush and scattered pieces of wreckage for hundreds of feet.

The hostess and two survivors were in the rear of the plane and to that fact they owed their lives. That part of the ship did not catch fire.

She told Frye in a telephone conversation that the impact made her unconscious, and added:

"When I came to I could see the sky above me. There was a gaping hole in the top of the fuselage and the wreckage was strewn in every direction.

"I got up and walked—only a few paces, I think. Then I heard a man call. He was outside the plane. I grabbed a blanket automatically and went over and spread it over him.

"I heard a woman cough, she was Mrs. Ellenstein. I pulled her away from the plane at just about the time it started to blaze."

The little brunette heroine then began her hunt through the forests for a telephone. She went to two cabins without success.

Finally she reached the home of Mrs. R. E. Addis and telephoned to C. A. Williams of the TWA in Pittsburgh—four hours after the Sun Racer was due there.

Rescuers hurried to the spot of the air disaster from all around the countryside. They ripped off unburned pieces of the Sun Racer's wings to make stretchers for the dead.

LEGION COMBATS AUTOCRACY OF BOTH THE CLASSES AND MASSES

Ex-soldiers should join the American Legion to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses, Commander A. D. Month of Kirby-Crossman post of the Legion said in a statement today. He continued his remarks, declaring:

There is no institution better fitted to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses than the American Legion. Its membership, representing for the most part, the

In a democracy such as ours, classes and masses are inevitable, and that both will develop group consciousness is further inevitable; and because the American Legion is a cross section of all classes and masses and neither, and also because its billion members are naturally finding positions of leadership in every conceivable organization in America, it is dead certain that the American Legion itself can never become autocratic in its fight against autocracy.

Society is becoming increasingly complex, and every now and then groups and classes and sometimes masses will rise up with the cleanest of motives at which, being subjected to various social pressures, may almost unconsciously become so strong that they might threaten the highest welfare of other groups or the body social as a whole.

There is perhaps no other organization in the history of nations so eminently and adequately qualified to combat the autocracy of classes and masses as the American Legion, and that without com-

WISCONSIN VOTES 2-1 FOR FDR AS BORAH CAPTURES DELEGATION

MILWAUKEE, April 8. (AP)—Wisconsin voters registered a two-to-one preference for President Franklin D. Roosevelt over Senator William E. Borah, aspirant for the republican nomination, in incomplete returns to "ay from yesterday's primary election.

The Idaho senator was given overwhelming control of the Wisconsin delegation of 24 votes at the republican national convention, rolling up an impressive lead over a slate of un instructed delegates.

Thousands of voters who apparently paid little attention to the convention delegates contests turned out to give their endorsement to Roosevelt.

Candidates pledged to the president took control of the 24 national convention seats—same number as the republicans—but ran far

New Directors Of Rotary Club Are Designated

The per capita government indebtedness of Great Britain is two and a half times that of the United States and people of this country can still carry a larger debt burden without a national calamity, it was brought out in a talk before the Rotary club today by Carey C. Thompson, instructor in economics in Amarillo college.

He showed that the different sources of the taxes made the burden easier in England where most of the taxes are derived from inheritance and income. General property provides 56 per cent of government taxes in the United States while it provides only 18 per cent in Great Britain. Inheritance and income provide 35 per cent of the taxes in England while it provides only 18 per cent in the United States. Plano solos were given by Miss Cara Wagner of radio station KPDM.

Visitors today were J. O. Gillham, Dave Price and Rotarians John N. Hill, Amarillo; Merritt Welsh, Panhandle; and Tom Hudspeeth, El Paso. Paul Jensen was introduced as a new member.

The new board of directors for the Rotary year beginning July 1, which were elected today, are as follows: Lee Bowden, C. P. Buckler, Charlie Burton, Walter Daugherty, Dan Gribben, Travis Lively, and Farris Oden.

Veteran of War Dies in Pampa

A member of General Parker's army in the war between the states, J. H. Clay, 89 years 1 month, was taken by death last night at 508 S. Ballard street where he had made his home for several years. He came to Pampa 32 years ago.

Mr. Clay came to Pampa from Elk City, where for many years was a peace officer. Before that time he was a deputy United States marshal in the Indian territory. After coming to Pampa he was with A. Holmes, rancher. Later his health kept him from active work.

Survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Myrtle Sutton, Hydro, Okla., and Mrs. Essie Koerner, Westville, Okla., and one son, Charlie Clay, Garber, Okla.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Charlie Duenkel funeral home by Mrs. T. E. Johnston. Burial will follow in Fairview cemetery.

left united to vote him out, while rightists and monarchists sought to keep him in office.

Deeply affected by the ouster by the men with whom he had helped to form the republic, Alcalá Zamora refused to receive a parliamentary committee, bearing the news that the cortes voted: 238 to five, last night, for his removal.

Deputies of the parliament, in a tense five-hour session, decided the former president had misused his constitutional rights in dissolving the last cortes, and thus was automatically relieved of his post under article 81 of the constitution.

Hoa Re-elected Milwaukee Mayor

MILWAUKEE, April 8 (AP)—Socialist Mayor Daniel W. Hoan was re-elected in a close race with Sheriff Joseph J. Shimmers, non-partisan yesterday's election, but today faced the prospect of a four-year tenure without control over the city council.

Hoan's personal popularity carried him to victory while his running mates voted to defeat some of them by a vote of 2 to 1.

Hoan, who on next Tuesday will begin his twenty-first year as the city's chief executive, will be without a fellow socialist at the head of another elective office. The non-partisan swept their candidates to victory in the contests for city attorney, treasurer and comptroller.

The socialists also lost control of the council.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, April 8 (AP)—The stock market crawled into new high territory for the past several years today, with rallies ranging from fractions to 3 or more points.

Steels, rubbers, mines, rails and scattered utilities led the upturn. Profit taking, undermining new issues in the final hour, but the close was firm. Transfers approximated 1,700,000 shares.

Tierra Blanca Farms Rule As Jersey Champs

PLAINVIEW, April 8 (AP)—The Tierra Blanca farms of Canyon ruled today as champions in the Jersey bull division of the Panhandle Plains Dairy show. The farm's "Sybil's Dreaming Son" was declared grand champion after winning the junior title and "His Majesty Sybil of Randal" won the senior bull championship.

The bulls won over one of the largest fields of entrants in the show's history.

Judging was started in the morning. Short-horn milking division with a record entry list. Final judging in the female Jersey cattle department was scheduled for this afternoon.

In the aged bull class of the Short-horn milking division, C. E. Donnell of Canyon won first with his red bull, "Waterloo King, the Second." Temporal brothers of Muleshoe took second place and E. M. Ewen and son of Estelme, third place.

The class for bulls one year and under two, was won by W. H. Wilberding of Muleshoe with "Northwood Dan, the Fifth." Donnell also won the class for bulls calved between January and June, 1935. Ewen and son took second and S. E. Campbell and son of Tulla third.

The Short-horn Breeders association planned to hold its annual meeting and elect officers after judging was complete. The annual banquet of the Panhandle Plains Dairy association was set for tonight with Mason King of Amarillo as toastmaster. H. B. Hailes of Amarillo will preside.

Claim British Company Drew AAA Payments

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—The Washington Post says the Delta and Pine Land company of Scott, Miss., which received approximately $177,947 from the government in 1933 and 1934 "for not growing cotton," is a British controlled concern.

Control is held by the fine spinners and doublers association of Manchester, England, the newspaper adds.

It says the company shared $54,200 of 1933 benefit payments with the farm credit administration, in this manner making payments on approximately $50,000 lent to it by regional agricultural credit corporations during the Hoover administration.

AAA officials were quoted as saying the company received approximately $123,747 in 1934 and could have gotten about $37,000 more had it elected to take benefits entirely in cash rentals. AAA figures also were given to show that about 18 per cent of the benefits went to tenants and share-croppers.

Oscar G. Johnston, manager of the cotton producers' pool for the agriculture administration, is president of the firm.

Councilmen Shun Office of Mayor In Gainesville

GAINESVILLE, April 8 (AP)—Gainesville was without a mayor today as each of five city councilmen, installed last night, refused to accept the post.

One said he did not feel equal to the responsibility. Another pled lack of time. A third said he would be traveling a great deal.

There is no salary for Gainesville's mayor.

The new council consisted of J. B. Tanner and W. A. Hensley, elected yesterday; E. A. Hays, re-elected, and J. D. Howeth and Austin Reed, holdovers.

A second effort to secure a chief executive for the city will be made Friday.

