PA PAMPA

To Hallow'een Goblins
DEAR SPOOKS: You must be a tired lot this morning, following a big Saturday night. An E. Francis-st resident phoned me about midnight to say that there was much commotion at his house when he returned home and started to walk up where his front porch steps before you got around to them last night. He clipped his chin on the edge of the porch pretty much worked up over it. There are some persons who just don't seem to have any sense of humor at all.

DEAR POLK: I suppose you all know by this time that the Pampa chapter of the American Red Cross is making preparations for the opening of its annual roll call drive on Nov. 11. The total this year has been set at 1,000 members and $5,000. The Red Cross has become so firmly imbued with the American scheme of things that it hardly seems necessary for me to try to sell you on the idea that you should enroll in the Red Cross. As roll call chairman Allen Hodges has said, it is important to Pampa and Gray county that we have this active agency to administer assistance when need arises. I feel certain that all of you know just how vital it is to the community that the 1936 roll call goal be attained, and I know you will do your part when the solicitation begins.

DEAR SANTA: I know it is a little early to be writing letters to you, but they say it is the best time that gets his tail feathers clipped, so I want to get in on the ground floor. I wish you would look around the place and see if you can find a couple of touchdowns. If you will please do this, I'd appreciate it if you would send them to me ahead of time so I could give them to my high school football team on Thanksgiving Day. And, Santa, if it's all the same to you—never mind sending any to Amarillo.

DEAR CARLOS: Boy, you've got it! From what I read in the newspapers, all the other bulls of the nation might just as well stay home when you step off to a livestock show. You're going to shine in Amarillo, Kansas City and at Dallas. I see your next stop is to be at the International Exposition in Chicago, the latter part of this month. You've been doing so much this year to put my own on the map in a big way and I'm predicting right now that you'll score again in the big show at Chi.

DEAR DRIVERS: I see a couple of you have fallen into the hands of the law within the past week for violating the state law which prohibits you from passing a school bus on the highway without first coming to a full stop. You know the only reason that law was passed, don't you? Well, it was passed to save the lives of children getting on and off the buses. So, if you'll just keep in mind when you see a school bus ahead that it will be far better to wait a minute or two than to run down and injure or kill a child, I'm sure there will be but very little trouble on this score.

DEAR FRANK AND ALF: Well, boys—It won't be long now. In a couple more days you'll be able to get back to your knitting. Here in Texas, where the election is over before it starts, we have nothing to worry about, but the straw votes from the hinterland this fall have a great many persons befuddled and getting around in three or four circles. If some of your friends has just looked into his crystal ball—and what do you think he saw? Now,

DEAR STEPPER-ONNERS: And while I'm writing about traffic, I presume you have noticed, too, that Chief Art Harst's Pampa police department has a bright, new and shiny motor-bike on which Bob Trwin can take out after you. And that's just what he's going to do when you make a speedway out of the streets. It's going to be a lot better wait until you get out on the great open spaces. This new motor-bike has a speedometer gadget that will clock you to a "T" at the highest of speed and there is no getting away from it, no matter what your ally.

DEAR FRANK AND ALF: Well, boys—It won't be long now. In a couple more days you'll be able to get back to your knitting. Here in Texas, where the election is over before it starts, we have nothing to worry about, but the straw votes from the hinterland this fall have a great many persons befuddled and getting around in three or four circles. The unusual honor of being chosen to attend one of the nation's most noted boys' schools—the U. S. Naval academy—belongs to Miss Frank King, daughter of Rear Admiral Frank King, American naval hero in the World War. So when the Navy department wished to honor Commander King's memory, it decided on an Annapolis academy appointment for pretty young Frank, supposedly the commander's son. Although she was "excited and thrilled," Frank didn't embarrass Navy chiefs by accepting the honor.

AL SMITH'S NEW DEAL IN LAST TIRADE

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 31 (AP)—Alfred E. Smith, Democratic candidate for president in 1928, charged tonight that new deal leaders "deliberately retarded recovery in this country so they could put over a few of their crack-pot schemes."

He assailed President Roosevelt and other democratic leaders for making alliances with other parties such as the Farmer-Labor party in Minnesota, the American labor party in New York and the Progressive party in Wisconsin.

"Somebody is going to be double-crossed," he shouted after citing these and other instances of alliances. He kept repeating it until it became a sort of refrain after each paragraph.

He struck at democratic leaders for placing Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, and other labor leaders, described by him as "left wing socialists," on the ticket as Democratic electors.

The new deal, he asserted, "is a party that has stolen the livery of the democratic party, and if allowed to exist for four more years there will be no such thing as a democratic party."

Smith spoke at Harmon's Blecker hall, where every one of the 3,200 seats was occupied and all standing room filled. His speech was the fifth and last of a series against the new deal.

"As in his other speeches, he urged the election of Governor Alfred M. Landon, republican candidate for president, and Governor Alfred M. Landon, republican candidate for

PRISONERS HELD FOR BORGER

ROCK, Oct. 31 (AP)—Lubbock police turned over today to Texas authorities two men and a woman arrested here last Wednesday in an apartment raid in which officers recovered $1,000 of allegedly stolen merchandise and a cache of arms.

The three were booked as R. L. Lamb, his son, Alfred Lamb, and the latter's wife, Lorene Teaster Lamb. The three face charges in connection with a series of robberies in Texas.

Alfred Lamb, quoted by officers as admitting he was a former convict and that the merchandise was stolen in Texas, was returned to Vernon, Texas. The elder Lamb and Lorene

Lamb were taken to Borger, Texas, yesterday where local police asked that the three be held for officers from Guthrie, where a man was fatally shot in a recent robbery, but the trio had already been placed in the custody of Vernon and Borger deputies.

Chief of Detectives O. N. Martin here said today that in tracing the recent movements of the three he had learned they had been in the vicinity of St. Joseph, Mo., in mid-October, and that he had photographs and descriptions to St. Joseph officers for use in investigating a St. Joseph bank robbery Oct. 19.

EAST IS LEFT MINUS MAJOR PERFECT TEAM

MANY GREAT ELEVENS TASTE DREGS OF DEFEAT

BY HERBERT BARKER.
NEW YORK, Oct. 31 (AP)—Headed by the Gophers, the mighty team of today in the greatest succession of upsets this or possibly any other football campaign ever saw.

Stopped by Northwestern's Wildcats, 9-0, in a spectacular duel fought before 47,000 in Evanston, Minnesota saw its national and Big Ten championship dreams exploded along with the shattering of the longest current winning streak in the game. The Gophers had won 21 games in a row and gone undefeated in 28 games since Michigan beat them in the final game of the 1932 season.

But Minnesota was only one of the country's high-powered elevens to bite the dust. Joining the Gophers on the beaten list were Yale, Army, Holy Cross and Villanova in the East and Texas A. & M. in the Southwest while Fordham's Rams and Utah State, boasting hitherto spotless records, were tied.

Fordham, conqueror of Southern Methodist and St. Mary's in its drive for possible Rose Bowl recognition, held Pitt's formidable Panthers to a scoreless draw but it was Pitt which made the only really threatening march of the game, a drive to Fordham's four-yard line.

Yale's opportunities finally found them as a 14-14 over-matched and went down before Dartmouth, 11-7. Army was topped 14-7, by a sensational second half rally by Colgate's Red Raiders. Holy Cross wound up on the short end of a 3-0 score against Temple's Owls and Villanova succumbed to Bucknell, 6-0.

This amazing series of results left the East without a single major undefeated team. Fordham and Georgetown are undefeated but both have been tied.

Another dizzy program in the Southwest saw Texas A. & M. fold up before Arkansas, 19-0, in a 19-0, while Baylor was buried by Texas Christian, 28-0. Southern Methodist had to come from behind to spill Texas, 14-7. Rice outpointed George Washington, 12-6.

Not the least of the day's surprises was Harvard's feat in holding Princeton to a 14-14 draw, the Crimson scoring on the Tigers for the first time since 1920. Boston college handed Michigan State a jolt in the shape of a 13-13 tie.

Penn's powerhouse functioned perfectly in a 16-6 rout of Navy; Columbia withstood a fourth quarter rally by Cornell to win, 20-13; Carnegie Tech bowed to Purdue, 7-6. Penn State whiplashed Syracuse, 18-0; West Virginia defeated Western Maryland, 33-20, in a spectacular aerial duel; New York university crushed Lafayette, 46-0, and Lehigh trounced Rutgers, 19-0.

In the midst where Marquette remained undefeated and untied by virtue of a 20-6 rout of St. Mary's Gaels Friday night, Notre Dame out-fought Ohio State, 7-2; Chicago nosed out Wisconsin, 7-6; Indiana tripped Iowa, 13-6; Illinois spilled Michigan, 9-6.

Nebraska chalked up another Big Six triumph, beating Missouri, 20-0, as Iowa State and Oklahoma played a 7-7 draw. Kansas State bowed to Tulsa, 10-7, as Kansas and Arizona drew, 0-0.

In the South, Louisiana State and Alabama earned Southeastern conference victories, the former stopping Vanderbilt, 19-0, while Alabama was knocking over Kentucky, 14-0. Tennessee, conqueror of Duke, showed tremendous power in a 46-0 shelling of Georgia. Tulane, undefeated in the conference, had trouble winning from Louisiana Tech, 22-13. Maryland and Georgia Tech were victors of upsets, the former losing to Florida, 7-6, and Tech bowing to Clemson, 14-13. Mississippi uncorked a brilliant fourth quarter rally to stop Centenary, 24-7.

Waiting—For a Wax 'Mistress'

The dog's traditional devotion to its owner was expressed in the lonely vigil kept by this fox terrier at Knoxville, Tenn., as it waited outside a store window for the wax figure inside—evidently resembling its mistress—to step out of the window and start home. Not even meat, seen on a paper on the sidewalk, could tempt the dog away. But its "mistress" inside did not answer—didn't even look—and the dog, some time during the night, disappeared.

Duke and North Carolina moved ahead in the Southern conference. Duke's Blue Devils ran up a 51-0 count on Washington and Lee while North Carolina rallied in the last half to spill North Carolina State, 21-6. Virginia Military won over Richmond, 20-7; and Furman over Davidson, 14-13.

Utah State's sweep toward the Rocky Mountain crown was halted by Denver in a scoreless draw as Utah bowled over Brigham Young, 18-0.

Santa Clara's undefeated Bronchos handed Auburn's Plainsmen their first defeat, 12-0, in the sectional feature of the far western program which was marked by Stanford's upset victory over U. C. L. A., 19-6.

Washington State had to rally in the fourth quarter to nip California, 14-13, and maintain its undefeated status. Washington's Huskies continued undefeated within the Pacific Coast conference by turning back Oregon, 7-0. Oregon State won from Montana, 14-7.

Mrs. R. L. Chance and son were taken to their home from Pampa-Jarratt hospital yesterday.

ALLRED HITS LONDON IN ROSWELL SPEECH

ROSWELL, N. M., Oct. 31 (AP)—Gov. James V. Allred denounced the Republican presidential nominee in an address prepared for delivery here tonight as a man who had supported President Roosevelt until encouraged to do an "about face."

The Texas governor, campaigning in New Mexico for the national Democratic ticket, quoted from newspaper clippings purporting to show statements made by Gov. Landon of Kansas praising the New Deal and its many agencies as well as commending the President for his courage.

Allred himself praised Roosevelt as a man of courage and action who had "not hesitated to act in the face of dire emergency" and reviewed in March, 1933, "when great financial leaders and captains of industry rushed to Washington and asked that something be done."

"One of those who went to Washington," Allred said, "was the governor of Kansas and he not only cried aloud for help but commended the President for his efforts."

Allred also charged that Landon as a presidential candidate denounced bureaucracy and concentration of power in Washington but as governor of Kansas had favored dictatorship of the oil industry and federal control of business.

Mrs. C. J. Harding and son left Pampa-Jarratt hospital for their home yesterday.

OLD TIME DANCE HERE IS ATTENDED BY 350

"Choose your partner and let's get going" started nearly 350 oldsters and youngsters away on a night of fun when the Panhandle Centennial committee staged its semi-annual old time dance in the high school gymnasium about 8 o'clock Friday night. At 1 o'clock Saturday morning the dance was still in progress with many of the starters still on the floor.

Homer Ratliff and his orchestra furnished the music for the dancers who enjoyed every old time dance on the list. Many young "sprouts" tested their wings and seemed to enjoy the dances their parents and grandparents loved.

A. A. Tiemann, floor manager, kept things moving with his callers in fine fettle. Hostesses, in Halloween costumes, greeted the visitors and saw that they had a good time.

Among the cities represented were Canadian, Miami, Clarendon, Green, Claude, White Deer, Borger, Anarillo, McLean, LeFors, Mobeetie, Wheeler, and elsewhere.

As the crowd started to leave, hostesses were asked when the next old time dance would be held. "Don't wait until spring, let's have one more often," were the requests.

