NO. 30

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM OVER THE STATE

Houston.—John Walker, 55, electrician, working on the new Post-District Building, fell from the 11th to the third floor, through the elevator shaft Tuesday, dying later.

Dallas.—Building authorized in 18 leading cities of Texas in the past compared with $58,148,530 for the nine months amounted to $71,826,821, same period last year, figures by S. W. Straus Company show.

Wichita Falls.—S. S. Monday, 35, employed by the Consolidated Oil Co., on the Netherton lease in Archer County, was killed Tuesday when a steam pipe burst and hurled a length of pipe which struck him on the head.

Shamrock—The city council has authorized the construction of a brick building on Second Street to house the new fire equipment, which will be here in a few days. Chemical apparatus and hose reel rooms will be provided, and sleeping quarters for firemen.

Wichita Falls.—The Wichita Falls city council heard a proposal Monday night for the draining of Lake Wichita, the sale of the land and the use of the proceeds for building a gravity system from Lake Kemp, 55 miles away. No action was taken.

Floydada.—The Floyd County Poultry Association will hold its fourth annual show here Dec. 10, 11 and 12. This will be one of the largest shows in the West this year, as the poultry industry in Floyd County has more than doubled in the past five years.

Hillsboro.—Demanding a thorough investigation of desecration of churches by boys throwing rocks, District Judge Horton B. Porter has brought the Hill County grand jury together for the second time this term. Judge Porter stated that 72 window lights had been broken from the Catholic church on East Walnut street in the last three weeks by boys.

Lubbock.—Laverne Kershner, who last week published the first issue of a paper called "The Radical," was beaten about the head and face Monday night by Cherokee Hammond, carnival man, who objected to Kershner's actions on the carnival grounds while gathering data on the shows. In his publication, Kershner had savagely attacked carnivals.

Wichita Falls—Members of the State Highway Commission of Texas and Oklahoma, a federal engineer and representatives of the Commissioners' Court of Cotton County, Oklahoma, will meet here Friday, the date set for the letting of a contract for the construction of the free bridge across Red River, near Burkhardt.

Austin.—East Texas banks and those in the Panhandle and North Texas are making healthy reports to the State Banking Department in response to the call for condition. The banks in the drought-stricken section of Central and Southern Texas were not expected to make flattering reports, but most of them show they have not suffered.

DEPARTMENT OF VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE TO SHOW MOVING PICTURES TO FARMERS

Friday evening at 7 o'clock the Department of Vocational Agriculture of the local high school will show its first picture to the farmers of the Pampa community. This picture will be one of several that will be shown from time to time at the high school during the term.

The show Friday evening will be free and it is hoped by the department that it will not be necessary to make any charges this season.

The topics chosen for the year are those which have greatest educational value for our particular community. Some of the pictures are slides and some are films. The slides have valuable lectures which accompany them, thus giving an illustrated lecture. The subject booked for Friday is Universal Soil Farming.

Mr. Voss, Instructor and head of the Department, extends a cordial invitation to all who are interested in this work.

By the time father gets caught up with vacation bills he will have to begin planning for Christmas.

PAYS RECORD PRICE FOR EIGHTY ACRES

A deal was consummated first of this week whereby the Magnolia Petroleum Company purchased the 80 acres of land adjoining the townsite of Pampa, for a consideration of $175 per acre.

The land, which was owned by S. C. Case, lies on the north side of the railway, and is one of the best pieces of acreage adjoining the town.

Mr. Case bought this tract when the land was first sold out here by the White Deer Land Company, paying $10 per acre, realizing a profit of $165 per acre.

The price paid for the 80 acres sets a record for unimproved land in this section of the country.

The Magnolia people have been trying for some time to buy this tract, and kept raising their offer until Mr. Case decided to accept. The land adjoins a tract of $113 acres recently purchased by the Wilcox Oil & Gas Company.

