Brevitorials

CALLING ATTENTION to little eccentricities, as inspired by the movie, "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," brings up a point we have long intended to stress.

All nature strives for balance. Some of this, as seen in nature, may be caused by gravitation, the drawing power of sunlight, and the phenomenon of even division in chemistry, but humans have the same instinctive desire for harmony, balance, and rhythm.

RHYTHM IS both beautiful and destructive. Controlled, it is power. Broken into recurring beats, as in the march of heavy feet, it becomes a force sufficient to collapse bridges.

EUGENE FIELD'S WIDOW PLEADS FOR OLD FARM

Foreclosure Is Near; Woman Supposed To Be Dead

HEAFFORD JUNCTION, Wis., May 20. (AP)—Fraternity brothers of the late Eugene Field today came to the rescue of the famous poet's widow, offering the funds necessary to save her North Woods home from sale under a mortgage foreclosure.

ST. LOUIS, May 20. (AP)—The 80-year-old widow of a gay poet, whose "Little Boy" Blue" has delighted American children for four decades, today called on friends and admirers of her late husband to help her save her Wisconsin farm from foreclosure.

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)—After hours of secret conferences, a substitute for the invalidated Guffey coal act was drafted today for immediate introduction in Congress.

Price-fixing constituted the heart of the new measure in the hands of Senator Guffey (D., Pa.), author of the original act. It would seek to regulate the soft coal industry through the commerce clause of the constitution, eliminating the labor provisions on which the Supreme Court based its decision declaring the old law unconstitutional.

AAUW ENTERTAINS SENIOR GIRLS, AWARDS SCHOLARSHIP

MISS SHEARER RECEIVES THE AWARD AT ANNUAL RECEPTION WHERE VISITOR IS SPEAKER

ORIENTAL DRESS WORN FOR ADDRESS AND SONG NUMBERS

Announcement that Miss Elythe Shearer is the winner of the A. A. U. W. scholarship this year shared interest with appearance of a charming speaker in Japanese costume at the annual reception for girl graduates and their mothers, given by the A. A. U. W. chapter at city club room last evening.

Most of the 84 senior girls were present in frilly dresses that contributed to the gay air of the reception room. Guests were greeted in the hall, and presented with miniature diplomas on which the program was written.

Mrs. Anna Witherspoon of Dallas, member of the field staff of Southern Methodist university, was the speaker. A world traveler, she has spent much time in the orient, and the Japanese ceremonial costume she wore was authentic.

Dressed in the black and white kimono and sash, with wooden slippers and a Japanese parasol, she made an attractive picture as she told Japanese legends which she has collected on visits to Japan.

Miss Kathleen Milam, program chairman, introduced the speaker. Miss Josephine Thomas, chapter president, welcomed the guests, and Miss Virginia Roberts, senior girl, responded.

Treble Clef club members supplied the music, a duet and choral numbers from the operetta, Romance of Kashmir. Misses Evelyn Shanklin and Lorene Bastion sang the duet, and Mrs. Philip Wolfe directed the chorus. Mrs. W. L. Brummett was accompanist. The singers were in the oriental costumes they wore in the operetta.

A bubble dance by pupils of Kathryn Vincent Steele, in modernistic black and white costumes, completed the program.

Miss Thomas installed new officers, headed by Mrs. Allen Hodges as president, in a brief ceremony and presented the club gavel to Mrs. Hodges.

Mrs. R. E. Fisher and Mrs. L. L. Some presided at the refreshment table, where punch, cookies, and dainty sandwiches were served. Pink roses formed the centerpiece, flanked by pink candles.

The reception was arranged by Miss Milam, Mrs. Lou Roberts, Mrs. Henry Thut, Mrs. E. L. Norman, Miss Alice Short, and Miss Thomas, assisted by Mrs. J. A. Meek.

ONLY MEMBERS PLAY IN AMUSU CLUB'S GAMES

Mrs. Hunkabillar Is Bridge Hostess At Home

Mrs. C. T. Hunkabillar entertained Amusu bridge club at her home yesterday afternoon, arranging three tables in rooms bright with spring flowers.

A delicious refreshment course was served after the bridge games in which Mrs. J. M. McDonald made high score and Mrs. William M. Craven second high.

Guests were all members of the club: Mmes. W. R. Ewing, W. A. Bratton, L. N. McCullough, Charles Thut, Ray Hagan, Alex. Schneider, George Walstad, Siler Faulkner, J. M. Dudson, J. H. Kelley, Craven, and McDonald.

Class To Honor First Birthday

A party to celebrate the first birthday of Homemakers class was planned when members met at First Baptist church yesterday. It will be given at the church next Tuesday, a covered dish luncheon. Members will exchange gifts to carry out the birthday idea.

Committees to be in charge are: Refreshments, Mrs. J. F. Henderson and Mrs. E. J. Overall; decorations, Mmes. Louis Tarpley, J. F. Testers, E. L. Tarrant, L. M. Salmon, program, Mrs. Owen Johnson and Mrs. Joe Foster.

STUDY OF TEXAS CLOSERS FOR CIVIC CULTURE CLUB WITH A PROGRAM ON STATE BEAUTIES

Mrs. Fahy Is Club's Hostess Tuesday Afternoon

"Texas the Beautiful" was the subject of a program climaxing a year's study of Texas in Civil Culture club yesterday afternoon. The club ended its season with a meeting at which Mrs. E. C. Fahy was hostess in Mrs. H. H. Isbell's home.

Mrs. L. C. McMahan was program leader, and introduced the hour by discussing "Some Unsightly Sores on the Face of Texas." She spoke of unsatisfactory living conditions for some residents, especially Mexicans and negroes, in various sections of the state, and of labor conditions which need attention.

Beautification of highways and railroads was discussed by Mrs. Isbell, who told of work under way by the state highways department, and mentioned plans for further improvements that are needed.

Palo Duro canyon, the Panhandle's most noted beauty spot, was described by Mrs. Paul Jensen. Mrs. Ralph Thomas talked of Texas artists and their paintings.

A hostess solo by Miss Audrey Noel, a guest, was a feature of the program.

The final business session of the year was conducted with Mrs. Jensen presiding.

Women Lawyers Have Ideas for Improving Bar

HOUSTON, May 19.—Eight women lawyers of Texas, when queried by state business and professional women, gave their ideas on methods of improving legal practices in this country. The women queried represent only a few of the liberal sprinkling of lawyers in the Texas Federation of Business and Professional Women's club convening in Houston June 11, 12, and 13 according to Mrs. Douglas Robinson, general convention chairman.

"Place our judges beyond the reach of politicians," advises Grace N. Fitzgerald, attorney, Dallas.

"Speedier decisions, as in England, would bring a greater measure of justice," states Gladys Smart, Fort Worth.

"Narrow the issues before the trial court," supplies Eunice E. Whitaker, of San Antonio. Sarah C. Menendez, Dallas attorney, proposes the passage of the integrated bar bill enabling the state bar to disqualify lawyers whose practices are unethical.

"Qualifications for those now admitted to practice law are too low," declares Judge Sarah T. Hughes, Dallas. "At least a bachelor of arts degree or its equivalent and four years' study of law in a recognized law school should be required, and more attention given to moral fitness."

"Legal practice might be improved by making disbarment of lawyers of questionable ethics easier, and raising the standards of admission to the bar," Miss Mollie G. Robertson, of Beaumont, believes.

"One of the most sorely needed institutions in the annals of Texas legal practice is a domestic relations court," offers Lynn Tamborello, of Houston. "It is believed that one court should have jurisdiction over all matters pertaining to home and family life, including particularly divorce and separation, custody and control of children, wife and child desertion, and juvenile delinquency."

Louise Calloway, assistant district attorney of Houston, believes that the principles of honesty, justice and courage never change. Thus the women who are just beginning to be recognized by the bar of America, by coming into the profession with the courage, regardless of political fears or favoritism, to present their client's cause to the court with promptness, clearness and freedom from the legal quibbles that have brought our courts into disrepute, will add much to the dignity and efficiency of the legal profession.