THE GROWING TAX ITEM

The sum total of national income can be arbitrarily divided into funds used publicly and those used privately. A huge share of this income is paid to public agencies for distribution.

Obviously, the greater the tax levies upon business and the people, the smaller is the sum which can be spent by private means. This basic fact should be kept in mind as the increasing demands are made upon private agencies to remove unemployment and provide old-age security and unemployment relief.

The largest item in the American budget is not food, rent, clothing, or utilities—it is taxes. Our annual tax load—federal, state and local—is now in the neighborhood of $12,000,000,000. By contrast, the annual food bill is $11,500,000,000—the annual rent bill, $10,000,000,000—the annual clothing bill, $6,000,000,000.

Government, in other words, takes, directly and indirectly, more of our income than is taken by the grocer and butcher—more than is taken by the landlord—twice as much as we pay the clothing store.

But, you say, "I'm a man of average means. I pay little of this tax load—big business carries the principal burden."

If you think that, reflect on these figures: If the entire net income of all the corporations in this country in 1935—last year for which official figures are available—had been confiscated for tax purposes, it would have paid just about one-quarter of the total tax bill, leaving three-quarters to be made up from other sources!

Every person able to support himself pays taxes—scores of them. Only an isolated Indian in the deep Everglades, using only what nature provides, could exist without paying taxes. And although the taxes paid by the average individual may seem small compared with the total, it must be remembered that there are millions of these taxpayers and that the aggregate sum they pay is the larger share of the total.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Gentlemen of the AAA are heading out of Washington in all directions, armed with portable blackboards and large supplies of chalk. With these they will undertake to explain how the individual farmer can participate in the soil conservation program of 1936 and collect his portion of the $470,000,000 which Congress has appropriated for payments for such participation.

It is estimated that 80 per cent of American farms will be under the program and each farm will be a separate problem, to be solved by community and county committees.

Experts, however, have been busy working out "examples" which can be presented to state and county committees now to show how the regulations should operate under a given set of conditions—and there are as many such sets of conditions as there are combinations in a deck of cards.

Some experts say it is all horribly confusing and others say it is as easy as pie when you get to understand it. Anyway, given below is an "example," worked out for the cotton belt, which may be illuminating, although rates, types of farming, productivity, and many other factors present innumerable variations.

A farm of 130 acres last year (on which year the all-important soil-depleting base acreage is computed) contained 50 acres of cotton, 25 in corn for home use, 10 in other grains for home use, 15 in lespedeza (bush clover), 25 in woodland, and 5 in buildings area, roads, and wasteland. The last 30 acres mentioned are considered "neutral" and the 100 acres in crop land only are taken into consideration.

Only the lespedeza acreage is in a soil-conserving crop; the other 85 acres are in soil-depleting ones. Good farm management naturally decrees that the farmer can't shift from his grains, which he needs, so his shift must be made from cotton.

He can be paid for shifting up to 35 per cent of his cotton base, which in this instance would be 17½ acres. He is paid at the rate of 5 cents for each pound of the normal yield per acre on his farm. If his average acre yield is 250 pounds, he will be paid $218.75.

A corn belt farmer with a soil-depleting base of 140 acres might find himself asked this year to put 50 acres in corn, 40 in red clover, 30 in oats, and 30 in wheat.

The red clover would include 21 acres shifted, presumably, from land which has been used for corn, the 21 acres being equivalent to the 15 per cent of soil-depleting base for which payments are permitted. At the national average of $10 an acre for such payments, he would receive $210, although it might be more or less according to the normal rate of yield.

Assuming he does something to improve the red clover 40 acres—such as liming, seeding, or terracing—he might also receive another $40 in soil-building payment, making a total of $250.

On the basis of such examples as there, which will soon be presented to them, millions of farmers must determine whether it is to their best advantage to participate in the program and at the same time build up their soil.

BARBS

The other night a crooner sang, "Let's Face the Music," which seemed ironic, coming from him.

To anyone who recently visited Pittsburgh, and was unaware of the flood, the first mental reaction must have been: "The campaign is off!"

"Turkish government has decided to remilitarize the Dardanelles zone." A wise move, if they intend to revive that song.

A new movie is "Swing Your Partner." It seems a rather malevolent hint for wives whose husbands are habitual ace-trumpers.

"An epidemic of mad dogs disturbs Philadelphia." If this is not checked, there is a possibility Al Smith might have to break into a run.

