Obituaries

RAY A. FOSTER

AMARILLO — Ray A. Foster, 80, father of a Pampa resident, died Tuesday, July 13, 1999. Services will be at 2:30 p.m. Thursday in Boxwell Brothers Funeral Directors Ivy Chapel with Tom Malone, pastor of Living Waters Church, officiating. Burial will be in Llano Cemetery.

Mr. Foster was born at Beulah, Wyo. He married Ellen Wilda Foster in 1941 at Amarillo; she died in 1995. He had been an Amarillo resident for the past 58 years. He was a furnaceman for ASARCO and a plumber.

He was a U.S. Army veteran. He belonged to Living Waters Church. Survivors include a daughter, Marylena Williams of Pampa; a son, Don C. Foster of Amarillo; a twin sister, Faye E. Rainey of Seattle, Wash.; a brother, Harold D. Foster of Seattle; four grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

HENRY GORDON MOORE

Henry Gordon Moore, 93, of Pampa, died Tuesday, July 13, 1999. The body was cremated and consequently will not be available for viewing. Memorial services will be scheduled at a later time. Arrangements are under the direction of Carmichael-Whitley Funeral Directors of Pampa.

Mr. Moore was born Sept. 15, 1905, at Ector, Texas, the first-born child of Shade Gordon Moore and Mary Elmira "Mae" Moore. The family moved to Hereford when he was a small child, and he graduated from Hereford High School. He attended A&M College at College Station for a single semester and Texas Tech University in Lubbock for one year.

He worked for the City of Lockney prior to working for the Schneider Hotel, first in Panhandle then in Pampa. He married Bertha Loraine Dyer on Jan. 29, 1933, at Sayre, Okla.; she died March 17, 1999. In 1938, he accepted a manager's position at the El Rancho Hotel in Gallup, N.M., where Mrs. Moore managed the hotel gift shop. Beginning in 1944, the Moores owned-operated The Chief Gift Shop and Indian Jewelry Store in downtown Gallup. They sold the business in 1951 and Mr. Moore began managing the Elks Club in Gallup until accepting a position as accountant for J.B. Walker and Associates in 1966, retiring in 1980.

The couple returned to Pampa on April 1, 1994. He was a life member and charter member of Elks Lodge #1440 in Gallup for 55 years.

He was preceded in death by his parents; a sister; and two brothers.

Survivors include three nieces, Barbara Williams of Pampa and Jerilyn Moore and Linda Cavaglia, both of Fresno, Calif.; two nephews, John Moore of Alameda, Calif., and James Moore of California; and numerous great-nieces and great-nephews including Terry Lemons and Nick Williams, both of Pampa, Rob Williams of Amarillo, and Eddy Williams of Abilene.

The family requests memorials be to Central Baptist Church Building Fund or to Crown of Texas Hospice.

NORA DRAGOO TURNER

Nora Drago Turner, 80, of McLean, died Wednesday, July 14, 1999, at Amarillo. Services are pending under the direction of Carmichael-Whitley Funeral Directors of Pampa.

Mrs. Turner was born Nov. 10, 1918, at Mantford, Okla. She married Richard Drago in 1939 at Tranquility, Calif.; he died in 1992. The couple moved to Alanreed in 1971 from California. She later married R.J. Turner of McLean in 1998.

She was a homemaker and belonged to First Assembly of God Church of McLean.

She was preceded in death by a son, Charles Drago, in 1991.

Survivors include her husband, R.J., of the home; two daughters, Denna Tidwell and Shirley Armbrister, both of Alanreed; three stepdaughters, Bobby Rogers of Rowla, Mo., Jo Ann Boyd of Albuquerque, N.M., and Glenda Carter of Austin; a stepson, Gary Turner of Amarillo; a sister, Anna Huffman of Grants Pass, Ore.; a brother, Elzy Harris of Gold Hill, Ore.; eight grandchildren; and 16 great-grandchildren.

has now been combined with the Cabot Corporation Plant and will no longer be separate facilities.

Cabot has been a major employer to Pampa and the surrounding area for several decades.

It was emphasized by the sources the cuts were part of a company-wide reduction in force, and that the main office in Boston, Mass., reduced their staff by approximately 70 employees. The effect on the Atlanta, Ga., office was not known.

Cabot Facility General Manager Zouhair Issa said Tuesday he would not be able to release any specific information on the changes at the Cabot facility until July 27.

A statement was released Tuesday by the corporation referred to the start of a "global continuous improvement plan". The statement stated the first phase of the plan is focused on tightening the management of the Strategic Business Unit organization and that Cabot is committed to the plan and has seen "market-focused benefits" from over the past year.

On July 27 the company plans to issue a third quarter earnings report press release, according to the statement issued Tuesday, which will discuss other plans for growth and earnings capability.

Cabot Chairman Sam Bodman and President Kenneth Burnes said the company will focus on a simpler, tighter organization with more clarity and accountability.

How did the Texas Ranger get his man? 'I was honest,' he says

By CHRIS FLETCHER
Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — For Drew Carter, it was a pivotal moment made possible through long hours, dogged police work and something else: salesmanship.

For weeks, the sergeant in the Texas Rangers had been building a relationship with the family of suspected serial killer Angel Maturino Resendez. He was trying to do the improbable — get a man on the FBI's 10 Most Wanted List to turn himself in.

Carter's hard work and personal touch paid off Tuesday when the 39-year-old drifter who called himself Rafael Resendez-Ramirez quietly surrendered to the lawman after six weeks on the run.

"Honesty's never hard. Sincerity is something people sense. That's what I did. I was honest with the family," Carter said, wearing a white cowboy hat.

The hunter and the hunted finally met on a remote bridge connecting Zaragoza, Mexico, with El Paso. Carter immediately recognized Maturino Resendez as he rode across the bridge in a pickup.

"That's a face that has just been shown all over the country for a long period of time now, and it's a face that I've been working on for the better part of six months," Carter said. "So when I did see that face there was a little bit of excitement there because I finally said, 'This is going to happen.'"

First, there were pleasantries. "He stuck out his hand, I stuck out my hand and we shook hands, and then I handcuffed him and he was in custody," the Texas Ranger said.

Carter had been fishing in the Gulf of Mexico when he got a call Sunday from Maturino Resendez's sister, Manuela Maturino of Albuquerque, N.M. He dropped his fishing pole and jumped on a plane.

AA plane makes emergency landing

MIAMI (AP) — An American Airlines pilot made an emergency landing at a naval station in the Florida Keys after announcing that he smelled smoke aboard the Miami-to-Cancun flight with 162 people aboard.

No one was injured Tuesday afternoon, but passengers said flight attendants paced throughout the haze-filled plane with fire extinguishers. Children cried and passengers prayed.

