SAN ANTONIO (AP) — U.S. Customs Service agents have arrested a second man for his alleged role in a scheme to smuggle 75,000 pounds of the banned refrigerant Freon into the United States.

Richard Schmolke, a German citizen with legal residency in San Antonio, is charged with smuggling the Freon valued at $3.2 million, and aiding and abetting another man arrested earlier this year. Schmolke was arrested late Wednesday.

The Freon, which no longer can be imported into the country because of clean air laws, originated in Venezuela and Mexico, said Leonard Lindheim, the agent in charge of the U.S. Customs office in San Antonio.

Much of the Freon arrived in tanks at the Port of Houston before ending up in a San Antonio-area warehouse. It was then passed off as refrigerant reclaimed from grocery store and sold to legitimate CFC-reclaiming companies.

"In this case, agents seized the largest amount of Freon in Texas in the last three years," Lindheim said.

Freon, which is formally known as dichlorodifluoromethane or CFC-12, can be recycled in the United States but since 1996, cannot be manufactured or brought into the country.

Smuggled freon can be sold for about 20 times its purchase price, officials said.

Customs agents say Schmolke, president of Mag-Well Associated, and Edwin Reilly Jr., president of Post Manufacturing, were using a firm in Mexico to build special refrigeration units for the purpose of smuggling Freon into the United States.

British film crew making Pampa rounds '95 tornado is topic

By KATE B. DICKSON
Associate Publisher

Pampa has played host for the past three days to a film crew from London working on a program for The Learning Channel called "World's Most Terrifying Tornadoes."

Or at least that's the "working title," according to project researcher Jill Dunham, who says the show will be one in a four-part series that looks at different aspects of tornadoes. The tentative airing date is January.

The 1995 F4 tornado is what has drawn the crew to Gray County, Dunham said, calling the storm "hugely significant" in part because it is "well-documented on video" and because there were few injuries to result.

The most well-known video is that taken by then Sheriff Randy Stubblefield, she said, but their recent plea in The Pampa News for more video, turned up a treasure trove in the "huge response" she said the article drew.

"The people in Pampa have been great to us," she said noting one interview and new set of tape has lead them to another, then another. "It's just snow-balled."

Dunham has special thanks to Herb Smith at FotoTime, calling him, "a smashing guy who has made a lot of things possible here for us."

Texas Monthly looks at panhandle region 'Hometown girl' senior editor there

By NANCY YOUNG
Managing Editor

A hometown girl has made good. Anne Dingus believes the top 26 counties of Texas are the Texas Panhandle, and she says so in the July issue of Texas Monthly. A senior editor for the Texas Monthly magazine, Dingus should know. She's a native Pampa.

The cover story of the current issue of the magazine features the vastness of the Lubbock area to the top of the Texas-Oklahoma line. The wide open spaces of the Texas High Plains are emphasized in the section. While Joe Nick Patoski was the primary travel writer-photographer on the top of Texas stories, Dingus contributed writings on her native area.

Upon graduating from Pampa High School in 1971, Anne Dingus attended Rice University in Houston where she graduated in 1975. During the next two years she worked for NASA and in the oil and gas industry.

In 1977 she moved to Austin to attend the University of Texas. Her intentions were to do graduate work in English. After a semester she was offered a part-time position at Texas Monthly. She was a "fact checker." The young woman was a part of the department which reviewed prospective magazine articles for accuracy. She worked her way into an editor position.

She married and soon began a family with a son being born in 1985 and another in 1987. Staying home to raise her sons, she did free lance writing. After a few years, she and her husband divorced and she returned to the work place.

Today she is a senior editor at Texas Monthly. Each month she is the magazine staff member who writes about a famous Texan, and the story is featured on the back page of the state magazine.

She also does several features in the monthly magazine. The features are on a variety of subjects, as it depends upon the need of the magazine she said Thursday from her office in Austin.

Property values drop as mineral values go down

By JEFF WEST
Staff Writer

The decline in the value of mineral rights, including oil, is the driving force behind a drop in area property values.

So says Gray County Appraisal District Chief Appraiser Pat Bagley.

The new appraisal value for Gray County property was released at the recent meeting of the District Review Board.

The Appraisal District reports the figures to all the taxing entities in the county including the schools and cities of Lefors, McLean and Pampa, plus Grandview-Hopkins School, Water District #3, and Gray County.

The Appraisal District reports an estimated tax value of $1,017,852,687, which is down about $80 million from last year. The Lefors ISD dropped about $27 million dollars in value from last year.

