DALLAS (AP) — Flamboyant Pentecostal preacher and televangelist Benny Hinn will move his ministry from Orlando, Fla., to the Dallas-Fort Worth area by Sept. 1, a spokesman for the ministry says.

"The Dallas airport makes the world accessible for our people, and the metroplex area has the resources we need to expand the ministry," Hinn, 46, said Thursday in a prepared statement.

Many of the church's partners and donors live in the Dallas area, spokesman David Brokaw said.

"There's also a sense that a lot of the physical plant growth that needs to take place can happen more efficiently in the Dallas-Fort Worth area," he said.

REFUGIO (AP) — The skeletal remains of 17 people — but no artifacts — have been recovered from the centuries-old cemetery uncovered beneath a highway in front of a church.

Officials say the remains found near Our Lady of Refuge Catholic Church on U.S. 77 include those of children, men and women.

A highway construction project came to an abrupt stop earlier this year when skeletons were found under the old roadway just north of the Mission River Bridge.

"It's interesting that artifacts have not been found," Becky Kureska, a spokeswoman for the Texas Department said.

Pampa native Barry Peterson stands on the federal courthouse steps in New Orleans this week where he appeared in the Oprah beef appeal hearing in defense of his animal activist client Howard Lyman, a former guest Oprah's show.

Pampa native defense lawyer in Oprah case

Appeal arguments heard this week

NEW ORLEANS — Pampa native Barry Peterson stood his ground this week against the biggest cattle feeding operation in the nation.

Paul Engler of Cactus Feeders, a cattle feeding operation that feeds almost a million head of cattle each year, is the only one of several cattlemen who sued television talk show hostess Oprah Winfrey and animal activist Howard Lyman last year who is appealing the jury verdict favoring Winfrey following a six week long trial in Amarillo in 1998.

While Engler and his son, Dr. Mike Engler, were in court Tuesday afternoon, Ms. Winfrey did not attend Tuesday's hearing.

In oral arguments before the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans Tuesday, Peterson, Lyman's attorney, said this was a case about illusions. He said that while the plaintiffs complained about comments made on the show cutting demand for beef, studies by the National Cattlemen's Beef Association showed higher demand for beef by consumers after the show than before.

"The plaintiffs didn't suffer," said Peterson, who now practices law in Amarillo.

The suit was filed under the Texas False Disparagement of Perishable Food Products Act, or veggie libel law as it has become known, because of comments made during an April 16, 1996, Oprah Winfrey Show concerning transmissible bovine spongiform encephalopathy (BSE), also known as Mad Cow Disease, and the U.S. beef industry. No mad-cow disease has ever been reported in the U.S.

But Peterson said the cattle in question did not decay to the point of not being marketable as required by the Texas veggie libel law. He admitted that cattle which continued to be fed beyond an optimum point declined in value, but they continue to be marketable.

Peterson blamed the drop in cattle prices on oversupply of cattle and the increased price of corn, the primary grain fed to the cattle.

"This is pure illusion and hype," Peterson said. While Engler's attorney, California-based Joseph Coyne, told the two justices in court Tuesday, Carl Stewart and James Dennis, that

Police make search, charge man, woman

Two Pampa residents were arrested for possession of drug paraphernalia early today by Pampa Police Department's Green Team and Panhandle Regional Narcotics Trafficking Task Force agents.

Heather M. Brantley, 19, and William J. Shipp, 20, both of 1006 S. Barnes, were arrested at 4:40 a.m. at their residence. PPD and PRNT-TF reported seizing numerous articles of drug paraphernalia, including pipes, bongs, hemostats and some marijuana seeds.

The two agencies were executing a search warrant at the residence as the PPD had received information that a party involving narcotics was taking place at that residence.

Justice of the Peace Muns set bonds this morning on Brantley and Shipp at $500 each. Both remained in Gray County Jail this morning, according to a spokeswoman with the sheriff's office. She said that both are to appear in municipal court on June 7.

The offenses Brantley and Shipp were charged with are Class C misdemeanor.

VFW hosts picnic tomorrow

The Pampa Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1657 plan to host a veterans appreciation picnic at Recreation Park Saturday. The picnic will begin at noon and last all afternoon.

The VFW will be providing hamburgers, hot dogs and chicken for all Gray County veterans and their families. Also provided will be chips and cold drinks. VFW and auxiliary members are bring a covered dish and/or a dessert.

This event has been several weeks in the planning and is intended to bring the local veteran community together. Anyone planning to attend should contact Steve York, incoming post commander, at 669-8224 or 669-1702.

New firm sends dairy cattle here

By KATE B. DICKSON
Staff Writer

Dairy cows are being moved in, the barns are nearly finished and milk should be flowing before the end of summer.

That was the report of Kirk Carrell and Craig Cobb, the owners of Moody Dairy east of Pampa.

The two were at a PEDC Board meeting to discuss progress on their dairy, a project that is scheduled to eventually bring 4,000 dairy cows to Gray County, with the assistance of the PEDC.

Some of the "free style barns" are 80 percent finished, others are coming along and some equipment has begun to arrive.

"A 10,000 gallon milk storage tank has been delivered and put in place. We're still optimistic that we'll be milking cows by July 1," Carrell said.

"We're running short of grass at home (Godley, Texas) and we have plenty of grass here so we'll be bringing more and more," Carrell said.

While having a large group of people for an open house once the cows are milking will upset the animals, there may be an open house right before milking operations begin.

The Roden Dairy also has had some good news recently as the TNRC granted them a permit, pending public comment, to relocate to property east of Pampa. Construction can now begin there as well.

Chase, accident end in DWI arrest

A Skellytown man ended up in Gray County Jail this week after leading peace officers on a short high speed chase around Lefors.

Rickey Eugene Young, 47, Skellytown, was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated and evading arrest.

Lefors City Marshal John Worthington said he was meeting Tuesday night with Gray County Deputies at the credit union in Lefors when they heard and then saw a pickup traveling at a high rate of speed. The pickup passed them heading east, ignored a stop sign and then turned north at 2nd and Main. Worthington said when the pickup turned north it picked up speed even more and began traveling at a very high rate of speed.

Worthington gave chase while the two deputies moved to block off side streets so the pickup couldn't circle back. Worthington said the pickup nearly "wiped out" near the Senior Citizens Center.

The pickup then attempted a left turn of Loop 273 but spun out turning 180 degrees. Worthington pulled up next to the vehicle but the pickup sped up again headed back towards Lefors.

As the pickup rounded a curve it jumped the curb and struck a bar ditch finally become stuck on a culvert. Worthington said even though the pickup was stuck and could not move Young continue to gun the motor, trying to escape.

The two deputies soon joined Worthington to arrest Young. An ambulance was called as were DPS troopers David O'Brien and John Nelson who had to investigate the accident.

A breath test three hours after the incident showed a .19, blood alcohol level according to Worthington. A .10 is considered legally intoxicated. Young was later released on $4,000 bail for driving while intoxicated and evading arrest.

OPRAH

they did not have jurisdiction over the case, Peterson told the two judges hearing the case that the plaintiffs shouldn't have it both ways.

