The flood in San Angelo has its local color, too. Last Friday Carl Benefiel, Pampa, and Margaret Griffith theaters, flew from Lubbock to San Angelo to make motion pictures of the flood area for Pathé Weekly news reel.

Benefiel is Pathe representative in a several hundred mile territory which has Pampa as its headquarters. He was accompanied on the hop to the floodlands by Bill Finley, Pampa, ex-newspaperman and crack photographer.

Benefiel and Finley returned to Pampa last Saturday night with 400 feet of movie shots and a half hundred still pictures of the San Angelo devastation. Benefiel's movies should be on your local screen before long.

He describes their air trip from Lubbock as being a bit jumpy and "jittery". They encountered fog and stormy weather and then slid into a not any too perfect landing in the mud at the edge of the flood zone. "It was one of those story-book trips," Benefiel says, "but we came out of it with some excellent action and still pictures."

Jess Hatcher, the wheat farmer who winds up his part-time Gray county job as head of the criminal identification bureau on Oct. 1, is getting behind in his work. He begins to do right by him, but if he's to get his wheat in it will have to dry up long enough for him to get the drill into ground.

However, between wheat and and pictures of criminals, Hatcher has 180 laying hens that are beginning to do right by him. We might put in a word here and say that Hatcher's hens are not hatches—they are layers.

So many are asking us what is to be done about Gray county's relief problem this winter. . . . There is no more state relief money. . . . There is no local agency to handle the situation. . . . There are no funds available. . . . About 400 persons without means of support are facing a winter of destitution.

That, in brief, is the local situation. . . Little or nothing has been done to alleviate it, they say. The question remains, then: What is to become of these people when winter winds begin to howl, when cupboards are bare? . . . There must be an answer to it—an answer to hearten the persons directly affected. This column will be glad to serve as a clearing house on ideas as to how Gray county and Pampa can handle its relief situation this winter. . . . Send along your suggestions.

The jury in Gray county court made a mistake the other day. . . . It returned a verdict in a lunacy case in which the jurors meant to have a man committed to the state hospital at Wichita Falls.

Jail attaches were preparing the man for the trip to the asylum when a very observing woman discovered that the jury had made an error and in its written verdict had said "no" when it meant "yes", all of which made the man sane again.

The question read like this: "Do you believe this man to be of unsound mind?" The jury's written answer was "no." . . . So, with the discovery, the county attorney got several of the jurors on the phone, asked them what they had meant to say. They were dumfounded when they learned what they really had said.

The whole thing resulted in a hurry-up call for jurors, court attaches, etc. . . . The defendant was brought back into court Monday afternoon and a new sanity trial was held, with the result that the man was adjudged insane this time, and officials, court attaches, and everybody connected with the case were late for supper that night.

Sequel to the story is that the mistake was discovered by Beulah Allred, publisher of the Pampa Local News, as she went about her duties of making a very close check on legal activities at the courthouse. It is Miss Allred's opinion that somebody's face was red.

DRUNK DRIVING IS ALLEGATION IN INDICTMENT

TWO CASES SET FOR TRIALS IN COURT TODAY

The new September grand jury returned its first indictment yesterday, citing C. H. Harbison, of Pampa, for driving a motor vehicle on the public road while intoxicated. The alleged offense was committed last Sept. 11. The jury remained in session today. Harbison was expected to appear in district court either this afternoon or tomorrow.

Other cases scheduled in district courts today included Bessie McQuerry Morse vs. Pete Ragan, and Bill McCoy vs. Paul Kashiske.

Cases set for Friday are Frick Reid Supply Co. vs. Albert McCollum, et al.; and The First National Bank of Pampa vs. Benetta Overly and J. M. D. Don.

Mary E. Walberg vs. The Central Savings Bank and Trust Co. is the only setting on the docket for tomorrow.

YOUTH CLAIMS CHILDS' WIFE SLEW HUSBAND

Story Is Unshaken as Bramlett Takes Stand

CARTHAGE, Tex., Sept. 23 (AP)—Terrence Bramlett's story that Mrs. Reable Childs shot and killed her crippled husband, Marie Childs, at Center last April 23 remained unshaken today in his trial for the slaying.

Bramlett, 21-year-old former CCG worker, described Mrs. Childs as "the only girl I ever loved" and maintain'd throughout his direct testimony and a rigid two-hour cross examination that she fired the shot that killed Childs.

Mrs. Childs was given a 25-year sentence in connection with the death last week. Childs was a former Shelby county treasurer.

Bramlett said he took the gun to Mrs. Childs, with whom he admitted having an illicit love affair.

"I walked to the back of the house," he testified, "and she came out and said 'Did you bring the gun?' Marie Childs came to the back of the house and Reable killed him, then threw the gun down and said 'My God, what have I done?'"

Bramlett said the third time he had seen the woman was at Childs' home.

"She looked the door," he said. "She pulled me close to her and embraced me, and it was there our illicit relations started."

He said they met frequently after that in tourists camps, hotels, and at the Childs' home.

The district judge mediated a confession that he killed Childs. He said he made it because "I knew Reable was in the hands of those Rangers and I did not feel she was safe with them."

CARTHAGE, Sept. 23 (AP)—Rebuttal witnesses today said Mrs. Reable Childs could not have fired the shot which killed her husband, Marie Childs, unless she stood on a box or other object.

The testimony was intended to

FIRE PREVENTION TO BE STRESSED IN DRIVE

An active fire prevention program for National Fire Prevention week, October 2 to 10, inclusive, is being prepared by Fire Chief Ben White. The chief urges Pampans to start cleaning up around their premises because a city-wide inspection for fire hazards will be one of the chief items on the program.

Chief White has received a limited supply of posters and literature which will be placed in downtown stores and in schools. A home inspection blank will be given every child in Pampa schools. The blank will be filled out by the child, assisted by his parents, and returned to the school. The questionnaire covers every phase of fire prevention.

Local clubs will be asked to cooperate by having speakers talk on fire prevention.

The fire boys will give a play entitled "The Trias of Fire," in the fire station on the night of Oct. 5. No admission will be charged and the public is urged to attend.

SAM DUNN CHALLENGES LAW

LOYALISTS IN FINAL STAND NEAR MADRID

GOVERNMENT WILL RISK EVERYTHING IN BATTLE

(By The Associated Press)

Insurgent armies, sensing they were on the verge of a decisive victory in the Spanish civil war, stormed the roads to Madrid and Toledo today.

The column advancing toward Toledo was reported to have penetrated within a few miles of the government-held city in a desperate effort to save the survivors of the besieged Alcazar.

Pressing along the highway to Madrid, the Fascist forces of Gen. Francisco Franco drew battle lines about 18 miles from the capital.

Confident leaders at Talavera de la Reina, Fascist headquarters, predicted capture of Madrid and Toledo was imminent.

Officers said the government forces, despite reinforcements pouring out of Madrid to repulse the steady advance along the highway, were being hurled back.

Reports were current in insurgent quarters the Madrid government was debating the advisability of surrender. The insurgent station at Segovia said President Azana wanted to yield but Premier Francisco Largo Caballero was opposing him, insisting resistance was still possible.

Onslaught Surges On.

Tired government militiamen, with only grapes and watermelons for food, blocked the 38-mile road to Madrid.

Reinforced government armies, with loyal Toledo and the beleaguered insurgent Alcazar at their backs, sought to stem a second onslaught, south from Torrijos, just 18 miles from Toledo.

A third insurgent column struck out straight north of Maqueda, determined to subdue the hostile regions west of Madrid.

Only sporadic resistance, said the headquarters of General Francisco Franco, had been encountered so far. But a different story appeared in the making as the insurgents' nearest Santa Cruz del Retamar, Madrid's newest "Verdun."

There, the hungry and tattered government militia planned a counter-offensive, risking everything.

They started at dawn at reports a western government force had broken through the Fascist rear guard behind Talavera de la Reina, headquarters of the insurgent southern command.

From southeast of Torrijos, too, the government hoped to take the offensive.

Discontent Arises.

Discontent was rising in the government ranks. There was but one answer; the firing squad. Eleven would-be deserters were shot at Santa Cruz.

While the southern insurgents brushed out from the vital cross-roads of Maqueda, their northern armies, intent on Bilbao, assaulted government lines 20 miles east of the Biscay Bay seaport.