"That was the worst anguish — when they say we are going to land and you look out the window and you see the ocean," said Mayi Antillon, 38, of San Jose, Costa Rica.

Flight 2191 landed at about 2:45 p.m. EDT at the Key West Naval Air Station at Boca Chica Key, airline spokeswoman Martha Pantin said.

The pilot and crew only smelled smoke and did not see it, Pantin said. But several passengers, who said the trouble began just as the crew started to serve food, saw a slight fog in the cabin.

Pantin said another Boeing 757 was sent to the island to pick up the passengers and take them to Cancun. The evacuated jet will be taken out of service and returned to Miami International Airport to be inspected by airline maintenance workers.

Weather focus

PAMPA — Mostly sunny with a high in the mid-90s. Wind was from the south-southwest at 15 to 25 mph. Partly cloudy tonight in the mid-60s with south-southwest at 15-25 mph. Tomorrow, partly cloudy with temperatures in the low 90s and south to southwest winds at 15-25 mph. Yesterday's high was 90 with an overnight low of 62.

PANHANDLE — Tonight, partly cloudy and breezy. Low in the lower 60s. South to southwest wind 15-25 mph. Thursday, partly cloudy and breezy. A 20 percent chance of thunderstorms. High in the lower 90s. South to southwest wind 15-25 mph with higher gusts. Thursday night, partly cloudy with a 40 percent chance of thunderstorms. Low 60 to 65. 3 to 5 day forecast.

Friday, partly cloudy with a slight chance of thunderstorms. High in the lower 90s. Saturday, partly cloudy with a slight chance of thunderstorms. Low in the lower 60s. High around 90. Sunday, partly cloudy with a slight chance of thunderstorms. Low in the lower 60s. High in the upper 80s.

STATEWIDE — Skies were mostly clear to partly cloudy statewide today as temperatures edged into more seasonal territory.

Humidity from the Gulf of Mexico helped to enhance the summerlike effect of those temperatures.

The overnight low was 59 degrees in Marfa after temperatures reached 100 in Laredo on Tuesday afternoon.

Some rain was reported facility where Maturino Resendez was taken in June, said the agency's computer system did not indicate he was a wanted man.

"Our systems told us he was nothing of lookout material," Almengor said. "We really wish he had been in the system so we could have caught him before."

A key in Maturino Resendez's surrender was the acceptance of several conditions: The fugitive wanted promises for his safety while in jail, regular visiting rights and a psychological evaluation.

Harris County District Attorney John Holmes faxed the agreement to Albuquerque, where Ms. Maturino passed the offer on to a relative in Mexico on Monday. Before long, she was calling Carter.

"They love their brother and their relative and they care for him deeply, but at the same time they have been cooperative in this investigation and are doing what they feel is the right thing," Carter said.

Teen has half of brain removed

BALTIMORE (AP) — A teen-ager plagued by seizures caused by a deadly neurological condition was moving and starting to open her eyes today after surgeons removed half of her brain to block the spread of her rare disease.

Amber Ramirez was in fair condition at Johns Hopkins Medical Center, said her surgeon, Dr. Benjamin Carson.

Scar tissue from previous operations slowed the surgery that lasted nine hours Tuesday, but there were "no real complications," Carson said.

The operation removed the left side of Amber's brain — the side that controls speech and fine motor movements.

"I've lived all my life with seizures," Amber said before the operation. "I'm tired of having to put up with it."

The surgery could leave 15-year-old Amber without the ability to speak.

Amber, who was diagnosed with Rasmussen's disease, was making some sounds and was starting to open her eyes, and she grabbed his hand when she was stimulated, Carson said.

She also moved her left arm and leg when stimulated, said Dr. John Freeman, director of the pediatric epilepsy program at Hopkins.

"I anticipate she will be able to use her arm, not for fine movement, but as a helper hand," Carson said.

Without the surgery, the Lincoln, Neb., girl faced the possibility of mental retardation, paralysis and even death as the disease gradually attacked her brain.

"Rasmussen's syndrome eats away at one side of the brain like a PAC Man," Freeman said earlier.

Amber and her mother, Sheri Ramirez, knew that the girl was considered old for the procedure. But Carson said he was confident the procedure will work, though she will need years of rehabilitation.

"She's a bit older than most patients who had a hemispherectomy but she's certainly not the oldest patient we've operated on," he said.

Girl's Notice of Racism Makes Mom See It in Different Light

DEAR ABBY: I worked for civil rights in the '60s. My 10-year-old daughter grew up in a racially mixed church, a racially mixed neighborhood and a racially mixed school. She has studied the history of slavery, Hitler, and other examples of what bigotry can do to a society, a country and the world. I have taught her from a very young age that bigotry is wrong, period. At the tender age of 10, she has already lost friends because she will not tolerate racist remarks. I have patiently tried to explain why racism was tolerated in the past in various societies.

Abigail Van Buren

SYNDICATED COLUMNIST

Abigail Van Buren says bigotry is alive and well in every community because it seems that some people have a need to feel "superior."

Explain to your daughter that racism cannot be wiped out by decree. Its demise must come from the realization that we have more things in common than we do superficial differences such as skin color or a foreign-sounding accent.

DEAR ABBY: "Glad I Tried, Joliet, Ill." wondered if her dying mother heard her say "I love you" during the last stages of life.

Abby, she should be consoled by something all hospice volunteers learn during their excellent and professional training: Hearing is the last sense to fade. It is very likely that her mother heard her last message although her mother was unable to acknowledge it.

JOHN R. BUTLER, ROGERS, ARK.

I Tried." Within the last year or so, I read an account of a woman who was in a coma for many years. She testified that although she could not communicate, she heard everything that was said to her during those years.

I believe that a number of studies have revealed that patients hear far more in an unconscious state than most of us ever suspected they could. That's why physicians encourage the families of trauma patients to read to them, play music for them and, above all, to talk to them.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "CAN'T FORGIVE HER IN IDAHO": Perhaps these words will help you begin to rebuild your friendship. "He that cannot forgive others breaks the bridge over which he must pass himself; for every man has need to be forgiven." — Thomas Fuller. Give it a try — you'll be glad you did.

What teens need to know about sex, drugs, AIDS, and getting along with peers and parents is in "What Every Teen Should Know." To order, send a business-sized, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054-0447. (Postage is included.)

A few days ago my daughter asked me a question I could not answer. "Mom, why is it OK to be a racist if you're black?" She went on to cite examples of racist remarks at her school, in the media, by politicians and on TV.

As I thought about it, she is correct. Today's America does tolerate, and in a few cases, even encourages blacks to be racist against whites. We wonder why there is violence in our schools. We despair over the white supremacist movement. We call for closer family support and guidance. Why do we not cry out against racism wherever it may be found? How can we move forward as a country, as a world, if we have not learned by our mistakes?