Chief Appraiser Pat Bagley said the primary reason for the decline is the lower values of mineral rights, including oil across the District.

Bagley said normally this could lead to increased tax rates especially for those entities that rely heavily on oil property. But he is not sure how the recently signed bill that is touted as lowering property taxes will affect any tax hikes.

He said some of the taxing entities, such as Pampa ISD, should not be affected greatly by the changes because only a small percentage of their tax base involves oil, gas and other mineral rich properties.

On the other hand, the Lefors, McLean, and Grandview-Hopkins ISDs, could see a sharper drop in revenue because much of their base involves such property.

The Appraisal District reports an estimated tax value of $1,017,852,687, which is down about $80 million from last year's figures.

Church of Christ ministers Larry Brown, family minister, and Jeff Dunn, youth minister, welcome John Southern, M.Ed., and Samaritan Pastoral Counseling Center to their new location in Pampa.

Counseling center gets new location

The new location is in the Church of Christ at 1342 Mary Ellen. The counseling office will be known as The Samaritan Pastoral Counseling Center to identify this satellite office with its parent agency in Amarillo. Two counselors will provide Christian counseling services in Pampa.

Thomas Johnson, Ph.D., a licensed psychologist, specializes in geriatric issues, as well as providing counseling to families, individuals, and couples. He will provide counseling services in Pampa on Monday afternoons and evenings. Dr. Johnson serves as the clinical coordinator for the Amarillo office.

John Southern, a licensed pro-

Both Dr. Johnson and Southern are accepting new clients. Appointments may be made by calling 1-800-318-1725 or 806-353-1668.

Panhandle hail victim once again

"Lemon-size hail" and a tornado northeast of town caused city officials in Panhandle to sound the sirens urging its citizens to take cover last night.

According to Panhandle City Manager Chris Coffman, three deputies on storm watch saw the same funnel drop from the clouds.

It didn't touch the ground but large hail did cause "extensive roof damage" and damage to vehicles across town. Coffman said between yesterday's storm, a previous hail storm and the ice storm every city roof is going to need to be replaced.

He said while driving back from Amarillo during the storm he saw three fields of wheat stalks sucked into the air by an updraft.

Court allows suit over secret recording in workplace

By BOB EGELKO
Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The news media can be sued for infiltrating a workplace and secretly recording an employee, the state Supreme Court ruled Thursday.

In a unanimous decision, the justices ordered a lower court to reconsider damages awarded to a psychic hotline employee whose conversations with a reporter posing as a co-worker were broadcast nationally on ABC.

A state appeals court had overturned the $1.2 million in damages and legal fees awarded to employee Mark Sanders. It said the clandestine taping could not have violated his privacy because his conversations were in an open area of the workplace and could have been overheard by others.

But the state Supreme Court disagreed, saying employees in a private office have a right to expect that private conversations with co-workers will not be secretly taped and broadcast to others.

The court did not order Sanders' damages reinstated, saying the appellate court must still consider other issues in the case.

The opinion by Justice Kathryn Mickle Werdegar did say a news organization may be able to defend a secret recording by showing that it was necessary for news coverage. The recording may also be easier to defend if the workplace is open to the public, Werdegar said.

Sanders was videotaped by ABC News reporter Stacy Lescht, who had answered a want ad for a business advertising telephone psychic advice for $3.95 a minute.

Using a hidden camera and microphone, she recorded two conversations with Sanders at their work cubicles in a large room divided by partitions. Six seconds of the tape were shown on ABC News' "Prime Time Live."

J.D. Salinger's daughter offers a public view of private father

NEW YORK (AP) — J.D. Salinger has spent a lifetime obsessively guarding his privacy. This time, the intrusion is an inside job: His daughter is writing a book about her childhood with the reclusive author.

Exactly what Peggy Salinger plans to say is a closely guarded secret. The book is tentatively titled "The Dream Catcher," a play on her father's novel "Catcher in the Rye."

Her attorney, Philip M. Cowan, said Thursday that it will be "an interesting book and I'm looking forward to reading it myself."

Ms. Salinger received an advance of at least a quarter-million dollars, The New York Observer reported. The memoir is scheduled for publication in the fall of 2000 by Simon & Schuster's Pocket Books.

The promised insights prompted the Observer to call the daughter's memoir "Snitcher in the Rye."

Apparently, a yen for privacy is a genetic trait in the Salinger clan.

