

4,000 FANS DUE TO SEE PANHANDLE-PERRYTON TITLE FIGHT SATURDAY

TEX'S TOPICS

COACH PAT GERALD.

Panhandle
Residents of Perryton and Panhandle will move in on Pampa, the friendly city of the plains, Saturday when their high school football teams play for the championship of District 2B. The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock at Harvester field with admission 50 cents.

For those fans who cannot be at Harvester park, the game will be sent over the ether from station KPDN of the Pampa Daily News. Bill Karn, sports announcer, will be at the microphone. The broadcast will be sponsored by a group of civic-minded Pampa business men.

When it was learned the game was to be played on a neutral field, Pampa, through the presidents of the school board, Board of City Development and Junior chamber of commerce, extended the use of Harvester field free of charge. The Jaycees agreed to advertise the game, sell and take tickets and provide a welcome for the visitors.

Banquet For Visitors.
Team officials from both schools readily accepted the invitation and on Saturday afternoon Pampa football fans and others from over the entire Panhandle will see two of the greatest Class B football teams in history play. The Panhandle Panthers, coached by Pat Gerald, breezed through the south half of the district undefeated. Perryton's Rangers, coached by Otis Burke, also went undefeated in the north division.

So pleased were Pampans to have the game played here that players of the two teams, their coaches and school officials will be tendered a dinner in the high school cafeteria at 6 o'clock Saturday evening. Other guests will be players, coaches and officials of the Wheeler high school, whose team won District 3B, and editors and sports writers of papers in this section of the Panhandle.

President Tommy Chesser of the Junior chamber of commerce named Dick Hughes to set up a number of committees to handle the event. Committees named were:

Finance—C. E. McGrew and Mack Graham; banquet, H. H. Hicks, Bert Curry and John Osborne; advertising, Gene Fatherree, Mack Graham, Dave Ballou, Louis Curry and Jack Kretzinger; publicity, Harry E. Hoare and Garnett Reeves; traffic, Raymond Harrish, C. A. Clark L. L. McColm and Bob Fuller; tickets, Jack Dunn, Jack Back, Chick Hickman, Charlie Duenkel, Jack Kretzinger, Jim Collins, R. B. Allen, Jim Hatfield, Walter Rogers and W. B. Weathered; announcements, Farris Oden, Bill Jarratt and Arthur Teed; ushers, Charlie Maisel and American Legion; decorations and welcome, H. C. Berry, Sherman White, E. H. McCarley, Bob Watson, Dr. C. H. Schulke, Sherman White, Guy McTaggart, Fred Cullum, Walter Daugherty, Sam Fenberg and Bill Jarratt.

Tickets to the big game may be purchased in advance at the following drug stores: City Drug, Wilson Drug, Corner Drug, Perkins Drug and Richards Drug.

Perryton Is Heaviest.
An estimated 4,000 to 5,000 fans are expected to witness the classic. It will be the first conference meeting of the two teams although the coaches are old gridiron rivals. Coach Pat Gerald of the Panthers is in his sixth year with the team. Coach Burke of the Rangers has been at Perryton three years. Previous to going to Perryton he was with Groom in Panhandle's district.

Both teams are large for Class B eleven. Perryton, according to program features, will outweigh the Panthers by a few pounds to the man. Panhandle will have considerable weight in the backfield with Perryton taking the line weight.

The Panther attack is led by Connie Sparks, 180-pound passer, punter, ball toter and line backer. He is assisted in the ball toting department by his brother, Nolan Sparks, who is also his chief pass receiver. He tips the scales at 170 pounds. Smith, 140-pound fullback, is the chief blocker. Crawford is another fleet ball carrier who specializes in end runs.

James Barrett, 210 pounds, leads the line play from his right tackle position. On the other tackle will be found Stern, 158 pounds. Guards are the veteran Howe, 140, and Anderson, 135, another veteran, Paul and Watts, a couple of 155-pound veterans, are the Panther ends. With the exception of Barrett, all the linemen have had at least one year of experience. Panhandle is also strong in reserves.

Johnson Is Sparkplug.
Perryton's backfield is light but fast with a punting halfback being a strong offensive threat. Schroeder, of the educated toe, weighs 153 pounds. He has not been out-punted this year. Jones, 162-pound fullback, is a threat through the line while speed is furnished by Lilly, 140-pound scooter. McWilliams, 135-pound quarterback, is a heady field general, dangerous ball carrier and a tower on defense. The Perryton aerial attack has not been uncovered so far this season.

A 195-pound junior tackle, "Speedy" Johnson is the sparkplug of the Perryton line. Fred Kuhn, 170-pound center, and Ferguson, a 235-pound tackle, also lend power and weight to the Ranger forward wall. Horne and Garrison hold down the guard positions. Both are comparatively light. At ends, Coach Burke has Kent and Pittman, a couple of offensive stars.

Those lineups give the Rangers an average of 164 pounds per man to Panhandle's 159 pounds. Both fullbacks, strangely enough, wear No. 77.

Officials for the game will be: Referee, Davis Hill; headlineman, Turpin; umpire, Clevenger.

COACH OTIS BURKE.

There remains just one more week before Thanksgiving Day. On the day after Thanksgiving Pampans and their neighbors throughout the Panhandle will focus all seasonal thoughts on Christmas.

That is just as it should be. . . . And, it's a glorious Christmas we look forward to this year. With the nation's big corporations granting pay increases and bonuses in a general way and with business conditions, locally and nationally, generally better than they were last year and decidedly better than they were the year before, and several back prospects are bright for a wave of Christmas buying.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture recently reported an increase in farm receipts. This, too, will contribute to the Christmas buying wave.

Increased income means increased buying power and that, we have learned through the years, means a Christmas rush. . . . Pampa is prepared for a Christmas buying barrage. . . . Store shelves are stocked with the latest merchandise. . . . Plans are being made to employ extra clerks, and everything is being put into readiness for a rollicking holiday season in Pampa.

One day has been set aside for the official opening of the Christmas season here. . . . It is Saturday, Dec. 5, when Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce will stage a day of holiday fun and entertainment for children, young and old. . . . It is the day when Pampa plans to play host to her neighbors from nearby towns.

On this day they are inviting folks from all surrounding towns and communities to come to Pampa, bring the children and be guests of the city at a big Christmas party. . . . Many special entertainment features are being planned, including a huge Santa Claus pageant through downtown streets in the afternoon.

Visitors in Pampa on this day are asked to come early in the forenoon so as not to miss any of the features which are being planned. . . . There will be gifts for the kids and free picture shows for them in the morning.

When Thanksgiving comes, Christmas cannot be far away. . . . It's going to be a great holiday season in Pampa this year and what we were getting anxious to say here, is that the "Do-Your-Christmas-Shopping-Early" slogan is now in order. Come to Pampa on Santa Day!

A Michigan youngster told her parents she had swallowed a safety pin for real story, and she was stuck with it.

A Fort Worth, Tex., woman, 39, has 18 children. The attention of Toronto mothers is directed to what is being done in other fields.

Dentists are counseled to use the word "remove" instead of "extract." But getting Sonny to the dentist still will be like pulling teeth.

Gray county should be in for a spell of quiet, with the passing of knock-knocks and campaign knocks.

Springfield, Ohio, schools close. When we were children, the financial condition of our schools was disgustingly healthy.

Things around over the country are beginning to look mighty bright. . . . Perhaps you are interested in what Col. Leonard Ayres, of Ohio, one of America's leading business analysts, has to say about the general outlook.

In his November business bulletin, the colonel says that the nation is in a recovery movement "which promises to continue for many months to come." Col. Ayres says further:

The chief significance of the recent elections have for business is that they show that the American people firmly desire to have their government actively participate in their economic problems.

"This is a new factor of great importance for the long range outlook of business, but it is impossible to foresee how it is likely to take shape as the events of the years unfold," he said.

"The short range implications of the elections are more clearly specific. The first of them is that there will be no sharp change from the conditions of late 1936 to those of early 1937. We are in a recovery movement which has gained strong momentum and which promises to continue for many months to come."

Col. Ayres said it is a "consumers goods" recovery and promises to

Harvesters And Parents Enjoy Turkey Banquet

Mothers Serve Fine Meal to Fathers And Sons

Harvester mothers entertained their sons, husbands and a few invited guests with a turkey banquet in the high school cafeteria last night. Piano and accordion music was presented by little Ernestine Holmes.

And did those Harvesters eat. And did those fathers eat. The mothers had "all kinds" of food and they kept setting it on the table until everyone present had to "quit." The sumptuous meal included turkey and dressing, mashed potatoes, peas and carrots, two kinds of salad, stuffed celery, pickles, hot rolls, cherry pie and ice cream, and cake.

A large cake with green and gold icing, goal posts and a football in the center, was presented by Puritan Bakery Mrs. Fannie Wells, mother of Odell Walker, former Harvester star, presented the boys with two large angel food cakes lettered with "Harvesters 1936" around the top. Gray County creamery gave the ice cream and Puritan Bakery gave 100 rolls. Mrs. W. J. Brown made 27 large yellow and green paper flowers and had them in vases on the table which was in the form of an "H."

At the "cross piece" sat Coach and Mrs. Oded Mitchell, Coach and Mrs. C. G. Preisher, and Mrs. R. B. Fisher and Principal and Mrs. L. L. Sone. Other guests were Business Manager Bill Anderson and his mother, Mrs. Angela Strnad, Arch-er Fullingim and Harry E. Hoare.

After each boy had introduced his parents, Supt. Fisher thanked the mothers and praised the boys for their undying fight against odds this season.

"You boys don't deserve all the honors," Supt. Fisher declared, "your parents deserve most of the honor because they started you out, kept looking after everything, and encouraging you and they are still backing you in study and in play. You and your parents are to be congratulated and honored in your attitude."