Coyne argued that the case should have been heard in state, not federal courts.

Peterson told the court that when the Amarillo trial court ruled in the plaintiff's favor, they had no complaints, but when the jury found for Oprah Winfrey, the plaintiffs changed their stance, claiming the case should never have been taken out of state court.

Engler contends panic among traders at the Chicago Mercantile Exchange set off by comments made on Winfrey's show caused the market to close down that day and in days following which cost Engler $6.5 million.

In February, 1998, a jury in Amarillo federal district court found for Winfrey, who claimed that her guests were simply expressing their opinions as they are allowed to do under the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution.

The information given to producers of the show and the decisions made appeared to short shrift the plaintiffs, Justice Stewart said, but were they not giving their opinions rather than fact?

"I've looked at the tape," Stewart said. Justice Stewart also asked about a second show that aired, giving the cattlemen a chance to rebut statements made on the first show.

"How did the second show come about?" the justice asked.

Peterson said that following the first show, Winfrey was flooded with complaints from cattlemen, so she offered them a chance to refute statements made on the first show.

As part of an agreement reached between Winfrey and the National Cattlemen's Beef Association, the second show would air live and would not feature Lyman.

Stewart noted that a letter was sent to Winfrey from the NCBA following the second show which thanked her.

Stewart asked if the airing of a second show was a confession that the first show was unfair.

The first show aired known falsehoods, Coyne insisted.

"Does the editing of the first show have sinister characteristics?" Stewart asked.

Coyne insisted that falsehoods he claims were made by Lyman were still in the show that aired. But Justice Dennis came to the crux of the matter.

"Isn't it, in fact, opinion?" he asked concerning Lyman's remarks on Mad Cow Disease. "I may not be in agreement with him, but isn't he expressing his opinion?"

Stewart asked about the admission by the plaintiffs expert witnesses that there was a limited practice in the industry of feeding cows to cows as charged by Lyman.

"That seems like a bell was rung," Stewart said. Lyman had said on the show that the practice of grinding up the dead bodies of cattle and feeding them back to live cattle was a widespread practice in the cattle feeding industry and posed a health threat to consumers.

Expert witnesses for the cattlemen admitted that dead cattle were fed to live cattle, but the practice was limited.

Shortly after the show aired, the federal government banned the practice.

One of the ways BSE is transmitted is through infected tissue being fed back to live animals.

Stewart said the court would take the arguments under advisement but did not indicate when they might issue an opinion in the case.

There are a lot of issues in this case, Justice Stewart said. Although this case will probably eventually be settled, he added, it will be argued for a long time.

Doctor: Michael Jackson's son improving in New York hospital

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Michael Jackson's 2-year-old son is improving under medical treatment in a New York City hotel, contrary to reports he was close to death after suffering a seizure, the toddler's Los Angeles doctor said.

"Many reports have circulated in Europe and the United States that are completely fictitious with regard to virtually all of the medical facts of Prince's illness," Dr. Allen L. Metzger said Thursday of Prince Michael Jackson Jr.

Metzger last saw the child in Los Angeles about two weeks ago and has been consulting with the New York doctors since the child became ill over the weekend. Jackson was in New York with Prince.

"There is no neurological disease. Such seizures can occur when a child's temperature is too high or goes up too quickly," Metzger said, adding the child is "showing slow and significant improvement."

Reports of the child's illness surfaced during a benefit concert in Modena, Italy, where Jackson had been scheduled to appear. Opera star Luciano Pavarotti choked back tears as he told the audience Tuesday that Jackson's son might be dying and asked people to pray for the child.

Jonathan Morrish, an executive with Sony Records, Jackson's label, also gave dire reports at the concert. He said that Prince had "lost consciousness, and his legs and arms were paralyzed because of a high viral fever."

Multiple attempts to reach Jackson's spokesman by phone have been unsuccessful.

Feds will interview airline crash survivors

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Federal investigators visited a hospital today to interview hospitalized survivors of American Airlines Flight 1420 while the victims' relatives went to the end of an airport runway to see the crumpled plane.

The relatives were kept about 100 yards from the MD-82, which crashed on landing late Tuesday night at Little Rock National Airport. Nine people were killed and 83 were injured.

As eight charter buses rolled along Runway 4R to the site, National Transportation Safety Board investigators went through the city's University Hospital.

"We're going to get to as many people as we can get to now. Those who are in too bad a state, we'll come back and get them," said Robert Malloy of the NTSB. Investigators want to know what passengers saw, heard and smelled before and during the accident.

Among those the investigators hoped to see was First Officer Michael Origel. He survived, suffering a broken leg, while the pilot died when the plane slammed into a steel tower near the bank of the Arkansas River.

At the airport, relatives hugged each other as they viewed the wreckage. They were kept atop a rock levee on the north edge of the runway. The plane stopped in lowlands adjacent to the river.

Some had been given bouquets of red and pink flowers. Other bouquets and wreaths of flowers were lain near the crash site.

Some in the group appeared injured, but authorities wouldn't say whether the group of about 300 included those hurt in the crash as well as relatives. One woman with a neck brace was being aided as she walked; a man with a similar brace was in a wheelchair.

After the initial phase of the investigation focused on bad weather at the time of the crash, the NTSB said it learned that wind-resisting wing panels used to slow down landing jetliners were not opened as Flight 1420 hurtled down a runway and crashed.

During a typical landing, the spoilers — movable panels on the top of the wing — are opened and thrust reversers are engaged to cut a plane's speed.

But information from the aircraft's flight data recorder shows that the spoilers did not deploy Tuesday night and that the thrust reversers turned off and on, investigators said.

The question now is whether the irregularities were due to mechanical problems or were the result of choices by the pilot.

"It could be that the only person who knows the answer to that question is no longer with us," George Black of the National Transportation Safety Board said Thursday night. Black said it is possible to land a plane without spoilers, adding he himself was once in a plane that safely landed with the spoilers closed.

The MD-82 jetliner landed as a thunderstorm raked the airport with hail, lightning and wind gusts of 75 mph. The plane skidded off the end of the runway, plunged over a stone embankment and was ripped open as it hit a metal walkway. The jet broke into three parts and caught fire.

Investigators said the pilot was warned twice about dangerous wind shears and received more notice than usual of bad conditions as he brought the plane in for the landing.

The airplane was traveling at 165 mph when it landed, according to the data recorder, which included 27 to 28 seconds of information after the touchdown and 62 previous hours of data, Black said.

The most interesting finding from the recorder was the repeated cycling of the thrust reversers, he said.

Weather focus

PAMPA — Partly sunny today with a 20 percent chance of thunderstorms, a high of 90 and south winds at 10-20 mph. Tonight, partly cloudy and 40 percent chance of thunderstorms with a low in the upper 60s and south winds at 10-20 mph. Tomorrow, partly cloudy with a 30 percent chance of thunderstorms and a high of 85. Yesterday's high was 85; the overnight low 62.

PANHANDLE — Tonight, partly cloudy with a 20 percent chance of thunderstorms. Low around 65. South wind 10-20 mph. Saturday, partly cloudy with a 30 percent chance of thunderstorms. High around 85. Southwest to west wind 10-20 mph. Saturday night, mostly cloudy with a 50 percent chance of thunderstorms. Low 60 to 65.