The attorney for Salinger's 43-year-old daughter wouldn't say where she lives. ("Let me put it this way, she doesn't live in Tibet.") Cowan said he doesn't know what she does for a living or whether she is married.

"I respect her privacy," her lawyer said. In any case, he said, he is not privy to what her relationship with her 80-year-old father is or was.

Pocket Books president Judith Curr has called Ms. Salinger "a fabulous writer." "She has a particular turn of phrase. I would call her lyrical, and I would call her insightful," Carr said.

This week, Salinger barely escaped another breach of his privacy when letters he wrote to one-time lover Joyce Maynard were auctioned off. The 14 letters from the early 1970s sold for $156,500 Tuesday to a retired California software millionaire who promised to return them to the author.

Salinger lives in Cornish, N.H., and has not published in 34 years.

Police with unsolved slayings check Resendez-Ramirez connections

HOUSTON (AP) — Police with unsolved slayings across the nation are quizzing Texas authorities about the rail-riding fugitive who has already been linked through physical evidence to eight killings in three states.

"We have had some other law enforcement agencies who have asked to compare (information), and there are some comparisons going on as we speak," Don K. Clark, the FBI special agent leading the Houston-based task force pursuing Resendez-Ramirez, said Thursday.

Resendez-Ramirez, 39, is a Mexican national wanted for questioning in connection with five killings in Texas, one in Kentucky and two earlier this month in Illinois, where he faces capital murder charges.

He was last reported seen in Louisville, Ky., a week ago. Investigators have talked to the suspect's family and are beefing up efforts in Kentucky and the El Paso, Texas, border area, where he has relatives.

The task force tip line has received nearly 1,200 calls, including several reported sightings of the homeless drifter and inquiries from law enforcement around the country about stale cases.

The last time such calls came into Texas about a suspected serial killer was in the early 1980s, when authorities coaxed more than 600 slayings from another drifter named Henry Lee Lucas.

Lucas eventually recanted as evidence mounted that he had lied, though authorities believe he at least killed his mother in Michigan and two Texas victims. However, dozens of murder cases were closed on Lucas' confession spree.

Jim Mattox, a former Texas attorney general and leading critic of the Lucas investigation, says police must not abruptly conclude that past slayings near rails were Resendez-Ramirez's handiwork.

"I would urge them to exercise extreme caution in closing a case," Mattox said. "If there's doubt as to whether or not the suspected killer actually did it, I would most certainly keep the case open."

"I hope they don't start pinning on him every crime that happens near a railroad track," Clark said that won't happen.

"Law enforcement agencies are responsible," he said. "If there is a homicide near a railroad track, in all likelihood law enforcement agencies are going to check it out and see if there's a connection."

Already, two cases initially thought to fit Resendez-Ramirez's pattern have not panned out: the 1998 bludgeoning death of a Central Texas laborer and the killing of a northwest Illinois couple last weekend.

BRITISH

Others who have been interviewed this week about their tornado experience and/or have supplied video include Bill Barry, Steve Clark and C&S Cable Advertising, Ted Quillan, Mistie West, Jean Hopson, Bob Schiffman, Jim Ashford, Steve Ferguson and Jequita Risley.

This morning, the crew filmed at KGRO-KOMX radio where they interviewed general manager and Pampa's weatherman Darrell Sehorn.

On June 8, 1995, when the tornado struck, Sehorn said in total there were five funnel clouds and/or full-fledge tornadoes in the Pampa area. More tornadoes were reported in the panhandle that day.

"The Pampa story is one of how people worked together, pulled together for a common cause and rebuilt," Dunham said, from her Best Western room shortly after she had watched Thursday night's storm blow through.

"We just don't get storms like that," she said of her home in England. "I saw cloud rotation and incredible lightning while I was standing out on the balcony. It was an extraordinary display."

Once the Pioneer Productions crew winds up their Pampa assignment today, Dunham said they'll be off to Miami, Fla., to report on the 1997 tornado that she says director Jonathan Challis fondly calls, "the cuddly tornado" because no one was hurt. The tornado also turned into a water spout.

Other crew members are Andy McLeod, who operates the camera, and sound man Rupert Castle. All are free-lancers.

They have been to Oklahoma and during their three-week trip in the states they'll also make stops in Vermont and Colorado to interview tornado experts, she said. Also on tap is a visit to South Dakota to interview a little girl who, along with her pony, was picked up by a tornado, carried three-fourths miles then put down unharmed.