Madrid announced the capture of three small southern towns. A Fascist column chased 600 government militiamen over the sympathetic Portuguese border. Tiny Anorzo, nesting in the mountains between France and Spain, considered an appeal to France against threatened anarchist invasion.

Fall, Imminent, Claim.

FASCIST HEADQUARTERS, TALABERA, DE LA REINA, Sept. 23 (AP)—The fall of Madrid and Toledo is imminent, officials here claim today.

U. S. EMBASSY EMPLOYEE STABBED BY BURGLAR

TOKYO, Sept. 23 (AP)—Earle R. Dickover, first secretary and charge d'affaires of the United States embassy, was stabbed in his home today by a burglar who escaped.

The invader went first to Mrs. Dickover's room while the household was asleep during the early hours. Dickover, answering her door, was confronted with the invader and was stabbed in the left arm with a dagger. His wound was believed not serious and a physician said it should heal within two weeks.

Parents Agree to Save Malformed Son by Operation

CHICAGO, Sept. 23 (AP)—Blue-eyed baby Tafel, oblivious to the tumult he caused during his six days of life, rested today in a hospital holding what physicians termed an even chance to survive an operation designed to save him from death by starvation.

The operation to correct an intestinal malformation—a "bit-tomless colon"—was performed after a dramatic agreement between his mother, Eva, 22, and his father, Julian, 24, a garage mechanic.

Until late yesterday Tafel, fearing Julian, Jr., faced a life of invalidism in the event of his survival, urged a "mercy death" while the mother pleaded for the child's life regardless of consequences.

After conferring with friends and his spiritual advisor, Tafel changed his decision. The appearance at the hospital of Richard Letler, a healthy four-year-old boy who had successfully undergone an identical operation, clinched the argument.

Today baby Tafel was fed at frequent intervals with an eye dropper. Attendants said he came through the operation, performed by five surgeons at Danish-American hospital, in good condition.

TWO BROTHERS ARE KILLED IN EXTORTION PLOT

Two Killed in 'Baby Doll' Kidnaping Crime

DORCHESTER, N. B., Sept. 23 (AP)—Two brothers—Arthur Bannister, 19, and Daniel, 20—were hanged today for killing a woodsman-squatter during the kidnaping of his infant daughter for their mother to use in the "baby doll" extortion plot.

Resigned to death after rejection of the appeals for clemency, the brothers walked silently to the gallows where they stood back to back as the nooses were placed over their heads.

"It's too tight. I can't pray," complained Daniel shortly before the traps were sprung simultaneously at 2:06 p. m. Atlantic daylight time. The brothers were convicted of killing Phillip Lake, 30-year-old woodsman living near Pacific Junction, N. B. The cr-w'n charged the Bannister brothers were responsible for Lake's death during the abduction of his four-month-old daughter last January.

Mrs. May Bannister, their mother, wanted the baby to aid in an alleged extortion plot against two men who, the cr-w'n charged, were under moral obligations to her.

The prosecution during the brothers' trial asserted Mrs. Bannister attempted to fake motherhood by appearing with a life-size baby doll. Her effort to get money from the two men failed, it was charged, and she, her two boys, and her 15-year-old daughter Frances devised the plan to kidnap Phillip Lake baby.

During the kidnaping, Lake was killed, his common law wife fatally injured, and his young son left to die outside their lonely cabin in mid-winter, the prosecution alleged.

The brothers were charged with killing only Lake and were found guilty in separate trials. Mrs. Bannister was convicted of harboring the stolen child and was sentenced to serve three and one-half years in the penitentiary. Frances Bannister has been charged with abducting the Lake baby and her trial set for Friday.

Brother-in-Law of Allred Is Awarded $4,450 in Action

DALLAS, Sept. 23 (AP)—W. B. Stokes, whose wife, Mrs. Hazel Stokes, sister of Governor James V. Allred, was killed in a highway accident near Mineola last March 21, was awarded $4,450 under an agreed judgment entered in Judge Royall R. Watkins' court here today.

The judgment also awarded $25 each to Rene Allred Sr. and Mrs. Mary M. Allred.

The judgment explained all parties concerned agreed to the settlement.

Is this the relief office?
"If you still ask at the Red Cross headquarters in the city hall basement. Then they are directed to the courthouse. "I thought maybe you might have some shoes for my boy and girl to wear to school. He's 11 and she's 9," the mother says timidly, hopefully. "They look thru the box of old shoes. Some are for children. 'We do so need shoes for children!'" says the case worker sadly, regretfully.

You can go down to LePors, to McLean, out to the Chicken Coop town in southeast Pampa, out in the Talley addition, and in dozens of other parts of the city and you will find literally scores of children who are not in school because they have no shoes, no money to buy supplies, not sufficient clothing. They can manage without the clothing but they must have shoes.

Many are going barefooted to school but they cannot much longer. Many are too big to go barefooted and they are ashamed when they go to school with the cardboard slippers in between their foot and the big hole in the bottom of their shoe. There is no city or county fund to buy children shoes and has not been for three or so, bringing the children's shoes or the money to the relief office on the third floor of the courthouse.

250 PAMPANS REGISTER AT TRI-STATE FAIR

An estimated 250 Pampans registered yesterday at the Tri-State fair in Amarillo. Exact figures in the attendance contest will not be released until the final day of the event.

A large caravan of Pampans, headed by the 45-piece high school band under direction of Winston Savage, paraded downtown Amarillo yesterday morning. Later, the Pampans went to the fair grounds where the band gave a concert and a program over the radio, at 1:30 o'clock.

The afternoon was spent at the races, visiting the exhibits, and "doing" the midway.

Pampa Day at the fair was arranged by a Board of City Development committee headed by H. C. Wilson.

ETHIOPIA WINS NEW VICTORY FOR FREEDOM

TENDENCY PREVAILS TO REFRAIN FROM EJECTION

BY JOSEPH A. SHARKEY, Associated Press Foreign Staff.

GENEVA, Sept. 23 (AP)—The League of Nations Assembly, by a vote of 39 to 4, tonight adopted a report of its credentials committee recommending that the Ethiopian delegates be seated.

The report also decided against submission of the Ethiopian question to the world court. The Ethiopian delegates refrained from voting.

Several dramatic incidents marked the session of the committee.

Just before the decision was reached, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of England jumped to his feet and exclaimed:

"Enough of this nonsense! There never has been any sufficient ground to unsettle the Ethiopian delegation. Almost all the small nations on the committee fought for the Ethiopians, with Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff of Russia also taking a leading role.

At times the discussion became so bitter that one or two states, the names of which were not disclosed, threatened to resign from the league if the Ethiopians were ejected.

In some circles, the committee's decision was interpreted as a virtual non-recognition of Italy's conquest of Ethiopia.

MOTORISTS ARE ASKED TO OBEY STATE BUS LAW

An appeal to motorists to obey the state law requiring motorists to stop when school buses are taking on or discharging passengers was made today by County Attorney Sherman White and Joseph Shelton, school bus superintendent.

The appeal came in the form of a warning following complaints that violations of the law have been noted in Gray county since the opening of the school term.

The county attorney pointed out that the law requires that whenever a school bus stops, "every motor vehicle must come to a full stop before proceeding in either direction and shall not start up or attempt to pass in any direction until the school bus has finished receiving or discharging its passengers."

Penalty for conviction for a violation of the law, the county attorney stated, provides a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $50, or imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed 90 days, or both.

SECOND SCARLET FEVER CASE REPORTED HERE

A second case of scarlet fever has developed among ward school children, but the child was kept at home since she has felt unwell, and none of her classmates will need to be quarantined, it was announced today by Miss Llewellyn Shelby, school health director.

The first case of this fall developed Friday when a child became ill in the schoolroom. Children from that room are being kept out of school this week to prevent danger of an epidemic.

School authorities commended the mother of the latest scarlet fever victim for not allowing the child to attend school when she was slightly ill, as 40 children would be out of school now had she developed fever in the room.

NUISANCE CASE WILL BE TRIED OCTOBER 12

PROPRIETOR OF NIGHT CLUB QUESTIONS LIQUOR ACT

Charge that a section of the Texas Liquor Control Act is unconstitutional was made on the district court here today by Sam G. Dunn, proprietor of the Belvedere night club, thru his attorney, John F. Sturgeon.