Robert Thacker, Jr., is a patient in Pampa-Jarratt hospital.

Jim Copeland was taken to his home from Pampa-Jarratt hospital yesterday.

IN BROWN DEAL

Latest to enter the list of prospective purchasers of the St. Louis Browns' American League baseball club are William O. DeWitt, left, and W. A. Vesper, right. The former is treasurer of the St. Louis Cardinals, of the National League, and the latter is a former automobile agency man.

BUILDING HERE LAST WEEK TOTALS $2,900

Pampa building permits amounted to $2,900 last week to increase the total for the year to $383,387.

Two large remodeling permits were taken out by G. R. Riggs who will put a $1,500 addition to his residence on the Park Hill and by B. E. Ferrell who will place a $1,000 addition to his home in the Tulsa addition. Other permits were for small additions.

SLUGGING WILDCATS ARE NOW BEATEN IN GRID RACE

WILDCATS ARE NOW BEATEN IN GRID RACE

CELEBRATED WINNING STREAK ENDS IN MUD, RAIN

By ALAN GOULD
EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 31 (AP)—Mighty Minnesota felt today before the furious charge of Northwestern's Wildcats, the defeat carrying with it the demotion of the game's most celebrated winning streak and the 1936 championship dreams of the Galloping Gophers.

Northwestern pushed over a last period touchdown to win, 6 to 0, in a battle that was savagely fought in the mud and rain before a crowd of 47,000 spectators in Dyche stadium.

A penalty for slugging by Big Ed Widseth, star tackle and captain of the Minnesotans, followed the recovery of a Gopher fumble on the visitors' 13 yard line and paved the way for Steve Toth, Northwestern fullback from Toledo, Ohio, to plow across for the winning score on the second play of the final quarter.

Widseth, in the pileup of a line play, hit an opposing player twice in the face, after the whistle blew. Referee John Getchell of St. Thomas said after the game that Toth had been fished out of the game.

The offense called for a 15 yard penalty but since the Wildcats had the ball only 13 yards from the goal line, the actual penalty amounted to 12 yards and left the home team with four chances to put the ball across from the one yard stripe.

Minnesota twice struck back line plungers, with Don Geyer and Toth carrying the ball, before and after the teams changed sides of the field for the final quarter. Toth, on the third play of the series and second play of the last quarter, plunged across his own right tackle for the touchdown.

Toth's attempt to placekick the extra point was blocked by Andy Gopher end. The Wildcats then fought off Minnesota's most furious counter charges throughout the last period.

The defeat brought a dramatic finish to the Minnesota winning streak, which had extended thru 21 successive games, perched the Gophers on top of the football world, and made the system taught by Bernie Bierman the standard by which gridiron production was measured.

The mighty men of Minnesota, under Bierman's shrewd tutoring, had gone through 28 consecutive matches without defeat.

Minnesota's first setback since the Gophers lost to Michigan in the first game of the 1932 season, gave Northwestern command of the Big Ten championship race. The Wildcats' also entered the game unbeaten.

LeFors Trounces Mobeetie 13 to 0

The LeFors Pirates of Coach Francis Smith broke into the win column Friday night at the expense of the Mobeetie Hornets, who were unable to sting their way to victory.

Two long end runs by Carruth gave the Pirates a 13 to 0 win. LeFors scored another pair of touchdowns, one on an intercepted pass and the other on a block kick, but neither were allowed when the Pirates were declared offside.

Carruth's first run was for 35 yards. His second jump was good for 20 yards. Scott Hall plunged for the extra point after the second touchdown. Carruth was ably assisted on his touchdown jumps by W. Simmons, Pierce, McNabb and Hall, who did some effective blocking.

Harvesters Lose As Clovis Wins Questionable Victory

Fumbles of Pampans Are Disastrous In 7-0 Tilt

BY HARRY E. HOARE.

CLOVIS, N. M., Oct. 31.—Fumbles, five of them, but only one of which proved disastrous, and questionable officiating cost the Pampa Harvesters a 7 to 0 game to the Clovis Wildcats here Friday night before 2,500 wildly cheering fans.

The Little Pampa crew outplayed the big Wildcats in nearly every department with the big difference being in the air and in deadly tackling. Lemon McIntyre, Clovis star who used to strut his stuff with the Shamrock Irishmen, was pretty well bottled throughout the game.

The lone Clovis touchdown came early in the third quarter after Doyle Enloe, little Harvester back who appeared to be suffering from an attack of "fumblyitis," lost the kickoff on an mad 20-yard line. Enloe was on a mad sprint up the field when a big Clovis lineman punched the ball out of his arm.

McIntyre led a one man march for the Pampa goal. A penalty, with the ball on the Pampa 4-yard line, set the Harvesters back. McIntyre, on fourth down, hit the right side of his line. The headlinesman, Garfen, called a touchdown. The referee claimed he had blown his whistle before McIntyre had passed the line of scrimmage. Any way the play went, the officials were wrong because the Clovis backfield was in motion on the play and the Wildcats should have drawn a 5-yard penalty. But they didn't and Clovis won the ball game. Loyd, Clovis half, messed his assignment and was in the act of shifting to a new position when the ball was snapped. After the whistle one of the officials left the field on the dead run with a couple of Pampa fans after him.

The entire Pampa team played heads-up football. The ball toting of Graham, 137 pounds, was outstanding. The midget also was on the receiving end of several great passes. Twice the midget laterally to Noblitt who picked up several additional yards. Showers' unerring arm hurled 13 passes. Seven were complete for 105 yards, three were incomplete and three were intercepted.

The little Harvester line played superbly. Little Johnny Henry Nelson folded up interference repeatedly. Roy Lee Jones, Mathews, Noblitt and Cox were outstanding with their deadly blocking. Morgan and Maxey repeatedly killed McIntyre's threats. Woodridge, despite his ankle, took one great pass and tackled fiercely. Enloe was on the receiving end of a couple of passes and made repeated gains, only to have fumbles mar his performance.

Loyd and Dulany were powerhouses in the Clovis backfield as the Harvesters held McIntyre repeatedly. Three times the Clovis backs were stopped on the line of scrimmage and 12 times they were thrown for losses, totaling 37 yards. At that, the Wildcats rolled up 152 yards from scrimmage.

Head, giant end, Sanders, a tackle, and Williams, center, led the Clovis line play. The Clovis line repeatedly opened holes in the thin Pampa line but before the ball toter could get through, the hole had closed up. The Harvesters will rest until Nov. 11 when they go to Borger for a conference game with the mighty little Bulldogs. During that time coaches will try to find the long lost scoring punch.

GEORGE WASHINGTON REMOVED FROM PERFECT LIST BY RICE

By LEWIS T. NORDYKE
HOUSTON, Oct. 31 (AP)—Two sustained drives gave the Rice Owls a 12 to 6 victory over George Washington University in an inter-sectional battle here today before 10,000 persons and removed the big Colonials from the list of undefeated teams.

The game was mostly a punting duel until late in the second period, when the Owls took the skin near midfield and drove it across. Vickers passed to Williams on the Washington 26 and Vickers rammed center to the 20. After a short gain by Neece, Friedman, big Rice fullback, plunged through the line to the 12 and Vickers passed to Neece for the touchdown.

The Owls showed the same brand of power and deception in the third period and drove the opening kickoff across for their second counter. Taking it on the Rice 28, Lawrence returned to midfield and after a forward, Vickers to Neece, had put the ball on the 30, Vickers scooted through for a touchdown. Vickers' attempt at both goals from placement failed. The Colonials showed their first streak of dangerous power right after the game. A punt was snapped. After the whistle one of the officials left the field on the dead run with a couple of Pampa fans after him.

McIntyre led a one man march for the Pampa goal. A penalty, with the ball on the Pampa 4-yard line, set the Harvesters back. McIntyre, on fourth down, hit the right side of his line. The headlinesman, Garfen, called a touchdown. The referee claimed he had blown his whistle before McIntyre had passed the line of scrimmage. Both teams showed terrific power in stopping all line plays. Perryon reserved her air offense in the expectancy of meeting Panhandle again in the district play-off next month.

SMALL CONQUERS LONGHORNS IN 14-7 DEFEAT

'RED' STIDGER STARS IN HEAVING MANY AERIALS

By RAY NEUMANN

AUSTIN, Oct. 31 (AP)—Southern Methodist University aaxed aerial warfare with bewildering ground tactics today to defeat a stalwart University of Texas football aggregation, 14 to 7.

The victory, considered the first step up the ladder in the Mustangs' campaign for a second successive Southwest conference championship, showed Coach Jack Chevigny's Longhorns deeper into the cellar. It was their third consecutive defeat.

The pile-driving line punting of Bob Finley, who heaved most of the aerials, plus the effective play of a raging forward wall, mainly were responsible for the Methodist's convincing win. They totaled 19 first downs to Texas' eight.

For the Longhorns, Hugh "Big Bad" Wolfe led the pack throughout the afternoon. Red Sheridan, spearing broken field runner, also contributed.

The Longhorns, who had previously dropped contests to Baylor and Rice, kept the game in doubt, however, even to the closing moments when a barrage of forwards worked them deeply into Mustang territory. The drive was halted by an interception.

The Longhorns tallied first. Sheridan started the drive from Texas' 23 when he got loose on a beautiful broken field dash for 45 yards. Meyer of the Mustangs made the tackle. On two off-tackle thrusts Texas went to the S. M. U. two-yard stripe, from where, two plays later, Wolfe dove over a line "stack-up" for the marker. The husky fullback also place kicked the point after touchdown.

Though outgaining the Longhorns in the first half, the Methodists were forced to wait until the third period to score. Finley intercepted a Texas aerial and ran 37 yards to his opponents' 38, with the stands howling. A 15-yard penalty and a pair of line bucks aided the Methodists' goalward drive materially. It was Finley who placed the ball in a scoring position on the Longhorn two. Two tries later he ricocheted off left guard for the score. Stidger kicked point.

Highlight of the game was the Bell-coached powerhouse's 81 yard drive to their second tally in the final period. After a punt had gone out of bounds on the Mustang 19, Kenneth Cousins, sterling running back, tore through for eight. Finley got five on a line buck. An aerial, Finley to Meyers, netted 20 and Finley, on a spinner, got five more. The Texas defense collapsed when Goodson passed for 12 and Finley ripped through on three backs, to the Longhorn eight. After Meyer had lost a yard on an end run, Goodson crashed through right tackle, reversed his field and skittered over the marker, side-stepping the Longhorn secondary as he went. Stidger again place kicked the point. The Mustangs completed eight out of 18 passes for 94 yards while the Longhorns made good only one of eight attempts.

'Slingin' Sammy' Hurls TCU To 28-0 Rout Over Baylor

Baugh Heaves Three Touchdown Flips In First Half

BY P. D. ELDRAD.

FORT WORTH, Oct. 31 (AP)—Sammy Baugh's bullet passes boosted the powerful Texas Christian Horned Frogs back into the thick of the Southwest conference championship fight today with a mercurial 28 to 0 drubbing of the outclassed Baylor Bears. Slingin' Sammy, rated as one of the greatest scoring halfbacks in the nation, personally heaved three touchdown passes and, after he left the game near the end of the first half, watched Substitute Back Montgomery fire another to a wide-open end for the fourth score.

The Bears, dazed by the onslaught of deadly passes fired at speeding receivers, contributed to their dismal showing by fumbling repeatedly, alert Horned Frogs recovering in nearly every case.

Texas Christian second and third stringers replaced Baugh and the other regulars, holding the desperate Bears scoreless throughout the second half. In 145-pound Dave O'Brien the Horned Frogs displayed an up-and-coming substitute back likely to step into the mighty Baugh's shoes next season.

Five minutes after the kick-off Baugh rifled the ball 15 yards to Right End Roach who lateralled to Fullback Roberts, cutting down the side line. Roberts dashed 15 yards for the score and Roach booted the extra point from placement.

Baugh slipped an underhand pass through the scrimmage line to Hall, a few minutes later, and the weaving back twisted through to the Baylor 33-yard line. Baugh never allowing the Baylor defense to get set, threw to Scott McCall who took the ball over his shoulder on the 7-yard line and raced untouched across the goal. Roach kicked the extra point from placement.

Early in the second period, Wilkinson intercepted a Baylor pass and ran it back to the Bears' 22. On the first play, Baugh passed a line shot over center to Meyer, wide open, and the speeding end darted across the goal. Meyer kicked the point from placement.

Ten thousand spectators cheered wildly as the ranga Baugh, still favoring an injured ankle, left the game. He was being saved for next Saturday's homecoming clash with the Texas Longhorns.

Taking a Baylor kick on his 40, Baugh's replacement, Tiny O'Brien, ran the ball back to mid-field and then passed laterally to Clifford, who was downed on Baylor's 14-yard line. Another O'Brien pass was good for four yards and Montgomery finished the job with a touchdown heave to Meyer. Montgomery kicked the extra point from placement. At no time in the game was Baylor able to carry on a sustained offensive, but Substitute Halfback Patterson and the veteran Russell got away with several ground-gaining runs. Fumbles, seeming to come just when the Bears were getting their drive going good, cost them possible scores particularly in the second half when the Frog reserves were carrying the burden.