AMENDMENT IS FAVORED

Gas Proration Law Argued In Supreme Court

Panhandle Allowable System At Stake In Washington

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—State attorneys resumed before the Supreme Court today their defense of a natural gas proration order of the Texas Railroad commission, seeking reversal of a ruling by Texas courts that the order was unconstitutional.

With the entire Texas gas allowable scheme at stake, Madden Hill, an assistant state attorney general, renewed his argument started yesterday that the commission could issue legally an order intended to prevent waste, regulate production and protect the rights of all producers in the vast Panhandle natural gas field.

Attorneys for the Consolidated Gas Utilities corporation and the Texoma Natural Gas company were ready to present arguments, upheld by a three-judge federal court, that an order of December 10, 1935, did not attempt to authorize proration except in connection with and to prevent waste. The companies contended no waste appeared on their properties.

They asserted also that the order was promulgated principally to force them to share their market and pipe line facilities with others having no markets, and to force them to curtail gas from others on the theory that the correlative rights of all producers in the fields should be protected.

WELCOME! Panhandle And Perryton

In the early days of the Panhandle no one was a stranger and it was no effort to detect the look of welcome in the eyes of the true Westerner; then we had a period of rapid growth when people were moving in from every section of the United States and the spirit of Western hospitality began to wane, but not for long, and now every community in this vast empire, known as the Panhandle of Texas, has fallen back into the spirit that prevailed in the eighties and nineties.

Pampa takes pride in the reputation we have had in the past as being the friendly city, and it is our desire to tell the citizens of Perryton and Panhandle that this attitude is still prevalent and that we are looking forward with pleasure to your visit with us on Saturday when your gallant sons of the gridiron will battle with all their might for the glory of their schools, may the best team win, and when you depart for your respective homes, we trust that your visit has been so pleasant that you will look forward, as we will, to visits more often in the future.

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM

Here, seated around the tables, are the fathers of the Harvester football boys. They do not make as much noise as their sons at the other end of the table but they too are enjoying the turkey banquet.

Some of the fathers are a prolific lot. There is Halfback Doyle Enloe's father. He has 13 children. ("I can miss one when I go into the house and he's not there.") The father of Don Smith, halfback, and Carl Smith, former all-state guard, is somewhat taken back by the delight of his black-thatched youngster. Mr. Smith is noted for his twelve children, and the thirteen Enloes have taken him by surprise. Everybody laughs. You don't have to be told that the man over there is gamey J. P. Matthews' father. They are dead ringers for each other. You also know that blonde man is Sherman Morgan's father. They couldn't look more alike. Ivan Noblitt's pop is not as homey as his two sons. (Dodge that roll!) It's as plain as the nose on your face that the short stocky man is J. W. Graham's father. Here we have the papa of Norman Cox. He looks young, not over 32, but he is the father of six children. Miss Strnad is holding the youngest, a four-month old baby. John Henry Nelson looks more like his father than his mother. You wouldn't think that Topsy Reynolds with his thick, black hair is the son of Ernest Reynolds who is blond and has no hair on top. Here are two other bald-headed men. Mr. Nelson and Glen Maxey's father whose eyes twinkle just like the son's.

Fay Webb Dies

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Nov. 19 (AP)—Fay Webb, above, divorced "dream girl" wife of Rudy Vallee, is dead at the age of 29.

She lay in a mortuary today in this city of her birth while word of the funeral arrangements was awaited from her father, Police Captain Clarence E. Webb.

Vallee, who laid down his baton in a New York night club when he heard of her death from post-operative complications, was reported uncertain whether he would fly here to attend the services.

The end came at 8:40 o'clock last night after the brunet ex-actress had lain in a coma 41 hours. She was wasted by two years of ill health. Peritonitis had set in following an abdominal operation last Friday.

His daughter will be buried beside her mother in a Santa Monica cemetery, Webb said.

WOULD REVIVE ORIGINAL AAA CROP CONTROL

CONSTITUTIONAL CHANGE IS FAVORED AT DALHART

DALHART, Nov. 19 (AP)—A constitutional amendment to make possible revival of the original AAA crop control program was urged by New Mexico farmers today in resolutions presented to the Great Plains Drought committee.

Claude Gamble, a Clovis farmer, told the committee "New Mexicans feel that no program without production control will give necessary protection for agriculture."

The New Mexico resolution urged a petition for rehearing of the old AAA case before the United States Supreme court.

"If this rehearing is refused," the resolution said, "it is recommended a constitutional amendment be submitted which will permit Congress to formulate a farm program based on the principles of the old Triple A, including all crops that produce a surplus for two consecutive years."

The group also asked continuation of present soil and moisture conservation practices with provisions in a new soil program to withhold seed loans or AAA benefit payments for those farmers who do not make "an adequate effort to curb erosion."

The Texas extension service also presented a set of recommendations on soil erosion to committee Chairman Morris L. Cooke.

The extension service recommended as "of first importance" the return to native grass of all soils "now in cultivation or abandoned, which are incapable of continued profitable use for crop production," and the encouragement of conservation of feed crops through trench sites and similar methods.

The service recommended a five-point program, including:

- Use of sandy soils more exclusively for row crops.
- Returning certain areas to permanent pastures.
- Reseeding range with native and tame grasses and legumes.
- Increasing the use of good summer fallow practices in those areas where summer fallowing can be used successfully.
- A greater use of strip farming where adaptable.

Creation of a U. S. Department of Agriculture experiment station on the Panhandle Plains was urged, as well as continuation of work by the soil conservation service in harvesting native grass seeds on prairies.

Cook wired Secretary of Agriculture Wallace urging that ten New Mexico counties be designated as drought counties.

TULIA PASTOR TO TALK HERE

COVERED DISH LUNCHEON TO BE SERVED MONDAY NIGHT

The Rev. J. H. Boles, brilliant young pastor of the Tulia Presbyterian church, who will speak at the Monday night mass meeting of boys' parents and leaders in the Red building on the high school campus, knows boys and their problems as few adults do.

This was reiterated by Supt. R. B. Fisher, chairman of a committee which yesterday announced a meeting of parents and leaders of all boys in the community for 7 o'clock Monday evening.

Mr. Fisher said Mr. Boles will have charge of the program, which would include few words of much action. Persons who attend are asked to bring one covered dish of food; however if they are interested and want to come it will not be necessary to bring the food.

Parents of boys up to 15 years of age are especially urged to attend. The meeting will be open to teachers, scoutmasters, civic leaders, church members and friends of boys. Parents may bring their small children. Women are especially invited.

Today it was announced that all Scout troops in the city will be represented at the meeting, and parents of the boys are invited to attend. Each troop will have one or two hostesses to welcome parents of boys who are members of the troop.

I Saw . . .

I Heard . . .

Harry Nelson inviting members of the Harvester football squad out to his farm for a chicken dinner after Thanksgiving. After seeing the boys eat at the Harvester mother's banquet last night, Harry remarked that each one would be re-elected to 11 pieces of chicken. "We only have a couple of hundred chickens available," he declared.

The Phil Phillips orchestra from Amarillo played for dancing through the evening.

Thanksgiving Centerpiece

Thanksgiving is a harvest festival; it was established by the Puritans, as a day to give thanks for nature's bounty; and the decorations which not only best express the sentiment of the day, but best lend beauty and gaiety to the feast, are the fruits of the harvest and the flowers of the harvest season.

Tech Instructor Is P-TA Speaker

WHITE DEER, Nov. 19.—"A feeling of insecurity is often the cause of a child's first deceit," said Miss Bonnie K. Dysart, instructor in primary education at Texas Tech, in addressing the White Deer P. T. A., Monday evening, on the subject "Developing Honesty in the Child." From babyhood the child must feel that certain things are right and that he can rely upon certain courses of action, continued Miss Dysart.

After giving numerous situations in which the child may be forced by circumstances to lie or cheat, Miss Dysart concluded with the statement that one of the primary causes of dishonesty is forcing a child to conform to adult standards and urged that parents and teachers try to understand the child's point of view and to instill into him definite standards of right and wrong by which he may judge his own actions.

Preceding the address by Miss Dysart, the High School Girls' chorus and the Boys' Quartet entertained with a group of musical numbers and Clay Thompson, director of speech arts, gave a reading.

Dinner Welcomes Return of M. E. Pastor and Wife

Return of the Rev. W. C. House and Mrs. House to First Methodist church for another year was marked with a covered dish dinner attended by about a hundred members last evening. Dinner was served in the church dining room.

T. H. Henry had charge of the following talks and stunts: Travis Lovingly expressed the appreciation of the church for work done last year by the minister and his wife, and welcomed them back. Mrs. W. Purviance brought greetings from the Missionary society, and presented Mrs. House with a bouquet of beautiful chrysanthemums.

Responding, Mr. House thanked members for their cooperation, and gave a brief report of the annual conference which he attended in Houston lately.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorder, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pain, headache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Use your druggist for Doan's Kidney Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 million of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

How They Won Nobel Prizes

Heart Failure 2 1/2 Times Greater In Fat Folks

Says Medical Authority

Insurance companies constantly warn too much fat puts an added strain on the heart—overweight people are more liable to high blood pressure, indigestion, diabetes, kidney, liver and heart disorders.

So if you want to help yourself live to a ripe old age and enjoy robust health get rid of that dangerous burden of fat this easy safe way:

Cut down on fat meats, butter, cream and sugary sweets. Eat more fruit and vegetables. Take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water first thing every morning to aid proper elimination. Kruschen helps important body organs to work normally—it eliminates excess poisons and waste from both UPPER and LOWER bowel—insures blissful daily bowel action—no purging or harsh cathartics—helps keep you feeling fine and fit day in and out. Jar lasts for weeks and costs but few cents. Adv.

ned on him for life. When Anderson received a gold medal in New York for discovery of the "positron," Dean Pegram, of Columbia University, said, in presenting the medal.