OIL FIELD ACTIVITY IN THIS LOCALITY

Representatives of the Empire Oil & Gas Company are here this week going over the abstracts and making arrangements for gas and fuel for the test well which they will soon start on a block of acreage three miles west of town.

Young & Patrick's No. 1 Byrum, on section 188 block 3, six miles west of town, is setting 10-inch casing at 1150 feet.

Anderson et al. Beavers-Bradford, south of town is drilling at 3300 feet and making good progress.

Phil Engel's Ledrick Ranch test is drilling at 3357 feet, the deepest any well in this section has yet gone. It still gives promise of making a producer.

The crew at the Wilcox No. 2 is again waiting for cement to set. Much trouble has been encountered with caving formation, making it necessary to cement the hole frequently.

Many a man will swear to a thing that he wouldn't bet on.

ENGLISH CLASS THEME

The following theme was written by Bonnie Carr of the Senior English class of the Pampa Schools:

The Parting of the Bonnet

In 1876 a lady who had a large be-raffled bonnet covered with many colored flowers, was in the height of fashion. When my lady prepared herself for a drive she spent several moments in adjusting her bonnet so that her curls would be shown off to the best advantage. Then she stepped sedately into the large carriage drawn by four magnificent horses and driven by a colored man. In those days the most important thing to my lady's way of thinking, was a creamy complexion. The dark bonnet was the reason for the beautiful skin which was the pride of the entire family.

Later came the small, shallow-crowned hat, which was perched prettily on the very top of the head. This hat's crowning glory was either a bird or a large bouquet and was held in place by enormous hat pins which were put in the most conspicuous positions. My lady then exchanged her bonnet for the high-wheeled vehicle, which was then a new invention called the automobile. With the automobile came the blue denim and the large veil. This veil was made to protect the complexion and to keep the hat on my lady's head while racing along at the terrific speed of ten to fifteen miles per hour.

Nine-days when the young girls wished to go driving, she jiffy-clipped a contraption, resembling a snowball, down over her short socks almost covering one eye. Then there is a dash of dusty toes as she jumps lightly from the curb to the running board of a lurching machine, slips behind the steering wheel, and is off at the slow pace of 60 miles an hour.

You, indeed, the day of tomorrow is past and we are all glad; even if we do have to sacrifice our complexion for a coat of tan which signifies hours of life in the great outdoors of ours. Who can picture the modern girl with bonnet strings tied under her chin, holding a large hoop skirt distantly out of the dust as she walks out upon a basketball or tennis court?

This City Burning First Natural Gas

EVERYONE EXULTANT WHEN NATURAL GAS WAS TURNED INTO MAINS WEDNESDAY MORNING. PAMPA THIRD TOWN MAINS WEDNESDAY MORNING. PAMPA THIRD TOWN

Wednesday was one of the busiest days seen in this city in some time. Everyone was talking and thinking in terms of heat units, clay tubes, asbestos backs, reflector types and other gas heating terms which have become familiar here the past few weeks.

Natural gas was turned into the city mains Wednesday morning, and since that time the hardware and furniture stores, as well as plumbers and gas fitters have been busy tantalizing gas stoves and ranges in the homes and business houses of this city.

A number of men are working for the gas company and Manager Woodward states that from 10 to 15 meters will be installed each day until those desired gas service are connected up with the mains.

While the installation of gas means extra work and added expense, everyone seems happy in the knowledge that the cleanest and best fuel known is now available to Pampa people. The use of gas here has been contemplated for several years, and the realization of this anticipation is most welcome.

Amarillo was the first town in the Texas Panhandle to secure natural gas for domestic and industrial use. It was piped to that city five years ago, and has proven of wonderful benefit to the town in many ways. Shamrock was the second Panhandle town to secure this convenient service, and it has also proven both popular and beneficial there. Pampa is the third to get gas and we believe it will mean much to its future growth and prosperity, besides the other advantages to be derived from its use.