Discussions pertaining to the legal profession planned for the state convention in Houston in June will be in line with national program for "effective democracy," which the Business and Professional Women's clubs have set up in a five-point program to extend over a period of ten years.

"APPAREL FOR WOMEN"

METCALF RAPS FARLEY OVER VOTE CLAIMS

FAHEY FLAYS HENRY P. FLETCHER'S ATTACK

BY LEONARD B. SHUBERT, Associated Press Staff Writer. WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)—Sharp word battles today quickened the pre-convention campaign race. Participating in an argument were Chairman James A. Farley of the democratic national committee, Senator Metcalf (R., R. I.), Chairman Henry P. Fletcher of the republican national committee and John H. Fahey, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank board. Metcalf, in an open letter to Farley today, disputed the latter's prediction, made in the senator's home state yesterday, that President Roosevelt would be re-elected. Fahey, in a letter to Fletcher, assailed the republican chairman's recent assertion that the operations of the Home Owners Loan corporation constituted "a debt obligation saddled on every family." Fahey predicted that the government will suffer no losses whatever as the result of HOLC operations. These arguments between the new dealers and their foes shared interest today with the results of the New Jersey preferential primary, in which Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas, on the basis of incomplete returns, was running ahead of Senator Borah of Idaho. Answering Farley's address before the democratic state convention at Providence, Senator Metcalf said in his letter today: "The very fact that you go so far in claiming everything is proof that you see a republican victory in November. The panic which has taken possession of your ordinary political acumen certainly came out in that speech. Since you ask, 'is there anyone in the state who voted for Franklin Roosevelt who has any cause to regret that vote, I know you will welcome this letter.' Asking, 'what is left of the new deal except ruin?' Metcalf referred to Supreme Court decisions against NRA, AAA, and the Guffey coal control act. "In your address," he declared, "you said you will never forget how staunchly Rhode Island stood by the democratic party in the election of 1932. I am very much afraid that Rhode Island is like the rest of the country in that after having been fooled once, it will not step into the same trap again." To Fletcher's attack against the Home Owners Loan corporation lending operations, Fahey responded: "It is evident that the statements

Linked to 'Leak' On British Budget

Evidence at the official inquiry in London into the premature release of information about the British budget, which enabled wealthy men to take out insurance against a rise in tax rates, traced the "leak" to Colonial Secretary J. H. Thomas (above), through "a friend of a friend of a friend." Thomas, however, denies having told anyone of the budget proposals. In your press release are based upon information to you which is both incomplete and inaccurate. "In criticizing the federal government for coming to the relief of urban home owners and saving more than a million families from the loss of their homes and eviction, your informant is apparently unaware that the first attempt to do this important work was undertaken by the seventy-second congress with the approval of former President Hoover. Fletcher said yesterday that Comptroller General McCarl has no access to HOLC books and asked "who knows where the money is going?" To this Farley replied: "The work of the corporation has been carried on within the letter and the spirit of the law. The comptroller general has full access to all records and accounts of the corporation. On its own initiative, the corporation enlisted the cooperation and advice of the comptroller general's office in setting up its forms and machinery for accounting. Sheriff O. L. Betts of Floyd county, Ga., is said to be as accurate with a slingshot as most persons are with a rifle. He always carries one in his pocket and has another in his desk.

SILENT SCREEN STAR'S HUSBAND DIES IN CRASH

Millionaire Follows Jimmy Wedell In Death

BATON ROUGE La., May 20 (AP)—A crash of a speedy plane into a wooden swampland, brought death today to Harry P. Williams, millionaire aviator husband of Marguerite Clark, star of the silent screen. Johnny "Red" Worthen, a veteran pilot, rode to death with the 47-year-old lumberman and aviation enthusiast shortly after they took off from the Baton Rouge airport for Patterson, La., late last night. Worthen was employed by Williams but the wealthy sportsman was a competent pilot and it was not known who was at the controls when the plane failed to gain altitude and slipped into a dive. The men apparently met instant death. Their badly broken bodies were thrown clear of the plane and landed about 20 feet apart. The plane did not burn though the gasoline tank exploded. Mrs. Williams was expected today to claim the body of her husband, brought to a mortuary here. In 1918 when Miss Clark was at the height of her film fame, Williams wooed and won the petite red-haired actress, who retired from the movies to devote herself to her home and social interests in New Orleans. In 1926 Williams met Jimmy Wedell, a barnstorming aviator, and began an association which carried by flying to a world record of 305 miles an hour in the 1933 races at Chicago. With Williams supplying the money, Wedell, his brother, Walter, and Worthen built the Wedell-Williams air service which became one of the nation's largest private flying services. Jimmy designed and built many racers at the Patterson plant and capped his string of speed successes by flying to a world record of 305 miles an hour in the 1933 races at Chicago. A little more than a year later Walter and a passenger were killed when his plane took a still unexplained plunge into Gulf waters off the Mississippi coast. Williams, son of the late Frank B. Williams, lumber magnate, handled extensive lumber, sugar, and oil interests. He was a former mayor of Patterson, his birthplace, and served as a first lieutenant in the engineering corps during the World war. Besides his wife, he was survived by two brothers, Col. L. Kemper Williams and C. S. Williams, both of New Orleans. Lightning killed five Kansans in 1935.

DOCTOR AT PENANG

PENANG, Straits Settlements, May 20 (AP)—Dr. Bolivia Lang Falcomer, 65-year-old Texan traveling around the world as an air passenger, er, landed here today, having covered 14,000 miles since his departure May 8 from Dallas. Due to a misunderstanding in schedules, he missed this week's plane for Penang, of the west coast of the Malay peninsula, to Hongkong, but he planned to charter a special plane from Hongkong to make up time on the next leg of his voyage to Manila.

There, he hopes to catch the China Clipper for San Francisco. Four Kansans met death in horse "runaways" last year.

GOVERNOR ALLRED GIVEN FOUR VOLUMES OF MCGUFFEY READERS

AUSTIN, May 20. (AP)—Portraits of Texas' long line of governors have been removed from walls of the Capitol rotunda and stored. The new floor for the statehouse is the reason.

Workmen tearing up the old floor of tile and concrete raised such clouds of dust there was fear the portraits, purchased at an average cost of about $500, might be damaged. The marble bust of Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson also was removed.

Cuban President Is Inaugurated For 4-Year Term

HAVANA, May 20. (AP)—The republic of Cuba wiped its governmental slate clean today of traces of the dictatorial rule of Gerardo Machado and the provisional regimes which followed his overthrow.

Miguel Mariano Gomez, son of a former president, formed a new cabinet and met with his ministers into the early morning hours before his own inauguration at noon today to succeed the provisional President Jose A. Baret.

Gomez, the first chief executive of the island to be elected to office by popular vote since Machado, said in selecting his cabinet he wanted no ministers who had been connected with any of the provisional governments of the last 2 1/2 years and none who was associated in any with the Machado administration.

Gomez was elevated to the presidency in the Jan. 18 elections, held to establish a constitutional government again after seven different provisional presidents and, for a time, a "committee of five," ruled Cuba in the aftermath of the anti-Machado revolt.

Gomez is a 47 year old lawyer whose father was president 27 years ago. He has served 12 years in the House of Representatives and has been twice mayor of Havana. His presidential term runs for four years.

Taylor Murder Detectives Look Around At Trial

LOS ANGELES, May 20. (AP)—Two detectives who have been trying 14 years to solve the William Desmond Taylor murder mystery were attracted as spectators today at a trial in the courtroom of an actress he directed, Mary Miles Minter.

The Taylor case has been mentioned twice since the beginning of a suit by Miss Minter's mother, Mrs. Charlotte Shelby, to recover $200,000 from a brokerage concern. Attorneys on both sides referred to it in opening statements.

"We're just up here looking around," said Lloyd Yarrow, investigator on the district attorney's staff. He would go no further in explaining the presence of himself and his colleague, Capt. Jesse Winn, in the courtroom.

Yarrow and Winn have been on the case ever since Taylor was found shot to death in his Hollywood apartment in 1922.