JUNIOR HIGH BEATS BORGER PUPS 19-0 IN FLASHY GAME

Coach Tom Herod's Junior high gridlers resumed their victory march Thursday afternoon with a 1 to 0 victory over the Borger Bull Pups at Harvester field. Only in the third period did the Pups outplay the Pampa youngsters.

Pete Dunaway, brother of Bill Dunaway, Harvester star, set a few yards ago, opened the scoring with a 6-yard dash in the first quarter. Freeman blocked a punt and then picked up the loose ball and ran 15 yards near the end of the opening stanza. Ware ended the scoring in the second quarter with a 20-yard gallop.

Kohler, Stinnett, quarterback, displayed an excellent passing arm with Trotter, left end, and McQueen, half, his receivers. He repeatedly hit his mark but was unable to click for a touchdown.

Meeks, Clemmons and Candler played bang up games in the Junior high line. The entire team clicked excepting in the third quarter. They came back in the final stanza and had only a few yards to go for another touchdown at the final whistle.

Claude Rolls Over Groom Tigers 19-6
Claude, Oct. 31.—Claude's mighty Mustangs ruined the hopes of the Groom Tigers Friday afternoon with a 19 to 6 victory in a district battle.

Captain Gooch, Claude's big fullback, scored in the first quarter on a 20-yard gallop. Again in the second quarter he raced 30 yards to pay dirt. Howe passed 40 yards to Moffarland for the final touchdown.

Groom's lone tally came in the first quarter when Wilson passed 30 yards to Gray.

ARKANSAS WHIPS AGGIES 18 TO 0 IN OUTSTANDING SOUTHWEST UPSET

PORKERS HURL 24 PASSES TO DAZE FARMERS

DICK TODD AND MATES ARE STOPPED BY RAZORBACKS

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 31 (AP)—Three defeated Arkansas football players today with a bold air raid, 18-0, before 6,000 dazed fans who came to see the Razorback slaughtered.

Coch Fred Thomsen's pass-minded Porkers made it a rout from the start, smothering a Cadet eleven that could march no further than the 18-yard stripe.

Every threat the Aggies offered—sophomore Dick Todd, the running sensation, and southjaw Jim Shockey, feared passer—was stopped by an Arkansas team suddenly returned to early season form.

Twenty four times the Porkers, leading aerial unit of the Southwest conference, struck through the air and 14 found their marks for touchdowns and a total gain of 151 yards. The Aggies were helpless before the passing attack.

The Cadets managed for 15 first downs to Arkansas' 11, and even outgained them on the ground, 126 to 117 yards, but a feeble defense against rifle passes and bad kicking put the Razorbacks on top.

Late in the first period husky Bill Stages, great Aggie kicking end, stubbed his toe in an attempted punt from behind his goal line and the ball slithered off his foot and into the scrimmage line at the Farmer 13 stripe.

Jack Robbins, Porker triple-threatener, faked a pass and drove over tackle to the five and then burrowed through center for a touchdown. E. A. Owen failed to kick the point.

Todd backed up five yards behind his goal line for the kickoff and started down the sidelines for what looked like a touchdown but Robbins broke into his interference and stopped him at midfield. Todd fumbled on the next play but the Aggies regained the ball on a punt and started their only serious threat.

Off tackle splurges by Vitek and Todd, minced in with two passes from Shockey to Morrow, carried the Cadets to the Arkansas 18 but Brown, Arkansas fullback, intercepted a pass.

The Porkers started from the Aggie 35 line for their second touchdown. Sloan's heave to Hamilton placing the ball on the 15. The same combination did an encore for a touchdown. Owen again failed to convert.

Dwight Sloan, who with Robbins seemed to bob up in every play, intercepted one of Shockey's aimless heaves late in the third period and on the first play of the final quarter stood on his 15 stripe and passed over the goal line to Bobbie Martin. Robbins missed the kick.

Arkansas, its point-getting backfield intact for the first time in weeks, again arose for the conference crown. Sloan, inserted in the last two periods, looked the class of the lot. He passed unerringly, batted down and intercepted wild Aggie tosses and tackled fiercely. He was but little better than Robbins, however.

Jones, second string Aggie guard, played the standout defensive game, but Rrutt, Aggie guard and Benton, Arkansas end, pushed him for honors.

SANDIES ANNIHILATE PLAINVIEW 66 TO 0

The amazingly versatile attack of the Golden Sandstorm triumphed again at Butler Field today as Blair Cherry's thunderbolt struck down Plainview's fighting Bulldogs, 66 to 0. Amarillo combined initial victory in the district title chase with its seventh consecutive win of the campaign.

Three complete teams romped for the Sandies and rolled up about 450 yards from scrimmage. An impregnable defense halted Plainview's most sustained offense before it reached the Sandie 30-yard line. A deluge of aerials, interspersed with classy running plays that saw would-be Bulldog tacklers toppling like ten pins, launched the Sandies for an easy decision with 25 points in the opening quarter.

Wildhorse Mayes galloped for three touchdowns. Mariott and Montgomery annexed a pair apiece, and Bob Gleason, Kelly and Armstrong each added a counter. Thompson converted extra points three times with kicks and passed for a fourth.

FORDHAM'S RAMS ARE STILL UNBEATEN TEAM

NEW YORK, Oct. 31 (AP)—Pittsburgh's mighty juggernaut huffed and puffed all over the Polo Grounds today, but it couldn't out the Fordham Rams from the list of the nation's undefeated football teams.

The best the conquerors of Notre Dame could get was an 0-0 draw. It was the second consecutive year in which the two teams have battled to a scoreless deadlock.

Rose Bowl hopes went soaring in the Bronx tonight. Purdue is next and if the Rams can keep their record clean against the Bollermakers, they are conceded to have an excellent chance of finishing the season undefeated.

FIGHTING IRISH WIN.
SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 31 (AP)—Notre Dame became the raging Fighting Irish of tradition for two minutes today—just long enough to fashion one touchdown that upset Ohio State's favored Buckeyes, 7 to 0.

Half of that battle was fought in a driving rain. It produced nothing like that fourth period a year ago at Columbus when the inspired Irish staged one of the most spectacular of football comebacks to conquer a great Ohio eleven 18 to 13.

STANFORD WINS EASILY
MEMORIAL COLISEUM, Los Angeles, Oct. 31 (AP)—Stanford's fighting Redskin tamed a highly favored pack of Bruins of University of California at Los Angeles today, running up a 19 to 6 victory for the benefit of a homecoming day crowd of 47,000 spectators.

Emilie Finishes Delicious Snack

Serious business? Well, Emilie seems to think this noonday lunch for the Dionne quins is just that. She's getting a firm grip on that spoon and no mistake! And see her pusher.

Ah-h-h, it's great, isn't it, Emilie? At least that's the kind of satisfaction written around her lips and eyes in this picture as she empties her spoon to the last drop.

"What now?" is Emilie's expression as she poises her spoon in one hand, her bread in the other. Something or someone has riveted her attention. Could it be the cameraman again?

Last drop? Maybe we were hasty. For in this picture Emilie turns her spoon over and proceeds to finish the job in hearty fashion. Did you ever see a child who didn't learn this trick?

Up And Down The Air Waves

By RAY D. O.

All these many years we have been under the impression that kidnapping was practiced by hands of rather uncouth, hard boiled desperate gangsters, but it is funny how a person can gain such impressions. We now discover that we were all wrong, since the kidnapers of "Piccolino," the Walker Uppers character, have written their ransom note to Bill and Uncle Bud. Did you notice how they started out with their note? "Dear Uncle Bud and Bill." Who could say that they are not very thoughtful, loving and polite?

We have often been told that KPDN welcomed visitors, and since they seem to be most sincere in that invitation, your columnist, Ray D. O., visited their studio Friday. Of course we didn't know that the red light by the studio door meant anything, nor did we know that visitors were supposed to visit in limited areas—anyway, we visited and we braved the red light and burst right into a studio during the broadcast of a program. We accepted their invitation—literally.

We would like to leave one more gentle reminder that this afternoon KPDN will broadcast their pre-empted program of a new transcription service, which will be heard regularly over that station. The time is two o'clock for a full hour of real high class entertainment. Arrange to be by your radio this afternoon and enjoy the program.

You had best try to save something while your salary is small. It is almost impossible to save after you begin to earn more.

We are to again hear Billy Hunter and his band on Miles of Smiles, beginning Monday. Tune in at 12:30 and hear this delightful group of entertainers. We think you'll enjoy their rendition of the popular songs of the day.

We've heard of "magic carpets," "presto-change" and things of that kind, but just naturally thought them to be metaphoric expressions but we have been listening to the KPDN announcers as they make those instantaneous changes from Pampa to the Borger studios, and now realize that these things do happen.

Tonight the Columbia Broadcasting Co. offers you, among others, the following programs: 7:00, Nelson Eddy; 7:30, Eddie Cantor; 9:00, Original Community Sing; 9:45, "Split Seconds," a dramatic play.

Hear Mrs. Powell this afternoon at 3:30 on KPDN. This will be a program you will enjoy, so don't forget the hour.

We wonder if you listened to the football broadcast yesterday afternoon by KPDN. This game was between the Borger Bulldogs and the Lubbock Westerners and played in Lubbock. KPDN would like to have your criticism, if any of the broadcast. They would like to have this so they might make improvements on the service being rendered by them to the listeners. If there was anything wrong they would appreciate your giving them the information, so write them a card or a letter and tell them just what you think.

NBC this evening at 6:00, Jack Benny; 8:30, Robert L. Ripley; 7:00, Good Will Court; 8:00, Manhattan Merry-Go-Round; 8:15, Paul Whiteman.

Beginning Monday, KPDN will have a number of new transcription programs "on the air." This new program service should add to the variety of the KPDN programs and if you like the new programs, why not write a card or letter to KPDN and tell them about it? On the other hand if, for any reason, you do not like the programs, KPDN would appreciate your telling them that too, so keep them informed as to your likes and dislikes of the programs heard daily over the local station.

We heard the Rhythmettes again Friday on KPDN, and did we enjoy that exceptionally fine program? If those girls will just do some determined work and take advantage of their opportunity, they have a chance of "going places" in the entertaining world. We are not just throwing flowers, but we believe the possibilities are promising. Luck to you, girls. We hope for you every success and we'll be listening for another of those delightful programs.

Don't forget Mrs. Roy W. Reed's program next Tuesday at 3:15.

13 MILLIONS SPENT BY TWO POLITICAL PARTIES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31 (AP)—Expenditures of more than $13,000,000 have been recorded today in America's costliest presidential campaign, as the Republican national committee's final report before election showed it had spent almost $7,000,000.

Listing disbursements of $1,302,066 in the ten days ended October 28, the republican committee disclosed it had spent $6,988,663 since January 1. Additional spending by congressional and senatorial committees boosted the party's total to $7,488,718.

The combined outlay of the two major parties climbed close to $11,000,000, as disbursements by democratic organizations increased today to $3,430,494. The democratic national committee spent $3,406,501 of this sum, while the rest was paid out by congressional and senatorial committees.

Minor parties and independent groups—such as the American Liberty League, the United Mine Workers, the National Union for Social Justice, and the Good Neighbors league—have disbursements of well over $2,000,000 in their reports to the clerk of the House.

THOMPSON TO SPEAK AT IPA ANNUAL MEET

ROESER AND MARKHAM ALSO TO TALK AT OKLAHOMA CITY

It has been announced at the headquarters of the Independent Petroleum Association of America that the speakers at the annual dinner of the association, to be held Monday evening, Nov. 30, during the annual meeting at Oklahoma City, will be Chas. F. Roeser, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America; General Baird H. Markham of New York City, director of the American petroleum industries committee, who will talk on the subject "Taxation;" and Colonel E. O. Thompson of Austin, Texas, chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact commission and chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, who will discuss the subject "Interstate Oil Compact."

The subject of "Taxation" is of vital interest to the entire citizenship of this country and there is no one who has studied the subject of taxation, insofar as it pertains to the petroleum industry, or who is better qualified to discuss that subject, than General Markham.

Colonel Thompson has been a member of the Interstate Oil compact commission since its inception, representing the state of Texas, and is thoroughly conversant with the provisions of the compact and the work of the commission. With the compact expiring next year, a message from the present chairman of the commission will be most important at this time, when consideration is being given to a renewal of the Interstate Oil Compact and the securing of additional oil producing states as members.

Delegates, numbering nearly 100, are expected to attend the meeting. The 9th district is composed of posts in cities in the 18th congressional district.

Plans for the year's program will also be discussed and probably accepted at the meeting.

