YOU CAN THROW CARDS IN HIS FACE ONCE TOO OFTEN

WHEN you have those awful cramps; when your nerves are all on edge—don't take it out on the man you love.

Your husband can't possibly know how you feel for the simple reason that he is a man. A three-quarter wife may be no wife at all if she nags her husband seven days out of every month.

For three generations one woman has told another how to "smile through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three or four of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through." Adv.

YEAR ENDS IN M. E. CHURCHES HERE SUNDAY

Ministers Fill Own Pulpits Over The City

Final services of a church year were conducted in First Methodist and McCullough-Harrah Methodist churches yesterday, and the pastors are leaving the first of this week for the annual conference at Houston.

The Revs. W. C. House and H. H. Bratcher will both be accompanied by their wives.

Ministers of Pampa churches occupied their own pulpits yesterday, after a season of revivals and guest speakers. M. C. Cuthbertson of Francis Avenue Church of Christ preached there after an absence of two weeks while he conducted a revival in Arkansas.

Sunday school attendance reports showed 577 present at First Baptist church, 205 at Full Gospel Temple, 178 at Francis Avenue church, 432 at First Methodist, 383 at First Christian. First Baptist training classes had 175 present, and there were two additions to membership of the church.

At First Christian church, a popular trend was attacked in the evening sermon by John S. Mullen, minister. His subject was The Eloquent Apollos.

"According to present standards, we have no right to change a man's beliefs. By these standards Apollos, who found a preacher misinterpreting the teachings of Christ and 'taught him the word of the Lord more perfectly' made a tragic mistake.

"People say they believe in tolerance, but there is nothing in tolerance that compels one to remain silent when he finds someone who has been wrongly instructed and is pursuing a mistaken course. Jesus did not hesitate to attempt to change the beliefs of men in his time, and instruct his apostles to teach the whole world what he had commanded."

Holiday Fun Is Planned At BGK Business Session

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By NEA Service. One of the best cranberry seasons in years is upon us. With meats, in pudding and pies, and the juice for cocktails that start dinner off with a tang, cranberries bring in bright color and many vitamins for the family meals.

Spiced, they do wonders to a roast. Try this method: clean and pick over 1 quart cranberries. Pour over them 3/4 cup vinegar and 1/4 cup water. Add 1 1/2 cups brown sugar, 1 stick cinnamon and 3 whole cloves. Boil 20 minutes, mashing as they boil. Pound through a sieve and pour thoroughly chilled.

Cranberry Tarts. In tarts, these little globes of rich color delight most hungry males. Line tart or party pans with pastry. Into each, place a thick layer of carefully cleaned and picked over cranberries. Sweeten with light brown sugar. Next cover with a layer of seeded raisins, sprinkled sparingly with a little grated grapefruit rind. Over this sprinkle grapefruit chopped nut meats. Then cover with pastry, prick, and bake in moderate oven about 30 minutes. Hot.

Tomorrow's Menu. BREAKFAST: Prunes and grapefruit juice, creamed dried beef, buttered whole-wheat toast, coffee. LUNCHEON: Tomato soup, hot bacon rolls, apple sauce, tea. DINNER: Shrimp cocktail, lamb stew with vegetables and dumplings, boiled potatoes, hot rolls, hearts of lettuce salad, cranberry tarts.

BIGGEST TEXAS CONTRIBUTIONS ARE ON FILE

DALLAS AND BEAUMONT MEN GIVE $5,000 EACH TO DEMOS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Congressional records showed today that candidates for Texas' House seats spent little the last few months. Incumbents reported almost no outlays to the clerk of the House.

The records also showed dozens of Texas democrats contributed at least $500 to their party's campaign, while only about a dozen republicans made such donations.

The largest listed expenditure of either party in a congressional race was in the San Antonio district. There, Ernest W. Clemens listed contributions of $3,310, of which the national republican committee and state committee contributed $1,000 each. Clemens' report listed expenditures of $2,719.42. A $750 payment was listed as having been made to Monte Barrett, his campaign manager.

These democratic House members reported no contributions or expenditures that have to be reported to Washington: Martin Dies, Wright Patman, Morgan Sanders, Hutton Summers, Luther Johnson, Nat Patton, James P. Buchanan, Fritz Lamm, W. D. McFarlane, Milton West, R. E. Thompson, Marvin Jones, George Mahon and Maury Maverick. No reports had been filed five days before the Nov. 3 election by Representatives Richard M. Kleberg, Charles South and Sam Rayburn.

Representative J. J. Mansfield reported no contributions but expenditures of $54.40. Al Thomas of Houston, Clyde Garrett of Eastland and Robert Poage of Waco, all democratic nominees for vacated posts, also reported neither donations nor expenditures.

Ross E. Johnson of Commerce told the government he spent $3.10 during his campaign in the fourth congressional district. C. David Thomson of Waxahachie, a republican, reported contributions of $8 and expenditures of $301.81.

R. B. Nichols said he received $485 in contributions and spent $254.75 in his campaign for the republican nomination in the second congressional district. F. W. Dusek of Flatonia spent $1.78 in the ninth district on the republican ticket.

Arnold Davis, a Fort Worth republican, listed receipts of $423 and expenditures of $529. H. L. Ratliff of Wichita Falls, another republican, said he received $15 and spent $25. E. E. Fish of Amarillo received $18.

The following contributions of $500 or more were contained in the Democratic lists: James R. Curtis, Longview, $500; Sam Rayburn, Bonham, $1,000; F. W. Burford, Dallas, $5,000; Senator Morris Sheppard, $500; Beeman Strong, Beaumont, $500; W. E. Orgran, Beaumont, $500; J. H. Phenlan, Beaumont, $1,000; A. Parr, Benavides, $500; Aron G. Carter, Fort Worth, $2,500; Ben Powell, Austin, $500.

Representative Wright Patman, Texasana, $500; John Shary, Mission, $500; Karl Hobitzelle, Dallas, $7,500; W. T. Finley, Liberty, $500.

Republican contributions of $500 or more included: H. L. Hunt, Tyler, $2,500; I. H. Hunt, Tyler, $1,500; J. M. O'Brien, Refugio, $1,000; Marrs McLean, Beaumont, $5,000.

HOUDINI WIDOW GIVES UP HOPE OF TALKING

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Nov. 2 (AP)—For ten years the widow of Harry Houdini tried to pierce the veil that separates the dead magician from the realm of the living.

Today Mrs. Beatrice Houdini has admitted failure.

Ten years, almost to the hour, since the stage necromancer passed away Oct. 31, 1926, Mrs. Houdini conducted what she said was the final test of her husband's ability to communicate with her from beyond the grave.

As the seance, attended Saturday night by 200 persons on a Hollywood hotel roof, reached an end, the white-haired widow switched off a tiny ruby electric globe. It had burned above his picture for ten years.

"He has not come; I turn out the light," she cried.

NEIGHBORHOOD VOTES SOUGHT BY ROOSEVELT

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 2 (AP)—President Roosevelt called for his campaign hat today for the last time before an estimated 40,000,000 or more American citizens check their choice tomorrow in the quadrennial national elections.

He had mapped a 60-mile motor trip up and down both sides of the Hudson river in a final bid for neighborhood votes which he hoped would help to keep New York state in the New Deal column.

Tonight he will close nearly six weeks of almost continuous campaigning with two speeches, one at 9 p. m. to an outdoor crowd in front of the Nelson house in nearby Poughkeepsie, and the other at 11:45 p. m. to the nation via a microphone from his study in the home of his birth here.

He and other members of the family will cast their ballots tomorrow morning in the little town hall in Hyde Park village.

DUCE' CHILLS FRENCH

PARIS, Nov. 2 (AP)—Assaults by French communists on Italian fascists at Chambery, coupled with Premier Benito Mussolini's "freezing friendship" reference to France in a speech at Milan, subjected Italo-French relations to a severe chill today.

An Italian official indicated the Italian embassy would protest to the French foreign office as a result of the rioting at Chambery, where five fascists, including the Italian consul, were beaten in an attack by French communists.

Members of the Rebekah Lodge will go to Canadian Wednesday evening to initiate seven persons to membership there. The degree team captained by Fred Paronto will make the trip, and other Rebekahs here.

TEXAS SEEKS RECORD VOTE ON TOMORROW

SIX AMENDMENTS TO BE VOTED ON IN TEXAS

AUSTIN, Nov. 2 (AP)—Texas Democrats admittedly the winner in Tuesday's general election, but today to bring out a record vote to safeguard their representation in national conventions.

Governor Alfred and Roy Miller, state chairman of the national campaign, urged county chairmen "to get out the vote" Tuesday in hopes of casting nearly a million Democratic ballots.

Alfred forecast a million votes if Democrats "do their duty." Miller, who also foresaw a possible million votes, announced more than $200,000 of Texas' $250,000 national campaign fund quota was subscribed and urged leaders to conduct a final drive today to achieve the quota.

General election apathy apparently was widespread except in a few instances where local issues resulted in heavy absentee balloting. Absentee voting generally gave little indication of how many votes Texans would cast.

In 1932 Texas cast 849,986 votes for major party candidates, 753,394 for Roosevelt and 96,592 for Hoover. In last July's Democratic primary 1,071,372 voters, an all time record, were cast.