The former actress has assigned her claims to her mother.

Mrs. Shelby's counsel, Joseph Lewinson, declared Leslie B. Henry, former agent for Blyth and company, used the Taylor case as a threat to silence Mrs. Shelby about the theft of her bonds.

Henry is serving a prison sentence after pleading guilty to embezzlement of Mrs. Shelby's investments.

Legion Stresses 'Devotion to Mutual Helpfulness' in Posts

All ex-service men should join the American Legion to consecrate and sanctify their comradeship by their devotion to mutual helpfulness, according to A. D. Monteith, commander of Kerley-Crossman post of the American Legion, Command-er Monteith continued:

"These words are the benediction of the preamble and the effect of them upon our lives is the benediction of a peace that comes after the storm. Men who have struggled side by side for a common objective form in the experience a bond that is precious in the degree that they have struggled together. In the comradeship of arms there was the utmost necessity for 'devotion to mutual helpfulness.'

"Back of the service we are called upon to render in the name of the Legion must lie incentive. Other precepts of the preamble have demanded high-minded and unselfish service. The cold logic of even the highest ideals is difficult to maintain unless there be a gripping incentive back of service. The privi-

Air Show Plans Are Discussed

FDR'S MOTHER FALLS, SUFFERS A HIP INJURY

WASHINGTON, May 20. (AP)—The White House announced today that Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, 82-year-old mother of the President, was confined in her Hyde Park home with an impacted hip and cracked bone caused by a fall.

The President, who accidentally heard of the injury five days after it happened while talking to his mother on the telephone, will leave here Friday night for Hyde Park to spend two or three days with her.

Stephen T. Early, a presidential secretary, said Mrs. Roosevelt tripped over a 6-inch step as she entered the home of the President's daughter in New York City a week ago today. She was visiting "Stietie" and "Buzzie," children of Mrs. Anna Boettiger.

Early said Mrs. Roosevelt noticed no ill effects at the time, entered the home on West 53rd street and after spending some time, with the children returned to her own home on 65th street.

The following day she went to Hyde Park and went about her household duties.

Monday night the President called her on the telephone and Mrs. Roosevelt told of the fall for the first time.

The President advised her to go to bed at once and call a doctor. X-rays showed an impacted hip and a cracked bone. Doctors advised her to remain in bed at least two weeks.

MEXICO'S NRP ATTACKED BY YOUNG MUNOZ

FIRST STRONG ASSAULT MADE ON MEXICO'S PARTY

MEXICO CITY, May 20 (AP)—A slender young member of congress from Veracruz has launched the first considerable assault of the last decade on the well-entrenched political dominance of the national revolutionary party.

There has been grumbling over the government party's steam-roller tactics but it remained for Joaquin Munoz to bring the battle into the open.

Asserting with apparent sincerity and indignation he had been "robbed" of the party's nomination for the governorship of Veracruz, Munoz took the drastic step—some called it "political suicide"—of resigning from the PNR.

He would be announced, join other unsuccessful candidates in the Veracruz primaries in an effort to defeat Manlio Fabio Altamirano, the party's selection, at the July elections.

To support his assertion the farmer, laborer, and agrarian organizations which backed him in the primaries gave him 80 per cent of the vote, only to have their will overruled by party president, Emilio Portes Gil, and the party's potent electoral college.

Thirty-seven of the group's 84 deputies, it was said on good authority, sided at first with Munoz and two other deputies, Mario Balboa and Samuel Leon, who followed him out of the party, only to backslide, in large part, when the show-down came.

In any case the disaffected trio—somehow anticlimactically "expelled" from the party Monday, May 10—made the ears of higher-ups burn with their philippic during the left wing session.

Balboa declared "impositionist policies" of PNR were "drowning the popular will" and asserted Portes Gil was "deceiving President Cardenas." Leon hotly told Altamirano he did not win in Veracruz, but in Mexico in the national revolutionary party, and the Veracruz gubernatorial nominee, when he sought to reply to Leon's charge, was hissed.

At least a score of more Portes Gil supporters in for sharp criticism to which his favorite rejoinder has been "somebody's got to lose" and "Mexicans must learn how to accept defeat." A glance at several states where discontent came into the open.

Public—Labor organizations, notably the Regional Federation of Workers and Peasants, sent to the capital three trainloads of delegates, which organizers said numbered 30,000, to protest the designation of Gen. Maximino Avila Camacho as gubernatorial candidate over Gilberto Bosques.

Nuevo Leon—General Fortunato Zuazua, unsuccessful in his race for the governorship against General Anacleto Guerrero, broke with the administration, resigned from the army and retired to his ranch—but his supporters continued so active Guerrero clapped 40 of them into jail.

As convention-time approaches, it becomes increasingly clear that the coming conflict will be no "narrow" campaign—either in the geographical sense or with respect to the range of the discussion.

Often the earlier months of election year see some main battleground selected, and the issues sorted out so that one or two come sharply to the fore. This time the process has been reversed.

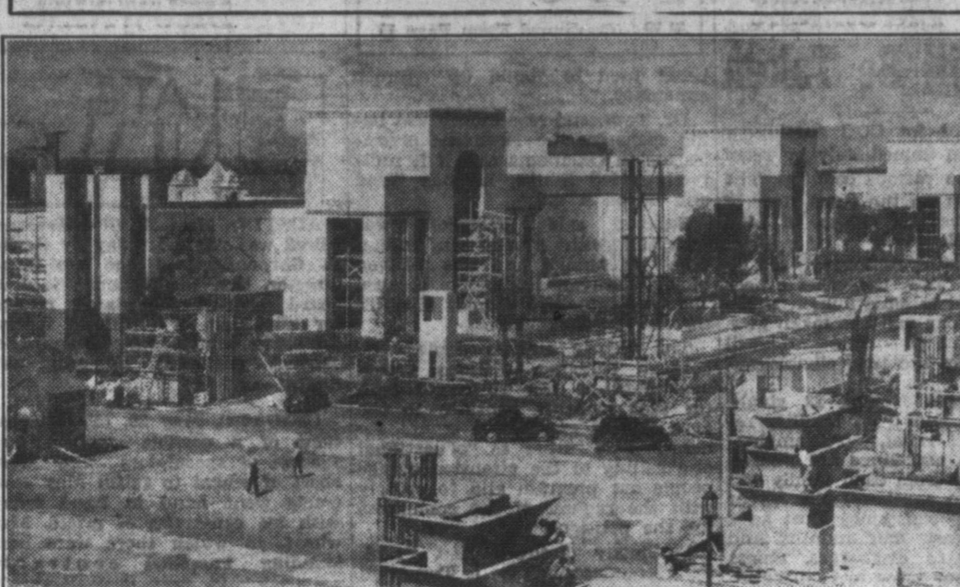

A year ago it appeared that the Democrats were preparing to make no more than a perfunctory campaign in the east, but solidly concentrate on an effort to find a winning combination in west and south. In consequence the republicans were expected to regard the east as safe and go west. Now it appears that both east and west, and perhaps parts of the south, will be in the zone of active struggle.

Similarly, many politicians have forecast a straight-out conservative-liberal contest, with the republicans keeping well over to the political right, and the democrats swinging definitely to the left. Now some of the more experienced doubt seriously whether any such thing will develop.

Democrats Invade East. One of the chief geographical surprises has been the increasing volume of democratic claims in the vastly important eastern states of New York and Pennsylvania.

Outwardly, these claims cite the large aggregate majority rolled up last fall by democratic candidates for the New York assembly, and the marked increase of democratic registration in parts of Pennsylvania which formerly were solidly republican.

Exposition's Hall of Transportation Completed

The $400,000 Hall of Transportation, flanking the Esplanade of State's 700-foot reflecting pool at the $25,000,000 Texas Centennial Exposition, is completed. The above photo shows scaffolding still in place for statuary and murals, inside workmen are preparing exhibits for the June 6 opening in Dallas.

lacked since former President Plutarco Elias Calles built the party to perpetuate the Mexican revolution's gains, which might in course of time weld farm and factory into one electoral bloc.