Dunn appeared in court today to show cause why a temporary injunction to restrain the sale of whiskey at the night club should not be made permanent. The temporary court order was issued Sept. 10 by Judge W. R. Ewing.

The order was granted upon the petition of County Attorney Sherman White in which it was alleged that whiskey had been sold on the premises without a permit. The petition asked that the defendant and three employees of the place be cited to show cause why the Belvedere club should not be declared a common nuisance.

Dunn appeared in court this forenoon. Attorney Sturgeon filed a demurrer to the plaintiff's original petition and asserted that the allegations were insufficient in law and state no cause of action.

Trial Date Set

Judge Ewing after hearing arguments for the defense this morning overruled the general demurrer and exceptions and ordered the case set for trial on Monday, Oct. 12.

"Because of the public interest in the case," Judge Ewing said, "it is being given preferential setting." The case will be tried before a jury.

In making exception as a whole to the petition of the plaintiff, Mr. Sturgeon said:

No Reasons, Claim

The defendants claim except to the petition as a whole for the reason that the plaintiffs upon its face, it is brought in the name of the State, and the State has no right in law to institute or maintain a cause of action such as is alleged, except by direct statutory authority, and the statute upon which this action is based is an unconstitutional act because it is unconstitutional insofar as it authorizes or permits the State, to enlarge a room, building or place of any kind and abate it as a common nuisance because it is made to appear that whiskey is stored, kept, bartered, or given away or sold on the premises without a permit to do so, such act being a criminal offense and

TWENTIETH CENTURY BREAKFAST HAS TROPICAL ATMOSPHERE

MRS. KNAPP IS GUEST SPEAKER ABOUT ISLANDS

Three Presidents of Clubs Introduce Successors

A glimpse of another land was given members of the Twentieth Century club and their guests, presidents of other women's clubs of the city, at the annual breakfast opening a new season yesterday. The theme was taken from the subject of the guest speaker, Mrs. Bradford Knapp of Lubbock, who told of her trip to Hawaii.

Leis garlanded the necks of the guests as they were seated at the tables, where centerpieces were miniature Hawaiian scenes with grass huts, sandy beaches peopled with tiny brown figures in grass skirts and palm trees.

Brightly colored flowers added to the tropical atmosphere. Place cards and menus were in the shape of pineapples, and food on the menu was listed with Hawaiian names.

Mrs. Knapp described in informal style her trip to the islands, and displayed souvenirs of her visit.

New presidents of the three clubs were introduced by the retiring presidents. Mrs. F. M. Culbertson of Twentieth Century club presented Mrs. Clifford Braly, Mrs. Roy Bourland substituted for Mrs. Arthur Teed in introducing Mrs. Frank Perry, Twentieth Century Forum president, Mrs. L. L. McColm introduced Mrs. Jim Collins of Twentieth Century Culture club. Each of the honorees responded with a brief talk.

Hawaiian music was played by a quartet directed by Winston Savage during the breakfast. The invocation was by Mrs. J. P. Wehring, Mrs. E. S. Lawrence, toastmaster, presented each program number with clever jingles.

Special guests introduced were Mrs. S. H. Williams of Chilloithe, Mrs. G. R. Reid of Canyon, and the club presidents or representatives. Mrs. Raymond Harrah of Twentieth Century club, Mrs. S. G. Surratt of El Progresso, Mrs. Bob McCoy of Treble Clef, Mrs. John Skelly of Philharmonic, Mrs. Mabel Gee of Business and Professional Women, Mrs. Edward Damon of the Garden club, Mrs. Allen Hodges of A. ## Recipes From Cooking School

Lamb Stew-Mushroom Dumplings.
Three lbs. lamb, 1/2 cup chopped onions, 3 carrots, 2 T parsley, 3 T Mrs. Tucker's shortening.
Cut lamb in small squares and onion in flour, brown in hot fat, add onion and let cook slightly, add carrots and 5 cups boiling water and salt to taste. Let simmer about two hours or until tender and add dumplings made of:

One cup Carnation flour, 1 1/2 T K C baking powder, 1/2 t salt, 1/2 cup mushroom soup, 3 t water. Mix and drop by small spoonfuls into hot stew. Cover and boil about 10 minutes.

Carrots Au Gratin.
One and one-half cups diced carrots, 1-3 cup carrot liquid, 2 T butter, 2 T Carnation flour, 1 T onion 1-3 cup milk, 1 t salt, 1-4 cup grated cheese, hot sauce, 1-4 cup bread crumbs.

Drain water from carrots. Melt butter in sauce pan, blend with flour, add carrot water and milk, cooking until thick. Season and combine with carrots. Pour into buttered baking dish. Sprinkle with cheese and bread crumbs. Dot with butter and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) for 25 minutes.

Potato Lutikles.
Two cups shredded potato, 1 egg, 1/2 cup Carnation flour, 1/2 t K C baking powder, salt and pepper to taste.

Mix and drop by spoonfuls into hot shortening, fry golden brown.

Vegetable Puffs.
One cup mashed potatoes, 1 cup Carnation flour, 1 t K C baking powder, 1 cup corn, drained, 1 T salt, 2 eggs, paprika.

Mix and drop from small spoon into hot shortening and cook golden brown.

Mariner's Salad.
Two T gelatin soaked in 1/2 cup cold water. Dissolve in 1/2 cup hot butter then add 2 cups cold bullion, 2 T lemon juice, 1 t salt, paprika, Chilli and add two cups flaked salmon, 1 cup chopped celery, 4 T chopped stuffed olives. Pour into greased mold and chill.

Old Fashioned Egg Custard.
Make soft pastry and line pan. Chill pastry while making custard filling as follows: 3 eggs beaten, 3-4 cup sugar, 2 T butter, a little nutmeg, 1/2 t lemon extract, 2 cups sweetmilk.

Method: Beat eggs, add sugar and butter. Beat a little more and add other ingredients. Pour into pastry shell and bake about 50 minutes at 375 degrees or until custard is set.

Never Fail Pastry.
One cup Mrs. Tucker's shortening, 1 t salt, 4 cups Carnation flour, 1 t K C baking powder, 1 egg, 1/2 cup water.

Beat egg and add water. Sift dry ingredients together. Blend in shortening with flour and add egg and water. Chill before using.

Roundup Party Is Novel BPW Event

Ranch Costumes Are Worn in Outdoor Setting

"The strays were rounded and branded" at an unusual Business and Professional Women's club party last evening at city club rooms, with Grace Pool, Christine Cecil, Mabel Gee, and Vera Lard as hostesses. Former members and prospective members were guests.

A ranch setting was used. Hostesses wore cowboy or cowgirl costume, and guests wore outdoor garb or cowboy bandanas. Indian rugs were scattered over the floor, with a realistic looking campfire in the center around which the crowd grouped. Lights were shaded in red, and bowls of flowers added splashes of vivid color.

Hearty welcome from the hostesses and informal entertainment marked the evening. C. P. Sloan, Pampa pioneer, played oldtime tunes on his fiddle, accompanied at the piano by his daughter, Mrs. Joe Davis. Tap dances by Frankie Lou Keehn, in cowgirl dress, and songs by the crowd while Mrs. Frank Keehn played, completed the program.

Former members of the club were "cut from the herd," blindfolded, and "branded" with a piece of ice in an amusing stunt.

The call of "come and get it" brought guests to a table covered with red-checked cloth and lighted with kerosene lamps. Beans, hot dogs, onions, and black coffee were served, with water from a huge bucket and a gourd dipper.

Members and guests present were Lavena Wooley, Gertrude Leora Kinard, Gladys Robinson, Neva Burson, Mildred Overall, Dee Polson Oree Brock, Ruth Brittain, Mrs. Annie Daniels, Mrs. V. E. Mathers, Mrs. Kay Carroll, Katherine Sadler, Edith Bell, Opal McKay.

21 GIRLS GET SCOUT BADGES FOR PROGRESS

Troop Six Invites Mothers to the Program

At an investiture program yesterday afternoon, mothers of Girl Scouts in troop six were special guests at the Little House. Pins and badges were presented to 21 girls after each patrol had given a program number.

Patrol number one gave a first aid demonstration and patrol two a demonstration of Scout laws. A "knock-knock" stunt was the contribution of patrol three, and patrol four sang with Betty Ann Culbertson at the piano.

The flag salute and a hiking song by the entire troop opened the program. A hike and campfire supper were planned for next Tuesday.