Republicans were hopeful of winning at least one congressional race, that of Ernest W. Clements, who opposed Rep. Maury Maverick of the San Antonio district. Clements had the added support of the Jeffersonian Democrats, bitter New Deal opponents.

R. E. Cragger, Republican national committeeman, said Texas after this year would be definitely a two-party state, although he had small hopes of a Landon victory in Texas which has gone Republican only once since the Civil War. Herbert Hoover was given a majority over Alfred E. Smith in 1928.

D. O. Harris of San Angelo, Republican; Carl Brannin of Dallas, Socialist; and Homer Brooks, Communist, oppose Alfred, Democratic incumbent. The Unionists and Prohibitionists failed to name a gubernatorial candidate.

Six proposed amendments to the state constitution will be up for the electorate's consideration. Little interest was shown in a proposal to create a state liquor monopoly. Texas repealed statewide prohibition last year.

Alfred actively urged adoption of a proposal to limit the governor's clemency powers through a board of pardons and paroles. Six former governors also endorsed this proposal.

Other proposed amendments would create a retirement fund for public school teachers, authorize workmen's compensation for state employes, raise the salaries of the governor and certain other state officials, and limit the legislative representation of any county to seven unless the county had 800,000 residents or more.

SUICIDE VERDICT AT BORGER IS RETURNED

BORGER, Nov. 2—A verdict of suicide was returned in the death of Marvin E. Bolen, 32, whose body was discovered in a gas filled room of his apartment here yesterday. Identity and age of the man were determined by a driver's license found in his clothing.

Children playing about the house, smelled escaping gas and informed Don Cannon, who entered the room. Bolen had been dead about 24 hours, it was found. The inquest was concluded this morning. The body is being held here pending word from relatives.

Bolen, employed as a janitor in the gasoline department of Phillips Petroleum Co., is survived by the widow, who is now at Daingerfield; his father, near Coolidge; several brothers and sisters.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Storey yesterday evening, a daughter, weighing 8 pounds 8 ounces.

Mrs. Henry Link of Stinnett is recovering from a major operation in a Borger hospital.

Miss Thelma Mayes has returned from a visit at her home in Spearman.

CITY TO MEET
City commissioners tonight will not have any weighty problems come before them unless something unforeseen crops up. City Manager C. L. Stine said this morning. They will discuss plans for laying a water line to Fairground park east of the city and also will continue the study of items of office equipment needed. Mayor W. A. Bratton will preside.

Manchukuo Ruler Seeks New Mate

Because his first wife, Empress Peng Chi (above), has failed to provide him with an heir to the throne, Emperor Kang Teh (below) of Manchukuo will select another mate from among 100 sturdy and comely girls, aged 15 to 20 years, assembled for him. Kang Teh, formerly Henry Pu Yi, boy emperor of China, and his empress have been married since 1922.

FUGITIVE FROM PENITENTIARY IS DISCOVERED

AFTER 17 YEARS MAN FINALLY NABBED BY LAW

CHICAGO, Nov. 2 (AP)—Howard Fulger's loyal wife drafted a plea to the governor of Michigan today in hopes of circumventing the fate which, after 17 years, brought Fulger's arrest as an escaped convict. Detectives found him Saturday, working as an engineer in a Gold Coast apartment building where he had been employed nine years as "Howard H. Law."

They said authorities at the Jackson, Mich., prison knew him as No. 11-109, one of a dozen convicts who fled in 1919 after tunneling their way to freedom.

Two months later, Fulger related yesterday, he married Mrs. Elizabeth Hare, a widow who, at 69, is 13 years his senior.

"For myself I care little," he said. "But it is tragedy for my wife. I never had told her the story. I hoped it would never be necessary." "I won't let you go back," she declared. "We'll get lawyers."

But Fulger dissented. "We have so little money," he said, "you'll need it all."

"First of all," Mrs. Fulger insisted, "we must write to the Governor of Michigan and beg him for mercy." Fulger related that in 1917 he was sentenced to serve ten to 20 years in prison, charged with an offense against his step-daughter. He insisted he was convicted because of "deluded" testimony by his first wife, who, he said, had been sent to insane asylums twice before and once after their marriage.

Tenants of the building where Fulger worked rallied to his aid. "Prisons are supposed to be for reforming criminals," said one, George Wilson, a broker. "If this man ever was a criminal, he has certainly reformed himself. It would be unjust to take him back."

Fulger declined to waive extradition.

DETROIT, Nov. 2 (AP)—Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald intimated today that the good record made by Howard Fulger since he escaped from a Michigan prison 17 years ago might win leniency for him. The governor explained, however, he had no direct information of the case and declined to state his attitude positively until he could confer with Joseph C. Armstrong, state commissioner of pardons and paroles.

ELSIE PARRISH CASE BEFORE HIGHEST COURT

MINIMUM WAGE TEST DECISION WILL BE MADE

WASHINGTON (AP)—At this distance it appears that Elsie Parrish, Wenatchee, Wash., chambermaid, may surrender $17 to the cause of labor.

She brought suit to test whether Washington State's 23-year-old minimum wage law meant something, or did not. For nearly two years prior to August, 1935, she worked for the Cascadia Hotel in Wenatchee, at wages the records here indicate was about $12.50 a week. When she quit she was proffered $17 due her at the $15.50 rate. She refused it, demanding instead $216.

The claim for the larger sum was based on the state law under which a commission had determined that $14.50 a week for women was the minimum "adequate for their maintenance." Pay below that, the law contended, was "detrimental to their health or morals," and it was against the public welfare to let them work for less.

Now it costs more than $17 and more than $216 to bring a law fight such as that to the United States Supreme Court so it seems likely Elsie Parrish has kissed goodbye to any interest she had in the money. To her will go fame as the name-bearer in the "Parrish case."

So the case lies before the supreme court, and ultimately will be argued decided. Whichever way the decision goes, the "Parrish case" promises to make history.

Here are factors to consider: The supreme court upset the New York minimum wage law for women before the Washington supreme court upheld that state's law in the Parrish case. The U. S. Supreme Court held that the New York law interfered with the right of a woman to contract to work at less than the minimum.

Yet the U. S. Supreme Court agreed to review the Parrish case, which also fixed minimum wages for women.

That may mean the court sees something in it different from the New York case, and may see reason to uphold it. That may also mean that the majority sees nothing different in the Washington law and so, perhaps, could not reasonably let it stand when challenged. A decision by Christmas is possible.

Great Deal Involved
If the Washington law is upheld, then other states will have a pattern. If the law is held unconstitutional, then pressure will increase for a constitutional amendment to let either the states or the federal government legislate in that field "for the public welfare."

Both parties are pledged to that course if necessary. Inside their own counsels, however, many of both parties dislike opening the constitutional question of "the public welfare." It is a vast issue. It might involve the whole philosophy of the New Deal and plunge congress into a spring and summer of furious debates. Party lines already have split on the question.

Outlining his view of the case, the Washington State supreme court ruled: "The mere fact that the parties (employer and employe) are of full age does not necessarily deprive the state of the power to interfere where the parties do not stand upon an equality, or where the public health demands that one party to a contract shall be protected against himself."

Such is the affair of Elsie Parrish of Wenatchee.

COULD NOT EAT WITHOUT PAIN

"Relieved of Suffering for Last Seven Years," Says Wife of Prominent Wichita Decorator

So many people are complaining of feeling "worn out" and "run down." They can't eat naturally — and food ferments in their stomach and doesn't pass naturally through the body. Such sufferers will be greatly interested in the remarkable testimony of Mrs. Roy E. Mefford, who says:

"For the past seven years I have been terribly bothered with headaches; could not eat many foods without pain and heartburn. I frequently had sleep spells after eating and was short of breath, and I could not even drink a glass of water in the morning without it nauseating me. I heard of WILLIAMS' S. L. K. FORMULA at our druggist's here and decided to take a bottle. Now I sleep well and really enjoy eating anything just the same as if I had never been bothered with any of these awful blotting to me, and my headaches have disappeared. MRS. ROY E. MEFFORD, Wichita Falls, Texas.

Unusual Trial Plan
If you are suffering, try this remarkable prescription of an ex-army doctor. It is now available in this city at the Cretney Drug Store. Come in today and get a bottle of WILLIAMS' S. L. K. FORMULA, and if results are not everything you expect your money will be refunded without question. The trial won't cost you one cent! Adv.

What Every Voter Should Know!

AN ISSUE OF VITAL IMPORTANCE TO THE PANHANDLE AND TEXAS VOTE AGAINST STATE MONOPOLY OF LIQUOR

If you are opposed to the State going into the liquor business and operating all liquor stores, mark your ballot in the following manner on Nov. 3:

FOR

The amendment to the State Constitution providing for the establishment of a State Dispensary System having the exclusive sale of distilled liquors, and providing for Local Option.

AGAINST

The amendment to the State Constitution providing for the establishment of a State Dispensary System having the exclusive sale of distilled liquore, and providing for Local Option.

Liquor taxes and license fees have supplied all the money for old-age assistance payments up to now. If the present license system of handling the liquor traffic is continued, they will continue to be the largest single contribution to that fund. Vote to continue licensing and against putting the State of Texas into the liquor business.