STATEWIDE — It will be warm and windy across Texas tonight and Saturday.

There is a chance of some widely scattered showers and thunderstorms.

Lows tonight will be in the 60s and 70s. Highs Saturday will be mostly in the 80s and 90s, ranging upward to near 105 in the Big Bend area of Southwest Texas.

Skies will be clear to partly cloudy over the entire state through Saturday.

Camp Alphie seeking children for overnight summer camp

AMARILLO — Camp Alphie, an overnight summer camp for children with cancer and cancer survivors, is accepting reservations through June 15. The camp will be held Aug. 1-6 at the Bishop Quarterman Conference Center near Amarillo.

Children ages 7-14 who have cancer or have had cancer are welcome to attend Camp Alphie, and each camper may be accompanied by a sibling. Camp Alphie is free to campers, thanks to individual, business and civic sponsors who underwrite expenses. Sponsoring a camper costs $250.

Established in 1988, Camp Alphie offers all the normal activities of summer camp including indoor and outdoor sports and recreation, arts and crafts, swimming and much more. The camp provides special facilities, diets and trained staff to accommodate the needs of cancer patients.

The parents of Camp Alphie residents also receive a much-needed dose of relaxation and fun as they attend a free, concurrent parents' camp. While the children enjoy the outdoors, parents spend a week at an Amarillo hotel being treated to a variety of diversions such as special dinners and visits to area attractions.

All of this fun has a serious purpose though, according to Camp Alphie Board President Barbara Miller. "When cancer invades a family, the focus immediately is directed to the illness and its treatment. The family unit can come apart under the strain."

Miller said the camp gives everyone in the family a break and then helps them redirect attention back to the family unit.

The camp staff are volunteers and nearly all parents' camp activities are donated. Camp counselors are high school graduates and most are in college. They work on a volunteer basis and some are even cancer survivors.

Because of laws governing the confidentiality of cancer patients, Camp Alphie cannot contact eligible campers without their permission. Parents of eligible campers are encouraged to contact Camp Alphie by writing to P.O. Box 3819, Amarillo, Texas, 79116-3819. Preregistration is encouraged prior to June 15.

Camper sponsorships and activity sponsorships remain available. For more information, call Norman Stuppi at (806) 353-8941.

Borger's annual fish fry tomorrow

BORGER — The "36th Annual World's Largest Fish Fry" will be held from 11 a.m.-7 p.m. Saturday, June 5 at the aluminum dome in Borger. The event brings with it a large-size claim. But, according to locals, there is plenty of proof to support the plenty of fish in this title.

"Calling the fish fry the world's largest has struck up some controversy," said Borger Chamber of Commerce President Joe Frank Wheeler. "Back in 1965, the people who ran the fish fry started calling it the World's Largest Fish Fry with the hopes that it would become the world's largest."

The reason for the controversy is the World's Largest/Biggest Fish Fry in Paris, Tenn., according to Wheeler.

"Those in the Volunteer State claim to feed 8,500 pounds of catfish in five days," he said.

But, Wheeler said, 8,500 divided by five is 1,700. And the Chamber plans on serving 2,500 pounds of catfish this Saturday, he added.

"So I would still say, based on everything I've ever learned, we have the world's largest one-day fish fry," said Wheeler.

The fish fry, which began as the Lake Meredith Fish Fry when it was founded in 1964, was started by Jack Roberts and Joe Reed.

"They decided it would be a good idea to recognize Lake Meredith and draw attention to the area," according to Wheeler.

The beach bash is scheduled to have a dunking booth put on by the Girl Scouts; three-on-three basketball and volleyball; a 40-foot basketball shoot; sidewalk sales; sandpiles for the kids; a ping-pong ball drop; Mustang Club Car Show; a rodeo and of course ... a little bit of fish. "A Little Miss Beach Party" is also slated at 2 p.m. for ages 3-5, 6-8 and 9-10. Prizes at the Little Miss Beach Party will be a tiara for the first place winner, a beach ball for the second place winner and a beach towel for the third place winner.

"Grain fed, farmed raised, Southern Pride Catfish," reads the advertisement from the Alabama company bringing in the fish to feed the masses.

Church groups are encouraged to set up booths at the fish fry free of charge. Interested groups should contact Stephanie at (806) 273-7741 or Barbara at (8906) 273-2000 for more information.

Tickets are available in advance at the Borger Chamber of Commerce — $5.50 for adults, $4.50 for youth 6-12 and seniors over 65. Cost for tickets at the door will be $6 for adults and $5 for youth 6-12 and seniors 65 and over. Children five and under get in free. For more information, call the Chamber at (806) 274-2211.

More events set in Borger

BORGER — In conjunction with the Annual Fish Fry Saturday, June 5, the Hutchinson County Museum will host an open house and participate in the Beach Party hosted by the downtown merchants on Main Street. The museum will open earlier that day from 10 a.m.-4:30 p.m. and several events are planned including: a blacksmith demonstration by Ed Benz, museum director; rig tours by Roy Haley; and antique car owners will host a car display.

Anyone wishing to park their antique car in the line-up is invited and should contact Benz at the museum by Friday. The 600 block of Main will be blocked off during the day. The Adobe Walls Dancers Post 565 of the Explorer Scouts will be performing at 11 a.m. The dancers will be performing Plains and Pueblo Indian dances and Benz will be telling the Red River War story since this year marks its 125th anniversary.

Another attraction this year will be Bar L Jerky, one of Borger's new businesses.

Living in the moment for God

As God appears in different ways at various times in the Bible, so he appears in different ways by each season.

For example, in summer we have vacation Bible School.

It seems like vacation Bible school was the last time that everyone, I mean everyone, was excited about church, making crosses out of popsicle sticks and stomping to "I'm in the Lord's Army."

Some kids attended because they attended church regularly, some because their parent wanted free babysitting, and didn't mind if it taught their children to behave. We liked it because we could wear sandals instead of nice shoes; in other words, it was church especially designed for children.

The children's program wasn't merely to keep us from talking during grown-up's church. And they had sugary refreshments, artfully scheduled near the end of the day

From the Back Pew...

By Cheryl Berzanskis

just before they sent us home. I wonder though, why does the God at vacation Bible school seem so different from the God that middle-aged people like myself talk to?

Of course, I don't think He has changed; it's me. A simple affection is replaced by questions about technical theological questions, pain caused by things outside of my control, and frustration at those who behave badly in God's name. And frustration with myself, who sometimes can't find a connection between the me of now and the seemingly idyllic life of thirty years ago.

From the cartoon figures attached to a flannel board in grade school to the more in-depth bible studies now, what we need from God and what we can give to him changes. Obviously, I'm not referring to something like salvation here, or faith that God exists. I refer to the nitty gritty day-by-day relationship, the part of Christianity the public relations people forget, as they hawk angels and the apocalypse in the books they wrote.

We spend winter wishing for summer. During summer we forget winter ever came or left, like the doe-eyed kids in vacation Bible school, who merely live in that moment for God, as we would like to do.