The gas being used is piped from the Dancerger well six miles south of town. It is rated at 20 million cubic feet of gas per day. The gas has a pressure of 430 pounds to the square inch at the top of the well. This pressure is reduced to 150 pounds before going into the pipe line. Near town it is again reduced to 100 pounds, and where it feeds into the intermediate lines is lowered to 25 pounds. Regulators cut the pressure down between the intermediate lines and the service mains from 25 pounds to about six ounces, which is the proper pressure to operate stoves and ranges. From this it will be seen that it is no trouble to get the gas to town, the only trouble being in not getting it here too fast or in larger quantities than it is needed.

Wichita Falls—Three hundred thousand dollars is being expended by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. in improvements and betterments of their Wichita Falls plants. The improvements include the erection of a three-story building size 35x50 feet, installation of three thousand lines of underground cable a distance of 6,000 feet; and installation of much new equipment. Wichita Falls will have 10,000 telephone connections by July 1, 1926 when the program will be completed according to statements of officials of the company.

Canyon.—A half million dollar building program for West Texas State Teachers College here is outlined by Dr. J. A. Hill, president of the institution, who announces he will ask the legislature for this amount for the next two year period. A $200,000 library and education building, a $175,000 science building and improvements to present structures will constitute the program.

Quanah.—This city is advertising for bids for constructing sewer extensions here. The city conducted a "clean up" campaign recent and the passage of stringent sanitary laws has caused numerous petitions for sewer extensions.

Sinton.—A new hot water boiler washing plant has been added to the Santa Fe shops here. The plant represents an investment of $50,000 and will enable the local shops to wash the boilers of all locomotives.

Dallas.—The West Texas exhibitors at the Dallas Fair were honored with a banquet at the Baker Hotel given by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Memphis.—The Memphis City Council has been petitioned to call a bond election for the purpose of voting city paving bonds. Thirty-five to forty blocks of residential street paving is contemplated in the petition.

Burnet.—The first carload of 1925 peaches to move from Burnet county was shipped from Marble Falls and another car is now being loaded. The nuts found a ready market at a good price.

Hoppy.—Material is on the ground and work will begin on a high dam to serve this city. The site is being built by the Texas Irrigation Co. and will be built to the mouth of Canyon. Another New Braunfels dam to Marlow will be built as soon as the Hoppy line is complete.

Uvalde.—T. F. Miller of Uvalde County has closed a contract with the Uvaldehouse Land Co. to which he leases a tract of land seven miles from this city for use as a vine nursery. An irrigation is geologically placed here an immense quantity of limestone and dolomite will be used to build a large stone crushing plant which will turn out stone for use on the nearby highway.

Vernon.—The Vernon Semi-Weekly Review will be transformed into a daily newspaper Nov. 1 with Carl Lee as editor. Associated Press reports. R. H. Nichols owner, was formerly editor of the Amarillo Tribune.

Capt. Hughes is survived by his widow, one son, John S. Hughes of Cheyenne, and his daughter, who are Mrs. George T. Cook, Pueblo Beach, Calif.; Mrs. Wesley Knapp, Long Beach, Calif.; Mrs. R. L. Hearn, St. Louis; Mrs. T. W. Carroll, and Mrs. H. G. Officer, Both, Okla.

COTTON PICKERS FAIL TO COME ON UP HERE

C. P. Buckler, secretary of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, received the following letter this week, relative to securing farm labor including cotton pickers for this section of the country.

The letter is from C. W. Woodman, assistant director of the farm labor division of the U. S. Employment Bureau at Fort Worth:

Dear Sir: I have your letter of the 17th before me. Everything is being done that we can think of to direct the workers into West Texas. Most of them are going in their conveyances and our experience is, that they may take cards from our office and then disregard them and stop some place other than their intended destination.

I mailed you a statement which, if you will read closely, will give you a fair idea of the present situation. You are not served with plenty of hands because of the extraordinary inducements that have been offered by other states, but I am of the opinion that there will be a release of a lot of the cotton pickers this week. Perhaps sufficient to supply all of West Texas. Our agents are located where they can direct them as they are released.