Tenderfoot pins were presented to Elaine Carlson, Jean Chisum, Phyllis Davis, Dorothy Jarvis, Sammie June Lanham, Mary Lee Morris, Vendell Regier, Jean Robinson, Ora Sue Wainwright, and Nettie Lively.

Second class badges went to Doris Taylor, Eula Taylor, Esther June Mullinax, Willadene Ellis, Betty Ann Culbertson, Joyce Wanner, Frances Babione, Martha Frances Pierson, Netta Edwards, Vera Sackett, Jean Lively.

First aid badges were received by Doris Taylor, Eula Taylor, Nettie Lively, Esther June Mullinax, Willadene Ellis, Betty Ann Culbertson, Joyce Wanner, Frances Babione, Martha Frances Pierson, Joyce Turner.

Cooking badges were presented to Doris Taylor, Eula Taylor, Nettie Lively, Frances Babione.

Musicians badges went to Doris Taylor and Eula Taylor.

Refreshments were served by the patrol leaders, Myra Abernethy, Joyce Turner, Betty Ann Culbertson, and Doris Taylor, to the following mothers: Mmes. H. E. Carlson, Wade Thomson, Hugh Ellis, Walter Wanner, F. M. Culbertson, L. R. Taylor, R. L. Mosley, and J. M. ## Moral Insanity Is Topic Tonight For Evangelist

Growing crowds have marked the revival in progress at Central Baptist church this week, as hearers respond to interesting sermons by the Rev. R. C. Tennyson.

His subject this evening at 7:45 will be, Moral Insanity.

Last evening the evangelist spoke on The Call of the Cross. "The apostles were called from every walk of life, as men are today," he said. "There was a purpose for each of them, and for each of us. Many, unlike Paul, are disobedient to the heavenly vision. The presence and power of God are promised to each who responds to the call."

A pledge of support to the revival was given by about 200 of the audience.

Lawn Social to Be Given Friday

Fair weather has speeded plans for the lawn social on the campus of Horace Mann school, which the Parent-Teacher association will sponsor Friday afternoon from 4 to 7:30.

The finance committee, headed by Mrs. A. C. Houchins, is in charge of plans for the sale of home-made ice cream and cake, and the entertainment. The public is invited.

Girls of Church Are Entertained At the Lee Home

Lockett Girls' Auxiliary of First Baptist church met with Annateen Lee Monday evening. Margie Coffey, president, had charge of a business session at which committees were appointed and Margie Lee Leslies was elected secretary.

Forward steps in the Auxiliary were discussed, and the leader, Mrs. J. W. Young, taught a Bible lesson. The program closed with prayer for a revival that will start in the church next week.

The hostess, assisted by her mother and sister, Cleo, served refreshments to Orem Alford, Dorothy Nell Deane, Margie Lee Leslie, Margie Coffey, Elaine Murphy, Rowena Johnson, Venora Anderson, Madge Lawrence, the sponsor, and a new member, Helen Harris.

Skellytown School Adds Two Physical Education Teachers

Mr. and Mrs. Davis and little son, Stanley, arrived last week. Mrs. Mabel Lovett, teacher of expression, specializes in correction of speech defects.

VISITOR TELLS EL PROGRESSO CLUB OF TRIP

Change Is Made in Program Plans Yesterday

Because a speaker who has recently visited the Hawaiian islands was available, El Progresso club changed its plans for the first of its series of travel programs, and heard Mrs. Bradford Knapp of Lubbock instead of the members' topics.

The program was to have been on Hawaii, and Mrs. Charles Thut, leader, took advantage of the opportunity to secure a speaker with firsthand information. Mrs. James Todd was hostess in the city club room. Mrs. Knapp spoke principally of industries and agriculture on the islands, telling of her visits to huge pineapple canneries, sugar cane fields and refineries, and coffee plants.

Present for the interesting start of the year's travel course were Mmes. John Andrews, J. M. Dodson, T. D. Hobart, C. T. Hunkapillar, J. H. Kelley, Lee Ledrick, Claude Ledrick, J. M. McDonald, Dave Pope, W. Purviance, S. G. Surratt, George Walstad, LeNora McMurry, Thut, and Todd.

FLOOD CREST OF COLORADO HAS RECEDED

SERIOUS DAMAGE NOT IN SIGHT AT AUSTIN

AUSTIN, Sept. 23 (AP)—Flood waters of the Colorado river rolled on toward the Gulf of Mexico today with the force which devastated upper reaches of the stream somewhat diminished but still carrying a threat to low-lying areas.

After days of anxious waiting while the muddy torrent poured down from west central Texas, the capital believed the crest that swept to record heights upstream had flattened out and serious damage was unlikely.

Meanwhile, a detachment of coast guardsmen from Del Rio soared over areas downstream, dropping notes to bottomland farmers warning of the approaching waters. To their activities and those of city, county and state agencies was ascribed the small loss of life.

Two persons had been drowned and damage estimated at $500,000 caused by the Colorado, fed by a flood on the north, middle and south Conchos, to the northwest, which previously had inflicted between $2,000 and $5,000,000 damage in the vicinity of San Angelo.

Although weather bureau officials estimated the crest would not attain the 41.5 feet reached in Austin last year, city authorities took full precautions, advising residents in some houses along the river to evacuate and preparing to rescue any laggards if necessary.

The weather bureau said high water might continue for several days, but forecasts of record heights probably would not be borne out due to backing up in tributaries and the retarding influence of the Buchanan dam, 100 miles above Austin.

As the river gauged 24 feet at the Congress avenue bridge and continued to rise slowly, officials predicted the crest would not exceed 30 feet and might fall short of that mark. At that time, it was reported falling at Marble Falls, 74 miles upstream, after recording 30.8 feet.

Several bridges up the river were washed away, but a suspension structure at the half-completed Buchanan dam weathered the flood. The Regency bridge, 17 miles west of Goldthwaite, and a bridge at Tow, 20 miles above the Buchanan dam, went out.

A bascule bridge is one of one or two leaves which can be raised to a more or less vertical position.

A "bath tub" big enough for locomotives is being built at the Altoona, Pa., shops of the Pennsylvania railroad to immerse engines' chassis in lye water for removal of grease and dirt.

LET'S KNOW TEXAS AND TEXANS

BY WILL H. MAYES.

In this column answers will be given to inquiries as to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the state and its people. As evidence of good faith inquiries must give their names and addresses, but only their initials will be printed. Address inquiries to Will H. Mayes, Austin, Texas.

Q. When and where was the Battle of Adobe Walls fought and why is it important in Texas history? G. K. Newcastle.

A. The battle was fought, June 27, 1875, at a trading post of that name about 18 miles from the present city of Borger. It broke the strength of the Comanche Indians and marked the turning point of their control of land in Texas. The battle, between 20 white men and 1,500 Indians, resulted in the killing of one white man and 112 Indians, with 300 Indians wounded. The Indians being completely routed.

Q. We believe that the Kelly Plow company, still operated at Longview, is the oldest plow manufactory in the South. Is that true? E. F. Longview.

A. It was organized by George Addison Kelly at Jefferson in 1860. Kelly came to Texas in 1852 at the age of 20 and became foreman of a Jefferson blacksmithing establishment, which he persuaded to make cow bells and other hollow ware, and later designed and made a plow that proved popular and was the beginning of the present plant.

Q. What is the oldest drug store in Texas operating continuously under the same name—S. S. Marshall.

A. "Sedberry's Drug Store" at Jefferson, established in 1865, claims that distinction.

Q. When and where was the first congress held of the combined Mexican state of Coahuila and Texas? A. Z. Donna.

A. Aug. 15, 1824, at Saltillo, Coahuila.

Q. I have seen mention recently of a place called "Dugout." Where was it? T. A. Cross Plains.

A. There was a thriving village, church and school community of that name in McCulloch county about 1877-80.

TEXAS EMPIRE BUILDERS OF '36'

Every man, woman and child in Texas should know the principal events of the momentous period of Texas history from March 1 to April 21, 1836—events that changed the shape and the destiny of the United States.

The facts essential to this understanding are briefly set forth in a 32 page booklet entitled "Texas Empire Builders of '36," telling of the stirring days which all Texans, native and adopted, are celebrating in 1936.

The booklet will be mailed postpaid for 10 cents. Send all orders to Will H. Mayes, Austin, Tex.