Religion briefs...

St. Mark CME breakfast Saturday

St. Mark CME Church, 406 Elm, will serve a breakfast Saturday, June 5. The public is cordially invited. For a donation, a visitor will get eggs, bacon, sausage, pancakes, fruit and coffee or juice.

Presbyterian info class to start Sunday

Dr. Ed Cooley, of First Presbyterian Church, will teach "Everything You Wanted to Know About Being a Presbyterian But Were Afraid to Ask" beginning Sunday, June 6. The 10-week class will meet from 9:30-10:15 a.m. in the parlor of the church, 525 N. Gray. Discover what makes Presbyterians unique and understand Christ in Life from a Presbyterian perspective. Major topics will include Predestination, Providence, Sovereignty of God and Grace.

Cara Reid in concert Sunday

Hi-Land Christian Church, 1615 N. Banks, will present Cara Reid in a free concert at 6:30 p.m. Sunday, June 13. Reid is a female vocalist from Amarillo. Her mission is to uplift and encourage people through her music. The community is invited to share in this evening of contemporary Christian music and testimony. A love offering will be taken.

Central Baptist VBS June 7-11

Central Baptist Church has announced its vacation Bible school "The Ultimate Good News Challenge" will be from 9 a.m.-12 noon June 7-11 at Mount Extreme, located at the corner of Starkweather and Browning. Mary Guinn is preschool division director, and Sharon McCormick is children's division director. The Bible school is open to children 4 years old as of Sept. 1, 1998, through youth finishing sixth grade this year.

There will be special emphasis each day concluding with a hot dog lunch on Friday. Children who join the "climb" will hike through adventures with men who carried their friend to Jesus; Zacchaeus on his quest to see the Savior; the blind man who was healed by Jesus; Philip and the Ethiopian; and Paul, Silas, and the Philippian jailer.

For more information, call 665-1631.

Lone Star Living ... Softball team ministers to inmates

By DOMINGO RAMIREZ JR.
Fort Worth Star-Telegram

FORT WORTH, Texas — Against the backdrop of a softball field, the razor wire is almost startling. A softball stuck in the wire rivets the eyes and pulls them toward the diamond.

There, two teams are warming up, one in crisp, bright-red shirts and gray pants, the other in a mix of faded white and gray shorts and dull-blue shirts. Watching from aluminum bleachers are tattooed men, heckling and jeering.

"Hey Baby Huey!" one man shouts as Steve Butler of Southlake as the 6-foot-7, 270-pounder walks toward home plate.

The tone of the taunts changes when Butler swings, then begins a home-run trot after the softball lands on top of a building at the Federal Correctional Institution near Bastrop.

"I'll give you a book of stamps if you strike out the next time!" inmate Nicholas Portillo of San Antonio yells as Butler crosses the plate.

The strikeout never comes, but the prayers do.

Butler and his teammates belong to Texas Crusaders, a sports ministry squad whose 20 members hail from cities such as Southlake, Watauga, Fort Worth, Dallas, McKinney and Oklahoma City. The men travel to state and federal prisons throughout Texas and surrounding states, playing slow-pitch softball teams composed of inmates.

On most weekends, the Crusaders — who include firefighters, engineers and insurance adjusters — pit their skills against all-star teams of drug dealers, thieves, burglars and other felons.

After every game, the Crusaders huddle near the pitcher's mound to read Scriptures, preach and pray with the inmates.

"We want to pray for you and your families," Crusaders coach Eddie Anderson of McKinney tells the inmate softball team in Bastrop. "I don't like losing. I was playing hard today, but you were the better team. I love you guys."

The Crusaders play tough and win most of their games. In so doing, they are able to establish a kinship with the inmates and talk to them about God.

Inmates say the mix of competition and camaraderie helps them prepare for their eventual transition back to society.

"I know there are people out there who wonder, 'Why even have them here?' or 'What's a prison doing having an inmate softball team?'" said Norbert Valles of Houston, an inmate and softball coach at the Ramsey III unit of the Texas Department of Corrections in Rosharon, about 20 miles south of Houston.

"But think about what you create when you leave someone in a jail cell 23 hours a day and there's a possibility that he may get out one day," Valles said. "I'll tell you: a monster."

The Crusaders are a welcome sight to the inmates, who might play non-inmate, outside teams only once or twice a year, said state inmate Daryl Johnson of Houston.

"This helps some of us get ready for the day when we get out," said Johnson, who is in prison on a parole violation after being convicted of burglary. He is scheduled to be released in February.

"By being on the team, we learn to get along with people," he said. "I'd love to see an outside team come play here every month."

The Fort Worth-Dallas squad is a branch of Sports Reach, a nationwide sports motivational organization based in Campbellsville, Ky., that fields softball and basketball teams to promote Christianity. The squads also visit colleges, hospitals, churches and homeless shelters.

Anderson said he learned about Sports Reach and became interested in organizing a team while his family was living in Memphis, Tenn. After moving to McKinney in January 1997, he began scouting softball fields, looking for Christian ballplayers to play on the state's first Sports Reach softball team.

By the end of that year and after untold hours of practice, Bible study and prayers, Anderson organized the Texas Crusaders. They played their first full season last year, scheduling 90 games and using about $13,000 from individual and business contributions to pay for equipment, uniforms, gasoline, rental vans and motel rooms.

This year, with a budget of less than $10,000, the Crusaders have scheduled 120 games from Tennessee to Texas. During a recent five-day trip, they won 20 of 23 games at five federal and state prisons in Oklahoma and Texas.

"We don't get any financial help from Sports Reach, and we don't get any money from our churches," Anderson said. "But we are allowed to ask for money at our churches. We also have gotten contributions from individuals and businesses."

The contributions come in handy, considering that every game is a road trip and that the Crusaders have no home field. There are about 145,600 inmates in state prisons, according to Texas Department of Corrections statistics.

On the field, the Crusaders play by the inmates' rules.

When the Crusaders played Bastrop inmates on a recent warm afternoon, the rules meant that softballs that landed on top of buildings were home runs. The playing field at the low-security federal facility, which houses about 1,200 inmates, resembles most fields in Fort Worth-Dallas, except that the bleachers were filled mostly with men dressed in white T-shirts and khaki pants.

At the Ramsey unit in Rosharon, where there are 1,500 inmates, the playing rules meant that a softball that rolled under the barbed-wire fence was a double, and anything over the fence was a home run. Base running ties went to the inmates.

A trusty camp at Rosharon built a softball field on what once was a pasture. Unlike the federal inmates, most of those at Rosharon wore white overalls and used work gloves as batting gloves.

Softballs slipping under the fence posed a particular problem for Crusaders outfielders.

"Someone show them how to infiltrate that wire!" a state inmate at Rosharon yelled as the Crusaders stepped through the barbed-wire fence.

Heckling is standard during the Crusaders' travels. "He has the potential to be a bank robber!" a federal inmate at Bastrop shouted after the Crusaders' Charles Thompson took a hit away from an inmate on a catch near the right field fence.