Since writing the above, at Bowles Indians the 17th at an average of $150 each per day has been taken on the way to West Texas. Yours truly,

C. W. Woodman.

In order for farmers in this section to secure labor to pick cotton and help gather feed it will in all probability be necessary for them to go down and come down to Fort Worth with trucks and horses to get the work done.

Those who arrived in town are usually offered work along the way and stop there to go home to their further employment.

These should see Mr. Buckler before moving to the cotton fields to be of assistance in securing them with the best possible jobs.

Mr. Buckler has been in touch with the Amarillo Stock & Feed Co. and it was thought that the Amarillo Stockyards would be the best place to go to for work.

Several months ago, E. McKinnon of Raton, Colorado, and F. S. Fox of Cheyenne, made a deal whereby Fox became the owner of the McKinnon newspaper of Raton, and Mr. McKinnon became owner of the Cheyenne Record.

Carl and the boys were recently added to the original owners. Mr. Fox, according to his wife, Mrs. McKinnon and the editorial staff as our friends' neighbors and brother, we are very glad to again have Mr. Fox's services among the members of the Amarillo Press gang—Miami Chief.

The head of the house may feel that his word is law, but he will soon find out that the law is seldom enforced.

Advertising is an investment.

KANSAS CITY STOCK MARKET

CHAS. M. PIPKIN,
Market Correspondent

Kansas City Stock Yards.—The moderate receipts in all divisions met a strong demand at higher prices. Both cattle and sheep receipts indicated the heaviest runs are over and that from now on the movement will decrease steadily until a complete clean-up is made. Cattle were strong to 25 cents higher. The advance showed in fat classes as well as stockers and feeders. Hogs were up 15 to 25 cents, and only 10 to 15 cents under Chicago and St. Louis. Receipts were the smallest of any Monday this season. Sheep and lambs were strong to 15 cents higher.

Monday's Receipts

Receipts Monday were 33,000 cattle, 3,500 hogs, and 6,000 sheep, compared with 43,000 cattle, 7,000 hogs, and 13,000 sheep a year ago.

Beef Cattle

The supply of fat cattle was limited and prices ruled strong to 25 cents higher, mostly 10 to 15 cents up. A few loads of steers at $10.50 to $12.50 were the only offerings that showed any material amount of feed. The warmed up and short fed classes sold at $8.50 to $10. Good quality full fed steers would have brought $14 up, but they were lacking. The Chicago market was relatively weak due to the fact that 12,000 gross fat cattle came in competition with a heavy run of short fed steers. Cows and heifers were strong to 15 cents higher and in active demand. "Canner and cutters" advanced as much as the fat kinds. Heifers which were relatively low last week and sold slowly are in broad demand again. Veal calves were 50 cents higher, top light weights $11.50.

Stockers and Feeders

Stockers and feeders were in liberal supply, but demand was large and the offerings cleared readily at strong prices. Quality was fairly good. Last week 44,000 stockers and feeders were bought and shipped back to the country, the largest outbound movement this year, and trade Monday showed about the same volume a week ago.

Hogs

Hog prices were 15 to 25 cents higher Monday than last week's close, and 40 to 50 cents above the low point of the season recorded last Wednesday. Demand was urgent at the advance, and conditions are favorable for a further gain before the week end. The top price Monday was $11.50 paid for light weights and the bulk of the 150 to 250 pound hogs sold at $11.50 to $11.80. Heavy weights sold up to $11.80. Packing hogs brought $11.25 to $11.75, and stock hogs and pigs $11.25 to $12.

When the operators and miners settle the difference in the present coal strike, the consumer will find it to be at least a dollar a ton, but we can't be worried about the matter since we are using natural gas.

Street car service and paved streets are the only city conveniences which are not now enjoyed in Pampa. With the ever-present flivver we have no need for trolley cars, but we'll admit we could use some paved streets without half trying.