"As long as he lives this young man will never be able to escape being known as the discoverer of the positron."

That was two years ago. Now Dr. Anderson shares in the Nobel prize in physics for the discovery.

"A thousand men took part in the scientific work that led to Anderson's discovery," said Dr. Pegram, "but he alone will be known as the discoverer."

Discoveries 'Inevitable'
"If Anderson had not found it, someone else most certainly would have made the discovery. His feat illustrates the fact that scientific discoveries are inevitable. If Wagner had not been born we would never have had Wagnerian music, nor Shakespearean plays if Shakespeare had not been born."

"But in science it is different. The individual is not so important. The great discoverers in science are men who, looking over the progress made by others, see a simple answer to a puzzle. That is no discredit to them. They are geniuses because they see the answer before their fellows."

Line Curved Wrong Way
What young, dark-haired Anderson saw was a line that curved in the wrong direction.

The line was a trail, like that of a rocket, left in vapor in a "cloud expansion chamber" registering cosmic rays at the California Institute of Technology.

This line appeared on a photograph. The pictures showed many lines, all of them trails of minute particles, knocked into motion by the impact of cosmic rays.

article making it was in a magnetic field—in the area between the poles of two magnets. All the particles made curved tracks because of this magnetic field.

But this particle curved the wrong way, wrong that is for its size. Its size was that of an electron, which is the elemental bit of electricity, and which curves always in the same direction in a magnetic field because it is negatively charged.

This line curved as if the particle was positively charged. Plenty of positive chunks of matter are knocked out by cosmic rays in a cloud chamber and they curve plainly in the positive manner.

'Hole In Space'
But no one had ever seen a particle as small as an electron curving in the positive direction. No one had suspected such a thing could exist.

It is true that the famous mathematician, De Broglie, had come close to such a prediction when he showed that there was probably something still undiscovered like "a hole in space."

Anderson's line that curved wrong turned out to be this "hole in space." Actually it is a positive electron, the "positron," twin particle of the electron. Unlike an electron it has a life as a separate particle of only a few millionths of a second. That is what Anderson caught.

By AUGUST LOEB
NEW YORK (AP)—Shattering all the commercial theater's rules, shy, brooding Eugene O'Neill reached his pinnacle.

The awarding of the Nobel literature prize to the playwright came as no surprise to New York critics, for early in his career they acclaimed him as the greatest dramatist ever produced on this side of the Atlantic.

He wrote tragedy when every frontiersman's expressive idiom already had become a legendary figure, the legend growing with the years. The test of any new playwright with claims to greatness seems to be how well he stands comparison with the author of "Strange Interlude."

Broadway producer believed the public would turn its back on anything the least bit unpleasant. His first full-length play, "Beyond the Horizon," proved to the most skeptical that post-war audiences would support a play lacking the conventional happy ending. He was barely 30 when this play brought him the first of three Pulitzer prizes.

Strange Intricacy
He showed four scenes in one in "Desire Under the Elms," by having simultaneous action in four rooms of a house during a single scene.

He made producers gasp when he wrote a poetic play, "The Great God Brown," using masks to express the dual nature of his characters.

And still more startling was his revival of the ancient "aside" in "Strange Interlude," whose characters thought as well as spoke aloud. With the same play, O'Neill made more theatrical history by telling his story in nine acts and letting the action run to twice the length of the usual play.

All this time he was creating a type of play new to the modern theater by combining poetry—strange poetry that it was—with drama. He obtained his effects through use of simple, forceful words, some of which long had been taboo in respectable playhouses. Blending speeches in which there was a primitive rhythm with fine-spun lyrical passages, he was hailed as a great poet as well as a great dramatist.

The Story Of Americans
Now 48, he remains as secretive and wary of publicity as in the first days of his Broadway triumphs. His latest undertaking has been reported to be a cycle of eight plays chronicling the drama of an American family through five generations. The Theater Guild calls this task "the most ambitious and the most interesting ever undertaken by any modern playwright."

Having told relatively little about his youth as sailor, beachcomber, newspaper man and actor, this man who translated the mysticism of his Irish ancestors into the American

FRENCH REDS CALL FOR ANTI-FASCIST PARADE

PARIS, Nov. 19 (AP)—French communists called today for a huge street protest against "Fascism—the assassin which killed Salengro."

They appealed for a great parade Sunday to coincide with the funeral at Lille of Minister of Interior Roger Salengro, who committed suicide

Tuesday night, blaming his Rightist accusers. Premier Leon Blum, temporarily taking over the interior portfolio, ordered a judicial inquiry into Salengro's death.

Facing a Leftist-Rightist storm over the suicide, the Socialist premier also was confronted by a new wave of strike trouble in the region about Lille.

A general walkout of metal workers was called there in sympathy with 2,700 workmen in a Lille factory who struck yesterday in protest against the discharge of a union delegate.

A "sit down strike" of dock workers at Bordeaux, at the same time, crippled waterfront activity.

DALLAS, Nov. 18 (AP)—Kansas observed its day at the Texas Centenial Exposition today with Governor-elect Walter Ruxton of that state chosen guest of honor. A six-voice choir of Kansas Wesleyan University was arranged as a highlight of the program. The movement of Texas school children continued with a special train chartered to bring a group from Nava-

Championships Of 2 Texas Districts Will Be Decided

Unbeaten Teams Are Not in Great Danger

DALLAS, Nov. 19 (AP)—Championships of two districts hang in the balance this week as the Texas interscholastic league football campaign enters the home stretch.

Barring startling upsets McKinney and Edinburg will hold those titles, joining two other champions already crowned—Kerrville in the San Antonio sector and Port Arthur in district fourteen.

McKinney plays Sulphur Springs in district six. It is the final conference game for the unbeaten Lions, who last week took out their most dangerous contender, Greenville.

Edinburg meets the sixth-place Brownsville Eagles in district sixteen and by winning can take the championship.

Other champions will wait until next week for traditional Thanksgiving day games to decide.

The state's five undefeated, untied teams do not appear to be in great danger. Amarillo plays Plainview, North Side is idle, Hillsboro meets Waxahachie, Dallas Tech engages Sunset (Dallas) and Kerrville engages Harlandale (San Antonio). Tech faces probably the strongest competition.

The week's schedule by districts: 1—Friday: Plainview at Pampa (district); Saturday: Amarillo at Borger (district), Lubbock at Clovis (New Mexico).

2—Friday: Olney at Childress (district); Electra at Graham (district).

SOIL CONSERVATION PROJECTS MANNED BY NYA IN 26 COUNTIES

AUSTIN, Nov. 19—Soil conservation projects manned by National Youth Administration workers are in operation in 26 counties of Texas, and have been approved for 2 additional counties, Lyndon B. Johnson, state director, announced this week. By mid-November the NYA plans to have projects approved in 64 Texas counties.

These projects are developed in cooperation with the Agricultural Extension Service of Texas A. & M. College. Through county agents, the Extension Service has provided technical supervision for surveys.

The projects now operating in 26 counties employ 104 youths. The additional projects, involving more intensive work in 23 other counties, will employ 414 more youths.

Surveying soil conservation terraces, diversion channels, gully reterds, check dams, and other appurtenances of soil conservation work.

The youths employed by the NYA on soil erosion projects work only one-fourth time and are paid at the prevailing wage rates for their community. Each field party is composed of the surveyor-supervisor and five or six youths by the NYA. A different group of youths works each week, so that a full-time conservation project may employ 20 to 25 youths.

WHISKEY TAX IS RAISED 2 CENTS IN LAW

LEVY ON STILL WINES ALSO RAISED BY LEGISLATURE

(Editor's Note: This is the third of a series on new taxes contained in the omnibus bill passed by the Texas legislature at its last special session.)

BY HARRELL E. LEE.

AUSTIN, Nov. 19 (AP)—One of the principal arguments for repeal of Texas prohibition was the state thereby would be able to derive tax benefits from liquor sales which could not be had in many sections. Beer of 3.2 per cent alcohol by volume or less became legal in 1933. Stronger beer, ale, wines and hard liquor were legalized last year. This new source of revenue is contributing substantially to the state's running expenses.

The legislature at its recent session boosted the tax on whiskey and other hard liquors and on still wines, effective November 30. The levy on beers was not changed.

The new tax on hard liquors will be 12 cents a pint, compared to the present 10 cents.

C. R. Miller, state liquor administrator, said the new levy would be considerably higher than those in the neighboring states of Arkansas and Louisiana.

A defeated House proposal to boost the rate to 15 cents was advanced again at the regular session opening in January. There also may be an-

PTA ON TEMPERANCE.

FORT WORTH, Nov. 19 (AP)—The twenty-eighth annual convention of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers prepared to vote today on a resolution urging compulsory temperance instruction in all state-supported schools and colleges. Beaumont was favored over Galveston and San Antonio for the 1937 convention. Officers will not be elected until 1938.

Mrs. C. L. Thomas was taken to her home from Pampa-Jarratt hospital Wednesday.

Mrs. L. E. Williams of Panhandle was dismissed from Pampa-Jarratt hospital Tuesday afternoon.

Up And Down The Air Waves

Persons who really enjoy good entertainment should stay close to their radios now. This is ideal radio weather and there are any number of high class programs to be heard. During the time KPND is on the air, they have a number of programs, featuring the nation's best entertainers, and both chain stations and independent stations are offering outstanding programs during the evening. Let your radio aid you in joyful living.