"Wet or Dry" Beliefs Have No Place in This Controversy Let's Keep Politics From Taking Over Industry

YOUR DEALER IS A LOCAL MERCHANT AND RESIDENT

In the State of Texas are thousands of men and women who are dependent on the liquor industry for a living. These men and women are your neighbors, good citizens, pay taxes, donate to charities, living expenses, and spend money that they earn in the community in which they live. They deserve your support and deserve a right to make a decent, honest living as they are doing under the present handling. Go to the polls and vote for a better Texas by voting against state liquor monopoly.

KEEP EMPLOYMENT UP AND BOOTLEGGING DOWN

WHAT STATE MONOPOLY WOULD MEAN

Under the suggested monopoly the state would be out in the liquor business. In Gray county at the present time are about 25 legitimate distributors of liquors. Under state monopoly these would all be put out of business along with the people that they employ. The state would install one, or possibly two stores in the county. It is a proven fact that in states that now have liquor monopoly, about sixty per cent of the liquor sold there comes from other states, is untaxed by the state in which it is sold, or in other words "bootleg."

WE DO NOT WISH THIS CONDITION TO EXIST AGAIN IN TEXAS.

Pertinent Facts On Money Paid To The State By Your Texas Package Dealers

Total collections from liquor, beer and wine since the Control Act become effective last November are $5,408,542.05, a little over eleven months being covered. Some interesting items in the compilation are:

Liquor permits	$738,017.62
Beer and wine permits	138,025.50
Beer Permits	158,474.25
Taxes collected by Liquor Control Board	587,442.27
Taxes by State Treasurer
Liquor	$2,275,909.75
Wine	62,738.03
Beer	1,349,806.97
Grand Total	$5,408,542.05

Operation of the board and administration totaled 7.97 per cent of the receipts, and the expense tendency is steadily downward while receipts are climbing.

ELECTION DAY

Voters of the nation go to the polling places on the morrow to take a hand in the serious business of picking a helmsman to guide the ship of state for the next four years.

And it is a serious business. The President of the United States will be elected tomorrow by the millions of voters who stay at home—those persons who do not take the time to vote!

And that is a serious statement. It is reverse English, but true, nevertheless. Some kind of an editorial about election is written by practically every newspaper editor in the United States on the day before election.

In these editorials they stress the importance of going to the polls and voting. Not always do they attempt to tell the voters how to mark their ballots, but they do insist that it is a duty to go and vote—one way or another.

Here in Texas, in addition to the presidential choice the voters make tomorrow—they have the responsibility of deciding on adoption or rejection of six proposed amendments to the state constitution. They are important issues, and every voter should express his opinion on them.

The amendments which you will find at the bottom of your ballot tomorrow are as follows:

- 1—Providing that the state shall have a monopoly on the sale of liquors which are partially or wholly made by distillation.
2—Providing for a teachers' retirement fund.
3—Authorizing the Legislature to provide workmen's compensation insurance for state employees.
4—Restricting the pardoning power of the governor.
5—Increasing the salaries of the governor, attorney general, secretary of state, comptroller of public accounts, treasurer, and commissioner of general land office.
6—Limiting the representation of certain counties in the Legislature.

These issues have been discussed pro and con in the newspapers in the past few weeks, and voters no doubt have made up their minds about them.

The point emphasized here is that it is important that every eligible voter go to the polls tomorrow and vote either for the adoption or rejection of these amendments.

It has been the history of every election in the United States that too great a percentage of the voters remain away from the polls.

Whether you believe it or not—the stay-at-homes hold the balance of power on election day. They elect the presidents and decide the issues at stake—strange as it may seem.

In this heated presidential campaign year, the greatest bid in history has been made for these millions of votes which heretofore have not been counted. So, don't be a stay-at-home voter tomorrow. Go to the polls—AND VOTE!

DAILY WASHINGTON LETTER

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON.—One of the things Governor Landon probably always will remember about the 1936 presidential campaign is the way many Republican gubernatorial candidates and state machines were willing to let the wolves have him in case it would help their local aspirations.

That's an extreme statement to make as a generalization. It applies in full to some states and to only a modified degree in others among the several large pivotal states recently visited by this writer. But you may be sure the Kansas governor has learned a lot about machine politicians.

Those politicians had begun to recognize that the tremendous backswing of sentiment against the New Deal would swing just so far and there remained a great residue of Roosevelt popularity.

Of course the campaign wasn't anything like the state campaigns of 1934, when many Republicans saved their skins by endorsing the New Deal. But it became obvious in some states that G. O. P. candidates would do well not to alienate all the Roosevelt voters, many of whom would otherwise split tickets.

Simultaneously, numerous Democratic candidates for state office who had thought they'd be running ahead of the national ticket began to realize that for better or worse they were in for a ride on the Roosevelt coat-tails.

In Indiana, Republican leaders were repeatedly heard asserting that their gubernatorial candidate, Raymond Springer, would run at least 50,000 votes ahead of Landon and they seemed to be shedding no tears or taking any drastic efforts to prevent that.

In Michigan, National Chairman John Hamilton was reported to have protested the preferential stress G. O. P. leaders were laying on re-election of Governor Fitzgerald, and Frank Murphy, besought by New Dealers to run for governor to help Roosevelt, seemed sure to run behind the president.

Candidate John Bricker in Ohio was mentioning Landon but casually, knowing that many Roosevelt voters would support him against Democratic Governor Martin L. Davey. Jesse Barrett, Republican candidate for governor in Missouri, was pursuing similar tactics. Hamilton and Landon were said to have had a row with Wayland Brooks in Illinois over the way he was alleged to be promoting his gubernatorial candidacy at Landon's expense.

Many Pennsylvania politicians were especially interested in their local candidates—especially in big cities where Landon was considered more of a liability than an asset.

Experts differed as to whether Roosevelt or Lehman would run ahead in New York, but one heard various reports about willingness of certain Democratic local machines to lie down on Lehman.

Whether much of all this was due to Landon's failure to build himself up as a glamorous candidate, it indicates one of the serious handicaps he has had to face.

The treasury has a machine with which a number of checks can be signed at once. Any chance of borrowing it about the first of the month?

BUSINESS MEN SEE DARK CLOUDS AHEAD

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

NEW YORK — It has been seven years since Joe Zelli, waiting smoking rings toward a gilt-domed ceiling, idly stood by while a federal wrecking crew hammered his $100,000 speak-easy into a pile of junk. In those days of illegal drinking, liquors were purveyed behind darkened doorways, but Zelli—accustomed to the openness of Paris—wasn't persuaded that underhand methods were entirely necessary. Dry raiders tore down that illusion, and in less than two weeks after the grand opening, Zelli had a chance to lean once more on the slogan that has made him famous—'Audacity, More Audacity, Always Audacity.'

New York recalls that midnight when the federal dicks swarmed down on Joe, demolishing mahogany tables and shattering costly lapis-lazuli vases. Zelli flicked imaginary dust from his lapels and passed out dollar cigars to the dry raiders. He was gripped because there remained no champagne to offer his guests. After that Joe essayed a quieter place, but the bankroll was gone and after a time he went back to his beloved Montmartre. Almost everybody remembers Zelli's place in Paris. It was known as the Royal Box, but that was just a laugh. Most of the tables were arranged in little box-like stalls, and when patrons came in Zelli would breeze up and take personal charge. 'Tonight, Monsieur, you shall have 20 royal box. I have reserved it especially for you.' Wherefore Zelli would deposit them in any box that appeared available. Every box was the royal box in Zelli's place.

Zelli is Back But you know all that. What I really started out to say is that Zelli is back in town with another bankroll and some ambitious plans for a new nightclub. 'Anyway, one thing is certain—Squire Zelli is here in person and pretty soon the announcement will come that his new place is about to open. I want to be there when it does.

She was a school teacher in England with stage ambitions. After her first job with a touring company, which lasted six months, she found herself in London—broke. What to do?

Gets Movie Start Other members of the company said they played as extras in the movies between engagements. Madeleine thought she'd try. No agent would give her a look-in as an extra, but one got her a job as a leading lady. She played the part, and got a tremendous salary, but she loafed for four months afterward.

In roles like those in 'The General Died at Dawn' and 'The Case Against Mrs. Ames,' Madeleine is soft-voiced and definitely effeminate. But off screen, she is a merry, laughing, bubbling person who likes to talk, punctuating her remarks with polite swear words.

She has that typically British mannerism of making a continual sound while trying to find the right word. The first time you hear it, you think she stutters.

Right now, Madeleine is playing a dramatic role in 'Loyds of London,' but her next picture will be a musical—her first. She's practicing dancing, in preparation for it, every night from 8 until 11.

Has Pretty Legs The reason she's been cast in a musical comedy is because a director told her she has good-looking legs. He saw them in 'The 39 Steps.' She's 30 and her husband is Phillip Astley, a London business man.

She's cultivating a combined American-English accent. She thinks an Englishman attacks his words too suddenly. The effect on the microphone is sometimes 'rat-a-tatty.' She thinks the best movie accents are those of Herbert Marshall and Sir Guy Standing—Americanized English.

Madeleine's superstitious about the figure 26. Nearly every important change has occurred on that date. She has very blue eyes and her favorite color is blue. She thinks Hollywood's all right, though a little hectic. She has a house in Spain, just outside Barcelona. She doesn't think she'll ever have a house in Hollywood. She likes to travel too well.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Frederic J. Haskin

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing 'The Pampa Daily NEWS Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for reply.