This opinion took on substance in mid-week when, for several hours, Munoz precipitate action in quitting the heretofore solid "left wing" of the chamber of deputies which Deputy Luis Mora Tovar, of the president's home state, Michoacan, built with infinite care last year to give Cardenas strength to defy Calles.

Outwardly, these claims cite the large aggregate majority rolled up last fall by democratic candidates for the New York assembly, and the marked increase of democratic registration in parts of Pennsylvania which formerly were solidly republican.

Under the surface, the democratic talk is based also on the fact that carefully-organized democratic shock troops already are actively mobilizing as far east as Massachusetts. The republicans dispute that any of this territory is doubtful, but it certainly would not be safe to regard even New England as entirely outside the 1936 battle zone.

That the republicans will not do so, but will campaign actively down the North Atlantic coast is, consequently assured. Nor is it unlikely that the republican managers will devote some of their attention to the states usually numbered in the democratic solid south.

RISE IN CRUDE OUTPUT BRINGS FEAR TO TULSA

Production Increase Is Steady And Continues

TULSA, Okla., May 20. (AP)—The undercurrent of uneasiness over a steady rise in the production of crude oil has grown to a distinct shiver of apprehension.

That feeling was apparent at the same time oil executives from the nation and the world at large, gathered here for the ninth International Petroleum Exposition, for the most part were exuding optimism over the generally encouraging trends in various branches of the industry.

Concerns over the rise in crude output became vocal in the statement of Astell J. Byles, president of the American Petroleum Institute, who warned his conferees at their mid-year meeting here that a reduction of production was advisable.

His opinion was echoed by other authorities who declared the whole key to the question of fear or balm in the petroleum business lay in the crude oil situation.

While oil men mulled over these warnings and lingered production charts showing steady increases, the Oil and Gas Journal's weekly estimate showed production in the nation at its highest point on record.

This gave concrete evidence there was ground for the fears of leaders.

The production was estimated at 3,005,400 barrels daily for the week ending May 16. It was the first time the output had reached a daily figure over 3,000,000 barrels and the biggest estimate since Aug. 23, 1929 when an output of 2,975,435 barrels was registered.

There were predictions today of reduced allowances in the heavy producing states together with considerable speculation over whether the biggest estimate since Aug. 23, 1929 when an output of 2,975,435 barrels was registered.

There was no immediate effect on the price of crude, which remained steady and unchanged, but C. F. Rosser, Fort Worth, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, held the view that the entire structure of the business well might be strengthened by an increased price for crude, dependent on a curtailed output.

At Austin the Texas railroad commission heard a warning from Chairman E. O. Thompson that corrective steps were necessary to keep production in line with market demand.

LAMAR, Colo., May 20. (AP)—Another bad dust storm, following rains which had wet down sections of the state, held the west bowl, gripped this area today.

The dust, which lasted well into last night, reduced visibility to less than a block, and street lights were dimmed by the gloomy, dirt-filled air. It extended east to Garden City, Kansas, and south to the heart of the dust bowl at Springfield, Colo., where heavy rains were reported hardly more than 24 hours earlier.

A. J. Hamman, county agent, said the moisture merely had flattened the bits of straw, which, in the absence of vegetation, are more susceptible to wind erosion than ever before.

APPROACHING ELECTION LIKELY TO SHAKE AMERICANS FROM OLD INDIFFERENCE ON SUCH THINGS

THE HASKIN LETTER

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C. May 19—Another presidential election year has rolled around and, in spite of the fact that America often has been accused of being apathetic in political contests, this year promises to be an exception. The American people are thinking about the election and the manner of its conduct. Election machinery by now is pretty well known to most of the people. The presidential primary elections are being held now, the campaign follows and then the actual polling.

General elections in some countries are quite different from here. They do not occur at regular intervals but, under the parliamentary system, on the fall of the government—which means the ruling party. In Great Britain, in France, in a number of other countries, an adverse vote of the parliament means the fall of the government and the necessity for an election. Were the same system in vogue here when the President voted the bonus bill and then when Congress passed the bill over his veto, the President would have resigned and an election would have been called to determine whether the people supported the President or the Congress which disagreed with him.

Recently, there have been a series of elections in various parts of the world. One of the more interesting was the Greek plebiscite in which the people voted on their very form of government. After having been a republic, they voted to bring back a king into power. Last autumn, there was an election in Great Britain. Canada and New Zealand also have taken the problems to the people. The Spanish government fell in February and a new Cortes was elected. Quickest of all recent elections has been that held in Germany to permit the German people to register their opinion on the re-occupation of the Rhineland. The ballots were printed with the word Ja, which means Yes. It was impossible to vote any other way.

Turning to the Orient, it is interesting to note how elections are conducted in Japan. Democratic forms are relatively new there. Parties do not exist there, by name at least, in the same way they do here or in European countries. The two major parties are called Supporters of the Government and Democrats. These terms apparently mean the Ins and the Outs. When a change in administration takes place and the Supporters of the Government Party lose, the members of that party then become the Democrats, while the Democrats become the Supporters of the Government Party.

Japanese Election Methods There are other subsidiary parties. The Army, in a sense, constitutes a political party and seeks to influence general elections. In the Japanese election held last February, great gains were made by the left wing elements. There are parties which correspond roughly to the Socialist and Labor Parties of the Occident. Should one of these parties prevail at a general election that party would then become the Supporters of the Government Party.

There is no woman suffrage in Japan, although women seem to take a more active interest in politics there than in some parts of the United States. They organize parades and put on demonstrations. Women and children will appear in processions carrying banners designed to advance some cause or the interests of some candidate.

Men do not vote until reaching the age of 25 and, in addition, there are certain property qualifications. The army and navy and certain other public services are not allowed to vote, although this disfranchisement does not prevent these persons from taking part in campaigns so far as demonstrations are concerned.

In Japanese election booths are found little boxes. Recently the Government has inaugurated an interesting system in the printing of the Election Gazette. This gazette is devoted to setting forth the issues of a contest and the views and platforms of the parties and candidates. Although issued by the Government, all candidates are supposed to be accorded equal treatment in this publicity.

During a campaign one finds the streets of Japanese cities lined with posters, usually about twice as tall as a man. Each candidate is permitted a definite number of posters. He need not display that many but may not display more. With the streets lined with these, usually about as tall as a lamp post in an American city, a holiday air is given the cities. The keenest interest is manifested by Japanese subjects in their elections and on election day the newspapers in the large cities have huge billboards on which the returns are posted. Always there is a huge crowd before such posters.

Elections In Name Only In Italy today there is no election in the sense meant by Americans. The Fascist Party controls everything. There is no opposition party which is given an opportunity to name candidates. When Fascism first began in Italy, there were other parties which put forward candidates, but Mussolini did not find this accorded with his plans so, in 1928, a new election law was enacted which made the entire kingdom a single electoral district

"Sued" Statue Reaches Dallas

Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney's statue of Buffalo Bill Cody arrived at the grounds of the Texas Centennial Exposition in Dallas this week, the center of a court fight. An injunction against its appearance on the Exposition grounds—because "Buffalo Bill was a Union spy"—is pending in state court. Exposition officials hope to iron out the difficulty before their June 6 opening.

with only one party, the Fascist Party, recognized. The Gran Consiglio, an organization which might vaguely be compared to an American Democratic or Republican National committee (save that there is only the one consiglio), draws up lists of candidates for the chamber of deputies and voters vote yes or no. They have no say in suggesting candidates. The representation is not territorial as in most countries, but occupational. Thus industrial or professional groups will have representatives no matter where they live. A stone mason in Genoa and another in Naples theoretically have the same representatives.

In Russia, there were no elections for some time and then the franchise was very closely limited. It has been extended a good deal in recent years and the secret ballot has been introduced. At first, the various local soviets merely voted by acclamation, electing delegates to larger soviets and so on up to the top. The Communist Party still controls the political machinery, of course, but there is more liberality than at first.