"We've had a great time in Pampa," Dunham said. "And we've been well-fed, too. We ate at Dyer's one night and then we wanted some home-cooking the next evening. Someone recommended Chaney's and we had a great meal there, too."

Her newest Texana book, "All Hat and No Cattle," will be out in September. She told The Pampa News by telephone Thursday the book is a collection of humorous essays about living in Texas. She has published three previous books in the series.

The author also writes book reviews for the magazine. She said she loves to read, but rarely gets to read for pleasure as she is busy reading for the magazine.

Dingus and her sons, Philip Redman, 14, and Parker Redman, 12, live in Austin as she pursues her career promoting her own favorite state of Texas.

Her parents, G.W. and Pat Dingus, continue to live in Pampa.

"I love Texas and I love my job," said Dingus as she speaks of the vastness of the state and the wide-open spaces of the Panhandle.

Rwanda to reopen gorilla park to visitors on July 15

KIGALI, Rwanda (AP) — The sanctuary for mountain gorillas in the rolling foothills of northwestern Rwanda will reopen for visitors July 15, two years after Hutu rebel attacks forced the government to close it, the National Tourism Office said today.

The Volcano National Park that straddles Rwanda's mist-shrouded border with Congo and Uganda, is home to an estimated 300 rare mountain gorillas.

Jean Bizimana, a spokesman for the government park and tourism agency, said no gorillas were killed during the two years of clashes between the army and rebels.

The Hutu militants attacked from bases in neighboring Congo, where they fled after the 1994 genocide of more than 500,000 people in Rwanda. "Military and civilian authorities have assured us the park is safe for visitors," Bizimana said. "So we're ready to reopen the park."

The army deployed troops into neighboring Congo last August to pursue the rebels. Most of northwestern Rwanda, once a hot bed of Hutu extremism, is now relatively peaceful.

The park can handle up to 16 visitors a day, paying $250 each. They will travel under armed escort from Ruhengeri, 60 miles northwest of Kigali, to where two groups of gorillas live.

The Volcano National Park, home to the largest number of the remaining mountain gorillas, was made famous in the 1988 film "Gorillas in the Mist" about the activities of gorilla researcher Dian Fossey.

In March, eight tourists — four Britons, two Americans and two New Zealanders — were killed in neighboring Uganda while on a gorilla-viewing trek. Ugandan authorities identified the killers as Rwandan Hutu rebels and claimed to have killed several of them later.

Camera projects sixth-floor JFK assassination view onto Internet

DALLAS (AP) — The eerie view from the sixth-floor perch of assassin Lee Harvey Oswald was transmitted live on the Internet starting Thursday in a move criticized by the brother of slain President John F. Kennedy.

The Internet camera is mounted in the window of the old Texas Schoolbook Depository Building from where Oswald fired his fatal shots on Nov. 22, 1963.

The camera panned and zoomed in all directions, capturing multiple, frequently updated images that could be viewed on the Internet at www.jfk.org.

The sixth-floor has been a Kennedy museum for years. Oswald's perch is preserved, complete with stacked wooden crates near the window, but the corner is behind glass and off-limits to visitors.

The museum's move to let the world share Oswald's vantage point angered the Kennedy family.

"Those who guided the original creation of The Sixth Floor Museum made a substantial effort to prevent the exploitation and commercialization of President Kennedy's death, and their efforts were a great credit to the people of Dallas," said Melody Miller, a spokeswoman for Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass.

"It is unfortunate that their accomplishment is now being undermined in this insensitive and tasteless manner."

Jeff West, executive director of the museum, said he was "surprised, and disappointed, frankly" by the remarks from Kennedy's office, but defended the decision to install the Internet camera.

"We have received countless requests for access to the view of Dealey Plaza from the sniper's perch. The installation of this camera affords us the opportunity to honor those requests without disrupting the solemnity of the museum experience," West said.

"Half the population of the world was born after the assassination. We're talking about a view of a national historic landmark, and I don't think that's ever in bad taste," he said.

The camera angle changes every 60 seconds.

The assassination occurred during a noon hour parade through downtown, shortly before Kennedy was to speak at the Dallas Market Center.

Texas Gov. John Connally, riding in the same car, was seriously wounded in the attack.

Oswald himself was shot and killed two days later by Dallas nightclub operator Jack Ruby in the basement of the police station.

Over Hill and Dale Is Misery If Husband's Behind the Wheel

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been discussing buying a recreational vehicle that we could take to New Hampshire or California. However, I have some reservations about traveling with him, as he gets too intense when he gets behind the wheel of a car.