The play by play description of two important games will be broadcast by KPND this week. On Friday, the Pampa-Plainview game, and on Saturday the game between Panhandle and Perryton will be broadcast. Both games are to be played on Harvester Field in Pampa.

The way to get most enjoyment from these games is to attend and see them in action, but if you cannot see the game, then tune in KPND at 2:30 p. m. You will like the complete description of the games as put on the air by Bill Karns, KPND football announcer.

A large number of listeners will be disappointed on Sunday afternoon, for Mrs. Powell will not fill her regular time on KPND. She is taking a vacation, but will be back on schedule the following Sunday.

What do you think of the following programs for a full evening's entertainment: At 6, NBC, Easy Aces; 6:15, Sportscast, featuring Ted Husing; 6:30, Lum and Abner, NBC; 6:45, CBS, Boake Carter; 7, NBC, Russ Vallee, and on CBS, Kate Smith; at 8, on NBC, the Show Boat and on CBS, Major Bowes Amateur Hour; 9, NBC, Bing Crosby and Bob Burns; 8:30, CBS, March of Time; 10, NBC, Amos and Andy; For the night-hawks, at 11 on NBC, Ben Bernie, and on CBS, Ozzie Nelson.

The time for Uncle Bud's Barn Dance is drawing nearer. It is to be held Saturday night in the American Legion Hall in Borger. The show is to begin at 8 o'clock, and the music will be furnished by the Walkiki Novelty boys.

The late Will Rogers was once asked to give a testimonial for a certain make of American piano. "Dear Sirs," he wrote in reply, "I guess that your pianos are the best that I've leaned against."

Friday at 12:15 on KPND, Warren T. Fox, Gray county surveyor and a representative of the American Highway association will speak. He will speak on "On the Road—Life or Death."

The dedicatory program of the Borger Post Office will be broadcast, Saturday over KPND at 11 o'clock. Several well known speakers will appear on this program, and it marks an important event in the history of Borger.

Broadcast of the Panhandle-Perryton football game Saturday afternoon, direct from Harvester Park will prevent the Radio Roundup from going over KPND, but it will be heard on the following Saturday.

Harold Bauer, eminent concert pianist, will be Bing Crosby's guest on the Music Hall program at 9 o'clock tonight.

If you are an early riser and like organ music, you may hear a delightful half hour of organ music at 6:30 each morning on KPND.

We are just wondering whether or not Announcer, Bill Karns, of KPND, may be planning a pleasant surprise for the listeners in the near future. He and three other gentlemen are practicing as a quartet most every evening.

Other effort to restore the beer tax to its former $1.50 per barrel, 26 cents higher than the present levy. The chief argument against heavy taxes on beer and light wines is that it encourages persons to buy strong instead of mild drinks.

The tax on still wines containing less than 14 per cent alcohol was increased from two to 10 cents a gallon. That on like wines of between 14 and 24 per cent was boosted from five to 20 cents per gallon.

Miller estimated revenues under the new taxes would amount to about $6,500,000 a year.

Nine-seventeen of the 254 counties in Texas now permit the sale of hard liquors in some or all of their precincts. They contain more than half of the state's population. Fifty-six others have legal beer.

Opponents of legalized liquor have not given up hope that Texas eventually will return to statewide prohibition, at least so far as hard liquors are concerned. Another vote on the question is not expected in the near future, however.

Prohibitionists doubtless will pay close attention to the results of local option elections so they will be prepared to press for statewide support of their views in event these elections show a number of localities switching from the wet to the dry column.

MISTAKE IDENTITY

STUART, Ia. (AP)—Karl McCuskey, telephone company manager, and Glenn Bufkin, funeral director, who look almost like twins, used to enjoy being mistaken for each other. The fun wore off, both agreed, when McCuskey was berated for failing to deliver flowers and Bufkin was congratulated on the arrival of the McCuskey baby.

TUGWELL POLICIES TO BE CONTINUED BY RA

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—Policies of Rexford G. Tugwell will go marching on, it was indicated today, even though the handsome "brain trust" will not be here to "administer them."

For instance, there is the farm tenancy program, which already has been started by Tugwell and which is bound up with theories of "paternalistic" government so routinely denounced by anti-new dealers.

Dr. Will W. Alexander, Tugwell assistant slated to fill his chief's shoes as resettlement administrator, has come out for a plan which is a virtual continuation of the Tugwell undertaking.

Dr. Alexander, former Methodist minister who is down in the southern sharecropper belt looking over the situation first hand, said last night the program should be a long range one, in which farmers would be closely supervised as the government status of farm tenants to land owners.

Tugwell's agency already has acquired 74,000 miles of farm land in southern states, with the idea of permitting tenants to buy it, over a long period and under close supervision.

BANK FILES SUIT

The First National Bank of Pampa today filed suit in Gray county district court against John L. Cecil, seeking to collect $5,947 allegedly due on two promissory notes issued in 1932.

OPERA STARS MARKED IN EXTORTION PLOT

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 19 (AP)—A plot to extort money from women opera stars through the use of fake, low pictures spread its ramifications here today from the North Dakota prison cell where it assertedly was conceived.

Under arrest here for transfer to North Dakota to face an indictment was Peter Kosteros, 41, of Buffalo, U. S. Attorney P. W. Lanier of Fargo, N. D., said Kosteros provided the photographs of nudes from which the extortion pictures were built. He is the father of seven children.

Lanier, here to press the investigation, said Theodore Larson, serving a life sentence for murder; Frank S. Fowler, another North Dakota prisoner, and George Schultz, a guard, were under indictment for their alleged parts in the plot.

The prosecution said Lily Pons and Rosa and Carmela Ponselle were among intended victims.

Owls Drill To Check Pass Attack Of Slingin' Sammy

Methodists Hope to Break Jinx at Waco

(By The Associated Press) The Rice Owls concentrated today on anti-aircraft tactics designed to check the pass attack on "Slingin' Sam" Baugh and his Texan Christian mates in the Owl-Horned Frog conference game at Houston Saturday.

The Owls also gave attention to their own aerial game. Quarterback Jake Schuble was the only regular on the injury list and he was expected to see service against the Frog.

The Christians, needing a victory over Rice to remain in the running for the conference title, worked against Owl formations and brushed up on their offense. Coach Duch Meyer took no chances of Baugh being injured in the Southern Methodist-Southern Methodist Mustangs laid plans to break the jinx Baylor has held over the Ponies at Waco. Coach Matty Bell drilled the squad on both defense and offense.

MARQUETTE WILL PLAY DUQUESNE NIGHT RIDERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP)—Although the renewal of regional rivalries dating back to football's dark ages makes up the largest part of this Saturday's semi-final gridiron card for the second straight week, the important scenes are laid in a pair of inter-sectional struggles and one old midwestern one.

Alabama's unbeaten Rose Bowl hopeful's back left a scheduled day off and watch while their chief rivals for post season honors, Fordham and Marquette, and the standard contender for the mythical national crown, Northwestern, take what may be the final hurdle of the dying campaign.

Wear Leads Reapers To 24 To 0 Victory Over Bucks

Pass Combination Is Given Credit For Win

Big Jack Wear, Junior high Reaper fullback, added four more touchdowns to his long list when he registered a 24 to 0 drubbing to the White Deer second string yesterday afternoon in White Deer.

Although the big fullback registered all the touchdowns, it was a pass combination and some mighty sweet interference that put the ball in scoring position for all the touchdowns.

DOGERS BUY MALINSKY

BROOKLYN, Nov. 19 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers today purchased the contract of Shortstop Tony Malinsky from the Pittsburgh Pirates. It was announced as a straight cash transaction. Malinsky played last year for Burleigh Grimes, new manager of the Dodgers, at Louisville and batted .305. This is the first purchase announced by the club since Grimes replaced Casey Stengel as manager.

'Hunch Players' Pick Notre Dame Against Wildcats

CHICAGO, Nov. 19 (AP)—Elmer Layden, Notre Dame's football boss, is hoping the "hunch players" have a field day Saturday. If the boys who base their picks on confidence or omens, or for no particular reason, are right, Notre Dame's Irish will apply balm to a year-old wound by blasting Northwestern's perfect season and national football honor dreams. Otherwise, the Wildcats will attain their twin goals, Layden sadly figures.

Assault to murder charges will be filed against a man now being held in city jail, according to County Attorney Sherman White. The man was arrested about 3 o'clock this morning by City Officers Weldon Wilson and Jeff Guthrie after Harold S. Dinkle had been stabbed.

Dinkle, rushed to Worley hospital in a car, was found to have been stabbed in the left side, the knife entering between two ribs and puncturing the lung. His condition this morning was considered serious by attending physicians.

The stabbing took place, officers said, in front of a South Hobart street store. Officers called to the scene failed to find the knife. Attending physicians said the wound could have been inflicted by a knife blade 4 inches long or longer.

SAFETY SIGNS PUT UP IN DISTRICTS

Newly painted safety signs in all school districts were installed yesterday and today by the Pampa Kiwanis club safety committee, it was announced by J. B. Massa, chairman of the group.

The project is sponsored by the civic club under its safety program which is one of the organization's major movements this year.

Twenty signs in all will be installed in the school zones, Mr. Massa stated. They are erected to warn motorists to slow down and to keep a lookout for children crossing the streets.

MARY MCCORMIC VISITS IN CITY

Mary McCormic, the grand opera star, who returned to Amarillo Wednesday for a few days' rest from a Los Angeles engagement, was a Pampa visitor late yesterday afternoon.

She was accompanied here by her brother, J. H. Harris, and her mother, Odell and Willard Harris, of Amarillo, owners of the Harris Food Stores in the Panhandle.

The opera star's only stop in Pampa was at the new Harris Food store, recently opened here. The party arrived about 5 p. m. and left an hour later for the return to Amarillo.