WOODUL SIGNS OMNIBUS TAX ACT FOR PENSIONS

AUSTIN, Oct. 31 (AP)—Acting Governor Walter F. Woodul signed today the omnibus bill passed at the recent special session of the legislature, thereby clearing the way for cutting Texas old age pension rolls.

The law, besides levying numerous new or increased taxes for pension support, contained a provision that assistance would be given only to persons in necessitous circumstances. Its sponsor asserted it would hold the number of pensions below 85,000.

Pension authorities had estimated that around 150,000 eventually would have qualified under the old statute.

The new taxes became effective immediately as two thirds of the members of each house approved the bill.

The law abolished the old age assistance commission and transferred pension administration to the state board of control. The board said it probably would have an announcement Monday regarding its plans.

Friends of Orville S. Carpenter, pension director, expressed confidence he would be retained in that position.

November checks were supposed to have been mailed today to 87,000 persons but the federal government's 50 per cent of the money had not been received. Carpenter said he was hopeful the delay in mailing them would be less than a week.

AMERICAN LEGION WILL BE ON AIR HERE TODAY

The beginning of a series of interesting radio programs sponsored by the American Legion over station KPBN will start this afternoon at 1:30. These half hour broadcasts will be a regular Sunday feature.

KPBN has given this time to the Legionnaires that they may be of more assistance to the community as a service organization.

The program this afternoon will tell the ideals and aims of the American Legion. The musical score will be in story form. This music takes a young American soldier from time of enlistment in the World war through training camp, over to France and then back home again in an interesting arrangement of musical selections. The high school band under direction of Winston Savage will furnish the music.

A question will be asked on the program and the best answer will receive a prize which will be explained.

CONNALLY IN CONFERENCE

MARLIN, Oct. 31 (AP)—Senator Tom Connally, who is speaking for President Roosevelt in California, notified friends here today he expects to return to Texas about Nov. 4.

Connally cast his absentee ballot before he left on the speaking tour. In a telegram to his office here, he expressed the opinion that California would assuredly vote democratic.

WALLIS SIMPSON GOES TO KING'S SNUGGERY

LONDON, Oct. 31 — Wallis Warfield Simpson went to the country tonight—probably, her friends said, as the guest of the King at his country estate, Fort Belvedere.

The Baltimore-born woman sought seclusion in the country after perhaps the most exciting week of her life, during which the marriage bonds with her second husband, Ernest Simpson, were broken.

Only a small percentage of Britain's population was cognizant, even yet, of the monarch's friendship with the divorcee. Most Britons, however, feel their King has a right to entertain and associate with whom-ever he likes—provided the friendship doesn't in the end, reflect too strongly an unfavorable light on the man who sits on the throne and typifies the nation and the empire.

In diplomatic circles there was discreet silence regarding Mrs. Simpson. One diplomat whispered, "I'm afraid the slightest word about her might be misconstrued officially."

The British newspapers have provided an example of self-censorship.

ILLNESS OF FEW DAYS FATAL TO TIDWELL BOY

Claude York Tidwell, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Tidwell, 1037 Schneider street, died late yesterday

Besides the parents, survivors are two sisters, Mrs. Bessie Lee Howard, Pampa, Mary Edith Tidwell, at home, and four brothers, Clyde Love, a twin, Billy Eugene, Bobby Earl and Ray Allen.

The body is at rest at Pampa Mortuary. Funeral arrangements had not been made last night.

LANDON POINTS TO 11 MILLION JOBLESS MEN

SAYS BIG JOB IS TO STOP SPENDING MONEY

biggest jobs" today were getting the M. Landon pledged a restoration of "good government" bringing "full recovery with re-employment," in a final campaign address tonight, contending New Deal "broken promises" were "holding us back" by destroying confidence.

"It has tried to run from its record instead of on its record," the Republican nominee said of his Democratic opponent's administration, adding that it was "shocking" to see "election on the basis of recovery" when 11,000,000 were unemployed.

Landon told his St. Louis audience in the municipal auditorium, and the nation over the radio, that "the two biggest jobs" today were getting the 11,000,000 back to work and "stopping the pouring of our money through the great political sieve at Washington."

"The two jobs are wrapped together," the Kansan said. "We cannot live forever off tomorrow's income. We cannot live forever by borrowing from our children. And we cannot live forever a united nation with one-fifth of our working population dependent upon the government."

For the spending "job," Landon promised a balanced budget. Then he asked: "Why are there still 11,000,000 unemployed?"

"The answer is that enterprise and initiative are afraid of the present administration. They don't know what the administration is going to do next. They lack confidence in their own government and without this confidence they dare not plan for the future."

"If we are to have full recovery and re-employment, confidence must be restored. There must be some assurance that money invested today will not be destroyed tomorrow by an erratic administration."

"We must restore confidence in the government's credit. But that is not all. We must also open the

FOUR PERSONS KILLED IN CAR-TRUCK WRECK

MIDLAND, Oct. 31 (AP)—Four persons were killed and two were injured, one perhaps fatally, in an automobile-truck collision near here today.

The dead: W. B. McAnelly, 38, Hot Springs, Ark. Miss Wilma Hines, 30, Long Beach, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Davis, Fort Worth. Most seriously injured was Wayne South of Long Beach, Calif., who doctors said had an even chance for recovery. Robert H. Miller of San Antonio was slightly hurt.

The truck which figured in the collision was loaded with 7,000 pounds of oil pipe. Full details of the accident were not known, but officers were investigating.

The Order of the Black Eagle was an order of chivalry organized in Prussia in 1701 to pay tribute to meritorious military or civil service to the state.

COUGHLIN APOLOGIZES FOR 'SCAB' REMARKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 31 (AP)—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin tonight made a public "apology" for having called President Roosevelt a "scab president."

"I wish to close this campaign," he said in his regular Saturday night radio broadcast, "by apologizing for any hurt which such words have done to his person."

The priest's original assertion was made in a speech at Cleveland last Monday night in which he called Mr. Roosevelt the "scab president" and asserted the WPA was the "greatest army of scab labor in the history of civilization."

Tonight, he termed WPA the "largest army ever regimented at less than a living wage" and said it was supporting President Roosevelt.

The apology recalled a letter which the priest wrote the President after calling him "the great liar and betrayer," in which he apologized for that statement and said he was referring to Roosevelt, the candidate and not Roosevelt the president.

This letter was written, it developed later, at the instance of the Right Rev. Michael J. Gallagher, bishop of Detroit, and Coughlin's immediate superior.

VALUATION OF GRAY COUNTY IS ANNOUNCED

A 1936 property valuation of $27,941,535 for Gray county has been approved by the state comptroller at Austin, it was announced Saturday by Ewing Leech, county tax collector and assessor.

The new valuation is approximately $400,000 less than the figure for last year. The valuation figures are broken down as follows:
Real estate, $18,982,395; personal property, $6,725,935; railroad roadbeds, $969,150; railroad rolling stock, $65,110; tangibles, $373,120; telephones and telegraph lines, $33,680; pipe lines, $758,145, and banks, $34,000.

The total tax to be collected under the new valuation figure, Mr. Leech said, is $498,025.43; divided as follows: state tax, $196,327.69; county tax, $250,958.20, and school district tax, $41,009.44.

Last year the total collection was $497,581.17 state tax, $168,675.33; county tax, $274,335.44, and school district tax, $44,570.40.

For 1936 the state also will collect from Gray county $3,245.96 in stock taxes and the county will get $57,550.

The state tax rate on the valuation is 62 cents per $100 valuation, and the county rate is $1.04, both the same as in 1935.

Under the split payment system, the first tax payment is due on Nov. 30, and if the half-tax for the year is paid by that date the other half does not fall due until June 30, 1937. Otherwise, Mr. Leech stated, the taxes become delinquent after Jan. 31, 1937.

Final approval of the county's 1936 tax roll was received from the state comptroller's department Friday.

The International Longshoremen's union here issued its first strike bulletin asking its members to preserve discipline, act like "union men" and say they were going to have peace "even if we have to fight for it."

Grocery and food storage warehouses remained closed here because of a strike of 1,000 warehousemen seeking wage increases. Warren C. Denton, their leader, said no attempt would be made to prevent deliveries of food necessities.

Coast shipowners indicated they might attempt to man refrigeration equipment aboard strike-bound ships to prevent spoilage of perishables.

semble a spade. They are made from bone, smoothed and hollowed out like a spoon, and were used as skinning knives, but came in handy in digging and, probably, eating.

The Indian skull and pottery bowl were found together. The Indian skull was found, buried face down and behind it was the pottery bowl.

An old Indian custom was to bury their dead the way they died. If they died on their backs they were buried that way, if sitting up, they were buried sitting up.

It was by accident that young Termin dug up the human skeleton. The government does not permit graves to be disturbed, and prohibits it whenever they can, but strung out over these hills, and in the creek bottoms are a number of old graves. One can easily walk over them and never know it.

Another belief of the Indians was that wherever you saw a whirlwind it was the spirit of an Indian buried close by. In the Panhandle whirlwinds are often seen whirling far into the sky, maybe the Indians knew what they were talking about. However, the skeleton that young Termin found crumbled a lot, and he was only able to get parts of it.

Probably the oldest of the collection is the jawbone of a camel with several teeth. It was found last July around Miami. An old judge there who has quite a collection himself told young Termin they were possibly three thousand years old.

The buffalo skull was found about five feet under the ground. Young Termin had found a large bone first, and so sure it belonged to something he dug until he found the skull. Once he gets a lead to anything he digs until he finds it all. Whenever anything is found that he is not sure of, he gets out his books and studies about it, which turns the hobby into an educational one.

The stem from the peace pipe was gone, but the bowl was all together, and very natural.

To look at the grinder he has found one would think it just a pile of rock. When young Termin starts putting it together it resembles more of a jig-saw, but he knows where every piece goes, and when all are put together is an old time grinder such as the Indians once used.

Just what the bones with the notches cut across them were for, young Termin has been unable to discover. One has as many as thirty-four notches cut completely across the ends of the bone. He has also found several pieces of obsidian, which would date back a long way probably. I wonder how far.

Three hundred and thirty-one pieces of old flint might not mean much to anyone not interested in a hobby of this sort, but to young Termin there is a world of history in that flint. He values his collection highly and considers it as good as a lot he has seen on display in different places. He is not a careless boy, and is very particular about keeping his collection as perfect as possible, and as natural.

One of the greatest things about this hobby, is the interest young Termin's parents take in it. He is allowed to hunt almost as he pleases, and while they are not always able to tell you the exact spot their boy is, they can tell you what he is doing, for they have hunted for him too many times.

On one of these hunts that young Termin took the family dog was allowed to go. The dog played out, and had to be carried home. The next time the dog went he played completely out and when time came to go home the dog had died. Young Termin hated it so, for like any boy he loved his dog.

Hung on the walls of the living room in young Termin's home are a number of carvings which he carved. They are only boyhood carvings but certainly show artistic ability. There is a Texas Longhorn, and a number of other Centennial carvings. From a "Believe It or Not" cartoon he carved a wooden chain, which is very odd. Then naturally there is the usual amount of airplanes and wooden guns, besides a what-not shelf, and a smoking stand. So aside from a hobby of collecting Indian relics there is an ability to carve.

The final development, which some had thought would be a birth, actually was a burial. The three-months-old infant, Blanche, last born of the Timlock children, was buried under the dull October sky almost at the very hour the stock derby ended.

Young Termin is still collecting Indian relics, and I know of no better way for a boy to spend his time, than to have a worth-while hobby of some kind. Collecting Indian relics seems most worth while.

Young Termin has a brother, Chub, who can carve, too. He is a couple of years younger. Both boys attend the Hopkins No. 2 school and are good students.

MESSAGE FROM HOUDINI IS SOUGHT BY FRIENDS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 31 (AP)—A "human radio," composed of a dozen persons, and designed to reach the land beyond the grave, was assembled tonight on the roof of a Hollywood hotel.

On this day, ten years ago, death came to Harry Houdini, world-known magician.

His widow, pretty, grey-haired Beatrice Houdini, has arranged the seance, for, she said, a supreme effort to contact Houdini's ghost. She said she hopes he will give some sign that there is a survival after death, and that the dead can communicate with the living.

But she does not believe either precept, she said.

"If anybody could get through, it would be Houdini," she said. "He spent his life studying this subject. He died with no conviction on either side."

"Nevertheless, we agreed that the one who should go first would try to reach the other. We had a pre-arranged message, phrased in code, to be delivered."

"No part of it has ever come thru to me, although thousands of mediums and spiritualists have told me my husband spoke to me through them."

"This is the tenth anniversary of his death. I have arranged this seance hoping—that's all."

TEXAS DEMOS SEEK TO GET OUT BIG BALLOT

AUSTIN, Oct. 31 (AP)—Leaders of the dominant democratic party redoubled efforts today to get out a big vote for President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner in the general election Tuesday, but a check of absentee balloting throughout the state threw little light on how successful their campaign would be.