In Germany, the entire political machinery is in the hands of the Nazi Party. No other political party can exist and the machinery of elections is merely the machinery of the goosestep. Anyone not in step would soon find himself in Dutch.

In most of these countries, there are qualifications for the electorate which limit those who can vote. Nothing like the widespread voting that obtains in the United States is known save, perhaps, in Great Britain.

LANDON LEADS BORAH 3-1 IN JERSEY VOTING

HOFFMAN IS ELECTED A DELEGATE TO CONVENTION

BY SAMUEL G. BLACKMAN, Associated Press Staff Writer.

NEWARK, N. J., May 20 (AP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon's lead over United States Senator William E. Borah in New Jersey's presidential preference primary jumped to better than 3 1/2 to 1 today with nearly one-half of the vote counted.

In 1,556 out of 3,578 election districts in the state, Landon received 155,519 votes and Borah 42,851. Gov. Landon, who did not campaign in the state but had the support of the republican organization, was assured of the votes of the four delegates-at-large to the Cleveland convention, and of at least 22 of the 28 district delegates.

This gave Landon at least 26 of New Jersey's votes in the convention. "There was a possibility he might capture two more, but four others ran unpledged.

Democratic voters ratified a slate of 56 district delegates and eight delegates-at-large pledged to President Roosevelt. Each will have a half-vote in the convention and the President is assured of the state's 32 votes.

Col. Henry Breckinridge, New York attorney, alone entered the democratic preferential primary. In the 1,556 precincts he polled 17,555 votes.

The return also virtually assured the election of Gov. Harold G. Hoffman as delegate-at-large to the republican convention.

The governor, one of four picked by the state committee to support Landon, was opposed by former Rep. Franklin W. Fort, who charged the governor's activities in the Bruno Richard Hauptmann case had disgraced "Jersey justice."

With more than half of the vote counted, the governor led Fort, also pledged to Landon, by 35,000 votes.

In 1,447 districts the governor polled 115,876 votes to 80,879 for Fort, who was in fifth place. The governor, who was in first place in the early returns, fell to second after

LEGION APPEALS TO PUBLIC TO WEAR RED FLOWERS SATURDAY

An appeal for all veterans of the World war and other patriotic citizens to pay tribute to the war dead by wearing memorial poppies on Poppy Day, Saturday, was issued today by A. D. Montiehl, commander of Kerley-Crossman Post of The American Legion, Commander Montiehl also urged generous contributions in exchange for the flowers to aid the war's living victims, the disabled veterans and families of the dead and disabled.

Legion and Auxiliary's volunteer workers. "The poppies will be distributed by the women of the Auxiliary, the wives, mothers, sisters and daughters of the men of the Legion. They will work without compensation of any kind, giving their time and efforts gladly to honor the dead and serve the living. I hope we all will respond to them in the same spirit when they offer the poppies on the streets Saturday."

"Saturday will be Poppy Day in Pampa," the commander said, "when we all will be called upon to wear the memorial flower of the World war dead and make contributions for the welfare of those who sacrificed health and strength as part of the price of the nation's World war victory. I am sure that all veterans of the war and all other patriotic citizens will wear the symbolic little flower and will contribute as liberally as their means permit for the work of mercy and relief the poppy makes possible."

Poppy Day contributions are used by The American Legion and Auxiliary to help the disabled veterans in the hospitals, to help their families at home, to aid children left without a father's support because of the war, and in all phases of Legion and Auxiliary work for the war's living victims. Every penny is made to serve effectively for the purposes for which it is donated under the administration of the REVERSING PROCESS HUGGON, Kan. (AP)—In the dust country, a rainy day sends women rushing to their washbuts, for after a rain there is a minimum of dust blowing and the clothes dry clearer. After a recent rain, 408 washings were counted hanging on the lines.

Is any oil any different? You'll finish your trip (but not your engine) with alloyed oil... Lots different! Maybe you've streaked four or five hundred miles since sun-up. In safe places perhaps your speedometer hit "tops." And it was hot enough for you all day. But you're not one of those drivers who lie awake wondering what happened in the engine. It didn't happen if you started out with Germ Processed alloyed oil, and there are positive reasons why. The big reason is that alloyed oil goes far beyond plain oil film protection. It's true that the patented Conoco Germ Process of alloying oil—unlike other "latest methods"—actually steps up film strength tremendously. But alloying does something even greater. It enables oil and metal to UNITE. All surfaces—even the most sensitive bearing surfaces in any engine become completely PLATED with this alloyed oil. It's IN all working surfaces, and then the extra-strong Germ Processed oil-film slides between! Here's a combination only alloyed oil can give you. All you've got to do is to swing in at the sign of the Red Triangle. Continental Oil Company. CONOCO GERM PROCESSED OIL Drive to towering Glacier Park this Summer. EDITORIAL

ECONOMIC SECURITY IS UPPERMOST

Much is said, much is written, about the dangers inherent in the love of money. But all this emphasis does not keep the average man from giving his most serious moments to the study of how to better himself financially, how to gain more economic security.

A nationwide survey by American Magazine again illustrated this with reference to compensation payments soon to be given veterans.

The two largest items, according to estimates based on inquiry among the veterans themselves, will be the payment of back debts, and the purchase or improvement of homes. These alone will account for some $600,000,000 each, or considerably more than half of the entire bonus payment. The third largest item, approximately $165,000,000 will be spent for the purchase of new businesses, business equipment, and on education to increase earning power.

In a geographical division of the bonus, New York tops the list with $221,373,427.96, followed by Pennsylvania with $155,594,459.25 and Illinois with $141,472,589.16. Nevada trails the parade with $1,771,846.11.

The survey revealed that large industrial organizations as a rule do not anticipate any sort of a boom to result from the bonus payment. For example, the statistician for a national organization of automobile manufacturers stated that the $122,000,000 of the bonus money which is expected to go for cars and trucks will be "only a drop in the bucket." Nevertheless, on the Department of Commerce estimate of 500 hours of labor in the creation of an automobile, this would involve 172,500,000 man-hours of work, not merely in the factories but extending back through the sources of material, to the mines, the forests, the wool markets; to railroad lines, steamship companies, etc.

Therefore while no mighty upturn in business is expected when the postmen call at 3,000,000-odd doorsteps with gifts averaging $570, the survey points out that there will be a stimulation of the industrial, commodity and labor markets which should make the cash registers tinkle throughout the land.

And incidentally, the preparations for paying the bonus have provided jobs for 3,000 men and women, and have sent something like $12,000,000 into trade channels, it is stated, even before a bond has been paid.

Where the money will go: Alabama, $26,888,528.74; Arizona, $6,668,187.11; Arkansas, $21,993,238.27; California, $122,833,011.86; Colorado, $19,362,059.24; Connecticut, $26,914,018.40; Delaware, $3,527,070.50; District of Columbia, $16,278,716.59; Florida, $21,921,858.79; Georgia, $32,262,946.70; Idaho, $7,411,798.86; Illinois, $141,472,589.16; Indiana, $50,730,623.28; Iowa, $41,019,480.37; Kansas, $31,436,036.43; Kentucky, $34,261,787.60; Louisiana, $27,849,762.05; Maine, $12,121,627.12; Maryland, $27,931,248.31; Massachusetts, $83,147,947.57; Michigan, $77,476,794.12; Minnesota, $52,789,520.36; Mississippi, $19,308,411.76; Missouri, $60,820,922.70; Montana, $10,281,687.92; Nebraska, $21,802,190.95; Nevada, $1,771,846.11; New Hampshire, $7,298,113.14; New Jersey, $69,579,645.59; New Mexico, $5,810,422.87; New York, $221,373,427.96; North Carolina, $34,622,162.80; North Dakota, $8,762,475.18; Ohio, $106,061,344.03; Oklahoma, $35,202,766.82; Oregon, $20,679,034.90; Pennsylvania, $155,594,459.25; Rhode Island, $12,356,383.60; South Carolina, $19,316,831.04; South Dakota, $11,757,600.97; Tennessee, $32,497,536.52; Texas, $83,696,221.25; Utah, $8,035,096.92; Vermont, $5,042,465.50; Virginia, $36,811,791.20; Washington, $34,079,306.15; West Virginia, $23,345,392.42; Wisconsin, $47,177,680.61.