Please, Abby, help me out here! What can I tell her?

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic, 4-Positive, 3-Average, 2-So-so, 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

* Don't allow your ego to overwhelm you, especially when dealing with a loved one. Use your high creativity, but also understand the ingenuity of a partner. Good will abounds because of your willing efforts. You have lots of get-up-and-go. Another does what he can to pitch in. You make quite a team! Tonight: Working late.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

 Handle a domestic matter as best you can, but don't be naive. What happens now might need to be repeated. Your message might not get through. Allow more caring into your life. Listen to a child or loved one who has a lot to share. Together, you come up with amazing ideas and solutions. Tonight: Let your mind go wild.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

 Loosen up. Don't be judgmental in conversations. Understand more of what is going on with others. Discussions are animated. Important news comes forward. Anchor in on your priorities and life choices. Listen carefully to a family member. Caring abounds. Tonight: Invite a friend over.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

 Deal with finances. Recognize the need to stay in control of this area of your life. Evaluation takes you in a new direction. Trust what is going on. Accept an invitation — don't think twice. Doors open because of your caring manner and efforts. Be willing to act on your feelings. Tonight: Visit with a friend.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

 Beam in what you want. Allow others to share their feelings. Sometimes your personality is so strong that it intimidates others. Good financial news comes. Accept a business proposition. Use your ingenuity. Creativity and talent are an unbeatable match. You have that going for you! Tonight: Treat yourself well.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

 Your ability to churn through ideas and problems puts you in a very positive situation. Another accepts your overture. Together, you make quite a team. You're coming from a centered place. Look beyond the obvious. Assume a detached point of view. You'll gain, as a result. Tonight: Do absolutely what you want.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

 Make what you want happen in the morning. Others gather around, making you feel supported. Make no firm commitments just yet. A friendship could be developing into a lot more. Trust your intuition with a loved one. One-to-one relating allows you to move past a problem. Tonight: Take a night off.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

 Accept responsibilities. You might need to discuss an office problem in a few days. Right now, your words fall on mute ears, although everyone thinks they are listening. Make meetings; join friends; network. Socialize more in your professional life. You gain success and another's support. Tonight: Where your friends are.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

 Let others offer feedback. Just because you listen to another's opinion doesn't mean you have to follow his advice. Survey potential. Take the lead and bring co-workers together. Your positive attitude creates better working conditions. Another clearly leads your fan club. Enjoy. Tonight: Do what you must.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

 Close relating sends you on your way with a smile. Your ingenuity moves a project to the next step. Don't settle for less than what you want. Stay focused. Make a long-distance call that you have been putting off. Good news arrives. Listen to feedback. Take a risk; go to the next step. Tonight: Listen to a favorite piece of music.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

 Others dominate; for you, that could be a relief. Let another run with his ideas. Express your appreciation, and you'll find a mutual adoration society. Communication builds security and understanding. Not everything has to be a mystery, certainly not in relationships. Tonight: Discuss long-term desires.

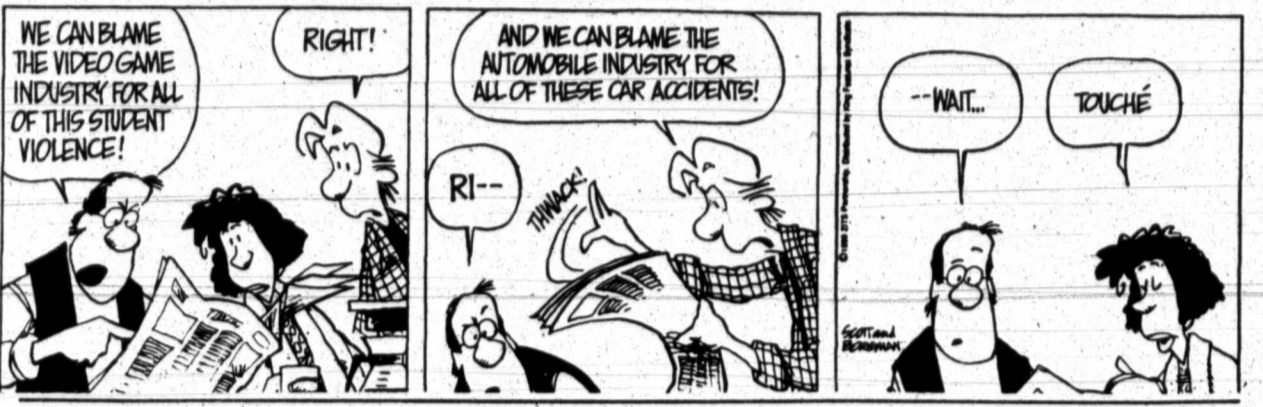

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

 Pace yourself. Remain confident. You can get a lot done, successfully. Make time and get organized. Follow through on an important meeting. Communication surges. You know what you expect. Let others present their ideas. Clearly, you are in control. Another is in your ballpark. Feelings build. Tonight: Out and about.

PARKING

residential street parking of recreational vehicles, trailers, boats and truck-tractor. It would, however, provide a 48-hour period in which RVs can be parked on a driveway for loading and unloading and a four-hour period for other loading and unloading other vehicles.

If passed, that portion of the ordinance would not become effective for one year.

The street parking portion, if passed as drafted, would take effect four months after passage.

During the meeting, Commissioner Jeff Andrews told the group, "The draft proposal is restrictive. It gives us a starting place. It was not our intent to pass it just as it came to us ... there's a good probability we will take a modified version of this and then hold a public hearing. Then we can take those comments and consider possibly voting on something."

Citizen comments from the public included:

Jim Free, 1334 Charles — "We pay taxes on the property. We own our property. Why shouldn't we have the right to park (RVs) there?"

Darwin Allen, 2409 Comanche Trail — "I am a retired Texaco employee and live part time in Graham. That's where I keep my motor home but I feel I should have the prerogative to park it here and keep it on my own property. I bought the ground."