Q. How many freight cars are there in the United States? C. B. A. There are about 2,970,000. The demands of traffic now exceed the supply.

Q. When was 'platform' first used by political parties? H. D. C. A. The use of the expression, 'platform' to refer to a public declaration of principles and policy on which a political party proposes to stand was developed in the United States between 1844 and 1848. In an address to the Democratic State Convention in Virginia, on February 3, 1844, the expression was used: 'These are our doctrines; this is the broad platform on which we stand.'

Q. Is Sir James Jeans married? E. H. A. The noted astronomer is married to Susi Hock, Viennese musician.

Q. Are many Indians engaged in making and selling baskets, rugs, jewelry, and other typical handicraft? H. N. A. The Indian population is about 335,000. In 1913, approximately 20,000 were producing and selling baskets, headwork, blankets, rugs, pottery, and jewelry.

Q. How long do English sparrows live? F. H. B. A. The average life of the sparrow is two to three years. Sparrows seldom live (except in captivity under very favorable circumstances) more than five years.

Q. When was the lathe invented? D. E. C. A. The actual date of the invention of the lathe is somewhat in doubt. Probably around 1795. It is assumed to be the joint invention of Bramah and Maudslay. Maudslay was employed in Bramah's shop and they worked together in the use of their tools.

Q. How much does the liquor business spend in advertising? W. R. A. The amount spent in advertising in 1935 was $17,550,592.

Q. If a baby weighs 7 pounds at birth, what should it weigh when 1 year old? M. A. A baby who weighs 7 pounds at birth will normally weigh about 21 pounds at 1 year of age, 28 pounds at 2 years of age, and 49 pounds at 6 years.

Q. Is there such a thing as a square sunset? C. C. A. The Weather Bureau says it is not familiar with any phenomenon which is usually called by this name. Possibly, however, it refers to occasions when, because of abnormal and regular refraction, the setting sun is distorted into a shape resembling a square. Such distortions of the setting sun, which are in the nature of mirages, are fairly common in some parts of the world. It is also conceivable that the term may refer to a sunset exactly in the west, which occurs at the times of the equinoxes. These suggestions are only surmises, however.

Q. Why was the name of Hoover Dam changed to Boulder Dam? K. W. A. The name was officially changed to Boulder Dam by Secretary Harold I. Ickes in 1933. His explanation was that no public works should bear the name of a living man.

Q. What is the statue which appears on the top of a mountain on the airplane route in South America in the motion picture, 'The China Clipper'? J. E. A. It is the Christ of the Andes, built as a peace memorial on the border between Chile and Argentina.

Q. How many Americans are in prison? S. C. D. A. Some 200,000 are in prison. The average cost of maintaining a convict in prison is $435.19 a year.

Q. Is the daughter of Samuel F. B. Morse living? J. L. R. A. Mrs. Lella Morse Rummel, the inventor's daughter, is living in Paris.

Q. What is the origin of the word, clue? H. J. A. It is from the Old English cluwa, a ball of thread. Its meaning as a piece of evidence leading to discovery, is derived from the story of Theseus, who was guided through the labyrinth by the ball of thread held by Ariadne.

Q. How many G-men have been killed in line of duty? H. S. A. Nine. Seven of them were shot by desperadoes, while two were accidentally killed in line of duty.

Q. Should the stems of flowers be cut with a knife or scissors? E. H. A. Cutting with scissors closes the veins. The stems should be sliced diagonally with a knife.

Q. Was Desostoyevsky, author of 'Crime and Punishment,' condemned to death? J. R. A. The Russian novelist was condemned to death in 1849 for his revolutionary activities. On the scaffold the sentence was commuted to four years' exile in Siberia and enforced military service in the ranks for life.

Q. When was the Statue of Liberty made a national monument? J. W. A. It was established as a national monument in 1924.

Q. What is the Eastern Shore? E. H. This is the name given to all that part of Maryland lying east of Chesapeake Bay, and also the counties of Accomac and Northampton in Virginia. Delaware is sometimes included in the Eastern Shore.

Q. What is a lee tide? T. W. A. It is a tide which runs with the wind.

Q. What is the inscription on the door of the Parliament building in Ottawa? H. P. A. It reads: 'The wholesome sea is at her gates, Her gates both east and west.'

Q. What is the simplest way to dress a tree wound? J. W. A. Orange shellac is the best dressing. In Lindley's Theory of Agriculture, published in 1841, shellac was recommended and it is still used satisfactorily. The best application after the edges of the wound have been shellaced is Bordeaux paint. This is prepared by adding raw linseed oil to dry commercial Bordeaux dust.

Q. How large is the hall in which trading on the New York Stock Exchange is conducted? E. M. A. The hall of the exchange is more than 100 feet wide, 183 feet long, and 79 feet high.

Q. What is meant by Cinque Cento? H. M. A. This term is used to describe that period of the Italian Renaissance between 1500 and 1600. It is applied particularly to the artistic styles prevalent at that time, and especially to the classicism of the high Renaissance.

Q. You say you're grateful to me," he continued. "Then I can ask you a favor. You'll probably have to tell all that's happened to your parents and the police. You can't tell them my name, because you don't know it, but I'd be very grateful if you wouldn't describe me too accurately to them. And I'd like you to leave out your name altogether. He was partly responsible for the fact that you were kidnapped. But he can't be punished any more than he has been punished. If his name is dragged in the mud, his parents will be the only people to suffer. I want to prevent that. And that kidnapping gang won't get away with it. I'll deal with them all right."

"I bet you'll deal with them," she said. "I won't say anything about Billy Ross. If I tell my guardian that I got into a taxi, and a man jumped in with me and chloroformed me, that ought to do, oughtn't it? Anyway, I don't suppose he'll want a lot of police fussing around. He hates a lot of fuss and scandal."

"That story ought to be all right," agreed Mahony. "But mind you stick to it."

"I'll stick to it," she promised. "But won't you tell me who you are?" "No," answered Mahony.

By this time they were passing through Hampstead, and in a few minutes they drew up outside the house in Upper Brook Street, Mayfair, where Mr. Lee-Ramsden, Ruth's guardian, lived. She got out of the car and stood for a moment at the edge of the pavement, looking rather wistfully at Mahony.

"Shan't we ever meet again?" she persisted. "It's a bit impolite, you said, to drag up early life, but I've got to know you. You seem to be a villain and then walk lightly out of her life just like that."

Mahony grinned. He liked her. In ordinary circumstances he would have been glad to meet her again. But the circumstances were not ordinary. He did not want any friendship with a girl hindering his activities.

"Sorry," said Mahony. "I expect I would bore you stiff. So really it's probably all for the best that it's impossible for us to meet again."

A slight smile touched the corners of her lips. "Oh, you think it's impossible, do you?" she said. "All right. Well, I won't keep you now. So long. And thanks for the ride."

With that she waved to him, and turned and mounted the front doorstep of her guardian's house. She rang the bell and turned and waved again. Mahony waved back. Then he drove away.

In answer to Ruth's ring the door was opened by an elderly butler clad in pajamas and a dressing-gown. At the sight of her his eyes opened wider; he seized the door with his right hand as if he needed support.

"Miss Ruth!" he exclaimed in a startled tone. "That's who it is, Mullins," answered Ruth. "Very hungry and very sleepy. Be an angel and get me some hot soup or something. And tell me, has the household been terribly agitated by my absence?"

"Mr. Lee-Ramsden has naturally been very worried," stammered the butler. "I must wake him at once and tell him of your safe return."

As Ruth advanced into the hall, there was a sound of movement at the top of the stairs, and a voice called out: "What is it, Mullins?"

The speaker began to descend the stairs into the lighted hall. He was a tall, well-made, vigorous man of between fifty-five and sixty, with the air about him of one accustomed to command.

His features were handsome and well formed; his white hair waved back from a broad, intellectual forehead; his eyes were blue and steady, with a hint of cynical humor in their cool glance; his nose was Roman, lending a touch of severity to his face; his mouth and chin were well shaped and determined.

One ugly feature he had which was not noticed by the casual observer—his hands. They were very broad in the palms, with short, ugly,

The Wrong Murderer

By HUGH CLEVELY

Chapter 12 IT'S GOODBYE

"Yes," said Ruth, "I noticed that after meals I always felt terribly queer—all light-headed, as if I didn't care a hoot for anything—but when that feeling had worn off I felt depressed and awful."

"I stood it for about a day; then I got desperate. The day before yesterday, when the fat man brought me my supper, I hit him on the head as hard as I could with a chair. It knocked him unconscious."

"I went through his pockets and found a pistol and took it. Then I heard one of the others coming, so I shoved him outside the door, got the key, and locked myself in. The other two men stormed and shouted a lot, but the window was too high for them to get in that way, and when they tried to break the door down I shot at them through it and nearly killed one of them, I believe. I wish I had killed them all."

"After that they didn't try to break in any more. But every now and then they came and threatened me with the most horrible things if I wouldn't let them in, and promised me a marvelous time if I would. I think that what they really meant to do, when they found they couldn't get in, was to starve me out."

She paused. "They'd have done it, too, if you hadn't turned up. I was getting to feel that I'd give anything for a chop, or even a plate of rice pudding. I'm terribly grateful to you, really."

The child certainly had some place reflected Mahony. During his wanderings about the world he had known many women, but none who would have been capable of holding her own against a crowd of toughs as this girl had done.