PUZZLED? ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS A COLUMN Of Facts you have often wished to see in print. Read it daily!

A reader can get the answer to any question or fact by writing The Pampa Daily News' Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for reply.

Q. How does the ground space covered by the Department of Commerce compare with that of the United States capital? L. E. S.
A. The commerce building is 1,050 feet long and 325 feet wide, 299 feet longer and 25 feet narrower than the capital.

Q. How long were Currier and Ives prints made? J. H.
A. The first lithographic prints of the series appeared in 1835. They appeared for about 70 years. The early prints were Currier only, since Ives did not join the firm until the 50's.

Q. Please give the source of the quotation on the memorial presented to the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier by the Daughters of the Confederacy, M. D.
A. It is from Milton's Epitaph of Shakespeare—"And so sepulchred in such pomp doth lie that things for such a tomb would wish to die."

Q. What is the fastest train in the United States on regular schedule? I. C. G.
A. The Hiawatha of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul, and Pacific railroad is the most rapid regularly scheduled train in the United States. It travels 280.3 miles at a rate of 67.1 miles per hour.

Q. Next to the Yankee stadium, which park of the major leagues accommodates the most spectators? N. C.
A. Comiskey park in Chicago. The Yankee stadium has a capacity of 69,000. Comiskey park, 55,000. Next is Boston Bees field with a capacity of 45,000.

Q. What is the name of the girl who trained the jockey who rode Bold Venture?
A. Mary Hirsch trained Ira Handford who rode Bold Venture. She is the first woman to receive a trainer's license from The Jockey club.

Q. Are Diesel engines used in any airplanes or dirigibles? L. E. H.
A. The Diesel engines on the new dirigible, Hindenburg, are the first ever installed on an airplane.

Q. Can Americans find work in South America more easily than at home? E. A.
A. The Pan American Union has received no recent requests for men from the United States to fill positions of any kind in Latin American countries. Most of them have enacted legislation restricting immigration and compelling companies (foreign as well as native) operating within their confines to employ from 45 per cent to 90 per cent native workers on their payrolls. Furthermore, should United States companies operating in Latin America begin to add to their depleted field forces preference will most likely be given to those men who were furloughed without pay during the depression.

Q. When is the Spanish fiesta at Santa Barbara, Calif.? M. L. R.
A. On August 6, 7, and 8 the Old Spanish Days fiesta will be held in that city.

Social Security Law Explained

The Pampa Daily NEWS employs Frederic J. Haskin to give information to its readers.

There is no charge except return postage on letters or a small cost price on booklets.

Sometimes Mr. Haskin writes a letter, sends a printed circular, or a complete booklet which gives much more information than could be contained in a letter—sometimes he sends all three.

The idea is to give adequate service to every inquirer. Just now there is great demand for the little pamphlet which explains the Federal Social Security act—the new law about unemployment insurance and old-age pensions. If you desire information on this subject send in your name and address with five cents and you will get a prompt reply.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — The administration's attempt to solve its Puerto Rican problem appears to have misfired both barrels.

The Tydings independence bill has merely stirred up a revolutionary spirit which is likely to cause many New Deal headaches. An administration effort to amend the measure may be expected.

There's reason to believe that the terms of the bill, which Puerto Ricans say sentences them to rapid starvation if they vote for independence, were conceived here with a certain amount of bitterness — or out of plain stupidity. The tactics adopted quickly bore fruit in kind.

What started the Puerto Ricans' protest was the bill's provisions that if they voted for independence there would be a four-year transition period in which Puerto Rico wouldn't have the sovereignty she would need to organize her affairs; that loans and grants from this country under the $35,000,000 Puerto Rican Reconstruction administration would stop at once; and that a tariff would be placed on Puerto Rican products immediately.

This administration proposal followed by some weeks the assassination of Col. E. Francis Riggs, American police chief on the island, by followers of Albizu Campos, leader of the radical nationalist independence party.

Officials here had been sore because not a single public man in Puerto Rico was willing to make a formal statement as to the Riggs murder—not even one of regret.

The explanation of some Puerto Rican leaders was that such a statement would cause them to lose influence with the independence factor.

Terms of the Tydings bill caused many Puerto Ricans to regard it as a shotgun threat, an effort to make them choose between a continued colonial status and starvation. A great surge of independence feeling consequently swept over the island, it is said, and so many who had previously opposed independence swung over that it came to be predicted that even freedom as provided by the Tydings bill would win by 10 to 1 in a plebiscite.

Matters are likely to go from bad to worse unless at least one house of Congress passes a Puerto Rican independence bill radically amended. Chances are that this administration will go to great lengths—at least in gesture—to avoid further violence on the island this year.

Officials impatient with the Puerto Ricans, however, point out that the degeneration of the island under American rule—often attributed solely to exploitation by American sugar corporations, which have skimmed $400,000,000 away from it—is largely attributable to Puerto Ricans themselves.

Puerto Ricans, they contend, should have seen to the enforcement of the congressional act of 1900 which limited ownership of land to 500 acres, instead of allowing the corporations to buy up most of the good land and thus creating a major island problem. The other big problem is the big, rising birth rate—and the same officials say that's the fault of Puerto Ricans, who won't keep the birth rate down.

Yankees Defeat Cleveland 10 to 4 In 'Crucial' Tilt

Small Crowds Watch Cleveland And Giants

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON JR., Associated Press Sports Writer.

The rather unusual spectacle of two teams, in the middle of the battles for the lead in their respective leagues and both apparently unable to make the fans take notice, is to be seen in the major leagues these days.

They are the New York Giants and Cleveland Indians, second and third respectively in the standings. They've both had a few good gatherings, but Cleveland already is facing the spectacle of dwindling attendance while the New York attitude is that the often-injured Giants can't hold together for very long.

Fewer than 5,000 fans turned out yesterday to see the Tribe engage in a final "crucial" struggle with the league-leading New York Yankees and go down, 10 to 4.

The Giants were rained out in their final game against Pittsburgh and got a welcome breathing spell before tackling the St. Louis Cardinals, who lead them by a half game. The Cincinnati-Brooklyn and St. Louis-Phillies games also were postponed.

Cleveland's defeat gave the Detroit Tigers a chance to come closer to third place as Tommy Bridges found some of his best form and pitched them to a 4 to 2 victory over Washington while the Red Sox kept pace with the Yankees by pulling out a 4 to 2 decision over the Chicago White Sox. Rogers Hornsby's re-viving Browns bowed over the Athletics 9 to 4. The day's other contest saw the Boston Bees beat out Chicago's Cubs, 6 to 5.

Remaining idle didn't prevent the Dodgers from taking another one on the chin when Freddy Lindstrom, veteran outfielder, decided he wasn't doing himself or anyone else much good as a Brooklyn player and announced his retirement from baseball. He was signed by the Dodgers in January after being unconditionally released by the Cubs and had hit only 284 in 26 games. A leg injury suffered last Friday was believed to have prompted the decision.

BUFFS SMASH DILERS WHILE DALLAS WINS

THREE INNINGS NET 15 RUNS FOR HOUSTON AT TULSA

(By The Associated Press)

TODAY'S GAMES.
San Antonio at Dallas (night game).
Beaumont at Fort Worth.
Galveston at Tulsa (night game).
Houston at Oklahoma City (night game).

Houston's powerhouse Buffaloes left a badly trampled Tulsa Oiler crew in their wake and moved over to Oklahoma City for a Texas league game tonight. The Dallas Steers, finding Beaumont relatively easy pickings in three games, entertained the San Antonio Missions in another night tussle. Tulsa takes on Galveston tonight and Beaumont went to Fort Worth for a day game.

Last night's game at Tulsa found the Houston batsmen hitting everything in sight, and at the end of the third inning had tallied 15 runs. They punched in three more during the night while Tulsa banged out nine. The final score was 18 to 9.