Although interest in some sections was high due to local contests, the usual apathy in the general election was evident, and there was no prospect the number of ballots cast would equal the record of 1,071,372 in the first democratic primary in July.

Hallow'e'n Frolic Keeps Police Busy

It was late last night when the witches put up their brooms and locked the cat away for a year of rest. Pampa, like all other cities, celebrated with fun, parties and a little damage to property on Hallow'e'n.

The celebration here was the quietest in many years, Police Chief Art Hurl declared. His extra men were kept busy answering calls, but had no difficulty controlling every situation.

Greatest damage was at Central park where the drinking fountain was smashed. Water shot 25 feet into the air for several hours before the water works department could cut off the flow.

A new prank was uncovered. It was the smashing of light bulbs on porches. Most of the marksmen were true shots but a few missed their mark and broke windows.

country looking to government and the government looking away.

"Nine mocking years with the golden calf and three long years of the scourge!" he exclaimed. "Nine crazy years at the ticker and three long years in the bread line! Nine mad years of mirage and three long years of despair!"

Now, he said, powerful influences are striving to restore that kind of government with its doctrine that that government is best which is most indifferent.

He said he was submitting a "record of peace; and on that record a well-founded expectation for future peace—peace for the individual, peace for the community, peace for the nation and peace for the world."

The Garden was a riot of noise and color and motion as the Chief Executive stepped upon the speaker's platform and into the bluish-white glare of spotlight cutting through cigarette smoke like an army searchlight through a night haze.

Minute after minute the pandemonium kept up. The President stood smiling, waving, making little attempt at first to silence the tremendous uproar.

Crowds swarmed into the farthest reaches of the balconies, madly waving flags and cheering wildly.

Lasts 15 Minutes
A balcony band playing at top speed was scarcely audible above the pandemonium swelled by horns, whistles and bells.

After the boisterous greeting had lasted ten minutes over his radio time, the President began to wave the throng into their seats, but hand-clapping by Governor H. Lehman kept them doggedly shouting and whistling.

Finally, Mr. Roosevelt pulled out his yellow gold watch and held it on high. Then he shook his hand trying to obtain silence as a chant of "we want Roosevelt!" reverberated through the vast indoor amphitheater.

For thirteen minutes the ovation lasted.
Senator Robert F. Wagner (D, N. Y.) introduced the President as "our fearless leader and the bearer of our destinies, the President of the United States."

Even as he began speaking perspiration had started forming on the President's forehead.

Flags hung from beams overhead, bunting from the balconies. In the rear were huge portraits of Roosevelt and Lehman. In front were thousands—the sports arena seats 21,000—of yelling people spread out into the dimness of the big chamber.

Outside other thousands listened to the speeches through amplifiers. A crack of applause rang through the Garden when the President said at the start that the 1936 issue goes "to humanity itself."

It echoed again when he said that on an issue of restoration of "American democracy" in 1932, the people were "in a mood to win" and they "did win." It re-echoed when he added that the issue now is preservation of that victory and "again they will win."

Boos were interspersed with cheers when he declared a moment later that "neither the attacks of unscrupulous enemies nor the exaggerations of over-zealous friends will serve to mislead the American" about the administrative record.

Occasionally the President sipped from a glass of water.

ZONING RULING SCHEDULED FOR JANUARY TERM

Arguments Submitted Saturday by Attorneys

A decision in the city zoning law injunction case will be handed down on the first day of the January term of 31st district court, Judge W. R. Ewing announced yesterday afternoon.

In the injunction proceedings, filed several weeks ago, J. T. Dawes and Patrick Lanham, storekeepers, seek to prevent the city from enforcing a section of the city's five-year-old zoning ordinance which sets forth that business establishments shall not be situated in a residential zone.

The city recently filed suits against Dawes and Lanham seeking to have their places of business closed, asserting that they were in operation against regulations of the city zoning law.

Action was taken by the city commission following complaints lodged in petition form that school children were spending lunch money in the stores which are situated near schools.

The case was submitted on argument Saturday by Attorney Lewis Wright, representing the plaintiffs, and City Attorney John F. Sturgeon for the city.

Judge Ewing, in announcing that he would give his decision at the opening of the January court term, ordered that the temporary restraining order, granted three weeks ago, remain in force until then.

M. E. PASTORS ARE TO ATTEND STATE MEETING

All Conferences in Texas Join for Centennial

The five conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in the State of Texas will meet in Houston on November 4. This is the first time in the history of the church that all of the conferences have met at the same time in the same city. One hundred years ago a lone preacher in the Mississippi conference was appointed to the State of Texas with no town or church designated. The first conference was organized in the state December 2, 1840. As the work grew other conferences were organized and the work today covers the whole state. When the Methodist conference meets at Houston next week there will be 1,357 clerical members and 500 lay delegates representing more than 40,000 members, which is the fruit of this lone Methodist preacher's work in Texas. In addition to these conferences the southern conference of the Northern Methodist church will meet at Houston at the same time. The conferences will meet separately in the morning session to transact the business of the respective conferences. A program of nation-wide interest has been arranged for the afternoons and evenings when all the conferences will meet together. The Rev. and Mrs. Will C. House will leave Tuesday morning for Houston to represent the First Methodist church of Pampa. The Rev. H. H. Bratcher will represent McCullough-Harrah Methodist church here. Raymond Harrah is the lay representative of the Clarendon district.

Mrs. Howard Lane, who is Miss Christina Hendrix before her marriage last Sunday morning, was honored at a Halloween shower given in the home of Mrs. J. J. Schmidt Friday afternoon with Mrs. Roland Wilkins as co-hostess. Orange colored flowers and Halloween symbols decorated the rooms, and the lace-covered dining table was centered with a witches' pot around which cats and witches hung from orange and black streamers. Asked to stir the pot, the bride found that it contained gifts, and numerous other packages were presented to her. Each guest wrote a letter to Mrs. Lane, and these were sealed with varying dates written on the envelopes. They are to be opened on the dates marked, at intervals to her fifth wedding anniversary. Recipes for her card file were also written, and games were played. Pumpkin pie and coffee were served, with black cellophane bags of nuts on the plates. Guests were Meses. Howard Lane, O. T. The first service will begin Nov. 10, at 6:45 p. m. with a song and devotional service conducted by Dr. J. L. Yearby, El Paso. Dr. J. B. Tidwell, head of the Bible department of Baylor university, is president of the convention, and will preside at all sessions. The main feature of the Mineral Wells convention will be a pageant depicting the life and work of Texas Baptists for 103 years. The pageant, "Give Me Texas," is intensely dramatic. Prof. Paul Baker of the Baylor speech department is directing it. The pageant will be given in the city auditorium, Mineral Wells, Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. The first Baptist church in Texas that has functioned continuously since its organization is the Pilgrin Baptist church near Elkhart. It was organized in January, 1833. Rev. Daniel Parker of Crawford county, Ill., was the organizer and first pastor. This church in reality was organized in Crawford county and moved to Texas as a body. The Parker colony, whose members constituted the Pilgrin church, moved into Texas the afternoon of Nov. 12, 1833. They worshipped in the homes of its members until after the Declaration of Independence was signed in 1836. Immediately after Texas got her independence, a log church building was constructed near Elkhart.

"Tacky" Dress and Gay Decoration In Evidence. One of the more formal entertainments of a holiday week-end filled with merriment for old and young was the Halloween costume dance given for Rotarians, their wives and friends at the Country Club Friday evening. The ballroom was garranled in black and orange, with figures of black cats, witches, and jack-o-lanterns silhouetted against the walls. Since "tacky" costumes were ordered in the invitations, many of the guests created an amusing appearance. Mrs. Farris Oden, in an over-elaborate pink dress with too many sequins and bows, took the prize for women, and Walter F. G. Stehn, in German boy garb, was winner for men.

Sister Mary's Kitchen

By NEA Service. Blue Monday isn't really on the calendar. Its depressing tone lies in the sense of let-down which follows the freedom of Sunday. A curry of yesterday's left-over veal, served with chopped green pepper and chopped salted nuts in small colorful bowls, and a large steaming bowl of rice, followed in pleasant succession by a green salad and a two-layer orange cake—well, you see there isn't any room left for low spirits.

Cut the left-over veal into small cubes. Use only lean meat. Chop two carrots, one large onion, two stalks celery and one sprig parsley. Mince one small piece garlic. In a large frying pan heat two tablespoons butter. Turn in all the vegetables. Saute until browned, but be careful not to brown too much. Then stir two tablespoons flour over the vegetables and stir until the flour is lightly browned, too. Slowly add one cup milk and one cup vegetable stock. Stir constantly until the mixture begins to thicken slightly. Add one tablespoon curry powder. Cover and simmer gently for half an hour. Add more milk if needed. Add the veal and simmer another ten minutes. Serve in a large colorful bowl.

The rich, chopped green pepper and peanuts all go on the table together. Sprinkle "Little of green pepper over the rice, and do the same with the chopped peanuts. If possible, serve chutney, too. And the rice must be steamed dry, with each kernel separate in the Oriental manner.

ZIEGFELD FILM TO SHOW HERE FOR SIX DAYS

'GREAT ZIEGFELD' TO BE ATTRACTION AT LA NORA

It's a long road from April 9 in the Astor theater, New York City, at $2.20 per seat to November 6 in the La Nora theater, Pampa, at 40c and 55c seats per seat, but nevertheless the show of shows has arrived and will be shown on the longest extended run in the history of Pampa. Opening Friday, November 6, "The Great Ziegfeld" shows for six days through Wednesday, November 11.

During the seven months that have elapsed since its world premiere in New York City, "The Great Ziegfeld" has been shown in 400 road show engagements at $1.65 per seat. It has just recently been released from its initial road show run for current bookings.

"The Great Ziegfeld" which is the life of, and a tribute to Florenz Ziegfeld, includes all of the glamour and dazzle that made Ziegfeldian shows on Broadway world known. True to his practice of glorifying the American girl, 45 beauties were selected from the United States and Alaska to dominate the dances in this mammoth production. Surrounding them are 300 other Hollywood dancing beauties. Headed by the outstanding star cast of William Powell as Ziegfeld, Myrna Loy as Roscoe Karns, Lulu Rainer, Frank Morgan, Fannie Brice, Nat Pendleton, Reginald Owen, and Jean Charnay.

The personnel is composed of 105 speaking roles and 5,000 extras. Also through the story march impersonations of such memorable characters—who were proteges of Ziegfeld—as Will Rogers, Eddie Cantor, W. C. Fields, Bert Williams, Nat Wills, Lew Dockstader and many others.

The most elaborate set ever conceived, either for the screen or stage, was constructed for a nine minute scene in "The Great Ziegfeld". The setting is that of a spiral volute built for the highlight number, "A Pretty Girl is Like a Melody". The volute was built upon a revolving stage of structural steel and weighs 100 tons. For it, 115 plans were drawn and completed in eight days. The stage was constructed with a steel ring, carrying a curtain of 4,300 yards of rayon silk and weighing 1,800 pounds, which trips with 48 tripping lines running off 24 motors geared through a reduction transmission. The volute, itself, was 32 feet high, 70 feet in diameter and carrying a spiral stairway of 75 steps upon which 182 boys and girls appear in dances and tableaux. The cyclorama partially encircling the spectacle was 290 feet long, 80 feet high, with 6,000 flashing lights depicting the Milky Way.

With the dances directed by Seymour Felix who supervised the dancing of many of the Ziegfeld Follies, the ensembles of the new film production out rival anything ever attempted heretofore in respect to talent, sheer beauty and striking originality, settings and arrangements. Among the spectacles are the Streets of Cairo sequence in the world's fair scene; the American Girl Circus number in which Harriett Hector dances amid a group of full-grown lions; the Bouquet of American Beauties number in which the long-legged Ray Bolger does his eccentric dances with the pick of America's most beautiful girls forming a huge floral background. Other spectacular numbers include the "Gotta Pull Strings" scene, performed on moving stages with thousands of balloons filling the air; the "Honemymoon Cottage" sequence with chorus staging a novel dance routine on 24 beds; the eye-staggering "You number; Fanny Brice's riotous "Fan Dance," and the lavish glorified fashion parade.

Whether the south should establish manufacturing was debated in North Carolina in 1831.

GABLE AND DAVIES TO OPEN HERE TODAY

"Cain and Mabel," which features Clark Gable, Marian Davies, and Roscoe Karns at the LaNora today through Wednesday includes three typical professions in one story. Clark Gable, cast for the first time with Marian Davies, plays the role of a champion heavyweight prizefighter who is continually being heckled by Dancer Marian Davies. Miss Davies, with Charles Tinker, the famous ballet dancer, as her partner, heads 161 chorus girls in a series of intricate and spectacular dance routines. One of the big features of the musical comedy is a sensational number called "Thousand Low Songs," which for sheer fun, novelty and magnitude of its scope, is truly remarkable. It is really six numbers combined in one, there being that many different settings and backgrounds.