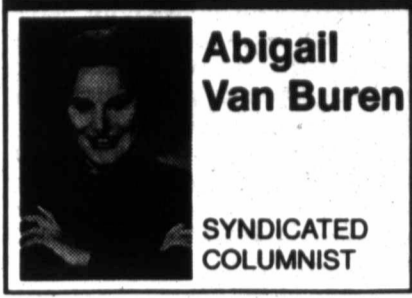

Past experiences have made car travel sheer hell, because he fills up the gas tank and refuses to stop for anything until the tank indicator reads empty. It doesn't matter whether the dog or I have to go to the bathroom, or need to get out and stretch our legs, or if we need to eat or are thirsty. As if that doesn't make us miserable enough, he insists on doing all the driving at 10 to 20 miles above the speed limit. All the scenery is a blur!

I have discussed these issues with him and he assures me that he will change, but I have been with him almost 20 years, and I don't see it happening in the near future. I am concerned that we'll end up killing each other.

Should I say yes?

TRAVEL TERROR

DEAR TRAVEL TERROR: Heck no! Your husband has proven that once he gets behind the wheel he's disrespectful of the law, insensitive to your needs, and so focused on getting to the destination that you cannot enjoy the trip. Do your bladder a favor. Take a bus, take a train, but do not agree to accompany him on the highway.

Abigail Van Buren

SYNDICATED COLUMNIST

DEAR ABBY: This may seem trivial to you, but the more I encounter this the more it annoys me. It seems that almost every form to be filled out — organization, business, government agency, etc. — asks for first name, middle initial and last name.

Abby, there are thousands of us (maybe hundreds of thousands) who don't go by our first names. We use our middle names. When I try filling out forms using just the first initial and writing in my middle name, they invariably reverse it in subsequent correspondence.

Have these people never heard of T. Boone Pickens, H. Ross Perot and J. Paul Getty? It would be so simple to just put in the spaces and ask for first name or initial, middle name or initial and last name. Am I being petty? Sign me ...

J. QUENTIN PUBLIC,

NOT JOHN Q. PUBLIC

DEAR MR. PUBLIC: You are not being petty, and I empathize with your frustration. You are a square peg who doesn't quite fit into a round hole. Console yourself that at least you are in good company, because it's unlikely that the forms will be changed — even for H. Ross Perot, T. Boone Pickens or J. Paul Getty is beyond those worldly concerns.)

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to the letter from the brother-in-law of a restaurant owner concerning "unattended children." I couldn't resist sending a copy of a sign that was on the wall of a restaurant near Interstate 90 near Bozeman, Mont. "Children unattended will be 'Towed away at owner's expense!" Abby, feel free to share it with your readers.

SUNDAY, JUNE 27, 1999

BY JACQUELINE BIGAR

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

 Romance reigns supreme on this social, pleasurable day. Invite a loved one out for the day or ask someone out on a first date. If you don't take the first step, you'll never know how much fun you could have! Tonight: Check out travel plans.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

 Although a romantic interest would love to spend more time with you, you seem to have your nose in a mystery novel or your eyes fixed on a computer screen. Give someone the chance to distract you! Talk about home decorating, or cruise town looking for your dream home. Tonight: Dinner for two.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

 You'll have the most fun with neighbors and family today. Have a tailgate party, lounge on the patio or soak up the sun on a raft in the pool. If single, you could meet someone through a casual introduction who tickles your fancy. Smile and enjoy the lighthearted tone of the day. Tonight: Brainstorm with a partner.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

 Make an effort to improve your health. Swim, ride a bike, eat more healthfully. The temptation to indulge in sweets or junk food will be hard to resist. You can do it! The face you see in the mirror will look more attractive if you maintain discipline today! Tonight: A head start on the work week wouldn't be a bad idea.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

 If there's a party going on or laughter ringing out, it's a good bet that you're either behind it or in the middle of it! Fun, flirtation and creativity merge. A romantic possibility presents itself. If single, how can you refuse? If attached, be careful! Tonight: Out very, very late.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

 If you don't want to do anything special today, don't. Staying close to home is your best bet; there, you can enjoy a quiet day of tinkering, tidying up or working on a hobby. A family member might be a "downer" or might try to make you go out, but you can keep him at bay. Tonight: Early to bed.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

 A discussion is pleasant, even if it becomes heated. Flirtation is the order of the day. You could come up with an idea for a writing project or another creative endeavor. Hook up with a brother, sister or neighbor. Good times are there for the taking. Tonight: Chatting up a storm!