In the midst of the secured conditions and the ribbing, members of the Crusaders say, the inmates often look just like them or any other men outside prison walls.

"With some of these guys, you look at them and you can't believe they are in here," said Butler, the Southlake home-run hitter. "They look like someone's grandfather."

Some of the most difficult times at the prisons come when members of the Crusaders see inmates talking to their families during visitation hours, Anderson said.

"It hurts to see a family apart like that," Anderson said.

Back on the field, in addition to the razzing, some inmates ask Crusaders players for favors or request equipment — both against prison policy. And a few inmates try to skirt all the rules and con the Crusaders out of money or gifts.

"Sure, there are some bad men in prison, but I don't believe every one of them are evil," Anderson said. "We're talking about good men with good homes who got mixed up with drugs or alcohol and made the wrong choices."

That's why the Crusaders come prepared to listen and to pray with inmates. They also arrive with spiritual pamphlets and Christian magazines, which they hand out to inmates.

"Some inmates don't put too much faith in God," said Valles, who has been in prison several times. "That's fine if that is what they want to believe. I have to believe in God. I want to have a future in the free world."

As for the future of the Crusaders, they are forming other ministry teams, Anderson said. A second men's slow-pitch softball team could be competing by the end of the year. There also are plans for a men's soccer team and a women's slow-pitch team.

"If we had the ability, I would hope we will return year after year," Butler said. "I know they are glad to see us."

The cheering and the smiles of the inmates at Bastrop and Rosharon was proof of that.

"Our hope is to get back outside," said Chris "Sneek" Winston of California, an inmate at the federal facility in Bastrop. He was convicted of drug distribution and is scheduled to be released in September.

"They help lift our spirits," Winston said. "It's important to know someone from the outside cares."

The Texans...

Hi-Land Christian Church will present the gospel group The Texans, formerly the Masters Four, in concert at 6:30 p.m. Sunday, June 20. The quartet — originally from Dallas — is currently based at Branson, Mo. The group has been named Ozark Music Awards Group of the Year in 1985, 1986, 1987 and 1988; Entertainers of the Year in 1987 and 1988; and Texas Group of the Year from 1975-82. It changed its name in 1983 and was originally organized at Dallas Christian College in 1973. The Texans include: Sam Ray, lead vocalist, emcee; Kelley Shanks, tenor; Curtis Ray, baritone; and Rod Mays, bass.

Apollos has WTAMU ministry here Saturday

Apollos Christian Coffee House will present West Texas A&M University's Baptist Student Ministries "Torn in Two" ... and the curtain of the temple was torn in two from top to bottom." Mark 15:38. Eleven students from WTAMU will be appearing at Apollos June 5. The doors will open at 7 p.m. and the performance will follow at 8 p.m.

The group will also be leading a Youth Sunday School Rally from 9:40-11 a.m. June 6 at Calvary Baptist Church, 900 E. 23rd St.

The "Torn in Two Ministries Band" will perform both fun songs and praise and worship songs at the coffee house while a drama team will perform skits. The group will also lead a devotion time as this is a tradition of Apollos.

The students from WT travel all summer doing youth rallies, lock-ins, youth discipleship and much more. Their music is both contemporary and traditional and their dramas are all Christian based. The Baptist Student Ministry is available to lead youth functions on most weekends but some weekday events can be arranged as well. There is no charge for these teams to come to your church.

To schedule a performance at your church, call (806) 655-7705.

Parents Decide to Take Action Before Angry Son Lashes Out

DEAR ABBY: As I have watched and cried about the tragedy in Littleton, I have wondered what I could do to help. Today I am writing in the hope that my family's experience with our teen-age son may help other parents.

When my son was a sophomore, our previously reasonable boy began acting out in an angry, defiant and violent way. After several months of this unexplainable behavior, I discovered some hate-type drawings on the desk in his bedroom. I couldn't believe this was the work of my son. My husband and I had worked hard to create a strong, happy family, and our son had been involved in church, Scouting and sports for years.

One evening after an angry episode that left me in tears, it suddenly became clear that our family needed help. I told my husband we needed counseling to help us understand what was happening, but I did not feel comfortable admitting to our minister or doctor that our family was in such trouble.

Long before this happened, I had heard about a local counselor who worked with adolescent boys. We knew our son would be so resistant to the idea of counseling that we needed someone who spoke his language and understood the local high school scene. The next morning I could hardly breathe as I picked up the phone and called the counselor's office. It was the hardest thing I've ever done.

My husband and I met with the counselor the following week. When we told our son what we had done, and that we would be taking him for weekly appointments, he was very angry, but we did not give in.

After several months, we again met with the counselor. He did not disclose the specifics of his sessions with our son, but he did say our son felt intimidated and threatened by groups of older students at his large suburban high school. The counselor also gave us a short course in modern-day male adolescent development issues in the context of today's high school environment and recommended several books.

Gradually we began seeing a change in our son. I just thank God I had heard about that counselor years earlier. He helped save our son — and our family. Our son graduated from high school and is a successful college student today. My hope is that the media will run stories identifying counselors who specialize in adolescents.

Abby, I know this is long, but I'm sure there are many other parents out there struggling with their teen's unexplainable behavior.

A MOM WHO LOVES HER SON,

ANYWHERE, U.S.A.

DEAR MOM: Your letter deserves space in this column, and I commend you for having recognized that you had a serious problem brewing in your family and for seeking professional help before it got out of hand.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to offer another answer to "June Bride," who wrote to ask if she was obligated to invite the several single people on her wedding list to bring a guest.

My son was invited to a wedding as a single 12 years ago. He was seated at a table with other single guests. He caught the garter; she caught the bouquet.

We now have a wonderful daughter-in-law and three beautiful grandchildren because they were invited to the wedding as singles.

MICHELLE'S MOTHER-IN-LAW: What a delightful story. I'm not surprised that a romance blossomed — love was in the air!

down to basics, especially when dealing with a friend. Do not believe gossip or whisperings that could affect your self-image. Tonight: A favorite spot, with music.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
***** Make time for that special person in your life. Go out, be seen and enjoy your relationship as a couple. Togetherness is important. Choosing the right spot could have everything to do with what happens later. Seek the best; you get the best in return. Tonight: Share your thoughts and feelings.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
***** Popularity soars. You might decide to scrap existing plans and make new ones. A new friendship may be developing into a lot more. Caring builds, as does a flirtation. Be careful about pressuring someone you put on a pedestal. Establish limits. Tonight: Where your friends are.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
***** Take some time off, relax and do what you enjoy. Pace yourself; be realistic about your limits. There is nothing wrong with taking a nap or changing your plans. Make yourself No. 1. Be direct about what you want when talking to someone you respect. A partner wants to help you. Tonight: Be a couch potato.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)
***** Let your imagination roam. Creativity remains high. Your perspective changes after a talk with a partner. Make time for a child or loved one as well. If you are single, let go and enjoy yourself. Good news comes from another at a distance. Tonight: Indulge.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
***** The grass might be greener on the other side, but home is where the action is, today. Opt for a day of relaxation. Invite a family member to join in a hobby, or visit with a loved one. Establish stronger bonds. A loved one appreciates your interest. Tonight: Enjoy your living room or den.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
***** Information you receive adds a very nice twist to your day. Pick up the phone and make some fun plans. If invited to learn a new sport or get into a special hobby, go for it. You will enjoy yourself far more than you think. Don't be tight with a child or loved one. Tonight: Visit and chat over dinner.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
***** Play with the idea of a major purchase. Do some price comparison and really be honest with yourself. How much do you need it? Sometimes the fun of a new item can mask other issues. What would you like to change on the homefront? Share a favorite hobby. Discussions begin. Tonight: Order in.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
***** Do what comes to you spontaneously. Your sense about a loved one or child helps you drive a conversation and gets this person to open up. If single, be careful with a flirtation that could be read differently. Don't let an authority figure pressure you. This is your life! Tonight: The world is your oyster.