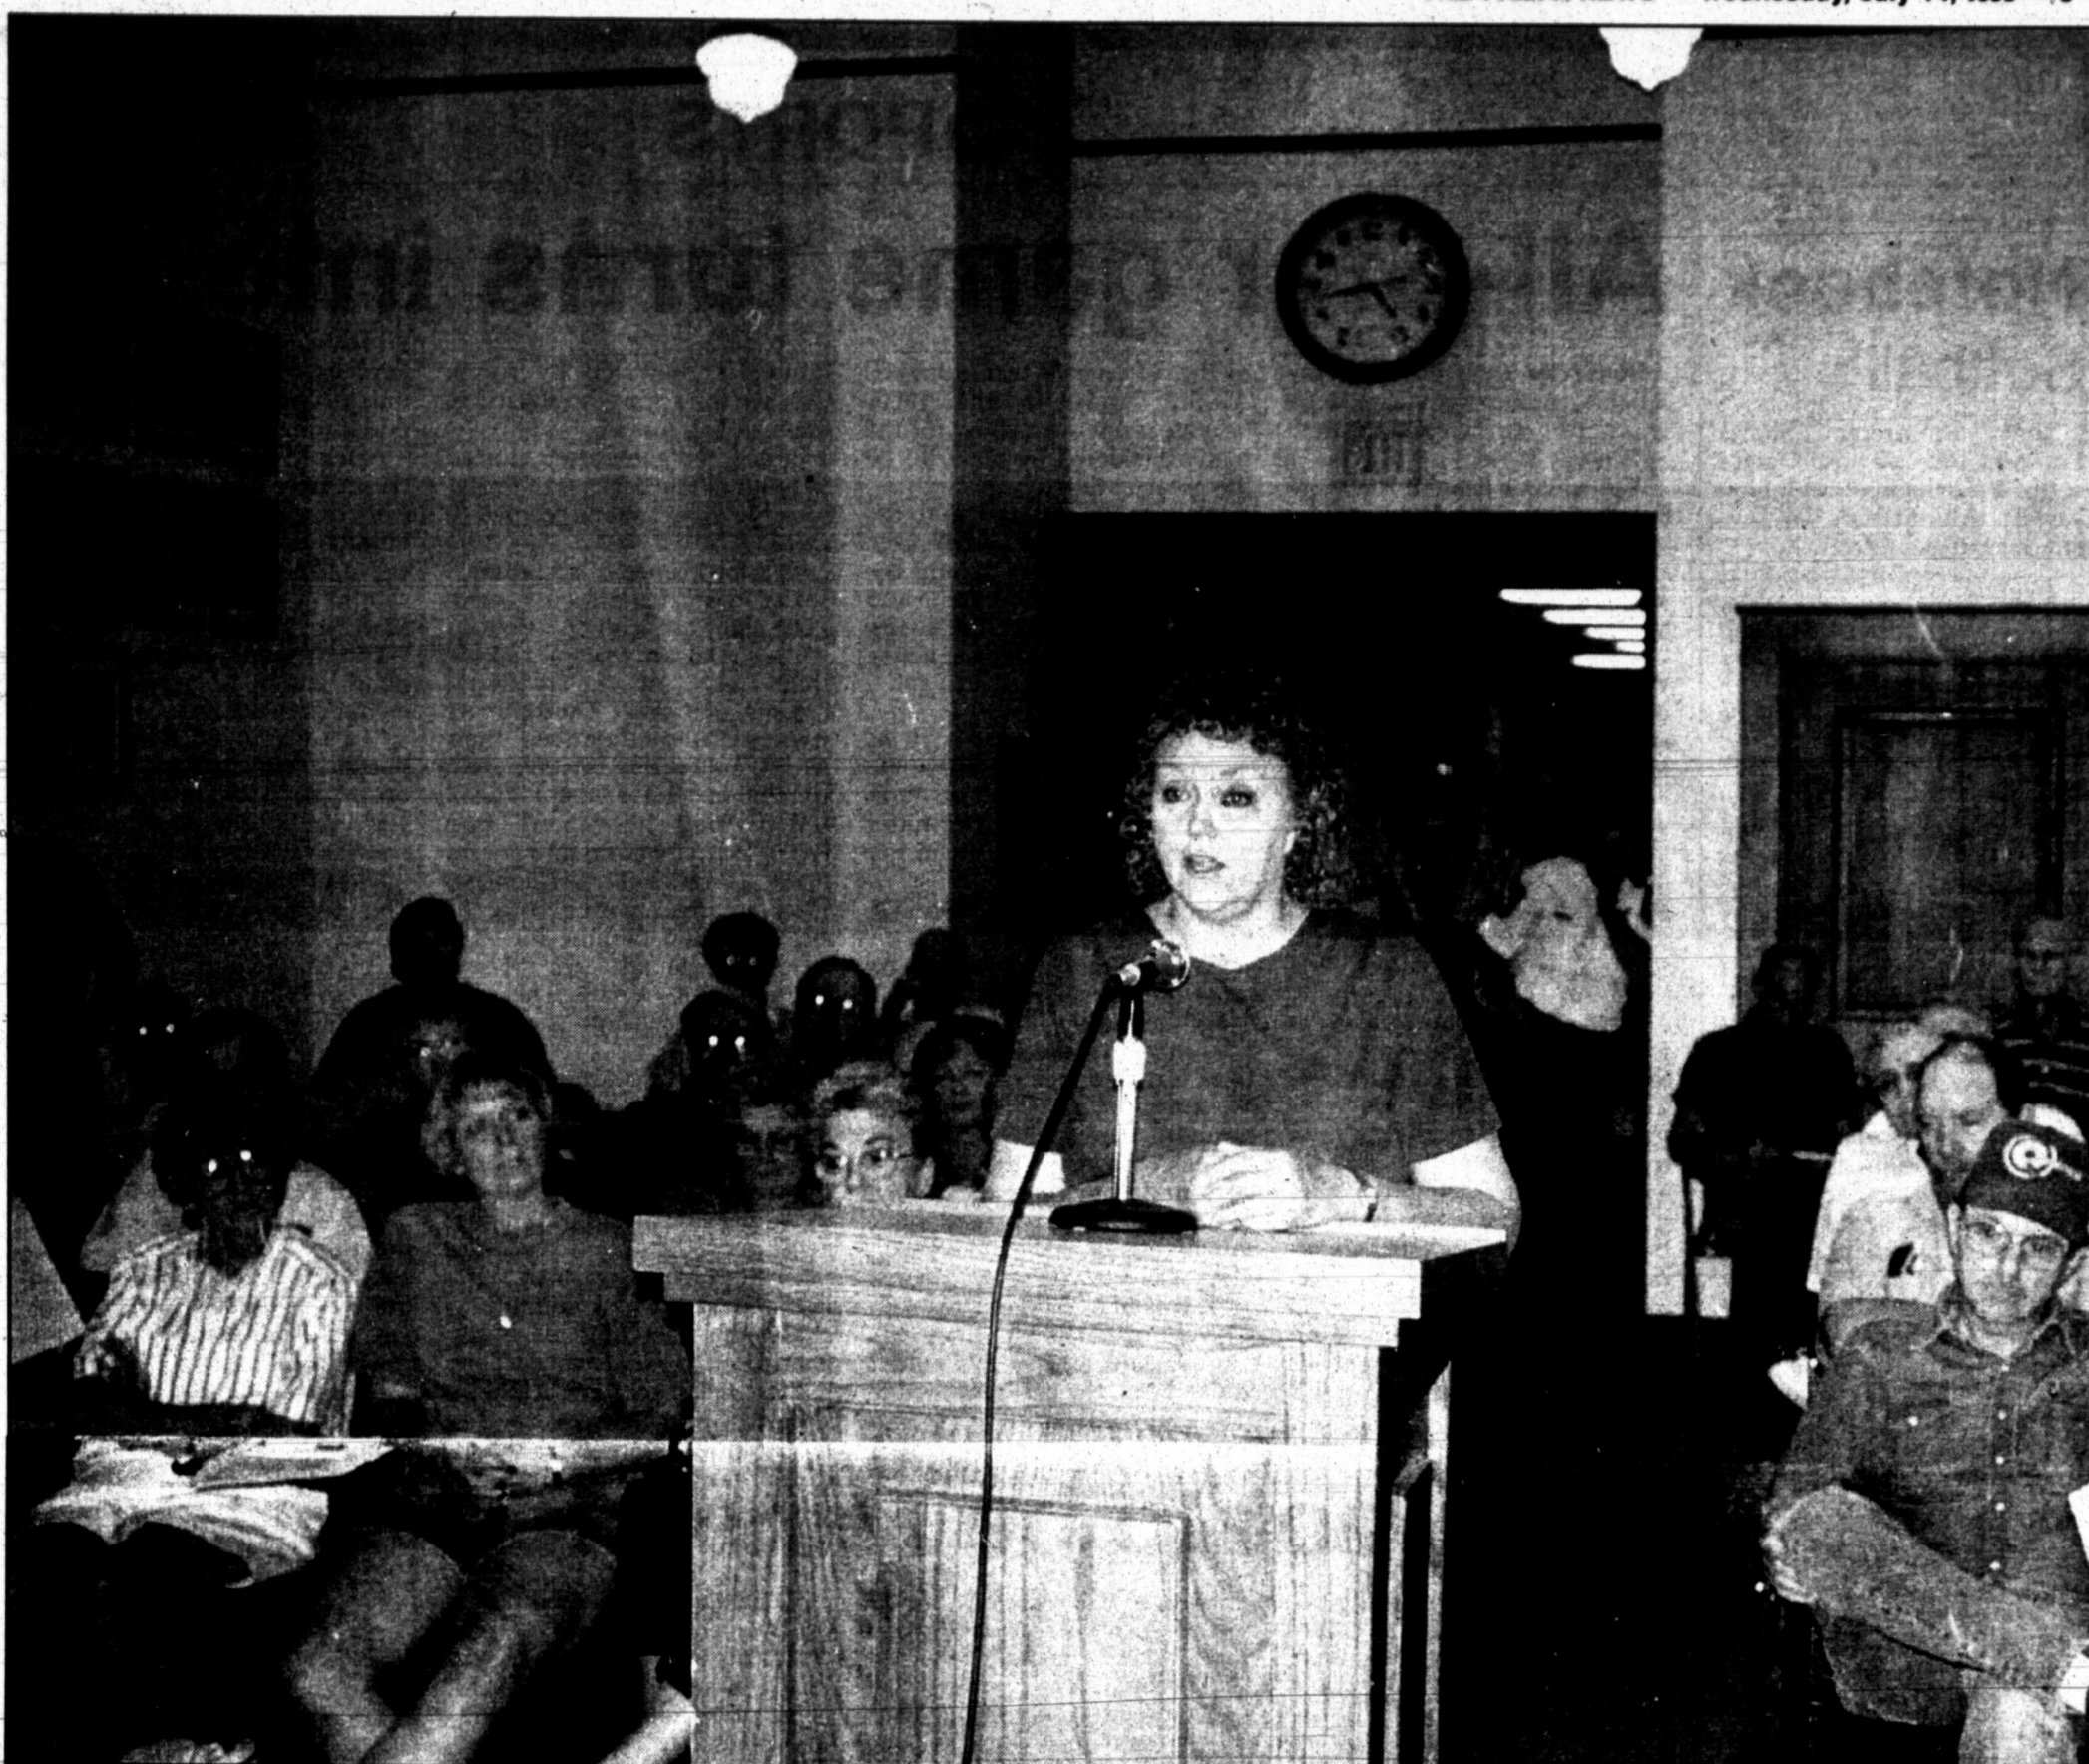

L.W. Downey, 1104 E. Kingsmill — "I built a special driveway for my boat, fifth-wheel and sometimes a pickup. I am retired and I don't feel I should have to find another place to park my boat."

Ron Gallagher, 1040 Crane Road — "... There's not but one (commercial) place I'm aware of in Pampa where you can park vehicles. My (RV) is parked on the side of my driveway on eight inches of lava rock."

Mae Conner, 1101 E. Foster — "We've lived there for 15 years. My husband and I are both truck drivers and sometimes we are in for a couple of days. We park the tractor there. We can't afford to park it somewhere else (fear of vandalism, theft). It is our home away from home. Everything we have in our home, we have in that tractor."

Rod Porter, 311 N. Somerville — "It's just that what we're forgetting is if someone pays taxes on their property it is their right to use it like they want. I have lived here all my life. Pampa is going down ... I think Pampa is going down because we are losing industry. We just keep adding ordinances. We don't need to be New York City."

Raymond Douglas, 1204 E. Kingsmill — "I agree with Rod. As long as you are paying your taxes it belongs to you. As far as getting this (proposal) from other cities, why do we care what other towns are doing?"

Mae Conner, 1101 E. Foster, takes her turn at the microphone at Tuesday's city commission work session. She says she and her husband park their truck-tractor at their home for several days at a time. She spoke against restricting such parking.

Frank Rigney, 421 Wynn — "I once lived in Northern California. It was a beautiful city. I can understand where the commission is coming from. I have lived here off and on for 25 years. I like Pampa but I think it's going too far with all these crazy ordinances. Things need to be turned back over to the citizens and let them do what they want with what they have."

Diana Bruner, 521 E. 18th — "I agree with some of this, but if an RV is not blocking traffic and is not a vision obstacle ... A lot of houses do not have a lot of back yard space. I don't think I should have to pay someone to park my vehicle when I can put it on my property."

Calvin Lacy, 2122 Mary Ellen — "Nobody isn't going to come here because there are campers on the street. They are not going to come here because there is no place to work. If it's not a safety hazard, leave them alone. We can knee-jerk on this and jump out too far."

M.B. Hunter, 2416 Comanche Trail — "I've lived here since 1977 and I have had an RV in my yard since 1981. This is the first time anyone ever mentioned this is not right. We're trying to change things people have been doing for 30 years."

H.B. Ballard, 1527 N. Faulkner — "I have lived here since 1962 and I got an RV in 1975. I had a permit for a driveway. It goes all the way back. I park beside my house. I've been retired 13 years. I use it. I don't think I should have to move it. I don't think it should be outlawed now."