Otis Humphrey, manager of the Pampa store, said Miss McCormic may again visit Pampa late today.

FOX TO GIVE SAFETY TALK

TO SPEAK OVER KPDN FRIDAY IN SERIES OF ADDRESSES

Warren T. Fox, Gray county surveyor, will speak over radio station KPDN at 12:15 o'clock Friday in one of a series of traffic safety addresses that will be presented within the next three months over approximately 150 radio stations throughout the county.

Because of its Panhandle coverage, Station KPDN was selected by the American Road Builders' Association, national organization, to broadcast the message in the campaign that is being conducted for "built-in-safety" on the nation's highways.

Mr. Fox's subject on KPDN tomorrow will be, "On the Road—Life Or Death."

The Gray county surveyor will present the subject of safety from the standpoint of the highway, one of the three factors that compose the safety triangle—driver, vehicle and road.

The Committee on Safe Highways is making a national survey in an effort to determine the extent to which defective highways and streets enter into the motor vehicle traffic toll that is claiming an average of 100 lives every 24 hours. The committee will make its first report at the association's 1937 convention in New Orleans, La., next Jan. 11-15.

Incomplete statistics already obtained show that 60 per cent of all motor vehicle accidents occur at night, even though only 20 per cent of the total 24-hour traffic operates at night. Experiments are being conducted at a number of key points to determine the safety advantages of modern highway lighting, and the committee's report in January is expected to include specific information that may be used to reduce the night traffic toll.

In September a total of 1,481,946 gallons of gasoline was sold at wholesale in Greenville county, S. C.

He said that construction, the making of capital goods and the export trade of the country are still operating at levels that "are far below normal and which account for most of our unemployment."

"We are making gradual progress in all of them, and it does not appear probable that the election results will either accelerate or retard the rates of improvement. Construction is increasing in volume, but it is held back by high costs. A vast amount of governmental money and effort has been devoted to attempts to stimulate it, but without availing much to speed up private expenditure."

"The production of capital goods is largely dependent on new financing by corporations."

"The economist said "we should be asking ourselves how it is that Canadian business has been able to accomplish an almost complete recovery, and to do it in the main by old-fashioned undramatic methods of self reliance and local initiative."

In the four years since 1932, the colonel said, Canada has regained 97 per cent of the depression losses, while this country has regained 70 per cent of them.

MARY MCCORMIC VISITS IN CITY

Mary McCormic, the grand opera star, who returned to Amarillo Wednesday for a few days' rest from a Los Angeles engagement, was a Pampa visitor late yesterday afternoon.

She was accompanied here by her brother, J. H. Harris, and her mother, Odell and Willard Harris, of Amarillo, owners of the Harris Food Stores in the Panhandle.

The opera star's only stop in Pampa was at the new Harris Food store, recently opened here. The party arrived about 5 p. m. and left an hour later for the return to Amarillo.

Otis Humphrey, manager of the Pampa store, said Miss McCormic may again visit Pampa late today.

"We also will offer our services gratis to anyone who may wish to seek our counsel in their planting problems," Clayton said.

Explanation Of Federal Old-Age Benefits

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is another in the series of questions and answers dealing with many phases of the government's Social Security legislation which goes into effect next Jan. 1. The questions and answers are designed to fully explain provisions of the act.

Q. 32. If I became 30 years old on July 1, 1936, and for 35 years my wages average $150 a month, how much will my total wages be?

A. Your sixty-fifth birthday will occur on July 1, 1971, and you will be able to include wages for employment during 34½ years, or 414 months. If your wages for this period are equal to an average of $150 per month, your total will be $62,100.

Q. 33. If my total wages are $62,100 when I reach 65, what will my monthly Federal old-age retirement benefits be?

A. The amount of your monthly Federal old-age retirement benefits will be ½ per cent of the first $3,000, plus 1/12 per cent of $42,000, plus 1/24 per cent of the remaining $17,100.

½ per cent of $3,000 $15.00
1/12 per cent of $42,000 35.00
1/24 per cent of $17,100 7.12

Total $57.12
Your monthly Federal old-age retirement benefits will be $57.12.

Q. 34. If my wages total $150,000 for employment after 1936 and before reaching age 65, what will my monthly benefits be?

A. $68, the maximum monthly Federal old-age retirement benefit which will be paid amounts to ½ per cent of $2,000, or $10 a month.

Q. 35. If I am entitled to receive monthly Federal old-age retirement benefits, will these benefits be paid while I continue working in an included employment?

A. No. Your monthly Federal old-age retirement benefits will be reduced by one month's benefit for every month in any part of which you work in such regular employment.

Q. 37. Will the government withhold your receiving your full Federal old-age retirement benefits.

A. The law provides that Federal old-age retirement benefits to the individuals must be reduced by an amount equal to one month's benefit for each calendar month in any part of which he receives wages for such regular employment.

Q. 38. If I continue to receive monthly benefits, will these continue until my death, regardless of how long I live?

A. Yes, subject to the restriction set forth in the answer to the previous question.

Q. 39. Will my monthly Federal old-age retirement benefits be reduced if I have an income of my own from savings or investments?

A. No. The amount of these benefits is determined solely on the basis of your wage record between Dec. 31, 1936, and your sixty-fifth birthday. The benefits are not reduced if you have an income from savings or investments, nor are they increased if you are in financial need.

Q. 40. If I have worked for a company that has its own pension system, can I still receive Federal old-age retirement benefits?

A. Yes. Pensions you may receive from such source will not prevent

FOR URGES HIRING OF WORKERS OVER FORTY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—President Roosevelt called on industry today to give a "fair share" of jobs to older workers and to unskilled labor.

He deplored the policy under which, he said, "many of the largest industries will not hire workers over 40 years of age."

In a statement issued at the White House as the chief executive traveled toward South America, Mr. Roosevelt said re-employment has increased rapidly, with the result that relief rolls in August were 28 per cent under the peak of 5,316,000 families and single persons reached in January, 1935.

"Despite this decline," he continued, "a large number of unemployed remain on the WPA and other governmental agencies."

"These workers are to a large extent unskilled and a disproportionately large number are older workers—40 years and over. The sharpest revival in employment has been among skilled workers and relatively young workers."

Declaring that under present industrial policy many older and unskilled persons would be condemned to permanent unemployment, he said: "It is scarcely necessary to point to the seriousness of this policy to the unemployed. Long continued unemployment for the older workers results sooner or later in unemployment."

SEPTICISM ONE OF OUR MOST VALUABLE TRAITS

The salty American trait of skepticism is one of the most valuable things we possess. We have become an "Oh, yeah?" nation, and it is good for us.

The person who found this "oh most recently" seems to be the Louisiana lady who presented her husband with a bouncing baby boy and announced that a stray dog had carried it in from a swamp.

For a little while there seemed to be the makings of a first-rate sensation in this yarn. Official persons started hunting (a) the dog, and (b) the child's parents; credulous folk up by the forks of the creek began reading signs and portents into the occurrence, and the miracle-mongers were all set to take deep breaths and shout hal-lu-lu-lu-lu-lu.

But the saving habit of skepticism came to the rescue. Cynical folks began to pry the good woman with questions, and in the end it came out that the baby had been brought by the stork instead of a dog.

The bottom fell out of the sensation, and the Louisiana back country returned to normal again.

Now the nice thing about this habit of ours is that we seem to be getting the capacity to say "Oh, yeah?" to tall tales from big people as well as to tall tales from little people. The lady from Louisiana is not the only to discover that it is getting very hard to sell a fantastic yarn to the American public.

The Spanish civil war brought out a fine crop of atrocity stories. The World War itself produced none better. There were enough tales of torture, mass executions, and general, sadistic cussedness to make one's blood boil—if he happened to believe them. But most of them failed to get very far.

The American public went for a big batch of those things a couple of decades ago; now it is a trifle wiser. We have had tall-tale bearers in politics, too. One gentleman came forward with a sure-cure scheme by which everyone in the land who had passed his or her 65th birthday would be paid $200 a month by the government—a scheme so marvelous that these vast sums could be paid without bankrupting the treasury or imposing crippling taxes.

The voters looked at it, sniffed at the edges cautiously, and decided that they had smelled that smell before. Another wonder-worker demonstrated that our every ill came from a bum money system. If the people would all follow his advice on money matters and vote as he said, all their troubles would be over. This man, too, got a weary "Oh, yeah?" for his pains.

There were others, whom you no doubt can remember for yourself. They used fine phrases and double-jointed adjectives to prove that the republic was about to collapse, that our financial institutions were on the brink of ruin, and that Mr. Stalin was just over the next hill—and the people somehow just didn't believe them.

Skepticism is a fine thing.

DAILY WASHINGTON LETTER

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON—Post-mortems over failure of big polls and individual prognostications to forecast the Roosevelt landslide have been in order for several days. Such cohesion of opinion as there is seems to substantiate this writer's deduction that the big difference was due to what might aptly be described as the "grunt" vote.

Anyone who traveled around a bit and sought to take personal polls recalls the large number of prospective voters who answered inquiries and leading remarks with non-committal noises.

This was especially true among taxi drivers, waiters, bellboys, pullman porters, and similar groups whom all nosy amateur and professional pulse-feelers conscientiously quiz. But they all were celebrating election night and the day after.

Other wage earners and white collar workers obviously concealed their sentiments for reasons of policy, fearing to annoy the boss. The tendency of many farmers to sit on the fence and merely grunt when interviewed already has been mentioned in these dispatches.

Ad it seems reasonable now to believe that all this "grunt vote" was equally reticent when asked to declare itself in polls and straw votes.