Tennessee deaths attributed to automobile accidents the first six months of 1936 totaled 278, 10 less than those for the same period of 1935.

ANGRY URUGUAY SEVERS RELATIONS WITH SPAIN

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Sept. 23 (AP)—Uruguay, angered by the reported execution of three sisters of a Uruguayan diplomat in Madrid, severed relations with Spain Tuesday.

The diplomatic break was announced following a cabinet meeting which considered dispatches describing the alleged killing of Dolores, Consuelo and Maria Agular, sisters of Montevideo's consul in the Spanish capital.

The reported killings, government sources held, demonstrated the Madrid administration could not control the actions of its militia.

Reports to the foreign ministry stated the sisters were executed by government militiamen.

Their brother now is in Hendaye, France.

The reports to Montevideo indicated the sisters disappeared eight days ago. Their fate was a mystery until yesterday when a Uruguayan official state said, their bodies were found with those of other persons executed by the militia.

Today's break in diplomatic relations was the second time within the year that Uruguay, South America's smallest nation, had severed dealings with a foreign state. Earlier in the year Montevideo handed the Russian minister his passports and recalled its own envoy from Moscow, alleging the Soviet legation here had become a center of Communist propaganda in South America.

Richard Haddon Jr., four, was crushed to death at his San Pedro, Calif., home when caught in a clothes wringer.

TRIALS OF NEUTRALITY
Amazing things are being told about Spain. But nothing—not even the horror of what Spaniards are doing to each other—matches the impudent, bold effrontery of the powers which are meddling in Spanish affairs.

The trouble with neutrality is the inability of men to feel and to act neutral. Recent reports from Spain tell of German planes flown by German aviators on bombing expeditions against the Spanish loyalists. Italian planes pick up loads of bombs from Italian bases, fly over Spain to drop them and return to their bases, according to the stories which are being written by eyewitnesses.

Against such a background of interference by governments which want to bring about the defeat of the Spanish loyalists, their desperate regime could not be expected to remain sweet and reasonable about the neutrality of other European powers. To the loyalists it must seem that the hands-off policy of Great Britain and France, for instance, amounts to little more than tacit support of the rebels.

The government has men, but lacks material. The rebels have material, thanks to their foreign sponsors, but in the long run they may find themselves short of warriors. Furthermore, they may discover in the not distant future a grave lack of unity among themselves. They are an unnatural combination, held together temporarily by a common interest in overthrowing the red government at Madrid and supplied by foreign governments which, one gathers, are thinking less about establishment of stability in Spain than about the disestablishment of communism.

A QUEER WAY TO AGT
George Andrew McMahon, the discontented Irishman who staged the startling demonstration against King Edward July 16, has started a year's imprisonment for his offense.

Because the English do so many things differently, it is worth noting a few differences in the McMahon case, if only to show that some of the patterns of British thinking really are wholly unlike those prevailing in the United States. The differences aren't imaginary.

McMahon was given no opportunity to appear either as a hero or martyr. His sensational story of complicity was ridiculed in the courtroom. He was convicted on a charge of displaying a weapon with intent to "alarm" the king. On top of this strange tendency to play down the incident, instead of to blow it up into a sensation, the judge who passed sentence on the wretched man had this to say: "I am quite satisfied that you never, at any moment, had any intention of harming the king. If I had thought for a moment you had, I would be bound to take the severest measures possible. I have come to the conclusion that you are one of those misguided persons who think that by notoriety they can call attention to their grievances. Luckily for you the police were quick enough, as they often have been in the past, to save misguided persons from consequences of their own acts."

Truly a peculiar people, the English.

BOTH SIDES of the CAMPAIGN
Official views of the Republican and Democratic National Committees on leading issues of the campaign are presented by leaders of the two parties in this series of 12 articles, taking the place of Rodney Dutcher's Washington column during Dutcher's vacation. The Republican and Democratic arguments are presented on alternate days.

BY REP. FRANCIS D. CULKIN
Assistant Director Farm Division,
Republican National Committee

The constructive farm policies offered to the electorate by Gov. Alf M. Landon, Republican presidential candidate, are simple and clear.

He proposes an effective soil conservation and erosion control program in connection with national land use and flood conservation. He proposes protection of the farmer in the right to all of the home market he can supply without creating injustices to the consumer. He proposes protection of the family type of farm in this country by such cash benefits as are necessary to cushion American farm families against the disastrous effects of price fluctuations, and to protect the American standard of living. He proposes relief to sufferers from the drouth and economic depression.

Contrast with this straightforward expression of what the Republican party is ready to do for the farmer, the inhuman and obstinate policy of the New Dealers, who destroyed food while millions were starving; who plowed under and restricted crops in pursuance of a policy declared unconstitutional by the United States Supreme Court, and who broke their solemn pledge to conserve the domestic market for the American farmer.

Under the New Deal, there has been an incredible increase in the importation of foreign farm products and a startling decrease in the sale of American farm products to foreign markets. Since President Roosevelt took office, importations of crude foodstuffs have increased 41 per cent and manufactured foodstuffs 49 per cent. Importations of wheat rose from 3,000 bushels to more than 27,000,000 bushels, while importations of foreign corn jumped from 344,000 bushels to more than 43,000,000 bushels.

In the meantime, exportations of American wheat to foreign countries dropped until in 1935 they were only a hundredth of what they had been before the New Deal, while exportations of flour decreased 42 per cent, meat products dropped 19 per cent, and lard 82 per cent.

As in other instances, the farm record of the New Deal administration speaks for itself. In the summer of 1933, the government paid farmers under the AAA to plow up 10,500,000 acres of growing cotton, or 25 per cent of the total acreage. The Bankhead cotton act of 1934, later repealed by the New Deal Congress, set a limit of 10,000,000 bales of cotton to be marketed by farmers from the 1934-

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

BY GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK—Dripping anecdotes of fistiana from every pore, Gunboat Smith, the old heavyweight, recalls the once great Joe Jeanette's aversion to being disturbed during his pre-battle slumbers. After dressing for a bout, it was Jeanette's custom to sprawl on the rubber table and sleep half an hour before going into battle. This ritual was almost a fetish with the big, bony mauler, who flourished on shut-eye and fighting.

In the old days managers used to try out their new productions at Atlantic City before undraping them for Broadway's scrutiny, but now they travel to the major cities along the Atlantic seaboard. Washington is a favorite place with most stars, and Katharine Cornell probably will return there for the out-of-town premiere of "The Wings of Victory."

ating gas. Certain claims of superiority over ether are made for this newer anesthetic, namely, that the nervous, respiratory and circulatory systems are not injured by the drug, and that following its use, there is less post-anesthetic vomiting and fever than follows the use of ether.

There are many who, facing an operation, fear more the anesthetic than the surgical experience. To them the loss of consciousness, "the approach to death," is the menacing experience. And yet statistics show that anesthetization at the hands of an expert is fraught with very little danger. One authority reports 262,000 ether anesthetics, with but 34 deaths, a rate of 1 in 7,706. Another reports 45,507 ether administrations with no deaths at all.

For nitrous oxide, the records estimated are 1 mortality in 20,000 administrations. Another authority says 1 in 5,000,000 (probably including dental extractions).

A. The motion picture star's son William Wallace Reid, is 19 years old.

TRANS-PACIFIC FLIGHT
By DECK MORGAN
Chapter III
Kay Dunn listened eagerly to the technical talk of planes and piloting she heard in the airport restaurant. Lurching with Ted Graham and Charlie Benton, she felt that she actually had begun her new work as stewardess.

At intervals pilots would stop at the table to speak to Graham, who introduced them to Kay. It thrilled her, too, to notice that passengers, dining in the restaurant while awaiting the arrival of planes, recognized Graham and nodded in his direction. Obviously they were wondering about the girl with the famous pilot.

After lunch Benton went back to his office and Ted took Kay on an inspection tour of the Central Airport. There was a terminal building as large as a great city railroad station and as complete—with cafeteria, restaurant, hotel, ticket office, baggage rooms and shops all under one roof.

They climbed, past the meteorological laboratories, to the roof and looked down at the elaborate network of runways on the field. It was, Kay thought, like a patchwork quilt—the smooth, yellowish concrete runways intersecting at all angles. Below was the concrete ramp where planes were discharged and took on passengers.