Anita Myers, 825 N. Dwight — "I live on a corner. We have a 32-foot travel trailer and a boat parked on the side (of the street). I can't park in the driveway and I can't get them through the alley. I pay property taxes and I disagree with using other city's plans. Let them run their business, we can run ours. If you are so concerned with how the city looks why do we have to sit bags of grass out on the street for four or five days instead of putting them in the alley?"

Doyle Doggett, 2101 Lea — "I am retired from Celanese. For the last 10 years of work I lived where there were a lot of restrictions in Houston. When I chose a place to retire I came back to Pampa. Where does this stop? I disagree with using other city's plans. Let them run their business, we can run ours. If you are so concerned with how the city looks why do we have to sit bags of grass out on the street for four or five days instead of putting them in the alley?"

Acreage report deadline Thursday

The deadline for reporting farm crop acreages in Gray County is July 15, according to the Gray County Farm Service Agency.

Acreage reports are required for commodity loans and loan deficiency payments (LDP), Matthew Street with the FSA said today.

Late fees for acreage reports are $35 for the first field and $15 for each additional field. There is also a determination fee of $20 for the first 25 acres plus $0.05 for each acre over 25 that is added to the late fee. FSA officials said farmers filing late will automatically be checked.

"Accurate and timely acreage reports can prevent loss of program benefits and loss of price support eligibility," Street said.

Producers who have Production Flexibility Contracts are required to report any acreage of fruits or vegetables or file a zero report, Street said.

Acreage reports are required for crops for which LDP's are requested. CRP contract acreages are required to be reported each year.

Noninsurable crops must be reported to be eligible for noninsurable disaster assistance program (NAP) benefits.

DA seeks to extend JonBenet Ramsey grand jury session

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — The district attorney's office wants funds to extend the JonBenet Ramsey grand jury session into August.

The grand jury probe into the child beauty queen's December 1996 killing began last September and is now funded through the end of July.

"We are working on a request," said Assistant District Attorney Bill Wise on Tuesday.

So far, agencies investigating the Ramsey case have spent an estimated $1.74 million.

The grand jury has not met since May 25. During that period, Boulder detectives have been conducting additional investigation into JonBenet's killing, collecting DNA samples from some witnesses and interviewing others on specific details about Patsy Ramsey, JonBenet's mother.

Patsy and John Ramsey are considered suspects in the murder of their child, who was found beaten and strangled in the basement of their Boulder home.

All-Star game turns into a tribute

Notebook Softball

The Shamrock Sports Booster Club will host a men's softball tournament beginning July 31. All proceeds will benefit Shamrock athletes.

Deadline for registration is July 27. Cost per team is $125. Teams may register by calling Jan Hill at (806) 256-3100 after 5 p.m.

A concession stand will be provided.

The Pampa 11-12-year-old girls All-Star softball team were eliminated from the district tournament Monday night, falling to Dumas 13-3 in the finals at Optimist Park.

Jennie Rogers, Skye Niccum and Kellie Mullican all crossed home plate for Pampa in the first two innings, giving Pampa an early 3-0 lead. Hits by Mullican and Teryn Garner produced the runs.

Dumas responded in the third inning, sending nine runs across the plate to take a commanding lead. Dumas also added one run in the fourth inning and three runs in the fifth.

Pampa managed only three hits after the second inning. Kari Terrell notched a single in the fourth and Niccum and Wendi Miller added base hits in the fifth.

Garner pitched for Pampa, while strong defensive plays were made by Rogers, Niccum, Miller, Autumn Schaub, and Jackie Gerber. Dumas will face the south area champion tonight at 7 p.m. at Optimist Park for the overall district championship.

Soccer

NEW YORK (AP) — These American women don't just win, they set records — for biggest crowds and TV ratings.

The final match, which drew a women's sports-record 90,185 to the Rose Bowl, turned out to be the most-watched soccer game in U.S. television history.

The United States' victory over China posted a 11.4 preliminary national rating and a 31 share, according to ABC. That was 20 percent higher than the 1994 men's World Cup final between Italy and Brazil, which had a 9.5/24.

The success even prompted ESPN to replay the game Tuesday night opposite baseball's All-Star game.

An estimated 11.3 million homes and 40 million viewers watched the American women's shootout victory. The 1994 championship game was seen in 8.9 million homes on ABC and another 1.6 million homes on Spanish-speaking Univision, a total of 10.5 million households. This year's game was not available on Univision.

Saturday's rating was double ABC's 5.7 rating for last year's men's World Cup final.

BOSTON (AP) — Once the Splendid Splinter got teary, there was hardly a dry eye on the field at Fenway Park.

The All-Star game turned into a tribute to Ted Williams on Tuesday night, and the greatest names from baseball's past, present and future all were there to take part.

Stan Musial, Hank Aaron and Willie Mays surrounded him. So did Ken Griffey Jr., Tony Gwynn and Derek Jeter. They watched him lob in the ceremonial first ball, then saw Pedro Martinez pitch his way into history in leading the American League over the Nationals 4-1 for its third straight win.

Martinez became the first All-Star pitcher to strike out the first three hitters. He then overpowered Mark McGwire to make it four straight, and wound up fanning five of the six batters he faced.

Martinez's fastball made a memorable impression on McGwire. But seeing Williams up close, talking to him and having him give a pat on the shoulder, seemed to move Big Mac even more.

"When you see Ted Williams, and tears are running from his eyes, it's a very emotional time," McGwire said.

Planned as a pregame salute to the all-century team, the last All-Star game in the 1900s became a one-man show for the man considered by many to be the greatest hitter ever.

Williams waved his cap to the standing crowd of 34,187 as a golf cart drove him around the park he always called home and took him to the mound. Every other player — retired and active — closed in around him for a baseball embrace.

"I can only describe it as great," said The Kid, now 80. "Hell, I haven't had a base hit in 30 years, and I'm a better hitter now than I've ever been in my life."

Maybe a bit more emotional, too. "When I got up there, tears were coming out of Ted's eyes," said Colorado's Larry Walker, who dug up a piece of the right field turf as a memento. "I kind of turned away, it almost brought tears to my eyes. The greatest player in the world is surrounded by more great players. I know Ted was extremely touched by it."

As was everyone else. "It was like 'Field of Dreams,'" Cleveland first baseman Jim Thome said. "Here these guys walked out, the best players that ever played the game."

It helped, too, that the whole thing was narrated by Kevin Costner, the actor who starred in that baseball movie.

In fact, the game itself started 14 minutes late because of festivities. Not that anyone seemed to mind.

"It's the chance of a lifetime," Texas' Rafael Palmeiro said. "The game can wait." Once it began, Martinez made short work of the National League hitters. Though its starters had outthundered their AL counterparts 214-149, they were no match for Boston's ace.