"I wonder what happened to Billy Ross," she went on. "Did they get him too?" "Yes," answered Mahony. "But not when they got you. Ross was smashed up in a motor accident yesterday. If he lives, which is very doubtful, he'll be a helpless cripple for the rest of his life."

He paused. "You say you're grateful to me," he continued. "Then I can ask you a favor. You'll probably have to tell all that's happened to your parents and the police. You can't tell them my name, because you don't know it, but I'd be very grateful if you wouldn't describe me too accurately to them. And I'd like you to leave out your name altogether. He was partly responsible for the fact that you were kidnapped. But he can't be punished any more than he has been punished. If his name is dragged in the mud, his parents will be the only people to suffer. I want to prevent that. And that kidnapping gang won't get away with it. I'll deal with them all right."

"I bet you'll deal with them," she said. "I won't say anything about Billy Ross. If I tell my guardian that I got into a taxi, and a man jumped in with me and chloroformed me, that ought to do, oughtn't it? Anyway, I don't suppose he'll want a lot of police fussing around. He hates a lot of fuss and scandal."

"That story ought to be all right," agreed Mahony. "But mind you stick to it."

"I'll stick to it," she promised. "But won't you tell me who you are?" "No," answered Mahony.

By this time they were passing through Hampstead, and in a few minutes they drew up outside the house in Upper Brook Street, Mayfair, where Mr. Lee-Ramsden, Ruth's guardian, lived. She got out of the car and stood for a moment at the edge of the pavement, looking rather wistfully at Mahony.

"Shan't we ever meet again?" she persisted. "It's a bit impolite, you said, to drag up early life, but I've got to know you. You seem to be a villain and then walk lightly out of her life just like that."

Mahony grinned. He liked her. In ordinary circumstances he would have been glad to meet her again. But the circumstances were not ordinary. He did not want any friendship with a girl hindering his activities.

"Sorry," said Mahony. "I expect I would bore you stiff. So really it's probably all for the best that it's impossible for us to meet again."

A slight smile touched the corners of her lips. "Oh, you think it's impossible, do you?" she said. "All right. Well, I won't keep you now. So long. And thanks for the ride."

With that she waved to him, and turned and mounted the front doorstep of her guardian's house. She rang the bell and turned and waved again. Mahony waved back. Then he drove away.

In answer to Ruth's ring the door was opened by an elderly butler clad in pajamas and a dressing-gown. At the sight of her his eyes opened wider; he seized the door with his right hand as if he needed support.

"Miss Ruth!" he exclaimed in a startled tone. "That's who it is, Mullins," answered Ruth. "Very hungry and very sleepy. Be an angel and get me some hot soup or something. And tell me, has the household been terribly agitated by my absence?"

"Mr. Lee-Ramsden has naturally been very worried," stammered the butler. "I must wake him at once and tell him of your safe return."

As Ruth advanced into the hall, there was a sound of movement at the top of the stairs, and a voice called out: "What is it, Mullins?"

WHO WILL STOP AMARILLO'S GOLDEN SANDIES? IS STILL LEAGUE CRY

SCHOOLBOY TEAMS UNTIED AND UNBEATEN

GRID CAMPAIGN HAS REACHED 'DO OR DIE' STAGE

DALLAS, Nov. 2. (AP)—Texas Inter-scholastic league football teams called on all their resources today as they prepared for the stretch drive in a campaign that has reached the point where it's "do or die."

Eight teams remained unbeaten and untied as the season made the turn into November with its traditional battles and championship struggles.

"Who will stop Amarillo's Golden Sandstorm?" was still the cry, though the teams were immediately concerned with last ditch fights for district championships.

The defending state champions opened their conference drive last week by smashing Plainview 66-0. Lubbock, though remaining unbeaten by taking over Borger 22-0, and the Pampa Harvesters, who always fight hardest against Amarillo, did not appear to offer the usual strong competition.

The battle simmered, according to those who are comparative scores, which are often the opposite index, to the following district results:

Amarillo in the Panhandle, Wichita Falls or Childers in district two, San Angelo in district three, El Paso high or Austin (El Paso) in district four, Gainesville in district five, Greenville or McKinney in district six, North Side or Polytechnic in the Fort Worth district, north Dallas or Dallas Tech in district eight, Gladewater or Longview in district nine, Lufkin in district ten, Hillsboro or Cleburne in district eleven, Kerrville in district twelve, Sam Houston or John Reagan in the Houston district, Port Arthur or Beaumont in district thirteen, Corpus Christi in district fifteen and Edinburg in district sixteen.

San Angelo apparently faces strongest competition from Abilene. Sunset must not be counted out in the Dallas district. Kerrville may find trouble from San Antonio teams. Robstown looks like Corpus Christi's chief opposition. Edinburg faces a spirited fight from Harlingen.

Beaumont's 29-6 victory over Ball High (Galveston) last week indicates the Royal Purple is likely to come through undefeated in conference play. That would create an unusual situation because Fort Worth is expected to do the same thing and the two teams do not meet inside the district.

This week's feature game apparently goes to Fort Worth where North Side and Poly battle for the district leadership. The winner will become an overwhelming favorite to take the title.

Most of the state's unbeaten, untied teams won by impressive scores last week. Amarillo smashed Plainview, North Side trampled Mineral Wells 33-7, North Dallas drowned Cleburne 25-8, Kerrville swamped Austin 38-0, Corpus Christi defeated Brownsville 47-0.

Dallas Tech ran into unexpected opposition from Adamson (Dallas) but managed to win 16-6. Hillsboro beat Temple 13-0. Edinburg nosed out San Benito 12-7.

Breckenridge, Temple and San Benito fell from the undefeated through tied class. Brock fell before San Angelo 7-0. Temple lost to Hillsboro and San Benito went down at the hands of Edinburg.

Harvesters' Next Game To Be At Borger November 11

Will Be Favorites First Time This Season

Nine more days will pass before the Harvesters get their next baptism of fire. With six losses and one victory on the ledger, the Harvesters will be in a fighting mood to beat the Borger Bulldogs on Armistice Day in Borger.

For the first time this season the little Harvesters will be face to face with a team their own size. For the first time this season they will be the favorites. Only hope on the performance of the two teams show the Harvesters losing to Lubbock 7 to 0 and the Bulldogs dropping to Lubbock 21 to 0.

While the Harvesters will be drilled mostly on offense between now and November 11, a defense to stop Conner and Allen, sensational little Borger ball toters, will have to be built up. The Bulldogs playing Lubbock with the team morale at its lowest point. Just two days before the battle, Ramirez, Bulldog fullback, was declared ineligible. Borger is expected to be on the trail back to overtime form by Armistice Day.

The bulletin board at the high school this morning carried a notice that there would be no practice this afternoon but that tomorrow would be a different story. The entire squad, with the exception of Woody Woodruff, Doyle Enloe and Sherman Morgan, will report tomorrow afternoon. The three will be allowed to rest their leg injuries until Thursday. Coaches Odus Mitchell and J. C. Prejan said.

On last Saturday afternoon the Amarillo Sandies turned on the heat to defeat the Plainview Bulldogs 66 to 0. At the same time the Lubbock Westerners dropped Borger 21 to 0.

Amarillo will meet Lubbock on Armistice Day while the Harvesters tangle with Borger. The game between the Harvesters and Bulldogs will be called at 2:30 o'clock at Huber stadium. A large block of tickets will be received here this week.

BY HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK—Once he is hired, the new manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers will spend most of his time trying to find one of the club officials.

It's the same old trouble in Flatbush, of course. Debits, constant bickering between the Ebbets and McKeever factions, a poor organization, silliness in the president's seat, and a mediocre club to begin with make the situation intolerable.

Casey Stengel got no help at all during his three-year sentence, and November 11, a defense to stop Conner and Allen, sensational little Borger ball toters, will have to be built up. The Bulldogs playing Lubbock with the team morale at its lowest point. Just two days before the battle, Ramirez, Bulldog fullback, was declared ineligible. THREE MAJOR TEAMS UNTIED AND UNBEATEN

THEY ARE MARQUETTE SANTA CLARA AND NORTHWESTERN

NEW YORK, Nov. 2. (AP)—They still were counting the football slain today.

After a week-end of frightful slaughter which numbered among its victims Minnesota, Army, Yale, Auburn, Villanova, Texas A. & Holy Cross and George Washington, a national check-up revealed only three major teams able to boast spotless records and only eight others tied but unbeaten.

Briefly, the undefeated list among big-time football powers looked like this:

East: Fordham and Georgetown, each tied once.
Mid-west: Northwestern and Marquette, unbeaten and untied.
Far West: Santa Clara, unbeaten and untied; Washington State and Southern California, each tied once.

South: Tulane, Louisiana State and Alabama, each tied once.
Rocky Mountain: Utah State, tied once.

Last week's program was marked not only by an unprecedented number of upsets but by the biggest outpouring of spectators this year. More than 200,000 looked on at the east's four biggest attractions and more than 160,000 at the four leading games in the middle western sector.

More trouble looms for the undefeated clan in this week's program which lines up as follows:

East: Fordham plays Purdue. Harvard will play Virginia. Penn squares off against Michigan; Navy seeks to halt Notre Dame and Manhattan tackles Kentucky.

Intra-sectional headlines will find Colgate and Red Bank, the Holy Cross and Dartmouth tackling Columbia.