While they watched, a big twin-engine taxied up to the gate and stopped. Porters ran out, and helped the passengers to disembark. At another gate passengers were waiting to board the plane. Luggage was piled on the ground beside them. Gray awnings fluttered in the breeze.

Away in the distance was the wharf where seaplanes taxied up to land. A giant seaplane and a cabin cruiser dipped up and down, side by side, on the glistening water. Slowly a passenger train crawled past the entrance gate, and taxis whirled up and down the landscaped driveways to the terminal entrance building.

It was the ideal co-ordination of travel facilities on land, water and in the air. It was the most perfect symbol of the 20th century that Kay had ever seen.

"Those are the hangars there," Ted said, amusing himself by watching Kay's enraptured features. "The big one is for transport planes. The doors are going up now. That's all done by electricity."

She turned to him and smiled. There was too much of the airport to take in at this first inspection. "It's nice of you," she said, "to show me all this. I don't know why you should. This morning when I came out here, looking for the job as stewardess on Overland Airways, I'll admit I was a little afraid."

"I'm not surprised," Ted said. "Strange surroundings, new people. A new job in any line is bad enough."

In the bright sunlight Kay's eyes glistened. "I kept thinking about my brother who died in the air—" Ted touched her arm with a comradely gesture. "I flew in the war, too, but we—my observer and I—had better luck. We're—flying still. And that war was a long time ago."

Both stared out into the limitless spaces, and then Ted turned. "There's my plane," he said. "Right on the dot. I'll have to go down now. Will you come and see me off?"

"I'd love to," she said. For the infinity of a second he gazed at her, at her reddish hair and cat-green eyes, and head like a diadem in the glaring sunlight. "You are a strange creature," he said.

(Posed by Helen Motter of United Airlines.)

"We made the grade," Alice announced. The men were talking in a confidential tone, but not too low for the girls to hear. "I understand we've got three new stewardesses trying out on the line," one of them said. "Not bad looking. I heard one of the mechanics say, 'If you get a line on them let me know.'"

"Sure thing," the other said and laughed. The two men moved on and Kay and Alice passed amused glances. Doris, however, was indignant. She tossed her blond hair, and her pretty features took an ominous scowl.

"Not bad looking, eh?" she stormed. "Listen, girls, let's organize for our mutual protection. We might as well call ourselves the Three Musketeers, and if the boys around the airport don't give us our rights, they'd better watch out!"

Kay laughed. "I guess you're right, though it looks safe enough around here to me." Doris was adamant. "I know men! Didn't I work in an insane asylum for two years?"

Kay cried out with laughter. "Now get this straight!" Doris went on. "They may look romantic when they're dressed up for parade in flying togs. They've got money jingling in their pockets and they like a good time. But here's the thing for you to remember. All these boys are children, and until one of them actually hauls you to a minister, and puts a ring on your hand, you're wedded to the air, too!"

By Brooke Peters Church
"Don't forget to hook the gate at the head of the stairs." The mother of toddlers, and more still of creeping children, has a wholesome fear of stairs. Left alone the tiny child always seems attracted to them, and if he falls down the long flight, serious injury may result. In every house where there are children, the nursery gate is a familiar sight.

Unfortunately the gate is not always a sure protection. Some one in a hurry, or a stranger who is not used to children, is sure to leave it open, and the unsuspecting family, relying on the safeguard, may be startled by the sudden noise of bumps and screams.

The only sure safeguard for any children, gate or no gate, is to be taught how to go up and down stairs. The lessons should begin as soon as the child is able to crawl. The training takes some weeks at this age, and requires infinite patience.

First teach the child always to approach the stairs backwards and very slowly. Standing behind him, pull one foot down to the second step, holding the other in place on the upper landing. Then, holding the lower foot, move the other down to meet it. This must be repeated for each step until the lower floor is reached.

The first few times a couple of steps will be all that the baby can manage. But if this lesson is given persistently every day, or even twice a day, the baby will ultimately take pride in his ability. After that the mother can be reasonably sure of his safety under any circumstances, and need not worry about the gate any more. In some ways the gate adds to the child's danger, since, relying on it, the parents gain a false sense of security, which may at any moment be rudely shattered.

HARVESTERS PRACTICE DEFENSE TO STOP SENSATIONAL QUARTERBACK

TERRELL WILL BE SPARKPLUG OF CHILDRESS

REYNOLDS AND N. COX ARE WORKING AT ENDS

Although major attention was given to offense, the Harvesters of Coaches Odus Mitchell and J. C. Frejan took time off yesterday afternoon to build up a defense that is expected to stop Terrell, sensational quarterback of the Childress Bobcats which will provide opposition for the Harvesters here on Friday night.

Still without their regular ends, Jones and Maxey, Harvesters' mentors worked long and hard with Toppy Reynolds and Norman Cox getting them ready to start in Jones and Maxey, both injured in the game with Central of Oklahoma City last week, are still unable to play on Friday night.

The two teams will take the field about even in weight. Both jumped into huge opponents last week when the Harvesters lost 26 to 0 to the Central Cardinals of Oklahoma City and the Bobcats dropped a 19 to 0 tussle to the Polly of Fort Worth.

The battle still rages for starting call in two positions in the Harvesters line. Lewis Jones, 193, and Johnson, 155, tackles, still don't know which will be in the thick of the fray Friday night. Both will be used, no doubt, but which will start is uncertain. Morgan and Stiles, guards, are also in the big middle of a battle. Morgan, because of his experience and about 10 pounds weight advantage, still has the inside track. Stiles has shown a world of improvement the past few weeks and may beat out the former halfback, who, if he loses the guard job, will be shifted to the backfield.

Another midget tackle who threw his helmet in the ring last week is Nelson. The midget gave away 65 pounds to the scowling giant across the line from him and still gave a good account of himself. Mathews, guard, also looked good last week, although his over-anxiousness cost him at least a dozen tackles when he charged in front of the ball carrier behind the line of scrimmage.

Albert Ayer was on the sidelines with Jones and Maxey at yesterday's practice. His elbow is still painful with an infected boil.

The Childress lineup with weights and previous experience of players was to arrive here today. The Bobcats were sluggish in their first appearance of the season last week but Coach Joe Gibson was not a bit disappointed. His charges have great possibilities and he expected to see them produce against the Harvesters who won a 19 to 0 decision last year in Childress.

NEW RULES FOR BOXING CHAMPIONS SUGGESTED

HOUSTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—A rule to prohibit champions from fighting non-title bouts appeared today headed for a thorough discussion at the next annual meeting of the National Boxing Association.

John J. Ashburn, president, retiring president, suggested such a rule at closing convention sessions yesterday.

The association continued the requirement that a fighter must defend his title at least once each six months and voted to suspend for one year a boxer under N. B. A. suspension who appears in a state not affiliated with the association.

Joseph Malone of New Jersey was elected president.

The association recognized champions and two lesser contenders in each class as follows:

- Heavyweight—James J. Braddock, Max Schmeling, Joe Louis.
- Light heavyweight—John Henry Lewis, Al McCoy, Jack McAvo.
- Middleweight—Fred Steele, Ken Overlin, Marco Antonio Barrera.
- Welterweights—Bernie Ross, Jack Carroll, Jack Portney.
- Lightweight—Lou Ambers, Tony Canzoneri, Pedro Gomez.
- Featherweight—Petey Sarron, Freddie Miller, Henry Armstrong.
- Bantamweight—Sixto Escobar, Tony Morino, Baltazar Sangeblie.
- Flyweight—Small Montana, Benny Lutch, Jimmy Warnock.

Dick Todd May Be Moses To Lead Aggies On To Victory

Crowell Youth Puts Farmers in the Spotlight

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT

COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 23 (AP)—Have they another Joel Hunt at Texas A. and M.—a "modern Moses" to lead the fightin' Aggies back from a decade in football's wilderness?

Only Dick Todd, a wiry, 170-pound sophomore halfback who spread touchdowns and terror with his nimble feet in high school days, can give the answer.

Not since D. X. Bible and his Joel Hunt team of 1927 have the Aggies had a shining star to lead them. An inferiority complex has gripped semi-lethargic Aggie teams for nine, lean seasons.

Todd and the Aggies are definitely "on the spot." The modest, blond youngster, a triple-threat who amassed something like 700 points during a three-year grid career at Crowell high school, got there through proven ability and heavy publicity. The Aggies got there because of Todd.