Notebook VOLLEYBALL

PAMPA — Pampa High head coach Carmen Pennick and her staff will conduct a volleyball camp July 12-16 at McNeely Fieldhouse. The morning session (8-11:30) is for the third through fifth grade for the coming school year. The afternoon session (1:4-3:00) is for the sixth through ninth grade for the coming school year. Cost is $70, which besides instruction, will include a t-shirt, knee pads and a volleyball. Registration fee is $25 and must be paid by June 15. Registration forms can be picked up at the high school's main office or by calling Pennick at 669-2857.

SOCCER

PAMPA — Signups for the 1999 summer 4 x 4 soccer leagues will be held at T-Shirts & More at 111 W. Kingsmill from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. today through Saturday. Leagues are open for ages 4 through adult.

No experience is necessary and all teams will be formed with experience levels taken into consideration. Games will be played only on weekday nights (before dark). Everyone who plays will be guaranteed at least 50 percent playing time with no practices and no standings kept.

Fees for the 4 and U-19 (includes a T-Shirt) leagues are 10 dollars for any player registered in the fall of 1998 and/or the spring of the 1999 season in Pampa. The fee is $18.50 for any player not registered in the fall of '98 or the spring of '99.

Adult fees are $25, which includes supplementary medical insurance and liability coverage, referee fees, team t-shirt and an 8-game minimum.

The league will begin June 14 and end July 23.

Additional soccer dates: Harvester Soccer Camps: Session 1 - June 7-11 (8 a.m. 12 noon); Session 2 - July 5-9 (8 a.m. 12 noon) For more information, call L.J. Petulea at 665-4864.

British Soccer Camp: July 26-30. For more information, call Ron Jouett at 665-7643.

RODEO

FERRYTON — Karra Longo and Keeley Longo, daughters of Will and Sonja Daniel of Pampa, won all-around buckles at the Ochiltree County 4-H Rodeo.

Keeley, 10 years old, won Division Three in the 9-11 age group. Keeley placed first in three of five horse events and rounded out the day with a first-place calf ride.

"My dad is a bull rider and he was more nervous than I was," Keeley said.

Karra, 12, won Division Four in the 12-14 age group. Karra said she was disappointed about missing her calf in the break-away roping, but "Will is helping me and Keeley with our roping."

It was the first rodeo of the season for the Longo sisters.

"It was great confidence builder," Sonja said. "Rodeo is a great family activity. Will has rode bulls for years and is now team roping. We plan to haul the girls to as many 4-H and Oklahoma rodeos as we can. It's going to be a really busy summer, but it's something we all enjoy."

GOLF

PAMPA — Hidden Hills Seniors held a four-man scramble on Wednesday.

Results are as follows: First place: Whitey White, Howard Wells, Charles Rand, Rex Courter and Wayne Jones, 59.

Second place: John Darby, Bill Washington, Doug Dubose and George Gamblin, 61.

Third place: Travis Taylor, Glen Downs, Ken Reeves and Howard Buckingham, 62.

Fourth place: Bill Hammer, Jim Bridges, Bill Abernathy and Dale Butler, 64.

Pampa's Wells named Sonic Scholar-Athlete of the Week

PAMPA — Mandy Wells of Pampa High School has been named an upcoming Sonic Scholar-Athlete of the Week for her performance on the court and in the classroom.

Wells is one of only 43 graduating seniors who will be honored by Sonic Drive Ins during the 1998-99 school year.

Wells held a 4.17 grade point average and excelled as co-captain of the Pampa tennis team.

As Sonic Scholar-Athlete of the Week, she has been awarded a $1,000 scholarship and will appear on Fox Sports Southwest "High School Xtra" show on Sunday, June 6 at 9 a.m.

"We believe it's important to recognize the overall performance of today's student athletes, those who excel both on and off the field, and in their communities," said Jerry Lang of Sonic Drive-Ins. "We enjoy offering a vehicle like this program whereby we can honor these promising students. We'd like to wish Mandy all the best in her future endeavors."

Mandy Wells

Wells — selected from approximately 200,000 seniors attending 1,200 Texas high schools — ranked No. 1 in her class, was a National Honor Society member, and was named Who's Who Among American High School Students. She was nominated as Sonic Student-Athlete of the Week by the school and chosen by a panel of representatives from Sonic, "High School Xtra" and Universal Sports America (USA), the Dallas-based company which oversees the corporate partnership program for the Texas High School Championships.

Wells finished her high school career with more wins (177) than any other player in PHS history. Wells advanced to the regional semifinals the past three years. She won the District 3-4A championship in 1999.

At the end of May, Sonic had contributed a total of $86,000 to Texas high school scholar-athletes.

The 1998-99 school year is its second in support of the Scholar-Athlete of the Week Program. The Texas High School Championships corporate Partnership Program is a union between the University Interscholastic League (UIL), USA and Fox Sports Southwest that allows corporations to collaborate with the UIL in its efforts to strengthen the role of athletics in education.

Red-hot Rangers

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — The formula that has made the Texas Rangers baseball's hottest team is simple. Solid pitching and timely hitting have added up to a nine-game winning streak for the AL West leaders.

Consecutive sweeps against Tampa Bay, Minnesota and Kansas City have given the Rangers the second-longest winning streak in club history.

But to keep it going, Texas will have to overcome some significant obstacles.

The Rangers will be in Arizona on Friday night to begin a stretch of 26 of 35 games on the road. The first six are against NL teams, meaning designated hitter Rafael Palmeiro and his team-leading 360 average will likely be limited to pinch-hitting until Texas returns home June 11.

Palmeiro has yet to play the field this year because of two operations on his right knee during spring training. He's hoping to play first base against the Diamondbacks or the Los Angeles Dodgers, but manager Johnny Oates said he'd rather stick with Lee Stevens, who has been solid in the field and at the plate.

Palmeiro went 2-for-2 with his 15th home run and three RBIs, giving him 43 this season, in a 7-4 victory over Kansas City on Wednesday. He hoped that performance would change Oates' mind.

"He could have hit five home runs and he still couldn't play first base," Oates said. "You can't change that."

Palmeiro, who has been taking ground balls at first during batting practice, intends on making an attempt to play.

"I'm going to play first base in some of those games," Palmeiro said. "I'll give it a test Friday and see what happens."

