Egypt Threatens To Boycott Talks

By United Press International
Egypt said today the breakdown in truce talks with Israel forced it to reconsider plans to attend a U.S.-backed Middle East peace conference. Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir warned of a possible resumption of fighting.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, however, said Thursday the United States was still hopeful a peace conference would get under way and said Washington had made "a major commitment to this goal."

'INGRAINED SUSPICION'

Jaworski's Staff Ires White House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House has pointed an accusing finger once again at the office of the special Watergate prosecutor, charging members of Leon Jaworski's staff with having an "ingrained suspicion and visceral dislike" for President Nixon.

—what they have felt, their views—would suggest that they enter into this entire procedure with a certain amount of ingrained suspicion and visceral dislike for this President and this administration.

That blast, issued Thursday by Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, carried with it the implication that Jaworski's assistants were trying to turn the Watergate hearings into a political witchhunt.

Reminded that Jaworski speaks kindly of his staff, Ziegler snapped: "Well, I speak unkindly of it."

Ziegler specifically mentioned Richard Ben-Veniste, the young New York attorney who heads the prosecutor's courtroom team. He implied Ben-Veniste pursued an irrelevant line of questioning in court to produce a space of headlines when he said there were other "gaps" in subpoenaed Watergate tape recordings.

Earlier this week, Gerald L. Warren, Ziegler's deputy, accused Jaworski's staff of leaking damaging information about its investigations to newsmen. He conceded under persistent questioning the next day that he had no specific information to substantiate the charge.

Astronauts Seem Calm, Flight Director Worried

HOUSTON (UPI) — Gerald P. Carr, firing salt into his dinner with a syringe-type gizmo, looked like he needed a shave but didn't appear to be too concerned about today's activities.

Field reports estimated the Communist force at 1,500. Am. Rong said the government garrison numbered less than 350 men. The town had been under Communist attack for the past three months and had only about 300 civilians left of its original population of 1,000.

Edward G. Gibson ate part of his meal upside down as he hammed it up for the television cameras.

The retreating column of 350 soldiers and 300 civilians was ambushed a mile south of the capital and by mid-afternoon only 130 soldiers and 20 civilians had reached safety and 50 of those were wounded.

But if the three Skylab astronauts appeared calm, flight director Charles Lewis was biting his nails.

Government forces started a counter-attack on Vihear Suor immediately, bombing the town in continuous sorties of converted T28 training planes. They were trying to knock out 106mm guns left behind by the retreating government forces.

Santa Day Parade Opens Holiday Season Activities

Pampanos and visitors from surrounding communities lined downtown and Coronado Center areas yesterday for the annual Santa Day parade officially opening the Christmas holiday season.

Judges picked the following prize winners in the four parade divisions.

Communists Take Province Capital

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Communist rebels staging a surprise wet season attack under cover of a heavy rocket and mortar barrage today captured a provincial capital 10 miles from Phnom Penh and ambushed retreating government soldiers and civilians.

Field reports estimated the Communist force at 1,500. Am. Rong said the government garrison numbered less than 350 men.

In Laos, Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma appealed to the Communist Pathet Lao leadership for speedy formation of a new coalition government.

The overall health of the vehicle—electrically and environmentally—is in better shape than ever before," Lewis said.

controversy on how the crisis came about. Some critics, both in and out of government, blamed it on the oil industry and inadequate government policies.

Trust Fund Proposed
As a means of solving the energy problem, Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., proposed today a multimillion dollar trust fund financed from gasoline taxes and other travel-related items.

Alvine, a long-time energy expert, told a Senate subcommittee Thursday that the top 10 refining companies reduced their output by 3 per cent below maximum capacity during the 1972-73 winter season.

Alvine charged the government "heavily contributed to the fuel shortage by 'grossly' mismanaging fuel import programs.

Parade music was played by the Pampa High School, Pampa Junior High and Middle School bands.

These deal with some of the meetings in which former presidential counsel John W. Dean III says he told Nixon about the Watergate cover-up.

Jaworski Wants Watergate Tapes 'IMMEDIATELY'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Prosecutor Leon Jaworski wants four of President Nixon's Watergate tapes turned over to the grand jury immediately and says he may ask that all three years of White House recordings be given to the court for safekeeping.

Texas Railroad Commissioner To Speak Here

Texas Railroad Commissioner Mack Wallace will be the guest speaker tomorrow night when the Panhandle Chapter of the American Petroleum Institute meets to elect chapter officers for the coming year.

Wallace was appointed to the position on the Railroad Commission by Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

Since his appointment to the commission, Wallace has studied the oil industry and its functions. His findings are expected to be of great interest to the local area.

Relatives Mourn Store Fire Dead

TOKYO (UPI) — "My God, it looks like hell," a fire official said as he tramped today through the smoldering ruins of the Taiyo department store in Kumamoto.

In another part of town, robed Buddhist priests chanted prayers at the Higashi Hongan-ji temple. Relatives inside sobbed by the coffins of 100 persons killed when fire blazed through the store Thursday during a pre-Christmas sale.

Masayuki Motonaga sat by the coffin of his wife, Keiko. "I don't want to show the body to my children," he said. "I am going to have it cremated and then tell my children their mother's face was very beautiful."

Toshio Utsunomiya sat beside the body of his wife, Chitane. "It's useless to say anything now that my wife is dead," he said.

Pioneer 10 Faces Death As It Heads To Jupiter

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (UPI) — If Pioneer 10 meets a sudden radiation death on the way to its Monday encounter with the planet Jupiter, the spacecraft still will have discovered much about man's possible flight to the outer solar system.

Pioneer's findings reported Thursday about Jupiter's magnetic field came on top of a list of discoveries during the nuclear-powered vehicle's 21-month trip so far.

To travel to the outer planets, man or his vehicles must pass through the asteroid belt, a previously unexplored region full of dust, rocks and larger bodies, one the size of Alaska.

Then, a spacecraft must loop around Jupiter, using the planet's orbital motion as a giant slingshot to shoot the

Pampa Man Pleads Guilty To Robbery

AMARILLO — Lee Autry Adams, 21, of Pampa pleaded guilty here yesterday to charges of armed robbery in connection with an Aug. 31 incident at the Toot N' Totum store at 1010 N. Fillmore.

After hearing Adams' plea, 47th District Court Judge Gene Jordan sentenced the Pampa man to an eight-year prison term.

Adams was arrested the night of Aug. 31 after emerging from the convenience store with a stocking over his head. He exchanged shots with officers at the time and was wounded in the leg with shotgun pellets.

Newest Greek Regime Meets More Criticism

ATHENS (UPI) — Opposition leaders who welcomed the ouster of strongman President George Papadopoulos have begun to attack Greece's new military-backed regime for delaying a return to democratic rule.

Ioannis Zighdis, a cabinet minister under the late Premier George Papandreou, accused the new government Thursday of singing "the same boring song of nebulous intentions" as Papadopoulos when he came to power in a 1967 coup.

Zighdis was referring to a policy statement by Premier Adamantios Androustopoulos, an American-educated economist picked to run the country by the military chiefs who ousted Papadopoulos last Sunday.

U.S., Britain Cautions U.N. Assembly

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The United States and Britain cautioned the General Assembly Thursday against approving unenforceable, impractical and unrealistic resolutions.

The matter was raised by the major Western powers in the assembly's discussion of means of strengthening the United Nations.

W. Tapley Bennett Jr., acting chief of the U.S. delegation, said the United States was concerned with "a growing tendency to adopt unenforceable or impractical resolutions and to reject constructive if limited action."

"The United Nations is not an instrument for wish fulfillment," he said.

4-H Youths Plan Annual Food Show

By AUDETTE VAUGHN
Asst. County Extension Agent
The annual 4-H Food Show will be Saturday, Dec. 1. Judging will begin at 9 a.m. in the Courthouse Annex.

The theme for this year's show will be "Lone Star Foods." A dish will follow the theme if it is a statewide or a regional favorite.

There will be junior (9-13) and senior (14-19) division judging in four classes:

Main Dishes - Foods classified as main dishes usually contain a meat or meat alternate such as cheese, eggs, dry beans or peas, or peanut butter. They may contain other foods in addition to this.

Suggested dishes to enter in this category are beef, veal, lamb, pork, variety meats, poultry, eggs, fish and shellfish, dry beans, dry peas, casseroles, loaves, stews, meat, poultry or fish pies; souffles, omelets, meat group salads, sandwiches, soups and chowders.

Side Dishes - Foods classified as side dishes are usually served along with a main dish or as accompaniments to the main course. These are usually fruit or vegetable dishes.

Suggested dishes to enter in this category are relish tray, salad, cooked vegetables, vegetable casseroles, fruit platters and buttered rice.

Breads and Desserts - Suggested dishes to enter in this category are quick breads, yeast breads, cakes, cookies, baked fruits, doughnuts, pies, cobblers, other fruit desserts, custards and puddings.

Snacks and Beverages - Snacks are defined as foods eaten in addition to or in lieu of a full meal (entree and beverages). Any dish may qualify as a snack if it is designated as a snack on the card giving the menu for a day. A beverage is defined as a drink. Soups are not considered beverages.

Suggested dishes to enter in this category are milk drinks and floats, fruit drinks, dips and dippers, fondues, sandwiches, party foods and refreshments, appetizers and pizzas.