Dallas stayed within a game of the league-leading Buffs, overpowering Beaumont, making 10 hits court for 12 runs. Beaumont could turn their 15 hits into only six tallies.

Galveston's cellar-lodger Bees finally got under way and rapped off 15 hits of three Oklahoma City pitchers, winning 7 to 3. Cox, meanwhile allowing only six hits.

San Antonio went down under an 11-hit bombardment from the last-place Port Worth Cats, while the Missions produced one run. The score was 7 to 1. Port Worth tallied six of its runs in the last two innings.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By The Associated Press)

Tony Cucinello, Bees: Drove in three runs as Bees nosed out Cubs, 6 to 5.

Monte Pearson, Yankees: Hung up fourth straight pitching victory as Yankees pounded Indians, 10 to 4.

Oscar Melillo, Red Sox: Started two double plays and batted in two runs in Red Sox 4-2 win over White Sox.

Jim Bottomley, Browns: His three doubles figured heavily in Browns 8-4 wallop of Athletics.

Tommy Bridges, Tigers: Limited Senators to four hits as Tigers won, 4-2.

Boys Convicted Of Brutal Crime

CHICAGO, May 20. (AP)—Two hoodlums still in their teens, Emil Reck, 19, and Michael Livingston, 17, were convicted today of the murder of Dr. Silber C. Peacock—a brutal crime that netted them $5 apiece.

A criminal court jury rejected the prosecution's plea for a death penalty in three hours of deliberation, and fixed Reck's punishment at 199 years in prison and Livingston's at 30 years imprisonment.

Two other members of the gain robbery gang—Durland Nash and Robert Goeths, both 18—recently pleaded guilty in the slaying of the pediatrician and started serving 99 year terms in the penitentiary.

Dr. Peacock was bludgeoned and shot when he resisted a holdup after being lured out on a spurious sick call last Jan. 2.

DOUBLE TIME

LES MALLON IS ONLY 10 SHY OF LEAGUE RECORD AT 2ND

(By Felix R. McKnight)

DALLAS, May 20. (AP)—Still without error at second base this season is Les Mallon of Dallas' Steers. . . . He's only ten shy of the league record. . . . Genial Carey Selph, former Houston Buff manager, played 45 errorless games in 1933 to tack up the mark.

Mallon is going after a new record string in the hard way. He tries desperately for everything hit in his direction. . . . Once or twice the official scorekeeper gave him the benefit of the doubt when he knocked down drives over the second bag and then failed to catch the runner at first. . . . Record hunting hasn't hampered Mallon's game. . . . He's also hitting like a demon.

Van Ryn Is Dropped From Davis Cup Tennis Roster

Allison, Grant Will Fight It Out For Singles Berth

NEW YORK, May 20. (AP)—With the personnel of the American Davis cup team reduced to four players, in accordance with international regulations, the tennis nestors remained perplexed today in the selection of the actual team which will oppose Australia next week-end in the suburbs of Philadelphia in the north American zone final.

From among Wilmer Allison, the national champion, Don Budge, Bryan (Bity) Grant, and Gene Mako the U. S. cup selection committee will have to decide by May 29 on two singles players and one doubles combination.

The original squad of five, which has been practicing for ten days at the Merion, Pa., Cricket club, was reduced last night when the committee created a mild surprise by dropping Johnny Van Ryn of Philadelphia, a veteran of the last seven cup campaigns.

Van Ryn and Allison as winners of the national Tandem title last year were ranked the nation's No. one 1935 doubles team. But they have been beaten consistently this year on both clay and grass courts by the second-ranking pair, Budge and Mako. Thus the elimination of Van Ryn virtually assured the California youngsters the doubles assignment although Holcombe Ward, selection committee chairman, explained Allison and Budge have been working out together in practice.

The big problem confronting officials is choosing among Allison, Budge and Grant, graded in that order in the national ranking, for the two singles berths. Budge, who played singles in the 1935 and 1936 domestic cup play and last year in the advanced competition in England, is an almost certain starter.

Although national champion, Allison finds himself in the unique position of having to battle it out with the pit-sized Georgian for the berth. Like Van Ryn, Allison has been a member of every cup squad since 1929, affording him experience which more than likely will swing the balance in his favor over Grant.

Allison is not as good now as he has been in September," said Ward. "But the same can be said about a lot of players."

The fact that Allison is an acknowledged slow starter, usually seldom reaching the peak of his form until the national championship, might help Grant's chances.

Notwithstanding the fact he has taken falls out of every top-ranking player on grass at some time or another, "Bity" is not the effective performer on turf he is on clay.

ROAD RUNNERS RESOLVED TO DEFEAT HUBER

TEAM GOES TONIGHT TO BORGER FOR A GAME

The Pampa-Danciger Road Runners, tired of being buffeted around by the Huber Blackfaces, will go to Borger tonight determined to break into the win column against the Blackfaces on their home lot. Their Road Runners have lost on their home diamond and once in Borger, the Blackfaces defeated the Birds.

Manager Sam Hale will probably send big Gene Ledford to the mound with Dancy also eligible for the choice. Both hurlers have been effective this season and are the only two men on the staff who have been able to last nine innings. Dancy has two wins already and Ledford has a pair of wins against a loss.

One of a pair of porters is scheduled to oppose the Road Runners tonight as Blair and Carithers stand in line for the Blackfaces. Carithers last season with Coltex, has been effective against the Birds in a relief role. Blair started the opening game of the season and went his full three innings before being relieved to give another hurler a chance.

BIG BEND PARK HAS WILDLIFE ALL ITS OWN

COMPLETE BIOLOGICAL UNIT DUE TO BE ESTABLISHED

ALPINE, May 20 (AP)—The proposed Big Bend national park of Texas, containing the entire range of the Chisos mountains, would be the only national park in this country to have a complete biological unit. It was pointed out in a report on a survey of the area made by Dr. W. B. McDougall, regional wildlife technician of the National Park Service.

"Furthermore," the report said, "since the Chisos mountains are separated from any other mountains by wide stretches of desert flats, the fauna will be better protected in certain respects than is possible in any other national park. The habitat itself, therefore, is unique."

Wildlife of the area not to be found in existing national parks includes the Couch Rock squirrel, Chisos mountain cotton rat, the peccary, a wild hog, and three distinct species of deer—the Mexican mule deer, Texas whitetail, and the Sonora, or fawn-tailed.

"The peccary," Dr. McDougall says, "is known locally as the javelina. It was formerly very abundant in this region but has been killed extensively for its hide, and often by hunters merely for the sake of something to shoot."

"At the present time, therefore, the numbers are greatly reduced. There are known to be several small bands in the area, however. An increase in their numbers would increase the park's value. Steps are being taken to make the area a state game refuge until such time as the park is fully established."

"Mountain lions are occasionally killed in the region. These animals range over a wide area, frequently in excess of 50 miles a day, but with the Big Bend containing a complete biological unit the protection to predatory animals would be greater than in other national parks.

"Indeed," the report says, "with the exception of the Everglades of Florida, this is likely to be the only place in the United States where the mountain lion can be given adequate protection."

CAPITOL CHATTER

AUSTIN, May 20 (AP)—The state governmental tree, which has grown large in recent years, likely will sprout more branches at the next regular session of the legislature if current predictions are realized.

It is probable efforts will be made to establish a state agency to administer pensions to widowed mothers who have no visible means of support or assign that function to a division of an existing department of government.

There are also reports that a new office of budget director will be sought to provide a continuing control over legislative appropriations to make certain they are expended for the purposes authorized. In addition, there may be efforts to bring certain trades and professions under state regulation, similar to barbers and cosmetologists.

The forty-fourth legislature established the liquor control board, planning board, and the old age assistance commission. It also created the public safety commission to administer the affairs of the department of public safety into which were combined the Rangers and the highway patrol, augmented by separate divisions of intelligence, education, fingerprinting.

The driver's license bureau, almost a division in itself, was established as a special session.