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

 The monetary picture begins to brighten; soon, you'll reach an important goal. A social connection tips you off about an investment or a plan to increase your income. The ideas you hear are so exciting, you might have trouble winding down to get some sleep.

Minister's musings ...

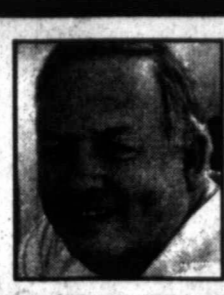

What is your vision for UNITY? What is your church's vision for UNITY? What is your preacher's vision for UNITY? What is Jesus' vision for UNITY? Answers to the first three questions may be a little slow in coming, but not answer four. Jesus' vision for unity is plain and clear.

John 17:20-23 "My prayer is not for them alone. I pray also for those who will believe in me through their message, that all of them may be one, Father, just as you are in me and I am in you. May they also be in us so that the world may believe that you have sent me. I have given them the glory that you gave me, that they may be one as we are one: I in them and you in me. May they be brought to complete unity to let the world know that you sent me and have loved them even as you have loved me."

Is Jesus vague in John 17? Is there something hard to understand about His words? Not really. Not until we begin "qualifying" His words for Him. If you don't know what I mean by qualifying let me illustrate. Theologically speaking, are you a Calvinist or an Arminianist? Where is your church? Your preacher? If you are a "TULIP-er," how tainted would your worship be if you tried singing and praying with one of those stubborn "Arminianists" sitting right there on the same pew with you? If you are an Arminianist, can you pray for strength not to ever "fall away" knowing that the hair on back of that "Calvinist's" neck just perked up like a toothpick?

What of eschatology? Are you "pre-mil," "a-mil" or are you I-don't-give-a-mil? (Sorry for the funny, I couldn't resist.) Can an "a-mil" celebrate the name of Jesus with a "pre-mil" or two? Can two believers who differ on exchatology "Count Their Many Blessings" together on the same pew?

What of the workings of the Holy Spirit of God? Are you a tongue speaker? Are you a "cessationist"? Are miracles still a part of the life of the church today or did that stop when the last apostle died or when the canonization of scripture was completed? Can a "holly-roller" and an "unenlightened cessationist" fall down together before God in repentance and prayer for revival?

By Rev. Mike Sublett
Hi-Land Christian Church

What of worship styles? Are you one of those who like the music/singing too fast, too slow, too loud, too quiet or too much something else? What about your church? Your preacher? Is it possible for a "sing-quietly-and-be-stiller" and a "jump-n-shouter" to sing both "Amazing Grace" and "Enemy's Camp" together?

Now that your brain is working overtime, let me tell you a few things that have happened in the past few years right here in Pampa. Did you know that one of Pampa's churches, after volunteering to host an evening of community worship at its building, canceled its plans saying, "We just don't think that our church people are ready for that." Just so that you know, all that a few churches were going to do was simply worship with them at their church on that Sunday evening expecting everything to be done the way they regularly did things. No changes, everything done their usual way, no disturbances and "they aren't ready for that." I wonder if it was the "church people" that weren't ready or maybe the "church staff" that wasn't ready?

Did you know that at one of the interdenominational worship services held at the Heritage Room, an older man, after seeing that an African-American son of God would be leading the next prayer, told his wife, "There are _____ here. Come one, we're leaving!" This man attends church mostly every Sunday right here in Pampa.

When there used to be an attempt to have UNITY meetings on the first Sunday evening of each month, hosted at many different churches, what we found was that most churches were willing to host an evening of worship, but they would never attend when it was at another church. They didn't mind other churches closing their doors to come and visit their church, but they surely wouldn't return the favor.

What is the point then? Is this just a "gripy" article? Well, it is partly a gripy article, but mainly I just want to remind us that our task as the church is to "practice" unity and not just talk about it.

John in his epistles warned us of people that we were not to fellowship. See I John 2:18-26; 4:1-6 and II John 7-11. Association with them was dangerous because they did not cling to the essential basics: "THE JESUS ISSUES." Only "the Jesus issues" are the core of Christianity. Our views on issues like eternal security, predestination, worship style and speaking in tongues may make for great biblical discussion and study, but they are NOT the basis of determining who is a Christian and who isn't.