CAPITOL CHATTER

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, April 7. (AP)—Gov. Allred was excited as any school boy at the "Texas Relays" as one record after another fell to the delight of an appreciative audience. The governor was one of the honorary referees and had the run of the stadium.

He was all over the field, cheering as Billy Roy of Loyola of the South broke the pole vault record and applauding Sam Francis when the University of Nebraska husky added several inches to the record in the shot put.

The governor, however, centered his attention on the dashes and running events. The chief executive once showed promise of becoming a track star when he was one of a handful of enthusiastic boys who turned out annually for track at Bowie high school. His high school performances were regarded as creditable. One of the governor's most cherished mementoes is a picture of his track team.

The governor was especially impressed with the running of Harvey "Chink" Wallender of Tyler, dubbed "The Texas Typhoon" because of his cinder path ability. Wallender ran the anchor position on the quarter and half mile University of Texas relay teams that set new records.

"Look at that boy pick them up and put them down," he cried as Wallender led the pack by several feet in the half mile relay.

William McGraw, attorney general also an honorary referee, enjoyed the relays too and took especial delight in presenting the Relays Queen and her court to the crowd.

Rep. Sidney Latham of Longview signed with relief at the final hearing of the special house committee investigating conditions in the East Texas oil field. Latham, who resides in the heart of the field and is in intimate contact with its ramifications, was one of the hardest working members of the committee.

"I'm sure glad this is about over," he said. "At times it has bordered on a nightmare. We have had, however, great satisfaction out of the work done."

Latham said he intended to take a vacation before the committee starts the tedious job of digesting the evidence and drafting remedial legislation. The task will require several months of careful, deliberative work, Latham indicated.

Chain Store Tax Is Attacked by Utility Company

AUSTIN, April 8. (AP)—A ninth suit attacking constitutionality of Texas' chain store tax was on file today as attorneys prepared to defend validity of the act.

The West Texas Gas company, selling gas and appliances in 19 West Texas towns, sued for a refund of $1,842 taxes paid under protest. Six other suits of that nature also were on file to protect about $80,000 paid under protest.

Attorney General William McCraw said it was likely some form of trial court action would be obtained in 60 days or less in the controlling injunction suits.

Initial suits were filed in Dallas in January by the Atlantic & Pacific and Kress stores, with 13 other operators of large chains. About $300,000 of taxes were involved.

McCraw said wholesale grocers had employed private counsel to assist the attorney general's department in defense of the act. Attorneys for the Wholesalers association, he said, were preparing an agreed statement of fact adoption of which would shorten the trial materially.

Meanwhile, the comptroller's department reported that $90,076 taxes had been paid for 4,200 stores, estimating more than 50,000 stores were taxed under the act. About $80,000 was paid under protest and subject to refund if proper suits were filed and if the tax was voided.

APRIL WHISPERINGS

A flush of green in meadows brown
A soft breeze blowing free,
Across the hills, where the sky leans down,
A road keeps calling me.
A road that whispers, "Banish care,
Cast off your troubles grim;
A golden country lingers there,
Beyond that distant rim."

Somewhere beneath those smiling skies,
Behind that rosy dawn,
Beyond some bend, Enchantment lies,
That laughing, beckons on.
A flush of green in meadows brown
A soft breeze blowing free,
Across the hills where the sky leans down,
A road keeps calling me.

And so is Life—tomorrow waits,
Tomorrow, Fortune's smile
Will open swing the phantom gates
To some glad afterwhile.
And voices whisper, "Banish care,
Cast off your trouble grim;
A golden country lingers there,
Beyond that distant rim."

CLAYTON DOMINATES COTTON MARKET, DECLARES WITNESS

WASHINGTON, April 8. (AP)—Louis Brooks of New York, former chairman of the business conduct committee of the New York cotton exchange, told a senate agriculture subcommittee today the justice department ought to investigate operations on the cotton exchange.

Brooks, a New York broker, said John H. McFadden, president of the exchange had "admitted" before the committee that he had been on the opposite side of the market from one of his customers, a mill for which he was buying cotton. That, Brooks said, was a violation of law governing the exchange.

"The wrong committee is investigating this situation," Brooks said. "It ought to be a committee of the department of justice."
He criticized what he intimated was a disposition of the senate committee to let the hearings "drag out."