Display - The contestant will exhibit a serving dish containing the entire recipe. The contestant will serve the judges a taste (any amount) when instructed. Use only the tableware appropriate and necessary to serve the dish prepared. Contestants must furnish serving utensil to use in serving judges.

Scoring - Seniors (14-19) will be judged by 4-H Food Show Score Card - Senior Division. The menu will be judged by "Are You A Good Eater." The recipe and nutrient analysis are for the purpose of learning and will not be scored for accuracy but will be included in display.

Seniors will also be given a short nutritional test.

Menu - The menu will be judged in advance of the Food Show for nutritional adequacy by the "basic four." It will also be judged by variety in color, flavor, texture, and temperature.

Awards - All participants will be recognized at 2 p.m. in an awards program. The two top-scoring seniors (in separate divisions) and two top-scoring juniors will represent Gray County in District competition.

The food show will be televised on PCTV, Channel 9.

INFLATION KEEPS AMERICANS OUT

COLOGNE, West Germany (UPI) - American tourists counted their dollars twice this summer and spent 20 per cent less in West Germany, according to an estimate by the Central Tourist Office.

Rising costs and the second devaluation of the U.S. currency in only 12 months were the main reasons for the decline.

Natural Athletes

Kangaroos are naturally athletic. They can leap over a 10-foot-high barrier, make a 27-foot long jump, and bounce across plains at 30 miles an hour.

COOKING PREPARATION - Doris Carlton, 4-H Clubs county chairman, watches as Debra Mullens, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Mullens, 2123 N. Nelson, and Misty Edwards, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edwards, Route 3, prepare food for the 4-H Food Show Saturday. The show will be held at the Gray County Courthouse Annex east of the city.

University Police Have Different Job

LUBBOCK - When your day includes nearly everything from caring for a lost dog until his owner gets out of class to helping a distressed parent locate a son's or daughter's off-campus apartment, you learn to be prepared for whatever might turn up.

"Anything is what we expect, and anything is what we try to be prepared for," said B.G. Daniels, chief of the University Police department of Texas Tech University.

The University Police look after a campus with a daytime population of some 30,000 persons including students, faculty and staff. Their function is not control of this concentrated population, rather, it is the protection of the campus community and its citizens, according to Chief Daniels.

The University Police Department is about the size of a municipal police force which would serve a city of nearly 30,000, said the Chief. But the kinds of jobs the officers perform are dramatically different from most of the actions of municipal officers.

A day's work for the 30 officers on the force can include routine issuing of citations for moving and parking traffic violations or more unusual activities such as helping a coed, who hurt her foot dancing, to return to her dormitory room or checking a parking lot where someone has reported hearing a scream.

"The University Police can accomplish virtually every job which can be performed by a municipal police force of comparable size," said Daniels.

The department can investigate crimes of violence, petty and major theft or help find a stolen car "which turns up two parking lot rows away from where its owner thought it was parked."

"Today's police officer is a better - type officer than ever before," said the Chief. "With an average age of 26, the group is younger. Their working conditions are better and their salaries higher than in the past."

Most officers on the force have earned some college credits. The majority travel to Plainview two or three times each week to attend classes at Texas Tech in their off-duty time, said Daniels.

The officers on the force have completed or are enrolled in a police training program consisting of 240 hours of classroom work which they must complete to obtain certification prior to receiving commissions as police officers, said Daniels. Several of the officers are working toward intermediate and advanced training certificates.

The University Police Department includes the chief, a captain, a lieutenant, four sergeants and 21 patrolmen. The force is supported by campus entry station attendants, construction site watchmen, radio operators, a tow truck driver and a three-member clerical staff.

The department is one of the few college police forces in the U.S. which has a patrol dog working the night shift. The members of the department work in three shifts providing the campus with 24-hour protection 365 days a year, said the Chief.

Help us feed the needy this Christmas

Bring in a can of food, it's a good time to share

This year, Kentucky Fried Chicken and The Salvation Army have joined together to help make this a merrier Christmas for needy families in Pampa.

At each participating Kentucky Fried Chicken store you'll find a collection barrel in which you can deposit cans of food. Then The Salvation Army will distribute it to those who need it most.

So, please help us fill our "holiday kettles" to the brim. You'll give someone a Merry Christmas. And you'll give yourself a Merry Christmas just knowing you helped.

Cheery tablecloth sets mood

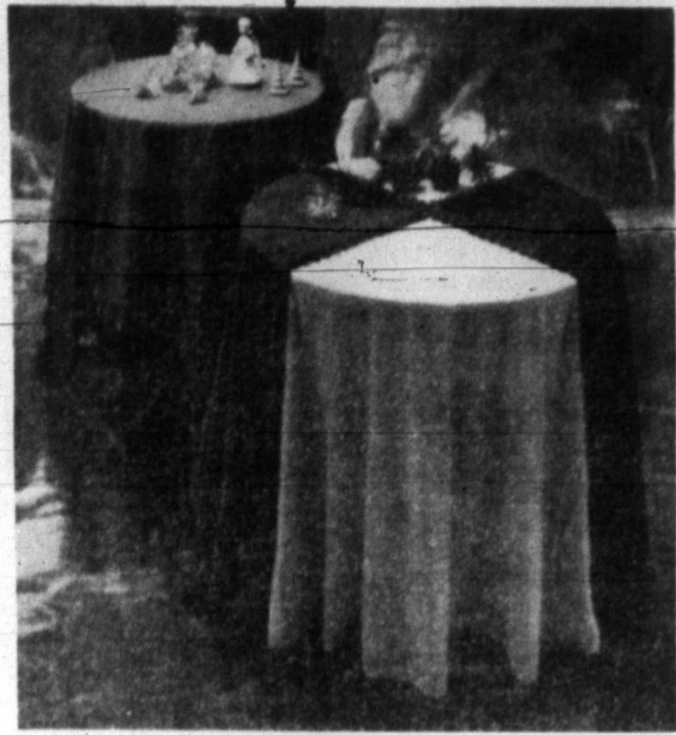

by Joanne Schreiber

A holiday table deserves a holiday tablecloth — a cheerful creation in bright seasonal colors, trimmed with coordinating fringe. These can be costly to buy but easy to sew and thus inexpensive.

We've all learned to love knits for fashion. Now there's a brand-new knit fabric which makes up beautifully into such home fashions as tablecloths, draperies, bedspreads and pillows. It's a velvety soft, completely washable velour made of Arnel by Blue Ridge Winkler. It is available in wonderfully rich holiday colors. It falls into lustrous folds, is easy to sew and, as a knit, needs no ironing — a considerable plus for a working tablecloth. These two holiday cloths will set the scene for the whole season. One is of solid green velour trimmed with red and green fringe. The other is quartered in red and white and trimmed with red ball fringe.

Because this fabric has a nap, take care to see that the pieces lie in the same direction. Cut with the nap running up for richer color. To avoid flattening the nap, press with the fabric face down on a terry towel. Stitch with polyester thread and a medium-size ballpoint needle. Keep tension fairly loose and sew 10 to 12 stitches to the inch. A zigzag stitch is not necessary if you stretch the fabric gently as you sew. Raw edges require no finishing, as the material cannot ravel. If stitches skip, clean the fuzz away from under the throat plate and from around the bobbin case.

To make the solid color cloth, which is 72 inches in diameter, you will need 4-1/8 yards of velour, 6-1/8 yards each of various red and green trimmings. You can create a round cloth by first cutting and stitching the fabric into a square, then folding and cutting the square into a circle. To do this, cut fabric in half crossways to make two pieces each 74 inches long and 48 inches wide. Cut one of these two pieces in half lengthwise to make two pieces 74 inches long and 24 inches wide. Join sections so that the wide panel is in the center and the two narrow panels on each side. Be sure all nap runs in the same direction.

Easy to care for tablecloths make up in a short time in a washable Arnel velour. Make two or more to fit holiday needs.

You now have a piece measuring 96 inches by 74 inches, less seam allowances. Fold wrong side out in quarters. With string, thumbtack and pencil, mark a quarter circle. You will be able to draw a 37 inches radius.

Cut out on pencil line. Run an ease stitch at the hem and turn up hem 1 inch, easing in fullness. Run ease stitch along tops of wide trims and pull thread to curve the trim. (If trim is cotton, be sure to preshrink it.) Stitch trims in place.

To make the two-tone cloth, get 2-1/8 yards of each color. Cut each length in half and sew the four pieces together checkerboard-fashion. Fold along seamlines and cut circle as directed. Cover seams with ball fringe and finish lower edge with hem and trim.

A certain moving-picture mogul, famous for malapropisms, is supposed to have told an assistant, "You heard me keeping quiet."

South had nothing to do with moving pictures but he had listened to West keeping quiet during the bidding. He noticed that West had followed up his bidding quietude by leading out ace, king and jack of hearts and that when South had drawn trumps with two leads, West had discarded on the second trump.

Thus, West had been dealt a good six-card heart suit and only one spade, yet West had never made a pass-over the spade opening. Could West hold either the king of diamonds or the queen of clubs?

South decided that he couldn't in that case how could South make his contract? South worked it out.