Mid-west: Northwestern's wildcats meet Wisconsin; Minnesota plays Iowa.

Indiana entertains Syracuse in an inter-sectional game, and Ohio State returns to conference warfare against Chicago.

Marquette's all-victorious squad, eased off against Creighton; Bucknell's Bisons play Detroit and Temple tackles Michigan State.

Nebraska plays Kansas, Oklahoma meets Kansas State, and M. S. U. is shelling by Arkansas, sent Southwestern Methodist, 14-7 victor over Texas, to the top of the conference heap. Texas Christian, which routed Baylor, 28-0, is tied with Arkansas for the second slot. S. M. U. plays West Virginia, this week while Texas tackles Texas Christian and Arkansas meets Rice, victor, 12-6, in an inter-sectional engagement with George Washington.

Far West: Southern California plays California and Washington plays Stanford. Washington State and Oregon State, Oregon and U. C. L. A., are the other conference pairings.

South: Tulane meets Alabama, Louisiana plays Mississippi State. Georgia Tech meets Auburn. Georgia meets Florida. Vanderbilt plays Wake Forest.

Duke invades Wake Forest while North Carolina plays at Davidson.

Rocky Mountain: Utah plays Colorado university as Utah State seeks to topple Colorado State.

SMU To Face Angry Texas Aggies In Saturday Game

'Slinging' Sam' Will Meet Longhorns In Cowtown

DALLAS, Nov. 2. (AP)—Half way through a ten game schedule, Southern Methodist held its head high today—but even Coach Matty Bell stressed heads are held high only from Saturday to Sunday in the Southwest conference.

Three short days ago Texas A. & M. sat atop the conference heap, touted as the most probable full season winner. Today the Aggies, humiliated by an aroused Arkansas Razorback team Saturday, reposed in fourth place and Southern Methodist stood at the head of an unruly class.

The remnants of a 1935 Rose Bowl team, bolstered by five scrappy sophomores, held first place after their only conference game played—a hard 14-7 triumph over battered Texas.

Next Saturday the Mustangs meet their second circuit test at Dallas in an Aggie team that crashed from undefeated circles before an Arkansas air raid, 18-0. Southern Methodist would be the "on paper" choice, except that "on paper" choices have been discarded the last two weeks by conference critics as dynamite.

It took some belated passing and line thrusts by Johnny Stidger, Ken Goodson and big Bob Finley to pull the Methodists through to their victory over a Texas team that scored early and threatened to retain its lead. Hugh (Big Bad) Wolfe aided by "Red" Sheridan, accounted for the Longhorns' score in the first period, but Finley intercepted an enemy pass in the third and the Methodist offense started. He scored on a line buck and then Goodson tackled on the second tally on an eight yard reverse.

Arkansas' Razorbacks were in "Hog Heaven" at College Station, coolly flinging touchdown passes all over the sacred Kyle field premises and adding the insult by either intercepting or batting down the majority of Farmer heaves.

Handsome Jack Robbins, the Forked triple-threat, had one of his best days and accounted for the first touchdown on two fake pass jaunts off tackle. Dwight Sloan, who threatened to overshadow Robbins' day, flung a pair of sizeable passes to Hamilton and Bobbie Martin for the other two scores. The Aggies made a mild threat that carried to the 18 Todd played valiantly and once looked as if he would get away for a 105 yard touchdown sprint. He bagged a kickoff behind his goal line and went to midfield before Robbins came up from nowhere and got him.

Arkansas must have its heaves working again when Rice Institute's reinvigorated Owls invade Fayetteville Saturday. The Owls, now being led by carrot-thatched Vickers, a halfback of considerable running skill, have sacked their last three contests. Vickers led them to 12-6 triumph over undefeated George Washington at Houston Saturday, passing to Johnny Neece for one touchdown and stepping 30 yards himself for the other.

"Slinging" Sam' Baugh and Texas Christian, tied for second place with the Razorbacks, meet Texas on the rebound at Fort Worth Saturday. The Longhorns, defeated on three straight weekends, are the homecoming day opponents for a Horned Frog eleven that looked busy burying Baylor, 28-0. Baugh personally let loose three touchdown passes and Vic Montgomery made it an all-air program by throwing for the other. Baylor never started against a Christian at its best.

The Golden Bruins meet the only outsiders of the week, Oklahoma City's Goldbugs, at Waco in a night game.

GREEN IS CAPTAIN OF RICE FRESHMAN TEAM

J. R. Green, former Harvester gridiron star, has been elected captain of the Rice Institute freshman football team. Friends here have been notified. Green enrolled in Rice in September and his work immediately became noticeable at end where he was stationed in first practice sessions.

Another Pampa star of a few years ago, Bill Haner, is also a member of the Rice freshman team. He is playing regular tackle next to Green. The two add more than 400 pounds to the weight of the line and both are expected to make excellent showings with the Owls next year.

And still another former Harvester is tearing things up in the football world. He is Buck Mundy who is playing halfback for the McMurry Indian freshmen. Red Bost, a Harvester of several years past, is one of the crack Indian linemen on this, his senior year.

Two Harvesters from last year, Moose Hartman and Stokes Green, are strutting their stuff with Schreiner Institute. Both are regular tackles, positions they filled with the Harvesters.

CARROLL COLLEGE ON TOP IN SCORING RACE

NEW YORK, Nov. 2. (AP)—A new national scoring leader bounced into the national picture during the past week to take the top place from Wall tooters who had been receiving more publicity.

Art Buck, ace of the undefeated Carroll College team of Waukesha, Wis., emerged from obscurity to take his place at the head of the piskin parade with a total of 92 points in six games. He shook off all danger of being overhauled when he tallied 19 points against Oshkosh Teachers Saturday.

SATURDAY'S GRID STARS

THE FINANCIAL WHIRLIGIG

By LOUIS SCHNEIDER

TRADE. Regardless of election results all trade reports are optimistic with wide gains expected this week—retailers having hard time filling demands. Further gains in employment noted. Car-loadings will hold on increased coal shipments. Automobile sales slowing down. Industrial activity good especially in small machinery equipment. Wool market active with prices steady. Toy buying heaviest in years. Shoe industry easing from recent rush. Textile demand at gratifying levels. Cattle prices high with hog prices low. Steel production to ease but sheet demands will hold on automobile trade orders. Building construction off due to cold spell. Petroleum industry in excellent statistical position. Machine tool industry holding but orders below those of last month. Wearing apparel industry working on winter and spring styles. Heavy demand noted for furniture. Food lines to hold steady. Liquors in demand on holiday buying. Dry goods houses report scarcity of inventories. Railroad shops active on increased repair work. Cement production ahead of like period last year. Electrical machinery and equipment buying high. Bank clearances larger. Retail trade active because of pending holiday buying—merchandising organizations benefit most.

BONDS. About mid-month Republic Steel will offer $25,000,000 general mortgage series C due 1956—rate and price not set yet. Baltimore & Ohio Conv 4 1/2 of 1960 held for yield. Federated Utilities 1st Lien Coll 5 1/2 of 1957 speculative following. Businessman's risk: Porto Rican American Tobacco Conv 6 1/2 of 1942. Genn L. Martin six per cent notes active on speculative buying because of foreign orders—notes convertible into common at $12 a share. Central Illinois Public Service 1st 4 1/2 of 1981 held for income. Philippine Railway bonds sold because government guarantee on interest expires next July. Speculative in Chic. H. St. P. & P. Gen 4 1/2 of 1960 being retained. Bethlehem Steel Cons 4 1/2 of 1960 being switched into the Con 3 1/2 of 1966—for greater appreciation prospects. Pacific Coast business-man's risk: Ambassador Hotel (Los Angeles) 1st 6 1/2 of 1950. Traders taking profits in Chicago & North-western Gen 5 1/2 of 1967. I. C. C. will hold Spokane Railway reorganization hearings on December 15.

MORE BONDS. Atlantic Gulf & West Indies 5 1/2 of 1959 aided by increased earnings. Chicago, Milwaukee & Gary 1st 5 1/2 of 1947 have possibilities. Southern Pacific Sec 3 1/2 of 1946 get preference over New York Central Sec 3 1/2 of same maturity. Consolidated Water Power 5 1/2 of 1946 have been called. Kansas City Southern guarantees Port Arthur Canal and Dock 6 1/2 of 1953—taken for income. Interstate Public Service 1st 5 1/2 of 1956 and 1st 4 1/2 of 1958 yield attractively. Businessman's risk: Boston & Maine 1st 4 1/2 of 1943 held for investment. Risk positions being taken in New Orleans Public Service 6 1/2 of 1949. Restricted earnings outlook accounts for recent liquidation of Portland Gas & Coke 1st Gen 4 1/2 and 1st Ref 5 1/2 of 1940.