Brooks said previous investigations in 1928 and 1930 had been permitted to "drag out" with the result "nothing was done" to correct what he considered undesirable conditions on the market.

The cotton exchange, Brooks said, turning toward Chairman Smith (D. S. C.) "is as dead as the mule down on your farm." The reason, he added, was that it was dominated by W. L. Clayton of Houston, Texas, a large scale cotton broker. That broker's control of the exchange is such, Brooks said, that "any reforms on the exchange must come from legislation, and they must come immediately." Memberships are being sold on the exchange, he said, "almost every week."

Cummings Argues Against Piling Up Power Suits

WASHINGTON, April 8. (AP)—Headed by Attorney General Cummings, government counsel sought today to hold back what they term a "deluge" of suits aimed at the new utilities holding company regulation act.

Contrary to the usual custom, Cummings himself prepared to go into the United States court of appeals, which is just one step below the Supreme Court, to argue the government's case.

The Supreme Court of the District of Columbia had granted the government a stay order, halting the barrage of suits brought by utilities which sought to enjoin the government from enforcing the utilities act against them.

The government had pleaded that it was engaged in litigation with the Electric Bond and Share company, that this case would prove a test of the act, and that other suits should be held in abeyance until the Supreme Court passes on the Electric Bond and Share controversy.

When the District of Columbia Supreme Court granted the government's plea, the utilities took an appeal to the court of appeals, resulting in today's arguments. They have complained that the Electric Bond and Share case is much too narrow to provide a test of the entire act.

BORAH LEADS IN WISCONSIN GOP PRIMARY

YOUNG REPUBLICANS IN CALIFORNIA HIT AT LONDON

WASHINGTON, April 8. (AP)—Expressing delight over reports from the Wisconsin primary, the campaign organization backing Senator Borah of Idaho for the republican presidential nomination pushed on with its drive today.

Incomplete returns showed Borah-pledged candidates for delegates to the national convention running ahead of the uninstructed slate.

On the basis of these returns Royal C. Johnson, member of the Borah-for-president national headquarters, declared that "republicans will vote for Mr. Borah if they are permitted to do so."

Carl G. Bachmann, chairman of the headquarters, was hastening back to the capital to map the final strategy for the Illinois primary Tuesday, when a test of strength comes between Borah and Colonel Frank Knox of Chicago. The Illinois preferential vote is advisory and not binding on the delegates.

Among other developments on the political scene was the California republican assembly's effort to persuade Governor Art M. Landon of Kansas not to permit the use of his name in the state's presidential primary May 5.

The assembly, a young republican group, charged that Landon was responsible for splitting the party because he did not join a "harmony movement."

This movement followed a decision of various G. O. P. factions to support an uninstructed slate, a course advocated for California by former President Hoover.

Landon's name was placed in the primary when he remained publicly silent on his attitude.

Open revolt in the Townsend plan organization came yesterday when the largest unit, club 93 of Los Angeles, quit the old age revolving organization, it.

The action followed a demand of the national board of directors, meeting at Baltimore, that the club get rid of its president, George H. Hightley, whom the directors had charged with "disloyalty."

A further split in the movement was threatened when Hightley told cheering members that he would seek support of original clubs throughout the country.

Democrats Take Santa Fe Offices

SANTA FE, N. M., April 8. (AP)—Historic old Santa Fe, focal point of New Mexico politics, placed its municipal destinies of the next two years almost completely in the hands of the democratic party today.

Complete unofficial returns from yesterday's balloting gave the office of mayor and three of the four council seats to that party.

Because of the voting the election appeared to have failed to foretell the political trend of the state as had been anticipated, since less than 200 votes separated republican and democratic candidates for each office.

The lone republican victory came in the second ward where Tom Closson held a 2-vote advantage over democratic Armando Lagarotte. Frank Andrews was named mayor over Carl A. Bishop by a vote of 2,896 to 2,767.

"If you permit hearings now to drag out," he said, "we will have a repetition of 1928 and 1930."

"There never has been an investigation," he related, "but what Clayton steps in and takes a hunk out of the market."
He quoted Clayton as saying he was "almost ashamed" of the money he took from the market in 1929.

LITTLEFIELD BEAUTY REIGNS OVER PLAINVIEW DAIRY SHOW

PLAINVIEW, April 8. (AP)—Miss Wilda Courtney reigned as queen of the ninth annual Panhandle Plains dairy show today as judging continued on heavy entry lists.