Everyone who went through the divine birth canal of Jesus Christ and Him crucified is family: brother or sister. When "the Jesus issues" are in place, there can be differences all over the place, but we are still family. If we are family, then why don't we get together for some family reunions? That is all that a unity meeting is; a reunion of brothers and sisters. Nothing that my church is involved in is as important as practicing unity. Nothing that your church is involved in is as important as practicing unity. And like it or not, we can't always "practice" unity in our own building, doing everything the way we like it.

Blessings of love ...

For the first time in my life, I had no Father's Day cards to buy. There is only one dad in this family, my husband, but no living granddad. My father, the last of the patriarchal generation, died in June last year.

It was an orphan-like feeling to walk by the Hallmark cards without stopping to choose one. In my daughterly role, Father's Day has been checked off life's to-do list.

Besides having a good father, I had a good grandfather. Papa was Grandma's second husband, a widower with children and grandchildren of his own when they married in the Fifties. They liked each other's brothers and sisters well enough to visit them and have them as guests. They traipsed all over Bartow County singing in country churches. It was a swell arrangement.

In retirement, Papa wasn't idle. He built a fish pond in the backyard, dried apples in summer, raised chickens, sold eggs and kept a cow named Frosty who yearly nibbled my mother's Blazing Star to the ground. (We lived next door.)

Papa and Grandma's greatest legacy was their example as a married couple. Grandma had two daughters. Papa had three sons and two daughters. Everybody had kids. Papa loved Grandma's grandkids like he loved his own and Grandma loved his multitudinous grandchildren like her own. When I asked questions about Grandma's first husband and his relatives, Papa didn't get tense. When Papa's children wanted to talk about their mother or her side of the family, they just did it. Their lives and history were treasured memories.

Grandma and Papa's life together was not something frail which had to be guarded against jealousies arising from relationships dead and gone. What they enjoyed together was the blessing of a new love.

The serenity between them regarding their first-marriages spoke to me. If either of them feared for their new marriage, it was never apparent. I never saw one of them attempt to excise the other's history for the sake of their own insecurity.

To marry happily a second time without abandoning the happy memories of the first marriage, to allow history to be remembered without considering it a threat was a fabulous example of living.

Their home was a happy place to be.

PRICING TO SELL

Most sellers are advised to interview at least three real estate agents as part of their selection process. If one prospective agent suggests a selling price that is considerably different than the other two, it should be carefully examined. An inordinately high suggested asking price may represent an attempt to lure a seller into a listing with the hope of selling at a high price. The conventional wisdom on such matters, however, shows that overpricing not only leads to a longer time on the market, but it can also result in a lower achieved price. Sellers are advised to go with an average-to-high price if it is a hot market and/or they can spend some time waiting for a buyer.

For many years now, the professional agents at CENTURY 21 - PAMPA REALTY INC., have delivered on our word to our clients by giving them the kind of help they have come to count on. We're diligent on the job, and that job is to help you sell your property at the highest price the market will bear. We'll aggressively advertise and market your property and pre-qualify buyers. It was Reid's fourth tournament win on the Junior Tour.

FOOTBALL

IRVING, Texas (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys have signed deep snapper Dale Hellestrae to a one-year contract, officials said Wednesday. No terms were disclosed.

Playing a position that gets noticed only when something goes wrong, the 6-5, 290-pound Hellestrae hasn't had his name called often.

Since his arrival via a 1990 preseason trade with the Los Angeles Raiders, the Cowboys haven't had a fumbled snap in 616 straight punting attempts and have suffered only one blocked punt.

The Cowboys also have not had a fumbled snap in 330 consecutive field goal attempts.

Hellestrae, who's also a back-up center and guard, has played in 160 consecutive games for Dallas.

He was an all-Southwest Conference lineman for Southern Methodist before going into the NFL.

TENNIS

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Two years after Boris Becker whispered in Pete Sampras' ear that he was done with Wimbledon, the old lion roared once more on Centre Court.

Becker's red mane and beard glistened, his brawny legs churned with a nearly forgotten quickness, and his narrowed eyes betrayed a voracity that belied any thought that he had returned merely for a taste of nostalgia.

The 31-year-old, three-time champion calls this his "last hurrah," and on Thursday he showed every sign of making it a serious run for the title — 14 years after he won it the first time.

Unbowed and far from weary two days after a five-setter against a lowly British wild card, Becker skewered 15th-seeded Nicolas Kiefer with 17 aces in a 6-4, 6-2, 6-4 feast that put him through to the third round.