"You can't expect a club to jump from the bottom to the top overnight but the fans do," the comment of Head Coach Homer Norton. "I have a better club than I had last year, it's true, and we'll be hard to beat—but they've put us on the spot."

"Todd is the greatest freshman I've ever had on my squad and we're counting heavily on him. He should be the spark needed to fire a club."

Sophomore Todd will be only one of a fleet array of backs. His running mate at the right half position will be Jim Shockey, a 175-pound southpaw passer and kicker who blossomed out in the latter stages of the 1935 season. He's a junior.

Dick Vitk, 160-pound junior, a jackrabbit on broken field dashes and a brainy quarterback, will direct the club, Coach Norton said.

Completing the backfield are two veteran linemen who are hard at it for the fullback post. Les Cummings, 180-pound senior, and Bruno Schroeder, 200-pound junior, are toss-ups at the position. Both are hard blockers and good for short gains at the line.

Out of this bunch only Cummings will be lost by graduation. Another great set of backs includes Owen Rogers, soph sensation from Temple high school; Doc Pitner, veteran senior punter and runner; Waylon Manning, junior speedster; Bob Nesrta, junior, one of the shiftest runners on the squad; and Bill Boyd, a 156-pound sophomore broken-field specialist.

Johnny Morrow, senior end and outstanding last season, may be a surprise in the Aggie backfield, the great wingman has been throwing great passes and may be shifted on the offense. Rankin Brit, 215-pound sophomore, will handle one of the ends with Bill Stages, husky senior, and Bill Seago, sophomore, pushing for berths.

Johnny Whitfield, 219-pound senior, and Roy Young, 202-pound junior, are slated for the tackles. Martin (Bomber) Lindsey, junior whose work disappointed last season, will be forced out for the year with injuries. Selmer Kirby, 204-pound senior, may grab a regular tackle job.

Norton likes his two regular guards, Joe Routt, 185-pound junior, and Walter Pythian, 186-pound third-year student. Behind them are Virgil Jones, 179-pound junior letterman, and Bill Minnock, classy, 210-pound soph.

A senior and a sophomore will have it out for the pivot post. Charles Deware, 180-pound veteran scrapper, has Zed Coston, the 210-pound sophomore of Dallas, to beat out.

ROAD RUNNERS CRUSH HAWAII NINE 14 TO 2

PITCHER AND CATCHER HAVE CONTINUOUS ARGUMENT

Pampa's 1936 baseball season ended last night with the Pampa-Daneger Road Runners swamping the Hawaiian All Stars, 14 to 2, and avenging several defeats by the Huber Blackfaces who dropped a 12 to 9 game to the Hawaiians on Monday night.

Childers, a newcomer, started the game for the Road Runners but his first six pitches were balls and he was relieved by Lee Daney. The stockily built hurler demonstrated a fast ball and a nice curve but he didn't know how to take his stand on the mound and his chunks were wild. Daney was nicked for 10 hits but three fast double plays, all of them Summers to McLarry to Cox, nipped rally after rally.

Hank Graham, a husky American born Hawaiian, threw for the visitors. "Three" is the correct word. He just stood on the mound and chucked the ball with a devastating cross-fire delivery. He got into an argument with his catcher early in the game and the receiver refused to give him signals, claiming Graham crossed him up whenever he did. The big fellow got into many holes. Some he pitched himself out of. Others his fielding saved him. The rest of the time the birds banged the ball all over the lot.

The first All Star came in the seventh on singles by Whaley and Calla and an error on a throw home. The finale was in the eighth when Moniz took one of Daney's slow balls on the nose and propelled it over the left field fence.

Graham looked like a real hurler when he made the first two batters hit slow grounders in front of the box. The next two singled but died on base. Graham retired the side on strikeouts in the second, which made the birds see red.

The third opened with Daney leading off with an out. The side batted around with Daney and McNabb up twice to make the last two outs. The only extra base blow of the inning was a double by Cox. The birds added a pair in the seventh and finished up with a firestorm barrage in the eighth, which saw Seitz and McLarry collecting doubles.

Hale, with three singles, led the Road Runner attack. Seitz, McLarry, Summers and Cox each collected a single and double. McLarry bagged seven assists and putouts with one bobble. McNabb pitched a couple of the season's most sensational plays on consecutive hits in the fourth. Moniz opened the inning with a hit between center and right field. After a long run, McNabb made the out. Graham, next hitter, connected for a towering drive in the same spot, only deeper. McNabb, despite the slippery field, raced to his deep right and shagged the ball one-handed while on a dead run.

In Enomoto, second base, Keyser, center field, and Moniz, first baseman, the Hawaiians have some stellar players.

LOUIS PROVES RING MASTER IN KAYO BOUT

AL ETTORE IS COUNTED OUT IN FIFTH ROUND

BY PAUL MICKELSON, Associated Press Sports Writer.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23 (AP)—Steering his way with a sure left arm, Joe Louis has passed the second human milestone on the road back. The Brown Bomber whose fortunes were crushed by Max Schmeling three months ago as a stunned fight world gasped, simply breezed by his second objective at the Philadelphia municipal stadium last night by knocking out Al Ettore, home town pride, in the fifth round before a throng of 40,407 customers. The fans paid $210,117.25 to see the show.

Louis was expected to beat Ettore as he did the leg-savvy Jack Sharkey a month ago at Philadelphia. It proved that the Detroit negro was a "great" fighter, but the way he went about his job, his coolness under fire, and the devastating, precise lefts he threw, did convince the majority of unbelievers that "Big Joe" was getting ring smart.

As the barrel-chested Philadelphia youth rushed at him, aiming a few of Schmeling's copyrighted rights at Louis' jaw, the negro stepped back, took his time like a great ring master and then, seeing his chance, dug in. Ettore, a rugged fellow who never was noted as a ring killer, was game throughout and fought his best but it just wasn't good enough. He was felled for a count of three in the first round and for a toll of nine in the fourth. Except for puzzling Louis with his characteristic rushes and a fine showing in the third, when he made the negro miss, the bushy-haired Italian was outclassed.

ROYALL AND NEECE MAY BE OUT OF TIGER TILT SATURDAY

(By The Associated Press)

The prospect that the outstanding right halfbacks at Rice, Johnny Neece and Roy Royall, would not be able to play against Louisiana State Saturday worried Coach Jimmy Kitts today.

Kitts said Royall definitely was out with a sprained ankle and that a leg injury Neece suffered in scrimmage last week had failed to respond to treatment.

Coach Matty Bell became pessimistic at the Southern Methodist Mustangs drilled for their game with North Texas Teachers college Eagles Saturday. "He said he would be pleased to win by a single touchdown."

Stiff scrimmage sessions continued the order of the day at Fayetteville where the Arkansas Razorbacks concentrated on blocking and running plays.

The Texas Aggies began a slow tapering off process for their opener with Sam Houston State Teachers college Saturday. Bill Stages' consistent 50-yard punts brought smiles to the face of Coach Homer Norton.

Line prospects at the University of Texas suffered a blow when Coach Jack Chevigny announced Louis Olivier, veteran guard, would be out all season because of a sprained elbow.

At Fort Worth the Texas Christian Frogs worked on a defense for the Texas Tech Matadors' Notre Dame system of play. The Frogs

Giants Lose Doubleheader As Cardinals And Cubs Win

Gas House Gang Still Has Chance to Win Flag

BY ORLO ROBERTSON, Associated Press Sports Writer.

It may be all over but the shouting as far as the Giants' fans are concerned but they'd breathe a lot easier if their boys would do something mighty soon about getting rid of those pesky Cardinals, who are hanging like leeches to their fading National league pennant hopes.

The Giants still hold a 4½-game lead over the Gas House Gang. They need only two victories or one triumph and a Cardinal defeat to clinch the pennant but things don't look so rosy following yesterday's happenings at Philadelphia and St. Louis.

Just when the Giants were all set to win the pennant by taking the Phillies twice, Jimmy Wilson's men rose in all their might, belted their last place rating, and smote the league leaders in both games of a doubleheader, 11-7 and 6-2. At the same time the Cards trimmed the Reds 6-3 while even the Cubs retained their mathematical chance to tie the pennant by hitting the third-place hopes of the Pirates with a 11-4 victory.