COMMODITIES. Commodity prices expected to decline should Governor Landon be elected—traders say that his farming and foreign policies are uncertain. Practically assured that record breaking domestic consumption and heavy exports will continue for remainder of year, trade feels friendly toward cotton market. Cottonseed oil demand heavy. Close alignment between world supply and consumption, uncertainty of Southern Hemisphere crops and political situations in Europe are factors not conducive to cheap wheat. Egg fundamentals sound—price outlook encouraging. World picture of rubber continues to reflect gradual improvement not only in smaller stocks but a world increase in consumption. There are signs of an extension in butter demands. Republican victory would threaten continuance of sugar agreement with Cuba—others say G. O. P. administration will continue quota system even if it were to cause a change in Cuban duties. Lead prices due for another advance—production lower with demand high. Hides strong as long as government doesn't offer. Weaving trade has adopted hand-to-mouth silk buying policy but stock low which helps statistical position. Red metal demand high. Traders feel that bloom is off cocoa and profit-taking likely but short sales not in order. Silver and gold steady due to tri-power monetary agreement. Speculative group to increase activity in platinum trading—just a play.

REPORTS ARE THAT: Stock market activity attributed to switching on part of professionals. Investment interests like Phillips Petroleum's potentialities—same goes for Texas Corp. Cigar share activity due to speculative buying. Tape readers and chartists bullish on Westinghouse Electric—too much so. On price-to-earnings ratio Johns Manville adequately appraised yet shares might do better. Mack Truck to show $2 this year. So known to Financial Whirligig readers. Increased automobile activity will help Thompson Products marketwise. Acme Steel being added to portfolios. Atlantic Refining will show $3 this year. Despite fundings and financings Gulf States Steel and Republic Steel will merge—still being discussed. Maytag preferreds get preference over common shares. Crucible

LET'S KNOW TEXAS AND TEXANS
By WILL H. MAYES.

In this column answers will be given to inquiries as to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the State and its people. As evidence of good faith inquiries must give their names and addresses, but only their initials will be printed. Address inquiries to Will H. Mayes, Austin, Texas.

Q. How long were the Pineda and Cortez explorations in Texas and Mexico after the discovery of America by Columbus? J. L. M.

A. Twenty-seven years—from 1492 to 1519.

Q. How did Ellis P. Bean escape from the Mexican prisons? G. S.

A. When the 1811-12 revolution was in progress, the viceroy offered him liberty if he would enlist in the royal army. He accepted the offer and at the first opportunity went over to the revolutionists under Gen. Morelos and soon became a colonel.

Steel working on war orders—more about this later. Speculative buying accounts for Baltimore & Ohio share activity. White Motors said to be negotiating with foreign governments for large contracts—cash being demanded. Boston interests like United Fruit. And that with the New York Automobile Show set for next week Wednesday traders are accumulating motor shares in hopes of dumping on John Q. Public when he buys stock because he likes certain 1937 models. (Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

He was in command of the troops that besieged and captured Capuco, where he was so long imprisoned.

Q. What did Bean do after his Mexican revolutionary war service? G. S.

A. In 1814 he was sent to the United States in the interest of the Mexican Republic. He met Lafayette, and each was a command under Gen. Jackson. After the war he drifted back and forth between the United States and Mexico; built Fort Teran on the Neches in 1832; became close friend of Houston and was helpful in keeping Indians quiet in 1836; after which he returned to Mexico and married a refined Mexican woman whom he had met during the revolt in 1811 when he settled down and lived happily until his death Oct. 3, 1846.

Q. Where did Santa Anna assemble his troops for his advance on San Antonio preceding the battle of the Alamo and what force did he concentrate there? D. S.

A. At Saltillo, Coahuila, from which place he started for San Antonio with 4,000 men.

Q. How many signers of the Texas Declaration of Independence were in the fight at San Jacinto? W. R. A. Eleven.

CRAYON PROJECTS IN TEXAS HISTORY

It is easy to teach children history with penciled outline pictures of historical subjects and colored crayons. History taught in this way is never forgotten and a taste is created for more information.

"Centennial Projects, Texas Under Six Plans" contains 36 pages of outlines on many phases of Texas history and events, with cover showing the Texas Capitol under six flags, each in its correct colors. Mailed postpaid for 25 cents. Send order to Will H. Mayes, 2610 Salado Street, Austin, Texas.

ARMED PEACE PROMISED BY ITALY'S DUCE

MILAN, Italy, Nov. 2, (AP)—With his fiery "armed peace" speech ringing around the world, Premier Benito Mussolini looked today for reaction from England before offering a complete Anglo-Italian pact, including recognition of mutual rights in the Mediterranean.

Warning that "the Italian people would spring to their feet like one man," to fight for "that sea which was the sea of Rome," Il Duce told 500,000 wildly cheering fascists:

"If the Mediterranean is for others a high road, for us Italians it is life.

"We have said a thousand times, and I repeat, we do not intend to menace this road. We do not intend to interrupt it. But we say, on the other hand, our rights and vital interests must be respected.

"There are no alternatives—reasoning brains of the British empire must realize the thing is done and is irrevocable. The sooner the better."

(In London, informed sources said no matter what Il Duce's speech portended, Great Britain would not change her Mediterranean policy—based on the unflinching credo that the disputed waters form Britain's "life line" to her colonies.)

TOPEKA, Kas., Nov. 2 (AP)—Mr. Landon drafted an election-eve broadcast today before going home to vote in the election which will decide whether he shall be president.

The Kansas governor, re-elected with his family after 20,000 miles of what he termed "a fighting campaign" to give the American government back to the people, worked in the quiet of his study on a last minute talk to voters.

After voting at Independence, with Mrs. Landon and his father, John M. Landon, the Republican nominee planned a return to the executive mansion here to receive election returns tomorrow night with his family.

He listed no appointments during the pre-election lull, reserving most of the day for preparation of his final speech and relaxation with his children, Nancy Jo, 4, and John Cobb, 2 1/2.

His short concluding talk will be broadcast during an hour's Republican rally starting at 9 p. m. (SCT) in which Col. Frank Knox, his running mate, and National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton also will speak. Aides set the approximate time for the governor's talk at 9:45.

GALVESTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—A Centennial marker was placed on the old home site of Gail Borden, pioneer Texas surveyor and printer, reported to have laid out Galveston.

Borden, born Nov. 9, 1801, at Norwich, N. Y., came to Texas in 1829. Stephen Austin appointed him to superintend the official surveys of the colonies, and he represented his district at the San Felipe convention in 1833, which petitioned the Mexican government for separate statehood.

He made the first topographical map of Texas after the Republic was established. With his brother and Joseph Baker, a printer, Borden started the first newspaper in Texas at San Felipe in 1835. He became public printer for the Republic and, subsequently, collector of customs at Galveston.

He moved to New Lebanon, N. Y., in 1851, where he perfected a method of processing milk. He died at Borden, Colorado county, Jan. 11, 1874.

DAYTON, O. (AP)—Speaking of absent-mindedness, Postmaster Clarence N. Greer tells this one:

A young Dayton man mailed a letter Monday night. Tuesday he awoke remembering he had put no stamp on the letter.

He put a stamp in an envelope with a note to the postmaster to stamp the Monday letter.

Tuesday afternoon the young man appeared before Greer. He had forgotten to put a stamp on the Tuesday request letter.

Greer finally straightened things out and put the Monday letter on way.

and friendship from the citizenship of your state to the people of my city," LaGuardia wrote.

"Now as a reciprocal expression of the cordiality of the people of New York to the consistency of your great state, I am pleased to send you herewith, to be appropriately exhibited in such manner as you may choose in connection with the Texas Centennial celebration, a specific evidence in the form of a century-old memento of the part which New Yorkers played in the struggle of the 'Texians' for independence in 1836."

GARNER NOT AGITATED OVER THIS ELECTION

UVABLE, Nov. 2 (AP)—Millions of persons in the United States might have been agitated today over the presidential election but Vice President John N. Garner, going about his usual business here, was not one of them.

Up at the break of dawn in accordance with habit, he looked over his prize turkeys, pheasants and ducks, walked down town for exercise and resolutely declined to talk politics.

To a question as to whether the democrats would win in the big test tomorrow, the ruddy-cheeked vice president beamed and remarked he had eight of the best turkeys in the country and from them would raise 100 equally as good next year.

Mrs. Garner evinced greater interest in the political situation but, after hearing that her husband wouldn't talk, she said:

"I guess I'd better not, either."

The vice president will spend tomorrow at his home and, at night, will listen to the election returns. His only son, Tully, and his son's family, may drive over from Houston for the occasion.

Four years ago Garner sat up until 9 o'clock, and, after the New York vote was in, went to bed. Friends thought he probably would do the same tomorrow night, as 9 p. m. has been his bedtime for many years.

registered as offspring of "Mrs. Cenny."

"This definitely proves that Mrs. Kenny is the sole winner of the prize for childbearing under the terms of the late Charles Vance Millar's will," her counsel said.

"There was never any question about her being the mother of nine eligible babies, the same as the other five mothers claim. With this proof of the two other births her total goes to eleven—and that's the top."

Mrs. Kenny spoke very forcibly about what she would do next Friday if Mr. Justice Middleton fails to declare her sole winner of the stork derby.

"If he says I've got to divide that money with those other mothers, I'll slap his face," the sturdy French-Canadian mother said.

Mrs. Kenny is one of fourteen mothers who have been asked to appear Friday and prove their claims to the money the eccentric lawyer bequeathed to the most prolific mother in Toronto.

At the height of the assault, British officials said Lieut. T. C. Packersford, of H.M. S. Bruce arrived on the scene and requested that the sailors be released.

In the course of the argument, it was asserted, the Japanese said to Lieut. Packersford:

"You say you're a British officer. We say you're not. You're nothing but a drunken sot. Get out of here."