He simply played the ace of clubs, a club to dummy's king and dummy's jack of clubs. East was in the lead with the queen.

He couldn't lead his fourth club. That would allow South to discard the eight of diamonds and ruff in dummy. So East led a low diamond and South let it ride around to dummy's queen.

Dear Abby

He took prison rap to protect the guilty

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 By Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am in prison, but please don't say where. I pleaded guilty to a charge of child molesting, even tho I was innocent. I did it to protect my cousin from the harm that prison life can do to a person. My cousin, who did the molesting, had never been in prison, and I had.

Now everyone in my family hates me because I had to make them believe I was guilty. If I tell the truth now, I will probably be released, but my cousin will have to serve time.

How can I get forgiveness from my family and still protect my cousin?
WITHHOLD MY NAME

DEAR WITH: Anyone who would molest a child is sick and in need of treatment. Altho you meant well, you did your cousin no favor by taking the rap for him. Now he is free to molest other children while you are being unjustly punished. My advice to you is to confess innocence to the charge, and guilty to lying about it.

DEAR ABBY: You were asked if it was proper to send a sympathy card to parents who had had a full term stillborn child. You said it was.

We disagree. We waited six years for a baby, and when he finally arrived, he was stillborn. Our family and friends knew how we felt, and sympathy cards were the last thing we wanted.

Everyone has a right to his own opinion, and ours is that it is better not to send sympathy cards for a stillborn baby.

It has been 32 years now, but we still remember.

NAMELESS

DEAR NAMELESS: I respect your opinion. But because funerals are generally intended for full term infants, I would assume that the grieving parents would appreciate expressions of sympathy from friends.

DEAR ABBY: This is how I cured my husband of using objectionable language. I bought a piggy bank, and every time he used a swear word I made him put a quarter in it. And when he used a really DIRTY word, I fined him a dollar. He quit swearing in three weeks. Once in a while he slips and uses a dirty word, but he's a lot better than he used to be.

Pass this on to your readers, Abby. It really works!

PIGGY BANK PEGGY

DEAR PEGGY: Consider it done!

DEAR ABBY: I am a 55-year-old man who has never married. When I meet an unattached woman at a social gathering, I always introduce myself as a widower. If I should date her later on I then tell her the truth. Why do I lie at first?
PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: Because you probably think most people would assume there must be something wrong with a 55-year-old man who never married. It's a false assumption, of course. Many 55-year-olds (women and men) have remained unmarried thru choice. Play it straight. They might wonder why you lied in the first place.

Your Horoscope

By Joane Dixon

SATURDAY, DEC. 1

Your birthday today: You will have to think more of where you are going this year than in earlier times. Healthy self-interest isn't enough; direction is needed. Relationships grow steadily with little incident, much satisfaction. Today's natives have a knack for politics, can get along in almost any sort of community.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: An early start works the greatest advantage. A break for rest and reflection is well earned by afternoon. Evening hours are for sharing news and conversation.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Make this a quiet but busy day. Routines expand to include extra chores, purchases. Gather your own set of people for a small party, a show perhaps.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Get done with routines as early as possible. A good look at your household and belongings should suggest a number of constructive changes for the near future.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Organize a personal inventory day, beginning with assets, tangible and intangible. Realize you have more going for you than appears on the surface.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: In closing the week, clear off the field for whole new project this coming month. Resist any urge to dominate your group or family. It only works for a while.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Give some thought to your own needs, realizing that you may have been overdoing some activities lately. Pace your weekend efforts to make special openings for rest and prayer.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Go directly to the place you've selected, begin promptly on what you really want to do. Be prepared to cope with interruptions, and then get back on the track.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Today proceeds in lively rounds of social moves, conscious and unconscious conditionings for a sharply focused Sunday event, unexpectedly detailed and exciting.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Routine grooves along, gives you peace of mind to make special preparations for demands beyond the expected or usual limits soon. Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: It's a great day for sorting things out. Earmark items for early repair or replacement. Find good homes for anything that has outlived your need for it.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: You'll be glad you held onto your egypt temper today. Let new ventures wait a bit; there are too many details yet to fix on enterprises coming to a close.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Clear off details left over from this past work week as if you might never go back or resume what you were doing. If you do return, you have a clear field.

SYMPOSIUM SCIENTISTS SAY

New Evidence Indicates Mars Is 'Living Planet'

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Mars is a live planet, not dead like the Earth's moon, scientists agreed at the opening of a "definitive symposium" on the Red Planet, but they aren't sure what the Martian atmosphere is like.

About 400 scientists from 10 nations attended the opening Wednesday of the International Colloquium on Mars at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory. They gathered to exchange opinions and discuss theories developed with the wealth of information about Mars returned by America's unmanned Mariner space probes.

"Indications are surely that Mars is presently active," said geologist Michael Carr, of the U.S. Geodetic Survey, discussing the many volcanoes shown in Mariner photos.

A Living Planet

The pictures show Mars is a living planet, he said, but not what stage the planet is in.

He was asked if the volcanoes were active and he replied, "One can't answer that."

He said indications were that in an area called Tharsis, volcanoes were "only about ten million years old—relatively young geologically."

Other volcanoes such as Nix Olympica, the largest on Mars, appear to be ancient, he said.

Ridges seen on the Martian surface may be due to erosion from water, another scientist suggested.

Donald Hunten of the Kitts Peak Laboratory said Mars loses much hydrogen and oxygen—elements of water, partly from evaporation. Water may be held under the polar ice cap on the planet, he said.

Today's session switched to the campus of the California Institute of Technology with further discussions on topography and the Martian magnetic field.

Opinions Expressed

Several opinions were expressed at the opening session on the main gases composing the Martian atmosphere.

Tobias Owen of the State University of New York favored ozone and oxygen. George Pimentel of UC Berkeley thought carbon oxides predominate.

Richard Goody of Harvard cautioned against any firm conclusions at this time and said, "The question is exceedingly complex."

Owen pointed out more should be known about the atmosphere after a new American space probe Viking, in 1975.

Next year, the Russians may turn up such information since they plan two Martian missions.

Genius Of Enterprise

Everyone, of course, is familiar with gasoline-powered automobiles and most everyone has at least heard of, if they have not actually seen, automobiles which derive their motive power from batteries. (The latter, called "electric cars" and requiring frequent recharging, were popular a few decades ago as city delivery vehicles and for other short-run uses.)

But have you heard of an automobile that makes use of both types of power for its locomotion, and interchangeably, at that?

No? We hadn't either. Which isn't surprising, since such a vehicle hadn't been invented until just recently.

The new concept of a family and general use car, says its inventor, E. Robert Horwinski, is designed to run on noiseless battery power within the city, shifting automatically to gasoline power on long runs when the batteries begin running low.

Demonstrating his prototype at a two-day automotive symposium held at the Uni-Royal Center in Middlebury, Conn., recently, Horwinski, former chief of European operations for General Dynamics Corp., explained how his new car would perform.

"You're stopped at a traffic light in the city. Nothing is running. You push down (on a lever) and you drive away on electricity.

Then, when you get out on the road, and as soon as the batteries are half-discharged, the gasoline engine starts automatically."

Piqued by the fact that so much valuable energy is wasted by conventional car operations, the innovator explained that he has designed his car so that any unneeded power developed by the engine while running on gasoline is converted to electricity and stored in the batteries.

In addition, Horwinski explained, another device converts braking power on downhill runs to electrical power for the batteries. Eighty-five per cent of the energy used to go up hill can be recovered on the downgrade, he said.

And, finally, the inventor pointed out, the batteries on his new car can be recharged from an electrical outlet as were the "electric cars" of the past.

Low-speed tests, so far, said Horwinski, have been favorable and indications are that high-speed operations, which he judges will be about 90 mph, will be satisfactory, too.

With the mounting fuel shortage, the Horwinski innovation ought to be a natural and the environmentalists, if they are consistent, should love it.

Moreover, it just goes to show how receptive the free market is to demand. Let a need be voiced and, if it is possible and practical, some enterpriser with vision and genius will come up with at least part of the answer.

THE CONSERVATIVE ADVOCATE

Case Against Shield Laws

By WILLIAM A. RUSHER

As the attacks of the Washington press corps on the Nixon Administration have mounted, leaks to the media from within the Executive branch have grown steadily in both numbers and importance. And as the Administration has intensified its efforts to plug the leaks by identifying the anonymous sources, certain segments of the press have responded by claiming a "newsman's privilege" to conceal their sources, even from a Congressional committee, a grand jury or a trial jury in a criminal proceeding. I think the attempt to assert such a privilege is a mistake, and here's why.

Those favoring the privilege first tried to persuade the courts to find it buried somewhere in the First Amendment's language about "freedom of the press." But in the Branzburg case (1972) the Supreme Court ruled that the First Amendment did not, by implication or otherwise, give newsmen any such privilege. The Court recognized that a newsman might indeed be harassed by unnecessary demands for disclosure of his sources, but it also recognized that a newsman, like anyone else, may possess information necessary to the proper ends of justice. It held, therefore, that he can be compelled to testify, even as you or I—unless he can show that the demands on him are so unnecessary as to constitute harassment.