The Detroit Tigers turned in a pair of shutout victories over the Browns, 12-0 and 14-0, to run their string of consecutive victories to nine and strengthen their hold on second place in the American league.

The other two contestants for runner-up honors—the White Sox and Indians—battled 12 innings to with single, double and triple; Ryba held Reds to two hits in 7 2-3 innings of relief pitching.

Joe Bowman and Bucky Walters, Phillies: Former checked Giants in first game as relief hurler; latter kept league leaders' 11 hits scattered in nightcap.

In the other National league encounters, the Boston Bees took two close ones from the Dodgers, 4-3 and 3-2.

70,000 MARCH AT CONVENTION IN CLEVELAND

HINES AND GREEN TO ADDRESS LEGION COHORTS

CLEVELAND, Sept. 23. (AP)—The parading playboys of the American Legion eased their weary bodies in to the welcoming seats of Public Auditorium at 8 a. m. CST today for the serious business of their eighteenth annual national convention.

Addresses by General Frank T. Hines, U. S. veterans' administrator, and William Green, American Federation of Labor president, were among several awaiting the tired legionnaires, who marched more than 11 hours yesterday in a colorful spectacle which National Commander Ray Murphy described as "the greatest parade in the history of the Legion."

Legion officials said 70,000 were in the line of march and that the number was far greater than ever before.

Some dozen committee reports on national defense, foreign relations, Americanism and associated themes were on the docket for today. High officials said no controversial issues were expected.

Another item of business was selection of a 1937 convention city. Meanwhile, thousands of the veterans' best musicians went through the band and drum and bugle corps contests for the titles held respectively by the Franklin Post No. 1 of Columbus, O., and the San Gabriel, Calif., post. Organizations which qualified to oppose Columbus today, included Farris Anderson post No. 75, Mineral Wells, Tex.

The convention concludes tomorrow with selection of national officers and other wind up business.

Statistics compiled by H. D. Booth, state highway department traffic supervisor, show state drivers in Arkansas were involved in more than eight times as many traffic fatalities as women during the first six months of 1936.

GASOLINE PRICE STRUCTURE IN MID-CONTINENT AREA IMPROVES

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

By ROBBIN COONS. HOLLYWOOD—Edward Sedgwick, looking warm and worn, and even a little big groggy, leaned on his cane in the sunshine, wiped his perspiring brow, and blamed his condition on music. "Listening to songs," he said. "All morning long. Fifty songs maybe a hundred—and I don't think there's one in the lot we can use."

Sedgwick, soon to begin his 103rd film, this time as director and producer, had been giving an audition to hosts of Hollywood's aspiring Tin Pan Alley writers. The pictures, in "untitled musical" with Jack Haley, so it must have songs. "There were snatches of songs, today now that the public might take up," he said. "I could whistle or hum a bar or two myself, even now that I know it's a picture. I don't care. We've got to pick songs the public like, and we can't make mistakes."

He pushed back his cap and smiled reminiscently. There was a song they all thought would be sure-fire (this in a long past picture) and they were all mistaken, especially the song writers, whose names were and are Gordon and Revel, who had just written that best-seller about a "dream walking."

Saga of 'Caught Short.' "When old Joe Public won't lay his quarter on the line for a song," said Ed, "it's no good for me or for us. And that goes for pictures, too. I hold for the old carnival school of showmanship that leaves it up to Joe: if Joe likes it, he'll buy it. He may not know why he likes it and he doesn't care if it's art or hokum, but he knows it's on his mind. Yeah, especially about pictures."

Which reminded him, naturally, of "Caught Short," a stand-out on studio wrong-guessing. "Caught Short," you remember, was that comedy of the depression teaming the late Marjorie and Polly Moran. It was made with high hopes and completed in virtual despair. For some time it lay on the shelf while producers debated the advisability of releasing it at all.

And just about then an exhibitor in the middle west began kicking about a picture he was playing. "Ed related, and wanted a quick substitute to finish out his week. That seemed to be a good way to get something out of 'Caught Short,'" so they sent it on. Eight weeks later "Caught Short" was still running at that theater in the middle west. It was made with high hopes and completed in virtual despair. For some time it lay on the shelf while producers debated the advisability of releasing it at all.

3 JAP MARINES SHOT, ONE FATALLY WOUNDED

An alleged Chinese gunman was seized and taken to a branch of Japanese naval headquarters for questioning. Another suspect escaped in a maze of dark alleys. An unconfirmed report said a fourth Japanese marine was shot near the scene of the first shooting.

The flagship of the Japanese third fleet, the cruiser Idzumo, now tied up in the heart of the Shanghai waterfront in the Whangpoo river, was understood to be preparing to land additional marines to reinforce the permanent landing party stationed in Shanghai.

This group numbers almost 2,000 men. Japanese marines were called out immediately after the shootings to occupy the Hongkew area where the marines were shot. They prevented anyone from entering or leaving the section.

PACKY M'FARLAND OF BOXING FAME IS DEAD

JOLIET, Ill., Sept. 23 (AP)—Patrick (Packy) McFarland, member of the Illinois State Athletic commission and ranked as one of the greatest lightweight boxers of all time, died at his home today.

"Packy" McFarland, who was 48 years of age, will be remembered by boxing fans of an older generation as one of the greatest boxers in the ring's history. He was never beaten and only twice in his brilliant career was he knocked down—by Ray Bronson at New Orleans and by Cyclone Johnny Thompson at Kansas City—fights which McFarland always said were his hardest battles.

He never won the lightweight championship, even though he was recognized generally as the uncrowned king of the class.

A friendship brought McFarland sudden wealth in 1908. While training in San Francisco for his fight with Jimmy Britt, whom he knocked out in six rounds, a wealthy oil magnate took a liking to the Chicago youngster. The oil man urged McFarland to invest in prospective oil fields. McFarland turned over his entire purse of $4,000 from the Britt fight and when oil came through, Packey received $300,000.

NEED APPLICATIONS FOR FEED, SEED AND FUEL

Friday will be the last day for Gray county farmers to make application for feed, seed and fuel loans, according to Mrs. M. H. Weston of the crop loan bureau who has an office in the basement of the post-office with the county agent.

Loans can be made for seed to be planted this fall with the harvest next year, for fuel, for planting, or for feed for those using animals in their planting operations.

All loan papers must be in the district office in Dallas by Sept. 30.

SUIT TO COLLECT FIRE INSURANCE IS FILED

A civil action to collect $700, allegedly due on a fire insurance policy, was filed in Gray county court today by Mrs. Evelyn Spivey against the Saint Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Co. of Dallas.

The plaintiff sets forth in her petition that she took out a policy on May 26, 1936, to cover household goods and that on June 11 her home in the Wilcox addition here was destroyed by fire.

She further alleges that payment has not been made on the policy and asks judgment in the sum of $700.

RANCH OWNER KILLED

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 23. (AP)—J. B. Luton, formerly owner of a 5,000-acre ranch near Campwood, was killed accidentally this morning as he and his wife went out to shoot a polecat. Mrs. Luton heard a shot as she trailed her husband and saw him slip to the ground, dead. The body was being taken to Uvalde. Results of an inquest are not known here.

WASHINGTON TO PLAY MINNESOTA SATURDAY

SEATTLE, Sept. 23. (AP)—In the notebooks of the experts the University of Washington football team is listed as a contender for the Pacific coast championship, but come Saturday, and Coach Jimmy Phelan will get the cold, hard facts on the gridiron.

Picking on probably the toughest foe in the country—the three-year undefeated Minnesota Gophers—the highly touted Washington veterans will receive a rigid test.

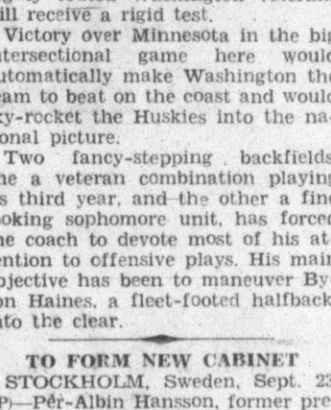

Victory over Minnesota in the big intercollegiate game here would automatically make Washington the team to beat on the coast and would skyrocket the Huskies into the national picture.

Two fancy-stepping backfields, one a veteran combination playing its third year, and the other a fine looking sophomore unit, has forced the coach to devote most of his attention to offensive plays. His main objective has been to maneuver Byron Haines, a fleet-footed halfback, into the clear.