Some polls did much better than others, but none came near forecasting the big national popular and electoral majorities for Roosevelt. If one poll and its method of sampling seems to look better than another, you may care to recall that after 1932 there were many plausible wisecracks that parties and states might well save themselves the expenses of elections and let the Literary Digest do the job.

Many of Gov. Alf Landon's friends were reasonably sure that in 1938 he will run for the U. S. Senate seat of Democratic Senator George McGill of Wichita. It has been axiomatic in Kansas that any 1938 Republican nominee could beat McGill. This feeling isn't as strong as it was before the recent landslide, but it persists.

There is also talk to the effect that John D. M. Hamilton may seek the senatorial nomination in Kansas two years hence. A contest between Hamilton and Landon would be interesting, but it is hardly conceivable.

Alf is more popular than John, but the latter would bow himself out if Landon actually wanted to run. In fact, if both men were to seek the nomination it is a good bet that both would be licked.

Former Gov. Clyde M. Reed of Parsons is understood to be wanting that nomination for himself. Reed has no liking for Hamilton nor any love for Landon. The latter was his campaign manager when Reed was nominated for governor over Hamilton in 1928 and subsequently elected.

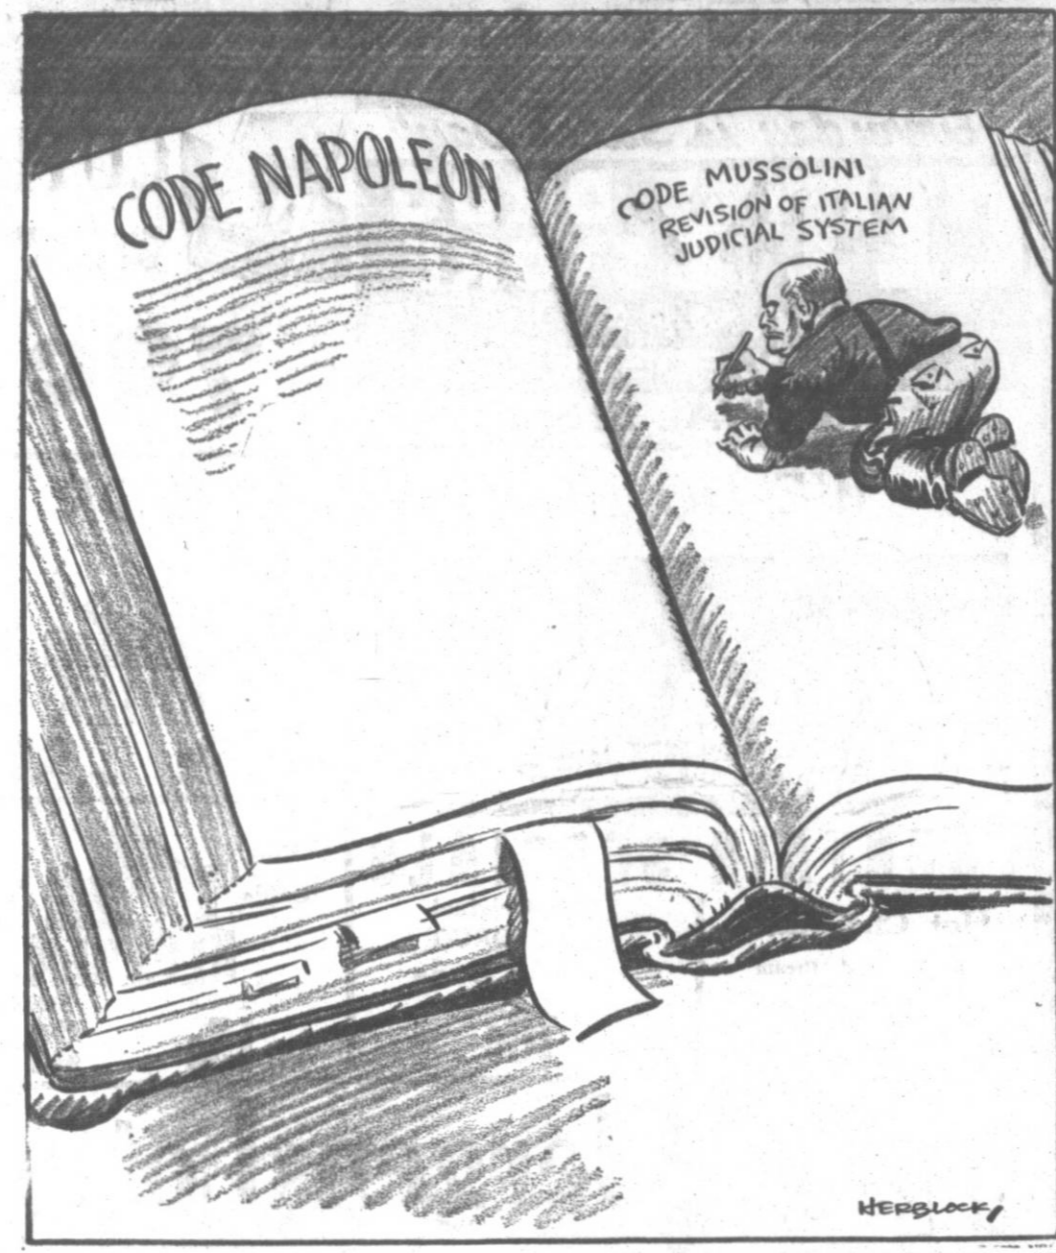

Reed slapped at Hamilton publicly during the recent campaign and has been cool toward Landon ever since. Alf counted the support of some of Reed's bitterest enemies in the campaign of 1932.

Most Kansans agree he would give Landon a stiff fight.

A New York tramp, on the prowl for cigar butts, inquired the way to "Tobacco Road."

We may be shy on philosophers these days, but we're well supplied with what an advertiser calls "style-wise men."

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

NEW YORK—Undoubtedly the most living vignettes of celebrities come from the things they say—not, after all, from the size of their yachts or the color of their hair.

In a reminiscent mood, one checks up on the extemporaneous utterances of various personalities made in the presence of this ivory (sic) tower from time to time.

Muriel Kreischer on the deck of a trans-Atlantic liner in New York harbor: "Since my youth I've had a passionate interest for incubating published prior to 1900. I have 600 volumes now and I plan to sell them. This may seem a strange thing to do, but I believe that if a man is a collector of books he must never allow it to lapse into a status quo. If you can not add and can not exchange what you have for something you greatly want, then you should withdraw. Book collecting is a serious thing."

Muriel Robinson (portrait painter who is pretty enough to be a model herself): "If you want to be a great artist, you should have weak eyes. Leave your glasses off while dabbing and you easily achieve that blurred, diffused effect that many artists strive to attain."

Billie Rose (Broadway's most imaginative impresario who produces cabarets in circus tents and beereries in opera houses; Paris is a beautiful city, but they run it like a carnival. I'm going back to London and open a nightclub with a chorus of American girls. There are more pretty girls between 42nd and 59th street on Broadway than in all of Europe. All those over there have ankles like Lou Gehrig.")

Louis Ferdinand (Prince of Prussia and a son of the Kaiser, on his last visit to New York): "When I first went to America people had a difficult time remembering my name and I was never able to receive the degree which made me a doctor, and they found it more simple to call me Dr. Ferdinand. I like that much better."

Noel Coward (recalling earlier adventures while idling about the studio of Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne): "The South seas are wonderful to yacht through but not to swim in. The Earl of Amherst and I tried it once and the heavy breakers pounded us against a coral reef. We came out of it with a horrible case of local poisoning."

Prince Michael Romanoff (alias Harry Gerguson, an East Side boy, who kept port authorities in a turmoil for years by stowing away on deluxe ocean liners): "I never read what the newspapers say about me. Do not read anything, anything for a laugh."

Rosario de Triana (Spanish dancer, between flurries of her castanets at El Chico's, in Grove street): "If my expressions seem strange, it is because we Flancons never smile. Do not be alarmed. I am not in pain. I have just come up from South America and intend to stop off only a short while, but, quiet sake—if I fall in love I may be here longer."

Grace Moore (over cocktails at the Waldorf): "Life for some may begin at 40, but for me it begins at 7 p. m. Then I come home from my work, rest an hour, and put on my most glamorous evening gown!"

W. A. Madigan (keeper of the cellar at the hotel Gotham): "In certain German wines you will find raten gold, and you can't be accused of hoarding if you drink it. Those wispes of gold can't be digested, but they won't hurt you because gold doesn't rust. Fancy that!"

John Stivaard (but don't print that, he says) was 20, and Harold Ogden (but don't print that!) pleads was 18 when they met. They are a habit to each other now, about the only thing on which they disagree being the climate.

And even that is a matter in which their wives have the say. Mrs. Olsen lives California, but Mrs. Johnson wants to live in the east, coming out just for pictures. Or maybe it's the other way around, Olsen and Johnson, on behalf of their respective wives, had quite an argument about it, but didn't settle anything.

The Wrong Murderer

By HUGH CLEVELY

Chapter 27 THE SLY ELISA Lawson's impatience was increasing to get off the line; he hardly thought what he was saying.

"You could get him away from her all right, my dear Elsa, if you liked," he replied. "I think he's a lot more interested in you than he is in her. If you could make her jealous she might turn against him."

"What . . ." Exclaimed Elsa. Lawson smiled. Actually the remark he had just made idly, on the spur of the moment, struck him as an idea with possibilities in it. But he didn't want to go into that now.

"Don't you bother your head any more tonight about Miss Fraser, or anybody else," he said in a firm but kindly tone. "You go to bed and get a good night's rest. I'm not going to talk to you any more now. Good night, Elsa."