The Japanese threatened Packersford with imprisonment if he did not depart, officers here said, and after he left, the Japanese assembly resumed the assaults on the three seamen and dislocated the jaw of one of them.

Two of the sailors eventually agreed to sign the desired confession, but the man with the broken jaw refused to sign and was then thrown into jail and further tortured with a fountain pen thrust into the flesh under his fingernails and ink squirted into the bleeding wounds until he signed the document.

British naval authorities announced they had disputed the proof that the sailors paid their tax fare.

Lippold, Pampa; and 17—A. C. Callahan, McLean.

Election judges pick their own assistants in each precinct. From six to 10 workers will be used in each place, the county clerk stated.

The Pampa polling places are located as follows:

2—319 S. Cuyler-st in the Deke Motor Bldg. 3—residence of E. F. Young, 10—Gray county courthouse, 12—Assembly of God church, 14—McCullough M. E. church, 15—American Legion hall, and 16—Stamders Garage.

Between 4,000 and 4,500 votes are expected to be cast throughout the county in tomorrow's election, Mr. Tost estimated.

Across the vast expanse of America, the tumult over gigantic issues died away today as the nation's only sovereign—the voter—prepared to wield the scepter and decide tomorrow who shall head his government.

sions of confidence, while all hands, from presidential candidates down to the lowliest ward worker, concentrated on one eleventh-hour task:

"Get out the vote," was the injunction heard on all sides. The efforts of the party workers, combined with the more-than-usual natural interest in the issues, still indicated a record-smashing vote, possibly 45,000,000, despite ominous word from the weather bureau that a cold rain or snow might blanket much of the United States on election day.

James A. Farley, national chairman, headed the Democratic victory-prognosticators, with a declaration it would be a "sweep" giving President Roosevelt a bigger electoral margin than 1932 when he captured 472 of the 531 votes in the electoral college. Farley said Republicans could not rightly "feel hopeful" in any states except Maine and Vermont.

The vote will, in then, the polls closed, and as far as tired Democrats and Republicans can do anything cut it, the White House will be safe for Franklin D. Roosevelt or Alf M. Landon for the next four years.

Everyone who can break loose will join in the celebrations in hotels, bars, cabarets, theaters, far far into the swollen-headed morning.

Never before has New York made such parparati as for such a party on such a scale. There isn't a single seat left for a show spot.

There will be parades, jams on Broadway, ticker tape and torn paper in the air, shouting horns and bellowing sirens. Wednesday there will be headaches, alibis, and the first predictions concerning the presidential campaign of 1940.

The registration laws of this state, providing that no tax shall be levied on instruments for an amount of two hundred ($200) dollars or less. After the effective date of this act, except as hereinafter provided no instrument creating a lien of any character to secure the payment of money, or reserving title to any property until the purchase price thereof shall have been paid, shall be filed or recorded by a county clerk in this state until there has been affixed to such instrument stamps in accordance with the provisions of this section; and providing further that the provisions of this section shall not apply to renewals or extensions of any notes or obligations, and specifically shall not apply to refunding or existing bonds or obligations. MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—Buying in mining issues helped to stiffen a wobbly stock market today, although numerous leaders were in the losing column at the close.

Light selling throughout the session was attributed partly to the desire of traders to stand aside pending the result of tomorrow's balloting. Spread of the maritime strike was also thought to have chilled sentiment somewhat.

Offerings were comparatively small throughout and transfers approximated 1,500,000 shares.

the seamen's union claimed crews on 16 other vessels had struck.

Pickets patrolled Providence docks but striking seamen failed in efforts to remove crews off half a dozen incoming coal and oil boats.

Unions on the Pacific coast were permitting removal of cargoes from wharves until 5 p. m. today, while employers sought means to man refrigerating equipment on strike-bound ships to prevent spoilage of perishables.

HOUSTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Striking members of the International Seamen's Union refused today to allow Longshoremen to pass through their picket lines to work ships at long reach on the Houston ship channel. The freighter Prusa was docked there. No violence was reported.

Some 250 striking rank and file members of the International Seamen's Union picketed the Houston waterfront as a walkout supporting Pacific coast maritime workers disrupted shipping.

The strike, which had caused no violence, remained "unfriendly," Wilbur Dickey, business agent of the union, declaring no strike orders had been received from I. S. U. headquarters.

Of the five ships moored at the city docks three were being worked in preparation for departure and two were without steam because crews had joined the strike.

The Southern Steamship company's San Antonio and Fort Worth were loading. The Texas Ranger, a NewTex ship, and the Ogontz of the Lykes line were idle.

Reports circulated on the waterfront that a portion of the crew of the Fort Worth was ready to leave the vessel but had not done so at 9:30 a. m.

Spokesmen for the strikers said the freighter Prusa, docked at Long Beach, was being contacted in an effort to get her men to strike. Members of the grain ship Wisconsin, docked at Manchester, had joined the strike.

The union at Port Arthur claimed 12 ships in the vicinity of Port Arthur, Beaumont and Lake Charles, La., were crewless.

The Texas company's tanker New Jersey, and the tanker Thermo of the Pennsylvania company, were other ships in the Houston territory affected by the strike.

Spokesmen for the strikers said the picketing would be peaceful and that longshoremen would be asked not to cross the picket lines. Officials of the International Longshoremen's Association said, however, that the longshoremen were instructed to work all vessels able to furnish steam and adequate labor on ship.

Although no violence had been reported, Police Chief B. W. Payne sent city detectives to the waterfront.

BEAUMONT, Nov. 2 (AP)—While pickets of the Port Arthur seamen's union patrolled the municipal dock and Magnolia refinery docks Monday, two tankers and two dry cargo vessels were lifting cargo. The strikers claimed crews of all vessels joining them in the strike but ship operators said only a few from each ship had joined the striking ranks.

The tanker Britlin, crew of which was claimed by the strikers, sailed for the Atlantic coast Monday morning.

Members of the International Longshoremen's association were working both the dry cargo steamers, some passing through the picket lines Sunday night to work the Buki line ship Dorothy, and others Monday morning to work the Lykes brothers Almeria Lykes.

WACO, Nov. 2 (AP)—Funeral services were planned here today for Charles E. Witt, 57, brother of Edgar Witt, former lieutenant governor. The attorney died yesterday. He came here from Fort Worth in 1914 to practice law with his brother. Four brothers, Edgar of Waco, Dr. Guy Witt of Dallas, Leslie Witt of Houston and Bertrand Witt of Austin, survive.

TAKEN TO BLACKWELL. The body of W. Murphy Smith, 49, was taken overland to Blackwell, Okla., yesterday by G. C. Malone Funeral Home following services in the mortuary chapel conducted by the Rev. C. E. Lancaster, pastor of First Baptist church. Burial was to be this afternoon. Mr. Smith, resident of Pampa for 10 years, died in a local hospital Saturday following a brief illness. Surviving Mr. Smith are his wife, two sisters and two brothers.

JOHNNY GARMAN REMEMBERED. A dozen boys, dressed in Halloween costumes and masks for Carol Chisum's party Friday night, took notes they had written to Johnny Garman, friend who is in bed after a series of operations on his knee.

HEARST RETURNS TO BALLOT FOR LONDON

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—Expressing the belief war is less likely now than at any time since the World War, William Randolph Hearst returned from a three month trip to Europe today ready to vote in tomorrow's election.

The publisher's only reference to the election was in reply to a question whether he would "still risk his reputation as a prophet" by predicting the election of Alfred M. Landon, as he had done when he sailed for Europe in August.

"Well, I've already risked it," was his reply.

Hearst declared that although there was a "lot of trouble" in Europe at the present time, he did not believe war was imminent.

"I think war is less likely today than at any time since the World War."

Gene Tunney, former heavyweight champion, also was of the opinion that war is not an immediate danger. He was returning with Mrs. Tunney after six weeks in Europe.

A number of Hollywood notables returned on the Queen Mary, including Marion Davies, Sally Eilers, Mary Carlisle, Ricardo Cortez, Tullio Carminati and Sidney Kent, president of Twentieth Century-Fox Films.

Hugh Walpole, the author, arrived for his first lecture tour in five years.

Mrs. A. L. Smart underwent an operation at Pampa-Jarratt hospital this morning.

Horse And Hounds Guard Lifeless Body Of Master

HOUSTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—A belated report of the death of George D. Bender, Pinehurst stockman, and how his loyal saddle horse and two hounds guarded the body four days, reached here today.

Bender's body was found Saturday night. Justice of the Peace J. C. Browder of Tomball, in returning a verdict of death due to natural causes, said the animals had guarded their master's body since his death last Wednesday.

The stockman's body was found nearly six miles north of his home in Pinehurst in Montgomery county in a wilderness between Hill creek and Sandy creek.

His dogs led the party of searchers headed by Constable F. W. Smith and Rex Coe, a stockman, to the body. Bender, who was a bachelor, had been missing four days. His friends had become uneasy about him and organized the searching party.

Coe blew a horn every few hundred feet. Finally there was an answer from the hounds, which came out of the brush to meet the searching party and to lead its members to the body of their master.

The bay horse was standing about 50 feet away, silent and apparently brooding. It had not wandered any farther way from the corpse, Browder said.

Neighbors expressed the belief the dogs had stayed with the body two days and two nights and then returned home. They were seen for a brief interval at Bender's home and then had disappeared.