With Hall of Famers Bob Feller, Warren Spahn and friend Juan Marichal watching, Martinez tied an AL record for strikeouts and became the first AL starter to win an All-Star game in his own park. That was plenty to earn him the MVP award.

"I think it makes it a little more special, being here in Boston," he said. "Representing the decade, the last one of the century. Being there with all those players around us, I never, never expected it."

Mixing a blazing fastball, darting curve and tantalizing changeup, he fanned Barry Larkin, Walker and Sammy Sosa to start the game. The Red Sox star, already halfway to the magic 30-win mark at the break, kept up the streak by striking out McGwire to begin the second inning.

After Matt Williams reached on an error by second baseman Roberto Alomar, Martinez fanned Jeff Bagwell on a 3-2 curve. And when Williams was caught stealing on the play, Martinez was done.

The AL went on to win for the ninth time in 12 games, cutting its deficit to 40-29-1.

"Last game of the century. Boston Fenway Park. A lot of nostalgia," AL manager Joe Torre said. "The weather cooperated. It was great."

Except for the hitters, that is. The teams combined for a record 22 strikeouts, including 12 by AL pitchers, to break the mark of 21 in 1984.

No one came close to reaching the Green Monster in left field or wrapping a shot around Pesky's Pole down the short right-field line. This was the first All-Star game without a home run since 1990 at Wrigley Field.

Cleveland's four starters, however, helped the AL score enough to win. John Wetteland got a save while Curt Schilling, whom the Indians covet, took the loss.

Kenny Lofton led off the AL first with an infield hit, Indians teammate Manny Ramirez walked with two outs and Thome hit an RBI single.

Baltimore's Cal Ripken, a 17-time All-Star, followed Thome's hit with an RBI single for a 2-0 lead.

After the NL scored against David Cone in the third on a double by Jeremy Burnitz and a single by Larkin, the AL added two runs in the fourth off St. Louis 14-game winner Kent Bottenfield.

Thome walked, Ripken was hit by a pitch and Rafael Palmeiro, starting in place of injured DH Jose Canseco, hit an RBI single. One out later, Alomar drove in a run with a grounder that eluded Matt Williams at third base for an error.

Notes: The last All-Star game at Fenway, in 1961, ended in a 1-1 tie that was called after nine innings because of rain. ... Martinez joined Cleveland's Sandy Alomar (1997) as the only All-Star MVP winners in their own park. ... In the first meeting of former Seattle teammates, Griffey grounded out against Randy Johnson. ... No one got more than one hit. ... Next year's All-Star game is at Turner Field in Atlanta. ... Martinez tied the AL strikeout record set by Dick Radatz and Billy Pierce. The overall record is six, done several times.

Rose not to be reinstated

BOSTON (AP) — As baseball's greatest living players gathered at Fenway Park, Pete Rose remained the sport's biggest thorn.

The living players among the 100 nominated for the All-Century team were invited to Tuesday night's All-Star game, all except one — the man banned for life because of gambling. "Attendance at any function like that was forbidden," commissioner Bud Selig said.

Even Rose's face was banned from Fenway Park. Pictures of 98 of the 100 were hung on banners draped around the grandstand of the ballpark. The only ones missing were Rose and Shoeless Joe Jackson, also banned for life.

And as long as Selig is commissioner, Rose has no hope of reinstatement.

"I don't think there's anything new or if there's anything new that I would do to change what Bart Giamatti did," Selig said, referring to the former commissioner who kicked Rose out of baseball.

Because of the lifetime ban he signed with Giamatti in August 1989, Rose is ineligible for the Hall of Fame.

Rose declined comment when Selig's statements were relayed through his business agent.

"It's the same old thing, business as usual," said agent Warren Greene, who was with Rose in Boston. "Right now, I don't think Pete wants to start trading any barbs or make any comment."

Rose applied for reinstatement in September 1997, but Selig hasn't announced a decision. From his statements Tuesday, it's clear the only two options Selig is considering are rejection or never acting on the petition.

"Without question, Pete Rose is one of the top players in the century," Hall of Fame third baseman Mike Schmidt said.

That said, Schmidt agreed with those who claim Rose hasn't reconfigured his life in the past decade. While no formal finding was made, Giamatti said he was convinced Rose bet on the Cincinnati Reds while he was managing the team.

"I truly believe the ball's in Pete's hands," Schmidt said. "Pete needs to take some serious steps in his life."

Of the 100 players on the ballot, 85 are in the Hall of Fame. The exceptions include eight active players: Barry Bonds, Roger Clemens, Ken Griffey Jr., Tony Gwynn, Rickey Henderson, Greg Maddux, Mark McGwire and Cal Ripken.

Both Rose and Jackson, who was among eight Chicago White Sox players banned for throwing the 1919 World Series, were featured in a lengthy video presentation during the new conference.

"Neither Pete Rose nor Joe Jackson's official status has anything to do with the selection of the All-Century team," Selig said. "They're great players, they're entitled to be on the ballot. ... I want to be very precise in the way I say it: It doesn't in any way affect their status with major league baseball."

Holdsclaw the center of attention

NEW YORK (AP) — While rookie sensation Chamique Holdsclaw is the center of attention, she is equally in awe of her teammates.

"I'm just excited to be here and meet some of these people," the 21-year-old Holdsclaw said. "Remember, I'm the youngest person here and I grew up watching some of these players. It's definitely an honor to be on the same court as them."

Holdsclaw has a hard time walking down the streets of New York, especially on the eve of the inaugural WNBA All-Star game at Madison Square Garden.

The WNBA player hyped by the league as the Michael Jordan of the women's game said its "kind of impossible" not to be recognized.

She was mobbed by autograph seekers at the NBA Store and attended a Hudson River cruise with WNBA sponsors later Tuesday evening.

Tonight, she will perform before a full house at Madison Square Garden, including Whitney Houston singing the national anthem and Spike Lee trash-talking from the sidelines.

Holdsclaw and Washington Mystics teammate Nikki McCray will play alongside the New York Liberty's Teresa Weatherspoon and Kym Hampton. A starter for the injured all-star Rebecca Lobo has yet to be named.

The Western Conference all-star starters will be Cynthia Cooper, Sheryl Swoopes and Tina Thompson of the Houston Comets, Michele Timms of Phoenix and Lisa Leslie of Los Angeles.

The No. 1 pick in the draft after winning three consecutive NCAA titles at Tennessee, Holdsclaw has lived up to her billing. She leads the Mystics in scoring (18.7) and rebounding (8.9) and ranks among the league's top four in both categories.

The 6-foot-2 forward can bring the ball upcourt like a guard, hit fadeaway jumpers or use her agility to slide around post players for a reverse layup.