With that he rang off. Elsa replaced the receiver slowly, and then sat down to think some more. Lawson's suggestion had started a curious train of thought working in her head. A prominent film actress, noted for her beauty, can hardly fail to be conscious of her powers of attraction. Elsa was not concerned, but she knew from experience that men fell easily in love with her. Both Ruth and Lawson had suggested that Mahony was attracted by her. If he was . . .

A curious thought set look came over her face as she sat there alone in that room thinking. She was considering a plan which she hated, but which she meant to carry out. If Mahony was attracted by her, she meant to use that attraction to free Ruth from his clutches, and to bring about his own downfall and avenge her uncle. It would be a hateful doing, but her only weapons were her wit, and beauty and she was entitled to use them in the fight against her uncle's murderer.

At last, with a sigh, she rose from her chair, walked wearily to her bedroom, and went to bed. Meanwhile Lawson sat on in his study, smoking cigar after cigar, and waiting for a telephone call which did not come.

Mahony had just finished breakfast, and was smoking a cigarette, when his landlady announced that a lady wished to see him.

"Please show her in," he said. His landlady withdrew. There was a sound of footsteps crossing the hall. The door opened, and Elsa Little stood in the doorway, hesitatingly, as if unsure of her welcome; her voice, when she spoke, was subdued and timid.

"I—I don't suppose you want to see me, but I had to come," she said falteringly. "I want to say how sorry I am for the things I said yesterday morning. I was upset; I hardly knew what I was saying."

"You mean you don't suspect me of killing your uncle?" said Mahony in a delighted tone.

Mahony's heart beat faster with excitement as he waited for her answer.

"Well . . . I did think I recognized your voice in the room," she admitted hesitatingly. "But I couldn't have if you were with Ruth when it happened. It must have been somebody with a voice something like yours."

That made Mahony feel rather awkward. He was an impetuous impulse to tell her the whole truth—that it had been his voice, but that all the same he had not killed her uncle. Better not, though, he thought—not yet.

"I can't tell you how glad I am you don't suspect me any more," he said. "I hated your thinking that it was I who had killed your uncle."

His voice and manner gave the impression of absolute sincerity, and for a moment Elsa was puzzled. If this was acting, it was very good acting. And then she decided that it was acting. But she smiled charmingly.

"I didn't like suspecting you," she said. "You see, I—I rather liked you when I met you before, and it was an awful shock to me to think that you'd done that."

"It's just as anxious to bring the murderer to justice as you are," said Mahony.

He hesitated.

"Now that you don't think I did it, may I see you again some time?" he asked awkwardly.

"Oh, yes, I'd like to see you again," Elsa said brightly. "I'm so glad that will show everyone I don't suspect you. The answer I got last night, 'Thank you very much,' said Mahony gratefully.

There came a knock on the door; the landlady announced a gentleman to see Mr. Mahony. The gentleman was Inspector Kennedy, accompanied by another plain-clothes man; he entered in an abrupt, business-like manner, but stopped short in surprise on seeing Mahony and Elsa together in the room, apparently engaged in friendly conversation.

"Come in morning, Inspector," said Elsa. "I've just been telling Mr. Mahony how sorry I am for all the silly things I said about him yesterday."

Inspector Kennedy did not know what to make of this at all. Actually he had come to see Mahony in order to arrest Mahony. But now he thought he would wait a bit.

"You mean you've withdrawn the accusations you made yesterday," he said. "I expect Mr. Mahony is pleased."

"I'm very pleased," answered Mahony. "But I'm not pleased. The fact that Elsa said she no longer suspected him was a great weight off my mind."

"I must be going now," said Elsa. "I'll see you this evening, Mr. Mahony."

"Walk with you to your car, Miss Little," put in Inspector Kennedy quickly.

He escorted her to the car, and held the door open for her to enter. Then he stood for a moment with one foot on the runningboard, eyeing her keenly.

"You had better understand that you have abandoned your suspicions of Mahony, Miss Little?" he asked. Elsa shook her head. Her face was pale; the interview with Mahony had been a strain on her.

"No," she answered in a low voice. "I haven't abandoned any of my suspicions. But I want him to think I have."

Inspector Kennedy said nothing; he merely looked at her enquiringly. It seemed she felt that some further explanation was called for.

"I think he likes me," she went on in an embarrassed manner. "I want to get him away from Mahony—to save her from him, and to—to try to make him feel quite confident, and relax his guard, and say more than he means to."

"I see. You mean to vamp him, get him to love you, and then hand him over to me?" suggested the Inspector.

"Put like that it did not sound very nice, Elsa flushed.

"Do you think I care what I do, if I can convict my uncle's murderer?" she asked passionately. "Besides, that's going to happen to Ruth if—if things go on as they are. She's much too nice to ruin her reputation and get herself into all kinds of dreadful scandals for the sake of a man like him. Somebody's got to interfere between her and him."

"You think she's completely under his influence at present, do you?" said the Inspector.

"Yes, completely," answered Elsa. "Though how he obtained such an influence over her in one meeting I don't know. But he's clever, horribly clever. It seems so honest and decent, and he's such a rotter underneath it."

Inspector Kennedy's quick mind pounced immediately on one sentence in her last speech.

"You say he obtained his influence over Miss Fraser in one meeting. I don't think of her as being passionately in fact, I had a very different one. What do you mean by that?" he asked.

"Ruth told me that before they met yesterday at my house, Elsa only seen him once," replied Elsa. "At least that's exactly the way it's sort of slipped my mind."

The young Inspector's keen face was alight with interest. Evidently he regarded what Elsa had just said as very important indeed.

CAPITOL JIGSAW

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, Nov. 19 (AP)—The population of the capital basement continues to grow because other floors are crowded. Late additions to those who work below the ground level are the cigarette tax division of the comptroller's department.

During most of the last year employees of that division were quartered in committee rooms at the rear of the Senate chamber, but when legislators gathered for the recent special session the tax people were shunted to a wire cage constructed in the east wing of the basement.

Soon they will be moved to three rooms formerly occupied by the carpenter and now being refurbished.

For several months the engineering department of the board of control worked in a similar wire cage in the west wing of the basement, but when cold weather came they were transferred upstairs.

Chairman Claud Teer of the board admits he is at his wits end to find offices for employees of the many departments created by the legislature in recent years. For example, the new unemployment compensation bureau must be located somewhere.

Pressure for a state office building is increasing and probably will culminate in efforts to obtain an appropriation for that purpose at the regular session convening in January.

Lieut.-Gov. Walter F. Woodul took exception in a talk before a luncheon club, to a statement by Dr. Thomas J. McEulhenney, member of the state health planning board, that Texas was spending three times as much to protect animals from parasitic diseases as to protect human beings.

"The people of Texas," Woodul said, "are spending more for human health than for protection of animals. Medicine is a matter for cities and counties, and Harris county, for instance, has one hospital and the city of Houston now is spending $1,500,000 for a municipal hospital."

Discussing the care given tuberculosis sufferers, Woodul said that "if the state took care of every indigent case of tuberculosis that appears the state treasury would be bankrupted."

With the long regular session of the legislature near, more and more will be heard of the race for speaker of the House of Representatives, which to date has been in preliminary stages.

Rep. Bob Calvert of Hillsboro, supported by Gov. Allred, claims to have more than 100 votes pledged, but in every such race if the votes claimed by candidates were added the total probably would be far more than the entire membership of the House.

Others who want to succeed Speaker Ooke Stevenson of Junction, not seeking re-election, are Homer Leonard of McAllen, Emmett Morse of Houston and Albert Walker of Vernon.

In winning the honor for the second time, Stevenson last year narrowly defeated Calvert.

A committee of the House recommended that the rules be amended to prevent any possible illegal alterations of bills or papers.

The recommendation was contained in a report by the committee which investigated the mysterious appearance of an extra section in the omnibus tax bill after it was introduced in the House.

As a precaution, the chief clerk is affixing her seal to each page of bills. She is the only one with access to the seal.

After several weeks campaigning and hunting in New Mexico, Gov. Allred returned to the grind of official duties fairly exuding high spirits and apparently in excellent health.

In addition to making a number of speeches for the national Democratic ticket with Gov. Clyde Tingley of New Mexico, Allred shot a small deer and got in a lot of horse-back riding.

"Yes, I shot a buck," he laughed. "But don't ask me how large it was. It was not as big as the one Herman Jones killed but was a deer just the same. We would call it a blacktail, I suppose."

Rep. Jones of Decatur made the trip with the party after battling almost to the hour of departure the latter's plan of delimiting the old age assistance law, recently approved by the legislature.

The governor also opined the deer he killed in New Mexico wouldn't be counted when he went hunting in Texas.

"The Texas law allows two bucks," he said. "I won't commit myself as to whether I will kill one more or two."

Campaigning in New Mexico was harder than in Texas, he commented, because of greater distances between speaking places. However, he kept all scheduled appearances and gave the Republicans the "works" at each stand.

they never had carried previously," he said, "and were victorious in many districts and local, as well as state, offices. Gov. Tingley will have a majority in the legislature for the next two years."

Allred voiced satisfaction over one event which occurred during his absence, and regret over another. The former was adoption of the constitutional amendment increasing salaries of certain state officers, while the latter was the announcement of Jack Chevigny he would not again seek the job of coaching football at the University of Texas.

"I am very grateful to Lieut.-Gov. Walter Woodul for his well-organized campaign in behalf of the amendment," Allred said. "Of course, that is very fine about Mr. Lockhart's, Mr. Sheppard's and the other salary raises and I'm not interested in the governor's."

Charley Lockhart, state treasurer, George H. Sheppard, comptroller, Attorney General McCraw the secretary of state, and the late commissioner, as well as the governor, received handsome boosts in pay. The governor will receive $12,000 annually instead of the present $4,000.