That left only the legislative route, and soon 19 states had "shield laws" (as the statutes conferring this privilege are called) of one sort or another. Moreover, Congress, ever attentive to the wishes of the press, is currently mulling over no less than 52 proposals for a federal shield law. But the drafting of such a law is thorny with difficulties.

What, for instance, is a "newsman" anyway? A full-time reporter, okay; but how about a part-time stringer? Or the author of a book on current events? Or the unpaid writers for one of today's so-called underground newspapers? Or the freshman heelers on the "Yale Daily News"? Or your own son or daughter who writes for the high school weekly?

I publish a fortnightly magazine of fact and opinion; does that make me a newsman? Even if not, I can certainly anoint any drunk on the street,

H.L. Hunt Writes

CRISIS AND DEFENSE
Domestic turmoil and crises must not deflect the people of Republic USA from building up our defenses. We may thrash about in constitutional tests and dilemmas, but any solutions to internal problems will go for naught if we become subject to nuclear blackmail or outright assault by external foes. Our defenses are good now, but they are in need of rapid improvement. This improvement must be done, both on the drawing board and in the field, before the Russians can completely dominate us militarily.

It is perhaps too early to determine if volunteer enlistments will give us enough military manpower to provide a deterrent of aggression against us. The experts on military affairs say that our merchant fleet should be strengthened. Commercial ships that were used to support the troops in Indochina are said to be in need of overhaul and many of them must be replaced. Such a program is a long-term proposition but there is no better time to start on it than now. The Navy, Army and Air Force all rely on merchant shipping during times of international stress.

The recent alert of U.S. Armed Forces by the Administration in Washington strained nerves of the people of this and all other nations. Fortunately, our defense establishment was not put to the test, but if the Reds had not backed down, it might have been the final test. We must not be caught short in any phase of armaments, for in these perilous times, any weakness is always tempting to communist nations.

We can take comfort in the fact that we, as a strong people, have cleared the air before and presented a united front to the world. Especially while controversy rages at home, the shield of the Republic must be kept solid and the sword sharp.

Men in general judge more from appearances than from reality. All men have eyes, but few have the gift of penetration. — Niccolò Machiavelli, Italian statesman and political writer.

VICTOR RIESEL

Labor War Looms

By VICTOR RIESEL

WASHINGTON — Labor's giants are lining up against each other this holiday season, and it appears there'll be a civil war of the clangorous, bloody type about which old-timers in this "movement" reminisce.

It will sweep peace from the good earth of California and might spread chaos onto the concrete walks of big cities and the open field construction sites of the land.

Boycotts and counterboycotts appear inevitable as broad-shouldered labor chiefs George Meany champions Cesar Chavez's United Farm Workers and charges Dick Nixon daily with domestic treachery.

There's no energy dearth on this front as Frank (Fitz) Fitzsimmons and his powerful 2.2 million-member Teamsters Brotherhood counterthrust, denounce Meany and rally to the President. Inherent in all this is the fact of life inside labor that anything Meany can boycott, Fitz's forces can boycott better.

Fitzsimmons, speaking for his Teamsters Brotherhood, said the other day that "some men in organized labor suggest impeachment of the President. This certainly isn't the cause for which unions were founded. We, whether it is Meany, Leonard Woodcock (president of the auto union — VR) or I, don't have the right to commit our national labor unions to take up such a cause. There are due processes. We do have the right to call our people to political action but, I repeat, unions have no right to demand the ouster of a President of the United States. The Congress has the responsibility."

Fitz endorsed the confirmation of Vice President-designate Gerry Ford. The Teamsters guff opined that this ratification gives grim leadership if some tragic quirk delays the confirmation and Speaker Carl Albert becomes President. B luntly, Fitzsimmons referred to Albert's staking an extra drink or two — but in far more graphic language than I care to use here.

As for Meany's triphammer blows at President Nixon, the Teamsters president added, "I believe in this guy and I believe, and the Teamsters do too, that he'll come out all right. I think he's the greatest President and I phoned and assured him of our support. He's done more for this country in achieving peace than any other President and he alone can be accredited with quieting the war in Israel. So we endorsed him for reelection and we endorse him now regardless of what Meany says or does."

Well, that's a war of words and position papers. More volatile now is the war on the farm front. The Teamsters, says Fitz, just are not going to give up those field workers contracts "no matter what Meany does."

Fitzsimmons said the Teamsters can't unilaterally walk away from those California growers contracts. They're quite a bundle and cover 30,000 to 40,000 produce "ranch" hands. Further, a growers spokesman has threatened to "sue him to death" if the Teamsters break the contracts.

So, early Thanksgiving week, Meany and his colleagues began contacting members of the AFL-CIO high command's new farm workers' advisory committee of national union presidents and officers. They're gearing for action in the California fields against the Teamsters and growers.

Chavez has now pledged to heat up the boycott of grapes and non-United Farm Workers label lettuce. This means hitting the sidewalks in front of supermarkets and the roads leading in and out of the California fields.

Further, Chavez has said flatly his people will strike lettuce growers who haven't signed with his UFW this winter, and hit the grape growers next spring. This will lead to open battles bloodier than this past summer's clashes and mass arrests.

Chavez's boys can get mighty rough, but they're no match for the Teamsters. So Meany will have to throw in some "troops." But that will make for just old-fashioned muscle on both sides.

What's significant is the threat to the harvesting of other produce as well as lettuce and grapes. And then the Teamsters' efforts to pick up and deliver what they can to the canneries — and later to the wholesale and retail outlets. If the AFL-CIO unions help Chavez on the supermarket front, the Teamsters can retaliate on a thousand other fronts — the waterfront, construction sites manned by AFL-CIO members, and steel mills for example. The Teamsters could hog-tie many a rail depot and clog up many a port.

Thus Meany and his legions championing charismatic Chavez have declared war on Fitz and his legions championing the embattled Dick Nixon.

The sluice gates are open. Blood, money and oratory will deluge through them. Just watch.

All the flowers of all the tomorrows are in the seeds of today.

Inside Washington

D.C. Home Rule Debated Amid Rise in Crime Rate

By Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — Two new jarring realities have surfaced as Congress prepares to act on so-called "compromise" home rule legislation for the nation's capital.

These stark backdrop disclosures are in glaring contrast to the glowing rhetoric and hoopla propaganda spouted by the block of liberal activists, blacks and assorted militant elements spearheading the home rule drive, as follows:

(1) Murder in the District of Columbia is setting new records with 253 so far this year, of which 44 (17 per cent) are still unsolved. That last figure is an all-time high. Previous high was 39 at the end of 1971 — when the capital racked up 288 homicides.

Last year this time, murders totaled 230 with only 17 (7.3 per cent) still "officially open" — that is, unsolved by arrest.

Authority for these grisly statistics is Deputy Police Chief Theodore Zanders.

(2) In 1972, 51 per cent of black births in D.C. were illegitimate. About half of these unwed mothers were teenagers. In 1971, the proportion of black children born out of wedlock was 47 per cent. This ratio has been climbing steadily since 1960 when it was 27 per cent; four years later it rose to 30 per cent; by 1965, 35 per cent; in 1970, 45 per cent.

Actual number of illegitimate black births in that decade soared from 3,652 in 1960 to 5,855 in 1970.

In contrast, the number and proportion of illegitimate white births declined last year. Whites were only 12 per cent of the capital's births, with the number of illegitimates dropping from 234 in 1971 to 150 in 1972.

Authority for these facts is the D.C. Department of Human Resources — headed by a black.

What's In Prospect
Outlook for the pending home rule measure is more favorable in the Senate than in the House.

The legislation is a compromise between the two chambers, which approved widely differing bills earlier this year.

The Senate, in line with its long-standing practice on this issue, voted D.C. far-reaching self-rule. The House, which in the past was the big stumbling block, finally opened the door to some extent.

Significantly, that was won by Rep. Charles Diggs, D-Mich., black who took over the chairmanship of the D.C. Committee this session. He accomplished it by firmly checkreining both black and white militants clamoring for sweeping legislation.

Diggs bluntly told them: "That's out. The House won't accept the Senate bill — or anything like it. Our only chance is a bill that leaves unchanged congressional control over the city's purse strings. Anything more than that will be defeated. It's either that or nothing at all, and I'm for starting with what we can get — and then go on from there."

Despite the muttering and sputtering of the black and white militants on his committee, Diggs has his way in the conferences with the Senate that drafted the pending compromise.

If that's rejected by the House, it will be a crushing blow to home rule agitation for a long time to come.

Significantly, supporters of the bill are making no claims about its prospects.

On the other hand, neither is the opposition. Party lines are intermingled on this question. The Democratic leadership is generally for home rule; most Republican leaders are on the other side. Local and regional factors count a lot.

That's why the two latest disclosures — the record-high proportion of illegitimate black births and unsolved murders — may carry considerable weight.

These somber facts are certain to be stressed in the House debate. Leading opponents are known to be assembling supporting details on these disconcerting developments, such as the following:

— There were 15 homicides in the first nine days of this month. Police officials consider the situation so alarming that additional detectives are being added to the 56-member homicide section.

— There is a sinister increase in the number of psychopathic murders. Officials won't divulge figures, but admit being greatly concerned about this.

— In addition to the 44 unsolved homicides so far this year, there are hundreds of other such cases in the capital from previous years, 64 in the past three years alone.