We have a few merchants in Pampa who are not thoroughly convinced that newspaper advertising will pay them big dividends. They will say that conditions are not ripe for advertising. That there is not much cash among prospective buyers and a dozen other reasons why advertising, they think, would not pay. They are undoubtedly sincere, but that doesn't keep them from being wrong. In this week's issue of the Pampa News will be found an advertisement of Sears-Roebuck & Co., and for the next thirteen weeks a different ad will be carried each week. The executives of this big mail order firm know that people of Pampa and community like every other section of the United States, are going to spend money during these 13 weeks for merchandise, and they have merchandise of all kinds to sell, so they intend to use these ads to help them sell a part of the goods bought by Pampa people. They have built up a big business upon the fact that they go after the business and spend money to get it. If Sears-Roebuck can afford to advertise in Pampa and the Pampa merchant can't afford to advertise in his own field, then our guess is that he is going to lose some business to those who do advertise, whether located here or some other place. We don't only believe advertising pays—we know it. While writing along this line it might be well to add that Sears-Roebuck & Co. are paying the regular standard rate for their advertising just the same as advertisers in Pampa, Amarillo or anywhere else.

These are hard days for the pessimist. He may wail about business, but the facts are all against him. He may see a thousand and one defects in our economic system, but the fact remains that people enjoy life more in America than they do anywhere else in the world. He may condemn this as a jazz mad age that is producing a race without any moral standards, and yet a little study will show that in most things people are steadily growing better. Some of the ideals of the older generation unfortunately have passed. But for every loss, we can point to a very substantial gain on the credit side of the world's record of progress. Though we may have fewer outstanding men of genius right at the present moment in this world than some past ages have claimed, universal education is most surely raising the general level of intelligence among the people of this country. The man who sees nothing but decay in this age, most surely has a dimmed outlook upon life. The person who waits at the passing of the opportunities that our fathers had when they grew up with the newly developing country, is most surely blind to the comforts and opportunities we have today and will have in the hardships that confront the majority of us present civilization. We are indeed the most fortunate crew of people in the history of the globe. Any intelligent man will agree, of course, that there is tremendous room for improvement. Our economic system is far from perfect. The taste of the public does not run toward the highest type of literature and entertainment. But even a casual student of history will agree that its value, fully realized, is nation to reach the high point of its destiny and our country is really less than 100 years old.

Among Our Exchanges

ARE WE IN A RUT?
(By Ed Overholster, president-manager of the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce.)

There was a time in the upbuilding of Oklahoma when each and every citizen was thoroughly alive to the necessity of working, advertising and boosting our state by day and night, by printed and spoken word.

The result was that wherever you traveled, the sole topic of conversation was "Oklahoma," the wonder state of the southwest.

As we grew in leaps and bounds and evolved practically overnight into cities of thirty, forty, fifty, seventy-five and then one hundred thousand people, we were the wonder state of the world.

Having reached that eminence, we seem to have become careless and unmindful of one of the most important agencies used in the wonderful period of progress and construction—advertising.

Our state was built by advertising to the world our resources, citizenship and wonderful commercial possibilities. Our fame went from one end of the world to another by printed and spoken word and our phenomenal growth was the result.

In recent years we seem to have neglected this agency, to have rested on our oars and drifted and during the time of this inaction, other states with not half our resources, but thoroughly awake to the value of boosting and advertising, have come into equal prominence and now share our glory. They are advertising and they are building and if we are to hold our own and progress, we must climb out of our rut and ADVERTISE.

APPRECIATION

The editor stood at the pearly gate. His face looked worn and old; He meekly asked the man of fate For admission to the fold. "What have you done?" asked Peter. "To ask admission here?" "Oh I used to run a country paper On earth for many a year." The gate swung open sharply. As Peter touched the bell— "Come in my lad, and take your harp. You've had enough of hell."