It was the highlight of a warm, sunny day that drew 40,312 fans to the expanded grounds of Wimbledon, the largest crowd in the tournament's 113-year history.

Pampa golfers compete in WT Women's Tournament

LUBBOCK — The 65th annual championship of the Women's West Texas Golf Association was held earlier this month at the Meadowbrook Country Club in Lubbock.

Over 100 golfers from all over West Texas participated in the four-day match play event. Three Pampa golfers from Pampa Country Club participated in the tournament.

In the championship flight, Pampa's Shelby Allison lost to Midland's Trina Albright, 1-up after 20 holes. Allison then beat Lesa Wood of Denver City 5-4 and Alice Doshier of Farwell 4-3. The final match was against Diane Nichols of Lubbock.

Allison lost 2 up and finished as the runnerup in the consolation division.

In the third flight, Ida Goad of Pampa lost to Linda See of Amarillo Tascosa 2-1 the first day. Goda then won the consolation in her flight by defeating JoAnn Teasley of Midland 5-4; Pat Barton of Odessa 5-4 and in the final round beating Marilyn Grant of Alpine 2-1.

Peggy David of Pampa won the consolation championship in the fifth flight. She lost in the first round to Kathy Gowdy of Amarillo Tascosa 1 up. David then beat Glenna Huggins of Abilene 5-3 and Sherri Sargent of Hereford 3-1.

The tournament was won by Odessa's Denise Flores, a former North Texas State Golfer. She defeated Jo Dickson of Midland 3-2.

Next year's tournament will be held at Midland's Ranchland Hills Country Club.

Texas Football hits news stands

Dave Campbell's handiwork hit the news stand this week and there's some good info between the covers, especially on the high school front.

I'm talking about the annual Texas Football magazine, which is in its 40th year of publication.

Campbell not only previews high school teams in every class, but there's also college and pro sections.

Much like the 1998 season, the District 3-4A race is expected to follow a similar path, according to writer David Barron. Pampa is expected to join Borger and Hereford in the playoffs.

A year ago, Pampa shared the district championship with Hereford. Borger placed third, but the Bulldogs are expected to make the strongest run in the playoffs this season. Borger is ranked No. 21 in Texas Football's Class 4A pre-season top 25. Pampa and Hereford are unranked.

Paper predictions, as we all know, don't mean much in high school football. I believe Borger will be hard-pressed to upend Pampa in the Nov. 6 season finale.

That game will be played at Harvester Stadium. A year ago, the Harvesters slipped by the Bulldogs 14-12 on Borger's home turf.

No change is expected at the top of 4A. Stephenville is picked to win its second straight Division II state championship.

Wheeler in Class A has advanced to the state championship game the last two seasons, only to come up short. The '99 Mustangs, however, are expected to bring home the school's fourth state title. Playoff experience is the key for the Mustangs.

"Heck fire, we're a season ahead of everyone else in our district," Mustangs' coach Jim Verden told Texas Magazine. "Our seniors have played 44 games in three years, and that's 14 more games than most of the people in your conference play, and that's important."

Canadian isn't ranked in the top 25 in Class 2A, but the Wildcats are picked to be a playoff contender again. Canadian lost only twice a year ago while advancing to the Division I semifinals. Coach David Flowers returns only four starters, but 16 of his lettermen will be seniors.

Most folks may not be thinking football right now. Keep in mind, however, when the July 4th celebration ends, there's only 61 days remaining until the season opener.

Flashback, 1966: C.F. McGinnis became the first Pampa golfer to win runnerup honors in the Tri-State Senior Tournament. He finished behind David Goldman in the championship round.

J & J claims two victories

PAMPA — J & J Motor Co. claimed two wins last week in the 7-8 boys' baseball league at Optimist Park.

J & J defeated Medicine Shoppe 21-4. J & J's leading hitters were Ryan Jimenez, Heath Skinner, Hayden Skinner, John Luke Covalt, Christian Hinkle, Justin Fuentes and Dylan Cain.

Medicine Shoppe's leading hitters were Casey Trimble, Madison Wilson and Matthew Smith.

In an earlier game, J & J defeated Ledrick Ranch 18-4. J & J's leading hitters were Ryan Jimenez, Dylan Cain, Tucker Brown, Justin Fuentes, John Luke Covalt, Heath Skinner, Hayden Skinner and Rade Wilson.

Ledrick's leading hitters were Lane Douglass and Christopher Bengue.

In other 7-8 action, Frank's edged Wastewater 14-13.