Miss Courtney, whose home is at Littlefield, was crowned last night at a ball and revue, one of the main entertainment events of the exposition.

Hard-pressed judges, slowed by the heavy entry lists, were behind as the day's program opened, final events in the Jersey division having been postponed until today.

The entries of the Tierra Blanca farm of Canyon and J. B. Hales carried off a big part of first places in the Holstein and Jersey divisions.

Hales' Mount Rega Sir Hazel was selected grand champion and senior champion bull in the Holstein division. The Amarillo breeder's best Piebald was ranked junior champion and his Gramam Holm Hazel Colantha won the grand and senior championships in the female division.

NAMES in the NEWS

One of the first things a cub reporter learns is that names make news. There are two kinds of names which makes news. Names of People. And names of things—products and services—things which touch you more closely than the thunderings of a Senator or the escapades of a Prince.

Look through the advertisements in this newspaper and you'll see names you've known most of your life. Dependable names—names that stand for value—announcing improvements in quality, improvements in service, new and better ways to perform old household tasks, ways to save money and raise your standard of living.

Follow the news those names are making, day after day. Read the advertisements regularly, and use them as millions of other people are doing—to keep up-to-date in the world of goods and services; to save time, effort and trouble in shopping; to help budget your expenditures and get the most for your money.

HASTILY DUG GRAVES HOLD TORNADO DEAD

DEATH TOLL REACHES 426 AS FLOODS FILL RIVERS

GAINESVILLE, Ga., April 8 (AP)—Almost 400 storm dead of Gainesville and of Tupelo, Miss., went to hastily dug graves today, in some instances in group burials for sanitation reasons.

Across a half dozen southern states, but avoiding these two towns for the time being, rising streams sent floods over hundreds of thousands of acres of land and brought a fresh menace to life and property.

The total dead from storm and flood this week stood at 426, with the latest count at Tupelo 195 and at Gainesville 185.

Through the two towns stricken in a grimly similar manner, swarms of relief workers moved purposefully, helping revive a measure of community activity.

Residents rendered destitute in tornadoes lasting only a few minutes but causing damage it will take years to erase, were cheered by word that President Roosevelt had allocated $2,500,000 for rehabilitation through the WPA.

The torrents of rain that accompanied and followed the twisting winds inundated hundreds of thousands of acres in a half dozen southern states, but brought no immediate menace to Tupelo and Gainesville.

Chattanooga, Tenn., expected a crest of 36 to 37 feet on the Tennessee river, 6 to 7 feet above flood level, during the day.

The Mississippi threatened in isolated places, and in Alabama, Georgia, and the Carolinas several streams approached the danger level.

Gainesville, on the Chattahoochee, is far above the West Point, Ga., sector where that stream rose slowly.

Tupelo's small neighboring streams were high but did not constitute a menace to life or much property.

Here the Red Cross was caring for about 4,000 homeless. The few stores left standing reopened for business as truckloads of foodstuffs and other supplies began moving in. A similar situation existed in Tupelo.

City and relief officials ordered burial today of the many still unidentified dead. There were 18 in this group here.

At Tupelo the 13 bodies of what once was the Burrough family were interred in a single 35-foot grave.

Funerary processions shared the newly opened streets with the trucks of WPA and other workers removing the tons of debris.

Medical facilities still were taxed to the limit although most of the seriously hurt were under treatment in nearby cities.

Many of the injured still were being cared for in makeshift hospitals in public buildings, commercial structures and homes here.

The threat of pestilence, constantly guarded against, seemed not to be serious although health officers still were inoculating the injured against typhoid and other diseases.

Looting and other offenses were at a minimum with militiamen and policemen standing 24-hour watches.

Chamber Pounds Big Tax Bill in Public Hearing

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—After listening to spokesmen of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States pound the $779,000,000 tax program democratic house ways and means committee members pushed on today to write it into bill form.

Chairman Doughton (D., N. C.) intimated that in view of vehement republican opposition to the program, the democratic committee members alone would be called into the meetings which will decide the question of possible alterations.

"We had hoped to work out a non-partisan measure," he said, "but the republican members apparently are in agreement to oppose the plan with every means at their command."

Doughton said he hoped to have a bill ready for the house early this week.