With or without Palmeiro, the Rangers will need to show they can rack up wins against stiffer competition. Waiting to welcome the Rangers on Friday night: Randy Johnson, who turned down a $50 million contract from Texas to sign with Arizona.

The Rangers are scheduled to end the road trip against Dodgers ace Kevin Brown.

Interleague play draws mixed reviews from the fans and players

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer

Interleague play is still getting mixed reviews.

Fans seem to love it, but players such as Mark McGwire, Pedro Martinez and John Franco believe it's still a big miss.

"It doesn't do anything for the game," McGwire insisted. "It screwed up the schedule and hasn't gained the notoriety they thought it would. I think we should go back to the way the game of baseball is meant to be played."

No such luck, Big Mac. Instead, interleague play returns for the third season starting tonight. The featured matchups: New York Mets at New York Yankees, Anaheim at Los Angeles and Oakland at San Francisco.

Also, McGwire and his St. Louis Cardinals visit Detroit, while Sammy Sosa and the Chicago Cubs travel to Cleveland.

Once again, it will be East teams vs. East teams, Central vs. Central and West vs. West.

But there's a new wrinkle this year. Some natural rivals, such as Yankees-Mets, White Sox-Cubs and Blue Jays-Expos, will play six games, up from the previous three.

"Six games is too much," Yankees manager Joe Torre said. "If you have to have something like this, three games is enough."

Said Toronto outfielder Shawn Green: "It's kind of weird. We play Montreal six times and some American League teams only seven or eight games."

For those counting, AL teams held a 114-110 advantage last season. The year before, NL clubs had a 117-97 edge.

Crowds ran above the average for those games, though last season's attendance figure of 31,447 dipped from 33,407 in 1997. Naturally, the upcoming games in New York will be sellouts; Minnesota and Milwaukee next week might not do so well.

This year's 252 interleague games will be played from June 4-13 and July 9-20. Originally proposed by owners as a two-year experiment, the players union gave its approval to continue it this season.

Clearly, AL teams are hurt when they lose the designated hitter for games at NL parks. While Edgar Martinez might become a pinch-hitter when Seattle plays on the road, Anaheim manager Terry Collins intends to use Mo Vaughn — limited to DH duties since May 11 because of a sprained left ankle — back at first base at Dodger Stadium.

"There's a lot of history there," Vaughn said. "They've got a great ballpark, I've got some friends over there. I'm looking forward to it."

Fanfare is certainly down from the first year, when the concept became one of the most hotly debated issues in baseball history. Proponents said the plan would take the sport into the future, while critics claimed it would wreck more than 100 years of tradition.

"I thought it was more exciting the first year," St. Louis manager Tony La Russa said. "I thought the original idea made the most sense — that you give the fans in either league a chance to see all players from the other league, which means we were going to play the Central, then the East, then the West, instead of just playing the Central all the time."

Because the NL Central has six clubs and the AL Central has five, St. Louis does not play Cleveland at all. That could be an advantage to the Cardinals if they get into a wild-card race with the Mets.

Local players compete in Amarillo

AMARILLO — Pampa was represented by 15 athletes in the Amarillo Open Tennis Tournament on Labor Day weekend.

Pampa boys were Ryan Mills, Michael Cornelison, Jared Spearman, David Phillips, Matt Cook, Nathaniel Hill, Bryce Jordan, Jesse Czesnowski, David Thacker and Matthew Robben. Pampa girls were Brittney Kindle, Ashley Jordan, Tara Jordan, Vanessa Orr and Liz West.

In boys' doubles, Bryce Jordan and Michael Cornelison placed second in the 18 year old division, defeating Baird-Ewing of Amarillo 6-1, 6-7, 6-3 and Cowden-Krister 6-2, 2-6, 6-4. They finally fell to Boeka-Whinery of Amarillo 6-1, 6-7, 3-6.

Another doubles team was Ryan Mills and Matt Cook, who finished in the quarterfinal round. Girls' doubles teams were Ashley Jordan and Tara Jordan, and Brittney Kindle, who teamed with Sandra Hadzisabic of Amarillo.

Michael Cornelison won the consolation round in the 16-year-old singles division, defeating Jared Spearman 6-1, 6-1; Matt Cook 6-1, 6-1, and Bryce Jordan, 6-2, 6-4. The first round loss was to Kevin Beedy of Spearman 1-6, 3-6. Beedy won the Class 2A doubles title in the spring.

Bryce Jordan took second in consolation, having lost in the first round to No. 1 seed Matt Whinery 2-6, 3-6. Matthew Robben won consolation in the 14 year old boys singles, defeating Bonner of Dumas 6-

Ashley Jordan finished second in 16 year old girls' singles consolation. Brittney Kindle came out of the main draw after losing in the semifinals to No. 1 seed Sema Petel of Amarillo 1-6, 1-6.

The Amarillo Open Tournament was held at the new Tennis Center at John Stiff Memorial Park.

Dove hunting leases are needed

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is looking for dove hunting leases and their deadline is this month.

Michael S. Miller, Texas Parks and Wildlife biologist in Pampa, said TPW is interested in leasing property for the 1999 Public Dove Hunting Program.

The program, entering its sixth year, provides additional public hunting. Under the program, TPW enters into lease agreements with landowners for the dove season in September and October. Only hunters with a $40 TPW annual public hunting permit will be allowed to hunt on the leases, Miller said.

Last year, TPW leased 113 dove hunting units with over 40,000 acres for public hunting.

"In recent years," Miller said, "the average lease price has been between $3 and $4 per acre for a hunting lease term that only runs for 60 days. The price of the lease will primarily be based on habitat quality, ease of public access and proximity to area cities."

Miller said that potential sites should have a dove food source such as sunflowers or grain with roosting cover and water. Sites must also have a public access point where hunter's vehicles can be parked and hunters can access the property. Areas encompassing 100 to 400 acres within 60 miles of Amarillo or within 30 miles of Pampa or Borger are preferred, he said, but not necessary.

"Any property that provides a high quality dove hunting experience will be considered," Miller said.

Land enrolled in the Conservation Reserve Program can be leased with no effect on U.S. Department of Agriculture payments.

"We are looking for land to lease for waterfowl and pheasant hunting seasons, too," Miller said.

The sign up deadline is June 15.

For more information contact Miller at 665-5260.

WT rodeo team heads for finals

CANYON — THE West Texas A&M University men's rodeo team will attempt to improve on last year's success when the College National Finals Rodeo (CNFR) gets under way June 15-19 in Casper, Wyo.

The WTAMU men capped their 10-rodeo regular season in May by claiming the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association Southwest Regional title for the second year running. The top two teams and the top two individuals in each event from each region advance to the CNFR, where the WTAMU men battled to a fifth-place finish a year ago.

"All our students who qualified to go are juniors and seniors, and that experience can be extremely valuable when you get to the college finals," Dr. Kelvin

Sharp, rodeo coach, said. "Only the top teams and individuals are invited to this rodeo, and I'm extremely proud that we have individuals like these at WTAMU."