"I just have a unique style and approach to the game," Holdsclaw said. "People aren't used to seeing it, so that excites them."

McCray said Holdsclaw seems unfazed by the pressure of being one of the WNBA's marquee players.

"She handles it great," McCray said. "She comes to practice, works hard, stays focused. She goes home, sits on the couch, goes to the movies and chills out with her friends. She's done a great job of handling everything."

Holdsclaw has her own way of blowing off steam. "I like to go to the amusement parks and the spa. And I just hang out with my friends."

U.S. women set soccer schedule

First the Victory Tour, now the Great Soccer Exhibition Tour for the U.S. women's World Cup champions.

Stars Mia Hamm, Brandi Chastain and Julie Foudy, along with the rest of the team, will regroup in October for a three-month indoor soccer exhibition tour, it was announced Tuesday.

The team will compete against a world all-star team in 11 matches starting Oct. 22 in Pittsburgh and ending Dec. 12 in Tacoma, Wash.

Lee Berke, a vice president with the sports marketing firm SFX Sports Group, which helped organize the tour, said it will allow the players to earn money from soccer, stay close to their fans and demonstrate the viability of a professional league.

He said a number of sponsors, including beverage, financial services and packaged goods companies, have expressed interest in the tour. He said talks are under way about producing a TV special during the tour.

The U.S. players' plans conflict with recently announced plans by the U.S. Soccer Federation to send the women's team on a tour of South Africa, Egypt and Australia from late October through December.

The issue is expected to be discussed next week when the players meet with the USSF to negotiate a new labor agreement.

The Washington Post reported that each player is guaranteed $41,250 for playing in the 11 games.

Armstrong amazes in mountain stages

SESTRIERES, Italy (AP) — Basking in his latest victory, Lance Armstrong was quick to throw cold water on growing speculation that he is set to crown his remarkable comeback from cancer with a triumph in the Tour de France.

"The favorites are all fighters and scrapers and will be making life hard for us," the 27-year-old American said Tuesday after his victory on the first day of mountain racing in the Alps.

"I don't feel we have won the race at all. I can have bad days and my condition can run out."

At dawn today, International Cycling Union authorities carried out blood tests on 51 riders on 10 teams.

Tour de France president Jean-Marie Leblanc said in a statement that all the cyclists concerned were declared eligible to continue the race.

It was the second time the UCI has ordered blood tests, the first coming before the prologue July 3.

The Tour was to head back into France today after an overnight stop in Italy. The rain, which hampered racing the day before, stopped shortly before the start. Temperatures were low and there was heavy cloud cover.

Silencing the critics who say he is not at his best in the mountains, Armstrong won the ninth stage Tuesday to tighten his grip on cycling's showcase race.

"It's important to show you're strong in the mountains," he said. "I'm surprised with the way I felt today."

The Texan, making an astonishing recovery from testicular cancer, showed he is the man to beat. Not known as a top climber, he persevered on the punishing, rain-slicked slopes of the Alps.

The victory in the 133.4-mile stage was Armstrong's third of the race, following the prologue and Sunday's time trial. He leads the field by 6 minutes, 3 seconds.

His performance is all the more remarkable considering his cancer once spread to his lungs and brain.

"It's unbelievable what he's doing," said American great Greg LeMond, a three-time Tour winner. "I think he's even better than before."

The race began in sunshine at the French ski resort of Le Grand Bornand. The riders rapidly descended through lush valleys dotted with chalets and mountain rapids.

But as they approached the first major climb to the Col du Telegraph, heavy rain began lashing, and the stage became an even greater test of endurance.

There, Armstrong was aided by teammates Tyler Hamilton and Kevin Livingston, who nursed him uphill in their slipstream. Content at that point to sit back, he was 12th to arrive at the summit.

Then came the tortuous climb to the jagged, snowcapped peaks of the Col du Galibier. On the way up the hairpin turns, Armstrong tired.

"The weather was brutal. It was very cold on top of the Galibier," he said. "I didn't feel super there, but then I realized from the look on the others' faces that they were suffering."

So he plowed on, edging ahead of the pack and arriving fifth at the summit.

The rain soon stopped, and after a rapid, dry descent, Armstrong got stronger. With about 6 miles to go, he sprinted away from the leading pack of seven riders. Crossing the finish line, he held his arms aloft and looked to the sky.

"I always ride well in these cold and wet conditions," he said. "On a day like this, the competition is reduced by 50 percent due to morale and crashes."

Switzerland's Alex Zülle finished second, 31 seconds off the pace. Spain's Fernando Escartin was third, 1:26 behind.

French cyclist Richard Virenque, whom organizers tried to ban because he is being investigated in a drug scandal, came in sixth.

TWC to host business all-day business training

AMARILLO — Texas Workforce Commissioner Representing Employers Ron Lehman is inviting local area employers and managers to the Amarillo Civic Center Meeting Room, 3rd and Buchanan, on Thursday, July 15, for a Texas Business Conference. Registration will be from 7:30-8:30 a.m. The conference will begin with a continental breakfast.

"All employers who can should take the opportunity to attend this conference. Our experts in employment law will discuss hiring, firing, wage and hour, employment compensation and other issues affecting employers on a regular basis," Lehman noted.

"This full-day seminar for business owners and managers is a great training bargain and has a registration fee of only $60," he explained.

"While we mailed invitations to employers, anyone who has not received an invitation is welcome to attend," he continued. "Issues such as the Fair Labor Standards Act, Texas Payday Law and other subjects of particular interest to local area employers will be addressed by workshop facilitators."

"We encourage all employers in the Amarillo area to attend," Lehman concluded.

Tierra Blanca Creek Field Day slated

AMARILLO — The Texas Agricultural Extension Service will conduct a field day and tour to highlight the Tierra Blanca Creek Water Quality Demonstration Project beginning with registration at 8:30 a.m. Aug. 17. The tour will depart from the West Texas A&M University Equine Center at 9 a.m. and busses will return to the departure site at 5:30 p.m. Lunch will be provided.

Field day participants will visit Timber Creek Veterinary Clinic, WTAMU Dairy, Tierra Blanca Creek Property Owners Association and private demonstration sites.

The TBCDP is the joint effort of experts from Texas A&M Extension Service and federal agencies and local landowners to protect water quality in the panhandle. The program goal is to persuade local producers to voluntarily implement Best Management Practices into their daily operations by establishing the programs' positive effects and benefits through demonstration sites. BMPs include efficient irrigation, reduced tillage, integrated pest management, manure management, rotational grazing, vegetative filter strips and water quality management plans.

The majority of the demonstrations are sited in Farmer, Castro, Deaf Smith and Randall counties.

For more information, contact Lanny McDonald at (806) 354-5847.