— From 1970 to 1972, the number of abortions in the District of Columbia soared from 4,579 to 38,868.

— Historically, illegitimate black births outnumber whites in all parts of the country. The latest nationwide figures issued by the National Center for Health statistics showed that 35 per cent of black births were illegitimate in 1969 as against 5 per cent of white births.

Dr. Paul Cornely, former chairman of the community health department at Howard University, noted one favorable development.

Despite the increase in the proportion of illegitimate births, he stressed that the infant death rate in Washington has decreased substantially in the past five years. But he added:

"Once these children are born, their social and economic problems remain, and they are very serious."

Running In The Red
There is one somber aspect of the explosive Middle East problem about which virtually nothing is being said but which is as tragic as it is urgent.

This is the dismal plight of the 1.5 million Arab refugees living in squalid overcrowded camps supervised by the United Nations Relief and Works Agency (UNRWA). This year, UNRWA is heading for a $4 million deficit on a $52 million budget. Estimated deficit next year is more than twice that amount.

UNRWA officials are dolefully warning that unless emergency funds are immediately provided, they won't have sufficient money to pay some 7,500 teachers who conduct classes for around 255,000 children from kindergarten through high school.

UNRWA was established in 1950 to care for the Palestinian refugees of the 1948 Arab-Israeli conflict. They then numbered 960,000, and have steadily increased every year.

DUNAGIN'S PEOPLE

by Dunagin

"NO, THANKS, WE'RE JUST LOOKING."

The First Amendment guarantees freedom of the press, and that — guarded by a vigilant Court — is all a real newsman needs. The yen for more is partly derived from a sick desire to confer additional power and status on the profession of journalism, and partly from an equally sick temptation to indulge in our era's passion for dirty little secrets. First it was "taking the Fifth," then it was "Executive privilege" and now it's the "newsman's privilege." A great many people, these days, seem to have things to hide! How about trying the truth, and the whole truth, for a change? Or isn't America ready for that yet?

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Like cryptograms? Here's one to test your wits:

A public service poster getting prominent display this season bears the enigmatic warning "Shoplifting is a crime."

At first glance, you may find that message baffling. But if you put your keen analytical mind to it, I'm sure you can puzzle it out.

Or, if you are lucky enough to have a few friends in the CIA and Defense Intelligence Agency, as I do, you can call on them for help. As I did.

"The way I figure it," I said, "the blank space between the 'h' and the 'p' represents a letter of the alphabet. And since it falls between two consonants, chances are the missing letter is a vowel."

"It is my theory that if the missing vowel is restored, it and the other 10 letters will then form a complete word."

He Gives a Little Whistle
Hunchhorn of the CIA gave a little whistle of admiration. "I would say your deduction is right on target," he said. "For a layman, you have an unusually keen analytical mind. Now let me see if I can take us a step closer to the solution."

"Since the mystery word in the poster is identified as a crime, this may be a subtle hint that the missing letter has been stolen or otherwise purloined."

"Good thinking!" exclaimed Deadwright of Defense Intelligence. "I believe we may be onto something."

"If we are correct in concluding that the poster implies that the missing letter was stolen, we may then assume that the crime to which the mystery word refers is some type of theft rather than, say, arson or littering. Therefore..."

The Key!
Hunchhorn broke in, barely able to contain his excitement.

"That's it!" he cried. "That's the key to the whole conundrum. Putting all the clues together we can now surmise that the missing letter is an 'l' and the mystery word is 'shoplifting'."

The poster obviously reflects concern that the crackdown on skyjacking will cause would-be air pirates to switch to shoplifting."

Deadright, chin thoughtfully cupped in hand, shook his head dubiously. "We may have been too quick to assume that the blank space in the mystery word represents only a single letter."

"It could well represent a double letter, such as 'ee.' In that case, the mystery word would be 'sheeplifting.' The price of lamb chops being what it is, an outbreak of sheeplifting is even more likely than a wave of shoplifting."

"We'll get to the bottom of this yet."

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT Some People Affronted By Jokes On President

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK — The jokes about President Nixon are getting so personal and so rough that some people's tastes have been affronted.

While jokes are small things, a ribald remark lightly tossed into conversation may make an anti-Nixonite recoil and say, "That was too much. That's not fair!"

BATT'N' AROUND

Work Required To Preserve System

By C.R. BATTEN
"How do we preserve the free enterprise system?" asked the man in the audience. "First, make it work," replied the speaker.

The speaker was the last to be heard during a national conference of a major resource-using industry. It was a refreshing conference — partly because it was the first held by a resource industry that I have attended in recent years where all the speakers were in some form of private enterprise — none were from any branch of government.

The theme of the meeting was The Future — What kind of world will we have in the year 2001? and what will be our need for natural resources? Various levels of optimism were displayed by the speakers discussing population levels, resource use projections and public attitudes.

Most of the questions from the audience reflected a deep concern for the socio-economic system of the future.

"Will we still have private ownership of land and natural resources?" one person asked. "Yes," was the reply.

But another reminded us that we are now seeing changes in the concepts of ownership, and cited the spreading of zoning and land use controls as examples.

Yet he implied that he, too, believes that we will have a private enterprise society in the 21st century. The assumptions of the speakers and of the audience seemed to be that we now live in such a society.

Is a private enterprise society one in which a property owner must ask permission from some higher authority to add a room to his house? or build a fence? or cut a tree? or one in which nearly 40 per cent of the average individual's income is taken by government to be spent by someone else? I believe not.

So, if we are to make free enterprise work, we must first learn what it is. When we have learned what it is, we will discover that the question becomes, "How can we work toward a free enterprise system?" Then we will have found the right question — and perhaps jumped the highest hurdle in our search for the answer.

Working toward free enterprise requires that individuals, one by one, explore the natural principles governing human action, learn those basic truths, and then apply them to his or her own life to the extent that it is possible.

As we follow this program of self-improvement, we gain more and more confidence in ourselves; our reliance on group action and our confidence in it declines, and we begin to make a conscious effort to search for alternatives to government action.

As we learn that free enterprise is simply a condition in which every man is free, and that freedom is the absence of coercion, we can refuse to support coercion in any form.

To refuse to support coercion of any kind is a very difficult decision to make.

It means acting in accordance with the basic principles that we accept as being true, regardless of circumstance. It means refusing to ask for special privileges, and it also means knowing what are and what are not special privileges.

It means supporting our worst enemy when coercive forces attack him, in order to preserve our own defense from those same forces.

This is what free enterprise is all about. Those who take this path find it lonely. Yet, as we go further and further along it, we find more and more people on it. For libertarianism is the fastest growing movement in this country.

Comet Is Causing Excitement

By United Press International
The comet Kohoutek, which will pass near the earth during the next few weeks, is causing great excitement among fundamentalist Protestants. They are calling it "The Christmas Star of 1973." It has strengthened an already widely-held belief that the second coming of Christ may be near at hand.

This belief is known in theological jargon as "millennialism." It often comes strongly to the fore in periods of domestic and international turmoil such as the present. The term "millennialism" is derived from the Biblical promise that Christ's return will usher in a "millennium" — a golden era of 1,000 years of peace on earth and good will among men. According to the Book of Revelation, this golden era will be preceded by history's climactic war, in which the forces of good finally will defeat the forces of evil at "the Battle of Armageddon."

Fundamentalists, who look on the Bible as a literal record of the words of God and therefore infallible, know that Jesus warned his disciples against attempting to forecast the "day and hour" of his promised return in glory. But they also are well aware of several "apocalyptic discourses" in which Jesus discussed various signs that would herald the approach of the end of time. In the 21st Chapter of Luke's

Gospel, for example, Jesus is quoted as saying:

"Don't be afraid when you hear of wars and revolutions; such things must happen first, but they do not mean that the end is near. One country will fight another country, one kingdom will attack another kingdom; there will be terrible earthquakes, famines and plagues everywhere; there will be awful things..."

Jesus said one of the early signs of the end would be the spectacle of Jerusalem "surrounded by armies." This passage gives the on-and-off war in the Middle East profound religious significance for many millennialists. The comet comes into the picture because Jesus said the end will be preceded by "signs in the sun, the moon and the stars."

The Rev. Dr. Carl McIntire, of Collingswood, N.J., an articulate spokesman for fundamentalist theology, is distributing among his followers a tract entitled "The Coming Comet."

Of Kohoutek, he says: "This visitor to our realm cannot be part of the superstitions of man. It comes with a purpose, and it speaks of its proximity to the birthday of the Lord Jesus Christ."

Billboards Used to Promote Jesus

By Velma Clyde, Religion Editor, The [Portland] Oregonian
"Our Lord is Coming" and "Another Billboard for Jesus" are messages being flashed to millions of motorists throughout the Northwest.

A billboard selling a nudist colony sparked the idea of using secular advertising media to "market Jesus as any other product," in the mind of Roland James Hofer, a Seattle real estate man. He organized the Maranatha Association, a non-profit corporation through which funds are raised to support the program, according to Garland K. Hines Jr., a traveling representative hoping to move the boards into Oregon and the rest of the Northwest.