Clark Gable succeeds, through heckling of Miss Davies, to pull a fight scene which is either good enough or faked enough to convince Tom Gallery, veteran California fight promoter, to offer him $50,000 to fight Max Baer in a scheduled bout. During the fight sequences of the picture Gable, contrary to the script, knocked out Allen Pomerooy former intercollegiate champion, after eight seconds had elapsed in the first round of their fight.

Among those who add greatly to the hilarious laughter of the production are Roscoe Karns, cast as a newspaper publicity man for Davies who is continually doing the wrong thing and increasing the antagonistic feeling between Gable and Davies, Allen Jenkins, Walter Catlett, Ruth Donnelly, and William Collier Sr.

Swine growers in Duplin county (N. C.) purchased 77,000 pounds of western feeder pigs this season.

Fruit trees and flowers blossomed in Virginia's warmest early October in years.

George Burrington, North Carolina governor, never received any of his salary.

'CHARGE OF LIGHT BRIGADE' TO BE SHOWN IN THIS CITY SOON

Just as the guns in Tennyson's epic poem volleyed and thundered across the screen. The idea of the photoplay is to establish a plausible, if highly imaginative reason for the immortal charge of the Light Brigade. To that end two promises are erected. Both move in an atmosphere of conflict. One is of direct appeal to men; the other appeals directly to the hearts of women. Both are skillfully combined to produce a spectacular and sensational entertainment for any audience.

With the Brothers Geoffrey and Perry Vickers as officers in the British army located in India, the picture opens with a conflict in progress for the love of Elsa Campbell, the commandant's daughter. At this time England is sitting on a powder house in India due to the combination of the Russians aiding Native Leader Surat Khan. Geoffrey, Elsa, and the commandant find themselves located at an outpost which is eventually taken through the wiles of crafty Surat Khan. Due to a previous debt of gratitude, Khan promises Geoffrey safe delivery of the survivors to square the debt, but breaks his promise and only Elsa and Geoffrey escape. At this time the Crimean War breaks out and Khan is found to be leading under the Russians. In order to avenge himself, Geoffrey forges the necessary orders to send this noble six hundred into the jaws of hell.

The sensationally re-enacted charge, a sterling tribute to technical and directional imagination and execution, takes rank with any and all great spectacles ever presented on the screen. Starting slowly to dissolve into a burst of roaring fury, it lifted a group of reviewing newspaper folk out of the projection room chairs and stood them up cheering.

Actualy this film is a campus musical comedy, much in the nature of a vaudeville show, with a funny football twist. Factually it looks like an authentic picture of what happened when a group of writers sat down to write a yarn, and producers, directors, gagmen, musical composers, players and agents tramped in to give them the benefit of their ideas in "Pigskin Parade."

A mistake by Yale's publicity director, in inviting a tank town Texas college to send its football team to the Bowl for a game, is the reason for the comedy, music, dancing, frivolity and excitement. It brings Hack Haley, ludicrously dominated by wife Patsy Kelly, into the picture as coach of Texas State university. Miss Kelley's success in breaking the star fullback's leg is typical of the comedy that accrues to this pair. Dixie Dunbar sings and dances with Anthony Martin, leader of the college band, Texas State, using wide open football, wallops a batch of teams. Patsy, in search of a ring to take the place of the crippled fullback, discovers Stuart Erwin, a barefoot boy from the melon patches who can toss watermelons into a bushel basket from 50 yards. She also discovers singing Judy Garland, but not before an unidentified trick harmonic playing youngster has contributed measurably to the insanity.

The whole essence of the film is hilarious fun, colored with music and dancing. Everything is so inaney treated that anyone will find difficulty in counting the laughs. The audience that saw it in Grauman's Chinese theater was continually in a wetter of glee.

Patsy, in search of a ring to take the place of the crippled fullback, discovers Stuart Erwin, a barefoot boy from the melon patches who can toss watermelons into a bushel basket from 50 yards. She also discovers singing Judy Garland, but not before an unidentified trick harmonic playing youngster has contributed measurably to the insanity.

The whole essence of the film is hilarious fun, colored with music and dancing. Everything is so inaney treated that anyone will find difficulty in counting the laughs. The audience that saw it in Grauman's Chinese theater was continually in a wetter of glee.

DO UNTO OTHERS

Civilized man, ever since the dawn of history, has been interested in gardens. In ancient Babylon and Egypt, in Rome and through the Middle Ages, the Renaissance, and on up to the present day, it has been man's pleasure and re-creation to plant a garden and watch it grow.

In the strict sense of the word, a garden is an enclosed area devoted to the cultivation of trees, shrubs and plants. A garden is a private affair, in which each of us may plant what he chooses, being free to enjoy life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness in his own little Eden, without fear of troubling, or of being troubled by anyone else.

But is he? Unfortunately roses, phlox, lilies, petunias and daffodils are not the only things that will grow in gardens. There are weeds of all sorts which, if given even a fighting chance, will grow in your garden or your neighbors', and having grown, will develop seeds which may be broadcast far and wide. If your delphiniums are your pride and joy, and your neighbor prefers to specialize in peonies, that need not disturb either one. But if one of you is careless about letting his weeds go to seed, then everyone in the neighborhood may suffer. A garden may be a private affair, but it is not unrelated to other gardens.

And what of the public areas, the front and side lawns, and the parking areas? Each yard is a part of a block. Each block is a part of a street, and each street is a part of the city. Visitors to our city judge us by the appearance we make. Let us do everything we can to make their impression as favorable as possible. Untidy yards, houses with paint peeling off, alleys full of weeds and treeless streets create no better impression than untidy hair, soiled and unpressed clothes and down-at-heel shoes. One man may dig dandelions all day long, but unless his neighbors also dig their dandelions he will have to keep on digging. One weedless lawn may appear to advantage by comparison with less well-cared-for lawns in the neighborhood, but it is not enough to make the whole block appear attractive, any more than a manicure will offset a woman's otherwise careless grooming.

Wherever there is a Garden Club there is a group of garden-minded people who want not only their own yards to be attractive, but those of their neighbors and friends, the grounds surrounding public buildings, all entrances to the city, parks and places of business as well. It is the Garden Club members who set the example and encourage others to keep their yards attractive, as nicely planted as possible, but above all, neat and clean and free from weeds.

In many cities a definite plan has been made and carefully followed, so that the result may be a harmonious whole. Surely it is more pleasing to see all the street trees on one street of the same kind than a mixture of what individual fancy happens to dictate. This would not mean that all street trees in the city need be of the same kind, but rather, for instance, north and south streets might be planted in ash, the cross streets in elm, with alternate streets in either group, perhaps in honey-locust or some other tree. If a plan of this sort existed, it would be just as easy for a householder to plant street trees to match the others on the street as to plant something different, and he could still plant whatever he liked on his own lot. With such a plan it might be possible for the city to plant the street trees, charging them to the householder in case replacement were necessary because of negligence. This would eliminate many of the bare spots in residential sections where trees have either not been planted or have been allowed to die and not been replaced. How much more attractive would be the city as a whole if all residential streets were uniformly tree-lined.

Owners of vacant lots, by keeping their lots cleaned up and the weeds cut, would make it easier for householders on neighboring lots to keep their places attractive, thus in turn enhancing the value of their own property. This might be taken care of by a city-wide program, having the work done regularly by city employes where it was not otherwise taken care of, and charged to the owner of the lot.

The Garden Club and the city may work together in carrying out a city beautification program, collecting and planting wild-flower seed along the highways approaching the city, arranging for the planting and maintenance of trees along the highways, the encouragement of cleaning up and planting about filling stations and places of business along the highways as an advantage to themselves as well as to the community as a whole.

In the last analysis it appears that if everyone does his bit by keeping his own home grounds neat and attractive, perhaps lending encouragement or a helping hand where necessary in a spirit of neighborliness, with the Garden Club and the city working together to see that public property is kept in good shape, we may all find our city a pleasanter place in which to live, and one in which we may be justly proud to receive residents of other cities.

Let us do unto others as we would have them do unto us.

DAILY WASHINGTON LETTER

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON—One of the most interesting late-campaign rumors said that on the eve of election Republicans would publish a list of about 2,500 employes of the New Deal administration, with the allegation that they were Communists.

But by all odds the most effective strategy of the Republicans which had a real chance to get into operation before election has been an appeal to the worker's pocket-book nerve. This has been made through pay envelope messages from employers which describe employe contri-

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

NEW YORK—Not all the harsh realism and sentimental roiling of New York is confined to Broadway and the underworld. Sometimes it lurks in hall bedrooms and in office buildings beneath the anonymity of stenographers and switchboard operators.

I have in mind just such an operator, a 21-year old stenographer, and when her story was whispered to me I frankly didn't believe it. I sought her out and I said: "It isn't any of my business, and you won't get any money for it, but would you mind answering a few questions for me?"

"I suppose I ought to call the manager and have you thrown out," she said, "but if you've got a cigarette you may sit down."

Once Ran Run "Eight hours out of every 24 I sit here typing letters, but I'd rather be running rum between Miami and Havana. I've done that, on a plane. I used to have a pilot's license. I've ridden freight trains and cattle boats, too, and once I almost crashed Broadway, but that comes later."

"When I was a kid we lived in Panama. At 14 I ran away from home and married an architect. He had lots of romantic ideas, but I suppose, domesticity palled. Anyway, he disappeared, and I haven't seen him since."

"There was nothing to keep me in Panama, so I hopped on a cattle boat and wound up in Texas, where someone taught me to fly. I love flying more than anything. Barn-storming was fun, but after several months my plane cracked up and they took my license away."

contributions to the federal old-age benefits phase of the social security program as a "tax on wages."

Despite millions of words written about the social security act, it becomes obvious that the bulk of citizens don't know what it's all about. Many of the pay envelope notices distributed by the Republican National Committee and other groups tend to make it appear that the New Deal has slyly imposed a tax on all wages in order to pay for federal extravagance, effective Jan. 1.

What happens is that, beginning in 1937, the government will collect from employers a 2 per cent payroll tax, half to be taken from employes' wages and half from employer funds. This tax will increase a total of 1 per cent each three years until in 1949 employer and employe will each be paying 3 per cent on everything up to $3000 of each employe's wages.

In 1942 workers reaching 65 years of age will be paid benefits from the accumulated fund and eventually the range of annuity payments will run from $10 to $85 a month, depending on the amount of the beneficiary's average earnings and years of employment before retirement.

Men with low incomes will get more for their money put in than men with higher incomes. It is estimated that about 26,000,000 employes will be affected.

Beginning in 1937, lump sum payments amounting to 3 1/2 per cent of total wages earned after Jan. 1 will be paid to employes reaching 65 and to survivors of those who die before benefit payments begin in 1942.

Employers, usually neglecting to mention the equal tax they themselves must pay toward the old age benefits of employes, assert that the "pay deduction" will be paid into the general treasury fund. That happens to be true.

Such a provision was made in the act to meet possible constitutional objections. It is also provided that Congress appropriate corresponding amounts to a reserve fund from which benefits are to be paid.

Employers warn that there's no guarantee Congress will make such appropriation. Democrats retort that such a warning is an assault on the integrity and credit of the federal government and that any congressman who refused to vote for such appropriation probably would be lynched.

Talks to parents

By Brooke Peters Church

It is human to be contrary, to want to do what is forbidden, to leave undone what one is told to do. It is human to be curious, to try to find out what one does not know. A secret is always a challenge. It is human to object to restraints, to try to free one's self from physical and spiritual bonds. The tighter these are drawn, the greater the resistance.

Children are human. It follows, therefore, that they have the same failings and peculiarities that their elders have, and I na me more aggravated form, since they have not yet learned self-control. It is useless to say that they should be different, that they should do as they are told, instead of the exact opposite, that they should take advice, accept restraint, not seek to know what is hidden from them.

Parents are prone to look upon these natural instincts as vices, to call a child naughty for yielding to them, to insist that he should know better. They may not believe in the doctrine of original sin, but they act as if they did.

The only way to deal with children is to accept them as they are. A knowledge of human nature with all its weaknesses and its possibilities for good, is essential to parents. One cannot drive ahead and force one's own point of view onto a child. The parent's function is to seek to guide the child as to develop its best qualities and talents.

Too many rules, too many secrets, too much oversight and restraint, only antagonize the child and stir him to rebel. Of course the ideal child would be always yielding and obedient. But the fact remains that children are not naturally either.

A child is not often wilfully naughty. He needs guidance, help and understanding in overcoming and learning to control his natural instincts.

The Wrong Murderer

By HUGH CLEVELY

Chapter 11 GIRL WITH GUN Mahony turned on him like a tiger, grabbed him by the collar, jerked him nearer, and raised his pistol.

"Who's Miss Fraser?" he asked quickly or I'll knock your brains out," he ordered harshly. "Eh? Miss Fraser? She's locked in a room upstairs," answered the man. He had a bleary, bloated look, as if he had been sleeping in an armchair and was not yet properly awake.