In all, Sharp will take eight of his charges to the CNFR. The WTAMU men's team includes a pair of cowboys who qualified for the CNFR last year. Miles Bell, a senior from Plainview, returns as the region's No. 3 bareback rider, and Jeff Decker, a senior from Perryton returns — this time as the region's top saddle bronc rider. Unfortunately, Bell was unable to ride at last year's CNFR because of a broken hand he suffered just prior to the competition. Decker placed sixth in saddle bronc.

Other team members include Miles Bond, a senior from Rocky Ford, Colo., who placed fourth in the region in calf roping; Casey Crow, a junior from Lovington, N.M., who is the region's reserve champion calf roper; Lance Gaillard, a junior from Texhoma, Okla., who is the region's No. 3 saddle bronc rider; and Phy Lord, a senior from Lamar, Colo., who placed third regionally in steer wrestling.

Additionally, Clay Lewis, a junior from Clovis, N.M., and Amanda Wallin, a junior from Moriarty, N.M., each qualified individually. Wallin finished second in the region in goat tying, while Lewis, a team roper who placed fifth along with a Vernon Regional Community College roper at last year's CNFR, will join regional champion Levi Garcia of Tarleton State University in this year's event.

Lewis, London win top honors

Kuehne takes Women's Open lead

WEST POINT, Miss. (AP) — Players are seeing red again at the U.S. Women's Open, this time on the scoreboard and not on their frustrated faces.

Kelli Kuehne, fresh off her first LPGA Tour victory, tied the Women's Open record with an 8-under-par 64 in the first round Thursday. Yet she had only a 1-stroke lead.

Juli Inskter ended her bogey-free round of 65 with a pair of 10-foot birdies at a kinder, gentler Old Waverly Golf Club, where 39 players completed their first rounds under par.

When play was suspended because of darkness Thursday night, there were 15 players still on the course. Five of them were also under par.

"The greens are holding extremely well, on the par 5s you can birdie out here and the greens are rolling very true," Inskter said. "It's in excellent shape. Those combinations make for good scoring."

Moira Dunn, who missed the cut in her first two Opens (1996 and 1997), had an opening round 67. A 40-foot putt at No. 8 started a string of five birdies in her final 11 holes.

"It's supposed to be tough," Dunn said.

Dunn didn't play last year at Blackwolf Run, where only 10 players broke par in the first round, and the best score after 72 holes was 6-over 290.

As they walked up the 18th hole at Blackwolf after the second round a year ago, Nancy Lopez, Meg Mallon and Jane Geddes waved white flags in mock surrender. No one in the trio that has combined for 68 victories and seven majors could do better than 11-over par there.

"I don't think I'll be coming up 18 with a towel on the end of my club Friday," Lopez said, even after she had two double-bogey in the first round and finished with a 4-over 76.

"Old Waverly is a fair U.S. Open course, but it still calls for great shots and some really good putting because the greens are tricky," she said.

On Thursday, Mallon hit a wedge that stopped 3 feet from the hole on No. 1 for a birdie, six strokes better than her first hole last year. Mallon finished in a large group at 70, two strokes better than Geddes.

Kuehne, the 22-year-old Texan who won the Corning Classic last week after a top 10 finish at The Phillips Invitational, made seven birdies in a 10-hole stretch to get to 65.

Defending champion Se Ri Pak and Women's British Open champion Sherri Steinhauer finished at 4-under 68. Karrie Webb, a four-time winner on tour this year, was 2-under.

Kuehne burned the right edge of the cup with an 18-foot birdie putt on the 18th that would have given her the lowest round in Women's Open history in relation to par. Her 64 tied the 8-round 63 by Helen Alfredsson in the 1994 Open at Indianwood Golf and Country Club in Michigan.

"I guess you could say I was in a zone," Kuehne said. "Ball goes in the fairway, ball goes near the pin, ball goes in the hole. It's a great feeling. It was just one of those days when things came easy."

Kuehne was once billed as the female version of Tiger Woods because of her consecutive U.S. Women's Amateur titles and the lucrative endorsements she received before she even had her tour card.

Unlike Woods, success didn't come early.

Until last week's victory, it didn't come at all.

Kuehne finished 124th on the money list as a rookie last year and was in tears when she failed at Q-school in October. The can't-miss kid suddenly could only play LPGA events that had room for non-exempt players.

But she made the most of it. With a 67-66 weekend in the Phillips Invitational two weeks ago, she tied for seventh for her first top 10 on tour. She stayed in Austin, Texas, and won her Open qualifier.

"The week in Texas gave me a lot of confidence going into Corning," she said. "Corning gave me a lot of confidence coming here. Everything is falling into place."

Triple Crown—and more—on the line in Saturday's Belmont Stakes

NEW YORK (AP) — The way Bob Baffert sees it, there's more than the Triple Crown on the line in Saturday's $1 million Belmont Stakes.

More than the Triple Crown?

"You've been missing the boat," said Baffert, who sends out his star filly Silverbulletday against Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner Charismatic as the colt tries to become racing's 12th Triple Crown winner. "This is the best filly in the country against the best colt in the country. It's like a heavyweight fight."

The presence of Silverbulletday adds a dimension to the race that didn't exist in any of the 25 Belmonts with a Triple Crown at stake. For the first time, a filly is in the field as a potential spoiler, and not only is she in, but she's the third choice at 4-1 behind favored Charismatic at 2-1 and Derby and Preakness runner-up Menifee, 7-2 in the morning line.

But to Baffert's thinking, Menifee doesn't quite enter into the top-billing equation. "He's had two chances already," Baffert said.

While Charismatic, who will be ridden by Chris Antley, attempts to become the first Triple Crown winner since Affirmed in 1978 and also earn a $5 million bonus from Visa, Silverbulletday looks to be a worthy opponent, having overwhelmed the filly ranks by winning her last eight races, including easy two-length victories in the Kentucky Oaks and the Black-Eyed Susan. Her times, notes Baffert, have routinely been faster than the colts.

Is it the right move to challenge the boys in the Belmont, and try to foil a Triple Crown?

Of the 926 horses who have run in the Belmont, Silverbulletday will be just the 21st filly. Only two have won — Ruthless in 1867 and Tanya in 1905.

More recently, Kentucky Derby-winning Genuine Risk was second to Temperance Hill in 1980 and My Flag was third in 1996 to Editor's Note.

"Running in the Triple Crown is a one shot deal, a filly cannot do the three races," said Baffert, who found out the hard way when his other filly, Excellent Meeting, came off a good effort in the Derby and then had to be pulled up in distress in the Preakness.

"The Derby wasn't the right time for Silverbulletday; we wanted to run her in the Preakness, and we were really dejected when she drew the No. 14 post. The time is right now."

Although Silverbulletday, who will be ridden by Jerry Bailey, is putting her unbeaten-as-a-3-year-old streak on the line in the 1 1/2-mile race, Baffert feels he has little to lose, and everything to gain.

"This is all about 'my horse is better than your horse,'" Baffert said Thursday morning outside Barn 50 at Belmont Park, several hours after Silverbulletday went for an early-morning jog. "It's the best 3-year-old filly against the best 3-year-old colt. This is so big, it ought to be on pay-per-view."