Maranatha is a word found in the Bible which means "Our Lord is coming," and most of the billboard messages carry this theme. Hines said the founder of the organization points to a verse in Habakkuk 2:2 that supports the billboard idea. In the paraphrased Living Bible the message is clear, he says:

"And the Lord said to me, 'Write my answer on a billboard, large and clear, so that anyone can read it at a glance and rush to tell the others.'"

Four billboards are up in the Portland area, one at SE 92nd Avenue and Division Street sponsored by the First Open Bible Church. Maranatha Association hopes other churches will join their ranks, according to Hines.

Permission to reprint this article first appearing in the Oregonian, has been given by that publication.

"Road To Armageddon" Wilkerson Film Feature

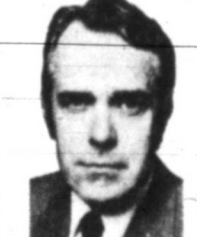

David Wilkerson Youth Crusades has just released a new film depicting the events foreshadowing the last world war at Armageddon. The 45 minute full color film features David Wilkerson, author of "The Cross and the Switchblade," narrating the dramatization of five calamities that are coming to the world.

The film is based upon insights into final events Wilkerson received from God this past April. "I saw coming to the United States and the world a terrible recession; a major earthquake; a world-wide famine; a flood of filth on TV and on the newsstands; hatred against parents by teenagers; and a persecution madness directed against all Jesus people," said Wilkerson.

Reverend David Wilkerson, executive producer, states "The purpose of this film is to awaken the young and old alike to the reality and nearness of the coming of Christ. This believable, low profile film has such an impact that every viewer will have to decide what he must do about Christ's imminent return."

"The Road to Armageddon" is now being premiered in churches throughout the United States and Canada and is soon to be released in Europe.

The public is cordially invited to this special presentation scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. in the First Assembly of God Church, located at Brown and Cuyler Streets, Wednesday evening. Admission is free.

Is your church growing or going?

For several years the main-line denominations have been in difficulty. Membership and money are down. Apathy and antagonism are up. Like unfortunate finances within the home, quarrels and fault-finding arrive rather quickly in such a setting. Many people have been reading Dean Kelley's "Why Conservative Churches are Growing" (Harper and Row) for some clue to the success or failure of their own church family.

Statistics are in on last year, with the United Methodists losing 174,677 in 1972. The United Presbyterians, down 104,000; the three leading Lutheran bodies lost 70,860. In the past six years, the Reformed Church in America, the oldest Protestant body in this hemisphere, lost 18,501. Also, in 1972, the United Church of Canada sagged by 23,580. On the plus side for 1972, you put the Southern Baptists at the head of the class with a gain of 240,821. Others with substantial growth were the Assemblies of God, the Evangelical Free Church, and the Church of the Nazarene — which had a 17 per cent rise in the last four years.

Kelley offers these comments for the strength — and rise — of the conservative churches:

- 1) "Those who are serious about their faith do not confuse it with other beliefs, loyalties, or practices, or mingle them together indiscriminately, or pretend they are alike, or of equal merit if they are not."
- 2) "Those who are serious about their faith make high demands of those admitted to the organization that bears the faith, and they do not include or allow to continue within it those who are not fully committed to it."
- 3) "Those who are serious about their faith do not consent to, encourage, or indulge any violations of its standards of belief or behavior by its professed adherents."
- 4) "Those who are serious about their faith do not keep silent about it, apologize for it, or let it be treated as though it made no difference, or should make no difference, in their behavior or their relationships with others."

Some point to the decline of the liberal churches as caused by too much social activism and too little personal piety. Editor Louis Benes of the Church Herald has a thoughtful article on this theme, noting the necessary balance between evangelism and social action.

"Ours is a time of evangelical resurgence, and this makes it also a day of crises. Are evangelicals ready to communicate the whole gospel to the whole world? Or are some evangelicals, at least, so superficial, so onesided, so anti-intellectual and so antisocial that they provide what is really a caricature of biblical Christianity?" Benes reminds us that early leaders such as Wesley and Calvin, "preached and practiced an individual repentance and an individual obedience, but they spoke of an dealt with the sins of society, and called upon cities and nations to become obedient to the Word of God." We are approaching a period of correction and balance, a time of conserving before attempting new ministries.

Bible Church Welcomes New Pastor

The congregation of the Bible Church of Pampa, 2401 Alcock, welcomed its new pastor to the pulpit last Sunday.

He is the Rev. Dick Ogden, former pastor of the Euza Bible Church in Steamboat Springs, Colo.

Five years before his pastorate in Colorado, Rev. Ogden attended the Dallas Theological Seminary where he earned his Master Degree in Theology, majoring in Bible Exposition. Prior to that he spent 17 years in the insurance business as a salesman in the Beverly Hills area in California.

Rev. Ogden says one reason for his decision to come to the Bible Church of Pampa was evidence that the people of the church have a strong desire to know the Word of God from the original languages of scripture. With his training in Greek and Hebrew, Rev. Ogden feels he can have a fruitful ministry among such people.

He and his wife Rachel have three children: Rick, 13; Becky, 11; and Carla, 9.

Adeste Fidelis Sermon Topic

Rev. Martin Hager, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will use "Adeste Fidelis" for his sermon topic this Sunday at the 10:45 a.m. Worship Service. His text will be taken from Isaiah 9:2-6.

Lay Witness II Starting Today

Calvary Baptist Church will have a weekend revival today through Sunday in the form of Lay Witness II, a followup of Lay Witness I which was so successful at the church last year.

Instead of a series of sermons by a visiting evangelist, Lay Witness work is conducted by a group of lay people who have committed themselves to aid in renewal experiences, creative worship, and leadership training. They will travel to Pampa at their own expense, in some cases leaving their employment for the weekend. Coordinating Lay Witness II is Wendell Dunlap, Director of Vocational Guidance in the Plainview Schools. Also coming are a group of young people who will lead in youth activities.

The public is cordially invited to attend these meetings at 824 South Barnes.

courage" (Acts 28:15). With fresh zeal and determination, he went on his way to live or die for the Master. Wholesome, courageous living unleashes an awesome power for good.

It can also be fraught with evil. After years of faithfulness, Solomon's foreign wives turned him away from God (1 Kgs. 11:1-3). Paul warned the Corinthians, "Be not deceived. Evil companionships corrupt good morals" (1 Cor. 15:33). History is replete with accounts of people who have been ruined by bad influence.

The shadow exists from birth. An infant changes the whole household with activities being postponed, rescheduled, and adjusted. His presence has an impact on each member of the family.

It does not cease at death, but continues to walk the earth to touch the lives of people. The influence of Thomas Edison is present in every room of our homes. The Letter to the Hebrews states that Abel continues to speak although he has been dead for centuries (Heb. 11:4). The ominous shadow of Omri and Ahab lingered in Israel for decades after they had gone to the grave (Mic. 6:16). When a man leaves the world, he leaves something in it that will continue to work good or ill.

"It was easier to be good when she was around," was the epitaph chosen for the grave marker of a child. No higher compliment could be paid to anyone. A person whose influence improves the quality of life in others is a blessing to society.

Young Couple Wants Pregnancy

By G.C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: I had a checkup to see why I could not get pregnant, and my husband was checked, too. We were told that if we were each married to someone else, we both could have had children years ago. We have been married 11 years. I asked the doctor to explain and he said if I got a college education I might understand it all. Can you help us know what is wrong with us? We have two adopted children but would love to have one of our own.

—Mrs. F.

There are cases such as yours, with tests showing nothing wrong with either wife or husband, yet no pregnancy. It has been found that some women produce antibodies antagonistic to the husband's sperm. Antibodies are particles which attack specific things. Antibodies created by measles or other diseases protect you from having the same disease again; antibodies are created also by being vaccinated. Antibodies which attack foreign tissues are the root of the problem in transplants of hearts, kidneys or such organs.

In your case, for reasons unknown, you could have antibodies which attack your husband's sperm and prevent it from starting a pregnancy. To overcome this, it is sometimes possible to keep these antibodies separate from the sperm for a substantial length of time, in the hope that the antibodies will subside and disappear, at least temporarily. This is done by using a condom or "rubber" in sexual relations for from six to 12 months. In that time the antibodies should disappear and pregnancy is likely, or at any rate possible, until the antibodies appear again.

The condom should be used because it is necessary that the sperm not come in contact with vaginal tissues. Such contact would only stir up the formation of more of the antibodies.

Thus other usual methods of birth control will not work in a case like this — with the pill, diaphragm, coil or other method, there would still be such contact.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it a medical routine for expectant mothers to be X-rayed about one month before giving birth? Can this cause any such dangerous effects as sterilization of the baby?

—Y.R.

It is not routine. It is done for various reasons, but should not be done without a specific purpose. Examples of need for such an X-ray might be to determine whether more than one fetus is present, to determine the fetal age (how far development has proceeded) or possibly whether the fetus is still alive.

X-ray in the last month would not affect the baby; done early in pregnancy, birth defects could result. In your case, I see nothing to fear.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Does heavy whisky and beer drinking make a man's sex life slow down?

—W.W.

Yes, because alcohol is a depressant.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been using Benemid regularly with satisfactory results but have been cautioned against using that and aspirin at the same time. Evidently there is some harmful reaction, the nature of which is not clear to me.

—B.F.P., Jr.