Allred added that after the increase was effective in January he might be able to "pay off some debts" and figured on "getting by nicely on that amount."

The governor of New Mexico, he said, is paid $5,000 salary, but has in addition a $15,000 expense account on which he was not required to report to the Texas governor is given $1,000 annually for traveling expenses and $2,000 for maintenance of the mansion.

Allred said Chevigny was a "fine fellow and a good coach" and had a "good football team." The victory over Notre Dame a year ago, he said, made up for the "unfortunate losses."

SANTA FE FREIGHT AGENT VISITS HERE

Dick Roberts, freight and traveling passenger agent of the Santa Fe railroad, was a visitor in Pampa Tuesday. While here he contacted school and chamber of commerce officials regarding a special train to Amarillo for the Thanksgiving Day football game between the Pampa Harvesters and the Amarillo Sondies.

A new low price was quoted by Mr. Roberts who said 85 cents had been set for the round trip ticket. It would be possible to have the train leave here at 1 o'clock and arrive back at 6 o'clock.

The train, if sponsored, would stop about a block from the football field. It would not be necessary to go downtown. Safety of a trip by train was pointed out by Mr. Roberts.

FAIR BONDS.
The New York world's fair of 1939 is to offer bonds to the investing public. Debentures to the tune of $27,928,500 will be put on sale this month or early in December. The interest rate will be four per cent. The maturity date will be Jan. 1, 1941. Business men, bankers and brokers will cooperate in disposing of the issue and will do so without any commission charges.

The bonds will be backed by an indenture calling for the organization to set aside forty per cent of the gross gate receipts and delivered daily to the bond trustees. These funds will be used for the payment of interest and principal at maturity. The general belief is that the flotation will be successful. Offering will be made at par.

LOWER.
Due to low railroad passenger fares the eastern division of Greyhound isn't doing so well. It is no surprise to insiders. Your correspondent hears that a move is afoot to reduce fares. The anticipated cut in bus fares is to affect the whole Atlantic seaboard.

Officials of the line believe that in order to regain business lost to railroads bus fares will have to be reduced to the spread which ruled before rails cut their prices. It means lower revenues for Greyhound until a heavy traffic build-up results.

FACTS.
Wall Streeters are still suffering headaches because of bets made on the elections . . . St. Joseph Lead is the oldest and largest lead producer in the United States—established in 1864 . . . The National Bituminous Coal Commission will fight railroads on any new charges when the emergency freight rate schedule expires Dec. 31—say it cost that industry $30,000,000 annually . . . Thatcher Manufacturing is the largest manufacturer of milk bottles in this country . . . Goodrich has a patent on an inner tube which seals punctures in tires while the car is in motion—product known as Seal-O-Matic tube . . . United Corporation owns nearly 2,500,000 shares of Columbia Gas common in addition to 15,633 shares of the convertible preferred . . . OLD QUAKER
A barrel of quality to complete Thanksgiving joy!
On Thanksgiving Day, good Old Quaker will give you reasons plenty to be truly thankful. You'll be thankful that there's a really rich whiskey which doesn't cost you a barrel of money. You'll be thankful for the taste of it—the smoothness of it—and the modest price of it. But there's more to be thankful for. Because Old Quaker straight whiskey is now 50% older, yet not a cent added to the price!

QUESTIONS ON SECURITY LAW ARE ANSWERED

POSTMASTER ABLE TO EXPLAIN VAGUE POINTS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—That perennial sage, Mr. Postmaster, is being depended on by the government to explain the security act pensions to all comers in the weeks ahead. The security board is establishing 56 regional offices to cooperate.

Wide publicity has been given to how the pensions will be computed, the taxes levied and the types of employment not covered by the law. But a thousand and one questions of detail and administration are coming up.

Will these pensions be like relief? Will a worker get back as much as he is taxed? What if he works until 75 and dies without collecting anything? So they run.

There is the matter of eligibility. Does the exclusion of farm help and housemaids mean none of them will ever receive pensions?

"Not at all," says the Security Board. "People make frequent changes in their occupations. Relatively few spend their lives in one type of work. Many now excluded may before 65 shift to other employment and become eligible."

The law is mandatory for the affected employments. There are no options. Whether a man has an independent income or is receiving a stipend from a private pension plan will make no difference when the checks start going to those qualified in 1942. No tests of need, like those for relief, are laid down. If Brutus Bolt, the grocery clerk, fulfills some stipulations but not all, he will be entitled to 65 to 3 1/2 per cent of the wages on his account.

Picture Printed All Over U. S. This Week

Millions of people all over the United States saw the above pictures of Mrs. Wallis Simpson of London and Mrs. Toy Johnson of Pampa in hundreds of newspapers from Maine to Texas, from the Pacific to the Atlantic. The Pampa NEWS last week published the two pictures, side by side, then sent a picture of Mrs. Toy Johnson to NEA at New York City.

They indicated what they thought of the likeness by immediately sending a mat to every NEA paper in the United States, and most papers have NEA service. The lines under the picture which was published in most daily newspapers Monday and Tuesday stated that Mrs. Johnson is the wife of a Pampa, Texas, hardware dealer. Many profess to see a remarkable resemblance between the two women others claim they see none. However, the fact that NEA saw the resemblance indicates that there is a striking similarity in certain features. Most people lament that Mrs. Johnson would have looked more like Mrs. Simpson if the photographer had had her lower her head.

Should he meet all the requirements, he will be under the system and can not collect a lump-sum payment. His pension will be for life, no matter how long he lives or how much was taken from his wages in taxes.

If Brutus' sister, Angela, works in a laundry at $65 a month for 10 years after 1937 and then gets married, her account will show $7,800. Under present plans, she can file a claim on her 65th birthday much as one files claims for insurance payments. Once the claim is approved, she will get $19 a month. Many have inquired about the requirement that the worker be employed in at least five different calendar years after 1937. This need not be continuous employment, one day a year suffices. Nor need the years run consecutively.

Suppose Mr. Ben, the grocer, closes shop and Bolt is out of a job. Ben might want to buy federal pension protection; but he can't because it is not on the market. If he goes to work for a department store at 55 and average $100 a month for ten years, his pension at retirement will be $22.50 a month. If he continues working there after 65, he can't collect anything but the tax on his wages will cease.

If he dies "in harness," say at 75, his daughter, Mrs. Alice Bolt, can claim 3 1/2 per cent of the amount on his security account. What if another depression comes and the department store fails, leaving the Bens and the Bolts unemployed? Can they borrow on their wage account?

(Tomorrow: Unemployment insurance.)

'COURTESY FIRST' IS AUTOISTS' MOTTO

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—Four auto drivers who won Michigan State Automobile association awards for safe driving agree that "courtesy" is their first rule of the road.

"Give the other driver the same kind of break you expect him to give you," says William T. Thoms, major award winner who has driven trucks and passenger cars for 24 years.

This rule also has the backing of Elmer C. Bischoff, coach driver who has driven 400,000 miles in 21 years without a mishap; Daniel J. Smith, truck driver, and Milton R. Knight of Port Huron, bus drivers, both of whom have driven more than 400,000 miles without an accident.

BRACHEEN ACQUITTED

BAIRD, Nov. 18 (AP)—Fred Bracheen, a cafe cook, was free today of murder charges in the shooting of M. B. Jones, railroad employe, at Baird Nov. 3. A jury acquitted him yesterday after deliberating less than an hour. He pleaded self-defense.

HAVE GERMANS AND JAPANESE SIGNED ANTI-SOVIET PACT?

NEW YORK (AP)—Germany and Japan have the world of diplomacy uneasily speculating again as to whether they finally have reached an oft-predicted anti-Soviet agreement which might be the forerunner of a Russo-Japanese-Germanic war.

The latest development is the announcement in the Tokyo press that an "important diplomatic matter" has been referred to the privy council, which deals with foreign treaties. There is no further definite information regarding this "diplomatic matter" but observers both in Japan and abroad envisage a possible pact with Germany.

Only about three months ago authoritative Moscow newspapers charged that Germany and Japan were about to conclude an alliance and were headed for attack against Russia. Virginia Gayda, Italian commentator who often is called the unofficial spokesman of the Fascist government, hinted on October 26 at a tripartite alignment—Italy, Germany and Japan—against communism. For months it has been known that Germany and Japan have been holding private conversations on some subject dear to both of them.

Both Openly Preparing A moving argument that an agreement may have been reached between Hitler and the Mikado's government lies in the fact that Japan and Russia long have been openly making military preparations against each other, and that Hitler has been quite as openly rattling the saber across the Russian border.

Japanese observers in this country say that while a military alliance is not outside the range of possibility, it is more likely that an informal gentlemen's agreement has been made for a common stand against any communistic aggression. These observers also think that German recognition of the Japanese-foothold state of Manchoukuo may be involved. Japan has been eager to obtain such recognition by one of the major western powers to improve her position in the eyes of a disapproving world.

An anti-Soviet, or anti-communistic, agreement between Germany and Japan would fit well into the picture of what is going forward in Europe. Hitler and Mussolini, after a long period of coldness, finally have had a love feast which has brought them to common ground in many respects. Among other things, they have agreed to a point fight against communism.

Austria, Hungary and Greece appear to have come into their fold. Bulgaria and Rumania have been leaning heavily that way, even though Rumania is a member of the Little Entente (Rumania, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia), which has been anti-German and pro-French.

Moscow has stated repeatedly that the Soviet wants peace but is prepared for any war. Russia also has indicated that she expects to fight both Germany and Japan in the not-distant future. The role which Mussolini is generally believed to have elected in event of the war is that of holding the balance of power between Germany and France. His business as a silent partner of Hitler presumably would be to keep anti-German and pro-Russian France from entering the conflict.