"His pistol-butt came down with a sharp rap. The sleepy-looking man joined the fat man on the floor. Mahony sprang for the stairs and ran up them two at a time. At the top was a corridor with doors on either side of it. Half-way along the corridor a man was sitting as if keeping watch, a pistol in his hand.

As Mahony gained the top of the stairs, he rose from his seat quickly. Again there came the sharp ear-splitting crack of a shot, and something twitched Mahony's sleeve. Instantly Mahony fired back, the reports of the two shots followed one another with hardly an interval.

The man clutched at his shoulder, spun round on his feet, and sprawled on his back on the floor; his pistol slid from his hand across the carpet. Thin wisps of acrid smoke formed a slight haze in the corridor.

After the report of those two shots the silence for a moment, seemed almost unnatural. Then Mahony shouted: "Miss Fraser! Miss Fraser!"

From behind a closed door came a clear, defiant voice—a girl's voice. "What do you want?"

"Are you locked in?" shouted Mahony. "I'll have you out of that in a minute."

He ran for the door and put his shoulder to it in a football charge. The timber cracked. He was about to have another go at it when the girl's voice came again, warningly. "I shouldn't try that if I were you. You've still got four shots left."

Mahony didn't know what she was talking about. Anyway, she spoke too late. He had already started on another charge. Again his shoulder struck the door with all his weight behind it. There was a rending crash, and one of the timbers caved in slightly. From behind the door came the crash of a shot, and a splinter of woodwork jumped from the door and grazed Mahony's face.

He was amazed. The girl was shooting at him from behind the door. It occurred to him that it was probably she who had shot at him from the window.

"It's all right," he shouted. "Don't shoot. I've come to rescue you."

"Go tell that to the Marines," came the girl's voice from behind the door. "You won't catch me like that."

"Hell and damnation!" said Mahony in a tone of intense annoyance. As yet he hadn't understood what was happening, but the fact that the girl whom he had come to rescue was trying to shoot him aroused in him an acute exasperation. The fish-faced little half-wit, he thought; that was the kind of thing an intelligent young airman would do. He did not try to argue with her or persuade her to act.

He drew back slightly, and then lunged forward with his right foot, with all his strength behind the lunge. The sole of his shoe struck the timber in its weakest part, where it had already begun to give. With a splintering crash a panel split all the way down and the door flew open. As it opened, Mahony dropped to one knee, ducking as low as possible.

"Crack!" went the girl's pistol viciously, but the bullet passed harmlessly over Mahony's head. Before she could fire again he flung himself forward, thrust out a long arm, grabbed her ankle and gave a vigorous pull. She uttered a yell and sat down suddenly. The pistol went off again, but this time the bullet went into the ceiling. Before she could fire again Mahony grabbed the barrel and wrenched it from her hand.

"What the devil do you think you're doing?" he asked. "You might have shot me."

"That's what I meant to do," she said. "Sitting on the floor, they examined one another bad-temperedly. Ruth Fraser was a slim girl with a boyish figure, candid, slightly freckled features, a small determined chin, and very clear dark eyes. She looked at Mahony with great scorn and dislike; it was evident that she disapproved of him strongly.

Mahony sighed. "Didn't you hear me say I'd come to rescue you?" he asked in a brave, patient voice. His tone seemed to indicate that she probably did not understand the meaning of a long word like "rescue."

"Of course I did," she answered. "But I didn't believe you. Why should I? I thought you were one of them. They've been promising me all sorts of things if I'd come out."

"I see," said Mahony. His annoyance vanished. He laughed. "Do you believe now that I've come to rescue you?" he asked.

"Yes," she said. "He rose quickly to his feet, and held out his hand to help her to rise. She grasped it, and he pulled her upright.

"Come on, then; we'd better get out of here," he said. "That will suit me," she answered. She swayed slightly; of a sudden she looked very weak and tired. Mahony took her arm and helped her along the passage and downstairs to the hall. No one tried to stop them. In the front doorway the fat man was sitting up, leaning back against the wall and grunting loudly. He looked rather like a fat, expiring fish. He watched them, glassy-eyed, while they got into the car. Mahony started the engine, and with a loud roar they were away.

"It was not till they were well clear of the house that either of them spoke. The girl broke the silence between them.

"So you came into that house after me alone," she observed. "Yes," said Mahony.

"She appeared to consider for a moment. Then she went on. "I'm sorry I was such a nuisance. I mean, trying to shoot you, and all that sort of thing."

"That's all right," said Mahony. "How are you feeling?"

"Tired," she answered, "and hungry. I suppose you haven't by any chance got a ham sandwich or a piece of chocolate about you? I haven't had anything to eat since the day before yesterday. There was some water in my room, but that's not frightfully sustaining."

There was no trace of hysteria or terror about her; she spoke quite simply and seriously. Mahony, liked her. A nice kid, he reflected.

"I'm sorry, I haven't," he said. "But I'll soon have you back at your own home, and you'll be able to get all you want there."

"I didn't really think you had," she said. "But I thought you might have, if you know what I mean."

She looked at him with frank curiosity. "By the way, who are you?" she asked. "And how did you happen to butt in this evening?"

Mahony had no intention of disclosing his identity to her. He did not want to have to explain to her relatives, or the police, how he had found out that she was in that house.

"Don't bother about who I am," he answered. "I'm not going to answer any questions. But I'd like you to tell me about yourself—how you were kidnapped, and what was going on inside that house when I turned up."

"I was kidnapped about three days ago, when I was with a friend of mine named Billy Ross," she answered. "He met me as I was coming out of my guardian's house, and asked me if I'd like to go with him to see a marvelous fortune-teller named Rachel."

"I went with him, and while I was looking into a crystal somebody came up behind me and pressed something over my mouth. I think it was chloroform; it smells like that."

"Of course I kicked and struggled like anything, but it was no good. That's all I remember till I woke up in that house. There were three men there, and they kept me locked in a room. They didn't ill-treat me, except for not letting me go, but I believe they put something in my food."

WHEREAS, in the passing of our esteemed Comrade, his family has lost a devoted husband and father, Volture No. 543 La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux, a faithful member and the Department of Texas a loyal worker; therefore be it

RESOLVED, that the officers and members of Pampa Volture No. 953 in regular meeting assembled, express our sincere and heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family in this sad hour; and be it further

RESOLVED, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of our deceased comrade, a copy sent to the Forby and Eighter, The Texas Legion News, and the Pampa Daily News for publication, and a copy recorded in the minutes of this meeting.

PAUL D. HILL, C. M. CARLOCK, J. W. WOODWORTH, Committee.

Pampa, Texas, this 28th day of October, 1936.

THREE LONG YEARS—Republicans for three long years have shed their coats and skins, and tears, to tell their comrades how they feel regarding Roosevelt's new deal.

For three long years they've played for votes but never mentioned nine-cent oats; they say this new deal stuff is rotten but never speak of four-cent cotton.

For three long years they've wept aloud and cursed this money spending crowd; they say, of liberty we're shorn but not a breath of ten-cent corn.

For three long years they've yelled and raved 'the Constitution must be saved! But with their puerile prate and prattle, they sing no song of two-cent cattle.

For three long years they've been at sea and now they come to you and me and offer us—as bait for votes—more two-cent steers and nine-cent oats.

For three long years they've yelped and wailed and tell us how the New Deal's failed; they tell us how we're going to spill but never mention ten-cent oil.

For three long years they fume and fret and hammer and slander our New Deal set; they tell us Roosevelt's a cheat but forget to talk of two-bit wheat.

They offer, as in days of old 'A crown of thorns, a cross of gold' 'A balanced budget'—can you beat it? It was not till they were well clear of the house that either of them spoke. The girl broke the silence between them.

"So you came into that house after me alone," she observed. "Yes," said Mahony.

The clerk explained the difficulties involved.

"Very well," came the rejoinder. "I want to learn how to vote and if you can't bring up a machine I guess the Republicans will."

10 PRODUCERS COMPLETED IN PLAINS FIELD

POTENTIAL PRODUCTION IS 4,901 BARRELS OF CRUDE

On the heels of an announcement from the local office of the Texas Railroad Commission that the percentage of proratable oil allowed on the November schedule had been reduced from 1.27 per cent to .931 per cent, the Panhandle reported 10 completions with a total potential of 4,901 barrels. Allowable for the Panhandle field for November, not including Moore county or the Osborne pool in Wheeler county, was reduced from 59,485 to 57,485 barrels at a statewide hearing last week. The reduction and increased production was responsible for the decrease in the percentage figure.

Three gas wells added 77,275,000 cubic feet to the ever growing flow of gas from Panhandle wells.

WEST TEXANS WILL SUPPORT AMENDMENT 6

EVEN JIM FERGUSON IS GIVING AID TO MEASURE

Support of wide political interests was claimed for amendment No. 6 in a last minute appeal by the author, George Moffett of Chillocothe, to voters in the general election next Tuesday. While the call was general to all Texans, it has particular import for West Texans, who reside in 65 per cent of the state's territory, pay 45 per cent of all state's going into the state treasury, and yet have only 35 per cent of the 150 members of the lower house at Austin.

"Among the active supporters working for its passage," said Moffett, "the following: Honorable Coke R. Stevenson, speaker of the house; Senator Clint Small of Amarillo; Rep. Jack Padgett, Austin member of the house; and Jim Ferguson, former governor and known as the 'killer' of more amendments than any other Texan. All four have come out in the open for the measure, which provides for equalization of legislative representation on a basis of geography as well as population in the laying out of legislative districts. The author is chairman of the legislative committee on constitutional amendments.

Not 'Agin' This One.

Ferguson, whose well-known "I'm 'Agin' It" has meant the death knell for many a proposal, discusses the provisions of this one "Amendment No. 6 provides a limitation on the number of legislators that can be elected from any county. The amendment proposes to restrict the number of representatives from any one county to seven, unless a county has more than 700,000 people, and then one additional member to each additional 100,000 population. The object of this amendment is to prevent concentration of legislative power in the large cities. If the six large cities of the state should reach an average of one-half million each, they could elect enough members of the legislature in the House and Senate to absolutely control all legislation, and we would see six counties controlling the remaining 248 counties. I think this is an important amendment and should be adopted."

Another politician with long experience is Speaker Coke Stevenson: "My experience in the legislature has been that a small group can, by effective cooperation, become the deciding factor in legislation. Members elected from a few densely populated counties are far more likely to work together than members elected from scattered areas. For this reason, amendment No. 6 seems to be a desirable measure. Furthermore, a county with 500,000 people is not likely to have any greater variety of interests than a county with 100,000 people and, therefore, there is not the need for an increase in members in such a county."

"Furthermore, our federal constitution in many ways reflects the principle that geography as well as population should be considered in our legislative set-up, and the supreme court of the United States has upheld this contention."

Thirty States Have It.

The release of Padgett, Austin member, follows:

"My understanding is that approximately 30 states, actually do consider geography as well as population, in apportioning the members of their law-making body among the various counties of their domain. Since Texas has more than twice as many counties as any other state, and since there is probably greater diversity of interest in Texas than in any other state, it seems to me highly proper that the balance wheel proposed by amendment No. 6 be inserted in our constitution."

The tendency toward centralization has gone too far already to insure the perpetuation of a healthy condition, declares Senator Small. "Representation in the legislature should be well diffused over the entire state, just as are the base industries. The products of the mine, or the oil or gas well—these are things that have made Texas. But unless our constitution is amended, concentration and centralization of legislative power will continue. I honestly believe the adoption of this amendment is necessary to insure the continued prosperity and proper development of our state."

LOCAL CONTRIBUTIONS TO FUND REACH $400

Contributions to the Democratic campaign fund from Gray county had mounted Saturday to near the $400 mark, it was announced by Siler Faulkner, county Democratic chairman.

Gray county's goal was set by the state committee at slightly more than $1,100.

Among the Gray county contributors up to noon Saturday were J. N. Duncan, P. E. Leech, Frank Hill, L. C. McConnell, L. L. Law, Thompson Hardware Co., James Martinas, J. D. White, Jack Dunn, Siler Faulkner, John F. Sturgeon, Bert Curry, M. P. Downs, Dr. R. M. Bellamy.

Ivy E. Duncan, Lynn Boyd, Charles Thut, J. E. Murfee, Jr., E. B. Davis, M. J. Dunigan, C. H. Walker, Mrs. Georgia Wolfe, and Clinton Henry.

Mr. Faulkner issued another appeal today to Democrats of the county to contribute to the fund in order to meet the national campaign deficit.

Contributions can be mailed to Mr. Faulkner at his office in the Gray county courthouse.