Political observers expect candidates, in general, to bemoan the ever-spreading activities of the state government but point out that in the platforms of most there doubtless will be found some special item affecting the people's welfare, or a portion of it, that may necessitate another bureau or department.

One of the chief objections lodged by the legislature against the report of a governmental survey committee filed several years ago was that it did not materially prune unnecessary branches. Much was made of the assertion that adoption of the master plan of government would reduce the number of bureaus, departments, boards, commissions, etc., from about 135 to 15. Theoretically, the reduction would have been accomplished and the total of the bureaus sharply reduced. Actually, however, most of the then existing agencies would have merely been merged with others that pursued connected lines of endeavor.

Austin's tower lights, which stand out like clusters of stars, have attracted so much attention that they likely will become permanent fixtures despite development of more efficient methods of street lighting. The towers were erected in 1891 after the city council succumbed to a persuasive salesman who convinced the city fathers the lights would "cast" a moonlike glow over the city and keep the criminals out in the light.

So many inquiries have been received and so many tourists remember Austin as "the city with the tower lights" that city officials believe it is desirable publicity. They plan to make them more attractive by installing revolving, colored searchlights atop the aluminum painted structures.

One city official pointed out an advantage the tower lights possess over lower lighting systems. The lights are too far away to be targets for rock-throwing boys.

Chapter 11 DISGRUNTLED HUSBAND

Suddenly it occurred to Dirk that Hope might have returned to her hotel in Manhattan. This was doubtful, since she owed them money, but there was a chance. Falling that, the management might give him some clue as to where else to look for her. The Jameson Hotel. He remembered that, too, found the address of the hotel in the telephone book, of the first drug store he passed.

The hotel Jameson was a dingy hotel in the east thirties. A dingy lady at the desk repeated after him, "Miss Devine, Miss Hope Devine."

She consented her records and reported that Miss Devine had left some time before.

"I remember her now. A dark little girl—a music-teacher. The colored elevator boy was her pupil. She didn't leave an address."

Dirk asked if there was any mail for Miss Devine. Perhaps a post-mark might be a help. It was important that he find her, he said.

The lady went listlessly through the files of letters. There was nothing for Miss Devine.

"I hardly thought there would be. That was one thing I remembered about her. She almost never got any mail. You know most girls get at least—wait a minute."

She had a conference with a boy who had just returned from lunch. "Funny, that," she presently explained. "Miss Devine was in just this morning and got her trunk. It was—she had left it as a sort of security."

"Know where she went?" Dirk asked the boy.

No, she had merely paid her bill and left.

Dirk left also. He thought he understood. Rupert had no doubt given Hope money the night before, and she had come in forthwith to redeem her trunk. She had left at an incongruous hour for such an errand, but so long as she had accomplished it—

He had no doubt he would find her at Lowrie Wood.

He was right. Mary informed him that Mrs. Joris had returned shortly after he left.

"She had been to church, sir, to early service."

So that was explained.

"You realize, Mister Dirk, that Mrs. Joris is the daughter of a parson."

This, Mary felt, was a timely rebuke to young gentlemen who seldom went to church at all. Mister Rupert's marriage had bewildered the servants by its unexpectedness, but it held the flavor of romance, ing to the record. Her father, she says, is the Rev. Somebody.

"They don't live here," Dirk answered. "The bank where she had her funds closed. It may be her family wouldn't or couldn't help her, or she may not have wanted to tell them. She came to you, as a lawyer, to know what to do."

"She came to do what she did," replied Rupert. "It was a trick, and she managed it."

He reflected with some satisfaction that she had got no money out of him, whatever the trick might net her in the end. He had in his billfold exactly the amount he had brought home with him the evening before, and his check-book had not been touched.

Dirk said, "I'm certain it wasn't a trick. I'm certain your proposal came as a surprise to her. Wait till you see her. It may even be you frightened her into it, or..." as Rupert seemed about to go into a rage, "or offered marriage as the condition on which you would help her. She was without money, or food, or friends. She was in a panic, so she hunted up a lawyer, and you happened to be the one she found."

"You're ridiculous, of course," Rupert remarked. "She saw the state I was in, and she took advantage of it. No decent girl would have done that. If she was drunk, too, I could understand it."

"It's odd," said Dirk, "that you should mention decency. That was the only question you asked her." And, as Rupert stared, "I think you made some allusions to her family, but you asked her, as I understand it, only one question. I don't think she could have invented that question, and if she's telling the truth about that, she's probably not lying about the rest. You asked if she was a decent girl."

Rupert was silent. He looked at his cigar, crushed it out.

"No, I suppose she could not have invented that," he said finally. "However, I'll check on her antecedents and her decency, too. An annulment, under the circumstances, should be simple."

"I've already checked," said Dirk. "Again Rupert's brief stare. It was the memory of Dirk's face that Rupert had carried over from the night before. Dirk, newly arrived, standing in the hall, looking at him. There was an impression, too, of Connolly. He had telephoned Connolly and got the facts, or some of them. Then he had sent for Dirk, and learned that he had gone out."

"And you found?" said Rupert.

"I can assure you," Dirk answered, "that the girl is not only decent, but decidedly inexperienced."

Yes, he could assure him of that, and he wasn't going to have Rupert digging around, discovering the circus.

"You'll be telling me next," said Rupert, "that she didn't know I was tight."

"That's possible, too," Dirk admitted. "You carry it well enough. However, I shan't say that. I only say that she's a nice kid who came to you in a panic, and that marrying her was your own idea."

Rupert lit another cigar. The matter of Dirk's looking up to the girl, checking on her story, had aroused his gratitude somewhat. Decent and desperate. The combination might insure a quiet settlement of the affair. Connolly had promised to keep it out of the papers, if possible. Rupert himself had insisted the night before that the papers have it, though it had been too late for the Sunday editions.

Dirk has a very serious conversation with his brother, tomorrow.

RODESSA FIELD HEARING URGED BY THOMPSON

300 MILLION FEET OF GAS WASTED DAILY HE ASSERTS

AUSTIN, May 20 (AP)—Texas' oil and gas conservation agency, the railroad commission, prepared today for a technical hearing on "the serious problem" of waste in the Rodessa field.

E. O. Thompson, chairman, invited Louisiana officials to hold a joint hearing with the Texas commission at Marshall. He suggested the dates of June 3 or 5.

Thompson advised Governor Richard Leche that a hearing was "almost imperative" to obtain technical data for promulgation of "legal proration orders" by Texas and Louisiana to regulate production of oil and gas in the common pool.

Texas engineers would be ready with technical data, he said, turning the problem a serious one. While he anticipated Louisiana officials would participate in a joint hearing, Thompson said a Texas hearing at Marshall was certain.

Conditions in the new bi-state field develop serious proportions, Thompson said, because a drop in bottom hole, or reservoir, pressure had a high ratio of gas production to oil.

"They say about 300,000,000 cubic feet of gas is wasted daily," he said. "Isn't that about half of the former waste in the Panhandle that was called a national scandal?"

Production from seven wells on the Texas side was limited to 350 barrels daily. Charged with restricting the state's outlet to market demand, the commission curtailed the flow from other fields to a much lower figure. The nearby East Texas field was pinched to about 30 barrels maximum.

About 120 wells on the Louisiana side also were restricted to 350 barrels until the Pelican Oil company started flowing an estimated 20,000 barrels daily from 13 wells under a special order.

The high production was reported causing unrest among producers in neighboring fields, especially the tightly-prorated East Texas pool.

The commission called a special hearing May 29 to consider a top allowable for wells in the west central district. Operators proposed a maximum of 150 barrels for those producing from a depth of 3,000 feet or more and 100 barrels for those of a lesser depth. Problems of spacing, drilling and production practices also were listed for discussion.

ARMY VICTORY

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Reserve officers of two army detachments were working on tactical problems at the outskirts of the city when Col. William J. Bacon announced: "I smell a still." The colonel—who also is sheriff of Shelby county—deployed his forces, found and confiscated a 12-barrel still and 8,000 gallons of mash from which had been made a strategic retreat.