Clarendon News: It remained for West Texas to mother the best equipped college with the largest student body on the day of its birth, ever known in all the annals of history. Texas Tech at Lubbock is that proud institution and every loyal son of West Texas has his chest all puffed out over the phenomenal opening of that school last week. This is a land of record-breaking achievements in every line of human endeavor, which means that every mother's son of us needs to watch our step that we be not found lacking in this day of advancement in every element of lofty citizenship.

Higgins News: There was a time when a man could start a business and sit down and wait for customers. He could say that he had the goods and it was up to the people to come in and buy. But now the business man must porpose get out and hustle. He can no longer rely upon his old established customers. He must meet competition and go his competitor one better if he would keep his place in the line. The man who is a back number can not hope to keep up and failure is the result. For that very reason the youth of this day and age should go to school and fit himself to meet the keen competition of tomorrow.

Randall County News: Cotton went up 40 points Friday afternoon when a forecast there would be a frost—West Texas. The price went down immediately Saturday morning when the frost did not materialize. Of course that was not real cotton. That was carbonyl cotton, but nevertheless, the carbonyl and cotton exchange sets the price for cotton. The farmer gets what the operators offer. The market is very touchy. It gets scared in a hurry. Of course, the farmer pays for all this nervousness.

He is plenty able to stand the expense of having his crops gambled with on the market, and besides he is good natured about it. Perhaps some day a real marketing system, not quite so nervous and not so subject to the will of a few operators, will be devised.

WISE & BROWN

Advertising, it is universally agreed, is a great force in modern business. "Yes, I know that advertising pays, but" says the average man, and in that word "but" lies the explanation for the absence of advertising from a few firms in the columns of the Pampa News. We hear of the big pay that experts in advertising receive, and imagine that there is something mysterious about advertising, something that the average man can not comprehend without long and careful preparation. But this is a fallacy. It is not difficult for anyone who can think clearly to prepare effective advertising. Such advertising might not be suited to the full page space of a great national magazine, but it may apply very well to the people in the community for whom it is written. There is no mystery in advertising. It is not an occult art that can be practiced only by the initiated. It is merely common sense—salesmanship in print. What are the facts that the prospect for any piece of merchandise wants to know? The answer to this question will in most cases be a good advertisement—a piece of printed salesmanship that will directly or indirectly return a good rate of interest on the investment. If you are not in business but have a car or piece of furniture to sell think of this, and write a want ad giving all the information any prospect would want to know. You will be surprised at the results. If you are in business, large or small, make an advertising appropriation proportionate to the volume of your business, and then give plenty of thought to the preparation of your copy. But remember, advertising is merely common sense or good salesmanship in print. If you will follow this advice, you will find that time will bring you a tremendous rate of interest on your investment.

During the last ten years, industrial use of gas has jumped 1,000 per cent and all indications are pointing toward the establishment of a new record in industrial gas use in 1925.

DODGING CRITICISM

Would you dodge criticism? Then fill your sentences with "perhaps, maybe" it would seem that's." This will give you suppleness, elasticity, equilibrium. It is the timid scholar's style. A gift to the south, through the providence of an All Wise Creator.

Beautiful, indescribable by word or pen, as the verdure of its rich olive green plants cover the undulated hills and rich valleys of the south. From the time of its first soft, creamy, white bloom, opening its chalice to receive the dew drops of early morn, paling in a few short hours into pink and red, to fall from the small primitive boll, whose tiniest lobes are crucibles into which the mysterious alchemy of nature blends and fuses in the laboratory of God's Divine plan of nature; where heat and moisture and the ultra-violet or actinic rays of the sun, with other innumerable and inscrutable laws of nature, the rich oily seed and the beautiful tensile strength of its fibre, until in due process it has grown and ripened and lo, and behold! It bursts open like a fully grown rose, to start upon its intricate career of service to humanity.