The program, as tentatively drawn is featured by a tax on corporation income, graduated according to the portion of income held in corporation treasuries instead of being distributed to stockholders.

Definite intimations were given today that some adjustment would be made in the program to give more lenient treatment to corporations which are compelled to withhold definite amounts of their income from stockholders to retire debts.

CHAPTER XI.

The girl at the other end of the wire must have thought the connection was broken. She said again, "Miss Ryan?" This is the Models' League—

"Yes." With an effort Toby controlled her voice.

"I tried to get you earlier," the other girl went on, "but you were out. Mr. Blake wants to see you tomorrow morning. He said the photographs you posed for the other day are very good. Can you come to the office about 10:30 tomorrow morning?"

"Yes," said Toby. "I'll be there."

She put down the telephone, swung around gaily. The rooming house keeper, who usually found errands in the hall when anyone was at the telephone, apparently was busy arranging letters on a tray.

"Oh, Mrs. Moeller!" Toby cried. "It's true, it's really true!"

"What's true?"

"I'm going to be a model." Toby executed a giddy dance step.

"A model!" Mrs. Moeller's voice froze in righteous horror. "You're going to be one of them shameless hussies that take off all their clothes!"

"Oh, no, Mrs. Moeller. You don't understand. I'm going to be a photographic model, like the girls whose pictures you see in advertisements. You know you've seen hundreds of you," she said. "I remember you were here the other day."

"Yes," Toby nodded. "Someone called and said Mr. Blake wanted to see me."

"He does. You're a little early, though." The girl glanced at an appointment schedule. "You'll have to wait a little while."

Toby said, "That's all right," and crossed the room and sat down.

The outer door opened almost immediately and a girl entered. She was taller than Toby, slender and very pretty. She wore a gray fur coat and small gray hat and she was carrying a rather battered-looking suitcase.

The girl at the desk said, "Oh, Harriet, I'm sorry. I tried to get you but you'd gone before I called. Van Brent's changed the time for that appointment. He wants you at 11:30 instead of 11. I called as soon as I got word—"

The girl addressed as Harriet nodded "I started early," she said. Half an hour doesn't make much difference, though—I guess I might as well wait here."

She put down the suitcase, sat down in a chair near Toby's. Then she took a vanity case from her purse, opened it and studied her face critically in the mirror.

The face seemed to Toby to be quite flawless. It was heart-shaped, with brown eyes set wide apart beneath slenderly arched brows. The nose was small, the forehead broad and smooth. The chin was perfection itself. Where the gray hat lifted, at a jaunty angle, auburn hair, waving softly, was visible. Apparently the girl had used no make-up except a crimson lipstick.

She put aside the vanity case and turned toward Toby. After a moment's inspection she asked, "Are you new here?"

Toby nodded. "So new," she admitted "that I haven't really begun to work. Mr. Blake sent for me—"

"Well, if he sent for you, you don't have to worry. He must think you're good. And, believe me, Ben Blake knows!"

"I hope I'll be all right," Toby began nervously.

"Of course you will. Studios are glad to see beginners—those that really photograph well. They're always looking for new faces, you know."

Toby didn't. But she was interested in this girl who seemed to have such fund of information. "Have you done this sort of work very long?" she asked.

"About two years. Before that I worked in an office, and then I modeled clothes in a department store. I didn't like the store much—and anyhow this pays a lot better. By the way, my name's Harriet Holm. What's yours?"

"Toby Ryan."

The other nodded approvingly. "That's a cute name," she said. "Easy to remember, too. Did you make it up?"

"No," Toby told her. "It's my real name. Lots of people think it's queer. My mother hoped I'd be a boy. She was going to name me for my grandfather and when I turned out to be a girl—well, she called me 'Toby' anyhow."

Harriet said, "Well, I like it. And a name people remember can do a lot for a girl." Suddenly she pointed to the screen across the room on which clippings—all of them showing photographs from magazines and newspapers—had been fastened. "See that girl over there," she said—"the one on the magazine cover?"

Toby saw the one she meant. It was a reproduction of a color photograph, showing a dark haired girl in a yellow dress, holding a huge crimson flower.

"That's Betty Gay," Harriet confided. "She signed a move contract the other day."

"You mean she's going to be in the movies?"