BANKS

Investment houses specializing in bank shares are getting set for a huge volume of business during 1937. They give numerous reasons why the public will turn to this market for additional investments. The more important ones are: Increased efficiency of operations; as soon as government spending stops or eases the loan market will return to banks; increased business activity will compel corporations to borrow from banks; shareholders not annoyed any more by the fear of double liability since such regulation expires in the near future; thousands of weak banks are no longer competitors; interest payments on demand deposits have been eliminated and rates are lower on time deposits; costly free services are being discontinued and service charges are now general; banks are exempt from undistributed profit taxes; and, the public's attitude is more friendly today than it has been for over five years.

condition there has been buying of oil securities. There's no doubt but that the industry is in good shape. The United States Bureau of Mines suggested that production be increased. Demand is running well ahead of the most bullish of expectations.

The Pacific Coast is said to be in the best statistical position. Consumption there is far ahead of production. The trade intimates that it isn't unlikely that higher crude oil prices will soon be witnessed.

SHREWD

Banking houses with foreign wire connections note that Amsterdam interests have been liquidating high grade bond holdings. As yet there is no sign evident as to how the funds will be placed. According to an informed source these monies are not to be reinvested in securities. It was said that Dutch guilders are being purchased. In this way the funds which came to the United States as protection against anticipated devaluation are being repatriated. Thus shrewd Amsterdam money interests profited from the 30 per cent cut on the value of the guilder.

"What are the duties of Bank directors?"

STATED in simple terms, it is the duty of bank directors to direct. They are elected by the owners of the bank—the stockholders who delegate to the board of directors the responsibility of management. The directors, in turn, hire the officers who, with other employees, carry on the daily work of running the bank.

But the final and inescapable responsibility for the bank rests upon its board of directors. It is their job to exercise control and supervision of its affairs. It is their duty to know about the important phases of the bank's business.

Our directors actively direct the affairs of this bank. They meet regularly to pass on important matters, to make decisions and establish policies which guide our officers in the daily management of the bank.

HEADACHE

German chemists have perfected a new rustproof steel. It is called "Roneuil." Steel circles regard the new metal as a direct threat to International Nickel.

American rustless steel contains large amounts of nickel. But the new German product doesn't require any nickel at all. That is why it is cheaper to produce and will sell at lower prices. In addition to the new nickel find in Canada, the latest German discovery is another headache to International Nickel shareholders.

BOOKED

Increased textile mill activity is due to fears of higher prices. Increased labor and raw material costs bring this about. As a result buyers are taking for stocking purposes. Inventory positions were low but are now being replaced. Based upon a textile trade reports mills are booked nicely for the next four months.

1936 will be record earnings year for duPont and Union Carbide. Red metal interests say that Miami Copper has interesting possibilities. It all goes well Phillip Morris will show over $6 a share dividend before close of year—that would eliminate company from paying a surtax. Howe Sound to pay "a special 50 cent dividend" before close of year. Dividend uncertainty accounts for sluggish market. Woolen preferred as harboring more than speculative risks. Since Manhattan Shirt's fiscal year ends November 30th no surtax dividend will be announced this year. For 1936 Bigelow-Sanford Carpet will show $3.50 a share. First National Stores is fourth largest grocery chain system in country. Utility interests like long-pull potentialities of Niagara Hudson Power. SILK

Silk commodity prices are strong. Strength is based on the small receipts from Japan. As the statistical position stands the trade looks for higher prices. But there's caution in the wind.

Not long ago the same picture was shown. Figures from Japan were just as optimistic. Prices spurted. Dealers stocked as best they could fearing a shortage. When all was at its height a flood of shipments started from Japan. Fearing that history will repeat the silk trade is taking only on a hand to mouth basis.

MOVING

Hollinger Mines has discovered large quantities of profitable low grade ore in the territory on which its milling plant is located. Engineers have found that the shaft will have to be started on the mill spot. It means it must be moved. The cost involved will be large. But since the funds are to be taken right out of operating income no new debts will be incurred. It was also said that a

CAPTOL JIGSAW By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, Nov. 1 (AP)—The chaplain of the House of Representatives events program, is an important person.

Members seeking to have the House express opposition to de-liberalization of the pension law were temporarily blocked because the rules required a prayer by the chaplain at the opening of each legislative day.

A vote to suspend the rule failed, but later the House authorized a member to pray, and business proceeded.

The chaplain is the Rev. George W. Coltrin. He is paid $5 a day.

At the height of argument over the rule, several members offered to lead the house in prayer, but Speaker Coke Stevenson said the regulation was explicit in requiring prayer by the chaplain.

Rep. Kenneth McCalla, once a baseball pitcher for the University of Texas Langhorns, shouted that if the House ever had needed prayer "now is the time."

When the atmosphere finally cleared, Rep. Jasper Reed of Arkansas, a minister, advanced to the rostrum and delivered a short prayer.

A somewhat similar situation developed in the Senate a year ago, Senator Roy Sanderford of Belton quickly stepped into the breach, however, giving the necessary prayer.

Sanderford, an unsuccessful candidate for governor last summer, now is president pro tempore of the Senate.

Coke Stevenson of Junction, speaker of the House, is a master at guiding the turbulent lower legislative chamber through its frequent squalls of debate.

One of his chief attributes is a calm temperament and a sense of humor that spreads like oil over troubled waters and quickly brings peace to the most acrimonious controversies.

When proponents and opponents of pension de-liberalization were debating each other and procedure was snarled the speaker barked his gavel and remarked:

"It looks like I'll have to penalize the House 25 yards for roughness."

The House had a laugh when Rep. Harold Hankamer of El Paso was sponsoring. It called for a small appropriation.

AUSTIN, Nov. 1 (AP)—Members of the legislative committee investigating communism and atheism were very stern in public announcements against University of Texas students who demonstrated against being ejected from hearings, but privately they spoke quite kindly of the youths.

"We all know they aren't bad fellows," Chairman Joe Caldwell of Asherton said, "but we have to maintain order or admit that not only the committee but the House of Representatives is powerless to enforce its authority."

Cpl. H. E. Carmichael, director of the department of public safety, had need of his 250 pounds and more of weight in expelling the students from the House galleries.

Big and calm, he reasoned with them, pulled some out of seats when they refused to move and then stood in the doorway when some sought to return.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

FLOWERS THAT REMAIN OPEN ONLY AT NIGHT ARE EITHER WHITE OR YELLOW!

MAN REQUIRED ABOUT 50,000 YEARS TO DEVELOP A CHIN!

ALL OF THE MILLIONS OF FINGERPRINTS, NO TWO OF WHICH HAVE BEEN FOUND TO BE ALIKE, COME UNDER THREE PRINCIPAL CLASSIFICATIONS.

THE Pilldown Man, believed to have lived from 100,000 to 150,000 years ago, and the Heideberg Man, who may have lived 300,000 years ago, were chinless. The Neanderthal Man, the first passably human creature known, had only a suggestion of a chin.

Representatives laughed when he became the investigator but informed the "investigated" but agreed generally the justice of the peace had no right to interfere with progress of the investigation.

Some gave credit for the idea of subpoenaing Caldwell and Cooper to Everett Leamy, a former assistant attorney general under Gov. Alford and a member of counsel representing some witnesses at the inquiry.

"That's right down Everett's alley," said one.

Thousands of fans attending the Baylor-Texas football game had a big laugh when at the half intermission a small boy in gleaming red suit appeared from somewhere and trotted around the gridiron.

In one hand he carried a big black "bomb" with long "fuse" attached. Closely "pursuing" him was another lad in somber black, carrying about his neck placards labeled "legislature."

Many members of the legislature were in the stands and joined in the laughter.

"That's all very well," the comment was heard; "but what effect is it all going to have on university appropriations?"

Interest is also being shown in the study of electricity and elementary math, both of which will probably be studied by classes which will be organized Monday night at the school auditorium.

Any person interested in the courses is urged to be at the meeting, called for 7:30 o'clock.

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD - Charles Boyer of France, who thinks his English is pretty poor, is as amazed as he is grateful that American audiences accept it.

Boyer has something very near an inferiority complex about his English, which is a comparatively new accomplishment with him.

"Learning a language after one is 30," he says, "is very difficult. We return to France every year and I almost have to learn English again when we come back to Hollywood."

So it is that Boyer, whose forceful personality has built for him a large American following, always has that "sinking feeling" under the microphones of Hollywood.

Tolerance Amazes Him "The tolerance of American film fans," he declares, "amazes me. They do not mind the varied accents of us foreigners. Perhaps it is because America has so many accents of its own, because this country has absorbed so many foreigners. But in France, I regret to say, an American speaking French on the screen as badly as I speak English would never be accepted unless he were playing comedy. In drama he would be considered out of place. Yet here I play dramatic roles, and audiences have been kind, very kind."

Boyer, a modest, extremely likable fellow, is entering upon a new period of activity after a time in which circumstances conspired to keep him off the American screen. For months he worked with Mariene Dietrich in the uncompleted "Hotel Imperial," which still lies on Paramount's shelves. Then he went into "The Garden of Allah" opposite the same star. Soon this will be ready for release. Now he is in "History is Made at Night," with Jean Arthur, and he has commitments for films opposite Ginger Rogers and Garbo, all of which should put his star again in the ascendency. He needs to be seen again soon, his last American film having been the none too happy "Shanghai."

79-Page Fan Letter Boyer first came to Hollywood to make French versions for Metro. When the studio dropped these, he worked out his contract, playing small roles, such as the taxi-driver in Jean Harlow's "Red-Headed Woman," but he returned then to France, the stage, and incidentally to the study of English.

The old Fox company brought him back to Hollywood, miscast him as a dancing, fiddling troubador in "Caravan," and almost sealed his fate. He was ready to leave for good when Walter Wanger, who had seen him in a French film abroad, called his agent to hold him here. Wanger put him in "Private Worlds," one of last year's best pictures. And is he popular? Well, the studio is holding for him a 79-page letter from a girl fan in Omaha, Neb., that took her nearly three months to write!

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 31. (AP)—Mingivings about likelihood that rust damage to Argentine crops may prove to be of major consequence did much to put backbone into wheat prices today.

Moist weather, unfavorable for movement of the new corn crop, lent firmness to corn and oats. Rye followed wheat. Provisions averaged a little higher.

In this column answers will be given to inquiries as to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the state and its people. As evidence of good faith inquirers must give their names and addresses, but only their initials will be printed. Address inquiries to Will H. Mayes, Austin, Texas.

Q. How many and what were the Texas "municipalities" in 1836? H.H. A. There were 18 "municipalities" (governmental districts) in Texas in 1836, as follows: San Felipe de Austin, Bexar (San Antonio), Brazoria, Goliad, Gonzales, Matagorda, San Augustine, San Patricio, Harrisburg, Mina (Bastrop), Nacogdoches, Jasper, Liberty, Milam, Refugio, Shelby (Teneha), Victoria and Washington.

Q. Who was Dr. James Grant and what was his part in early Texas history? E. D. T. A. He was a native of Scotland, who became a naturalized citizen of Mexico and large land holder near Parras, Coahuila. In 1835 he secured a grant to settle 800 families between the Rio Grande and the Nueces. He became embittered toward Mexico and with 40 men joined Milam in the capture of San Antonio in 1835. On March 2, 1836, when engaged with about 40 men on the Agua Dulce, 20 miles west of San Patricio, the Texans were surprised by several hundred Mexicans under Gen. Urrea, and Grant and most of his men were killed.

Q. What was Dr. Grant's attitude toward the independence of Texas? E. D. T. A. He opposed it and his attempted expedition to Mexico at the time he was killed was with a view to forcing re-establishment of the constitution of 1824, rather than resort to separation of Texas from that country. Q. What position did Ellis P. Bean hold in Nolan's "trading expedition" to Texas? G. S. A. Bean was second in command and when Nolan was killed took command and strongly opposed surrender, but yielded to pleadings of his men when the Spaniards agreed to take them to Natchez and release them, instead of which they were chained and taken to Mexican prisons.

It looks like the Ochiltree Herald like Ochiltree county wheat growers have been given the "high sign" by the district wheat office over in Amarillo. Here are the facts, folks, so judge for yourself, especially some of you who have been complaining about your local wheat committee because other counties are getting their wheat checks while you are still holding the sack. Ochiltree county was given its quota on Sept. 12. The final papers for the county were delivered to the Amarillo office on Sept. 26. It is known to be a fact that counties that had their papers into the Amarillo office just a few days ahead of Ochiltree county have already received their checks, yet our committee was not called into Amarillo for a final check-up until last Tuesday. As it appears now, it will be at least two weeks before any wheat checks will be received in Ochiltree county. If some of the "big shots" in the district office want to get all "set-up" over our "wondering why," then that's their privilege. We don't owe them anything and we're not asking for anything. They used to allow their wheat committee to purchase their own supplies with their own money from their local dealers, but some of the big dealers down in the state got wise to this business that was getting away from them, so they stopped it, pronto.—The Ochiltree County Herald.

Boyer has something very near an inferiority complex about his English, which is a comparatively new accomplishment with him. At home he and his English wife, Pat Pateron, speak only English, and his use of French in Hollywood is kept conscientiously at a minimum.