Benemid is excellent in controlling gout, but aspirin should not be used at the same time because the aspirin destroys the effectiveness of Benemid.

Troubled with gout? To lead of new treatment for this cruel and painful disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of Publisher Hall Syndicate, 401 North Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Illinois 60611, for a copy of booklet, "Gout — The Model Way To Stop It." Please enclose a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes a reader mail but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Briscoe Seeking Cooperation

AUSTIN (UPI)—Gov. Dolph Briscoe said massive unemployment is as great a threat to the economy as a fuel crisis and so he asked industry to voluntarily comply with his fuel conservation recommendations.

"The potential loss of jobs in the state, I think, is the greatest danger we face," Briscoe said.

Briscoe said industrial energy use will be monitored along with the energy consumed by the state and private individual. But he said he expects to reduce energy consumption significantly without forcing mandatory controls on business.

It Sims To Me...

By PAUL SIMS
Sports Editor

Tuesday's It Sims To Me column got a lot of reaction from local people concerning the brand of football played in Pampa. One group of concerned individuals presented to me a copy of a Texarkana (Ark.) Gazette Souvenir Edition, which was actually a sports insert in the Nov. 16 issue of the Gazette. A column by Gazette writer Johnny Green was most interesting.

The story was a summary on the life of former Pampa coach Robert E. "Swede" Lee, who left Pampa at semester during the 1971-72 school year after his Harvesters posted an 8-3 season mark and won the district championship. Lee is the head football coach at Texarkana's Arkansas High, and his Razorbacks won the Arkansas AAA state championship this season.

Three paragraphs in Green's column go as follows:

"Lee took on his biggest challenge when he accepted the head coaching post at Pampa in football-conscious West Texas. The first two years his teams went 2-8 and 3-7, then in 1970 he produced the first winning season in Pampa since 53. He went 6-4.

"In 1971 Lee's Pampa team posted an 8-3 mark and won the district championship. The following year he accepted Emory Bellard's invitation to join the Texas A&M coaching staff as defensive line coach.

"It wasn't hard for me to leave Pampa even though I had most of my kids coming back," he said. "The program there was as bad as you can get and I had to fight for every improvement I made."

When asked to comment on the above quote, Lee replied, "Anybody there at that time will understand that comment so I will not expound on it. I want no quotes from Swede Lee in the Pampa newspaper."

The column on Swede Lee was given to me as an attempt to point out what certain people think is wrong with Pampa football. Those individuals point the blame to the overall program. Other people have other ideas.

Readers who would like to comment on the shortcomings of Pampa football may write to Paul Sims in care of this paper. The best letters will be published in this column.

ACC-LANGSTON

Quarterback Battle To Highlight NAIA Playoffs

ABILENE — Langston, Okla., University leads the NAIA in defense and Wally Bullington is concerned about it, but the Abilene Christian College athletic director and head football coach is even more concerned with the Lion's offense.

"We're working very hard this week to try to prevent the big play, the long score," he said. "This is one of their strengths, their ability and speed to pull off the big play."

"We'll have to work hard on their passing game, draw play and screen passes," he continued. "They like the draw and it's effective because they have so much success throwing the ball."

ACC meets Langston at 2 p.m.

Phoenix Pelts Kings, 119-99

By United Press International

It didn't take Phil Johnson long to get initiated into the ways of the Kansas City-Omaha Kings.

Johnson, who was named coach of the Kings two days ago following Bob Cousy's sudden resignation, went to work Thursday night but the result was the same as the Kings' eight previous games—defeat.

The Phoenix Suns, with rookie Mike Bantom collecting a career-high 26 points, broke away in the fourth quarter to defeat the Kings, 119-99. KC-Omaha's ninth straight loss.

The Suns, who led, 82-80, entering the final quarter, scored the first 10 points of the period and pulled away steadily. Bantom, the Suns' No. 1 draft choice and an Olympian from St. Joseph's (Pa.), hit 10 points during the final quarter. Charlie Scott added 20. Dick Van Arsdale 17 and Clem Haskins 15.

Nate Archibald was high scorer for KC-Omaha with 24 points and Jimmy Walker had 21.

COLLEGE GRID ROUNDUP

'Bama, Oklahoma, Georgia In Big Games Saturday

By United Press International

Alabama can clinch the national championship, Oklahoma can finish an undefeated season and Georgia can earn a bowl bid but the team that can really do something special Saturday is Army, which would like to repay a 25-year-old debt.

The Cadets, facing the first winless season in their history, go into the traditional finale against Navy as more than two to one underdogs but sometime before the kickoff you can be sure Tom Cahill will remind them about a little piece of history.

The last team to go into an Army-Navy game without a win was the Middies in 1948, a year that Army ironically brought a perfect record into the season—The game ended in a 21-

21 tie, a monumental upset for Navy.

Now it's Army that would like to do a little upsetting of its own to salvage something from a miserable season, although the Cadets haven't really even been close in most of their nine defeats.

"For 15 years I've heard the Navy game is a whole new season for us," says Coach Tom Cahill of Army, who has a 5-2 record against Navy. "Well, now I'll get a chance to test the validity of that statement."

The service battle at Philadelphia begins a TV double-header that winds up with Alabama-Auburn at Birmingham, the No. 1-ranked Crimson Tide trying to nail down their first national championship since 1964.

UCLA Begins Defense Of Cage Crown Tonight

By United Press International

Arkansas is scheduled to be served as the first sacrificial victim of the season to the college basketball gods of UCLA.

The Bruins open their 1973-74 season tonight against the Razorbacks in search of their 76th straight win.

And UCLA Coach John Wooden is flashing that same relaxed smile around the Westwood campus this year because his red-haired wonder.

Bill Walton returns to lead a veteran squad.

In addition, the Bruins return forward Keith Wilkes, possibly the most underrated collegiate player in the country. Greg Lee and Tommy Curtis.

Nationally ranked San Francisco, Memphis State, Jacksonville, Alabama and Arizona each begin their quest tonight of ending UCLA's seven-year string of NCAA championships.

Tenth-ranked San Francisco, guided by guard Phil Smith, opens its season at home against San Diego University.

Memphis State lost three players to the pros from last season's runnerup team to UCLA, but Gene Bartow's squad should have little problem with overmatched Missouri-Rolla.

A Palestra doubleheader in Philadelphia pits Pennsylvania against New Hampshire and Army against St. Joseph's.

Starting three sophomores and two freshmen, Arizona has inexperience as its greatest obstacle in opening against Illinois.

But UCLA commands the spotlight even if the outcome of Bruin games have become monotonously predictable.

Other top contests tonight are: Hofstra at Florida State, Texas-Arlington at Ohio State, Wake Forest at Rice, North Texas at Tennessee and South Alabama at Hawaii.

Smith To Lead United States In Davis Cup

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Stan Smith, the cool, confident veteran of the U.S. team, opens the defense of the Davis Cup today against an Australian tennis team which is perhaps the most formidable array ever entered by any nation in the historic series which began in 1900.

Smith, who had to win both singles a year ago and then teamed with Erik Van Dillen in doubles in order to retain the cup against the furious onslaught of the rambunctious Romanians—Ilie Nastase and Ion Tiriac—took the court here against John Newcombe, the reigning Forest Hills champion, and it was vital to American hopes that Stan win.

Jacksonville will try something new, ball control and a patterned offense under new Head Coach Bob Gottlieb, when it opens its season against perennially tough St. John's in the opening game of Clemson's Tip Off tournament. The Tigers play Auburn in the nightcap.

Adults in the Pampa area interested in working with young people in the American Junior Bowling Congress program are invited to attend a one-day certified coach-instructor school to be held Sunday at Harvester Lanes.

The school will last from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. There is no cost. AJBC field representative John Howard will be conducting the school.

Clarendon JC Stops WTJC

CLARENDON — Clarendon Junior College opened its conference season last night against Western Texas Junior College with an 83-76 win.

Evander Ford led the Bulldogs in scoring in the game with 24 points. Junior Siegler added 23 points and pulled down 20 rebounds.

High point man for Western Texas was Harold Ward with 22 points.

Other scorers for Clarendon JC included Joe Pride 17, David Graham 10 and Herman Brown 9.

Clarendon plays its next conference game Monday night in Levelland against South Plains Junior College.

Shockers Bell Borger Sophs In JV Tourney

BORGER — Pampa's B- and C- basketball teams finished first round play in the Borger Junior Varsity Tournament Thursday and will wind up the tourney Saturday with the B-team having a shot at the championship.

Charles Pierce, Matiga Buntun and Jesse Musgrave scored 17, 12 and 10 points to pace Pampa's B-team to a 71-44 win over Borger's sophomores. Ironically, Pampa only scored two points in the first period.

Hereford's B-team whipped the Pampa C-squad, 53-36. Pampa players in double figures were Jewel Landers with 11 and Richard Parker with 10.

The tourney concludes Saturday as teams will travel with their respective varsities tonight. Pampa's Shockers go to Perryton to play a 6 p.m. game today. The B-team will take on Plainview's JV at 11:30 p.m. Saturday, while the C-team plays Canyon at 10 a.m.

Harvester Lanes Having Coach-Instructor School

To qualify for certification as a certified coach-instructor, an individual must attend the entire class and pass a written examination given at the close of the day.