"She's leaving next week for Hollywood," the other said. "That's what I call getting a break. Betty deserved it, though. She's a peach. We've worked together on lots of jobs. All the studios have been crazy about Betty since color photography came in. That's what she's going to do in Hollywood—make color movies."

She went on, "Lots of girls who are in the movies now got their start as commercial models. There's Kay Francis and Midge Egan and Judith Allen. Yes, and Jean Muir—and Betty Furness—"

Toby's eyes were wide with excitement. "Really?" she said. "Were they models once?"

"Certainly. Some of them have been in this office lots of times."

The voice of the girl at the desk interrupted. "Miss Ryan, she said, "Mr. Blake will see you now."

"Oh—thank you."

Toby entered the swinging gate and went down the corridor. Blake saw her in the doorway and smiled. "Good morning," he said. "Come in and sit down."

Toby said, "Good morning," and took the chair facing him.

"Well," Blake began, "I suppose you'd like to see those pictures?"

"Oh, yes, please!"

He opened a drawer of the desk, sorted through some photographs and took out several "Here they are," he said. "What do you think of them?"

Toby could scarcely believe her eyes. Surely this girl with the glowing smile and sparkling eyes was not herself. She had never looked like that—never. And yet it was she!

"Oh, Mr. Blake!"

"Okay, now they're yours!" He pointed to a full-length pose in which Toby appeared to be leaning against a rustic gate. Her head was thrown back, her hair bathed in golden light, her face radiant. "Nice shot," Blake commented. "I think we're going to turn you into a smile girl."

"A smile girl?" Toby repeated.

Blake nodded. "Girls who can smile," he said—"I mean naturally, attractively and with animation—make more than anyone else in this business. They're the advertisers' pets. Nothing sells automobiles and soap and cosmetics and kitchen stoves like a pretty girl's smile. If you make good as a smile girl, you'll make money—and so will we."

Toby smiled then. "I hope I can," she said.

"I hope so, too. How'd you like to start working today?"

"I'd love to."

"Good. Crown and French are making some commercial shots this evening and I'm going to send you over, along with half a dozen others. You'll find you're liable to work nights as much as days in this business. We have no hours—and all hours. Remember, no matter where you are, you must always keep in touch with this office. Leave word where we can reach you, or else call in. That's important. Now if you'll go out and ask Sally—she's the girl at the desk—she'll tell you about this assignment tonight—where you're to go, what to wear and all that."

Toby saw that she had been dismissed. She went back to the outer office and said to the girl at the desk, "Mr. Blake told me I'm to work tonight. He said you would tell me about it."

The other nodded. Turning through some cards on her desk, she said, "Yes. It's Crown and French's studio. They're in the—building. Be

FRENCH PEACE PLAN REJECTS HITLER SCHEME

EUROPEAN COMMISSION WOULD BE PROVIDED IN PROPOSAL

PARIS, April 8 (AP)—Peace, with permanent air, land and sea forces to maintain it, was provided in a French plan, published today, to organize Europe with or without Germany, in the aftermath of the Reich's breaking of world war treaties.

The French plan turned down Adolf Hitler's proposals for settlement of the European crisis, expressing distrust of Germany's future intentions and demanding flatly if Der Fuehrer would refrain from violating European frontiers in the future.

"Does Germany recognize as valuable, and without any reservation, the present territorial and political status of Europe?" The French memorandum asked in reply to Hitler's proposals.

"Does she admit in this respect that this status may be guaranteed by accords concluded on the basis of mutual assistance?"

The French government made public its memorandum to advance its counter-proposals, against those dispatched to the British government by Hitler, to quiet the controversy arising from Germany's Rhineland remilitarization in violation of the Versailles and Locarno treaties.

Almost dictatorial powers, to compel disarmament and to enforce respect for treaties and international law, would be vested in a "European commission" under the French plan.

The 1,000-word program, in 25 paragraphs on 15 subjects, was divided into four parts, accompanied by a note to Britain, rejecting Hitler's plan for negotiation of separate treaties as "equivocal" and evading the heart of the problem.

The basic factors for peace, France's memorandum said, were

GAS BILL 'USELESS'

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—The National Coal association assailed the pending natural gas regulation bill today as "doing little good for anyone" because it would not affect gas for industrial purposes. John D. Battle, executive secretary of the association, cited bureau of mines statistics intended to show 53 per cent of the natural gas now moving through interstate pipelines would not be regulated by the bill.