When the South was prostrate and exhausted from war and civil strife and the rust of cannon on the battlefield had not been obliterated, fields lately drenched with blood and carnage no longer produced bountiful crops, on account of the lack of attention. The returned soldier of the South found his fields grown and possessed with grambles and pine saplings; his ideals stripped of the pomp and glory of a civilization of ante bellum aristocracy. In the strife he had lost all but honor, determination and a willingness to face the devastation occasioned by civil war. His thoughts returned to cotton, the magic plant adapted, acclimated and ordained as the South's greatest staple crop; a plant as old as civilization, inseparably bound with the progress and destiny of humanity; grown in India from time immemorial. Columbus found it upon the Sandwich Islands, when he discovered America; Cortez, when he invaded Mexico; and adventurers found it in South America in their search for silver in the tombs of ancient Incas Peru.

In the struggle of life and confusion of battle, it is cotton that staunches the flow of blood, wipes away the tears and binds up bleeding wounds. It pillows the head and its drapery covers the humble cot of the soldier, and makes a bed for the tired and weary form of the laborer, at the end of a hard day's work. It enters almost wholly into the precious folds of the Stars and Stripes, our nation's emblem of American liberty. It is cotton that makes the tent of the American soldier, as he bivouacs upon the battlefield.

It binds the household package and the cordage and belting that run the nation's prodigious machinery are made from cotton.

Cotton was frequently used as a shroud for kings, sometimes called fine linen, and no doubt had a part in the ecclesiastic robes recorded in holy have found in the tombs of the Pyramids.

Archaeologists in recent excavation have found in the tombs of the Pyramids and the Valley of the Kings mummies clothed with shrouds made of cotton. From birth to death, from poverty and discouragement to happiness and wealth, it has transformed the south in the last 60 years into a throbbing and progressing citizenship until the smoke of her factories, the hum of her spindles, the rumble of her railroads and the quiet coming and going of great ships laden with cargoes of cotton from southern ports, has made the South a mighty Empire of homes, citizenship and commerce, with its great cotton crop turning the balance of trade in favor of America in foreign markets. It stands out as one of America's greatest agricultural and commercial assets.

The product of this plant is of universal use and demand from the time the child lies in the cradle, dressed in swaddling clothes of soft cotton, all through life's vicissitudes, it is a part of his apparel. As fine as the finest linen, as soft and comfortable as the softest wool and of rare and beautiful as the richest silk.

And when the fitful fever of life is over and the shades of evening gather and life's race is run, and his last day's sun is setting in the Western horizon, cotton is invariably a part of the shroud that will envelop his still form; and we do not know when the resurrection comes, but what these cotton garments will be transformed and become the robes of angels.—Ex.

FROM SMOKE TO PHONE SPANS 25 CENTURIES

More progress in fast communication has been made during the past 25 years than in the preceding 25 centuries says the New Jersey Public Information Committee.

Smoke by day and fire by night were first used for transmission of information.

Carrier pigeons have been used for hundreds of years. Germany equipped the letter carriers with stilts early in the 16th century to increase their speed of delivery.

Among the savage nations, drums are still used to transmit messages over wide areas.

In the United States, stage coach and pony express furnished the fastest means of communication by letter before the advent of the railroad; but it was not until the invention of the telegraph and later of the telephone that instantaneous communication was established.

The first long distance message over the telephone was in 1876, from Boston to Cambridge, two miles.

HOME SERVICE CLUB

One of the most enjoyable afternoons in the history of the Home Service Club was spent at the home of Mrs. Chas. Talley with Miss Eula Neil Seelbach as leader. Miss Seelbach gave two lectures, the first being, "The Home More Beautiful," and the other subject being "Art." This being International Art month, well known pictures were shown and a bit of the life of the artist, some history in connection with the picture. It is regretted by the club that Miss Seelbach cannot be at the meetings more often. Dainty refreshments were served the eight members present.

Fathers and Mothers

IT'S UP to you to open an account for every one of your youngsters and see that they add to it each week or month—this will foster in them the habit of saving and a plan for the needs of early manhood or womanhood.

SAVING money strengthens character through the lessons of SELF-DENIAL and SELF-CONTROL.