The school emphasizes mass teaching techniques with demonstration of proper stance, pushaway, footwork, arm swing, timing, release of the ball and follow-through. Stressed also are the mechanics of ball action, how to deliver a hook ball, speed of the ball, how to correct throwing of the backup ball, strike angles and spare bowling.

Major bowling faults, proper ball fit, bowling attire and etiquette are covered as well as a discussion of the AJBC program and its benefits with suggestions on how to promote, organize and conduct junior leagues.

Harvesters Travel To Perryton Today

PERRYTON — Pampa's talented Harvesters face a task a little harder than it sounds — beat Perryton at Perryton — as the Harvesters and the Rangers square off at 8 p.m. today here.

Pampa, 5-1, defeated Rangers, 59-49 last year, but head coach Robert McPherson says of the Rangers, "They're tough to beat at home."

Perryton is in a rebuilding year in 1-BAAA as four starters graduated off last year's squad, which went 13-11. Jim Dear, a 6-4 senior, is the only returning regular. Dear averaged 10.2 points a game as a junior and is the Ranger's main scoring threat this season.

Others who should play a lot against Pampa include 6-2

Ronnie Smith, 6-2 Jim Harman, 6-0 Jim Deuschendorf (seniors), 5-10 Lance Sutor, 5-9 Deugh Greenway and 5-9 Kit Bushman (juniors).

Billy Wilbon, a 6-3 junior post, will lead Pampa's attack tonight. Wilbon is averaging 18.7 points a game, while Pampa is scoring at an astounding 78.5 clip. Pampa has two others in double figures — guard Ray Powell, 16.0, and post Randy Warner, 14.4.

Besides those three, forward Ricky Beesley and guard Keith Samples should start against the Rangers. Six-five Howie Lewis is expected to see as much action as the starters.

The Shockers take on Perryton's JV at 6 p.m.

Investment Chatter

Investment Chatter
NEW YORK (UPI) — In recent sessions, the market's convulsive action—a sharp gain followed by a dramatic turnaround on the same day—is a sign the final stage of the crisis reaction may be near, according to Bache & Co. "Even if the decline is not over, it at the least needs to be refueled," says the firm. Although a reversal has not yet been signalled, the firm advises investors to anticipate an intermediate upswing simply because if one waits for definite indications, leading stocks could be up as much as a third from their lows.

The psychotic stock market reflects a mistaken belief that as long as the Arab countries refuse to turn on the oil taps, corporate profits will tumble, says Argus Research Corp. "Insofar as the United States is concerned, even a prolonged loss of this oil would probably have no more than a moderate effect on full-year 1974 business activity, with the major adjustment taking place in the first quarter," the firm notes. Even if an indefinite shutdown occurs "the U.S. stock market has substantially overreacted," it adds, recommending investors to buy common stocks now.

New York City's Central Park, stretching from 59th to 110th Street, contains 840 acres.

PROGRAM REHEARSAL — Mrs. Elaine Ledbetter, center, rehearses with the New Intervals for a program of poetry and music at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Pampa Junior High School auditorium. Mrs. Ledbetter, head of the Pampa

Mrs. Ledbetter To Read Poetry

The Pampa Classroom Teachers Association will present Mrs. Elaine Ledbetter in "A Program of Poetry and Music" this Sunday, Dec. 2, at 2 p.m. in the Pampa Junior High School auditorium (formerly Robert E. Lee). She will be accompanied at the organ by Tracy Cary, who has been working with her to create musical moods and tempos to fit the variety of poetry to be presented.

SONG IN AIR

NEW YORK (UPI) — "There's a Song in the Air" was written by J.G. Holland, a physician, teacher, novelist and one-time editor of Scribner's magazine.

NEW LOVERS

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Samantha Eggar and Vic Morrow have signed to star in an episode of the new NBC-TV anthology series, "Love Story."

Selections from these three books will be used for the program. A reception and autograph party will be held following the program, at which time copies of the poetry books will be available for sale. Proceeds from this program will go to the Pampa Classroom Teachers Association scholarship fund. PCTA gives a scholarship to a graduating senior each year and hopes to increase the size of the scholarship this year. The ticket price is $2. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Witnesses Plan Meet In Amarillo

Area residents associated with the Pampa congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses will be in Amarillo this weekend for the semi-annual circuit assembly sponsored by the Watchtower Society.

"We have cancelled all the meetings for this weekend at our Kingdom Hall," announced the presiding overseer, Richard Fetter.

Jehovah's Witnesses are aware of today's critical world conditions and these two-day conferences assist them to understand their meaning, said Fetter.

The theme at Amarillo will be "Keep Close in Mind Jehovah's Day." One of the main purposes of these meetings is to train members how to share with others our faith—strengthening hope for the future, he continued.

Highlighted at the convention will be the lecture specially for the public, "Act Wisely as the End Draws Near," to be given at 2 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 2 at Stephen F. Austin Junior High School.

Some 1,500 delegates from 23 congregations and visitors are expected to be in attendance for this talk delivered by the District Overseer, John Sutherland, a traveling representative of the Watchtower Society.

WTSU Cancels Carol Of Lights

AMARILLO — The Christmas Carol of Lights will not be turned on this season at West Texas State University.

The decision was made this week by the administration and the student committee responsible for the lighting project.

"We are trying to go along with suggestions made by President Nixon in his energy message," says Cathy Cleveland, Binger senior.

"We are going to try to keep the spirit of the Carol of Lights without burning as much electricity. Instead of turning on the 3,000 lights on all of the buildings, the students are going to participate in a simpler ceremony. That will mean a candlelight ceremony in front of the new library at about 8 p.m. on Dec. 2," Miss Cleveland said. "Each student will bring his own candle to light," Miss Cleveland said. "Otherwise, the ceremony will be the same."

Comb

Esther's unhappiness was due to the fact she tooted the wrong horn on a date! So learn the deft strategy of how to stop being a one-date girl. Keep vividly in mind that tattoo on every boy's chest! Compliments excel sex in winning a wedding ring!

CASE Y-583: Esther B., aged 19, was one of my coed students at N.U.

"Dr. Crane," she moaned, "what is wrong with me?"
"For I don't have any trouble getting a first date with a college classmate."

"But he doesn't ask me for a second date!"

"Yet I am fastidious in my personal hygiene and not guilty of halitosis, 'B.O.,' dandruff, etc."

"And my 'measurements' got me into the campus beauty contest in my freshman year."
"So why don't I have the proper coed charisma?"

WRONG HORN

Esther was guilty of tooting the wrong horn!

On your first date, girls, you must focus on the invisible tattoo across your boy friend's chest.

It says, in big bold letters: "I WANT TO FEEL IMPORTANT."

So toot his horn by lavish use of honest compliments. Alas, many unpopular coeds make the mistake of excessively tooting their own horns.

For every girl subconsciously realizes the wisdom of the old adage that states:

"We like to number important people among our friends."

So the girl tries to parade her own talents and social standing, plus the wealth of her parents and her dad's business standing. "For if I can show my boy friend that I am important," she thinks, "then shouldn't he be more likely to ask me for a second date?"

Yes and no!
If you forget his desire to feel more important during his few hours on the date with you, then your lavish self-advertising campaign may rebuff him entirely.

If, however, you meanwhile toot his horn enough to expand his ego beyond what it was when he first met you, then he will like you.

And that is almost a sure guarantee that he'll ask for a second date.

For we have an axiom of psychology that says a man likes to return to the person and place where he has previously been pleased.

Conversely, he shuns the person or place where he has been pained by being humiliated or degraded or even ignored!

So it is wise to employ what I taught my coed students, namely, the "stoop to conquer" technique.

It involves tooting the boy friend's horn more than your own!

For when you offer him lavish, honest praise, he soon thinks you are a smart girl and have good judgment.

That means you thus are indirectly getting your own horn tooted, too.

But you can often use a subtle method of tooting your own horn, as by saying:

"Wasn't it sweet of Janet to give me this hand-painted recipe box for my birthday?"

Which slips across to his subconscious mind this additional idea:

"I wouldn't need a recipe box unless I were a good cook."

Highway Dept. Gives Plan For Crisis

AUSTIN — The Texas Highway Department has announced a program designed to further conserve energy during the present crisis. The proposals were submitted to Gov. Dolph Briscoe as part of the governor's energy conservation program.

The statewide Highway Department program will commence immediately and continue throughout the duration of the energy shortage.

Travel of maintenance personnel to and from job sites will be reviewed and consideration will be given to a four-day work week of 10-hour workdays.

Standard size Highway Department automobiles will be replaced with compact models for intercity travel, and maximum use will be made of pool transportation to reduce fuel consumption. Reduced speed limits will be observed as finally set.

Equipment engines will be turned off when not in actual operation and mowing operations along highway right-of-way will be reduced to a minimum.

Overnight and weekend use of Highway Department vehicles will be restricted to those who actually are on call in an emergency.

Illumination projects will be approved for construction on a highly selective basis; however, safety lighting will not be affected.

Initial energy-conserving measures were put into effect in May when Highway Department officials directed all Department activities to curtail operations involving heat, air conditioning and illumination and called for a continuing review of possible energy-saving operations.

The orchid, blooms of which may remain open for five weeks, has the longest flowering period.
